FRESH CLUES IN HENRIETTA DEATH

'Bud' McCallum Resigns As Coach Of Wichita High Teams

COYOTE HEAD FOR SIX YEARS LEAVES POST

Cantwell Announces Acceptance of Resignation Of Pack Mentor

SUCCESSOR SOUGHT

School Board Committee Casts About for Man To Fill Position

By LARRY DAILEY
Record News Sports Editor

A. Y. "Bud" McCallum, head football and basket ball coach at Wichita Falls high school for six years, will not return next fall to direct the Coyotes in those sports. Announcement of the resignation of McCallum and that a successor will be appointed soon by the school board, probably at a special meeting to be held within two weeks, was made Tuesday by Dr. James W. Cantwell, superintendent of city schools.

McCallum had indicated to Dr. Cantwell last December that he was desirous of terminating his services at the local prep institution with the close of school this spring. But he was prevailed upon by Dr. Cantwell to defer his resignation until after the basket ball season ended.

Successor Sought

A committee of three members of the school board, of which Dr. Cantwell is chairman and which includes Carter McGregor and Wiley L. Robertson, will consider applications for the post vacated by McCallum. No successor to McCallum has been considered pending definite determination of the coach's resignation, Dr. Cantwell said.

The only reference to the acquisition of a new Coyote athletic director made by the school board was an informal discussion of the situation at its monthly meeting last Monday night. While McCallum's resignation was not made public until Tuesday, it was of course known by the school board following his expressed desire of last December to leave here, and it is probable that the names of more than one athletic director of reputation has been considered, silently perhaps, by more than one member of that group.

Dr. Cantwell said that there have been no applicants for the post and that no particular person has been considered for the place. But the superintendent said that the place will be filled by the best available man.

Cantwell Regrets Move

The resignation of McCallum is regretted keenly by Dr. Cantwell, who paid high tribute to the gentlemanly and sportsmanlike qualities and the coaching skill of the departing coach. "Mr. McCallum made an enviable record as coach the six years he has been here," Dr. Cantwell said. "He has produced winning football and basket ball teams and his squads have been models of deportment.

Body of Floyd Collins, Who Died After Being Trapped in Sand Cave, Is Taken From Display Casket But Is Later Found

HORSE CAVE, Ky., March 19. (UP)—The body of Floyd Collins, stolen from its sealed casket in Crystal Cave here early today was discovered tonight on the banks of the Green river, 500 feet from the mouth of the cave.

A team of bloodhounds located the body after being given the scent at the open casket. A suit of overalls, a cap and a pair of gloves found near the body were the only clues to the identity of the thieves.

Discovery of the theft of Collins' body was made this morning by Dr. H. B. Thomas, owner of the cave, and John Buckingham, an attendant, who found a chain on the cave door broken. Six hundred feet from the entrance they found the empty casket.

Tonight the body was back in the casket before most of the crowd which had turned out to search knew of its discovery.

Collins' tragic death a few years ago aroused the sympathy of the world. He was exploring sand cave when a huge boulder pinioned his ankle to the floor. Hundreds of volunteer workers labored for days to free him from the imprisonment which caused his death from starvation and pneumonia.

Johnston's Zero Hour Nears With Oklahomans Awaiting Senate's Vote

Short Arguments Today Will Precede 'Jury's' Consideration Of Evidence Presented During Trial

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., March 19. (UP)—The Oklahoma impeachment trial of Henry S. Johnston tonight had practically become a matter of waiting until Wednesday when the vote of the senate impeachment court will decide the political fate of the suspended chief executive.

The prosecution at 2 p. m. today commenced arguments designed to remove the state's seventh governor with John Head, chief of the house board of managers, prosecuting Johnston on charges of general incompetency and corruption, taking the lead.

Argument was limited to three and one-half hours.

Head was followed by R. L. Davidson, defense counsel, who gave a terse summary of the case.

The senate court adjourned until Wednesday after Davidson completed his part of the argument for the defense.

The vote of the 44 senators who comprise the "jury" likely will be taken about noon Wednesday.

The argument opened immediately after testimony of A. Duff Tillery, member of the house of representatives, had been given in defense rebuttal. Tillery told of Johnston's activity in the constitutional convention when Oklahoma was made a state, substantiating Johnston's own testimony to that effect.

A possible high point in the Wednesday session will be when H. Tom Kight, militant opponent of Johnston and all things that smack of Johnston, will close for the prosecution. In this member of the house, Johnston found an obstacle to his every move. Kight will be supported by Grady Lewis of the managers.

J. B. Dudley and Ned Looney will argue Wednesday for the defense.

CITY ELECTIONS HELD IN TOWNS OF OKLAHOMA

Hollis Becomes City And Names Officials For First Time

SUNDAY MOVIES WIN

Lawton Rejects City Manager Plan; Perryton Votes Bonds

Hollis, Okla., "became a city," Frederick voted to have Sunday movies, and Lawton defeated by a decisive vote a move to inaugurate the city manager form of government in the regular primaries held Tuesday. Altus and other towns were called upon merely to nominate the regular ticket of city officials. The nominations in these primaries virtually amount to election.

Besides voting to incorporate, Hollis citizens elected Ross Cox as their first mayor and elected other officials.

S. E. Hickman appeared to have been re-elected mayor of Altus, where primary elections were held for all other city offices.

Frederick will have Sunday movies between the hours of 1 and 6 p. m., it was decided by a vote of 814 to 693. Dr. J. J. Rogers led his two opponents for mayor.

Perryton, Texas, by an overwhelming vote, approved a street paving bond issue of $48,000.

LAWTON DEFEATS CITY MANAGER
Special to The Record News

LAWTON, Okla., March 19.—A move to incorporate here the city manager form of government failed in the regular primary election here today by a vote of 1,521 to 922.

The vote on this issue attracted the majority of interest, though the mayor's race was quite a conflict. In it Fred Barrance, Democrat, and W. B. Ryting, Republican, emerged as the foes who will fight it out in the regular city election to be held here April 2.

However, it will be a decidedly one-sided fight, the primary election here being tantamount to election. Nearly 2,000 votes were cast by the Democrats today.

The Republicans, however, mustered up enough strength to place two more candidates in the field, S. W. Heiss for city clerk, and Abe Mull for street commissioner.

Larrance won the Democratic nomination by about 50 votes, having four opponents, to-wit: Raymond Fields, J. J. Shott, Lee Master and A. M. Reinwand.

Other Democratic officials who head the ballot include: Todd Sanders, city clerk; R. B. McCoy, city treasurer; J. J. Brandon, street commissioner, and Dee Moncrief Jr., chief of police.

Councilmen nominated include: Ward 1, T. J. Tyree; ward 2, Emory Turban; ward 3, J. H. Ledgerwood; ward 4, Robert McCalmant, and ward 5, J. F. Neely.

FREDERICK VOTES SUNDAY MOVIES
Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., March 19.—A spicy flavor was injected into the regular Democratic primary election here today when, in addition to selecting the regular city officials voters cast ballots on whether or not the city should in the future have Sunday movies.

The voters want 'em, as is evidenced by the election results, 814 favoring the Sabbath cinema, while 693 opposed them.

This issue was injected into the election at the request of the city council, who declined to rule on the question, reasoning that the popular opinion would likely settle the dispute better than a council ruling. The measure as passed today provides the movies may remain

Rangers Take Hand in Probe Of Mystery Attack on South Texan

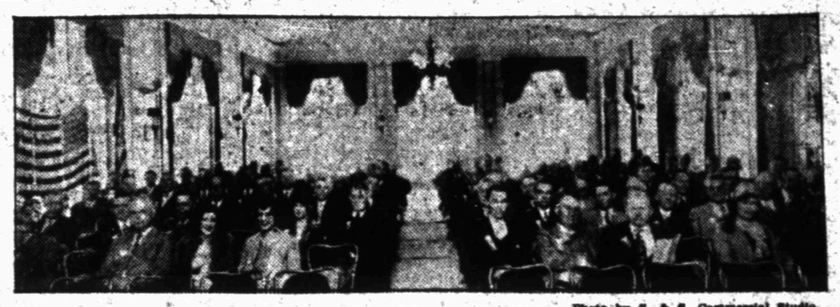

WESLACO, Texas, March 19. (AP)—Texas rangers tonight joined local authorities in investigating the attack early today upon Claud E. Kelley, 31, prominent Weslaco business man, who was beaten into unconsciousness as he slept at the home of his father-in-law, Ed C. Crouch, Weslaco banker.

Rangers J. W. Aldrich and Wright Townsend were sent here upon the request of City Marshal Galbreath. Feeling was running high and it was thought the state officers were summoned as a precaution against violence in the event the attackers were caught.

Kelley was reported in a semi-conscious condition tonight at an Edinburg hospital. His skull was fractured and his left side paralyzed. Attendants said he had slight chance to recover.

Officers so far have been unable to find even the instrument with which Kelley was beaten. Robbery was not the motive, as the house was in order and nothing was taken. Relatives, investigating a noise, found Kelley lying in a pool of blood, two rooms beyond from their own.

ANOTHER U. S. MINER 'STOLEN'

Bandits Kidnap El Pasoan In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, March 19. (AP)—The American embassy was informed by private sources that an American mining man, T. L. Carnahan, was kidnaped last night at La Noria mine, near the town of San Benito, Zacatecas. At the same time the bandits carried off a Mexican mine official, Dr. Olvera, and presumably were holding both for ransom.

Information received by other mining companies here said that the La Noria mine had suspended operations, leaving 1,000 men without work, pending guarantees of safety of the other employes against outlaw raids.

Carnahan was said to maintain headquarters at El Paso, Texas, and has a brother, George Carnahan, of the Continental Rubber company, in New York city.

The seizure of Carnahan makes two American prisoners of outlaw bands. On March 1 Henry Hanson, American resident manager of the San Nicholas Mining and Milling company at Vocas, Durango, and J. W. Reid, an employe who is a British subject, were captured and have not yet been released. The United States made representations to the Mexican government in the case.

The week before this two American mining men, J. M. Underwood and C. C. Aleshtorpp, were executed by their captors in Guanajuato while federal forces were attempting to force their release.

Attendance at Retail Druggists' Convention Climbs to 350 Here

Federation of Wholesale and Retail Interests Urged by Dallas Man; Bullington Welcomes Visitors

A three-hour business session which opened at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, followed by a convention banquet and dance at the Wichita club in the evening, marked the opening day of the semi-annual meeting of the West Texas Retail Druggists' association at the Kemp hotel with a registration which had reached the 350 mark Tuesday evening.

The afternoon business session, conducted by John B. Ray, of Abilene, president of the association, was featured by an address given by John W. Allen of Dallas on behalf of a proposed federation of wholesale and independent retail drug interests throughout the country. His address, styled "The Mutual Interest of Wholesaler and Independent Retailer," advocated the acceptance of a plan formulated this year by McKesson and Robbins, Inc., of Chicago, which he said is designed to enable the small drug store to compete successfully with the large chain drug stores.

Explains Plan

"It is a great forward step in scientific merchandising," Mr. Allen said, "and one in which the good faith of its proponents is shown by the fact that they have asked no retail druggists to purchase any stock whatever in their corporation.

"With approximately 70 distributing houses in its own organization, more than 100 manufacturers already pledged to co-operation in the federation, and almost 12,000 retail drug stores thus far committed to the project, the McKesson and Robbins plan proposes to do three things: first, it will guarantee a fixed, steady market for the entire output of member-factories; second it will afford independent retail druggists a maximum variety of standard drug products at chain-store prices; and third, it will afford both wholesaler and retailer a consistent, systematic campaign of local and national advertising."

J. H. Allison of the Times Publishing company, in an address on "Merchandising Your Advertising," urged a better organization of advertising effort on the part of individual establishments. The effect of indefinite, generalized advertising is so diffused, he said, as to rob the advertiser of the results which may be obtained through pointing one or a series of advertisements toward the establishment of one particular fact.

Advertising Hints Given

"You must plan your advertising copy so that it will be recognized as your copy," Mr. Allison sated. "It must be interesting, attractive, true to fact, and reflective of the character of your own particular institution. Be seasonable. Above all,

OFFICIAL HAS NEW EVIDENCE TO GIVE JURY

Glasgow Works on Theory Williams Killing Was Premeditated

MURDER CHARGE LAID

Paul R. Strickland Faces Accusal to Be Aired By Grand Jury

Special to The Record News

HENRIETTA, Texas, March 19.—An effort to show that the fatal shooting of R. L. Williams near here Monday had been premeditated was started today by County Attorney W. J. Glasgow, who took charge of the death probe early Tuesday.

A murder complaint was filed against Paul R. Strickland, farmer living near here, after Mr. Glasgow began his investigation.

Late Tuesday, Mr. Glasgow said he expected to establish the truth or falsity of some new evidence before Wednesday morning, when the Clay county grand jury will assemble under special orders of District Judge Vincent Stine, to investigate the shooting.

Conflicting Evidence

When the grand jury convenes, it will be presented with an amazing array of conflicting evidence as to when, how, and why Williams met his death. The probe will be all the more laborious due to the fact that some of the discrepancies came from statements made by the man held, according to the county attorney. Here are some of the alleged statements the county attorney was arranging Tuesday to place before the investigators:

1. A statement that Williams met his death about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon in a pasture near the Strickland farm five miles south of here;—and a second statement that Williams was fatally wounded about 9:30 o'clock Monday night.
2. A statement that Williams died of the effect of gunshot wounds.
3. A statement that Williams died of injuries received when his foot caught in the bumper of a moving automobile.
4. A statement that Williams had shot himself.
5. A statement that Williams had met death by swallowing a potion of a poisonous liquid.
6. A statement that Williams was shot and killed in an argument with a man over a girl both had known years ago in Denton county.

Statements Disproved

All statements that Williams had taken his own life were discounted, when Justice of the Peace returned a coroner's verdict that the deceased had met death from "gunshot wounds inflicted by Paul Strickland." A search revealed that Williams carried no gun, the county attorney said.

News of the tragedy was first brought here about 10 o'clock Monday night, when Strickland came to town and told a friend, Rube Reynolds, that Williams had been slain. They both went to the scene. Returning, Reynolds notified officers, and Strickland was later arrested and jailed.

Reynolds said they found the body in a pasture near the Strickland home. After Strickland's arrest, Sheriff Donnell went to the scene and examined the body, which proved to contain one gunshot wound in the stomach.

Argument Over Girl

Strickland told Reynolds, the latter said, that Williams had been shot after an argument over a former girl friend. However, he later told Sheriff J. M. Donell, who made the arrest, that Williams had shot himself, and subsequently, according to the sheriff, Strickland made the statement that the man had been poisoned. No indications of death by poisoning was found, the sheriff said.

Williams, who was 44 years old, leaves a wife and eight children, all of Bowie, where he formerly was a nightwatchman for a cotton compress. His wife and children, and a brother, of Fort Worth, arrived here today, and made preparations for the funeral, which probably will be held Wednesday, it was said.

Forgery Artist Plies His Skill To Get Out of Prison; Luck Fails Him

KANSAS CITY, March 19. (AP)—A story as strange as fiction was unfolded her today when it was announced that Hays Van Gorder, notorious forger, had forged his way out of federal prison at Leavenworth only again to be caught by the toils of the law.

Van Gorder was released from the penitentiary several weeks ago on a purported court order. He was serving a sentence of 15 years following a plea of guilty to forging money order blanks at Danville, Ill.

In a few days after his release, postal inspectors began to receive reports of a flood of forged money orders in the middlewest. Federal inspectors took up the trail.

A man was apprehended at Milan, Mo. It was reported to postal inspector's headquarters here that the man was Van Gorder.

Today the officers, although refusing to make public all details of the affair, said they had scoffed at the identification. They thought they knew Van Gorder was in federal prison.

With complete identification of the prisoner the officers began an investigation of the prison. Partial explanation then was made public.

Eye-Witness Story Read In Dallas Murder Trial

DALLAS, March 19. (AP)—A purported voluntary statement by H. M. Lacy, 18, negro, saying he was present when Ardel Landers, another negro, shot Joe Piccola, Italian merchant, to death in an attempted holdup Feb. 9, was read to the jury today in Lacy's trial for murder.

Ardel and Edward Landers, also charged with Piccola's death, will face trial when Lacy's case is disposed of.

(AP)—Three planes piloted by Mexican aviators under guidance of an United States army pilot, arrived here at 3:30 o'clock en route to Mexico to join the federal forces quelling the revolution. Dying Story Admitted In Trial for Murder

TEXARKANA, March 19. (AP)—The dying statement of M. W. Patterson was admitted in evidence over defense protests here today in the trial of Horace Adcock, 24, charged with Patterson's murder Nov. 6.

The state is asking the death penalty. The defense is pleading self defense.

The statement, made by Patterson on the operating table, said Adcock had blocked the road with his wagon and demanded payment for a pair of boots which Patterson had taken home one Sunday. The men were returning from a hunting trip and Adcock did not want church people to know he had been hunting on Sunday, the statement said. It also said Adcock declared he was going to kill Patterson, that he drew a gun and fired.

Rain Keeps Eaker On The Ground at Tampico

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, March 19. (AP)—A message received here at noon today from Capt. Ira C. Eaker, dawn-to-dusk flyer forced down last night at Tampico, Mexico, said rain was falling at Tampico and he would be unable to fly to Brownsville and San Antonio today.

The muddy condition of the field last night kept Eaker from taking the air then for the United States.

J. H. Adamson telegraphed to Eaker that Eaker's father, Y. Y. Eaker, was resting well after an operation today at San Angelo, Texas, hospital.

Rangers Take Hand in Probe Of Mystery Attack on South Texan

WESLACO, Texas, March 19. (AP)—Texas rangers tonight joined local authorities in investigating the attack early today upon Claud E. Kelley, 31, prominent Weslaco business man, who was beaten into unconsciousness as he slept at the home of his father-in-law, Ed C. Crouch, Weslaco banker.

Rangers J. W. Aldrich and Wright Townsend were sent here upon the request of City Marshal Galbreath. Feeling was running high and it was thought the state officers were summoned as a precaution against violence in the event the attackers were caught.

Kelley was reported in a semi-conscious condition tonight at an Edinburg hospital. His skull was fractured and his left side paralyzed. Attendants said he had slight chance to recover.

Officers so far have been unable to find even the instrument with which Kelley was beaten. Robbery was not the motive, as the house was in order and nothing was taken. Relatives, investigating a noise, found Kelley lying in a pool of blood, two rooms beyond from their own.

CITY ELECTIONS HELD IN TOWNS OF OKLAHOMA

Hollis Becomes City And Names Officials For First Time

SUNDAY MOVIES WIN

Lawton Rejects City Manager Plan; Perryton Votes Bonds

Hollis, Okla., "became a city," Frederick voted to have Sunday movies, and Lawton defeated by a decisive vote a move to inaugurate the city manager form of government in the regular primaries held Tuesday. Altus and other towns were called upon merely to nominate the regular ticket of city officials. The nominations in these primaries virtually amount to election.

Besides voting to incorporate, Hollis citizens elected Ross Cox as their first mayor and elected other officials.

S. E. Hickman appeared to have been re-elected mayor of Altus, where primary elections were held for all other city offices.

Frederick will have Sunday movies between the hours of 1 and 6 p. m., it was decided by a vote of 814 to 693. Dr. J. J. Rogers led his two opponents for mayor.

Perryton, Texas, by an overwhelming vote, approved a street paving bond issue of $48,000.

LAWTON DEFEATS CITY MANAGER
Special to The Record News

LAWTON, Okla., March 19.—A move to incorporate here the city manager form of government failed in the regular primary election here today by a vote of 1,421 to 922.

The vote on this issue attracted the majority of interest, though the mayor's race was quite a conflict. In it Fred Barrance, Democrat, and W. B. Ryling, Republican, emerged as the foes who will fight it out in the regular city election to be held here April 2.

However, it will be a decidedly one-sided fight, the primary election here being tantamount to election. Nearly 2,000 votes were cast by the Democrats today.

The Republicans, however, mustered up enough strength to place two more candidates in the field, S. W. Heiss for city clerk, and Abe Mull for street commissioner.

Larrance won the Democratic nomination by about 50 votes, having four opponents, to-wit: Raymond Fields, J. J. Shott, Lee Master and A. M. Reinwand.

Other Democratic officials who head the ballot include: Todd Sanders, city clerk; R. B. McCoy, city treasurer; J. J. Brandon, street commissioner, and Dee Moncrief Jr., chief of police.

Councilmen nominated include: Ward 1, T. J. Tyree; ward 2, Emory Turban; ward 3, J. H. Ledgerwood; ward 4, Robert McCalmant, and ward 5, J. F. Neely.

FREDERICK VOTES SUNDAY MOVIES
Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., March 19.—A spicy flavor was injected into the regular Democratic primary election here today when, in addition to selecting the regular city officials voters cast ballots on whether or not the city should in the future have Sunday movies.

The voters want 'em, as is evidenced by the election results, 814 favoring the Sabbath cinema, while 693 opposed them.

This issue was injected into the election at the request of the city council, who declined to rule on the question, reasoning that the popular opinion would likely settle the dispute better than a council ruling. The measure as passed today provides the movies may remain

ANOTHER U. S. MINER 'STOLEN'

Bandits Kidnap El Pasoan In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, March 19. (AP)—The American embassy was informed by private sources that an American mining man, T. L. Carnahan, was kidnaped last night at La Noria mine, near the town of San Benito, Zacatecas. At the same time the bandits carried off a Mexican mine official, Dr. Olvera, and presumably were holding both for ransom.

Information received by other mining companies here said that the La Noria mine had suspended operations, leaving 1,000 men without work, pending guarantees of safety of the other employes against outlaw raids.

Carnahan was said to maintain headquarters at El Paso, Texas, and has a brother, George Carnahan, of the Continental Rubber company, in New York city.

The seizure of Carnahan makes two American prisoners of outlaw bands. On March 1 Henry Hanson, American resident manager of the San Nicholas Mining and Milling company at Vocas, Durango, and J. W. Reid, an employe who is a British subject, were captured and have not yet been released. The United States made representations to the Mexican government in the case.

The week before this two American mining men, J. M. Underwood and C. C. Aleshtorpp, were executed by their captors in Guanajuato while federal forces were attempting to force their release.

Service Becomes Party When Parson Lingers

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 19. (AP)—The story of an assembly in the Kentucky mountain which gathered for the purpose of holding religious services and changed to a "drinking party" when the preacher failed to appear was aired today in a decision of the court of appeals which affirmed a life imprisonment sentence imposed in a lower court on Farmer Collins of Leslie county.

The evidence, as reviewed by the court, was that the service was to have been held at the Collins home. During the drinking which followed the disappointment of the crowd by the preacher, Collins shot and killed Carr Napier.

Attendance at Retail Druggists' Convention Climbs to 350 Here

Federation of Wholesale and Retail Interests Urged by Dallas Man; Bullington Welcomes Visitors

A three-hour business session which opened at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, followed by a convention banquet and dance at the Wichita club in the evening, marked the opening day of the semi-annual meeting of the West Texas Retail Druggists' association at the Kemp hotel with a registration which had reached the 350 mark Tuesday evening.

The afternoon business session, conducted by John B. Ray, of Abilene, president of the association, was featured by an address given by John W. Allen of Dallas on behalf of a proposed federation of wholesale and independent retail drug interests throughout the country. His address, styled "The Mutual Interest of Wholesaler and Independent Retailer," advocated the acceptance of a plan formulated this year by McKesson and Robbins, Inc., of Chicago, which he said is designed to enable the small drug store to compete successfully with the large chain drug stores.

Explains Plan

"It is a great forward step in scientific merchandising," Mr. Allen said, "and one in which the good faith of its proponents is shown by the fact that they have asked no retail druggists to purchase any stock whatever in their corporation.

"With approximately 70 distributing houses in its own organization, more than 100 manufacturers already pledged to co-operation in the federation, and almost 12,000 retail drug stores thus far committed to the project, the McKesson and Robbins plan proposes to do three things: first, it will guarantee a fixed, steady market for the entire output of member-factories; second it will afford independent retail druggists a maximum variety of standard drug products at chain-store prices; and third, it will afford both wholesaler and retailer a consistent, systematic campaign of local and national advertising."

J. H. Allison of the Times Publishing company, in an address on "Merchandising Your Advertising," urged a better organization of advertising effort on the part of individual establishments. The effect of indefinite, generalized advertising is so diffused, he said, as to rob the advertiser of the results which may be obtained through pointing one or a series of advertisements toward the establishment of one particular fact.

Advertising Hints Given

"You must plan your advertising copy so that it will be recognized as your copy," Mr. Allison sated. "It must be interesting, attractive, true to fact, and reflective of the character of your own particular institution. Be seasonable. Above all,

'PAUL REVERE' GALLOPS AGAIN

But He Rides Auto to Warn Of Coming Flood

ATLANTA, Ga., March 19. (AP)—A modern Paul Revere hurried through the Apalachicola valley in Florida today with warnings of the flood approaching from Georgia and Alabama which has inundated towns and rich farming sections, made highways impassable and caused the death of more than a score of persons.

Edward H. Calvin, Red Cross worker, drove an automobile from Bainbridge southward to beat the crest of the flood and urge inhabitants along the Apalachicola to seek safety on higher ground.

Already River Junction, Fla., at the confluence of the Chattahoochee and Flint rivers, had felt the force of the waters descending from its northern neighbors. Its business section and part of its residences were already under water and the river there was still rising. It stood at 34.3 feet this morning, a rise of 1.4 feet in the preceding 24 hours.

Fort Gaines, Ga., on the Chattahoochee, had the highest waters in its history. The river was three miles wide. The city pumping station was under water, as was the ice and cold storage plant and the Southern Cotton Oil company. School children were transported to and from their classes in boats and mail was brought into the town by boat from Central of Georgia station at Killen, two miles away.

OFFICIAL HAS NEW EVIDENCE TO GIVE JURY

Glasgow Works on Theory Williams Killing Was Premeditated

MURDER CHARGE LAID

Paul R. Strickland Faces Accusal to Be Aired By Grand Jury

Special to The Record News

HENRIETTA, Texas, March 19.—An effort to show that the fatal shooting of R. L. Williams near here Monday had been premeditated was started today by County Attorney W. J. Glasgow, who took charge of the death probe early Tuesday.

A murder complaint was filed against Paul R. Strickland, farmer living near here, after Mr. Glasgow began his investigation.

Late Tuesday, Mr. Glasgow said he expected to establish the truth or falsity of some new evidence before Wednesday morning, when the Clay county grand jury will assemble under special orders of District Judge Vincent Stine, to investigate the shooting.

Conflicting Evidence

When the grand jury convenes, it will be presented with an amazing array of conflicting evidence as to when, how, and why Williams met his death. The probe will be all the more laborious due to the fact that some of the discrepancies came from statements made by the man held, according to the county attorney. Here are some of the alleged statements the county attorney was arranging Tuesday to place before the investigators:

1. A statement that Williams met his death about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon in a pasture near the Strickland farm five miles south of here:—and a second statement that Williams was fatally wounded about 9:30 o'clock Monday night.

2. A statement that Williams died of the effect of gunshot wounds.

3. A statement that Williams died of injuries received when his foot caught in the bumper of a moving automobile.

4. A statement that Williams had shot himself.

5. A statement that Williams had met death by swallowing a potion of a poisonous liquid.

6. A statement that Williams was shot and killed in an argument with a man over a girl both had known years ago in Denton county.

Statements Disproved

All statements that Williams had taken his own life were discounted, when Justice of the Peace returned a coroner's verdict that the deceased had met death from "gunshot wounds inflicted by Paul Strickland." A search revealed that Williams carried no gun, the county attorney said.

News of the tragedy was first brought here about 10 o'clock Monday night, when Strickland came to town and told a friend, Rube Reynolds, that Williams had been slain. They both went to the scene. Returning, Reynolds notified officers, and Strickland was later arrested and jailed.

Reynolds said they found the body in a pasture near the Strickland home. After Strickland's arrest, Sheriff Donnell went to the scene and examined the body, which proved to contain one gunshot wound in the stomach.

Argument Over Girl

Strickland told Reynolds, the latter said, that Williams had been shot after an argument over a former girl friend. However, he later told Sheriff J. M. Donell, who made the arrest, that Williams had shot himself, and subsequently, according to the sheriff, Strickland made the statement that the man had been poisoned. No indications of death by poisoning was found, the sheriff said.

Williams, who was 44 years old, leaves a wife and eight children, all of Bowie, where he formerly was a nightwatchman for a cotton compress. His wife and children, and a brother, of Fort Worth, arrived here today, and made preparations for the funeral, which probably will be held Wednesday, it was said.

Forgery Artist Plies His Skill To Get Out of Prison; Luck Fails Him

KANSAS CITY, March 19. (AP)—A story as strange as fiction was unfolded her today when it was announced that Hays Van Gorder, notorious forger, had forged his way out of federal prison at Leavenworth only again to be caught by the toils of the law.

Van Gorder was released from the penitentiary several weeks ago on a purported court order. He was serving a sentence of 15 years following a plea of guilty to forging money order blanks at Danville, Ill.

In a few days after his release, postal inspectors began to receive reports of a flood of forged money orders in the middlewest. Federal inspectors took up the trail.

A man was apprehended at Milan, Mo. It was reported to postal inspector's headquarters here that the man was Van Gorder.

Today the officers, although refusing to make public all details of the affair, said they had scoffed at the identification. They thought they knew Van Gorder was in federal prison.

With complete identification of the prisoner the officers began an investigation of the prison. Partial explanation then was made public.

SURVEY OF PROPOSED ARCHER COUNTY WATER PROJECT STARTS

WICHITA FIRM AIDS IN WORK

Head of Dallas Engineering Company Explains Task

A preliminary survey, on the results of which will depend the future of Archer county's plans for a water conservation and irrigation program along the Little Wichita river, was started Monday in Archer county by J. L. Lochridge, of the firm of Floyd and Lochridge of Dallas, which is working in conjunction with the Montgomery and Ward firm of engineers here on the project.

Mr. Lochridge, who returned to Wichita Falls late Monday afternoon, explained that little could be said of the progress of the survey at this stage, neither could there be announced an estimate of what work will be done, if any, or of what results the project might show in the way of relieving the urgent need of water in what is now a vast tract of farming land lying idle for want of irrigation.

To Determine Feasibility

What is intended, however, by the Archer City Chamber of Commerce, is that water from the Little Wichita river shall be impounded, either by construction of a reservoir, or a dam and that the water thus conserved shall be distributed through an irrigation system to the arid districts.

These plans have been announced by Grady Bell secretary of the chamber of commerce. That organization, it was explained, hired the engineering firms from Dallas and Wichita Falls to examine the region, determine the feasibility of erection of a dam or construction of the reservoir, and to determine, from a survey of the entire locality, whether any definite movement leading to either project is feasible.

In case the engineers report its feasibility, it was said, plans will go forth for the organization of an irrigation district, and later bonds will be voted for the movement.

The preliminary survey contracted for by the Archer City Chamber of Commerce will result in no considerable expense, it was said.

State Aid Sought

It was learned Monday from Mr. Lochridge that Archer county will seek to obtain state aid, should the proposed irrigation work be pronounced feasible. It was in this connection, Mr. Lochridge said, that two members of the board of water engineers at Austin visited Archer City Saturday and made a first hand, though incomplete, investigation. Mr. Lochridge said he accompanied the engineers, and that the "survey" the board members reported they had "completed" was nothing less than a very tentative examination. The board members were quoted in Associated Press from Austin Monday night as having completed a survey.

Mr. Lochridge would make no estimate Monday of the time necessary in which to complete the preliminary survey. He said that would depend on what the engineers discovered to be the condition of the area. Until more work is accomplished nothing can be said of the future of Archer county's plans. Mr. Lochridge said he would continue the work in conjunction with the Wichita Falls engineers, making his headquarters part of the time at Dallas, and, occasionally at Wichita Falls.

Arbitration Board Hears Testimony In Accident at Union Station

Evidence involved in the settlement of a $13,750 damage claim was completed Tuesday afternoon before a special board of arbitration, representing three railroads, appointed to adjust the proportionate liability of each organization. The sessions of the board were conducted in the basement of the courthouse.

The decision of the board will be reached at a later meeting to be held in Fort Worth after the records and the briefs have been prepared and considered.

The controversy grew out of an accident in front of the Union station in Wichita Falls in October, 1922, in which Mrs. C. V. Hamrick and Miss Bessie Lowe, both of Graham, suffered injuries. The Fort Worth and Denver railroad settled the damage claims with a payment of $5,000 to Miss Lowe and $8,750 to Mrs. Hamrick, the testimony showed.

In demanding that the M.-K.-T. and the Wichita Falls and Southern pay a share in the settlement, the Denver road urged that the Union station here is jointly owned and operated and that liabilities were proportionate.

The original arbitration board included S. C. Rowe of Fort Worth, appointed by the Fort Worth and Denver; E. L. Fulton of Wichita Falls, for the Katy; and Harvey Harris of Wichita Falls, for the Wichita Falls and Southern. The board in turn appointed Wilmot Odell of Fort Worth and Walter Nelson of Wichita Falls to complete the group.

Bud McCallum Resigns as Coach

grets his loss, and I am sure that feeling will be shared by all citizens, as well. But in the face of his desire to leave as expressed in his resignation of last December, Mr. McCallum will retire as coach in May with the end of school.

"I of course have no opinion as to who his successor will be. But he will be a high-class coach in keeping with the type of Mr. McCallum. And I believe that the returning football squad of next fall will be a winner."

Success has attended Bud McCallum's coaching career, which has been confined to date entirely to Wichita Falls. Except for the past football and basket ball season, when injuries and ineligibilities were great handicaps, McCallum's grid and cage teams have been winners.

He came to Wichita Falls in the autumn of 1923 from the University of Texas, where for four seasons he was a football star. Indeed, McCallum twice was named as all-southwestern conference fullback, when he was a stellar back for the Longhorns.

Teams Proved Winners

McCallum's football teams won two district championships and twice were victors of the southern half of the then divided district in the six years he was Coyote grid mentor. In the same length of time his cage teams won three district titles, two bi-district championships and was in the state semi-finals one year.

Bud was track coach for four years until two seasons ago, and won the state prep championship in addition to two district titles.

McCallum's future plans are uncertain, he said last night. In his six years as coach here Bud has received several offers to coach elsewhere and his services doubtless will be in demand when word of his resignation here is out.

He will be one of the officials this summer at a boys' camp at Kerrville, Texas, which will be attended by several lads from here, it is said.

Blum and Bruce Shumaker, Burkburnett; J. M. Hemby, R. C. Rippy and W. M. Austin, Electra; and C. E. McCutchen, A. C. Raysor, R. O. Harvey, Charles P. McGaha, J. H. & Bonner, Merrill Blair and B. M. Bell, Wichita Falls.

The jurors were named by a commission which included Edward Schoffke, O. C. Whitaker and G. D. Anderson. Each will be summoned to appear before Judge Allan Montgomery in the 30th district court on Monday morning, April 1.

ANOTHER CHAPTER IN FINE CAR HISTORY OPENED BY PIERCE-ARROW

Pierce-Arrow engineers spent two years perfecting the Straight Eight engine which has brought new power and new fleetness to the field of fine motor cars. And Pierce-Arrow designers have lavishly contributed new beauty, new grace, new distinction.

The result is something so fine that in all Pierce-Arrow history there has never been the equal of today's waiting demand.

It arrives at the psychological moment—this slender new Straight Eight by Pierce-Arrow—and forever removes the idea that bulk and stodginess are necessary to automobiles of important make.

Pierce-Arrow mechanical detail embraces every device of proven character known to the engineering of fine motor cars.

SCIENTISTS TO HUNT ATLANTIS

Relics of Legendary Continent to Be Sought

By N. R. PACKARD

PARIS, March 19. (UP)—A scientific search for traces of the legendary continent of Atlantis will be made this spring along the northwest coast of Africa. The expedition will be headed by Count Byron de Prorok, noted archaeologist and explorer of lost cities of antiquity.

"We hope to find tangible remains of the ancient civilization of this lost continent, which is described in a tone of historical truth even in mythology," Count Prorok said. "Our searchers will extend on land and under the sea. If our excavations do not result in discoveries, we will then don diving suits and hunt on the bottom of the ocean.

Search Near Mauretania

"If this fabulous stretch of land ever did really exist, I am confident that we can find traces of it in the region south of Agadir, in the territory of ancient Mauretania. It is there that we will concentrate our efforts."

The legend of Atlantis has persisted since before the dawn of recorded history, and many scientists have believed there must be some basis for it. It was first recorded by Plato, who heard of it from Egyptian priests. The latter placed it beyond the pillars of Hercules, in the Atlantic, and the time of its disappearance as about 12,000 years ago.

Theories to account for the legend have been varied. One widely accepted is that it was a vast continent covering the area of what is now the Atlantic between Africa and America. Ethnological and other similarities between the remains of the ancient Mayan civilization in Central America and that of Egypt have been pointed out.

Kingdom Ruled Earth

While it is all speculation, plausible stories have been written of the high civilization that existed on Atlantis, how its inhabitants ruled the earth and spread their empire over the globe.

Then a cataclysm occurred—a gigantic earthquake during which Atlantis sank beneath the sea, while new lands and new oceans were created.

The Biblical story of the flood has been accepted by materialistic scientists and attributed to the same cataclysm that overtook Atlantis—if, indeed, Noah and his forbears were not subjects or inhabitants of that same empire.

Tales also exist of a similar great continent in the Pacific, which disappeared in a similar or the same catyclysm. The inexplicable monolithic idols on tiny Easter island—isolated far out in the South Pacific—have been explained by that theory.

Biblical Account Of Noah's Flood Verified in Kish

CHICAGO, March 19. (US)—Noah's flood, as related in Genesis, and also another flood some 600 years earlier, have been checked by members of the Field museum-Oxford university expedition digging into the remains of the ancient city of Kish, in Mesopotamia.

This information was received here today in a cablegram from Prof. Stephen Langdon who said the Babylonian and Hebrew accounts of the deluge were fully confirmed. Evidence of the floods is found at depths of 45 and 55 feet below the surface of the great mound in which Kish was buried.

The lower stratum was reported to be about 18 inches thick. From traces of the water damage, from tablets found and from the depth of the deposit, Professor Langdon estimated that the first flood took place about 4,000 B. C. Following this the people of Kish rebuilt their city which was again devastated by another flood in 3,400 B. C. This last flood is believed to be the Biblical flood in which Noah and his Ark figured.

Little Theater's Troubles End When Old Time Bar Is Found for New Play

The very important piece of property for which the entire personnel of the Little Theater has been searching has finally been procured, and preparations for the presentation of "Outward Bound," next Monday night at the Woman's Forum, are now rapidly drawing to completion, according to James Daly, director.

The setting for Sutton Vane's English play calls for a piece of business furniture which formerly was quite plentiful in Wichita Falls, but which, in the last 10 years, has become increasingly scarce. Led by H. O. Rupnow, who will play the part of "Scrubby," the steward, in the coming production of "Outward Bound," members of the Little Theater have conducted a thorough search for the polished dispensing counter of bygone days whose best remembered feature is the footrail. Through the services of W. D. Bent of Burkburnett, also a member of the cast, a suitable bar was located in that city and procured for the Little Theater set here for next Monday and Tuesday nights.

Rehearsals are being conducted daily, and male members of the cast also are taking almost daily turns, it was said, assisting Mr. Daly in the construction of the unusual and picturesque setting for the second Little Theater play.

"Outward Bound" will comprise a production in striking contrast to "Dulcy," which the Little Theater presented with marked success several weeks ago. The rippling humor which constantly played on the surface of the action in that farcical comedy will be replaced in the coming performance with more wry and subtle amusement furnished by "Scrubby," and Mrs. Midget, the scrubwoman, to be interpreted by Miss Helen Grace Gould. An underlying foundation of profound philosophy carries throughout the play, however, and is accompanied by an eerie mysticism which finds a surprising solution in the closing scene.

Mr. Bent, who scored a distinct hit as Patterson in "Dulcy," will portray Lingley, a cold-steel business man in "Outward Bound." Others carrying important roles include Mrs. Bentley Nelson as Mrs. Cliveden-Banks, Ewell Bagwell as Rev. Thompson, Juanita Joyce as Ann, and Edward Smith as Rev. William Duke.

In Play

W. D. Bent of Burkburnett will appear in the Little theater play, "Outward Bound," next Monday night at the Woman's Forum.

Steel Containers for Small Freight Urged

DALLAS, Texas, March 19. (AP)—The steel container method of handling freight for small shipments and short hauls was emphasized again today at a joint hearing of the Interstate Commerce commission and the Texas Railway commission here.

J. A. Brown, St. Louis, vice president of the Missouri Pacific, said the installation of this system is the only salvation of railway freight for short hauls as the trucking industry is ruining this class of business.

The steel container method would relieve congestion at freight houses and reduce loss from pilferage, it was testified.

NO COPS NEEDED

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 19. (UP)—Harriett Rowland, 30, negress, was cut about the face during a fight at her home today. She named Earnest Bradshaw, Negro, as her assailant. "No, I ain't gonna file no affidavit against that man," she said. "I'm gonna take care of him myself, then I'll know he's been taken care of properly. I don't need no police officers to fight my battles."

Western Union-RCA Merger Is Unlikely

NEW YORK, March 19. (INS)—Probability of a merger between the Western Union Telegraph company and the Radio Corporation of America became more remote today following a statement by Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union. Carlton has issued a challenge to the newly organized R. C. A. Communications, Inc., to compete with his company in the field of domestic telegraphy, which the radio corporation's new subsidiary proposes to enter, according to an announcement made Sunday.

"There is no known method by which comprehensive system of radio can be made available for the competent handling of a substantial part of a national service," Carlton said. "There appears to be no chance of a merger. The radio corporation has nothing we now wish to use, and if we ever need anything they have we can get it from other sources."

It's Growing!

The shoulder-length bob is taking a real place among fashions of the hour for the younger set. In many high schools and colleges, more than half the girls are letting their hair grow to the neg length. This style as worn by New York City girls is shown in the above photograph of Miss Edna Rabbe, 1925 Avenue G, Brooklyn.

Miss Rabbe says: "I am certainly delighted that I let my hair grow to the new length now that I have found a way to keep it easily manageable and attractive. My hair is ever so much fluffier and more vigorous than it has been for a long time. And it is free from all traces of dandruff, now. I attribute its improvement to the method I am using to care for it. It's so popular among the girls in my set. All we do is put a little Danderine on our brushes whenever we use them. This makes my hair so easy to dress any way I want it and holds it in place as I arrange it. Danderine soothes my scalp and keeps it and my hair so clean, I don't need to shampoo more than twice a month, now. And all my friends admire the way it makes my hair so bright and sparkling."

Danderine does more to bring out the natural color, the gleam and luster of your hair, than shampoos or brilliantine. It removes the oily film from it, gives it new life and luster. It cleanses and invigorates the scalp; helps overcome dandruff. Danderine is delightfully fragranced; isn't oily, doesn't show. All drug stores have the generous 35c bottles.—Adv.

ERA OF 'GOOD FEELING' SEEN

Lack of Opposition Speaks Well for New President

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON, March 19. (UP)—The start of President Hoover's administration without the usual fusillade of criticism has led some political observers to predict an "era of good feeling," at least at the outset.

The situation is due partly to the strength the new president manifested among Democrats, partly to his following among the group of so-called "Insurgent Republicans" who rattled other Republican presidents, and partly to the present division in Democratic ranks.

No Challenge Offered

Two weeks in office have brought no challenge from any enemy camp, and Mr. Hoover faces a special session of congress with no general organized opposition to his farm relief and tariff programs. Hitherto, the eve of such a session has found the opposition, organized and with their own program, putting their heads together in offices at the capitol preparing for the legislative attack on the new president.

The silence at the capital augurs well for the new president. There are no signs that it is the calm before a storm.

Western farm leaders who always were out of step with the Coolidge administration have expressed confidence in Mr. Hoover, though his farm relief program does not call for their old love, the equalization fee. They trust the new president, and are proceeding amicably toward formulation of a program. Some few Democrats will talk about the equalization fee, but the movement can get nowhere.

Demos Desert Tariff

Some Democrats of the old school will contest upward revision of the tariff, but the party deserted the old tariff policy in the last campaign and there can be no united front on this issue. Some Democrats will seek further protection of industries in their own localities. The principal difficulty Mr. Hoover faces on the tariff is from those of his own party who would carry revision beyond the limits he desires.

Political students see some points in common with the "era of good feeling" of the Monroe administration and that of today, and some significant differences.

After Monroe's election, which saw the end of the old Federalist party, one party was completely in the saddle, the "Republican" or Jeffersonian party of that day, which is the Democratic party of today. Monroe was reelected virtually unanimously, one New Hampshire elector casting his vote for John Quincy Adams, with the explanation that he wanted to keep for George Washington the honor of being the only president elected unanimously.

Demos Still Split

The present Republican party of Lincoln is in the saddle comfortably today. The Democratic party faces the new administration still divided over the recent election, and with part of it refusing to recognize the leadership of their defeated candidate, Alfred E. Smith.

There is an interesting historical development of the Monroe period which fascinates political students of the present situation. The Jeffersonian party, under Andrew Jackson, branched out a few years later to take in discontended farm and labor elements and made itself, in reality, a new party of the people.

Lundborg, Who Faced Death to Reach Nobile Party, Arrives in U.S.

NEW YORK, March 19. (INS)—The man who braved the polar wastes to rescue Gen. Umberto Nobile and the surviving crew of the ill-fated Italia, stepped off the gangplank of the Drottingholm of the Swedish-American lines today to undergo a round of receptions at the hands of New York City.

Capt. Einar Albert Lunl Lundborg, a clean shaven, blue-eyed Swede had naught but the warmest admiration for General Nobile.

Of his own exploit in reaching the ill-fated dirigible's crew where others had tried and gone to their deaths, the captain in the royal Swedish flying corps said not a word but he willingly reviewed the testimony he gave before the Italian commission that investigated the disaster which took a toll of eight lives.

The official reception at city hall will be conducted tomorrow by Mayor Walker who will give Captain Lundborg the key to the city. On Thursday at Washington, he will be received by President Hoover.

RUSSIAN PARTY LEADERS SPLIT

Communist Conference to Be Hectic Affair

MOSCOW, March 19. (INS)—The regular quarterly conference of the Communist party, scheduled for March 23, is about to open with high party leaders split wider than ever before by political and personal differences.

Nothing more than a breath of uneasiness has trickled through the walled citadel of the Kremlin. The polemics which are circulated surreptitiously outside the red walls contain much misinformation, yet they disclose that a bitter fight is in progress inside.

One Trotzkyist opposition leaflet brands Joseph Stalen, the proletarian dictator, as an "unprincipled intriguer," who could not be trusted "with a scrap of paper." The conservative or right opposition uses equally picturesque phrases.

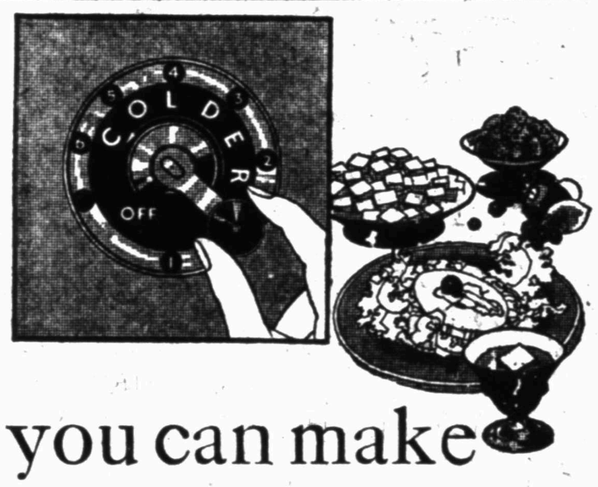

Nikolai Bukharin, formerly Stalin's right hand man, who is still hailed as the greatest Marxist thinker in the world, is said to have written an ultimatum to Stalin. This document signed by a score of high officials is said to demand a drastic change of policy, principally the abandonment of the class war against the down and out bourgeoisie in the cities and the Kulaks in the provinces, so that energies of the Communist party might be devoted to constructive economic development.

It is significant, also, that on the heels of rumors that Premier Rykov and Bukarin threaten to resign from the "politburo," a resolution passed with the customary unanimity by the Moscow county party conference contained a sentence urging "all party officials to stick to their jobs in these times of stress."

Executive Board of Forum Hears Plans for Beautifying Grounds

The executive board of the Woman's Forum met at the clubhouse at 9:30 Tuesday morning, for reports of all departments and announcements of new officers who have been elected.

The civic department is making its March work that of helping to beautify the grounds. Particular care will be given to this at this date as the Forum grounds have been much abused by thoughtless visitors who drive their cars through muddy grounds and leave unwelcome traces of their visits Forum leaders said. The clubs affiliated with the Forum are helping in this work in a most beautiful way. For each member who has passed on, each club is planting a tree or shrub. It was suggested that some club plant in the center of the grounds a star of bluebonnets. Cedars and other evergreens will be living memorials, under the plan.

FOR PARKING LAW

The executive board of the Woman's Forum voted Tuesday to endorse a parking law. Discussion showed that members considered Wichita Falls a city and that it is only "the very small towns that do not have parking laws today."

Mrs. O. E. Nichols reported the cancellation of the music department's star program next month on account of the accident suffered by Mrs. Cahoon, necessitating the close of her Southern tour. Mrs. Nichols also announced the new officers of the music department as follows: Mrs. Fred Barron, chairman; Mrs G. E. Nichols, vice chairman; Mrs. Howard Renfro, secretary; Mrs Ben Ackerman, treasurer.

Mrs. Caude Woods announced Mrs. T. A. Hicks as the new sponsor for the Junior Forum.

Mrs. Weldon announced the new officers for the writers department: Mrs. W. M. Cason, chairman; Mrs. J. E. H. Railey, vice chairman; and Mrs. B. C. Nicholson, secretary and treasurer.

A letter of best wishes enclosing dues was received from Mrs. Saul Lebenson, who is in Switzerland at present.

The executive board voted to endorse the following officers: For state president, Mrs. R. F. Lindsey of Mt. Pleasant; first vice president, Mrs J. L. Young of Mineral Wells; and for first vice president of this district, Miss Robbie Castleberry of Vernon.

A vote of thanks was extended to the Labor temple which offered two days carpentry work each month.

A rising vote of thanks was also given to Mrs. F. L. Mercer, membership chairman for the past year, who on account of the treasurer's illness, has also taken over the treasurer's work at the end of the club year.

Oh, These Women

By LEOLA ALLARD

NEW YORK, March 19. (US)—A rich broker in New York married a woman with a voice like Constance Collier, legs like Charlotte Greenwood and hats like Queen Mary.

What a girl!

A girl on Fifth avenue trying to wear a monocle, and keeping one hand busy all the time replacing it.

But, Stevenson says it's better to be a fool than to be dead.

Statistics, coming from Chicago, say that each woman uses about one pound of face powder a year.

Absurd! Why the men carry away that much on their coat sleeves!

A lady of 81 insists she is going to fly a plane, and she traveled from Chicago to Los Angeles to get her first ride and induce someone to teach her to manipulate a plane.

You can't grow old as long as you have desire and curiosity. The lady has both.

Schumann-Heink, in her 51st year as a professional singer, says the happiest spots in her career were the times she sang lullabies to her eight children and 11 grand children.

An idea for rainbow hunters.

A French composer says that the trouble with modern singers is that they keep their mouths open too long, and make too much noise. That they must change.

When they do radio will jump another 100 points.

Omaha's divorce judge refuses to pension "any childless young women for life." He said: "If they worked before marriage and made a bad bargain when they married, let them go to work again."

Things are certainly looking up for the men. Some day they too may have "equal rights."

A Hungarian prince, deserted by two wives, has joined a gypsy orchestra. He meant to go a-gypsying all the time. He had $50,000,000 before. Now he is broke, which is the safest way to gypsy. You will notice that men who are broke don't have much trouble keeping out of matrimony.

Crowded Program Marks Work of High School P.-T. A.

One of the most instructive programs attempted since its organization in 1922 has marked the work of the Junior College and High School P.-T. A. during this school year, according to members of the association. With approximately 1,200 members at present, the association has shown a steady growth in the last few years, a review of its history shows.

Mrs. Homer McGregor was the first president, serving two years. Meetings were held each month in the old high school building, until the completion of the new Junior college. The organization is affiliated with the City P.-T. A. council and the state association.

In turn the following representative women have served as leaders: Mrs. Homer McGregor, Mrs. J. W. Akin, Mrs. O. W. Harvey, Mrs. C. B. Woods and Mrs. S. A. Covington. The aim has been to further child welfare.

The P.-T. A. uses the budget system and the annual membership drive of financing club expense, the entire financing being done in the beginning of the school year by the membership chairman and sponsors.

Ths year, the club has paid $100 on a mimeograph machine, replaced worn out dictionaries and paid for bulletin boards placed in each room in the college.

In the programs, "Child Welfare" and "Know Your School" have been the slogans. Addresses by local ministers and physicians have been featured, boys gym work shown and many a mother has thrilled over the candle lighting ceremonial of the Girl's Reserve. The school orchestra has often furnished music and Dean Rider made helpful talks. Mrs. J. W. Hunt, publicity chairman, is making a club scrap book to be entered in the contest in the thirteenth district meeting in Vernon.

Officers for this year are Mrs. S. A. Covington, president; Mrs. Fred Barron, first vice president; Mrs. W. S. Curlee, second vice president; Mrs. G. S. Bayes, third vice president; Mrs. H. G. Lewis, treasurer; Miss Pauline Shirley, secretary, and Mrs. O. M. Smith, social service chairman.

Richard Halliburton, Famous Writer, Lectures at Forum Clubhouse Tonight

The general Forum artist programs for the year will culminate in the lecture given by Richard Halliburton in the Woman's Forum clubhouse at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening.

This young dreamer, who has "lived his dreams," promises to be as interesting a feature as has been presented during the club year.

While he was at college, he did some writing and a few of his close friends urged that he make writing a profession. Not the least, perhaps it might be said, his strongest incentive to continue his work was his mother.

Son of a mother who is known for her literary and musical ability, and a dynamic father, ab usiness man who accomplishes what he starts out to do, it is not to be wondered that Richard Halliburton has found rich material for books and lectures.

He swam the Hellespont, he conquered the Matterhorn, he has bathed in the pool of the Taj Mahal. He has followed in the tracks of Achilles and Alexander. He has seen and absorbed the beauty of ancient times and civilizations and has missed nothing of the fun that a young and vigorous man may find in travel.

He has a strong and captivating personality and holds his audience. There's no yawning nor fidgeting when Richard Halliburton speaks, according to critics.

Forum members will be admitted on their blue cards. The prices to the public for tickets, which are on sale at Cargill Book store and also at the Forum doors, are $2 for the main auditorium and $1.50 for the dining room seats.

442 of the 451 important Hollywood actresses use Lux Toilet Soap

BETTY BRONSON, Warner Brothers' star, in the luxurious marble bathroom built in Hollywood just for her charming youthfulness. She uses Lux Toilet Soap not only in her bathroom, but in her dressing room on location—wherever her pictures are being made.

The next time you see her in a close-up, notice how smooth this daintily fragrant white soap keeps her skin.

She says about Lux Toilet Soap: "A star must have smooth skin for the close-up. I find this lovely soap is wonderful for my skin."

"A smooth skin is a star's most prized possession," says JOSEPHINE DUNN, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star. "Lux Toilet Soap keeps my skin perfectly smooth."

"SMOOTH SKIN is a perpetual attraction," says Allan Dwan, famous director—and sums up what 39 foremost Hollywood directors have learned from the movies.

"The kind of rose-petal skin which can pass the test of the close-up is the kind of beauty that gets the American public every time," he goes on to say.

It is for this reason that 9 out of 10 screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap. They have found that it keeps their skin satiny and soft—always. And all the great film studios have made this white fragrant soap the official soap in their dressing rooms.

STENOS HAVE TOUGH TIME

But Usually Business Girl Is Well Treated

The Dangers and Temptations of the Business Girl Are Nearly All Mythical—In Reality the Men and Women Who Work Together Are Less Likely to Fall in Love Than Any Others.

A young girl asks: "How should an employer treat his stenographer and other female employes?"

Every employer should treat the girls who work for him as he would wish some other man to treat his daughters if they were thrown out into the world to earn their own bread and butter. And it is to the everlasting honor of American business men that they usually do observe this Golden Rule.

There are a few old brutes who take advantage of a girl's necessity for making her own living, and for supporting those dependent upon her, by making her pay for her job by submitting to their loathsome petting. There are also a few philanderers who are dastards enough to play upon a girl's sympathy by telling her how unhappily married they are and who make her believe that only she can comfort them. And there are married sheiks who, for the mere thrill of a passing flirtation, will win a girl's heart only to break it.

Her employer should treat her fairly and give her honest pay for good work. He should show her courtesy and consideration, but a business office is not a drawing room and she has no right to object to his smoking, or expect him to sharpen her pencils, or pick up her notebooks, and she is an idiot if she bursts into tears every time a hard-worked, nerve-racked, worried man is irritable, or finds fault with her work.

As a matter of fact, the business girl has no more temptations and is in no more danger from men than is the society girl or the home girl. The time when the business man is dangerous is after office hours. Not in them.

Competition in business is fierce and the man who succeeds has to concentrate upon the task in hand. He has to give to his work his entire attention. For the moment it becomes to him the only thing in the world and he has no time or thought for anything else.

He would not notice her shape even if the Venus de Medici were taking his dictation. His only concern would be with her spelling. Even Cleopatra's charm wouldn't move him if she bungled an order for canned goods, or missed the last quotation on Wildcat preferred.

There is a time for everything. There is a time for being soft and romantic, and a time for being hard-boiled. There is a time for amorous dalliance and a time for being on your job. There is a time for whispering sweet nothings in a shell-like ear and a time for bawling a girl out if she has made a mistake, and that is why there is mighty little lovemaking done in business houses during business hours. It isn't the time or the place and mighty few men are in the mood for it.

From 9 to 5 they are chasing dollars, not skirts. During that time they are trying to emulate Mr. Rockefeller, not Don Juan. It is true that most men prefer a pretty girl to an ugly one, but it is just as they prefer a mahogany desk to a deal one. It is soothing to the eyes to have something easy to look at, but for all that, she is just part of the office equipment.

Moreover, in an office or out of an office, the way a man treats a woman depends almost always on her own attitude. She calls the tune to which he dances. If a girl dresses herself decently and appropriately for business; if she is quiet and dignified and ladylike and businesslike in her demeanor, she will seldom, if ever, have occasion to resent her employer's conduct toward her.

Unfortunately, many girls capitalize their sex when they go into business and expect to make it get them by and atone for lack of industry and accuracy and punctuality. They consider that it is easier to work a man than it is to work at their jobs, and that more money is to be got by gold-digging than is found in a pay envelope.

So there is a come-hither look in the eyes they turn on their employers; they languish over them as they take their dictation; they use every art and wile and hint to get invitations to dinners and parties and joyrides. If their employers treat such girls with familiarity, it is because they have invited insults.

In reality, the men and women who work together are less likely to fall in love than any other men and women, because they see each other at too close range, and are too familiar with each other's faults and weaknesses. The relation between an employer and his secretary, for instance, is very much like that between a man and his wife.

Her stenographer must be his memory, his alibi, the vent for his temper and irritability, even as his wife must, and there is no other man under the sun that she is less likely to fall for. On his part, the employer has to put up with the moods and tenses of his stenographer and keep her fur rubbed the right way, just as he does his wife, and she doesn't look like a lady-love to him.

That is why Cupid seldom goes gunning in a business office and why the relationship between the men and women who work together gets to be a sexless one in which they cease to think of each other as men and women, but just as cogs in a big machine that grinds out money.

Transfer of Home Owners Causes Row

DALLAS, March 19. (INS)—A strike vote was being taken today by trainmen on Texas and Pacific lines. The principal point of contention was said to revolve around the purchase of homes by trainmen and the transfer of trainmen to other cities before the homes had been paid for. Trainmen are insisting that the railroads should complete payment for the homes, Marshall is the main town involved, it was said.

John W. Walsh of Washington, D. C., member of the United States board of mediation, is here and has held several conferences with railroad officials and trainmen.

Railroad officials said they considered possibilities of a strike remote and that an amicable settlement will be reached.

AIR EXPANSION NEEDS CAPITAL

Aviation Stocks to Be Sold To Public

By W. S. COUSINS

NEW YORK, March 19. (INS)—As evidence of the wonderful development of the commercial air transportation system in the last year or two, it is announced today that planes of members of American Air Transport association will fly a grand total of 12,000,000 miles in 1929.

This is an organization composed of flying companies carrying mail, express packages and passengers on regularly scheduled operations over established routes, with affiliations with the government, the railroads and private concerns of various kinds.

Extension of the air service routes has called for hundreds of millions of dollars of new capital. Investors are asked to contribute their surplus funds in return for bonds and stocks of the aircraft companies. If they do so, they will be pioneering in a new field, a part of their money will come back doubled and quadrupled, but some of it will never see the home base again.

This is not because aircraft enterprises are dishonest, or that the sellers of the stock are in the swindling class. Millions of dollars will be sent on fruitless chases for new forms of machinery and new equipment which will be out of date before they are given a chance to prove their effectiveness. It was the same in the days of the development of the radio, the telephone, the horseless carriage, the iron horse and all other implements of an advancing civilization.

Investors in aircraft stocks should watch their step, take counsel of the best authorities and avoid the get-rich-quick attitude in selecting stocks for either speculation or investment in this new field.

The air mail planes, which regularly maintain a 100-miles-per-hour speed, have often nearly doubled this figure. The record is 185 miles for a two-hour jaunt between Minneapolis and Chicago, and a speed of 156 miles an hour has been maintained over the 2,680-mile route between New York and San Francisco. More than 1,100 hours of actual flying time has been credited to some of the post office department's crack airmail flyers over the midwestern routes.

FRAT OCCUPIES 'GREEN HOUSE'

K Street Dwelling Houses University Boys

By ALFRED P. RECK

WASHINGTON, March 19. (UP)—"The little green house on K street," often labelled the "fraternity house of the Harding administration," is now a real fraternity house occupied by 20 students of George Washington university.

The house, fabled in fiction of the men associated with the post-war administration of President Harding, was recently brought back to public attention by former Attorney General Daugherty's denial he had ever been in it.

Wine Cellar Remains

There is nothing about the house today which gives the slightest indication of the sinister rumors which surrounded it seven years ago.

When the fraternity—a chapter of the Delta Tau Deltas—moved in a year and a half ago, there were a few marks left of the old days.

One mark, which was supposed to have played a prominent part during the Harding administration —the wine cellar, was torn out by the college boys and converted into a chapter room.

According to those who live in the house now, the wine cellar gave evidence of free and frequent use. There was sawdust on the floor, numerous racks for bottles along the walls and heavy wooden doors barring the entrance.

It was in this wine cellar that rumor had many initiated into the business of corrupt politics. Today the same room is used for harmless initiations into the fraternity.

"Historic" House

Many close to the president were supposed to frequent "the little green house on K street." Jess Smith, the shoe store proprietor, who became highly influential in the department of justice, Mel Daugherty, brother of the attorney general, Gaston Means, former justice department agent who went to Atlanta penitentiary, Charles Forbes, former chief of the veterans bureau, who ended his political career in the penitentiary; Brigadier General Sawyer, Marion, Ohio, doctor who was elevated to high rank in the army and made the personal physician of President Harding, and many others were reported to have visited the house.

In a senate investigation, the colored butler told of former Attorney General Daugherty visiting the house on several occasions, and it was only a few days ago that Daugherty denied this.

Impresses Frat Boys

During the Harding administration, the house was leased by Howard Mannington, close friend of the former attorney general.

The boys living there today know of the history and rumors surrounding it and use this knowledge to impress visiting fraternity brothers.

DANDRUFF

A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy never fails.—Adv.

GENERAL "HELL-AND-MARIA"

Daily Editorial

GENERAL—and recent vice president—Dawes didn't mince words when he took up the senate gavel—or sugar-coat them when he laid it down, with "nothing to retract."

He retires from office, still convinced that the "delay-linger-and-wait" routine of the upper house betrays national interest, defeats national purpose and delays national accomplishment.

Four years ago, he so declared himself, and he holds in those same views in his swan song.

Since 1925, he watched pressing measures struggle in parliamentary traps, saw conspiring filibusters ambush vital legislation, and vainly warned the county to purge "the most august deliberative body on earth" of its bush-whacking prerogatives.

Life had not taught him the courtier arts, nor had political expediency coached the red-tape breaker of the quartermaster's department in the euphemisms of bureaucracy.

When he entered the army, he sawed wood—and said plenty about the millions of dollars and the irreplaceable time squandered through the preparatory phases of the great war.

He had surrendered a distinguished and constructive banking career, to do his bit.

He came to show theory and inefficiency the short cuts to action and organization—to make minutes behave like twins, and one man do the work of two.

HE ARRIVED with spurs on his boots and tongue for tardy thinkers and slow-poke clocks.

Before long, federal funds were getting money's worth, and federal practice was sweating at every pore.

He Hell-and-Mariaed supplies and equipment across seas is unbroken streams, then jumped to France and furnished Pershing a delivery system, on which the allies were soon pinning their faith and medals.

That job finished, he returned home and joined his party's battle against post-armistice confusion and skullduggery—meanwhile, providing Germany with a reparations plan, which hasn't yet cracked under combined creditor and debtor attack.

We need hard-hitting, plain-spoken competence in the White House, and the prospect of his possible candidacy was such that the old guard hastened to shove him into the vice presidency—that refrigerator, to which conventions usually consign bright young men likely to upset their schemes—and leave them there, to chill in cold storage.

Hark Hanna intended a similar fate for Roosevelt when the Philadelphia caucus, under his whiplash, drafted the on-galloping Rough Rider for McKinley's running mate.

Had McKinley lived, Roosevelt wouldn't have realized his ultimate ambition.

Precedent proves that the tomb of hopes on Capitol Hill never releases its captures.

And assures us that Mr. Dawes won't find his name heading any future national slates.

But he can console himself with the knowledge that many a year will pass before it fades from the "hearts of his countrymen."

Hats off! There marches a man!

Stricken Prisoner Dies In Preference to Pains

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Calif., March 19. (INS)—Carrying out his threat to kill himself rather than remain behind prison walls while suffering from a serious malady, Alfred Castro, Los Angeles robber, today hurled himself from a window on the third floor of the prison hospital to the cement walk below. He died a few minutes later.

Throwing Cold Water on Revolution's Fires

THE MEXICAN REVOLUTION, popular with the generals, but not with the private soldiers or civilians, seems to be bogging down because the Mexican populace has lifted itself several notches higher than it used to be in the general cultural scale.

The ancient war cries, lifted as lustily as ever by gold braided and mustachioed military leaders, are not getting the good old-fashioned response. The common man below the Rio Grande is beginning to get wise.

In the old days the ordinary soldier was completely under the control of his commanding officer. If the commanding officer wanted to join a revolution he would make a short speech to his ragged, underfed troops; and they, having no conception of the ordinary ideas of military discipline and loyalty, and suspecting besides that one government would be quite as good as another, would twirl their sombreros and join him.

Now, however, according to dispatches from below the border, things are different. The Mexican army has become somewhat businesslike during the last few years. The men are well clad, well fed and well disciplined. Furthermore, they have learned to read.

It is this last item that is the most important. They read and understand the appeals in newspapers and pamphlets. They can get a glimmering of the importance to Mexico of peace and order. They can see through the grasping, ambitious generals who revolt for their own selfish ends.

Consequently, they remain unmoved; and it is this, more than anything else, that is hampering the present revolt. The common men, in the army and out of it, are simply not greatly interested. Officer after officer, leaping eagerly into insurrection, finds that his men will not leap with him.

Things always begin to happen when a people learns how to read; learns, in other words, that it can think things out for itself, and that there is no limit to the advance it can make if it will only use its brain.

It is for that reason that friends of Mexico can be immensely encouraged by the news from that unfortunate country.

If the ordinary Mexican, downtrodden, imposed upon and deceived for countless years, is at last beginning to see through the shams and pretenses of his would-be leaders, and is discovering that he can do more for himself by clinging to peace and order than by following the will o' the wisp of intermittent revolution, then the beginning of the end of Mexico's long period of disorder is in sight.

The power of the printed word is immeasurable. Once a people takes that power into its own hands it is well started on the path to real advancement. If that is what is happening in Mexico—and it seems to be—the day of the comic opera Mexican revolution is about ended.

The Narrow Traveler

YOU OFTEN HEAR that the constant increase in foreign travel will help make people "better acquainted" with other nations and will advance the cause of permanent world peace. But Prof. Bernard Fay, writing in the spring number of the Yale Review, disagrees with this viewpoint. Casual tourists, he says, can never help bring about international understanding.

"They take around the world an uncompromising nationalist spirit, and they bring back, carefully packed and ready for wear, distrust or contempt," he writes. "In so far as it creates easy contacts between peoples not yet prepared to know or enjoy one another, the new transportation system is a very dangerous device; for misunderstanding of a foreign country in a person who has 'been there' is liable to be more acrimonious and inveterate than in the stay-at-home."

If a tourist, visiting a new land, would resolve to make himself temporarily a part of that land, adopting its customs and ways, all might be well. But none of us does it that way. Consequently, we fail to understand the things that are strange.

Muscle Shoals an Old Issue

IF YOU THINK that the question of what to do with the vast water power resources at Muscle Shoals is a problem confined to post-war years, you're sadly mistaken. It was one of the earliest problems raised in our national life.

Records of the American Philosophical society, in Philadelphia, show that the question arose as far back as 1802. In that year the society's minutes show the following entry:

"Donations: a plan for Mussel Shoals, Tennessee. Mr. Vaughn appointed to obtain from Sam Brown of Lexington some further account of it for publication."

Unfortunately, the record ends there, so there is no way of telling whether the early philosophers favored government operation or outright sale to the Henry Ford of that period.

CRIMINALS AND CONCEALED WEAPONS

It is almost unbelievable that many otherwise rational people cherish the delusion that by making it a crime to carry a concealed weapon criminals who almost daily commit far more serious offenses will be immediately reformed. As long as our legal system is burdened with technicalities and red tape, and the handling of the criminal is guided by inexperienced reformers, we must bow to the inevitable and accept our place as the most lawless civilized nation in the world.

LIFE ON A RAILROAD EXCURSION

It has been some time since we had been on a train, so we made for the smoker immediately. Cigars were purchased and just as we were rolling into Estelline on our way to Childress, ham sandwiches were bought. The buns were as cold as an ice plant and the ham was like the pork in pork and beans.

After eating the bun and feeling worse, we arrived in Childress. Most of the people there were either at a dance or had gone home. Two men met the train and they had to. Well, we went out and got as much fresh air as there was and returned to the smoker and headed for Fort Worth, after the engine had been varnished up a bit.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, March 19—The Literary guild, one of the two organizations in New York which recommend books for those who aren't sure of their own literary judgments, celebrated its second anniversary the other day. It was the occasion for another one of those gatherings of the great and near-great literature.

One familiar thing about these affairs is that the guests can't forget shop talk. When plumbers hold conventions or gatherings in New York hotels they are all for discussing plumbing; the same applies to salesmen, bookbinders, street car conductors, pants manufacturers and soda fountain clerks.

The members of the literati only differ in that their common interest is writing and during the guild party the room was alive with gossip about writers and writing. "Among those present," as the saying goes, were George Jean Nathan, Parker, the lyricist, Thorton Wilder, author of "The Bridge of San Luis Rey" and winner of last year's Pulitzer Prize, Fannie Hurst and Edna Ferber.

Park Row is losing its old significance as the street of New York's great newspapers. One by one they are moving uptown. The Times was one of the first to establish itself at what is now known as Times Square. The Herald-Tribune is in Fortieth street, the Sun is in Broadway, but a short distance from the Row. The only newspaper actually on Park Row is The World still in the same 16-story building that once was the pride of New York because it was its largest "skyscraper." The World building now is overawed by other giant structures in the vicinity.

But the hiatus of newspapers from the Row continues. The News will desert downtown and erect a $6,000,000 building of 42 stories in Forty-second street near Second avenue; The Mirror has taken over a building on East Forty-fifth street, and the Telegram may also move to that section. All of this northward movement is because New York's business life and activity is moving gradually but surely uptown.

Harlem has established its first art theater. The organization is called the Harlem Little Art Theater Guild and it will open the Harlew Little Theater in Lenox avenue, one of the main thoroughfares of the so-called black belt.

As a matter of fact, this little theater movement is extended to many communities in New York. The chief impetus given the movement has been in smaller cities of the country. Westchester county, the surburban home of many wealthy New Yorkers, depends chiefly upon its little theaters for entertainment.

The Harlem movement, of course, will be concerned chiefly with the best class of plays depicting negro life.

When a man spends 20 years meeting many strangers each day it is quite certain that he is entitled to pass at least modest judgment upon human beings and their conduct.

Seaman's Fight for Freedom Delayed

HOUSTON, March 19. (AP)—Hearing on the application for a writ of habeas corpus for John E. Fikes, seaman, charged with murder, was postponed today until tomorrow.

Fikes' attorneys question the jurisdiction of the federal district court here. They contend that the offense if any, was committed in the territorial waters of France and outside the jurisdiction of United States courts.

Fikes is charged with the slaying of John D. Leonard of Galveston, chief steward of the U. S. steamship Endicott, while the ship was docked at Le Havre, France.

A single star cluster, Messier 13, in the constellation of Hercules, is believed to contain at least 50,000 stars brighter than our sun.

In his 20 years, he estimates, he has met at least 2,000,000. And his observation is that the great majority of people are honest, sincere and fine. Of this division there are quite a few, he thinks, that enjoy their egotisms, like to strut in hotel lobbies, a smaller percentage that professes to be in town on mysterious errands.

The important guests Mr. Wilson has met have been, usually, quiet and reserved and those who make the most noise and show about the hotel usually are of the least importance.

The pests, he finds, are those who are not guests but insist upon taking advantage of the public comforts of the hotel. They are paged, make much ado and indulge in loud and large talk in comfortable lounging corners and contribute nothing to the hotel. Attempting to get rid of them is too delicate a problem. There is always the fear of suspecting a guest of being an intruder.

I read a dispatch in an out-of-town newspaper the other day which mentioned that chorus girls are taking up roller skating on Broadway. That is about as true as the statement that fishermen are catching pickles off Maine or that coyotes are wearing monocles in Central park.

Walking on Broadway is difficult enough without trying to roller skate. Besides, what few chorus girls I find on Broadway are strolling along very slowly, thinking—trying to think where to get a job.

MABEL URGED TO RUN PRISON

Prisoners' Relief Asks Appointment of Woman

WASHINGTON, March 19. (INS)—Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt as warden of the Atlanta penitentiary—that's the recommendation made to Attorney General Mitchell today by E. E. Dudding, head of the prisoners' relief society.

The wardenship is to become vacant on April 1 when John W. Snook retires. His resignation was due to the Willebrandt system of planting undercover agents in the prison as inmates to render confidential reports to Washington. Mrs. Willebrandt is assistant attorney general.

"I feel sure she will make the sacrifice to go down there and run that place like it should be run," said Dudding in a letter to Mitchell. "I think she has the strength of character and honesty to withstand the temptations that beset the prison warden. She will, of course, learn many things she does not now know and it will benefit her."

Snook's written resignation reached the department of justice today. It was accepted.

Surgeon Waging War on Bubonic Plague Stricken

LONDON, March 19. (UP)—A tale of sacrifice was reported today in a dispatch from South Africa to the London Daily Express, stating Dr. Havtfleish, who has been fighting the bubonic plague in the Colesbrook area, was among the new victims of the epidemic.

Hauptfleish, a district surgeon, was believed to have pricked himself with an infected instrument.

Tracks to Hedley Compress Started

Special to The Record News

HEDLEY, Texas, March 19.—Work on a spur track from the main line of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad to an eight-acre tract of land recently purchased by the Memphis Compress company, on which will be built a modern cotton compress, has been started, according to A. Vinyard, local Fort Worth and Denver agent.

Actual construction work on the compress is expected to get under way soon, Vinyard said. The plant is to be located on land purchased from D. M. Grimsley, west of the Fort Worth and Denver depot.

During the past few years Hedley has gained the place as one of the most important cotton shipping points in Donley county. Exactly 12,746 bales were shipped from here during the past season, exceeding all previous records.

The agricultural development in the Hedley community has been responsible for the substantial growth of the town during 1929, according to Vinyard. Twelve business buildings and 30 residences were erected in Hedley during the 12-month period.

Navy Has Genuine 'Flying Secretary'

WASHINGTON, March 19. (INS)—The navy has a real "flying secretary" in charge of aeronautics in the person of 30-year-old David S. Ingalls.

He is an air enthusiast, and believes in practicing what he preaches.

Since his appointment to the "little cabinet," almost daily he has slipped across the river to the Anacostia naval flying field to take one of the navy's fast Vought "Corsairs" up for a ride.

Ingalls plans to get well acquainted with his new job in the next eight weeks, he said, and then he will take an air trip covering all the navy's flying fields in the country.

The new naval air chief has a fast plane of his own in Cleveland. He plans to sell it, however, now that his time is taken up with aeronautics in Washington.

The two, making an aerial tour of army schools over the country, arrived at Fort Sill late yesterday.

SLAIN GIRL'S LOVER IS HELD

Youth Has Nothing to Fear, He Declares

ALLENTOWN, Pa., March 19. (INS)—"I have nothing to fear" was the repeated declaration of Frank Mastris, alias Masters, Easton youth as state police grilled him today regarding the mysterious death of pretty Verna Octavia Delp, alleged "hex" murder victim.

"I knew the girl about six months," he said. The girl's adopted parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Derhammer of Green Pond had named Masters as the girl's lover but said he had been missing for four months. They refused to reveal the contents of love letters passed between the girl and youth.

When Masters surrendered at the suggestion of his sister he said he had been working as a truck driver at Phillipsburg just across the river from Easton for the past few months.

District Attorney Ethan Allen Gearhart today still stuck to his assertion that the girl was a "hex murder victim." Either she was killed by a practitioner of the art or "hex" played a prominent part in the crime, he insists.

The girl had known for a long time that she was soon to become a mother, Gearhart said. "She couldn't tell her family; she couldn't tell her pastor so she sought solace from the powwows and hex doctors." He believes the poison found in the girl's stomach was given to her by a "hexer" to prevent motherhood.

A powwow practitioner whose name police refuse to divulge is being sought for questioning. Charles T. Belles, who claims to be a "faith doctor" but who is commonly termed a powwow already has been questioned and released.

The French Artichoke

The French artichoke, which is the immature blossom bud of a plant of the thistle family, is an entirely different species from the Chinese or Jerusalem ground artichoke. The size of this edible bud varies from two or three inches in diameter in the ordinary market forms to two or three feet in diameter in some special varieties.

The edible part of this vegetable consists of the fleshy portion at the base of the bud scales and the blossom base. The green scales of the bud are sometimes tinged with blue, violet or brown. In some species of the French artichoke the young stalks are also eaten after being blanched. In Europe these are termed "chard," a vegetable similar to the French "Cardoon," but entirely different from the "Swiss chard."

In North America the artichoke is generally prepared by steaming or boiling, but in some parts of Europe the artichoke is considered appetizing when eaten after being dipped in salt.

Even though it is impossible to obtain the fresh artichoke in some of the colder climates, canned artichokes may be obtained the year around in all well stocked grocery stores. Canned artichokes are quite wholesome. The smaller artichokes are selected for canning after all of their inedible parts have been discarded. Italy has created quite a large industry for canning and drying artichokes. Either dried, canned or fresh, this vegetable is quite wholesome.

The etiquette of eating the whole artichoke is more confusing to the novice even that eating corn on the cob or asparagus. The proper method is to hold the upper portion of the artichoke with a gentle pressure of the left hand and with the thumb and first two fingers of the right hand pluck off an outer leaf with a deft twist of the wrist. The thick part of the leaf may then be dipped in butter and slowly drawn through the teeth, leaving the edible part in the mouth. The remaining hard part of the leaf scale may then be placed on the side of the dish. After the outer leaves have been removed, the meaty base of the bud may be broken and eaten with a fork.

The edible portion of this vegetable contains a small amount of starch but not enough to definitely put it into the class of starchy vegetables. Mayonnaise and salad dressings containing acid should not be served with artichokes.

The French artichoke, which is alkaline forming, contains small amounts of all mineral elements, and especially of iron and silicon. Following are some methods of preparing this succulent vegetable:

Steamed Artichoke

In a cooking vessel with a close-fitting cover, place the artichoke stem down in about two inches of water. Boil without salting until a fork will easily penetrate the base of the artichoke. Remove from the fire, drain and place the artichoke upside down to drain before serving. Serve with butter, not mayonnaise.

Artichoke Salad

Use cold steamed or canned artichokes. Remove the hard outer leaves and chop the edible part. Mix with equal amounts of grated carrots, finely shredded leaves and tomato pulp which has been extracted from the shell of a tomato. Add a small amount of olive oil and fill tomato shells with this mixture.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Chilblains

Question: Mrs. J. W. Writes: "Last winter I froze my feet and since have been suffering agony with the burning, itching and pain, especially if my feet become a little too warm. Will you please suggest a remedy? What doctors have so far given me has been of no benefit."

Answer: The remedy I would advise for chilblains is to treat your feet each day by immersing them in hot and cold water alternately. Use water as hot as can be borne, keeping the feet in it only a minute, then changing suddenly to ice water for only a minute. After a few minutes of this treatment give your feet a good massage, using some kind of oil, and rubbing upward toward the knee so as to improve circulation. Every time you put on your shoes, powder your feet with boric acid powder or talcum.

Grind Food If Necessary

Question: Mrs. H. C. B. writes: "Mr. B. has received your instructions, and began at once on the orange juice. However, he has recently had his teeth extracted, and I'm afraid he will have trouble eating some of the things in the diet, especially the raw salad vegetables. Also, should he continue with the daily enema?

Answer: If Mr. B. has had all of his teeth pulled it will perhaps be best for him to grind his food, and the melba toast may be softened with a little warm water. He should adhere strictly to the diet as outlined for some time, and also take the enemas until he is sure that his bowels will move normally.

Therapeutic Lamps

Question: Mrs. O. L. writes: "I would like to know if you could give me the name of a high-candle-power therapeutic light. There are so many I do not know whether I would be getting the proper kind. Please name one I could use, myself, at once."

Answer: Any of the deep therapy lamps may be used and I would advise you to consult a surgical supply company as to your specific requirements.

Germany will limit the number of foreign motion pictures shown in that country.

Two Black Crows

MORAN AND MACK

MORAN: Whattsa mattah, Big Boy?

MACK: I'm feelin' lonely ever since I left that jail-house.

MORAN: Yo' shouldn't feel lonely with me aroun'.

MACK: Why not?

MORAN: Aint I with yo'?

MACK: That's th' reason I'm lonely.

MORAN: Is that an insult?

MACK: It aint no compliment.

MORAN: Aint I good company?

MACK: Only fo' a fight.

MORAN: Don't get nasty. I'll do th' same thing to yo' that Sharkey did to Stribling.

MACK: He aint done nothin' yet.

MORAN: Did yo' see them fight?

MACK: No. An' nobody else did either.

Big Boy doesn't seem to think much of the Sharkey-Stribling quarrel. The Two Black Crows haven't eaten since they left jail. The last place Big Boy slept was in a lower berth on a park bench.

HOMERS BY WHITE AND CLEMENTS HELP BEAT TULSA 5 TO 2

LES, GALERIA ARE EFFECTIVE

Dallas' Clout Drives Runner Over Plate Ahead

Special to The Record News.

ABILENE, Texas, March 19.—Home runs by White and Clements and a two-base hit by Bennett drove in all the Wichita Falls runs this afternoon as the Spudders tagged a 5 to 2 defeat on the Tulsa Oilers in the first of a two-game exhibition series.

The daily Tulsa injury propped up in the middle of the fifth chapter in the form of a charlie horse in Pitcher Bill Libke's leg.

Joe O'Dowd, a rookie righthander, marched out cold to do the rescue act, but was greeted ungraciously by the Wichita Falls bat swingers. White, starting box nominee for the Spuds, slammed the first ball pitched over the rignt field wall to start the scoring for both sides.

Spuds Score More

Clements followed in the sixth with another excursion rap over the right field barrier chasing Bennet home ahead, and when Munson lost Bennett's seventh-inning fly to let it go for a couple of bases, Garms and Allday galloped across the rubber to end the scoring for the Galloway contingent.

The Sooner athletes collected three extra-base knocks and four other safeties, but five of their bingies came in as many innings. Only in the seventh when Farro's lick over the short field was followed by O'Dowd's long triple down the left field foul line did the Tulsans get more than one knock.

Chick Galeria, bespectacled fork feeder who was ace of the Abilene Aces last summer took charge of White's nicely pitched game in the sixth and did almost as good a job the rest of the route.

Oilers Threaten

He came near to muffing the assignment in the seventh, however, by his inability to locate the plate. After Burns, first Tulsa batter, had grounded out, Farro singled over short stop and Storti flied to center. O'Dowd hooked a slashing triple down the left field line scoring Farro, and the Wichita Falls lead began to totter as Rice and Tierney drew walks but Peters passed up the chance to be a hero by hitting the air with a 3 to 2 count.

Storti's field performance for Tulsa featured. The sub shortstop handled eight chances getting one unassisted double play and starting another.

Landis Mum On Griffith Attack

Balldom Boss Talks About Golf and Influenza

DALLAS, Texas, March 19. (UP))—Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, who recently ruffled the serenity of the baseball world over which he is master, and the ire of several managers with his free agent decision, had nothing to say here about his action.

He was suffering from a slight attack of influenza and would under no circumstances comment on the opinion of Clarke Griffith, president of the Senators, who was considerably wrought up by Landis' rap.

Asked to comment on Griffth's statement that "this was another of those grandstand Standard Oil decisions," he replied:

"I have nothing to say," and added, the matter is clearly explained in the ruling."

Landis seemed more perturbed that his indisposition prevented his round of golf than that the major league chiefs might call him all manner of names.

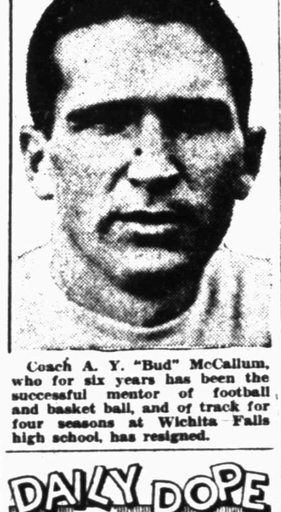

Gus Sonnenberg Victor In Two Straight Falls

WASHINGTON, March 19. (UP)—Dynamite Gus Sonnenberg, world heavyweight wrestling champion, tonight defeated Pat McCarthy, English titleholder, in straight falls. The former Dartmouth football star won the first fall in 16 minutes and 15 seconds and the second in 3 minutes and 10 seconds.

Dundee Signs to Defend Title June 24 at Boston

Resigns

Coach A. Y. "Bud" McCallum, who for six years has been the successful mentor of football and basket ball, and of track for four seasons at Wichita Falls high school, has resigned.

THE TWO famous J's of the Texas league, Alvin Gardner and Doak Roberts, are convalescing from illnesses and fans in this circuit and in all baseball, in fact, are rejoicing. We are particularly concerned in the Texas loop, of course, and the word that each will be ready soon to again assume his respective duties is cheering news indeed.

Roberts, as president of the league and Gardner, as head of the Wichita Falls club, are foremost actors in affairs of the circuit. It is to the wise leadership of J. Doak, aided by Bill Ruggles, the greatest of all statisticians, and the sportsmanlike and efficient club owners that the Texas league occupies the position it holds and has held for many years—that of being one of the most successful of all minor loops.

In the councils of the league, the judgment of J. Alvin always has been highly respected and valuable. Indeed, he is one of three club owners named to administer affairs of the league during the illness of Roberts. He has built winning ball clubs for Wichita Falls and has given this city, one of the smallest in the circuit, an enviable position in the baseball world.

It is the players in whom fandom is particularly interested at this time of year. But fandom realizes the importance to baseball of the magnates—particularly such men as Roberts and Gardner, and it is reiterated that their speeding recovery from illness ranks as among the most important bits of baseball news.

KENESAW MOUNTAIN LANDIS, high poo-bah of baldom, is another mogul in whom enthusiasts of the game are greatly interested, though not with any especial love and veneration. Not that fandom particularly dislikes the picturesque former jurist. But Landis, while not the type to aspire intense devotion, is very much in the public eye. That is due partly to the eminence of his position, of course.

Landis, back in the days when he was a judge, was the type to gain publicity. He was, as the boys who write pieces for the papers say, good newspaper copy. And he still is good copy aside from his baseball duties. The big white hat, the cravat awry, the lowering brow of Landis is sufficient to attract notice wherever he goes. And the attracting of attention and publicity is something that Landis never has particularly shunned.

The high commissioner of baseball has been an intense factor for the good of the game. There is no denying that. Indeed, he may have been the real saviour of the pastime when it was reeling from the blow sustained to its integrity by the crookedness of the infamous black sox. Landis has administered his affairs in office without fear and favor. His recent fining of numerous major league and minor league clubs for cover up deals and the subsequent declaring of several players free agents shows that when he wields his big stick he has no concern where it lands.

But he still persists in talking too much about golf. Now golf is a great game. But Landis is first a baseball man. Golf is competition to baseball. Landis furthers the interest of the links sport and doesn't help baseball by his often-expressed devotion to golf.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK, March 19. (UP)—Boxing has staged a successful financial comeback since the Gene Tunney-Tom Heeney fiasco at Yankee stadium last July netted a loss of $150,000.

Innuendoes that the cauliflower industry is on the downgrade have been wiped out by Madison Square garden's report that the last 20 boxing shows held in the garden have grossed the amazing total of $1,025,891.00 at popular prices.

The biggest melon of the winter season promises to be sliced Friday night when Jimmy McLarnin, Irish boy from the far coast, battles Ray Miller, blond Chicago lightweight, in a scheduled 10-round return bout.

Fight to Draw $90,000

The demand for tickets has been so great that reservations are available only through the mails to prevent the choice seats from falling into the hands of speculators. The seats are priced from $3 to $10 and a capacity crowd of 21,000 promises to pay about $90,000 for the privilege of seeing McLarnin and Miller slug it out.

When they met recently at Detroit Miller won on a technical knockout, McLarnin failing to answer the bell for the eighth round because of a dangerous cut under his eye.

Evidence also comes from other fight centers that the game is far from on the wane. Jim Mullen's last four shows at Chicago have been sellouts, the most recent being the Von Porat-Heeney affair.

Boston, Detroit Gain

The recent Jim Maloney-Tom Heeney bout at Boston attracted a capacity crowd of 20,000. From Detroit comes word that boxing is enjoying unprecedented popularity in that area, largely because of the wise matchmaking of Dick Dunn and Scotty Montieth.

Floridians and winter vacationists paid almost half a million to see the Jack Sharkey-Young Stribling match at Miami Beach last month.

Popular prices, real fights and Tom McArdle, garden matchmaker, are the principal reasons for the astounding success of boxing matches in the garden during the past five months. McArdle, a nervous little Irishman who formerly was a piano-finisher, believes as long as the prices are right and the matches produce action that boxing will continue to pack 'em in.

Dempsey Will Promote Lightie Titular Fight

NEW YORK, March 19. (US)—Jack Dempsey announced tonight that he will promote on his own hook the next match for the lightweight championship of the world.

The contestants will be Sammy Mandell of Chicago and Ray Miller of Detroit. The bout will take place June 6 either in Detroit or New York.

The Czar

Judge K. M. Landis, the supreme dictator of baseball, took some money out of the pockets of those who pay his salary when he fined several clubs and declared numerous players free agents for alleged covering up of deals.

Maxie Rosenbloom Wins Decision From Lomski

PHILADELPHIA, March 19. (AP)—Maxie Rosenbloom, New York, 168, won the decision over Leo Lomski, Aberdeen, Wash., in a 10-round fight at the arena tonight.

Preceding this bout, Pinkie Kauffman, Hartford, Conn., 141, pounded his way to a technical knockout over King Tut, Minneapolis, 138, in the second round.

LONDON, March 19. (UP)—Harry Corbett, featherweight champion of Great Britain, and Johnny Cuthbert, former titleholder, fought a 15-round draw at the National Sporting club here today.

SOONERS PLAY 2 GAMES HERE

O. C. Meets Spuders Saturday and Sunday

Two games instead of three will be played this week-end between the Spudders and Oklahoma City Indians at Athletic park. Lack of a sufficient number of pitchers caused Lefty Liefield, Oklahoma City manager, to ask cancellation of Friday's scheduled game, which was granted, and the Tribe of the Western league will play here only next Saturday and Sunday.

Elks Take Lead In Pin League

Clubmen Score 2,828 With Jehle High Roller

Texas Electric defeated the Odds and Ends in two out of three games and Elks club beat Hub Clothiers, also two out of three, last night in the city bowling tournament on the Spudder alleys. Elks scored 2828 for high team total. George Jehle of Elks was high individual for three games with 640 and for a single game with 243.

Lawrence and Shamburg rolled 1204 to 1066 by McClure and Foster in doubles. McFeely and Campbell and Haugh and Albitz each scored 1057.

Elks lead team play with its 2828, with Spudders No. 1 second with 2807. Montgomery is third with 2788 and Conoco No. 4 with 2765.

Exide

The long-life battery

There are two things which make the Exide such a popular battery. In the first place it is reasonably priced—so reasonably, that every car owner can afford one.

Secondly, it is so absolutely dependable that you soon regard your starting and lighting power as a sort of permanent supply.

Made by The Electric Storage Battery Company, a company with 41 years experience in building batteries for every purpose, it is only natural that an Exide should give long and reliable service.

You certainly owe yourself the security and satisfaction of an Exide. Drive in when the time comes to replace your present battery and let us quote you a price on the proper sized Exide for your car.

In 1911 when the first electrical starting and lighting equipment was installed on a motor car, the battery selected was an Exide. The dependable qualities that made it the pioneer battery still make it the choice of millions of car owners.

This blue and white sign means Exide service. Drive in or phone us when you need the batteryman. Service on all makes.

GIANTS WILL WIN PENNANT IF TAXICAB DOESN'T HIT M'GRAW

POLO GROUNDS NINE IMPROVED

Karl Hubbell Expected To Be of Great Service

(This is the last of a series of articles on the coming National league pennant race.)

By GEORGE E. PHAIR

SAN ANTONIO, March 19—Unless John Joseph McGraw is attacked by another Chicago taxicab this year, he will win another National league pennant.

In case you have forgotten, the master mind of the Giants was wounded by a rampant cab outside of Bill Wrigley's ball park last year. The accident put him out of commission for six weeks, during which his club, shorn of its driving power, lost so much ground that it pulled up in second place. That same team, strengthened in three places, will be on the job again and is this scribe's choice for first place, barring taxicab barrages.

The Giant outfield is better than it was at this time a year ago, due largely to the addition of Fred Leach. Left field was a weak spot last season, with Frank O'Doul batting only against righthanders and fielding loosely. Frank is not a brilliant fielder, and his easy-going disposition did not find favor in the eyes of McGraw.

Leach Valuable Man

Leach is a consistent .300 hitter against all kinds of pitching, covers a lot of territory as a fielder, and is endowed with a good throwing arm. He is a serious young man, with a chin like Rogers Hornsby, except that he does not use it so often in the act of speech.

Melvin Ott, the 20-year-old veteran, is covering right field and doing a good job. His legs are not so cumbersome as they were last year, and his speed has increased accordingly. Jim Welsh in center field is hitting better than ever, and will cover that job regularly.

Long rest has mended Ed Roush's torn abdominal muscles, and the wound has not caused him any trouble thus far. At his best, Ed is one of the greatest outfielders in the game. Then there are Art Veltman and Chuck Fullis, young right-hand hitters of much promise.

The infield will open the 1929 campaign in better shape. Andy Reese, at second base, has improved so far that he has beaten Andy Cohen in the race for the job. The Reese boy is faster than the Cohen boy, and hits harder.

Great Infield

Bill Terry, of course, will cover first base, and will have Pat Crawford and Buck Jordan, who are just about ripe for big league baseball, as understudies. Travis Jackson at short and Lindstrom at third need no comment. They are the league's best performers in their respective positions.

Taken as a whole, the Giant infield is the strongest in the National league.

Behind the bat the Giants have five capable athletes, led by none other than J. Francis Hogan, who is 15 pounds lighter than he was last year, and that much faster. With a year of coaching in the McGraw methods, he has developed into a great catcher.

Bob O'Farrell, while not a tremendous hitter, is a slick catcher and a valuable man to have around. Jack Cummings, the heaviest hitting backstop in the league, has worked off 20 surplus pounds and is just about down to weight. Ray Schalk is still able to take a turn behind the bat, and Joe Witry is a promising kid.

The Giant pitching staff is able to take care of itself. Larry Benton and Fred Fitzsimmons won 45 games between them last year and there is no reason to suspect that they will fall down this season. Joe Genewich, afflicted with stomach trouble in 1928, is restored to health. Karl Hubbell, purchased in mid-season from Beaumont, turned out to be one of the best young southpaws in the league. The Giants will have the benefit of his services all this season.

Dutch Henry and Bill Walker, invalids of 1928, are back on the job stronger than ever. Carl Mays has recovered from the sore arm that caused his departure from Cincinnati. It would not surprise anyone here to see him stage a comeback. Jack Scott's old arm is hitting on all cylinders and Curley Ogden, once with Washington, handles himself like a big league pitcher.

It's a cinch that the Giants will enter the race in great physical condition. They are almost ready to start right now. The only danger is that they may go stale during the hot days of August.

They Please McGraw

These three ball players are drawing favorable comment from John McGraw. Reese, a 1928 rookie, may become a regular at second base. Leach obtained by trade from the Phillies and Kaufman, a converted pitcher purchased from Rochester, probably will land outfield berths.

OLD FAVORITES, NEWCOMER BOX

Ross Offers Two 10-Round Bouts Here Tonight

Alex Ross offers another boxing program tonight at the Palace theater for the edification of his patrons. On paper, the professor's show looks like a good one.

It will be featured by two 10-round mills with three boys well and favorably known here and a newcomer to Wichita Falls ring wars as the principals. Speedy Sparks of Lawton, Okla., and Cyclone Hall of Childress will step in the final bout, a return go.

Sparks won his first meeting here several weeks ago and the Cyclone is out to reverse that result tonight.

In the second feature, Howard Scott, the highly promising young featherweight from Electra takes on Joe Hooks of Tulsa. Hooks is said by Ross to have beaten some highly capable boys in recent months and to be a fit adversary for the clever Scott.

Rudy Hodge of Houston and Tommy Scott of Electra will step in a six-round bout, which should have lots of glove-throwing in it. They are junior welterweights.

Fred Holcombe and Charlie Russell, light heavyweights meet in a four-rounder with Martin Craig and Art Skeen, welters, also carded for four rounds in the opener, which starts at 8:15 o'clock.

The SPORTLIGHT

By GRANTLAND RICE

(Copyright, 1929, New York Tribune Inc.; Trademark Registered, U. S. Patent Office)

Controlled or Checked

Any attempt to keep amateur sport under control in this highly commercial age is almost hopeless. The best that can be hoped for is to keep the situation in check—to a degree at least.

There are so many ways now to make publicity pay, indirectly if not directly, that it is almost impossible to spot the dividing line.

There are so many subterfuges that can't be unearthed and proved that it is impossible to take amateurism back to other years where publicity was slighter and the rewards were so much less.

For example, there are reports and rumors around that certain golfing centers are returning all expenses of certain stars, after sair stars have apparently paid their way. There are other stars in both golf and tennis who have been given certain positions where their skill in these games makes them at least fairly valuable additions to firm's personnel. But no one can prove this, and if one could, it would be no different than the way other stars profit indirectly through their fame.

One weakness in attempting to enforce any ironclad law is that in many cases a star amateur can hardly help from profiting commercially from his skill, even though he makes no attempt in this direction. The name of a winner now goes all over the country and, as advertising still pays the name of a winner is bound to mean something along financial lines. The best that can be done is to keep as much check as possible upon any direct violation. It isn't that outright professionalism is wrong in any way, but that amateur faking is.

Spring Football Practice

Many coaches still hold to the idea that spring football practice is largely unimportant.

This depends largely on the coaches—and their chance of getting any material to work with.

Pop Warner and Knute Rockne have proved their spring football practice is one of the leading features in the development of their fall teams.

It is almost impossible for any coach to get by with the limited time given him after college opens. This is often but little more than an hour for each afternoon. And at certain universities such as Cornell most of this working time is after dark.

No coach can teach a man to kick or pass or handle passes in a few weeks. Spring practice is a big help along this line, a necessary feature.

The spring is the best time to work on fundamentals and to have the material ready for various formations later on.

Team play in modern football is far more complicated than it used to be. And it calls for expert material, with all the phases of the passing—forward and lateral—game to be called on.

Those who figure that spring practice is somewhat overdoing or overemphasizing the game might remember that spring football practice is one sport that calls for no road trips, no outside competition, no publicity, no gate receipts. It comes close to being the last and final word in amateur play.

The day isn't far ahead when certain fight managers and promoters will be labeling this entry or that entry as "the next heavyweight champion." They might consider at the outset that no such claim will stand unless the heavyweight has come even close to championship caliber.

The claim was recently made for Jack Sharkey—who is about as deserving as any of the rest.

But consider Sharkey's last four more important fights—a draw with Tom Heeney, a defeat by Risko, a bare shade over Christner, a slight margin over Stribling. If that record moves a fighter up into the championship division the division might as well be abolished.

And yet Sharkey's record is better than most of the others, and he probably would be the hardest man in the division to whip, outside of George Godfrey, who is no world-beater, either.

Schmeling has had a more impressive record, but he hasn't met a sufficient number of high-class opponents to draw any top rating.

Some champion deserving the name, may pop out of the class, but he will have to show a big improvement over the various smears that have taken place in the last year.

PACKARD

New, Low Prices for Standard Eights

THE Packard Standard Eight lists today at $2275 to $2675 at the factory—prices comparable to those of its famous forerunner, the Packard Six.

When Packard decided to concentrate its vast resources entirely on Straight Eights, it was with the desire ultimately to provide the advantages of Eight-in-Line design at no increase in prices. The tremendous sales success of the Standard Eight, since its introduction last September, made possible the reduction of $160 March 4th.

The Packard Standard Eight today embodies all of the features which mark Packard leadership. The famous Straight Eight motor, with its nine bearing crankshaft, is unchanged in design. Instant Chassis Lubrication protects precision and assures long car life. The unique and exclusive Shock Absorbing System adds new ease to riding and new safety to driving—for it includes a device which positively eliminates front wheel "shimmy".

Packard has but one standard of quality—the highest—and the Standard Eight is a Packard in every sense of the word.

When may we put a car at your disposal for a demonstration?

If you prefer to buy out of income, you will find the Packard Payment Plan most attractive. Many take possession of their new cars without any cash outlay—because the used car allowance equals or exceeds the down payment on the new car.

BORGER, Texas, March 19.—Magnolia No. 1 state in section 22-5-5, Cimarron county, Oklahoma Panhandle, is drilling at 1,700 feet. The test is located about a quarter mile south of Ramsey A-1, in section 25, the discovery well in Cimarron county.

Considerable trouble has been occasioned because of water, there having been several shutdowns for lack of sufficient water. A second well for supplying water is to be dug.

The test is about half way between the Ramsey well, which came in about two years ago and the C-1, three miles west of A-1.

Log of the Magnolia continues to run a little higher than the discovery well's log. There was a showing of oil at approximately 4,500 feet in the first test. The oil had a high gravity oil with a paraffine base. C-1 had a showing of oil also, the base, however, being asphaltic and with a low gravity as compared to A-1.

LIMIT TO GO ON TARIFF HIKE

Action Will Be Confined To Farm Relief

WASHINGTON, March 19. (INS)—Anxious to limit tariff reform in the new congress to relief for agriculture and needy industries, administration leaders today planned a "speed-up" campaign for the 1929 tariff bill.

The tentative program eliminates all public hearings on the bill in the senate as a step toward limiting the number of changes and toward shortening the time necessary to enact the bill. Administration leaders fear an all-summer session if the tariff reforms are unlimited and therefore plan to approve only such industrial changes necessary to protect American manufacturers against foreign competition.

The Republicans will control the new congress in both houses and senate so far as tariff schedules are concerned. They have a commanding majority in the house while in the senate their "paper" majority will be augmented by protective tariff Democrats, a half dozen or more minority senators who vote consistently for the Republicans' tariff schedules. Unless an unexpected revolt should develop in the Republican ranks, the administration bill will be enacted without much trouble.

The Democratic attitude was explained by Senator Swanson, Democrat of Virginia.

"I don't think there will be much fight over the tariff this year," said Swanson. "The Republicans are only amending their own tariff law.

"It isn't like the situation in 1921 when the Republicans revised the whole tariff law, which had been enacted by a Democratic congress. Or like in previous cases where the Democrats re-wrote a Republican law. I expect the bill will be enacted without much debate."

Federal Reserve System Defended by Anderson

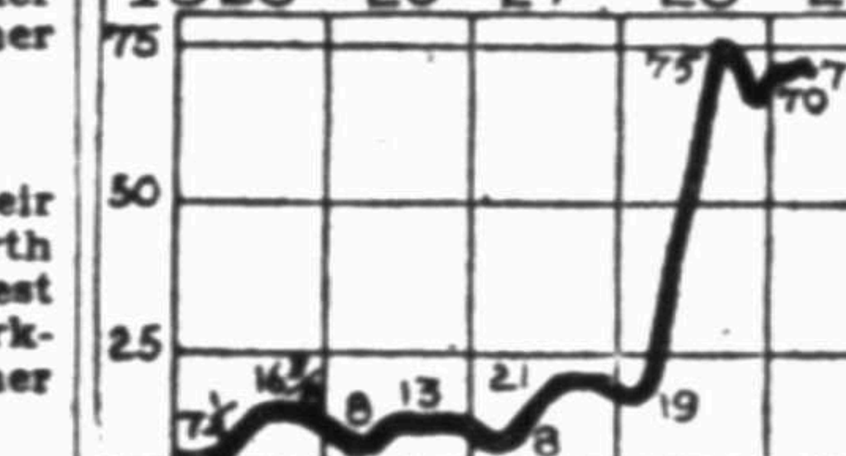

NEW YORK, March 19. (AP)—Dr. Benjamin M. Anderson Jr., economist of the Chase National bank of New York, in an address tonight before the Economic club of New York, declared that the federal reserve system still has the power to control the credit situation, in spite of increasing loans to brokers by others than banks. He also stated that it is the right and duty of the federal reserve to concern itself about the banking position of the country when it is adversely affected by speculation or anything else.

State Kept From Taking Confiscated Funds

BATON ROUGE, La., March 19. (AP)—A preliminary injunction preventing the transfer to the state treasury of funds confiscated by the state militia in gambling raids, was issued here today by Judge George K. Favrot, of district court. The case was brought up by W. C. Thomas, proprietor of a night club, to prevent the removal of $9,200 from the Whitney Central bank of New Orleans until the courts had passed on the legality of the raids.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 19. (AP)—Early advances on relatively firm Liverpool cables were followed by rather nervous and irregular fluctuations in cotton today. After selling up to 20.97, May broke to 20.77 under renewed realizing or liquidation, but recovered part of the loss, closing at 20.82. The general market closed steady, net 9 points higher to 1 point lower. Near months were relatively firm.

The opening was steady at an advance of 4 to 12 points on the firm showing of Liverpool. There may also have been some buying on expectations of bullish features in the weekly report of the weather bureau tomorrow. The opening advance met sufficient cotton to cause some irregularity, but the market soon steadied. March advanced to 21.01 and the new October contract to 20.31 during the middle of the day on covering and buying, which was supposed to come from the trade and local or Wall street sources.

The advance was attributed partly to a feeling that comparatively full ginning figures from the census bureau tomorrow probably had been discounted.

The advance met renewed liquidation in the later trading and for a time offerings were heavy. March declined to 20.85, or within 3 points of yesterday's closing quotation, while the new October sold off to 20.12. The market then steadied on covering. There also appeared to be some New Orleans and trade buying in the late trading. Closing prices showed rallies of 4 or 5 points from the lowest on old crop positions, but the new crop closed at about the lowest, and within a point either way of yesterday's final quotations.

A private report, published during the morning, estimated ginnings for the season at 14,350,000 bales. Another authority was quoted to the effect that final ginnings were not expected to show a crop materially out of line with the official December estimate. Except for talk of possible rain developments in the southwest, weather news was considered generally favorable.

Private cables reported trade calling and covering with renewed speculative buying in Liverpool.

Exports today 25,670, making 6,672,330 this season. Port receipts 26,613. U. S. port stocks, 1,798,966.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 19. (AP)—After being supported for a time by the stronger technical position and the well liquidated condition, the cotton market turned easy in late trading today under some belated liquidation in advance of tomorrow's final ginnings estimate. July contracts, which had traded up to 20.31, sold down to 20.15 and closed at 20.16, net one point up. The general market closed steady 2 points up to 4 down.

The market opened steady at an advance of 4 to 5 points. Initial gains were said to be but a poor response to the firmness of Liverpool cables, but as New York advanced higher than the local market, prices here rallied right after the start to 20.16 for May, 20.22 for July and 20.07 for October, or 6 to 7 points above the previous close.

Prices then eased off 3 to 4 points under some belated liquidation but towards noon shorts endeavoring to cover found contracts scarce and May ultimately advanced to 20.25, July 20.31 and October 20.14, or 14 to 16 points above the previous close.

In final trading the market ruled erratic and some last minute liquidation proved sufficient to wipe out the earlier gain and carry May off to 20.08, July 20.15 and October 19.96, or 16 to 18 points off from the top. Final prices showed little change from yesterday's close.

The disinclination of trades to enter upon new commitments in advance of tomorrow ginnings report served to hold business in check.

Climalene Company Buys Sierra Chemical

The Climalene company, Canton, Ohio, makers of Climalene and Bowlene, acquired the assets of the Sierra Chemical company of Chicago, makers of Rain Water Crystals and Savex, it was announced by officials of the Climalene company.

In acquiring the assets, good-will and trade names, "Rain Water Crystals" and "Savex," the Climalene company also purchased outright, the building in which the Sierra Chemical company was located, in the largest manufacturing section of Chicago. This building will be used as a warehouse, at present, for the Chicago and western territories, because of the excellent shipping facilities available from that point.

Rain Water Crystals and Savex are kindred products of Climalene and Bowlene, in that they are in the general line of cleansers and water softeners sold in package form through grocery channels. By acquiring the Sierra Chemical company, the Climalene company now has a national distribution, due to the fact that on the Pacific coast, Rain Water Crystals and Savex will be sold by the Schalk Chemical company of Los Angeles, as selling agents for the Climalene company. The Schalk Chemical company is a subsidiary of the Sierra Chemical company.

George H. Deuble, vice president and general manager, stated, "The purchase of Rain Water Crystals and Savex and the acquisition of a site so favorably situated in Chicago, is a big step forward and marks the beginning of our contemplated expansion program."

No announcement was made as to the amount of money involved in acquiring Rain Water Crystals and Savex.

Call Money Advance Influences Irregularity in Quiet Market

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, March 19. (US)—Advance in call money to 10 per cent from renewal of eight per cent induced quiet irregularity in the stock market today. A few favored specialties moved ahead while the general list gradually sagged lower because of realization that the bankers can do as they please regarding money rates for the next few days at least.

Radio new dropped 4¾, while the old lost 15 points while other losses were confined to a point or so. Coppers were the outstanding point of strength with Anaconda jumping 4⅝, further, Cerro De Pasco climbing 2 and other showing corresponding gains in expectations of 24 cent copper before long. Cash Register advanced 4 more, Crossley Radio moved up 6¾, Lambert 5½ and International Telephone and Telegraph added 6½ points to its advance. Baldwin gained 7⅞ in the van of a generally strong railway equipment group. Total trading fell off to near the 4,000,000 share level.

General Motors is talked of as the "next leader." Despite the voluminous supply of stock resulting from the splitup there is confidence that the stock can be made to stand out. Those harboring such ideas have been known to act with the "Big Ten" at times so undoubtedly are familiar with the affairs of the corporation. They maintain that the corporation's plans for foreign expansion are not fully realized. Acquisition of control of Germany's leading company, it is claimed, will be followed soon by closing of similar deal with a prominent French company. The corporation's officials also are studying the possibilities in other countries. It is due to knowledge of these plans that the stock has been quietly picked up in recent sessions and in some quarters it is maintained that the Managers Securities company has been among the buyers.

Underwood-Elliott Fisher's recent strength has not been due to merger plans but to realization of the promising outlook for further gain in earnings. As stated here before the only merger Underwood is likely to be interested in is with International Business Machines and that grouping is quite away off. Baldwin benefited fourther from report here of plans of those in control of the company. George Houston of the Fisher Company is expected to succeed Vauclain as president and then the split up of shares and acquisition of other properties will be taken up. Westinghouse again is mentioned as a logical acquisition for Baldwin as those controlling Baldwin hold a substantial block of Westinghouse stock.

Although money went to 10 per cent there appeared quite a good supply available. It's anyone's guess as to what the banks will do with the rate tomorrow. The general expectation is for a 9 per cent renewal and there is widespread "hope" that the charge will not be put above 10 per cent. Steel was well supported although its action has proved a keen disappointment to many traders recently. Some stockholders are preparing to protest the refunding plan at the annual meeting next month. It is estimated that Trico earnings should be increased to cover $8 a share as a result of the contract it is closing with General Motors. Haygard Corporation, the investment trust of Hayden Stone and Hallgarten & Co., reputedly had acquired control of Adams Express.

American International reflected further realization of the huge profits it has rolled up in the securities it has acquired in past months. While the increasing equity in such holdings is attracting attention there is inclination to overlook the actual result to stockholders of the present dividend policy of the corporation. A. I. C. has declared a four per cent stock dividend for this year and in addition is paying $2 in cash. At the current price of the stock this represents a yield of approximately 7 per cent. It is impossible to find an industrial stock offering any merit that makes such return while stocks of investment trusts which could not pass the listing requirements of the stock exchange only return half as much.

TEXAS REVIEW

FORT WORTH, March 19. (AP)—(U.S.D.A.)—Very small receipts of cattle and calves posted for today's trade here. The day's cattle supply consisted almost entirely of slaughter yearlings and mixed butcher classes. Slaughter steers were lacking.

Several divisions of the cattle market presented a nominal appearance but enough business was transacted in slaughter yearlings to outline fully steady values. An active demand existed for little cattle of the better grades and supplies made a good early clearance. One load of choice fat yearlings averaging around 600 pounds made a top of $13.25 and other carlot sales slaughter yearlings reported at $12.00 to $12.60. The yearlings that sold at $12.10 were light weights on the heavy calf order. She stock and other classes cattle listed at steady rates, although the market very poorly tested. A few good fat cows reported up to $8.50 and butcher cows sold in the $7.00 range. Low-cutters sold around $5.25 to $5.50. Bulls and stock cattle too scarce to permit test of values.

Slaughter calves drew a good demand and sold at firm prices. Some package lots of good to choice heavies up to $11.50 and weighty averages in the plainer grades around $9.50 to $10.50; cull sorts on down to $8.00 and less.

Hogs made a good early clearance at prices 5 to 15 cents lower. Best rail butchers topped at $10.85, bulk of medium to good 180 to 240 pound rail hogs at $10.60 to $10.85. Truck hogs up to $10.40; bulk desirable 175 to 250 pound truck hogs at $10.00 to $10.25. Packing sows and feeder pigs remained steady, packing sows mostly at $8.50 to $9.50. Good butcher pigs up to $8.75, or unevenly higher.

Shorn fat yearlings in the truck section sold at $13.00 and shorn fat wethers also in the truck division sold at $9.50, these sales appearing steady. No sales reported in rail sections up to late hour.

MIDWESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, March 19. (AP)—(U.S.D.A.)—Firm to slightly higher prices prevailed around the 11-market circuit on light weight steers and yearlings but medium weight and heavy steers found a slow outlet at steady to easier values. Finished weighty steers are little changed for the week but packers have been able to shave prices on the less desirable kinds as much as 25c. Choice mixed steers and heifers at Kansas City scored $14.75 while choice medium weight steers in Chicago reached $14.15. Fed dogies of light weight on the Kansas City market brought $11.25@11.50. Country demand on replacement cattle was sufficient to maintain firm values. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 38,300 against 35,658 last Tuesday and 40,135 the corresponding day a year ago.

Although the supply of sheep was relatively light, trade was only moderately active on killing classes at mostly steady to strong prices. Choice fed lambs in Chicago scored $17.75, and at Kansas City 77 pound native springers brought $18.25. Initial shipments of Arizona spring lambs are expected at Kansas City later in the week. Total offerings were around 35,300, a decrease of 20,000 from a week ago and 12,000 short of the same day last year.

Increased receipts of hogs resulted in an uneven price decline of 10 to 40c. The most downturn was shown at Chicago and St. Louis on the close. On the opening at St. Louis and Chicago a top of $12.00 was realized. The supply approximated 18,500, against 59,597 a week ago and 123,164 a year ago.

CHICAGO REVIEW

CHICAGO, March 19. (AP)—Active selling out on the part of holders of future deliveries led to a lively upset of wheat values today at the last. Domestic and foreign crop reports today were indicative of less winter-killing of wheat than in general had been looked for, and absence of any reports of high winds in Kansas or adjoining states was a subject of particular notice.

Closing quotations on wheat were heavy, ⅝@⅞c to 1⅛c net lower. Corn finished ⅝ to 1¼c off, oats unchanged to ⅝c down, and provisions varying from 15c setback to a rise of 7c.

At first, the wheat market made a temporary show of strength as a result of the fact that domestic stocks of wheat in country mills and elevators had proved to be smaller than expected, being well below the latest official forecast and also a good deal under a 10-year average. However, favorable weather prevailing throughout the United States winter wheat belt and expected to continue for the immediate present gave an advantage soon to the selling side of the market, especially as primary receipts of wheat today were liberal, 1,093,000 bushels against 653,000 bushels a year ago, and Kansas City advised that total stocks of grain there keep at record figures.

It was not until the final 15 minutes of the day, though, that the wheat market gave way in earnest. Up to that time friends of higher prices had been relying largely on chances that high winds in various districts would bring an upturn in the market.

Corn tumbled down with wheat in the late dealings. Commission houses sold corn freely, and one large holder in particular was reported as letting go of his lines. Meanwhile, too, it was announced that further purchases of corn to come here from other leading markets had been made. Oats were influenced by weather favorable for field work.

Provisions went lower on account of sympathy with a downturn in hog values.

WEST FLUHMAN WELL DRILLING

50-Barrel Show Passed Up By Van Deventer

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, March 19.—The Van Deventer et al. No. 1 Shipley in the McKinney survey, immediately west of the Fluhman productive area in Wilbarger county, is being drilled deeper after testing the sand encountered at 1,730 feet a few days ago, the owners announce. The test is expected to pick up the 1,800-foot pay from which a number of wells in the Fluhman field are producing. It created a considerable flurry in the oil fraternity here several days ago when it picked up the stray sand at 1,730 feet. It was announced that the well would add half a mile to the Fluhman field with a production of more than 200 barrels daily. Health Department To Wage Mosquito War

The need of cooperation between citizens and city health officials in exterminating mosquitoes was stressed Tuesday by Dr. J. M. Farrell, chief city sanitary inspector, in the opening of a campaign against them here.

Several calls have already been received by the sanitary department to trace indications of mosquito breeding places.

Wichitans should clean up their yards, punch holes or haul their tin cans to the city dump, cut their weeds, and destroy all standing water around their premises or pour oil upon it, Dr. Farrell said.

The city will take steps toward draining or oiling standing water but the public should by all means do so as much as possible in order to destroy all breeding places before mosquitoes begin to infest the puddles and ponds about the city, Dr. Farrell asserted.

'COWBOY' FIRES SALVO AT SIN

Crimm Heard by Huge Crowd Tuesday

Cursing, gambling, whisky drinking and dancing received a scathing condemnation Tuesday night from Rev. B. B. Crimm, cowboy evangelist, when he preached on "Wichita Falls Sold Out to the Devil, Lock, Stock and Barrel."

A large crowd gathered to hear the evangelist and many were forced to stand because of insufficient seats while Crimm took what he termed "a pot shot at sin."

"If the brains of a man who curses and begs God to condemn his soul should be turned into T.N.T. it wouldn't be strong enough to blow his nose," the evangelist shouted. "Cursing is a sin against both man and God but God can make a man quit cursing."

Bridge Playing Rapped

Bridge playing was placed on a par with poker by the exangelist, who declared that "among the worst gamblers in Wichita Falls are the old sisters who call themselves social leaders and play bridge. The only difference between a bridge player and a poker player is that one is a she-gambler while the other is a he-gambler."

A bootlegger is an anarchist, Crimm said. He continued by declaring that in the sight of God the buyer of liquor was just as "dirty" as the seller.

In discussing the dance, Crimm said "you can't take the disgrace out of hugging by putting jazz music into it."

Rev. J. H. Bone, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Burkburnett, led the congregation in prayer.

On Wednesday night Mr. Crimm will preach on "The Inevitable Result of Sin."

Tittle Tax Suit To Open in 78th Court

Testimony in the suit of M. L. Tittle, former tax collector, asking $13,000 from the county for delinquent tax commissions, is expected to get under way before Judge W. W. Cook in the 78th district court Wednesday morning. The case was set for Tuesday, but postponed because of other business before the court.

Mr. Tittle claims that he is due the sum for commissions on delinquent taxes collected between 1919 and 1922, under a recent ruling of the supreme court. The county, represented by Harvey Harris as special counsel, is expected to plead the statute of limitations.

Motorcycle Rider Injured in Crash

Alfred Flatt, 511 Virginia street, suffered minor cuts and bruises when the motorcycle on which he was riding collided with an automobile Tuesday afternoon at Ninth and Broad streets.

The injured man was carried to a local hospital where he was given first aid treatment for his injuries.

$500 Damage in Fire At Cotton Oil Plant

Flames which broke out in the Wichita Cotton Oil company at 300 Pecan street early Tuesday morning caused damage estimated at $500 by fire department officials.

The fire was due largely to lint which caused the blaze to spread about the building.

COULDN'T REST AT NIGHT

"My Husband Feels Better Than He Has in a Long Time, Since Taking Orgatone," says Grocery-man's Wife.

"My daughter advised my husband to take Orgatone, and it has certainly helped him, and has proven a great benefit," said Mrs. S. D. Ford, of 1007 Ninth street, Wichita Falls, Texas. Mrs. Ford's husband is the owner and manager of a grocery store.

"He suffered from stomach and gall bladder trouble," she continued, "and always complained that he had severe pains in his side. He had very bilious and dizzy spells and suffered something terrible. He has been ill, off and on, for 20 years, and has taken a lot of medicine, but never has gotten anything that would give him permanent relief. He never got any sleep at night, and had a very bad case of constipation.

"The doctors advised my husband had a rupture, but he isn't bothered any more. He is entirely relieved, and can rest well every night, and his appetite is increasing. All of the pains have left him, and he doesn't have those bilious, dizzy or nervous spells any more. His constipation has been relieved and in fact he is better in every way. I am glad to give this statement for my husband in regard to Orgatone, for it has proven a great benefit to him."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called secret or patent remedy but a new scientific preparation containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Wichita Falls exclusively by the Allison's Drug store, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone nurse. Out-of-town customers are being supplied promptly by mail upon receipt of price, one bottle $1.25 or six bottles for $6.25.—Adv.

Walton League to Start Work At Once on First Pond for Fish

Oneal Urged for Place on State Game Commission in Resolution by Local Chapter

Work on the first of three "rearing" ponds for young fish which will be constructed at Lake Kemp by the Wichita Falls chapter of the Izaak Walton league will begin immediately, it was decided at a special meeting of the league Tuesday night.

The three ponds will be used for rearing young fish to a sufficient size where they can be put in the lakes in this vicinity and not be devoured by larger fish.

Fish from the three rearing ponds which will be constructed by the Ikes will be used in stocking Lake Kemp and Diversion lake.

The first of the ponds will be ready for use within the next 15 days it was estimated.

A finance committee was appointed by President Ben G. Oneal, to raise money for construction of the pools and $150 toward the fund was subscribed by the Ikes present at the meeting.

A committee to organize leagues in towns in the Wichita area was also appointed. Chapters will be organized in Vernon and Electra within the next two weeks, it was said.

A resolution to ask the governor to appoint Mr. Oneal as a member of the state fish and game commission was passed by the chapter. The request will be forwarded to the governor by the secretary of the league.

'Cabin Courtship,' Presented By College Spanish Club, Wins Praise

By BOB JOHNSON

"A Cabin Courtship," a three-act comedy by Jean Crandall, given under the auspices of the college Spanish club proved to be one of the most outstanding hits of the year when it was presented at the Wichita Falls Junior college Tuesday night. The part of each character in the cast was excellently portrayed. The play was heard by an audience of approximately 500.

The action of the play centered around the love affair of six "city folks" who, upon the invitation of George Ware, a plain business man, spent a most adventurous two-weeks in a log cabin in the mountains of Tennessee. Interest in the production was kept alive by the humor of several of the characters, particularly by Murray Alden, a visionary poet which was excellently portrayed by Arvil Davis.

Carol Pratt, a society debutante, played by Dolores Peavy, is the center of the thoughts of two members of the party, George Ware, by Harold Diggs, and the poet-genius. After many exciting incidents, she finally decides that the practical side of life is the most important after all.

The leads were supported by an excellent cast, each member of which displayed outstanding dramatic ability. The play was the annual winter performance of the Junior college and was directed by Miss Marjorie Woolsey.

The cast for the play was as follows: Carol Pratt, a society debutante, Dolores Peavy; George Ware, a plain business man, Harrold Diggs; Phillip Russell, an artist, Marlin Mann; Murray Alden, a visionary poet, Arvil Davis; June Forrest, a friend of Carol's, Alice Hartman; Mrs. Culpepper, June's aunt, Brunnhilde (Bonnie) Holmgren; Bill Jakin, a mountaineer splendidly portrayed by William Jenne; Liz Jakin, his wife, Silvia Smith; and Big Pete, Bill's rival, by Emil Hutto.

Marlin Mann, who played the part of the artist, was also highly praised by those who attended the performance for the manner in which they acted. His side remarks on the cooking of his would-be bride received the highest support of the audience.

Proceeds from the affair will go to the benefit of the Junior college year book, the Wai-Kun.

Taxi Drivers and Truck Operators Must Secure License, County Warns

Taxi cab, service car and truck drivers caught without a chauffeur's license after April 1 will be subject to immediate prosecution, John P. Marrs, county judge, announced Tuesday following a special meeting of the county commissioners court in which the question of unlicensed drivers was brought to the attention of the body.

A $3 license and tag is required by law and is payable before Feb. 1 of each year, Judge Marrs explained. Strict measures to secure the enforcement of the law will be adopted by the state highway department working with county officers and the county attorney, Judge Marrs said.

Immediate prosecution will follow the dumping of trash and garbage along the county highways, according to the terms of an order entered Tuesday. Complaints charging that waste material, including the bodies of dead animals, has been dumped in wagon loads along the roads were received by the court. V. B. Fitts, county traffic officer, has already been instructed to make immediate arrests and Wayne Somerville, county attorney, said Tuesday that vigorous prosecution would follow every complaint. The offense is defined as a misdemeanor and is punishable by a maximum fine of $500 and a maximum sentence of six months in jail, or both. Signs warning against all such dumping are to be put at short intervals along the roads by order of the court.

The contract for building a six room house for the superintendent on the grounds of the county farm was let Tuesday morning to H. L. Putty on his bid of $5,933.40, made on his own plans. Construction is to start at once. The house was ordered built to relieve crowded conditions at the farm, the present home of the superintendent to be converted into living quarters for the inmates.

ESCOBAR HOPES TO TRAP FOES

New Form of Strategy In Mexican Revolt

steady, withering offensive of the government's army in the war for supremacy in Mexico.

Abandonment of the rebel stronghold at Torreon as a part of asserted tactical maneuvers to draw the federal columns of General P. Elias Calles into the mountainous retreat of the insurgents, tonight presaged a new plan of battle, with Escalon, the desert town of desolate southern Chihuahua as the pivot of operations by the revolutionary command.

Retreat of the insurgents, establishment of the new base at Escalon, and arrival here of 1,500 volunteers to reinforce the revolutionary army were declared by Gen. Jose Gonzales Escobar, the rebel commander in chief, to be "operations preliminary to a general plan which we have adopted and which now we are beginning to execute."

Belittling the advances of the Callistra army from the south, General Escobar, in a statement, asserted he could "see no significance to the fact that the enemy occupies a town which we intentionally evacuated tactically." Confidence that the revolutionists will carry their warfare to ultimate victory was expressed by the insurgent commander.

REBEL "STRONG MAN" DENIES PEACE MOVE

NOGALES, Sonora, March 19. (AP)—Fausto Topete, Sonora's "strong man," today hurled a defy at asserted peace making efforts of the Mexican federal government. The general, governor of the state which gave birth to the revolutionary "plan of Hermosillo," scoffed at an announcement of the Mexican federal consul at Laredo, Texas, that Gen. Marcelino Caraveo, commander of rebel troops under Gen. J. Gonzalo Escobar in Chihuhua, had sued for peace.

"Peace in Sonora is impossible except as the outcome of war," General Topete declared. "Caraveo has not asked terms. I do not believe it. But at any rate in Sonora there will be no compromise. We will fight to the end. I am not the type of man to confer with anyone in hopes of ending a war for what I believe to be right. I will fight, to win or lose, but I will not quit."

350 Register For Drug Convention

co-ordinate your ad messages to your public. Continuous, regular insertions will make your money count. In fairness to your advertising account, if you have contributions to make, charge them as contributions, and not to advertising."

A discussion of the recently enacted pharmacy bill was given by Bob Long, representative from this district. The measure is purposed, the speaker said, to raise the standards of pharmaceutical practice for the benefit of both the dispenser and purchaser of drugs.

Orville Bullington, president of the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce, delivered the address of welcome at the opening of the convention, the response being given by Shine Phillips of Big Spring, a member of the executive committee of the association. Members of the convention were led in a singsong by Joel H. MacGregor, of Wichita Falls.

Banquet Tuesday Night

A convention banquet attended by approximately 250 men and women was held at the Wichita club at 6:30 Tuesday evening at which Fred Weeks, local attorney, acted as toastmaster.

Judge C. E. Combs of Stamford, speaking avowedly without any subject, kept the large crowd in constant laughter with anecdotes and humorous observations. W. H. Cousins, formerly owner of a drug business in this city, and now publisher of the Southern Pharmaceutical Journal, in Dallas, entertained with reminiscences concerning various members of the association.

The closing speaker at the banquet was Walter D. Cline of Wichita Falls. "The most outsanding feature of the changed conditions under which business is now conducted," said Mr. Cline, "is the absolute necessity of every business man recognizing the public's 'right of partnership.' I mean, the customer is your client, and you are duty bound to place his interests first."

In a day of much criticism, Mr. Cline said, it is to be hoped that we shall learn to confine our expressions chiefly to praise of that which is right rather than to shouting about things that are wrong.

A musical program consisting of selections by Miss Dorothy Greathouse, dramatic soprano, accompanied by Miss Kathryn Orr; a group of songs by Joel H. MacGregor, Scotch tenor, and numbers by R. E. Shepherd, the latter two accompanied by Mrs. Shepherd, completed the banquet entertainment. Dancing followed with music furnished by the Little Rovers' orchestra of Wichita Falls.

The program for Wednesday is as follows:

9:00 a. m.—Business Session—Kemp hotel ball room. Jno. B. Ray, president presiding.
Music.
Address, "Sales Force Efficiency"—R. W. Earnshaw, Ballinger, Texas.
Address, "Planned Selling"—H. Barkley Jr., Western company, Chicago.
Music.
Address, "The N. A. R. D."—Tom Roach, Oklahoma City, vice president N. A. R. D.

Aged Man Killed When He Resists Bandits

NEWKIRK, Okla., March 19. (AP)—Apparently the victim of a robber whom he resisted, George Sanford, about 60 years old, was shot and killed here early today. His body, a bullet wound in the chest, was found in the front yard of his home, where he lived alone.

In one hand Sanford gripped a pistol. It had not been fired. In his clothing was found $300.

Frank Renard's Concert Called Model for Aspiring Pianists

By FRIEDA van EMDEN
Written for The Record News

The concert last night at the Episcopal Parish house was a real treat. In Frank Renard the Musicians club presented a pianist who held his audience spellbound. In describing his playing one might say that he proudly admits to be of the old school, which means that he is a musician first of all.

He plays the compositions as they were written, takes neither liberty with tempo, nor with melody. To use a rather trite phrase, it is all there, which makes listening easy. He is the most sympathetic pianist I have heard in a long time, maybe I felt that way about him, because he played every piece the way I had always heard it played.

His first two numbers and first encore were by Chopin, "Nocturne E Major," "Ballade A Flat Major," and "Scherzo."

Next came "Symphonic Etudes" by Schumann, in which he displayed his wonderful sense of rythm.

This was followed by two songs and a charming encore by Mr. William Young, ably accompanied by Mrs. Collard. Mr. Young's resonant baritone did his songs full justice.

Mr. Renard opened his third group with a clever composition of his own, simply named "Theme and Variations." The variation "Danse Macabre" was particularly pleasing.

The three following numbers were by Liszt and gave him a chance to display his technical ability and his brilliance of tone. Liszt's works demand dash and verve. Mr. Renard gave us full measure, above all in the "Polonaise E Major."

To all aspiring young pianists we would like to say: "Go and listen to men like Renard play and model your interpretation after him."

Doctors Give Up Hope for Foch

By RALPH HEINZEN

PARIS, March 19. (UP)—Marshal Ferdinand Foch is dying.

The gallant French commander who withstood the Germans with such superhuman courage at the Marne and led the allies through to the final victory of the world war has met an enemy he cannot conquer, and his physicians concede that his end is only a matter of time.

The marshal continued very feeble today, but he ate a little and his condition was stationary tonight. No immediate crisis was feared.

Uraemia is slowly dragging the old soldier down. The condition of his kidneys is hopeless and he is too weak for an operation. His doctors are concentrating their efforts on bolstering his heart, steadily weakening under the poisoning of his system.

Hope Given Up

After a consultation of nine doctors at his bedside on Saturday, Dr. De Gennes informed The United Press that Foch was doomed. His temperature tonight was 99.6 and his pulse 98. The pulse has been around that figure for days, which convinced the doctors that it would be useless to operate.

Foch's kidney ailment dates from before the war. Dr. Heitz-Boyer pointed out that his kidneys have not been evacuated without mechanical aid since 1914.

What is conceded to be the marshal's final illness really started in 1927, at the dedication of the American hospital in Neuilly, when he caught cold, Dr. Heitz-Boyer said.

"It was aggravated when he left the Riviera sunshine and hurried to London, where he marched bareheaded in the rain, holding the pall of Field Marshal Haig," Dr. Heitz-Boyer continued. "After that, there were too many ceremonies.

Surgeons Feared Operation

"Marshal Foch should have been operated on for the kidneys in the early days of the war, but no surgeon dared to attempt it. His doctor, Professor Andre, of Nancy, predicted then that Foch would not stand three months of war, but he has remarkable moral and physical strength. I am convinced that when he dies, it will be from the heart or lungs, rather than the kidneys. All our treatment now is centered on the heart.

"Marshal Foch retains his full intelligence. He frequently speaks of America with me—(Foch visited the United States in 1921)—and says that America is the land of the present and the future."

Who's Next?

The old warrior is a picture of infinite pathos as he lies dying in the bare, Spartan chamber which is his bedroom in the mansion presented to him by the French government. The chief decoration on its walls is a great banner of the intertwined flags of the allies, hanging above the bed. It is stretched so that Foch can reach it, and he is accustomed to raise his feeble hand and caress its folds.

On the dresser facing him are pictures of Pershing, Diaz, Beatty and himself, fellow commanders in the war—and he has remarked—"Two gone already—who's the next."

BLACKHEADS AND PIMPLES
THE BAD SKIN TWINS
End One and You End the Other

Like it or not, blackheads and pimples are signs of personal carelessness bound to disgust people with you. One usually causes the other, so why not, while healing pimples, clear up blackheads, too? Here's a simple, inexpensive treatment that will do the trick if anything will: First of all, get a jar of Heiskell's Ointment and a cake of Heiskell's Soap at your druggist's. To-night bathe your face with hot water and Heiskell's Medicated Toilet Soap, dry and apply the ointment. In the morning bathe again, finishing up with a dash of cold water. At night repeat, using the ointment. Pimples will start to dry up at once, and it takes only a few days to improve the skin so you'll hardly know it.

COWMEN HEAR GOOD REPORTS

New Members Gain During Past Year

HOUSTON, March 19. (AP)—More new members were received by the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' association last year than in any other year since the war, the report of the executive committee today disclosed.

Seven hundred and twenty-five persons enlisted in the organization in 1928 and the net gain that year was 478 persons and 97,704 cattle. The present membership is 3,115, rendering 1,255,257 cattle.

Giving figures to show that 75 per cent of the association expense was for inspection work, the executive committee recommended that the association's territory be districted to obtain more funds for that work. The territory would be divided into 24 districts, each district to bear its share of the association obligations and in addition to meet local inspection costs.

The report emphasized the activity of the association in freight rate matters. "The service which was rendered in connection with transportation during the past year has probably meant more actual dollars saved for the cattle shippers than any activity which has been carried on," he report recited.

More thefts were reported the past year than for many years, it was said. Attorneys for the association took part in 27 trials, resulting in 19 convictions, seven acquittals and one hung jury. The 35 cattle inspectors have spent most of their time investigating cattle thefts. Thirteen of the inspectors are located at the various markets and 22 on the range.

The executive committee mentioned that during the past year it had arranged for group insurance for the first time to protect employes in case of death or total incapacity.

JUGOSLAV LASSIES ANGERED OVER BAN UPON LIPSTICKS

BELGRADE, Jugo Slavia, March 19. (AP)—Prohibition of lipsticks and short skirts in high schools threatened to cause a general strike of 5,000 school girls today. The girls protest against what they term "an intrusion in their feminine liberties," when Premier Zifkovitch forbade them under pain of dismissal to use powder puffs and lipsticks, or to wear short skirts and flesh colored silk stockings in school.

Stop Rheumatic Pain With Prescription A-2851

Local druggists who are dispensing Prescription A-2851 are all loud in their praise of what it will do. It doesn't seem to matter whether the condition is of long standing and the pain constant, or whether only occasional twinges are felt—Prescription A-2851 seems to go right to the seat of the trouble and knock out the pain.

While this particular prescription was compounded especially for rheumatic conditions—it has also proven successful in many forms of gout, neuritis and sciatic nerve pain.

Tear out this announcement and hand it to your druggist, or be sure to remember the name—Prescription A-2851 In liquid or pill form. There is nothing else as good to drive out rheumatism.

'Drama of Life' Cast to Rehearse Parts Tonight

In final preparation for the production Friday evening, the entire cast of "The Drama of Life," allegorical spectacle to be offered at the Memorial auditorium under the auspices of the Lions club, has been called in dress rehearsal at 7:30 Wednesday evening.

The play, adapted by Miss Genevieve Gilbert from the book "The Invisible Fulcrum," written by her cousin, J. John Gilbert, seeks through pageantry, pantomine and music to interpret the mysteries of life. Miss Gilbert herself will sing the leading role, supported by an extensive cast and chorus chosen from local talent.

Four Million, Five Hundred Thousand Automobiles, of the total production, were consumed by individual purchasers last year in the United States.
