MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE

By R. N. F.

Richard Spillane is one of the cleverest of American writers. He is touring the principal cities of the United States and Canada and writing his business impressions and artistic observations for the readers of the Philadelphia Public Ledger. Richard Spillane is a former Texan, although a finished product of the Old New York Herald school of journalism. He is strong for irrigation. He witnessed what irrigation has done for Utah, Idaho and other western mountain state. Read the story: "The higher mountains of Oregon, Idaho, Wyoming and Washington are snow-capped. The mountain sides wherever there is verdure are beautiful with autumn tints on sage and moss. What the Utah people say of lucerne is true. Irrigation will make it one of the greatest agricultural districts of America. The soil in the big mountain-bound basins is lava ash such as that of Southern Italy, particularly Calabria, where the fields have been cultivated for 1000 years or more with little need of fertilizer. Some one ought to appeal for a change in the name of the Snake River Valley. The river winds as do few streams, but it is a beautiful stream and some day the lands about it will be known to all America by reason of their products. You can keep your storied Rhine and your Alpine beauty spots. The Columbia River and the mountains of the Northwest have Europe's glories beaten four ways from the jack. Salt Lake City's Municipal Park deserves a visit by the tourist. It is man-made. It was an alkali and sage brush waste. Today it is a gem. In few parks of the world can you find such a variety of flowers or more artistry in floral setting. Nowhere can you see poplars in such numbers as in Utah. In rows they are imposing. Singly, they do not impress one favorably. When they stand in rows they suggest giant grenadiers on review. Many stories are told to explain the prevalence of the poplar in Utah. One, no doubt of Gentile origin, is that Brigham Young directed his followers to plant a poplar for every child born to Mormon parents. In order that they should not have undue difficulty in obeying his injunction, he imported a lot of young poplars and made a neat profit by their sale. The truth probably is that when the Mormon leader and his band entered the great barren basin through Emigration Canyon and determined on making their homes at Salt Lake he realized that unless shade trees were grown the land would be bare and dreary beyond measure. With his knowledge of the soil he appreciated that poplar was the most likely of all trees to thrive and the quickest to grow, and therefore suggested their planting. Today the poplar is conspicuous throughout Utah and Idaho. By the way, there are many Mormons in Idaho. The Mormon is a very good citizen, and it is the testimony of prominent Gentiles who were questioned by the writer that they would be pleased if they could say so much in praise of the home life of the Gentiles in general as they can with truth of the Mormons. Salt Lake City is perhaps the only city of 100,000 or more in the world that has a canyon at its door. You can get from the heart of the city into a beautiful canyon in a few minutes by auto. The city has incorporated this beauty spot into its park system. It didn't have a road and the City Treasury was bare, so some hundreds of members of the Chamber of Commerce volunteered their service and built and graded a road—not a good road, but one that will serve for the time being. Now the canyon is one of the favorite picnicking spots in all the country 'round." What the Mormons accomplished in Utah could easily be accomplished by Texans. They could impound the flood waters. They could construct the canals. They could irrigate millions of acres of land that would be more productive than any to be found under western skies. They could plant poplars. They could drive away drouths. They could make this section of Texas the most productive of all the states and the most beautiful to the eye. Foreigners are tree planters. They know the value of trees. Most Americans have to be coaxed to plant trees. Yet Brigham Young was not a foreigner. He was a native American. He was a man of wonderful vision and his program of tree planting and the storing of flood waters for irrigation purposes made the state of the saints all that it is today. Of course the religion of the Mormon may not appeal to you, but his religion is his own affair and not yours. He conquered a wilderness. He made arid deserts blossom. He made forests grow where only rank weeds grew before his coming. "See America First" is a magnificent slogan and when you are seeing America never overlook Salt Lake City in the state of Utah, settled by the Mormons, cultivated by the Mormons and made one of the show places as well as one of the most highly cultivated spots of all American states by Brigham Young and those who came after him.

North Texas Crude $1.75

THIRD CRUDE RAISE IN TEN DAYS NEARLY DOUBLES OIL INCOME

Oil operators whose predictions, published in The Record News after a rise in the Pennsylvania grades, and the day before the first recent boost of Texas crude, that crude would take the upgrade as rapidly as it hit the skids this spring and might double in price before the first of the year, seemed practically certain of justification Friday when the third two-bit advance in a ten-day period was posted here by the principal purchasing companies.

The new price more than doubles, and in the case of some leases, triples the net income of producers in this section, an omen of better business which has inspired and is inspiring a much greater confidence among bankers, merchants and business and professional men generally.

The price was first posted by the Sinclair here, followed rapidly by the Prairie, Texas and Gulf. While the local offices of the Magnolia and Humble had not posted the price before close of business Friday, it was a foregone conclusion that they would fall in line right away. In posting the advance on Texas crude the Prairie met the Texas company's price of $1.50 per barrel on Oklahoma grades.

The new price was posted while the $1.50 price for North Texas was only six days old, and that in turn had come when the $1.25 price had been in force only three days—as rapid a rise as was the decrease in January and February when, after pro-rating of runs by the larger companies, the first cut was made, and the price of $3.50 was chopped half in two. Four months were required to tear the other 75 cents off, the $1.75 price going up on February 9, the $1.50 on May 2, and the dollar price on June 13.

Pennsylvania Up Again

By Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 7.—Another 25 cent a barrel was added to the principal grades of crude oil quoted in the Pittsburgh market today when the purchasing agencies announced buying rates as follows:

Pennsylvania crude, $3; Corning, $1.99; Cabell, $1.80; Somerset, $1.65; Somerset light, $1.90; Ragland remained unchanged at 35 cents. It is the second advance in crude this week.

MASKED BAND AND SHERIFF EXCHANGE FIRE

By Associated Press.

DURANT, Okla., Oct. 7.—Several shots were fired last night between a group of officers composed of Sheriff Taylor of Bryan county and three deputies, and a band of nine masked white-robed men whom the officers discovered in a pasture north of the city. None of the officers were injured. The robed men fled after the shooting and Sheriff Taylor said he believed none of them had been wounded. The sheriff declared he would not permit meetings of masked men.

BABSON SEES COLLAPSE OF GERMAN MARK

Business Prophet Points Out Valuable Lesson in the German Financial Situation.

Value of Paper Money Depends on Two Things—Gold to Redeem It and Credit Behind It.

Written Exclusively for the Record-News.

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., Oct. 7.—"A friend of mine has recently been in Germany. While there he won some money in a poker game. When he went to cash in his chips he was told to wait a minute. He waited two hours and got his roll of mark notes and all of them were wet from the printing press. That is the way German marks are being turned out today. Germany is full of marks;

STATE SCORES IN HIGHTOWER MURDER CASE

By Associated Press.

REDWOOD CITY, Calif., Oct. 7—In the trial of William A. Hightower charged with the murder of Father Patrick E. Heslin, Carl Eisenschimmel, a handwriting expert, testified that Hightower wrote the letter to St. Mary's Cathedral, San Francisco, Augus 3, demanding a ransom of $8,500 for Father Heslin, who had been adducted from Colma, the preceding day.

'KU KLUX KLAN IS A MENACE' SAYS DAVIDSON

Lieutenant Governor Favors, Without Delay, Special Session of the Legislature.

Declares All Liberty Loving Citizens Would Uphold Written Law of the State of Texas.

By Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 7.—Lieutenant Governor Lynch Davidson today issued a statement in which he suggested the calling of a special session of the Texas legislature to enact legislation preventing parades of the Ku Klux Klan. The lieutenant governor said in his statement that "every state official in Texas, be his rank what it may, should throw his influence in the balance for government by the duly elected authorities and not by secretly organized clans and gangs, who tar and feather women and drag helpless men from their homes and firesides."

"In his statement, the Lieutenant Governor said:

"No doubt the Ku Klux Klan organization, immediately following the Civil war, was the salvation of the south; and my kith and kin, far and near, including my father, played a strong hand in its affairs.

"The present day Ku Klux Klan may have done some good things and cured some evils, none of which, however, could not have been reached through the channels of the law and by constituted authorities."

"Southern hearts warming to the memories of the original klan at its beneficient effects caused many of the citizens of this land and this city to join the ranks of the present organization. What little good it may have accomplished at the outset has many dozens of times been offset by acts of violence and lawlessness emanating either from the klan itself or men and sets of men operating under the cloak of the klan. The source is immaterial, as lawlessness and want of respect of the law are the result.

"Every good citizen in Texas who became a member of the klan under the impulse of its organization now that it is solemnly striking at the very heart of this government and threatening to rake its foundations and create civil strife, should just as quickly face about in a stern activity to strike down what threatens to be a serpent in our midst.

"Law enforcement, forsooth! When we think of the petty measures checking petty crimes only yesterday agitated all over Texas, as compared with this thing that stalks in our midst, affecting the very fireside of every family in this broad land. Every state official in Texas, be his rank what it may, should throw his influence in the balance for government by the duly elected authorities, and not by secretly organized societies and clans who tar and feather women and drag helpless men from their homes and firesides. Of whatever crime such people may be guilty, they are entitled under the constitution of this country to be heard by a jury of their peoples and to have their day in court. For the fair name of Texas, every good citizen should lend himself to the support of officers and the duly qualified officials of this state in upholding the law at this critical time.

"Such a tragedy as that at Lorena should never again blot the fair name of this state and if there is no law upon the statutes of Texas to prevent it, then I, for one, as an official of the state of Texas, entrusted by the people with a part in caring for their government, am firmly convinced that the assembling of the legislature of Texas to enact legislation to stamp out a thing so vicious would be cheap and tremendously cheap as compared with the lives of our citizens, one of whom has already lost his life in the tragedy of Lorena."

RAIL MEN SEE PEACE PARLEY IN CONFERENCE

By Associated Press.

CHICAO, GOct. 7.—Both railroad operating officials and union leaders today professed to see a possible peace parley on the threatened railroad strike as the result of a decision announced yesterday to have a meeting here next Monday of 600 chairmen of railroad unions to confer on the strike question.

It was pointed out today by railroad operators and union officials that 150 executives representing all first class railroads are scheduled to meet here simultaneously.

It was generally admitted that the workers will come to the conference armed with a strike vote.

Special Opportunity to Win 75,000 Votes Closes Tonight

Heralding a splendid opportunity to invrease chances of winning one of the five beautiful automobiles which are to be awarded Oct. 29th, the final day of the stupendous prize offer. The feature event of the campaign comes to a close tonight, 75,000 extra votes with every $30 worth of subscriptions. Wise is the candidate that has considered this the most important week of the entire campaign. Subscriptions are a tremendous value up until the final closing hour tonight. Changes will be made. Are you going to be the one that changes places with one of the leaders?

Build Vote Reserves

Also, the special vote offer makes it possible for candidates to build up a snug vote reserve to be used later on in the campaign. Quite a number of candidates are using this foresight method of protecting themselves against the future. Just as this period of the campaign draws to a close it is well for every candidate to look into her vote standing, to see that no other candidate whose ability has been underrated, may "nose" her out of an advantageous position in the vote volumns. The IMPOSSIBLE MAY HAPPEN.

GUIDELETTS

The difference between being with and without votes.

In the voluminous roster of good things to be won in this contest is not only value but variety.

It isn't influence or "pull" that gets a candidate the prize she is striving for. IT IS KEEPING AT IT.

Don't do the "hesitation" now. Get into the grand march, fox trot awhile and waltz away with an automobile.

Candidates should remember that it is permissible to accept subscription payments now, service to start at any future date desired.

For she who hesitates will never run up a gasoline bill.

Bambino May Be Out of Game for Few Days, Report

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Babe Ruth was suffering tonight from a severe abscess on his left arm which his physicians said made it doubtful if he could get into the game tomorrow and may prevent him playing for several days.

During Thursday's game Ruth stole second and then third, sliding into the latter bag and bruising his elbow. The injury became infected while he was playing. It caused him so much pain in today's game that he withdrew after getting a base on balls in the eighth, leaving Chick Fewster to run for him.

An examination of the injury was made tonight by Dr. George D. Stewart.

"It is doubtful if Ruth will be able to play tomorrow," he said. "I am going to examine his arm again in the morning. The abscess is right at the elbow and very painful. Swinging at the ball would irritate it and cause him much pain."

"If the doctor says I can play I'll be the first player on the field," declared Ruth. "But I have a suspicion the doctor is going to keep me out of the game. I'll be at the grounds, anyway, rooting for the boys to win."

REPUBLICANS MAKE PUBLIC TAX PROGRAM

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Amendments to the pending tax revision bill agreed to by republican leaders in the senate were made public today formally in advance of their consideration tomorrow by majority members of the finance committee. They would provide for:

A maximum surtax rate of 50 per cent on that part of incomes in excess of $200,000 in lieu of the committe plan for a 32 per cent maximum on the excess over $66,000.

Repeal of the express, freight, passenger and Pullman transportation taxes effective on passage of the bill.

An increase from $2.20 a gallon to $4 a gallon in the tax on distilled spirits produced, imported or withdrawn from bond for use for industrial, medicinal or other purposes.

Restoration of the capital stock tax of $1 on each $1,000 invested capital.

A graduated increase in the estate tax rate to a maximum of fifty per cent on the excess over $10,000,000 in lieu of the present maximum of 25 per cent over $10,000,000.

Repeal of the excises on sport goods, chewing gum, perfumes, essences, tooth and mouth washes and pastes, dentrifices, toilet powders and soap and soap powders and other miscellaneous taxes sufficient to make up a cut of $37,000,000 annually elimination of the proposed tax on hotel accommodations.

Reduction in the taxes on candy to 3 per cent with elimination of the committee proposal for a ten per cent tax on candy selling at wholesale for more than forty cents a pound.

The other excise provisions of the senate bill would stand, including repeal of the excess profits tax next January 1, a flat tax of 15 per cent on corporation incomes and increased exemptions for heads of families and on account of dependants.

While repeal of the $2,000 exemption allowed corporations is not included in the program as announced, leaders were endeavoring tonight to work out a plan which would protect small corporations and at the same time remove the exemption from large corporations. The suggestion meeting with most favor was to allow exemption in the case of corporations having net incomes of less than $20,000 or $25,000.

Opposition to the proposed increase in the surtax rate developed today among a group of senators from eastern states and they were understood to be preparing to wage an active fight against a 50 per cent maximum. There also was some opposition among these senators to increase estate tax rates.

House leaders also declared against increasing the surtax rate beyond the 32 per cent maximum fixed in the bill as it passed the house.

Representative Mondell, Wyoming republican leader, and Chairman Fordney, of the Ways and Means Committee expressed themselves very frankly before going into a conference with chairman Penrose of the senate finance committee.

"The house," said Representative Mondell, "determined upon a 32 per cent rate after full and careful consideration in the committee, in conference and on the floor. The vote was overwhelming and I know of no reason now for any change in that decision.

HOW INDIAN'S KILLED MOTHER TOLD IN COURT

Dot Babb, Pioneer Settler, Tells of Raid of Red Skins Near Present Site of Decatur.

Texans Score Point When Tyler Overrules Motion of John Fain on Attorney's Questioning.

How his mother was killed by Comanche Indians, how he was captured and his sister was also taken prisoner, related by one of the pioneers who are witnesses at the Red river hearing in progress here, Thursday proved the high light of the day and one of the dramatic points of the hearing.

The witnesse was Dot Babb, widely known early day settler of this section. He was a small boy, living with his mother near the site of what is now Decatur, when the raid and his capture came, he told his hearers.

He told of life among the Indians, and told of the "habits" of Red river as he had observed them since 1878, substantially agreeing on the latter point with the testimony of witnesses who had preceded him. The witness was introduced by the private interveners. He is the author of a book on the early life in this section.

Texans Score Point

During the day session the private claimants under Texas titles scored another victory when Frederick S. Tyler, special commissioner, overruled an objection to their attorneys taking part in the questioning and the presentation of testimony, offered by John Fain, who has been active in pushing the claims of those adverse to the Texans since they were first brought forward in 1919.

Two other witnesses were examined at the night hearing last night, J. D. Metcalf, county surveyor, who was on the stand at the adjournment of the night session, and John Bowers, son of the Bowers who sold the present Morgan farm in the Northwest Extension to the mother of Mrs. Lillis Morgan. He told of his observations of the Big Bend area and of Red river prior to the sale of his fath

LLOYD GEORGE MAY ATTEND IRISH PARLEY

LONDON, Oct. 7—A hint that Premier Lloyd George may yet be able to attend the forthcoming conference on the limitation of armaments and Far Eastern questions in Washington was made in a semi-statement to the press tonight. It was pointed out that the present position is that the British premier has notified the American government of his inability to attend, but that this is not necessarily his last word.

LONDON, Oct. 7—The personnel of the English delegation to the conference with Irish leaders here next Tuesday was officially announced today as follows:

Premier Lloyd George, Lord Birkenhead, the lord high chancellor; Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland; Austen Chamberlain, government leader in the house of commons; Sir Laming Worthington Evans, secretary of war, and Winston Spencer Churchill, secretary for the colonies. Attorney General Hewart will be a member of the conference whenever constitutional questions arise.

Coastal Crude Up

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 7.—Effective today the Humble Pipe Line Company announced an increase of 20 cents per barrel, of Gulf coast crude, with the exception of Pierce Junction which was increased 15 cents. This brings the price of Gulf coast crude to $1.00 per barrel and Pierce Junction to 80 cents.

PROBABLE BATTERIES

Manager McGraw said tonight that he would probably call upon "Shuffling" Phil Douglas, the spitballer, to twirl tomorrow's game and that Snyder, whose work pleased him today, would catch.

Harry Harper, the Hackensack N. J., left hander, may get a call for the Yankees with Schang a the receiving end. There is a possibility, however, that Carl Mays who won the opening contest for the Americans, may be selected at the last moment for mound duty.

AVALANCHE OF 20 HITS BEATS HUG'S WARRIOR'S 13 TO 5

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The Giants awoke from their two days of leathargy today and sprinkled the greensward at the Polo Grounds with such a shower of hits that the Yankees were swamped by a score of 13 to 5 the third game of the world's series.

The National Leaguers had gone runless for twenty-innings up to the third session of this afternoon's struggle. Then the outbreak of hitting started.

Stealing the Yankees' thunder, as the latter had stolen their's in the previous games of the series in speed and daring on the bases, John McGraw's men, after spotting their American League opponents to a four-run lead, promptly cancelled this advantage, driving Bob Shawkey, who had started for Miller Huggins' team, off the mound in the third inning. Then after the score had run along in a tie for three more innings, they broke out with an orgy of hitting against every string Yankee pitcher in the traditional "lucky seventh" putting over eight runs in thir chater and piling up a total of thirteen runs and twenty hits in their eight innings at bat.

Game Was Tickley

Despite its one-sideness, the game was of the sort that tickles the fancy of the average baseball crowd, and today's throng despite the partisan leanings, of a goodly portion of it, was no exception. The game was full of thrills, brilliant catches, daring base running, and, on the Giant's side, long distance hitting.

The crowd with perfect baseball weather to bring it out, was a record

INJURIES TO BOY INMATES ARE DESCRIBED

Mrs. Rose A. Grady Declares That She Treated Numerous Boys for Injuries.

By Associated Press.

GATESVILLE, Texas, Oct. 7.—The greater part of today's session of the investigation by the State Board of Control of the affairs of the state training school for boys here was taken up with the testimony of Mrs. Rose A. Grady, nurse, who is in charge of the school hospital. She was on the stand the entire morning and part of the afternoon.

Mrs. Grady corroborated testimony given by witnesses yesterday that the school appeared to be better disciplined since H. G. Twyman took charge as military instructor and director of calisthenics. She said the boys had given evidence of physical development under his tutelage, but that also more of them had been sent to the hospital for treatment for injuries.

Since Twyman came to the institution, about 35 or 40 boys had come to the hospital for treatment for sore shins, she said, as well as about a dozen for sore jaws. Before Twyman's advent she had not been called on to treat such cases, she said. She added, however, that her information came directly from the boy and that she had never seen Twyman inflict punishment on the boys. She had talked to Superintendent King about the injuries, she said, but did not know whether he knew of Twyman's methods.

Boys have been treated at the hospital for sun-burned faces, Mrs. Grady said, caused by being made to stand in the sun as a means of punishment known as "toeing the line." She said the form of punishment described by witnesses yesterday of "pulling toes" should not be inflicted for longer than 15 minutes at a time.

The morning was taken up with testimony concerning the death of Dell Thames, 14-year-old inmate, with which Twyman is now charge. Mrs. Grady said the boys' body was bruised and had finger nail prints on the throat when received at the hospital.

Superintendent King followed Mrs. Grady on the stand but his testimony was not recorded. He merely told the board what he did after the boy's death and why he charged Twyman with the murder.

ARBUCKLE BOND SET AT $500 ON LIQUOR CHARGE

By Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle, motion picture comedian, was arrested here today on a charge of violating the Volstead prohibition enforcement act in that he "had unlawfully possessed a quantity of intoxicating liquor." He was released on $500 cash bail by a United States commissioner to appear for a preliminary hearing October 13.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—Roscoe C. Arbuckle today was arrested on a federal warrant charging him with violation of the Volstead prohibition law in having "unlawful possession of intoxicating liquors."

Arbuckle's arrest followed an investigation into the source of a supply of liquor alleged to have been consumed at a party in the film actor's suite in a local hotel.

Arbuckle came here today from Los Angeles for arraignment on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, film actress, who attended the party.

MAIL ROBBERS GET RICH PICKINGS IN HOLDUP AT DETROIT

By Associated Press

DETROIT, Oct. 7.—Twenty-six mail pouches, three of which contained registered mail were taken from a mail wagon late tonight by four men who held up the driver, Wm. R. McCauley, near the main postoffice. The mail was being brought here from Windsor, Ontario. The registered pouches contained packages of currency consigned by Canadian banks as exchange clearings to banks in Detroit, and the days receipts at the Kenilworth race track at Windsor.

Enormous Still Masquerading As Hay Stack Is Chance Find Of Officers Friday Afternoon

Cleverly masked as a huge hay stack, one of the biggest stills ever seen or heard of by local officers, together with a thousand gallons of corn mash, and fifty gallons of first run corn whiskey, was discovered and seized Friday afternoon by Texas Ranger J. W. McCormick Sheriff McDonald and two deputies of Archer county, and Deputy Sheriff Weaver of Wichita county. The masquerading still was on a farm, about six miles north of Wichita Falls, on the Thornberry road.

A. M. Buchanan was arrested and brought to the Wichita county jail in connection with the find.

A light pine framework, former grain stack of large dimensions, was heavily covered with hay, the result being a most convincing and enormous haystack. The big still was operated by means of thirteen gas burners, fed from a tank of gasoline, and was completely equipped in every way. The still was of solid copper.

The officers were engaged in a hunt for a man wanted in Archer county for the illicit manufacture and sale of whiskey when they made this rare find.

UNEMPLOYMENT FOR SEPTEMBER HAS DECREASE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—A slight decrease in unemployment throughout the United States was reported for September by the depagment of labor in a summary of conditions made public tonight. On September 30, the department said, 1,428 establishments had 18,050 more workers on their payrolls than on August 31, an increase of 1.2 per cent. In 65 principal cities, employment decreased in 25, but increased in 38 and in one remained unchanged.

The summary showed also that percentage of change was greater in the cities reporting increasing employment than in those showing decreases. The greatest increase in employment was noted at Toledo, Ohio, with 24.1 per cent.

The largest decreases in employment were shown at Providence, R. I., with 7.4 per cent.

Other leading cities showing increases of employment included Kansas City, Kansas, with 10.8 per cent; Memphis, Tenn., 9.9 per cent and Chicago 1.15 per cent. New York showed a decrease of 2.2 per cent.

Increases by industries were noted particularly in food production, textile manufacturing, nearly all metals, stone, glass, clay, lumber, chemicals and railroad shops. The industries representing decreases including automobile, leather and it products, paper and printing and tobacco manufacturers.

seeks. Louis Crow, one of Waco's best known and most popular business men, lost his life as a result of wounds received when Sheriff Buchanan had his clash with the Lorena masked murchers. The Times-Herald, edited by the brilliant Robinson, carried the story in the news column of his paper of the death of Crow and made this appeal for religious freedom on his editorial page: "I am for freedom of religion, and against all maneuvers to bring about a legal ascendancy of one sect over another. Thomas Jefferson. It is the only safe rule, fellow citizens. Freedom of religion is a foundation principle. Each can worship as he pleases so long as he does not transgress the equal rights of another. If one doesn't wish to worship, that is his affair. And there must be no legal ascendancy of one sort over another. Jews and Catholics and Protestants and Quakers and Liberals and Mormons and Mohammedans are free to worship as they please, but no one must seek legal ascendancy; church and state must be kept separate, according to Mr. Jefferson. All men who visit the patriot's tomb are reminded that he was the author of the statute of Virginia for religious freedom. Thomas Jefferson believed in an Almighty and an All-Wise Providence; he believed in prayer. But Thomas Jefferson set his face resolutely against a legal ascendancy of one sect over another, and therein he was wise."

's farm, in 1880.

Although only a part of Mr. Metcalf's testimony had been introduced, it was apparent that a considerable importance is attached to his testimony by the Morgan and other interests represented among the private interveners.

Old Marks There, Says

Mr. Metcalf testified that he had recently completed a map based on old notes of surveys made of the Big Bend area and adjoining lands in 1875 to 1861. The map was made an exhibit in the record and several copies furnished other attorneys representing other interveners in the suit and the main parties in the suit.

The witness said that in making the map he had found practically all the land marks that were made at the time the field notes were compiled. In line with the claims of the Texas extent owners the map showed all the surveys extending down to the edge of the cut bank. The term "cut bank" as commonly used in the hearing refers to the edge of the river bed.

OBJECTIONS RAISED DURING DAY SESSION

Attorneys representing private interveners in the Red river boundary dispute case in connection with which hearings are now being conducted at the court house by Frederick Tyler, special commissioner, appointed by the Supreme Court of the United States to take testimony in connection with the establishment of the South bank of the Red river, won another victory Friday afternoon in their fight to be heard at the hearings.

After Assistant Attorney General Short of Oklahoma and John Fain, special attorney, representing the United States had objected to the private claimants offering testimony at the hearing on the ground that there were no papers to show who was actually intervened in the suit, Commissioner Tyler overruled their objections and ordered the examination of the witness put on the stand by attorneys representing private interests, to continue.

The objection arose after the state of Texas had concluded the introduction of its direct evidence with the testimony of H. Willis, wealthy farmer and oil operator of this city.

Place Witness On Stand.

Attorneys Leslie Humphreys and Judge J. T. Montgomery representing several interverners then placed J. A. Burrus on the stand. At the conclusion of the direct examination of the witnesses, attorneys representing Oklahoma and United States then objected to the further introduction of tesimony until it was shown just who were he private interveners in the suit.

They claimed that they had never been shown any intervention pleadings by the private parties and did not know the capture of their contentions. They intimated that certain private parties were present at the hearings as interveners when as matter of fact they had never failed the proper papers at Washington.

"The fact that a private party has filed a motion at Washington before the Supreme Court for the discharge of personal property from the control of the receiver or some other such motion does not place that party in the position of an intervener in th's suit," declared Attorney Fain in voicing his objections, in which he was supported by the Oklahoma attorneys.

Tyler's Ruling

Commissioner Tyler in allowing the evidence to be presented by the private claimants said that although the recent order from the Supreme Court allowing the private interveners claiming under Texas rights to take part in the hearing was indefinite as to who the qualified parties were, still it was the obvious intention of the court to allow the interveners to introduce their testimony.

He pointed out that if testimony was introduced by private parties and it was later found that they had never properly intervened in the suit, then the Supreme Court would probably allow a motion to strike out their testimony from the record.

Attorneys representing the so called private interveners were frank in admitting that they were not sure that in all cases they had filed the proper intervention papers at Washington, before June 1, the final date upon which intervention papers could be filed in the Texas-Oklahoma suit.

Contention Private Owners

The discussion brought fourth a statement from Judge Montgomery, whose firm represents the Morgan, Evans and other large interests claiming under the Texas patent rights that it was contention of the parties that he represented that the Texas rights exended down to the river edge and that the testimony that they would introduce would be to substantiate that claim.

All attorneys representing the private claimants offered to permit the attorneys of Oklahoma and the United States to see their pleadings in connection with their contentions as interveners.

Based on the testimony of J. A. Burrus the first witness called by the private interverners the evidence to be presented by them will be largely a duplication of the testimony that has been presented by the state of Texas since Tuesday morning.

Cut Bank Changed.

Mr. Burrus said that he had been employed near the Big Bend area in 1884. The important feature of his testimony was his statement that since that period the cut bank of the upper end of the Big Bend area had changed so that it is now about 300 to 400 yards further north. His testimony as to the general characteristics of the section and river was substantially the same as previous witnesses.

The morning session of the hearing opened with Captain Henry strong, pioneer guide and xattleman retaking the stand. He has testified most of the night session Thursday. He was cross examined at length by Attorney Tellier for the United States. The cross examination brought out the statement that he had been employed by the Bass interests to gather testimony in connection with the suit in which they are private interveners.

Questioned further as to his interest in the suit the witness caused some laughter in the court room when he expressed the opinion that the Greer county, decision by the Supreme court was wrong, permitting a steal by Oklahoma. He made several statements in answer to queries in cross-examination uncomplimentary to the claims of Oklahoma and the United States, labeling them as another attempt to steal from Texas.

Jeff Waggoner and R. E. "Bob" Moore of this city followed Captain Strong on the stand. Their testimoney based on an intimate observation of the Red river and immediate section in this part of the state, was practically the same as previous witnesses.

Orchard Below Bluff.

Mr. Moore told a three-acre orchard that was in ilbert GCreek valley near the mouth of the creek bearing that name when he first saw the river in 1887. The orchard in which were apple and plum trees was several hundred yards from the foot of the south bluff, he said, and apparently had been three several years before. He told of seeing it again in 1896 when it had been partially destroyed by high waters. Later he said it had been entirely destroyed now being a part of the river bed.

H. Willis told of frequent visits to the river from near Burkburnett where he moved with his father in 1890. He testified that there had been no special changes in the river or valleys during that time.

All of the witnesses on direct examination by the State of Texas or on cross examination by private interveners that valleys such as the Big Bend area existed up and down the entire length of the Red river as far as they knew and they had never heard of Oklahoma or the United States claiming the valleys on the Texas side until oil was discovered in the Big Ben area three years ago.

NEW POINT OF IMPORTANCE IN SOUTHARD CASE

Doctor Says That He Treated Husband of Defendant of Typhoid in April, 1913.

By Associated Press.

TWIN FALLS ,Idaho, Oct. 7.—That Edward F. Meyer suffered an attack of typhoid fever and typhoid pneumonia in April, 1913, and was treated by Dr. D. L. Alexander of Twin Falls, was stated on the witness stand by Dr. Alexander today in the tiral of Lydia Meyer Southard, charged with the murder of Meyer, her former husband.

The admission is regarded as of importance when coupled with other medical testimony to be effect that Widal test for typhoid might result in positive reaction when applied to the blood of a person, never previously afflicted with typhoid.

Dr. Alexander also stated that in his opinion Meyer was suffering from "some sort of intoxication or some sort of poison," when he visited the patient at the hospital on September 3, four days prior to Meyer's death.

Dr. Alexander declared that within his experience he had never seen a case of typhoid in which the patient had a sub-normal temperature throughout the progress of the disease.

Wants Congress To Probe Every Secret Society

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Investigation of "each and every organization of the United States" was called for in a resolution introduced today by Representative Upshaw, Democrat, Georgia.

Proposed as a supplement to efforts to investigate the Ku Klux Klan, Mr. Upshaw declared in a statement that he felt a sort of wounded pride in hearing many criticisms hurled at the Klan which was organized in his district and other weird titles of secret order officials who seem about to fascinate the majority of Americans into joining mystic conclaves of inscrutable words and deeds."

Investigation, he said, "might cause embarrassment to some, inconvenience to others and temoorary strike among foolish factions, but the clouds will soon blow away, public confidence will be restored and it seems to me every 'good sport' and every American will welcome the light."

Declaring the public would commend the fairness of his resolution to investigate concurtently with the Ku Klux Klan all other organizations holding meetings behind closed doors, Mr. Upshaw added: "If imperial wizard and grand goblin are titles to make the plain peoples shudder (and they are), then these same plain people have a right to know the meaning of such starting titles as 'imperial potentate,' 'most pussant and illustrious grand master,' 'grand exalted ruler,' 'mighty chief of the wampum,' and a full thousand other weird titles of secret order officials who seem about to fascinate the majority of Americans into joining mystic conclaves of inscrutable words and deeds."

but they are only made of paper. So long as the Germans can sell Americans paper at such a fancy price a pound, they will continue to print marks.

"The value of paper money depends on two things: The gold reserve to redeem it, and the credit of the government behind it. There are millions of marks afloat in Germany which can never be redeemed in coin. In fact it is a joke to think of that as a possibility. As for credit, the German government is not on its feet yet and no one has very much confidence in it.

"The international bankers are extending credit to German business firms, in spite of the German government, because they have confidence in the industriousness of the German people. These qualities are entirely independent of the number of marks turned out in Berlin. German business men and German workmen can and will produce. English and American bankers know it, and for that reason they will continue to arrange credits for German firms in spite of the fact that he mark is still failing.

"Now that the mark has 'hit bottom and gone thru' the Germans are rushing the stock market and buying stock like crazy men. That country is in a fever of speculation. We saw that kind of fever here two years ago. Stocks hit the top of the thermometer, but they came down again and a lot of people got hurt.

"At the present time in Germany nobody trusts the mark. Accordingly everyone wants to turn marks into securities. Farm hands and servant girls are buying stocks. People will take anything if only they can get securities in exchange for marks. Sooner or later the tide of speculation will turn. Stock prices will tumble and a number of Germans will be wondering whether they are better off with the worthless stock certificates than they were with their paper marks.

"Germany's position today is perfect testimony to the fact that all financial dealings are finally determined by the fundamental laws of right and wrong. German business is getting credit from bankers in former enemy nations because the German people are industrious and dependable. The German mark has dropped out of sight because the government put out a lot of worthless paper money which people are now unloading wholesale in exchange for stock. This is why the mark which was worth almost an American quarter seven years ago is now worth less than a cent.

"Both the German government and the speculators have been busily engaged in an effort to get something for nothing. That attempt however, has never succeeded and never will. Something for nothing does not exist. What we get we pay for someway or another. The common people in Germany know it, and the New York banks realize that they know it. This is German's salvation. When the leaders of Germany also learn this, they will reorganize. In the meantime look for financial fireworks. With the German government following its present practice the future of the mark depends upon the market price for waste paper.

"There is a little change in the situation in the United States. Business is now 72.5 points below normal compared with 82.5 points below a month ago, and the low ow 110 points below which occurred during March. If, however, we will learn a lesson from Germany and quit trying to get something for nothing business revival will be greatly accelerated.

PEOPLE FORGET THE BLESSINGS THEY ENJOY

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon, 85-year-old youngster of the house of representatives laughs at pessimists who are worried over business recovery.

"Americans today, in the rush for the almighty dollar, forget the blessings they enjoy," said the veteran of a hundred political battles.

"Why, back in Danville, long years ago, before the days of gas and electric lights, the telephone, electric railways and other marvelous inventions that have brought comfort to the people, the folks of the town opened their eyes in amazement at the sight of an oil lamp in a store window.

"Just look back at those days. Well do I remember when the people thronged down the main street to see the first kerosene lamp burning in that shop window. It was in the days of the tallow dip candle. When gas lighting came the people scoffed at this marvel, just as some do today in discussing the wonderful utility services of this day.

"Now, see what we enjoy today, in life's comforts and conveniences. Look at the revolutionary changes gas and electricity and the other public utility services have wrought. These are the happy days, but so few of us realize it.

"The 'Gloomy Gus' of business must wake up to the big future ahead. Most prosperous, most resourceful of all nations, the citizens of these United States are blind to the many advantages for which they should be thankful."

SWINE INDUSTRY ON LARGE SCALE NOW PREDICTED

STAMFORD, Texas, Oct. 7.—Word was received here today by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce from Marion Sanson, chairman of the Fort Worth committee, having in charge livestock loans through the War-finance Corporation that these loans will be on agricultural products, including livestock, cattle, hogs, and sheep. This is considered of extraordinary importance in the entire grain-sorghum belt of West Texas. It was announced recently at the Texas Grain Dealers Association that West Texas was about to harvest the largest grain-sorghum crop ever grown and since the West Texas Chamber of Commerce estimates this crop at more than 80,000,000 bushels, it is anticipated by the farmers and stockman that there will be an extraordinary amount of this grain in the form of hogs, poultry, sheep, and cattle. This means that there will be a demand for loans for hogs and sheep of unparalleled degree. It has, however, been the custom for ranchmen and small farmers to borrow money on cattle and swine. The bankers have ordinarily been taking care of the small farmers in the way of loans for the handling of swine. It is certain that it is the type of loan that the bankers will welcome, as the farmers desire to engage in the swine industry on a larger scale, exactly as they have welcomed aid to cattlemen and ranchmen.

OPENS SPORT GOODS STORE

L. O. Landon, prominent oil man of this city, has opened a sporting goods store at 825 Indiana Avenue, formerly occupied by the Southern Electric Company.

Mr. Landon states that the new firm will at all times be completely stocked with the best available line of sport goods of every description. A glance at the attractive window of the new house will cause the observer to agree with its progressive proprietor in his contention along this line.

Though Mr. Landon has been a resident of Wichita Falls but two years, has has lived in this part of Texas since 1903 and has cultivated a host of warm friends who will wish him well in his new enterprise.

School Room Will Determine Destiny Of America, Dr. Irving Tells Synod; Scores Tendency Banning Bible

"The future of America depends largely upon our schools that impart religious instruction. Ideas and ideals are of supreme importance in determining the destiny of nations; the class rooms are the battle grounds of ideas and ideals and it is here that the righteous must strike if they would win the battle." Dr. R. L. Irving of Fort Davis told delegates to the Synod and Synodical of the Presbyterian church, U. S. A., in the principle address of Friday's sessions. Touching on the theory which seeks to separate the teaching of the bible to the rising generation in public schools, Dr. Irving asserted that "such a philosophy and practice was a menace to the human race and a distinct danger to the nation, of which we are all so proud.

"It is therefore time for the church and the school to co-operate in the common defense of our country since only religious education can bring order out of the chaos of the present."

Calling on all Wichitans, especially those holding membership in First Presbyterian church for a continuance of their spirit of hospitality, Dr. N. F. Grafton, Friday night asked that every one who can bring their automobile to the First Presbyterian church shortly before 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when it is proposed to take every visiting delegate for an automobile ride through the surrounding oil fields and to all points of interest in the city.

Commenting on the tour Dr. Grafton asserted that no definite course or plan would be set for the automobile party and each auto load would be turned loose to go any where they or their driver may choose as the most interesting to the delegates of that particular car.

A joint communion service to be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock was also announced by Dr. Grafton. A call for automobiles to be brought to the church door at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon to take delegates to the golf courses or other places they might choose was also issued by Dr. Grafton.

Continuing their work on Friday the women's Synodical was opened with a prayer by Mrs. Pelf Fenley of Dallas, following which encouraging reports on work of the past year were received from the presidents of the Presbyterials of Fort Worth, Houston, Jefferson, Paris and Waco. An explanation of the progress being made at the Mary Allen Seminary (negro) at Crockett was made by Dr. A. E. Hubbard and a solo by Mrs. Lauris Mallard closed the morning's program. Talks concerning the Presbyterian encampment by Mrs. B. A. Hodges of Temple and of the mission work in Texas by Mrs. J. P. Owens of Weatherford opened the afternoon session. Mrs. J. M. Yourse of Hillsboro presented a report on literature and Mrs. David Murrry discussed the methods and needs felt for missionary education of all ages. Following a violin solo by Miss Cecilia Addicks the meeting was closed by a quiet hour, led by Mrs. J. C. Reed of Dallas.

Synodical Leader Meeting

The Synodical was in charge of the joint meeting with Synod beginning at 7:30 Friday evening, with Mrs. W. B. Preston of Teague, president of the Synodical acting as chairman of the day. Numbers on the evening program included addresses by Captain O. W. McMillan, chinese missionary; Mrs. B. A. Hodges of Temple, and Miss M. Josephine Petrie of New York. The program also included a violin solo by Miss Marion Maer and a number by the Synodical quartette.

CHICAGO BOY IS FOUND HANGING TO CEILING HOOK

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—The mysterious death by hanging of two fourteen year old boys in less than a week today offered the authorities one of the most puzzling problems they have faced for months. Last Sunday the body of Samuel Buffington was found hanging in a closet of his home, the hands tied behind his back. After four days of investigation authorities were today still undecided whether it was a case of suicide, accidental strangulation or a possible murder.

Last night the body of Edward Knaus was found hanging to a ceiling hook in the basement of his home.

SKIN DISEASES DUE TO WASTE PRODUCTS IN THE BLOOD

For Genuine Relief Your Blood Must Be Purified.

For real, downright, harrassing discomfort, very few disorders can approach so-called skin diseases, such as eczema, tetter, boils, eruptions, scaly irritations and similar skin troubles, notwithstanding the lavish use of salves, lotions, washes and other treatments applied externally to the irritated parts.

To correct the basic trouble—waste products—the blood must be purified. Don't clog your blood. Just clean it out. Nature will do the rest. Pure, rich, red blood nourishes the body and fights off disease.

S. S. S., the standard blood purifier and system builder, is the ideal remedy for skin eruptions. The effect of S. S. S. is to rid the system of the waste products which are causing the trouble. For over 50 years S. S. S. has proven to be of unusual merit. Begin taking S. S. S. today and write for 56 page illustrated booklet, "Facts About the Blood"—free.

POST-HOLE DIGGING IS MADE EASY

A novel auto truck which hauls the poles to the proper place, digs the holes for the poles and then lifts them in place has been invented. By operating a lever the driver transfers the power from the wheels to the post-hole auger in front of the machine. This auger can bore to a depth of ten feet. Withdrawing the auger, the driver's aide operates a derrick on the rear of the truck which lifts the pole up and places it in the hole. The outfit is said to do the work of 20 men

WORST THING ABOUT HELL AND BEST OF HEAVEN IS SUBJECT

"Sometimes it is pretty hard for a preacher to tell the whole truth about the size of his congregation," said Rev. H. D. Knickerbocker to a Record News reporter, "but I am going to do it this time if it takes the skin off. We advertised last Saturday that we were going to have standing room only at the night service Sunday, but the facts are, we didn't. After we had placed chairs in every aisle and vestibule of the church, we still had three vacant chairs so that there will be room for three more next Sunday night.

"My night sermon subject, 'The Worst Thing About Hell and the Best Thing About Heaven'—will be illustrated with a dramatic war story, pronounced by competent critics as the greatest written. A sixteen-minute concert by sixteen Jubilee singers singing old time negro spirituelle songs, will be another outstanding feature of the night service. 1313 in Sunday school at the great rally service is our expectation at 9:30 a. m. Sunday. A beautiful harp solo by a beautiful harpist, who is an artist indeed, Miss Louise Clark, will be given at the 11 o'clock service, at which Rev. A. B. Hodges, a distinguished Presbyterian divine, a member of the Presbyterian conclave now in session, will preach.

"Mrs. E. C. Huckabee has a great choir of forty voices which will render special music at both services. At the night service Rev. E. C. Huckabee, the best 'catch as catch can' song wrestler in Texas, will lead the congregation in a great sing-song of old time melodies.

"Let the public please note that the night service now begins at 7:30 o'clock."

FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM SERVED HIS DAY.

The National City Bank of New York, in its circular just issued, recounts that the Federal Reserve banks have rendered enormous service in the emergency through which the country has been passing, because confidence in their solvency and ability to meet the crisis has been sustained.

If that confidence had been lost chaos would have ensued, says the bank, and the losses of the country would have been enormously greater. That confidnece could not be retained if the banks were conducted upon any but sound banking principles. Public confidence is the greatest asset of the system—the asset most valuable to the country. On no account should it be put at hazard by entrusting managers or even the Federal Reserve Board, with the task of sustaining markets. Let markets go as they may, and let the people who wish to bet on them do so with their own money or the money they can borrow elsewhere, but the Federal Reserve banks should be kept absolutly safe at all times from market risks.

They can render greater service to the country by keeping their credit unimpaired and discharging their strict functions with perfect fidelity than by attempting such visionary and impossible feats as trying to sustain the prices of all products in the United States when they are falling all over the world. Governor Harding of the Federal Reserve Board gave a complete justification for the board when he said that its policies were guided by a purpose to protect the solvency of the system.

WHAT TEXAS NEEDS.

Texas needs 70,784 new dwellings at once if every family in the state is to have a separate home, a statement by the department of commerce showed this week.

There is a total of 1,017,413 families in the state and only 946,629 dwellings. In addition to the shortage at present, it is said that the house shortage is acting as a detriment to the activities of Cupid in Texas, many couples holding up wedding plans because of a lack of a place to live. President Harding is expected to ask Governor Neff to take the lead in a home building campaign in Texas to provide work for the unemployed.

There will be no parade by masked Ku Klux Klansmen in San Antonio. Sheriff John Tobin and Chief of Police Mussey have announced that they will halt such a demonstration. These officials say the law forbids any person to appear masked upon the highways of the state or in any public place and it is their intention to see that the law is obeyed. When in doub', build public highways. They are needed in almost every county in Texas.

Governor Neff has offered state aid to the law officers of McLennan county "to help them in every way possible in searching out the truth and in unholding the law in every way." Written law represents the truth. Written law represents the constitution. Written law represents the bill of rights, and all one hundred per cent Americans should stand for written law at all times in commonwealth and nation.

AMERICA'S GOLD STOCKS.

The best interests of the United States demand that the inflow of gold from Europe which has occurred since the beginning of the great war shall be reversed at as early a date as possible in the opinion of Dr. H. A. E. Chandler, economist of the National Bank of Commerce in New York, in the October issue of the bank's magazine, Commerce Monthly. America's proportion of the world's monetary stocks is now sufficiently abnormal to cause apprehension, he declares, and her gold policy should be constructed with a view to facilitating a movement in the opposite direction.

A review of the available data in regard to the future needs of Europe clearly leaves the impression that her approach to normal conditions may require monetary supplies considerably in excess of her present combined holdings, Dr. Chandler says. For this excess she must call upon the outside world and especially upon those few countries that now hold a disproportionate share. Among the holdings of these countries those of the United States overshadow all others.

In the light of these facts, he says, renewed interest attaches to the duration of the present influx of gold and to the time when the return flow to Europe will set in. These questions are of particular significance because of the possible effect that the gold movement may, in the meantime, have upon conditions in the United States and upon world trade.

Concerning the duration of the present influx, recent personal conferences with an important number of European authorities disclosed their almost unanimous agreement that for some considerable period the United States must continue to receive practically all of the world's gold production with the exception of that which goes into the arts and that that may be absorved by India.

The question as to when the return flow will set in is partly concealed in the intricacies and uncertainties of the relative trade balance relationships of the several nations. It depends in part upon the world trade revival and the ability of European nations to establish favorable trade balances. It is interesting to note, however, that European economists and financiers do not attempt to conceal their pleasure at seeing the gold flow to the United States. They reason that no people could resist the temptation of inflation in the face of such a flow; that such an inflation will render American goods relatively high in cost and therefore further reduce our merchandise exports; that on the other hand Europe's goods will become relatively lower in price and therefore increased exportation from Europe will result.

Indeed he writes Americans who have given careful thought to the present gold influx with reference to inflation and the possible disturbing effects upon industry are apprehensive as to the results. If it is true, as careful investigation appears to indicate, that there is a tendency for an increasing percentage of the total commercial bank loans in the United States to take the form of fixed capital investments any considerable extension of credit upon the basis of the new gold would present a problem of very great importance.

The question of Europe's need for part of our present supplies of gold does not necessarily wait upon her ultimate recovery or the complete adoption of the gold standard. As fast as one country after another approaches the condition when stabilization of currencies can be considered, an increased need for gold may occur, and while it is true that the return flow of the gold is not imminent and that a considerable period may lapse before Europe can effectively demand any important part of our gold, it is much to the interest of the United States to have these gold reserves returned as soon as Europe can utilize them. With these facts in mind our glod policy should be so formulated that as fast as needed the gold may be returned without causing embarrassment either to Europe or to the United States.

President Harding favors federal appropriations to aid the states in building roads with the object of providing employment for the idle workers of America. President Harding is on the right track. Those who are willing to work should be furnished work, not at fanciful war time wages, but they should be given sufficient pay to support themselves and their dependents.

A correspondent asks: "Which is correct? 'The banker lends money'; or, 'the banker loans money'?" Neither. The correct version is: "The banker loaned money."

Rippling Rhymes

RICHES.

"If I had loads of money existence would be sunny," the poor fish sadly moans; "I'm certainly disgusted with being always busted, when other men have bones. The rich man has no sorrow; if he should try to borrow a grief 'twould be in vain; for money is the basis of all the joy that chases around this mundane plain." But when a man has riches his wails, in dismal pitches, assail the gates of morn; of all men who have anguish, of all who wilt and languish, he seems the most forlorn. All kinds of of grafters fret him, the tax collectors get him, and leave him sick and sore; his pet investments fizzle, his tears fall in a drizzle, and life becomes a bore. The people tire and irk him, because they try to work him ,and rend him from his kale; he has no friends to cherish, all his affections perish, and all the ruthless schemers he is the proper prey; the robbers make him tremble, and gold brick men asemble around him on his way. The hates of men revolt him, the eyes of envy jolt him, and every where he wends he meets the whinning needy, the covetous and greedy, but seldom meets with friends. And when we envy riches, while digging useful ditches or sawing helpful wood, our taste must be lamented; so let us be contented, and labor and be good.—Copyright by George Matthew Adams.

NEED FIVE MILLION STERLING TO SAVE STARVING RUSSIANS

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Efforts to save ten million Russians from starvation will fail unless 5,000,000 pounds is raised before Christmas, declared Dr. Fridtjof Nansen in an interview with the Daily Herald last night. Dr. Nansen, who is in London for the purpose of furthering measures for the relief of Russia, asserted the solution of the world problem of unemployment would be found in combatting famine in that country.

Dr. Nansen confirmed from his own observation dire need of Russia and emphasized the fact that the Russian soviet government is dealing honestly with all supplies sent to that country, no food being distributed among the soviet troops. He praised the nations which already have sent assistance, but declared this aid was not nearly enough to meet necessities.

"It is a pity," he said, "that with Argentina burning her spare grain in furnaces, American wheat rottening in granaries and Canada's bins bulging with 2,000,000 or more tons of corn than she can use, these Russian millions should die of starvation."

He argued that, apart from humanitarian reasons, it was entirely to the interest of British business men to protect Russia from disaster, open a wider field of trade and enable the Russians to work. Dr. Nansen recently stated to newspapers that despite much advertising and constant appeals, British subscriptions to the Russian famine funds had been only 22,000 pounds.

THE MODERN CINDERELLA'S AIR CASTLES

TIMELY VIEWS NOT IN THE NEWS

RACE WAR IS SEEN IN CLASS STRUGGLE.

"The thought that a number of different races may be mixed and fused quite simply into one uniform race, identical in every way is an amiable dream of the philanthropist who is totally ignorant of anthrology. Races may quite easily accept the same language and may change heir religions and customs, and may be called by the same national name, but they cannot change the shape of their skulls, their skin or their character," says Dr. G. V. de Lapouge of Poiters, France, distinguished racial anthropologist.

"For the millions of years since there have been men and women, racial intermixture by intermarriage has been going on, and the mathematical expectation would be that an infinite gradation of racial characteristics should now be found. This is not true, however. Many characteristics cannot occur in intermediate forms and some can occur only when linked with certain others. Some combinations which do emerge temporarily into existence are eliminated in the struggle for survival.

"Any population now is made up of a number of mixed races, and the race is not necessarily indicated by the nationality of the individual. Anthropological analysis, however, reveals the existence of a superior white race and of inferior white races. It is this superior white race which, by virtue of its superior fitness, is now occupying the positions of social responsibility—in education, finance, science, religion."

This superior race, according to Dr. de Lapouge, is being replaced now by the inferior races through two causes. The inferior races, on the one hand, are content to give their young a short period of feeding and clothing and then to cast them off to shift alone, and, their young being thereby less burdensome they are permitted to become more numerous. On the other hand the superior race is restricted by the increasing cost and difficulty of bringing its young to the full development of mental equipment suitable for its race, and therefore the superior race undertakes fewer children, he holds.

"We are now," continues Dr. de Lapouge, "at the ethnic crisis of the superior race. Be not mistaken; the war of classes is a war of races. There must be more of the superior race. It must be made more abundant."

Breakfast Stories

"So you want to join our company?" said the theatrical manager to the seedy-looking applicant. "In what pieces have you ever appeared?"

"Well," replied he, "my last engagement was with 'The Blot on the Scutcheon.'"

"What character did you act?"

"I was the Blot."

"I am telling you the truth when I say that I was much happier when I was poor than I am now."

"Then why don't you let your millions go and be poor again?"

"Why, because I should be miserable thinking of the people who got the money."

It was after the concert and the talent was, as usual, being criticized.

"I certainly envy that man who sang the bass solo," ventured a young man.

"Why?" inquired one of the young ladies in astonishment. "I thought he had a very poor voice."

"So did I. But just think of his nerve!"

During the dull season on the coast last spring William Russell, movie star, lent an actor $100. Recently the star met the man and the following conversation took place:

"How about that hundred you touched me for?"

"Aw, say—have a heart. Can't I still owe it to you?"

"No, you can't."

"All right, then—I dont'."

A park orator returning home flushed with his oratorical efforts, and also from other causes found a mild curate seated opposite in the tram car. "It may interest you to know," he said trueulently, "that I don't believe in the existence of a heaven." The curate merely nodded, and went on reading his newspaper. "You don't quite realize," said the park orator, "what I'm trying to make clear. I want you to understand that I don't believe for a single, solitary moment that such a place as heaven exists." "All right, all right," answered the curate, pleasantly, "go to hell, only don't make quite so much fuss about it."

TAFT AGAIN HEADS UNITARIAN BODY

By Associated Press.

DETROIT, Oct. 7.—William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States supreme court, today was re-elected president of the Unitarian general conference at the organization's closing business session. He was elected without opposition, for a third consecutive term.

Robert Campbell, who built Ft. Laramie in 1834, was killed by Indians of whom he was a good friend.

DR. JOHN A. RICE HOTLY DEFENDED BY DR. H. A. BOAZ

AMARILLO, Texas, Oct. 7.—"Dr. John A. Rice has been misunderstood and because he is misunderstood he has been misrepresented," declared Dr. H. A. Boaz of Dallas, president of the Southern Methodist University, in defending the resigned Professor of Old Testament at the University for his publication of a book entitled, "The Old Testament in the Life of Today," before the Northwest Texas Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in session in Amarillo.

The resignation of Dr. Rice as a member of the University faculty was handed in Tuesday of this week, and was said to have been the outgrowth of a growing sentiment against the professor throughout circles of Methodism, for his publication which is said to be "destructive criticism" and does not conform to the doctrines of the Methodist belief.

"He who calls Dr. John A. Rice an infidel is slandering a good man," continued the school president, "and while I do not believe everything he has written, I consider him one of the most devout and religious men I ever knew," he said.

"Dr. Rice loves God and he loves the church, and that is one reason why he is resigning," said the speaker and continuing he said, "we must not do an injustice to this good man because we do not approve of all that he has written or said."

Dr. Boaz explained to the conference that he had heard Dr. Rice's lectures and that he had found nothing objectionable in them, that he had not seen the manuscript for the book, that the book was published after Dr. Rice's connection with the University. He said that he told Dr. Rice that he couldn't approve of all that the book contained.

Dr. Boaz urged that the conference be not too ready to down a man because he doesn't believe like other individuals do, and he admonished them to be safe and sound, giving assurance that Dr. Rice had quit and that his place would be immediately filled.

In concluding his reference to the situation at Southern Methodist University, the school president urged the conference not to be uneasy about the school, that he considered it in fairly safe hands.

The speaker presented statistics regarding the work of the Southern Methodist University. The school enrolled 315 men and 334 women during the first term. During the first week of this term 582 men and 510 women enrolled. A total enrollment of 1300 are registered this year and it is expected that 1800 sutdents will be enrolled this year, according to Dr. Boaz.

Dr. Boaz called attention to the many needs of the institution, declaring that it has more students than it should have.

SECOND COUNTY OFFICIAL TO FACE TRAFFIC VIOLATION

Another county official has been booked on the police blotter for violation of the city traffic laws. A deputy constable was arrested for parking his automobile within the safety one. His case will come up Saturday morning.

Two men charged with stealing property valued more than $50 were transferred to the county officials for disposition.

Three cases of speeding were given a fine of $10.00 each. A couple of vagrants received fines of $23 each, and two violators of the tail light ordinance were fined $5.00 each.

A number of cases bound over for trial by jury are scheduled to come up the first of next week. During the absence of City Attorney E. M. Mann Zeb V. Nixon has been officiating in the capacity of city attorney.

FROM AROUND THE STATE

QUANAH

QUANAH, Texas, Oct. 7.—Receipts of cotton at the Quanah yard total 1100 bales. Farmers are not bringing their cotton in since the slight decline. Pickers are being paid $1 per hundred pounds. One farmer offered $1.25 today but was unable to get pickers.

Many cotton pickers, mostly farmers with their families, are coming from other section of Texas. Cotton in some sections of Hardeman County is turning out more to the acre than was expected.

Manager Henry Williams of the Forty-Four Oil Company has gone to Electra for 1800 feet of 8 inch casing. Mr. Williams says he is confident that he is on top of an oil sand and that it will be a producer.

S. Burk Burnett of Fort Worth was here last night on his way to the 6666 Ranch in Dickens county.

All merchants say that better business conditions are now prevailling in the country districts and the country merchants are stocking up.

County Collector Walkup says that both poll taxes must be paid in the case of a married couple at the time the property tax is paid, or before. The ad valorem tax cannot be paid until the poll tax of man and wife, if a married couple, are paid, but the poll tax can be paid before the ad valorem is paid. This is official information received from Austin.

It is believed here that with the completion of the Quanah-Eldorado bridge, Oklahoma farmers in the territory of within 30 miles of the bridge will come to this city to sell their cotton, wheat and other farm products and buy their supplies. Also it is said that the Quanah-Eldorado bridge may pay the Austin Brothers bridge 30 per cent annually but it will pay Quanah merchants vastly more.

Cotton picking is the order of the day around Marshall in this county and everybody is busy. Farmers are sowing wheat and some are still heading maize.

It is announced that the Panhandle Photographers Convention will not be held in this city until after the Christmas holidays.

There are 214 cities and towns in Texas enjoying an excellent fire record credit and Quanah is one. Quanah has excellent streets, an adequate water supply, well distributed and a very efficient fire department. This has resulted in savings to property owners of more than $700 this year.

W. T. McAlister, owner of the Goodnight Ranch, and W. J. Grisham both of Wichita Falls and well known oil men were here this week.

Rev. Bone of Miami is attending the Presbyterian Synod and Presbytery in Wichita Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Rogers of Wichita Falls are here and Mr. Rogers is scheduled to do some fishing. Mrs. Rogers is the guest of Mrs. Joe Knecht. Mr. Rogers is manager of the Goodrich Wholesale Grocery company in Wichita Falls.

A. F. Sommer, general manager of the O. A. & P., went to Sherman Tuesday to see after a locomotive his road has in the Frisco shops at that point, and thence to Fort Worth to attend the regular meeting of the Texas Railroad general managers association. He will be back in the morning.

AMARILLO

AMARILLO, Texas, Oct. 7.—District headquarters for the Panhandle of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation will be located in Amarillo.

A record probably unsurpassed by any church in the Panhandle was made at Canyon Methodist Church, where over 500 young people attended a social at the church given by Rev. and Mrs. Simmon Shaw.

W. F. Scarborough of Midland has sold 2,000 head of two year old steers to B. E. Johnson at Normal at a reported price of $38 per head. These cattle were shipped to Midland from Dalhart in the spring of this year where they have been on pasture. Several cattle buyers are in the Panhandle and reports of other sales are expected at any time.

Farmers in many sections of the Panhandle report that wheat is already up and the prospects for early fall grazing are splendid.

ELIASVILLE

ELIASVILLE, Texas, Oct. 7.—Young county valuations show an increase of $2,143,000 this year. County valuations last year were $10,637,000—this year $12,800,000.

It is said that the Gulf Production Company will take the initative in the development of the Fish Creek area, north of Eliasville. The Gulf has led all other companies in the resumption of drilling operations in the field. The Gulf holds thousands of acres under lease in the Fish Creek area.

Drilling is due to start shortly on the M. B. Dooley tract north of Eliasville. Dooley made a lease for 50 acres including a drilling contract.

Two dance halls at South Bend have been closed by the sheriff and the word is they will stay closed. One of the concerns defied the order which led to the arrest of the women dancers.

According to the Journal, the Eliasville section may expect to see some future drilling activity on the part of the Phillips Petroleum Company.

John W. Saye is a candidate for reelection to the office of sheriff. He has served Young county for many years as a peace officer and the records show that during the past year he has made more arrests and obtained more convictions than any of his predecessors.

Two South Bend men were jailed a few days ago when two deputy sheriffs captured fifty gallons carefully hidden in a ravine. Now there is a still on exhibition.

Valuations in the Eliasville school district of Young County for 1921 show an increase of $160,000 over last year.

The Revere Oil Company of Fort Worth has one well on top of the sand and is rigging up for a second well. This company of Houston and is one of the few independent companies which did not shut down operations on account of the slump in oil.

The Absorption Process Company is refining 1,000 gallons of gasoline from the Hobbs well on the Milan tract south of town. It is the first plant of its kind seen in this country.

Miners from Newcastle will reopen the slope mine on the Donnell and Childress land, three miles west of Eliasville for a retail and wholesale business. The Donnell shaft was first opened twelve years ago by Hester Brothers of Throckmorton, the vein is four feet thick and second and possible third vein underlie the top deposits. It is said that Newcastle miners will truck the coal to Eliasville, establish a local retail agency and ship the surplus to other towns. With winter coming on the company expects to find its best market in West Texas towns which are without supplies of wood.

Pecan gathers have been in the field around Eliasville since last week. That Eliasville will have one or two pecan buyers this year seems a certainty.

ELECTRA

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 7.—Jodie D. Smith has been appointed city recorder and police judge. During the past two months, city cases have been before Justice Ed C. Wilson.

Drilling over Wichita county last week failed to produce any sensations and to Electra owes the credit of the only completion of any size. Lack of water is greatly handicapping drilling and with the advances in oil, it is believed that Electra would soon add greatly to the string of drilling wells if water was available.

The paving west of Electra on the Harrold road will be opened two weeks from tomorrow, according to Commissioner Haynes.

September brought to Electra eighteen births and five deaths. Boys led the birth procession.

A general piegup of drilling in the Gladiolus or South Electra pool would already be under way if sufficient water was available.

Electra will take more interest in politics in 1922 than ever before in its history. State Senator Quinn Williams of Decatur, visited Electra and announced that he would be a candidate for representative to succeed Hon. Lucian W. Parrish.

County Commissioner H. H. Haynes says by Thanksgiving Day every road in the county should be opened with the exception of the Wichita Falls-Burkburnett road.

STAMFORD, Texas, Oct. 7.—Mayor Davenport has issued a proclamation asking all organizations, including the schools of the city to cooperate in the matter of fire prevention day. The pupils of the civic class of the High school, will make four minute talks in the theaters Saturday night, in regard to the matter, and in the churches of the city Sunday. The same class will also make a careful fire survey of the city during the coming week, making their reports to the city manager's office. Following this the Boy Scouts will visit all homes in the city where telephones are placed and hand signs showing how to turn in fire alarms.

J. M. Martin, a well known citizen, had a near hold-up on the Stamford-Avoca road last night. He was about to cross a bridge when he was confronted by two masked men, pointing pistols at him who commanded him to stop. Instead of doing so, he put his foot on the accelerator of his car and run past the would-be highwaymen, both of whom fired at him as he passed. The shots went wild of the mark and the affair was reported to the officers, but they were unable to get a clue as to their identity.

The announcement is made that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will tender its third annual banquet to the West Texas exhibitors at the State Fair in Dallas on October 15th, which is West Texas Day. Hon. J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls, will address the banquet on irrigation.

The traffic bureau of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is assisting the Weatherford Chamber of Commerce, the Fort Worth Stockyards Company and North Fort Worth business men in securing a reduction in the freight rate on milo maize, maize heads and ear corn from the Panhandle section to Weatherford and Fort Worth, as an emergency for the benefit of cattle feeders in these sections.

SHRINERS TO BRING HONOR TO HOME BOYS

It has often been said that there was a wide gap between the popular conception of the ordinary home talent show, and productions such as one sees presented by such producers as A. H. Woods, David Belasco, Flo Zigfeld and others, and no attempt has ever been made to directly compare the two, since they are so widely different, and all so different a place in the minds of the public. "but" points out Horace Robbins, captain of Maskat patrol, "if we could influence one of these producers to bring one of their shows to our city, in which our best talent could be cast for parts, wouldn't we have a production that would create a different impression, and possibly fill this ever evident gap?"

At least members in the cast in the "Oh Joy Musical Revue" which Maskat patrol and band are to stage here on October 18 and 19, at the Wichita Theater, think so, and they assert that the show which they will offer to the public, under the direction of MacCormack Production Company, fills all the vacancy that has ever been thought of by the much abused audience which has so often sat through both extremes in performances. A combination of the two extremes, a real "Big Town" production, with specially made scenery, which will rival many of the Broadway shows, with lighting effects and costumes of beauty, and a cast picked from the best talent in the city, will all go to make this effort of the patrol and band the biggest success ever.

Tickets will soon go on sale at several stores in the business district, so that those who wish to purchase their tickets in advance, and assure themselves of admission to the show, will be given a chance to buy them.

ATTEMPTED BRIBE CHARGE FOLLOWED BY OUSTER MOVE

By Associated Press.

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 7.—Impeachment charges will be filed against members of the Louisiana public service commission, it was announced today following a caucus last night by members of the legislature.

The impeachment move grew out of a charge by Huey Long, a member of the commission, that an attempt had been made to bribe him to secure a favorable vote for an increase in telephone rates. Members of the legislature, it was explained, concluded members of the commission had lost the confidence of the people and should be removed.

Besides Long, whose term expires in 1924, John T. Michael and Shelby Taylor are members of the commission. Their terms expire in 1922 and 1926 respectively.

HAD NERVOUS BREAKDOWN
Mrs. Ireland Permits us to Publish this Letter for the Benefit of Others Who Are in Her Condition
Warsaw, Missouri.—"For five years I was weakly, nervous and in a run down condition. Then I had a nervous breakdown and doctors said I would never be well again. After I took seven bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was healthier, stronger and felt better than I ever did in my life before. I can't praise the Compound enough and will recommend it to all women. You may publish this letter if you think it will help others."—Mrs. FLOYD IRELAND, R. R. 1, Warsaw, Mo.

Nervous women are both ailing and wretched, and with a nervous breakdown all joy goes out of a woman's life. It is said that the ills peculiar to women act on the nerves like a firebrand.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is successful in overcoming such conditions, and a large number of American women who were once great sufferers from nerve troubles owe their present health and comfort to it and it contains no narcotics or harmful drugs.

The New McCALL PATTERN
The New McCALL PATTERN "it's printed"
IN announcing the opening of our New McCall Pattern Department we feel that we are offering to our customers a wonderful new pattern service.
From the time that the paper pattern came into existence, nearly fifty years ago, there has been no fundamental improvement in the pattern itself until the advent of the New McCall Printed Pattern.
All of you are familiar with the old-style tissue-paper pattern, a thing of dots and dashes, circles, and various perforated marks requiring translation, all of which is done away with in the New McCall Pattern—"it's printed." On each piece of each pattern are clearly printed, in simple language, full detailed instructions.
We believe the New Printed Pattern will prove the biggest boon to women since the invention of the sewing machine. Women who, from experience, have learned to use the perplexing old-style pattern will appreciate the simplicity of the New Printed Pattern, and thousands of women who have never learned to use patterns will be able to practice wonderful economy with the aid of the simplified New McCall Pattern—"it's printed."

WE TOLD YOU SO!

—We told you that the first blast of old Boreas would catch you without a supply of Coal—and sure enough it did!
—Now don't do the same thing over again. Get your bins ready and let us have your order for enough coal to take you through the winter, before a sure-enough blizzard comes along.
—We have a big supply of coal on hand, and we can give you prompt service if you will place your order NOW!

—It's a cinch that you are going to need Coal some time during the winter. The gas supply may fail you for a few days—the weather may be so severe that the gas heat will not be sufficient—so attend to this important matter now.

AVALANCHE OF TWENTY HITS BEATS HUGG'S GANG TO THE TUNE OF 13 TO 2

breaker for this series. More than 36,500 fans jammed the stands and bleachers. They broke the series record for noise and enthusiasm as well. The turn of the Yankee adherents came first, but the hubbub they kicked up was as nothing to that let loose by the Giant fans when their opportunity arrived.

With the McGraw clan riding rough shod over their opponents the National league partisans unlimbered their vocal chords, their cowbells and rattles, heretofore subdued, and played the game as hard from their seats as their favorites did on the diamond. At times whole section of the stands seemed to be composed of seething waves of yelling humanity. The Yankees supporters were dumb after the third inning and the close of the conflict became a Giant carnival.

The Yankee fielders stood up well under the bombardment of hits and incidentally turned in some notable defensive feats. One of these was a jumping catch in the second inning by Aaron Ward, the Yankee second sacker, which resulted in a double play.

Burns Started It

It was George Burns, the Giant centerfielder, however, who turned in the most remarkable feat of the game and also of the series. In the seventh inning he started back with the crack of Pitcher Quinn's bat against the ball and while still on the run buried down the drive over his shoulder, close to the centerfield fence. It was a marvelous piece of fielding and drew a big demonstration from the crowd.

All the Giants with the exception of Toney and Kelly figured in the hitting. Toney was taken from the game before he had a chance to bat. Burns and Snyder divided honors, each making 4 hits. Burns' hitting included a double and a triple. Young had a double and a triple, while "Irish" Meusel had two singles and a double.

Babe Has Bad Day Again

Babe Ruth had another colorless day compared with some of his work during the season's campaign. In four trips to the plate, he struck out twice, made a single which scored two Yankee runs and drew a base on balls. He left the game in the eighth inning after he had received a base on balls. Fewster running for him and scoring a run. It was said the home run king was suffering from an infected arm. In the fielding side he had but one chance, capturing Bancroft's sacrifice fly.

The game which ended so lopsidedly, started out as if it might be another one like the pitchers' battle of yesterday. Toney, who started for the Giants, breezed along comfortably for two innings. The Yankees got to him in the third, however, and he was taken out with the bases full, none out, and three runs in. Another run was scored by the Yankees before "Jess" Barnes, who relieved him, could retire the side.

Third Is Fatal

Shawkey met his fate, like Toney, in this same inning. His wildness was responsible. After he had forced two runs over the pan by passing batters, Jack Quinn was called to the mound. Two of the Giants Shawkey left on the bases subsequently tallied but there was no more scoring off Quinn until the tempestuous seventh. Meanwhile Barnes was twirling a steady, heady game and holding the Yankees safe, as he did to the end.

Then came the Yankees' third inning. Schang drew a base on balls, and reached third on Shawkey's single to right. Miller hit for a base, scoring Schang and moving Shawkey to second. They gave Peckinpaugh a base on balls and all corners were filled. Cheers of the Yankee fans rocked the stands and the home run king walked to the plate. Ruth slammed Toney's sixth pitch and drove it to center for a single, sending home both Shawkey and Miller. Peckinpaugh took third. Here Toney was waved off the mound and Barnes was brought out of the bull pen. Ruth went out trying to steal. Bob Meusel walked and Peckinpaugh scored on Pipp's out. This ended the Yankees' scoring in the inning.

The four run lead looked big to the Giants, as they went to bat. Barnes, first man up, poked a single to left. Burns went out on a fly to center, but Captain Bancroft laced a single to right, Barnes stopping at second. Shawkey threw wild to Frisch, who walked filling the bags. Shawkey appeared to lose control and passed Young, forcing home Barnes with the Giants' first run of the series. Shawkey then passed Kelly, forcing home Bancroft. Quinn replaced Shawkey, with the bases still loaded. Frisch scored while "Irish" Meusel was being put out at first, Young and Kelly moving up. Young came home with the tying run when Rawlings hit a grounder to Peckinpaugh, who could not handle the ball in time to throw out the Giants' second baseman. Snyder fouled out to Pipp and left the score tied in a knot until the Giants' heetic seventy inning.

Frisch Still Hitting.

The National League leaders made more hits in the seventh than in the two previous games of the series. Frisch began the attack by slashing a single to center and went to third on Young's two-bagger to right. Kelly walked and the bases were filled. There was tremendous cheering when "Irish" Meusel slammed a double to right, sending home Frisch and Young. Kelly stopped at third on the hit. Rawlings came through with a single to center, scoring Kelly and Meusel.

Here Collins took up the pitching burden for the Yanks but was unable to smoon back the attacking Giants. After Rawlings went out trying to steal, Snyder, Barnes and Burns hit out singles among frenzied rooting. With the bases full, Bancroft lifted a sacrifice fly to Ruth, scoring Snyder. Frisch walked and the National league followers broke into tumultous cheering as Young swept the bases with a tremendous three-bagger to left center. Collins then waved good-night to the crowd. Pitcher Rogers, his rescuer, threw out Kelly at first, ending the slaughter to the great relief of Yankee rooters, some of whom began to "ride" the American League champions. Twelve Giants were at bat in the inning, getting eight hits and two bases on balls for a total of eight runs. One man, Young, was left on bases.

Each team added a run to their total in the eighth inning. Frank Baker, home-run king of other days, was given a cheer when he batted for Pitcher Rogers in the Yanks' ninth, but the best he could do was to give "Irish" Meusel a long fly.

The official figures showed an attendance of 36,509 with gross receipts of $119,007, the latter again a new record. The advisory board's share of the receipts is $17,851.05, the players share $60,693.57 and the two clubs share $40,462.38.

HE'LL DO THE PUNTING FOR INDIANA

John N. Kyle in action.

The trusty boot of Captain John Kyle is counted on to keep Indiana's goal out of danger in the Big Ten gridiron battles this season. Kyle's punting was spectacular last year. He is already driving long spirals down Jordan field, on which the crimson eleven practices.

This photo of the Indiana leader was snapped a few days ago during practice. The Hoosiers meet Harvard October 8 and Coach Stiehm is prepping his squad now for that battle, one of the first of the big east-west clashes.

BOY SCOUTS READY TO TACKLE IOWA PARK HIGH TODAY

Commencing at 10 a. m., Troop Six of the local Boy Scouts will tackle the strong Iowa Park High school team at Athletic park. Those in charge of the teams announced Friday that there would be no charge of admission to see the game.

Coach Jimmie Allred will start practically the same team today that has been trampling on scout teams of the city during the past month. In the backfield, Park Machecknev will start at quarter; Claude Harris at fullback; Guy Taylor, the sensational broken field runner, will play at half with Herman Staton as his running mate.

Robert Haley will take his place at center. Joseph Fallin and Leeland Miller will start at guards with Marconi Hobbs and Charlie Yeith playing at tackle positions. The wing positions will be taken care of by Peyton Thurman and Johnie Rogers. In reserve the sixers will have Dudley Skeen, Don Cameron for the backfield, and Edgar Smith, George Bolin, Lindel Stone and Ewert Morgan.

Paul Rowden will handle the whistle while J. N. Hall, local High school teacher, will officiate as umpire.

WISDOM and WORSE

By C. F. C.

My word! When those Giants awoke from their long slumber they certainly put in a lot of over-time at bat! I hate to brag about myself, but lissen—didn't I say it would be Toney and Shawkey, and that the Giants would win yesterday? Yes, I know I guessed the score would be 6 to 4; but that was only a guess. When I predicts, I PREDICTS!

Mister Babe Ruth still ranks as one of the greatest strike-out sluggers who ever participated in a world series, while Kelly, clean-up clouter for the Giants, is even worse. At the moment of going to press Ruth's batting is frequently reminiscent of the style of Rube Marshall.

Frisch continues to be the one and only truly great star of the series to date, eliminating all pitchers from consideration and merely studying the work of the daily participants. Every man on each club is playing a splendid fielding game, but in all-around ability "The Fordham Flash" stands out as the greatest ball player of them all. In hitting, fielding, base running and baseball brains he is the cock o' the walk thus far.

Huggins and McGraw have played out their pitching strings. Their best twirlers have each had a crack at the enemy, and there is no one left except Harper for the Yanks and Slim Sallee for the Giants. I'm afraid I'm going to shatter a swell reputation as a prophet if I try to name today's boxmen. The Yanks may send Bob Shawkey back again to the hill, and the Giants may again wish the hurling job on Toney; or Huggins may give the assignment to Carl Mays, with Phil Douglas on the mound for McGraw's men—but I incline to the belief Huggins will take a chance on young Harper, knowing that at worst the series can only be tied and that Mays will be getting his full rest; while the Little Napoleon will call on Toney to stage a come-back. I may be away off on this hunk o' dope, but it's my own line o' bull—didn't pay a cent fur it; figured it all out myselluf. How CAN one man be SO bright!

Those twenty hits of the Giants looked more like 1921 batting. In fact, yesterday's game throughout bore a striking resemblance to the kind of baseball the public has learned to expect.

Let the dopesters point to one beautiful fielding play after another in the 1921 world series; let them call attention to the thefts of home plate by McNally and Bob Meusel; let them wax enthusiastic over the busted gate receipts record—but when all is said and done, it appears to me the one outstanding feature was the remarkable pitching in the two games of Wednesday and Thursday; or, rather, the remarkable inability of good batters to hit.

From the start of the 1921 season the papers have been filled with comment on the "livelier ball." Magnates, managers, umpires, players all have agreed that the ball is livelier. Infielders have been nearly "undressed" by lightning line smashes; many players have been hurt; home runs and triples and two-baggers have been the rule, not the exception. Good pitchers and indifferent pitchers have been pounded unmercifully. Outfielders have been run ragged chasing mighty wallops back to the fence.

And yet, despite this season of terrific hitting, two ball clubs numbering on their rosters some of the hardest hitters in the game today, meet in a world series and between them in two games can only make 17 hits for a total of 20 bases. The Yankees in two games compile 10 hits for 11 bases, and the Giants in two games gather 7 hits for 9 bases. Just think of that, gang!

It is contrary to all season precedent, even to all post-season precedent. Look at the slugging that featured the Memphis-Fort Worth series, and the big scores rolled up; observe that the Louisville Colonels annihilated Jack Dunn's wonderful Baltimore Orioles, 16 to 1, in the opening game of that "junior world series"—I tell you, it is nothing short of amazing, this strange Yankee-Giant batting slump. In every inning of those two games I waited momentarily for the bombardment to begin—and the same old story of three up and three down was repeated over and over.

Douglas, Nehf, Mays and Hoyt all hurled wonderful ball; super-ball, under the circumstances, I would call it. Some may argue that the record of these two games proves the baseball in professional use today is not the livelier, but I disagree; there has been altogether too much substantial proof advanced throughout the season that the ball IS livelier. Personally, I have played baseball all summer in the Twilight League here in Wichita Falls, using the standard baseball in use in the big leagues—and there have been times without number when the speed of that blooming spisere has dumfounded your Uncle Dudley!

The huge crowds, the excitement, the keen rivalry between the two New York teams, all these things, I figure, must simply have keyed those four twirlers up to the point where they were putting everything they had on every ball pitched. I cannot account for such an amazing batting slump otherwise.

WORLD SERIES ODDS AND ENDS

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—Waite Hoyt, youthful pitching hero of the second world's series game, was happy today in the realization of a secret ambition—to beat the club that turned him loose on his venture into the big league.

A mere school boy, just out of Erasmus Hall High School, Brooklyn, in 1915, Hoyt was signed by Manager McGraw of the Giants, but was quickly released to the minors.

The Giants' chief sat on the bench yesterday gladly watching the cast off turn the National leaguers back with two scant hits for a 3 to 0 victory.

The young twirler, now only 22 years old, was as cool and sure of himself as a Mathewson. "He had everything, plus," as the experts say.

But his father who had share the son's ambition was as excited as Waite traditionally should have been. The elder Hoyt saw his boy win everlasting fame in baseball's hall of records and was one of the first to congratulate him in the clubhouse after the game. Surrounded by a crowd of fans, the father told and retold of the boy's early career so often that he almost forgot to go home for supper.

Bob Meusel tipped off everybody—indeluding the Giants' catcher—that he was going to steal home in the eighth inning yesterday. Meusel and Catcher Smith had a little altercation when the former went to bat and Meusel ended by telling Smith to "watch for me when I get around to third.

After hitting safely and being advanced to third, Meusel decided to make the threat good.

"I told Fewster (coaching at third) to tell them I was coming in," Meusel said.

The coacher wigwagged to the Yankee bench and even ran up to whisper something in the ear of Ward at bat. Then having imparted all this information Meusel tore in as Nehf wound up for the pitch. Smith muffled the throw—a passed ball. But the stolen base counted and so did the score.

Babe Ruth has some ideas of his own about what is news. The most "snapped" man of the series thought enough pictures of him had been taken yesterday, when he was asked to pose for the 101st time during the day.

"Here, why not take a picture of my glove instead," said the home run president. It was a new idea for the photographer and he complied, with Babe holding up the inside of his outfielder's mitt, close to the lens. The glove is far from handsome.

Jack Chesbro, whose wild pitch on the last day of 1904 season prevented the Yankees from winning a pennant, saw his old team in a world's series contest yesterday. It was the first time he had seen an American league club in action since he retired from the diamond. Chesbro pitched the Yankees to 41 victories in 1904, a record for modern baseball. He led the National league in 1901 and 1902, pitching for Pittsburgh.

HIGH ELEVEN MUST DEFEAT ELECTRA TODAY

By C. F. CARTER

The Wichita Falls high school football eleven will tackle an aggregation of "hard-boiled eggs" this afternoon at Athletic Park, when Electra high trots out her best to give 'em battle. The local boys have succeeded in holding both Vernon and Bowie to scoreless ties, but nothing less than a decisive victory over Electra today will satisfy the team's followers.

Both Vernon and Bowie should have been defeated. The red and black eleven this season has the greatest wealth of material in the history of local high school football—and this statement applies both to quantity and quality. Despite that fact, the holding tf two weaker teams to scoreless ties is the best mark thus far on the Wichita High record book. Electra has always turned out splendid teams, even when outweighed by her opponents; teams that have gloriously smeared the red and black repeatedly—and this season the Electra crew already has waded through Henrietta 55 to 0.

It may be asking a great deal, but the fact remains that the supporters of the local high school eleven will NOT be satisfied unless Electra is beaten today. This is the year, today is the day, to wipe out past defeats. The red and black line can be counted upon to hold, and the red and black backfield can be counted upon to gain on line smashes—now it's up to the boys to watch the open game; to spread that secondary defense in such a manner that an aerial attack cannot penetrate it; it's up to every man on the team to play football with his head as well as with his muscles.

Let's go! Pack that grandstand at 4:00 o'clock.

HI SCHOOL GRID CHAMPIONSHIP PLANS MADE

By ROY D. HENDERSON

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 7.—High school football is opening up in all sections of the state with unprecedented interest, according to reports reaching the University Interscholastic League Bureau. During the first week fifty-three games were reported from which some interesting reverses are shown over last year. Lone Oak defeated Celestte in their 1920 contest 32 to 0, while Celeste came back this season winning 29 to 6. Last fall Commerce played Sulphur Springs to a 0-0 tie, but could not stop the plunges of the Hopkins county boys this year and lost 27 to 0. Livingston easily defeated Conroe a year ago 12-3, but Conroe turned the tables last week and blanked their former victors 130. Mineola scored almost at will against Athens last fall, winning 38-7, while this year failure upon the part of Athens to kick goal lost them their opportunity to tie the count.

Usually many accidents occur early in the season, but few have been reported so far. A player on the Sweetwater team had his writ broken in the game with Haskell. In the Calvert-Groesbeck contest a boy from Groesbeck sustained a fractured collar bone and a member of the Corpus Christi team suffered the same accident in their game with Aransas Pass.

With the hope of finally deciding the state championship the Interscholastic League has divided the state into twelve sections for competition and will use the results as reported to determine the sectional champions first. A schedule of eliminations will then be arranged between these leaders. The undefeated teams so far according to the sections follow in a list which will become smaller as the season progresses:

Section 1: Amarillo, Canadian, Canyon, Childress, Farwell, Floydada, Lubbock, McLean, Miami, Plainview, Quanah, Shamrock, Tulia, Wheeler.

Section 2: Abilene, Breckenridge, Comanche, Cisco, DeLeon, Haskell, Ranger, San Angelo, Stamford.

Section 3: Big Spring, Pecos, Fort Stockton.

Section 4: Bowie, Cleburne, Decatur, Electra, Fort Worth, Senior High, Fort Worth North Side, Henrietta, Masonic Home, Mineral Wells, Weatherford, Wichita Falls.

Section 5: Celeste, Forney, Greenville, Sherman, Sulphur Springs, Terrell.

Section 6: Longview, Marshall, Mineola, Nacogdoches, Texarkana, Tyler, Winnsboro.

Section 7: Calvert, Corsicana, Hillsboro, Italy, Itasca, Marlin, Meridian, Rosebud, Temple, Waxahachie, West.

Section 8: El Campo, Houston Heights, Port Arthur, Sour Lake.

Section 9: Bryan, Conroe, Navasota.

Section 10: Austin, Georgetown, Llano, San Antonio (Breckenridge High), San Antonio (Main Avenue), Taylor.

Section 11: Eagle Lake, Flatonia.

Section 12: Brownsville, Corpus Christi, Del Rio, Donna, Mercedes, Robinal, Taft.

FRESHMEN OF TEXAS U. HAVE FAST TEAM

By L. L. ENGELKING.

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 7.—Coach Clyde Littlefield is again directing the pigskin destinies of the freshman football team this year, and has even a better aggregation of talent out this season. More than 100 sweating Freshies toil and grunt over the pigskin every evening under the tutelage of Littlefield. Last year's Freshman team was a hummer and one that has contributed much to making the prospective 1921 Varsity; but it can't hold a candle beside the current outcrop of the class of 1925, so the dopsters say.

Every evening they go to it, they fight over the old pigskin; they do everything in the football line out there on Brackenridge field, sometimes referred to as "Breakneck Field," on account of its roughness. More than one-third of his hopefuls are more than six feet tall, says Littlefield. They even range 6 feet 5 inches, and the mentor has them all the way up to 230 pounds when they come to tip the beam. Kickers, passers and runners—they are all trying out for Freshman honors. The great trouble that Littlefield has experienced so far is the lack of football equipment, but somehow the bunch is managing to appear in various stages of moleskin attire every evening.

To aid in developing a spirit of fight and gumption, the gold footballs are being offered to members of the Freshie team this year—one for the best all-around lineman and another to the best all-around backfield man. In addition, the players receiving the footballs must have a fairly good scholastic standing. Littlefield is giving one of the footballs and Morris Silver, an Austin business man interested in University athletics, is donating the other gold football.

Last year's crop from the Littlefield system was a holy error as a team—almost as good as the champion Varsity, and on last Armistice Day the Freshmen literally mopped up on Tex Bryan's Shorthorns contrary to all expectations. This year's team is said to be even better, and speaks well for the next year's Varsity, when the Freshmen will be eligible for the big play. Elimination in the hulky squad of yearlings will begin within about a week, it is said. The Varsity coaches are rubbing their hands in glee at the splendid mass of material that is being annually developed by the Freshman team system; it has contributed more to good Varsity athletics than any other one factor perhaps.

Games have been arranged on the Freshman schedule with Westey College of Greenville, to be played at Greenville, and also with the Shorthorns and with St. Edward's College. The Thanksgiving attraction on the Austin gridiron card will be with Marshall College from East Texas. More games will be arranged later.

"YOU HIT HOME RUNS IN YOUR LEAGUE," BABE RUTH TELLS NOTED MOVIE STAR

Battering Babe Ruth smiling his darndest for camera while chatting with Hope Hampton, movie queen, at the Polo grounds.

"I guess you hit home runs in the movies, like I do in baseball," is the way Babe Ruth complimented Hope Hampton when they met during a recent game at the Polo grounds. Just as any fan would like to do, Miss Hampton "tried out" Babe's big bat with which he drops them over the wall.

RIFLES SENT TO A. & M. BY GOVERNMENT

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 7.—Ten high class specially made rifles, with a refinement reaching the highest of any used by the U. S. government, have been received at the A. & M. College of Texas form the executive officer in charge of government equipment at Camp Perry, Ohio, for the use of the men in the infantry unit of the reserve officers' training corps who are picked for places on the rifle team that will represent Texas A & M. at the National rifle shoot at Camp Perry next year.

Six thousand rounds of special ammunition, loaded with 180 grams of powder instead of 150 grams as ordinarily used and with tin coated bullets to avoid deposits in the rifle barrels, also was sent for use in the practice work with the new guns.

Texas A. & M. is the only school entering the National shoot the past September to be given these special rifles and ammunition.

In the shoot the Texas A & M. team defeated every R. O. T. C. team that won in the preliminary matches held at the summer training camps and was defeated for the championship by a civilian team picked from the state of South Carolina by the governor of the state.

VANDERBILT-TEXAS GAME EXPECTED TO DRAW THOUSANDS

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 7.—Tickets are now on sale in Austin at the office of the Athletic Council of the University of Texas for the Vanderbilt-Texas game to be played in Dallas on October 27. According to L. Theo Bellmont the sale will be heavy and all desiring seats should order them early. Alumni of Vanderbilt University have already reserved a section of 600 seats and it is expected that 3,000 Texas alumni and students will attend the game. Texas rooters will occupy seats in the center on the west side of the field. The price of the tickets can be had by writing to L. Theo Bellmont, director of physical training, University of Texas.

DUNN'S ORIOLES AND LOUISVILLE KERNELS ENJOY A DAY OFF

ALEXA AND MISS HOLLINS IN PLAY FOR GOLF TITLE

DEAL, N. J., Oct. 7.—Miss Alexa Stirling, of Atlanta, and Miss Marion Hollins, of New York, will play tomorrow for the woman's national golf championship.

In the semi-finals today Miss Stirling defeated Mrs. Vanderbeck of Philadelphia, one up at at the home green. Miss Hollins defeated Miss Elaine Rosenthal of Chicago one up, 19 holes.

Miss Stirling defeated Mrs Vanderbeck for the third time in a national tournament, because her occasional brilliance offset otherwise erratic golf. Never was there more than a difference of one hole between them.

Miss Hollins' superior driving and approaching told for her in the end, although Miss Rosenthal was one up after playing the sixteenth, having demonstrated putting that made up for bad tee shots and difficulties with the traps.

FITTS EXPLAINS TRAFFIC LAW TO AUTO DEALERS

An interesting talk in explanation of the new traffic ordinances by Police Commissioner Fitts proved the feature of the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Wichita Falls Automotive Dealers Association, held in the Wichita club quarters Friday evening. President Booth was in the chair again at the meeting.

Praise for the splendid co-operation which he said had been given by the club in the enforcement of traffic regulations, was voiced by Mr. Fitts in his talk.

The volunteer policemen selected from the ranks of the association were instructed in their duties by Mr. Fitts.

He declared that the traffic signs donated by the association and placed on the busy street intersections has eliminated 50 per cent of the accidents at these intersections, the necessity for slowing down to round the signals lessening danger to motorists and pedestrians alike.

In closing, the speaker extended a cordial invitation to the members of the association to take part in the Fire Prevention Day parade to be held Tuesday morning.

J. M. McFall pointed out the great good which could be accomplished by the association if its members would agree to go before the children in the various schools of the city and make short addresses to the children on the necessity of looking first to the left and then to the right when crossing a street. Members will be selected at a future date to make these educational talks.

Frank Queisser submitted a credit report which will be adopted by the association. Through the system employed by Mr. Queisser, every member of the association will receive the benefit of the experience of every other dealer in handling the question of credits. The membership expressed itself as being highly pleased with the splendid work done by Mr. Queisser and hearty co-operation was promised him in perfecting the new system.

BRITISH NOW LEARNING MORE OF ENGLAND

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Engl'sh are beginning to "see England." The motor bus and charabane threaten to make the Britan a tourist in his own land.

Only the third-class passenger and the "lower middle class" have been bitten by the travel bug as yet, but that is a beginning, and today one can see the unprecedented sight of scores, even hundreds of English being guided about over their own historic towns.

It is difficult, England, to find anyone who has, for instance, visited Stratford, that mecca of all American tourists. S ofar as Merry England is concerned, Will Rogers may be right in intimating that of the two he is the William who is famous.

The upper class Englishman bowls through his country to some hotel with the cryptic "R. A. C." or "R. A. C." sign above its door, testifying that the automobile associations have given it a report equivalent to a Bradstreet "AA-1." He and his family go to their favorite seaside resorts and to the inland watering places by train or motor, and the musty castles are lumped in his mind as something to be unloaded on American millionaires, and devil take the guide books.

Beneath his notice also are the bus and charabane routes which have grown by miracle in two years until they make a network of England. The upper class Englishman doesn't ride buses, nor have recourse to tiered sight seeing cars that crowd nearly forty persons into a gasoline wagon that races twenty and twenty-five miles an hour through rural England.

Interurban Network.

But his "inferiors," so to speak, are not fastidious. They are making motor and bus lines rich, and, doubtless, swelling the dividends which permit the swank of the land to roll along in Rolls-Royce style.

The ordinary folk, of no particular lineage, have discovered that they can hop a bus approximately at their doorstep and ride high in the air, overlooking high brick walls, twenty or so, for a shilling or two. And that, if they desire, they can take a small portion of "luggage" and spend days transferring from one bus line to another and from one charabane trip to another, traveling always through England's most beautiful country and visiting historic and picturesque spots for the sight of which Americans must pay hundreds and thousands of dollars.

Even the small towns have become real motor centres. On hotel bulletin boards of such towns as Oxford, Coventry, Canterbury, Folkstone, Ilfracombe—small towns all—are lists of ten or a dozen separate carbane trips to points of interest some of them providing a swing of as much as 150 miles on a single day's journey.

At any point of interest three or four of these giants of the road are to be found parked at almost any time of the day. Along the main roads they travel literally in droves. Every suburb of London has its two or three big garages whose chief business is charabanc trips, carrying in cost from seventyfive cents to $4 for a full twelve-hour journey.

"See England First."

Simultaneously the two-deck motor bus, the universal means of transportation in London, where there are comparatively few street car lines, have crept further and further into the country. County lines have been established. The buses are drawing rural England into closer contact with the towns, and one district into contact with another, just as the growth of interurban electric lines did in America twenty years ago.

Demonstrating touring possibilities of these fixed route bus lines a newspaper reporter has traveled from Dover to Blackpool, diagonally across England, a distance of about 350 miles, in five days at a cost of $10 in fares, entirely on bus top. Connections over a greater distance doubtless can be made by charabone.

In th cold days the traditional tourist was an elected leader, who reads aloud from a "tupenny" guide book, may be seen everywhere, brushing up on English history. Pure cockney is spoken in the land of Shakespeare by a horde of native invaders, who have adopted the slogan "See England First."

HI SCHOOL STUDENTS TO PUBLISH PAPER TWICE EACH MONTH

With the completion of plans for the semi-monthly newspaper to be published by the students of Junior high school under the direction of T. B. Maddrey, member of the faculty, Robert Carter, student, was Friday announced as editor-in-chief. The business management of the paper will be in the hands of Francis Whaley and Jack Moore.

To give every student in the school a hand in naming the publication a ballot will be distributed early next week and every student is to submit a name by which the paper is to be known. The final decision will be in the hands of Mrs. Lois Holland, Miss Jennie Morgan and Mr. Maddrey.

It is expected that the first copy of the paper will be off the press near the close of next week.

Under the present plans reporters will be chosen for a period of two weeks service from the different classes in order to give experience to as many different students as possible.

On the completion of the building programs of the world powers, the number of ships in each navy will be: Great Britain, 965; United States, 608; Japan, 170; France 253; Italy 245. The total tonnage of the navies will be: Great Britain, 2,772,542; United States 2,117,922; Japan 785,239; France, 719,237; Italy 500,000.

In the Island of Rhodes honey is still a factor in the marriage rites. After the wedding the husband dips his finger in honey and traces a cross over the doorway of his home before the bride enters. Meanwhile the spectators cry out to the bride, "Be always good and sweet as is this honey."

Eagles have been noticed flying at a hight of 6,000 feet.

JONES COUNTY FARMERS ARE DIVERSIFYING

Truck and Fruit Growing and Stock Farming Making New Converts All the Time.

A. J. MaGee Tells of His Achievements as an Orchardist and Vegetable Grower.

STAMFORD, Texas, Oct. 7.—The Stamford Chamber of Commerce has added to its program of aiding the country the encouragement of truck and fruit growing. Sometime ago it took up the plan of encourngin stock farming in this section and is making good headway. Already quite a few farmers have agreed to turn their attention more to stock farming, especially along the lines of dairying and hog raising.

At the weekly luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. MaGee of what is known as the Shinnery district of Jones county, were special guests of the organization and Mr. MaGee told the business men what his own farm in that belt was producing. To show more than words would tell, he brought a large apple raised on his farm for each member, many of the apples measuring as much as twelve inches in circumference.

The farmer stated that he had raised more than five hundred bushels of apples on his shinnery farm, besides large quantities of peaches, plums, water melons, potatoes and garden truck of every description. He also told the business men that his cellar contained canned fruit and vegetables enough to run him for more than two years, all of which he canned with his own plant.

In conclusion, Mr. MaGee gave the town people some sage advice about along these lines; first, that there were thousands of acres of fruit and truck land in cultivation in the shinnery district, which is about twelve miles from Stamford, and that with some organized effort in marketing and selection of seeds, etc., that this section could be made the most profitable section of the country, and would be able not only to feed Jones county but many other places. This he strongly urged.

Again he advised every lot owner in Stamford to plant a few peach, a few plum, a few apricots, a few pears, and similar trees on said lot. That these trees would not only produce a nice shade and ornamental trees, but would in most instances afford enough fruit for any family that lived on the lot.

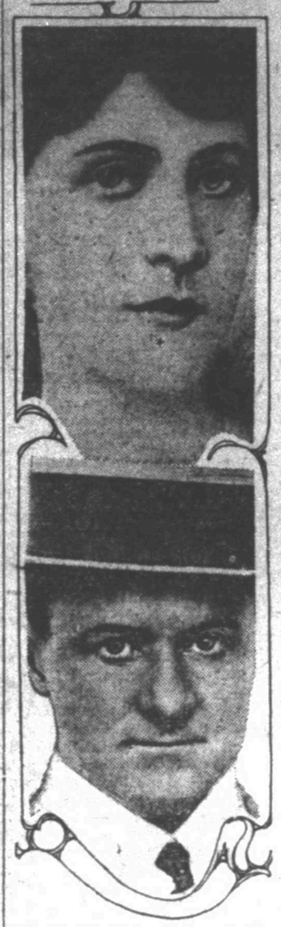

Mr. McGee's talk made a deep impression because it was shown that many farmers in the shinnery district were hoping that the Stamford business men would give full co-operation in the efforts being put forth by them. He was given the full assurances by the Chamber of Commerce that the farmers in that section would have their help, and a committee will be appointed to take the matter up without delay.

MOB FAILS TO GET NEGRO IN DALLAS JAIL

By Associated Press.

DALLAS, Oct. 7.—Fifty men from Tarrant county, bent on lynching David Bunn, negro, under indictment at Fort Worth for robbery of a house party at Lake Worth Tuesday night, dispersed here shortly before daylight today after Sheriff Dan Harston convinced them they could not enter the Dallas county jail, where Bunn had been spirited for safe keeping.

The men came to Dallas in automobiles after a mob of nearly 1,000 men had gathered around the Tarrant county jail last night and dispersed only after the Fort Worth officers had permitted a committee to go through the jail and satisfy the crowd that Bunn was not there. Twelve automobiles immediately headed for Dallas where their fifty occupants, after looking over the big eight story jail building, approached the main entrance, where they were met by Sheriff Harston and Police Captain John Ryan.

"We want the black," a member of the mob shouted

"Boys," the sheriff said, "it's no use to try this, you'd better go home."

A spokesman for the crowd asked permission to send a committee through the jail.

"Nothing doing, not a single one of you can enter this jail," Harston replied.

There was considerable whispering among the crowd which began to break up into small groups. These were broken up by police, who arrested four members of the mob. After talking to the arrested men at police headquarters, they were released. Police said they were unarmed.

FORT WORTH, Oct. 7.—David Bunn, negro, under indictment in connection with a daring attack and robbery of a camping party at Lake Worth, was spirited to Dallas by officers after an unsuccessful attempt last night of a crowd to storm the Tarrant county jail.

About 1,000 persons gathered around the jail last night, hunting the negro. A committee, headed by the owner of the Lake Worth camps, went through the jail, but failed to find the prisoner they sought. The city jail likewise was searched. The crowd then dispersed, several automobiles loaded with men going to Dallas.

NEW YORK SUGAR.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Raw sugar was quiet and unchanged today. Prices were quoted at 4.13 for Porto Rico and Philippine centrifugals and 4.23 for Cubas. Raw sugar futures were easier under commission house selling. Closing prices were 2 to 3 points net lower for active positions with December at 2.36; March 2.28; May 2.35; July 1.47. Refined sugar prices were unchanged at 5.50 for fine granulated. In refined futures there were a few scattered sales of October and December and closing prices were unchanged to 10 points net lower. December closed at 5.40; March at 5.35 and May at 5.40.

NEW YORK COFFEE.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Coffee futures opened 3 points higher to 2 points lower and held steady right after the call on some trade buying of near months. After this demand had been supplied, however, prices worked off from 7.99 to 7.92 for December under scattered realizing and the close was lowest, showing net losses of 3 to 7 points.

Sales were estimated at about 14,000 bags. October 7.76; December 7.91; January 7.93; March 7.97; May 8.20; July 8.07; September 8.07.

Spot coffee very steady; Rio 7's 8 1-4 to 8 3-8; Santos 4's 11 1-2 to 12 1-2.

DUNNE URGES NEGROES TO OPPOSE KU KLUX

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Edward F. Dunne, former governor and head of the Illinois branch of the National Unity Council, speaking last night before the Chicago branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, condemned the Ku Klux Klan as an organization "breathing enmity and hate to millions of fellow citizens of this great land."

He expressed the hope that the National Unity Council which opposes the Klan, "will unite all American citizens in good fellowship."

Stocks

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The cleavage between artificial and actual conditions in the securities market became more clearly defined today. Trading in stocks was rather perfunctory, while the investment inquiry assumed more impressive proportions.

Aside from the extensive transactions in liberty bonds and victory notes, with most of the former at new high prices for the year, announcement was made of the successful flotation o ftwo foreign loans, The Rio de Janeiro and Queensland, (Australia) offerings, each for $12,000, were dominated by speculative shares, chiefly secondary domestic oils. These were lifted one to three points, evidently under professional propulsion, on the further advance of prices made by producers of crude products.

Mexican and European oils also were better in the absence of pressure, although reports dealing unfavorably with some of the foreign owned Mexican properties were once more actively circulated.

Standard rails and industrials participated only moderately in general movement and miscellaneous issues, excepting motor specialties and utilities, were inclined to strengthen. The list reacted before the close, however, call money's rise to 5½ per cent, causing fresh selling of leaders including Mexican petroleum. Sales amounted to 535,000 shares.

Foreign exchanges were erratic, sterling holding its advance, French, Belgian and Italian rates easing variably and most of the eastern European remittances again weakening on the more disquieting conditions in those countries. Of the so-called neutral centers, Spanish, Swiss and Swedish bills were strong.

Railroad bonds of the minor or convertible type were active and higher. Mexican government fours and Chile copper sixes were strongest of the foreign group. Total sales par value $17,650,000.

DRY GOODS

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Cotton goods very firm with trading quieter for the day. Combed yarns advanced again. Some advances were made on staple hosiery offerings for spring underwear made by one large jobber showed reductions from last year varying from 12½ to 20 per cent. Wool markets were firmer. Burlaps were easy. Linen cambrics and sheet goods advanced in mill centers.

Grain

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Urgent selling based on reports of elevator congestion here and in the south and southwest had a depressing effect on the wheat market today. Closing quotations were heavy, 3 1-4c to 4 1-4c net lower, with December 1.09 1-2 to 1.09 3-4 and May 1.13 3-4 to 1.14. Corn lost 3-4@7-8 to 1c and oats 1 5-8c to 2c. In provisions the outcome varied from unchanged figures to 35 cents decline.

It was during the last half of the session that the setback in the value of wheat took place. Earlier the tendency was chiefly in favor of higher prices scattered speculative buying developed on account of a halt in liquidation and short selling. Later, however, support was lacking and with persistent offerings, especially from houses wtih Northwestern connections, the market rapidly gave way. The bearish gossip included assertions that unless conferances from New Orleans soon increased it would be necessary to put a railroad embargo against that port. The finish was ata lowest prices this season.

Corn and oats declined with wheat. Oats followed wheat to a new low price record for 1921.

In provisions the effect of the weakness of grain more than counter-balanced higher quotations on hogs.

STEAMER USED AS TROOPER RETURNED TO MALLORY LINE

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The passenger steamship Henry R. Mallory, one of the first ships requisitioned by the government as a troop carrier in 1917 has been restored to the New York-Galveston trade, it was announced today by the Mallory line.

The steamship after the armistice was used for a time in the Mediterranean trade and recently has been running to Cuba and Mexico.

Cotton

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Yesterday's rallies were followed by renewed nervousness and declining prices in the cotton market today. After selling at 20.40 early, December broke to 19.87 or 61 points below last night's closing quotation and closed at 19.83 with the general market closing steady at a net decline of 30 to 54 points.

Liverpool was better than due but the market here opened barely steady at a decline of 36 to 54 points under overnight orders from the south and liquidation by yesterday's buyers. There were rallies right after the call which carried October up to 20.30 and January to 20.00, or two to fifteen points net higher, but this bulge met increased offerings accompanied by reports of a less active spot demand. The trade buying which had been such a prominent feature on the advance here during the previous day also appeared to be working with the market showing greater sensitiveness to selling orders in consequence. October was relatively quieted and firm but sold off to 19.81 or 34 points net lower, while January broke to 19.40, or 58 points below last night's closing. Last prices were a few points up from the lowest on covering. Of today's spot sales of 10,000 bales reported in the English market only 6,000 were American. An unusually large proportion of the daily spot sales in Liverpool lately has represented outside growths and an active business has been reported in Peruvian cotton of which Liverpool holds a large stock.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

By Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 7.—The tendency in cotton today was lower and under what was generally set down as liquidation of long contracts over the week-end, on the first call the more active months were 1 to 8 points up, but almost immediately the market commenced to sag and the downward trend was still in evidence late in the day when prices were 57 to 68 points under the close of yesterday. Last prices were at net losses of 50 to 65 points. December sold up to 20.04 in early trading, fell off to 19.37 toward the end and closed at 19.43 cents a pound.

Better sales were responsible for the small opening gains, but the response to Liverpool was only faint hearted and during remainder of the day, bullish news did no more than steady the market at the decline. Mill takings were large, 249,000 bales for the week against 190,000 this week last year, and 240,000 this week two years ago, and many reports were received from the interior saying that ginning was nearing completion. Some points in Texas wired in that gins were running only two days a week.

The weaker outlook was unfavorable, owing to the cold wave approaching the belt from the northwest. During the day, messages from portions or North Texas and Oklahoma told of much lower temperatures.

New Orleans liquidation of long continued and in the trading up to 19.06 the market was sent 36 to 50 points under the last prices of yesterday to 19.52 for December.

LIVERPOOL SPOTS

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 7.—Spot cotton in fair demand; prices firm. Good middling 15.16; fully middling 14.66; middling 14.21; low middling 13.06; good ordinary 11.91; ordinary 11.18. Sales 10,000 bales, including 8,500 American.

COTTON OIL

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Heavy selling by refiners and a renewal of liquidation carried cottonseed oil still lower today. The south appeared to be buying on a scale down. Closing bids were 16 to 21 points net lower. Sales 28,700 barrels. Prime crude 725 sales; prime summer yellow spot 8.75@9.25; December 8.97; March 9.18 and May 9.24, all bid.

Livestock

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 7.—Outside buying was a factor that contributed to the activity of today's market. Stocker buyers took over a number of common and medium weight calves at prices around $4 to $4.25, and this caused packers to pay more for such calves as they desired, good light calves selling up to $6.15. Packers secured steers at $5.25. The cattle market was strong on all kinds. Receipts amounted to 1,000 head of cattle and 1,500 calves.

With only 800 hogs here and several buyers after supplies, the hog market gained 15 to 25 cents and the trade was active on that basis. Pigs also gained considerably, the advance measuring around 25 to 35c. Best hogs brought $8.10 and the bulk of the run went at $7.50 to $8. Best pigs sold at $7.85.

Sheep house receipts reached only 200 head. Market conditions were quoted unchanged.

Quotations:

Cattle beeves $3@5.75; stockers $3@4.50; cows $2@4; canners $1.50@2; heifers $3@6; yearlings $3.50 to 6.50; bulls $1.50@2.75; calves $2@6.25.

Hogs, light 7.85@8.10; medium $7.50@7.85; mixed $7.25@7.50; common $6.25@7.25; heavy $7.50@7.75; rough heavy $5.50@6.25; pigs $7@7.85; stags $5@6.

Sheep, lambs $5.50@7.75; yearlings $4.50@5.25; wethers $4.50@4.75; ewes $3.50@3.75; culls $1@2; goats $1@2; stocker sheep $2@3; stocker lambs $5@6.

KANSAS CITY LIVE STOCK

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 7.—Cattle, 1,300; beef steers steady to strong; top $8.25; other sales $4.25@8.00; other classes steady; few heifers $6; most cows below $4.00; odd vealers $9.50@10.00.

Hogs 1,800; fairly active, around steady, with yesterday's average; best lights and mediums to packers and shippers $8.15; bulk mixed droves $7.50@7.90; bulk of sales $7.25@8.10; pigs steady, few at $8.40.

Sheep 4,000; few sales sheep steady; lambs weak to 10c lower; early top westerns $8.40.

BUSINESS REVIVING SAYS DUN'S

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Duns tomorrow will say:

Recognition of the unfavorable features which still prevail, the fact is never the less clear that business is reviving gradually. Some of the current improvement is seasonal, a sudden turn to lower temperature quickening retail trading, but gains also appear which plainly are not due to weather influences.

Movements in basic industries are especially important because of their direct and indirect bearing on different lines, and a further recovery in iron and steel and lumber, among other branches, serves to strengthen sentiment. The Pacific Northwest reports an enlarging demand for lumber from the east, while iron and steel output at leading centers is rising above the point of extreme depression of last summer. Such phases as these do not measure fully the scope of the economic recuperation, but are representative of the constructive changes that are in progress and tend to modify the unsatisfactory aspects which continue present. Weekly bank clearings $6,528,249,000.

Half Hundred Students Added To Aamteur Cast

Judging by the announcements of the cast as selected thus far the Business Women's Club will have to use a shoehorn to assemble on the stage of the Wichita theater at one time all the local actors and actresses who will take part in the club's production of the musical play, "Springtime." Yesterday 50 High school pupils were named to take part in the principal dancing numbers of the production.

One of the dancing features will be a special number by the maids of honor and groomsmen of the play, with the following High school students participating:

Misses Frances Mulligan, Cleo Ferguson, Cecil McCurdy, Gertrude Datson; Messrs. Edward Kadane, Darree Kahn and Paul Pearson, the last named taking the leading role of "Tom Higgins" in the dance.

The High school boys and girls will rehearse at 2:00 o'clock this afternoon, the rehearsal concluding in time to permit them all to attend the football at Athletic Park between the Wichita Falls and Electra High school elevens.

SMALL BLAZE IN STORE ROOM OF NATIONAL CAPITOL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Fire in a paper storage vault filled the corridors of the capitol with smoke last night and made it difficult for firemen to reach the blaze. It was located after a two hour search, however, and quickly extinguished after negligible damage.

FIRE DESTROYS SHOP OF ROCK ISLAND ROAD

PRATT, Kan., Oct. 7.—Damage estimated at $200,000 was caused here tonight when fire of unknown origin destroyed the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific shops. Twenty-five box cars were included in the property loss.

MINK WORKS WITH CIRCUS FOR TRAINING

Various champions of pugilism and other sports are entered the show business and Arnold Minkler, A. A. U. wrestling champion, has done likewise. Mink figures the best way to keep fit, is to work every day, so he joined the Gentry Bros. show, which is to exhibit in Wichita Falls on October 18th, and takes on all comers.

Periods of idleness have long been the bane of all classes of champions and Mink doesn't intend to have to go through a 'course of sprouts" just previous of his next big battle; besides, every city has some "hard guy" and if there is anything now under the sun in wrestling, Mink is apt to run foul of it, meeting different men every day.

Mink does not bar anybody; does not draw the line at any hold, and any local man that "stays with him" fifteen minutes will receive $50 for his work; Mink is especially desirous of meeting the "wrestling cop" who, he has heard, lives here, and promises all professional courtesy will be extended.

Dated Aug. 30th, 1921

THE STATE OF TEXAS
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita County, Greeting:
YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to cause to be published once each week for a period of twenty days before the return day hereof, in a newspaper of general circulation, which has been continuously and regularly published for a period of not less than one year in said Wichita County, a copy of the following notice:

THE STATE OF TEXAS
To all persons interested in the estate of Hank E. Taylor, Deceased:
Know Ye That D. P. Taylor, Administrator, has filed in the County Court of Wichita County an application for an order to sell the following property of said estate, situated in Wichita County, Texas, to-wit: An undivided ½ interest in and to Lot No. 3, Block No. 184 of the original townsite of Wichita Falls, Texas, which will be heard at the next term of said Court, commencing on the first Monday in December, A. D., 1921, the same being the 5th day of December, A. D. 1921, at the Court House thereof, in Wichita Falls, Texas, at which time all persons interested in said estate are required to appear and show cause why such sale should not be made, should they choose to do so.
HEREIN FAIL NOT, but have you before said Court on the said first day of the next term thereof this Writ, with your return theron, showing how you have executed the same.
GIVEN under my hand and the seal of said Court at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 7th day of October, A. D. 1921.
W. T. HARRIS,
Clerk County Court, Wichita Co., Texas.
By M. F. YEAGER, Deputy.
(Seal.)

SHERIFF'S SALE
THE STATE OF TEXAS,
COUNTY OF WICHITA.
By virtue of a certain Order of Sale issued out of the Honorable District Court of Wichita County, on the 14th day of September, 1921, by A. F. Kerr, District Clerk, against A. Paulson, for the sum of $2,762.75 and costs of suit in cause No. 9458-A in said Court, styled P. E. Kinnelman et al versus A. Paulson, and placed in my hands for service, I, Fred K. Smith, as Sheriff of Wichita County, Texas, did on the 14th day of September, 1921, levy on certain real estate situated in Wichita County, described as follows, to-wit: Being an undivided two-fifths interest in and to the oil and gas lease on 9 92-100 acres out of tract one, Epps G. Knight Sub. of North ½ of Block 72, Red River Valley lands subdivision Wichita County, Texas; second tract: being the oil and gas lease on the No. 20 acres of East 40 acres of the following described 50 acres out of Block No. 4 of the Margaret Ramsey survey in Wichita County, Texas: also the said judgment is a foreclosure of a laborer's lien on the following described property to wit: An undivided one-half interest in and to the oil and gas lease covering that certain 10 acre tract known as the Burk-Key Oil Company's lease in Block 831 T. E. & L. Company survey in Wichita County, Texas, and levied upon as the property of said A. Paulson. And on Tuesday, the 1st day of November, 1921, at the Court House Door of Wichita County, in the City of Wichita Falls, Texas, between the hours of ten a. m. and four p. m. I will sell said real estate at public vendue for cash to the highest bidder as the property of said A. Paulson, by virtue of said levy and said order of sale.
And in compliance with law I give this notice by publication in the English language once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale in the Record News, a newspaper published in Wichita County.
Witness my hand this the 6th day of October, 1921.
FRED K. SMITH,
Sheriff Wichita County, Texas.
H. C. DOKAN, Deputy.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
THE STATE OF TEXAS
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita County Greeting:—
YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to summon the Unknown Heirs of H. M. Templeton by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof in some newspaper published in your county to appear at the next regular term of the 30th District Court of Wichita County to be holden at the Court House thereof in Wichita Falls on the 3rd Monday in December A. D. 1921 the same being the 19th day of December, A. D. 1921 then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 5th day of July, A. D. 1921 in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 11138-A, wherein G. E. Friberg is Plaintiff and the unknown heirs of M. M. Templeton is Defendant, and said petition alleging that on or about the 10th day of December, 1910 plaintiff was lawfully seized and possessed of the following described real estate situated in Wichita County, Texas, owning and claiming the same in fee simple, same being all of Lot 12 out of Block 32 as per the amended plat made by J. A. Kemp to the Barwise and Jaloniek Addition to the City of Wichita Falls, Texas. That on the day and year last above mentioned, the defendants entered upon said premises and ejected the plaintiff therefrom and unlawfully withheld from plaintiff the possession thereof to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $1000.00. Plaintiff further alleges that defendants seized upon and claim all rights to said premises. Plaintiff specifically alleges that he has had peaceful and adverse possession of said real estate above described cultivating using and employing same and paying taxes thereon and claiming same under deeds duly recorded for more than 5 years next before filing this petition.
Plaintiff also alleges that he has had and held peaceful and adverse possession of said lot 12 of Block 32 of the Barwise & Jaloniek addition, in the city of Wichita Falls, cultivating, using and enjoying same for more than 10 years next preceding the filing of this petition. Plaintiff alleges that by reason of the adverse claims of the defendants that the title of plaintiff is clouded.
WHEREFORE premises considered, plaintiff pray that citation be issued by publication to the heirs of M. M. Templeton, deceased, and after due hearing that plaintiff have judgment for the title to and possession of the said premises, and that all claims of the defendants be cancelled as a cloud on plaintiff's title and that he be quieted in the title thereto and for such other and further relief as he may show himself to be entitled to.
Herein Fail Not, but have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.
GIVEN UNDER MY HAND and the Seal of said Court at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 6th day of September A. D. 1921.

CORDIAL GREETING AND BEST WISHES MAYBE WOULD SUIT

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Earl Smith, catcher of the New York Giants in Thursday's world's series game, was fined $200 today by Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, for "irregularities" behind the plate. Judge Landis gave no further explanation of the reason for punishing the player.

During the game angry words passed between Smith and Bob Meusel, right fielder for the Yankees when he came to bat. Later Meusel stole home. The Giant catcher also had a verbal battle with Umpire Moriarity, who worked at the plate.

ENDOWMENT FOR ORPHAN HOME SOUGHT

A campaign to raise a budget of $3,000 in Wichita Falls to be applied toward the endowment fund for the St. John's Colored Orphan Home, near Austin, was launched here Friday under the auspices of the local negro Baptist church, according to the announcement of Ocie Williams, negro cafe and drugstore owner and member of the local Baptist church.

The campaign is under the direction of M. P. Graham, negro field secretary, who is in this city in the interest of the fund. According to Graham the money obtained will be applied the endowment fund allotted for educational use in the $5,000,000 campaign being conducted by the negro Baptists.

The orphanage, according to Williams, includes scholastic work to about the eighth grades and specializes in manual training, home economics and other subjects intended to teach useful arts to negro orphans.

REPORT NEARS COMPLETION ON UNEMPLOYMENT

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Practical completion of a majority report on permanent measures for the betterment of business through the country was effected today by the manufacturers' committee of the national conference on unemployment.

On the question of business readjustment the majority of the committee was understood to hold the view that readjustment of wages and prices downward was a necessity precedent to a revival of the nation's industry. In connection with the readjustment process the report was understood to favor lower freight rates.

Passage of the railway funding bill for the financial relief of the carriers now pending in congress, was understood to be regarded by the report as an important step in economic betterment, while the discontinuance of functions of the railroad labor board which come in conflict with the activities of the interstate commerce commission was regarded favorably.

Legislation changing the Adamson eight hour law was understood to be suggested as a means of more readily accomplishing industrial readjustments.

On the subject of taxation the report was understood to favor lighten ing unnecessary burdens while still providing ample revenues for the government.

Lack of unanimity upon various features of the report was indicated by a committee member, who, however, declined to discuss the report until it was made public at the full conference.

The resignation of W. H. Stackhouse, of Springfield, Ohio, as chairman of the committee, which includes Samuel Gompers and Charles M. Schwab, was announced. Mr. Stackhouse said he was compelled to return home. James A. Campbell of Youngstown, Ohio, was named as his successor.

Emergency measures for the relief of unemployment adopted by the conference were said to be in operation in all parts of the country.

EXPECTING 100 AT LUNCHEON TODAY NOON

At least a hundred business men are expected to attend the opening luncheon of the Business Council of the Chamber of Commerce Saturday at the Kemp hotel when prominent business men and financiers are scheduled to speak on the signs of the times and the effects of current tendencies on the financial outlook for the individual and for the city, according to the announcement late Friday by Hubert Harrison, vice-president and general manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

C. W. Reid, vice-president of the City National Bank of Commerce, is scheduled to deliver an address on what the rising price of oil means to the financial situation and to the bankers. Mayor Walter D. Cline is scheduled to speak on what the rise means to the general situation and the city of Wichita Falls.

Speaking from the same general subject, Frank Kell will deliver a short talk on the general outlook, in which is expected to appear many references, which will prove of interest to every wide awake business man of the city. R. A. Thompson, chief engineer for the irrigation project, will tell the audience of the progress being made in his work.

According to the announcement of J. C. Mytinger, chairman of the council, who planned the program, it is expected that a decision will be made at this meeting on the policies for trade trips of the future and for the details of a citimens' mass meeting to be held immediately following the sale of bonds for the irrigation project.

Many other matters of importance to the city at large and of interest to the individual are slated to come before this initial fall and winter series of meetings of the council, according to the announcement and members of the Chamber of Commerce desiring to attend are requested to make their reservations of seats before 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Seats can be reserved by telephoning Mr. Harrison at the Chamber of Commerce.

MA BURDICK CONVENTION DELEGATE

Mrs. Burdick, well known Salvation Army worker and member of the Woman's Auxiliary, American Legion, was elected state delegate to the national convention at Kansas City at the closing session of the Texas Department, Woman's Auxiliary, American Legion, Friday afternoon, at Houston, according to a telegram received here by R. C. Thaxton from his wife who also attended the sessions.

Mrs. A. H. Carrigan, although not in attendance at the sessions was elected alternate delegate, according to the information received here. The national convention meets in Kansas City on the same dates of the American Legion national, which opens on October 31 and lasts through November 3.

Mrs. Burdick and Mrs. Thaxton, who were delegates to the Texas convention from Wichita Falls are expected to arrive here Saturday.

AMERICANS AND BRITISH LOCKED IN SHIP WAR

Fighting for Cotton Tonnage From Egypt to the United States; Board Cut Rates.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Shippers of Egyptian cotton from Alexandria have been offered a rate to American ports ten shillings under that quoted by the British shipping conference, which now controls the business, shipping board officials disclosed today. The new rate is effective immediately and one American cotton user, who did not sign the contract offered by British interests is already moving his business at the low figure, it was said.

Action by the shipping board was taken after negotiations in England through which American participation in the Alexandria cotton movement to American markets were sought, were broken off by the board's representative. Board officials made it plain that they were preparing to fight for the business of a straight competitive basis and felt that in the course of the British negotiations they had met treatment that made them welcome the fight.

A statement issued in connection with the breaking off of negotiations said:

"As a result of direct negotiations with the liners' principals in England, the former offered to relinquish to American bottoms fifty per cent of the direct sailings between Alexandria and the United States; stating that it was not possible for the liners to make any arrangements with regard to the indirect traffic, that is, cotton moving to the states with trans-shipment at an English port, claiming that this was a matter of negotiation between American trans-Atlantic steamers and the Atlantic westbound conference, the agreement to run for a period of five years.

"Our reasons for declining this offer were that:

"The offer contemplated giving us fifty per cent of the sailings but did not guarantee to us fifty per cent of the cotton, and, seeing that contracts were in existence between the British conference and the cotton shippers for the season 1921-22, and further seeing that there was no insurance disability against American steamers, we were not at all satisfied that fifty per cent of the sailings would in any way mean to us fifty per cent of the tonnage; we being further advised that the principal owners of one of the British lines was a very large stockholder or connected through subsidiary companies with the cotton pressed and gins and also that much of the banking necessary in connection with the movement of this valuable crop was in the hands of the financial institutions affiliated with British institutions of a similar character.

With respect to the indirect movement, the bulk of this business moves on a through rate and seeing that a number of lines carrying this cotton from Alexandria to the United Kingdom also control lines from the United Kingdom to the United States, we felt it was hardly possible for American boats trading out of Liverpool to get anywhere near a fair proportion of this traffic.

"The existing contracts entered into for the current movement as between the British conference and the association of shippers specifically provides that no cotton shall move either direct or indirect to the United States in other than British bottoms.

"To have accepted the agreement, therefore without a written modification of some would have placed us in a very doubtful position. This contract also provides that no Egyptian cotton shipper can sell his goods except on a cif basis. This means that the cotton is sold laid down in a United States port and the routing of same controlled by the shipper, who is dominated by the British conference in Alexandria.

"Another point in the controversy is that, according to long customs bids are put in every year by the British conference during the spring of each year to the Alexandria general produce association for the movement of the crop year beginning the following September. The bids that were put in by the shipping board were materially lower than those put in by the British conference and yet for reasons still unexplained to us, our bids were thrown out and new bids called for from the British liners without our knowledge and when these second figures were submitted by the British liners they were found to be the same as those originally submitted by us.

"In this connection, it has come to us confidentially that an agreement existed within the Alexandria general produce association that the business would be given to the British provided the bids of all companies were the same."

URGES HEED TO PREVENTION OF FIRES PROGRAM

Calling upon the public to heed to the necessity for publicly encouraging the safeguarding of homes and business houses from fire hazards and asking that teachers and ministers make some mention of it in their class rooms and pulpits, Mayor Walter D. Cline in a proclamation Friday designated Sunday, October 9 as fire prevention day in Wichita Falls.

In the interest of encouraging the observance of Fire Prevention day, fire officials point out that a good fire record in Wichita Falls last year obtained for citizens a 12 per cent reduction on insurance, effecting a total savings to the city of $60,373.12. Had the record been slightly better a saving of 15 per cent or a total of $83,013.12 would have been obtained.

A fire prevention parade is scheduled for Tuesday morning.

The proclamation of the mayor follows:

"It is the custom throughout the nation to observe October 9, anniversary of the Chicago conflagration of 1871, as fire prevention day, in which connection the governors of the several states and mayors of cities and towns issue their proclamations to emphasize the need for eliminating fire hazards.

"Each year in this country several thousand persons are burned to death or maimed for life by fire and heavy toll is taken of our natural and created resources because many of us do not pause to count the cost of tolerating conditions that cause fire. Never in our history have we suffered so severely as within the last 12 months, when approximately 20,000 lives were lost and $500,000,000 worth of property values were burned.

"Therefore, I, W. D. Cline, mayor of the city of Wichita Falls, do hereby proclaim Sunday, October 9, 1921, fire prevention day in our city, and call upon every citizen to join in its appropriate observance.

"On that day it is proper that ministers of the gospel throughout the city arrange for addresses from pulpits and before Bible schools covering safety from fire. Let the first 10 days of the month of October this year be known as a period for safeguarding against fire, during which let us place our homes and business properties in order against damage or destruction by a careful examination and repair of chimneys and flues and heating and lighting apparatus and equipment, by making provisions for the safe handling and storage of volatile liquids and explosives, and by clearing away rubbish and trash and other agencies that cause fire.

"It is important that our board of education and teachers in all public and private schools inaugurate fire drills, and instruct the children in their care how to avoid fire. In cooperation with the city fire marshal and chief of the fire department let all fire insurance agents, the chamber of commerce, women's clubs, boy scouts, labor council and other organizations plan and execute appropriate activities to impress the need of fire prevention.

"And henceforth let us set ourselves diligently and constantly to the task of eliminating preventable fire waste.

"In testimony whereof I have hereunto signed my name and affixed my seal of office, on this the 7th day of October, A. D. 1921.

(Seal) "W. D. Cline, Mayor."

FUNERAL OF LOUIS CROW DRAWS MANY

WACO, Texas, Oct. 7.—An American flag, popularly supposed to be the one carried at the head of the fatal klan parade at Lorena Saturday night, partially draped the casket, and a "fiery cross" in red roses was among the emblems represented at the funeral here this afternoon of Louis Crow, victim of a knife wound at the Lorena affair.

What was said to be the longest funeral procession since that of the murdered Iconoclast Brann, nearly a score years ago, followed the Bier to Oakwood cemetery here.

TRAFFIC LAW IS PRAISED BEFORE POLICE SCHOOL

Declaring the new traffic ordinance one of the best things for the city of Wichita Falls he had seen enacted since he began his citizenship here some ten years ago, W. M. Shuler, local garage man, Friday afternoon before the police officers school called by Commissioner Fitts, declared that he believed the people are taking kindly to the new regulations and urged that they continue their work

Mr. Shuler touched somewhat on the general duties of the police officer, complimenting the police force for their efficiency and manner in enforcing the law.

A short talk also was made by Zeb Nixon, local attorney, who spoke on the duties of the policeman, and the need that he keep familiar with the law.

The meeting was presided over by Commissioner Fitts, who described the schools as an effort to increase the efficiency of the schools through bringing about co-ordination and bringing to light the common interest and problems of the different men and departments.

BANKERS OPPOSE BONUS FOR UNINJURED SOLDIERS

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7. Bonus payment for world veterans who were not disabled was opposed, an international credit system and disarmament endorsed, and "well advised" sales tax was suggested for the excess profits tax, whose early repeal was declared essential to an "early stabilization of business conditions" by the American bankers association at the closing session of its convention here today.

MERCHANTS WILL CLOSE FOR FUNERAL

Hope that business institutions generally would respond to the request given in a proclamation asking that they close between three and six Monday afternoon out of respect to the memory of Pat Carrigan, Wichita Falls boy who gave his life in overseas service, and through him show respect to the other Wichitan's who gave their lives in service, was expressed Friday by Mayor Cline, in issuing the proclamation.

It was explained that it was deemed that the Carrigan funeral provided a fitting opportunity for showing respect for the entire war dead of Wichita Falls, Pat Carrigan being probably the best known of those who were killed or who died during the war, and being the first native Wichitan to meet death in action against the enemy of his country.

The proclamation follows:

"The remains of Lieutenant Alfred H. Carrigan Jr., will be interred at Riverside cemetery Monday afternoon, October 10, at 4 o'clock.

"All business activity in the city of Wichita Falls will be suspended between the hours of 3 p. m. and 6 p. m. on that date for the purpose of honoring the memory of our fallen comrade and at the same time to render appropriate acknowledgement of the nation's gratitude to all of her heroic sons who made the supreme sacrifice in the late war.

"By direction of the city council of Wichita Falls this Oct. 7, 1921.

(Signed) "W. D. CLINE,
"Mayor."

RETAIL MERCHANTS TO CLOSE MONDAY 4—5

Members of the Retail Merchant's Association have decided to close their places of business between the hours of 4 and 5 Monday afternoon as a mark of respect to the memory of "Pat" Carrigan, and the other Wichita Falls men who gave their lives in service, John W. Thomas, secretary of the association, announced Friday.

TWO CORES

Several cores taken from the sand found by the Florida-Tennessee Petroeum Co., several days ago in their test fifteen hundred feet east of the old Panther Pool in Archer County, are reported to show it to be rich in oil and practically identical with the sand found in the New Texhoma Pool two miles west. No water trouble of any kind has been encountered and the drillers as well as the scouts of the by companies are reported to express confidence in the results.

AMERICANS AND BRITISH LOCKED IN SHIP WAR

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Shippers of Egyptian cotton from Alexandria have been offered rate to American ports ten shillings under that quoted by the British shipping conference which now controls the business, shipping board officials disclosed today. The new rate is effective immediately and ode American cotton case, she did not plan the rate offered by British interests already moving big quantities of line figure, it was said.

Action by the shipping board was taken after negotiations in England through which American participation in the Alexandria to American market were sought. were broken off by the board's representative. Board officials made it plain that they were preparing to fight for the business of a straight competitive basis and felt that in the course of the British negotiations they had met treatment that made them welcome the fight.

A statement issued in connection with the breaking of negotiations said:

"As a result of negotiations with the lines' originally in England, the former offered to relinquish to American bottoms per cent of the direct sailings between Alexandria and the United States, stating that it was not possible for the lines' agreements with regard to the inland traffic, that is, cotton moving to interior points with trans-shipment at English ports, claiming that this was a matter of negotiation between American ocean Atlantic steamers and the Atlantic westbound conference, the agreement to run for a period of five years.

"The offer contemplated giving us fifty per cent of the sailings but did not guarantee to us fifty per cent of the cotton, and seeing that contracts were in existence between the British conference and the American shippers for the season 1921-22, and further seeing that there was no substance disabling against American steamers, we were not at all satisfied that fifty per cent of the sailings would in any way mean to us fifty per cent of the tonnage; we being further advised that the principal owners of one of the British lines were a very large stockholder or connected through subsidiary companies with the cotton pressed and gins and also that much of the banking necessary in connection with the movement of this valuable crop was in the hands of the financial institutions affiliated with British institutions of a similar character.

With respect to the indirect movement, the bulk of the business moves on through rates [illegible] seeing that a number of lines carrying this cotton from Alexandria to the United Kingdom also control sailings from the United Kingdom to the United States, we felt it was hardly possible for American boats to get out of Liverpool to get anywhere near a fair proportion of this traffic.

"The existing contracts entered into for the current movement as between the British conference and the association of shippers provides that no cotton shall move either direct or indirect to the United States in other than British bottoms.

"In this connection it has come to us confidentially that an agreement existed within the Alexandria general produce association that the business would be given to the British provided the bids of all companies were the same."

Shuler, local garage man, Friday afternoon before the police officers school called by Commissioner Fitts, declared that he believed the people are taking kindly to the new regulations and urged that they continue their work.

Mr. Shuler touched somewhat on the general duties of the police officer, complimenting the police force for their efficiency and manner in enforcing the law.

A short talk also was made by Zeb Nixon, local attorney, who spoke on the duties of the policeman, and the need that he keep familiar with the law.

The meeting was presided over by Commissioner Fitts, who described the schools as an effort to increase the efficiency of the schools through bringing about co-ordination and bringing to light the common interest and problems of the different men and departments.

BANKERS OPPOSE BONUS FOR UNINJURED SOLDIERS

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7. Bonus payment for world veterans who were not disabled was opposed, an international credit system and disarmament endorsed, and "well advised" sales tax was suggested for the excess profits tax, whose early repeal was declared essential to an "early stabilization of business conditions" by the American bankers association at the closing session of its convention here today.

MERCHANTS WILL CLOSE FOR FUNERAL

Hope that business institutions generally would respond to the request given in a proclamation asking that they close between three and six Monday afternoon out of respect to the memory of Pat Carrigan, Wichita Falls boy who gave his life in overseas service, and through him show respect to the other Wichitan's who gave their lives in service, was expressed Friday by Mayor Cline, in issuing the proclamation.

It was explained that it was deemed that the Carrigan funeral provided a fitting opportunity for showing respect for the entire war dead of Wichita Falls, Pat Carrigan being probably the best known of those who were killed or who died during the war, and being the first native Wichitan to meet death in action against the enemy of his country.

The proclamation follows:

"The remains of Lieutenant Alfred H. Carrigan Jr., will be interred at Riverside cemetery Monday afternoon, October 10, at 4 o'clock.

"All business activity in the city of Wichita Falls will be suspended between the hours of 3 p. m. and 6 p. m. on that date for the purpose of honoring the memory of our fallen comrade and at the same time to render appropriate acknowledgement of the nation's gratitude to all of her heroic sons who made the supreme sacrifice in the late war.

"By direction of the city council of Wichita Falls this Oct. 7, 1921.

(Signed) "W. D. CLINE.
"Mayor."

RETAIL MERCHANTS TO CLOSE MONDAY 4—5

Members of the Retail Merchant's Association have decided to close their places of business between the hours of 4 and 5 Monday afternoon as a mark of respect to the memory of "Pat" Carrigan, and the other Wichita Falls men who gave their lives in service, John W. Thomas, secretary of the association, announced Friday.

TWO CORES

Several cores taken from the sand found by the Florida-Tennessee Petroeum Co., several days ago in their test fifteen hundred feet east of the old Panther Pool in Archer County, are reported to show it to be rich in oil and practically identical with the sand found in the New Texhoma Pool two miles west. No water trouble of any kind has been encountered and the drillers as well as the scouts of the biy companies are reported to express confidence in the results.

New 6 5-8 inch casing is being set and cemented today.
