Political Cross-Fires Roaring With Renewed Vigor

Fear Breeding Is Charged By Demo Nominee

Roosevelt Says That Hoover Has Abandoned Argument For Personalities And Seeks To Undermine Reason

Dignity Is Dead

Charges That Hoover And His Crowd Crack Whip Of Fear Over American Voters; Policies Are Outlined

(By The Associated Press)

ARENA, BOSTON, Oct. 31. — Franklin D. Roosevelt said tonight that President Hoover in his speech at Indianapolis had abandoned argument for personalities and that the administration was seeking to undermine reason with fear.

Speaking from the same platform from which Alfred E. Smith addressed his appeal to Massachusetts voters a week ago to support the Democratic ticket, the presidential candidate outlined anew various of the policies he has put before the people during his campaign.

Moods Are Analyzed

He said that "as the storm of approval for the Democratic policies have grown, several moods have come over the utterances of the president and his supporters."

"First," he added, "they were plaintively apologetic; then they were indignant at congress.

"Finally they have in desperation resorted to the breeding of fear.

Dignity Has Died

"At first the president refused to recognize that he was in a contest. But as the people have responded to our program with enthusiasm he recognized that we were both candidates. And then dignity died.

"At Indianapolis he spoke of my arguments—misquoting them, but at Indianapolis he went further. He abandoned argument for personalities.

"In the presence of a situation like this I am tempted to reply in kind. I shall not yield to the temptation to which the president yielded. On the contrary I reiterate my respect for his person and his office.

Shall Not Be Deterred

"But I shall not be deterred even by the president of the United States from the discussion of grave national issues and submitting to them the truth about their national affairs—however unpleasant that truth may be.

"The ballot is the indispensable instrument of a free people. It should be the true expression of their will. It is intolerable when

Child Says 'G'Bye' To 'Mom' And Disappears

But She's Sure He Will Come Home

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 31. — Nine days ago a blue-eyed sturdy little follow of eight said "g'bye" to his "mom" and dropped completely from sight.

Today, Ebert Holleron's disappearance has become a major mystery and his search has grown to nation-wide proportions.

Two Men Are Held

Admittedly without tangible evidence of his fate, Cleveland detectives are holding two men for questioning.

On Saturday afternoon, Oct. 22, the lad skipped away to play, first taking the precaution to say:

"G'bye mom. What time shall I start back to get home by dark."

"Mom" Is Confident

Mrs. George Holleron—"mom"—feels sure tow-headed Ebert did not run away—"he was just a little afraid of the dark."

"He's alive, I know he's alive, and he'll come back to me," she insists. Her eyes are shadowed from loss of sleep and her face shows the strain of waiting for the boy who was the baby of the household.

Many rumors have come to detectives. Particular credence is given one from a 13-year old playmate of Ebert's, who related that 'a man in a gray sedan" recently attempted to entice Ebert into his automobile.

Another Case Recalled

Cleveland police have centered their activities on learning the identity of this man, working on the theory that Ebert may have been made the victim of a degenerate, or possibly still is alive and a captive.

They recalled the abduction and murder of six-year old

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 31 (AP) — The state of Arizona held today, in its brief filed with the supreme court combatting Winnie Ruth Judd's appeal from conviction and death sentence for the slaying of Agnes Anne Leroi, that "she is in no position to complain."

The filing of the state brief is the last step before oral argument of appeal, which probably will be set for the next docket of the court.

President Climaxes Bid For Eastern Electoral Votes In Day Of Active Campaigning On Atlantic Coast

(By The Associated Press)

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, Oct. 31.—Launching an attack upon the "philosophies of government" of the Democratic leadership, President Hoover tonight told a Madison Square Garden throng that "to embark upon this inchoate new ideal which has been propounded in this campaign would be to undermine and destroy our American system."

Climaxing his bid for eastern electoral votes after a day of active campaigning along the Atlantic seaboard, the chief executive asserted that the Republican administration had "saved this nation from a quarter of a century of chaos and degeneration."

Represent Profound Change

"My countrymen," Mr. Hoover said, "the proposals of our opponents represent a profound change in American life—less in concrete proposal, bad as that may be, than by implication and evasion. Dominantly in their spirit they represent a radical departure from the foundations of 150 years which have made this the greatest nation in the world.

"This election is not a mere shift from the ins to the outs. It means deciding the direction our nation will take over a century to come."

Calls Attention To Types

Asking his audience to "look into the types of leaders who are campaigning for the Democratic ticket," the president named Senator Norris of Nebraska, Senator La Follette of Wisconsin and Senator Cutting of New Mexico, all progressive Republicans; Senator Long of Louisiana and Senator Wheeler of Montana, both Democrats, and William Randolph Hearst, newspaper publisher.

"I can respect the sincerity of these men in their desire to change our form of government and our social and economic system," Mr. Hoover said, "though I shall do my best tonight to prove they are wrong.

Assurance Of Support

"Unless these men feel assurance of support to their ideas they certainly would not be supporting these candidates and the Democratic

Pastor Fights Jury Decision

Outcome Of Berrie's Plea For New Trial Delayed Few Days To Allow Prosecutors Time To Present Testimony

(By The Associated Press)

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Oct. 31. — A haggard preacher, the Rev. S. Altha Berrie, fought back today at his conviction on a charge of murdering his first wife with testimony intended to show that two jurors expressed belief on his guilt even before they tried him.

However, the outcome of the unfrocked Cumberland Presbyterian pastor's plea for a new trial was delayed a few days. The hearing was continued until Thursday morning by District Judge W. J. Crump, to allow prosecutors to present rebuttal testimony.

Today Jess Doyle, the jury foreman, was quoted by Herman Turner as declaring, "that man is guilty as hell and so is that woman," during a restaurant discussion prior to the preacher's trial.

MANCHESTER, England, Oct. 31 (AP)—Spinners in the Lancashire cotton mills rejected a wage cut of 5 to 8 per cent today and pulled 150,000 men out on strike.

Representatives of the union and the mill owners got together immediately, but they made no headway toward a compromise which might end the walkout. There were no arrangements for further meetings and up to this evening the ministry of labor had taken no action.

The student ministers didn't think it "looked right" for one of their body to be playing football, so they put their views into a petition directed to the president of the college.

The president ordered that Fred be dropped from the team.

First Barrage Will Be Fired Today As Duck And Geese Season Is Opened

PEACEFUL South Plains lakes will be lashed by beating wings and the early morning air will be filled with the cacophony of frightened water fowl as marksmen today fire the first barrages of the legal duck and geese season in Texas' north zone. The season on these game birds will end December 31.

Monday the far-flung honk of migrating geese settled over this section, and ducks were undisturbed in feeding in the natural lakes of the Plains.

A fair grain crop, plentiful shallow ponds, and early snow in the north have contributed to conditions favorable to hunting water fowl. Breeding ground in Canada and the northern states were ideal for propagation of the birds this season, the American Game association has announced.

Early flights of ducks and geese, particularly of geese, have convinced some sportsmen that a severe winter and a big migration of birds are due.

The duck bag limit per day remains at 15, except that to conserve certain species the bag must not contain more than 10 canvasbacks, redheads, ringnecks, bluewings, bluebills, greenwings and cinnamon teals, and not more than five elder ducks. The season is closed on ruddy ducks and buffleheads,

Red Flags Are Held Aloft In Jobless March

Chicago's Unemployed Stage A Giant Demonstration To Ask And Demand More Provisions; Traffic Snarled

Police Are Defied

Inflammatory Banners Waved By Marchers; Conference Is Held With Mayor; Demands Are Outlined

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Chanting "we want bread," Chicago's unemployed surged through the loop today in a giant, orderly parade and joined in a mass demonstration at downtown Grant Park on the lake front to protest diminished relief allowances. These had been cut in half during October for lack of funds. Full allowances are provided for November.

Traffic was snarled and thousands lined sidewalks as marchers, flanked by 1,000 policemen, snaked over streets in a drizzle of rain.

Defying police orders against red flags and "inflammatory" banners, marchers held aloft crimson banners, the hammer and sickle of communism, placards protesting against authorities and signs demanding additional relief.

Chicago newspapers variously estimated the number of marchers from 10,000 to 13,000.

There were old men, young men; old women, young women; university students, grade school students; white men, black men in the line of march—a cross section of the city's unemployed.

Demands Outlined

The signs and banners flared against the dull drizzle of the loop some of them read:

"Less cops, more bread;" "National student league of the University of Chicago." "The new deal, what is it?" "We want work, not charity;" "Millions will never work again."

A committee representing various organizations of the unemployed conferred with Mayor Anton Cermak and presented demands for an allowance of $7.50 weekly for each family of two; $5.50 for each single man; free car fare for unemployed and school children; free gas, water and electricity; release of unemployed under arrest; a public works program to build homes for the idle, and no distinction between white and negro workers.

Ernest Thompson Says Extra Session Is Very Important

FORT WORTH, Oct. 31. (AP) — Calling of a special session of the legislature immediately to sustain proration in Texas oil fields was declared "highly important" today by E. O. Thompson, member of the railroad commission.

Amendment of the Texas oil statutes to give the commission authority to consider economic waste similar to the Oklahoma law which has been upheld by the United States supreme court in an unanimous decision is recommended by Thompson.

Less Than Carload Freight Rates Increased Two Cents

AUSTIN, Oct. 31. (AP)—The Texas railroad commission today issued an order authorizing an increase of two cents per 100 pounds in less than car load railroad freight rates.

The increase will be effective November 15, and will expire March 31, 1933.

The increase will not apply to common carrier motor trucks or motor transport companies operated by the railroads.

A similar increase was approved January 4, last, by the Interstate commerce commission on interstate shipments, but the Texas commission delayed placing it into effect on intrastate traffic because of an objection filed against the order.

What Price Death? It's Just $5 In West Texas

Ector Sheriff Will Not Cut Prices

(By The Associated Press)

ODESSA, Oct. 31. — What price death?

One hundred and fifty some odd years ago Patrick Henry fixed the equivalent, or alternative—as one chooses to construe his restricted selection—at liberty.

Demand Modified

Time, perhaps, has modified the uncompromising demand of the revolutionary forefather. At any rate, out in Ector county, Texas, where the wide open spaces have preserved a measure of the frontier spirit of initiative, there is an apparnt willingnss to consider another value.

A prisoner, unable to raise a thousand dollar bond, imposed after an examining trial, voiced firm prejudice against further residence in the local jail. Throwing his broad-brimmed hat on the floor of the courthouse hallway, he stated with emphasis that he would not go back to the brig.

If You Have $5

"You'll have to shoot me first! I'd rather be shot than go back to your umpty-ump jail!"

"Well, if you've got five dollars . . ." the sheriff suggested hesitatingly and at the same time fingering his ivory-handled gun reflectively.

"But I've only got two. Maybe we . . ." interrupted the prisoner who was a stranger to West Texas and its diplomatic ways.

Refuses Price Cut

"Then," continued the sheriff, "I can't afford to shoot you. Five dollars is my regular price for shooting folks and if I let the price down, now that the depression is on, I'd be worked to death in a week."

The momentary distraction at the failure of negotiations was enough for the officer to collar the objector and guide him back to his cell without further protest.

Andrews Will Succeed Shaw

Former School Principal Will Become Superintendent At Abernathy; Lubbock Man Is Named Principal

(Special To The Avalanche)

ABERNATHY, Oct. 31. — Frank Andrews, former high school principal here, has been promoted to superintendent of the Abernathy public school system to succeed L. P. Shaw, who has been indicted for the fatal shooting Sept. 29 of Joe M. Ramsey, Abernathy and Hale Center plumber.

Sam H. Davis of Lubbock last week was named principal to succeed Andrews. Davis, a former Simmons University student, majored in education. He has attended Texas Technological college during summer sessions. The Rev. H. W. Barnett, local Methodist minister, taught Shaw's classes until schools were dismissed until November 14 for the cotton season.

Mrs. Shaw, an elementary teacher, is continuing in her position. Mr. Shaw, indicted October 19 for murder, is at liberty on $10,000 bond. He resigned his place as superintendent.

The accused man has remained near his home here following his release on bond October 21. Williams and Day of Plainview are preparing his defense.

Sympathy For Tharp Family Is Expressed

Grand Jury No-Bills Blanton And Charge Of Robbery With Firearms Is Dropped; Freed Monday Afternoon

Auto Is Withheld

Expresses His Appreciation For Treatment Received In Jail Here; Declares He Is To Talk With Lawyer

ABSOLVED of all guilt in the two hijackings of M-System stores and the fatal shooting of Robert Tharp in one of the holdups here Oct. 15, twenty-one-year-old H. C. (Buddy) Blanton was released from Lubbock county jail at about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

"I hope that the man or men guilty of these crimes are caught and punished for them," the youth told the Morning Avalanche last night. He offered his sympathy to members of young Tharp's family.

Release Is Ordered

A 99th district court grand jury Monday no-billed Blanton, and A. C. Hanna, grand jury foreman, of Slaton, ordered release of the Amarillo man. The no-bill automatically entitled Blanton to release and canceled a robbery with firearms complaint filed against him in Justice of the Peace J. S. Connell's court.

With a spoon from the jail in his pocket as a souvenir of "nine days and nights of solitary confinement," Blanton's principal worry last night was obtaining possession of his automobile, which he said was in his mother's name. Blanton said that a local officer who aided in the investigation leading to Blanton's arrest at Amarillo October 23, refused possession of the automobile last night. The officer, Blanton said, declared he was acting on orders of Amarillo officers.

"I'm going to talk to a lawyer in the morning about that car," Blanton said.

Still dressed in the clothes he was wearing when he was brought to Lubbock, except a blue shirt a friend gave him, Blanton mingled with the Hallowe'en crowd last night.

"I feel awful funny, with people

Mrs. C. A. Bickley Is Named President Of Church Women's Federation

The Woman's Angle

Avalanche Woman's Editor

BY MARGARET TURNER
Acting Woman's Editor

SUNDAY was Smile day. So proclaimed by none other than our own Governor Sterling. If he can smile, can't we all?

• • •

Ambitious merchants in several Texas cities have seized the opportunity to continue the smile proclamation for a week. In their advertising they inform milady that she can't smile properly if she is attired in last year's clothes.

• • •

Well, we want a return of prosperity as much as anyone and admit that new clothes certainly would help to dispel the depression but we had figured all along that the person who could smile while wearing last year's clothes deserved some credit.

• • •

Besides we are unfortunate in that most of our smiles are greeted with a rather sarcastic, "Well, what are you grinning about?"

• • •

There was a vein of humor in certain things that Judge E. L. Pitts, county judge, had to say about the younger generation in addressing a meeting of the Church Women's Federation Monday afternoon at the Cumberland Presbyerian church.

• • •

THIS YOUNGER GENERATION

SINCE 1929 the papers have not had a great deal to say about the much maligned y. g. Front page value following the years right after the World war, younger people seem to have taken a back seat. The flapper, the lounge-lizard, the Charleston and "necking parties" so far as interesting information for a feature story have gone the way of Eugenie hats and high-topped shoes.

• • •

Admitting that he found the younger generation to be both puzzling and interesting, Judge Pitts said that he thinks parents should become acquainted with their children and perhaps in doing so will enjoy their friendship. "They go farther, stay longer and see more than we did in our generation," he told his listeners.

• • •

Judge Pitts bemoaned the passing of the day when a boy hurried home from school in order to do his chores before dark and when a girl didn't dare loiter because of house work which awaited her at home. Supervision of leisure time is a remedy for a lot of night prowling he believes.

• • •

SOUND PHILOSOPHY

"I don't pose as one who is good; I just look at life as it is and do the best that I can."

• • •

The speaker who said the above is well known in Lubbock and his life bears out that quotation. In a world over supplied with people who spend their lives in theorizing it appeared to me to be sound philosophy.

Temple Ellis who has been critically ill at the Lubbock sanitarium for the past week is improving according to word from the hospital. Although he cannot receive visitors yet, he may be able to return home the latter part of this week.

How Democrats May Vote For ORVILLE BULLINGTON FOR GOVERNOR

Orville Bullington

Assuming you want to vote for ROOSEVELT and GARNER and all the rest of the Democratic nominees, except Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, the only name you mark out in the Democratic column is Mrs Miriam Ferguson, as shown below. In the Republican column you mark out everything from top to bottom, except Orville Bullington. In the next column, the Socialist, you draw a line from top to bottom, and the same for the other five columns. If two gubernatorial candidates' names appeared unmarked, neither would get a vote and your ballot would not be counted.

You must leave all the 23 electors unmarked in the party you want and mark out all of them in the other columns in order to cast a vote for your presidential choice.

Below is the important corner of the official ballot correctly marked if you want ROOSEVELT, GARNER and BULLINGTON and the rest of the Democratic nominees.

Tech Meets Trinity; Westerners Play Bulldogs Friday

Matadors Rest Yesterday But Go Hard Today

Coach Leland Wilkins Brings Husky Team Coached After Notre Dame Style To Scrap Cawthon's High Flyers

Refreshed by yesterday's rest, the Texas Tech Matadors open a three-day practice session for the Trinity University Tigers this afternoon with a scrimmage against the reserves.

The Tigers, one of the strongest clubs in the Texas conference, undefeated save for a one-touchdown setback at the hands of the Simmons University Cowboys in a tussle that easily could have gone either way, invade Lubbock for Tech's ninth game of the season.

Coach Leland Wilkins, considered by many observers as the best athlete ever turned out at Trinity, brings a team of big men to Lubbock, according to reports, who are coached the Notre Dame system such as used at Tech. Wilkins returned to his alma mater after graduation to assist Barry Holton, a former Notre Dame player. It is Wilkins' first year at Trinity, and his team appears headed somewhere in the conference.

Work Against Let Down

While the Matadors are considered favorites to win Friday night's game, which, by the way, may be the final nocturnal football event of the season here, they do not anticipate a set up. Coaches fear a possible let down, and this afternoon's practice will include a scrimmage against the reserves to provide a taste of what they may expect.

There was no practice yesterday, the Matadors enjoying the first holiday from practice since the season started on September 10. Although they suffered no serious injuries last Friday night against the Notre Dame B team, it was deemed wise to allow a day of grace in which minor scratches and bruises might heal before the heavy work this week.

Teachers' Party Planned

Officials of Tech predict a grandstand sell out for the game this week, and advance ticket sales already indicate that the interest in Tech football is not waning. Tickets are on sale at the Lubbock and Hilton drug stores.

To augment what may be a big crowd, a "school teachers' party" has been planned for Friday night. Through arrangement with the Tech authorities, The Plainsman, Lubbock Daily Journal columnist, is sponsoring a free party for all Lubbock and Lubbock county school teachers and their families. A special section will be reserved for them.

Tickets For Two Games On Sale

Reserved seat tickets for the Texas Tech-Trinity University football game, scheduled for Friday night of this week, were placed on sale at the Lubbock and Hilton hotel drug stores yesterday. Bleacher seats also were placed on sale in advance. The price is $1.10, tax included.

Pasteboards for the Texas Tech-Baylor University game, which will be played on November 11 as one of the high lights of the season's schedule, will go on sale today at noon. Due to the expected demand, only one section of reserved seats will be sold at a time. Section C, or the middle section in the grandstand, will go on sale today. The price has been reduced to $1.50 for grandstand seats and $1 for bleacher seats, plus a 10 per cent federal tax.

Ball! Ball! Who Has The Ball?

Mike Frankovitch . . . quarterback and sleight-of-hand performer.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31—U. S. L. A.'s backfield, is nothing, if not deceptive. For, handling the running of the team as quarterback, is Mike Frankovitch.

Mike is, among other things, a Serbian sleight-of-hand magician and a linguist with a command of Serbian, Austrian, Italian, Spanish and English. Add to these qualities the fact that he's a pretty fair football player and you have just what the old team needs.

The team's deceptive reverses, hidden ball tricks, puzzling spinners and trick plays have all become quite a bit more difficult for the opposition since Mike took a hand. He is a sophomore and, when he gets in another year of mixing black magic with football, he should be a wow.

He was born in Bisbee, Ariz., 21 years ago. He went to high school here and, after graduating with valedictorian honors, was offered scholarships at Harvard and Cornell. Most of his "quicker - than - the - eye" ability was picked up as the stage character of "The Great Frankovitch," master magician.

The Bruin conjurer has very large hands. This is a great aid in football and card tricks. His big paws enable him to grip the pigskin securely and get off long passes.

Mike will lead the Californians to Florida Dec. 26 for the Bruin's annual tangle with the Florida 'Gators. In his first trip west of the Rockies he hopes to make his reputation as a magician nation-wide.

The Florida boys are hereby warned that Mike is good. Even his teammates are in a perpetual state of mystification. Nobody knows who's carrying the ball—not even the fellow who's lugging it!

Porkers Make Big Plans For Homecoming Day Tilt

FAYETTEVILLE, Oct. 31. (AP) — The University of Arkansas Razorbacks today were hopeful of a victory Saturday in their homecoming game here with the Rice Institute Owls of Houston, to redeem what has been a somewhat disappointing season thus far for the Razorbacks.

The Porkers underwent a workout this afternoon and will swing into a hard clip tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday, easing up Friday.

La Forge Geiser and C. Jordan, speedy sophomore backs, were being groomed for ball-carrying assignments against Rice, while the line was being revamped to produce the most effective combinations.

Wingmen also were getting an extra drilling in an effort to strengthen passing attacks. Arkansas lost to Rice 12 to 26 last season.

Ray Hill And Hugh Carpenter Win Texas PGA Match Of Week

DALLAS, Oct. 31 (AP)—Ray Hill of the Dallas Cedar Crest country club, and Hugh Carpenter, unattached Dallas professional, won the weekly amateur-pro Texas Professional Golfers association sweepstakes today with a best ball of 35-33-68. Their card was three under par over the long Tenison Park municipal course. Hill is Gus Moreland's caddie and played fine golf to help Carpenter on several holes.

Byron Nelson of the Fort Worth Glen Garden Country club and Larry Nabholtz, Dallas Lakewood Country club professional, won second place with a best ball of 34-35—69.

The census shows 64,000 turkey growers in California, Washington, Idaho, Nevada, Montana and Utah.

Texas, Baylor In Grid Light For Southwest

Littlefield Says Longhorns In Let Down Against Mustangs; Is Dissatisfied At Result Of Last Week's Game

AUSTIN, Oct. 31 (AP)—Highly dissatisfied with his University of Texas football team's unimpressive 14-6 victory over the S. M. U. Ponies here last Saturday, which was marred by numerous fumbles and spotty football, Coach Clyde Littlefield devoted most of today's practice session to pointing out those mistakes and offering the necessary remedies in preparation for the Longhorn's clash with the Baylor Bears at Waco next Saturday.

In the S. M. U. contest, the Longhorns obviously were badly off form, exhibiting a bad case of nerves at the opening whistle, when they fumbled frequently, giving the Ponies a break which they converted into their only touchdown. The Longhorn coach expressed the opinion that his team suffered a light let-down against the Mustangs, after two hard games against Oklahoma and Rice. However, he was confident his Steers would be back in good form against the Bruins Saturday.

It was believed the Longhorn mentor would stress pass defense throughout this week's practice sessions, as reports made to him by scouts indicated that the Bruins' most dangerous offensive weapon was the forward pass.

Mustangland To Make Whoopee Saturday

DALLAS, Oct. 31. (AP)—Encouraged by their improved playing against the University of Texas Saturday although they lost, 14-6, the Southern Methodist Mustangs resumed training today for their game here Saturday against the Texas A. & M. Aggies. The Mustangs are determined to climb out of the cellar with a win over the Aggies.

Only a light signal drill and routine practice were given the Mustangs today. Coach Morrison told his cohorts to prepare for some serious work tomorrow. The game Saturday will be homecoming day for Southern Methodist. Hundreds of old grads are expected to be present for the festivities, which will be topped by a big barbecue at noon and the football game afterward.

Anderson Is "On His Ear" About Pitt Defeating Irish

Rambler Coach Gets Hot And Changes Irish Lineup

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 31. — Coach "Hunk" Anderson was a Hallowe'en goblin, striking terror in the hearts of his Notre Dame football regulars tonight.

Infuriated because the Ramblers took it on the chin at Pittsburgh Saturday in probably the biggest upset of the season, "Hunk" hauled out the big stick and ordered a drastic shakeup.

Captain Is Demoted

Captain Paul Host was demoted from first string end to the second team in favor of High Devore, Nick Lukats was ousted from left halfback on the regulars for Mike Koken; and Ben Alexander was replaced at center by "Kitty" Gorman.

"And that's just a start if I don't find what I want," he boomed fiercely to the regulars as they huddled in the gymnasium to escape the rain and darkness. "We've got a lot of good material here and I'm going to find out just who wants to get in there and fight."

Coach Is Boiling

Anderson's threat was more than the usual tongue lashing handed out by football coaches after an unexpected reverse. He was boiling. He figured the Ramblers were too or three touchdowns better than Pitt's Panthers.

All through Notre Dame's point-a-minute rush in its first three games of the season, rumors have been current of dissension within the ranks. Close observers failed to notice anything to lend credence to such rumors. Today, they grew with defeat and with the wielding of the big stick by Coach Anderson.

Notre Dame followers, accustomed to one victory march after another by the large Rambler armies, were stunned by the setback at Pittsburgh.

Maybe They'll Want Tech!

Naturally, Coach Anderson was in for some criticism for his optimistic utterances but his supporters blamed the showing at Pittsburgh on the current schedule, which "Hunk" did not arrange. The first three games of the season, it was pointed out were scheduled by the late Knute Rockne when the Haskell Indians, Drake and Carnegie Tech were regarded as powerful trial horses at the least. This season, they were mere "push overs" by Notre Dame, a result that gave the first string reguiars only 45 minutes of service under fire.

"We're not alibiing at all," Coach Anderson said, "Pitt beat us with a fine team with a great spirit and deserves all the credit the players received. We weren't ready, I guess, but we'll be from now on with some different faces in the regular lineup, too, unless I'm convinced that some of the other regulars can hit the ball."

Simmons Cowboys Appear Next On Horned Frogs' Slate, At Abilene

FORT WORTH, Oct. 31 (AP)—Although the T. C. U. Horned Frogs expect to add Simmons University to their list of victories when they meet Friday night at Abilene they are not taking the Cowboys any too lightly.

Coach Francis A. Schmidt sent the Frogs through a hard scrimmage against the frosh this afternoon. Such workouts are to be expected throughout the early part of the week as the Frogs have always encountered a hard fight in beating the Cowboys.

The entire squad was out this afternoon with the return of Johnny Kitchen who was unable to work for the Baylor game last week because of an infected elbow. Jewell Wallace, who starred against the Bears, was running in the first string backfield during part of the workout, which indicates that he will see much action against the Cowboys.

Rice Owls Prepare For Tilt With Razorbacks On Saturday

HOUSTON, Oct. 31 (AP)—The Rice Institute football squad went through its regular drill on fundamentals today, preparing for Arkansas, which the Owls meet Saturday at Fayetteville.

Rice, which crushed Creighton of Omaha 41-7 here last Saturday, will be favored to take the Razorbacks, but Coach Jack Meagher, as usual, was guarding against any feeling of over confidence.

Jawbreaker Results From Coining

MOSCOW, Oct. 31 (AP)—The Soviet custom of combining one syllable each from a group of Russian words to make a single word, usually in cases of names of government departments and organizations, has produced the 29 letter appellation "MOSOBLJELDORSHOSPORTTRANSPORT."

It is a contraction of the Russian words meaning "Moscow Province Railroad, Highway and River Transport Bureau."

Some of the combinations now holding a definite place in the Soviet lexicon are:

Narkomindyel, Commissariat for Foreign Affairs; Narkomtrud, Commissariat for Labor; Narkomsnab, Commissariat for Supply; Sovnarkom, Council of People's Commissars; Narkomzem, Commissariat for Agriculture; Narkomput, Commissariat for Transport; Gosizdat, State Publishing Society.

Also there is OGPU, the dread secret police.

Texas Aggies Omit Regular Monday Scrimmage In Drill

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 31 (AP)—The Texas Aggies omitted their weekly football scrimmage with the freshman today and plunged into plans for the game with Southern Methodist University at Dallas Saturday.

With the prospect that Capt. Jimmy Aston and Henry Graves, halfbacks, would be able to play Saturday, the injured list was reduced to six. No new injuries were reported after the Centenary game at Shreveport Saturday.

Safely through their first conference game in the District 1 schoolboy football race, the Lubbock High school Westerners tackle another Class A opponent this week when Coach Frank Kimbrough brings his Plainview High school Bulldogs to Lubbock.

The game will be played Friday afternoon, beginning at 3:30 o'clock, on the Texas Tech field.

Their 72 to 6 triumph over the Borger Bulldogs last Friday afternoon branded the Westerners as possible contenders, probably the district "dark horse," in the interscholastic league race of this district. The victory came as a surprise, yet showed that the Westerners have improved wonderfully since the beginning of the season when they were considered scarcely able to hold the weak sisters of the district to a close score.

Cowhands To Play

Plainview, whose pre-season dope indicated a strong team, has failed to show much offensive this season. The Westerners are due to win handily, but the coaches are taking no chances. Workouts this week will be hard and furious.

As a prelude to Friday afternoon's matinee feature, the Lubbock Junior high Cowboys will meet the Plainview Junior high Bullpups in an abbreviated contest. The game will be shortened in time for a letout before the Westerners and Bulldogs begin their conflict at 3:30.

Don't Dodge The Polls!

A WEEK from today Texas, with the balance of the nation, will march to the polls to choose a president and a Vice-President who will serve from March, 1933, to March 1937.

With Texas overwhelmingly Democratic again after leaving the fold in 1928, there is not the slightest doubt that the state will drive into the Roosevelt-Garner column this year. The only question is: by how great a margin?

The Morning Avalanche can conceive of no reason by which a vote should be cast for the Republican team of Hoover and Curtis. The present administration has been characterized by bungling and by indecision; it has floundered pitifully—has not been able to lead the nation as it promised it would.

Economic conditions and world problems scream for a change. It is Hoover and further Debacle, versus Roosevelt and Recovery.

Yet aside from these logical reasons for support of the Democratic national ticket is another reason which cannot—and which must not—be overlooked by Texas. A son of the Lone Star state has second place on the ticket. For John Nance Garner this state should roll up the greatest Democratic majority of all time.

Many Texans, disturbed by party conditions in their own state and also unwilling to vote for the Republican gubernatorial candidate, are planning to stay away from the polls on November 8. That should not be. They should go to the polls and vote for the Democratic national ticket, even if they feel they must scratch everything else on the hefty ballot.

Republican partisans, grasping at last-minute straws, are reminding the nation that Hoover did not cause the depression.

Agreeing that he didn't, we none the less charge that he hasn't been able to grapple with it.

Republican partisans, tearing their hair, are promising a last-minute campaign of fear, alleging that "conditions will get worse if you elect a Democrat."

Just where the logic is in that claim, we are unable to see. In fact, looking over the collapse which has been simultaneous with the present Republican administration, we don't see how things could possibly be worse—even were Mr. Roosevelt no more fitted for the place he seeks than his political enemies claim he is.

Roosevelt and Garner form the Democratic ticket—the Texas ticket and the American ticket.

Don't stay away from the polls next Tuesday!

Whatever else you do, cast a vote for Roosevelt, for Garner—and for America!

LITERARY ADVANCEMENT

European writers visiting the United States are struck with the excellent standard of books that Americans generally seem to be reading. When the British find evidence of a trace of culture in America, natives need have no doubt that it exists.

These authors may be somewhat prejudiced because of the popularity their own works enjoy on this side of the Atlantic. But the fact remains that the publishing business in the United States was never more flourishing, nor literary output at higher level by critical standards, than is the case at present.

It has become quite commonplace for card parties to be prefaced, or even interrupted, by lively discussions of a bookish character. And social onus no longer rests on the "highbrow" who enjoys his reading, but rather on the person who used to claim with pride he had no time to waste on literary browsing.

Speculation on the causes of this change is interesting. But whatever the cause, an increased interest in ideas for themselves, regardless of their economic application, is now obvious. And when a democracy which has no narrow "reading class' takes up the art progress is rapid.

Who would have thought a quarter century ago that philosophy and biography would ever become popular mental diet for the average American?

The federal government sent an export to Chambersburg, Pa., to plan for an addition to the postoffice but he discovered, to his chagrin, that the addition was built a year ago. Reading this kind of news is what makes contented taxpayers.

The public is mailing fewer and fewer letters and writing fewer and fewer checks, to the mortification of scheming parasites at the federal trough.

Hoover, who promised two cars for every garage, now says it's lucky the garage is still there, and he's right for once.

Taxes and death may be similar in some ways, but the stupidity, of politicians makes death less painful instead of worse.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

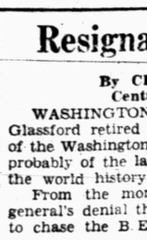

Even a child is known by his doings, whether his work be pure, and whether it be right.—Proverbs 20:11.

Resignation No Surprise

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford retired a few days ago as superintendent of the Washington police force to the accompaniment, probably of the largest chorus of "I told you so's" in the world history of the national capital.

From the moment following publication of the general's denial that it was he who called for troops to chase the B. E. F. from the District of Columbia it would have been hard to find anyone in the city willing to wager 1 to 10 that he would finish the year still at the head of its corps of public guardians.

Pelham Glassford

Upon just what pretense a period would be put to his incumbency naturally no one knew exactly, but, in substance, the course of events was accurately forecast literally by thousands of Washingtonians.

• • •

THAT HE would be dismissed, every sophisticated person of course realized, was highly unlikely. It was assumed that he would be maneuvered into a position guaranteed to compel his resignation, just as occurred within three months after the "Battle of Pennsylvania Avenue".

Technically a case unquestionably can be made out to the effect that he quit because the District commissioners refused to acquiesce in his demand for the impossible.

He undertook, on his own responsibility, a police reorganization, in the interest of increased efficiency, which the commissioners undoubtedly will be able to show was in contravention of the civil service rules of the department.

• • •

NOT THE slightest connection shows on the surface, between the B. E. F. incident and the general's surrender of his shield rather than accept what he describes as a "humiliating compromise" concerning his police management.

There are rumors, to be sure, of a desire on the part of the justice department to have charges preferred against him, as having been guilty of misrepresentation in repudiating its version that he had admitted his inability to handle the bonus seekers, leaving the administration no option except to resort to military force to prevent grave disorder.

These reports, however, are not at all convincing.

Glassford made all his reports in connection with the B. E. F. affair in writing, and insisted on written orders for every important step he took, except upon his own initiative. Formal charges and an investigation certainly would have been unnecessary to prove anything provable, relating to the bonus boys' stay in Washington, or their final expulsion.

Besides, why should charges have been resorted to in order to oust him?

He is out anyway, with only a few weeks' delay, by his own act, much more conveniently than it would have been accomplished by any other method.

No critic can find any fault with it, either.

The most he can say is that he expected it.

• • •

GLASSFORD was in office a trifle less than a year.

As a strict disciplinarian, he was not popular with the police. The public's estimate of him, as attested by many testimonials from civic associations, was that he was the best chief Washington ever had.

During his term he had four difficult "situations" thrust upon him, growing out of unemployment.

A small Communist demonstration in front of the Japanese embassy began them. Police roughly handled several of the demonstrators, including a woman or two. Political liberals spoke somewhat severely of Glassford for this, but later arrived at the conclusion, from his subsequent policy, that he had not then been in charge long enough to foresee a clash and was unprepared to hold his subordinates in check.

• • •

A SHORT TIME later an unemployed demonstration, unquestionably under radical leadership, was staged in front of the Capitol building, with congress in session. On this occasion Glassford's tact took all the wind out of the performance, and it fizzled almost completely.

Next Washington was visited by several thousands of unemployed led by Father Cox of Pittsburgh. It was not a belligerent body, but required diplomatic treatment, was aided by Glassford in its mission, and left peaceably.

The B. E. F.'s stay, being prolonged, proved more annoying to local authorities, to which it was no secret that the chief gave umbrage by refusing to pursue hard-boiled methods, calculated to make the bonus crusaders' sojourn too uncomfortable for them to extend it. This presumably would have been condoned, however, had he consented to shoulder responsibility for the ultimate employment of soldiers, gas and torch to break up the encampment.

The general originally was District Commissioner Herbert B. Crosby's selection for the chief's post, but Crosby has given no indication of siding with him during the misunderstanding which led up to his resignation.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

A FESTIVAL OF 50 CENTURIES:

Hallowe'en is humanity's oldest and most universally celebrated festival. Its age, conservatively estimated, is about 5000 years. The ancient Peruvians, the Druids, the Romans, the Persians, the Hindus, the Egyptians, all celebrated it at one and the same time as their Feast of the Dead for three days. In historical times the Celts celebrated it under the name of Samhain, still preserved in the Irish name of Shamhna. Hallowe'en was also the Celtic New Year's eve.

At the present day such widely scattered parts as Europe, India, China, Japan, Tonga and the South Sea Islands, still celebrate the festival on October 31st, despite the wide disparity of their calendars. The reason for this uniformity is the fact that the celebration is based not on their calendars but on the position of the constellation of the Pleiades, which is uniform throughout the world.

Slaton Girl Writes Honest Criticism; Offers To Aid In Improving Papers

Editor, The Avalanche:—May I say a word in regard to our home town paper?

Of course, it is none of my business but I believe the Avalanche and Journal papers are getting less interesting every day.

A friend of mine and I were talking about the Avalanche and Journal the other day and we agreed that we had rather take other town's papers than our town's paper because there are not anything interesting in the Lubbock papers.

I would suggest starting another story in the paper, printing rural events, school events and etc., or starting a woman's beauty corner, or anything else interesting.

I hope you are not angry with my boldness and I hope you will do something that will improve our home paper. I will do anything I can that I think will improve our home paper.

Sincerely yours,
Miss Adelia Carroll,
Slaton, Route 1.

(Dear Miss Carroll: Indeed I am not angry about your letter. Instead, I appreciate it and appreciate your spirit. Criticism helps us improve, and believe me, we're trying to improve all the time. Thanks for writing. The Editor.)

Realizing that no one drug can relieve all headaches, as they come from so many causes, a North Carolina pharmacist has developed a combination of several ingredients, so blended and proportioned as to relieve almost any headache in a few minutes. You can get this formula wherever drugs are sold under the name "B.C." 10c and 25c packages, and when you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, "B.C." will give you soothing relief in three minutes. Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 31 (AP)—Trading in cotton was very limited today and restricted largely to evening up for over the holiday here tomorrow, All Saints day. The close showed net declines for the day of 3 to 5 points.

The market opened rather easier as Liverpool cables came in about 8 penny points worse than due. Private cables said there was hedging and liquidation on the unfavorable labor situation. Manchester cabled the market for cloths and yarns was disorganized by the decline in cotton and prospects of a general strike in the mills. First trades here showed losses of 3 to 5 points and the market eased off a little further in the early trading on the Manchester strike news. December dropping to 6.05 and March to 6.19, down 5 points from Saturday's close.

The market rallied slightly later in the morning on covering by shorts in advance of the holiday here and on some improvement in stocks, and in the afternoon December traded up to 6.12 and March to 6.27, or 7 to 8 points above the lows of the morning and 2 to 3 points above the previous close. In the late trading prices reacted on pre-holiday liquidation and December closed at 6.06, or 4 points net lower and March at 6.19, or 5 points net lower.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 1 to 2 penny points down.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 31 (AP)—The cotton market was easier today under moderate hedge selling pressure.

Fairly good trade buying orders were uncovered on slight reactions but this support tapered off on rallies. Outside demand was restricted with the declines carrying the market into new low ground for the present movement.

December contracts sold off from 6.14 to 6.06 or 6 points net uower and closed at the latter figure with the general market finishing barely steady at net declines of 4 to 6 points.

The opening was 1 to 3 points lower under moderate southern selling and scattered liquidation promoted by a reactionary trend at Liverpool and an unfavorable view of the labor situation at Manchester, England, where operatives in the spinning section were going on strike because of reported opposition to wage reduction schedules posted by employers.

Southern advices reported quiet but steady markets. Liverpool cables reported hedging and liquidation because of the unfavorable labor situation with Manchester disorganized by the decline in cotton and prospects for a general strike. Exports today 85,532 making 2,007,804 so far this season. Port receipts 71,123, U. S. port stocks 4,274,170.

Stock Market Activity Ebbs To New Low Monday; Price Changes Similar

By JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 31 (AP)—Stock market activity ebbed to a new low today, and price changes were in keeping with the almost complete stagnation which gripped the list.

Sales totaled a mere 395,060 shares, the smallest turnover since June 2, 1924, and about 3,000 shares under the previous low for this depression, established June 30 last. Bonds, too, were very dull.

On balance, the market closed lower. Virtually all the pivotal issues made fractional net changes and there was little to choose among the various major groups. Professionals gave the alcohol and kindred issues a little upward flurry toward the close.

On the first hour dip, American Telephone, Union Pacific, American Can, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, National Biscuit, American Tobacco "B," U. S. Steel preferred, Norfolk & Western, New York Central and Santa Fe were down 1 to nearly 2. Rails developed better vitality before noon, however, and by early afternoon these recessions had been nearly made up. The market did little or nothing thereafter.

staring at me. I can stand it, but it will be awful hard to have them staring at my mother," he said.

Expresses Appreciation

"I can't begin to express my appreciation for what Mr. Bradley did for me, and I appreciate what the sheriff's office did for me. They all treated me nice, from Wade Hardy to Mr. Green, the jailer.

"I feel that if I'd been given a fair chance in Amarillo, I wouldn't have been down here broke, and Lubbock county would have been saved some expense."

Bradley talked to Blanton late Monday afternoon, offering to buy his ticket to Amarillo, if he had no other way to return to his home.

Statement Corroborated

A court of inquiry at Amarillo, conducted by the district attorney, resulted in witnesses corroborating the boy's statement.

"After studying the evidence I developed at Amarillo last week and after reading sworn statements which corroborated Blanton's statements to the most minute details, the grand jury immediately no-billed Blanton," Bradley said. "The grand jurors were convinced, as I was after the inquiry, that Blanton is absolutely innocent."

"I am as anxious to turn the innocent aloose as I am to convict the guilty," said Bradley, who is completing his third term as prosecutor of the 72nd and 99th district courts.

Officers Not Called

Cap Moore, a deputy constable, who with John Keller, state highway officer, was a principal in the investigation resulting in Blanton's arrest, said neither he (Moore) nor Keller was called before the grand jury.

On Monday after his arrest Sunday in Amarillo, Blanton told a newspaper man he was innocent.

Blanton was to have spent last night at the H. T. Stewart home, four miles northeast of Lubbock. H. T. Stewart, jr., and Blanton became friends at National guard encampments.

Chicago recorded a 9.00 bid on weighty steers but the best sale consummated stopped at 8.75. A few other sales as much as 50 off. that is coerced—whatever the form of coercion—political or economic.

"The automatic will of no man—be he president or general or captain of industry—shall ever destroy the sacred right of the people themselves to determine for themselves who shall govern them."

Willing To Listen

The New York governor said men and women had been standing "peacefully in the bread line."

"Their complaints are not mingled with threats," he said. "They are willing to listen to reason at all times."

"But," he continued, "the party that claims as its guiding tradition the patient and generous spirit of the immortal Lincoln when confronted by an opposition which has given the nation an orderly and constructive campaign has descended to an outpouring of misstatements, of threats and intimidation.

"The administration attempts to undermine reason through fear—to tell us that the world will come to an end on November 8th if they are not returned to power for four years.

Business Threatened

"It sadly misconceives the good sense and self reliance of the people.

"They tell us further that the present administration will be unable to hold in check the economic forces that threaten us in the period between election and inauguration.

"They threaten American business and American workers with dire destruction from November to March.

"They crack the whip of fear over the backs of American voters."

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 31 (AP)—Overwhelmed by a stop-loss selling rush in a market swept empty of buyers, wheat and rye today outdid the world's history of low prices.

Before the day ended, however, the new record breaking of values, the third within four days, had been practically conquered by rallies. A substantial decrease of almost 2,000,000 bushels shown in the United States wheat visible served as a streak of daylight for believers in better prices ahead.

Wheat closed nervous at precisely the same as Saturday's finish to 3-8 of a cent decline, after having fallen as low today as 43 1-8 cents for December contracts, with every future delivery pulled down to 50 cents or less, slashing in twain the old-time standard of a dollar a bushel. Corn closed at a shade decline to 5-8 advance. Oats unchanged to 1-8 higher, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 2 cents.

Evans, married and the father of five children, was host of the party, which was attended also by Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Dawkins of Memphis, who told police the story of the suicides after an unsuccessful attempt to leave the city quietly.

They said Miss Kirkpatrick shot herself and Evans followed suit with the comment: 'It's hell to pay now—I'll have to kill myself."

Fire-fighting apparatus, answering an alarm at 7:55 o'clock Sunday night, went to the garage-barn and evidently extinguished the blaze. A second alarm, to the same building, was received at 3:15 o'clock Monday mornin. Fire Chief W. E. Twitty said both fires evidently resulted from a fire of undetermined nature in the barnyard.

Spirits Reign As Hallowe'en Crowds Mingle

Ghosts, goblins, and gnomes were afoot and aflutter inLubbock last night. 'Twas Hallowe'en night.

Doorbells were rung, lawn furniture was moved or upset, rubbish was piled on front porches or strewn in streets. Police were kept on the jump, but they did not count the number of calls they got as a result of Hallowe'en.

Paints, masks, false faces, and costumes colored the throng which milled on Lubbock's streets last night. However, by 10:30 o'clock the crowd was gone, and sidewalks were empty.

Bible classes and other church groups, the Camp Fire Girls, neighborhood youngsters, adult sets, and college clubs had parties. A graveyard preview of a mystery film was billed at a theater. There was a dance.

Hospitals reported no emergency patients as a result of encounters with the traditional spectral apparitions of Hallowe'en, or from any other causes.

"I may say at once that the changes proposed from all these Democratic principals and allies are of the most profound and penetrating character. If they are brought about this will not be the America which we have known in the past."

Philosophy Of Despair

Speaking directly of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic nominee, the chief executive asserted that the "philosophy" upon which he "proposes to conduct the presidency of the United States is the philosophy of stagnation, of despair."

"It is the end of hope," the president continued. "The destinies of this country should not be dominated by that spirit in action. It would be the end of the American system."

At another point in his address, while attacking Democratic proposals to reduce the Republican protective tariff and institute a competitive tariff for revenue, Mr. Hoover said:

"Whole towns, communities and forms of agriculture with their homes, schools and churches have been built up under this (Republican) system of protection. The grass will grow in streets of a hundred cities, a thousand towns; the weeds will overrun the fields of millions of farms if that protection be taken away. Their churches and school houses will decay."

Mountains Being Scoured For Two

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 31 (AP) — In lofty regions where snowstorms have conquered even natives wise in winter lore, searchers today sought bodies of two men whose lives were believed lost in blizzards in the Big Horn mountains.

Battered by snows that have raged two weeks, packing passes and obliterating roads, the region which abounds in big game was gone over thoroughly in the quest for victims—alive or dead. Rescue parties waded through snow waist deep and found one body, that of Dillon McKinnon, Grybull, Wyo., 17, Fred Demmel, 35, and Dell F. Yoakum, 21, who were with McKinnon, have not been found.

Mrs. Russell Huddleston of Billings, Mont., reported her brother, Everett Carnell, and Arthur Rogers, both of Greybull, and a third man, whose name she did not know, had not returned from their hunt in the Big Horns. She said they planned to return October 14.

Turning Point In Scouting Marked

Establishment of a 480-acre Boy Scout reservation recently in central New Jersey marked a turning point in the history of American scouting, D. T. Jennings, South Plains Area council executive, of Lubbock indicated Monday.

The reservation, rolling land, well wooded, with two clear streams, and easily accessible from New York City by train or automobile, was given the Boy Scouts of America by Mrs. Jacob H. Schiff, mother of the late Mortimer L. Schiff, who died within a month after being elected president of the national council. He also was international commissioner for the American organization.

Executive Jennings several years ago attended a 30-day training course which was the third of its kind conducted in the United States. It was at Briar Cliff lodge, Briar Cliff Manor, N. Y. The Boy Scouts used that and similar places for training classes, but had no places of their own to use solely as they saw fit. Now, for the first time, they have such a place. Mrs. Schiff also made a bequest of $100,000 for perpetual maintenance of the reservation, raised as a memorial to her son.

Select troops from any part of the United States later possibly will have an opportunity to camp on the reservation, which will be used for experimental methods as well as training of professional leaders.

Executive Jennings has emphasized the need of training volunteer adult leaders, as well as executives, in the South Plains Area council, and several classes in scoutmastership have been conducted here.

General Chairman C. P. Kuykendall and district and sub-district chairmen, known as scoutmasters and patrol leaders in the drive, will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the chamber of commerce to complete piecing together of plans for an annual financial drive here Thursday for Lubbock Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls.

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the noted artist, N. C. Wyeth . . . inspired by the infamous Captain Kidd's fierce raids on the gold-laden Spanish galleons (1696), which made him the scourge of the Spanish Main. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild" —and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

The Cost of the Doctor's Black Bag vs. Your Health

—is not usually a doubtful question. One doesn't usually count the cost of a doctor in an emergency. Life is to precious.

But often under our very feet is the thing that is apt to make a doctor necessary.

Have you ever thought of the filth that is brought into your home every day on the feet of your family and which lurks in disease-provoking dust and germs? The cost of having your rug cleaned vs what it might cost you in health is mighty small.

Case Of Youthful Burglar Taken Up

The case of a youthful burglar, a 17-year-old Slaton boy, who confessed he twice participated in robbery of a Slaton residence, was taken to a 99th district court grand jury which convened Monday morning, Vaughn E. Wilson, county attorney, said late Monday.

The Jim George residence, which the boy admitted entering, was robbed again late Saturday or early Sunday. The boy denied knowledge of that burglary.

Household goods, clothing, and other loot, of sufficient quantity to necessitate a vehicle to haul it, were taken in the last robbery, Deputy Sheriff R. L. Wicker of Slaton said. Chief of Police Tom Abel transferred the youth to Lubbock county jail Monday morning.

In a statement to County Attorney Wilson, the youth said he and another youth about three weeks ago had entered the George home about 3 p. m. and about 12 o'clock noon taking three fountain pens, a pipe, two pocket knives, a purse, a pair of gloves, some beads, a ring, a, $10 gold piece, and some lesser coins. They tore off a back screen to enter he said. George is a railroad employe and was not at home.

PIONEER IS DEAD

CORSICANA, Oct. 31 (AP)—George Thomas Singer, 72, resident of Corsicana for more than fifty years, died at his home here Monday morning after a long illness. He was in the service of the Houston and Texas Central Railway company for fifty years, rising from call-boy to passenger conductor.

The United States produced 86.3 per cent of the world output of natural gasoline in 1931.

Kansan Is Held In Texas Valley

EMPORIA, Kas., Oct. 31 (AP)—Ralph H. Emmel, formerly of Emporia, is under arrest at McAllen, Texas, in connection with the slaying October 20, 1931, of E. E. Ballinger, a farmer who lived alone near Neal in Greenwood county.

Greenwood county officers are in Texas now to return Emmel for trial. Soon after the slaying, Roy Hamilton of Neal was arrested, admitted a part in the slaying, and is now in the state penitentiary.

Hamilton implicated Emmel and told officers Ballinger's body would be found in a pond from which it later was recovered. Officers said Ballinger and Emmel had been partners in a liquor deal and had quarreled.

Frank Asbell and Harry Fitch, Arkansas City, went to the Ballinger farm to hunt prairie chickens October 19, 1931. Fitch was wounded by a charge meant for Ballinger. Hamilton said Emmel thought the visitors were revenue officers, brought in by Ballinger to "double cross" h'm.

Hamilton told officers he and Emmel went to Ballinger's farm killed him and disposed of the body in a pond. Fitch and his companion were permitted to leave when the mistake was discovered. They reported the slaying to officers.

New Code Of Rules In Contract Is Effective Today; Penalties Change

New Contract Bridge Score Card

NEW CONTRACT SCORE CARD
Arranged by Tom O'Neil of the Associated Press

* * *

Suit Values-Per Trick

Spades	Hearts	Diamonds	Clubs
30	30	20	20

No Trump Trick Valuation

30 for each odd-numbered trick; 40 for each even-numbered trick. Tricks over book total score below line.

* * *

1	30
2	70
3	100
4	140
5	170
6	210
7	240

Success at doubled or redoubled contracts doubles or quadruples the score below the line. There is no other premium for exactly fulfilling doubled or redoubled contracts.

Undertricks

Not vulnerable

No. tricks Set	Undbld	Total Penalty Dbld	Redbld
1	50	100	200
2	100	250	500
3	150	450	900
4	200	700	1,400
5	250	1,000	2,000
Vulnerable
1	100	200	400
2	250	500	1,000
3	450	900	1,800
4	700	1,400	2,800
5	1,000	2,000	4,000

Penalties for not vulnerable doubled undertricks increase 50 per trick. To determine the penalty for a particular undertrick add one to the number of the trick and multiply by 50. For instance the penalty for the sixth undertrick doubled and not vulnerable would be 350 or 50 times (6 plus 1) and the total penalty for six undertricks would be 1,350. Doubled not vulnerable penalties are the same as undoubled vulnerable penalties. Redoubled penalties are twice doubled penalties.

* * *

Overtricks

Undoubled, not vulnerable or vulnerable-same as suit value, that is one who contracted for three hearts and made four would score 90 below the line and 30 above.

Each Overtrick

Doubled and not vulnerable	100
Redoubled and not vulnerable	200
Doubled and vulnerable	200
Redoubled and vulnerable	400

* * *

No trump-four aces in one hand, 150.

Five Major Changes In Scoring Are Announced

BY TOM O'NEIL

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (AP)—Penalties for being set are changed under a new code of rules for the game of contract effective tomorrow.

Non vulnerable doubled undertricks will cost about ten per cent more and all categories of vulnerable undertricks about ten per cent less. The old method of scoring undoubled not vulnerable undertricks is retained.

There are five major changes in scoring and many changes in penalties for infringement of the rules under a code promulgated today by the Whist club of New York, the Portland club of London, and the Commission Francaise Du Bridge. A committee of representatives of American bridge organizations indorsed the changes, but if the comments of some of them are any indication, moves to have a representative American body make future changes will be intensified.

Here are the scoring changes:

Undertricks—50 points penalty per trick not doubled and not vulnerable; doubled and not vulnerable, 100 for the first undertrick, and an increase of 50 for each successive undertrick; vulnerable and undoubled, same as doubled and not vulnerable; vulnerable and double, twice the vulnerable undoubled.

No trump valuation—Three no trump equals five diamonds or five clubs. This is brought about by valuing the odd-numbered no trump tricks over book at 30 each and the even-numbered tricks at 40 each.

Grand slams—1500 not vulnerable and 2,250 vulnerable. Little slam premiums remain 500 and 750.

Overtricks—If one is not doubled and makes more tricks than contracted for the premium is the number of overtricks multiplied by the suit value. That is if one contracted for three spades and made five, 60 would be scored above the line instead of the 100 under the old system. The old premiums for doubled and redoubled overtricks are retained.

Premiums for exactly fulfilling doubled or redoubled contracts—These are abolished. The old rules provide 50 points premium for fulfilling a doubled not vulnerable contract, 100 for a doubled vulnerable contract, and 100 and 200 for redoubled contracts.

The new scoring for doubled and redoubled undertricks is going to cause the most difficulty for players to learn. Said Ely Culbertson: "Many players will object that it is too difficult to remember and compute. I feel sorry for the hundreds of thousands of women who with the old scoring got along pretty well with the count on ten fingers and who now with the new scoring will have to take off their shoes to count on their toes as well."

Herewith is a formula for reasonably easy computation of the total penalty for any number of doubled not vulnerable undertricks. Take 2 and keep adding successive figures until one past the number of tricks set. Multiply the total by 50. The result is the total penalty.

The penalty for any particular undertrick doubled and not vulnerable is 50 multiplied by a figure computed by adding 1 to the number of the trick. That is, the penalty for the third undertrick is 50 (3 plus 1) or 200.

The Whist club in effect upheld psychic bidding by deciding not to increase the not vulnerable undoubled penalties. To remove the psychic possibility completely from the game, says its announcement, would take zest and variety and make it too cut and dried.

Penalties for infringements of the laws, in the view of the Whist club, have been considerably ameliorated, though Ely Culbertson thinks some of such penalties are a little bloodthirsty. Heretofore the partner of a player who bid out of turn was debarred from the auction. Now the opponents of such an offender may call for a new deal.

Players must have better memories in one respect. No longer can one have a free look at a quitted trick. Also there is a penalty for looking at one's cards while they are being dealt.

Local Teachers Begin Third Month Of Work Without Pay

Lubbock public school teachers who are beginning their third month of the current scholastic year still remain unpaid for their first month's work.

Between $5,000 and $6,000 must be raised before the first payroll can be met, Schools Manager A. C. Jackson said last night, in appealing for payment of school taxes.

"We are distributing another set of checks Tuesday, and the teachers are starting their third month without pay," Jackson said. "We would appreciate payments, whether large or small.

"If a few of the big tax payments were made Tuesday and Wednesday we could pay off these first checks. We will make every effort to pay for the first month's work some time this week."

Fatal Cutting Being Probed

Grand Jury Is Investigating Affray Here Sunday In Which One Man Was Killed; Mexican Being Held

Fatal stabbing of Merced Ortega, 28, in Little Juarez, Mexican section here, was investigated Monday by a 99th district court grand jury. Ignacio Cervantez, 32, was held in Lubbock county jail in connection with the probe, after A. Melendez, a graduate Texas Technological college student and a Methodist Episcopal minister in the Mexican quarter, escorted the suspect to the police station Sunday night.

Scuffle Indicated

Bloodstains about 60 feet back of Ortega's house in Little Juarez indicated a scuffle had occurred there, after another Mexican had called Ortega from the house. Ortega returned to the house and died almost as soon as he had entered. Investigators said they had not determined what motivated the attack.

Policemen Bill Mabray and Grady Harrist, answering a call, went to the house and found Ortega dead. Dr. J. W. Rollo, City physician, was called and examined Ortega. He said the Mexican had been stabbed in the heart and neck, the jugular vein being severed. Morticians said Ortega also had been knifed in the left arm. The thrust into the chest had been deflected, they said.

Probe Under Way

The sheriff's department and Oscar S. Norling, United States immigrations inspector, assumed the investigation. Funeral services for Ortega were conducted Monday at St. Joseph's Catholic church by Rev. F. R. Gabriel, the minister, and burial was in the Mexican cemetery here. Ortega is survived by a widow and a small daughter about five years old. Cervantez also is married.

Inspector Norling said Ortega's wife said he walked into the house, sat down in a chair, and died there. He bled to death.

Cervantez was taken to police by the student-minister, Melendez, after friends and relatives of the dead man had conferred with Melendez, and had brought Cervantez to him, the inspector said.

Cervantez was transferred from city to county jail about noon.

GOP Nominee Given Praise

Brown County Democrats And Republicans Join In Offering Support To Bullington In Election Fight

By R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

BROWNWOOD, Oct. 31—Brown county Democrats joined with Republicans here today in applauding efforts of Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls, Republican gubernatorial nominee, to win the chief executiveship over Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, the Democratic nominee.

Bullington started a five-speech day and was greeted by a large early morning crowd in the district court room.

The candidate planned to end the day with a Central Texas rally in the state capitol tonight, where Gov. R. S. Sterling and other life-long Democrats, who say they are voting for the Republican, a recruit to that political faith from Democratic ranks, were expected to participate.

Rev. W. R. Hornberg, a Baptist minister, introduced Bullington today. F. S. Abney, a banker and Democrat and others who have renounced their party candidate in protest against Fergusonism, assured the Republican candidate he would get a big vote in this section.

Bullington pleaded for a laying aside of political lines in the interest of "patriotic interest in one's state government."

"I do not want to abuse even Jim Ferguson (husband of the Democratic nominee)" Bullington said.

He said if Texans would do their duty to their state and forget party for once, "we will swamp Jim Ferguson by a quarter of a million votes a week from tomorrow.

"What we need to do is relegate this perennial Ferguson row to the political scrap heap, by choosing a Republican governor of Texas as a portest against continual bickering over a single man.

"Texas needs to quit fighting and get down to work trying to solve our urgent economic situation."

Bullington said Texans were not obligated to any party.

"We hear a lot about a pledge to support a party candidate," he said. "You are not obligated to any party. The obligation is of the party to its members. If a party does not put up honest and competent candidates for office, then it has failed in its obligation to you."

He reminded Democrats that their leaders, including Bryan, Wilson and Franklin Delano Roosevelt, had long preached the doctrine of "country above party."

Bullington said he favored a reduction of taxes by cutting expenses of government and declared taxes could be cut in half by elimination and consolidation of duplicate departments which now exist.

"I have the same views on public questions today that I had when I was a Democrat," Bullington said.

"I was a high tariff Democrat. My mother and father, grand parents and great grand parents were Democrats before me.

"I shall re-appoint Democrats who now are in office if they are efficient. As an example I certainly would reappoint Lee Simmons, manager of the state prison system, who is an example of efficiency. Jim Ferguson has said he would not keep Simmons.

"I could not turn the state government over to Republicans if I wanted to, because the Democratic state senate must confirm my appointees and it certainly would not let me fill the capitol with Republicans."

You 'cross' different kinds to make a BETTER KIND

HERE are entirely different kinds of tobacco.

Blend them and you get a different taste.

Cross-Blend them and you get a better taste.

While blending mixes the tobaccos together, Cross-Blending "welds" and "joins" their flavors into one.

Imagine doing this with the world's finest cigarette tobaccos—many kinds of Bright tobacco, a great many types of Burley tobacco and numerous grades of Turkish tobacco!

What you have when you've finished is Chesterfield tobacco—better than any one kind, better than a blend of all kinds—really a new kind of tobacco flavor that's milder, more fragrant and a whole lot more pleasing to the taste.
