Gen. Marshall Tells Story Of Pearl Harbor

Declares Action Taken After Jap Notes Decoded

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 — Gen. George C. Marshall told Pearl Harbor investigators today that Admiral Harold R. Stark thought warnings to Pacific commanders on Dec. 7, 1941 would "only confuse them."

So Stark, then chief of naval operations, at first opposed sending such warnings after it became clear that trouble was brewing for the United States that day, Marshall told the Senate-House committee investigating the attack.

Insisted They Be Sent

Marshall, wartime Army chief of staff, testified he called Stark back on the White House telephone, however, and insisted on sending the messages. Then the admiral acceded, Marshall said and asked that the Army warnings be amended so that naval officers at Pacific outposts would be advised.

Stark, later naval chief in the European theater of operations, was a spectator in the hearing room as Marshall testified.

The hearing was late in starting becouse the committee met in secret session to decide on the relevancy of certain evidence.

Letter Sent To Dewey

Later Chairman Barkley (D-Ky) said the discussion was about the letter Marshall sent to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, 1944 Republican presidential candidate, urging him not to disclose during his campaign that the U. S. had cracked Japanese codes before the Pearl Harbor attack. Dewey complied.

Barkley said that exchange would be brought up in later testimony.

Marshall reconstructed for the committee how he spent that fateful morning of Dec. 7 four years ago today.

Marshall told the committee that it was not until he reached his office that day that he learned of Japan's final diplomatic note to Secretary of State Hull, indicating a break in relations with the U. S. The note, intercepted and decoded, was sent to Japanese "peace envoys" with instructions to deliver it to Hull at 1 p. m. (Washington time) the hour of the assault on Pearl Harbor.

Tells Of Actions

"On that morning," Marshall related, "I had breakfast, I presume about 8 o'clock, according to the routine of previous Sundays. I went riding.

"I must have ridden later than 8:30. I suppose I read the Sunday papers and then went riding. My rides usually were . . . about 50 minutes.

"While I was taking my shower, word came to me that Col. (R.S.) Bratton had something very important and wished to come out to Fort Myer. I told him I was coming to the War department directly.

"My shower probably took 10 minutes. On my arrival there, Bratton handed me these inter-

Byrnes Declares He Has Been Unable To Find Any Evidence Of Disloyalty By China Envoys

Hurley Statement On U. S. Policies Also Challenged

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Secretary of State Byrnes hit back sharply at Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley today for his attacks on State department foreign service diplomats, and asserted that Hurley had failed to sustain his charges.

Byrnes appeared before the Senate foreign relations committee which has been looking into the background of Hurley's abrupt and dramatic resignation last week as ambassador to China.

Career Men Upheld

Byrnes specifically upheld the two "career men" whom Hurley has charged with seeking to sabotage his efforts to bring about a unified China while he held the Chungking post. Hurley assailed this conduct as "disloyalty."

The secretary of State told the committee:

"Ambassador Hurley has not furnished me, nor do I understand that he has furnished the committee, any specificic evidence to prove that any employe was guilty of such conduct."

Hurley In Audience

Hurley was in the audience as Byrnes began his testimony and listened intently from a front row seat.

Byrnes also challenged Hurley's assertion that during his service as ambassador to Chungking, he had been unable to get a public statement of American policy toward China from President Truman or Secretary Byrnes or other ranking officials.

Never Asked Statement

Appearing before the Senate foreign relations committee which is hearing evidence on Hurley's resignation of the China post last week, Byrnes said Hurley had never asked him for such a statement nor made a written request for it to the State department so far as Byrnes had been able to find out.

The secretary said he also asked President Truman whether Hur-

Leaders In Texas Rapped By Rainey

People Of Texas Are More Liberal Than Their Leadership, Democrats Are Told

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Dec. 7 — The people of Texas are more liberal than their leadership, Dr. Homer P. Rainey, former president of the University of Texas, told the state Young Democrat club convention today.

Dr. Rainey, frequently mentioned as a possible candidate for governor in 1946, congratulated the Young Democrats "on taking the liberal point of view." The Democratic party has been successful when it was the liberal party, he said.

Blasts Those In Control

"Those in control of our state government do not want the Young Democrats in politics," he said. "Those in control always try to keep as many persons out of politics as they can. They tell the educator to stay in his classroom, the preacher to stay in his pulpit, the farmer to stay on his farm."

The University of Texas was brought into a panel discussion of the veteran and education by Joe Bailey Irwin of Dallas, who said:

"The veteran will not tolerate Hitlerism at the University of Texas any more than he will tolerate Hitlerism overseas. The veteran will not tolerate a board of regents telling him what books he can read after he has written history in his own blood."

Cops Recover Stolen Goods

Evidence that three Lubbock youths—two of them 18 and the other 20—had been on the prowl in other counties, as well as in Lubbock, mounted this morning with a stack of recovered property, police said.

Bicycles, tires, fog and driving and tractor lights, quilts, a tarpaulin, grease guns, oils, and jacks were stolen by the three, two of them admitted in signed statements taken by Charles Lackey, city detective, and Assistant Police Chief Bill Mabray.

Owners Can Reclaim It

Admissions placed thievery in vicinity of Lubbock, Loop, Brownfield, Seagraves, Meadow, O'Donnell, Buffalo Lakes, Wolfforth and other South Plains towns.

Mabray said he was advising Lubbock county persons he had identified as owner of part of the property to come in and reclaim it. The three youths were assisting in the identification, he said.

Also, he said, sheriffs of outlying counties would be informed

First Offer Of GM Rejected

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Dec. 7—An air of optimism for early settlement of auto industry wage disputes continued to pervade Detroit today despite union rejection of another General Motors offer.

The CIO United Automobile Workers again were to send its top officials into conference with the corporation, whose offer of a 13½ cents an hour increase was turned down yesterday at the first regular negotiating session since the vast GM strike was called Nov. 21.

Boost Of 30 Per Cent

H. W. Anderson, General Motors vice president, termed the proposal a "reinstatement" of the prestrike ofier of approximately 10 per cent, which he said would boost wages of GM workers to 30 per cent above the January, 1941, level.

However, Walter P. Reuther, UAW vice president, estimated it would raise the average rate of $1.15 an hour by 11.7 per cent.

Union officials, still demanding 30 per cent above present levels and within the present price structure, said the company's refusal to discuss "ability to pay" provided the chief stumbling block.

Principal Obstacles

A General Motors spokesman had listed the union's insistence on using "assumed ability to pay" as a basis for bargaining and its "illegal" picketing methods as principal obstacles to a settlement.

The latter issue was waived after a secret meeting of company

Temporary Scarcity Of Sugar Expected

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP) — Temporary sugar scarcities will develop in some sections after new ration stamps are validated January 1, OPA warned today.

Sugar will be hardest to find on the east coast, which depends on Caribbean crops not expected to reach substantial volume until about March 1, OPA said.

Individual consumer's sugar ration stamp 39 will be valid from January 1 to April 30. It will be good for five pounds. Sugar stamp 38 expires December 31.

OPA announced that sugar allotments to institutional and refreshment users will be unchanged. Quotas to industrial users will remain generally at the same levels.

The motion was offered by conservative members Robert Boothy and Christopher Hollis just an hour after introduction of the ratification bill.

Britain's labor government moved rapidly for ratification of the Bretton Woods plan, following completion of negotiations with the United States for the loan.

McVay Court Martial Hearing In Recess

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7, (AP)—A Navy general court martial trying Capt Charles B. McVay III took a four-day recess today when the judge advocate announced no additional prosecution witnesses were available to testify.

The hearing dealing with the sinking of the cruiser Indianapolis, which McVay commanded off the Philippines last July, will resume next Tuesday.

"All Women Are Wolves!" The Book Says They Are, Anyhow

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (UP)—Song Writer Abner Silver, author of more than a dozen nationally known tunes, today put the bite on all the lovely babes that have long made him lyrical.

Silver, who wrote, "No, No, A Thousand Times No" and "Farewell to Arms," fell off his snow-white piano and came up with a typewriter. Now he's written a book called "All Women Are Wolves."

Says It's The Truth

His gal secretary is sore, and his landlady won't speak to him, but Silver is unrepentant.

"It's the truth," he said. "It's a simple fact, so help me."

Silver divides lady wolves into 27 classes.

"They bite the deepest out in California," he said, "but they're not bad in New York either. I've been on Broadway for 20 years, and I know, brother."

Has Wide Range

Silver's classifications range from the blonde or "baby-face" wolf to the sly business girl whose favorite theme song is "Oh, How I Hate To Get Up In The Morning."

He's got an entire chapter on the "vacation wolf," or the girl who slips up on her man when he's

Nazi Invasion Plan Unfolded

Hitler's Armies Slowed By Bad Weather; Were Ready As World Talked "Phony War"

(By The Associated Press)

NUERNBERG, Dec. 7. — Hitler's armies were poised for the invasion of the low countries and France Nov. 7, 1939, but the attack was postponed week by week for six months because of bad weather, official German records disclosed at the war crimes trial here today.

While the rest of the world spoke sarcastically of "a phoney war," the German military machine was ready and "waiting only for favorable weather," according to records.

British prosecutors turned most of their evidence against the German military and naval leaders among the 20 top-ranking Hitlerites accused of war criminals, pointing out their part in plans for the crushing invasion while Hitler deceitfully told Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg that he had no plans to attack them.

The fifth column conquest of Norway and Denmark was only a prelude to the invasion a month later of the low countries, the evidence showed.

Prosecutors introduced German naval orders revealing that German war ships and camouflaged troop transports carried British flags and signals to screen the attack on Norway and Denmark.

Directive Was Signed

Hitler signed his directive for attack "as soon as possible" on the low countries on Oct. 9, 1939 — five weeks after the invasion of Poland, it was disclosed.

On Nov. 7, the German armies were massed along the border for the attack on Belgium, Holland

Jap War Trials To Start In January

Tojo And Cabinet Will Lead Parade Of Defendants

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Dec. 7.—Chief Prosecutor Joseph B. Keenan announced today that the first war crimes trials in Japan tentatively were scheduled for January—with Warlord Hideki Tojo and his Pearl Harbor cabinet leading the parade of defendants.

"The accused will be presumed innocent until proved guilty," Keenan, General MacArthur's special staff counsel, told a news conference. But he added that:

Must Be Punished

"Japanese war criminals must be punished and humiliated so that they will go down in history as ordinary felons of the lowest type."

He declined comment on the Allied attitude toward Emperor Hirohito.

The death penalty will be asked at the trials, he indicated.

Like their German counterparts, Japanese war crimes suspects will be tried in groups. An international court seems likely.

On top of General MacArthur's order for the arrest of Marquis Koichi Kido, the arrival of Keenan in Japan brought full realization to the Nipponese that the Allies mean business in rooting out aggressors. The order against Kido

Rationing Was Not So Tough

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—So you thought rationing was tough, eh?

Relax, brothers and sisters. It could have been worse.

OPA had made plans to ration clothing, soap, milk, automobile batteries and coal. It even had peeked at the possibility of rationing gas and electricity.

What Might Have Been

A former OPA official, Pat French, reminisced with a reporter today about what might have been. Now an employe of the budget bureau, French helped draft OPA ration programs.

The first thing you must understand about rationing, French says, is this: Some official didn't just sit down and say, "well, let's ration shoe today." It wasn't that simple.

Statistics had to be run down, trapped and analyzed. Production figures were interpreted. Possible effects of the plan were debated.

Much Advance Work

That's why OPA did so much advance work, French says. It always was afraid that the War Production board or the War Food administration or some other agency would decide some product should be rationed. And OPA didn't want to be caught with its plans down.

French gave a couple of illustrations of what OPA had up its sleeve.

Maybe you didn't like the A card on the old bus. Well, you might have had another one, for milk.

French said one plan called for

First Donations Total $190 Of $1,500 Fund

"Early birds" among contributors to the Eleventh Annual Goodfellows Christmas Cheer fund lopped $190 off the $1,500 goal today and the response augurs well for a joyous Yuletide for Lubbock's boys and girls who otherwise might miss their just share of holiday fun.

"It's a fine start," said Chief Goodfellow, anonymous head of the movement, "but it's still only a start."

He urged contributors to make their donations — anything from 25 cents on up — as soon as they possibly can. Donations may be mailed or brought to Chief Goodfellow, c/o The Avalanche-Journal, 1211-13 Texas avenue.

First list of donors reads as follows:

The Chicken House	$ 25.00
Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Miller	5.00
Bill Roberts Cotton Co.	25.00

All contributions, Chief Goodfellow said, will be publicly acknowledged in The Morning Avalanche and Evening Journal.

As the financial campaign, aimed at furnishing a generous Christmas package to every Lubbock boy and girl of 14 years of age and under, got going, the public was urged again to fill out coupons, appearing daily in The Avalanche-Journal, and mail them in as directed in the coupon, appearing in this issue on Page 18. The Goodfellows make no distinction as to race, color or creed and seek to remember all children whose Christmas could be lacking unless enrolled on Goodfellows lists.

Meeting Of Foreign Ministers Rumored

LONDON, Dec. 7 (AP) — A foreign office spokesman said today that Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin was expected to make an announcement, possibly late today, about a possible meeting of the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, Russia, France and China.

Reports circulated in well-informed quarters that the five foreign ministers might meet in Moscow soon.

The spokesman said no further indication of the nature of Bevin's announcement could be given now.

Support Of City Improvement Program Is Urged By Speaker

"Results of voting on the city bond issue Dec. 11 will be an expression of the public as to whether they favor progress or retraction of Lubbock," J. D. Hassell, jr., manager of Hemphill-Wells Co. and a member of the Board of City Development, told members of the American Business club at today's regular luncheon in Hilton hotel.

Giving a summarized explanation of the needs and advantages resultant of each issue, Hassell urged ABC members to support the proposed city bond issue because "cities don't stand still and we must keep in step with expansion." Hassell declared that if Lubbock provides for a population of 40,000 now, facilities will be inadequate 10 years from now.

Over Five-Year Period

"Money voted on bonds will be used over a period of five years and bonds will not be sold until it is practically possible to use the funds for allocated purposes," Hassell assured his audience before explaining the proposed issues.

Hassell commented on the need for city hall improvements and the plan to add a third story to the present building, or buy the American Legion building and move certain departments therein. "A

Death Verdict Ordered For Jap Warlord

Wife Refuses To Make Appeal To Mrs. MacArthur

(By The Associated Press)

MANILA, Dec. 7.—Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita has a date with the hangman.

A five-general military commission today convicted the former Japanese commander of the Philippines of having permitted "a series of atrocities and high crimes by Japanese armed forces under your command" and passed the death sentence.

Those brutalities "were not sporadic incidents, but were often methodically supervised by Japanese officers and noncommissioned officers," Maj. Gen. Russell B. Reynolds, president of the commission, stated as he read the verdict.

First To Be Sentenced

Yamashita thus became the first top war criminal of the Pacific to be convicted and sentenced.

Before hearing the verdict, the stocky defendant stood, visibly nervous, while an interpreter read this statement to the court:

"I wish to stand here today with a clear conscience and swear to God I am innocent of these charges. I wish to take this opportunity to express gratitude to the United States officers of the defense, brilliant and upright officers I want to thank the commission for a fair trial."

Defendant Is Nervous

As the interpreter spoke, Yamashita nervously removed his wrist watch, wound it fumblingly.

When the commission was ready to pronounce sentence, the three-star general was led before the bench with his chief counsel, Col. Harry E. Clarke.

Yamashita's shoulders [illegible] as he heard the sentence, but he straightened quickly and made a curt bow to the commission.

In Tokyo a few hours before the verdict was read, the general's wife said she had declined suggestions from friends to appeal to Mrs. Douglas MacArthur for "help and justice for my husband."

"The method of justice on the American side is admirably fair," she was quoted by the newspaper Mainichi.

Still Can Appeal

Yamashita, who already has lost an appeal to the Philippines supreme court to take jurisdiction of his case and free him from the military trial, still has an appeal to the United States supreme court pending and at least three additional appeals to make.

Defense counsel has indicated it will take full advantage of every possibility because the Yamashita case is precedent-setting in international laws.

Yamashita's first appeal will be

Assassination Attempt Fails

BATAVIA, Dec. 7. (UP)—An apparent attempt to assassinate General Sir Philip Christison, British commander of Allied forces in Java, upon his return from a conference in Singapore failed today.

A hand grenade, believed to have been thrown from a roadway, struck a hangar at the Kemajoran airfield just as the plane carrying Christison and his staff touched ground.

Plane Not Damaged

The grenade blasted a hole in the hangar door, but failed to damage the plane. There were no casualties.

Christison returned to find the situation tense at Semarang, where British troops were reported ready for an expected Idonesian nationalist attack. Two British cruisers stood in the harbor, ready to support the defenders.

Royal Air Force Dakota transport planes began evacuation of women and children, many of them stretcher cases, while Indonesians shelled the airfield at Semarang.

Chinese Army Soon Will Enter Mukden

CHUNGKING, Dec. 7. (AP) — Nationalist vanguards have reached the outskirts of Mukden, and are expected to enter that vital Manchurian industrial city before Dec. 10, Chinese dispatches reported today.

The Nationalists lost less than 100 men to the light Communist resistance on their 200-mile sweep northward along the Peiping-Mukden railroad, the dispatches stated.

Eight Are Initiated In VFW Auxiliary Thursday

Eight candidates were initiated into VFW auxiliary Thursday night at the First Presbyterian Fellowship hall with Mrs. Marie Harrell presiding in the absence of Mrs. George Farmer. They were Mesdames Clara Williams, Luther and Rosa Jones, Louisa Everheart, Ann Clark, Merle Hood, Ruby Holt, and Ola Sanders. Mrs. Christine Moore was received as a member by transfer.

In a membership drive, recently concluded, Mrs. Ruth McDonald's team won over Mrs. Alma Terrell's team 34-27. The losing side will be hostess with a banquet in January.

Mesdames Marcelle Von Wolff and Lilly Gardner served fruit cake and coffee to 35 women.

Over Thousand Articles Shipped By Red Cross

A morning shipment of 1123 pieces, including war relief garments, hospital garments, quilts and afghans, and sweaters and mufflers for members of the armed forces, was Lubbock county Red Cross chapter's means of commemorating Pearl Harbor day, according to Mrs. R. A. Mills, chairman of production.

Betrothal Is Told At Tea

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 7 (Special)—Miss Phyllis McReynolds who will become the bride of A. Burnon Haws, of Post, early in January, was honored Sunday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Fred England in Slaton, when her mother, Mrs. R. E. McReynolds of Plainview, entertained with a tea.

Guests included members of the reception house party, and the bride-elect's wedding party.

Mrs. England met guests at the door and presented them to Mrs. McReynolds who headed the receiving line made up of herself, the honoree, Mrs. A. B. Haws of Post, mother of the bridegroom, Miss Louise Ince of Spur, and Miss Dorothy Jones of San Angelo.

Announcement of the approaching marriage was made known in the form of a "news extra" as little Miss Patsy Hickman distributed the hand bills to arriving guests.

Carry Out Bridal Colors

A white grass linen cloth covered the table which was centered with a crystal bowl of peach colored gladioli, and tall peach tapers were arranged on either end. Peach gladioli and greenery were featured throughout the entertaining rooms, carrying out the brides' chosen color scheme.

In the living room, the mantel was decorated with white tulle bows and wedding bells, and a wide white satin ribbon extended across the front bearing the names "Phyllis and Burnon" in gold letters. Pictures of the couple centered the arrangement and were reflected in a gold framed mirror.

Mrs. Troy Pickens, of Slaton, cousin of the honoree, presided at the silver tea service, assisted by Misses Mary Ann Schmidt and Charlene Fisher.

Guests were registered by Miss Nina Ray Hickman.

The guest list included Mesdames L. B. Wooten, R. D. Hickman, Bob Smith, Silas Wilson, S. H. Adams, Fred Whitehead, P. A. Minor, R. M. Shepherd, J. N. McReynolds, grandmother of the honoree, Mrs. Allen Ferrell and Miss Mary Ann Wilson, all of Slaton; Mrs. J. E. Parker of Post; Mrs. Travis Ferguson of Mortop; Mrs. Roland Ziegler of Plainview, and Mrs. E. S. Johnston of Sweetwater.

Miss Wilda Hanna of Slaton played piano selections throughout the tea hour.

Love Is Big Mystery To Houston Sheriff

HOUSTON, Dec. 7 (U.P.)— Deputy Sheriff Vic Parker today pondered about love and things — as it affected a couple he's been seeing a lot lately.

First off, the wife advised him her car was stolen. Vic found it, but the man who had it was her husband. Vic asked her if she wanted to come to the sheriff's office and press charges.

At the office yesterday she displayed a dislocated shoulder which she received when her husband stabbed her twice with a screw driver, robbed her of $38 and pitched her from the car.

Vic showed her where to sign the dotted line on the charge sheet.

"Oh no, I don't want to file any charges," she said.

Then Vic told her the sheriff's office would make the charges.

"If you do," she replied, "I'll go to Oklahoma. I love that man."

Farmers' Vote Urged In County Election

Making an appeal for all Lubbock county farmers to vote Saturday in the county-wide elections of community committeemen under the Agriculture Adjustment Agency program, Walter Y. Wells, county AAA administrative officer, said that present committeemen would officiate at election booths from 10 a. m. until 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Wells said that farmers would have access to application blanks for payment of 1945 soil building practices carried out under the AAA program. He pointed out that these applications need to be mailed immediately to secure earliest payment. Farmers voting in the election may fill out the blanks at the same time, he said.

Ballot boxes will be placed in the schools at Hardy, Becton, Monroe, Roosevelt, Wolfforth and Woodrow. Voting at Idalou and Slaton will be in their respective city halls and Shallowater voting will be in the Club house there. Hurlwood election will be at the gin there and two boxes will be in the county court room of the court house here for Lubbock voters.

If both parents are brown-eyed, some of the children may be blue-eyed, but if both are blue-eyed, none of the children will be brown-eyed.

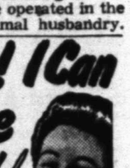

Whyburn Will Meet With State Leaders

Dr. Wm. M. Whyburn, president of Texas Tech, will leave this afternoon for Austin, where he will meet with state officials on college business, and will be in San Antonio Monday and Tuesday to attend the 30th annual session of Sheep and Goat Raisers association.

Two other Tech representatives planning to attend the San Antonio convention are W. L. Stangel, dean of the division of agriculture, and Ray C. Mowery, professor of animal husbandry. Problems of Texas wool producers, regarding immediate research, will be discussed.

The Sheep and Goat Raisers association was instrumental in securing an initial appropriation of $5,000 for setting up and conducting wool processing research on the Tech campus. Orders have been placed for equipment, to be used in the wool processing laboratory, which will be operated in the department of animal husbandry.

Women Beginning To Resent Slurs Made In Sanders' Roles

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 7—At least some of the women in America are beginning to resent the slurs against their sex by the characters George Sanders plays.

In "Moon and Sixpence" and "Dorian Gray," Sanders tossed around such epithets as "women represent the triumph of matter over mind." When it was announced that he would again make such derogatory remarks in the David Loew-Albert Lewin picture, "Bel Ami," at least one group rose in protest.

Plan Boycott

Mrs. J. D. Cahn, president of the Associated Women's clubs, New York City, wrote Loew: "We have all intentions of boycotting the film, should the original plan of slander upon women be continued."

But Writer-Director-Producer Lewin does not intend to alter his course. Among the lines he has prepared for Sanders:

"There are two rules regarding women: 1, Never believe what a woman says; 2, Be on your guard when a woman is silent."

"No woman is worth what she costs, even if she costs nothing."

"Women should be kept in ignorance. To educate a woman is like leaving a razor where a monkey can find it."

He's Not Responsible

Sanders merely shrugged and said Lewin puts such words in his mouth and he is not responsible. For instance, in "Moon and Sixpence" he had this line: "Women are strange little beasts. You can tread on them like dogs. You can beat them till your arm aches. And still they love you."

"I'm sorry I had to say that," Sanders told me. "I have since come to love dogs."

Ingrid Begman is down to whisper with laryngitis, but still working on "Notorious." . . . Alvino Rey out of the Navy and ready to open at Ocean Park . . . June Allyson and Dick Powell will have a belated honeymoon over the holidays. Hunt Stromberg is forging into the lead in the race to get his Jane Russell picture, "Young Widow," to the public before Howard Hughes' "The Outlaw" . . .

Charles Laughton is recording Bible stories for Decca . . . Louis Calhern left for New York in such a hurry that he didn't have time to record some dialogue for "Notorious" . . . He phoned his lines in from the east.

Thousands Of Jap Weapons Destroyed

TOKYO, Dec. 7. (AP)—An estimated 82,000 Japanese automatic weapons, including machineguns, automatic rifles and automatic cannon, have been smashed by American troops.

The Americans devised a simple method of destroying the guns. They place a log in a cleared space. Machine guns are placed in a row, with their barrels on the log and stocks on the ground. Then a tank crushes them.

Approximately 90 per cent of Japanese weapons already have been destroyed.

Scientist Doubts That Atomic Energy Will Soon Replace Coal As A Fuel

AUSTIN, Dec. 7. (AP) — Atomic energy is expensive to produce and uranium is not likely to replace coal as a fuel for some time, believes Dr. T. R. Hogness, University of Texas scientist.

Speaking at a public meeting last night, which preceded the regional meeting today of the American Chemical society, Dr. Hogness noted that a pound of uranium equals 1,500 tons of coal in energy value.

"To compete economically," he said, "uranium would have to be produced for $7,500 a pound or less."

U-235 High Priced Fuel

Not for some time to come can this production figure be met, said the scientist, who sees U-235 as a "high priced premium fuel that may be used on submarines, battleships, and colossal airplanes."

As an explosive, however, uranium is cheaper than TNT.

That it is also far more deadly, Dr. Hogness emphasized in advocating a 25-year unified control plan among nations over the production of atomic energy.

"It becomes imperative that the American people force their leaders in this direction," he said.

"The prevention of war must be more important to us than any possible national interest. If the full force of our efforts are not directed toward that end we perish."

Our immediate goal, said Dr. Hogness, "is an understanding with Russia."

"Many of us do not like the Russian methods, nor their political system—and many Russians do not like our methods or our capitalistic system. We can realize this and yet work together to bring about lasting peace."

Gen. Sanders Takes New Post At Brooks

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 7. (AP) —Brig. Gen. Homer L. Sanders, of Marshall, Tex., assumes command of Brooks field at San Antonio, Tex., today.

The general left here yesterday for his new assignment. He had been commanding officer at Barksdale field for the past month.

Government Land For Tech Sought By City

Request that government-owned land adjacent to Lubbock Army Air field be turned over to Texas Technological college, if the property and the field are declared surplus, will be submitted to the Surplus Property board in Washington according to instructions of the City Planning commission to its secretary after a Thursday night meeting in city hall.

The land consists of approximately 200 acres suitable for agriculture, the commission reported after study. Directors of the college already have accepted offer of the City of Lubbock for a lease on facilities at LAAF, if the field is declared surplus.

Building Changes Made

Members of the commission favored a recommendation of the zoning committee that the City commission change blocks 28 ,29, 30 and 31 in F. E. Wheelock's 2nd. Addition, Carver Heights, from an E to a B district, restricting construction in those blocks to one and two-family dwelling units. It also recommended that block 44 be changed from an F to H classification, permitting construction of business buildings.

Request of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway for a zone change which would permit picking and dressing of poultry in railroad property adjacent to Fourth between Avenues U and V was not approved. Reason given for the action was that such a change would be detrimental to residential property nearby.

Smith Expresses Appreciation

City Manager Marlin R. Smith, jr., whose resignation is effective Jan 1, expressed appreciation for the splendid cooperation of members of the planning commission with him in his work as city manager.

Chairman K. N. Clapp, presided at the meeting. Other members present were W. L. Bradshaw, Homer D. Grant, J. D. Hassell, jr., Dr. J. T. Krueger, J. H. Murdough and Arch L. King, secretary.

Soldier, While Prisoner Of Japs, Tells Wish For Last Resting Place

HOUSTON, Dec. 6. (U.P.)—They buried Pvt. Walter Starnader in his South Park property today.

The cemetery lot which the 24-year-old soldier referred to in a letter from a Japanese prison camp to advise his parents he was seriously ill, was his final resting place.

Captured in 1942 at the fall of Java, he wrote his parents a year later:

"I surely hope you are taking good care of my property in South Park, as I may need it soon after I am home." They knew he referred to the cemetery lot.

He never saw the property again because he died Sunday in a San Francisco Army hospital while on the way home.

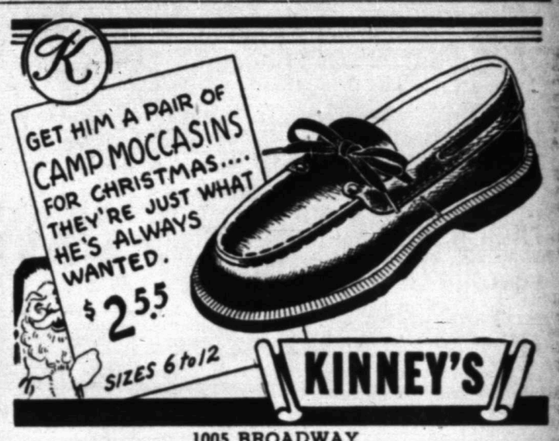

IDEA SAVES $18,200

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind. (U.P.) — A suggestion from Mary Forshaug of Louisville, Ky., saves the federal government $18,200 annually, according to officials of the Jeffersonville Quartermaster Depot. The suggestion — reducing the number of duplicate bills on purchases at the depot — saves approximately 1,700 clerical hours per month. She was awarded $250 by the depot for the idea.

Plum pudding ice cream . . . tasty surprise for Christmas

English Plum Pudding Remains Favorite Of Holiday Recipes

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

HERE'S an old recipe for English plum pudding brought up to date, plus two recipes for sauces to go with it.

Old English Plum Pudding

One-half pound seeded raisins, ¼ pound dried currants, ¼ pound figs, 2 ounces finely chopped citron, ½ cup blanched, sliced almonds, grated rind of 1 orange, orange juice plus water to make 1 cup, ½ cup cider, grape juice or wine, ½ teaspoon grated nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon ground mace, ⅛ teaspoon ground cloves, ¼ teaspoon ground allspice, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¾ cup flour, ½ cup fine bread crumbs, ¼ cup honey or old-fashioned molasses, 4 eggs separated, ½ pound fresh ground beef suet.

Slice raisins, currants and figs rather thin, using a pair of scissors. Add citron, sliced almonds and grated orange rind. Measure orange juice and add water sufficient to make 1 cup; add to fruit. Add cider, grape juice or wine. Set aside while flour, spices and salft are sifted together; add crumbs. Separate eggs; beat yolks until thick and lemon - colored, then gradually add honey. Add ground suet; add prepared fruit. Mix well. Add sifted dry ingredients and mix well. Fold in the egg whites, stiffly beaten. Grease well a 1½ to 2-quart mold (a mixing bowl is very satisfactory). Arrange on bottom a decorative design of almond halves. Then carefully pour in the batter, taking care not to disarrange decoration. over with heavy wrapping paper, well - greased and tightly cover. Steam 3½ hours. Serve hot with hard sauce or crystal sauce.

Sugar-Saving Hard Sauce

Fou rtablespoons butter or fortified margarine, ½ cup confectioners' sugar, ¼ cup tart jelly or 2 tablespoons brandy.

Cream butter or margarine, add sugar gradually, beating well. Add jelly or brandy and beat until fluffy. Chill before serving.

Crystal Lemon Sauce

Two tablespoons cornstarch, ¾ cup boiling water, 1 cup light corn syrup, 2 tablespoons sugar, grated rind and juice of 2 lemons, 2 tablespoons butter.

Mix cornstarch with sugar; stir in boiling water, then add the corn syrup. Stir over low heat until sauce becomes creamy and clear. Add remaining ingredients; heheat. Serve hot.

Combine Pudding And Ice Cream For Treat

Combine tradition with popularity and serve "plum pudding" ice cream as the grand finale to Christmas dinner. Its festive look belies the fact that it's simple to make—use vanilla ice cream from the corner store, slices of fruit cake to give it the "plum pudding" flavor, and top it off with a luscious holiday sauce.

Plum Pudding Ice Cream
(Sreves 6)

One quart vanilla ice cream (bulk), 6-7 slices dark fruit cake, blanched almonds, citron, 4-5 maraschino cherries, drained and chilled.

Keep ice cream frozen firm until last minute (if dry ice is not used, remove ice cream from container and spread in freezing tray of refrigerator; turn control to freezing). Arrange slices of fruit cake in wide circle on large glass serving platter. Decorate each slice with an almond and slices of citron, cut into small wedges. Just before serving, pack a round quart-size bowl with the well-frozen ice cream, and unmold immediately into center of fruit cake ring. (If preferred, ice cream may be spooned directly onto platter, building it up high to imitate a plum pudding shape.) Decorate top of ice cream "pudding" with citron slices and cherries. Serve, slicing wedge - shaped portions with a cake knife.

Charges, Denials On Surplus Property Fly Thick And Fast

BY ROGER W. STUART
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—Charges and denials about mishandling of surplus property were flying thick and fast today.

In Congress there were charges that millions of dollars worth of surpluses deliberately had been destroyed.

A resolution was introduced in the House calling for an investigation of overseas Army, Navy and surplus property bases, where the destruction is said to have occurred.

Nothing To Say

The Surplus Property administration itself had nothing to say in reply to assertions that vast quantities of jeeps, boats, food and other articles were burned and dumped into the ocean at various Pacific bases. Surplus property said the foreign liquidation commission, which handles surplus disposal in areas outside the United States, was the agency best qualified to discuss the matter.

A spokesman for the commission denied the charges, made by Rep. Wasielewski (D., Wis.)

Rep. Wasielewski had listed six places where, he said, surplus items ranging from 200 Hellcat fighter planes to stores of dental equipment were destroyed. He quoted from a report by an Australian newspaperman which said the destruction was "staggering in scope and thoroughness."

No Permission Granted

The foreign liquidation commission countered with the assertion that no permission had been granted for the abandonment or destruction of surpluses, except for six Quonset huts in Borneo. These, it was said, were worthless and had been destroyed.

Subsequently Rep. Latham (R., N. Y.) charged that "vast quantities of surplus property and equipment have been dumped into the sea or burned in Noumea, New Caledonia. He introduced a resolution calling for a seven - man committee to investigate.

Rep. Latham, a Navy lieutenant during the war, said he was familiar with the large Army and Navy establishments at Noumea. His information concerning the destruction of surpluses there, he said, came from a "thoroughly reliable source."

He called the destruction "nothing less than criminal." Reports had reached him, he said, that "every day dozens of vehicles and boats of all sorts as well as millions of dollars worth of material are thrown into the sea or burned."

The foreign liquidation commission ordered one of its field representatives to investigate. The Army, meanwhile, disclosed that it, too, was investigating.

Officials of both the Army and Navy denied that permission had been granted any post commander to destroy or abandon property.

Selective Service Continuation Urged

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 7. (AP)—The board of managers of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers went on record at the closing session of their conference favoring continuation of the selective service act.

The managers charged the May-Gurney bill for compulsory military training was "inadequate," however, and favored an amendment to the selective service act limiting the period of service to fifteen months.

(Under terms of the May-Gurney bill, youths 18 years of age would be required to spend one year in military service).

The National Congress board guides the policies of an organization which represents 3,500,000 fathers and mothers in the United States and Hawaii. All of the forty-eight states were represented at the 4-day meeting here.

First U. S. all-metal transport plane was the Stout "Pullman," built in 1924.

Adventists Gather Here For Meeting

Lubbock will be the gathering place today and Saturday for Seven-day Adventists of the Lubbock district who will meet at the local Adventist church, Twentieth and Ave. K, according to Douglas C. Marcus, pastor.

J. C. Christenson of Clovis, home missionary and Sabbath school secretary for the Texico conference, will be the speaker at the opening meeting tonight, commencing at 7:30 o'clock.

Saturday morning, Sabbath school will be at 9:45 o'clock and W. H. Shephard, president of Southwestern Junior college at Keene, Tex., will speak at 11 o'clock. Activities Of Boys Club Are Reviewed; 500th Boy Signed Lubbock Boys club has enrolled its 500th member for this year—Harmon Greene, son of Mrs. A. S. Greene, of 2421 Nineteenth—according to a review of its activities released by John W. Wilson, executive director.

Providing educational and recreational facilities for all boys in Lubbock county between the ages of 10 and 17, inclusive, the club house is located at 2323 Ave. K.

The first boy to come into the club this year is Leon Littleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Littleton, of 1414 Thirteenth.

"The club is proud of enrolling its 500th member this early in the year," Wilson said. "Last year, the club fell a few short of this number."

Sponsored By ABC

The club is sponsored by the American Business club with aid from all other luncheon organizations. In addition to Wilson, the staff is composed of E. Y. Lee, director of activitie; Jack (Spider) Dillon and T. M. Cox, directors of athletics, and Willie Gleaton, a woodwork student in Lubbock High school, shop director. Members of the board of directors are J. E. Maisen, J. Ray Dickey, J. A. Fortenberry, Grady Knight, G. H. Nelson, Bill Mead and H. B. Bryan.

The club has a well-equipped shop in which youngsters can make anything from toys to finished pieces of furniture. That the shop is a popular center is evidenced by the fact that the average daily attendance up to now has been 52 persons a day.

There is a library of approximately 500 books and all types of magazines interesting to youngsters. Thirty-seven boys use the library daily.

The game room is furnished with two ping pong and three pool tables and the "study" games, such as checkers, dominoes and chess.

Daily attendance at the club this year has averaged 189, a substantial increase over that of 1944.

Athletics comprise the most popular phase of the club's activities. Members now make up 20 basketball teams, representing groups 15 to 17, 13 and 14 and 10 to 12.

Fight Nights Each Friday

Fight nights are held at the club each Friday. Now, a contest is on to determine the club champion. Seventy-one boys have participated in the boxing.

Special night programs have been held by the club. At the Halloween party conducted last October, more than 500 members and their guests were in attendance. Recently, 115 fathers were guests at a party given by their Boys club sons.

"The boys are proud of their club," Wilson said. "Proof of this is the extreme care they have taken of th ebuilding and its equipment."

ABC Raises $30,000

The sponsoring organization has raised and spent for the building and equipment approximately $30,000, according to Wilson.

The latest addition to the club came with the recent purchase of an adjoining block of ground from the Lubbock Independent School district. This ground, according to Wilson, will afford space for outdoor sports such as football, baseball, tennis and for enlargement of the building.

WELCOME TO WHAT HOME?—A shrewd fellow is Jack Maurer, 26, an Army Air Forces veteran of Guadalcanal. Homeless, unemployed, denied a GI Bill of Rights loan, he chose this spot on Roosevelt Plaza fasing Camden, N. J., City Hall to stage a campaign to find a home for his wife and one-year-old child and himself. He has been living with friends, but says he will stay in the tent until he gets a home and job.

Texas Offices Decentralized

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP) — Plans of the Veterans administration to decentralize its administrative offices in Texas were announced today by Rep. Poage after a conference with national Veterans administration officials.

Under the proposal, Dallas, Houston, San Antonio and Waco each would have an office to handle all affairs of veterans residing in that area of the state. Heretofore a state headquarters has been maintained at Waco with suboffices at the other three cities.

The four offices, which are to assume equal duties and responsibilities, will come under the control of the recently announced Texas-Louisiana branch office of the Veterans administration. The branch office will be headed by Dr. Harry Rubin, formerly in charge of the Waco office, and will begin functioning as soon as office space can be found.

Little Reduction

Poage said the change would mean very little reduction in the total number of persons employed at Waco, about 300, because of the increasing work brought about by demobilization of the armed forces.

He added that Lubbock had been proposed as the site of an office on the same level with the other four cities but that no final decision had been reached.

In addition, the Veterans administration will continue its contact offices at Abilene, Austin, Beaumont, Fort Worth, Paris, Tyler, Weslaco and Wichita Falls.

"Buy A Victory Bond TODAY."

MINOR MIXUP—Complications arose when a Chicago judge ruled Kathryn Hemmerle, above, 17, was entitled to divorce from William, 20, with $10 weekly awarded as support for their 9-month-old baby. As minors, neither principal was legally eligible to accept the court's decision. The solution: Kathryn's mother accepted the decree for her daughter; William's mother received the support ruling.

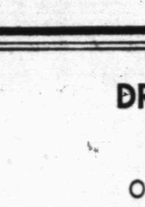

Phone Wires Downed By Midland Plane

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 7. (AP)—An Army training plane from Midland, Texas, overshot the emergency landing field at Red Rock, Ariz., 40 miles northwest of here last night, and tore down telephone wires alongside the field, disrupting service temporarily on the western round robin of the Associated Press.

Flight Officer E. Tamalexander, flying the plane from the Texas field to the west coast, was slightly injured in the mishap, officials at the Davis-Monthan airfield here announced.

Airplanes were first used as military weapons in the war among the Balkan states in 1912.

Boost In Newsprint Prices Is Ordered

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP) — The OPA today announced an increase of $6 a ton in newsprint ceiling prices.

While the increase is effective Dec. 11, OPA said the industry generally would not apply it until January 1, since most newsprint is sold on a yearly contract basis, with quarterly adjustments.

The agency said that while the purpose of the increase is to assure prices that are "generally fair and equitable," it also "should operate to check further decrease in United States newsprint production, which has been gradually declining for some years."

The higher prices apply to all newsprint sold in this country, including imports, which represent three-fourths of total consumption. Canada is the principal source of imports.

For standard newsprint delivered to 38 port cities the new ceiling will be $67 a ton. There are different ceilings for deliveries in 10 specified zones.

OPA described the increase as mandatory under the price control act. This requires that earnings be maintained at the 1936-39 level.

"Increased production costs, principally for pulpwood and fuel, have pulled the (Newsprint) industry's earnings below that level," the agency said.

Jewish Camp Called Filthy

LANDSBERG, Germany, Dec. 7. (AP)—High-ranking U. S. Army officials, investigating the displaced persons camp here, today found 6,200 homeless Jews jammed into a space designed for 4,200, with many living in filthy conditions. They placed much of the blame on the Jews themselves as well as on UNRRA officials operating the camp.

The inspection group was headed by Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, U. S. chief of staff; Lt. Gen. Lucian K. Truscott, U. S. Third Army commander; Maj. Gen. Albert W. Kenner, surgeon general for the European theater, and Simon H. Rifkind, U. S. Army adviser on Jewish affairs.

By Special Train

Accompanied by a score of news correspondents, they came here by special train from Frankfurt through a snowstorm to investigate charges by Lee Srole, the camp's welfare officer that the inmates were underfed, ill-clothed, overcrowded in unfit quarters and menaced by the threat of a "disastrous epidemic."

After a day-long inspection, the Army officials asserted there was no imminent danger of an epidemic.

Unsanitary conditions in many of the barracks were appalling. Human defecation littered the floor of some of the rooms. When Gen. Smith saw this, he turned to UNRRA Camp Director A. A. Glassgold, New York, and said:

"I would be ashamed."

Not Doing Their Part

Later he told a committee of camp inmates that "you folks are not doing your part to keep the place sanitary."

Smith also blamed much of the overcrowding on Jews who are slipping unauthorized into the American zone from the British and Russian areas at the rate of nearly 3,000 weekly. Nearly 80 per cent of them are coming from Poland.

Smith estimated that 90 per cent of the Jews repatriated to Poland were sneaking back, with many bringing their relatives.

Kenner said the food at the camp was adequate, though monotonous and too starchy. He said he found no evidence of malnutrition. He also said he found the Jews were warmly clad, though short of undergarments. All quarters, he added, were sufficiently heated by stoves.

An appalling number of lives were lost early in World War II because many servicemen did not know how to swim, according to the 1945 Encyclopedia Britannica Book of the Year.

NO. 1 BEAUTY—At the request of El Burro, magazine of the College of Mines at El Paso, La Ventana, Tech yearbook, officials have announced that Earlyne Reid of Coahoma, junior arts and sciences student, has been named the most beautiful girl on Tech campus by Nino Martini, leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera association who presented a concert here last week. Her picture will be featured with other top beauties of Border conference schools in the College of Mines magazine, as well as receiving a full-page "spread" in the Tech annual next spring. Miss Reid had been voted most beautiful girl by students and by a judging committee. Miss Merrilyn Snider, yearbook editor at Tech, made the announcement and said three other top beauties would be announced in the spring according to announced plans.

Back Pay Is Given Ex-Prisoner Of Japs

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP) — Mrs. Etta Jones, described by the Interior department as the only white woman known to have been captured by the enemy on American soil in World War II, collected her back pay today.

The check for $7,374.21 was given by Secretary Ickes to the 62-year-old Indian office teacher who was serving on the island of Attu when the Japanese landed there.

The Indian river in Florida is the only Southern river which flows north.

Annual Show Reaches End

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 7. (AP)—The American Polled Hereford Breeder's association wound up its annual show and sale here last night in what was acclaimed by Secretary B. O. Gammon of Des Moines, Ia., as the best annual event in the 45 years that the association has operated.

The next annual sale and show have been tentatively set for Baton Rouge, La., in November, 1946.

Estimating that prices paid for the stock were 30 per cent higher than last season, Secretary Gammon said that 137 animals were sold through the auction ring for an average price of $1,013 and a total sale volume of $138,000. The average price in 1944 was $777 per head.

The increased prices for this season were attributed by the secretary to the two factors of a generally higher market, and a better quality of stock, particularly females, assigned to sales for this year.

A private sale not figured in the averages was the purchase of Bright Banter, purebred bull, by E. E. Whisnant of Hickory, N. C. The animals was sold by Orville E. Kuhlmann of North Platte, Neb., for $10,000.

Whisnant also bought the top-priced female Choice President, which the North Carolinian got from Terry Campbell of Temple, Texas, for $1,250. The top bull sale was for $1,150 which A. G. Rolfe of Poolesville, Md., paid for Super Anxiety 3rd, sold by Frank Robinson of Kearney, Neb.

CAT PREFERS SNAKES

VERSAILLES, Ky. (U.P.)—"Susie" is just a stray cat who wandered into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmore Wright here. But the animal is setting some sort of record because rats have no appeal for her. Rather, she catches snakes. The Wrights say Susie catches the reptiles by the neck and shakes them to death. She brings the catch to the family after the kill.

Truman May Act To Give Boost To Home Building Over Nation

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—President Truman was reported today to be planning to restore building materials to a priorities system in an effort to break a bottleneck in home building.

Officials of government agencies said it had been agreed that there must be a move quickly to get home construction rolling.

Might Reveal Action

These officials, who asked that their names not be used, said Mr. Truman might announce some action at his news conference scheduled for 3 p. m. (CST) today.

The plan would be to make sure materials get into hands of contractors who want to build homes.

Said one official, "virtually all materials and construction labor are going to commercial and industrial building projects."

There is a possibility that any priorities set up may earmark materials for low and moderately-priced houses only. One top figure which has been mentioned is the $8,000 sale ceiling.

Preference For Vets

Also in the picture, it was reported, is a preference rating for veterans wishing to build homes.

The plan is not to prohibit commercial and industrial construction, but to allow it only in cases where materials are available after home needs have been met, officials said.

They added that the home construction industry has been one of the chief advocates of restoring priorities.

Humiliating Defeat For Truman Charged

CHICAGO, Dec. 7. (AP) — Gov. Dwight H. Green of Illinois charged before the Republican national committee today that the Truman administration had "suffered the most humiliating defeat in history" by losing "every skirmish" on the international diplomatic front.

In a vigorous prepared address possibly presaging his candidacy for GOP presidential nomination in 1948, the Illinois governor asserted that "we have been told that we should not raise our voice against the rape of Java by the British and Dutch for fear of offending some voters."

"We have been told," he said, "we must not even protest against the shameful betrayal of Poland for fear of offending Russia's following over here."

"We must never condone the suppression of liberty in Poland, in the Baltic states, in the Balkans, or in any nation in Europe, Asia, or elsewhere," he declared.

News Briefs

Ted Harvey, 33, of Lubbock, charged by indictment with desertion of a minor child, was removed from Amarillo to Lubbock by Dep. Sheriff Tom Cannon and City Patrolman Tom Everheart, the sheriff's department said this morning.

Perhaps 30-degree temperature had something to do with it, but the police couldn't move fast enough at 12:30 o'clock this morning to "find a naked man roaming in vicinity of 1200-block Ave. O." A woman telephoned to report him. "The fellow presumably sought cover — he probably needed it," police explained.

The U. S. Navy recruiting office, second floor of the post office building, will be closed until Monday, it has been announced by Chief Specialist John C. Oldham, recruiter in charge. Chief Oldham will be in Dallas through the weekend on official Navy business. Assistant recruiter Y-2/c James McGriel is in New York city on an emergency furlough.

A graveside service for Ruby Marie Summers one - day - old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Summers of route 6, Lubbock, was to be conducted at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in Lubbock cemetery with E. A. Perkins of the Southside Church of Christ officiating. The baby was born early Thursday in West Texas hospital and died at 5 o'clock this morning. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Sanders Funeral home.

B. A. Young, 27, of route 4, Tahoka, is in Lubbock Memorial hospital for treatment of burns suffered on the face and arms when a tank of tractor gas ignited.

Negro Asks Permit To Beat His Wife

HOUSTON, Dec. 7. (U.P.)— The district attorney's office announced today it was issuing no "beat your wife" permits after turning down its first request.

A negro appeared at the office yesterday and explained:

"I want a permit to beat my wife. Some of my friends tole me if I came down here you could give me one."

Under questioning he elaborated:

"She can't keep house so good, she's lazy and today she burned the cornbread. What she needs is a good old-fashioned beating."

British Loan Facing Fight

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP) — Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull today endorsed the Anglo-American loan and trade deal as a step in building world peace.

In a statement issued through the State department, Hull declared that the nation may be now confronted with its "final opportunity to make a peace that will last."

Another Long Step

He said that through the American government's policy to grant Britain a $4,400,000,000 loan and Britain's agreement to work for freer international trade, "our country is taking another long step forward to build a better world by profiting from the bitter lessons of the past."

"I believe the governmnt's overall plans released yesterday set forth the prerequisites to economic prosperity and improved standards of living in our own and all other countries," he said.

Arguments Marshaled

Hull's statement was issued as the administration marshaled its arguments behind the big credit offer to Britain, convinced that any major congressional change would imperil hopes for Anglo-American trade cooperation.

The two governments climaxed three months of diplomatic talks yesterday by announcing a broad economic agreement tied to financial help from this country.

That help would come from a $3,750,000,000 cash loan and a $650,000,000 settlement for post-war lend-lease and war surpluses. Both would be repaid at two per cent inteesrst over a 50-year period beginning in 1951.

Bitter Struggle Seen

Only the outright loan needs congressional approval, but every sign pointed to a bitter struggle. Harsh words were heard from a Democrat as well as a Republican in the House.

Asking anonymity, State department and treasury officials who participated in the talks here said today they are convinced that any major change in the loan terms would force Britain to reject the loan altogether and pursue her own economic course within a restricted bloc of countries.

As a part of the credit agreement, Britain agreed to cooperate with this country by lowering such barriers as tariffs and cartels.

Will Not Be Repaid

Senator Lister Hill (D-Ala) said: "The loan should be made. In making the loan we are promoting the interests of the United States as well as the stability and peace of the world."

On the other hand, Rep. Dan Reed (R-NY) declared: "The slogan of the New Deal now is 'come one(come all and get our billions.' I'm opposed to this loan. These loans will not be repaid."

In the House yesterday Rep. Dewey Short (R-Mo) said he would not vote one dollar "as long as they've got the crown jewels in London." And Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-NY) said the loan "will promote too damned much socialism at home and too damned much imperialism abroad."

Pair Held In Assault Case

Two 34-year-old men, of Abilene and Anson, were held by Lubbock police today for investigation into informal charges of assault with firearms and in connection with the finding of 20 pints of rum, two revolvers, six rings and three watches in their car.

Two Post girls, Thelma Adams and Joyce Loyd said the men offered to take them home. Two other women and a man also were in the car. The latter three were taken home, but, the complaining witnesses told police here, the men then said they were "headed toward Lubbock" and that they would buy gasoline at Slaton. The girls said the men, at pistol point, warned them not to "squeal" when the Slaton stop was made.

Jumped From Car

In Lubbock, the girls said they suddenly jumped from the car and called police. The arrest was at 2:30 a.m., in 1100-block Ave. G.

The Post girls returned home this morning, but said they would talk to Assistant Chief of Police Bill Mabray this afternoon.

Charges of liquor law violation probably will be filed against one or both the men, Mabray said. Whether there would be other charges would depend upon continued investigation, he explained.

"I'm tired of women claiming they're being chased by men," he said. "We all know that most of the girls are running so hard that they have to take off their corsets to keep from panting."

Silver got 18 "character witnesses" for his book, including Dale Carnegie, Milton Berle, Earl Carroll, Jimmy Durante, Ira Gershwin, John J. Anthony, W. C Handy, Hildegarde, Tommy Manville, Arthur Murray, Woody Herman and several others.

Does he still like women?

Abner Silver said, "Hell, yes. I love 'em. But they can still stand a little debunking."

And he's going to keep on writing romantic songs about them.

"After this expose," he explained, "the poor girls will need it."

The most popular girls' book ever written in America was Louisa May Alcott's "Little Women," according to Encyclopedia Britannica.

Retirement Benefits For Solons Approved

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—A system of retirement benefits for congressmen to be financed largely through deductions from their pay was approved, 11 to 4, today by the House civil service committee.

Supporters emphasized the contributory feature and some objected to its being called a "pension system."

The program would be on a voluntary participation basis. It would be open to members of Congress, cabinet officers and other executive department heads.

They would pay into the retirement fund 5 per cent of their salary-or $500 annually in the case of senators and representatives.

Before being eligible for the minimum payment of $418 a year a member of Congress would have to serve five years and reach the age of 55 before retirement. The payments range upward on the basis of amounts contributed and age at time of retirement.

Victory Bond Goal Reached

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The government's goal in the Victory bond drive, ending tomorrow, was $11,000,000,000. So far it has sold $12,288,000,000.

So, generally, before it officially closes the drive it has been a success. But it is lagging in the sale of "E" bonds.

When the government set the $11,000,000,000 goal, it divided it this way:

They Topped Goal

To non-individuals (such as corporations, organizations, groups): $7,000,000,000. This group topped the goal, bought $8,076,000,000.

To individuals: $4,000,000,000 in all classes of bonds. Individuals have topped the goal by buying $4,212,000,000.

But—of that $4,000,000,000 goal for individuals the government wanted to sell $2,000,000,000 in "E" bonds—those bonds which range from $25 to $1,000.

So far it has sold only $1,165,000,000.

Actually, though, this drive which started Oct. 29 doesn't end tomorrow—so far as final results are concerned—but on Dec. 31. This is why:

The bulk of "E" bond sales are made through payroll deductions. The government doesn't count a sale until money for the bond has been paid.

Have Promised To Buy

A lot of people so far in December have promised they would buy bonds, but until the money has been taken out of their paychecks by Dec. 31, their promise can't be counted.

Since the first drive in May, 1941, and up to Oct. 31, 1945, individuals have bought $38,448,000,000 in "E" bonds. They've cashed in $8,604,000,000. Which means: They've kept 78 per cent of the bonds they bought.

Individuals can continue to buy bonds after the drive ends.

Tests Set Saturday For Science Talent

Preliminary examinations will be taken by two Lubbock High school students, in connection with the fifth annual Science Talent search, here Saturday at the Senior High school in room 308 under supervision of Miss Neville Wrenn.

Students taking the test here will be Floyd Rector and Richard Kelisky.

The Science Talent search is conducted annually by Science Clubs of America, administered by Science Service. Purpose is to discover and help develop scientific talent that will be of value to the nation in war and peace.

Forty boys and girls from over the nation, who lead in preliminary examinations are to be given all-expense trips to Washington to attend the Science Talent institute for five days and take final examinations for the Westinghouse science scholarships. Two contestants, one boy and one girl, will be selected by a board of judges to receive the Westinghouse grand science scholarships of $2,400 each ($600 per year for four years.) Eight others will receive Westinghouse scholarships for $400 ($100 a year for four years), and $3,000 additional in scholarships will be awarded.

As part of the preliminary examinations, each contestant must submit an essay of about 1,000 words on the subject "My Scientific Project."

Object Lesson Given Texans

(By The Associated Press)

Two Hamilton county war veterans gave Texans an object lesson today about the Victory loan drive.

The pair led their county over the top by a considerable margin.

Capt. Bob Miller, county chairman of the drive, and the Rev. J. F. Isbell, retired Army chaplain of both World wars, marshalled a force of Victory volunteers. Together they contacted nearly everyone of the 15,000 residents in the county.

Sail Over Quota

In the little Blue Ridge community, the E bond quota was set at $4,085. The Blue Ridge citizens sailed over the quota and chalked up bond sales totaling $11,000.

Captain Miller is on terminal league and will be discharged from the Army Dec. 22. He served overseas three and one-half years and saw action in North Africa, Sicily, Italy and France. He was captured by the Germans and was a prisoner of war in Poland when the war ended.

Col. Isbell, whose son was killed in action, helped put Hamilton county over the top through his sales efforts in Hico.

"We hope that we have won a lasting peace," Col. Isbell said. "But after serving in two wars, I know that we must do more than hope that there will never be another."

Thunderbirds Honor Brownwood Citizens

BROWNWOOD, Dec. 7. (U.P.) — The 45th Infantry division (Thunderbirds) will be officially inactivated tonight at 12 o'clock, bringing to a close a long service in World war II which saw men of the 45th spend most of their 511 combat days alongside Texas' 36th division.

At noon today, Brig. Gen. Henry J. D. Meyer, commander of the 45th, presented to Mayor Wendell Mayes for the citizens of Brownwood a beautiful copper tube containing the division's map originals.

The map case bore a silver insignia and the dedicatory words, "to citizens of Brownwood, Tex., from officers and men of the 45th Infantry division, November, 1945."

The 45th's campaign maps were copied for distribution as gifts to the governors of Oklahoma, Arizona, New Mexico and Colorado, from which states came the National Guard units that comprised the division.

Division headquarters said all but 150 men and 20 officers had been demobilized, and that the job would be completed today.

Dallas Police Seek Pair In Robberies

DALLAS, Dec. 7. (U.P.) — Dallas police today were anxious to question Lester Wayne Nelson, 20, and his wife, Patsy, in connection with the armed robbery on Nov. 21 of two liquor stores in the city.

The Nelsons were identified Thursday by the sheriff's office at Georgetown, Williamson county, as the pair who robbed a liquor store at Jarrell Dec. 5. They took $400 in cash, State Ranger Capt. Fred Olson said, and robbed the store owner of two guns.

The Dallas robberies netted the hijackers about $365 in cash, some whiskey, and a cash register containing an unknown amount of money. Besides robbing the two inside the city, the man and woman robbed two more on highway 77 in Dallas county the same night.

Rangers, State highway patrolmen and local officers searching the Georgetown vicinity said the methods used by the couple were reminiscent of those employed by Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker when they once terrorized the Southwest.

Ted Lyons, veteran pitcher, has served one ball club during his long career, going directly to the Chicago White Sox from Baylor (Tex.) University.

Official Ruling On Vet Voting Is Given

AUSTIN, Dec. 7. (U.P.)—Veterans or members of the armed forces and its component parts needed only an election today to exercise their right to vote free in Texas, according to a ruling by the Attorney General's department.

An amendment adopted Aug. 25 permits service personnel to vote without being listed on poll tax rolls, the ruling said. They need only to prove their military status.

The amendment provides that service personnel during wartime and one year afterward, and persons serving 18 months prior to an election are entitled to vote free.

Two Tilts Tonight

Tonight Crozier Tech (Dallas) goes to Fort Worth to play North Side and Brownsville will be in San Antonio to meet Thomas Jefferson.

Tomorrow afternoon finds Wichita Falls entertaining Amarillo, Odessa tackling El Paso High at El Paso, Breckenridge playing at Waco and Goose Creek journeying to Houston to clash with Milby.

Houston expects 22,000 fans, San Antonio looks for 20,000, Fort Worth thinks there'll be 15,000 to 18,000, El Paso predicts 14,000, Wichita Falls and Waco each forecasts 12,000, Paris anticipates 7,500 and Lufkin expects 7,000.

Wichita Falls, Odessa, Highland Park, Crozier Tech, Waco, Lufkin, Goose Creek and Thomas Jefferson are favorites in the opening round.

Favorites Bunched In Open At Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 7. (AP) — Ben Hogan, the Hershey, Pa., pro, was like the backseat driver awaiting an operator's license as the $10,000 Miami open golf tournament entered its second day today.

Hogan, a pre-tournament favorite, was "satisfied" with a 70 yesterday as Chick Rutan, of Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich., shot a 68 to lead the field. Eight others were bunched at 69.

Rutan, who has never won a major tournament in 15 years of golf, shot his way into the lead with eight one-putt greens.

Closely bunched and ready to break from the pack any moment were Harold (Jug) McSpaden, E. L. (Dutch) Harrison, Toney Penna, Henry Picard, Fred Annon, George Payton, Ky Lafoon and Ben Yasko with 69's.

Sammy Snead, a co-favorite with Hogan, had a 71. An injured right hand gave him considerable trouble.

Tied with Hogan at 70 were Jim Ferrier, Chales Shepherd, Steve Warfa, Ed Furgol and Teri Johnson.

Brief Bits Of Gossip Picked Up Among Baseball Big Shots

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 7 — The minor league convention session yesterday was held in the hotel's "Hall of Mirrors" — and apparently that's how the business was transacted—by mirrors . . . There's no other reasonable explanation of how the "AA" leagues became "AAA" the A-1 loops climbed up to "AA" and at least one B circuit, the Sally, moved into "A." The Piedmont is expected to duplicate that advance today.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Sam Breadon, who ought to know, claims Manager Eddie Dyer is the toughest man who ever worked in the Cardinals' organization. "He'd be leading his league by 18 games," Sam explains, "and if one player got hurt Eddie would come screaming for help, claiming he was about to lose the pennant" . . . The 1946 Golden Gloves tournaments will bar "amateur" boxers who have been fighting five years or more from competing against the green kids.

CLEANING THE CUFF

Piedmont league officials, who have been getting together every few minutes to consider the Charlotte, N. C., problem, apparently are the only guys here who never heard of meet rationing . . . When Casey Stengel heard about the Coast league's bid for a major league rating, his comment was: "I've been here two days and haven't seen any of my club owners. Maybe they've gone major league on me."

Garden Slugfest on KFYO Tonight

In the feature contest at Madison Square Garden tonight, which will be aired coast to coast, Artie Levine, Brooklyn middleweight, (above) meets George "Sonny" Horne, formerly of Niles, Ohio, in a return match that promises to give the fans plenty of what they like about boxing.

Horne entered the Garden ring against Levine last August an 8 to 5 favorite. For five rounds they slugged it out on even terms. In the fifth, however, Horne was cut over an eye and the contest stopped.

Levine is an ex-Marine, Horne an ex-sailor. Both are classy boxers with plenty of punch-power and an eye on Tony Zale's middleweight title.

Busher Chosen Horse Of Year

Wins $273,755 For The Year

BY OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 — Busher, a classy little lady who had most of the boys chasing her before she retired to domestic life, will be named "horse of the year" today.

That makes it a two-year sweep for the weaker sex, what with a fast filly called Twilight Tear taking the turf tiara in 1944. She was the first of the ladies to win this award, and she too celebrated promptly by retiring to raise little tears in the twilight.

Is History Making

So this second straight filly winner is history-making around horse highway. And it is somewhat appropriate that both of them bowed out, along with women welders, female firemen, pig-tailed policemen and lady wrestlers.

But while the Tear and Busher were around they certainly liked the bright lights, those kind that flash in the infield. And they led the boys a merry chase. The Tear shattered precedent in taking the coveted title away from her gentlemen friends when she finished up a two-year career last season with a record of 18 wins in 23 starts, failing only once to wind up in the money.

But Busher showed her how to play really fast and loose this year.

Won 10 Of Starts

The young lady in the chestnut coat went out stepping 13 times and 10 of those jaunts were unlucky for her cantering companions. She was out to feather her nest so in the three times she didn't hit the jackpot Busher settled twice for place profits and once more for the show money.

All that means is that as a three-year-old she earned $273,755—boosting her bank account to the comforting sum of $334,035 and thus becoming the seventh highest money winner in turf annals. Busher brought home top money in the Arlington handicap, where she ran away and hid from Pot O'Luck and Thumbs Up; a match race with her elder rival, Durazna; the Santa Susanna stakes, San Vincente, Santa Margarita, Cleopatra, Washington park and Vanity handicaps and the Hollywood derby.

That's comparable to playing the lead in Oklahoma, the Birth of a Nation and Uncle Tom's Cabin, making two pictures, appearing on a radio show and writing a best seller all in one year.

Seventh Richest

Because this one successful season made her the seventh richest blue blood in racing's social register, boosting her above such post-time plutocrats as Gallant Fox, Shut Out, War Admiral (her own daddy); Man O'War (her grandpappy); Twenty Grand, Devil Diver and Count Fleet.

With true running refinement which upheld the Man O'War tradition, Busher became the wealthiest filly in history. That happened in mid-season when she surpassed Top Flight, the former queen, who had won $275,900. All that stood between her and the top were Whirlaway, the king; Seabiscuit, Sun Beau, Alsab, Equipoise and Chelledon — really classy company. And she had her sights set on them when a training injury forced her to retire to the farm.

But she did right well as long as she was around, and only finished out of the picture once. Which seems only fair in view of the fact that her career was financed by Louis B. Mayer, himself quite a man in the happy pictures where poor little girls always wind up wealthy.

Tech's Red Raiders Open Cage Season With A 75-32 Victory; Second Game Slated Tonight

Texas Tech's Red Raider cagers opened another basketball season last night at Tech gym, and did so with a louder bang than any team of recent years, rolling over the Eastern New Mexico State college five from Portales, 75 to 32.

It was the first game of the series, and the same two teams will conclude the series tonight at Tech gym. The tipoff will be at 7:30 o'clock.

Coach Polk Robison used three complete teams in the first half, and found the first two looking impressive against the New Mexico five. The third string didn't play long.

Jackson Sets Pace

The scoring by the first team was pretty well divided, with Jiggs Jackson, a New Mexico native causing his fellow statesmen the most woe for the night, looping in 15 points.

Ardis Barton, with ten points, and Don Dollar, with eight, set the pace for the second stringers, but didn't match the work of the first team. Gene Hardey and Tilly Sneed each accounted for nine points, and Jay Kerr racked up eight.

The scoring started slowly, but Jiggs Jackson dropped in a free toss for the first counter. Zimmerman, lanky center for New Mexico, looped in a two pointer, and New Mexico State enjoyed its only lead, briefly at 2-1. Jackson tipped in another two points to give Tech a lead that was never headed off.

Tech then got hot. Kerr looped a couple, Kelley a field goal and a free pitch, Jackson another and Sneed one to run the score to 14-2 before Pompeo scored again for New Mexico.

About midway in the half, with Tech leading 25-6, Robison pulled the first team. The second team promptly ran the score up to 38 to 11, then turned it over to the third string, and the half ended 40-16.

The regulars returned for the second half. New Mexico pulled up a little early in the second half, and cut the Tech lead to 41-20, then the Red Raider regulars hit another scoring spree, hitting the basket from near and far, and pulled out 63-20, and the second stringers again rushed on the floor, and held the comfortable lead the rest of the way, and held their own for the final fourth of the game.

Region Two Games Today

An afternoon game at Littlefield, and a night game at Sweetwater, will name the finalists for the region two football crown today.

The Littlefield Wildcats, highest scoring grid machine on the South Plains, will run into the Denver City Mustangs, the greatest defensive team, and not a mean shakes at scoring points, in the afternoon game at Littlefield.

Maloney Top Star

Wild Walter Maloney will lead his Roscoe Plowboys against the Monahans Loboes tonight at Sweetwater in the other bi-district game. The two winners will play for the regional championship, with a new champion assured the region, since Merkel was eliminated by Roscoe in district play, 14-12.

Littlefield is trying to follow the same trail as last year, and Denver City will be seeking revenge for last year's 39-20 loss to the Wildcats. Littlefield was in turn beaten 24-14 by Merkel in the finals.

Records Of Teams

Roscoe will field the only team with a perfect record, undefeated and untied in ten games. They have scored 330 points to 31 for their opponents, with Maloney scoring 187 of these points.

Monahans has been beaten by McCamey, 7-6, and tied Pecos, 14-14.

Denver City has scored 219 points to only 12 for the opponents, winning nine games, and being held to a 6-6 tie by Levelland. Littlefield has rolled up 428 points this year, while allowing 57. The Wildcats were beaten by the powerful Ballinger Bearcats, and tied in the conference by the Sudan Hornets, while winning eight games.

Relief Grant Up To Senate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP) — A new $1,350,000,000 grant for relief work aboard — with a nudge to Russia attached — is up to the Senate.

The House by a vote of 327 to 39 yesterday passed the measure to provide funds for the next 18 months of operations by the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation. Attached was a substitute news freedom rider proposed by Rep. Herter (R-Mass).

It asks President Truman to use his influence with nations receiving aid to bring about permission for American correspondents to report UNRRA news without censorship.

Access To News

Herter told the House he had in mind White Russia and the Ukraine, where UNRRA soon will begin dispensing relief. U. S. correspondents already have access to the news in nations now on the relief list, as said.

House approval came after Chairman Bloom (D-NY) of the foreign relations committee said he had no objection to the Herter amendment.

Bloom had opposed successfully a proposal by Rep. Clarence Brown (R-Ohio) which would have required nations to permit U. S. reporting of UNRRA activities as a condition for receiving aid.

A similar amendment by Brown, adopted by the House during consideration of an earlier UNRRA bill, was stricken in the Senate.

cepts. When I reached the end, and it was a long message, some of which I read twice, on the next sheet was the 1 o'clock message.

Something Definite Seen

"That of course was an indication to me of some very definite action — 1 o'clock on a Sunday in Washington, involving the secretary of State was very unusual.

"I called Stark and he said he had seen it.

"I proposed messages to the Pacific commanders. Stark felt we might confuse them. I hung up the White House telephone and wrote out a message in long hand. I called him back. The effect of our conversation was then that he wished me to add to my messages 'show this to your naval officers.'

"There was some talk of typing the message but the decision was that there was not time to type it. Bratton took the messages and I asked him about the time involved in getting them off. I sent him back for estimates and I sent him and Col. Bundy back a second time to make sure."

Testimony Disputed

Marshall disputed previous testimony before the committee and the Army board of inquiry, published last August, that he telephoned the warning message to General Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines.

Marshall said he gave no instructions on the method of sending the messages, that it was the business of the message center to get them out "by the most expeditious" means.

He said he did not know until long afterward that the message to Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, Army commander at Pearl Harbor, went to San Francisco by Western Union and thence by RCA radio to Hawaii.

Marshall related that Stark recalled asking him whether the Army had need of Navy facilities. Stark told him he replied it did not, Marshall said, "and he must be right."

Much Taken Aback

He remarked that he was "much taken aback" at the time lost in reading the long diplomatic message before reaching the one referring to "the critical time" of 1 p. m.

Marshall said Maj. Gen. Sherman Miles, then head of Army intelligence, could not have sent a "command message," with instructions. But he did have authority to pass on the information, Marshall added.

Marshall referred to Mrs. Marshall's engagement book to help him remember the evening of December 6. He said they did not go out for dinner, out calling or to the movies.

ley requested a China policy statement from him and the president does not recall such a request."

Diplomats Attacked

Byrnes appeared before the committee after Hurley had spent two days attacking State department career diplomats and specifically accusing George Atcheson and John Service, formerly on duty in China, of having worked against Hurley's efforts to unify the Chinese central government and the Chinese Communists.

Byrnes said, "in my opinion there is nothing" in documents written by Atcheson and Service while in China "to support the charge that either Atcheson or Mr. Service was guilty of the slightest disloyalty to his superior officers."

To Recall Hurley

Before Byrnes opened his testimony, Chairman Tom Connally (D-Tex) said Hurley would be recalled before a subsequent session of the committee to amplify his contention that Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson "defeated" American foreign policy in Iran.

Connally told reporters that outside of the Acheson angle—which he said he didn't understand — Hurley's only complaint seemed to be that "a couple of underlings didn't do just what he said."

of what belonged in their counties, so that restoration of property there could be facilitated.

Whether any "separate transaction" would be actionable in prosecution as a felony remained to be determined, investigatiors said. The thefts were "strung over several weeks," it was admitted.

and union heads with CIO President Philip Murray at Pittsburgh Wednesday.

A citizens' committee of 14 businessmen, clergymen and educators meanwhile came to the union's support to the extent of saying use of wage-price-profits relations in settling the dispute would not deprive management of its rights.

Vets Ask Compensation

These were the other developments:

War veterans idled by the GM strike held a mass meeting last night to demand unemployment compensation which they claim is due them under the GI Bill of Rights.

The Detroit department of welfare reported nearly 100 applications for relief of GM strikers and their families.

Two federal labor conciliators arranged conferences with UAW-CIO and Chrysler corporation officials. The Chrysler-union contract expired Tuesday midnight. Strike action has been approved in government vote but is being withheld.

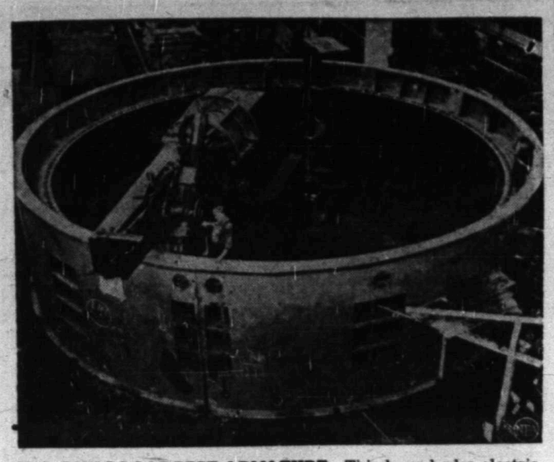

The United Electrical Workers (CIO), demanding a $2 a day increase, also received a 13½ cents an hour offer from General Motors.

McCory Funeral To Be Held Saturday

The body of J. B. McCrory of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., and formerly of Lubbock, is expected to arrive in Lubbock Saturday morning, Bryan McDonald and Son Funeral home reported. McCrory died early Monday morning at his home in Lawrenceburg.

Services will be held Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock but the place has not been arranged, the funeral home said.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. L. L. Guess of 3505 Dixie Drive, Lubbock; four sons, Dr. Jimmy McCrory of St. Louis, Lawrence McCrory of Levelland and John and Roy McCrory who are in the armed forces.

U. S. BUILDS LARGEST ARMATURE—This huge hydro-electric generator, when completed at General Electric's Generator Division in Schenectady, N. Y., will go to Russia for its famous Dniepprostroi Dam. Armature frame and core shown here are declared to be the largest in the world. New generators will have a 15 percent greater output than the old ones built in 1931.

News Briefs

R. P. Griffin of 1315 Ave. F needed some money, so he went into the backyard, dug up a bottle and took what he needed. That was late Thursday. This morning he needed some more. He dug up the bottle, his own private bank, then called police. The bottle had been emptied of three $100 bills and three $20 bills, he reported.

Three judgments were returned this morning in county court after Judge Walter Davies had accepted pleas of guilty. R. C. McCaffree, about 18, was assessed a fine of $25 and costs and five days in jail for theft. Earnest Turner, 34, was fined $100 and costs for liquor law violation. John Jackson, 70, was fined $1 and costs for check law violation.

Bond Election

sum of $75,000 has been earmarked for this improvement, he said.

Importance Stressed

"Unless the proposed water supply and improvements issue is voted favorably, there is no need to consider any of the other items," Hassell said in stressing the special importance of issue No. 13. Warning that Lubbock had reached a critical position regarding its water supply, Hassell reminded ABC members that "last year we pumped directly from the wells."

Since Lubbock is the largest city, with only two stations, that has its present fire rates—citizens will pay a bigger bill through increased insurance rates than new stations and equipment will cost through the proposed $166,000 to be voted on, Hassell said. "We face serious fires without adequate equipment to care for them," he added.

Improvements Needed

"The police station has been inadequate since the day it was completed, therefore it is essential that improvements be made," Hassell said in urging passage of a proposed $88,000. He said for many years Lubbock has needed a storage and garage building for its mechanical equipment. "Vote on this proposal of $60,000 and the equipment will be housed in a business-like manner."

In discussing the proposed recreation and park improvements, Hassell said "negroes are entitled to a swimming pool the same as we are if we are to follow our democratic system." Under the proposal for which $155,000 is to be voted, the Mackenzie State park swimming pool would be modernized, a pool would be built inside the city, and water lines would be extended for irrigational purposes in the park."

Airport Plan Also Tops

"Next to the urgency of the No. 1 need of Lubbock, that of improving the water system, is the airport proposal, Hassell said he believed. He said it involved the future of Lubbock, its growth, progress and expansion because it will be the main means of transportation.

"Probably, if the issue on auditorium and coliseum is voted to pass, work will begin on this project in the second year," Hassell reminded his audience. With the $1,750,000 provided for an auditorium, a building would be constructed to serve the entire South Plains area—not just Lubbock citizens," he said.

Advantages Explained

Hassell briefly explained the advantages of the proposals for street improvements, storm sewers, street and traffic lighting, and sanitary sewer improvements. He pointed out the needs for each improvement and said the sewer improvements were "an absolute must."

The issue of providing water softening equipment is debatable, according to Hassell. "This is a not tried and true method so it would have to be on the trial and error basis," Hassell said.

"Citizens must adapt a forward-look attitude and push this city bond issue. It has to be passed because Lubbock has outgrown its pants," Hassell concluded.

Guests for luncheon were Ralph Brock, J. H. Cox, W. B. Mullin, G. E. Dawson, and Curtis Boyd, new member.

Young Demos

of the leaders of a group opposing the "Loyal Democrat" faction in control of the convention, announced in the course of a talk on the veteran adn housing that he would ask the convention to go on record as opposing strikes and approving President Truman's efforts to get labor and management together.

Irwin, Dickson, Bill Williams of Dallas and Tommie Sutherland of Austin, who participated in the discussion, are all World War II veterans. Williams said he hoped the young Democrats would not function in blocs, but would participate in politics as community leaders.

Had Firm Grip

The state Democratic organization that took the party over at a history-making pro-Roosevelt convention a year ago, today had a firm grip on the Texas Young Democrats embarking on their first postwar political year.

Many of the leaders of the "Loyal Democrats" faction that stampeded all opposition and took control in a lightning thrust early in the Young Democrat's first postwar convention were also identified with the group that triumphed in the battle of the electors last year.

Watch State Affairs

Harry Seay, state Democratic chairman and ardent Roosevelt-Truman man in that fight called on the young members of the party last night not "to follow in 1946 and 1948 those who tolerated us in 1944."

"Do not devote all your time and thought to national issues, but keep a watchful eye on men and affairs in your state," he counseled.

"Our electoral votes came close to being diverted to the Republicans in 1944 by renegade Democrats who hatched the plot to defeat Roosevelt. We are forming a cohesive party so strong that nobody of self-seekers will ever be able to throw the electors. The same group that tried to take charge in 1944 may try again in 1946. We need your support to circumvent them."

Wreckage Of Lost Plane Is Located

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 7 (U.P.)—The burned out wreckage of an airplane, believed to be the U. S. Army transport that has been missing since Monday with 14 Americans aboard, has been found in Argentina's Corrientes province with all its occupants dead, it was announced today.

The first official report received by Argentine authorities said search parties found the wreck 23 miles northeast of Pellegrini, in the wild Argentina-Brazil-Uruguay border country.

Local police who found the plane reported all its occupants were dead. They were unable immediately to confirm the identity of the plane, but there appeared little doubt it was the missing C-47 that left Asuncion, Paraguay, Monday morning enroute to Montevideo.

Her Love Made Her Submit To Beatings

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 7 (U.P.) — New York Actress Beatrice Webb said today that she submitted to beatings by sugar heir Adolph B. Spreckels, jr., during his "sadistic frenzies" because she loved him and hoped to reform him.

But when Speckels suddenly ended their three-year romance by eloping with Actress Kay Williams, his fifth wife, Miss Webb decided to file a $260,000 damage suit, she testified.

Miss Webb filed an assault and battery action. She charged that the much-married millionaire gave her such unmerciful beatings that she had been permanently injured and scarred and would be unable to continue her stage career. In a "sadistic frenzy" last Dec. 15, the actress charged Spreckels broke two of her ribs and "tore her hair out by the roots." Five days later, he allegedly dragged her into the bathroom of his Bel-Air mansion, locked the door, doused her with a bottle of rubbing alcohol, and tried to set her afire with lighted matches. During the scuffle she broke a bone in her back, she said.

Years ago, American soldiers were permitted to salute with either hand, whichever was closer to the officer being greeted.

Hollywood Is Asking What Leo McCarey Is Going To Do Next

BY BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 7—A lot of people around Hollywood are asking what Leo McCarey can do now.

The handsome Irishman dominated the Academy awards with "Going My Way" last year and he now has "Bells of St. Mary's," which many believe is even better. After that, what could he do?

"I wish I knew," Leo told me. "When you make two pictures in a row that are well received, it's hard to know what to do next."

What about another religious picture?

Can't Get Idea

"Yes, I'd like to do one about another religion. But I can't get an idea. And it has to be a good idea. If I made a picture that wasn't as good as the last two, they'd say 'look what McCarey does for the Catholics and what he does to us.'"

The Hollywood press gals have once again brought out their selection for the most and least cooperative of the movie stars, naturally the names on the plus side of the ledger—Joan Crawford, June Allyson, Dana Andrews and Gregory Peck—did not attract as much interest as those who were cited for the brushoff routine.

I can't agree with the girls on the female candidates. Mebbe the femme stars react differently to a male reporter. But I found Greer Garson extremely charming and cordial. Likewise Lauren Bacall was responsive to my questioning. She even whistled for me.

The male nominees are something else again. Fred MacMurray isn't impolite; he just doesn't give a hoot. Grilling him is like questioning an FBI man about his job. As for Ray Milland, he doesn't give a hang either, but he's not so charming about it.

Krupa To Return

Although 20th Century-Fox has not announced plans for filming "One World," the studio is taking the book seriously. Gene Krupa returns his band to the Palladium this month without strings. He had them on his last stand here but later discarded them when fans, including Lana Turner complained . . . Herbert Marshall and Publicity Gal Dorothy Blanchard are together often. . . .

"Bashful Ben" Alexander will be back on the Gildersleeve show this month after shedding his Navy lieutenant's stripes . . . Ernest Hemingway sold another short story, "The Short Happy Life of Frances Macomber" to Ben Bogeaus for $80,000. Pretty nice for a few hours' work . . . Victor is getting out a Spike Jones album as part of its musical depreciation series.

Truman Commended As A Card Player

AUSTIN, Dec. 7 (U.P.)—Thomas Jefferson Rusk literary society of the University of Texas announced today election of President Truman as an honorary member together with adoption of a resolution commending him as a "card player and whisky drinker" who followed the principles of other great Americans like Rusk, for whom the society was named. They cited, also, Daniel Webster, John Nance Garner and Sam Houston.

Ellis Brown, Corpus Christi, was designated to present the membership to President Truman at Dallas if the president comes to the Cotton bowl.

Dying Child Gets Christmas Wish

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Dec. 7 (AP) —Little Myrna Tawney, possibly dying from an incurable disease, had her Christmas wish filled ahead of time today — bananas by the basketfull which she generously passed on to other hospital patients.

Nine-year-old Myrna, daughter of a coal miner, asked for the hard-to-get fruit when admitted to the hospital yesterday.

In response to doctors' appeals, citizens of Fairmount responded with 12 dozen bananas.

The child, believed to be suffering from leukemia, was given her 10th blood transfusion yesterday.

A special Christmas party, with a tree set up in her hospital room, is being planned for Myrna sometime before the holiday.

Invasion Plans

and Luxembourg, other high command orders showed. The actual attack did not start until May 10, 1940.

Another surprise was the disclosure by the prosecution that a large portion of the German Air Force's plans for parachute troop operations during the lowlands invasion fell into Allied hands on Jan. 10, 1940 — just four months before the Nazis actually jumped off. The plans were found in a German plane which crashed in Belgium.

Doenitz Order Read

Read into evidence before the international military tribunal was the order of Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, commander in chief of the German Navy, to use British flags on German ships which slipped into Scandinavian ports on the eve of invasion.

The detailed story of treachery and intrigue leading to the downfall of Germany's little neighbors in April, 1940, disclosed that the plot to use the fifth column of Vidkun Quisling in obtaining Scandinavian U-boat bases was engineered largely by Grand Admiral Erich Raeder and Alfred Rosenberg.

Official German Navy orders introduced as evidence included instructions that "the disguise as British craft must be kept as long as possible." The German government denied repeatedly in 1940 that their vessels had flown British flags.

Sold Hitler On Idea

Admiral Raeder, who maintained under questioning after his capture that he had no hand in Hitler's plotting and was merely a bluff old sea dog doing his duty to his country, was disclosed by his own records to have sold Hitler on the idea of invading Norway.

Rosenberg was disclosed to have groomed Quisling for his fifth column role months ahead of the invasion.

So secret was the intrigue preceding the invasion that Hermann Goering flew "into a rage" when he was told about the plans, according to notes from a diary of Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl, chief of staff of the German Army. Ten days after the invasion was launched, Jodl's diary revealed, Goering complained that "more energetic measures" should be taken against the civilian population of Norway.

CORSICANA, Dec. 7. (AP)—H. C. Robinson, county agent, announced that the Corsicana prisoner of war camp administered under the Farm Labor program was closed and that all personnel had been transferred to Camp Fannin at Tyler.

The camp was leased by the Army in December, 1941.

Jap Trials

reached as close to the throne as MacArthur could get without arresting Emperor Hirohito himself.

Two More Developments

There came two more explosive developments:

1. Edwin W. Pauley, U. S. reparations commissioner, recommended confiscation of all Japanese assets abroad, including those of the emperor; removal from the country of the industrial potentials of the Zaibatsu (family monopoly); and huge slashes in shipbuilding, steel production and electric power generation.

2. MacArthur ordered the removal from Japan of every mineral resource which might permit development of the atomic bomb.

The staff accompanying Keenan here includes 18 secretaries, the first civilian women to reach Japan from the United States since the war. All but two secretaries were from Washington.

A Texan, Elton M. Hyde, jr., Austin, arrived as an associate counsel.

Meet The People— Old Soldier Has A Kind Word For Japs

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 7 (U.P.) —Meet an old soldier who speaks a kind word for some of the Japanese — the very young and the very old.

On this anniversary of Pearl Harbor, meet M/Sgt. William L. Nabors of the old 27th bomb group —"Barksdale to Bataan and back."

The innocence of childhood and the sympathy of age are to a certain extent universal, Nabors believes. The old people and children of Japan fed him what stray bits of food they could to supplement the starvation diet imposed on American prisoners by hardened Jap guards.

Nabors is an Army veteran. He enlisted in 1920 and spent two hitches in the infantry, then worked for three years in Texas and Oklahoma oil fields. In 1929, he re-enlisted in the air corps and has been in uniform ever since.

After his group's planes were knocked out in the first Philippines fighting, the old sergeant rejoined his one-time buddies in the infantry and fought as a foot soldier until Bataan fell.

On furlough now, Nabors says he's going to remain in the Army.

Rationing

A, B and C milk cards. One for adults. One for growing children. One for babies, mamas-to-be and people on special diets.

Another now-it-can-be-told bit: Remember those unused stamps in the back of ration book III? The ones with pictures of tanks, guns and ships?

OPA figured clothes rationing was so likely it had better toss in some spare stamps, just in case.

Texas Getting Surplus Goods

AUSTIN, Dec. 7 (AP) — J. Neils Thompson, coordinator of surplus property at the University of Texas, estimates that $85,000 worth of surplus equipment from the Army has been obtained without cost by the university.

The equipment, donated by the Army under the provisions of War department procurement regulation No. 7, ranges from turret lathes, air compressors and punch presses valued in the thousands of dollars to such minor items as carpenter's hammers, welding goggles and 44 gallons of red paint.

Funds Allocated

The board of regents recently allocated $15,000 for packing, shipping and storage costs, which is the only expense to the university of getting the equipment, said Thompson.

Including the approximately $85,000 worth of machinery, tools, etc., already obtained, the university has submitted requests totaling about $500,000 for excess Army property and equipment, Mr. Thompson estimated, adding:

"We have high hopes of getting at least a good share of the things we asked for."

Tools Are Needed

Of the Government equipment available the particular need is for lathes, drills, woodworking machines, etc., to replace obsolete equipment in the mechanical engineering, much of which was obtained after the first world war through a similar procedure, Mr. Thompson said.

Most of the heavy equipment already on hand was obtained in Texas, Colorado, and Oklahoma through the St. Louis ordnance district. A majority of the smaller items came from the chemical warfare service through its procurement district at Dallas.

First Round Staged In Roosevelt Play

Both boys and girls from Idalou and Roosevelt, along with Robertson girls, survived the first round of play in the Roosevelt High school invitation basketball tournament last night by emerging winners in the five opening games.

In the girls division, Robertson rolled to a 51 to 42 victory over Wilson, Roosevelt beat Slaton, 36 to 12, and the Idalou B team advanced on a forfeit from Southland.

In the boys play, Idalou edged out Slaton, 33 to 28, and Roosevelt romped to a 41 to 25 win over Wilson.

The Robertson and Wilson girls game was an offensive duel between Baker of Wilson and W. Woodard of Robertson, the former flipping in 25 points for the losers, and the latter getting 21 points for the winners.

McCallister paced the Roosevelt girls with 16 points.

High point performers for the boys games were Becknell of Idalou, with 16 points, and Speer of Roosevelt, with 14 points.

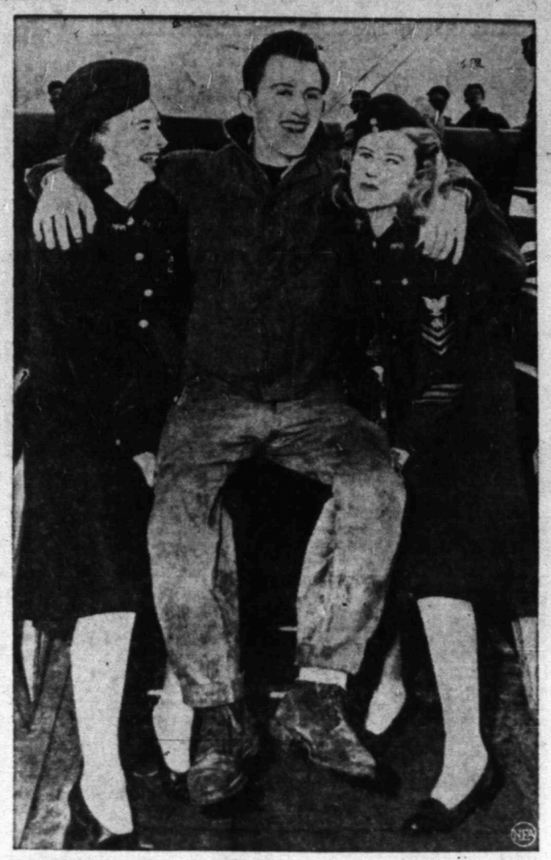

Play will be resumed this afternoon at 1 o'clock, with Robertson boys playing New Home, Cooper girls playing Frenship, Shallowater boys playing Southland, and the Idalou girls topping off the afternoon session with a family feud between the A and B teams.

Joe Louis Wants To Retire After Next Go With Billy Conn

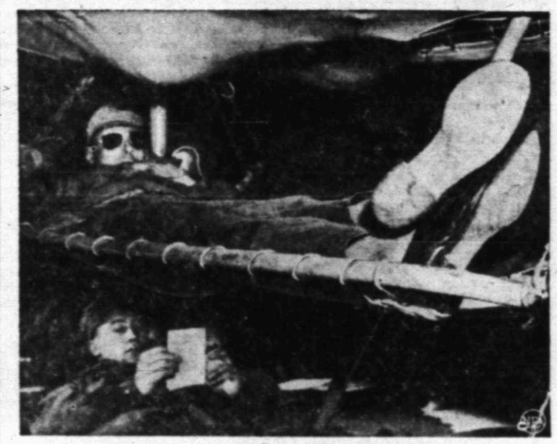

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 8. (AP)—Oregonian Sports Writer Al Stump, in a dispatch from Seattle last night, quoted Joe Louis as saying he wants to retire and run a restaurant after the Billy Conn fight next June.

But the champ's equally strong desire is to end his ring career undefeated, Stump said. "Ah'm going to be punchin' pretty heavy from now on" Joe declared. "I want the word to go out—don't anybody climb in with me 'less they figure to get tagged."

Stump talked with Joe between his vaudeville acts at Seattle's Palomar theater.

Eichelberger Claims Troop Morale High

FORT SHAFTER, Hawaii, Dec. 7. (AP)—Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, flying home for his first Christmas with his wife since 1941, promised today "we are going to have all of our 60-pointers afloat by Dec. 15."

The tall, red-haired commander of the Eighth Army of occupation in Japan, who is taking two high-point men home with him, added at a press conference:

"By early January, we will have 55-pointers on the way. Our higher point men already have gone and we are ahead of our planned schedule."

He said morale among his troops is "extra high, mostly because they are young fellows who are excited over seeing new places." Approximately 7,000 in his Eighth Army have reenlisted.

"Our soldiers are the best ambassadors we can send to occupied countries. They are friendly and considerate and are beginning to be better liked by the Japanese people than their own Japanese authorities."

You Have Your Choice Of The Picket Lines In Capital City

BY ROBERT C. RUARK
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 — One of the nicer aspects of Pennsylvania avenue these days is that you have a choice of picket lines —the commies who are working on the State department, and the young draft objectors whose bat is strictly White House.

I prefer the draft objector, whose name is C. H. Wellman, to the commies, because Wellman will hold still while you are talking to him, and the commies make you keep walking. It is hard to think of penetrating questions when your interviewee is reeling off a standard military pace.

Is More Voluble

Also Wellman is more voluble than Mr. X, a dark-skinned, heavily-accented man who wears a military discharge emblem in his camel's hair coat while he sports assorted banners, some of which say "Hurley out — Byrnes must go too" and "bring our Marines home."

I have to refer to this pole carrier as X, because his boss — Eleanor Searle, the Washington Communist chairman — told him to button his trap just as his conversation got interesting. Miss Searle, a determined lady who does not mind the cold, would not allow this rugged veteran to tell me his name.

All I know is that he said he was in the 102nd infantry, in a headquarters company in Texas, and he just didn't manage to get any closer to the war.

I started in with Miss Searle, who was bearing a banner which said "no aid to Dictator Chiang Kai Chek" (that's how the name was spelled) and who seemed to think I was crabbing her act.

Miss Searle said she was interested only in getting "the boys" home. Mr. X would know who "the boys" were, since he was a veteran of Texas, himself.

Then Miss Searle said she had been having so much trouble with misquotes in the press that she would appreciate it if I quit cluttering up her parade.

So I said the hell with it, if they felt that way, I would go help Wellman picket Mr. Truman's cottage, and print all the nasty things he had to say about the commies.

He Hates Communists

Wellman was wearing a sign which said "for release now, drafted objectors" or words to that effect, and he was also wearing a slightly red nose from the cold wind. This is the only red thing about Mr. Wellman, however. He hates Communists although he is an advocate of love for all men.

Wellman said he was graduated from Harvard in 1932, had been in prison 15 months for refusing to carry a draft card, works as a bus boy when not picketing, is a vegetarian and thinks he should love everybody.

"But I am afraid I am not a very good practitioner of my creed," he says, "because I do not always approve of Uncle Joe Stalin and what he stands for. Also I think those people up the street are very poor picketers. They are only out there pitching for an hour every day, while I try to do a straight eight hours except on weekends or when the cops grab me."

Character Building Program Is Praised

CHICAGO, Dec. 7 (AP) — A 12 year character building program which pupils study along with the conventional grade and high school subjects was credited today with contributing to a wartime decline of juvenile delinquency in Birmingham, Ala.

The American Public Welfare association, which issued the report, said the juvenile delinquency decrease from 1940-44 contrasted with a national increase during the period.

The Birmingham program, started in 1923 stresses 12 character building factors and provides for one year's concentrated application of each. An almost steady decline of juvenile delinquency has followed.

The fundamentals are health, sportsmanship, work, beauty, thrift, courtesy, love of nature, worthy use of leisure, service, scientific curiosity, cooperation and self reliance.

Controls May Return Over Citrus Prices

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—The possibility of restoring citrus fruits to price control appeared today with disclosure of an OPA-Agriculture department meeting at which the subject was discussed.

As yet, however, there has been no decision whether to revoke the order which lifted controls November 19.

It was understood OPA made no recommendations at the Wednesday meeting but left its information with agriculture officials for consideration.

At the time OPA announced its action in mid-November, the agency said it would watch prices during the suspension, which is slated to end January 13. It added that if an inflationary increase should develop, citrus fruits would be put back under price control immediately.

Would this be fair?

Can you imagine your milkman, grocer, barber or tailor charging you extra just because you were able to pay more than some people?

Of course you can't. And what a state of confusion everything would soon be in if people tried to operate that way.

Suppose the people GM workers trade with told them, "We know you make more than most industrial workers, so we're going to charge you more for everything!"

Yet this is exactly the principle UAW-CIO leaders are trying to establish in their wage demands on General Motors.

To be logical, union leaders should also say to a company that is losing money, "You're having a hard time making both ends meet, so we're suggesting a cut in wages."

Can you imagine any union leader ever making such an offer? Of course, you can't.

Going around giving advice is a futile thing to do. Those who need it most won't accept it.

LONGTIME observers of the West Texas scene have known all along that of all the outstanding men who have worked unceasingly for Texas Technological college, Dr. Clifford B. Jones, the institution's president emeritus, is the bellwether.

Longer than any other one individual, Doctor Jones has had a personal connection with the institution which is unique. First as a board member before a single brick was laid on the campus; then as board chairman; later as president and now as president emeritus, Doctor Jones has always been in the forefront of Tech affairs.

Yet without selling short the great service he has done the college over more than two decades, it seems to us that his voluntary action Wednesday in underwriting $100,000 in stadium bonds is the most outstanding single thing that Doctor Jones,—or, for that matter, anyone else—has done for the college.

Doctor Jones, we think, might well be excused if he took the position that he has given sufficiently of his time, talents and money to Texas Tech.

After all, when a brief flurry of ill health forced his resignation as the institution's president and his virtual retirement from the hurly-burly of everyday living, he had a good excuse—if he had chosen to employ it—to let others work and worry about the college.

But Clifford Jones has never been a quitter. In the more than 35 years that he has been one of Texas' outstanding citizens he has been a "let's do the job together" man, never a "you go do it" individual.

So to those who know him best, there is nothing surprising about the fact that Doctor Jones continues to live Texas Tech every day as he has done for so many past years; nor is there anything surprising in this, his latest, act of extreme generosity.

IT was typical of Clifford Jones to say to his successors on the Tech directorate that he never expects the $100,000 principal to be repaid him, or his estate, by the college. It was typical, too, of this outstanding citizen to offer to underwrite the bonds at a 3½ per cent interest rate—way below anything the college could possibly expect to secure elsewhere. There was simple justice in the board's refusal to accept the underwriting at less than a 5 per cent rate of interest and we think the directors did exactly the right thing in declining to permit Doctor Jones to underwrite the bonds at the lower rate of interest which he, himself, originally suggested.

It was something like 20 years ago when Avalanche-Journal papers first referred to Clifford Jones—then a resident of Spur—as "West Texas' No. 1 Citizen."

The Abilene Reporter-News, noting the phrase, immediately seconded the thought which we since, upon many occasions, have seen fit to use.

There never was any doubt about Doctor Jones' right to the description, albeit it as a modest individual its use doubtless caused him some embarressment.

But Doctor Jones' latest action certainly gives us a welcome opportunity to reiterate our respect and love for him—respect and love shared by countless thousands of West Texans everywhere.

"West Texas' No. 1 Citizen" he has long been. "West Texas' No. 1 Citizen" he continues to be in the minds of the people he has chosen to live among as a very Good Neighbor, indeed.

DOCTOR JONES' leadership in the Tech stadium campaign should and will do more than any other one thing in assuring the success of the plan.

His example will stir others to contribute to the fund; it will accelerate the interest of the alumni; it makes a real athletic plant something more than a dream—in fact, it has placed the stadium drive slap-dab in the realm of the reality.

And this is all very important to the future life of Lubbock, Texas Tech and all West Texas.

We think, too, that directors of the college acted wisely in plotting other expansion plans—especially those having to do with the construction of three additional dormitories.

Texas Tech is standing, with Lubbock and West Texas, upon the threshhold of its greatest period of growth and progress and it behooves officials of the institution to prepare to get Tech's share.

If housing can be afforded, Tech's enrollment is almost certain to pass the 5,000-mark within the next 12 months.

VERY few Americans, we think, would approve of letting Germans starve as long as it is within U. S. power to prevent it—even though the German nation, and everybody in it, must carry the guilt of having plunged the world into a bloody bath. Most of our people, while not loving the Germans, simply have too much of the milk of human kindness to approve a policy which would result in widespread tragedy.

However, there is justice—grim justice—in the decision that Germans shall not be better fed than the nationals of other countries who also are facing a winter of cold and hunger. Most of our people will approve the recent action of the Allied Control commission in Berlin which decided that Germans this winter will receive 1,500 calories per day while the Poles, among Germany's war-mad victims, will receive 1,600 calories.

The Germans must have it beaten into their thick noggins that (1) they are blamed by civilized nations for starting the recent war; (2) they lost the war, and (3) they must expect to be punished.

One way to bring this about is by the victors making certain that Germany is given the short end of every international stick until such time as she proves her rights to acceptance into the community of nations.

NEXT year, 1946, is going to be a "political year" in Texas and if there is the usual quota of "hot races" around and about the state, all previous voting records should be surpassed.

Apparently, between 750,000 and 800,000 returned service men and women — each with a "free vote" in keeping with last summer's Constitutional amendment — will be back and active in the voting booths come next July, August and November. On top of that, Texas should have somewhere near 1,500,000 other eligible voters.

If the governor's race is a hectic one, Texas could have as many as 1,500,000 to 1,800,000 actual votes in one election or the other. Of course, it could have that many in all three, but that is doubtful because interest can't be held at a high pitch all the time.

For those who are thinking about voting — or are interested in various political topics, we give the following information. The Plainsman suggests that voters clip this out and keep it handy for future reference:

Jan. 31—Last day to pay poll tax, obtain exemption certificates or otherwise qualify by obtaining voting credentials.

May 26—Last day for candidates for judge of the Court of Civil Appeals, or for representative in Congress; or for state senator, or district judge, or district attorney in districts composed of more than one county to file application for place on ballot.

June 3—Last day for candidates for state office to file application for place on ballot.

June 15—Last day for candidates for county and precinct offices to file request with county chairman for places on ballot.

June 22—Last day for candidates to pay ballot fees.

June 27—First day for candidates and campaign managers to file first statement of campaign expenses of first primary election—last day July 3.

July 15—First day to file second statement of campaign expenses of first primary—last day July 19.

July 27—First Primary Election Day.

July 30—Last day to file first statement of campaign expenses of second primary election.

Aug. 3—County conventions meet to elect delegates to state and district conventions.

Aug. 6—Last day to file final statement of campaign expenses of first primary.

Aug. 12—First day to file second statement of campaign expenses of second primary—last day Aug. 16.

Aug. 24—Second Primary Election Day.

A COLLEGE professor publicly predicts that morality will reach the lowest level in history in 10 years, and that by 1955 four out of every 10 marriages will end in divorce.

Aren't the experts who make such predictions doing us a real harm?

What would happen if you told a child he was going to get worse and worse and in a few years would reach an all-time low?

There isn't much chance that he would decide to prove you wrong, is there?

Well, grown-ups aren't so different from children. Keep telling them over and over how immoral they are getting and how much more immoral they will be in just a few years and you've built up a case that is pretty discouraging.

Why bother to try to stick to a few personal standards of right and wrong if everybody else is going to the dogs? And if everybody else is going—why not go along?

How can any couple assume when they begin their marriage that they are married for life—the way Grandma and Grandpa assumed it—if they are constantly told that in 10 years four out of every 10 marriages will end in divorce?

MAYBE THEY'RE RIGHT

MAYBE the experts are right in their gloomy predictions. Maybe we are losing all sense of morality. Maybe our marriages haven't much of a chance of reaching a silver or golden anniversary.

But why tell us before hand we are going to fail? Why not use a little psychology on us, expect us to do better and better, instead of worse and worse?

What we need today is encouragement instead of scare advice.

"A man on exhibition by a carnival can turn his head completely around." He may be the first result of nature's attempt to evolve a pedestrian more fit for survival.

Today's Journal Editorial

WE MUST GO FORWARD

Opposition to the bond issue which comes before the people of Lubbock Dec. 11 seems to be based primarily upon the contentions that taxes will be increased too much and that the contemplated issue is greater than that anticipated for Lubbock in the prospectus of former city planning.

There are sound answers for both of these arguments. The Lubbock tax rate is one of the lowest in the United States for a city of comparable size. Its bonded debt is likewise much lower than the rank and file of cities the size of Lubbock. So good is Lubbock's credit that the bonds issued by the city have sold for premiums in the past and at one of the lowest yields of any municipality in America in the past few years.

Regarding the size of the issue, no past planning for Lubbock assumed, or had the right to assume, the amount of outlay for the present date other than what the people of Lubbock might vote. The $5,894,000 bond issue has all the needs of Lubbock for the next ten to fifteen years provided for, unless, of course, the city simply goes wild with an unanticipated growth.

But the really important issue is not between the citizen and his municipality. It is one of the citizen and his municipality against a world of competition. Our standard must not be a comparison of present with past civic needs and costs. We cannot go forward by looking backward. We must, of course, stay within the bounds of sound municipal finance. And this has been done in the contemplated program of municipal improvement.

Having assured ourselves of this, we must ask ourselves: What is going to happen if we approve the bond issue? But more important, what is going to happen if we do not?

Be it remembered that Lubbock's claim today as a civic and commercial center does not rest upon any natural advantage that this particular location holds over any other location in a wide region that surrounds it. Lubbock's greatness and growth has resulted from the faith and foresight and cooperative spirit of its citizenry.

The proposed bond issue will simply be a vote on whether this community spirit and policy will be projected into the future, or reversed. It will be a vote on whether Lubbock will stand or go ahead during the next ten years of vital readjustment and expansion in American economic, civic and cultural affairs.

NOTES of a New Yorker—Shortly after Japan surrendered a group of American and English scientists went to Nagasaki to study the effects of the atomic bomb . . . One very meticulous English scientist used to carry his research to extremes, walking around with a tape - measure and other apparatus, and measuring every bit of glass and hunk of rubble that was left in the devastated area. He went into one home on the outskirts of the levelled section and was shown around by the Jap lady of the house. In one room he saw a Japanese screen which showed very strange effects. The lower half was completely, demolished and the upper half intact . . . Excited, the scientist pointed to the screen. . . . "Atomic bomb?" he asked.

WINCHELL

"No," was the bland reply. "Small boy."

When the atomic mission group went into Nagasaki, they found themselves there 'way ahead of the Army and for days went around the town unarmed. They all had the temporary rank of colonel for expediency. But they were not armed . . . Even though the residents of the town knew they were the atomic bomb men and even though they were the first Americans seen by the Japs, no one molested them. In fact, the natives (not one of whom did not have a casualty of one kind or another in the bombing) felt relieved that it was all over and stumbled over themselves in their anxiety to do things for the Americans . . . Not one extremist or overt act was committed against them.

Richard Durham relays the report about the richest negro in Mississippi . . . He is brown, freckled Dr. S. D. Redmond of Jackson, who says that registration laws, even more than the poll tax, prevent negroes from voting in his state. White registrars are permitted to turn down any applicant who cannot answer "intelligent questions." When a negro comes to apply, the registrar will ask: "Boy—do you know the meaning of delicut status quo rendum hutt?"

As the bewildered "boy" fumbles with the phrase the registrar continues: "Well, maybe that's too hard for you. Here's a simple one: If the angle plus the hypothenuse equals the subdivided of the fraction — then how many children did your mother miss having?"

And if by some miracle the applicant answers this tongue-twister successfully, the registrar will say, "Boy—since you're so smart—tell me what's going to happen to you if you don't get the hell away from here?"

King George, with Princess Elizabeth at his side, led thousands of Britishers on Armistice day in a silent homage to the heroic men lost in both wars. The English monarch, dressed in a naval uniform, placed the first of dozens of wreaths on the Cenotaph, British memorial shrine . . . "An impressive ceremony, eh what?" whispered an official observer to a friend.

"Yes," returned the other, "but in my opinion the finest tribute ever paid to our war dead was the line which appeared in an epitaph on a British gravestone during the last war. It read: 'For your tomorrow they gave their today'."

THE Macon (Ga) News, printed in the home state of Chairman Wood of the Un-American activities comm., recently editorialized thusly about the group it still calls the "Dies committee:"

"It is dangerous in a democracy to entrust inquisitional power over freedom of expression to anybody, least of all to . . . fanatics like Martin Dies of Texas and John Rankin of Mississippi . . . In their efforts to make everybody conform to their own peculiar intellectual pattern, such ignoramuses can do a lot of damage. In fact, they have already done it. This so-called committee on Un-American activities has made an unenviable record with its smearing persecutions of good citizens whose only offense is that they use their minds to think with."

A Washington newsman is said to have asked a member of the "Un-American House committee" if anything was being done about the Nazi Party's master file of personnel records which had been found in Germany . . . "According to the official report," stated the newsman, "there were membership cards for almost eight million followers, thousands of whom lived in the United States and were considered as good Nazis as those living under Hitler."

"They would be hard to find," claimed a committeeman.

"Not at all," persisted the scribe. "The roster is very complete. It contains names, addresses, and in most cases, photographs. Why, they've got every U. S. Fascist belonging to an organization listed! What is your committee doing about it?"

"Oh, we?" was the reply. "Right now we are too busy for that! We are up to our necks investigating some very dangerous radio commentators!"

Hurrah! The Correct Answer at Last

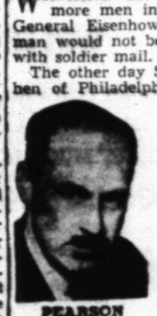

"Ike" Is Enlisted Man's Best Friend

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—If there were more men in the Army like General Eisenhower, this newsman would not be so swamped with soldier mail.

The other day Sgt. Samuel Cohen of Philadelphia, stationed in Berlin, received a cable telling of a serious emergency at home. Physicians advised his return immediately. Two weeks passed and all Cohen got was the usual Army runaround. He couldn't get a furlough. Finally, a friend suggested that Cohen call General "Ike" directly.

PEARSON

"What can I lose?" Cohen asked, going to a telephone.

When he asked the G. I. operator for General Eisenhower, the operator asked with no surprise in his voice whether he should ring the General at his home or his office. Since it was then about ten o'clock in the evening, Cohen said to try the General's home.

An aide to Eisenhower answered and listened to Cohen's story, excused himself for a few minutes, came back to the telephone and said, "Sergeant, if you will call the office of General Clay, perhaps something can be arranged for you.

"You had better wait about ten minutes before calling General Clay," he added, "to give General Eisenhower a chance to talk with him first."

Ten minutes later, Cohen called General Clay, where an aide said, "Oh, yes, Sergeant, we've been expecting your call. Now can you come in at eight o'clock tomorrow morning? We'll see about transportation then."

Cohen took off by air the next day before noon.

TURNS REPORTER

CONGRESSIONAL leaders who met with President Truman last week to discuss serious legislative problems got a chuckle over Truman's story about his surprise flight to see his mother on her 93rd birthday.

Newspapers have already told how Truman called the Kansas City Star to announce his arrival in Grandview, Mo., but in addition, here is what Truman told his congressional leaders really happened:

It was Sunday afternoon and the usually bustling city room of the Star was in a lull. Only a skeleton editorial force was on the job, and a young reporter answered the phone.

"This is the President," said Truman.

"Who?" said the reporter.

"This is President Truman."

"The hell it is," exclaimed the newsman, convinced that somebody was pulling a practical joke "Mister, who are you trying to kid?"

Finally the call was transferred to another writer on the paper, who knew Truman personally and could identify his voice. Highly amused, the President told him the news of his visit.

MILTON AND BERLE

CALIFORNIA'S Attorney General Bob Kenny and U. S. Ambassador to Brazil Adolf Berle have been feuding for years. It all dates back to Berle's resignation from the National Lawyer's guild, which Kenny heads. Recently, Kenny had a chance to get even.

On a tour of Brazil, Kenny made the rounds of Rio de Janeiro, found Brazilians perplexed at the way th eccentric U. S. envoy operates.

"Tell me, Mr. Kenny," one Brazilian asked, "how come Mr. Truman lets Berle stay on here as ambassador?"

Kenny was all primed for the answer.

"You see, my friend," replied Kenny, "when Mr. Truman took over, he had just seen a delightful show on Broadway called 'Springtime in Brazil' starring Milton Berle who he thought was very good and very funny. Well, sir, when he looked over the list of his ambassadors and saw that Berle was representing the U. S. in Brazil, he thought it was an excellent choice. You see, no one has told Truman yet that it isn't the same Berle."

Note—When Ambassador Berle heard about Kenny's crack, he boiled over. When Kenny dropped in at the embassy later, the sparks really flew.

ARMY HOARDING

IT was like pulling teeth for the hard-working Mead committee to get the Army to admit that it was hoarding 60,000,000 pairs of dark glasses, 116,000,000 pairs of cotton shorts, 42,000,000 pairs of men's woolen drawers and that it still had saddles and bridles stored up in Hawaii from the Spanish-American war.

Every possible dodge was used by the brass hats to avoid revealing their vast accumulated store of surplus goods, which some senators suspect is being held for another early war.

At first when Senator Jim Mead of New York, chairman of the former Truman committee, asked for the figures, the War department replied that this was a "military secret."

"But the war's over," countered Mead. "How can it be a military secret? After all Congress has a right to know what materials the Army has on hand before it appropriates more money."

However, the office of Undersecretary Kennth Royall kept on stalling. Royall, a former North Carolina lawyer and politician, has shown all the adroitness of a chameleon. In a short time he has taken on the same hue and color of the generals who really run his office. Finally, the generals came back with a request to Mead that he not investigate until the "Hodges board" had investigated.

"What's the Hodges board?" asked Senator Mead.

The Army explained that Gen. Courtney Hodges has been put in charge of a board to pass on what materials the Army needed to keep.

"When was it appointed?" asked Senator Mead.

"Yesterday," was the reply.

ARMY RUN-AROUND—

MEMBERS of the Mead committee recognized in this hurriedly organized board an obvious dodge to head off a Senate investigation. So they decided to go ahead anyway. But suddenly, just before public hearings were scheduled to begin, the Army asked for a private hearing at which more pressure was exerted to prevent any public airing of the millions of blankets, dark glasses, underwear and shoes the Army is hoarding.

In the end, Senator Mead and colleagues stood pat, insisted on proceeding. The figures are now public property and show that the army still has 500,000 wrist watches, 53,000,000 blankets, 30,000,000 bed sheets, 57,000,000 herringbone twill fatigue jackets and all sorts of other things too numerous to mention.

Since the War department proposes a peacetime army of about 1,000,000 men, it now has on hand 53 blankets for every soldier, 57 herringbone twill fatigue jackets for every soldier plus 30 sheets for each man, and 116 pair of shorts per soldier.

This tremendous reserve is one thing that makes the job of Surplus Property administrator Stuart Symington so difficult. He has nothing to say over what the Army declares surplus. Moreover, the Army has followed a policy of declaring something surplus and then withdrawing the declaration a few days later. Actually Symington is doing a far better job than most people realize. But he has no power over the Army, Navy, RFC, and most of the other agencies handling war surpluses.

WAR SURPLUS SNARL

SYMINGTON has one of the most thankless jobs in Washington. While he gets all the blame for Surplus War property headaches, he has little to say about detailed disposal of war goods. This is largely done by Jessie Jones's old outfit, the Reconstruction Finance corporation, now the largest merchandising agency in the world . . . The RFC loaned the money to buy war goods, now is disposing of them Still operating on Jesse Jones's old technique, the RFC has set up a separate subsidiary organization to take the loss in selling war goods. Thus the RFC proper can show a profit on its books . . . Refreshing, overworked Stuart Symington got a complaint from North Dakota's Senator Langer the other day that surplus property wasn't being handled right in his state. Flying with Langer to North Dakota, Symington stood before a crowd of businessmen and farmers for about three hours answering questions . . . Afterward, Langer thanked him for coming to North Dakota. "Don't thank me," replied Symington "I thank you for giving me the chance to get out here in close contact with people like this. It's what everyone in Washington ought to do."

Jewish War Veterans Ask Impeachment Of "The Man"

Bilbo Attacked On Many Sides; Upheld By Few

By MARQUIS CHILDS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The Jewish war veterans have asked for the impeachment of Sen. Theodore Bilbo, The Man, Mississippi's gift to the nation.

For some time, members of Congress have been receiving letters and petitions urging that Bilbo be removed from the Senate. They have come in some instances from prominent individuals.

CHILDS

Not long ago a Democratic senator, one of the younger liberals, got such a request. He was asked to initiate a move to oust Bilbo. His reply was no, and his reasons for saying no make, it seems to me, good sense.

Bilbo Defended

Naturally, he wrote, no true American would attempt to defend Bilbo's primitive prejudices. The MAN was obviously debasing the level of debate and discussion in the Senate.

But, the Senator pointed out, to try to unseat him would be to set an extremely dangerous precedent. It would be impeachment of a Senator for his views rather than for any wrongful act.

A precedent of that sort could be turned against the defender of an unpopular cause. It could be used to keep obstreperous minorities in line.

WHILE the Senator did not say so in his letter, an even better reason is that it would tend to make Bilbo a martyr. He would get support from colleagues who actually may despise him.

A martyr is far more dangerous than a nuisance. That is just what Bilbo is today—a nuisance who knows how to exploit his nuisance value.

Senator Bilbo at the same time does not, of course, represent the South. He no more represents the region from which he comes than Frank Hague represents New Jersey or Harold Knutson represents Minnesota.

Self-Seeking Politics

What these men do represent is a failure of American democracy. They represent the courthouse ring, the machine, peanut politics aligned with self-seekers who exploit the peanut politicians for what they can get out of government.

One Bilbo in the Senate is a passing phenomenon. But a Senate of Bilbos might try to put into practice some of the weird proposals that the Senator from Mississippi talks about, such as sending all negroes back to Africa.

THE answer, of course, rests with all of us. So long as we let politics go by default to the peanut politicians so long as we think of politics with a certain condescension as something beneath us, just so long will we get Bilbos, and probably in increasing numbers.

Conscientious congressmen overwork themselves and certainly, by present standards, they are underpaid. That is why we lose good men like Georgia's Robert Ramspeck to private enterprise.

That is why the Bilbos stay on year after year ,riding on public apathy and forgetfulness.

"Try And Stop Me"

By Bennett Cerf

THE twelve-year-old daughter of a New York publisher volunteered to help her mother pass cocktails at an informal reception whipped up for a visiting General.

Everything progressed beautifully until until the horrified mother heard her daughter say to the General's wife, "May I serve you your eighth martini?"

YOU have read a lot about the knights of King Arthur who fared forth on coal-black chargers to rescue beautiful maidens from dragons' clutches, but did you ever know that one of them was mounted on a St. Bernard dog? His name was Sir Marmaduke, and he and the St. Bernard performed many a deed of derring-do.

One evening, however, they were caught in a torrential thunderstorm, and sought shelter at a nearby tavern. "Reservation?" asked the room clerk. "No," admitted Sir Marmaduke. "Sorry," said the clerk, "no room without a reservation." It was at this moment that he discovered that Marmaduke was sitting astride his faithful St. Bernard. "Hold on," said the clerk. "We'll have to find something for you. I wouldn't put out a knight on a dog like this."

Christmas Mail For Soldiers Said Lost

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP).—Loss of a quantity of Christmas mail intended for troops in the Aleutians was disclosed today.

The Army said a quantity of Yuletide mail destined for APO729 address was lost when a small craft, carrying mail from a ship to shore, sank in a storm. The mail originated in the States at a time when no request for package mail was required from the soldier.

In order to permit the sending at once of replacement packages to APO 729, the War department said the postoffice department has agreed to accept one Christmas package from any individual for mailing to persons at that address without the usual request requirement if the parcel is mailed not later than Dec. 20.

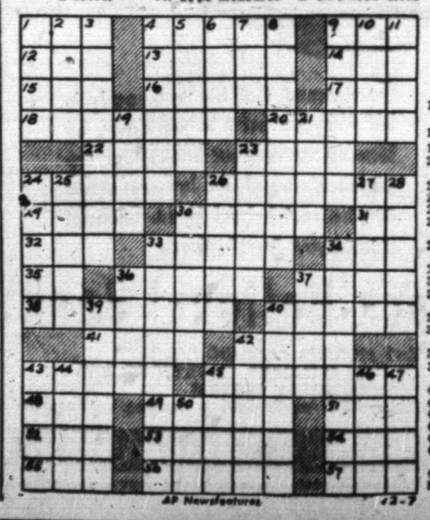

Today's Thought

For that which I do I allow not: for what I would, that do I not; but what I hate, that do I.—Romans 7:15.

* * *

I on the other side us'd no ambition to commend my deeds; the deeds themselves, though mute, spoke loud the doer.—Milton.

Two Significant Facts Stand Out In The Resumption Of Negotiations In General Motors Strike; Mediators More Active

By FRED W. PERKINS
Special Correspondent

DETROIT, Dec. 7.—Two significant facts about the resumed collective bargaining to settle the General Motors strike: R. J. Thomas is taking part in the parleys for the first time, and the U. S. Conciliation service is more active than in the meetings which preceded the paralysis of GM automobile production more than two weeks ago.

Tobacco-chewing Mr. Thomas—big, bluff and forthright—is more the old fashioned type of labor leader than is Walter Reuther, who was sole ball-carrier for the union until day before yesterday.

Mr. Thomas is president of the CIO United Automobile Workers, and Mr. Reuther, vice president in charge of the General Motors division, has a strong flair for economics and new ideas in labor relations.

Emphasis On Results

The union president places emphasis more on results in pay envelopes. Management seems more disposed to deal with him than with his colleague.

Government conciliators have been in on the previous meetings, but as observers. Now they are actually joining in the conversation, in a mediatory way. They are headed by John Q. Jennings, head of the Conciliation service's Detroit office, who takes pride in being the representative of "John Q. Public."

The participation of Mr. Thomas is believed to result from a secret conference Wednesday in the Pittsburgh office of Philip Murray, CIO president.

Mr. Thomas is widely reported to have opposed a strike against General Motors before Jan. 1. But he denies there is anything other than unity in the top command of his big union. Mr. Reuther is reported willing to take over the union presidency and the outcome of the GM battle will have much influence at the Auto Workers' national convention in Atlantic City in the spring.

Both Appear Adamant

On the surface, the two sides appeared as adamant as ever when they got around a table for the first time since the strike began.

Harry W. Anderson, GM vice president, offered to raise wages an average of 13½ cents an hour "across the board," and said this was basically the same as the 10 per cent offer GM made Nov. 7. The union leaders declared, however, that it represented something more than 10 per cent, and deduced therefore that the corporation was "on the give."

Mr. Reuther stuck by his original demand that the corporation must be required to produce data to prove it cannot meet the demand for a 30 per cent increase in hourly pay, and also that the corporation must agree not to raise prices of its automobiles.

Mr. Thomas was less concerned about the factors on which Mr. Reuther sets such store—the corporation's "ability to pay," including a look at the data which GM declares is confidential and will not be opened to public scrutiny; and the prices and profits on its products.

Mr. Reuther emphasized "there is no change in the status of the strike," and he sent a telegram to General Motors local saying, "concessions by GM show we are winning some ground. Keep our picket lines strong and we shall win."

To Pass Judgment

About 200 spokesmen for GM locals are due here tomorrow to pass judgment on whether the strike shall be ended forthwith, as requested by President Truman, and also to express themselves on his announced intention to name an official facts-finding board in this dispute. Their recommendations, expected to be in accord with the leadership's advice to stand fast, will be communicated to local unions and they will vote during the next two or three days on whether to call off the strike.

The union is encouraged by two developments. One was a report by a citizens' committee, brought to Detroit at union expense, which sustained the union position on all-counts. A company spokesman commented, "sure, we could get the same kind of support by organizing our own fact-finding committee."

The other was a statement here by Senator Wayne L. Morse, (R., Ore) that General Motors had violated the principles of collective bargaining by refusing to discuss the union's pay demands unless the price and profit issues were removed. Mr. Morse, former member of the War Labor board, took the union's side on most of the questions involved, and made his statements in an atmosphere not too friendly to his ideas—a meeting of local Republican leaders.

A development unfavorable to the union came when the convention of the State Federation of Labor tabled a resolution endorsing the General Motors strike.

William Green, AFL president and a convention speaker, with obvious reference to the UAW and other CIO unions, said, "come back to the house of labor and we will stand with you." This counteracted local Detroit AFL units which have supported the CIO strike.

Sergeant Has Easy Way To Feed Baby

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7. (AP)—A. D. Bloom, 21-year-old former Marine sergeant, got tired of climbing out of bed to feed the baby, so he invented what he calls the "baby feeder-ette."

The thing works. It is made of aluminum, weighs 10 pounds. A bottle is suspended from the top of the frame, free-moving and unweighted. The device can be placed in any conventional crib, buggy or bassinette, and will not top, collapse or rust, says Bloom.

"I'm working on an automatic burper as an accessory to this contraption," Bloom said in explaining the invention. I'm a gadgeteer at heart, an inventor of simple, practical gadgets."

Marked Change Wrought In The Lives Of Lubbock Citizens Since Japan's Sneak Attack On Pearl Harbor Four Years Ago

National, international and local events that were shaping up December 7, 1941 have been erased from the minds of many people living under war-time conditions since that fateful day four years ago when the Japanese bombers roared over Pearl Harbor on their mission of treachery.

On this day, fourth anniversary of Pearl Harbor and first peaceful Dec. 7 since 1941, thinking people will pause to consider the marked change that has been wrought in their lives, in this community, all over the nation and throughout the world. No one's life remained untouched by the war. In some way everyone was affected by the global conflict.

Today these thinking people will offer a prayer of thanks for peace on Dec. 7, 1945.

To refresh the memories of Lubbockites on pre-Pearl harbor news, what people were talking about four years ago today, here's a summarized review.

Headlines were "Japanese-U. S. Crises Nearing Climax."

"You can be an aviation cadet" was racing through the minds of younger men. Those interested in joining the Army Air Forces were to be interviewed Dec. 8 at Tech by an itinerant aviation cadet examining board from Goodfellow field.

Mechanics for Navy service were being sought and the Lubbock substation was expected to furnish at least five of the 100 men, quota for the Dallas district. Selective service officials were considering plans to reclassify draft registrants deferred for reasons of occupation.

Sports Also In Spotlight

Sports fans were speculating as to whether Texas Tech would be invited to play in the Sun Bowl. Question was "Would Arizona university receive the majority vote in the Border conference?" If they did and declined the offer, "Texas Tech is a cinch."

Four nights a week were being spent at Lubbock Senior High school by ten men taking a refresher course in preparation for enlistment in the U. S. Army as aviation cadets. One hundred and twenty selective servicemen "who are to be called for active service within the next 30 days" were to report to the Lubbock district Army recruiting station for a physical checkup.

Transients In City Doubled

From Nov. 1 to Dec. 6, the number of transients doubled on the South Plains and in Lubbock. The Salvation Army received an unprecedented call for food, clothing and shelter—and "bore the brunt of the transient influx." During that month 256 persons appealed to the Salvation Army for help, 315 nights' lodging and 652 meals were part of this organization's contribution to the transients.

On the Tech campus students were discussing the election of Bing Bingham, football player of Spur, as No. 1 beauty in a demonstration of the Hare method of elections in a government class. Herman Mendell, senior engineering student, was making plans for a job in South America. Mary Ann Stephenson's presentation as honorary cadet colonel at the sixth annual ROTC Military ball.

At Lamesa, Dec. 6 marked a great climacteric in community development with the ceremonial laying of the cornerstone of the new $70,000 First Baptist church. South Plains farmers were expecting to get only 71 pounds of good seed out of a hundred, whereas during 1940 he got 98 pounds. It was a bad year for the vitality of seeds (plant growth)!

Prices received by Texas farmers in mid-November averaged lower than a month before for all classes of farm products, except dairy and poultry groups, but the general level of prices and most individual items were sharply higher than a year before.

Labor Trouble Then Too

Labor troubles were present—in 1941. A nationwide walkout of welders was to be called Dec. 9, 1941, unless there was government intervention. The union was at odds with A. F. of L. The threat of a nationwide railroad strike, scheduled Dec. 8, was dissolved Dec. 5 through mediation of Pres. Roosevelt's fact-finding commission and union representatives.

A production cut in manufacture of automobiles, household appliances and the thousand-and-one durable goods that made the American standard of living the world's highest, was being planned in a "victory blueprint" to subordinate civilian needs to the defense program.

Knox Praises Navy

Secretary Knox told President Roosevelt on Dec. 6, that "the American Navy is the finest in the world but must be increased rapidly to match for any combination of powers."

All of this was news that Lubbockites were casually discussing—until they heard "Japan Declares War on U. S. After Dive Bombers Attack American Bases in Hawaii." People gathered in small and usually silent groups to listen to their radios, buy newspaper extras, and cuss the Japs.

On the whole the reaction to the grim fact of war in the Pacific was one of flaming anger and a solemn resolve to help get the job done in a war which was to touch vitally the lives of every individual in the nation—some of them forever.

Chinese Regulars Feel Out Of Place In Cold Manchuria But They Get Job Done

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHINHSIEN, Manchuria—It was two degrees above zero the morning we accompanied Gen. Tu Yu-Ming, commander of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's North China armies, on an inspection tour of this railroad center, recently retaken from Chinese Communists.

His bodyguard looked like walking quilts in their cotton-padded yellow green uniforms and wrap around leggings. Many had only light gloves and thin canvas slippers. Some troops have frozen to death.

Feel Out Of Place

These Nationalist troops were brought up in American ships from South China. They feel as out of place in Manchuria as a Florida cracker on guard duty in Montana during a blizzard. They are well drilled and disciplined, however, and they know how to handle their American tommy guns and old Springfield rifles.

Chief guest on the inspection trip was Vice Adm. Daniel Barbey, commander of the U. S. Seventh fleet. Tu personally drove him about the city in his new Buick with the remainder of the party following in three of the Chinese Army's four jeeps in Manchuria. Tu is a close friend of Chiang Kai-Shek and formerly studied military science under him. He is youthful looking, shrewd and friendly, and American observers have a high opinion of his military ability. His secretary-general and advisor on political and economic problems is Professor Yu Hsin-Chung 45-year-old Harvard trained history teacher.

Winding through the narrow Oriental streets in a native quarter thronged with fur-capped, mustached Manchurian traders looking like grandchildren of Genghis Khan, we reached the Great Eastern cotton-spinning mill after driving for blocks past barbed-wire fences enclosing red brick Japanese homes. Some 30,000 of Chinhsien's 200,000 population are Japanese.

Shigemitsu Suzuki, Japanese manager of the cotton mill said both Russian and Chinese Communist troops had been destructive, and Professor Yu looked pleased. The professor became angry, however, when in response to his query "and how are we treating you?" Suzuki said:

Take Away Girls

"Very well. Only, if you could keep your soldiers from coming at night and taking away our girls—"

"You have no right to say this!" shouted Yu.

Apparently he meant by this that Japanese troops had done far worse to Chinese women.

"I know I have no right," said the little Japanese manager, bowing and grinning as all Orientals do when nervous, "but I beg of you—I beg of you."

But Professor Yu still was displeased. He is unhappy unless he can convince you that all Chinese Nationalist soldiers wear halos and and all Chinese Communists carry pitchforks and walk on cloven hooves.
