Wellington at 10:30 a.m. and the second at the Dodson Co-op Gin at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon.

Record Year

Farmers Co-op Sets Annual Meeting Sat.

The Farmers Co-op Gin will hold its 37th annual meeting Saturday, April 11 at 2 p.m. in the community building in Wellington at which time new officers will be elected and rebates will be paid.

The gin set a new record in total bales ginned for the fifth consecutive year with a total of 19,602 bales, and a total profit of $287,622.95.

The officers and directors issued the following statement concerning the annual meeting and the business affairs of the gin:

"The Co-op gin will this year distribute a cash rebate amounting to $13.76 on the average bale. The actual profit realized on the average bale this season was $15.06, which is the largest savings yet. Out of these earnings it was decided to retain $25,000 before distribution to the patrons.

"This practice was in effect in the past and had been abandoned in recent years for tax advantage. However, although the Farmers Cooperative is in very sound financial condition, the costs of machinery replacements necessary to maintain the plant at its present level of efficiency are much greater than the original depreciable outlay and it was considered advisable to provide for these future expenditures in this manner.

"It is generally well understood that the remaining assets of a cooperative after distribution of rebates belongs to the members. Recent government regulations provide that each member be notified from time to time as to what his equity actually is, this equity being based, as is the rebate, on the amount of business he has done with the Farmers Co-op Gin in the past few years in proportion to the total net worth of the cooperative as shown in its books. Such notices will be given to the members this year, and do not represent stock or script nor are they subject to income tax on the part of the members in any way.

Much speculation has been made as to the future plans of the gin. The board of directors and the management of the Co-op Gin wish to point out that none of the facts explained above have any bearing on, nor are the result of such plans. These future plans will be discussed at the annual meeting Saturday, April 11."

$65,000 Damage Suit Filed Here

A suit has been filed in 100th district court in which Mrs. Mary Lou Roulain of Samnorwood is seeking $65,000 in damages from John Drew Knoll who also lives in the north part of the county.

The action is the outgrowth of a collision involving the vehicles driven by Mrs. Roulain's husband, the late Leonard Stewart Roulain, and Knoll. Mrs. Roulain was critically injured in the accident, which occurred north of Samnorwood, and later died.

In the plaintiff's petition, filed March 26, she alleges negligence on the part of the defendant.

Mrs. Roulain is represented by Gerald Summerford of the Wellington law firm of Spillman and Summerford.

His father-in-law, Estel Lundy of Dumas, called Tyler early Wednesday and said Furgason was no worse for having made the trip, but no better. He told of the blood requirement.

Tyler is heading the drive for blood and as The Wellington Leader went to press, here are the plans:

Arrangements have been made with the Potter County Memorial Blood Center in Amarillo to furnish the blood for Furgason, but this must be replaced by donations of blood in order to keep the bank in operation.

Any type of blood will be accepted and may be given at the Potter County Blood Bank from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday, and from 1 to 6 p.m. on Thursday or Friday.

The blood should be designated: for Leon Furgason, John Seeley Hospital, Galveston, Texas, Tyler said.

Persons who have had malaria are not accepted as blood donors.

Mrs. Furgason is with her husband in Galveston, and their three children are with their grandparents, the Lundys, in Dumas and are attending school there.

Dr. Carter Holcomb explained that in Furgason's case a —See back page

Gordon McLendon States Stand on Civil Rights

Gordon McLendon gave special attention to civil rights and other domestic issues this week in his fast-moving campaign for the Democratic U.S. Senatorial nomination in the May 2 primary.

The Dallas radio executive emphasized his support of equal voting and educational rights for all, but elaborated on his opposition to provisions of the pending civil rights bill which he contends would deprive the members of all ethnic groups of the rights of trial by jury.

private property and civil liberties.

"In its present form the so-called civil rights bill poses the greatest threat to our constitutional liberties since the Supreme Court overthrew an almost identical act in 1883," McLendon declared.

He asserted that increased job opportunities, a problem which figures in both the civil rights debate and the administration's "war on poverty," can be assured only by freeing business from bureaucratic restraints to promote business expansion.

McLendon said Texas has found a satisfactory solution to the problem of medical care for the aged by implementing the Kerr-Mills law and the Texas-65 program, both based on the principle of voluntary health insurance.

Reiterating his opposition to federal aid to and control over schools, McLendon advocated encouragement of a "realistic tax exemption for families supporting students in higher education." McLendon pointed out that his opponent, incumbent Senator Ralph Yarborough, helped defeat an amendment which would have written a $1200 college exemption into a new tax bill.

Everybody Loves a Bargain

IT'S a grand feeling to come across a real Bargain. In fact, it's almost like finding money. But all purported Bargains are not; while many routine purchases are bigger Bargains than we realize.

For instance, practically everything we buy in our home community stores is a Bargain. It's a Natural Law of Economics...that the costs of community building and operating must be included in the prices we pay. And if that part of our money goes to build and operate somebody else's community instead of ours, it's no Bargain.

The Rev. Thomas Stratton performed the ceremony.

An arc of lighted cathedral tapers was at the center of the altar area, and at the sides were baskets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli and palm trees.

Wedding music was presented by Herman Hess, organist, and Mrs. L. C. McCrary Jr., soloist.

An alcove decorated in gold English ivy and baskets of bridal wreath, gladioli and chrysanthemums was the background for the bride's table, which was covered with a white network cloth. Silver candelabras were at each side of the wedding cake. A white outwork table also covered the punch table, which held an arrangement of white roses, gladioli and chrysanthemums. Silver punch bowls were at each end.

Full Support Needed

Clyde DeMoss Head 1964 C of C Drive

The annual Chamber of Commerce membership drive gets under way this week with Clyde O. DeMoss as chairman, N. M. Higdon, manager, has announced.

DeMoss will name those who will help him and complete plans for the drive within the next few days.

This year's membership campaign will open the door for every business in the county and a large number of individuals to become members of the Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce, it was pointed out, and letters have gone out to most of these within the last few days.

"The board of directors of the Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce needs your support, since the Chamber relies altogether on voluntary membership dues," Higdon pointed out. "If we are to have a driving organization and complete the program of work we must have your support."

"It is only through the cooperative efforts of our citizens working together, contributing jointly, that our program of work can be completed to, and for, the benefit of all. Your support is genuinely needed if we are to successfully continue to build up this area." Higdon continued.

Farm Meetings Keep Cotton Growers Abreast of Times

Another in the series of farm meetings sponsored by the Extension Service will be held next Tuesday, this on cotton insects and insect control and on weed control in cotton.

We urge cotton growers to attend this one. It deals with what is now one of the most expensive phases of cotton growing, and aside from the weather, is the trickiest. A man can lose almost a whole crop in a few days from insect infestation.

In this agricultural revolution into which we are so deeply plunged, methods and materials are changing and developing each year. What was good last season may be supplanted by something better this season.

The meetings Tuesday also will give a good look at something new in the thinking on weed control—by chemicals. It can well be that the man with the hoe is on his way to join the man with the cotton sack.

Chemical weed control has been tried on a small scale in the county already, but enough to show what can come out of it. As it is now seen, there will probably always be a place for some hand hoeing in cotton, just as there will always be some cotton picked by hand, but the cotton growing industry is looking for a better way, a cheaper way, and an easier way of cleaning a cotton field than by doing it by hand.

We revolutionized cotton harvesting in Collingsworth county in just one season. It may be the same will apply to cultivation.

NEWS LETTER from Congressman WALTER ROGERS

THE PLIGHT OF THE INDIANS

"Pockets of Poverty" is a phrase that you'll be hearing more and more as debate and discussions continue on the President's anti-poverty program formally presented to the Congress last Monday.

It remains to be seen how the Congress will act on the proposed "Economic Opportunity Act of 1964", the measure in which President Johnson spells out his plan for what he calls "a national war on poverty."

Committee hearings have begun on its provisions. No one can be certain how the American people and their Congress will view the proposed legislation, but this much is sure: discussions about it will bring to light many aspects of the problem President Johnson's program is aimed at correcting.

The President told Congress, "There are millions of Americans—one-fifth of our people—who have not shared in the abundance which has been granted to most of us, and on whom the gates of opportunity have been closed."

Many of these citizens on whom, as the President said, "the gates of opportunity have been closed," live in "pockets of poverty"—areas in which levels of income, employment, and education are extremely low.

Among the groups on whom the focus of attention is falling is that comprised by descendants of the "first Americans"—the American Indian.

Poverty is not limited to city slums and so-called "distressed areas"—it exists on the wide open spaces of east and west, on the lands Uncle Sam set aside as Indian reservations.

Philleo Nash, the Commissioner of Indian Affairs in the Department of the Interior, states the situation bluntly: "Most Indians are poor, desperately poor—as poor as anybody we know of in this rich country of ours."

According to the 1960 census, there were 552,228 Indians and Alaska Natives, 509,147 Indians in the United States excluding Alaska. More than half of the total live on reservations. Approximately 380,000 Indian people come within the scope of the programs of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, and most of these live on reservations in sparsely populated rural areas far from cities where industrial employment might be available. This is the situation affecting Indians on reservations:

• Unemployment runs between 40 and 50 per cent — seven or eight times the national average.

• Family income on the reservations averages between one fourth and one-third the national average. Average Indian reservation family income was $1,500 for 1962.

• Nine out of ten Indian families live in housing that is far below minimum standards of comfort, safety and decency.

• Average schooling of the young adults on reservations is only eight years—two-thirds of the national average.

• The average age at death on the reservations is 42 years, two-thirds the figure for the national population.

Indians, do, indeed, make up one of the nation's "pockets of poverty." Publicity concerning the Indians has centered on that small minority of tribes and individuals which have received enormous sums from oil and gas and other minerals. But the great majority of Indians lack the vocational training needed to compete for the few skilled jobs that can be found in their home areas. Unskilled agricultural jobs are growing fewer as more and more farmers follow the trend toward mechanical operations.

A young Indian adult with no more than an eighth grade education is lucky to get a job of any kind—but he must generally content himself with a low-paying job which leads nowhere in terms of salary and advancement. Much worse is the

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where Alaska's earthquake damage may be around $500,000,000, but no great urge to help has been shown by the foreign peoples who always get aid from us when they are disaster-stricken.

Half a billion dollars, though, is small change as federal figures go, so we really don't need any outside help to care for our own.

After all, very often, we pass out much bigger sums than that to foreign countries whose underdeveloped leaders get in a disaster state, like from need of new solid gold palaces, or new sets of sports model wives.

I see where Mr. Sargent Shriver has been named head General of the War on Poverty, which some of us poor folks have been fighting single-handed for a long time.

My young povert neighbor says he is happy to see a man in charge of this job who knows from experience how to overcome the poverty syndrome. And so he expects the first move in this War will be to vastly increase the supply of rich girls, so every poor boy can find one to marry.

My yes-but neighbor says the Job Corps project to put our least fit young men in training camps for their general improvement will cost more per year than it would to send them all to Harvard.

But you can see this is an irrelevant comment, on account of the Job Corps and Harvard are outfits with entirely different functions.

The Job Corps aims to take the unfit boys and turn them into useful citizens, whereas Harvard takes smart boys and corrupts them into bureaucrats.

Word is that some members of the Bobby Baker Sniffing Committee have decided maybe it had better go out of business before the situation gets embarrassing.

My partizan neighbor says this group has put on a very good show, but seems they have never been able to get a real plight of the Indian who has less than an eighth grade education or no education at all.

Through vocational training programs, programs aimed at improving housing, programs to improve grazing and agricultural resources, programs aimed at providing credit for business and individual development, encouragement of tribal enterprise, and school construction programs, the Bureau of Indian Affairs is tackling the arduous and complex, long-term job of helping Indians to help themselves into a brighter future.

CONTOUR FARMING EAST OF WELLINGTON

Herbert Bearden practices contour farming on a field that has closed end level terraces, shown above, at his farm east of Wellington. A co-operator of Salt Fork Soil Conservation District, he points out contour farming will stop gully erosion and prevent soil and water runoff being wasted to silt up a stream. It is the amount of moisture that goes into the soil that counts, points out Bob Crawford, work unit conservationist of Soil Conservation Service.

Couples Tour State Points

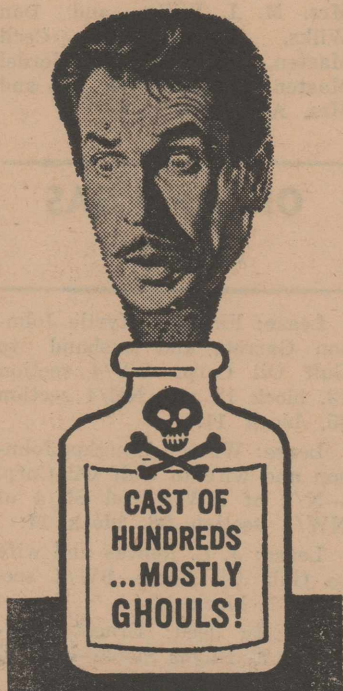

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Needham, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clifton of Dumas, have returned from two weeks vacation over Texas.

Leaving Wellington March 16 they went down-state on Highway 83, then across South Texas to Corpus Christi to visit Mr. and Mrs. Dayle Needham and family. They were there a week seeing points of interest, going out into the Gulf on Capt. Clark's double deck fishing boat, and seeing 15 to 20 pound fish pulled in.

On Sunday, March 22, they went up the coast to Mt. Belview and Baytown, where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fudge and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hedger and family and Mr. and Mrs. Marece Beh. The three women are sisters of Mrs. Needham and Clifton.

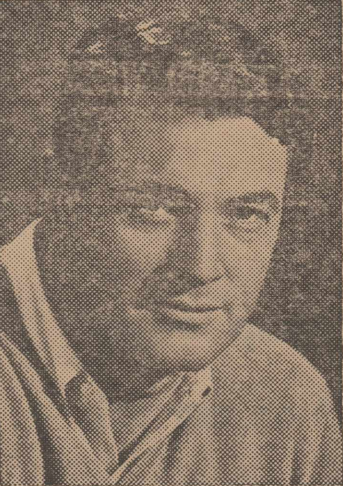

A week in that area saw them visit points of interest including the 486 foot San Jacinto monument and the Battle-ship Texas, the NASA space center, and Galveston. The four returned through East Texas to visit a 74-year-old uncle near Texarkana. They drove more than 2,000 miles and the road from Wellington to Childress was the only one they passed over twice.

Quail FHA Honors Fathers at Banquet

Quail Future Farmers honored their fathers and other guests at the annual banquet Thursday evening, April 2.

The guest speaker was Royce Bottiford, member of the farm department of KGNC-TV in Amarillo.

Bottiford, himself a former FFA state president, reminded the boys that farming has become big business, and he pointed to the opportunities in agriculture awaiting young men. These, he explained, lie in the processing and merchandising of farm products, as well as in tilling the soil.

He urged the boys to continue their education beyond the high school level.

Two honorary members were installed, Raymond Ross and Travis McGuire, a rancher and farmer of the Quail area.

Frank Kennedy, vocational agriculture instructor, presented the awards to Future Farmers for outstanding work in various fields. These included:

DeKalb Award, Mike Mitchell; Star Greenhand, Robert Blevins; Star Chapter Farmer, Rodney Hill; Farm Safety Award, Smokey Mitchell; Livestock Farming Award, Dwane Campbell; also

Farm Electrification, Reed Souder; Farm Mechanics, Charles Boen; Public Speaking, Rodney Hill; and chapter scholarship, Stanley Gosnell. Johnny Carson received the $5 check given by the City State Bank for the neatest and most accurate record book.

General Douglas MacArthur, for whom the flags are flying at half mast today all over the nation and in distant posts all over the world, had lived a full, distinguished and incredible life when he retired as U.S. Chief of Staff thirty years ago. Yet it was what he did after he was sixty that will cause him to live on in the pages of history as one of the great military leaders of all time and the greatest military mind this nation has ever produced. He was a soldier by profession and a statesman by necessity and in each role he served his country with devoted dedication and brilliant and wise execution of duty. Patriotism, honor, loyalty, sacrifice, courage and self-respect were not only words to him. They were integral parts of his mind, body and soul.

Such a life fills you with awe and inspiration. It also causes you to wonder about the waste that compulsory retirement brings to our nation, and to ponder over the reluctance of business firms to employ people over a certain age. Many men and women have done their greatest deeds and rendered their best service to mankind after they passed the age of 60. So take heed and take heart you elderly ladies and gentlemen. Your most significant service to humanity may lie ahead and not behind.

Through the years there has been a certain percentage of talented students who were willing to settle for a passing grade. Here is an interesting little item bearing on the problem. "Davidson College, a small Presbyterian College located near Charlotte, North Carolina, has set up a new rule. Students with a grade average under that they are believed capable of achieving are now being invited to improve their work or leave." They are called under-achievers and are given until the end of the year to improve their grades or take their minds somewhere else for improvement.

Wellington is running over with championship teams this year. The latest are the Panthers, the girls team from Booker T. Washington who won the district meet and are now getting ready for the state meet.

Ran into my old friend Frank Cocke on the streets of Wellington Tuesday and learned that he suffered a heart attack last year. He is doing fine now both physically and financially. He has some gas royalties near Mobeetie. Explaining about his heart, he said it was the same type of attack suffered by Eisenhower and Johnson and then with the infectious laugh that has been his trademark through the years he quipped: "But my attack did not cause the stock market to fall."

Recently Louise and I went to Stephenville by way of Wichita Falls and last week end we went to Lubbock. About 15 or 20 miles south of Wichita Falls we passed a tremendously strong fenced ranch. On the north end a wrangle of quarterhorses grazed. In the middle was a drove of Longhorn cattle, bulls, cows and calves and on the far south end of the vast pasture was a herd of buffalo. Each group seemed to have staked off their own territory, but they were all in the same pasture. Coming back from Lubbock we sighted a herd of antelope west of Matador. Both times we stopped to watch. It was quite an eyeful of semi-wild-life.

Demonstrate Gopher Machine Here April 16

A gopher killing machine called a Burrow-Builder will be demonstrated Thursday, April 16 on two local farms, County Agent Cecil Regier announced.

One demonstration will be at 10 a.m. on the Jess Peters farm, two and a half miles north of Wellington, and the other demonstration will be at 2 p.m. on the Paul Starr farm seven miles north of Wellington. This machine is owned by the Rodent Control Service for demonstration purposes and will be demonstrated by a man with the Rodent Control Service.

Plans will be available to make this simple machine in a farm shop and would give a farmer a means of controlling gophers for about 50¢ an acre, Regier said.

The gopher does extensive damage to alfalfa in this county. He can only be killed in his underground runways. The Burrow-Builder builds an artificial runway and as it builds the burrow, it deposits 1½ to 2 pounds of poison grain to the acre in this false burrow.

As the man-made burrow crosses the real one, the gopher will go down them and eat the grain. On small areas the same thing can be done by probing down to the real burrow with a rod about the size of a hoe handle and depositing a teaspoonful of poisoned grain in the hole and then cover the probed area with a piece of sod to keep light out of the runway, the county agent said.

their campaigning. The Republicans will also hold an election this year.

My thoughts seems to be on schools and education this week. Here are a couple of paragraphs clipped from Thomas Thompson's column in The Amarillo Globe:

An article in The Ranger about the Amarillo College Speed Reading course says a college student should be able to read at least 300 words a minute without the course. After the course he should be able to read and comprehend about 600 words a minute.

Mrs. Janet Wall, instructor in the course, reached 700-800 words per minute. Mrs. Wall explained that because a person has conquered his habit of reading slowly does not necessarily mean his grades will rise. One of her students could read 8,000 words a minute and made D's in all of his subjects.

T-T
One reason youngsters "hate school" is they permit themselves or their teachers permit them to get behind in the basics. A grade schooler who can't read or who can't read as fast as the average pupil soon becomes frustrated and his frustration turns to hate. The same goes for the grade schooler who hasn't mastered the multiplication table.

Farmers Divert 27,952 Acres of Feed Grain

The 1964 Feed Grain sign-up ended on March 27, with a total of 492 farms covered by agreements and 27,952 acres to be diverted from feed grain production, Millard Brown, ASC office manager announced.

This compares with 411 farms participating in the 1963 feed grain program, diverting 16,902 acres.

If all the 492 farms meet compliance they will earn a total diversion payment of $413,993 plus a price support payment of $3.48 per acre (county average basis) on the feed grain planted which on an estimated basis will amount to approximately $87,000, making a total county Feed Grain program payment of $500,993.

Brown says his office does not have a final report on the National Feed Grain sign-up for 1964 at this time but for the report made two weeks prior to the final sign-up date, March 27, there were 20.9 million acres signed up to be diverted in 1964, as compared to 13.1 million acres for the same period in 1963, which indicates that there will be approximately 50% more acres diverted under the 1964 program than for the 1963 crop year.

Farmers participating in the feed grain program will be eligible for price support of $1.77 per hundredweight (national average) on all feed grains produced on the farm. Farms that do not participate in the program will not be eligible for price support, W. C. Harwell, chairman of the Collingsworth ASC county Committee said.

Herbert C. Martin

Martin Seeks Election as Associate Justice

I ask you to elect me Associate Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals in Amarillo. I make this request in the knowledge that the best interests of the Court and of the citizens of the district requires a change in the personnel of this Court.

I am a graduate of Lubbock High School and hold an LL.B. degree from the University of Texas School of Law. I have been actively engaged in the practice of law 29 years—22 years in Lamb County and the South Plains area and 7 years in Amarillo and the Panhandle area. By diligence and loyalty to my clients' interests, I have built an excellent law practice in both areas. My clients and my record in the Courts of this District are my best recommendations. I also served on the Court of Civil Appeals and as Associate Justice wrote 176 opinions of which less than 7% were reversed. These opinions reflect the character of my judicial ability.

The Court of Civil Appeals is composed of a Chief Justice, a Senior Associate and a Junior Associate Justice. The Chief Justice and Junior Associate of the Court, no matter how diligent and capable, cannot carry the case work required of the Court if the other Associate devotes a large portion of his time to outside diversions. I served on this Court until December 31, 1956 and the docket was in good condition during that time. The Docket of the Court was not only kept up to date but the Court disposed of many cases transferred to the Amarillo Court from the Dallas Court of Civil Appeals. Although the number of cases before the Court have not increased, this condition no longer exists. Instead other Courts are having to assist the Amarillo Court—thirteen cases were transferred from the Amarillo Court to the Waco Court of Civil Appeals on January 11, 1964.

THE WELLINGTON (TEXAS) LEADER
Thursday, April 9, 1964

More important than the mere number of cases disposed of by the Court is the type of justice under the law as reflected by the Court's opinions. In 1956, while I was on the Court, the majority of the Court, the then Chief Justice and my present opponent as the other Associate Justice, wrote an opinion styled "Stanley v. Stanley, 294 S.W. 2d, Page 132". This case reflects that a 40-year-old career army sergeant married a former school teacher who had been successful in the finance business. The sergeant contributed nothing to the marriage but, the undisputed record discloses, in six years squandered $84,044.63 of the profits earned by his wife's business. He also squandered $41,911.13 of the wife's capital investment. On dissolution of the marriage it was the sergeant's theory the wife had mingled her earnings, as community property, with her separate capital and through such commingling of her earnings with her separate capital, he was entitled to one-half of all remaining property owned by his wife. In the judgment of divorce, the trial court awarded the sergeant an additional sum of $29,881.89.

The widow appealed from the trial court's judgment and on appeal the Chief Justice and the other Associate Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, such Associate being now a candidate for election to the Court, agreed with the sergeant's theory and affirmed the judgment of the trial court awarding him the additional sum of $29,881.93. This opinion of the majority of the Court was directly contrary to the undisputed audit of a Certified Public Accountant who traced all funds and proved that all the wife's earnings had been squandered by the sergeant and a large part of her original capital and that her earnings were not mingled with her capital. As an Associate Justice of the Court, based on this audit and the applicable law, I wrote a dissenting opinion holding that the sergeant was only entitled to his equity in a 1955 Station Wagon for which he had traded an old Station Wagon owned by him at the time of the marriage.

Other similar and equally inequitable opinions were rendered by the Court acting as a majority and on which I dissented, but the above opinion is discussed here because the same reflects clearly and unequivocally the opposite points of view on the duty of the Court as held by me and my opponent for Associate Justice. The most essential element of every judgment of the Court of Civil Appeals should be justice under the law and facts. If the citizens of this district will take a few minutes' time to go to a lawyer's office and read the Stanley opinion, I am confident I will be elected to the Court of Civil Appeals by an overwhelming majority vote.

As a member of such Court, I never have and I never shall subscribe to the proposition that justice under the law and a citizen's property rights should be bartered for political favors. No Court judgment should dissipate an elderly person's savings of a lifetime where the basis of such judgment is a strained and superficial ruling under a highly technical theory not supported by the evidence. The personal rights of every citizen and the property rights of every citizen have always been a sacred trust of the Courts. This essential and vital element of our judicial system should not be lightly cast aside in order to favor a friend or political supporter. I am certain the present members of the Court with whom I would serve subscribe to the principles herein set forth.

I ask every citizen to support me on the principles enunciated herein.
