The SDN Column

Letters from a group of elementary school pupils in Snyder to a soldier in Vietnam caught the fancy of an editorial writer for "The Southern Cross," a newspaper of the armed forces at Chu-Lai, Vietnam.

The letters went to Terry Williamson, who did some summer work on this newspaper while he was studying journalism at Texas Tech. He has been in Vietnam for several months, and we are indebted to his mother, Mrs. J. C. Williamson, for a copy of an editorial in the newspaper for which Terry writes now as a member of the armed forces. Terry (Spec. 4 Terry Williamson) is assigned to duty with the public Information Office of the 198th Infantry Brigade. When he received a bunch of letters from Central Elementary School pupils from Snyder, an editor pounced on them as subject matter for an editorial.

Peggy, a nine-year-old, knows what she wants to know and makes sure Specialist Williamson does, too, he wrote.

"Dear Terry, I would like to know a little about what VietNam is like. And what it is like fighting. How is it in Viet Nam Terry?"

And this from Ray, a 10-year-old: "Dear Terry. This is from Central (Elementary School). All of us is riting to you I hope you get to come home early cause I know you don't like the war so that's why I said that. Just like they say on T. V. war is nothing but a trobel. But some day there will be more peas than you can take and then you will be wanton war."

And another letter signed Jay: "Dear Terry, We don't do much in school at play time we play foot in school. The girls play inside the gym. I got daddy that a work on oil wills. I got a mother that sits around home."

And one from a girl named Helen: "Dear Terry, I am happy to write you this letter just to say that I hope you are fine because I am fine. I like school because I can learn to write letters and learn to spell words that don't know how to spell."

These letters undoubtedly provided a breath of fresh air to a soldier a long way from home. And, as the editorial writer in "The Southern Cross" concluded, Art Linkletter, where are you?—

TWO BURNED — Kerry Kull, 18, and Ernest McCall, 22, both of Odessa, were burned seriously in a fire in a Mid-America pipeline about five miles northwest of Snyder on Leon Sterling's farm. The men, employes of Clyde Construction Company of Odessa, were operating a ditch-digging machine when it apparently broke the underground line, touching off a fire. Flames reached over 50 feet into the air and smoke billowed hundreds of feet high west of Snyder. Company officials cut off the line and let the fire burn out. It occurred in a 6-inch high pressure propane line. The ditch digger and a Clyde pickup were destroyed in the blaze. Kull and McCall were taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Snyder Ambulance Service and later transferred to Brooke Army Medical Center at San Antonio.

CONFRONTATION STAGE SET

House Panel To Challenge Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee announced today it will challenge a court order against its report on alleged radical campus speakers by revising and reissuing the report —and prohibiting the courts from interfering.

The maneuver "sets the stage for what may well become an historic confrontation between the Congress and the federal courts," the House Internal Security Committee said in a statement.

Public printing of the report —which lists college campus speeches by 65 persons that the committee says are revolutionaries, militants and Communists—has been prohibited by U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell.

The committee is appealing Gesell's order.

But Chairman Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., advised all members of the House by letter today that he also is going to revise and reissue the report. He said he will then ask the House to pass a resolution prohibiting the courts or anyone else from interfering with its public printing.

The chairman accused Gesell of supervising, censoring and restricting the report in violation of legislative powers the Constitution gives exclusively to Congress, not the courts.

Gesell ruled the report attempts to "black list" the named speakers from further campus appearances and thus violates their constitutional free speech rights.

The report contends the campus speaking circuit is a significant source of financing "for the promoters of disorderly and revolutionary activities among students."

It is based on a survey of 95 colleges that shows the 65 speakers were paid $108,000 for 55 speeches over the past two years.

Booby Trap Kills 5 GI's

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — An enemy booby trap killed five Americans today, more casualties than 6,000 South Vietnamese troops have suffered in two days of operations in Cambodia.

The crude explosive device ripped through a unit of the 196th Brigade as it moved out after breakfast through rolling foothills 42 miles southeast of Da Nang.

American officers have become so alarmed over a recent rash of booby trap and mine deaths in the region north and south of Da Nang that they are offering cash rewards to peasants who tip them off to locations of the deadly devices.

Of 53 Americans reported killed in combat in the past 11 days, 30 have been the victims of booby traps and mines. One U.S. official estimates that such devices are causing 60 per cent of the U.S. deaths in action.

Meanwhile, more than 6,000 South Vietnamese troops pushed deeper into the mountainous jungles of northeastern Cambodia on two fronts, smashing North Vietnamese base camps and staging areas, and seizing food supplies and communications equipment, including field radios and telephone switchboards.

Contact was reported generally light, with 56 North Vietnamese killed and 24 captured since the two forces crossed the border on Monday. The government said its total casualties were two killed and three wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters said the primary aim of the two drives was to search out enemy base areas that could support attacks in Vietnam's central highlands.

The U.S. Command reported that American observation helicopters spotted North Vietnamese troops around a complex of bunkers half a mile inside Vietnam near the Cambodian border north of the South Vietnamese sweep. The Vietnamese fired on the helicopters, which called in American fighter-bombers.

IF UNSAFE TOYS NOT BANNED

Consumers Union Threatens Suit

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer 7

WASHINGTON (AP) — A consumers' organization threatened today to sue the government if eight toys the organization says can burn, lacerate or electrocute children aren't immediately banned from the market.

Consumers Union, which does its own product testing, accused the Department of Health, Education and Welfare of disregarding its obligations under a new Toy Safety Act.

Morris Kaplan, the union's technical director, said parents are going into the pre-Christmas toy-buying season without assurances the toys they choose are safe.

In a statement prepared for a news conference, Kaplan listed eight toys the union tested and found hazardous. Four of them were identified by HEW's Food and Drug Administration last Friday as toys the agency intends to ban after a 15-day period allowed for public comment.

The FDA action was the first move toward using powers granted by the 11-month-old law. The FDA also said it is undertaking a pre-Christmas survey of toys.

But Kaplan called the FDA announcement misleading, noting the 15-day delay will permit the toys to remain on the market well into the Christmas season.

The FDA has said it would ban Protect O Product, a musical toy rattle distributed by Reliance Products Corp. of Woonsocket, Ri.; Party Pack Five Fringed Balloon Squawkers, distributed by American Party Favors of Pittston, Pa.; Jarts, a lawn dart game distributed by R.B. Jarts, Inc. of South Glen Falls, N.Y., and Wasp Cap Gun, distributed by Ohio Art Co. of Bryan, Ohio.

The Consumers Union list included not only the cap gun, balloon squawker and dart game, but also Etch-a-Sketch, distributed by the same firm which distributes the cap gun; Empire Little Lady Oven, distributed by the Metal Ware Co. of Two Rivers, Wis.; the Rapco Castright Metal Casting Sets, distributed by Rapco Toy Co., Chicago, Ill.; Suzy Homemaker Super Grill, distributed by Topper Toy Corp. of Elizabeth, N.J.; Winnie-the Pooh Crib Mobile, distributed by Sears, Roebuck and Co.

Kaplan said the National Commission on Product Safety had branded the Etch-a-Sketch, the toy oven and the metal casting set as dangerous in its final report last June.

The commission complained the Etch-a-Sketch had an easily shattered glass cover plate. The oven produced surface temperatures of up to 300 degrees. The casting set not only produced surface temperatures of up to 600 degrees, it also constituted a shock hazard, the commission said.

Ky To Visit Texas Thursday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Vietnam's Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky comes to Texas Thursday to see four of the nation's top military installations, including one which is training his countrymen in an area of critical importance to winning the war in his homeland.

Ky will visit San Antonio, Fort Worth and Mineral Wells.

At Mineral Wells, Ky will see South Vietnamese troops being trained at Ft. Wolters for helicopter gunships and other whirlybird purposes.

He is on a 17-day tour of the United States.

Ky has called his tour "unofficial" and has asked that the entire trip be closed to newsmen.

Ky is scheduled to arrive at Kelly Air Force Base in San Antonio Thursday morning. He then will go cross-town to Lackland Air Force Base, one of the largest military training centers in America.

After a luncheon in San Antonio, Ky flies to Carswell Air Force Base in Fort Worth.

From there, he will go to Ft. Wolters near Mineral Wells where late Thursday afternoon he will review troops and will spend the night at that major Army helicopter base.

At Ft. Wolters he will see the No. 1 helicopter training center for Vietnamese troops. They live in an area designed especially to make them feel at home.

In view of this, the training of Vietnamese troops at the center at Ft. Wolters in an important step in the Vietnamization program.

And it is this Vietnamization program that is of particular interest to Ky.

After his overnight visit with his own troops, Ky returns to Carswell at Fort Worth Friday morning. From there he leaves for Alabama on the next leg of his United States tour.

Over 750 Persons At Drug Awareness Event

Over 750 persons tried to jam the Snyder High School Cafeteria last night to participate in a "drug awareness" workshop sponsored by the school system.

Ultimately, several dozen of them were diverted to the high school study hall and some classrooms and simultaneous sessions were held, with Bill Merkel of the Region 14 Education Service Center presiding over the one in the cafeteria and John Short, SHS counselor leading the one in the study hall. There were intercommunication facilities in operation for the event.

At the outset, Short explained the objectives of the workshop and the statutory requirements of the school system to include in its curriculum drug education and crime prevention. The school system must have its own outline by next spring for a comprehensive drug education program.

Teachers, parents and other adults joined a sprinkling of students in the community workshop last night. Persons seated around each table in the cafeteria were asked to record their own answers to some basic questions, such as : Is there a drug problem in Snyder? How do you know? What should be done to eliminate the problem?

Answers confirmed that a drug problem exists, although its scope was not clearly defined. However, it was noted at the outset that one addict in a community represents a problem. Some reports from workshop tables revealed that participants had personal knowledge of persons here who use drugs and there was indication that many young people of the community had tried barbiturates, etc., if not "hard" drugs at one time or another. Also, it was indicated that participants had first-hand knowledge of adults in the community who use drugs. One table in which some students participated, reported that the students believe less than half of the teen-agers here had ever experimented with any type of drug, and that there were even fewer regular users.

Remedies for the problem focused upon education of course, but there were recommendations that much stronger penalities be provided for "pushers" or vendors of drugs. Also, there was a recommendation that a community committee be established to help young people who might become drug users and who seek help in kicking the habit—" someone they can call in time of distress."

From a table dominated by teen-agers came a plea that classroom-type education on drugs be taught only by persons who know what they are talking about, rather than by those who might simply recite dogmatic statements which could be refuted by published works in medical journals, etc., which the students themselves may read.

Also, there were reports on the availability of drugs here. Some of the workshop tables reported that "pushers" usually show up at teen-age dances, etc., and that a substantial number of Snyderites know "someone who can contact someone else and arrange to get drugs."

The possibility of another community-type meeting was advanced near the close of the Tuesday night session, and school officials said that one likely would be arranged later in the school term.

West Germany, Poland Ink Pact

By NICHOLAS LILLITOS
Associated Press Writer

WARSAW (AP) — The foreign ministers of West Germany and Poland launched a new era of improved relations between their countries today by initialing a treaty that reportedly recognizes Poland's postwar seizure of German territory west of the Oder and Neisse rivers.

Walter Scheel of West Germany and Stefan Jedrychowski put their initials to the draft in a 19th century government palace in downtown Warsaw. The treaty had been under negotiation for months, and the two foreign ministers agreed to it last week.

Polish Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz attended the ceremony, along with the members of the two delegations that negotiated the pact.

Scheel hailed the treaty as a decisive step in his country's relations with Poland but said: "There will be a hard struggle to win a Bundestag majority and to win over German public opinion for the ratification."

A West German treaty with the Soviet Union which also recognizes the Oder-Neisse frontier is already awaiting ratification. Chancellor Willy Brandt's government does not plan to submit it to the Bundestag—Parliament—until Big Four talks now under way produce some Communist concessions on West Berlin to sweeten the bitter pill of Bonn's border retreat. There has been no indication when the Russians might give ground.

Brandt is expected to come to Warsaw to sign that treaty with Cyrankiewicz before Christmas.

The first result of the pact is expected to be the raising to consular level of the Polish trade mission in Cologne and the West German trade mission in Warsaw. Trade between the two countries is expected to increase, and Poland is expected to make overtures for German technical assistance to Polish industry.

Supplies Goes To Pakistan

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP) — Swiss and German aircraft ferried in tons of relief supplies today and President Nixon allocated $10 million to the international rehabilitation effort for survivors of the cyclone and tidal waves that inundated a large area of East Pakistan six days ago. But there were complaints from Pakistanis that their government wasn't doing enough.

The number of dead remained incalculable. The government confirmed 55,000, but unofficial estimates were from 300,000 to 650,000; the Pakistani relief commissioner, A. M. Anisuzzaman, said he could neither challenge nor confirm them.

Dozens of small islands in the Bay of Bengal were still untouched by relief workers. Survivors told newsmen their drinking water came from pools befouled by corpses of human beings and cattle and their only food was rotting rice kernels they burned before eating to kill the stench.

Officials discounted reports of widespread cholera in the stricken area.

"The incidence of cholera is insignificant compared to other problems of relief here," said Dr. Wiley H. Mosley, chief of epidemiology of the cholera laboratory run by Pakistan and the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Survey Facts Revealed

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A national survey has found that most young Americans recognize social problems but have limited knowledge of political processes and racial injustice.

Results of year-long tests and interviews of about 90,000 young persons were made public Tuesday by the Education Commission of the States, an organization chaired by Gov. Russell W. Peterson of Delaware.

"Most adults and older students show awareness of the more urgent problems which society faces," the report said, "and some of the ways it has attempted to alleviate them."

Although less than half of the 9-year-olds recognize the need for opposed viewpoints, it added, most 17-year-olds and adults do so and are rational and critical about civic issues.

The project is a continuing program that will last at least 10 more years. It was set up in 1964 with funds from the Carnegie Corporation and has received later financing from the Ford Foundation and the U.S. Office of Education. The purpose is to find out what the nation is getting in return for educational outlays.

Dr. Edgar J. Epps, of the University of Chicago's education department, expressed disappointment in some findings of the citizenship survey, a reaction echoed by many of the 150 governors and educators attending the commission's three-day meeting which ends Wednesday. In addition to Peterson, governors on the commission are Harold LeVander of Minnesota, Tom McCall of Oregon and Calvin Rampton of Utah.

"I was shocked that only 41 per cent of the 13-year-olds could cite a case of racial discrimination and an even smaller percentage could cite a case of religious discrimination in this country," Epps said.

"It just reinforces the feeling of minorities," Epps said, "that they are going to have to do it themselves because nobody is going to do it for them."

Another area of concern, he added, is the limited knowledge of the political processes shown by young people in all of the age groups.

Only 58 per cent of the young adults 26 to 35 could name even one senator from their state. The figure fell to 30 per cent for the 17-year-olds and 16 for the 26 year olds.

Of the young adults, 60 per cent said they read books regularly compared with 95 per cent who read newspapers and 78 per cent who read magazines.

IN SNYDER HIGH PLAY — Playing the roles of blind girls at the Perkins Institute for blind children in the SHS Drama Department's Fall Drama Production, "The Miracle Worker," are (left to right) Retha Boyd, Donna Messimer, Karen Sears, Jenny Mullins, and Allana Patterson. The play opens Thursday night at 8 on the SHS Stage.

At the New Orleans Cotton Exhibition in 1884, Venezuelan water hyacinths were widely welcomed and many people took the handsome plant home. But soon, the deceitful plant escaped from garden ponds, and today its descendants clog hundreds of miles of lakes and waterways.

Water Utilities Assn. Has Area Session Here

Reuben McCowen of Lubbock, president of the Permian Basin Water Utilities Association, gave a brief history of water and sewer supplies of the city of Lubbock at an area meeting of the Association, held last night at East Elementary School.

Bill Seale, mayor pro tempore, gave the welecming address, and guests were introduced by George Lee, city general superintendent. Included among those present were councilmen John Thomas and Bill Vest, city manager George Patterson, police chief Bobby Goodwin, and Lyle Deffebach, Snyder member of the Colorado River Municipal Water District. Others present included water department employes Fran Bowden, Pat Bullard, Merle Ramsey, Ollie Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Miles, Foy Nutt, T. C. Richardson, Mrs. George Lee and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Rodriguez and A. M. Roberts. Pascal Odom of Big Spring, assistant manager for production of the CRMWD, also was among those present.

The response was given by J. H. Nixon of Midland, vice-president of the Association. Invocation was given by Harold Stone of Lamesa. Mrs. Betty Pherigo of Odessa, secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting. Bill Measures of Midland read an audit report.

McCowen pointed out Lubbock obtained its first water mains in 1911 after a $25,000 issue.

Suspect Charged In Assault Here

David Guerra was charged in Justice of the Peace Court Monday with assault with a prohibited weapon. Justice of the Peace Jimmie Billingsley denied bond.

Guerra allegedly assaulted Highway Patrolman Bob Clark. The suspect also was charged in county court with driving while intoxicated. He entered a guilty plea to this charge, but sentence has not been passed.

Seek Lamesa Store Robbers

City Police this morning set up a roadblock west of town about 6:50 a.m. at the request of the Lamesa Police Department.

There was an armed robbery at Piggly-Wiggly Store No. 2 in Lamesa early this morning.

Officers at Big Spring took two suspects in the robbery into custody this morning and the road block was lifted at 7:50 a.m. It was not determined how much was taken in the robbery.

Climbers Near Top

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (AP) — Hungry and weary rock climbers Warren Harding and Dean Caldwell neared the 3,000-foot summit of El Capitan today and their goal of becoming the first men to scale the sheer "Wall of the Morning Light."

A large welcoming party of friends and newsmen waited atop the giant granite monolith to greet the bearded pair with a feast of steak, eggs, pastry and other foods they have done without for nearly a month.

Harding and Caldwell had expected to reach the top of the unclimbed southeast face of El Capitan Tuesday—their 26th day of climbing—but they stopped 200 feet short of the summit and spent the night in cocoon-like sleeping bags attached to expansion bolts driven into the rock.

Harding, 40, of West Sacramento, Calif., and Caldwell, 27, of Portland, Ore., launched their venture Oct. 23 and had expected to take 10 days to climb the "Wall of the Morning Light," so named because it catches the day's first sunshine.

They carried 20 days supply of food and for the past week have subsisted on candy bars and sardines.

A storm stranded them halfway up the face for nearly a week, through last Wednesday, but the climbers spurned a rescue offer Friday by the National Park Service.

Since then, the weather has cleared and they have been making good progress.

Jockey Garth Patterson won Monmouth Park stakes races last summer with Kilts N Kapers and Extravehicular within four days.

MacDonald ToContinue Practice

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — Green Beret Capt. Jeffrey MacDonald, cleared recently by the Army of murder charges in the deaths of his wife and two daughters, says he plans to practice medicine in California when released from service in two weeks.

He told a newsman Tuesday he has accepted a position as a physician in the emergency room of a Long Beach hospital.

MacDonald said he plans to work until next July to pay off about $20,000 in legal fees before returning to the Yale University Medical School to complete studies in orthopedic surgery.

MacDonald's commanding officer ruled last month that testimony in a prolonged closed hearing was not sufficient to justify presentation to a court-martial.

The captain had been accused of stabbing his wife and two daughters in their apartment at Ft. Bragg last February.

Harvest Ahead Of Schedule

AUSTIN (AP)—The University of Texas cotton economic research reports the state's cotton harvest is 45 per cent complete, or 10 per cent ahead of last year's schedule.

Research director W. F. Harris said Tuesday the harvest is so fast on the southern High Plains that many ginners are adding night crews to keep up with the work load.

Also, he said, cotton production in the Abilene and Lubbock areas "is on the move," and some cotton in the Coastal Bend remains to be harvested. He said Coastal Bend crops probably will be plowed under because of poor quality due to heavy rains in recent months.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture crop and livestock reporting service estimated the Texas upland cotton production as of Nov. 1 at 3,325,000 bales. The yield is expected to average 319 pounds of lint per acre, compared with 292 pounds in 1969.

In the High Plains counties, prices for cottonseed ranged from $55 to $64, with some Hockley County gins paying the higher price. Rolling Plains counties were quoted as paying $52 to $59 per ton.

Some gins in Collin County (northern blacklands), as well as the Pecos-El Paso counties, paid producers as much as $65 per ton of cottonseed.

Due to the quality of a seed, a number of gins in the upper coastal section are paying farmers $30 per ton.

As of Nov. 11, some 99 Texas counties had not yet begun ginning activities.

Lou Alice Mathis Wins Highest Award In 4-H

Lou Alice Mathis, Scurry County 4-H Club girl is the lucky winner of one of the highest awards 4-H Club offers. A trip to National 4-H Congress Nov. 27 thru Dec. 4.

Miss Mathis made her own luck in this case with years of work on a 4-H Home Improvement project.

The Mathis family bought a new house and moved it to their dairy farm in the Union Community. They have all worked at making it an attractive home.

When Lou Alice was 11 she decided she would like to redo her room. Her daddy agreed to furnish the money and her mother was willing to help her plan and work. Lou Alice decided this would be one of her 4-H projects. Fifty dollars and hours of planning, shopping and work gave Lou Alice a bedroom that looked like it came right out of a story book. White walls and white curtains under purple canopies provided the background.

Her furniture came out of two grandmothers attics and cellars, and from other sources. There was her great great grandmothers massive sideboard, a high bed with high carved posts from her grandmother, a new unfinished desk and chairs from another grandmothers' attic. Lou Alice did them all in antique white with touches of gold. Her doll dishes with purple flowers and her dolls in pretty purple dresses were displayed, and the results was gratifying. When Lou Alice got all the paint out of her hair and off her hands she was happy with her new room.

From this beginning Miss Mathis has antiqued furniture throughout the house and tried her hand at drapes. She helped a [illegible] but she especially enjoys making original and interesting decorative touches. Her bulletin board is an attractive wall hanging of colorful burlap.

Lou Alice has shared her homemaking skills in her 4-H Jr. Leadership project, helping others learn to finish furhiture to make their surroundings more attractive.

She was one of the group of young people who raised the money to buy paint, and provided the "man power" and know how to paint the interior of Union Methodist Church's Sunday School class room and kitchen. She has given demonstrations for adults and 4-Hers on antiqueing furniture and other projects.

As 1970 winner in the 4-H Home Improvement project which is sponsored by Sperry and Hutchinson Company, Miss Mathis was honored at a luncheon at the American Restaurant Saturday, Nov. 14.

Mrs. Claudia Koobs, area Consumer Representative for Sperry and Hutchinson was hostess for the event.

Mr. Renal Rosson, State Representative, presented a proclamation from Governor Preston Smith declaring Nov. 14 "Lou Alice Mathis Day" for the State of Texas.

Table decorations included 4-H flags, and emblems and streamers in 4-H colors. A cake was decorated in the 4-H colors of green and white and held 11 candles, one for each year of her 4-H work. Mark Mathis, brother of Lou Alice, presented the cake to her. While she blew out candles guests wishes her success on her coming trip where she will be a candidate for national winner and a $600 scholarship.

Other guests were the honoree's family, Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Mathis and Mark, Mayor Bobby McCormick; County Commissioner, Thayne Mebane; Mrs. Renal Rosson, Mrs. Margaret Linville, manager of the local Green Stamp store; Mr. Cleatis Hyatt, field representative for Sperry and Hutchinson in the Lubbock area; Mrs. Fran Farmer, Snyder Daily News; and Scurry County Extension Agents Ruby Butts and Billy Roach.

Judy Shelburne presided at the table. A discussion on manners to be observed at parties and teas precided the social times.

The next meeting will be to practice the opening and closing ceremonies. Jennie McClain will lead in learning the club songs. Refreshments will be served.

Family Planning Funds Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both Houses of Congress have approved legislation that would provide federal funds to assist in the development of family planning services.

On Monday the house passed 298 to 32 a three-year, $267 million measure for grants to public or nonprofit private entities to aid in establishing voluntary family planning projects.

[illegible] approved a $991 million five-year version that also included money for construction of population research centers. That provision, opposed by the Nixon administration, was not in the House bill. The two bodies will not have to work out a compromise version.

Mr. Eoff Speaks On Rose Care

The Twilight Garden Club met Thursday night with thirteen members and one guest present.

Mrs. Nellie Smith gave a talk on rose winners of 1970 and 1971 as selected by the AARS. Only one selection was made in 1970. It was a hybird tea called "First Prize." For 1971 the AARS selected one rose from each of three classes. In the hybird tea class the selection was "Command Performance." In the grandiflora class the selection was "Aquarius," a dark pink to light pink. The floribunda was a red to gold and called "Red Gold."

Mr. Eoff of the Snyder Nursery gave a talk on how to care for your roses. "Plant your roses in a hole big enough for the roots, fertilize with barnyard fertilizer or peat moss. Leave the bud above the ground and prune back to 12 to 18 inches above the bud," said Mr. Eoff. "Don't tamp the soil but turn the water in the hole very slowly and let the water settle the soil around the roots. Use this especially with bare-root roses. This method forces the air pockets from around the roots. These air pockets can stunt and sometimes kill the roses.

Older roses should be pruned in February or March. "Prune your roses as short as 12 to 18 inches," he said. They will produce, roses from two to three weeks earlier if cut back severely."

Soak rose beds once a year with an insect and disease controller in February or March.

Refreshments of fruit cake and coffee were served by the hostess, Mrs. Henrietta Dupree.

Penn Default Shook Professional Moneymen

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The commercial paper market has long been an unglamorous area of high finance, a market in which large corporations routinely lent or borrowed from each other for short periods.

Commercial paper is an unsecured note. A company seldom can afford to keep any excess cash idle, so it lends it to another company or institution, perhaps through a dealer, for a few days or up to 270 days.

Single deals run into many millions of dollars, and the amount outstanding now totals more than $30 billion, but the business had always been conducted solely among professionals, and so quietly as to be unknown to the public.

No longer. The default by Penn Central Transportation on its commercial paper has shaken professionals who felt there was no danger in such investments. And hearings may provide the public with a fascinating insight into this hidden world.

The background involves, among other things, incredible laxness and naivete on the part of professional money men; a misunderstanding of responsibilities; and a puzzling lack of knowledge about the product dealt in, the quality of the paper being bought and sold.

Regarding the last point: The Penn Central was one of the most highly publicized corporations in America. Presumably, as much or more information was known about this operation as any other, with tons available from Interstate Commerce Commission Hearings and procedings leading to the merger of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads.

And yet, some of its directors were uncertain about its financial condition until a few days before it filed for reorganization under the bankruptcy laws.

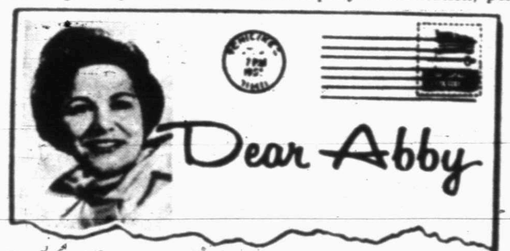
The firm of Goldman, Sachs & Co., which bought and resold Penn Central paper, believed one month before the collapse that the company was sound.

Goldman, Sachs is now being sued for $23 million in damages by a large mutual fund and three other businesses which bought quantities of the railroad's paper through it.

Insurance companies, banks and other corporations which bought the paper also are angry at commercial paper dealers, feeling that the dealers failed to properly inform them about purchases.

The dealers believe they have no obligation other than to present all available information and add that, furthermore, all purchasers of commercial paper have equal access to the facts on their own.

But many professionals who purchased Penn Central paper concede they forgot that paper was an investment involving risk. They forgot about the need for the buyer to beware. They failed to ask questions a child would ask before buying candy.



Mother in law unjust in her thinking

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I have a wonderful husband and a beautiful baby boy. When Eric and I got married I was two months along. When we told my parents about my condition they wanted nothing to do with us, so Eric's parents gave us a small but lovely church wedding and reception for which I shall always be grateful to them.

Soon after the baby was born my parents realized they had made a mistake so they called asking if they could come and see their new grandchild.

Of course I let them, and they have been just wonderful since then. Abby, I still love my parents and am happy to let bygones be bygones.

My problem is my mother in law. She is still mad at my parents and said I was a fool for making up with them. She said, "When you needed them they turned their backs on you, but now they want the joys of being grandparents, which they do not deserve."

Abby, I know I owe Eric's mother a lot, and I hate to hurt her, but I can't bear a grudge against my own parents. Did I do wrong? IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: No. Be assured you did the right thing in making up with your parents. Your mother in law is in the wrong for trying to encourage ill feelings between you and your parents.

DEAR ABBY: What is a mother supposed to say when her child asks, "Can Jimmy stay for supper," and Jimmy is standing right there looking up into your face?

I always say, "Of course, but Jimmy has to call his mother and get her permission first."

Then my brat says, "Mother, you call Jimmy's mother. He's afraid to."

So, like a ninny, I go to call Jimmy's mother, and she says, "Are you sure he'll be no trouble?" Then what am I supposed to say? Anyway, I think you have the picture.

I really don't object to one, or more, little tyke for supper because mine is an only child and it gives him someone to play with, but I don't like being maneuvered into it this way and my son pulls this often. Also, after supper they play until it's dark, and guess who has to take the dinner guest home? Is there a solution? ON THE SPOT

DEAR ON: Your resentment at being outsmarted by a couple of junior con artists is understandable, but be glad your son has friends. Simply tell him to ask you privately if he may have a guest for supper.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 25 years old and he still sucks his thumb. He only does this at night. He says that's the only way he can fall asleep.

It doesn't bother me except that I think there must be something wrong with him, and I'd like to break him of this habit. He is normal in every other way. What should I do? THUMB SUCKER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: If he's normal in every other way, let him alone.

DEAR ABBY: Could you please tell the world to stop punishing dogs with a rolled up newspaper? No wonder dogs bite newspaper carriers. They see the newspaper and they think they are going to get hit, so they attack the person who's delivering it. I know. I am a newspaper carrier.

Not only that, but mail carriers look like they are carrying newspapers, too, which confuses dogs, so they also get bit. When I'm delivering newspapers, little kids under five years old will get me mixed up with the mailman.

So, if dog owners will not whip dogs with rolled up newspapers, it will help a lot of people. Thanks. Keep up the good work. TOM IN LYNCHBURG, VA.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Ways To Determine Middle-Age

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Almost everyone would like to live to a ripe old age—but before you can be old you first have to be middle-aged.

That's the fly in the ointment. Many who think of old age as a time of golden serenity before the final curtain regard middle age with a feeling akin to horror. To them it is a kind of second adolescence even more gruesome than the first one.

The odd thing about it is that people often become middle-aged without even being aware of it. The mental and physical symptoms creep up on them so subtly they are unnoticed. How can one tell if this is happening to him?

Well, you are getting middle-aged if—

When you sign an apartment lease you have to trust your landlord, because it is simply too much trouble to read the fine print.

At a cocktail party you prefer to talk with people who share your prejudices. That way you don't have to bother to think.

You don't really mind young people as long as they stay in their place. Their place is some other place than where you are.

When you go into your doctor's office, you both know even before he opens his mouth just what it is he is going to tell you that you should give up "for your own good."

Now that at last you have a little something to leave to others, you know you should have a lawyer redraft the will you made the first year of your marriage—but you keep postponing the chore from month to month. Secretly, you have the fear that making out a new will might bring some form of bad luck.

You don't go fishing as much as you used to, because if you did catch a big one worth bringing home it would be such a nuisance to clean and scale it.

As you straighten back up after bending to pick something from the floor, you have the distinct impression that a telephone is ringing in your head.

You can count on the fingers of one hand all the close friends you have left from childhood; on the fingers of the other hand, the close friends you have made since then; on your thumbs, those you could borrow money from readily and without embarrassment.

A lot of small favors for others you used to do gladly and graciously you now do grunpily and grudgingly.

The road you drank one for the night before, inevitably leads you the next morning to the aspirin bottle.

You decide not to worry about today's big new world crisis, because you may need your strength to worry about a newer and even bigger world crisis tomorrow.

Jealous Lover

SUNDERLAND, England (AP) — Charles Lancaster was so jealous of the number of visits his girl friend paid to a psychiatrist he vented his spleen by smashing the doctor's car windows.

Summoned to court, Lancaster, 20, explained he and the girl planned to marry the following Saturday. "The only wedding present we can give you is a heavy bill, 60 pounds—$144, towards the damage," replied the magistrate.

Heavyweight Fight Set

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP)— Joe Frazier, a king fighting for universal acceptance, and Bob Foster, a king who has turned his back on the class he rules, meet tonight for the heavyweight championship of the world.

The scheduled 15-round fight is set for 10:30 p.m., EST, at Cobo Arena and will follow, as part of a closed-circuit television doubleheader, a scheduled 10-rounder between heavyweights George Foreman and Boone Kirkman in New York's Madison Square Garden.

Although Frazier is the heavyweight champion and unbeaten in 25 pro bouts, he fights in the shadow of Muhammad Ali, also known as Cassius Clay.

So, if Frazier beats Foster—he is the 5-1 favorite—it will be another step toward stamping out the shadow of Ali because it will bring closer to realization a Frazier-Ali fight.

As for Foster, he has said no matter what happens in the Frazier fight he will not defend his light heavyweight championship again.

Foster, who was expected to weigh from 185 to 190 pounds for tonight's fight, says he cannot make the light heavyweight limit of 175 any more. It also is possible for a fighter to make more money as a heavyweight contender or trial horse than as the light heavyweight champion.

A crowd of about 15,000 which would mean a gate of $300,000 is expected at the $1,500-seat Cobo Arena to watch Foster try to become the first light heavyweight champion to win the heavyweight title. Seven previous light heavy kings tried unsuccessfully a total of nine times.

The closed-circuit telecast will be seen in 110 locations, with a seating capacity of 500,000, in 91 cities in the United States and Canada. The fights also will be beamed to 27 countries in Europe, Africa, South America, Central America, Asia and the South Pacific.

Frazier has been guaranteed $150,000 against 40 per cent of all receipts. Foster will get 22½ per cent.

No matter what Frazier makes on this fight it will be peanuts compared to what he would get for fighting Ali. That would be the most lucrative fight in history, with predictions of a $10 million gross.

If everything goes right Frazier and Ali would probably fight in February. Ali fights Oscar Bonavena in December and the U.S. Supreme Court isn't expected to act until at least March on an appeal of Ali's conviction of refusing induction into the Army— a conviction that carried with it a five-year prison sentence and led to his being stripped of the heavyweight title.

Tonight's fight will offer a contrast in styles. Frazier, from Philadelphia, is a boring-in style of fighter who likes to work first on the body and is extremely dangerous when [illegible] his opponent on the ropes or in a corner. Foster is a standup boxer with a good left hook and a tremendous right hand.

The 26-year-old Frazier will outweight Foster by about 15 to 20 pounds, including his beard which he will not have to shave off, but the 31-year-old Foster at 6-feet-3½ is 4¼ inches taller than Frazier and has an edge of 5½ inches in reach.

"I don't see where I can miss once I'm under his arms," says Frazier who usually fights at a height and reach disadvantage.

In his 25 victories, Frazier has scored 22 knockouts, including the one of Jimmy Ellis when he won the championship in his last fight in February.

Besides the history of a light heavyweight champion never winning the heavyweight title, Foster's record also is against him. Three of his four losses in 45 fights have been to heavyweights.

Foster points out that he was not properly conditioned for those fights and that a loss to Zora Folley in 1965 was his last defeat.

Foster has scored 35 knockouts in his 41 victories including a four-round triumph over Dick Tiger that brought him the light heavy title in 1968.

Scoring for the fight will be under the 10-point must system, with 10 points to the winner of a round, nine or less to the loser and 10 each for an even round. The three-knockdown rule has been waived and a fighter on the floor at the bell must beat the count which will continue.

Philadelphia Pops Pistons

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Detroit Pistons better catch their second wind soon because the balloon they blew up so big earlier this season is losing air fast.

The Pistons, after turning in the worst record in the National Basketball Association last season, were the surprise of the league this year when they won 12 of their first 13 games. But since then, the Pistons have lost five in a row, the last to Philadelphia 113-91 Tuesday night.

Although they hit a team record 21 consecutive free throws, the Pistons fell flat from the field, hitting only 29 of 108 shots, or 27 per cent, their worst in several years.

Only San Francisco's 111-105 victory over the Chicago Bulls kept the Pistons from falling to third place in the Midwest Division behind Milwaukee and the Bulls.

Elsewhere, the New York Knicks showed no signs of flattening by beating Phoenix 103-100; Los Angeles continued on with a 116-105 victory over Atlanta, and Buffalo squeaked by Portland 102-101.

In the American Basketball Association, the Floridians beat Pittsburgh 122-116, Indiana stopped Utah 125-122 in overtime and Memphis topped Virginia 119-103.

The Pistons, who led the Bulls by one game, trailed only 50-44 at the half before the 76ers broke it open as Archie Clark hit eight points and Hal Greer seven. Clark finished with 24 while Dave Bing had 23 for the Pistons.

Jerry Lucas hit three clutch baskets in the final period and gathered in 29 rebounds as San Francisco held off the Bulls, who trailed 91-78 with 4:15 left. Chicago pulled within 100-98 before fading.

Ron Williams had 28 points for the Warriors while Bob Love had 32 for Chicago.

The Knicks, after leading most of the game, fell behind 96-90 in the final quarter with injured Willis Reed on the bench. However, the Knicks held the Suns scoreless for the final 1:52 while Walt Frazier and Mike Riordan hit baskets and Bill Bradley added two free throws for their 12th straight victory over Phoenix. It also was the third consecutive triumph for the Knicks, now 15-5.

Reed still led the Knicks with 19 points and 18 rebounds while Dick Van Arsdale and Clem Haskins had 23 each for the Suns.

The Lakers, retaining their 2½-game lead over San Francisco atop the Pacific Division, got 34 points by Jerry West as they pulled away from Atlanta in the third quarter. Pete Maravich pumped in a pro career high of 28 points to tie Lou Hudson for Hawk scoring honors.

Dick Garrett's jumper with 15 seconds remaining enabled Buffalo to edge Portland. Bob Kauffman led the Braves with 24 points and Geoff Petrie topped the Trail Blazers, also with 24.

Grid Probe Goes Into Third Day

by CHARLES R. HORNICK

CLEVELAND (AP) — A special federal grand jury was expected to hear from out-of-town witnesses today in the third day of its investigation into affairs of the National Football League.

Except for Tom Fears, who recently was fired as coach of the New Orleans Saints, the jury has spent the first two days hearing testimony from representatives of the Cleveland Browns' front office and coaching staff.

The investigation is being conducted under strict secrecy by the Cleveland office of the U.S. Justice Department's Antitrust Division, but it was reported that today's witnesses would include representatives of the St. Louis Cardinals and Bernie Parrish, a former member of the Browns' defensive backfield.

Parrish, now an official of the Teamsters Union in St. Louis, and Walter Beach, another former Browns defensive back, claimed they were blackballed by other NFL teams after being released on waivers by the Browns. Beach, a student at Yale Law School, also is expected to appear before the grand jury.

Witnesses have indicated in answer to newsmen's questions that the jury has concentrated on player-owner relations. It was learned Tuesday that the jury is looking for possible violations of the Sherman Antitrust Act. Such violations could bring criminal indictments.

The Sherman Act not only provides penalties for restraint of trade, but also restraint of services—in the case of sports, the services of players.

Two members of the Browns' coaching staff—offensive coach Nick Skorich and defensive backfield coach Howard Brinker —said they were asked by the jury Tuesday about waiver and trade procedures in professional football and players' complaints about blackballing. They said names were mentioned in the questioning but that they were not at liberty to reveal the names.

Browns General Manager Harold Sauerbrei, the only other witness Tuesday, told newsmen "there was a general discussion of the overall operations of professional football, but it would be inappropriate if I would comment further."

He did say, however, in answer to a question that the investigation "comes at a critical time in the season when we are fighting for our lives trying to win another division championship.

"It is an inconvenience for the coaches," he added, "but we are trying to cooperate in helping the investigation."

Service Duo Flies High

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The space program at the Air Force Academy is in full flight thanks to pilot (i.e., quarterback) Bob Parker and navigator (i.e., flanker) Ernie Jennings.

The pair of 6-footers teamed up for three touchdown passes Saturday to outshine Stanford and its heralded Heisman Trophy candidate Jim Plunkett as the Falcons made off with a 31-14 victory that put them in the Sugar Bowl.

Parker, in his first year as a regular, completed 16 of 30 passes for 229 yards. Jennings, a 9.6 sprinter, caught 13 for 174 yards.

Those performances earned the senior battery joint honors as National College Backs of the Week from The Associated Press.

Parker's 2,523 yards and 20 touchdown passes lead the nation's major college passers, as do Jennings' 1,229 yards and 17 TD catches.

Eddie Stetz Is Lineman Of Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Linebacker Eddie Stetz was in downtown Winston-Salem, N.C., buying a pair of slacks when word came Tuesday that he was chosen National College Lineman of the Week by The Associated Press for his play in Wake Forest's 16-13 victory over North Carolina State last Saturday.

The information spread around the campus while the 5-foot-11, 195-pound junior from Johnstown, Pa., was replenishing his wardrobe.

When he returned to the campus he passed by a group of students in the lounge of the administration building.

They told him, but Stetz didn't believe them. "I thought they were kidding," he explained.

From there, he went to his dormitory and again he was told of his honor. This time he believed.

"I never dreamed this would happen to me," he beamed, adding, "without those guys up front clearing the way it wouldn't have happened. They deserve the credit."

An ample share of the credit belongs to Stetz, of whom Coach Cal Stoll said before the season started, "Eddie Stetz has the ability to come up with the big play."

He came up with several as Wake Forest edged North Carolina State to remain tied with Duke for the lead in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The Wake Forest Deacons close their season Saturday night with a nonconference game at Houston. They can win their first ever ACC title in 18 years of trying if North Carolina helps out by beating Duke Saturday afternoon.

Against the State Wolfpack Stetz made 16 solo tackles to break the team high of 15 — set by Stetz. In addition, he assisted on 11 tackles, knocked down three passes, saved the game with a fourth-down tackle inside the one-yard line and caused a late fumble that helped spike a closing threat by North Carolina State.

He has made 85 solo tackles and helped in 81 others as Wake Forest has compiled a 6-4 record.

Air Crash Plans Told

NEW YORK (AP) — The plane crash tragedies which struck football teams from Wichita State and Marshall Universities this season, have focused attention on the plans devised by professional sports to deal with such potential catastrophes.

All four major professional team sports played in this country-baseball, football, basketball and hockey—have disaster plans for stocking teams devastated by accidents.

In baseball, the American and National leagues have separate plans which would create player pools from remaining teams to form a squad. The NL plan is not detailed but the AL plan goes into effect if six or more players are lost.

The National Football League has three separate plans for formulating a new team, depending on the number of casualties suffered by the affected team. In the event a new team cannot be formed, the commissioner of football is empowered to delete the affected team's games from the standings.

The National Basketball Association has a total disaster plan but none designed to deal with partial loss of a team. Should a team be completely wiped out, the remaining teams would be permitted to protect five players with the others placed in a draft pool to stock the affected team.

In the National Hockey League, the loss of five or more players sets in motion the plan which resembles the league's summer draft. Each remaining club would protect 10 skaters and one goalie with the remaining players open to a stocking draft with players equally supplied from all the teams.

Ali Says He's Still Champ

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — "I imagine it is a funny feeling to them, fighting for the title, as they call it," says Muhammad Ali of tonight's heavyweight championship bout in Detroit between champion Joe Frazier and Bob Foster.

"In the back of his mind, Frazier knows I'm the real champion," Ali said after his arrival Tuesday to promote and watch in Atlanta the closed circuit telecast of the fight.

The Frazier-Foster winner probably will get a multimillion-dollar shot at Ali early next year if the former undefeated champion defeats Oscar Bonavena in New York on Dec. 7.

Ali, who won the title as Cassius Clay, left no doubt that he expected to meet Frazier for the championship.

"No, it'll be no contest with Bonavena," Ali said. "Bonavena will be rougher than Frazier. Bonavena is four times slower than me, so I see no trouble that I'm down to 210 pounds."

"If Foster wins, I'll be surprised," said Ali. "He'll fight tonight at around 190 pounds and his frame is built to carry 175 tops. After five or six rounds, that extra weight is going to tell on Foster. He'll give Frazier a good show until then, but in the end his arms will get tired and weary and Frazier will catch him."

Ali, who never lost a professional fight, was stripped of his crown following his conviction of refusing induction into the Army.

Disaster Struck Squad To Rebuild

By JOHN DUNCAN

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP)— The determination to somehow rebuild the Marshall University football team which lost 34 of its players and six of its coaches in Saturday night's flaming jetliner crash is beginning to take its first steps.

Officials here have made contacts with at least two junior colleges, and coaches at those unnamed schools have pledged to ask their sophomore players who will be leaving this spring to strongly consider Marshall.

The 8,500-student university is also preparing to request permission from the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) to play next year's freshmen.

"We're going to have to ask the NCAA to allow us to use freshmen players for at least the next couple of years if we are to field a representative team," said Edward Starling, Marshall's assistant director.

The crash that claimed 75 lives, the worst air disaster in American sports history, left Marshall with only 15 varsity players and 30 freshmen. Only three injured varsity starters remain of those who had much experience.

The office of acting Marshall President Donald Dedmon confirmed Tuesday night reports that head coaches at the two junior colleges will ask their sophomores to consider Marshall.

And recruiting, a program intensified here by Rick Tolley, Marshall's head coach who was killed in the crash, will also continue.

But the school needs more coaches to aid in that program, and to date no contacts have been made.

William "Red" Dawson, assistant coach who temporarily has taken charge, and Dedmon met with the surviving football players Sunday night. Many of the players were eager to play Saturday against Ohio University, saying that their dead teammates would have wanted it that way.

The game was called off, but Dedmon assured them, "We will carry on."

Ram Star's Mother Buried

OVALO, Tex. (AP) — Funeral services were to be held here today for Mrs. Euel Meador, 62, mother of Eddie Meador of the Los Angeles Rams football team, who was killed in a traffic accident Monday.

Mrs. Meador died when her car and a pickup truck collided near Dallas. She was thrown out when both vehicles overturned. Her home was at Frisco, near Dallas.

Services were being held at Ovalo Baptist Church, near Abilene. Mrs. Meador once lived in the area. Burial was to follow in the McBee Cemetery near Ovalo.

Survivors include her husband, two sons James of San Marcos, Tex., and Eddie of Los Angeles, her mother, Mrs. W.L. Crofton of Ovalo, two sisters and six grandchildren.

Banquet Funds To Aid Team

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Ohio University and Xavier University college football teams Tuesday voted to forego their annual appreciation banquets and donate the funds to the Marshall University athletic program.

The decisions were in light of the crash of a Southern Airline plane near Huntington, W. Va., in which 37 members of the Marshall team were killed. Seventy-five died in all.

HALLANDALE, Fla. (AP) — Gulfstream Park's two $100,000 added feature races will be run here in March as usual.

The Gulfstream Park Handicap for 3-year-olds and upward at one mile and a quarter is set for March 20. The Florida Derby for 3-year-olds at one mile and an eighth is to be run March 27.

Tech Accepts Sun Bowl Bid

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Texas Tech coach Jim Carlen says the Red Raiders would go to the "Peanut Bowl" if that meant winning the Southwest Conference football championship.

Tech announced official Tuesday that it would accept a bid to the Sun Bowl Dec. 19 probably against Georgia Tech if it doesn't win the SWC championship.

"By 4 p.m. Monday we wanted to get that bowl stuff out of our minds," Carlen says. "We want to go to the Cotton Bowl. We can't be worried about bowls and get ready for Arkansas."

Tech hosts the Razorbacks in a crucial SWC game Saturday. Arkansas and Texas are 5-0 in the SWC race and Tech is 5-1.

A Tech victory would mean the Red Raiders are still in the running for the Cotton. Of course, Arkansas or Texas A&M would have to down the No. 1 ranked Longhorns to make that a possibility.

The Red Raiders were offered a choice of the Bluebonnet, Peach, Gator and Sun Bowls.

"I explained to the boys the offers that were made," Carlen says. "It's up to you and they said 'This (The Sun Bowl) is the one we want to go to."

The decision of the players was approved Monday night by the athletic council and the board of regents.

Tech is 8-2 for the year while Georgia Tech is 7-3.

Commerce Dept. Hires 1,000 Yearly

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

The U.S. Department of Commerce, business agency of the Federal government, employs an immense variety of specialists with degree majors ranging from accounting to transportation. Almost 1,000 college-trained people are employed annually, according to Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans. Particulars of employment opportunities are found in a new 100-page publication, "Careers in the U.S. Department of Commerce."

The Commerce Department was established to promote the foreign and domestic commerce and the manufacturing and shipping industries of the U.S. Its programs encourage the increased use of science and technology in the development of the nation's industrial capacity and the production of civilian goods. The Department provides a broad spectrum of services to the businessman, and its statistical data and business analyses provide the framework for economic policy planning on a national scale. To give you an idea of job areas, the booklet cites these activities of the Commerce Department:

"• Its Weather Bureau has instituted the world's first operational satellite system.

"• Its National Bureau of Standards provides science and industry with accurate and uniform physical measurements for such quantities as length, mass, time, volume, temperature, light and radioactivity.

"• Its Coast and Geodetic Survey is probing the ocean floor for undeveloped resources.

"• Its Maritime Administration has placed in service the world's first nuclear-powered merchant ship, the NS Savannah.

"• Its U.S. Travel Service promotes foreign travel to this country – and visitors from overseas have now increased to the rate of about 2 million a year.

"• The Department's 42 field offices bring the full range of Commerce services to the businessman's doorstep.

"• Its Census Bureau and its Office of Business Economics are developing new analytical tools.

"• Its office of Minority Business Enterprise is bringing members of minority groups into full participation in the economy by assisting them in the establishment of their own businesses."

Most, but not all positions, are located in the Washington, D.C. area, and most Commerce Department employees obtain their jobs through the civil service process. Included in the booklet's contents: a description of the Department's bureaus and offices; degree majors and activities which employ them; a number of job descriptions, including titles, duties, location, opportunities for advancement, training programs and how to apply for each position.

You can obtain a copy of the booklet by sending $1 to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. 20402. General information on employment opportunities in the Department of Commerce is available from the Employment Information Center, Room 1050 L, U.S. Department of Commerce, 14th St. and Constitution Ave. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20230.

According to history and legend, off the Greek Island Leucas, in 31 B. C., the lighter, faster fighting ships of Octavian defeated the lumbering fleet of Antony and Cleopatra in the Battle of Actium. The Roman republic fell, the empire began, and history's famous lovers fled to suicide by the sword and asp.

Federal Controls Visioned

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — An official of the American Hospital Association said Tuesday the federal government will assume drastic control over the health industry within five years.

Kenneth Williamson, director of the association's Washington service bureau, said increased control over medicine and national health insurance will be two major planks in President Nixon's campaign platform for re-election in 1972.

Williamson said the changes do not mean socialized medicine because he said the government will not own or operate facilities and hire physicians.

He said the solo medical practitioner and the fee-for-service system, in which the doctor sends a bill according to his own charges, would be virtually nonexistent under the changes.

The innovations would bring about more group practice by doctors; salaried physicians and established fee schedules, under which rates for particular services are established before a patient sees a doctor, Williamson said.

He was here to speak to health care administration students at Trinity University and the Army Medical Field Service School.

Big business, labor and government agree that controls must be exerted on the health care field, Williamson said in an interview.

Williamson said the federal controls he envisions are a result of the "health field being unwilling to reorganize itself" to provide proper medical care at reasonable prices for all Americans.

Under the changes, he said, the centers would receive federal money on a per capita basis and according to services provided. He said the centers also might be paid partly through private insurance."

BIGGEST DROP IN A DECADE

Production Drops 2.3%

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The worst monthly drop in industrial production in more than a decade has dimmed Nixon administration hopes that the economy is snapping back and moving toward recovery.

Seasonally adjusted figures released Tuesday show the industrial production index in October fell 2.3 per cent, the most since August 1959 when there was a nationwide steel strike. The index is down 6.3 per cent from October, 1969.

Half of October's percentage decline was blamed on the auto workers' strike against General Motors and its depressing effect on industrial output. Tentative agreement has since been reached but GM is still struggling to resume production.

But, strike or no strike, the drop in the important economic indicator still would have been large, the Federal Reserve Board said.

It was the third straight monthly decline in the index, a disappointment to administration officials who have been trying to carry out a strategy of gradual economic recovery.

A spokesman for President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers said the decline was a "negative" development but not surprising in view of the auto strike.

But the Federal Reserve Board said it blamed "further curtailments in output of consumer durable goods other than autos, business and defense equipment and industrial materials."

Since early in the year, Nixon administration economists have predicted the economy would pick up in the fall. In recent weeks, some have said the upturn is already at hand.

Although not considered the broadest measure of the economy's performance, industrial production is a key indicator in gauging output.

In October, the index fell to 162.3 of the 1957-59 average, the base period for which it is figured. It was the lowest index figure since January 1968. September's index stood at 166.1.

Industries produced more television sets in October, but output of most other household goods declined, the board said.

"Production of industrial, commercial, and freight and passenger equipment was reduced further," it said. "Among materials, output of steel, construction materials, paper and some chemical and rubber products was down."

When the governor of New South Wales sought to stretch his money in 1813, he imported 40,000 Spanish dollars and had their centers punched out. Each "holey dollar" was worth five shillings. The center piece was valued at a shilling and two pence. The coins also were punched on Canada's Prince Edward Island.

Perot Speaks At AFIPS Meet

HOUSTON (AP) — This country's educational system is concentrating on turning out technicians and is not developing leadership, H. Ross Perot said Tuesday.

Perot, a Dallas computor millionaire who has been active in seeking the release of American held captive in North Vietnam, spoke at the national fall joint computer conference.

The three-day convention, sponsored by the American Federation of Information Processing Societies, is expected to attract 25,000 persons.

Perot said the current education system has left the development of leaders completely to chance. Without neglecting technology, he urged maximum priority to exposing children to leadership opportunities.
