Colorado City, Loraine & Westbrook

Answerline

Q: Is it illegal to send out political advertising postcards without naming the person or group representative who is sending them?

A: Yes, it is illegal. According to the Texas Administrative Code and Ethics Commission, Section 255.001 of the Election Code, the disclosure statement "political advertisement" or an abbreviation thereof must appear on one line of text or on successive lines of text on the face of the political advertisement and name who paid for the ad.

Bonus question:

Q: When does daylight savings time end?

A: Set your clocks back one hour on Sunday, Nov. 4.

Early voting gets under way in county

Early voting got underway Monday at the Mitchell County courthouse and despite the torrential downpour that morning (as much as an inch and half in some areas) people were already showing up to vote, leading workers to be optimistic to get as many as 100 voters per day during this early voting period. As of 4 p.m. Tuesday, 299 people had voted in person, with an additional 42 voting by mail. Early voting for the general election runs through Friday, Nov. 2, and is being held at the Mitchell County Courthouse. For those unable to get out of their cars, curbside voting is available.

On Nov. 6, all the polling locations will be open for residents to cast their ballots. The location for Precinct 1 is the Mitchell County Appraisal District's office building at 2112 Hickory. Precinct 2 will cast their ballots at the Westbrook Community Building and Precinct 3 will be at the Mitchell County Courthouse. The Loraine Senior Citizen Center will host the voting process for Precinct 4, while Precinct 025 will need to go to the Oak Street Baptist Church. Precinct 046 can vote at the Calvary Baptist Church on 15th Street in C-City.

Of course, the entire country is ready to decide the next Commander in Chief, but in Mitchell County, there are two really important items on the agenda. The first is the position of County Tax Assessor-Collector. The 15-year incumbent Faye Lee is defending her position against 15-year coworker Sylvia Clanton. A civil war, dissent in the ranks? No, it is more like two people who each want what they feel is best for the county.

The other big ticket item on the November 6 election is the school bond election for Colorado ISD. The school is seeking a $29 million bond which would allow them to build a new K-8 building and renovate the high school. One concern from Colorado City residents was the mixing of middle school students and elementary students, but according to Colorado Superintendent Reggie Spencer, that simply is not the case.

"They will have separate wings within the building," he said. "In addition, there will be separate drop off and pick up locations for them as well. The situation will be monitored very closely."

Last week, a flyer was mailed around Colorado City, asking for a smaller bond election which would only include the new building and none of the "fluff" such as a new press box at Wolf Stadium, new bleachers and a new competition gym. Though Spencer said he did not consider these items to be fluff, he did address them.

VOTING EARLY — Brenda Kelley works at the Mitchell County Courthouse, assisting voters as they take advantage of the early voting period which got underway Monday. As of 4 p.m. Tuesday, 299 people had already cast their ballots in person, along with 42 who have voted by mail.

Hailey Dunn letter deemed unsubstantiated

Despite what residents may have heard on television Monday night, the Colorado City Police Department is not winding down the Hailey Dunn case.

"Winding down? Police Chief Roy Owens asked. "It's not even slowing down."

A news station in Abilene reported Monday night that authorities had a letter in their possession which told what happened to Hailey Dunn back in December of 2010 and where she could be found, stating she had been in a drug house in Odessa and had been given an overdose of drugs. But according to Chief Owens, the letter has no validity.

"Everything the news media has searched and investigated, we have too and it is unsubstantiated," Owens said.

Does the letter exist, a letter from Sojia Renee Callahan from an Odessa jail to her sister Hope Martin in Abilene? "Yes it does," Colorado City Police investigator Kelsey Rivera said. We knew about it and investigated it long before Ms. Martin took the letter to the media in Abilene. Countless interviews were done with the FBI and Texas Rangers."

Rivera added that the tip was being given as much attention as all the tips which come through her office or the office of the FBI working the case. It was just that this particular tip was given to the media.

"This is an investigation into a missing child," Rivera said. "It is not a daytime soap opera. It is not the Maury Povich show. I wish the mass media would treat it that way instead of like a story line. This is people's lives. It's not entertainment."

The letter being revealed on the news program comes less than a week after it was announced that Hailey's mother, Billie Dunn, had hired a private investigator to help her find her daughter. Houston-based investigator, Mac Sanford, had taken the case for free after being contacted by Dunn.

Chief Owens said his department has treated every single tip, no matter how bizarre sounding, as serious as the next. This letter was no exception. According to Owens, everything has been investigated thoroughly.

"At this time, the claims appear to be unfounded," he said. "Some things are still being investigated."

Westbrook post office is to remain open

There were over 30 people crowded into the Westbrook ISD cafeteria Thursday night, hoping for the best and fearing the worst. They had come to see if the United States Post Office at Westbrook would be closed or remain open. When Ernie Jones with the U.S. Postal Service made the announcement that the office would remain open, he

Hunters' dinner is set for November 2

The annual hunters' appreciation dinner has been set by the Chamber of Commerce for Friday night, Nov. 2. The activities will get off with a bang, starting at 6 p.m. at the Railhead Building as the event is expected to attract as many as 550 area hunters.

Barbecue plates, prepared by Gas 'n' Grub, will be available for $8 each at the event. Last year, 515 plates were sold, up 10 from the 2010 numbers.

Another change to the venue this year is the amount of guns to be given away.

"We have upped the number from nine to 12 this year," Chamber Director Amanda Jo Ritchey said. "They are the most popular attraction and so we thought we would give more of what we felt the people coming would want to see."

Aside from the guns, hunters can also win many of the other prizes, which include a capsule

County to take over utility payments

In a called meeting Monday, the Mitchell County Commissioners Court tabled a proposal seeking to form a three-county court-at-law. The agreement between Mitchell, Fisher and Nolan Counties would take advantage of current wording in Texas law, allowing all three counties to receive $75,000 from the state, minus their court costs. According to district court judge Glen Harrison, the county would end up with approximately $20,000. While Judge Harrison told the commissioners if the state stopped the $75,000 stipend the court-at-law would dissolve immediately, the commissioners had more questions. "What if the state simply rewords the law and instead of us getting $20,000, we end up owing that?" Commissioner Jeremy Strain asked. Though Judge Harrison agreed that too should void the court-at-law, it was not in the wording of the resolution presented to the court. "I think I would like to see a new resolution with that in the wording," Mitchell County Judge Ray Mayo said. The court decided to table the conversation until a time an updated resolution could be presented. In other business, Dickey Summers, president of the Loraine Senior Citizens Center board addressed the court, giving them some background of why the center closed. He told the court it just came down to money. "In order to receive state money, we have to maintain a certain menu," he told the court. "We cannot use canned vegetables. We have to use fresh or frozen ones and those are more expensive." Summers noted that the state money the center received was much lower than what the center expected or needed, forcing the closure, but he did say he had been in contact with the Wallace Senior Citizen Center and the delivered meals to homebound seniors would continue through that center. In addition, the Wallace center would open a third day each week to help serve the residents of Loraine. Before the closure of the center in Loraine, Mitchell County gave the center an annual grant of $7,000. This was to be divided up as $5,000 for electricity and $1,000 for both gas and water. "I take it that money is already spent?" Judge Mayo asked. "Yes," Summers responded. Summers told the court the center would like to remain open to the residents for events, as it was the only available building in Loraine. The court agreed and decided to switch the utilities of the center over into the name of Mitchell County, so they would remain on. "We definitely need them through the election," Judge Mayo said, "but I would like to see the center remain available for events."

OBITUARIES

Milton Timberlake 1935-2012

HOUSTON — Reverend Milton Don Timberlake died Tuesday, October 2, 2012, in Houston at the age of 77.

He was born in Stamford on April 4, 1935, to Milton Lewis and Neoma Timberlake. He was preceded in death by his parents. Rev. Timberlake married Lora Rainey on November 4, 1956, in Weinert. He was the pastor of Oak Street Baptist Church in Colorado City. He also pastored churches in Fort Worth, Rising Star and Stamford.

He is survived by his wife, Lora Timberlake of Houston; daughter, Tammy King and husband, Brad of Sealy; grandchildren, Brazos and Emma King, also of Sealy; brother, Lewis Timberlake and wife, Georgiann, of Austin; nephew, Bradley Timberlake and wife, Judy, of Dallas; niece, Terri Lyn and husband, Terry, of Austin.

A memorial service will be held at 11 a.m. on Friday, October 26, 2012, at Berachah Church, 2815 Sago Road, Houston, TX 77056. In lieu of flowers, the family requests donations be made to R.B. Thieme, Jr. Bible Ministries, 5139 West Alabama Street, Houston, TX 77056, 713-621-3740.

Haunted hotel returns to Colorado City, opens Saturday

Horror movie to be shown on south side of Baker Hotel Monday night

Ever wanted to see inside the Baker Hotel, to see if it was as spooky inside as it appears from the outside? Be careful what you wish for, as this one is coming true. The Colorado City Chamber of Commerce is once again holding their haunted house in the Baker this year. Last year, over 600 people went through the haunted hotel in just over six hours and Amie Wood says she expects that many or more this year. "We are going to be open two different days this year," Wood said. "We will be open Saturday, Oct. 27 and then again Wednesday, Halloween night."

The hotel will be open 8-11 p.m. on Saturday and then 8-10 p.m. Halloween night. Tickets will be $5 for adults and $3 for children under eight years of age. Advance tickets will not be available this year. But it takes a lot of work...and people to scare that many people, so Wood says she could use a little help if anyone is interested.

"We could use a few volunteers to make sure things go ok," she said. "We need people for everything from behind the scenes work to just flat out scaring people."

Wood or Amanda Jo Ritchey can be reached at the Chamber of Commerce by calling 728-2072 or 728-3403.

In addition to the Haunted Hotel, this coming Tuesday, October 30, a horror movie will be played on the south side of the Baker Hotel. The event starts at dusk and is free to the public. Bring the family, bring some snacks and be prepared to scream like a little girl.

Our roots run deep

When something good takes root, it just grows and grows. Since The City National Bank of Colorado City was established in 1900, we've branched out into broader and better services. But we're proud to say that we've always remained the well-grounded financial institution that our customers have trusted for generations. The reason for our long history in the community is simple: we believe every customer is important. Thank you for your business, and we look forward to giving back to the community for years to come.

ON THE LOOSE AGAIN — After escaping custody at the Baker Hotel last Halloween, these three have been seen lately spooking around town and are expected to make another appearance at this year's haunted hotel.

Fire prevention month nears end

Texas A&M Forest Service and the State Fire Marshal's Office are joining forces to remind Texans of simple measures to help protect their homes and families from fire.

October is Fire Prevention Month — and a good time to rake leaves, remove dead or dying vegetation and trim tree canopies. Residents are encouraged to relocate wood piles away from the home, remove combustible materials and vegetation from around and under decks, remove or prune vegetation near windows and remove dry leaves and pine needles from the yard, roof and rain gutters.

"We saw homes survive the brutal wildfires of 2011 because of actions homeowners took long before ignition occurred," said Justice Jones, Wildland Urban Interface and prevention coordinator for Texas A&M Forest Service. "It doesn't take long and it doesn't cost much to do a few things that could end up saving your home."

Residents also should create and practice an evacuation plan and ensure that working smoke alarms are installed on each floor of their home, said Texas State Fire Marshal Chris Connealy.

"Homeowners can significantly increase their safety and their home's likelihood of survival by taking a proactive approach to fire prevention and home defense," he said. "But these measures cannot guarantee personal safety in the face of catastrophic fires, so it's paramount to have an exit strategy."

Fire propelled by strong winds can move as fast as 60 mph, Connealy added. When told to evacuate, residents should leave the area immediately and choose a route that leads away from the fire. Stay alert to changes in the speed and direction of fire and smoke.

Available fire prevention resources include:

- Ready, Set, Go! personal wildfire action plan
- Firewise landscaping
- Firewise construction

What is the expected impact on the taxpayer if the CLSD Bond passes?

The projected cost of the new bonds for an average homestead in Mitchell County is:

On a $50,000 home, your taxes would increase $151.79 per year.

On a $100,000 home, your taxes would increase $368.64 per year. For less than the price of a soda per day, your children, grandchildren and others can enjoy a clean, safe and technology-savvy environment in which to attend school.

OPINION & COMMENTARY

TUMBLEWEED SMITH Chicken scratch art

Lonnie Edwards of Salado is an artist. "Actually I've experienced practically every form of art there is," he says, "paintings, photography, sculpture, pottery, and I do decorative metal pieces." He has chickens in a variety of colors. They run wild around his place. He doesn't feed them.

"It's healthier that way. Their natural diet of worms and bugs is better than chicken feed. That's the reason I got those chickens in the first place, to improve my diet."

Lonnie combines his artistic ability and his chickens to create colorful paintings using a different kind of brush.

"I have a little cage that I built. I stretch some canvas and put primer on it, lay the canvas in the cage and squirt some paint on it, then I'll throw in three or four chickens and start playing some music. They walk all over that canvas and produce art."

He has canvases of chicken art in several sizes.

"I can do a canvas three feet by seven feet if I wanted to. My cage is that big."

Lonnie started his unique project three years ago when a newspaper reporter was doing an interview with him about his artistic ironwork.

"While the photographer was there, my chickens walked through the shop. He asked me where I got all the colorful chickens. I told him I raised those chickens because I've always wanted to do chicken paintings. I said I probably never would do them and if any would get done, the chickens would have to do them. Well, he put that in the newspaper just like I said it."

A man who owns a string of restaurants read the article and ordered ten paintings to hang in his eating establishments. So Lonnie got busy and learned how to create chicken paintings. Soon he was producing them on a regular basis. So far he has sold 45 of them. He says that helps pay for the chickens. His chicken art has brought more attention to him than anything else he's done in the art field.

"Once I was running low on chickens so I borrowed three from my neighbor and put them in with my hens and that was a mistake. They fought. I really came out with some wild paintings that time. A lot of times they look like a Jackson Pollock but these looked like a Matisse."

A video of his chickens creating the caged art is titled CHICK FLICK. A book of the chicken art is out now titled THE CLAW CAN DRAW. A reception was held to introduce it.

"We served deviled eggs."

Halloween is an important time to guide your children

By Robert Griffin

While the country is determining which is the lesser of the two evils running for the office of president, a more pressing matter needs to be addressed. This is an apathetic approach to parenting and I believe it is at a catastrophic level already. Left unchecked, it could be the end of our once-great nation, even more so than four more years of Oblunder.

The old saying which says when you point your finger at someone you have three pointing back at yourself holds true in this case. I am as guilty as I could possibly be in this matter. In fact, it was the realization of my own shortcomings as a parent which has sparked this week's offering.

No doubt, all of you are aware of the upcoming holiday and the steady stream of low budget hacker, slasher and downright cheesy horror films being run with increasing frequency on the cable channels. From Jamie Lee Curtis's iconic screams to Linda Blair's pea soup projectile vomiting, these are films which we MUST share with our children if we care about them at all. Teaching them to read and write is one thing, but what good does it do if they have never been taught not to run up the stairs when Jason is after them. Simple mathematical equations cannot save them in a similar situation. Besides, everyone knows Pi are round and cake are square.

That being said, I offer you a list of the most essential movies for the proper development of your children. Again, this is one of those things I do because I care.

The List: You can never go wrong with the original Halloween movies, though let's be honest, Rob Zombie's version was pretty good. Friday the 13th ranks high this time of year, along with Jeepers Creepers.

While over the years, horror shifted from trying to scare us to trying to make us sick, some good movies made their way through the driftwood to rise to the top. The Blair Witch Project was something new and original, spawning more "amateur video" movies in its wake as others saw the genius behind it. The Paranormal Activity movies are a great example of that same formula.

How in the world can we, as parents go through the Halloween season without introducing our children to The Exorcist or The Omen series of movies?

A little different, but ranking high on the scare-o-meter is The Fourth Kind. One word: goosebumps. This one should be added to the educational section, as it was a perfect example of how to scare an audience.

This is my personal list, but feel free to adlib in your own household. No one will fault you if you consider Practical Magic or Hocus Pocus to be classic Halloween films. You can even go older with an offering like Humanoids from the Deep. That one still gives me chills. Of course, you can never go wrong with Dracula, Frankenstein etc., but be careful. While I would allow a substitute Queen of the Damned or Interview with the Vampire, any movie where vampires "sparkle" needs to go in the trash. Sorry, but I just cannot bend on this one. There are not – I repeat, NOT – vampire movies.

Anyway, have fun this Halloween and keep those little monsters safe. But remember, it is not only your right to scare the hell out of your kids, it is practically a responsibility.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letter to the Editor:

I want to extend a sincere "Thank You and God Bless" to the two good Samaritans (Mr. Tim Carr?) of Colorado City that helped my wife fix her flat tire on the afternoon of Friday, October 19th.

Being from San Antonio and not being familiar with the area, my wife called me in a panic late on Friday. She said that two strangers gladly assisted her with changing her flat tire. She told me they turned down her offer for money and stayed with her until her tire was fixed. It's rare to find generosity like that these days, especially in a big city like San Antonio.

I guess the rest of us can learn a lesson from the good Samaritans in Colorado City.

Sincerely,
Kirk Frady

Letter to the Editor:

Let me begin by saying that I am a lifelong resident of Colorado City and I have three children who attend CISD. I have been on the Wolf PAC committee that is promoting the new school bond for our district since the beginning.

In the planning stages of this committee we had about 30-40 Colorado City residents in attendance. During this time we toured the buildings, discussed our findings, reached a compilation of our needs and wants for the district, looked at the projected interest rates and taxes and decided we agree that there is a need for a new school for our Pre-K through 8th grade children.

I am very passionate about why I think we need a new school. First of all our children deserve to be safe. In the Kelley building you have to walk halfway down the hall, past several classrooms before you get to the office to check in. At Hutchinson, you have to go in the front door and turn down another hall to get to the office. And at middle school, the office is in a separate building than the children are during classes. In this day and age, we need better security than our present buildings can provide.

In the plans for the new school building, visitors will come into a reception area before being allowed into the rest of the building. Secondly, the repairs of the existing buildings are costing our district thousands of dollars just to maintain. With one building instead of three there will be reductions in maintenance costs, transportation costs and utilities.

I also feel our teachers and staff deserve raises. I am convinced that the proposed bond will help accomplish this. Based on the information provided at one of the community meetings, the savings from the bond may generate raises as an indirect result.

The children in our community cannot vote for this bond, so please speak for them and vote yes for the new school bond.

Sincerely,
Lee Ann Limones

Letter to the Editor:

After attending several of the Wolf PAC meetings to discuss Colorado ISD's current facilities and spending hours touring those facilities, I realize the need for a new elementary and middle school.

We have outgrown and outlived our technology infrastructure, and along with the electrical and plumbing issues that occur in these older buildings, I can see a definite need to bring the facilities that are used to shape the minds of the children in this community up to par. Current buildings do not even begin to have the necessary space to update classrooms and technology for current needs, not to mention the needs in the future.

Many individuals attended those meetings as I did to learn more about our facilities. Many of those committee members began coming to the meetings because they were opposed to the idea of building a new school. As we toured our current facilities, we soon learned what excessive maintenance and materials costs it takes to keep these old buildings surviving. Consolidating four campuses with an existing high school will, in the long run, save tax dollars. No doubt.

I ask you to be informed. Several have voiced their negative opinions and never attended a meeting. The informed individuals who attended the meetings are members of our community: taxpayers, parents, educators, concerned citizens. They have one goal in mind – to do what is best for our kids.

Please join me in voting for the bond package while construction costs and bond rates are at an all-time low. This, to me, is a no-brainer.

Our kids deserve it. Our community will thrive from it.

Thank you,
Mickey Neff

Letter to the Editor:

I am writing this letter in support of the coming school bond election this November. I normally like to do much of my thinking and supporting behind the scenes, however, I thought it best to make my thoughts and views known in hopes more people can fully understand the need and urgency of passing this bond election now for a new school and updating our existing facilities.

First and foremost, I don't like to spend more money on taxes than the next person, but when it comes to making good economic decisions, especially on large capital purchases, most of the time it comes from borrowed money. At this time, the cost of borrowing money is at almost all-time lows, not to mention the cost of construction is low at the present time as well. Therefore, it makes good sense to me to do it now as opposed to later since most people agree we need updated schools and facilities.

Take for instance, if interest rates double, which would only put them at approximately 6.5%, and construction costs go up 20%, the debt service payment would go up 63%, as opposed to what it would be now. It does not matter how much you spend, if this occurs, that is what will happen. That means if we do nothing now, let our facilities get older, wait for the oil boom, pass a smaller bond, spend what we think we can afford, or whatever, we will be getting a lot less for our money.

To put it more plainly, if we wait and pass a bond that is half of what we are looking at now, which is what it would cost to basically patch up our current facilities, with no new construction, we would only be reducing our payment by 20% and only be getting repaired buildings. That to me would be wasting tax dollars not saving them. How many times have you gone ahead and bought a new vehicle and nearly made the new payment by better efficiency and repair costs savings alone? I don't know for sure if interest rates or costs will go up, but I sure don't feel like they will be going in the other direction.

A good reason for passing the second bond would be to retire the note made to repair the a/c units that is at a higher rate of interest and refinance the debt at a lower rate. This makes good economic sense for two reasons: one, the better rate will save us money pure and simple, and two, the money spent retiring this debt which is coming from the operating budget could be spent on our well-deserved teachers. It can be used for raises and or hiring more highly qualified teachers. We are losing great teachers to our prison systems because they are getting a better wage package. Does that make sense to wait?

Finally, everyone will have to make their own choice as to whether they are looking ahead or looking around, when voting for or against the two school bonds in this election. I hope people will vote for the promising future of our students by voting YES, YES, and put a boost of pride into our school system, and a thrust to the growth of our town. It has been 40 years since we built a new school.

One final note, for the average home owner on a home valued at $100,000 the cost of this new school and its facilities is just one soda a day. That's right, less than $1.50 per day. Let's get this school here and all the benefits that come with it.

Letter to the Editor:

Before you vote yes for "spreading the wealth around" via a $30,000,000 school debt, consider:

1. If you own property, this is your debt – with interest added.
2. If you rent property, this is your debt unless you move out of the district.
3. If you buy anything in the county – this is your debt.
4. Think about what the "kids" really need at school which will make their life better after graduation or cessation, which can't they get better at home or church, etc.

Remember that schools are for the academic growth of "kids". Sports, social refinement and other extra-curricular activities are "fluff". Don't let the "kids" graduate with a degree in "fluff"! That is what $30,000,000 will buy!

More money will not buy your "kids" a better preparation for their adult life ahead. Nor will teachers whose calling is a job, salary, benefits or political agenda.

Two ingredients will do more for your kids than all the halls, gyms, stadiums, trips, etc. that money can buy:

1. Show that you respect and admire their academic accomplishment. That it reflects on you and you appreciate their effort. Expect it of them! (Don't

Petticoats return to prairie

Colorado City stepped back in time just a bit this weekend as vintage trailers descended upon the city, en route to the Mitchell County Fairgrounds. The annual Petticoats on the Prairie was held Friday and Saturday at the fairgrounds, with over 60 vendors on location for the event. The hotels in town were full for the weekend as an estimated crowd of over 1,000 people went to the flea market style show. People came from Texas, Oklahoma and even New Mexico to see the custom vintage trailers of Sisters on the Fly, while shopping at the many booths.

SYLVIA CLANTON TAX ASSESSOR-COLLECTOR

I am still asking for your vote in the election for Tax Assessor-Collector of Mitchell County. I have been working in the office for 15 years and have learned so much. I can perform all the duties of the office. I want the people of Mitchell County to know they can trust me to continue to work hard.

There are some changes I would like to make to better serve the public. I would like to see the office stay open through the 12 noon - 1 p.m. lunch hour. That way, people who work would not have to take time off their jobs to conduct business with our office.

I would also encourage suggestions on ways I could make the office more people friendly.

I would appreciate your vote for Mitchell County Tax Assessor-Collector.

Thanks again,

Area singer continues to surprise top music executives

By Shirley A. Gorman
Snyder Daily News Features Editor

Breaking into the music industry can be described in one word. "Tough."

Most performers who "make it" get at least one break along their path to stardom. It could be a chance meeting, being in the right place at the right time, or a phone call. The latter is how it happened to Snyder's Devyn DeLoera who is a contestant on the current season of NBC's music competition, The Voice.

Offering no guarantees of success, The Voice's casting agency called the DeLoera household a few months ago and invited Devyn to audition for the show. She was one of 40 singers who tried out in a private audition in Austin. Judges included an NBC executive.

Several singers, including Devyn, advanced to the "executive callback" in Los Angeles, where they performed before more network executives. Through this audition process, 45,000 contestants were whittled down to 270 before 64 were ultimately chosen to compete in "blind auditions."

Before Devyn performed Christina Aguilera's song, Ain't No Other Man, in the contest, she spent an intense 30 days preparing for her appearance, focusing on wardrobe, her performance and taping interviews. Contestants could also practice if they chose too, her dad Albert said.

When Devyn walked onto the NBC stage for the first time she said she "freaked out" when she looked at a monitor that showed each coach. She was awestruck that she would soon be singing before four industry elites, all performers she admired — especially Aguilera. Singing before her idol (Aguilera) inspired the local woman.

"I knew it was risky to sing one of Aguilera's songs," Devyn said. "But I took the chance anyway because I believed it would be a memorable experience, even if I was not selected."

The risk paid off. Aguilera was the first coach to turn around, followed by two others.

"I really wanted to be on Christina's team," Devyn said. "But I was open to any of the coaches because I knew each would offer valuable advice."

Aguilera now advises the local singer about how to improve her singing and she has shared stories of her success with Devyn. Other consultants on the show work with Devyn on her wardrobe and performance. Another mentor on The Voice is Billy Joe Armstrong of Green Day.

In the beginning, Devyn said she was "stage struck and nervous about being in the same room with Christina and having her call me by my first name. It all seemed surreal."

The feeling of awe has begun to wear off. Devyn said Aguilera is helping her learn how to "channel my nervousness into my performance."

Although Devyn realizes her chances of making it all the way to the top are "slim," she hopes that by competing on The Voice she will gain recognition from the music industry and record labels. She said she also is open to acting and modeling opportunities as well.

"Money cannot buy the kind of exposure Devyn is getting through being on The Voice," Albert said.

Since she entered the competition, Devyn said she has grown as an artist. "I have received valuable performance tips. I've grown close to the other contestants. I've also learned that I can do anything if I set my mind to it. Nothing is out of reach."

Devyn DeLoera

Battle rounds continue next week on The Voice. According to NBC promotions it is possible that Devyn will sing against a member of her own team in Monday's episode. A new wrinkle this season is that each judge is allowed to "steal" two performers from another team. When a contestant does not advance, one of the other coaches has the option to "steal" her for their team.

Devyn said all of the contestants have bonded and become "like a family." "It is difficult to compete against someone who has become a friend."

"Though friendships are tested when we compete against each other," she added, "We all support each other and everyone remains friends."

In the knockout rounds, which begin next month, more contestants will be eliminated and the number of people on each team will continue to fall. The battle and knockout rounds lead to live performances which determine the team winners who then vie for the honor of being crowned the overall winner of The Voice.

Long before Devyn was scouted by the show, she said she was a fan and many of her friends had encouraged her to try out.

Competing on The Voice is a natural for the local woman who comes from a musically-oriented family. The DeLoeras even built their own recording studio. Albert said he and wife, Darla, support their children's music aspirations 100 percent and both are thrilled that Devyn, the oldest of three children, has the opportunity to pursue her dream of becoming a professional singer.

"Music is always on at the house," Albert said. "If not, someone usually turns it on."

Singing is almost obligatory at family gatherings. Aguilera and Green Day are two of the family's favorite performers. Devyn said she also likes Mariah Carey, Kelly Clarkson, Paramore and Demi Lovato.

Devyn's brother Kyle works in the recording studio. Sister Morgan is a musician, but she also edits the family's recordings and takes their publicity pictures.

Devyn was almost four years old when the family moved to Snyder. She attended public schools for the first three grades and then all three children were homeschooled for two years.

"Devyn was real down and depressed," Albert said. "So Darla and I tried homeschooling all three of them."

Being homeschooled helped Devyn build up her confidence," Albert said. "It also gave her spirit the lift she needed."

"That's when I really began singing also," Devyn said. "I knew when I was very young that this was meant to be my path. I loved the energy of being on stage, and nothing has ever felt as natural to me as singing does."

All three children returned to public school two years later and Devyn went on to graduate from Snyder High School in 2010 and from Western Texas College in May. Morgan graduated from SHS in 2011 and Kyle is sophomore.

For the past several years, the DeLoera family has spent time on the road while Devyn performed in venues ranging from Sea World in San Antonio to B.B. King's in Nashville. Several of her recordings with Ready Revolution, one of San Antonio's emerging pop and rock bands, and Alyssa Bernal can be found on YouTube. Devyn also sings a duet on Ready Revolution's newest album.

She has recorded several demo records, but none have been released because the family feels they are not good enough. She usually makes a recording in the family's studio once or twice a year.

Albert said they decided that no record would be released until all family members were pleased with the results.

Devyn is her own harshest critic. "I'm always the one who finds something I think could be better," she said.

Devyn worked with an agent for a time, but now the family handles her bookings. Devyn had also briefly signed with a music group but Albert said he exercised his right to dissolve the contract when the family did not like the quality of the music the company produced.

Ironically, Devyn was ready to quit the music scene about a year ago.

"I was feeling guilty about all of the money my dad was spending," she explained.

Even though the pay she received for performing never covered all of the family's travel or other expenses, Albert refused to let his daughter give up on her aspirations of a music career.

"I am so excited and happy that Devyn is pursuing what she loves to do," he said. "Now that she has her foot in the door, we all hope that the connections she is making because of The Voice will help her achieve her dreams."

It's no surprise that Devyn auditioned for a network musical competition. She was involved in choir and drama throughout her high school career. Her choir awards include region, area and state recognition.

She performed in school musicals and the one-act play where she won district and area awards. Devyn also was a member of Tiger Jazz.

While in high school, Devyn served one year on the Student Council. As a sophomore she was a member of Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA) and participated in Future Farmers of America (FFA) as a senior. She also was a member of the Tiger's Lair staff for a year.

Devyn was a class favorite nominee all four years in high school. She also was a homecoming queen and Miss SHS nominee.

Editor's Note: Devyn made it through the Battle Round of The Voice on Monday night and will continue to advance in the competition on Christina Aguilera's team. Devyn is the granddaughter of Ann and Eddie Gregory of Colorado City. Her mother, Darla, is a 1989 graduate of Colorado High School.

Checking the Facts:

Q. What happens if construction costs are higher than approved bond?

A. The bond amount cannot increase once approved. If costs or unexpected expenses happen, the School Board will have to cut any proposed buildings/areas to keep the cost within the bond amount. Other areas would be cut if needed.

Q. Why did the committee put extra facilities and improvements in the bond?

A. With interest rates historically low, the improvements would enhance the entire school system at lower costs than in the future.

Q. What is the cost for some of the buildings/areas?

A. The proposed improvements at the stadium (i.e. concession stand, press box, etc.) is 1.4% of the total bond. The multi-purpose facility, which includes the new band hall for grades 7-12, the competition gym, the indoor practice facility, a weight room for middle and high school athletes and a dressing room, is roughly 25% of the total cost. These 2 areas combined generate an approximate $93 per year of the $368 tax on a home valued at $100,000. That about $9.00 a month for these state of the art facilities for our students. $9.00, or about 29¢ a day!

2. Show the school board, PTA, etc. that teachers who have the calling to inspire an appetite for knowledge, understanding, excellence and honesty are in and the rest are out!

Troy Powell

Letter to the Editor:

I must say, when I read the letter to the editor yesterday, I was somewhat taken aback. Not because someone voiced their opinion about the school bond issue, but who voice their opinion about the school bond issue.

Mr. White has access that the regular citizens don't. At any time, he could have simply called any and/or all the board members and added his viewpoint. Not to mention calling the current superintendent and engaging in substantive dialogue about the school bond. He could have come to the community meetings when we were assessing the need for new facilities and possibly given us his foresight, knowledge and understanding as to why most of the needs we saw, we shouldn't have seen.

Needless to say, a person with all this experience and sphere of influence chose not to give or exercise any. Rather than to talk to the people in power (school board, superintendent), come to the meetings, be the visible voice of opposition, so that real dialogue could occur. (So that the citizenry who don't want to support the school bond could have someone they could speak to and rally around, because that's what leaders do.) He chooses to submit a letter to the editor in the last edition of the paper prior to early voting. By the way, this was a great tactical move. Never let them see you coming. And before I go any further, I must state that I am a veritable outsider which, I believe, gives me a much unclouded view of this issue.

The community came together and viewed all of the facilities and agreed there is a need because our facilities are old, outdated and educationally, structurally obsolete. The community agreed that the facilities of the school that we compete against are generally better than ours. Since we compete against schools in the same class, how can it be surprising that towns the size of Colorado City, and smaller, have passed bond issues to build these new facilities for their children?

We pay $310,000 a year in outside contractors and maintenance supplies to fix problems in our schools (Kelley, Hutchinson and Middle School). We also average $30,000 a month in utility costs in all our schools combined, but the general premise is, we can't afford a school bond or give our teachers an across-the-board raise. It costs us $150,000 a year for leased air conditioners at a 6.75% rate. It costs us $175,000 a year to give our teachers an across the board raise. You do the math. By combining the three schools, we would save $310,000 a year and cut our utility costs by, hopefully, as much as 50%.

The community agreed that interest costs are at historical lows. This means, we will pay less for these facilities in finance costs than at any time known. This means we put more of our tax dollars into construction to benefit the children than dollars to the investors that only benefit themselves. It means we get more building (bricks and mortar) for our construction dollar than we ever have. If waiting means we still pay the same tax rate to service fewer bonds (interest costs) and get fewer dollars to build buildings (construction costs) how is this prudent and saving money for the taxpayer?

Yes, we will finance the building for more than 15 years. And YES our portion goes down if values go up, that has been said numerous times. The low interest rates give us the ability to stretch the term with less costs than other times. Why wouldn't we propose to finance a school which we will use for the next 30 to 50 years in a time frame that we would take to finance a home that costs considerably less and has a shorter expected life?

We finance our homes, our cars, our trucks, our businesses. Why is it shocking to finance our schools over time? Parents that came before us made decisions to go into debt to give today's parents and students a school. The decision was to provide the best education, not the lowest future debt. Are we too selfish or insensitive to do the same? If you look at the times when these schools were built (Kelley, Hutchinson, Middle School), those parents were either in economic hard times, just coming out of economic hard times. Nathaniel Hawthorne quipped, "Families are always rising and falling in America." The thought of sacrifice is nothing new, so why do we make it the latest epidemic?

"I'm for the kids, but let's vote this down and do better in the future" is code for "I'm against it, but I don't want to say so." This plan of action came from the community, and more to the point, a large segment of the community thinks this is the answer. An election is where we determine how many people think it is a good idea. Everyone is entitled to be for or against the issue, but should be honest about their motives.

Failure to make the community meetings or learn what the bond is for doesn't sound like an informed voter. It sounds like someone that just doesn't want to do anything for the kids if it would cost a dime.

In closing, I have a few questions for the retired superintendent. Why would someone that made their living in education in this town be against the best for our children? Why didn't you fix some of these problems (the schools, roofs, outside contractor costs, utility costs, air conditioners, just to name a few) on your watch instead of letting it get to this point? Why get the district into a questionable lease (that has to be fixed by the current board) instead of using cheaper and better methods (see proposed bond initiative to pay off air conditioner lease). We will not come back with a better proposal because this is the best proposal. I thank you for your time and consideration.

CISD plans Thanksgiving meals at campuses around the district

Colorado ISD is giving everyone the chance to have Thanksgiving dinner with their favorite little one again this year, and everyone is welcome. The following schedules will allow those attending to make plans and to RSVP to the campus of your choice.

At Kelley Elementary, a full Thanksgiving dinner with all the trimmings will be served to kindergarten and 2nd grade students on November 2nd. Students in HeadStart, pre-k and 1st grade will have Thanksgiving lunch on November 8th.

All Hutchinson Elementary students, as well as those attending Colorado High School, will have their special dinner on November 16th. Colorado Middle School students will have Thanksgiving lunch on November 9th.

The menu will consist of turkey and dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, sweet peas, hot rolls, ambrosia and a drink. Cost is $5 for adults, other children can eat for student price which varies per campus.

Each campus will be handing out a sheet which should be filled out and returned as an RSVP.

Students of the Week at Hutchinson Elementary are Zoe Rubio, Markeisha Connelly, and Dameon Matos.

Zoe is a 3rd grader in Mrs. Toombs' class. She enjoys spending time with her dog, Stewart, and writing is her favorite subject. When asked about her favorite thing at her new school, she said, "Everything!"

Markeisha is a 4th grader in Ms. Martinez's class. She has a pit bull named Blaze who she loves very much. She enjoys playing outside and riding her bike, and she also likes watching Good Luck Charlie. Markeisha's favorite things about Hutchinson are Friday recess and science.

Dameon is a 5th grader in Mrs. Sparks' class. He has two dogs, Topsy and Diesel and likes to play sports and draw. Dameon's favorite subject is math, and he likes taking field trips at Hutchinson.

Colorado High School recognized by ACT

Colorado High School has received the 2012 College Readiness Award from the Texas ACT Council for increasing the number of students taking the ACT Assessment over the past five years and significantly increasing their level of achievement and college readiness.

The Texas ACT Council is comprised of secondary and postsecondary educators who advise ACT, Inc. on the utilization of ACT programs and services in Texas schools and colleges. ACT, Inc. is the not-for-profit organization that provides assessment, research, information and program management services in the broad areas of education and workforce development and the publisher of the ACT Assessment. The ACT Assessment is the college admissions test that is used and accepted by all colleges nationwide and throughout Texas.

In 2012, over 39% of Texas' graduating high school seniors took the ACT in Texas while the total number of Texas students taking the ACT has increased over 40% since 2008.

Karen L. Pennell, assistant vice president and ACT Southwest Regional Manager had this to say, "The Texas ACT Council wanted to recognize those Texas high schools that have made significant strides in increasing the college and career readiness of their graduates as demonstrated by their ACT score increases over the past five years. This can only happen as a result of the high school's faculty and staff efforts and the dedication of Colorado High School students and parents to focus on college and career readiness and raise the level of academic readiness for all students."

"Only 170 high schools in Texas were honored for this superior level of accomplishment which represents only 9% of all Texas high schools. These outstanding Texas high schools should be proud of their faculty, staff and students! Congratulations!" she said.

Thank you for your continued support!

Wolves surprise Hamilton move up to 5-2 on season

The Colorado City Wolves fought off a late surge by district rival Hamilton Friday night for a huge win on the road. Mark Henderson was 14-18 for 184 yards in the air as Hamilton sold out to stop the run.

"They did manage to slow our run down," Wolves Coach Frank Johnson said. "But when you take that away, it opens up our passing game."

The Wolves did manage 125 rushing yards in the game, as Hamilton was not able to shut them completely down. David Sanchez led the way, gaining 47 yards on six carries, one a two-yard touchdown run. Henderson added 41 more yards on his seven carries which included a 16-yard touchdown run, while Nathan Jackson carried the ball 16 times for 37 yards.

In the air, Henderson spread the ball around, hitting six different receivers for two touchdowns. Jackson led the way, catching four passes for 82 yards. Jackson scored on a 32-yard touchdown strike in the second frame. Rylan Gardner had the other Wolves' touchdown catch, a 19-yarder for the only score in the first quarter. Gardner caught four passes for 49 yards in the game.

"It was a huge win," Coach Johnson said. "Coach (Dan) Gainey had a great game plan going in and it worked out well. I was really impressed."

Johnson gave Jonathan Jackson the Monster Hit Award for his efforts in the game, while Mark Henderson grabbed the Offensive Player of the Week.

"Henderson had a really good game, both throwing and running the ball," Johnson said.

On defense, Johnson split the award between Jaime Espinoza and Fabian Gutierrez.

"The both played a monster game," Johnson said. "The two of them made Hamilton change their offensive attack after just one quarter because they were stopping it."

Colorado City, now 5-2 (2-0), will be home this week against the 3-4 (0-2) Hawley Bearcats.

Wolves look to clinch playoff spot with win against Hawley Friday

This week, the 5-2 (2-0) Wolves will be back in the friendly confines of Wolf Stadium after a mammoth win on the road in Hamilton. Coming into town will be the Hawley Bearcats. The 'Cats are sitting on a 3-4 record, with no wins in district, after already losing games to Cisco and Ballinger.

They really don't have much to lose," Wolves Head Coach Frank Johnson said. "If they lose, their playoff hopes are gone. We can expect them to throw everything at us."

The Wolves on the other hand, have everything to gain in this one, as a win would put them at 3-0, clinching a playoff spot with two games left in the season. But the 3-4 Bearcats are not to be overlooked.

"They are good enough to beat you," Johnson said. "They run several different defensive fronts, so we are not really sure what to expect until Friday night."

That, along with the fact Hawley has nothing to lose, gives concern. This is a game the Wolves are expected to win. Even Hawley knows this. That makes them very dangerous, as "easy wins" can be as difficult to get up for as "tough games." But Johnson says he has a handle on it.

"We know we have to stay focused," he said. "This game is huge for us. We have to be ready and we have to take advantage of everything we can to secure the win."

The game starts at 7:30 p.m. in Wolf Stadium.

MYTH

Senior Citizens BEWARE!!!!

The CISD $29 million bond could very well increase your taxes! Even if your tax rate is "frozen" — your property values are going up & therefore your overall taxes are also going up.

The property that you are leaving your heirs will be taxed for many years to come at a 30% higher rate. Do NOT leave this debt for your Grandchildren to pay off!

Vote NO. Vote for common sense in schools.

FACT

COMMENTS ON THE "SENIOR CITIZEN" FROZEN TAXES

There is sometimes confusion over what is meant by the statement that a senior citizen's taxes are "frozen" and can't be raised because new bonds are issued. The authority for this exemption is found in The Texas Constitution, Article 8, Section 1-b, d, which says in part "...the total amount of ad valorem taxes imposed on that homestead for general elementary and secondary public school purposes may not be increased while it remains the residence homestead of that person or that person's spouse who receives the exemption..."

The taxable value may increase on the home; the tax rate of the district may increase; the tax bill is the total amount of taxes collected for that homestead in the year that the exemption was granted. The total tax bill is the taxes for both parts of the tax statement, the maintenance and operation (M&O) and the debt service (I&S).

There are only two exceptions to this.

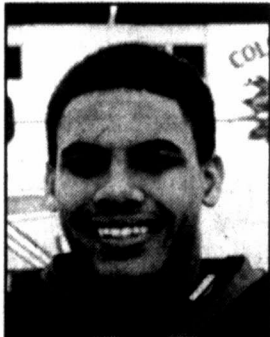

1. If the homestead is "improved" (an addition to the home or major renovations) then the property is re-appraised and the taxes are then frozen at the new level. If the home is not "improved", then the taxes remain frozen at their original level.
2. The district may collect taxes for debt previously pledged for the payment of debt and the exemption of this tax would impair the obligation. This means that you might be taxed for prior debt, but you can't be taxed for future debt.

Loraine JV beats Westbrook JV

While the Loraine and Westbrook varsity squads took the week off in preparation to begin their district schedule this week, the JV teams from each school met on the gridiron and fought it out. When it was over, the Loraine Bulldogs stood victorious, after defeating Westbrook's JV squad in a 72-24 third quarter win.

Westbrook would get the ball rolling first as Michael Watson scored on a two-yard run, but the JV Bulldogs came back and scored three times in under a minute's time. Dakota Delgado broke loose on a 64-yard run to break the ice for Loraine and then Carson Edmonds scored on a 10-yard fumble recovery 15 seconds later. Then Nate Martinez found an open Delgado for a 32-yard touchdown pass and catch.

But Westbrook was not done as B. Dominguez hit Zane Clemmer for a 15 yard touchdown. Loraine, in turn, responded with two more touchdowns as Delgado scored on a 15 yards reception and then Justin Fisk returned an interception 45 yards for a score, sending the two teams into the second frame with Loraine JV leading Westbrook JV 33-12.

In the second quarter, Martinez scored twice, on runs of 18 and 45 yards, and Fisk scored on a 20-yard run. Westbrook would get another touchdown in the period as well, as Watson crashed through the line from one yard out.

The third period was more of the same as Loraine scored three times and Westbrook found the end zone once. Martinez scored from 10 yards out for Loraine, but that score was matched almost immediately, as Westbrook's Dominguez hit Watson for a 15-yard touchdown pass. Loraine would score on runs by Abram Hernandez and Carson Edmonds to invoke the 45-point rule and end the game with 44 seconds left in the third period.

Loraine, Westbrook start district Friday

The Loraine Bulldogs and the Westbrook Wildcats are both coming off of a well-deserved bye week as they prepare to tackle the district portion of their schedule.

The Bulldogs are 3-4 under new head coach Kyle Hawk and will get things started Friday night on the road, travelling to Lueders-Avoca to face the 2-5 Raiders. The game will kick off at 7:30 p.m. and the Bulldogs know as well as anyone that with only three district games, this is still anyone's game.

In Westbrook, Randal Petty and his Wildcats are still looking for a win, their first of the season. But as any coach can tell you, the final scores of these first seven games means very little. Starting this week, everything counts, every yard, every catch and every point.

The Wildcats will play their first game in district at home against Trent. The Gorillas are 6-1, averaging over 50 points per game. Yes, this week, it all counts. District starts Friday. Good luck boys.

Lady Wolves set to begin playoff run

The Lady Wolves, already district champions, are awaiting to see who they will face in the playoffs. As things looked at press time Tuesday, the girls of Black and Red will be looking to face Highland Park (Amarillo) or Tulla. The two teams should meet in the first round of the playoffs, with the winner facing Colorado City.

Lady Wolves Coach Anita Graham said that chances are it would be Highland Park who would be facing the Lady Wolves. If that proves to be true, the game will be played Saturday, Nov. 3 in Lubbock.

Loraine, Westbrook start district Friday

The Loraine Bulldogs and the Westbrook Wildcats are both coming off of a well-deserved bye week as they prepare to tackle the district portion of their schedule.

The Bulldogs are 3-4 under new head coach Kyle Hauk and will get things started Friday night on the road, travelling to Lueders-Avoca to face the 2-5 Raiders. The game will kick off at 7:30 p.m. and the Bulldogs know as well as anyone that with only three district games, this is still anyone's game.

In Westbrook, Randal Petty and his Wildcats are still looking for a win, their first of the season. But as any coach can tell you, the final scores of these first seven games means very little. Starting this week, everything counts, every yard, every catch and every point.

The Wildcats will play their first game in district at home against Trent. The Gorillas are 6-1, averaging over 50 points per game. Yes, this week, it all counts. District starts Friday. Good luck boys.

DISTRICT SIX-MAN 7, DIV. II
Team	Dist.	Overall	PF	PA
Trent	0-0	6-1	409	212
Loraine	0-0	3-4	304	282
Lueders-Avoca	0-0	2-5	132	314
Westbrook	0-0	0-7	88	373

This week's game: Trent at Westbrook; Loraine at Lueders-Avoca

Lady Wolves set to begin playoff run

The Lady Wolves, already district champions, are awaiting to see who they will face in the playoffs. As things looked at press time Tuesday, the girls of Black and Red will be looking to face Highland Park (Amarillo) or Tulla. The two teams should meet in the first round of the playoffs, with the winner facing Colorado City.

Lady Wolves Coach Anita Graham said that chances are it would be Highland Park who would be facing the Lady Wolves. If that proves to be true, the game will be played Saturday, Nov. 3 in Lubbock.

Broadband service to be expanded in rural areas

Agriculture Under Secretary for Rural Development Dallas Tonsager today announced funding to expand access to broadband and telecommunications services in rural America.

"USDA and the Obama administration continue to work to ensure that rural residents have access to expanded educational, health care, business and social opportunities through robust broadband and telecommunication services," Tonsager said. "These funds will help modernize communications service and delivery for rural businesses and residential customers."

Tonsager noted that in the recently completed fiscal year, USDA Rural Development has funded over $170 million in rural telecommunications projects nationwide to expand rural access to educational, health care, business and social services.

USDA Rural Development is funding 24 projects through several loan and grant programs administered by the Rural Utilities Service (RUS); Broadband, Telecommunications loans, the Community Connect grant program, and the Public Television Digital Transition.

"USDA Rural Development is pleased to offer this funding to Mid-Plains Rural Telephone Coop," said Paco Valentin, Texas State Director. "This essential funding will help our rural communities keep pace with changing technology, and will provide access to modern communications systems that larger communities already have in place."

In Texas, Mid-Plains Rural Telephone Cooperative, Inc., is one of 24 recipients to receive funding through this announcement. Mid-Plains Rural Telephone Cooperative will receive $2,590,000 to be used to convert the outdated network in select areas of the Cleta and Umbarger exchanges to a fiber-based passive optical network with GigaBit Ethernet technology.

For other examples of USDA investments in rural communities, please visit Rural Development's new interactive web map at <http://www.rurdev.usda.gov/RDSuccessStories.html>. The map features program funding and success stories for fiscal years 2009-2011.

President Obama's plan for rural America has brought about historic investment and resulted in stronger rural communities. Under the President's leadership, these investments in housing, community facilities, businesses and infrastructure have empowered rural America to continue leading the way — strengthening America's economy, small towns and rural communities. USDA's investments in rural communities support the rural way of life that stands as the backbone of our American values. President Obama and Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack are committed to a smarter use of Federal resources to foster sustainable economic prosperity and ensure the government is a strong partner for businesses, entrepreneurs and working families in rural communities.

USDA, through its Rural Development mission area, has an active portfolio of more than $174 billion in loans and loan guarantees. These programs are designed to improve the economic stability of rural communities, businesses, residents, farmers and ranchers and improve the quality of life in rural America.

An open letter to the citizens of Loraine

Dear residents of Loraine,

At Loraine ISD, we value our community. We sincerely appreciate how the community supported the future of Loraine ISD by passing the $12 Million Dollar Bond Issue that will provide a new school for the students of Loraine for the next 30 plus years.

The Faculty and Staff along with various student organizations want to give back and help beautify the community that has given so much to the school. We want a clean and beautiful City to go along with our clean and beautiful new school.

We want to help others that are in need. If you are 60 years old or older and need help cleaning up your yard, doing minor repairs around your house, or need items moved to the street for pick up or making donations, please call or email me so that we can arrange a time to provide you the assistance that you need on future Saturday's.

Go Bulldogs!

Sincerely,
Travis W. Edwards
