NEBRASKA MAN HURT

Two Left Dead From Smashup

Two men were dead and another injured in the aftermath of a car-truck smashup five miles west of Colorado City on Interstate 20 about 8:40 p.m. Tuesday.

Killed in the accident were Marcelo Granado, 17, of Loraine, and Guadalupe Campos, 28, of Colorado City.

Injured in the accident was Donald Vanassche, 34, of Norfolk, Nebr. He was the driver of the truck and was reported "resting" in Root Memorial Hospital where he was receiving treatment for head and possible other injuries.

The accident happened on Interstate 20 just west of the bridge crossing Lake Colorado City.

Highway Patrolman Buddy Hertenberger said that the car carrying Campos and Grando struck the rear of the truck that was transporting a pickup on its bed.

The pickup was thrown from the back of the truck. The victims' car came to rest on the road and the truck was off the overpass on the service road below.

A chain was required to remove Campos from the wreckage of the auto in which he was riding. He died shortly after being admitted to Root Memorial Hospital.

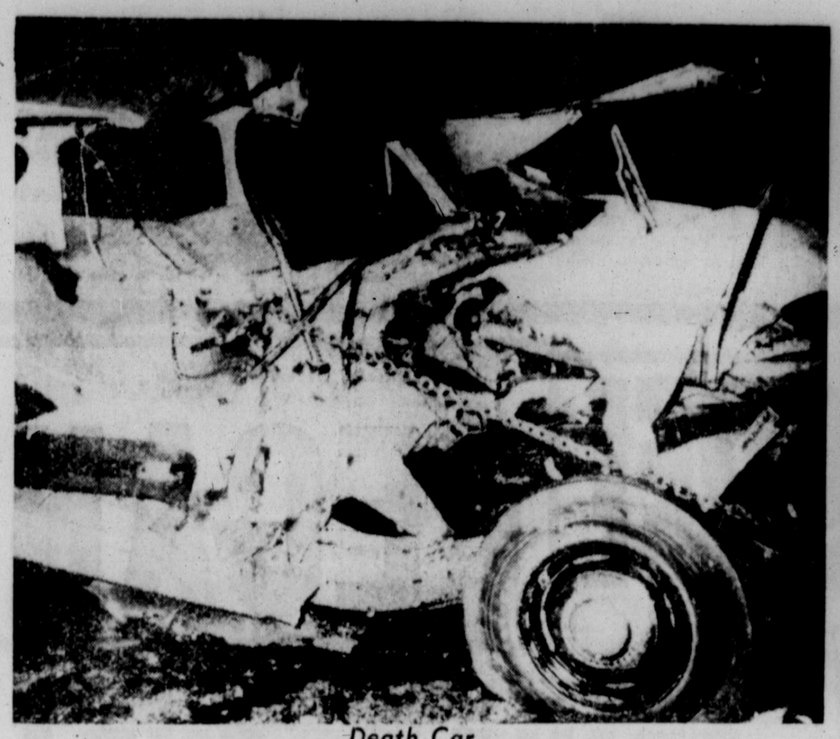

Granado was dead at the scene.

The wreckage slowed traffic on the busy highway for over an hour as local, county and state officers sought to investigate the accident and clear the wreckage.

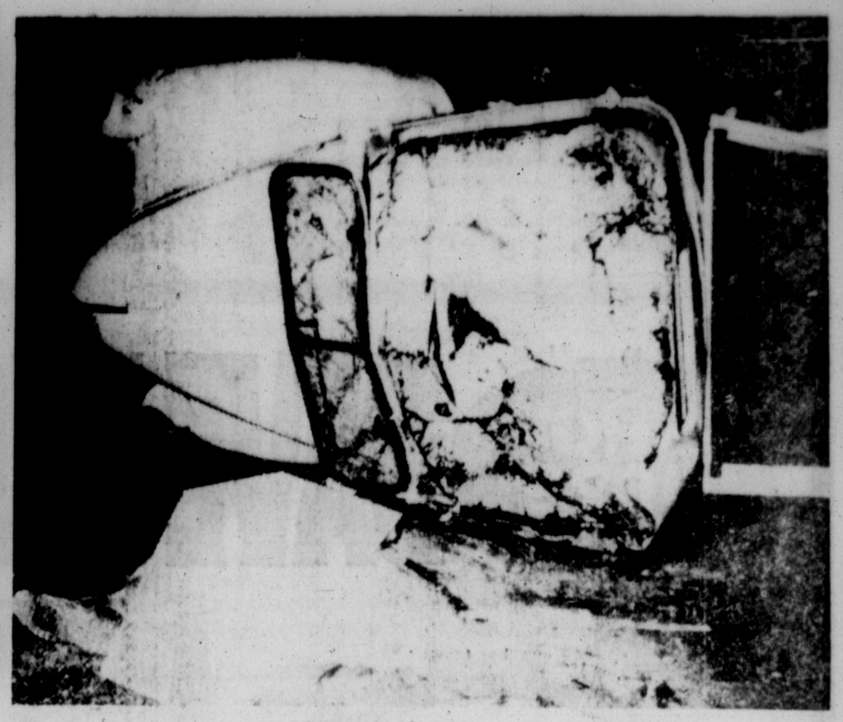

Rites are pending for the wreck victims at Kiker and Son Funeral Home.

Loraine Schools Get Federal Grant

A federal grant totaling $23,900 has been approved for Loraine Public Schools under the Elementary and Secondary Act of 1965.

The funds to aid educationally deprived chilren will provide for aditional school personnel and equipment.

Supt. of Schools said that the grant was for the current year of classes.

The project, according to Supt. Cushing, provides special learning opportunities for the educationally deprived students residing in the Loraine School District.

Loraine's application was approved by the Texas Education Agency.

The students to receive benefits from the program are those having inadequacies in speaking and understanding the English language, have a pattern of failing grades, are assigned one or more grade levels below their chronological age on standardized test scores, have a physical handicap or those having a high frequency of absences from school.

"We know who these children are," Cushing said, "and we have planned a program to assist them with their special learning problems, a program to assist them in having understanding and skill in the use of the English language and to improve their cultural background and their general educational development."

Several personnel additions are scheduled through the new federal program including a librarian, a remedial reading teacher, a visiting teacher and teacher aides.

In the line of equipment, various teaching materials, books, filmstrips and charts will be purchased by the Loraine schools.

Film projectors and teaching machines are also on the list of things to be added.

Supt. Cushing noted that the Loraine School Board's approval of Title I of the new federal project is a continuation of the policy of the board and superintendent to study each government financed program and to in turn participate when the program holds promise of improving the educational opportunities of the children of the Loraine School District.

PLAYHOUSE AT JUNIOR HIGH

Haunting Of Hill House Curtain Goes Up Tonight

Curtain goes up at 8 tonight for the first performance of "The Haunting of Hill House."

Colorado City Playhouse members will present the suspense drama both tonight and Friday night at 8 in Junior High School auditorium.

"The Haunting of Hill House," fifth production to be staged by the amateur theater organized last year, is the first "chiller-thriller" attempted by Playhouse. The drama is packed with suspense and filled with surprise climaxes.

Action in the three-act play takes place in the living room and a bed room of an old and isolated mansion.

Is Hill House haunted? Dr. and Mrs. Montague and Arthur Parks are there to find out. Invited to help them with their experiment in tracking down ghosts are Eleanor Vance, Theodora, and Luke Sanderson. There to greet the guests is Mrs. Dudley, housekeeper whose pet phrase is "I don't wait on people."

Dr. Montague is played by Dr. Ralph Graham, First Christian Church minister here. Mrs. Montague, who believes in seances, is portrayed by Rochelle Smith. Her assistant, the young man who is her "secretary," will be played by Topper Steakley. Cast as Eleanor Vance, the feminine lead, is Charlene Birdwell, wife of the vicar of All Saints Episcopal Church, Rev. Harlan Birdwell.

Theodora, ingenue of the drama, is Sharon Hammond. Don DeLaney has the role of Luke Sanderson. Mary Post is the obviously frightened housekeeper, Mrs. Dudley.

Sound effects which add to the eerie feel of the play have been perfected by Porter Richardson, who is staging "The Haunting of Hill House," assisted by Rickey DeLaney and by George Womack, president of the Colorado City Playhouse. Melburn Palmer is assistant stage manager.

Director of the Thursday-Friday shows is Mrs. Gerald Gordon, president of Playhouse last year. She is assisted by Melba Mikle as prompter. Ruth Johnson is in charge of properties.

Tickets may be bought from Playhouse members with Mrs. Post as ticket sales chairman, or tickets can be bought at the door. Admission is $1 for adults, 75c for student tickets.

Coffee time at intermission is free through courtesy of Playhouse. Mrs. L. S. Girvin Jr. is hospitality chairman.

"The Haunting of Hill House," while "scary" in a heart-quickening way, is a suspense drama especially suitable for all the family, in-

Balloting Set For Tuesday

Transfers of upland cotton allotments by sale or lease may be made from one farm to another within Mitchell County under the new farm legislation enacted this year according to Curtis Latimer, Chairman of the ASCS County Committee.

A vote to decide whether or not to permit transfer of allotments to other counties in Texas is set for Tuesday at the same time that growers vote on marketing quotas for the 1966 upland cotton crop.

In no case can transfers of allotments be made outside of Texas.

Another point under the new legislation is that transfer of allotments from one farm to another owned by the same person can be made across county lines within the state.

This holds true despite the outcome of the transfer referendum.

Latimer emphasized that the vote on allotment transfers had nothing to do with marketing quotas.

A two-third vote of the upland cotton growers in the county is required to approve out-of-county transfers of allotments.

Should the growers approve the measure, transfers could be made for the next three years or 1966-68.

If the county growers disapprove the out-of-county procedure, then another referendum will be held on the question next year.

The decision to permit out-of-county transfers will be decided by vote within each individual county.

The question about whether marketing quotas shall apply to the 1966 upland cotton crop will be decided on a national basis.

If at least two-thirds of the upland cotton growers voting in the United States approve marketing quotas for the 1966 crop, then the quotas will be in effect and marketing penalties will apply to any excess cotton produced.

Approval of quotas will also mean that the new cotton program will go into operation and offer various program benefits to participating growers.

Export market reserve acreage would also be available under a quota program, for growers who wish to produce cotton for export only, without support or any government.

ON C-CITY VISIT

Burleson Talks On Session

United States Congressman Omar Burleson of Anson said Tuesday that the just-finished session of Congress "had gone too far — too fast on Great Society legislation."

Burleson made the remarks during a Colorado City stop on a swing through some of the counties added to his 17th District by the redistricting bill passed by the recent Texas Legislature session.

The new district won't become effective until Jan. 1, but Burleson is already at work shaking both old and new hands of his possible constituents.

Redistricting

The Congressman is highly optimistic that the plan will pass the judgement of the courts.

He noted that he was "highly pleased" and "the Legislature did a very fine job." "Very judicious," he added.

Recalling the dissension in the legislative session over the adoption of a new plan, Burleson said, "Everybody had ideas, but all in all, the job was well done."

"George Mahon disliked losing Mitchell and Howard counties but on the other hand, I am glad to gain them."

"In my opinion it (redistricting plan) will stand. It would be chaotic to go back with the worst thing being for the Congressmen to run at large," Burleson said.

Under the current district setup, Burleson will keep 12 of his present 14 counties while losing Scurry and Parker.

The new plan also calls for the addition of 12 new counties to go with the 12 old ones.

Haskell and Throckmorton counties will come in from Cong. Graham Purcell's district.

From Mahon will come Mitchell and Howard.

Glasscock County, currently represented by Cong. Richard White of El Paso, is another new county.

The bulk will be added from the district of O. C. Fisher in San Angelo including Sterling, Coke, Runnels, Coleman, Brown, Concho and Mills.

Burleson said the additional counties would make visiting over the istrict more difficult due to the increased area and the long Congressional sessions in Washington, D. C.

Possible Opponents

Although there are no officially avowed candidates seeking Burleson's seat in Congress, he admitted that the addition of the new counties would make an opponent more likely.

He added, however, that he had many friends in the new area and "would not be starting cold due to friends of long standing."

When asked some of his accomplishments in Congress, Burleson recalled that one notable achievement was five years ago when he offered an amendment slashing the foreign aid bill by $268 million.

"In all candor, it was a pretty good day's work," the Congressman quipped.

He also said that he felt the acquisition of federal aid in his district had been successful.

The Great Society

"It was one of the most productive Congresses in history. Quantity of legislation passed was amazing, but it is a matter of opinion as to the quality," Burleson remarked regarding numerous pieces of Great Society measures passed.

Stating his opposition to many of the measures, he said, "I voted against many programs, but now that they (bills) have passed, I will help enact them."

Regarding the impact of the new legislation on the nation, Burleson said," We don't know yet. It will take a level of experience with them before seeing what they reall mean and their value."

Burleson stated that he did vote for the excise tax cut.

He noted that in many instances the Congress went even further than President Johnson had asked in such programs as aid to Appalachia, poverty air, mass transit, and pay raises for federal and military personnel.

"I supported the President in holding expenditures to the amount asked for," Burleson said.

He added that he had always supported the Administration on their policies in Vietnam.

Asked about the quality and speedy passing of the legislation, Burleson said," It was too far, too fast on the legislative program. The intent and final goal is good, but it was passed too hastily. There will be far-reaching effects on the individual, communities, economy and the nation. We won't feel the impact for several years."

"In some aspects, it is revolutionary," he added.

Counterfeit Money Turns Up Locally

A bogus $20 bill turned up in Colorado City and it appears to be of the same type that has been circulating in the area in recent days.

A local service station operator was given the bill here this weekend.

When he made his deposit at the bank, a teller spotted the bill as a counterfeit. Local officers contacted the Secret Service in Dallas for further investigation of the matter.

Strong Future Seen For Crossing Breeds

Walter Kruse who heads up beef cattle research at Texas A&M University's Livestock and Forage Research Center, McGregor, explains heterosis or hybrid vigor as "an increased capacity of growth found in crosses between unrelated strains."

Early work at McGregor and other A&M units show that weaning weights of first-cross calves average 6 percent more than those from either of the purebred parents. And when crossbred dams are mated with purebred bulls, the advantage jumps to nearly 19 percent.

Rats Are Expensive

Estimates say it costs from $10 to $40 to maintain a rat on your farm for a year.

It's not so much what he eats but the losses from damaged buildings, wasted feed and contamination add up fast.

Too, rats carry diseases and insects which are a threat to humans as well as animals. Now is a good time to conduct a cleanup and control program to rid the farm of these pests.

Turkey Day Dinner Now Easier to Do

Turkey and dressing, cranberries and pumpkin pie are just another way of saying Thanksgiving dinner.

That menu is almost the same as it was many years ago. It is the preparation time which has changed.

Now, it can be frozen turkey, packaged ingredients for the dressing, canned (and perfect) cranberry sauce, a frozen pie to pop in the oven, hot rolls or biscuits ready to bake.

"Subtle changes have occured in the Thanksgiving menu," reports Mrs. Gwen Clyatt, Texas A&M University Extension consumer marketing specialist.

The changes are in the amount of time and trouble needed to prepare the traditional turkey feast.

"Although the menu for today's Thanksgiving meal has come down through the years with remarkable likeness to the dishes served on that first Thanksgiving day, there have been many subtle changes," Mrs. Clyatt says.

Mrs. Clyatt points out that as Thanksgiving draws near, shoppers should be grateful that food is a bargain. Never before in history has food been so cheap in terms of the time one has to work to pay for it.

While many of the foods now served at Thanksgiving festivities are the same kinds that were in the holiday feast in earlier years, there are subtle differences.

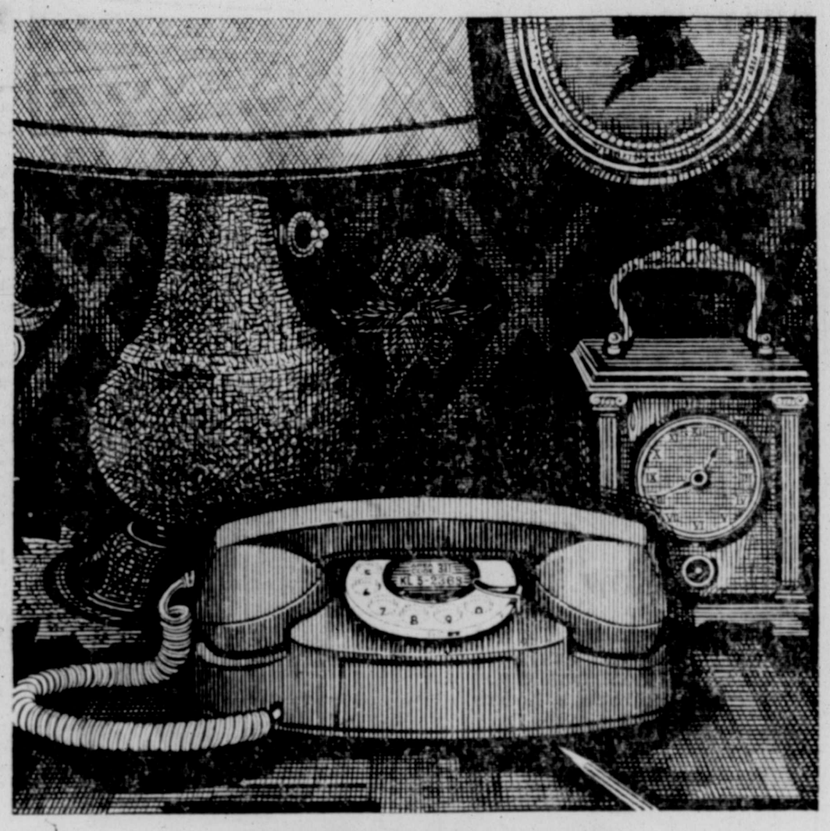

Agriculture has made tremendous strides since the days of the Pilgrims. The cultural practices, varieties, the quality, the harvesting all have been updated, and transportation has improved along with the technological advances. Processing has had a tremendous effect on the food supply situation and modern food distribution.

The job of preparing the Thanksgiving dinner has been simplified and shortened for today's homemaker. There are many more varieties of food items to select from in developing the menu — and many of the foods can be purchased in prepared or partially prepared forms, Mrs. Clyatt emphasizes.

Turkey prices are about the same as they were at this period last year. Fryers continue to be good buys in the poultry department.

Good values in beef this week center around chuck and rib roasts, round and sirloin steaks, ground beef and liver. Pork prices remain relatively high, with best price choices to be found in Boston butt roasts, shoulder steaks and liver. Bacon is a bit lower in price.

Good buys in fruits are apples, bananas, grapes, grapefruit, cranberries and oranges. Vegetable choices include carrots, dry yellow onions, sweet potatoes and rutabagas, along with fall cooking greens amount of legislation, the Congressman gave two primary reasons — "Strong leadership and the fact that some things have been neglected to the point of not interest."

having enough concern and "Society has become more complex and numerous and there have been great advances in science and automation. These can't be separated from social aspects. There are many new problems."

Rights Bills Votes

Burleson explained that he had voted against both the Civil Rights Bill and the Voting Rights Bill that passed into law.

He expressed his opposition to the "demands of militant civil rights leaders seeking to bring crimes involving their movements under federal jurisdiction." Burleson said he believed it took too much power from the states.

Burleson added that in his opinion it was a mistake to send federal voting registrars into states and for the federal government to overrule the voting qualifications set up by the states.

"I am for everybody voting, but each state should set its own voting qualifications. Federal government has no right to take charge of voting machinery in the states."

The Congressman noted that he based his opinion on constitutional processes and not on integration or segregation.

Concerning the Civil Rights Bill, Burleson said, "It was the wrong approach. Time and progress would have corrected the situation. There is room for reform, but I am opposed to outside interference. It wouldn't have moved as rapidly, but it would have been without bloodshed."

"It's a matter of education and not only telling an individual to vote. Many don't want to vote and have no preparation. This is overlooked by professional civil rights workers."

Asked if he was referring in particular to the Negro voters, Burleson said, 'Yes.'

Right-To-Work

Burleson stated his opposition to repealing 14 (B) or the "right to work" section of the Taft-Hartley Law.

He recalled that he had worked on the addition of this section in 1948.

"No one should be forced to belong to any organization in order to do anything."

"I am for the right to organize and belong to unions and to bargain collectively," Burleson stated. "But I am also for the right not to belong."

"Unions are necessary. Organized labor needs industry and industry needs organize labor," he explained in closing.

Background

Burleson is in his 19th year in Congress after being elected in 1947.

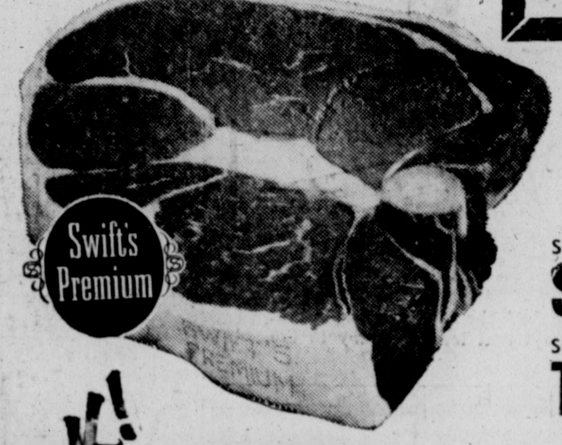

He formerly had been county judge and attorney in Jones County and had worked as an FBI agent. In addition he served in the U. S. Navy and attained the rank of Lieutenant Commander. He is a native of Jones County.

Section Two | COLORADO CITY RECORD, THURSDAY, NOV. 18, 1965 | Page One

Ruth Coffey's CONVERSATION CORNER

IT'S ALL in the point of view. Ever stop to consider how much everything — every attitude, every opinion, every reaction, every prejudice, every joy, every enthusiasm, every appreciation — is all in the point of view?

If you need that fact brought home to you just try riding a bus to and from Dallas for a weekend change of scene and pace.

Sit still and listen. Matter of fact you can't keep from hearing, even if you're trying to read a copy of Time magazine.

All around you are points of view voiced loud and long to seat mates, to people across the aisle, to one and sundry. Even the unwilling listener.

'WHEN we all get to Heaven' there should be at least one very small star in the crown of one C-City columnist because she didn't take issue with the woman from California.

Coming home early Monday, the big bus swung around from Weatherford into the beautiful hills around Palo Pinto and Mineral Wells. Just as we began the drive through the richly colored trees with their magic reds and golds and russet leaves . . . and just as this heart echoed the refrain 'O Beautiful for Spacious skies' . . . came that voice from just behind.

"I hate Texas trees," the voice said. "Little old ugly, tacky things. They look more like scrawny bushes. In California ouf trees are great big."

Well, it's all in the point of view.

'WHEN the Roll Is Called Up Yonder' there is just liable to be another little star for this native Texan woman because she didn't challenge the man across the aisle to a duel to the death.

"Why in the world anybody would ever live in Texas on purpose I can't see," said his rasping voice. "I wouldn't spend one minute in Texas if I could help it. Ugly towns. Ugly land. Like a desert," he declaimed to the couple behind him.

The bus was by then was stopping in Roscoe, our little neighbor town with its attractive homes and its beautiful farms. "Look," said the man's voice. "How could they make a livin' here? They could tear this town down and never miss it," the voice said. "Wonder what they do for a livin'," he said.

RIGHT THERE this C-City gal wanted to mount a soap box and let the gentleman (the term is used loosely) "have it."

The fact that this gal kept absolutely still and quiet proves that her character is improving with age. Or something.

But pretty soon the bus was zooming between the wide fields of cotton no farmers anywhere could tie, stretching all around Roscoe.

'O Beautiful for cotton fields,' this heart sang soundlessly. It's all in the point of view.

"Well, they must raise some fair cotton," said the man's voice. "A man can make money out of cotton if he knows how," said the traveling male oracle who knew everything.

It's all in the point of view.

BUS stopped in Colorado City. Got off before that voice began wondering how — and why — anybody would live here on purpose.

Which is probably just as well. It's all in the point of view. And if your point of view is warped and all snarled like an old fishing reel, it shows. It shows when people "sound off."

Appearences don't always tell the whole story. The Texas-hating man was frayed at the cuffs and down at the heels. Had this writer not been trying like heck to be a perfect lady, wouldn't it have been fun to tell him "There's not a citizen in Roscoe, man, who couldn't buy and sell you here on the spot."

Sorta keep wishin' I had.

DALLAS (the part seen this time) is still beautiful The new Sanger-Harris store and its Carnation Room are something to see!

And the little home town looked beautiful sitting in the sun waiting for me and Eddie Kissinger's mother from Abilene to get off the bus.

That, too, is a point of view. But just as "Home is where the heart is," so is the home town. Just that.

HERE it is that you can dash to a tea for lovely little Mrs. W. M. Elliott and find familiar faces, long known, long appreciated.

Saw Mrs. H. B. Broaddus, Mrs. Oscar Majors, Miss Martha Earnest and her sister Mrs. Stewart Cooper, all dressed up and somewhere to go . . . Mrs. Charles C. Thompson and Mrs. W. W. Rhode, smiling their goodbyes to Mrs. Ross Daniels at the door.

Had the fun of seeing there Mrs. E. M. Owen, Mrs Roy Davis Coles, Roxie Witten, Mrs. John Brown . . . Mrs. A. H. Dolman of the L.T.N.S. (long time no see department) and Betty Ginzel (Mrs. Frank).

Mrs. Jas. O. Jarman was pretty in winter pink. Saw Shana Noble Bassinger (Mr. Hubert) and pretty Betsy Aycock (Mrs. Robert Jr.) . . . Greeted Mabel Smith, Louise Hardison, Clydine Stickney, three F.P.'S (favorite people) and Dr. John Elliott, Presbyterian preacher from Ft. Worth.

Where else in the whole world could you go and see that many nice people in the same room?

FROM ABILENE OFFICE

Cotton Quality Steady In Classing Samples

Quality of cotton samples received from District 2; Runnels, Coleman, Mitchell, Nolan, Taylor, Scurry, Fisher, Jones, Kent, Stonewall, and Dickens Counties; was about the same as for the two preceding weeks, according to B. B. Manly, Jr., at the Cotton Classing Office.

This 11 county area accounted for 17,170 of the 23,298 samples classed last week at the Consumer and Marketing Service in Abilene. Manly said "the season classed total reached 114,917 samples which is 26 to 28 percent of the expected total for the 1965-66 crop."

The grade breakdown for District 2 looked like this: 9 percent middling, 3 percent strict low middling, 1 percent low middling, 2 percent strict middling light spotted, 50 percent middling light spooted, cent middling light spotted, light spotted, 1 percent low middling light spotted, 2 percent middling spotted, and 2 percent strict low midling spotted. "Barky" cotton totaled 2 percent compared to 1 percent for the previous week.

Staple lengths were: 3 percent 7/8 and shorter, 42 percent 29/32 46 percent 15/16, 7 percent 31/32, and 2 percent 1-inch and longer.

Ninety-one percent o. the samples miked in the most desirable range (3.6-4.8) and would draw a 14 point premium in the Commodity Credit Loan. One percent miked 3.0 - 3.2 which would be discounted 60 points in the CCC loan. The remainder of the samples miked in the "even loan" ranges.

The pressley readings which are fiber strength measurements in thousand pounds per square inch were: 5 percent 70-74, 22 percent 75-79, 36 percent 80-84, 29 percent 85-89, 6 percent 90-94, and 2 percent 95 and higher.

"These measurements were made by the Texas Research Committee at Lubbock, Texas, and the results telephoned to the Cotton Classing Office," says Manly.

Colton prices declined slighly during the past week. Demand for strict low middling light spotted and lower qualities of cotton was good and was fair to weak on middling light spotted and higher qualities.

Gross prices received by producers were: even to slightly above CCC loan rates for strict middling light spotted and higher qualities, $.75 to $3.00 per bale above loan for middling light spotted, $2.00 to $5.00 per bale above loan on strict low middling light spotted cotton, and about $15.00 per bale above loan on long staple, high pressley cotton.

IN MAJORS HOME

'21 Study Club Features Thanksgiving Program

Mrs. W. C. Hooks was leader, Mrs. Sam L. Majors hostess in her home, 104 East 8th St., Friday afternoon when members of the 1921 Study Club met for a Thanksgiving program.

Facts about Thanksgiving were recited in response to club roll call. Mrs. J. Floyd Quinney read the 1963 Thanksgiving Proclamation issued from the White House by the late President John F. Kennedy.

President Lyndon B. Johnson, who took office after the tragic assasination of President Kennedy, urged that the Proclamation, written Nov. 4, 1963, be read in all churches the Sunday following Mr. Kennedy's death.

"As our power has grown so has our peril," President Kennedy's Proclamation said in part. "Today we give our thanks, most of all, for the ideals of honor and faith we inherit from our forefathers — for the decency of purpose, steadfastness of resolve and strength of will, for the courage and the humility, which they possessed and which we must seek every day to emulate.

"As we express our gratitude, we must never forget that the highest appreciation is not to utter words but to live by them. Let us therefore proclaim our gratitude to providence for manifold blessings — let us be humbly thankful for inherited ideals — and let us resolve to share those blessings and those ideals with our fellow human beings throughout the world," the Proclamation written less than three weeks before Mr. Kennedy's death read.

Mrs. U. G. Hardison read the story of the first Thanksgiving, as written by Thomas J. Fleming for the Nov. 22 This Week magazine.

"It was harvest time in Plymouth," said the writer. "Their fields of golden yellow Indian corn promised a starvation free winter . . .

"Looking around them at their ripe fields, the woods thick with game, the rivers and sea teeming with fish, feeling, after a plenteous summer, the glow of new health in their bodies, the men and women of Plymouth realized that there was indeed much for which to give thanks," the introduction to the first Thanksgiving description said

During a business period, with club president Mrs. Doyle Hester presiding, members reported that their adopted school room, taught by Mrs. R. M. Reed were served soft drinks as a Thanksgiving season treat. Sewing materials, also, were given to pupils in the room.

A donation to the library fund was reported.

Mrs. Glen Coon will be hostess in her Loraine home, Nov. 26, when 1921 members meet for an Art program, one of the Growth Through Music, Art and Literature series for the club year. Mrs. A. O. Hickman and Mrs. Hester will take part on the program.

Post Office Aiding With Stock Count

Rural mail carriers from the Colorado City Post Office will leave some livestock survey cards along their routes beginning Nov. 20.

"Information reported on these cards is used to set the yearly inventory of livestock and poultry on Texas farms," Postmaster A. M. Morris explained.

Rural carrier distribute the cards at random in boxes along their routes.

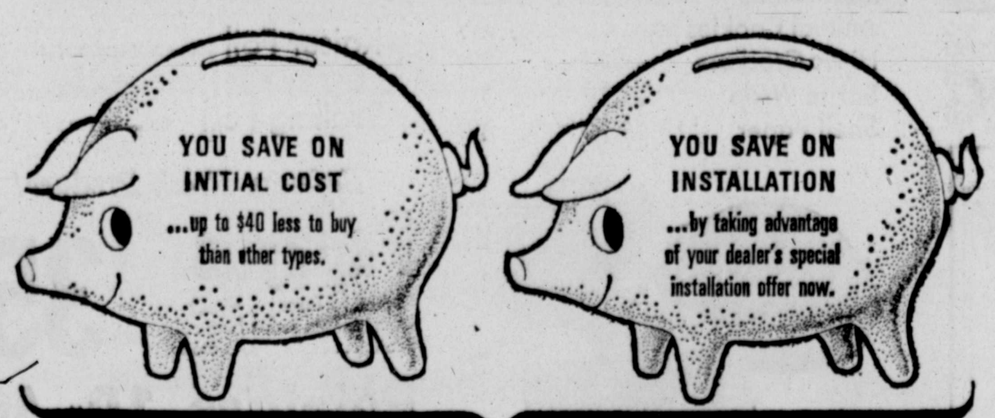

"This means that not every box will get a card," Morris said. "For this reason, it's important for everyone who gets a card to return it filled out so that USDA can get a true sample of the State's livestock holdings."

Carriers assisting with the survey are: Bob Motley, Rt. 1; Eddie Moeser, Rt. 2; and Tom Goss, Rt. 3.

Facts and figures secured in this survey are the basis for Texas and National pig crop report and inventories of livestock and poultry on farms as of the first of the year. Stockmen and many others use this information in making business decisions.

Survey results will be widely distributed through Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service releases, newspapers, farm magazines, radio, and television.

Polara

Kick the dull driving habit in a car that's really going places. Polara is loaded with looks, luxury and performance. It's big and solid, with wide sweeping lines. And Polara gives you a lot of standard extras (like a 383 cubic inch V8).

Monaco

Take a look at Dodge's top gun. For luxury performance this is the one. Combines performance, comfort and glamour at a reasonable price. By far the most dazzling car in the '66 Dodge lineup of dazzlers. Monaco! Hardtop, wagon or sedan.

Coronet

Here's a car that fills the bill for Rebels who want a brand new thrill. The Coronet is sharp, smart and zippy — and it goes like no other car in its class. Coronet is also loaded with luxury the higher-priced cars haven't caught onto yet. Lots of power in a spunky Six — and a fistful of brawny V8's.

Dart

This is a rebel in the compact class — bigger than any, with a lot more sass. Big on the inside. Big on the outside. Beautiful any way you look at it. (About the only way it resembles an ordinary compact is in the way it saves you money). Your choice of two quick Sixes and two great Eights.

Grandma baked pies today and we had a good laugh together over the story she used to tell me as a little girl of a lady who baked pies and marked them to tell them apart. Half she marked T M for 'Tis Mince, the others T M for 'Tisn't Mince.

It's such fun having Grandma live in our house. Her stories of the old days, her understanding humor, and her joy in living spark our lives. She needs no label. That she's a Christian glows in everything she does. No matter what the circumstances, she meets people and situations with love and goodness. Full credit is hers, that none of the problems that we feared when she came to live with us have developed.

Yes, I'd say Grandma has rubbed off on all of us. We all go to church now and we're much happier because of it. We've learned from Grandma that happiness comes from doing good and loving God.

Why don't you go to Church and take your family with you?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
