KIMES CONFESSES BEGGS BANK ROBBERY 16 TRUE BILLS RETURNED IN MARSHALL FLOGGINGS

14 INDICTMENTS ARE ISSUED ON FELONY COUNT

FOUR MEN FREE UNDER BOND IN VIOLATION ANTI-MASK LAW

MARSHALL, Texas, June 24.—Sixteen true bills of indictment—14 ordinary felonies and 2 misdemeanors—were returned at 11:30 o'clock this morning by the special grand jury investigating recent floggings here by a masked band.

Judge P. O. Beard, also in holding court in L. review, was detained here all the morning waiting for the jury's report.

The jurors thanked the governor for sending state rangers here to assist in the investigation.

Four men are free under bond in connection with the case. Cain Anderson, wealthy farmer, was arrested on four charges of violating the anti-mask law in two counts; Otto Bruhn, his son in law, four charges of violating the anti-mask law; Tom Weems, tenant, four charges of the same nature; and D. Osborne, snuff, two for violation of the anti-mask law and one for carrying a prohibited weapon. Anderson also was charged with carrying a prohibited weapon.

The district attorney and court officials refused to tell who were indicted or to reveal whether they were the men already arrested or if any others had been charged by the grand jury. The district attorney indicated he might have a statement late this afternoon.

Lindbergh Meets Government Heads

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—Calls on Secretary Kellogg and Postmaster General New and a business conference, the details of which were withheld, constituted the chief activities mapped out here today for Charles A. Lindbergh.

Having gone carefully over the field of his own future endeavors in the promotion of commercial aviation, Colonel Lindbergh probably will leave late today by airplane for New York. Should his weather intervene he would delay his departure until tomorrow morning.

Lindbergh, who arrived here yesterday from St. Louis and Dayton to confer with the "air" cabinet, spent the night at the home of Secretary Hoover, where the St. Louis and water supply, championed by the West Texas chamber of commerce.

She Uses Plane In Her Shopping

When the ladies take up aviation it's bound to be a success, any politician addressing a woman's club will assure you. Mrs. T. Higbee Embury is one who really flies. She keeps her plane at the Lunken airport in Cincinnati, O., and often hops into it for a spin to her former home at Dayton, where she frequently does her shopping.

328 CONVICTS DEFIANT YET

Extensive Demands Made For Better Conditions At Lansing Prison

LANSING, Kansas, June 24.—Extensive demands for better conditions at the state penitentiary here today superseded the convict ultimatum—no cigarettes, no coal—which precipitated a mutiny Tuesday in which 328 prisoners barricaded themselves and 14 captive guards in the institution's coal mine.

The ultimatum telephoned from the 620 foot level of the mine to the state prison board assembled here to investigate the fourth mutiny in three decades, resulted in a deadlock. Although the mutineers demanded in the mine more than thirty hours, they remained defiant when advised to surrender if they wished their demands given serious consideration.

The ultimatum specified speeding of consideration of parole applications; second and third term convicts to receive the same consideration as first termers; removal of the warden from parole hearings and elimination of his second institutions when transferred; additional reductions of sentences for good behavior; more privileges for miners; better food; no punishment for strikers and a written reply to the demands.

Appear In High Spirits An unidentified spokesman for the convicts laughed and gave evidence of being in high spirits after the demands had been read to C. S. Huffman of Topeka, vice chairman of the board.

SHAW HANDLES BARBECUE FOR JUBILEE HERE

ALL PLANS COMPLETE AND MANY EXPECTED FOR ANNUAL PARTY

Gus M. Shaw, barbecue artist of the South Plains, arrives in Lubbock early today to get everything in readiness for preparing the chicken barbecue for the Peddlers Saturday night.

While Mr. Shaw was busy arranging for the digging of pits at the stock judging pavilion at the Tech and for pots, pans, and foods for the barbecue, a committee of Chamber of Commerce members went out from the city hall to sell tickets for the jubilee.

Much Good Publicity Lubbock has gained much favorable publicity in the past from the good will created among the ranks of the peddlers each year. W. W. Rix declared in instructing the committee to go out to Lubbock business men to sell tickets for the stag party.

Other details of the jubilee are complete and the biggest number of salesmen that have ever gathered in Lubbock are expected.

Many Are Registered A check-up at Hotel Lubbock headquarters for the visitors during the jubilee indicates that the hotel will be overrun Saturday with the peddlers doubling up in the rooms to allow more space and to be in closer companionship with their friends of the road.

Registration opens at the Hotel drug store at 10 o'clock in the morning. The annual parade will be staged beginning at Hotel Lubbock at 2:30. Mayor Pink L. Parrish, members of the city commission, the Lubbock high school band under the leadership of James W. Crowder, the Lubbock fire department will be in the lead at the parade. The traveling men's line is expected to be the longest in the history of the annual event. A ball game between the Peddlers and the Business men will be played at the Tech park at 4:30. The evening session will begin at the stock judging pavilion at the Tech at 7:30 Saturday night. Following the chicken barbecue, the initiations and work of the R. O. R. E. will take place.

Several Cars Needed Cars are needed to transport the peddlers to the ball game at the hotel at 4:30, to bring them back to take them out to the stock judging pavilion at 7:30. Everyone who can furnish a car is expected to be at the hotel at 4:30 and 7:30 and tell all the peddlers around to hop in.

Ordinance In Fire Fighting Is Cited The city commissioners in session yesterday afternoon called attention to the lack of observance of a city ordinance which makes it unlawful to park automobiles within 225 feet of a fire or within that distance of fire apparatus.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT MUST COME FROM WITHIN T. C. E. A. SPEAKERS ASSERT

(By Associated Press) SHERMAN, Texas, June 24.—That industrial development in Texas cities must, as a rule, come from within rather than from without was the message brought to the delegates to the twenty-first annual convention of the Texas Commercial Executives association today by a series of speakers at the morning session.

The idea that industries located in the north and east have run their races and are waiting only an invitation to move to Texas was generally declared to be a fallacy by the speakers, who agreed that Texas industries on the whole must be built by Texas money and Texas men.

Many New Industries Statistics gathered by the United States Chamber of Commerce were cited by James Z. George, manager of the Amarillo board of city development, to show that "618 new industries started last year, 88 were moved from one city to another, 98 were branches, and 422 were started in the particular community where they were located."

Although general industrial expansion and the shifting of industry in the United States, and certain natural economic and social conditions obtained in Texas will figure greatly in developing the state industrially, "in the great majority of cases the location or development of an industry in Texas will be based upon such things as our markets, local facilities of labor and living conditions, and our own ambition and efforts," George declared.

Benius Said Mistake The practice of towns raising a small sum of money as an inducement to industries to locate in their city was characterized as a "mistake" by G. L. Pool, Sherman, secretary-treasurer of the Pool Manufacturing company. "As a rule, a first class plant can not be induced to move on that basis, and no community should make any effort to get any other kind," he said.

The only way a community can successfully build itself industrially, declared Pool, "is by and through its own men and money, because the successful plant is usually satisfied to stay where it is, and when it is ready to move for a consideration the plant and organization should be investigated thoroughly."

Pool declared that success of a new industry usually depended on the preliminary survey to indicate whether a need for the plant really existed.

Attitude of Textile Men Generally unresponsive was the description of the attitude of eastern and northern manufacturers of textiles given by J. C. Carrington, secretary of the Texas Textile Association.

Escaped Convict Captured By Two Farmers Five Miles From Prison (By Associated Press) HUNTSVILLE, June 24.—Ed Crowder, Houston, given a forty year term for bank robbery and reputed to be one of the ring leaders in the sensational break from the Ferguson state farm Tuesday night, has been recaptured about five miles from the farm, it was learned here last night.

Several other convicts were being chased by possees this morning about five miles from Huntsville, it was said.

LOCKNEY CROP PROSPECTS PRONOUNCED VERY GOOD LOCKNEY, June 23.—The general crop conditions for this section are unusually good at this time. Since the rain of June 12 and 13, many of the farmers have made rapid headway with the planting of row crops and the rain that is now falling slowly will help to bring the cotton and feedstuffs up to a good stand. Many farmers are planting small acreages of cotton, however, the cotton acreage as a whole will not be as large as that of last year on account of the lateness of planting. Grain sorghums have been planted instead of the cotton and with favorable weather conditions, a large feed crop will be raised in this section.

A good percentage of the wheat has been cut and with one more week harvesting the crop should all be in, according to local grain dealers.

One-third of the year consists either of Sunday or national holidays in Brazil. The number of working days is only 245.

BANDITS BEGIN LIFE SENTENCE IN OREGON PEN

FULL CONFESSION MADE IN GRAPHIC STORY OF TRAIN ROBBERY

(By Associated Press) SALEM, Ore., June 24.—The three DeAutremont brothers, Hugh, Ray and Roy, convicted of the Siskiyou train holdup murders, and sentenced to life imprisonment, arrived here this morning from Jacksonville, Oregon, and entered the state penitentiary.

Hugh Recounts Tale Of Horror With their consciences as free as a confession could make them, Hugh, Ray and Roy DeAutremont sped under guard toward the state penitentiary today to spend the remainder of their lives in expiation for dynamiting of a mail train in the Siskiyou tunnel of Oregon in 1923, in which four men died.

Assuming the guilt in a statement as graphic and rhetorical as a diatribe, Hugh, who is only 23 years old, told the story of the three brothers—how they absorbed the ideas of Darwin, Huxley and Darwin and stole themselves with a philosophy that carried them through some of the most dastardly crimes in the history of the modern world.

While Hugh told his story—a tale of three devoted brothers—"all for one and one for all"—Ray and Roy, twins, 27 years old, stood in the same cell and silently approved the confession. Ray and Roy then appeared in court, pleaded guilty to murder—Hugh previously had been convicted—and received life sentences. Last night they were put aboard a train for Salem and the penitentiary.

Breaks Under Memories The bounds of conscience and the ringing of the engine bell beating against Hugh's memory broke him up—the boy who has smiled and held up his head for four years while the state pointed its accusing finger at him and set men on his trail in nearly every part of the world.

"If the world must know, I killed the engineer (Sydney L. Bates of Dunsmuir, Calif.) Roy killed the fireman (Marvin Seng of Dunsmuir) and Ray killed the brakeman (Coyle O. Johnson of Ashland, Ore.)"

With that beginning Hugh told in flawless English how "the hand of the potter wavered and poured into the mould of the DeAutremonts too much 'Guts'."

Embittered In Reformatory "This dastardly crime had its birth when Ray was in the Washington state reformatory," he said tearfully. "Ray came out of the reformatory embittered against the world. His mind was saturated with hatred. They accused him of radical syndacism. Instead he was a socialist, who wanted a square deal for every one."

Hugh related how Ray had voiced his thoughts to Roy and himself and how they, too, came to believe like their discouraged brother; how they decided upon the train holdup and watched its movements through the tunnel; how they planted a charge of dynamite in its path and assigned Ray to set it off.

"Cold Feet" No Bar As the hour to strike drew near, they all got "cold feet" but each was afraid to confess it, so they went ahead.

They boarded the train, stopped it at the required place and hustled the engineer and fireman off.

"As soon as the engine stopped, we made ready to blow open the mail car. Before this the mail clerk stuck his head out of the door. Ray told him to come out, instead, he slammed the door and locked it. Then I told him to come out—that

ALSO ACCUSED IN SLAYING OF OKLAHOMA COP

BANDITRY ORGY ENDS WITH HIS CAPTURE IN ARIZONA

(By Associated Press) FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., June 24.—Matthew Kimes, Oklahoma outlaw, captured in the Grand Canyon yesterday, told the Associated Press today the last bank robbery he committed was at Beggs, Okla., where he obtained $18,000. He is accused of slaying of W. K. McAnally, Beggs chief of police.

Bandit Is Held At Flagstaff

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., June 24. (AP)—The flight of Matthew Kimes, 24 year old "bad man" of Oklahoma, who is wanted for murder and bank robbery in several places was stopped yesterday when he fell into the hands of a posse after a gun battle in which there were no casualties.

The 24 year old desperado, who for seven months, since his escape from jail at Sallisaw, Okla., where he was awaiting formal sentence after his second trial when he was given a 99 year term for murder, November 12, 1925, has evaded the law, was found "under the rim" of the Grand Canyon of Arizona. He was brought by train and automobile here and today was lodged in the Coconino county jail, pending the arrival of Oklahoma authorities to return him to the scene of his criminal activities. He is wanted in Oklahoma for bank robbery, murder, jail breaking and a number of felonies.

Two Others Held Held here are Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Kady of Tulsa, Okla., with whom Kimes entered Grand Canyon National park yesterday morning. They declared they had picked him up on a street near Dodge City, Kansas. They were arrested a short time before Kimes' capture was effected and were brought with the bandit here.

Kimes' arrest was effected after the Kady automobile, in the rear seat of which he rode, had been shadowed from the checking station at the entrance of the park where all visiting vehicles must be registered to the canyon proper, five miles distance. Park foreman and a forest ranger on duty at the checking station recognized Kimes and telephoned ahead to Chief Forest Ranger J. P. Brooks of the park.

Officers On Lookout Upon arrival at Bright Angel, it was learned, Kimes and the Kadys registered as "Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Kady" and "Harry Watkins," of Oklahoma. Watkins left the car, he was headed that way. Parsons asked Kimes to accompany him to the office of the national park service, which stands near the rim of the canyon. Kimes, however, took the sheriff past the building and escaped over the edge of the canyon. He was last to view in the scrub oak and pine trees that thickly covered a steep slope extending down some 200 feet from the edge before Yavapai Point drops away in a

Little Theater To Present 'Kempy' On Tuesday Night

One of the most interesting productions yet attempted by the local organization of the Little theater will be staged next Tuesday night at Lindsey theater when an all star cast will present the very laughable comedy "Kempy." Those who have seen rehearsals are unanimous in their reports that more real comedy has been crowded into the three acts that compose the play than one would expect in any offering to be attempted by local talent. More than this all characters have succeeded most admirably in mastering their parts and the theater goers are assured of a night of real entertainment next Tuesday evening.

Many Unusual Situations

The plot of "Kempy" takes a typical moderate size family of three grown and nearly grown daughters and carries them through many most unusual situations. "Kate," the oldest daughter, played by Miss Verna Wilson, is of the opinion that she has talent as a writer as well as possibilities long the line of a theatrical career. Unsuccessful both in these ambitions and also in the matter of choosing a husband, in desperation, she marries the plumber in the person of "Kempy," played by Gaylord Hankins. Running all through the different scenes are strong comedy parts for "Father" and "Mother" played by H. H. Habel and Mrs. W. C. Rylander respectively, as well as for "Jane," "Ruth" and "Ben" in the persons of Miss Tylar Lee Knight, Miss Haven Sawyer and Byron Dickinson. "Duke," played by Lettrel Heddins, after many unsuccessful attempts, finally succeeds in winning the girl for a happy ending.

The play is under the direction of Donald K. Murphy and nothing in the way of effort and attention to detail has been overlooked to make the production one that will compare favorably with a high class professional performance. Rehearsals have been held nightly for more than a month and a real finished production is assured.

The largest basket in existence recently was exhibited in New York. After the dimensions of railroad tunnels had been determined, it was sent across the continent on a flat car.

CITY PLANT IS IMPROVED FOR FUTURE NEEDS

NEW MOTOR INSTALLED AND MUCH EQUIPMENT AIDS EFFICIENCY

In keeping with the expansion program of Lubbock the city water and light department is making additions and improvements which will provide for serving a population of 20,000. It was announced by city officials this morning.

A 750 horse power engine has been installed in the local plant, representing an expenditure of $45,000. Coupled with this is the construction of a new switch board which aids the efficiency of operation.

Engine Pump Installed

The placement of a circulating pump supplies cooling water for the engines, eliminating the formation of scale which heretofore has deteriorated value and handicapped the operation. Another pump cleanses oil refuse for re-use at a great saving for the city. A large pit near the engines is used for circulating oil pumps.

The east half of the roof of the building will be raised nine feet to give room for a traveling crane to transport engine equipment. The floor of the plant will be renewed throughout.

Spray Pond Added

With the addition of a spray pond for cooling and circulating water it will no longer be necessary to connect with the city supply for cooling water. The water supply for this purpose will no longer be used from the city reservoir.

The improvement work now under way will give the Lubbock plant equipment valued at $200,000. It is estimated. Installation of the improvement program will be finished in three months.

MYRICK FARMS NOTED FOR POULTRY

You do not have to leave Lubbock county to find first class poultry farms, and there is no reason why you should think of M. Johnson everytime someone says "white leghorn." Right here in Lubbock county you will find just as good birds as will be found in all the Southwest.

Very likely you did not know it, but there is one poultry farm in this county that is a mammoth proposition, and by the first of the coming year more than 10,000 laying hens will be found on this place. It is the Myrick Poultry Farm, and it is located on the famous Myrick farms just west of Shallowater.

There are a lot of breeders in this county who are caring for from 200 to 500 hens, but so far as we know nobody has ever tried to do business on a larger scale. That is until the Myricks became interested, but since that time conditions have changed.

To begin with we will state that these people are going into the poultry business for "business" reasons—it is not a fad nor a fancy with them. They are not looking for experience or entertainment, but for a profit-getting business. Hundreds and thousands of dollars have been spent for equipment and stock, and at this time it requires the full time of four men to look after the poultry on the farm.

Want More Birds

The owners have one pen of barred Rocks, but the White Leghorns is the favorite and no less than 15,000 Leghorns will be found at their pens. Furthermore, we want it understood that the Myricks are just entering the industry, for 11,000 additional birds will be added to the flock within the coming month. This fall they hope to have from 10,000 to 12,000 laying hens.

As has been said, the Myricks are in the poultry business for profit, and while they are entering the business with an extra large flock they have taken every precaution to "play safe." The first move they made was to employ a poultry expert, an A. M. College graduate. This man, who by the way is none other than E. W. Brown of this city, has charge of the poultry department on the farm, and he with his three assistants have been making real progress this season.

Every hen on the Myrick farm is inspected, and when it is found that a non-producer is being fed, she is sold. They know that a poor hen is an expense, and they want only profit-getters. One man is kept busy gathering up the eggs and looking after the hens, and while the "dull" season is on at this time the Myrick flock is paying dividends.

Maybe you want to know why? Well, here is the secret—only infertile egg at this time of the Myrick farms, and every egg that is sold is guaranteed. That is the cents a dozen for their eggs in season, the owners are getting 20 instead of 30 or 10c other farmers are getting. An infertile egg is worth almost twice as much as a year.

One very noticeable thing is you find good poultry houses on this farm. They are built of good lumber—new lumber, and are well arranged and sanitary. Looses are

Fashion's Dictators Pause to Take Stock Of Stockings

SMART HOSE FOR ALL OCCASIONS ARE AVAILABLE NOW FOR MILADY IN IRRESISTIBLE PATTERNS AND MANY KINDS OF MATERIALS

By JULIA BLANSHARD
NEA Service Writer

It is still a moot question whether or short skirts put smart stockings on them are of fashion—or vice versa.

Not that it matters, anyhow. Both short skirts and smart stockings have justified themselves by now. But while skirts grow moody and show signs of getting conservatively longer, hosiery, with real independence, takes new steps to chic and shows signs of becoming not only seasonal fashion apparel but the type of clothing that must be chosen individually, to suit the wearer's personality.

For Every Feminine Taste
Surely the stocking designers

must have had that thought in mind this season! For the summer's showing of diaphanous, gleaming, multi-colored hosiery allows latitude for every feminine taste in the world, it would seem. And a type of stocking for every occasion.

The season's mode falls into three divisions: silks, lises and sports.

Taking them in order, the cobwebby, sheer daintiness and the exquisite coloring commends the first to Milady's discriminating taste. Features are even finer than ever this summer, with chiffons as clear as a woodland lake and caressing in their liveliness. Colors put Nature on her mettle, for in their composed shades they achieve soft tones never known before, either naturally or artificially.

Dozens Of Tan Hues

Tans still lead for street wear, embodying dozens of shades; in their group, many of them with the new rose tint that adds appeal. Grays grow in popularity for wear with black shoes. White is for the bride but oyster or bisque white should be worn with white kids by others. Evening tones in dawn and moonlight are best, though there is a growing tendency to use the hosiery to reflect the gown's shade. Greens, lavender and soft blues are good with white shoes for afternoon.

Clocks run down the leg from the top as well as up from the ankle this season. Open-work clocks are in vogue, and the variety of odd-shaped heels increases daily, with all of them endeavoring to give slenderizing lines to Milady's ankle.

The outstanding new touch in silk this season is the mesh hosiery. Fine, delicate as the most cobwebby bit of lace, the new mesh stockings are delightfully flattering. The majority of the new mesh stockings are plain, but some come with clocks and stripes of plain chiffon. White mesh with delicate pieces of real lace woven into them in insets form the most exquisite of bridal hosiery.

French Lisle Vies With Silk

French lisle hosiery vies with silk in popularity for street and smart day-time wear this season. Sheer, durable, with a pleasing crispness in their texture, lisle stockings take all the popular new colors and embody in their manufacture all the latest touches of novelty clocks and stripe. While they do not gleam as silk does, they have a cool beauty about them that especially commends them for summer.

Sport stockings, like sports wear of all kinds, is branching right out into competition with silks and lises. They are brazen in their patterns—combining all the season's vogue for stripes, polka-dots, checks, odd zig-zag and geometric designs and two-toned compose effects that give the appearance of floating clouds in all the imaginable colors of a futuristic artist's heaven.

Nothing Quiet About 'Em

Loud, indeed, is the word for many of the patterns on the season's sport stockings. But the soft colors save some of them. Black and white form many striking and stunning designs. The season's craving for prints shows here, too. For there are stockings in cream, soft greens, blues and lavender that have all-over printed patterns, just like chints.

The rule for hosiery this season seems to be to subordinate design to texture and color when worn for formal occasions and when the slippers or gown deserve the center of attention. But when one goes in for sports, all suppressed desires for novelty is allowed to burst into expression in the form of hosiery.

Shallowater Has Big Wheat Crop

Crops in the Shallowater community are as good as will be found in the county, despite the fact that a number of farmers have been haled out. Most of them have replanted, and both cotton and corn look well.

Grain crops are as good as could be expected, and most crops are showing a fair return. Many wheat fields are producing 25 bushels to the acre, and even with a good season this amount is considered good.

Shallowater has first class ginning equipment and ginners are looking forward to a bumper crop.

Acuff Farmers Busy Planting

Considerable hail has fallen in Lubbock county during the past month, but Lubbock county farmers have some excellent crops at this time. The most severe hail storms passed over the eastern portion of the country with Acuff community serving as the "hoat."

Many farmers have planted the second and third time, but they have not given up. With good rains they expect to make a good crop this year.

Police To Watch Fire Areas For Law Violations

Supporting the fire department, local police will keep a close watch on fire areas in the future to see that no car is parked within 220 feet of where fire apparatus is in use, and any person found violating this ordinance will be fined accordingly, warns J. T. Immon, desk sergeant of police. Police are taking action toward the enforcement of the city ordinance, resulting from numerous complaints of the fire department, regarding the difficulties of working effectively in many cases where obstructions have hampered manipulation of hose between the plug and the fire. Mr. Immon reminds that there is a fine of $5 to $100 for the violation of the parking ordinance in fire districts. "Another thing that must be observed is that part of the ordinance which renders it unlawful for a driver to maintain space in the road traversed by a fire truck with siren warning the danger," says Chief E. W. Twitty. "Lubbock observes this phase of the ordinance so little that it is really remarkable that we do not have a large number of crashes."

Gasoline Alley Has New Owners

The Gasoline Alley filling station and confectionery has been reopened with Roy Suderth and J. M. Teague as owners and managers. They have completely remodeled the place and have one of the neatest and most popular stations in the city. It is their intention to give real service to their patrons and to prove this they have just announced a first class road service. If you run out of gas or if you have a puncture all you have to do is call Gasoline Alley and a service man will go to your relief. Laundrymen Again Defeat Embalmers Pulling farther away from the cellar position in the city league the Laundry toppers yesterday again hung it on the Rix Embalmers by a count of 10 to 2. The Washermen counted two runs in the first frame, three in the second, another three in the third and two in the fourth while the Plano Movers were denting the platter twice in the fourth. Smith, Laundry hurler, whiffed six of the opposing batsmen. The game was played at Tech park with Rix amassing four lonely bingles to the Laundrymen's 10. Batteries: Laundry, Smith and L. Smith; Rix: Wright, Marshall and J. Sherrod.

Ten Cents A Dozen For Eggs

F. W. Kazmeier, Bryan, Texas

In a large number of the smaller towns in Texas today, merchants and produce buyers are paying only 10 cents per dozen. This of course is more or less discouraging to the farmer and poultry raiser. I do not believe the average Texas fertile farm produced egg is worth any more. I do not blame the merchants and produce men for not paying any more. If I had a thousand dollars cash to invest, I would not invest it in the above grade and quality of eggs, because I might lose part of the thousand dollars. I do very much, however, blame merchants and especially produce buyers, for not making an effort to educate the producers, to produce a better egg, as well as poultry products. It is the plain truth, that as a general rule, Texas egg and poultry buyers, do not make any effort to encourage farmers and poultry raisers to produce a higher grade product. I have talked with some of the leaders in the produce buying business, and as a general rule they are opposed to any movement that will lead to the production of better eggs and poultry. They seem to labor under the impression, that very few have been getting along very well so far and do not want any one to stir up anything new. Right here is where just criticism may be placed on the egg and poultry buyers. Of course, there are exceptions to this statement. There are a few that are buying on the quality or loss of basis, but not very many. Co-operative marketing associations, insist on quality products.

One of the wonderful features of co-operative, marketing Associations is that they make an everlasting fight for quality products. At present, this can positively not be said in favor of Texas poultry and egg buyers or commission merchants. Unless egg and poultry buyers, will take a different attitude on this question, co-operative or group marketing associations will be our only hope and solution to our present poultry and egg marketing problems. Price of Eggs A large number of farmers and others are making complaints about the price of eggs. Today for instance in our town, our egg buyer is offering 11c per dozen for eggs. Their eggs are not worth any more. Still it is true that our egg buyer is not willing to pay a premium for quality eggs. We are shipping our eggs in case lots to Houston, and are getting a net price to us of 11c a dozen. We are satisfied with this price at this season of the year. These same eggs, are sold in Houston by grocery store retail-

BRITAIN OKEHS PART OF PLAN FOR CRUISERS

ACCEPTS PARITY WITH U. S. IN 10,000 TON CAPACITY SHIPS

(By Associated Press) GENEVA, June 24.—Great Britain will accept parity with the United States in the matter of 10,000 ton cruisers, W. C. Bridgeman, first lord of the admiralty, said this afternoon. The question of parity on other cruisers was still under discussion, he added. If the British project is agreed to the 10,000 ton category would disappear when the time comes for replacement of the vessels, and the maximum of all would be 7,500 tons.

Experts Named To Study Plan

GENEVA, Switzerland, June 24. (AP)—Formation of committees of experts to study limitation of cruisers, destroyers and submarines was decided on at today's meeting of the executive committee of the naval conference. The committee also chose W. C. Bridgeman, British delegate and first lord of the British admiralty, as its chairman. It was announced in a communique issued after the meeting. "The delegates met and decided to ask Mr. Bridgeman to act as chairman of the executive committee," said the communique. They decided to ask the navy advisers to form groups to study from a technical viewpoint the question of limitations of cruisers, destroyers and submarines.

we were going to blast the car. "We were giving him a chance. He again refused. He should have come out—I knew it would kill him. I called to him the third time and told him it was his last chance. Refused To Come Out "The mail clerk refused to come out. The three brothers led the fireman and engineer back to the detonator and Ray set it off. The terrific explosion so filled the car with gas and smoke that they could not enter it. As they were preparing to force the engineers to move it out of the tunnel they spied the brakeman (Johnson) coming toward them from the rear of the train, a fuse over his head. "Ray and I took a shot at him when he got close. I never will forget him. He staggered toward us and said: "Wait a minute, boys!" "He was all stooped over, holding his stomach. I don't know how he ever stood up with so much buck shot in him. He staggered out and fell down against the side of the tunnel. We did not shoot him in the back, as the doctor said. He should ers at 25c and 30c per dozen. Every farmer could get 15c per dozen, if they produced infertile eggs and carefully graded, packed and gathered their eggs each day. Most of these people say, that is too much trouble. Laziness is a universal trouble or affliction, and Texas farmers from standpoint of egg-production alone pay close to a half million dollars for it each year.

A few more holidays and a more persistent production of fertile eggs, and we may have some day for us and to eggs in the hot weather season.

The price of 18c per dozen, that we are getting is something anyone can get, the only thing necessary would be to produce an egg worth 18c per dozen and then look around for a market and not offer it to the first party that makes a price.

The low price of eggs is not caused by an over-production. Less hollering about over-production and more hard hammering on the importance of producing high grade infertile eggs, would do away with the present low price of eggs.

Here is a letter from a large concern in Houston, that makes a business of buying high grade infertile eggs, candling and grading them, and putting them out in their own trade marked cartons to retail grocery stores. "The quality of store-bought eggs is so very poor that we have been compelled to eliminate them from our purchases. At this season of the year we begin bringing in northern eggs in refrigerator cars for our local trade, or else the consumers would become disgusted with eggs as food, and discontinue their use, except for cooking purposes, during the summer months." Please read the above paragraph again. Right there is an actual picture of the true reason, for ten cents per dozen.

The average egg as sold today by the average farmer is an insult to the consumer, and the hen.

We already have more laws than we can obey and remember, therefore, some of us have to employ lawyers to help understand and remember the many laws. If it were not for the fact, we would be in favor of a law making it a serious offense to sell a fertile egg on the market for human consumption during the months of June, July, August and September.

Our only solution to our low price egg is a Stutz wide campaign, backed by a law with teeth in it, to produce only high grade infertile eggs, from hens properly fed and given some care and consideration, besides from the viewpoint as unhygienic.

Pastors To Meet Wednesday Night On Revival Plan

Plans are under way for the union evangelistic campaign which is to begin in Lubbock the last Sunday in July. In preparation for this campaign the pastors of the participating churches are calling all interested parties to meet at the First Presbyterian church next Wednesday night, June 29. At this time Rev. S. J. T. Williams, a member of the Hogg evangelistic party will formulate definite plans for the organization of the forces in preparation for the revival. A large tabernacle is to be built, and it is hoped that this may be the most far reaching revival campaign ever held on the South Plains, members of the Ministerial association said Friday. "Rev. Hogg will do the preaching. It is said by those who have heard Dr. Hogg that he is among the greatest, if not the greatest evangelistic preacher in America today." "There are a number of those who have heard him who say that he is not excelled by men like Billie Sunday. Be that as it may, for Lubbock to have a real revival of religion the pastors of the city must have the full co-operation of the entire membership of all the churches. You are urged to be present at the First Presbyterian church Wednesday night, June 29. Free by Walter at Grollman's.

(Continued from Page 1) 1,500 foot precipice. The posse immediately organized, formed a circle about the section and advanced. Several shots were fired between Kimes and the posse. Then the outlaw gave himself up, saying "I quit fellows I know when I'm stuck." Admits His Identity He admitted his identity. Brought to the jail here early today the trio was taken to the sheriff's office and questioned. Kimes was searched and six $50 bills were found on his person. He said that he had lost $1,100 gambling just before he started from Broken, Okla. He was quizzed about the bank robberies attributed to him, but beyond stating that he knew of them he did not admit active participation in them, saying that he had read of them in newspapers. The officers, however, said that he mentioned a bank robbery in Sapulpa, Okla., that netted the robbers $41,000; one in Pampa, Texas, in which $35,000 loot was obtained, and another in Beggs, Okla., in which $18,000 was obtained. He explained his knowledge of them was gleaned from the newspapers, and said that he was not in those cities at the time the robberies were committed. Kady Know Kimes Kady, questioned about his connection with the desperado, declared that he had known Kimes while working in the Oklahoma oil fields. Free by Walter at Grollman's.

Buck Privates

WEST POINT Military Academy's announcement that two soldiers from the ranks of the regular army had walked off with scholars' honors this year but parallels the experiences of many colleges and universities; the students from the ranks are most often found to have passed through the barages of examinations with best records. At Harvard, Yale, and Princeton, men from the public schools always show up better in their studies than men from the private schools. In spite of tutoring and exceptional opportunities, the man with the paucity of education cannot, or at least does not, hold his own with the man from the more unpretentious source who has had to dig for his knowledge. Why the buck privates always seem to do best is something to make the educational theorists ponder long and deeply. At a recent exhibition of Napoleonic relics in New York there was part of a tendon taken from the emperor's body, locks of his hair and some of his famous white breeches. Free by Walter at Grollman's.

Will Never Forget Look

"I'll never forget the look on his face. It has been hell. He dropped down on the ground dead." They sought to make the engineer move the train. The engineer "kidded" Hugh, telling him he could not go ahead. Hugh grew desperate and when the engineer failed to obey as Hugh wished, he shot him. "I was mad; I was mad I was mad!—Then Roy shot the fireman. He was the last." Roy and Hugh stayed in their hiding place near the tunnel that night while Ray went to Eugene to get an automobile. Still Hears Bell Ring "All that night Roy and I waited without sleeping," Hugh continued. "We could hear the electric bell on the engine ringing. It was ringing all the time. I tell you, if they had rung a bell during my trial I would have jumped up and told it all. I couldn't have stood it. I still hear that bell." The confession then told how the three brothers stuck together and helped one another through hair breadth escapes, hardships and several varieties of unpleasant surprises. They ran short of food, they came face to face with their photographs on hand bills offering rewards for their capture. Once Ray wanted to surrender. A recent claim for damages was made to an insurance company by a Connecticut farmer, who said that some of his ribs were broken by his daughter's embrace. Free by Walter at Grollman's.

Humor Breaths

THIS HAS HAPPENED... at times as a barber, at times as ATTORNEY DAVIS, a bus man called Vilak has come the queer little town of PORTO VERDE, in west central Brazil, to his cousin, ELISE MARRARY, solve a strange mystery...

at the other's mouth ready to check any call for help, began growling a rapid series of questions at him. The Indian's answers were evidently not satisfactory, for after several minutes with the hot comb again, he at length whistled a curse through the ugly orifice in his teeth, replaced the gag and lifted the glowing stick to the Indian's foot once more, this time directing it to the delicate and far more sensitive ankle.

HOW BEGIN THE STORY CHAPTER XVII... incidentally I might add, Vilak "that the way things look the usefulness of my esteemed relative, Mr. Riggs, the barber, about over. Are you coming to the shop with me?"

"You're wounded, or—badly," the old man panted in alarm. "It's my fault, too, or—my fault. If I hadn't cried out he wouldn't have seen—er—seen us, I'm a doddering—old fool—yes—old fool."

Now they could see plainly the shadows; they were Pasquale and the patched check and the one-armed Detto Ciceroche. On the ground lay a third man, the drunken Indian he had noticed lying up the road. He was trussed with ropes like a wild beast, just asured and made ready for shipment to some far off zoo. His arms were tied flatly behind his back, his mouth was gagged with a piece of shirt, undoubtedly to stifle cries as they heard a few moments before.

His skinny bare legs were also tied together and placed over a log so that the heavy feet, protruding in the air, it was at this extremity of their victim's body that the two Italians were standing, Pasquale keeping up a running conversation in his own gaudy a stick in a glowing ember at the end which he had drawn from the fire, casting a few feet away.

Our Own Path

President Coolidge shows every inclination to make haste slowly in his dealings with China. There are people who do not like this.
They do not see why we do not join hands with Great Britain and pursue a "strong" policy. But every reason that can be advanced against such a policy is advanced against the Chinese. It is a policy that can be advanced with even greater force against the Chinese alliances as regards China.

We stand in a different relation to China than do the nations of Europe. We alone have never greatly had of any Chinese territory. We alone have consistently and always fought for the principle of the open door to trade, but with special preference to none. We alone promptly returned to China the Boxer indentity and thereby procured for Chinese students the means of reaching American universities and absorbing our culture.

The Chinese have long memories and they boast of it. They hated the German of the Kaiser because Wilhelm II made his pompous speech at the time of the Boxer troubles. They hate Japan because they fear her ambitions. And they are no lovers of Great Britain.

Not long ago there was published in Paris a translation of a book by a very wise and learned Chinaman
in which he endeavored to interpret the Chinese spirit to occidental peoples. In this he set down the deadly and ironic causticism, almost Bryanian.

What is the principal object of man?
"To glorify the British empire."
"What is the worst sin?"
"To trouble British commerce."
"With what design did the Lord create 496,999,999 Chinese?"
"So that the English can do business with them."
When a vast nation feels thus bitterly towards England and at the same time feels that we are their friends, it behooves us to play a lone hand in dealing with the present Chinese problem. A modernized China, having worked out its own salvation and settled its own internal troubles, may well prove to be not only a profitable and grateful customer for American goods, but a formidable friend in case we ever need one on Asiatic shores.

THE PLAINSMAN

The Lubbock Morning Avalanche
and The Lubbock Daily Journal are getting into the "big town" class.
Yesterday morning, when C. H.
Grollman, local merchant, purchased a total of 702 column inches of advertising in one issue of the Avalanche, all records for South Plains newspaper advertising were shattered.
Mr. Grollman had approximately 17 1/2 columns of advertising in one paper, which, as far as The Plainsmen has been able to find, is not only a record for one merchant advertising in one paper on the South Plains, but also a record for that portion of Texas West of Willets Falls and Fort Worth, and South from the Oklahoma border to San Angelo.

Yesterday afternoon the Daily
Journal stepped out and broke another record by publishing in one regular week-day edition a total of six full pages of advertising, representing the offerings of two firms
—four pages for C. H. Grollman, and two for Barber Brothers—who, by the way, bought a similar space in this morning's Avalanche.
While both the Avalanche and the Journal have carried more full pages than this number on Sundays and in special editions yesterday was the first time that any South Plains paper has ever made such a record in a regular, weekday newspaper. And, again, as far as The Plainsmen has been able to discover, the Journal's record also covers a much wider field than the South Plains area.

These records hung up by YOC's newspapers mean just this: Lubbock merchants are
"BOLD" on the Avalanche-Journal
advertising because they KNOW
through experience that IT PAYS. Don't think for a moment that foregoing business men are spending their money in wholesale lots without first KNOWING that it means a big return for them. They realize that the Avalanche-Journal
publications are COVERING the Lubbock trade territory and they KNOW that through these publications the people can best be reached. They have well-founded CONFIDENCE in the Avalanche-Journal publications as NEWSPAPERS and as AD-VERTISING MEDIA—which is the greatest compliment that can be paid newspapers.

Up in Duncan, Oklahoma, Arch
Gilbreath is facing a murder charge.
This is one slaying case in which The Plainsmen's hopes and sympathies are entirely with the defendant. H. P. Cox, victim of Gilbreath's gun, was slain in the Duncan district courtroom, by Gilbreath, as he stood to answer a charge of assaulting the latter's daughter. In addition to that charge three others
of like type were pending, together with charges of robbing their ex-corts.

It is always best to let the law take its course yet it is hard to blame Gilbreath for his act. Too often our laws fail to "take their course" due to legal loopholes and "rickety" too often guilty men are freed when they should be behind bars and The Plainsmen thinks he knows how Gilbreath felt when he saw that man, who befouled his daughter, standing before the bar of justice. The punishment meted-out to Cox by Gilbreath's pistol may or may not have been too severe, depending upon the way an individual looks upon it. But there is one thing sure and that is the act of that outrage father will do more to curb similar offenses in the vicinity of Duncan, Oklahoma, than would any number of jail sentences.

The babbling brook doth leap

Because my feet find measure
with its call;
The birds know when the friend
they love is nigh,
For I am known to them, both
great and small,
The flower that on the lonely

Expects me there when spring
its bloom has given,
And many a tree and bush my wandering knows,
And even the clouds and silent
stars of heaven,
For he who with his Maker
walks aight;
Shall be their lord, as Adam

His ear shall catch each sound

Senator J. Boomboom McWhorter
Pines Away Because He Isn't
Asked To Write A Testimonial
For Mucky Bite Cigaretts

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEW YORK, June 23.—Senator J. Boomboom McWhorter is scurrying over the failure of the cigaret companies to approach him for permission to use his name and comments in their ads.

Not that Senator McWhorter is a grasping person, per se. Understand. The money the cigarette people might pay him means nothing to him. Nor is the senator so anxious to get his topography into the newspapers that he must sink to such means as that.

But it is just a bit humiliating to see the picture of other senators in the papers alongside their assertions that Mucky Bite cigarettes help them in public speaking and that they are bringing up their families
on Mucky Bites.

GOING SOME
A woman eighty-one years old is now on her 32nd voyage around the world.

This woman must have some appetite for travel. There is no doubt but that this woman has a wealth of experience gleaned from her travels, but it seems to us that she is slightly overdoing the thing. She ought to stop long enough to give someone else the benefit of some of her experience, because she has many more months to go in—Charlie Times.

WEST TEXAS CLIMATE
Abilene, out in the Far West, reports weather so cool that wraps and overcoats are worn in the streets and it is necessary to heat the building at the Sul Ross State Teachers College where the summer school
is in session.

Here's a hint to West Texas vacationists. Why go to Colorado to escape the seasonal heat? Why not load up the old bus and spend a couple of weeks in the Davis Mountains of Texas?

Texas do not appreciate the beauties of their climate because they do not know about them. They make no call to Colorado, California or the Lakes region because those places have been advertised as good places to spend a vacation. Well, so is the trans-Pecos country, where scenery is quite as plentiful and entrancing as in much-advertised but no better localities.

WASHINGTON LETTER

NEW YORK, June 24.—The curb-stone and sidewalk markets of the east side are more blossom with roses of dried meats, swinging in the air from strings, with fat, round
cheeses, precariously suspended;
with boxes of vari-colored vegetables, with crates of fruit that seem jaunted upon the pushcarts—in short, with all the seasonal supplies.

The streets are at their busiest,
for this is the period when it is neither too cold nor too hot, and all the tenement population pours out.

In spite of the tragic projection of poverty here and there, the general atmosphere is one of contentment and well-being.

At every corner gather those venerable patriarchs, whose faces resemble the picture of the old man of Rome, Moscow or Jerusalem. Their very eyes have the cadaverous tinge of disease, and ill health stalk the crowded ghetto quarters. Many people have grown old in these cold, congested looking places. What is more, they would live nowhere else.
Many of them possess bank accounts that would make a fortune in any part of Manhattan or in its environs, but they are at home here. The pungent odors that strike the nostrils of the visitors are too familiar to leave behind. These patriarhs like to go about in old and soiled clothes; they like to meet their cronies on the corner and talk of things close to their lives.

BAD WEATHER HOLDING BYRD

Storm On St. Lawrence Is Reported But Plane Is Still Out Of Hangar

(By Associated Press) ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., June 24.—The monoplane America, a great gray moth with dripping wings, was lashed down on its runway today, its hope of flight to Paris blocked for still another day by the weather man's decree.

Manq Wait for Takeoff Thousands stood about through the hours or doped in automobiles that they might have the thrill of seeing the great ship take air on its big adventure.

Threat James H. Kimball, weather bureau meteorologist on whose advice Commander Richard E. Byrd hangs his hopes of successful achievement, raised a hand in signal to halt.

There was a storm, he said, pivoting on the St. Lawrence bay, extending over the lake region, and crossing the America's path. Fog was thick along the air route to Newfoundland and extending out to sea.

Ship Out of Hangar But Byrd still had enough optimism left to refuse to order the ship returned to its hangar.

"Batten it down," he ordered, "cover the engines with tarpaulins, and we'll be all ready Saturday morning if we get the breaks then. We've got to get them some time."

The first portent that the jinx of unfavorable weather was still on the job at the Byrd camp came shortly before 10 o'clock when a 45 mile gale lashed the field with rain.

The "stogie" got its name from the Conestoga wagon. In the days when freight was hauled over the Allegheny mountains in these wagons the freighters smoked thin cigars of native tobacco. These first were called Conestogas, but later became known as "stogies."
