Industry Search Gets Priority

Parsons Begins Term as C-C Head on January 1

New officials of the Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce will take over their duties Jan. 1, although there will be no public installation to mark the administration change.

Sandy Parsons Jr., one of two men who initiated the organization of the Chamber of Commerce, and who was its first president, returns to head it.

George Henry, manager of the Greenbelt Electric Co-operative, Inc., is the new vice president.

Billy Moseley, on the staff of City State Bank, begins his second term as treasurer, and N. M. Higdon continues as manager of the chamber. New directors are C. T. Hubbard, Jack Sanford, Bill Hatch and George Shadid.

Hatch is the outgoing president.

Parsons has been active in the Chamber of Commerce throughout its existence, but during the last year he has given the organization even more concentrated attention, especially in relation to its work to secure industry for Wellington.

It was no surprise, then, when he named the search for industry as the number one project of his administration.

Other projects already high on the list of Chamber of Commerce activity will be continued, he said, naming water development, efforts to secure one or more additional doctors for the town, and others.

"We need to improve our airport, too," he declared. "If we are to get industry we must have an airport that can serve it."

Parsons will name committee chairmen, and the board of directors will announce the 1965 program of work within the next few weeks.

In taking over the reins of his office, Parsons recalled the organization of the Chamber of Commerce. In 1941, with the United States re-arming prior to World War II, mail from

Norwood Young Farmers Hold Tax Meeting

The Samnorwood Young Farmers Chapter will hold a regular meeting Monday night, Jan. 4 at 7:00 p.m. in the vocational agriculture building.

The program will be presented by James C. Pace of the Internal Revenue office at Pampa. Pace will discuss the new changes for income taxes for 1964.

This should be a very informative program as several changes have been made in the 1964 income tax. There will also be time for a question and answer sesion.

All interested persons are invited to attend this meeting.

Five County Officials Take Office Jan. 4

Five county officials will be sworn into office for new terms at 9 a.m. Monday, Jan. 4, County Judge C. C. Bishop said this week.

This is a public ceremony, to be held in the commissioners' court room, and the public is invited to attend, he added. All county offices will be closed Jan. 1 and therefore the swearing-in was set for the following Monday.

Only one official will take office for the first time. Rita Owens, who was elected county tax assessor-collector.

16 Teams Play

WHS Holds Basketball Tourney January 7 to 9

Wellington will be host to the annual invitational basketball tournament Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Jan. 7, 8 and 9, with 16 strong boys and girls teams participating.

Plans for the tournament were announced by Coach James Stavenhagen this week.

There will be three sessions Thursday and Friday and two on Saturday.

Playing will start at 9:30 a.m. Thursday when the Hedley and Wellington B girls meet.

The afternoon session will begin at 1 and continue until 4:45 p.m. and the night session will be from 6 to 10 p.m. All first round games will be completed Thursday.

The session pattern will be repeated Friday, then on Saturday, playing will start at 1 p.m. and again at 6 p.m. Three games will be played at each.

Coach Stavenhagen was in Amarillo Wednesday to pick up the handsome tournament trophies, which will be awarded the first, second and third place winners and the consolation winner in both the boys and girls divisions.

All-tournament teams will be chosen in both divisions, to include ten outstanding boys and 12 girls.

Playing in this year's tournament will be boys and girls teams from Clarendon, Hedley, Wellington, Quail, Dodson, Paducah and Altus, Okla., also Memphis boys and Wellington B girls.

This is the first time Altus has played in a tournament here.

"We don't know anything about Altus, but they should have strong teams," Coach Stavenhagen said. "All the others are good teams and we should see some fine playing in

Two Minor Wrecks Occur

Two minor motor vehicle accidents, both intersection collisions, were reported during the holiday week end.

Cars driven by Mrs. O. A. Kiker and Mrs. W. A. Morrow collided about 6 p.m. Monday, Dec. 28 in the 1600 block of Graham Street, Deputy Sheriff Troy Marsh reported.

The second accident occurred Tuesday at 10:15 a.m. at the intersection of Bowie and 15th Streets, when the 1954 Chevrolet pickup driven by Levi T. Asher, 501 15th Street, collided with a 1964 Chevrolet pickup driven by Raymond Osborn of Amarillo, according to the deputy.

The Osborn vehicle, owned by Wesco Company of Amarillo, was filled with medical oxygen cylinders, Marsh said. Asher was traveling south and Osborn was going east on 15th.

Shamrock Plays Here

Wellington Teams to Face Three Opponents

The Wellington Rockets and Rockettes will play three games each before playing hosts at their annual tournament which opens next week.

Two of these games will be away from home and one in Skyrocket gym, Coach James Stavenhagen said.

Wellington will play Samnorwood New Year's night, Friday, in Norwood gym. In earlier play, the Samnorwood Eaglettes defeated the Rockettes, but the Rockets have won over the Eagles.

The Saturday night game with the Shamrock Irish and Lassies will be the third meeting for the teams. This time the Wellington teams will have the advantage of playing on their own court.

The Wellington boys have lost two games to Shamrock, but the girls have won two from the Lassies.

In the last game before their tournament, the Wellington boys and girls will travel to Wheeler to meet the Mustangs. Although this is a Class B school, it has two strong teams that will offer Wellington considerable competition.

All of these six games should offer fast action and fine playing, Coach Stavenhagen said.

Funeral for John McGill To Be Thursday

John McGill, for many years a chef and cook in Wellington cafes, died in the Veterans Administration Hospital in Amarillo at 12:43 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 29, after a long illness. He was 75. He had been hospitalized in Amarillo much of the time for the last two months.

Funeral services will be conducted at First Baptist Church Thursday at 2 p.m. and burial will be in the West Wellington Cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Mr. McGill was born Feb. 29, 1888 at Gatesville, and had lived in Wellington since 1927. He retired several years ago.

He was married to Miss Mattie Goad in Childress Feb. 22, 1920, and they lived there until moving to Wellington.

A veteran of World War I, Mr. McGill was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

He is survived by his wife, of Wellington, two daughters and three sons: Mrs. R. A. Walters of Salt Lake City, Mrs. C. A. Youngblood of Phoenix, Ariz., John K. McGill, Jr. of Denver, Reuben Lee McGill and Raymond McGill of Amarillo.

Other survivors are a sister, Mrs. Edna Hughes of Childress, 12 grandchildren and 19 great grandchildren.

Cotton Rolls in as Total Pushes Above 21,000 Mark Wed.

Cotton began rolling onto the yards of Collingsworth gins just before Christmas at the heaviest rate of the entire season, and Wednesday, Dec. 30, with only one day left in the year, the ginning total reached 21,689 bales.

In addition to this, an estimated 2,000 bales is waiting on the gin yards, managers report. They estimated the crop should be gathered in the next two weeks.

On this basis, the county's 1964 crop will not miss the 30,000 mark far and is likely to reach it when the last boll is pulled.

During the last week, cotton has been gathered at a faster rate than it can be hauled to the gin, and Dub Marchant, manager of the Wellington Farmers Co-op said most of his customers have all the trailers they can hold of tied up.

The last spell of wet weather has lowered the grade some, ginners agree, however some of them have received no grade cards back since Christmas. In some areas, there seems to be little change in the grade, but indications are that most of the crop now will be strict low middling light spot or spot.

Cotton in the Quail area is about 75 percent out, Jim Langley, gin manager, said, and he estimated another 10 days of pretty weather will see the crop out. Dryland cotton in that area has averaged a third of a bale with irrigated cotton going up to a bale.

Marchant estimated about 75 percent of the cotton in the Wellintgno area as gathered, and he believes his customers will have their crop out or almost out in another week.

On the other hand, Jack Brewer, manager of the Tindall Gin No. 2 south of town said that there is a lot of cotton in that area to be gathered.

"I have one customer with 600 acres and he has just started, and another with 100 who has just started. There is lots of ground to cover around here but we don't know how much it will make," he said.

Cotton around Dodosn is considered 70 to 75 percent out. On some cotton the grade is holding up; on other it is dropping as is to be expected. The turnout also was reported down as the green bolls and late maturing cotton is being gathered.

Again, the crop will be out in two weeks, ginners said.

Ed Crowder, manager of the Dodson Co-op Enterprises, reported his gin had the biggest day of the season Christmas Eve, followed by another big day Christmas.

North of Salt Fork, the Lutie area has about three fourths of the cotton out, according to Bill Oldham, with most of the remainder expected to come in during the next week.

At Dozier, Cortez Barnett estimated the crop from 90 to 95 percent out, with another two weeks seeing the remainder of the crop cleaned up.

Court Studies County Extension Service Places

Cecil Regier has resigned as county agent of Collingsworth county, effective Feb. 28, County Judge C. C. Bishop announced Tuesday, Dec. 29.

Regier's action followed a request by the Commissioners' Court to District Agricultural Agent W. W. Grisham that the county agent be transferred and another agent secured for this county.

At the same time, and in the same motion, the commissioners' court requested Miss Edith Wilson, district home demonstration agent, discuss with them the work of Kathryn Barjenbruch, Collingsworth county home demonstration agent.

The two district agents, Grisham and Miss Wilson, both of Amarillo, met with the commissioners in a short session Monday afternoon. The only action to come out of this meeting in the form of a motion was one in which a $300 per year increase in salary would be granted a county agent if one is found who is suitable.

Judge Bishop said that the dissatisfaction with the Extension Service personnel concerned Regier's work with 4-H Club boys and girls and with the program of work of the home demonstration clubs.

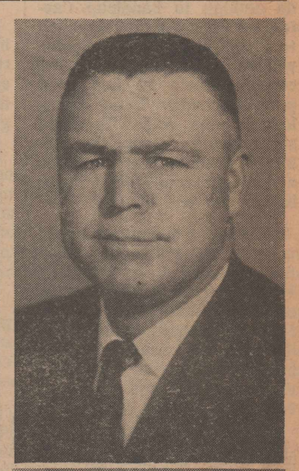

Asked if individuals had discussed the problem with members of the court, he said:

"They (the commissioners) talked to me as if there has, but there's never been one person come to me."

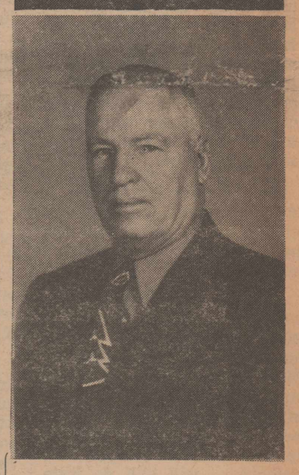

During the meeting between the district agents and the commissioners Monday, Miss Wilson said she will talk with home demonstration women in the county and see what kind of program they want, and

No War With Russia, China Likely in '65

By ROGER W. BABSON

Promising the people of the United States "peace and prosperity", President Johnson was carried to victory last November on an overwhelming landslide. By nature he is more likely to compromise than to contest. Also, he is deeply sincere in his desire to accelerate the economic growth of this country and to wipe out poverty.

But we must not forget that both Woodrow Wilson and Franklin Roosevelt promised to keep America out of "foreign" wars. And already the British financial crisis has forced the Federal Reserve to raise its discount rate to 4% — despite President Johnson's dislike of higher money rates. Therefore, as we look forward to 1965 from our more than 60 years of experience in forecasting and analysis, we emphasize once again that the great rolling tides of economic fundamentals and social currents are likely to have a greater impact on what is to unfold than will the campaign promises of successful candidates.

1. There will be no war with Russia during 1965. The Russian people want some of the "peace and prosperity" that President Johnson promised our citizens.

2. Watch Russia's satellites in 1965. They will try to make a deal with the new Moscow Administration which will involve more trade and prosperity and less politics. Following

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. White and children, of Phoenix, Ariz., are here for Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bowen.

En route here, the family was involved in an accident on icy roads near Lordsburg, N. M. To avoid collision with a truck, White applied his brakes and the car skidded into an embankment.

Babson Forecast for 1965

Khrushchev's fall, the satellites will aim for more consumer goods for their people rather than for more personal freedom.

3. Russia will not bring the Berlin issue to a crisis in 1965. The tendency will be to soft-pedal talk about Berlin until Red China's course of action becomes clearer.

4. Red China made the biggest news in 1964 by exploding a nuclear bomb. In 1965, Communist China's greatest effort will be to gain admission to the United Nations. World leaders cannot ignore this awakening giant with its 700,000,000 people. We believe there is a 50-50 chance that the Red Dragon will get into the UN in 1965.

5. However, Communist China will not risk all-out war in the year ahead. She has neither a sufficient stockpile of nuclear bombs nor adequate means of delivering them in quanttiy. Red China's biggest use of her newfound nuclear power will be to "blackmail" the West.

6. Regardless of what happens in the next few months, we look for President Johnson to compromise on the situation in South Vietnam sometime during 1965 and move toward "neutralization."

7. Conditions in Cuba are not likely to change radically in 1965. The Russians will do nothing to handicap Castro; neither will they do much to help him. Thus Castro will be unable to deliver the economic help he has been promising other Latin American nations. And with world sugar prices down, the Cuban chieftain will try to make a deal with the United States before the end of 1965.

8. Cutbacks in defense spending will not result in radical unemployment in the U.S. in 1965. Companies and regions seriously affected by the loss of "conventional" defense work will shift to meet the rapid changes due in our system of defense during the next few years.

9. Our Defense Department under Secretary McNamara's leadership, will increase efforts in 1965 to produce new super-weapons. It is realized there would be no Maginot or other "line" to protect any country in future wars. Control of space will be the new aim in defense.

10. Intensified emphasis on new space-age defenses will provide more jobs in 1965 than the closing down of obsolete installations will eliminate.

11. The stock market will continue to be a paradox in 1965. The Dow-Jones Industrial Average may push to 1000 before any real turnaround takes place. Many stocks, however — including numbers of issues oriented to conventional warfare and defense — will still do little or nothing. Look for greater selectivity in stocks next year.

12. 1965 may be an advantageous time for investors to put very small sums of money into "space" stocks. These are outright speculations, but so were the ventures of Columbus, Magellan, and other explorers of the past. If there were no risk-takers, there would be no progress. Such "investments," however, should be well diversified and limited to amounts you would be prepared to lose.

13. Cash dividend payments should increase in 1965 . . . although at a much slower rate than has been the case this year.

14. No assessment of finances in the United States can be made without carefully weighing Britain's plight. We are convinced that unless the Labor government adopts strict austerity measures, the pound will fall before the end of 1965.

15. Until the fate of the pound is resolved, short-term interest rates must be kept high to prevent foreigners from withdrawing their deposits held here. Also, domestic demand for credit promises to remain strong. Hence, interest rates will edge upward during 1965.

16. There may be some erosion in bond prices as interest rates move upward, but there should be no massive decline unless a real credit crisis develops. Investors making new purchases would do well, however, to stick now to bonds maturing within five years. Sometime during 1965 longer bonds may become good buys.

17. Inflation fears may rise in 1965; but we do not look for runaway prices next year as productive capacity is too large.

18. More wage hikes are certain in 1965. Liberal concessions won in the auto and other industries in 1964 provide tempting targets for the steel unions and secondary labor groups to shoot at in 1965.

19. To the extent — and this could be considerable — that higher costs cannot be compensated for by price hikes and greater efficiency, profit margins will suffer in 1965.

20. Indeed, despite the projected 2% cut in the corporate income tax rate next year, we look for only a very slight overall rise in corporate profits . . . nothing to compare with this year's huge 20% expansion.

21. Labor disputes will be numerous in 1965. Many labor pacts can, and will, be reopened for wage adjustments during the coming year.

22. Employment will continue favorable in 1965, but additions to rolls will be most noticeable in fields such as teaching, personal services and government work.

23. Little real progress will be apparent in the drive to reduce unemployment. We are only now just "touching off" the big new explosion in the growth of the labor force.

24. Due to rising labor costs, look for business to turn even more to automation and labor-saving devices in 1965. Pressures on profit margins will spur cost-cutting and efforts to raise productivity.

25. Because of rising expenses and overwhelming competition, a further increase in failures will be seen in 1965.

26. As a result of automobile strikes in late 1964 and the fear of a possible steel shutdown in mid-1965, we look for a bulge in business volume during the first half of 1965.

27. In a nutshell, business should make new all-time highs in early 1965; after midyear, a tapering-off appears likely. However, 1965 will set another new record.

28. Following the strike interruptions of late 1964, personal income should move smartly ahead to new highs in the first half of 1965 . . . although the rate of advance will be slow after midyear.

29. This projected rise in income will be beneficial to retail trade. And though buying in the second quarter may be dampened by heavy income-tax payments due to Uncle Sam on April 15 as a result of under-withholding during 1964, the last half will find retail trade in certain lines — such as furs and jewelry — spurred by President Johnson's promised excise tax cuts.

30. The important automobile industry should post another excellent sales year in 1965, but as the year advances we feel that gains will be harder to come by.

31. The powerful building and construction activities should prove a strong support to general business during 1965 . . . even though we foresee no marked improvement. Some gain in dollar volume will be largely due to higher costs. Apartment building has been overdone in some sections and a breathing spell is logical. One- and two-family houses could post a small increase, but the big market for new housing is still some years distant.

32. Over-extension of credit and over-ambitious operators have put the real estate market in a bind in many large metropolitan areas. We strongly advise caution in making new commitments, especially in commercial real estate where a thin equity exists.

23. However, even if scarcer than in recent years, there will still be opportunities for selective purchases of real estate in 1965. Each area is a law unto itself. Know your locality and study the direction of growth trends. Farm land bought in the path of expanding suburbs may be a better long-term buy in 1965 than stocks.

34. Non-farm real estate foreclosures will continue in an uptrend during 1965. This should be particularly true in regions where over-building of speculative homes has taken place and where cutbacks in defense spending cause local distress.

35. Productive farm land that lends itself to mechanization will not decline in price in 1965. Rising use of farm equipment makes it necessary for operators to cultivate ever-larger spreads. This trend is maintaining demand for fertile acreage in the farm belt.

36. As 1965 begins, prices for agricultural products are generally well above their lows for 1964. Unless severe widespread drought intervenes, we look for no more than seasonal strength in agricultural prices during the year ahead. In a word, we do not see any near-term important uplifting forces on the farm scene.

37. The situation in industrial commodity prices is somewhat different. With business heading higher in the first half and with labor costs scaling new peaks, industrial commodity prices, with some exceptions, will push upward at least during the coming six months.

38. Living costs will also rise to new all-time heights. And, since President Johnson is committed to getting Medicare passed at this session of Congress, look for hospital, nursing and doctors' fees to spurt before the end of 1965.

39. Even with federal income taxes already slated to drop a notch next year and with prospects excellent that excise taxes will be cut, rejoicing should be restrained by the knowledge that local taxes will take another uptwist and social security levies will rise again . . . even faster after the 89th Congress enacts Medicare.

40. Climbing capital goods outlays will be one of the brightest spots for 1965. Gains over this year could run as high as 10%.

41. Further progress in United States exports will be harder to achieve in the coming year. Certainly, if the steel labor outlook appears bad by mid-Spring, heavy imports of foreign steel may be resorted to by U.S. businessmen. This would result in a narrowing of our favorable trade balance and have a further adverse impact on the U.S. international balance of payments.

42. Although we are not forecasting runaway inflation for 1965, we do feel that attempts to keep money easy in this country, in the face of a worldwide trend toward tighter credit, will greatly increase the danger of a later inflationary blow-off. Conditions remind us of the late 1920's when the Federal Reserve here kept credit too cheap and plentiful to support the British pound. Hence the eventual collapse came from an even more dangerous level.

43. It is unlikely that the United States will raise the price of gold during 1965. However, we may well see the calling of a monetary conference to deal with the weakened British financial situation and to attempt greater liquidity for world currencies generally.

44. As far as gold stocks are concerned, they are already high and should only be held in 1965 as insurance against the long-range trend toward higher world prices for gold.

45. The silver coinage situation will become more acute as the year progresses. The 89th Congress will be forced to consider a new silver coinage act. If it is not passed in 1965, it will be shortly thereafter.

46. Returning to the all-important foreign scene — since we are very much wrapped up in the future of the Free World — we forecast further instability among the Russian leadership. Khrushchev's ouster marked only the beginning of the coming power grab in Moscow. The real leader has not yet emerged.

47. Ascendancy of the African and Asian nations to a position of control in the United Nations will force the United States in 1965 to take action alone when vital spheres of influence are violated. The UN will become even more of a debating society; and month by month the chances will grow dimmer that we will ever again see United Nations troops used for rescue operations such as in Korea or the Congo.

48. Following the British crisis, General de Gaulle will work harder than ever in 1965 to unite Europe as a great third force between Communism and the United States. President Johnson is well aware that the winds of change are blowing strongly in Western Europe. 1965 could see the beginning of the end for transatlantic union as envisoned by U.S. administrations during the past two decades.

49. World-wide credit problems and restrictions on trade cast dark shadows on investment prospects abroad. Many nations which have shown great growth during the past 20 years will be poor risks for new commitments during the year 1965.

50. In conclusion, we recall the statement of a former President of a South American nation: That the U.S.A. prospered so greatly because its founders came to worship God, as opposed to countries whose settlers went to worship gold. Surely we can hope to prosper in the future only as we recognize that righteousness and morality must be as important as analysis and statistics as springboards for new business ventures during 1965 and in all the years ahead.

Everyone Must File Tax Return

A Federal income tax return must be filed by every citizen or resident of the United States, including minor children, who had gross income of $600 or more in 1964, Hubert B. Hamill, administrative officer of the Amarillo office of Internal Revenue Service, reminded this week.

A calendar year taxpayer who is 65 or over, is not required to file unless his gross income in 1964 was at least $1,200, Hamill said.

Document No. 5107 which furnishes more detailed information on this subject, is available upon request from the Internal Revenue Service.

This Space Is for Talking About All of the Extra Things Your Money Will Do for You When You Do Business at Home

OF COURSE, it would take this whole paper — or more — to cover all of the many fringe benefits we get from Trading at Home. And, this being only a small space, right now let's just consider ONE of the many reasons it pays to do business in our home area, and take up the other points some other time.

Let's think now about how our buying at home helps to keep up our supply of NEIGHBORS. Remember, it takes TRADE VOLUME to support PEOPLE. Every Dollar that leaves this community helps to move somebody out of it, and when we spend a dollar here, it helps to bring in more people.

And PEOPLE are very handy to have around. Without them, we'd have no schools and churches, no doctors, no fire and police protection, nobody to fix our flats and our plumbing, no nearby stocks of foods and medicines, clothing and gasoline. And nobody here to buy the goods or products or labor that WE have to sell.

Friends Honor Mr., Mrs. Killingsworth on Their Golden Wedding Dec. 20

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Killingsworth Sr., were honored on their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, December 20, at a reception held in the community building. The hosts were their sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Killingsworth of Dimmitt and Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Killingsworth of Borger. Nieces and grandchildren assisted.

Approximately 150 friends called between two-thirty and five o'clock.

The refreshment table was laid with a floor-length white net cloth over satin. At the center was an arrangement of bronze chrysanthemums and foliage which was touched with gold, in a green and gold footed bowl. At each side, lighted gold tapers were in double holders.

Mrs. J. R. Bain and Mrs. H. D. Owens of Fort Worth, nieces of Mrs. Killingsworth, served the four-tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Top Patterson of Hereford, also a niece, and Mrs. Don Patterson of McLean, poured.

Mrs. M. C. Kuykendall of Amarillo registered the guests and J. A. Muncie of Las Altas, Calif., was at the money tree, presented the couple by their family and close friends.

Mrs. Claude Taylor of Greensburg, Kansas, displayed the gifts. J. R. Bain of Fort Worth, who formerly lived here, assisted.

Younger members of the house party were Howie Owens of Fort Worth, Jimmie Killingsworth and Jerry Killingsworth of Dimmitt, Don Killingsworth and Jean Killingsworth of Borger.

A high point of the anniversary celebration for Mr. and Mrs. Killingsworth was the arrival of a nephew, J. A. Muncie, who flew from his home at Las Altas, Calif. Muncie made his home with his grandmother, Mrs. Martha Muncie for a number of years and was graduated from high school here.

Other guests came from Dimmitt, Amarillo, Fort Worth, Greensburg, Kansas, Borger, Twitty, Hereford, McLean, Hedley, Clarendon, Quail and other points. Some of these have known Mr. and Mrs. Killingsworth for as long as 45 years.

Sunday morning, relatives who were here attended services at the Bowie Street Church of Christ in a group.

The couple was married Dec. 20, 1914, at the home of her parents south of Hedley. They have two sons and five grandchildren.

They farmed until 1925, when Mr. Killingsworth entered the building business at McLean. Later they moved to Wellington, where he has built a number of houses and other buildings.

Later they lived in Dallas, then Lubbock, where he became an independent contractor.

During World War II he was general superintendent of construction at the Air Force Base at Lubbock, then Amarillo Air Force Base, where he was general superintendent over 10,000 men.

Next he held the position at the construction of the German Prisoner of War Camp at Hereford.

After this, Mr. Killingsworth began contracting for the government and was on jobs at Marfa; Roswell, Deming and Las Vegas, N.M.; then to Colorada, where he was at Pueblo, Springfield, Greeley, Fort Collins, Boulder, Trinidad, Durango and Leadville. Mrs. Killingsworth went with her husband on these projects, moving from town to town.

Light Flashes Upset Insect's Life Cycle

COLLEGE STATION—What's new in the way of insect controls? The not-too-distant future may provide for the control of some insect pests, a "new" ingredient—light!

Research has found that the normal life cycle of one insect pest, the imported cabbageworm, can be upset by exposing it to flashes of light lasting less than one one-thousandth of a second.

The Agricultural Research Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, has conducted experiments on this test insect at Beltsville, Md.

Photoflashes given nightly to the cabbageworm in the larva or destructive caterpillar stage upset the growth sequence latter in its lift cycle, report ARS scientists. The insect developed from a pupa in its cocoon into an adult butterfly when it normally would have entered a dormant stage called diapause, explain the scientists.

Diapause is similar to hibernation and is a vital phase of the life cycle of many major insect pests.

ARS scientists say this new photoflash technique may have potential value as a biological control method against insects. Forcing insects in their natural environment to bypass diapause and develop into adults "ahead of schedule" would probably cause them to be so out of step with nature that they would perish, explain the ARS entomologists.

The ARS emphasizes, however, that its findings do not prove photoflash can be used to control insects under field conditions.

Since light treatments that alter insect development have little or no effect on plants, this new knowledge is expected to heighten research interest in photoflash as a possible means of control.

1965 Opens With Food Abundance

COLLEGE STATION.— The new year begins with a story of abundance. For such foods as red tart cherries, apples and canned ripe olives, prunes, canned figs and broiler-fryers will be in big supply this January, says the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

A record large tart cherry crop has created an abundance of these delicious and colorful food items. Stocks of canned red tart cherries are unusually large. And frozen cherries also are in record supply.

The year 1964 also produced the largest apple crop since 1939, making supplies unusually large during the early part of 1965.

Canned ripe olives once again grace the list of plentiful foods reported by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Marketing Service. The large quantities are due in part to a heavy carryover from last year resulting in record supplies.

Another canned product, figs, promises a more than 80% increase in marketing over last year. Some 717,000 cases will be available.

Broiler-fryers are expected to continue in abundance during January. Broilers are produced extensively in Texas. Marketings are expected to exceed those of a year ago.

Income Tax Filing Time Almost Here

COLLEGE STATION.—Another year is past, and this means tackling that tax reporting job.

An excellent way for farmers and ranchers to prepare for this task is to obtain a copy of Publication No. 225, the Internal Revenue Service's 1965 edition of the Farmer's Tax Guide, says Cecil Parker, Extension farm management specialist, Texas A&M University. It is available without cost from the offices of local county agents or those of the Internal Revenue Service.

Farmers and ranchers wanting extra time to file their final report have until Jan. 15 to file their 1964 tax estimate. If this estimate is filed, the final date for filing Form 1040 is extended to April 15.

However, if no estimate is filed, Feb. 15 then becomes the deadline for making the final tax report. These deadlines, Parker points out, apply only to taxpayers who derived two-thirds or more of their 1964 income from farming or ranching.

Another important consideration is the reporting of hired labor and social security taxes on wages paid. Either of two tests determine whether or not a farmer must pay social security tax on wages. If the worker was paid cash wages of $150 or more during the calendar year, or if he was paid cash wages (computed on a time basis) for 20 days or more during the year, the 3⅝% social security tax should be deducted from such wages.

Form 943 is used for reporting farm wages. Farmer-employers must show wages paid and give the account number of individual workers. Tax withheld plus an equal amount from the employer, along with the reporting form, mut be filed on or before Jan. 31.

Because every phase of the farm and ranch business can be affected by taxes, Parker emphasizes the need for a complete study of the '65 Tax Guide.

1956 May Be A Year of Achievement for County

There is every reason to look with optimism at the next 12 months, as Collingsworth enters 1965 in a strong position to achieve some of those projects on which work is under way.

Number one is the county's water program. It is in concrete form and preliminary engineering will start early in the year at sites proposed for a dam on Salt Fork. Basically for irrigation, the lake it would back up can have other benefits, including recreation and wild life.

This has always been an urgent program with Collingsworth County, and every year the search for water becomes more intense, statewide and world wide. In some areas water has become the most precious of natural resources. Those behind our own water program realize that while we have our water rights, we must develop them.

Hopes for one or more valuable industries is strong. Not before have we started a year with so much ground-work laid, with so many men working together in an organized pattern, to bring industry that will tie in with the county's basic farm economy.

Development of oil and gas production goes on in the north part of the county.

Results from none of these come quickly and none are realized without much hard work. With the basic strengths of Collingsworth and its people, they will be worth our best efforts.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where the African majority in the United Nations is put out with the U.S. and Belgium for snatching that bunch of valuable hostages out of the Congo.

Which you could say was racial discrimination, all right, because back when we got those people away from Castro, we paid him a nice fat price per head for them, and we didn't pay the black Africans a cent for their captives.

My integrarian neighbor says also the Congo rebels' captives were lots more valuable to them, because when we got Castro's hostages back, we weren't taking away part of his food supply.

It is being said that many Americans nowadays will watch a thug kill a girl or beat up a neighbor and won't even bother to call the police.

My calculating cousin says this is because in our expensive society, people just don't have time to fritter away by getting involved in non-profit activities.

Says now if there was an automatic $100 reward for coming to the rescue of overmatched fellow beings, a man couldn't even kick a dog without having good-deeders swarming all over him.

News is that the Food and Drug Administration is fixing to rule that hereafter, peanut butter has got to be at least 90% peanuts.

My malcontented neighbor says this is the kind of tender care our interests need, and later on maybe the FDA will get around to requiring pecan pie to be at least 2% pecans.

Also some Washington agency ought to set up a rule that candidates for office, wearing the NO-Waste label, must be at lease ½ of 1% spend-resistant.

My lowfaluting neighbor says he reckons the present time will go down in history as the Reapportionment Age.

He notes the Supreme Court is on a reapportionment jag, to equalize everybody's votes, and the Great Society ramrods are making their moves to reapportion money.

Says maybe this reapportionment kick will lead to a drive to reapportion the credit for good works, so that when alms are passed out by government, the poor old taxpayers will get some of the applause instead of the President getting it all.

1040 Forms To Be Mailed Jan. 1

The new Form 1040 for 1964 will be mailed out about Jan. 1. The new form has been completely revised. Page 1 of the 1040 looks about the same although there are several changes, but page 2 has one column for the itemized deductions, and on the left side of the page is a column for listing the income.

Internal Revenue hopes to cut down on the number of pages most taxpayers will have to file.

The Revenue Service offers its "good free advice to read the instructions on these forms just like your dollars depended on it, because they do."

Quails Take Cage Spotlight With Win Over AA Childress

The Quail Quails became the first area basketball team to win 20 games this season as they took a happy victory over the strong Class AA Childress Bobcats 73-62 in a game played at Quail Dec. 22.

"This was a big win for us, as Childress had defeated the Shamrock team the week before, to win their own tournament," Coach Don Lacy said.

Childress jumped to an early 14-6 lead and things were looking sad for the Quails at this point. Then the tide began to change somewhat as the Quails managed to overcome most of this and were trailing by only 3 points at halftime.

The second half was close most of the way. With two field goals each by Don Morris, Paul Gollihugh and Joe Harris, and with single ones by Dale Morris and Smokey Mitchell, along with some free shots, the Quails managed to take a four point lead into the final quarter. The lead stayed in this vicinity until the last two minutes of play, and Paul Gollihugh scored two driving lay-ups off of the fast break to ice it away for Quail.

All seven Quails that saw action scored, as follows: Joe Harris 16, Dale Morris and Paul Gollihugh 15 each, Smokey Mitchell 11, Don Morris 8, Bruce Ward and Royse Mitchell 4 each.

Lacy said "All of the boys played well, but I think the outstanding player of this game was Joe Harris, not only because of the 16 points he scored but mainly because of the fine job he did defending Childress all-state candidate Bruce Evans. Evans is averaging 27 points a game and Joe held him to 21; but more important, Evans did not get a single point in the fourth quarter. Joe is the finest defensive player I have seen this year and he seems to get better every game."

Evans was high point man for Childress with 21, followed by Teddy Poling with 14 and Mike Reeves had 10.

In the B team game which preceded, the Quails won in two overtimes, 55-52. Doing the scoring for the B Quails was Earl Lynn Feemster with 16 points, Tommy Baker 14, Jarrell Fielding and Robert Blevins 12 each and Garland Boyce 1. Other Quails seeing action were Cary Neeley, Gary Mitchell and Darrell Colson. High for Childress was James Driver with 21 points.

Quail will return the games at Childress Saturday night, Jan. 2, beginning at 6:30.

Scores by quarters:

Quail B	4	18	32	46	50	55
Childress	18	25	38	46	50	52
Quail A		16	34	54		73
Childress		18	37	50		62

QUAIL PRACTICE SESSION SET

The Quail Bobwhites and Quails will have a practice basketball session Thursday night, Dec. 31 at the Quail gym.

The Bobwhites will practice from 5:00 until 6:30 and the Quails from 6:30 to 8:30.

All Bobwhites and Quails, A and B teams, are required to attend, according to Quail Coach Don Lacy.

The two boys teams will play at Childress Jan. 2 at 6:30. The bus will leave Quail at 4:45 p.m. and will stop in Wellington for those wanting to catch it there. All players will be required to ride the bus, according to Coach Lacy.

In discussing the family's move to Wellington, Rev. Cooper said:

"The town has accepted us with more sincerity than any town we've lived in, and people have gone out of their way to make us feel at home. Well, it's the friendliest town we've ever been, and we want people to know we appreciate being made part of the town."

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

In this issue you will find Babson's annual report which indicates even greater prosperity for the United States in 1965. Of course he hedges on the point of possible war and catastrophes that can't be predicted. He has been accurate for a remarkable percentage and you will find his predictions in this issue of the paper most interesting. His prediction is for bigger and better business for the nation as a whole. That means we will have a better chance to make money here at home.

On the home front people ask me what I think about our local prospects. Why shouldn't it be as good or slightly better than the rest of the nation if we hustle? We have better moisture than we have had at this time of the year in the last four years. Although wheat is not too important to the general economy, it is an index of what the maize and cotton will be. We have a lot of things working in our favor if we will work as industriously as we should.

The people on The Wellington Leader will really have to knuckle down to their jobs if they expect the paper to do as well as it did in 1964. The favorable aspects facing general business in the county provide us an opportunity as it does all other alert business firms; but the simple fact remains that 1965 is not a political year and we grossed a lot of business out of political advertising and printing in the past year. We will have to make it up in more diligent service to our customers.

We are a manufacturing firm. We transform paper and ink into reader interest, increased sales by advertising and support of worthwhile community efforts. We are not retailers. With the exception of our office supplies we are a manufacturing firm and our payroll is considerable, perhaps ranking among the top ten of the town.

Be that as it may, obvious to a thinking mind, our problems and our welfare are linked inseparably to the people of the community — our readers, the workers, the clerks in the stores, the mechanics in the shops, the men in the gins, the repair men of the utilities, the volunteer firemen, the local officials and especially the teachers who direct a younger generation. Our welfare is also joined with the banking institutions, the insurance agencies, the gins, feed mills, elevators and other processing plants and especially to the variety of retailers of the town who provide you with such a variety of merchandise and such convenient nearby service in a friendly, congenial atmosphere where you know and can trust the people with whom you deal. To all of these good people we extend our best wishes for an even better year in 1965.

Although the gins were running night and day during Christmas week, less than half of our cotton had been harvested and even a smaller amount had found its way into the local banks. This will show up in the April reports and not those in January. Because of this odd fact, retail business should be better in January, February and March than it was in October, November and December.

The nicest thing that could happen to our community would be to get the two lakes which have been proposed. As far as I know the work is progressing smoothly. There is no longer any conflict between our projects and the Greenbelt and they should continue to move ahead.

During the holidays I was talking to Goldwyn Milner of Hereford who was visiting in Dodson. I asked if he were raising sugar beets and found out that he was. On his allotment of 75 acres he produced approximately $30,000.00 worth of beets gross. Of course that is not net for sugar beet farming is an expensive operation; but it does give you an idea of why the people on the North Plains in the Dumas-Dalhart area are in such a tizzy to get sugar beets started up there.

On this same section where the 75-acre beet allotment is located, Goldwyn produced a total gross of $72,000.00. The other crops, and they were bumper ones, were maize, cotton and cucumbers. In short the beet land produced nearly half as much as the entire section. Wonder how Merritt Durfey and Pat Bouchelle came out with their experiment with beets?

While the rest of the nation has been suffering under all kinds of adverse weather conditions we have been basking under sunny skies and comparatively warm temperatures. As Temple Slay says: "No other place on the North American continent has as much good weather as we enjoy."

First there were the great snows that paralyzed New York, Pennsylvania and much of the Eastern seaboard. Then there were the terrific blizzards that did such damage in Wyoming and the other northern states of the Great Plains. And finally the elements turned their bitter fury on Washington, Oregon and northern California. Even Hawaii and Alaska did not escape.

An interesting item comes out of Alaska. It was 50 degrees below zero and the children continued to walk to school. In Anchorage the temperature was only 25 degrees below zero, but the human suffering was far worse due to the wind. This brings up the item about the "chill factor" which is the subtraction of heat passing over the body. With 25-below temperature and a 30 mile an hour wind Anchorage had the equivalent of 100 degrees below zero if the wind had been still.

And all the time this is going on we live in the sunshine. Yet we have a bad reputation for weather. We should talk more of our beautiful days and less about our sandstorms. Instead of repeating the old worn out jokes, every person should appoint himself as a publicist to narrate and norate the virtues of the beneficent weather we enjoy over 90 per cent of the time.

A plump matron was asked what she thought of Medicare. "Oh, I think it's wonderful," she said. "I took it for a month and lost 10 pounds."

Norwood Water Project Field Work Begins

Edd Biggs, engineer for the Samnorwood Water Supply Corporation is at work on the project, collecting field notes and surveying the locations of water lines, and he will be on the site through Thursday, he said while in Wellington this week.

The corporation recently received approval of a $225,000 loan from the Farmers Home Administration for the construction of a domestic water system to serve farmers and ranchers in the Samnorwood, Dozier and Lutie communities, and other areas west to the county line.

The directors of the corporation point out that this is a loan, and that no federal grant has been received for constructing the project. All the money will be paid back with interest, it was pointed out.

Directors met with Biggs on Tuesday to check progress on the work. Attending, in addition to the engineer, were Willie Knoll, W. R. Breeding, Jim Ray, and Don Jennings, county supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration.

Man Stabbed in Affray

An Amarillo man in Wellington for the Christmas holidays was stabbed in an affray with his brother, Deputy Sheriff Troy Marsh said this week.

The injured man was identified as Jim Thomas, who the deputy said was stabbed between the two lower ribs on his left side. Named as his assailant by Marsh was Bobby Thomas of Wellington.

The fighting took place on Christmas day in the middle of Highway 83, north of Wellington, he reported. Highway Patrolman Dan Dowdy drove up on the men and radioed Sheriff John Rainey who went to the scene.

Jim Thomas was hospitalized overnight at St. Joseph's and officers are waiting until his condition is improved to question him. Bobby Thomas & a third man, Billy Ray McDanel, were filed on for being drunk, Marsh said.
