SIGNALMEN DEMANDING MORE MONEY

Trains Stop Rolling Across America

WASHINGTON (AP) — A strike by signalmen today paralyzed the nation's railroad system.

President Nixon quickly appealed to Congress to extend the contract of the striking unions until July 1 to provide time for more negotiations toward a voluntary settlement.

Both Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., expressed doubt Congress could act today to end the walkout.

C. J. Chamberlain, president of the AFL-CIO Bortherhood of Railroad Signalmen, said in advance he would obey any act of Congress.

ASK BIG RAISE

The union is asking for a 54 per cent increase over three years in wages averaging $3.78 hourly for skilled signalmen. The railroads offered a 42 per cent increase in 42 months.

The signalmen install and maintain electrical railroad signals. Chamberlain said the union's demand for extra pay is an "equity adjustment" aimed at raising their wages closer to the wages paid electricians outside the railroad industry.

Secretary of Labor James Hodgson said the union was demanding more money than most other rail unions already had settled for. He added:

"It is incredible that the half million employes of the rail industry should find themselves out of work and that millions of Americans should be subjected to service disruptions by this action taken by a relatively few employes."

SHOW RESPECT

Other large unions respected the picket lines of the 13,000-member signalmen's union which represents about two per cent of all rail workers.

As the President's proposal went to Congress there was a question how soon it could be acted upon. Only routine business had been scheduled for today and many members were not present.

In a message to the Congress, made public at the Florida White House in Key Biscayne, Nixon said:

"A nationwide stoppage of rail srvice would cause great hardship to all Americans and strike a serious blow at the nation's economy. It is essential that our railroads continue to operate."

The President called on the Senate and House to promptly pass a joint resolution that, technically, would have the effect of extending until July 1 the present contract between the rail industry and the signalmen.

REPORT TO ME

Nixon said Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson would work during that period toward promoting a voluntary settlement. In the absence of a negotiated agreement, he called on Hodgson "to report to me and the Congress by June 21."

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler noted this was the third time Nixon has gone to Congress for hurry-up legislation to avert or halt a coast-to-coast rail shutdown.

"The Congress has been responsive on this in the past," said Ziegler, adding that if the Senate and House act today, "very likely the railroads would be operating normally tomorrow."

NO SPECIAL PLANS

Pending any congressional action to halt the rail strike, Nixon also signed an executive order listing priorities "as guidance and instructions to federal agencies, to shippers and to carriers" on what goods should be shipped first. These included foods, drugs anl medical supplies, fuels needed for electric power production and some categories of mail.

Congress had made no special plans to handle the strike before it recessed for the weekend, and it was an open question how soon any legislation could be passed. It took a midnight session to put a stop to a one-day nationwide walkout by four other unions last December.

ONE DIES

Police Chase Ends When Cars Crash

COLORADO CITY (SC) — A charge of negligent homicide with a motor vehicle was filed Sunday night as a result of a two-car collision here in which one man was killed and three other persons, one a 2-year-old baby, were injured.

Dead is Jesus Garcia, 27, of Colorado City. Injured were Dr. J. Melvin Crymes, Colorado City physician, Johnny Franco, son of Alfredo Franco of Colorado City, and Rafaelio Franco, 17, also of Colorado City and the driver of the vehicle in which Garcia and the baby were passengers. Dr. Crymes was alone in the other car.

Franco was charged in Justice of the Peace Leonard J. Henderson's court and released late Sunday on $2,000 bond.

Police said they were in pursuit of the Franco car at the time of the collision. Police said they had been called to the Garcia home at 768 E. 6th because of a reported disturbance, but that Garcia left with Franco before they arrived.

Police Chief Jesse Browning said the high-speed chase ended when the cars collided at the intersection of Eighth and Walnut streets. Browning said both cars were completely demolished. He said the collision resulted when the Franco car ran a stop sign.

The Franco car overturned as a result of the collision and the impact spun the Crymes car around, throwing Dr. Crymes from his vehicle. The Crymes car was travelling south and the Franco car west at the time of the collision.

The child reportedly had lacerations, cuts and abrasions. Hospital officials said this morning that Dr. Crymes who received a broken right shoulder and multiple bruises and lacerations had spent an uncomfortable night but was not in serious condition.

Funeral for Garcia will be Tuesday at St. Anne's Catholic Mission with burial in Mitchell County Cemetery under direction of Kiker and Son Funeral Home. Service time was still pending at noon today.

He was born in Rosenburg, Tex., Dec. 22, 1943, and moved to Colorado City as an infant. He married Amelia Luera in 1965. He had been employed by a construction company and a machine shop.

Survivors include his wife, one son, two daughters, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Garcia, four sisters, and three brothers, all of Colorado City.

Nab Fugitives In Georgia

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Texas authorities want to question three men captured in Georgia last weekend concerning jail breaks and robberies in West Texas.

Clark County, Ga., deputy Billy Crawford said the arrests were made Friday after police stopped two women driving a car fitting the description of a stolen vehicle.

Three men were later arrested at a motel in Athens.

At Monahans, Tex., deputy Ben Keele said the names and descriptions of the three men fit three former inmates who were among seven who escaped from the Ward County jail earlier this month.

Four of the escapees were recaptured and Keele said the three men in custody in Athens "are the last of the bunch."

Keele identified the three remaining Monahans escapees as Robert Hart, 23, and James Simpson, 21, both of Atlanta, and Raymond Leon Harris, 21, of Tampa, Fla.

Keele said the trio will be questioned in connection with Texas robberies in Abilene, Midland and Monahans.

Georgia authorities said a .45-caliber pistol allegedly taken in the Monahans jailbreak was found in the purse of one of the women and that a 12-gauge sawed-off shotgun was found in the trunk of the vehicle.

Crawford said the three men are being questioned in connection with Georgia armed robberies in Harlem, Athens and Crawfordville.

Crawford said two of the men matched the descriptions of inmates who broke out of the Atlanta city jail last September.

Strikers Feel Pickets Will Be Called Off By Tuesday

A feeling that the strike would probably be called to a halt by the early hours of Tuesday morning was expressed by most of the Big Spring signalmen of the Texas and Pacific Railway and area signalmen who are picketing the local central terminal in cooperation with the nationwide strike of the signalmen's union.

"We expect there will be some kind of national legislation passed this afternoon, and the strike will be called off by tomorrow morning," said J. R. Bales, local chairman of the union.

However, the men will work two hours on the picket line and six hours off around the clock until the strike is settled, Bales said.

The strike began at 6 a.m. today at the Big Spring station as it did across the nation. There is a total of 10 signalmen from here and the area forming the picket lines that virtually have affected all the workers at the terminal.

The strike, however, has not crippled the rail yard as was expected.

"We don't have any trains backed up in the station due to the strike at this time. We had a train arrive in Big Spring from El Paso at 8:30 a.m. today and our crew of officials has already moved it out for Fort Worth," said C. E. Dettmann, division superintendent of T&P.

The only trains moving in the yard are being operated by a skeleton crew of T&P officials.

Not only has the Big Spring terminal been little affected by the strike, according to reports. The Burlington Northern railroad has been totally unaffected by the strike, according to one of the railway clerks, and there has been no picketing at the Dallas Southern Pacific and Cotton Belt yards.

Pickets were out at the Santa Fe, Texas and Pacific and Burlington Northern yards in Fort Worth and all other unions are honoring the picket line as in Big Spring.

Even the local rail women working as janitors in the local station, who are part of the clerk's union, are not crossing the line.

"We will be operating on a limited scale, but we will be keeping the lines moving. Our local switching won't be to the extent it usually is, however, we are making plans to service all the emergency needs of our customers," said Dettmann.

The last strike to be initiated by a rail workers' unions was on Dec. 10, 1970, and was settled the morning after the strike began.

Black Officers Called To Trial

OPELIKA, Ala. (AP) — Lucius Amerson, a Negro sheriff whose defense attorneys include a black legislator and Alabama's white attorney general, was called to trial in federal court today, charged with beating a Negro prisoner.

Amerson's chief deputy, Richard Coleman Jr., another black officer, also was summoned to trial on a companion indictment resulting from the arrest of Wilbert Dean Harris nine months ago on a drunken driving charge.

Jury selection was first on the agenda today.

Maximum penalty under the indictments charging violation of Harris civil rights is one year in prison and a $1,000 fine.

Harris' complaint that he was beaten by the two officers in Tuskegee last Aug. 22 grew out of a gun battle between Harris inside the jail and Amerson and other officers outside.

The sheriff said at the time that Harris pulled a gun while being booked on the drunken driving charge, disarmed a deputy, and then began firing. One deputy was slightly wounded, but the sheriff and other officers fled the jail and returned the gunfire through the windows.

Harris surrendered and it was then, he says, that Amerson and Coleman roughed him up.

Amerson has said his indictment resulted from the efforts of what he called "a band of willful men who are obsessed with the idea that black people must not hold office" in Macon, a predominantly Negro county.

City Dads Meet In Closed Session

A closed meeting of the city commission and city staff will be held at 5 p.m. today in the city commissioners room at city hall.

"The meeting was requested by three members of the commission as provided by the charter and will be on the subject of personnel, which under the law I understand to be a closed meeting," said Larry Crow, city manager.

The reason for and extent of the meeting has not been disclosed by city officials, however, in past meetings of the commission, both special and formal, there have been some previews as to its cause.

"We need to work more like a team and we need better routes of communication," Crow told the commission in a past special meeting to consider an increased water rate. "I need the direction of the commission as a group, but I have got to know what you think as a group so I can make administrative decisions in your behalf." Crow said in the meeting.

"We cannot go on butting heads here in these formal meetings all the while never getting anything accomplished for the city . . . we need to work more like a team," said Crow to the commission.

'The Explosion Made A Hole Big Enough To Put A House In'

The premature explosion of at least 200 pounds of a liquid explosive killed two members of a seven-man crew in an oil field accident Saturday afternoon about four miles south of Sparenberg. Sparenberg is near Lamesa.

The two men, Lance Casey, 27, Monahans, and David Laster, 34, Irving, were taken to the Branon Funeral Home in Lamesa.

The crew had lowered 2,000 pounds of explosive down the well and attempted to set it off. It failed to detonate and the two men drove up to investigate. Just as they reached the well the explosives detonated.

"The explosion made a hole big enough to put a house in and damaged houses half a mile away," said one observer. Two trucks were completely destroyed and debris was thrown more than a half-mile, reports said.

"We got a call at 5:35 p.m.," said Lee Thompson, assistant fire marshal in Lamesa. "An industrial motor, some cables and some tires were on fire. We finished about 9 p.m. We had two units at the fire and had no injuries."

A house owned by F. W. Beckmeyer across the road from the well, empty at the time of the explosion, had all the windows blown out. The A. J. Beckmeyer home, a half mile to the south, also had all the windows blown out and had the foundation cracked. The Bo Barkowsky house on a lease a half-mile due west lost all its windows.

There were unconfirmed reports of the blast slamming car doors a half mile away and singeing the hair of one of the men in the crew who looked out from behind an embankment just as the explosion occurred. It was reported he was knocked back under the crew truck by the force of the explosion.

Highway patrolmen Joe Gonzales and A. W. Kilpatrick were at the scene.

Laster's body was transferred to the Gaffney Funeral Home in Tacoma, Wash., and Casey's body was transferred to the Hammond Funeral Home in Monahans. Services for Casey will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the First Baptist Church in Monahans. Burial will be in the Monahans cemetery.

County Dads Close Session To Hear Of Harassments

Allegations that employes in the road and bridge department are being harassed and their job security threatened resulted this morning in a closed personnel session of commissioners court being called by County Judge A. G. Mitchell.

The closed session was set for 2 p.m. in Judge Mitchell's chambers. Commissioners were to review the charges with Kenneth Howell, business manager of local 826 of the International Union of Operating Engineers, Jim Edwards and Norman Bennett, legal counselors for the union.

The charges were raised after Commissioner Simon Terrazas attempted to forestall recognition of the union as representative agent for the road employes until further opinion from the state attorney general's office could be obtained.

PRESSING NEED

"As the chosen representative of the employes of the county road and bridge department, I have been asked to request immediate recognition of representation. They feel that they have a pressing need for representation at this time due to action that has been taken by this very commission," said Howell.

"I do not feel that delaying this matter will make anything easier in your minds or any body else's. It is a right that is guaranteed under law to any employe. We're not asking for anything that any other county employe could not ask for, and many have in other areas. There is nothing dirty about belonging to a labor organization," he added.

Terrazas replied that he was not opposed to the union, but he wanted to be sure that there could be no criticism of the court's action.

JOB INSECURITY

"Mr. Terrazas, do you have any idea why these men are requesting to be entered into the union? It is because they're being harassed and there is job insecurity and various other things," said former commissioner Bill Tune.

"We're working with the organization at this time, and your remark is out of line," said Judge Mitchell to Tune. Tune apologized for speaking out of line and asked that his remark be disregarded.

"I can say it as their representative that they are being harassed, and watched over and bird-dogged. This is exactly why they are seeking representation through local 826 to represent them. Again I point out to the court that these men are seeking immediate

Two Missiles Miss Gunship Over Laos

SAIGON (AP) — A North Vietnamese battery fired two missiles at a U.S. gunship plane 23 miles inside Laos Sunday, and another SAM site threatened a flight of American fighter-bombers.

None of the U.S. planes were hit. One of the jet fighter-bombers attacked one of the SAM sites with unknown results, the U.S. Command said.

A spokesman, Maj. Charles Johnson, said his records indicated it was the first time the Soviet-supplied missiles had been fired at one of the AC130 gunships, a four-engine converted transport loaded with special electronic equipment to detect truck traffic on the Ho Chi Minh trail. Johnson said, however, that enemy ground fire brought down an AC130 in the lower panhandle of Laos on April 22, 1970, and its 10 crewmen were listed as missing.

ON THE PROWL

The AC130 on Sunday presumably was on the prowl for North Vietnamese trucks when it was fired on.

The missiles came from a battery in the vicinity of the Ban Karai pass, on the North Vietnamese border about 31 miles northwest of the DMZ, Johnson said. But he said there was no U.S. retaliation to the attack.

The hour of the attack was not reported, but the AC130s usually fly at night because their special devices can seek out trucks in the darkness. The prop-driven plane is a version of the Lockheed C130 Hurcules cargo and troop carrier with a maximum speed of 360 miles an hour. The AC130 and another gunship, the AC119, have been credited with destroying more than 100 trucks during one night's attacks along the Ho Chi Minh trail.

FIRE RETURNED

In the other air section, three U.S. Navy A7 fighter-bombers were operating against the Ho Chi Minh trail 87 miles northwest of the DMZ when the radar system of a SAM site five miles inside North Vietnam began tracking them preparatory to firing, Johnson said.

One of the A7s fired one missile at the site with unknown results, and the three planes returned safely to the carrier Kitty Hawk in the Tonkin Gulf.

It was the 38th so-called protective reaction strike this year against antiaircraft defenses in North Vietnam.

In other war action;

The enemy fired five rockets at a U.S. helicopter base at Lai Khe, 30 miles north of Saigon, and slammed 10 mortars into a field position of troops of the 173rd Airborne Brigade on the coastal plain 265 miles farther north. Field reports said some Americans were killed and wounded and some aircraft were damaged. Two enemy gunners were reported killed when their fire was returned.

U.S. and South Vietnamese aircraft pounded North Vietnamese and Viet Cong positions in eastern Cambodia in support of two new South Vietnamese units along a 60-mile stretch of border ranging from 50 miles west to 100 miles northwest of Saigon. Allied communiques said 41 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops were killed, and no South Vietnamese casualties were reported.

Israeli Analysts Predict Lull In Talks With Egypt

By The Associated Press

Israeli analysts predict a lull in negotiations with Egypt as a result of the uncertain political situation in Cairo following President Anwar Sadat's purge of his Egyptian rivals.

They said until the situation in Cairo clarifies, Washington would be unable to pursue its campaign for an Egyptian-Israeil agreement to permit reopening of the Suez Canal.

Diplomatic maneuvers also will be hampered for the rest of this month because Premier Golda Meir will be visiting Scandinavia, and Foreign Minister Abba Eban will be touring Africa.

ARREST PLOTTERS

Israeli leaders took a restrained attitude toward Sadat's arrest of rivals he accused of plotting against him. The Israeli cabinet heard reports Sunday on Egypt's political turmoil from Defense Minister Moshe Dayan and the army intelligence chief, Lt. Gen. Haron Yariv.

No details of the cabinet discussion was disclosed. But specialists on Arab affairs agreed that Sadat's purge was prompted by internal political friction and not by his recent attempts to reach agreement with Israel on the canal. However, they would not speculate on how Sadat's shakeup may affect efforts toward a settlement.

The uncertainty felt by policy makers in Jerusalem was reflected in the lack of political declarations for or against Sadat.

SADAT HIT BACK

In Cairo, Sadat hit back at critics of his efforts to reach a peaceful settlement with Israel.

"We are seeking peace based on justice, not peace at any price as some people think," Sadat said in an address to Moslem religious leaders.

"We are following three parallel paths, the military buildup which is the basis, the political struggle and the construction of a modern state based on faith and science.

"We must purge our lands of the Israeli enemy."

The official Middle-East News Agency said Sadat continued his housecleaning by firing Communications Minister Kamal Henei Abadir and replacing him with Abdel Malek Saad, an engineer.

Purge By Sadat Improves Image

CAIRO (AP) — Few people thought Anwar Sadat had it in him to be a strong leader when he succeeded Gamal Abdel Nasser as Egypt's president seven months ago. His smooth and apparently effortless purge of leftist political foes has changed his image.

"He really showed he had guts by taking them on," said a cafe waiter. "Good for him."

"Good man, good man," commented a newspaper vendor in Cairo's fashionable Soliman Pasha street. "May Allah preserve him."

"Now we can breathe again," said an engineer, referring to Sadat's pledge to end wire tapping and other kinds of special police surveillance.

The government reported that thousands of Egyptians messaged Sadat their complete backing. Workers and students marched through Cairo's streets Saturday in organized demonstrations of support.

Sadat confronted a group of six ministers and three political bosses Thursday and arrested them because, he said, they tried to overthrow him.

Part of the approval generally expressed for the president's action arose from the fact that the ousted men, and particularly Interior Minister Sharawi Gomaa, were widely disliked.

Sadat followed his initial move with a thorough cleanup of top administration posts, replacing holdovers from Nasser's days with his own men.

Scores, perhaps hundreds of government posts, seem due to change hands. For example, Sadat fired six senior officials of the government radio and television stations Sunday.

The president installed a new commander in chief of the armed forces, a new interior minister, a new chief of intelligence, a new district attorney and a new speaker of the national assembly.

A new 33-man cabinet, sworn in Friday, retained Premier Mahmoud Fawzi and Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad. They have been prominent in assisting Sadat's efforts to reach a political settlement with Israel.

Sadat also said that Egypt's only political party, the Arab Socialist Union, will be reorganized to make it more representative. He promised "100 per cent free elections supervised by myself."

Sadat's new confidence was evident in his 85-minute broadcast Friday in which he told his story of the power struggle.

Mrs. Larson Lloyd Named To Volunteer Coordinator Post

The appointment of Mrs. Larson Lloyd, a local teacher and former executive director of the West Texas Girl Scout Council, as volunteer coordinator for Big Spring State Hospital has been announced by Dr. Preston Harrison, hospital superintendent. Mrs. Lloyd will assume the post June 1, soon after the spring term ends at College Heights Elementary School, where she has taught for the past two years.

"The cooperative spirit of Big Spring citizens and the citizens of neighboring communities has been instrumental in providing the hospital with an outstanding volunteer program," said Mrs. Lloyd. "My efforts will be toward the continuation of this program and toward developing additional means of involving volunteers in hospital activities. I am looking forward to working with Mrs. Gerre Reaves and other members of the hospital staff and with the volunteers who are making this service possible."

Mrs. Reaves, assistant volunteer coordinator, has been serving as acting coordinator for approximately six months.

Mrs. Lloyd, the former Margaret McAdams, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. McAdams of Dallas. Born and reared in Dallas, she attended Hockaday School for Girls at Dallas and North Texas State University at Denton. She graduated from Texas Woman's University at Denton with bachelor of science and bachelor of arts degrees, afterward doing graduate work at the University of Saltillo at Saltillo, Mexico.

MRS. LARSON LLOYD

MASTER'S DEGREE

Mrs. Lloyd was graduated from Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene with a master of arts degree in counseling and guidance.

Beginning her professional career with American Airlines, Mrs. Lloyd was employed by the company in Dallas, Phoenix, Ariz., and Washington, D.C., before resigning to become executive director of the West Texas Girl Scout Council, a position she held for 15 years. Based in Abilene, Mrs. Lloyd directed the development of Scouting in a wide area, including Big Spring, where she worked closely with troop organizers, leaders and the girls, themselves, in increasing active membership and participation in all phases of the Girl Scout program.

During these years, she also served as director of Camp Boothe Oaks, the established Girl Scout camp near Sweetwater which serves girls in this area. She represented the West Texas-Girl Scout Council at national meetings in San Francisco, Calif.; Cincinnati, Ohio; Miami, Fla.; St. Louis, Mo.; and Detroit, Mich., later being selected to serve as a Girl Scout goodwill ambassador in Copenhagen, Denmark; London England; Abelboden, Switzerland; and Madrid, Spain.

PUERTO RICO

In 1959, Mrs. Lloyd was chosen to conduct a service camp project for underprivileged children near San Juan; Puerto Rico, where she was aided by senior Girl Scouts from the United States and Latin America.

It was during her association with the Girl Scouts that Mrs. Lloyd had her first experience with the hospital system. Through her efforts, a Girl Scout troop was established at Abilene State Hospital, and she served as its leader for seven years.

While residing in Abilene, Mrs. Lloyd was an active worker in the Humane Society.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd, who reside at 2308 Roberts, have three children, Larson, 9, Lisa, 7, and Leslie, 5. (The household include six pets — two dogs and four gerbils.)

The Lloyd family holds membership in St. Mary's Episcopal Church, where Mrs. Lloyd began her teaching career in the church day school. Later, she was employed by the Big Spring Independent School District, teaching for one year at Marcy Elementary School and being assigned the past two years to College Heights Elementary School. She is a member of the Kentwood Elementary Parent-Teacher Association.

CIVIC WORKER

Still, Mrs. Lloyd has found time to participate in civic activities and service organizations as a board member of the Big Spring Concert Association, past president and drive chairman for Howard County Chapter, American Cancer Society; member of the program committee, West Texas Girl Scout Council; and member of the Cultural Affairs Committee, Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

A longtime member of Toastmistress, Int., Mrs. Lloyd was a leader in the local club and was chosen to represent the area council in regional competition. Through her association with the Toastmistress Club, Mrs. Lloyd assisted with that club's sponsorship of a Toastmixers Club at Big Spring State Hospital during the time the late Mrs. Hila ("Stormy") Weathers was volunteer coordinator.

This involvement increased Mrs. Lloyd's interest in the hospital and its patients, with the result that she served an internship in the out-patient clinic last spring while completing work on her master's degree.

New Group Is Installed For Society

Mrs. Ralph Wilson, Big Spring, was installed as president of the Permian Basin Dental Assistants Society Thursday evening in First Federal Community Room. Other officers installed were Mrs. Merle Prime, Midland, president-elect; Mrs. Lula Wilson, Lamesa, vice president; Mrs. Charles Summers, Big Spring, secretary; Mrs. Lydia Acosta, Lamesa, treasurer; and Mrs. Joyce Clements, Midland, and Mrs. Robert Smart, Big Spring, board members.

The installation was conducted by Dr. J. Glenn Allen, an honorary member of the society. Mrs. Allen was presented a gift of appreciation "for giving much of her husband's time to the society."

Mrs. Marvin Callahan, retiring president, was presented a gavel guard for her pin. Each of the new officers were given pendants featuring a jewel in the color denoting their station. The pendants were hand-faceted by Ralph Wilson.

The refreshment table featured white milk glass, crystal and silver, and the cake was in the shape of a rainbow to carry out the installation theme. Regular meeting will be discontinued until September, but a board meeting is slated June 10 in the Wilson home, 1219 E. 16th.

Collects Funds For Cancer Crusade

STANTON (SC) — The Cancer Crusade conducted by the Martin County Women's Auxiliary in the Stanton business district netted $382 according to a report made by Mrs. Owen Kelly, president, at a meeting Tuesday. It was reported that 500 shots have been given at the Free Clinic since December, 1970. One more clinic will be held June 2 then it will close for the summer. Mrs. Ed Lawson was welcomed as a new member.

Party Honors Miss Jackson

Miss Brenda Sue Jackson, bride-elect of Bruce Henry Kemper, was honored with a bridal shower Friday evening at the Bethel Baptist Church annex.

Hostesses were Mrs. Aubrey Lankford, Mrs. Loyd Underwood, Mrs. John Couch, Mrs. Paul Mize, Mrs. Carl Lockhart, Mrs. Dolores Sheffield, Mrs. Melvin Anderson, Mrs. Regis Fleckenstein and Mrs. Tom Lockhart.

The honoree, attired in a white dress, was presented a pink carnation corsage. Her mother, Mrs. B. W. Jackson, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Vela Kemper, received white carnation corsages.

Mrs. Mize presided at the guest register which was covered with a pink linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink flowers and white candles. The refreshment table had a white lace cloth with pink underlay, centered with a bouquet of pink roses. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Mrs. Randy Adcock and Mrs. Jerry Treadaway served.

The couple plans a June 4 wedding.

Bride-Elect Honored At Shower

Miss Kathy Neighbors, bride-elect of Danny Smart, was honored with a bridal shower Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Franks, 2517 Ann.

The honoree was presented with a white carnation corsage, as was her mother, Mrs. Aubrey Neighbors, and the future bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Robert Smart. Miss Neighbors was attired in a pink crepe dress with rose colored trim.

Mrs. Donald Lay and Mrs. Alvin Luce served refreshments from a table covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of bells and orchids on a background of white net. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Miss Frances Butler registered the 35 guests, who came from Midland, Brownfield, Lubbock and Big Spring.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Edgar Ray, Mrs. Bert Harris, Mrs. L. M. Stephens, Mrs. Tricy Butler, Mrs. Jackie King, Mrs. Fannie Adkins, Mrs. Ray Smith, Mrs. Lay, Mrs. Luce and Mrs. Charles Summers.

The couple will be married June 25 in the home of the bride-elect's parents at 2701 Carol.

Boydstun PTA Gets New Slate

Officers for the 1971-72 school year were installed by Mrs. David Hodnett at the Boydstun Parent-Teacher Association meeting Thursday. The new officers are Mrs. Bobby Moore, president; Mrs. Bobby Brasel, vice president; Mrs. Don Mincey, secretary; and Mrs. John Cline, treasurer. Outgoing officers were given certificates of honor for their services. The meeting was preceded by an ice cream supper.

RECORD HEAT

The record high temperature for May 16 was 100 degrees, recorded in 1966, until Sunday, when a record of 101 degrees was set. The record low temperature still stands at 42 degrees, recorded in both 1942 and 1945. Sunday's low was 68 degrees, 26 degrees warmer than the low. The record rainfall for May 16 is 1.40 inches in 1928. Big Spring had no rain Sunday.

Guest Conductor For Band Concert

Big Spring bands from the high school and the junior high schools will perform at 7:30 p.m. today in the high school auditorium.

Robert G. Mann, conductor of the Midland-Odessa symphony, will be guest conductor for the last piece, "America, the Beautiful," played by all the bands.

Mann came to the Midland-Odessa Symphony from the Atlanta Symphony, where he served for 15 years. He has been music director of the Midland Odessa Symphony for the last four years and has served as orchestra clinician at Texas Tech during the summer of 1968.

Mann is a composer as well as a conductor and a music director. He is a past winner of the Georgia Composers' contest, he has composed motion picture background music, film strip background and television music.

The order of the concert will be Runnels Junior High School Band, Goliad Junior High School Band, the high school concert band, the symphony band the honors band.

Tickets are $1 for students, $1.50 for adults and are available from all band students.

Mare Was For Sale, Not Now

"We didn't even suspect that the horse was ready to have one colt, much less two," said Mrs. R. V. Fuqua, as she showed off the feisty four-day-old twin colts.

The two little male colts nudged closer to their mother, a registered quarter-horse named Beauty Bea, as they made their way around in their brand-new home.

The birth of twin colts is no freak of nature or phenomenon, according to local veterinarians, however, it is nice that the family got two for the price of one and it doesn't happen every day.

"We had her, Beauty Bea, up for sale, but the people never did pay us for her and we are certainly not going to sell her now," said the proud owner. The Fuqua family are not strangers in the horse business, and own two other horses, one mare, Baby Doll, and one gelding, Spider.

"We did have five horses and we sold two of them. Now we have five again," said Mrs. Fuqua.

Three of her children are members in the Howard County Youth Horseman Association and the family have a spacious barn and area off FM 700 where they keep the livestock.

The two healthy ponies, tired from a full day of picture posing, decided to lay down for a rest and Mrs. Fuqua closed the gate behind them.

Co-Publisher At Sweetwater Unloads Stock

SWEETWATER, Tex. (AP) — Elmer Wright, co-publisher of the Sweetwater Reporter, and Homer Baxter, stockholder and circulation manager, have sold their minority stock interests, S. J. McBeath has announced.

McBeath has been co-publisher. Wright has retired.

The stock owned by Wright and Baxter was sold to the Sweetwater Reporter, Inc., of which Andy McBeath of Eagle Pass is president, J. J. McBeath of Sweetwater is vice president, and Mrs. Sam Tracy of Carlsbad, N.M., is a director and stockholder.

Wright remains with the Reporter in an advisory capacity and will reside here. Baxter remains as circulation manager, a post he has held since 1942.

Wright came to Sweetwater in 1945 as advertising manager and three months later was made publisher by the late J. S. McBeath. He previously was on the Temple Daily Telegram and Cleburne Times-Review.

Baxter has been with the Reporter since leaving the Port Arthur News as city circulation manager. He also has worked on the Denison Herald, the Dallas Times Herald and the Sherman Democrat where he started newspaper work.

Boating Is Safer

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP) — Boating accidents in the United States continue to decline, reports the U. S. Coast Guard.

Boating accidents in 1970 totalled 3,803. In 1969 the total was 4,067, while in 1966 the figure was 4,350.

However, fatal accidents were on the rise. There were 1,132 boating deaths in 1970 as compared to 1,058 in 1969.

THEFTS

An attempted burglary was reported at 1003 W. 3rd, in which the glass was broken out of the front door. Nothing was taken from the building, however, police officers reported.

The theft of a stamp machine was reported Sunday from the Holiday Inn. The machine was valued at $50, and $4 or $5 worth of stamps and $4 in cash was taken from the lobby of the motel.

A break-in at the 7-12 Store, 702 N. Lancaster, was discovered by officers Monday morning, however, it was not determined at the time whether anything was taken from the building.

COUNTY DADS

representation," said Howell.

"This door has always been wide open. We've got a policy here that the county employes can come before this court at any time," said Terrazas.

JOB JEOPARDY

"Let me say this in behalf of those employes out there. They feel that if they came before this court, they would jeopardize their jobs, and this is exactly why they have chosen local 826 to represent them," said Howell. "Nothing that we're asking for is illegal. It's just a matter of your honoring the county employes' request."

"In what ways are they being harassed and bird-dogged?" asked Commissioner Jack Buchanan.

"Would you want to get down to specifics?" returned Howell.

CLOSED SESSION

At this stage in proceedings, Judge Mitchell called for a closed session to discuss the allegations.

Prior to Terrazas' move to delay a decision of the recognition, County Attorney Bill Eyssen submitted his opinion on the legality of the union's petition for recognition.

"The letter is couched along the lines of 51:54 C (statute governing union organization). It is proper, in my opinion for a group of employes to select a person or persons to represent them," said Eyssen.

NO STRIKE

Eyssen added that the union could only be recognized as a representative agent not a bargaining agent in employe grievances. The union cannot threaten to strike to bring about results, said Eyssen.

Howell pointed out that the employes had passed a resolution waiving the right to strike and that the letter calling for recognition served as a disclaimer to the right to strike.

Eyssen said that the letter was in line with the statute on that point and merely restated what the statute said in denying public employes the right to strike.

In last Wednesday's emergency meeting with the union representatives, the commissioners had asked that supervisory personnel in addition to Hollis Randell, road and bridge administrator, be excluded from union membership.

CAN'T EXCLUDE

"In talking with legal counsel, the question had arisen about the exclusion of supervisors. I've talked to you (Judge Mitchell) some about this in private. The union's position is that under the law, we cannot exclude anyone. Therefore, local 826 is going to have to abide by the county's policy in regards to supervisors. Certainly, we reserve the right to grieve if any road and bridge employe should desire to become a member of local 826. We would have to process his grievance under the law," said Howell.

Eyssen said, concerning the employe's right to belong or not to the union, that he should not be discriminated against in any case, if the union were to be recognized.

In other action this morning, commissioners discussed the meeting in Lamesa May 21-22 of the U.S. Hwy. 87 Improvement Committee. It was decided that all members of the commission who could would attend the meeting. It was not announced which members of the court would attend.

Commissioners Court recessed shortly before 11 a.m. and was to reconvene at 1:30 p.m. to meet with Joe Pond to discuss requesting the return of all premiums paid since the first of the year on the county's personal property damage insurance.

The action is in connection with a reported ruling by the state attorney general that it is illegal for a governing body to use tax money to pay for such insurance.

V. H. Saladino, 25, of Fort Worth died Sunday in injuries suffered when his motorcycle was involved in a collision Saturday.

BULLET IN HEAD

Avelardo la Fuente, 25, of Amarillo was killed Saturday in the collision of a station wagon and an automobile. The acciden' occurred at an Amarillo street intersection.

Patti L. Karber, 20, of Perryton was killed Saturday when her car and a truck collided just east of Amarillo on U.S. 66.

Valera Wistner, 49, of Vidor was shot to death Saturday night behind a night club near Port Arthur. Officers hunted the assailant who shot the woman in the head.

Wiley Poston, 57, station manager at KLUF Radio at Lufkin, was killed near that East Texas city Friday night in a three-car accident.

DEAD CHILD

A 3-year-old San Bernadino, Calif., boy was killed Saturday near El Paso in a one-car accident which injured four other members of his family. The dead child was Carlos Guerrero.

Anita M. Gerlach, 32, died Saturday in a car-truck accident near Denison wrere she lived. The truck driver escaped injury.

Raymond Thomas, 40, burned to death Saturday at Houston in a fire which swept through a rooming house where he lived.

Jack Beard of Rockport apparently drowned Friday night in Aransas Bay. A search was launched after his boat was discovered abandoned.

A stray bullet fired during a gun battle outside a Dallas cafe struck and killed Faye Hunter, 25, Friday night.

Andres Ramos, 66, was struck down and killed by a car early Saturday at Corpus Christi. Police searched for the driver who had failed to stop after the accident.

POOL HALL FIGHT

Leslie Franklin, 31, was stabbed to death during a pool hall fight Friday night at Dallas.

Cynthia Ann Aguilar, 3, died Friday night of burns received in a fire at her parents' Refugio home Monday. A younger sister also died in the blaze.

Mary Kate Baxter of Houston was killed in the Bayou City Saturday night in a two-car accident. Police said the driver of the second car was to be charged with murder by auto.

Jesus Garcia, 27, of Colorado City was killed and two other persons injured Sunday in a two-car collision. Colorado City officers said they were following the car in which Garcia was a passenger when the accident occurred at a city intersection.

President Signs Marriage Paper

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon returns to Washington tonight after a long weekend at his Florida home.

The President flew here Friday with H.R. Haldeman, the White House chief of staff; speechwriter Raymond Price Jr. and special assistant Roger Johnson, an old friend.

Nixon worked at his bayside home on a damp and overcast Sunday after dining out Saturday night, and giving a young Miami married couple something to show their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. James Pearson were celebrating their marriage with friends at the same restaurant. Owner Cye Mandel asked the President if he would mind signing the Pearsons' marriage license. The chief executive willingly obliged.

Says 'Ego Trips' Threaten Credibility Of Journalists

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Journalists who warp the facts with "ego trips" of personal opinion threaten the credibility of their profession, Wes Gallagher, general manager of The Associated Press, says.

"There could be no more destructive development to journalism than to abandon objectivity," Gallagher said.

He spoke Sunday at the dedication of the Kent Cooper Room at the Indiana University Library. Cooper, a native of Columbus, Ind., was general manager of The AP from 1925 to 1951.

"Byline journalism ... today has been disrotted by a few writers in the journalistic field into ego trips which threaten the credibility of the profession," Gallagher said. "They devote tens of thousands of words to their inner reactions to their news event, practice amateur psychoanalysis of the motives of the participants, including themselves, and interpret it in the light of their own prejudices.

"If they don't bore the reader to death, they infuriate rather than inform him."

"It is not difficult, but it is highly unpopular, because if you truly write an objective story on many of the issues of today, you will be disliked and probably denounced by all sides you are writing about," he said, adding that the expression of opinion has "a legitimate place" in columns of opinion.

Sarah Gibbs Cooper, the widow of the general manager, joined Paul Miller, president of The AP and chairman and chief executive officer of Gannett newspapers of Rochester, N.Y., and Indiana President Dr. John Ryan at the ceremonies.

A GAS outdoor grill gives food a tangy outdoor flavor without the time and bother of charcoal fire. Char-broiled flavor comes from the smoke of meat juices dripping on hot briquets. Charcoal itself provides no flavor.

Permanent ceramic briquets in the gas grill reach cooking heat in a few minutes, and there is no long wait to start cooking. The heat is regulated manually so there is no need to move a grill up or down.

COMBAT VET WITH ARMY DEBT

Soldier's Lament

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michael Haley is getting his discharge from the military next month after a second combat tour in Vietnam, but the Army is marking his debt to his country as unpaid.

The service says Spec. 4 Haley owes $3,724 because of a financial mess resulting from a five-month wait for orders a year ago.

WAITED IN VAIN

Until the situation is straightened out, Haley is giving up his salary except for $40 a month for his wife. "He's been told he can have $25 a month for himself but so far he hasn't requested it," the Army said.

Haley's pay, the Army says, is $330.90 a month plus $65 for combat duty. As a Spec. 4 with less than four years service, it is mandatory that his dependents get $40 of that amount. The Army provides them another $130.60 not counted in his basic pay.

Haley, 23, of Champaign, Ill., stirred things up when he told an Associated Press reporter in Vietnam last year the Army was asking him to return the money he was paid during the 128 days it listed him as absent without leave—a period in which he says he waited in vain for duty orders.

SPEC 4 MICHAEL HALEY, 23

TALE OF WOE

As a result of the publicity, the Army began looking into Haley's tale of woe.

He had finished a one-year tour in Vietnam in 1967 and came home with hepatitis. After five months in military hospitals he was told to go home and await orders.

Haley said a personnel officer told him he would be stationed at Ft. Carson, Colo., about Sept. 1 of that year, so—without orders—he moved his family there, rented a house and reported for duty.

He said he was told he couldn't report without orders, "to go home and wait."

After trying for five months to trace the orders while shuffling between Illinois and Ft. Carson, he finally had a blackout at the fort, Haley said, and found himself back home. Meanwhile, his orders arrived.

'BLACKOUT' TRIP

At that point, he contacted an aide to Rep. William L. Springer, R-Ill., who had been sympathetic to his problems, and was advised to report again to Carson, which he did.

He was finally processed Feb. 2, 1970. The Army charged him with "excess leave" for the period Sept. 3, 1969 to Jan. 7, 1970, and as AWOL during is "blackout" trip from Jan. 13 to Feb. 1. He was told he had to pay back the money he received, meanwhile, for the five months.

Shortly afterward, Haley volunteered for his second tour in Vietnam went there last November and told his story to The AP. Soon thereafter, the Army said it had goofed "due to "administrative error."

So the Sept. 3, 1969, to Jan. 6, 1970, absence was changed from "excess leave" to "authorized absence—not chargeable as leave." However, the "blackout" period remained AWOL and his release date was set back from May 3 to June 3 this year.

JUST WANDERING

But then the Army found that during the months he was wandering, Haley obtained from pay which the Air Force neglected to report to the Army. Also it found that allotments Haley had made through the Army Finance Center in Indianapolis also were not deducted from his unit pay file.

Then it found that on the basis of promotion orders sent from Ft. Carson to Vietnam and later ruled invalid, Haley was paid the rate for a Spec. 5 rather than a Spec. 4. So he was charged for another $545.

The Army said Tuesday that Haley's debt at that point amounted to $5,813.27. The amount he had paid back under the original mixup, was credited on his debt, leaving him owing $3,724.99.

FAR FROM OVER

This he began paying back in February. At about $365 a month it would take him at least 10 months to clear the books, and he can only make four payments before his discharge. People in his hometown are helping out with a collection in his behalf and there is a chance the military may forgive some of the money.

The Army can't keep him beyond his June 3 discharge since he's accused of no wrongdoing. But though he comes home soon from Vietnam, his woes with the military apparently are far from over.

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1—Neither vulnerable. As South you hold:
♠Q 9 5 3 ♡4 ◇K 7 6 5 ♣J 6 5 3
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four spades. Your raise is a good one valuing to 10 points in support counting high cards and distribution. If you merely return to three spades, partner may feel obliged to pass.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠7 ♡Q 10 9 7 ◇A J 5 4 ♣A Q 9 4
The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	Dble.	2 ♠	?

What do you bid?

A.—A white lie is in order in the form of a three spade bid. There is no other adequate call. Holding 15 points, opposite a partner who is strong enough to double, you should seriously contemplate the possibilities of a slam in one of your three suits. The best procedure is to force partner to select the suit by making a cue bid, even tho it involves a little poetic license about your spade holding.

Q. 3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A J 8 6 ◇9 7 5 3 ♣K Q J 8 2
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♡	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♡	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♡	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—You have already indicated possession of a good hand by bidding two clubs and following up with a bid of two spades. Yet partner was unable to take any drastic action, indicating that he has a minimum hand with length in hearts. It appears, therefore, that there cannot be a sound play for game. Discretion calls for a pass, for without a heart in your hand it would be highly unsound to try three no trump, especially without a diamond stopper.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A ♡J 2 ◇K J 5 4 ♣A K J 10 9 3
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	1 ♠	2 ◇	2 ♠

What do you bid now?

A.—A cue bid of three spades is clearly indicated. If partner now shows heart control and you check for aces and find that he has two, you will have a reasonable grand slam bid in diamonds. In the circumstances, he should have a good diamond suit, and there should be no difficulty in setting up the clubs for any necessary discards.

Q. 5—You are South, vulnerable, and hold:
♠Q ♡K Q 10 6 3 ◇A 7 4 ♣Q J 9 2
The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 ◇	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♡
Pass	2 ♠	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—In view of the fact that partner made a vulnerable overcall, you ought not abandon hope for game without one more try. The suggested call is two no trump. If partner does not then contract for game you may relax in the knowledge that you have done your full duty.

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K 9 6 ♡Q 10 4 3 ◇A J 4 2 ♣9 5
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♡	Dble.	Rdbl.	2 ◇
Pass	3 ♣	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Inasmuch as you have already shown an above average hand by redoubling, it is enough for you now to bid just three hearts.

Q. 7—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A 3 ♡A K J 10 7 2 ◇8 3 ♣5 4 2
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	Pass	2 ◇	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Two hearts. It is true that this call represents an underbid of the values held, but there is a reasonably good chance that partner will bid again, inasmuch as he designated at least an average hand by his two diamond response.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠Q 4 ♡Q 10 ◇K 9 7 6 ♣A J 9 7 2
The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
1 ♡	Pass	Pass	1 ♠
2 ♣	Dble.	2 ♡	Dble.
Pass	Pass	Pass

What is your opening lead?

A.—From your holding and the bidding, it is probable that dummy will come down with practically nothing in high cards, be short in clubs, and have two or three hearts. To eliminate club ruffs in dummy, you must attack with trumps, and the best time is right now. Lead a heart.

Miss Mexico Puts Shots On Target

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico's candidate for the 1971 Miss Universe title is a former shotput champion who had to borrow a bathing suit to enter the Miss Mexico contest.

Maria Luisa Lopez Corzo, crowned Miss Mexico Saturday, was the last entry in an elimination to choose representatives from the federal district. "A friend told me to do it and found the bathing suit," she explained.

The 21-year-old secretary at the Senate Press Office was a national shot put champion in 1964 and won that event, as well as the discus and javelin throw in competition sponsored by the Mexican Banking Association in 1967, 1968 and 1969.

But her beauty did not go unnoticed. In 1969, Miss Lopez took second place in the Miss Caribbean tourism contest in Santo Domingo. She stands 5 feet, 5 inches, weighs 123 pounds and measures 35-23-35.

"I am happy from the first 'smog' of the morning until the last sigh at night," said Miss Lopez.

The new Miss Mexico admitted that the $800 monthly she will receive along with other prizes will be welcome.

"When I buy a pair of shoes I always think of how many dresses they will match," she commented.

With the new salary, she said, "I believe all will be different and above all I will be able to help my family more."

One of 11 children, Miss Lopez spent part of her childhood in an orphanage and now lives with a sister in Mexico City.

Angela Loses Brandeis Race

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — Black militant Angela Davis, 1965 graduate of Brandeis University, has been rejected for the presidency of the Brandeis Alumni Association.

Results of the voting announced Sunday showed the alumni re-elected Morton L. Ginsberg, a New York lawyer, to a second two-year term as president.

Ginsberg, a 1956 graduate of Brandeis who was elected to his first term in 1969, polled 2,489 votes to 793 for Miss Davis. The university has about 6,000 alumni.

Miss Davis, a former instructor at the University of California at Los Angeles, faces trial in California in connection with a shooting in San Rafael, Calif., courthouse last August in which a judge, two prisoners and another person were killed.

CRIME CONTROL BILL CRITICIZED

Motivated By Politics?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin says the Nixon administration's latest crime control bill is unconstitutional and motivated by politics rather than practicality.

The North Carolina Democrat and constitutional expert said the Nixon administration wants only to "impress on the American people the idea that the Justice Department is concerned about so-called law and order."

PROTEST THE PUBLIC

"They just want to make it appear to the American people that the Nixon administration is attempting to lock up all the dangerous criminals," the 74-year-old Ervin said in an interview.

The administration bill, sent to Capitol Hill Friday, would allow pretrial without bail for up to 60 days of persons accused in dangerous or organized federal crimes. That feature is among the most controversial in the recently-enacted law covering the District of Columbia.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said the measure is designed to "protect the public" and added pretrial detention would not be imposed until "after a hearing with appropriate procedural safeguards."

Its use, Mitchell said, would be limited to defendants convicted of a felony within the past 10 years, those charged while free on bail from another charge or on parole or probation from other felonies, and drug addicts.

TOUGH LUCK

Ervin charged that in addition to being unconstitutional, preventive detention as Mitchell wants it simply would not be effective in fighting crime.

"I believe the attorney general is of sufficient intelligence to know what trying to fight crime by preventive detention is about as practical as trying to empty the Atlantic Ocean with a quart cup."

Ervin said a Bureau of Standards study made in the District of Columbia over a four-week period in 1968 showed that "only 5 per cent of those people charged are re-arrested within an 18-month period.

"And virtually all who committed crimes while on bail from a different charge did so after 60 days"—the administration's proposed limit for detaining suspects prior to trial."

It subjects people to the dangerous possibility and certainty that multitudes of innocent people will be detained," he said.

Penny-Pincher Is Needed

Remember A. Ernest Fitzgerald, the Pentagon effeciency expert who was fired for doing his job too well? He's the man who blew the whistle on the cost overruns on the C5 and is still fighting to get his job back.

Although the Air Force said Fitzgerald was discharged as an "economy measure," the former cost control expert is finding out more about how and why he was fired.

As part of the proceedings, the Civil Service Commission had to turn Fitzgerald's investigative file over to him. Among "charges" against him in the file he found that Air Force investigators called him "stubborn" and a "penny-pincher."

The "penny-pincher" rating stemmed from his ownership of an old American economy car. Fitzgerald still drives the 1960 model auto and doesn't plan to change because it still runs well.

Since Fitzgerald's job was to monitor costs of multi-billion dollar projects, "penny-pinching" would seem to be a meritorious trait. Stubbornness devoted to saving taxpayers' dollars, also would seem favorable.

Fitzgerald's major sin was to tell Congress that the C5 was costing more than $2 billion more than originally estimated. The Air Force later cut its order from 115 planes to 81, because of the costs.

With cost overruns still showing up in other programs, the Pentagon should welcome Fitzgerald back, with apologies and back pay. There is a need for a stubborn penny-pincher who isn't afraid to tell the truth.

Your No. 1 Job Tuesday

One final reminder — Tuesday is the day to decide on four proposed constitutional amendments. And you are the one who has a responsibility for deciding, so don't let your neighbor or someone you don't know decide the issues for you. Be sure voting is your first order of business Tuesday.

Amemdments No. 1 would establish a state legislature ethics commission (independent of the legislature), but it also could recommend about legislator pay; No. 2 would permit special as well as regular sessions of the legislature to propose constitutional amendments; No. 3 would erase the aid ceiling to those unable to provide for themselves (the blind, aged and disabled) and raise the ceiling for dependent children; No. 4 would authorize $100 million in state bonds to enable cities to borrow and thus qualify for almost twice federal grants for providing adequate sewage treatment plants.

Health And Safety

Omar Burleson

WASHINGTON — Mae West reportedly once said it seemed that anything worth doing was either immoral, illegal or fattening.

It appears that these first two concerns are not as great as they were in Miss West's heyday. There must be, however, a continuing worry over being too fat. Weight-reducing gadgets of numerous varieties have reached sales of over a billion dollars a year and new methods are being advertised in each issue of national magazines.

ACCORDING TO reports on such things, reducing pills have declined in sales. Some were found ineffective and some proved to be dangerous. Many were forced off the market by federal regulation. The treatment of obesity in hospitals, under medical supervision is however, big business.

Probably as never before the American people have become more health and safety conscious. It must be the case since here in the Congress there is a committee on about every conceivable subject of safety — foods; drugs; medicines; pollution, industrial-automobiles.

THIS LAST ONE is really big too. In trying to help us stop killing each other on the highways at the rate of 55,000 a year, the government decrees setting rigid standards for autos. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration proposes that no car may be sold after July, 1973, without "passive restraints." Passive restraint does not mean belts of any kind, since these require the cooperation of the driver and-or passenger. What is meant by passive restraint devices are air bags that explode all around the automobile occupant in three-hundredths of a second on impact and bumpers that can absorb the shock of a 30 mile per hour collision.

NOT ENTIRELY "passive" but somewhat, is an idea of a gizmo that is supposed to prevent the drunk from starting his car. This would provide a combination of numbers which must be dialed in correct sequence before the ignition could be turned on.

The air bags, says the government's representative should cost no more than $50. The automobile makers say they may come to $500. A manufacturer's representative says the bags, to be effective, must explode with the force of about seven times as strong as a football kicked by a professional. They further point out that if only one per cent should be faulty and explode on the road accidentally, 50,000 drivers would be able to step on the brakes but could not reach the steering wheel.

THERE ARE LOTS of other ideas — maybe some good ones too — like a rear-view periscope set in the roof in order to see all around; a spill-proof gas tank and no-fade, no-skid brakes.

An interesting addition would be a gadget mounted on the rear bumper that by pressing a button would spit in the eye of the guy driving too close.

The best of all, of course, is to do something about the nut behind the steering wheel.

'WE DON'T MIND RAIN – BUT A FLOOD–?'

Troops And Politics

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — In the Congressional battle to limit the size of American armed forces, the politicians have acknowledged a fact of life. It is that military spending will be an issue with the shopper in the supermarket during the 1972 Presidential campaign.

Generally speaking, it is the consensus on Capitol Hill that the biggest contributor to the current galloping inflation is the billions spent to support the Pentagon in the manner to which it has become accustomed by the Cold War. Almost every influential legislator is getting into the act including — of all people — Mississippi's Sen. John Stennis, for more than 30 years one of the military's staunchest allies.

BELATEDLY, but unequivocally the chairman of the prestigious Senate Armed Forces Committee has come out for reducing the number of men in uniform. "Manpower is the main way" to cut the budget, says Stennis, pointing out that a cut of 100,000 men would save a billion dollars the first year.

However the issue is resolved, the American housewife will be better educated concerning the military manpower cost by next year. She will be bombarded by official Pentagon figures showing that 53 per cent of the annual military budget is spent on bodies. She will not need to be an Einstein to conclude that this cost has a direct relationship to the high price of pork chops.

THE HOUSEWIFE should be especially startled, and angered, by the tab for keeping 525,000 servicemen and their dependents in prosperous Europe — $14-billion a year. She will be reminded by such influential legislators as Majority Leader Mike Mansfield that at the height of the U.S. commitment in Vietnam we had only 25,000 more men in that unhappy country.

Since President Nixon can count votes without a computer, he will be forced to take another hard look at his oft-stated refusal to reduce the American force in Europe.

MANSFIELD WILL be courteous and reasonable-sounding as always, but at last he has commited himself to push hard for his resolution to cut in half the 4⅓ Army divisions now protecting our Atlantic allies. With both Mansfield and Stennis on the genteel warpath, and mamas across the country screaming about high prices, Richard Nixon will be on a political spot.

INDEED, Congress earlier took direct action to emphasize the rebellion gainst U. S. troop commitments abroad. For the first time in Congressional history, a bill reached the Senate floor spelling out the specific levels of manpower in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force. The present atmosphre on Capitol Hill is as close to isolationism as the country has known since pre-World War II days.

Politically, this means not only that Nixon is in trouble — it also strengthens those potential Democratic presidential candidates who have taken a bring-the-troops home stand.

LONDON (AP) — Constable Andrew Tait caught his first criminal on his first day out of training college. He was studying procedure at a court when he spotted a man stealing a top coat from the public gallery.

Study Of Mutual Funds

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Any industry that controls the use of $54 billion in assets is bound to create a public stir every so often, but the mutual fund industry, which has attained that size, has roiled the waters time after time.

It takes little effort to recall the legislative hearings that led to stiffer regulation, the criticisms about the quality of performance, the accusations about overcharges, their dumping of shares and so on.

In a quieter way, the industry is now provoking a lot of discussion within the financial community, specifically in regard to matters of advertising, liquidity and redemptions.

A quick personal survey will show that mutual fund advertising is dull and often uninformative. One current ad, as an example, carries this less than smashing message:

"A no-load fund. Investing in stocks selected for long term growth possibilities. Individuals and institutions are invited to request free prospectus."

It isn't that they don't know how to write snappy copy—you might be seeing some of it before long. The problem is with regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission that thwart creativity.

The industry has been smarting under this impediment, and one can presume that it decided to act after a survey for its trade association, the Investment Company Institute, showed that:

Some 44 million American families do not know about mutual funds . . . 58 million families do not own funds . . . 14 million families are aware of funds but still do not own any.

The campaign is on now to loosen the regulations. Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J. told an institute meeting that he hopes the restrictions will be relaxed and that he might even support legislation to that end.

Anxiety about the liquidity status, or the percentage of assets kept in cash or securities easily converted to cash, comes mainly from without the industry.

Less than a year ago the funds had close to 12 per cent of assets in liquid form. By November this had dropped to 9.1 and by the end of the first quarter of this year to 6.2 per cent. Many funds had much lower ratios.

Different interpretations can be put on these percentages. Some say the ratio should fall as the market rises because the funds should be committing their cash to stocks growing in value. Others maintain the ratio should be high when the market has risen, indicating profit-taking.

That discussion sometimes becomes so academic as to prove nothing. But what concerns some market observers and participants is that should some funds be forced to redeem their shares suddenly they might not be able to do so without problems.

Such funds could, it is said, be forced to sell their investments in stocks at unattractive prices — even take losses. Such a process could feed on itself. It has happened before.

And that brings up the third matter, that of redemptions. They've been rising, not ominously but at a rate that bears watching. Sales stagnated in the first quarter but redemptions rose to $989 million from $841 million a year earlier.

Memory As A Companion

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is the best companion of all.

Unlike a cat, it does not have to be fed and pampered. Unlike a dog, it does not bark or have to be taken for a walk at the end of a leash.

Unlike another human being, it does not go away from you or lie down and die just when you need it most.

No, memory is the finest possible companion. It rarely intrudes, asks nothing for itself, and willingly extends its solace at any hour and silently holds out a helpful arm to tide one through any trouble.

You've got a good mixture of memories yourself if you can look back and remember when—

Half the people in America still kept chickens in the backyard, and one of the occupational problems of a burglar was how to prowl without waking up roosters.

A juvenile delinquent was a kid who, after eating a banana, would carefully place the skin, slippery side down, just off a curbstone in hope that a passing grownup would step on it.

Sooner or later every dog got fleas, sooner or later most kids came home from school with lice in their hair. Then their squirming heads had to be shaved and anointed with kerosene.

A fellow could give his best girl a box of chocolates and get a grateful kiss from her instead of a lot of whining about how he had wrecked her diet.

Unless an unusually interesting dogfight got started outside in the street, most people in America began yawning about 9:30 p.m.

In many small towns the local furniture dealer also sold coffins, discreetly kept in a separate small room at the back of the store.

Even some doctors felt that if you ate fish and drank milk at the same meal you ran a grave risk of being poisoned.

Folks going out for an evening hated to lock their doors for fear a neighbor would feel hurt if he ran over to borrow something and found himself unable to get in.

Practically everybody was optimistic about the future and felt sure the world was bound to get better.

Those were the days—remember?

The Youth View

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

A publishing firm completed a national survey recently circulated among high achievers (the elite among students) on the high school level and the results were sometimes provocative and always interesting.

Whether children realize it or not, people in industry care very much about what they are thinking, how they are conditioning themselves to take their places as adults in society.

IF MODERN youth is the most cynical in the history of the country, perhaps there is a reason. Perhaps they have been lied to all too often. Perhaps, too, they're not nearly as easy to "snow" as were the kids in earlier generations.

Eighty-five per cent of those interviewed were convinced that respect for our nation around the world had deteriorated as a result of our involvement in the Vietnam unpleasantness, whereas only five per cent reasoned it had been upgraded.

THE JOB President Nixon is doing got only qualified approval — only 52 per cent were prepared to applaud the chief executive's efforts whereas 42 per cent sat on their hands.

When asked if they thought law enforcement agencies were doing a good job, 43 per cent expressed a lack of confidence in the peace officers' word. Three of every four students interviewed favored the registration of firearms.

MORE THAN half the young people frowned on movie censorship and 44 per cent expressed the belief that the percentage of our national budget devoted to the space program was excessive.

Three of every four polled were willing to limit their families to two children in order to help control the population. Seven of ten considered themselves to be members of an active religious faith.

WHEN ASKED if they approved the use of LSD, speed, heroin or other drugs, a resounding 96 per cent said no. Only 22 per cent OKed the use of marijuana and 21 per cent conceded they would try it if its use were legalized.

Seventy-two per cent said they would not rat on their friends, if they learned they had a dope habit and three of four had come to the conclusion that the use of marijuana likely would lead to the use of harder drugs.

FEAR OF the so-called mongrelization of races is subsiding among the youth, if results of the poll can be believed. Sixty-eight per cent said they would accept or make a date with someone of a different race and 49 per cent would consider an interracial marriage. Eighty-four per cent would be willing to move into an integrated neighborhood.

Busing black children into white communities? Apparently the children think that an experiment being tried by the government that accomplishes no good. Sixty-eight per cent were against it.

Killing NATO?

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Proposals in Congress that American forces in Europe for the protection of members of the North Atlantic Treaty organization should be reduced by 50 per cent are resulting in much concern about such a plan.

In some of the Western European countires, it is being suggested that the United States hereafter may be expected to rely on its nuclear deterrent to prevent any aggression by the Soviet Union. The general impression is that the United States can hardly leave NATO undefended and in an emergency would have to employ its nuclear strength.

THE WITHDRAWAL of a considerable number of ground troops by the United States is occasioning a good deal of discussion both here and abroad, and it is significant that there has been a recurrence of talk about nuclear power as a substitute for conventional forces. This certainly was not intended by the sponsors of the legislation in Congress, who have been merely concerned with curtailing military expenses abroad.

THE SUPREME Allied Commander in Europe, General Andrew J. Goodpaster, left SHAPE headquarters Thursday to come to the United States for what are described as urgent consultations about the plan for American troop withdrawals from Europe. He said that the proposals by Senator Mansfield are a threat to both NATO and the future peace and security of the United States. He added:

"Proposals for unilateral reductions of forces amount to proposals for the destruction of NATO and of the deterrence and defense it provides. It will degrade the deterrent that ensures the state of peace that we have enjoyed here in Europe."

THE AMERICAN commitment to protect the members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is explicit, and they have relied upon the United States to carry out its pledge. The Western European nations are unlikely to be able to replace the American troops which are withdrawn. This means that the Soviets will be able to exert greater pressure than they have before. Not only can they threaten the Western countries, but they can take more extreme measures in Eastern Europe and run far less risk of encountering any interference from the West.

WHAT IT amounts to is that a new situation will be developing. The Soviet Union will virtually dominate Europe.

Congress, therefore, has a critical decision to make. Will it say, in effect, to the Russians that if they attack a member of NATO, American nuclear power will be used to defend our allies? It has been assumed that the United States and the Soviet Union were approaching a time when they could limit arms and perhaps apply restraints to the use of nuclear weapons. But if conventional forces are to be withdrawn which hitherto were required for defensive purposes, the way is opened again to the damages of a nuclear war.

STANLEY RESOR, Secretary of the Army, states the American position as follows:

"Our forces are not in Europe to protect Europeans who are unable or unwilling to defend themselves. They are there to assure our own stability. They are more necessary today than ever before. To weaken NATO would destroy the present stability and tempt the Soviets to pressure an adventurism which they now shy away from."

My Answer

Billy Graham

Please explain the difference between meekness and weakness. I've been told that meekness is a virtue, but weakness can be sinful. M.Y.

Meekness is an attitude of mind and spirit: it means mild of temper, patient when wronged, gentle, kind. On the other hand, weakness, in the spiritual, not the physical sense, means lacking in convictions, lacking in ability to overcome temptations. It also means an unwillingness to avail oneself of the strength Christ would give us. There is also a Christian paradox here. What the world calls weakness may actually be strength in God's sight. Paul wrote of a handicap which he had, a "thorn in the flesh", he called it, which he asked God to remove. But, God told him: "My grace is sufficient for thee: For my strength is made perfect in weakness". Evidently this experience made St. Paul trust in God's strength more than ever. Christ also tells us: "Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth." We may not understand all that this means, but it shows us that what the world calls greatness and strength and wisdom will some day be eclipsed and the man who humbly follows the Christ of Calvary, trusting in Him as Savior and Lord, will see His triumph and His eternal glory and power.

A Devotion For Today . . .

I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work. (John 9:4)

PRAYER: Dear gracious Father, forgive the scanty use we have made this day of the talents Thou hast entrusted to our keeping. Open our eyes and ears that we may become conscious of the need for workers in Thy vineyard. Amen.

'Okie' Pins Will Bloom In Big Spring Tonight

Those "Okie" pins so closely associated with former Gov. Dewey Bartlett will bloom in Big Spring at 7 p.m. today.

This spectacular event will take place in First Federal Savings & Loan Assn. building during a meeting of Howard County Okies.

Since he gave up the governor's office in January to Gov. David Hall, who made the "Okie" pins a campaign issue, Bartlett has spent a good deal of time acting like a contender in the U. S. Senate race next year.

Hall charged last year that the Okie pins amounted to a Bartlett campaign pin, and went so far as asking the attorney general if Bartlett acted legally in ordering highway patrol troopers to wear them.

During the peak of the pins' popularity, Bartlett gave away hundreds, and perhaps thousands, each month.

Now don't get the club wrong — it's not endorsing Bartlett — for anything. This is especially true since the Howard County Okies honored Hall by making him an honorary member of the grand ol' organization.

It's just that a few local Okies have the pins — some were purchased with hard cash and a few were given to them and they like to wear what they've got. What you see is what you get?

The mini-bloom will be followed by games and a covered-dish dinner.

It Rained Beans

JOAO PESSOA, Brazil (AP) — It rained beans the other day, Brazilian Rancher Salvador Targino insisted, as he showed newsmen and local officials the small vegetables that fell suddenly on his property.

That's what happened, all right, said Delmiro Maia, a federal agriculture official assigned to Paraiba state. Maia speculated that a recent storm swooped up a pile of beans from Western Africa and dumped them over Northeastern Brazil.

Targino boiled some of the beans and said they were too tough to eat.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Think about what you can do that brings you closer to persons, in touch with the conditions which can be most helpful to you. Then, work out a plan of action that can lead to greater receptivity to worthwhile conditions that you have not yet become a part of. Avoid the risky, unreliable.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Plan how to get in touch with advisors and experts who are best equipped to give you the support you need. A good day to be of service to others. Don't allow worries to take root.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You have a personal plan that others will gladly cooperate with you to put across. Ask for their help early. Evening is fine for social activities. Think in a practical vein.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Show higher-ups that you value their skills and gain their goodwill. Show own talents as well. Come to a fine understanding. Get into civic work that appeals to you and get fine results.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You are able now to envision best way to advance that has not been possible before. Make the right contacts. Plan a vacation you want to take in the near future.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Your hunches are excellent today, so let them propel you in right directions. Make the best impression you can on associate. Don't go off on any kind of tangent.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't hesitate asking questions of associates about what is expected of you and then mutual ventures become successful. A situation arises that will add to the popularity that you now enjoy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Your sense of beauty and culture is now great. You can do much to make your home or business place more charming and of greater worth. Shop with care. Fellow workers will cooperate if you are helpful to them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you plan to be with good friends, this can be an especially fine day for you. Attend social amusements that you enjoy. Showing more affection to mate is most important to harmony.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have been too independent at home and have been criticizing too much, so change your attitude now. Buy those items that add to comfort and efficiency at home. Take it easy tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Start making everything around you as perfect as you can, and then do some buying and selling that is important. You have a plan to present to an associate, so do it in a very precise way. Many benefits can come from this.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You need more money, so get busy on those projects that will give you added abundance. Forget recreation and stick to the practical. Improve your budget as well as any property you have.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) A good day to discuss plans with associates. Then, put them in operation quickly. They will gladly help you. Attend the social tonight and add new friends to present roster.

Poodle Party

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are the only young couple on our block who have no children, but we have two poodle pups we think the world of.

In a way, those poodles are our "children." We have toys for them, and all the neighborhood kids love to play with the pups.

Our poodles will be a year old soon, and I would like to give a birthday party for them. I would invite the neighborhood kids over for birthday cake and ice cream; and I'd have crazy ats and balloons just like a regular birthday party. I'd even take pictures of it. My question: Do you think people will think we are completely nuts?

CHULA VISTA

DEAR CHULA: No. Just "arf" nuts.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am going to be married in six weeks. A month ago I telephoned a girl who had been a good friend of mine at college and asked her to be one of my bridesmaids. She accepted. I hadn't seen her for about six months, so I invited her to visit me for a weekend. When she arrived, I was shocked. She is obviously pregnant, and says she'll be starting her eighth month in six weeks from now!

She is not married and has no plans to be. She told me honestly that she had had a "meaningful relationship" with a fellow at college and they broke up. She isn't exactly proud of her condition, but she's not ashamed of it, either.

Abby, I still love her and believe me, I am not judging her, but this is a small town and my family and friends would never understand an unmarried but pregnant bridesmaid in my wedding party. I hate to hurt her feelings, but what can I tell her?

BRIDE TO BE

DEAR BRIDE: Tell her you hate to hurt her feelings, that you still love her and are not judging her, but yours is a small town and your family and friends would never understand an unmarried but pregnant bridesmaid. If she loves you, she'll not judge you either.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I invited a friend over, and she wanted to make prank phone calls, but I told her my parents don't like me to use the phone unless it's for a good reason. My parents weren't home at the time, but my mother called and asked me to go to the bus station and meet my uncle. My friend said she'd rather wait in my room so I went alone. When I was gone she made a prank long distance call.

We got the bill a month later and there was a $6.28 charge on it for a call to Florida! My parents were furious and made me pay for it. When I asked my friend if she made the call she laughed and said she did. How can I get her to pay me back?

MAD

DEAR MAD: You probably can't. I don't know how friendly you are with this girl, but you gained a very valuable insight into her character (or lack of it) for $6.28. A bargain — at today's prices.

Exposed To VD

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had sexual relations with a prostitute I picked up. I regret having done it, but mostly I have a great fear that I may have contracted a venereal disease. Do you think I ought to go to a doctor and have him give me a test? If so, how soon after contact would I show symptoms?—E.P.

Instead of wringing our hands over the upsurge of venereal disease, and warning young people to "watch out for VD," perhaps we can accomplish more by answering letters like yours.

Let's take the two principal diseases separately. If you picked up gonorrhea, the more prevalent one, you would notice a whitish discharge, usually within a week. Its presence, plus discomfort on urinating, probably would have sent you to a doctor for treatment before I had time to get your reply into the paper anyway.

Modern treatment is very quick and effective — but it should not be delayed. Delay risks inflammation and scar tissue, including damage to the prostate gland.

Syphilis is a much more subtle affair. The primary lesion (a chancre, or "painless sore") may occur in two to four weeks, but this is rather variable.

Scrapings from this "sore," studied under a microscope, a technique called darkfield examination, may show the germs themselves — spirochetes. Then treatment starts immediately.

However, if you do not have this examination while that primary lesion is still present, the "sore" will presently disappear — but the disease won't.

The safe course then is to have a blood test (VDRL is a common one, although others are in use). This should be done 30 days after exposure, and again at 60 days after exposure. By then, you'll be sure, and either heave a sigh of relief or be treated.

After disappearance of the small primary lesion, a rash very often develops on the body, which is a second warning for those who don't do the smart thing and have a blood test. The rash, too, will disappear in time, but the germs won't, and will continue doing damage, ranging from arthritis to heart disease to brain damage, for the rest of your life.

We can talk ourselves blue in the face, but venereal diseases will continue to spread until enough people become suspicious enough to have early tests — and thus avoid spreading the disease themselves.

Note to Mrs. J.H.: The accepted pattern for giving flu shots is to give two, about two months apart, the first time, but to give a single booster shot if you had flu inoculations the year before. I do know that some doctors prefer to give two shots each year, sometimes using smaller amounts, but my own feeling is that a single booster is adequate.

* * *

How does VD start? Why are teenagers among its most frequent victims? Will it cure itself? Dr. Thosteson has the answers in his convenient, layman's-language booklet, "Venereal Disease: How to Avoid It; How to Cure It." For a copy write him in care of The Herald, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

LIQUORI TAKES THE "DREAM MILE" — Marty Liquori of Villanova throws his head back as he breaks the tape winning the "Dream Mile" over Jim Ryun (left) at the International Freedom games in Philadelphia. Liquori's time was 3:54.6, the fastest mile ever run in the Eastern United States.

Liquori 'Outkicks' Ryun For Dream Mile Victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Marty Liquori beat Jim Ryun in their super mile Sunday by challenging the world record holder in his specialty—an unbeatable finishing kick.

The one thing Liquori feared in preparing for the race was that Ryun would outkick him in the stretch in the feature event of the Martin Luther King Games. He thought Ryun was stronger and that if the race was close, nobody could beat the former Kansas star in the final 200 yards.

Well, Ryun was close in the stretch. He was a step behind Liquori with 200 yards to go. Surprise! Liquori never let him gain an inch and won by a step in 3:54.6, the fastest mile ever recorded in the eastern United States.

"We were both dead tired at the end," Liquori said after his greatest victory. "But I was lucky to hang on. I expected to have him flying by," he observed. It seemed as if Liquori was still surprised that he had outdueled the fastest miler in the world.

Ryun didn't think Liquori was lucky.

"Marty ran a brilliant race and I just followed him. I didn't underestimate his strength," Ryun said. "He knew I always was strong in the last 200 yards and with 100 yards left I saw him a bit heavy. Then I got a bit heavy myself and he held up."

Ryun too was clocked in 3:54.6, finishing well ahead of Byron Dyce, who came in third in 3:59.6. Reggie McAfee of Brevard N.C. Junior College was fourth (4:00.0) and Keith Colburn of Sports International fifth (4:01.1).

Late Rally Gives Talons Victory; Colts Edge Jets

Apparently out of it, the Talons rallied for seven runs in the bottom of the seventh to defeat the T-Birds 12-9 in an International Little League game Saturday evening. Time expired after five innings of play.

The Talons saw their early three-run lead melt as the T-Birds built up a 6-3 lead through top of the third. Hitting extra bases for the Talons were Carver, Foster and Shults; for the T-Birds were Diaz and Kelso.

The victory gave each of the teams a 3-3 record for the season. J. Foster got the victory; B. Mashburn absorbed the loss.

The Colts have established themselves as the scourge of the American Little League with a 6-1 record. Their latest victim was the Jets, by a 9-2 count Saturday evening.

After a scoreless first inning, the Colts went to work with a pair of runs and iced it in the third with three. Philip Ringener, Colt left fielder, got two hits, while Chris Burrow, Jeff Murphy, Clarence Palmer and Randy Crockett each had singles.

Danny Coffee, who was charged with the loss, did more than his part at the plate, getting two of the Jets' hits. Robert Parsons and Bobby Huff each had singles. Winning pitcher was Ismael Solis.

The Mustangs came up with a six-run final frame to beat the Tigers 8-2 in an American Minor League race Saturday. Marquez was the winning pitcher, combining with Doering to allow the Tigers only one hit. Cain was charged with the loss. Truette banged three hits for the Mustangs, and Lane, Trim, Eastland and Marquez two each.

The Tigers are 2-3, the Mustangs 4-0.

The Firebirds stormed back with an eight-run rally their last time at bat to gain a 16-16 tie with the Stingrays in an American Minor League game Saturday.

Christian had a perfect three-for-three record and Shortes also got three hits for the Firebirds. For the Stingrays Richard had the big bat with three for four, while Aldrich and Hodnett had two each. Hodnett whammed homer. Richards was the winning pitcher, Aldrich the loser.

The Blacks made things pretty dark for the Reds in a 17-2 American Pee Wee League game Saturday. They hopped to a 6-1 lead in three, then went wild in the last two innings. Haywor'h, aided by Rodriquez, shackled the Reds with only one hit, while his mates were combing Reynolds, the loser, and Bartosh for 12. Barnes clobbered one pitch for a homer and got another hit. Hayworth had three, Hoop and Rodriquez two each. Hughes got the sole Red safety.

A six-run explosion in the bottom of the first gave the Greens an 8-1 victory over the Blues in an American Pee Wee League game Saturday.

Salmon blanked the Blues with a no-hit pitching performance, while Lipscombe gave up six hits and was charged with the loss. Weatherman had three hits for the Greens and Shortes two.

Cards Split With Piedras Negras

The Big Spring Cardinals split a pair here Sunday with Piedras Negras, Mexico, taking the opening slugfest 19-17, then losing the nightcap 11-7.

An amazing total of 104 official times at bat was registered in the first game when the Cardinals piled up 22 hits and Piedras Negras 16. In that tilt, the visitors opened with a five-run blast and the Cards came back with six in the second. It was tied through five, the Cards out-rallied the visitors in the sixth, salted it in the eighth and choked off a Piedras Negras rally at two runs in the ninth after Sanches and Gaitan hit back-to-back homers.

Benny Marquez led the hitting with four safeties and Olague and Zapata had three each, while Sanches and Gaitan had three apiece for the visitors. P. Martinez, Tony Martinez and Billy Pineda each homered.

The Cards got 10 hits in the nightcap, but most of the power was in the lower end of the batting order, Zapata, Gamboa and J. Olague each. Sanches and Gaitan opened with homers in the fourth to pace a five-run rally that won the nightcap for Piedras Negras. Junior Mendoza was the victim and was relieved by Jody Flores.

Big Springers Capture Title

Eddie Trice and Terry Hanson captured the championship of the B division in the Bobby Holt invitational handball tournament at Midland YMCA over the weekend.

The A division will be played this weekend and Big Spring will have two teams — Don Farley and Tito Arencibia along with Pete Cook and Ray Thomas.

Trice and Hanson, the only Big Spring in the B round which drew 11 teams, clipped Barney Hightower and Hugh White of Midland 21-16, 21-17 in the opening round, then got Mac Christiani and Terry Rhodes, Midland, 21-14, 21-16.

In the finals they dispatched Joe Ellis and Jim Warner, Odessa, 21-12, 14-21, and 21-11 to meet the father-and-son combination of Jerry and Kyle Covington in the finals. The Big Springers won this in straight matches 21-14, and 21-11.

Big Spring is planning to host an invitational handball tournament here in June, and there will be three divisions of play. Among those due to enter is Bobby Lindsy, one of the nation's top five handball players.

Astros Finally Get Hits, Blast Cards

By The Associated Press

Just when it appeared the Redhead was dead, Houston Manager Harry Walker breathed life into slump-buried Doug Rader.

"I might not be out of my slump yet, except for Harry—he took me to his room in New York last week and talked about my problems," said Houston's third baseman dubbed "Red Rooster" for his flaming hair and gregarious ways.

Rader responded to the ego-building chat with his second, straight two-hit game Sunday—including six runs batted in on a grand slam home run and double to lead Houston over St. Louis 12-4.

Pittsburgh beat New York 4-2; Philadelphia axed Atlanta 4-3; Montreal clobbered Cincinnati 9-3; Los Angeles tripped San Francisco 9-6; and Chicago topped San Diego 9-8 in 10 innings in the other National League games. The second game of a Chicago-San Diego doubleheader was suspended after six innings because of darkness with the Cubs leading 6-3.

Rader, who admittedly doesn't like the Astrodome for hitting "It's too big—the ball doesn't carry there" ripped the third slam of his five-year career in the first inning off Jerry Reuss.

It triggered Houston's biggest splurge of the year—17 hits. The Astros scored three more in the third, two on Rader's double, and four in the fourth. Rader's six RBI tied a club record.

Houston ace Larry Dierker, notching his sixth victory in seven decisions, wasn't around at the end. He labored the first six innings, coughed up 13 Cardinal hits, and needed relief help from Jim Ray.

Richie Hebner, Manny Sanguillen and Bob Robertson stroked run-scoring hits and Dave Giusti choked off a ninth-inning rally as Pittsburgh beat New York and climbed to within two games of the Mets in the East.

Willie Montanez who earlier drove in three runs with two homers, doubled and scored the winning run on Don Money's ninth-inning single as Philadelphia held off Atlanta.

John Bateman drove in four runs with a homer and sacrifice fly to lead Montreal over Cincinnati.

Wes Parker's two-run homer highlighted a three-run eighth and Los Angeles struck for three more in the ninth for a comeback victory over San Francisco.

Jim Hickman's two-run homer in the bottom of the 10th carried Chicago over San Diego for the Cubs' sixth straight victory. The second game will be resumed Aug. 4, prior to the Cubs' next regularly-scheduled game with San Diego at Chicago.

Cool Rookie Beats Vet

HOUSTON (AP) — Rookie Hubert Green said he felt no particular pressure when he went to the first extra hole in a sudden-death playoff with veteran Don January for the $25,000 first prize in the Houston Champions Invitational Golf Tournament.

"Well, hell," shrugged the laconic, unflappable young man, "I'm walking down No. 1 fairway and I sure can't finish worse than second. Everyone else has finished."

He nailed down the top prize on that first extra hole Sunday, lashing a nine iron shot 13 feet from the flag and running in the putt from his unorthodox stance deeply crouched, feet widely spread, and elbows out.

The birdie won it over the 41-year-old January, a 16-year tour veteran and former PGA champion. January missed the green and chipped to about three feet before the 24-year-old rookie settled it. Green, who failed to make it when he first tried the PGA players school joined the tour only late last year. The victory pushed his earnings for the year to $59,300, $44,100 in the last four weeks.

Two Foursomes Tie For Title

A pair of teams split first place with 125 scores in the Big Spring Golf Association partnership tournament Sunday over the Muny course.

The neck-and-neck finish was worth $9 apiece to the eight contestants who split first and second places.

The winning teams were made up of Richard Pachall, Sonny Busbee, Charles Burdette and Boyce Hale in one quartet, and Del Austin, Don Horton, Jack Currie and Mike Steward in the other.

The foursome comprised of Jerry Barron, Willie Graham, Larry Jordan and Jeff Painter took third place with 118, good for $5.25 for the team members.

Added spice to the tournament came when Jimmy Shults, playing in the foursome with Max Pitts, Luther Thompson and Don Block lofted his four-run shot off the tee into the wind and rolled uphill squarely into the cup on the No. 10 green.

The next association tournament is set for June 6 and it will be matched play against par.

LOST BY HARE — Livening up Sunday's qualification attempt at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway was Harold J. Hare in the Rabbit Lightning Special. Despite being given the checkered flag by alert starter Pat Vidan, Hare was disqualified for going the wrong way around the 2½-mile oval to the delight of onlookers.

McLaren Cars In Best Spots

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Three gleaming memorials to the late Bruce McLaren, British auto racing genius, will start one, two and four in the 55th 500-mile race May 29 at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The new Mark 16 McLarens dominated the first weekend of 10-mile time trials to be completed next Saturday and Sunday.

Peter Revson of New York won the pole position and about $15,000 in cash and accessory prizes, with a record four-lap average of 178.696 m.p.h.

Mark Donohue, who had done over 180 in practice with a twin to the Offenhauser-powered Revson car, had to settle for second—the inside of the three-car front row—at 177.087.

Bruce McLaren's London factory staff has carried on with built-in efficiency since he was killed a few days after last year's Indianapolis race, testing a new car for the Canadian-American Challenge Cup series. He had left Indianapolis disappointed by the breakdown of his car, driven also by Revson, less than halfway through the 500.

Bobby Unser, 1968 Indy winner, prevented a sweep by the Mark 16s in this year's time trials, by putting one of Dan Gurney's Eagle-Offenhausers on the outside of the front row at 175.816.

The first 26 qualifiers averaged 171.458 m.p.h., compared with the previous record of 167.076 for the same stage in last year's trials.

New Zealander Denis Hulme, teammate of Revson on the McLaren factory team, was fourth-fastest at 174.910 and will start in the second row just behind Revson. Donohue's Mark 16 is owned by road racer Roger Penske of Philadelphia, who helped develop it.

Cubs Clobber Stanton, 20-5

Two men garnered three hits each and five others had a pair to their credit as the Tiger Cubs continued their winning ways in whipping Stanton 20-5 in a game Sunday at Stanton. The Tiger Cubs amassed 20 hits including three twin homers and one other circuit clout.

Taking advantage of a small outfield, Fernando, Mendoza, Juan Cervantes, and Tom Sweeney banged two home runs apiece, and Ernest Garcia added a single four bagger. The seven homers were augmented by 13 singles as Mendoza and Garcia had three hits each and five players had a pair of safeties (as did Cervantes, Sweeney, Eziguio Cervantes, Emilio Ramirez and Adam Yanez).

Santos Olague picked up the victory, with Mike Gamboa sharing mound duties, allowing just six hits and one home run. The Tiger Cubs own a 4-1 record on the year.

BIG SPRING BOYS' CLUB OPENS
. . . Mayor Arnold Marshall cuts ribbon

Boys Club Is Example Of Heartbeat Of City

"I think we could say that we have here today an example of the city's heartbeat," said R. W. Whipkey at the opening Sunday of new facilities for the Big Spring Boys Club.

More than 100 people were at the 3 p.m. opening ceremonies when Mayor Arnold Marshall cut the traditional ribbon with the Ambassadors Club looking on.

The crowd moved inside the building at 212 E. 3rd and heard the benediction by the Rev. Earl Price, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

"It is very well to work for the economic progress of our city, to support programs for general improvement, but we have missed an important heartbeat if we do not look out after the future guidance of our young people," said Whipkey.

"Our boys club has been functioning some three years, starting with quarters on Gregg Street, and then on Second.

"Now there is a membership of 200 boys, and now we have the facilities to reach more."

Whipkey thanked the officers and the directors of the club who have done so much to support the club.

"I would like to offer my thanks in behalf of the many youngsters who will be using the Club through the years to come . . . to that group of dedicated people who are serving voluntarily on the board of directors; to those people who are providing a facility and program to reach the unreached; to motivate the unmotivated; to serve the hard to serve — and to teach the untaught," said Gene Lehnen, assistant regional director for Boys Club of America in a letter.

"Boys Clubs were first formed in 1860 in the northeast part of the country," said District Judge Ralph Caton. "In 1876 the New York City Boys Club was organized to serve boys 7-18 years old.

"In 1906, 50 clubs established a national club and Aug. 6, 1950, the 84th Congress gave the Boys Clubs of America a congressional charter. In 1960 the national headquarters were moved to the Herbert Hoover Building in Washington, D. C.," Caton said.

"The Boys Clubs have changed," he said, "they no longer are here just to provide recreation and to keep boys off the streets.

"The clubs are for all boys, and are all-boy clubs. Many of the clubs have full-time personnel to work with the boys. And any boy can join. The dues are kept low enough for all boys to join on an equal basis," Caton said.

"The clubs are non-sectarian, with an open-door and a varied program. We are happy to open this facility."

Bert Andries Is New Club Director

Bert Andries was announced as the new full-time executive director of the Boys Club, effective July 1, when he will take a leave of absence from Cosden. The announcement was made Sunday afternoon at open house activities for the club's new home.

"Special congratulations and thanks to Bert Andries," said Gene Lehnen, assistant regional Boys Club director in a letter. Andries is "the man who fostered the idea for a Boys Club in Big Spring . . . a man who has overcome numerous obstacles, and has used his own personal funds to see his idea become a reality."

"Mr. Andries has a splendid record of good citizenship," said R. W. Whipkey, who acted as master of ceremonies. "He has a degree in electrical engineering and has been a senior instrument engineer at Cosden since 1956. He is in the professional societies; he is in the Downtown Lions Club; he serves as a Scoutmaster and holds the high court honor — the Silver Beaver award.

"He first worked with a Boys Club while he was in San Diego with the Navy back in 1953," said Whipkey. "When he returned he set his sights on a Boys Club for Big Spring, and he has never lost sight of his goal."

"The boys worked on the building," said Andries, "but two did more than most, each putting in more than 200 hours. I want to award honorary memberships numbers one and two to Johnny Rodriquez and Mike Salazar."

The benediction was given by the Rev. James Delaney and then the crowd looked around the building. Punch and cookies were served.

Officers and directors of the club include: Bert Andries, president and executive director; Mrs. Fred Hyer, first vice president; Willard Hendrick, second vice president; Mrs. Virginia Black, secretary-treasurer; Bonefacio Salazar Jr., executive director; and Mrs. Sylvia Wylie, director or arts and crafts.

The directors are Mr. and Mrs. G. C Broughton; Simon Correa; William B. Crooker; Ben T. Faulkner; Mrs. Willard Hendrick; Don Horton; Herb Johnson; Guy Lara; Bessie L. Love; Robert L. Parker; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stewart; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Wilson Jr., and Tom W. Henry.

When You're Hot You're Hot In Texas

By The Associated Press

A cool front moving into Texas from the west brought the threat of showers and thundershowers to the state for tonight and Tuesday morning.

The Weather Service forecast considerable cloudiness in Central Texas ahead of the front and otherwise partly cloudy and warm temperatures turning fair and a little cooler behind the front.

Skies generally were clear to partly cloudy over the state early today with temperatures ranging from 57 at Dalhart to the mid 70s in far West Texas. Readings generally were in the mid 60s to lower 70s however.

A high pressure system over the eastern Gulf of Mexico worked with the cool front to create a strong flow of warm southerly winds over the state.

Southerly winds gusting to 25 to 30 miles per hour were reported in North Central and Northwest portions of the state early today.

Light thundershowers fell in the Panhandle and brisk winds kicked up dust on the High Plains Sunday.

Temperatures soared to 101 at Wink down to 77 at Galveston Island. Other highs included Abilene 98, Amarillo 95, Brownsville 85, Corpus Christi 85, Dallas 90, El Paso 91, Houston 82, Laredo 98, Lufkin 87, San Antonio 93, San Angelo 98, and Wichita Falls 98.

Buckley Is First Round Winner

NEW YORK (AP) — A $5 million counter-suit by novelist Gore Vidal against editor William F. Buckley has been dismissed by a federal judge.

Vidal had claimed that Buckley equated his novel "Myra Breckenridge" with pornography, but Judge Richard H. Levet said Friday that Buckley's comments appeared to fall within "the wide range of freedom that the law guarantees a critic. Earlier Levet had refused to dismiss Buckley's $1 million demation suit against Vidal who called him a "procrypto Nazi."

'Jay' Bird Among Oil Men Honored

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The oil industry to which he has devoted his life gave John Williamson "Jay" Bird a gold medal Sunday and dubbed him the "pioneer of pioncers."

The 89-year-old Pennsylvanian, who drilled his first oil well 67 years ago in Kansas, was honored at the International Petroleum Exposition. The medal was presented by P. C. Alurinjer Jr., president of the Petroleum Publishing Co.

Bird was among 11 oil industry men honored at the exposition. The others were paid tribute for their work in a specific phase of the industry.

They were Frank Rinker Clark of Tulsa, exploration; Joseph Zeppa of Tyler, Tex., drilling; J. O. Owen of Lafayette, La., production; Cyrus McDonald Scott of Tulsa, pipeline transportation; I. A. O'Shaughnessy of St. Paul, Minn., refining; Daniel Pyzel of Piedmont, Calif., petrochemicals; Robert W. Hendee of Colorado Springs, Colo., natural gas; Stanley B. Crooks of Bartlesville, Okla., gas processing; Glenn J. Smith of Tulsa; landmen; and William L. James of Tulsa, purchasing.

Bird is a native of Bradford, Pa., and has lived there all his life, even though his work has taken him all over the corntry. His father, John, was among the earliest oil producers in the Bradford area, and on his father's death he took over the Bird-Ball properties. The Birds developed a gadget whose fame has spread far beyond the oilfields where it was intended for use—the Stillson wrench.

Bird and his partner, the late W. L. Hanley of Bradford, followed the 1904 Kansas oil venture with a successful probe at Salt Creek, Wyo., and Bird came to Oklahoma in 1914 with interests in several partnerhips. He operated in the Bartlesville area many years.

Novelist Dies

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Josiah P. Woolfolk, 77, who published hundreds of short stories and a dozen or more novels under the name Jack Woodford, died Sunday at East Hospital.

NOTICE OF BOARD OF EQUALIZATION MEETING

In obedience to an order of the Board of Equalization, regularly convened and sitting, notice is hereby given that said Board of Equalization will be in session at its regular meeting place in the School House in the Town of Forsan County of Howard, Texas, at 10:00 o'clock A.M., on Thursday, the 27th day of May, 1971, for the purpose of determining, fixing and equalizing the value of any and all taxable property situated in Forsan County Line Independent School District, Howard County, Texas, for taxable purposes for the year 1971, and any and all persons interested or having business with said Board are hereby notified to be present.

BY ORDER OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES.
MRS. LUCILLE E. BARTON,
Secretary of the Board

LEGAL NOTICE

To: OPAL FAYE McCARTY, Defendant (s), Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear by filing a written answer to the Plaintiff (s) Petition at or before ten o'clock A.M. of the first Monday after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being Monday the 21st day of June, 1971, at or before ten o'clock A.M. before the Honorable District Court of Howard County, Texas, at the Court House of said County in Big Spring, Texas.

Said Plaintiff (s) Petition was filed in said court, on the 6th day of May, A.D. 1971, in this cause numbered 19,477 on the docket of said court, and styled, S. F. McCARTY plaintiff (s), vs. OPAL FAYE McCARTY, Defendant (s).

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit:

Plaintiff alleges legal marriage and residence in Howard County six (6) months and State of Texas twelve (12) months preceding the filing thereof. Plaintiff alleges cruel and discord or conflict of personalities; that there are no children under eighteen (18) years of age born to or adopted by this marriage and none are expected; that there is no property to be adjudicated, and Plaintiff prays for divorce, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff (s) Petition on file in this suit.

If this citation is not served within ninety days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Big Spring, Texas, this the 6th day of May A.D. 1971.

Attest:
M. FERN COX, Clerk,
District Court,
Howard County, Texas.
By JEANETTE NICHOLS, Deputy.

Multiple Listing Service

(1). BUYERS AND SELLERS receive the benefit of cooperation between Realtors rather than being restricted to the offerings of a single agent or a series of agents. (2). Buyers, by contacting only one Realtor, may have access to the listings of all Realtors who participate. (3). Current market information, which is readily available through Multiple Listing, means that Realtors, their clients and the public are better served and informed. (4). Negotiations are carried on under rules of procedure designed to assure ethical practice, thus furthering the interest of clients and the public while extending adherence to high standards of practice.

Molten Lava Moves Close To Villages

CATANIA, Sicily (AP) — A moving furnace of molten lava rolled down the side of Mt. Etna toward two mountain villages today, scorching and crushing some farm houses as it went.

The villagers of Sant'Alfio and Fornazzo grew more and more afraid that their homes might be destroyed. Although the lava's present course would take it between the two villages, residents knew that could change at any time.

Paolo Nicolosi, owner of one country house abandoned to the lava, fled to Sant'Alfio and lamented:

"We saved a lot for that beautiful house in order to take our vacations there, and now the fire has destroyed it all. For me everything is finished. I worked many years for what went up in smoke in a few minutes."

The villagers said special prayers that their homes be spared.

Laird May Use Senate Move To Obtain Money For NATO

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird may use a Senate move to halve U.S. troop strength in Europe as a prod to obtain greater contributions by NATO.

Although Laird is strongly opposed to the troop reduction, the sources say they expect Laird to cite the Senate move as one of the realities allied defense ministers must recognize as they weigh proposals to modernize and strengthen NATO.

The meeting of defense ministers will come next week after the Senate acts on a proposal by Senate Leader Mike Mansfield to reduce the present U.S. garrison in Europe to 150,000 men.

Whatever the Senate outcome, Laird could use it as ammunition.

If the Senate votes for the amendment, the issue would remain unsettled until tested in the House.

If the Senate rejects the proposal, Mansfield moves could still serve as a warning that Congress may force a drastic U.S. pullback unless the European allies chip in more and ease the U.S. financial burden.

Pentagon officials say Laird's chief concern at the NATO meetings will be to push for additional commitments to strengthen the alliance through modernizing equipment and correcting longstanding deficiencies, rather than increasing the number of troops.

The emphasis is on burden-sharing in paying for improvements such as the agreement by NATO members to increase their contributions to the joint defense system by about $1.5 billion over five years.

Among other things, officials said, Laird would like allied leaders to commit stated percentages of their countries' gross national products to bolstering the alliance's military power.

Also near the top of Laird's list, sources said, will be an effort to persuade the allies to increase their naval commitments in the Mediterranean area, where the Soviet Union has increased its presence in recent years.

Another top priority item in NATO planning is construction of shelters in Europe to shield military aircraft from being knocked out on the ground. NATO has earmarked some $250 million for such shelters.

Chi's Bad Time

CHICAGO (AP) — Homicides went up 7.6 per cent to 56 during March, the Chicago police department reports, but the three-month period since Jan. 1 shows a decrease of .9 per cent.

Supt. James B. Conlisk Jr. said burglary was up 15.6 per cent and robbery was up 4.8 per cent.

Head-On Hit Claims Five

BANDERA, Tex. (AP) — A head-on collision at the crest of a hill killed five persons Sunday and injured five others, two critically.

All were believed to be from San Antonio.

Officers said the crash occurred three miles west of here on Texas 16 when one of the cars crossed the highway median and struck the other auto.

The dead were identified as Wessley Bell Jr., 42, and his wife, Barbara, 43; Kevin Paul Gorman, 17; Karyn Tyll, 16 and Steve Jeffrey, 17.

Bell was a bank clerk in San Antonio.

Miss Tyll was identified as the daughter of San Antonio police patrolman, Edward Tyll.

The injured were identified as Miss Tyll's sister, Sherry, 14; the Bells' daughter, Wendy, 10; David James Gorman, 17, brother of Kevin; and Dixie Jean Ebersole, 16.

Another of the injured was identified as Robin Laverne, 9, but her relationship to the others and address was not at once confirmed.

'Tough' Ex-Cop Runs For Mayor

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Frank Rizzo doesn't jam a nightstick into his tuxedo cummerbund any more but he has maintained his tough-cop stance in his campaign for the Democratic mayoral nomination.

When he stepped down as police commissioner and announced for the office in February, Rizzo was considered a shoo-in. But observers now rate his race with U.S. Rep. William J. Green, Hardy Williams and three others as much closer. Voters will decide it Tuesday.

"I am a liberal on human rights, but a conservative when it comes to criminals. I think they belong in jail," says the 50-year-old Rizzo, who has the backing of the Democratic organization in the nation's fourth largest city.

He was the hand-picked choice of Mayor James H. J. Tate, who cannot by law seek a third successive term.

Green, a 32-year-old congressman whose father once was political boss of Philadelphia in the style the younger Green now condemns, has the backing of Gov. Milton J. Shapp, a maverick Democrat who bucked the organization in winning the statehouse last fall.

Shapp has called Rizzo a cop who condoned brutality and insists only Green can give Philadelphia "progress, peace, justice and stability."

Rizzo replies he has been the victim of lies and smears during the long campaign.

"You don't fool people with all this nonsense," he said, predicting he will win by 100,000 votes, with perhaps 300,000 of the city's 552,347 registered Democrats going to the polls in a city dominated by the party over the past two decades.

Additional Boost In SS Benefits Will Be Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — An additional increase in general Social Security benefits, effective next year, will be vigorously pushed in Congress, despite the close failure of the first effort in a House committee vote.

The basic benefit for retired persons, their widows and dependents and the disabled was raised 15 per cent in 1970 and an additional 10 per cent this year. But proponents of an increase say the benefits still are not keeping pace with the inflationary increase in the cost of living.

'SECRET' VOTE

The House Ways and Means Committee, putting together its big welfare-Social Security measure, included provisions meaning larger benefits for widows and a number of special categories of recipients. But it turned down three proposals for raising the basic benefit.

A move by Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., for a 50 per cent increase, went down without a recorded vote. A proposed 7 per cent increase was defeated 13 to 11 and a 5 per cent increase 13 to 12.

In each case several Southern Democrats joined the Republican minority to defeat the increase. Significantly, however, Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., voted for both the smaller raises.

NEXT OPPORTUNITY

If past practice is followed, the House will consider the bill under a rule permitting no amendments. So the next opportunity will come in the Senate, which may not consider the measure until late this year, or even in 1972.

But a proposal for an increase is certain to be made in the Senate, sources said, and is likely to carry sending the final decision to a conference committee.

The later the vote on a Social Security increase comes, supporters said, the better are the chances for enactment, especially in an election year.

The bill now automatically increases benefits when the cost of living rises 3 per cent or more in a year. But unless Congress decides otherwise, it also prevents such an increase from taking effect in a year following one in which another legislated increase comes into effect.
