SIX MILES OF LARGE WATER MAINS BEING PLACED IN JUNCTION

After many months of waiting and working actual construction of a new water system for Junction has begun. While the city council was waiting it was working. After the bond issue was voted the council wanted to be sure that the city received full value for all money expended on a water system. There have been several delays but everything is going forward rapidly and it will not be many weeks until Junction will have a water system second to none.

The big ditcher arrived last week and began operation Saturday. The soil in Junction is free of rocks and the ditcher is digging several hundred feet each day. Unless there is a breakdown to stop the ditcher, it will not be many weeks until all the pipe will be laid in the streets.

Junction's water system is a larger project than some who have not given it serious thought think. The City has bought 31,200 feet of two, four, six and eight inch pipe for the mains, and more than half of it is six and eight inch. The standpipe will be placed in the western part of the city so that the base will be more than one hundred feet above the business section. When this 100,000 gallon tank is completed and the water turned into the large mains there will be sufficient force to throw water far above the tallest buildings in the city.

In addition to the six miles of large mains there will be several miles of smaller pipe leading to the various places of business and homes. Thirty-two fire plugs have been received and workmen are now placing them in the business section of the city. Both the business and residence sections of the city will be well supplied with plugs when the work is finished. The city recently purchased hose and nozzles for full fire protection. Some months ago a good chemical engine was purchased and a fire company has been organized so that when the water system is completed within a few weeks, Junction will be fully equipped to cope with the fire demon that has visited here when the firefighting facilities were inadequate.

Meters were ordered some time ago and they will be installed where needed as the work progresses. Everything to give Junction the best system for the least money consistent with good material and workmanship is being provided by the city council. The mayor and members are giving much of their time to the work.

WINGS

The Texan is fortunate to secure "WINGS," one of the mightiest spectacles ever filmed. It is a Lucien Hubbard production directed by William A. Wellman, featuring Clara Bow, Charles Rogers, Richard Arlen and Gary Cooper.

This picture has gone over in a big way wherever it has been shown, and the Texan feels fortunate to secure this big picture for Junction.

NEW AUTO NUMBERS

With the month of December here automobile owners are beginning to think of the new numbers that must be bought by January 1. Occasionally a new number is seen on the cars. Tax collector Dee Gibbs says that he has sold a few numbers and that with the coming of December more are buying them. The highway department states that no grace will be given this year, and that owners must start the new year with new numbers.

Mrs. Chris Schraub, Miss Christine Schraub and Mrs. Miller Oliver visited in Menard Tuesday.

Pecan Exhibition Now on Display at Bank

Mr. A. J. Bierschwale has on display at the Junction State Bank the cabinet of pecans that won first premium at Brady recently. Mr. Bierschwale, teacher of vocational agriculture in the Junction High School, assisted by his class assembled the pecans, built the cabinet, and arranged the pecans for the display and contest at Brady.

A look at this display of choice nuts grown in Kimble County ought to convince any person that this is a great pecan county. It is believed that a conservative estimate would place the Kimble County crop at 2,000,000 pounds. Our people are beginning to realize that the pecan industry is a great thing for the county, and are beginning to take a greater interest in planting, budding and topworking the trees. The production of the county could be doubled in a decade or two if the proper attention would be given to the industry.

Every person in the county is indebted to Mr. Bierschwale and his class for the impetus given the pecan business by attending the Brownwood meeting and showing to the pecan world what Kimble County is doing.

Dedication Exercises Coppers and Roosevelt

Dedication exercises were held at the Coppers school last Wednesday, November 28, and at Roosevelt Monday, December 3. Judge J. B. Randolph made addresses at both places. Hon. Coke R. Stevenson was present at Roosevelt and made an address. Box suppers were given at both places and Judge Randolph, in his unique and pleasing way, auctioned off the boxes at both places. At Coppers more than eighty dollars were realized and at Roosevelt, $160.

Both these are progressive communities and take a great interest in their schools. Judge Randolph takes a great interest in the progress and development of the schools, and he is fortunate in having interested trustees and active teachers.

BIG DAY AT ROOSEVELT

On Monday of this week the little town of Roosevelt experienced a day of gladness and merry making over the completion of the school building that had been under construction for some time.

In the early hours of the morning people crowded about the building, waiting to hear the word "Finished." Toward noon it was heard. Then barbecue, with the addition of cakes, pies, pickles and other good eats, were placed upon tables and an enjoyable time followed.

In the afternoon the Roosevelt Rough Riders were met by the Tescup Yellow Jackets and were defeated by three points, the score being 22 to 19. Coppers boys also defeated Roosevelt boys by two points.

After the games the tables were prepared again in honor of the winning teams and the other guests that came. A big feed followed with plenty of jokes and laughter.

People went home, filled their boxes and returned for a box supper. Judge J. B. Randolph and Judge Coke R. Stevenson were the guests for the evening. Judge Randolph made an interesting talk and introduced Judge Stevenson as the main speaker. Each talk was instructive.

The boxes were then sold at a sum of $160.00.

A great feast was enjoyed while the Ruff Brothers furnished music. Then the crowd rushed away to the public dance hall to spend a few hours.

Roosevelt is now at home in her new school building for which she has so long waited.

Mrs. Hamm of Abilene is now located in the Model Shop and is prepared to give Permanent Waves, Finger Waves and Pin Waves and all lines of beauty work.

Santa Claus Coming To Bank

Mr. W. P. Riley, President of the Junction State Bank, has been corresponding with Santa Claus and has made arrangements with him to put a Christmas tree in the lobby of the bank on December 24. Santa Claus has notified Mr. Riley that he will be here in person on that day and will give everyone a present who visits the bank on Monday, December 24.

There will be the formal opening of the new bank building that the Junction State Bank and Junction Cattle Loan Company moved into a few weeks ago. It is one of the most beautiful and best equipped bank buildings in all southwest Texas. A full description of this modern building will be given in our issue preceding Santa Claus' visit to the bank on December 24.

Grand Jury Indict Congressman-Elect

A battle in the Fourteenth, Texas Congressional District because of the official announced election of County Judge McCloskey, Democrat, over Representative Harry M. Wurzbach, Republican, was climaxed Tuesday with the indictment of McCloskey and two other persons for reputed election irregularities.

The indictments charged McCloskey, his secretary, Charlie Ramirez, and a former city health department employee, Elmer Wernette, with altering election returns.

Following their arrest, Judge McCloskey, Ramirez and Wernette were released on bonds totaling $10,500 set in habeas corpus proceedings. McCloskey's bail was set at $1,500 on each of five counts. Ramirez was allowed bond of $500 on each of four counts, and Wernette $1,000 on one charge.

OLD BAPTIST CHURCH BUILDING IS MOVED

A dream of the Baptists of Junction is being realized in the moving of the present building to make room for a new fire proof building on the same location. The contract was awarded to Messrs. Porter and Pansty of San Angelo, who will begin the new building as soon as the lot is cleared.

For several months the congregation has been at work faithfully for the new building. The women of the church who have been active in the movement for the new church have asked to be permitted to move the first dirt.

WEATHER REPORT

Again various kinds of weather have visited this section the past week. Friday, November 30, it rained slowly all day. Since that day the weather has been beautiful until this morning (Thursday) when it is cloudy and raining at intervals. There has been more cloudy weather this fall than usual, but the rainfall has been about normal. The rain has fallen slowly, putting a fair season in the ground. Two light northers visited this section during the week, but it has not been cold enough to freeze.

Schreiner-Hodges Co. Ships 16 Cars Pecans

Schreiner-Hodges shipped out five car loads of pecans last week, making a total of sixteen cars to date this season. They have their warehouse almost full again and pecans are still coming in fast. It would be interesting if we could find out the number of pounds of pecans grown in Kimble County this year. Many are shipped from Menard, Kerrville, Brady and other places that are grown in this county.

Schreiner-Hodges ships more from Junction than any other firm. They pay as much as the market affords. They regret as much as the grower that the price is not better this season. A large crop was grown this year and there are large quantities of last year's nuts on cold storage. The Eagle has been anxious to get information about yields of individual trees, orchards, etc., but thus far none of our growers has seen fit to give us this information. Mr. N. H. Skaggs has one tree near Junction that has produced as much as 1,100 pounds in one season, but he has no data this year. However, he does not think that it had that many pounds this season.

Vocational Boys Judge Livestock

Our vocational agriculture teacher has planned to take some of the boys over to Rock-springs next Saturday, December 8th, where they will take part in a livestock judging contest. This contest will be held for the purpose of training the vocational agriculture boys in the judging of sheep, goats and beef cattle, and also for the purpose of creating friendly rivalry between the schools in this section of the State. Mr. Harper Ralings, vocational agriculture teacher at Rock-springs, says that the big hearted ranchmen in that section have agreed to furnish some goats and the boys will be given a barbecue dinner.

Our boys have not had much practice in judging sheep and beef cattle but this will be a good time for them to begin. They are living here in a section where livestock is the major enterprise and it will mean money in their pockets to learn to judge them right.

LANDMARK MOVED

One of the land marks of Junction was moved from the square to the western part of the city where it will be joined to a residence. It is the Blackburn building that was moved into the street several months ago to give room for the new modern concrete building that is just being finished and will be occupied by Mrs. F. L. Young, who will carry an exclusive line of ladies' ready-to-wear, lingerie, and novelties.

Various businesses have occupied this building while it stood on the west side of the square, including restaurant, barber shop, dental office, and others. It has been used as a tool house since it was moved into the street to make room for the modern building now on the lot.

LECTURE ON HOLY LAND

Rev. Milton F. Hill is enjoying a visit from his friend, the Rev. O. E. Moreland of Big Lake. Brother Moreland has a lantern and slides of the Holy Land and favored the people of Junction with an illustrated lecture at the Methodist Church Wednesday evening.

Brother Moreland is a good preacher and brings his messages with force and earnestness. Everyone present enjoyed the service Wednesday evening. He was handicapped in not having someone to handle the machine for him, but his message was so interesting that it was not noticeable to the attentive audience. Brother Moreland is pastor of the Methodist Church at Big Lake.

PROPER PROTECTION PROVIDES PARADISE FOR TEXAS HUNTERS

With the 1928 deer season fast passing, and judging from the number that have been carried through Junction on cars, hunters this year will probably have one of the most successful seasons in many years. Turkeys have been rather scarce in this section due probably to the cold weather last April. Deer have been plentiful on the ranches that are not heavily stocked with goats.

At the close of last season the State department through the various game wardens made a close check of the wild game in Texas. According to the estimate there were 76,679 does, 21,617 bucks and 209,470 turkeys in the State when the season closed. It was estimated that 9,000 bucks and 15,000 turkeys were killed last season, and it is believed that more than that number will be killed this season.

Educational work done through the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission has been a great deal of help to the wardens of the various districts because sportsmen have become more considerate and have confined themselves to legal shooting.

This educational work for the most part has been carried on through ranch owners who are now selling hunting privileges on their places for so much per day or season. Many of these ranch owners have been made special wardens and are doing everything they can to guard against illegal kills.

Propagation of game on big ranches such as the Schreiner, King, Real and Catarina ranches has also been responsible for much of the increase in game.

The State is divided into seventy districts, and an estimate was made in each district, but it would make this article too long to give the figures in all the districts. We begin with district No. 35 and give the remaining districts, which give a fair idea of the amount of game in this section of Texas.

In District No. 35, Sutton and Kimble Counties, 125 bucks were killed last year and it is estimated there were 500 does and 250 bucks, with 8,000 turkeys remaining.

In District No. 36, McCulloch and Mason Counties, 500 deer were killed last year and it is estimated that there are 8,000 does, 1,250 bucks and 5,000 turkeys remaining.

In District No. 37, Llano, Burnet and Blanco Counties, there were 325 bucks killed last year, with 4,000 does and 1,500 bucks remaining.

In District No. 43, Waller, Harris and Galveston Counties, there were 10 bucks killed last year with 65 does, 25 bucks and 200 turkeys left.

In District No. 44, Fort Bend and Brazoria Counties, there were 70 bucks killed last year with 150 does and 75 bucks left.

In District No. 46, Washington, Austin and Colorado Counties, 41 bucks were killed last year, 151 does and 40 bucks being left.

In District No. 52, Bexar and Atascosa Counties were 385 bucks killed last year with 2,000 does and 300 bucks remaining.

In District No. 53, Kendall, Comal and Blanco Counties, there were 200 bucks killed, 2,000 does, 200 bucks and 1,000 turkeys remaining.

In District 54, Kerr, Real and Bandera Counties, there were 2,500 bucks killed last year, with 30,000 does, 7,000 bucks and 40,000 turkeys remaining.

In District 55, Edwards County, 110 bucks were killed, with 2,234 does and 761 bucks and 9,200 turkeys remaining.

In District No. 56, composed of Kinney and Maverick Counties, 25 deer were killed last year, 800 does, 500 bucks and 150 turkeys remaining.

Kimble County's First Settler

Frontier Times: All the old settlers of Kimble, Kerr, Mason and Gillespie Counties remember Capt. Creed Taylor, who lived on his ranch near Knoxville, Texas, for many years, and was the first settler of Kimble County. Captain Taylor died in 1906, at the ripe old age of 86 years. His life story reads like a romance, and is full of thrills, of adventures, of hairbreadth escapes. Some 25 years ago the life of Creed Taylor was written by John Warren Hunter, of Mason, but has never been published. Mr. Hunter sold the manuscript of the book to James T. DeShields of Dallas, who is now arranging to publish the book.

Creed Taylor was born April 10, 1820. His father, Josiah Taylor, settled in Texas in 1824 at a point just below Liberty on the Trinity River. His father resided there one year and then removed to Bolivar Point, east of Galveston Island on the mainland. They lived on Bolivar Point one and one-half years and then moved to Taylor's Bayou, which took its name from Josiah Taylor, his father. The family resided at this place until 1829, when they all moved to a point on the Guadalupe River near where Cuero now stands, and here they lived until the trouble commenced that afterward resulted in Texas Independence, made secure by the glorious victory at San Jacinto.

At the early age of 15 years Creed Taylor volunteered his services in behalf of his country and was engaged in every battle of any consequence in Texas and performed services the most daring in their nature ever recorded in the history of any commonwealth.

The first engagement in which young Taylor assisted his countrymen was on the Guadalupe River at what was known as the Dike's Place, only a few miles from where Taylor then resided. This was in the fall of 1835. General Ed Burleson was in command and Creed Taylor was only 15 years of age. There was only one other boy in the command whom Mr. Taylor could remember and he died on the Cibola while on the road from Gonzales to San Antonio. In this engagement with the enemy they fought about 100 Mexicans and marched on toward San Antonio, making headquarters for a time on the Salado, where they made many skirmishes. The skirmishing continued for some time and they pushed on to the Mission San Juan and afterward moved up to Concepcion, where they were attacked by the Mexicans just about daylight.

After a hotly waged contest of about 30 minutes the Texans were successful, captured the cannon and put the enemy to an indiscriminate flight.

The Texas army then went into camp at San Pedro Springs and remained there until Ben Milam and his men captured San Antonio in the fall of 1835. Through all these engagements young Taylor, still in his 15th year, stood side by side with the men of Texas bearing arms in defense of his country.

When the shout went forth, "Who will go with old Ben Milam into San Antonio?" Creed Taylor, who was then a mere boy, was among the first to give a hearty cheer in response to the proposition and was engaged in that bloody contest until it resulted in a splendid victory for the Texans. He was near Milam when the gallant chief was killed and he viewed with great sorrow the remains before they had been removed from the point where he had fallen.

After the capture of San Antonio Taylor returned home to where his mother was then residing on the Guadalupe and remained there until the news of the fall of the Alamo swept over the country and which resulted in causing all the inhabitants of Texas to flee eastward to avoid the terrible consequences of a capture by Santa Anna's army. Young Taylor took his mother to what has since been known as Roan's Prairie, where he left her in a place of safety and hastened to join Houston's army in company with Joe Tomlinson, and arrived there the night before the battle of San Jacinto.

After Houston had addressed his little army and had the unanimous approval of the entire service to attack the enemy the details were arranged and on that memorable day the victory was won which changed the history and future of Texas. Next day after the fight, Taylor, in company with Joe Tomlinson, returned to where his mother had been placed for her safety. He remained there two days and then returned again to his home on the Guadalupe River. He remained here for a few weeks when Byrd Lockhart raised a spy company to look out for the safety of the people of Texas and Taylor immediately volunteered and offered his services in this company. They started toward San Antonio and camped on the river just below town. Taylor saddled his horse next morning and rode into San Antonio and he doubts very much whether any other Texan had reached the place before him since the fall of the Alamo and the massacre of its brave defenders.

He says that on arriving there a plain cart trail was discernible leading off from the Alamo in a northeasterly direction; that he followed this trail out into a mesquite flat and there gazed upon a sight that would sicken the most dreadful tyrant and cause the crimes of Nero to appear as acts of charity and love as compared with the frightful scene with which he was then confronted.

In a long row the bodies of the Texans had been stacked, first a layer of wood and inflammable substances, then a layer of men, and so on alternately until the bodies of all the Texans had thus been prepared for the poorly arranged cremation, when they had been set on fire and the bodies consumed. The wood being shorter than the bodies, many of them had not been entirely consumed and in many instances the skeletons remained only partially destroyed, which made more terrible the hideous view then presented to him. At this time on a corner building near the Alamo a charcoal picture of Bowie and Crockett appeared with their names under it.

From San Antonio the company went on to the Medina to where Castrolillo now stands and then returned to near Victoria to Rukh's command. He then joined a company of settlers and followed the Indians who had burned Linnville and murdered the inhabitants of that place. They followed the Indians and kept them at bay until Felix Houston and Ed Burleson could join them with reinforcements and at Plum Creek the Indians were completely routed. He was in this battle with Capt. R. Perry, who was then a young man and an account of whose life was published in the San Antonio Express a short time ago. Taylor, as did Capt. Perry, distinctly remember the ridiculous scene at that battle; the Indians having stolen everything in the houses, had on frock coats buttoned up in the back; had umbrellas stretched over them wrong side out and many of them had on the large scoop bonnets worn by the women of that day and time and were painted up in the most hideous style.

In 1840 he joined Captain Howard's company and followed the Comanches into their stronghold near where Brackett now stands and fully routed them and destroyed their camp. They captured about 1,000 horses and mules from the Indians in this fight. They packed many of the mules with the plunder captured from the wigwams, but the first night out the herd stampeded from the noise made by the rattling of the different pack outfits and they lost nearly all of them.

On this trip he scouted all of the country west to where Brackett now stands, returning by way of Sabinal Canyon, thence across by way of Bonevado, west of Kerrville, down the Llano and across to the Brady's.

Returning by way of the headquarters of the Pederpales. Taylor with nine men dropped down the river about 25 miles west of Fredericksburg, where they had a fight with the Comanches and he killed the chief and captured his horse. On one occasion some Indians came to San Antonio with the scalps of some of Castro's colonists and endeavored to sell them, but the Texans very promptly dealt out the proper punishment for their crime.

In 1842 he joined Hay's company and hurried to report to Captain Caldwell, who was camped on the Salado for the purpose of dislodging the Mexicans who had again captured San Antonio.

They gave them battle, completely routing the Mexicans, who had divided their forces for the purpose of massacring Dawson's men. Here he was severely wounded and was afterward carried back to Seguin.

During this battle he said that Dawson's men could have cut their way through and in his own opinion reached Caldwell with the loss of only a few men, if they had never stopped. He is familiar with the events of this battle and he, too, said only two persons made their escape who were with Dawson. Much of the information regarding the account of the massacre of Dawson's men as it appeared in the Express a short time ago was obtained from him and which was all correct, except that the reporter misunderstood one statement made regarding the escape of Gonzavo Woods and Alsey Miller. Instead of Miller riding momentarily behind Woods on the same horse, a riderless horse came running by Miller after his horse had been shot and he leaped from his falling and wounded horse into the saddle of the loose horse, and it was in this way that Miller made his escape from the scene of that most fearful butchery. After the Mexicans had been driven across the Rio Grande Taylor remained at home, shot through the arm, and except some Indian fighting in the settlements devoted his time to his own affairs until the Mexican War. He immediately joined the army and did effective but dangerous work all along the border. He was in the battle of Palo Alto and Resaca de la Palma and fought through the entire war.

Returning to Texas in 1847 he then commenced establishing large stock ranches out on the Texas frontier in the country which he had traversed on his Indian campaigns in 1840.

In 1845 he located a large stock of horses and cattle near Peg Leg, in Menard County. The Indians depredated upon his stock to such an extent that he finally had to abandon it and return to the Guadalupe country. Later on he located on James River in Kimble County, when there was only a single settler in all that country. Here he built up large ranch interests and had the open range of hundreds and hundreds of miles with only the Comanche Indians for his neighbors.

His entire life was spent upon the frontier of Texas and many an Indian was sent to the happy hunting ground by the unerring aim of this hardy frontiersman and early settler of Texas. His last days had been spent in the service of his State and in his old age he drew two small pensions from the State and Federal Government in recognition of the valuable service he had rendered Texas and the United States.

Creed Taylor married Miss Goodbread, who died in 1868. By her he had three children, two sons and a daughter, the daughter marrying Major Spencer, for many years a citizen of Kimble County. The sons are both dead. After the death of his wife Captain Taylor moved to Kimble County, where in 1873 he married Miss Lavinia Spencer, who bore him five children, some of whom are still living in that section.

PRESIDENT T. S. T. A. ADDRESSES TEACHERS SAN ANTONIO MEET

In his opening address at the State Teachers Association in San Antonio last Thursday, the president of the association, among many other things, gave utterance to the following:

"I believe that every child is a future citizen of the State, asset or liability; that it is the obligation of the State to see that every child has educational advantages equal to every other child; that every child has the right to attend school every day during the school term, to go to school the same number of days as every other child, to be instructed by a trained and competent teacher, to go to school in a building sanitary and free from fire hazard, in a building located in a healthful environment; to be transported to school if distance for walking is too great.

"I believe every child should have the right to attend school where medical and dental inspection are available without charge, where organized play is considered a normal activity; where the love of home, the desire for its improvement and an appreciation for the beautiful and good are taught; where co-operation in activities is encouraged; where appreciation of society, its struggles and victories, are made clear, its challenge to the future made personal; where the selection of the life work of each individual is trained for his life work; where the problems of the school come from the problems of the community, State and Nation, and not altogether from books.

"I shall not be satisfied with our school system until every child in Texas has opportunity to develop mentally, physically, morally and spiritually to the utmost of his capacity, until we have equal rights to all and special privileges to none in education."

PREVENT HOLIDAY FIRES

How terrible it is to read newspaper accounts of fires at Christmas time. This is the happiest season of the year, especially for children, but fires often bring suffering and death, creating a roaring furnace of flames where but a short time before had been a joyous home.

Yet simple precautions will prevent holiday fires:

When using a candle in your window, be sure it is an electric one, properly wired, as they are generally safe.

If you have a Christmas tree, set it up securely so it cannot topple over. Don't place it near heating or lighting fixtures.

For trimming the tree use only non combustible materials such as metal tinsel, fake asbestos and powdered mica for snow effects.

For illuminating the tree, lighted candles should never be used. Properly installed electric lights are safer and give a colorful effect, but safest of all is a colored spotlight focused on the tree.

Again it is necessary to caution smokers to be careful with their matches and smoking materials near trees and decorations. Of course, keep matches out of the reach of small children.

Details will be announced later. But this much can be said now. This new Pontiac will represent an even greater innovation today than the first Pontiac represented in 1926! Without departing from the low-price field, it will bring to this field finer elements of style, performance and luxury never before provided in a car so inexpensive to buy!

PROFESSIONAL BEGGARS

Junction is getting her quota of professional beggars. The prosperity of the Hill Country has spread to the remotest parts of the country, and that large class of parasites are finding their way here. They do not frequent newspaper offices as they do other places of business, but three found their way to the Eagle office last week in as many days. They always have a good story ready when they enter. One woman told us that she was the niece of that great newspaper man, Henry Waterman, and that she had two brothers who held responsible positions of trust in the newspaper field. Only a short time ago she lost her husband and two sons in Florida. Two of her relatives were to meet her here, but for some cause they had been delayed. She was only asking for a loan until they got here.
Others had other tales to tell that would appeal to a newspaper man.

It is not our purpose or intention to say that all these people who "munch" their way through the country are impostors, but the editor of the Eagle, who has served several years on the United Charities board, where he had the opportunity to look into the records of these people, has found that the large per cent of them are professional beggars. The story of the woman last week was pathetic, and if true, she needs help. When we suggested that she present her plea to some club or organization who would investigate her condition, and, if found worthy, would contribute to her needs, she became angry and called to a small boy accompanying her to come on, and away they went. She said that her relatives who were supposed to meet her here were planning to enter the ranching business.

A man, who claimed to be a printer, but asking for money instead of work, went away angry when told to present his claim to the mayor, who would investigate him, and if his condition merited assistance, would give him a letter so that we would know when we were helping worthy people. He went away angry, making faces and signs at the editor's back. People in real need do not object to having their condition investigated. It is sometimes embarrassing to them, but if they are suffering for the necessities of life they do not object to giving the information asked for to find out their true status.
All you have to do to get rid of an imposter quickly is to refer him to the United Charities, or some organization whose duty it is to investigate their needs. A few questions by the sheriff or city marshal usually helps them to find a road leaving town.

Billie Mack of Abilene gave an exhibition of dancing on the street last night that was heartily enjoyed by all who chanced that way about 7:30 o'clock. He is nine years old and was traveling with his father, A. W.
Mack, and Uncle J. N. Mack.
They live in Amarillo and were returning home from a trip to Corpus Christi. He was able to do anything the end men do in the big minstrel shows. When asked how long he has been dancing he said "ever since I could walk."

THE LEAKEY LEADER

Mr. Emmett Hensley, formerly of London, is now editor and manager of the Leakey Leader.
The Leader was formerly published at Leakey, but for some time has not been issued. Mr.
Hensley is a young man, full of energy and enthusiasm, and the Eagle is predicting that he will make a go of the Leader.
The paper was established ten years ago. The issue this week is Volume 10, No. 36. It is full of advertising and good reading matter, and it is the business men of Leakey give Mr.
Hensley the proper support he will give them a good paper.
The time has come when a newspaper is as much of a necessity as any other enterprise.

PNEUMONIA CLAIMS PROPRIETOR OF OLD BUCKHORN SALOON

Albert Friedrich, internationally known sportman, founder of Albert's Buckhorn Curio Store (started as the Buckhorn Saloon in 1887), is dead at the age of 64.

He was born in San Antonio on Crockett Street in the Meager Hotel block, June 7, 1864. Death came at the residence, 439 Dwyer Avenue, just before noon Tuesday from a cold contracted on the opening day of the deer hunting season. The cold developed into pneumonia.

He was out in the Claussen pasture on the Blanco Road the morning the hunting season opened, and by 8:30 a. m., had killed a buck.

The funeral was conducted Wednesday afternoon by Rev. A. L. Wolff. Active pallbearers were: D. D. Heinen, H. J. Lamm, A. P. Heinen, Frank R. Newton, Joe Shiner and Louis Voelker, Jr.

Besides a widow, survivors are, a daughter, Miss Norma Friedrich; a son, Milton Friedrich; three sisters, Mrs. Emma Hoeke, Mrs. Ida Saunders and Miss Lena Friedrich, and a brother, Edward Friedrich.

Wetzel Friedrich, father of Albert Friedrich, landed with the original German colonists at this section at the now extinct port of Indianola during the decade of 1850.

The old Buckhorn saloon, known all over the country, was at West Houston and Soledad Streets. The curio store is a block farther west at Houston and Flores Streets.

Starting with a lone buckhorn, Friedrich's love of relics of the chase led him to collect 1,000 or more and other horns which had brought him several offers of $50,000 for the collection which includes a 78-point buckhorn.

The first buckhorn was placed above his bar in 1887. After that Friedrich collected both numbers and variety that would seem impossible for one lifetime.

His friends brought in their quarry, and when he would hear of something unusual anywhere in the country, he would go to it, no matter how long and tedious the task. Most of his collection was assembled in the days of slow transportation.

Whenever controversies arose over the greatest number of rattlers ever known on a snake or the longest steer horns, people would write in to the Buckhorn Curio Store to settle the argument. They took its reports as final.

The place is internationally known, and of course San Antonio is linked up with its popularity. Some of the bidders for the collection of horns have been international sportsmen.

Friedrich admitted to friends that the curio business was more remunerative than the saloon business, though those friends remembered the saloon as law-abiding, a place where any woman could go and not be embarrassed.

His father made a chair of Texas native Longhorns and presented it to President Grover Cleveland. The curio store collection includes ponderous horns from as far away as Egypt.

There are also in the store rattlesnake skins, rattlers, made into forms of deer, Indians and other things. The rattlers are numbered by thousands. The store is one of the show places of San Antonio.—S. A. Express.

EXCELLENT EYE-SIGHT

A negro was being questioned during an investigation after a trespasser was killed when he fell from a freight train.

"Was the man on the train?"

"Yes, suh."

"Where did you see him?"

"Bout thuty cabs back fum de engine."

"Where were you?"

"On de back end of de tandah of de engine."

"What time of night was it?"

"Bout 'leven o'clock."

"Do you mean to tell me that you saw that man thirty car lengths away at night?"

"Yes, suh."

"How far do you think you can see at night?"

"Bout a million miles, I reckon. How fah is de moon?"

BROWN CO. CLUB BOY WINS CHICAGO TRIP

By putting 510 pounds of gain on a beef in 163 days at a cost of 10½ cents per pound, and then selling the baby beef at auction at the Brown County Fair for 18 cents per pound, Don Langford of the Blanket 4-H Club made a net profit, including prizes, of $110.08. This record won for the boy one of the 19 prize trips to Chicago this month offered by the Santa Fe Railroad. Don bought cow and calf last spring for $100 when the calf was 4½ months old, and at selling time the animal weighed 880 pounds. The ration consisted of ground oats, wheat shorts and bran, corn and cottonseed meal.

4-H CLUB BOY MAKES BIG MONEY IN COTTON

A net profit that amounts to $324.36 from five acres of land is counted good in any county. This is what a 4-H club member in McCulloch county achieved this year with the aid of three loads of sheep manure and some good cultivation. George H. Johnson is the boy and he proudly tells of making 1816 pounds of lint cotton from his patch which brought in total receipts of $456.61 and net profits of more than $65 per acre. Carefully prepared land, use of first year improved seed and frequent and shallow cultivation are the keys to successful cotton growing on this farm, George believes.

GRASS FIRES

Ranges are damaged to the extent of many thousands of dollars every fall and winter by grass fires. In most instances these fires are the result of carelessness and indifference. Campers, hunters, and cigarette smokers start most of them. Out in the San Angelo district a volunteer fire brigade has been organized to fight grass fires. In other sections of the West such organizations will be necessary to save the ranges from total loss for the winter and to protect farm and ranch buildings.

WHITEWASH RECIPE

Trim and neat, always spick and span, Uncle Sam keeps his lighthouse and coats guard stations in trim with a liberal use of whitewash.

Many who have been looking for a good whitewash will be interested to know how Uncle Sam keeps his property looking so white. His whitewash formula is probably one of the best. It is much whiter than most mixtures and is almost as serviceable as paint, for wood, brick and stone. A pint of this wash when applied properly will cover about 10 square feet of surface. Here is the formula:

"Slake ½ bushel of unslaked lime with boiling water, cover during process to keep in steam, drain the liquid through a fine sieve or strainer, and add to it 7 pounds of salt, previously dissolved in warm water, 3 pounds of ground rice boiled to a thin paste and stirred in while hot, ½ pound of Spanish whiting, and 1 pound of clean glue, previously dissolved by soaking in cold water and then hanging over a slow fire in a small pot hung in a larger one filled with water. Add 5 gallons of hot water to the mixture, stir well, and let it stand for a few days, covered from dirt. It should be applied hot, for which purpose it can be kept in a kettle over an oven or a portable furnace."

If color other than pure white is desired a number of very different shades can be had by making the following mixtures: For cream color add yellow ochre; a pearl of lead shade may be obtained by adding lamp black or 4 pounds of amber to 1 pound of Indian Red or 1 pound of common lamp black; common stone color calls for a proportionate 4 pounds of raw umber and 2 pounds of lamp black.—Farm and Ranch.

A balky mule has four-wheel brakes. A billy goat has bumpers. The firefly is a bright spotlight. Rabbits are puddle jumpers. Camels have balloon-tired feet. And carry spares of what they eat. But still I think that nothing beats The kangeroos with rumble seats.

IMPROVED PECANS

Native pecan trees, budded to improved varieties five years ago in a campaign in Gillespie county, are now bearing small crops of such superior varieties as Burkett, Halbert, Texas, Profit and Kincaid. Some of those that were top worked are now bearing large crops and the county agent, H. F. Grote, declares that topping large trees in the winter and budding the resulting shoots in the summer has been proven locally the way to get big crops of improved pecans in a short time.

HALF-BLIND FOR 19 YEARS, GIRL GETS SIGHT AFTER BLOW

Denver, Colo., Nov. 27.—Ten years of semiblindness apparently had come to an end Thursday for Alberta Colson, 18, in the same way they began—from a slight blow on the side of the head.

When she was 8, Miss Colson fell and struck her head on the frozen ground. The blow caused an injury to an optic nerve that caused her sight gradually to grow dimmer.

The other day Miss Colson struck her head sharply on a metal projection in the bathroom of her home.

"I was stunned for a moment," Miss Colson reported, "then I noticed the room suddenly had become lighter than usual. Out in the kitchen I was able to read indistinctly the figures on a calendar. A short time later I was able to tell the time by looking at a clock."

Thursday Miss Colson was able to read a newspaper. Oculists believe that the nerve, injured ten years ago, was snapped into place by the recent blow.

TOBACCO DUST FREES TURKEYS OF WORMS

Some two weeks ago Bill Johnson, living on the Fredonia road north of Mason, noticed that his turkeys were not doing well. They were not eating and were losing in weight.

Mr. Johnson moved his roosts and started feeding his flock a 2-per cent tobacco mash, as recommended by the county agent. The following week an examination brought out that the turkeys were being freed of worms.

Those turkeys that were sick had gone to eating and all of the turkeys' heads were red and they are making a good gain now.

Upon hearing of Mr. Johnson's success with the tobacco dust several of his neighbors started using this mixture and they also report good results.

The mixture Mr. Johnson used is made by mixing two pounds of tobacco dust with 100 pounds of any good mash feed. Let turkeys and chickens have all they will eat dry or moisten with milk or water and feed as a wet mash.

Pour the mash on a floor and then pour tobacco dust over the mash and shovel back and over several times like mixing sand cement until well mixed. If one feeds too much tobacco on a small amount of feed the poultry will not eat the same readily.—Mason County News.

U. S. WHITE HOUSE

The White House, the name given to the official home of the President of the United States, is 128 years old. It was first occupied by President and Mrs. John Adams, who moved in during November, 1800, when the building was not entirely finished. The building was seven years under construction.

The building was designed by James Hoban in 1872 and he received a prize of $500 for his plans. Afterwards he was made superintendent of construction.

The White House was burned by the British in 1814 but rebuilt under direction of Hoban within the next four years.

The original freestone from Virginia quarries was covered with white paint, which gave rise to the name White House. The damage by fire was chiefly to the interior.

During the rebuilding, the President occupied the Octagon House, designed by Dr. James Thornton, architect of the Capitol, an attractive building still in fine repair and now occupied as the headquarters of the American Institute of Architects.

The White House was remodeled during the first administration of Theodore Roosevelt, who with his family temporarily occupied a house in Lafayette Square. Executive offices were added to the west wing of the original building.

12,000,000 FOREIGN-BORN

There are over 12,000,000 foreign-born people in the United States, says James J. Davis, secretary of labor. There are 2,000,000 applications from foreigners waiting to come here, and if it were known that restrictive immigration were to be abolished, the waiting list would be doubled.

SQUEEZING AN ACRE

One acre of land in Shelby county, planted for successive years to cotton by Ray Dickson, a club member, has made a total of 9 bales of cotton, two of which were harvested this year. "The trick has been turned," Ray says, "by plowing under all green vegetation in the fall, plowing well in the winter, fertilizing at planting time and applying a side dressing of 800 pounds of Chilean nitrate of soda and 25 pounds of muriate of potash after the cotton was up a few days. I also poisoned for boll weevil and found that my cotton began making again after I had done so." This boy produced 935 pounds of lint cotton this year on the acre which netted him more than $200. He has been a club member five years and last year won a Santa Fe trip to Chicago.

MY AUTO, 'TIS OF THEE

My auto, 'tis of thee, short cut to poverty,
Of thee I chant,
I blew a pile of dough on you two years ago,
Now you refuse to go Or won't or can't.
Through town and countryside, You were my joy and pride,
A happy day,
I loved thy gaudy hue, the nice white tires so new,
But now you're down and through
In every way.
To thee, old rattletrap, came many bumps and knocks.
For thee I grieve,
Badly thy top is torn, frayed are thy seats and worn.
A whooping affects thy horn. I do believe,
Thy motor has the grip, the spark has the pip
And woe is thine.
I, too, have suffered chills, ague and kindred ills,
Endeavoring to pay my bills, Since thou wert mine.

BUILD WIDER HIGHWAYS

The trend in highway building is toward wider pavements in all centers and territories where traffic is apt to be heavy and congested.

The American Automobile Association has appointed a committee with the object of furthering this plan, using the slogan that "Wider Highways are Safer Highways."

Under existing conditions, trucks and other slow-moving vehicles on highways delay many miles of cars capable of greater speed, that are unable to pass because of the narrow roadways.

The fact that a car wishing to pass must turn out into the path of oncoming vehicles is the cause of a large proportion of serious and fatal motor accidents. This is a condition that is being changed in many progressive localities.

The wages of sin is a movie contract.

HUMAN OSTRICH

After several weeks of work given a couple of strangers in the beautiful San Saba Valley, their salary in their pocket and ready to leave the land of plenty this couple was not satisfied but swiped two valuable rings from their employer, and after the rings were missed and the couple was facing arrest, the man decided to leave the city with a diamond and a pearl in his stomach, plus the cash they had earned while here. After the arrest, the man confessed that he had swallowed the rings when he was facing arrest. X-Ray pictures disclosed that he was telling the truth, and the couple was lodged in jail awaiting for this human ostrich to either digest or dispel the jewelry—which after some 24 hours he "dispelled."—San Saba Star.

- a Six in the price range of the four!

Since the announcement of The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History, tens of thousands of people have already placed their orders for this sensational new car! Never before has any new Chevrolet ever won such tremendous public acceptance in so short a period of time!

The new six-cylinder valve-in-head motor is an engineering masterpiece. Not only does it develop 32% more power than any previous Chevrolet motor... not only does it offer increased speed and faster acceleration—but it provides this amazing performance with such outstanding economy that it delivers an average of better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline!

A new heavier crank-shaft, statically and dynamically balanced—and designed with shorter crank throws to minimize torsional strain—results in a degree of smoothness and freedom from vibration that is truly remarkable. A new automatic lubricating system carries a continuous supply of oil to the entire rocker arm mechanism—resulting in exceptional quietness of operation.

A plentiful supply of gasoline is assured under all operating conditions by a new AC gasoline pump and filter. An automatic accelerating pump on the new carburetor gives faster acceleration and increased economy. And scores of other features—such as fabric camshaft gear... hot-spot manifold... high compression, non-detonating head... and semi-automatic spark control—contribute to every phase of performance, economy, long life and dependability.

Throughout the entire chassis is found similarly advanced design.

Four long semi-elliptic shock absorber springs—set parallel to the frame and equipped with Alemite lubrication at all the shackle joints—cushion the entire upper structure against road shocks. A full ball-bearing steering mechanism, with complete lubrication at all the points of contact, results in delightful ease of control. And newly designed 4-wheel brakes—positive in action, easy of application and noiseless in operation—provide a measure of braking control more than equal to the most unusual requirements.

The marvelous new bodies by Fisher are longer, lower and roomier and incorporate in all closed models an adjustable driver's seat that may be moved forward and back to suit the comfort of the driver!

Come in and learn the full and significant story of this greatest of all Chevrolets!

Many west and southwest counties of Texas are resenting an industrial map and other literature being distributed by an organization in Dallas known as "Industrial Dallas, Inc.," which seems to discriminate against west and southwest Texas in favor of east and central Texas. We have not seen the map and literature and are not in position to know all the facts in the case, but from our neighbors' protest it seems that the Industrial Dallas, Inc. has classed Kimble County along with many counties in Texas as "poor" in buying power.

School Notes

Odessa Conn, from Hext, has entered the eighth grade. We are glad to have her with us.

Eva Scrogum has withdrawn from school. We are sorry to lose this good student.

Mr. Bierschwale was absent from school Monday. Mrs. Cowles substituted for him.

Last Thursday and Friday were holidays. Mr. Cowles said he enjoyed those days more than he had any holidays for the last fifteen years. He is ready for the Christmas holidays now; and we, too, are ready for them. Consequently we are going to study hard so these next three weeks will pass more quickly.

Mary Hubert went to Austin Wednesday morning for the Texas-A. & M. game. Nevada Blackburn also attended the game.

There is to be a new grade teacher. Mr. Cowles has received several applications but no teacher has been employed. We are sure there will be weeping when some of the fifth and sixth grade pupils have to part with their old teachers, but there are so many pupils the grades must be divided.

Some of the teachers attended the State Teachers' Association at San Antonio last Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Some went to Austin for the Texas-A. & M. game. San Antonio was so full of teachers Friday night that Miss Durst could not find a place to stay. We suggest they have the next convention in Junction where we can accommodate the teachers.

Elsie St. Clair was absent from school Monday morning on account of illness. Jack King, Fred Beasley and Columbus Allsup were absent Monday.

We are glad to have Mildred Hodges back in school again after her long illness.

In making the list of those pupils who made five A's on the last report, we overlooked the fact that Nevada Blackburn also made five A's.

"Upon a showery night and still. Without a word of warning. A trooper band surprised the hill

And held it in the morning." The sentence above was given to the English classes to diagram, and more of the ninth grade pupils diagrammed it than eleventh grade pupils. Some of the seventh grade pupils diagrammed it without a mistake. This doesn't speak so well for the Seniors, but we are improving.

Mr. Edgar McLendon, publisher and editor of the Junction Eagle, gave a very interesting talk Monday morning. He told us of his experience teaching school, especially about boys and girls who had to work their way through school. He told about one boy who had an invalid mother to support and who suddenly became determined to get an education. He was twenty-three years old and had gone to school very little. He studied hard and was able to get odd jobs after school to help pay his way. Finally he became a successful physician. The point emphasized was that a boy or girl can do anything he wants to do provided that he has sufficient determination.

RAILROAD PROGRESS

Since the return of the railroads to private operation in 1920, they have given every effort to providing better and more efficient service. The measure of their success is shown by recent statistics.

While in 1920, 24.5 per cent of freight locomotives were in bad order, now but 16.1 per cent are unserviceable. Each freight car in 1920 traveled an average of about 25 miles daily. Now they travel more than 30 miles.

In 1920 payments made by the railroads for loss and damage to freight amounted to $2.65 for every car loaded with revenue freight. This has been reduced to 72 cents.

Average freight train speed has been increased 19 per cent.

Referring to an article which appeared in the Sunday, Nov. 25, issue of the Star-Telegram, President J. W. He recommended to the board of directors of the chamber at Rock-springs that prompt and suitable measures be adopted which would convey the objection held by the body toward the evident discrimination against West and Southwest Texas in favor of East and Central Texas.

Boy Scouts Training Course

For the special benefit of local men who are interested in boys, there will be an all day training course in "Boy Leadership" on December 7th at the W. M. Keen ranch. Fathers, Sunday school teachers, scout workers, lovers of boys, all will find much of real interest and benefit in this course which is being brought here through the efforts of the local Troop committee of the Boy Scouts of America, according to Mr. Awbrey who is chairman of the committee.

The Boy Leadership course is based on Scouting, but has much of interest to any man interested in the boyhood of the community. Boy psychology, the problems connected with boy work, and how to build character into boys, the activities so vital to boy life, all are a part of this short but comprehensive training course, and it is a splendid thing indeed that the men of Junction are to have access to such thorough treatment of one of the community's most vital interests.

"There is no obligation to any man taking this course," said Mr. Awbrey, "nor is there any charge. The Concho Valley Council is furnishing all the necessary equipment as well as highly trained leadership, and we are only anxious that the outstanding men of Junction will grasp this opportunity to learn more about boyhood from men who have given their time entirely over to that subject."

On December 7th, thirty men of Junction will be organized into a "model troop" and will learn boy leadership by actual projects, and not by the old lecture method. Games, treasure hunts, knot tying contests, nature study, campfire programs, fun of all kinds, with an instructive program woven into the background in such a way that the men will learn a great deal, and at the same time have a big time doing it.

Exhibits of handicraft, literature, aids for leaders, first aid equipment, hike equipment and helpful books, will feature the course.

The meeting will begin at 9 a. m. and continue through the entire day, with something worth-while happening every minute, until the campfire program in the evening and dismissal at about 9 p. m. The course is the equivalent of a much longer course, but it is crowded into one day to fit local conditions, at the request of the Junction Committee.

Recreation, a spirit of fellowship, minutes loaded with action, and a program that should cheer the hearts of the men who will take part, this is to be the Boy Leadership training course. The text used will be the Handbook for Scoutmasters, which is recognized as an outstanding text on the subject involved. These books will be provided on a loan basis, and may be kept after the course or turned back to the chairman.

Application for enrollment in the course may be made to Mr. Awbrey, who also will have information relative to the details and final arrangements.

The following officers have charge of the work in Junction: M. Awbrey, chairman; E. R. Borden, finance officer; A. P. Boyett, Scout Master; A. W. Loeffler, advancement officer; Chris Schraub, camps and hikes officer; Clay Secrest, activity officer.

CHRISTMAS MAIL

Another year is fast nearing its close and the holiday season with its good will and cheer, will soon be here again.

Much of the festive spirit of Christmas is due to the exchange of gifts and greeting cards between friends. The observance of this delightful custom incidentally results in greatly increasing the volume of mail, which by subjecting the general postal machinery to abnormal strain results frequently in congestion and unavoidable inconvenience to the public.

The local post office in anticipation of the holiday season is making every effort to facilitate the handling of Christmas mail. But it will be impossible to give the best in efficient service without the co-operation of the public. The post office department most earnestly urges the patrons at this office to observe the following suggestions, which, if carried out will minimize your own holiday rush, relieve undue strain on the post office employees, and assure safe and prompt delivery of Christmas greetings:

Mail your packages in the morning and avoid standing in line in the afternoon.

Shop and mail early. Securely pack and wrap parcels.

Address legibly on one side only.

Insure valuable parcels. Use freely special delivery and special handling facilities. Use air mail for speed.

And again shop early and please mail early.

There will be no window service at the Post Office Christmas day, only enough employees being on duty to dispatch the first class mail. No mail will be put in boxes on Christmas day.

We will all thank you for your help.

Very respectfully,
EARL TRACY,
Postmaster.

ACCIDENTS EXPENSIVE

Accidents cost industry approximately $5,000,000,000 annually.

An authority on the subject states that 88 per cent of all industrial accidents can be prevented through enforcement of proper safety rules and that 10 per cent result from improper physical conditions in plants. Unpreventable accidents constitute only two per cent of the total.

WE BURN 6,000,000 MATCHES PER MINUTE

Stockton-on-Tees, England.—This little town in rural England is celebrating the 100th birthday of the match.

It was here just a century ago that Johnny Walker, a local chemist, invented a "percussion powder" which placed on the ends of smallsticks, became death flares for the old-fashioned tinder box.

It is now estimated that 6,000,000 matches are lighted throughout the world every minute while the world's consumption has been placed at 3,228,425,000,000 a year based on an estimate of five matches a day per capita of population. Nearly a billion matches a day are used in the United States, while in England the annual consumption is 200,000,000,000. In the United States the annual output is 300,000,000,000.

If the matches manufactured each year were laid end to end they would reach a distance of 95,538,145 miles, or 4,000 times around the earth.

Junction Trade Notes

The outlook is said to be favorable for legislative action establishing a pecan experiment station somewhere in this section of Texas. If this station is authorized, a committee probably consisting of the Governor, Commissioner of Agriculture and the head of A. & M. experiment stations would be appointed to select a site for it. State Senator T. H. Ridgeway is quoted as saying the pecan industry is the most rapidly expanding industry in the State and merits immediate support from the State, while A. B. Comer, director of experiment stations, says pecan culture is one of the most pressing horticultural problems and deserves a great deal of attention. Incidentally, Kimble County is the logical location for a pecan experiment station.

GATLIN-WILKINSON

A beautiful wedding was that of Miss Tyler Wilkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mayfield Wilkinson, to Robert Gatlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Gatlin of Del Rio which was solemnized by Rev. M. F. Hill in the Fannie Dupuy Memorial Church, Wednesday, at high noon.

Preceding the entrance of the bridal party Miss Blix Hankins sang "At Dawning," by Cadman, accompanied by Mrs. C. W. Atchison.

To the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengren the junior bridesmaid, Miss Frances Ross of Del Rio, cousin of the bride, entered dressed in blue chiffon with hat and accessories to match. She carried an arm bouquet of deep yellow rosebuds with fern tied with white tulle.

Miss Audrey Blackburn, the maid of honor, preceded the bride wearing a frock of figured black and gold transparent velvet, cut with a deep yoke of heavy lace. A black and gold hat and black satin slippers completed her costume. She also carried an arm bouquet of deep yellow rosebuds and fern tied with gold tulle.

The bride was escorted by her father and was met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, Collier Hopkins of Del Rio. She charming in wine-colored chiffon girdled with velvet of the same hue. Her only ornaments were a pin worn by her mother at her wedding and a string of seed pearls. A close fitting hat of wine-colored hue and black satin slippers and an arm bouquet of sweetheart roses, lilies of the valley with a cascade of ribbon completed her effective costume.

Serving as ushers were Misses Jewel Riley, Marguerite Ray and Coke R. Stevenson, Jr., and Carleton Wright, all former members of the bride's Sunday School class.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was held at the attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Ragland.

Receiving with the bridal party in the living room were Mr. and Mrs. Gatlin of Del Rio and Mr. and Mrs. M. Wilkinson and Mrs. B. B. Ragland.

In the dining room the table was laid with a Maderia cloth with a three-tiered wedding cake surmounted by a miniature bride and groom in the center of the table. Miss Mary Ellis Blackburn presided over the cake while Mesdames B. B. Ragland, Conde Hardeman and C. W. Atchison served the coffee.

Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Gatlin left for San Antonio and Austin, the bride wearing a brown velvet two-piece suit with harmonizing accessories. The young people returned to Junction Sunday and will leave this week for Del Rio. They will make their home on the Gatlin ranch near Dryden.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Monday afternoon Ennis Terry Jetton invited a group of his playfellows to help him celebrate his fourth birthday, at the home of his aunt, Mrs. R. H. Loeffler.

The living room and dining room were most attractive with autumn leaves, red and green roping, Christmas wreaths and a bouquet of giant chrysanthemums.

The small folk were entertained with kiddie games until they were surprised by a visit from Santa Claus. From the pack on his back he drew many gifts for Ennis Terry and then he asked the wee guests what they wanted for Christmas. The young host presented his guests with a book apiece.

At the close of the afternoon hot chocolate topped with cream was served with cake to Edwina Lowgren, Betty Joe Hodges, Caroline Lucke, Amelia Jetton, Janice Loeffler, Cameron Wright, Goree Durst, Farrar Bird Jetton, Roy Reynolds, Jr., Victor Loeffler and Ennis Terry Jetton.

Mrs. Loeffler was assisted in entertaining by Mesdames Roy Reynolds and E. O. Lowgren.

The New Ford

A well known tire company, solely to test tires, drove a new Ford more than 90,000 miles in six months. Throughout that time, the car was running day and night, an average of twenty-two hours out of every twenty-four. The entire cost of repair parts was only $38.00 for the entire 90,000 miles.

Another tire company, making a similar test, drove the new Ford more than 80,000 miles in a short period, at a cost per mile that was fully 60% less than any figure it had previously known.

Further tribute to the sturdiness, reliability and general all-around performance of the new Ford is shown in the repeated and growing purchases by Federal and City governments, by police departments, and by large industrial companies which keep definite day-by-day cost records. The new Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive, competitive tests covering speed, smoothness, acceleration, hill-climbing, oil and gas consumption, safety, in the fundamental Ford policy of doing business.

Come in and let us tell you more about the new Ford. We will be glad to show you and give you a demonstration.
