PRISONERS FAIL IN AN ATTEMPT TO OVER- COME JAILER

FORT WORTH, April 16. (AP)—One prisoner was killed and two others wounded when Jail Guard Charles B. Miller opened fire during an attempted break of eight prisoners from the Tarrant county jail early today.

Melvin Bowes, 33, fugitive from the Florida state prison and a criminal figure in various sections of the country, was slain.

Clarence B. Billingsley, 23, a jockey held on charges of theft and burglary, and James Lawrence Kirk, scheduled for trial Thursday on robbery charges, were wounded.

Eight prisoners had sawed the bars of two cells, jailers said, and manipulated the combination of a master lock on the liberator 16 prisoners in the cell block. Eight prisoners, however, refused to leave their cells.

Jailer Miller and E. M. James, a guard, who was unarmed, were making regular rounds when Bowes, Billingsley and Kirk sprang from a cell and attacked them.

Bowes, wielding an iron bar, battered James over the head as Billingsley jumped on Miller's back, the jailers said.

Miller reached his pistol, jerked it loose and shot Billingsley. He wheeled and fired on Bowes. The prisoner turned and ran around the corner of a cell block and fell dead. He had been shot just below the left breast.

Two other prisoners had circled the cell block and came upon Miller from the rear. Billingsley, diminutive jockey, leaped on Miller's back. The jailer reached around and fired, a bullet striking the jockey in the hip.

One was Gen. Shy George Brockdy who recently was shot in an attempted jailbreak at Deatur, Texas, was "gun shy" and ran out the door when the shooting started. Jailers found him cowering behind a table in the outer corridor.

Kirk, the third man shot, received a flesh wound in the hip. He told jailers he had not intended to escape but had been caught in the corridor.

Miller fired his pistol four times and struck three prisoners. The prisoners attempted to escape from a cell block located on the fifth floor. It houses 16 men. A master lock box, opened by a combination knob, is located just outside the block.

Two bars had been sawed out of the three cells enabling three prisoners, Billingsley, Stine Weathered, awaiting trial for a hotel robbery, and Arthur Brown, under 99-year sentence as an habitual criminal, to enter the cell block corridor.

A small hand mirror attached to a stick and a rope improvised from a strip of a mattress enabled the trio to open the cells. Weathered held the stick, jailers said, through the outer bars and across a three-foot corridor to the lock control box. Brown, a trusty who knew

Trash Dumping To Be Stopped

Much of the tax payers' money is being spent yearly by Gray county commissioners because of the practice of a few town and city residents who, for the sake of saving a few cents, take their garbage and trash into the country and scatter it in the roadside ditches.

Pampa has a number of such citizens. In every direction out of the city are found pieces of automobiles, old tires, stoves, trunks, tin cans, garbage, dead dogs, cats and hens, and dozens of other obnoxious items lying where they have been dumped from trailers or boxes.

The practice is to be stopped, and the easiest and cheapest way is for law-abiding citizens to take the license number of cars or trucks found being unloaded of refuse along any road in the county. The number should be given to County Attorney Sherman White, who declares he will have the operator arrested and heavily fined.

The state law reads that it is a violation of the law to dump glass, wire, cans, junk, garbage, etc., along any public road, highway or alley. The offense is punishable by a fine of $200.

It would cost the man who takes his junk into the country from 10 to 25 cents to take it to the city dump ground, where it would not prove an eye-sore.

Ickes In Scathing Attack On Huey Long Threatens To Cancel Louisiana Projects

Improvement in the condition of John G. Robinson III, above, member of the famous circus family, revived hope for his recovery at his Miami, Fla., home, after three operations failed to check a grave throat malady.

'Kingfish' Says He Will Impeach 3 Justices

WASHINGTON, April 16. (AP)—In a scathing attack on Senator Huey P. Long, Secretary Ickes today threatened to cancel all public works projects in Louisiana if legislation is passed to give the state authority over local projects.

Referring to Long as "the emperor of Louisiana," Ickes said at a press conference:

"PWA funds haven't been used to set up a political machine anywhere and they won't be used that way in Louisiana—they certainly won't be used to build up Senator Long's political machine."

Specifically, Ickes said a $1,800,000 PWA allotment had been made to the New Orleans sewer and water board, and if it was dissolved "there isn't any contract and we'll take back the money."

"Of course," he added sarcastically, "it means keeping a lot of people out of work. Apparently the senator is in favor of sharing wealth but not sharing work."

Ickes referred to the Louisiana legislature, now considering a loan measure to give the state authority over expenditure of federal funds by the localities, as the "Long-ture."

Asked if other allotments besides the New Orleans sewer project might be cancelled, Ickes replied:

"They might create a situation down there where all allotments would be cancelled."

"Who do you mean?" he was asked.

"The emperor of Louisiana," Ickes replied, adding "they're making a good start."

Stating his position, Ickes said: "I think if Senator Long is going to dictate to us how we shall conduct the PWA program in Louisiana we reserve the right to cancel our contracts. We didn't make the allocation to Huey Long or the state of Louisiana, we made it to the New Orleans agency."

BATON ROUGE, La., April 16. (AP)—Senator Huey P. Long today said definitely he would "advocate the impeachment and removal of three justices of Louisiana's supreme court."

After storming against the justices before a meeting of the legislative house ways and means committee declaring that they "should be impeached," Long later said he

Sentiment Rolls Up for Fund to Curtail Dusters

WASHINGTON, April 16. (AP)—Dust storms and the threat of another drought in the middle-west appeared today to be rolling up sentiment behind proposals that irrigation, soil erosion and rural rehabilitation project be given a larger slice of the $4,000,000,000 work relief fund.

A report placed in the hands of Secretary Ickes by Dr. Elwood Mead, commissioner of reclamation, was reported to recommend more than $300,000,000 for irrigation projects.

Expenditure of $75,000,000 for materials and equipment was predicted in connection with plans now before President Roosevelt for employing a large proportion of the expanded civilian conservation corps in activities directed by the soil erosion service.

The relief administration already has authorized use of relief labor in an attempt to protect the farm lands of five western states against further damage by dust storms.

Some congressmen interested in these and other work relief expenditures hoped, meanwhile, to make an arrangement with the white house whereby they would get political prestige out of the program.

ICKES STATES ARGUMENT FOR THOMAS BILL

GOVERNOR ALLRED 'TO TESTIFY WEDNESDAY AT HEARINGS

WASHINGTON, April 16. (AP)—Secretary Ickes reiterated his belief today that federal regulation of the oil industry was necessary and vigorously approved the Thomas bill designed to set interstate quotas of production of crude which reached interstate commerce.

Testifying before a senate mines subcommittee, the oil administrator approved interstate compacts in part but suggested they were insufficient to cope with a problem which involves all states since they are all affected by prices for oil and gasoline.

The hearings began in the presence of Senator Thomas (D., Okla.) author of the bill, Senator Thomas (D., Utah) Frazier (R., N. D.) and Bulow (D., S. D.) members of the subcommittee; Governor James V. Allred of Texas, Attorney General William McCraw of Texas, chairman E. O. Thompson of the Texas railroad commission, Senator Tomally (D., Tex.) Charles Fahy, chairman of the petroleum administrative board, and dozens of others interested in the oil industry.

Senator Thomas of Utah, chairman, granted the request of Allred that he and other Texans desiring to oppose the legislation be heard tomorrow.

City commissioners last night gave considerable thought to ways of pushing their campaign for an under pass at the Cuyler street crossing. Federal funds will be sought.

Harry Hines, new highway commissioner, and to inform him concerning the need for the structure. It is possible that a trip to Washington by a Pampa representative will be necessary.

With the federal government allocating millions to Texas for crossing removal, the outlook is rather encouraging despite the fact that Cuyler street is not a part of a state or federal highway.

Within a short time, the commission will consider propositions for operation of the municipal swimming pool next summer. It is possible that private contracts will be considered.

The anti-nudism bill specifically would ring down the curtain on play by the legislature of the assembly. It was approved by both assembly and senate, and went before Gov. Herbert H. Lehman for signature or veto.

"Nudism breaks down the morality of our people," democratic floor leader John F. Kilgrew told the assembly. "We can go way back to Adam and Eve, and even they wore a fig leaf."

The measure found an opponent in Assemblyman Oswald D. Heck, Schenectady republican, who coupled his attack with a criticism of former Governor Smith.

"If these people want to gambol in the woods, let them. As long as they don't come out in the open why should we bother them?" he said.

Of Smith he said: "Here is a man who has been parading up and down for years stressing the utility of legislating morals into people, and now he comes along as the guiding spirit and impetus behind this bill."

The bill provides that persons of opposite sex appearing in the nude

WASHINGTON, April 16. (AP)—The interior department's division of investigation, headed by Louis Glavis, was ordered today by Secretary Ickes to end its activities in the East Texas oil field. Ickes said at a press conference that a new investigative force, the Federal Petroleum Supervisory agency, would aid in the regulating interstate shipments form the huge fields.

BATON ROUGE, La., April 16. (AP)—Informed of threat of Secretary Ickes to cancel all Louisiana public works loans if the state took over control of the loan expenditures, Senator Huey P. Long said the secretary could "step damn to hell."

"The whole damn outfit of them can go hell!" said Long vehemently, referring to Ickes and other cabinet members whom he exorciated.

FARM GUARDS ACCUSED OF BRUTALITY TO BE QUESTIONED

RETRIVE PRISON FARM

ANGELTON, April 16. (AP)—Self-maimed convicts in this South Texas prison farm today were given an opportunity to testify in support of their claims of brutal treatment by guards as a special legislative committee continued its inquiry into the matter.

The committee, composed of members of the house of representatives, started its investigation yesterday of charges that the convicts maimed themselves because of brutality of guards.

Members of the committee said that as soon as a representative number of convicts were questioned, guards named in allegations would be called before the group.

Some of the convicts claimed they were treated so harshly in the fields that they intentionally maimed themselves so they could spend a while in the hospital.

Many cut fingers in their legs or clipped off their fingers or feet, and there have been a few instances of convicts severing legs above the ankle.

Five of the convicts had maimed themselves so badly they were unable to appear before the investigators and the committee went to the hospital to talk with them.

Seven others, most of them on crutches, hobbled into the house in which the committee held its closed sessions.

Prison officials agreed that the men had maimed themselves but said the convicts preferred the pain of self-infliction to the hardship of working in a field under a hot Texas sun.

Lee Simmons, prison system manager, said 19 convicts on this farm had maimed themselves the past two years. Self-maiming also is practiced at other farms, but to a lesser extent he said.

W. A. Paddeck, chairman of the Texas prison board, Simmons and Dr. W. B. Veazey, head physician for the prison system, remained near

Resolution Is Opposed By Several Nations at the League Council Session.

By JOSEPH E. SHARKEY

GENEVA, April 16. (AP)—France, Great Britain and Italy today submitted to the extraordinary council session of the League of Nations the draft of a resolution condemning "any unilateral repudiation of international obligations" such as Germany's repudiation of the armaments clauses of the Versailles treaty.

Pierre Laval, foreign minister of France, although faced with opposition to the resolution by several nations, notably Poland and Denmark, received the strong support of the speaker for both Great Britain and Italy when he presented it to the council.

The first reaction by German observers here was that the resolution was too strong and would hinder Germany's participation in the collective peace arrangements called for by the document.

League authorities said the action which may be taken on the resolution is likely to affect the future of the League of Nations and of Europe itself.

The resolution declared: "Germany has failed in the duty which lies upon all members of the international community to respect undertakings which they have contracted."

The resolution further states that Germany, by the promulgation of its military law of March 16 (conscripted), introduced "a new disturbing element into the international situation" which "must necessarily appear to be a threat to European security."

At the same time, the resolution offers a way out from the present situation, inviting the governments concerned with the Franco-British security plan of February 3 to cooperate for the construction "within the framework of the League of Nations" of a plan for the maintenance of peace. It was recalled that Germany was invited to join in the Franco-British plan.

Twinkles

Well, Sunday's duster will serve quite well as the "worst" until a better one comes along.

We regret we didn't see it approaching. Did any of you readers get a striking picture of it?

On nights like that, we're not much better than the so-called "lower animals" who have to scratch out a place in the ground in which to retire. . . . But we probably feel better about it after it is all over.

We hear that Pampa housewives are threatening to pack away all their curtains and linens until the rains reduce the possibility of dust storms.

But we, not having to do much cleaning up after them are learning to get along with the dusters. Interesting aren't they? (1) (2)

Musing of the moment: Dust is bad. Marauding Indians would be worse. Dust is bad. A flood would be worse. Dust is bad. A destructive tornado would be worse. Dust is bad. To live away from our oil resources would be worse. Dust is bad. An annihilating fire would be worse. Dust is bad. A war would be worse. Dust is bad. A local epidemic would be worse. Dust is bad. But the worst duster falls far short of being as bad as many other things which can befall a territory. We've got to do a bit of pioneering in rebuilding the soil of the southwest.

Brevitorials

MORE THAN two hundred persons yesterday asked THE NEWS if another duster was on the way. One is tempted, under such circumstances, to do a bit of guessing with the law of averages behind the guess—and answer in the affirmative. But reliable sources indicated, up to mid-afternoon when the paper went to press, that the only dusters in sight would miss this territory. Radio and other reports excited many persons. Some children were taken from schools in this territory. No approaching blizzard ever attracted more attention.

SUNDAY NIGHT'S phenomenal exhibition was awe-inspiring. Many folks went to storm cellars. A few admittedly stayed. Birds and rabbits fled before the wall of billowing dust. The sun was cut off as by an eclipse. Few were the persons who had seen the dust thicker.

If some Boy Scout had blown his bugle, not a few folks would have started confessing their sins and locking for Gabriel. . . . Hysterics developed. But it was only another manifestation of what we've

THE STORY OF EASTER

After the Last Supper, Jesus and his disciples went to the Garden of Gethsemane, near the Mount of Olives. Entering, He bade His disciples wait, taking Peter, James, and John with Him. A little distance away, He asked the three to stop and watch, while He went aside to pray. Three times He prayed agonized, beseeching the Father, "If it is possible, let this chalice pass from Me; nevertheless, not as I will, but as Thou wilt." Each time He returned to Peter, James, and John, to find them asleep. Awakening them, finally, He said:

"Arise, let us go; he that shall betray Me is at hand." A multitude came into the garden. At their head walked Judas Iscariot, who came to Jesus, said, "Hail, Rabbi," and kissed Him. Jesus asked the throng whom they sought. "Jesus of Nazareth," they replied. "I am He," was the simple answer. The people, overcome with fear, fell to the ground, but the soldiers advanced and seized Him. Peter tried to defend Jesus, but our Lord bade him desist.

THAT STATE PIPELINE PROJECT

Panhandle gas land, royalty, and lease owners who have no market, at least no permanent market, for their fuel have in many instances looked with hope toward the proposal to build a state owned pipe-line to Detroit, St. Louis, and intermediate points.

This hope is based on the assumption that the pipeline would provide a rather permanent market, as such markets go, at a fair price. It is hoped that the state may pay a price that will stabilize the gas market or at least set a precedent for it. Hope alone, however, is not sufficient. The project needs closer examination. Would the line take enough gas to satisfy a majority of the gas land owners? Would the state pay a satisfactory price for leases it does not intend to develop for one or two decades? Would the state take over leases and hold them even though a better market should appear? What would be the status of ratable taking if the capacity of the line failed—as it would—to meet the market demand, and would the lease owners be satisfied with their small income under ratable taking?

These are some of the questions which arise. The Dallas NEWS adds some others, which we reprint for the interest in them:

"Since the federal government is to supply $8,000,000 as an outright gift and $42,000,000 as a loan for construction of pipe line from the Panhandle gas fields to St. Louis and Detroit, whereas Texas is to supply nothing but the managerial ability, this state takes no chance of losing money on the deal. This is on the assumption, of course, that the federal government draws down its funds from heaven and that federal taxpayers in Texas or anywhere else will not be called on to pay for the project, if it is a failure. Or possibly it would be kinder to say that it is on the assumption that the project can not fail. It may succeed if the right kind of men are put in charge of the enterprise.

"Although Texas is to assume no financial responsibility, not much else can be said for what Texas will get out of the project. As a gas conservation measure, attention is called to the fact that gas burned in St. Louis and Detroit is as effectively lost to the future gas consumers of Texas as is gas blown into the air. This sounds like a selfish argument, yet it is a fact that the whole project is one of taking a federal gift of $8,000,000 and loan of $42,000,000 for transporting Texas gas to northern cities. Texas has its gas fields and the north has its coal fields. In the past the government has never subsidized transportation of fuel from the north to Texas.

"Advocates of the project say a good deal about the amount of labor to be employed in laying the pipe line and operating the steel mills to manufacture the pipe. The first thing that may be said about this is that nearly all of this labor will be outside Texas. The second thing is that the laying of a big pipe line to St. Louis and Detroit will throw more coal miners and railroad employees out of work than it will give employment to ditchdiggers and steel mill workmen.

"It looks as if Texas is going to undertake the pipe line project. Before doing so, it will be well to remember that the state went into the iron business once and could not make a success of it even with free prison labor. Of course, the federal government did not put up the money for the state iron industry."

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—According to various popular magazine writers, Roosevelt has fired the "Brain Trust," spurned the left-wingers, turned completely to the right, and surrounded himself with a new ring of conservative advisers.

I suppose that explains why the major New Deal casualties of the last year happen to have been Budget Director Lew Douglas and NRA Administrator Hugh Johnson, two of the best friends conservative financiers and industrialists have had in Washington since Mr. Hoover left.

I suppose that's why Roosevelt, faced with his most crucial program in the $4,000,000,000 work-relief operation, has chosen as his "brain trust" to direct it the three outstanding New Dealers who still stick their necks out as liberals—Mr. Hopkins, Mr. Tugwell, and Mr. Ickes.

And I suppose that's why Roosevelt had Tom Corcoran and Ben Cohen, two original brain trusters and leading young Brandeis - Frankfurter disciples, prepare and fight for the Wheeler-Rayburn holding company bill, which has called forth the "power trusts" most furious propaganda effort of all time.

Enough of that. What I mean is that the situation as to Roosevelt's advisers is much more complicated than most commentators would have you believe.

Despite those important incidents, the ear of Roosevelt has lately been lent most of the time to cautious conservatives, who warn him against the alleged dangers of radical reform.

A certain ring of fellows is coming to be known as the "palace gang" and the more Roosevelt seems to listen to them, the less he seems to take counsel from such liberals as Tugwell, Ickes, Hopkins, Frankfurter, and the progressive senators. The "Palace gang" includes:

Donald Richberg, who has become increasingly unpopular with labor and the liberals since he started trying to make the New Deal the darling of "big business."

Secretary Henry Morgenthau, who now stands in at the White House better than any other cabinet member, who takes his troubles in all their detail to the president—in contrast to independent Ickes, who runs his show—and who has become increasingly powerful through the no-longer independent budget bureau.

Postmaster-General Jim Farley, the administration's political boss.

White House Secretary Marvin McIntyre, commonly considered a pipe-line to Roosevelt for the big-time lobbyists here, and the doorman for "big business."

Raymond Moley, original Number One Brain Trustee, who comes here frequently, loaded with advice from the business-financial crowd in New York.

Harry Hopkins is the favorite White House liberal at his writing. That's because Harry has been playing politics more than the others.

The liberals are distinctly worked up and discouraged, for the most part, at Roosevelt's disposition to listen to conservative advice in most matters. They express dark fears that he will go the way of President William Howard Taft.

Dusting The Covers Of Texas History

For THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF 1936

Texas was not without its internal troubles during this period of preparation. Mexicans on the border and Indians in the interior were a constant source of danger. Trade at Corpus Christi with the Mexicans had almost been broken up because "the Mexican government regards all trade between the citizens and those of Texas as contraband and has determined to suppress it," the editor of the Telegraph said.

Naturally, everything was done to prevent actual trouble with Mexico. To give encouragement, the editor continued: "The banner of the Lone Star will not move backward. The gallant youths of Texas who have so often rallied around it will again gather in solid phalanx to defend it. The march is on westward and the star of empire moves westward in their van. We desire peace; we are willing to make any honorable sacrifice to secure it, but if peace is to be purchased by surrendering to Mexico rights that Texans hold most dear, we would spurn it with abhorrence and indignation."

Mexico was opposed to annexation. No doubt they had visions of Texas becoming once more a part of their own union. England, as heretofore noted, was opposed to annexation. France was opposed to annexation. France was opposed to Aberdeen, (of England) suggest that they join England as anti-annexationists. Lord Aberdeen urged Mexico to recognize the independence of Texas, and by doing so remove one of the chief motives of Texas for annexation. Then, he wanted France to join England in guaranteeing independence, and the boundaries of Mexico.

Meanwhile, the election campaigns indicated that if England interfered, immediate annexation would result, and England and Mexico would lose the things they had sought. When the joint resolutions passed the senate, as a final effort to prevent actual annexation, Capt. Charles Eliot, British representative, and Count de Saligny, French charge, urged President Jones of the republic not to accept for ninety days. Dr. Anson Jones' promise obtained, Capt. Eliot went at once to Mexico, and returned with a written agreement that Mexico would recognize Texas' independence, provided it would pledge itself to remain independent.

In the hundred years since Texas' independence, the Lone Star has not moved backward, and the star of empire has moved westward. The Mexicans are our friends, and we have joined hands with all the

Jury Fails to Agree in Trial Of Amarilloan

AMARILLO, April 16. (AP)—The five-week trial of George S. Hamlin, former Oakland, Calif., fireman, on charges of slaying his wife ended in a mistrial.

The jury was ordered dismissed last night after it had failed to agree on a verdict.

Members of the jury said that more than 40 ballots were taken during the two days and three nights of deliberation without a change in the standing of the vote. Prosecutors charged that Hamlin returned to his Amarillo home after a trip, waited until his wife came into the house and then beat her to death with a hammer. She was found slain Jan. 4.

He was arrested five days later when he returned from a trip to California, where he allegedly had gone by plane after the slaying. Hamlin pleaded insanity.

PAMPA CHAPTER INSTALLS BORGER NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY FRIDAY

Supper Served Local Delegation Before Program

The Pampa chapter of the National Honor Society installed the Borger organization at Borger Friday in the high school auditorium. To be asked to install a new chapter was considered quite an honor by the Pampa students.

Before the program that evening the Pampa delegation was given a supper, which was served by the home economics department in the school dining room.

The initiation was the same as that put on at the local court house last Tuesday. Students taking part in the program were: Robert Talley, Judge; Jim Bob Johnson, attorney for the defense; Otto Rice, prosecuting attorney; Jessie Marie Gilbert, assistant prosecuting attorney; Helen Marie Jones, scholarship witness; Harriet Hunkapillar, leadership witness; Ella Faye O'Keefe, service witness; Elsie Johnson, character witness; Frank McLaughlin, court clerk; Albert Austin, court reporter; and Blanche McMillen, bailiff.

Walker, president of board of education; Mrs. Madeline Criddle, sponsor of the National Honor society; C. R. Stahl, business representative; Dr. L. M. Draper, professional representative; and Mrs. J. C. Johnston, home representative.

Betty Jo Townsend and Goldie Blodgett will debate, Ella Faye O'Keefe and J. G. McConnell will represent the school in senior declamation, and Georgia May Rogers will enter extemporaneous speaking.

The one-act play cast, composed of Paul Schneider, Harriet Ann Robb, Elizabeth Graham, and Mary Adams will play against three other casts.

Helen Marie Jones, Velda Richards, Valen Phillips, and Flora Deen Finley will compete with typing teams from other schools, and Sarah De Woody will enter the shorthand contest.

Buck Talley and John Austin will play in the golf matches.

The following members of the track and field squad qualified in the district meet to go to regional: Raymond Elkins, Bill Hauser, Bill Dunaway, Buck Hayes, Fred Hartman, J. R. Green, and Albert Ayers.

About 175 musicians from five states took part in the festival. After three days of rehearsing the 75 piece orchestra and the 80 piece band, the entire conference visited the Carlsbad cavern, Joseph Madley, head of school bands, led the musicians when they played in the "Big Room."

Others from Pampa who attended the event were Ann Sweetman, piano; Junior McCreath, drum; Roy Wallerstein, director; and Mrs. George Cree.

NOTABLE NOTHINGS OF P. H. S.

By the Nimbly Nil-Nits
Snooper thinks it's swell because there are only six more weeks of school—five weeks for the seniors.

Elsworth Jones woke up Monday a. m. after the storm and felt something in his throat. He coughed and out ran three ground squirrels.

Snooper thinks Mayse Nash has a prodigious appetite.

Albert Austin doesn't like the ladies much; however he was forced to ride to Borger with a car full of girls last Friday.

While looking through a paper from Portugal, members of the journalism class saw a picture of two boys who looked like Mayse Nash and "Boss" Hartman.

Irill Brazell has received two letters from different colleges addressed to "Miss" Irill Brazell. Are you going to be a home eco. teacher Irill? Marion McClain has also received letters addressed to "Mr." Marion McClain.

Mr. Anderson confesses he likes to stand out on the front porch and watch the moon.

Snooper has decided to write an essay on the "beautiful" dusters the Panhandle is "enjoying."

Snooper hears that Mickey Ledrick and Arabella had an exciting adventure yesterday.

The other night at church, Thelma Faye Seeds suddenly became conscious that she was singing "Hallelujah, I'm a bum" when the rest of the people were singing "Hallelujah Thine the Glory." And was her face red.

Ed Myatt: Could I borrow your overcoat tonight, old pal?

Harold McMurray: Sure, if you'll return it to Wayne and then see that he returns it to Melvin.

Mr. Dennard, in history class: Can anyone name the first aeronautical journal?

Charles Fagan: Yes, fly paper.

Mr. Osborne: Can any of you tell me what thought passed through Sir Isaac Newton's head when the apple fell on it?

Jess Casey: Glad it wasn't a brick.

Irene Foshee: Ankles?

Clerk: Yes, what number do you wear?

Irene: Why two, of course, what do you think I am, a centipede?

Pauline Noel: Oneta, I know how to describe those fellows.

Oneta: How?

Pauline: They look like two classified ads.

Ask Jessie Marie Gilbert who the nice looking gentleman was she had the pleasure of dining with at Borger.

While Ella Faye was making a speech she began to laugh, and Miss Schulkey said, "Well, look at me and you won't laugh."

Cleo Benton wishes some kind person would tell her the difference between being witty and being clever.

Blanche McMillen evidently does not believe in sailing under false colors—she told a Borger boy that he was mistaken—she wasn't good-looking.

Snooper observed that the conservative National Honor society member had a fine time in Borger Friday, especially on "Thrillhill."

Lucille Bell, whose car was stuck in the sand some distance from town when the dust clouds appeared on the horizon Sunday became frightened and exclaimed, "Everybody get out and push; the world's coming to an end."

Snooper really feels sorry for all the would-be white shoes these days.

Eight Teams Enter Baseball Tourney

At Sam Houston school's three baseball diamonds today Harry Kelley will begin the biggest softball tournament ever scheduled in Pampa high school.

Eight teams will enter the meet. Those with entries are the Hi-Y club, junior high school, Pee Wees, two agriculture teams, and three gym classes.

There will be 28 games in all. Three games will be played each day, except during the first and last day, when only two are scheduled. The tournament will be on a round robin basis, with a three game play-off in case of a tie.

Presentation of 'Huckleberry Finn' April 29-30

Have you ever longed to go back down the road of memory lane and live through the happy days of your childhood again? The opportunity you have sighed for has finally arrived.

"Huckleberry Finn," Mark Twain's immortal story of boyhood, will be presented in play form by the junior class in the city hall auditorium, April 29-30.

Nobody who has ever read the fascinating tale of Huck Finn with his roguish, wistful appeal will want to miss this play. All of Huck's boyish pranks as well as his struggle to aid his Aunt Polly and Aunt Ruth will be portrayed.

You'll howl at Aunt Polly, who is "so nervous!" You'll thrill when you see Huck fighting for his ideals. You'll double up with mirth when you see handsome young Fred Raymond trying to please to Aunt Ruth.

Don't forget the date, April 29-30, and plan now to come.

The Miller

Many of us have evidently come to believe that it is perfectly all right to do anything that is wrong unless someone gets after us about it.

Of course we know it is wrong to whisper, wise-crack, and cut up in the school assemblies, and we know it all the time. But why couldn't we quit it without having to be reprimanded about it?

If we are smart, we'll stop making noise in assemblies now, and if we are not smart we had better stop it anyhow.

However, we should have quit it before Mr. Sone and Mr. Fisher told us to. Then we would have shown our own resources. Now when we stop, it'll be because we had to.

TIMELY, ANYHOW

PHILADELPHIA—Miss Margaret K. Loos thought she received an Easter card early. Then she discovered it was postmarked March 25, 1910, and had been mailed by a playmate, Dorothy Smith, who is now Mrs. Robert Miller, mother of two children.

The physiology class visited the Gray County creamery Friday?

Winnie Sparks, senior, who planned to graduate, has withdrawn from school to return to her home at Spur on account of illness?

PARENT-SENIOR MEETING CALLED FOR TOMORROW

Plans For Carlsbad Trip Will Be Discussed

A meeting of seniors and their parents has been called by L. L. Sone for tomorrow morning in the gymnasium immediately following assembly for the purpose of discussing the Carlsbad trip.

Parents of all seniors planning to make the trip are urged to be present, and particularly those who expect to take cars. Questionnaires regarding car arrangements will be filled out at this time.

Mimeographed copies of all regulations concerning the trip will be placed in the hands of students and parents.

Each student is expected to have put $5.05 in the trip fund by April 26. This will cover transportation, two nights lodging, and entrance to the cavern. The students individually will be expected to take care of all other expenses.

The trip is scheduled for May 3-5 and will be under the direction of Mr. Sone and the class sponsors. Argus Fox is handling the financial side of the trip, including arrangements for lodging, entrance to the cavern, etc. Mrs. Frances Alexander is in charge of transportation arrangements, and those wishing to take cars must see her.

E. N. Dennard would like to talk with those students not planning to make the trip. The excursion to Carlsbad is an annual senior class affair, and it is the hope of the sponsors that as many members of the class as possible make the trip.

AAA Battles For Life; Wallace Is Widely Assailed

Secretary Is Relying Upon Farmers For Assistance

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace, philosophizing secretary of agriculture, found himself today in the very thick of a raging controversy involving the whole future of vital parts of the administration's farm policies.

Facing organized defiance by cotton manufacturers in the north, new drought dangers in the west, a bitter attack by Governor Talmadge in the south and congressional dissatisfaction with his AAA amendments, Wallace was in the midst of the battle of his life.

The AAA, fighting back, gave indications of counting heavily on the support of farmers to prevent its policies from being altered beyond recognition. Chester C. Davis, farm administrator and one of Wallace's right hand men, declared he expected farmers to come to AAA's support.

Though without referring specifically to any critics, Davis said that "since the farm program is a developing thing, probably it would be the healthiest move to bring this whole fight into the open right now."

In the long run, he said, farmers will "write their own ticket and while they are not well organized as the lobby of processors and distributors fighting the AAA amendments and the processing taxes their voice is going to be heard."

Meeting in Boston yesterday, northern cotton manufacturers panned "legal action" against the processing tax—which is levied on manufacture to get money to pay cotton planters for curbing production. "The manufacturers maintain the resultant higher prices are ruinous to the industry."

The same meeting of the policy committee of the National Cotton Manufacturers' association assailed Wallace for "inciting the farmers of the south and west to combine against an industry."

Apparently striking back at attacks on the processing tax, the AAA cited figures today to support the argument that the agriculture adjustment program is restoring the farm market for individual goods. Davis said in a statement that way-bills of four southern railroads showed that shipments of industrial commodities, exclusive of coal, from 36 industrial states of the northeast and midwest to 10 southeastern agricultural states increased from 2,104,885.21 pounds in the year preceding the recovery program to 2,920,857,439 in the year immediately after its adoption. At the same time, the statement continued, the cash income of farmers in the southeastern states increased 59.9 per cent.

After Wallace reiterated that the cotton textile industry was in difficulties in past times when there was no processing tax, and that removal of the tax would not benefit the mills materially, Governor Talmadge of North Carolina attacked the tax in particular and federal spending in general.

"That braintruster crowd in Washington . . . called us radicals," he said in a speech at Murphy, S. C., "and the last spasm we had was the spectacle Saturday night of Secretary Wallace speaking to farmers at Wesley Memorial church in Atlanta where the only farmers that ever go are those that have offices in big buildings."

"He said that anybody that criticized them for killing hogs and plowing up cotton were radicals. We people in the south know you can't borrow yourself out of debt, make water run up hill and drink yourself sober. But let the picnic run on, let the follies up there go on. We are coming out of this despair. We have to get back to fundamentals, get back to the country church and brick school houses."

Interior Decorating SCOTTS BLUFF, Neb.—Dr. J. P. Wyrens, a physician, became a veterinarian in a hurry when his wife returned home and found her pet Angora cat gasping. Using an X-ray machine, surgical instruments and chloroform, Dr. Wyrens removed a threaded needle from the cat's throat.

PLAY WILL BE PRESENTED IN REVIVAL HOUR

First Words in the Bible Are Text For Sermon

"At the Parting of the Ways," a religious drama, will be presented tonight as part of the evangelistic meeting at First Christian church.

Evangelist J. B. Holmes will preach on the subject, "The Sinless One." It is a presentation of Jesus Christ as Savior.

A good crowd heard Evangelist Holmes discuss last night "In the Beginning, God." He stated that the first four words of the Bible were his subject and text.

"Some people declare that there is no God. When they do so they imply that they know everything," continued the evangelist.

"Some declare that God could not punish people if he loved them, a man who does not care about God, who does not try to do the things pleasing in his sight, it would be a hell to him. God just warns us of the terrible consequences of our own misdeeds."

Tri-City Union Of Young People Will Meet Here

PAGEANT GIVEN TO INTRODUCE SERMON TOPIC

Week of Pre-Easter Service Opens Yesterday

A pre-Easter revival opened at McCullough Memorial Methodist church yesterday. Rev. Lance Webb, pastor, preached on "His Gethsemane and Yours."

What does it all mean? This anguish, this desperate praying, Christ was a dreamer testing the reality of his dreams.

Mr. Webb concluded with a challenge to every Christian of what ever creed or faith to "enter his garden, wherein his self is slain reed, to be nailed to the cross."

The room was in semi-darkness during the entire time. Only the lights on the cross burned, making a very impressive service.

The Easter pageant tonight is "Christ Before Pilate," the sermon, "The Forgiving Christ," beginning a series of sermons on "The Seven Last Words of Jesus."

BAPTISM WILL BE SUBJECT IN REVIVAL TODAY

Second Week Starts For Baptist Revival

"The Second Coming of Christ" was the subject of Rev. H. R. Whately last night at First Baptist church, continuing revival services begun last week.

"The Bible says six things about the second coming of Christ," according to Rev. Whately. "First, He is coming—the Bible leaves no doubt as to that. Second, His coming will be personal 'This same Jesus... shall so come in like manner as you have seen him go into heaven.' Acts 1:11. He is coming suddenly. Fourth, it will be a visible coming, and there will at that time be a resurrection of both righteous and wicked and all face God at the throne of judgment. Fifth, it is going to be glorious, and sixth, it will be the end of the world."

There were six additions to the church last night.

"The Relation of Salvation to Baptism" will be the subject for the evening service tonight. Such scriptures as Acts 2:8; 22:16, and Mark 16:16 will be explained.

To Housewives and Citizens of Pampa

THIS IS A WARNING
To beware of strangers posing as solicitors, salesmen or inspectors. Strangers seeking admittance to premises as salesmen, solicitors or inspectors should not be admitted until their credentials have been checked up and verified thru dependable local persons or local institutions.

IN MANY CASES
Strangers without reliable credentials are "spotters" for professional criminals and according to police records, lack of caution on the part of the householders in admitting such strangers oftentimes results in costly property losses and bitter experiences.

If You Are Suspicious, Phone
The Police at Once
No. 555

Do Not Pay Cash in Advance
To strangers on any merchandise. In many cases and from experiences reported to police department the customer has never received anything for the cash advanced. Nor has any refund been made of the initial cash deposit.

Do Not Cash Checks
For Strangers
Or issue a check as down payment on an order to a stranger—as in a number of cases these checks have been altered and later cashed by a third and innocent party.

It's Better To Be Safe
Than Sorry!
Be sure you know who the stranger is at your door before granting admittance to your home.

High Pressure
Free gift artists have been working the residence district of Pampa of late selling all kinds of merchandise, offering "something free" as a means to get into the home. In most cases there is nothing free to be given away.

One Need Not Be Afraid
Of offending the honest solicitors, salesmen or inspectors living here or representing local firms. They have their credentials with them and welcome such investigation—that is why they are required to carry credentials. Protect yourself. ASK FOR CREDENTIALS SHOWING THEIR IDENTITY.

HOW MANY TIMES do you answer the summons of your door-bell during the day, only to find one of those persistent pests—"The Peddler" who insists selling you this, that or the other thing?

HOW MANY TIMES upon answering the bell have you had some peddler hold open the door with his foot in order to force your attention or upon refusing to patronize him how often has he become impudent and abusive?

HOW MANY TIMES when baby was cross and after several weary hours you have been successful in inducing sleep, has he been awakened by the crash of the door-bell and the inevitable nuisance—THE PEDDLER?

HOW MANY TIMES have you answered the door, only to have a peddler present you with a card that entitled you to some trivial gift, explaining that she would be back to bother you again the next morning to give you the article? What did she sell you on her second call?

HOW MANY TIMES has it been necessary for you to walk one or more flights of stairs just to convince some peddler that you did not care to purchase her wares?

HOW MANY TIMES have you been called from the laundry on a busy wash-day only to have some high pressure artist launch into a long winded talk on the wonderful values HE has to offer?

LONG'S POWER IS INCREASED BY NEW BILLS

SOLDIERS' GUNS SPEED PASSAGE OF SCORE OF MEASURES

BY ED DESOBRY,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

BATON ROUGE, La., April 16 (AP)—Senator Huey P. Long's session of the legislature moved behind soldiers' guns today to speed passage of more than a score of measures designed to strengthen his power and cripple his enemies.

High-lighted in the calendar were proposed acts and resolutions to place in the hands of Long's administration the finances of all local governing agencies and give him control over expenditure of funds obtained by them from the federal government.

Also outstanding was a bill giving the administration power to name election commissioners and watchers.

Long's national guardsmen, enforcing martial law here since Jan. 25, shouldered riot guns and automatic rifles before the heavy bronze doors of the house and senate chambers in the $5,000,000 skyscraper state house.

The administrationists moved at the command of the senator and "steam-rollered" a strenuous minority in the opening of the session.

In a military gesture last night a national guard lieutenant was reported to have routed from the east Baton Rouge parish court-house nine elected members of the parish police jury.

One of the anti-Long jurors who said the meeting was only an "informal discussion."

Brigadier-General Louis F. Guerre, in command of the troops, denied the men were forced from the building.

Long, by recent legislation, provided for appointment of 13 jurors to give him control of parish affairs and the state supreme court ordered the nine elected jurors not to interfere with their conduct of the local government. Four elected members are allied with Long.

The house and senate met for almost two hours last night and the house received 28 bills, 26 of them administration measures, and several resolutions. The bills were promptly referred to the house ways and means committee for consideration at 10 a. m. (EST) today.

The house adjourned until tonight when it is expected to receive the bills and pass them to third reading for final passage tomorrow. The senate adjourned until tomorrow night when it is expected to receive the bills from the house and refer them to committee.

The present special session is the fifth Louisiana has witnessed in the past nine months in addition to the regular 60-day session last summer.

It was these rapid-fire sessions which passed laws—each time within five days, the constitutional minimum—which gave Long control of Louisiana. The present session is also scheduled to be concluded in five days with sine die adjournment by Friday.

Other proposed legislation included measures to:

Permit local governing agencies to seek readjustment of debts in federal court only upon sanction of the attorney-general and governor;

Place the finances of all local governing agencies under a state bond and tax board, created by the act.

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL SEASON OPENS WITH 200,000 PACKING STANDS

CARDS AND GIANTS CHOSEN TO LEAD NATIONAL--YANKEES AND CLEVELAND GET EXPERTS' NOD

35,000 WILL WITNESS HUBBELL-RUTH DUEL IN BOSTON; SCHOOLBOY ROWE TO HURL FOR DETROIT AGAINST WHITE SOX

BY HERBERT W. BARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP)—A long, hard winter grudgingly gave way to spring and the National League's 60th baseball season today.

Despite threats of cold weather, fully 125,000 fans, bundled up in heavy overcoats, were ready to offer a rousing welcome to the game which expects to make a decisive comeback, financially and artistically, this year.

Expert calculations point to a two-club pennant race between the world champion St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Giants, but managers of the other six outfits concede nothing in advance.

Wholesale player shifts during the winter, plus the customary "breaks" may leave the door wide open for a dark-horse to come home in front. The Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates, whose winter trade sent Guy Bush, Jim Weaver, and Babe Herman to Pittsburgh and Larry French and Freddie Lindstrom to Chicago, seem as dangerous rivals for the favorites.

Right under the gun the league offered a sure-fire box office natural at Boston, where Braves field was the setting for Babe Ruth's National league debut after 21 spectacular years in the rival major loop.

The renewal of Ruth's personal duel with Carl Hubbell, slender southpaw of the New York Giants, brought prospects of a crowd of 35,000. The home run master first encountered the magic in Hubbell's left arm in the all-star game last year and went down swinging at a third strike.

The other inaugurals—at Chicago between the Cubs and the Cardinals; at Cincinnati between the Reds and the Pirates; and at Philadelphia, between the Phillies and the Brooklyn Dodgers—offered features of their own.

The Cardinals, picking Jerome (Dizzy) Dean to pitch the opening game, make their bid for another pennant with virtually the same ensemble that nipped the Giants at the wire in 1934. Terry Moore, in the outfield, is the only newcomer.

The Cubs, with young Phil Carrelet replacing Manager Charles Grimm at first base, nominated Lon Warneke to oppose the Dizzy One in a right-handed pitching duel which 43,000 spectators planned to watch.

The Giants, fortified by Dick Bartell at shortstop and with young Hank Leiber in centerfield, faced the inaugural game at Boston more worried about Ed Brandt's left-handed slant than the power in Ruth's right bat.

Against the veteran Pirate array, featuring the Waner brothers, Charles Drennon of the Reds prepared to pile an untried combination in which Jim Bottomley was the only holdover.

Walter Hoge was Manager E. J. Traynor's pitching choice with Paul Derringer or Tony Freitas serving them up for the Reds.

Casey Stengel's Dodgers invaded Baker field in Philadelphia, which few new faces but a bag full of hopes based on a fine showing during this spring. The Phils, with Johnny Vergez and Blondy Ryan manning the left side of the infield and George Watkins and Blottoy Watkins in the outfield, called on Curt Davis, who won 19 games for a Cleveland place club last year, to oppose Van Lingle Mungo, Dodger fireball pitcher.

Bridge Marked By 3 Governors

LAREDO, April 16 (AP)—A permanent marker stands at the international bridge today as a symbol of good-will between Texas and Mexico.

The nations shook hands Sunday when Governor James B. Hogg crossed the international bridge into Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, to be greeted by Governors Pablo Quiroga of Nuevo Leon and Jesus Valdez of Coahuila.

Governor Alford and the Mexican officials were here for the dedication of a marker at the boundary monument on the international bridge and for the annual convention of the Pan-American round table.

The marker was dedicated to the women of the Americas by the round table.

Mrs. Fernando Torreblanca, wife of the undersecretary of foreign affairs in Mexico and daughter of Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, unveiled the marker.

MARBLE CAKE?

CINCINNATI—Harry Ferguson, veteran policeman, has run into many hard ones in his day, but a piece of cake finally stopped him. Ferguson was romping with his children when one of them threw the piece of cake. It hit the policeman in the eye and he had to be treated at a hospital. Ferguson is investigating the cake and its origin.

Louis K. Manley Named General Sales Manager of New Studebaker Corp'n

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 16 (AP)—Announcement of the appointment of Louis K. Manley as general sales manager of the new Studebaker Corporation was made here today by Paul G. Hoffman, president.

The appointment was made effective as of April 1. Mr. Manley has been manager of branches for Studebaker for the past four years. Prior to that he was dean of the School of Business Administration of the University of Pittsburgh.

In the latter capacity, Mr. Manley had been a Studebaker consultant many times. He had also represented Studebaker in Europe.

Without putting it in so many words, Cochrane apparently believes his club, in spite of what it was unable to accomplish against the St. Louis Cardinals last fall, can lead the pack home. He figures that his pitchers are capable of accounting for 100 victories, and lack of the prospect of the closest tussle the league has had in years, 100 victories should be ample.

The expert observers, however, figure that the Tigers will not get the breaks they had last year and that Cleveland, on the verge of Washington, is back at the Senators' helm, after stops at Detroit and Boston. In his place at Boston is Cronin, second of Griffith's prodigies, coaxed to the Red Sox by Tom Yawkey's big bankroll in one of baseball's biggest deals.

Back to the major league managers: Rogers Hornsby at St. Louis, and Jimmy Dykes at Chicago, have made no claims, other than that their teams are improved.

The opening battles, with configurations from the weather, figured to entice nearly 100,000 to the four parks.

At Detroit, where the fans apparently have recovered from what happened in their final visit to Navin field last fall, around 30,000 were expected. Lywood (Schoolboy) Rowe was named to start against the Chicago White Sox, whose hurling nominee was the 42-year-old youngster, Sad Sam Jones.

The Yankee stadium in New York was polished up to accommodate 35,000 customers, with Vernon Gomez, the league's leading hurler last year, working for the home forces, against Wesley Ferrell and the Boston Red Sox.

Cold weather or not, 25,000 fans were expected at Washington where President Roosevelt was to do the first pitch honors, and Earl Whitehill, Senator southpaw, was to oppose either Merrill Olson or Johnny Marcum of the Athletics. With unsettled, cold weather the prospect, St. Louis' inaugural with Cleveland, figured to entertain less than 10,000 spectators. Mel Harder, the Indians' star right-hander, was slated to oppose Buck Newsom.

BEAUMONT IS DEFEATED BY SANTONE NINE

FORT WORTH LOSES 10 TO 3 TO DALLAS STEERS

By The Associated Press.

Fert Worth and Beaumont had their Texas league winning streaks broken yesterday by the two teams that had not won a previous game.

Fert Worth, winner of six straight games from the Dallas Steers, were trampled over by the herd, 10 to 3, in the final of a 7-game series.

Abe Miller scattered 9 Beaumont hits to pitch the San Antonio Missions to a 4 to 3 win over the Mustangs, the first win for the Missions and the first loss for Beaumont.

Galveston, working behind the effective pitching of Jack Jakucki, whipped Houston, 9 to 4. Galveston scored five runs in the second with the aid of only two hits. An error by Mueller, Morehouse, and Thomas and two by Clarke figured in the scoring.

The Oklahoma City Indians continued their batting rampage to pound out 15 hits that defeated the Tulsa Oilers, 7 to 1.

Allison Entered In Pinehurst Meet

PINEHURST, N. C., April 16 (AP)—Competition grew sterner today in the north and south tennis tournament and two seeded stars arrived for delayed starts.

Wilmer Allison of Austin, Texas, seeded first, and Barney Welsh of Washington, national public parks champion who is ranked fourth, failed to arrive for the first round but both advanced, Allison by a default and Welsh by a bye.

Allison today faced H. S. Campbell of Chicago, while J. Gilbert Hall of Orange, N. J., seeded second, was paired against Ed Fuller of the University of North Carolina. Hal Surface of Kansas City, third ranked, was opposed by Hal Jones of the Elon college team.

Welsh and Marcel Rainville and Laird Watt, Canadian stars, opposed University of North Carolina performers.

Novel Advertising Stunt

One of the most unusual and dramatic ways ever conceived to exploit the use of newspaper advertising has been adopted by the Continental Oil company. A novel contest has been inaugurated whereby during the coming spring months cars and trucks will be seen on the streets and highways of some forty states, plastered in hodge-podge compelling fashion with reprint of Continental's newspaper advertisements.

In addition to the circulation of ten million that Continental Oil company gets for its advertising by using 1,833 daily and weekly newspapers, Continental's advertisements

BARNEY ROSS WOULD BATTLE McLARNIN FOR WELTER TITLE

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP)—The lightweight division lacked a champion today, but Barney Ross, fighting from the throne after one successful title defense, may be back later to amply the 138-pounders.

Under suspension here for failing to meet Lou Ambers of Herkimer, N. Y., Ross informed the state athletic commission he was relinquishing the title because he no longer could make the weight without weakening himself.

Then he announced he would meet Jimmy McLarnin for the welterweight championship here for Mike Jacobs' 20th Century club, probably on May 28.

It was there that boxing observers began to ponder. They figured that a third meeting between Ross and McLarnin, in view of their two close battles last year, would draw at least $250,000. They figured that Ross perhaps preferred to take the McLarnin bout first without risking loss of prestige in an encounter with Ambers, the No. 1 challenger.

They figured also that should Ross regain the welterweight title, or even make a good showing against McLarnin, he would be in a splendid spot to return to the lightweight class in time to challenge the new champion, posting a forfeit as a guarantee that he could make the class limit of 135 pounds.

In any case, they pointed to the fact that Ross made 134½ pounds for his successful junior welterweight title defense against Henry Woods in Seattle last week. The weight limit for the synthetic junior welterweight class is 140 pounds.

Just what will be done about the vacant lightweight title remains to be seen.

Brig. Gen. John J. Phelan, chairman of the state Athletic commission, indicated the sojourn might be made at least $250,000. They figured that Ross perhaps preferred to take the McLarnin bout first without risking loss of prestige in an

GREAT RICHES

Chapter 15 MOON GODDESS

The cotton led to much planning and plotting and contriving of inexpensive but original favors between the two leaders.

James found himself evening after evening, when he wanted to go with Leslie, on his way to the Northrup in answer to a prearranged telephone call to discuss some vital matter concerning the dance.

James appreciated that Jane was giving a lot of time and attention to helping his aunt and naturally he was grateful and had to be decent about it. Jane excelled in this sort of thing and gradually fired James with her own enthusiasm and ambition to make this the most successful party ever given in New Concord.

James tried to explain all about it to Leslie and why he went so often to the Northrup. But she only found Leslie incredibly difficult. She apparently was not at all interested in his movements or the whys and wherefores of his not coming to see her.

Indeed she had been so busy it seemed she hadn't even noticed his coming and goings. James, agitated at the callousness of woman, was so unhappy he wanted to die.

It was a very beautiful party, danced on the Stinson lawn to the soft music of violins and mandolins everywhere trying to out- rival the first summer moon. Jane was the midsummer moon. She had a new dress, a filmy thing of white and silver, with a circle of brilliant diamonds around her hair.

"You look like a moon goddess," James said to her as he greeted her on the porticoed front veranda, "like Diana herself."

"And you as the perfect host have played Juliet and provided me with my chariot." Jane laughed waving toward the moon.

"See how clear the lady is tonight. I am certain she is pleased with our party. Look, she is telling us we must search out a moonbeam and dance up and up. Will you go with me? Will you help me search?"

"To the ends of the world," James answered gallantly. And turned and saw Leslie Harris framed in the spacious doorway, the ubiquitous Sam Fletcher just behind her carrying her wrap.

Leslie was in flesh-colored organdy ruffled from waist to hem. How sweet she looked; as sweet as a tea rose, as sweet as his grandmother. But damn it, he wished she would smile up at Sam in just that particular way. . . . with that smile he had thought she kept for him alone.

"I hope we are not interrupting," said Leslie coming forward. "I'm afraid I myself tonight, Jane dear, James is right; you do look a moon goddess. The party can't help but be wonderful with Diana and," she paused and gave a throaty chuckle, "and Jupiter in command. Come one, Sam. Let's go and explore. Perhaps if we're lucky we'll find a moonbeam ourselves."

She caught Sam's hand and ran with him down the steps out into the scented moon-drenched garden, her laughter floating behind her. Jane slipped her arm through James'.

"I'm afraid," she said lightly, "that Leslie is making fun of us. I'm afraid I was a little sentimental about the moon. But it's a night for sentiment, isn't it? If you can't find your moonbeam, let's go and find your Aunt Sarah. As a matter of fact, she sent me out here to bring you back."

"Oh, Leslie didn't mean anything like that," she said. "Well, perhaps not. Leslie's head is probably turned. It will be a step up for her, a big step, if she marries Sam."

There was a call then for James from his aunt. The guests were arriving and he must go inside and greet them. He was grateful he did not have to answer Jane. A step up for Leslie! That must be as she had no right to smile at him as if she

'OLD TIMERS' TO PLAY ROAD RUNNERS NEXT

Major league baseball players of years gone by will appear in Pampa Sunday afternoon against the Pampa Road Runners. The Old Timers, as the team is called, have been in training in California and are now playing east.

The Road Runners got off to an impressive start last Sunday when they trounced the fast-stepping Pampa City Angels 7 to 2. Although the Pampa players failed to show anticipated power at bat, they demonstrated that they are good defensively and have great pitching. The stick work is expected to develop soon.

Road Runner officials have not received the Old Timers lineup, but have been unofficially notified that such great stars as Bob Meusel, Ruie Benton, Wally Schang, Jimmy Collins, and others will be numbered among those present. Jess Orendorf will have charge of the team.

Manager Grover Setz plans to work his line at full speed this week, especially the pitchers. Bunting will also come in for much attention, the players getting plenty of opportunity to look over curve balls.

No advance in admission will be made for the big game. The regular price of 40 cents for men and 25 cents for women will be made.

Season reserve seat tickets will be placed on sale tomorrow morning at Pampa Drug No. 1. The seats, with comfortable backs and plenty of leg room, will be $2.50 for the season. The seats are located in the center of the grandstand.

river view was living up to expectations in the moonlight.

But luck was against James that night. Hardly had they reached the edge of the shadows, when James heard his name called.

"Your aunt wants you," said Leslie.

"Oh no, she's calling Tom," lied James shamelessly.

"She distinctly heard her say James."

"That's because you wanted to hear it. And even if you did it's nothing more important than to dance with some wall flower or say goodnight to some dowager."

"But I tell you right now I am not going to let you out of my sight until you tell me why you have treated me these last two weeks as if I were some nasty little bug trying to crawl down your neck."

"Silly! I never . . ."

"Sssssss! Someone's coming this way."

Hastily James pulled Leslie into the darkest shadow and stood in front of her to shield her light dress. As he did so his heart gave a great glad leap—the first in days telling him how distinguished he looked . . . not handsome exactly but distinguished. She assured him that he was an aristocrat to his fingertips; no one could mistake it.

James, naturally enough, was diverted for the moment from thoughts of suicide on the Harris front porch lawn. Nevertheless, even while he glowed and purred under James' flattery, he never forgot for a moment that he meant to have it out with Leslie this very evening.

It was late and supper long over before James' opportunity came and Leslie was finally persuaded to a dance and stroll with him to the edge of the spacious lawn to investigate whether the far corner

Track-Field And Grid Practice Is Resumed At Park

Harvester field was the scene of great activity yesterday afternoon as Coach Odus Mitchell resumed preparation of his track and field men for competition in the regional track and field meet at Canyon Saturday, and Assistant Coach Harry Phillips started the football prospects on the last leg of the spring training period.

The Harvester track and field team took advantage of the good weather to work long and hard. The team won the 15,000 added Texas derby. It promises to develop into the most colorful day in history of the Texas Jockey club. Arlington Downs officials expect 25,000 persons Saturday when such thoroughbreds as Fur-fiber, Whizway, Whizkolo, Roman Soldier, Hasty Glance, Dark Woman, and others parade to the post.

International atmosphere will be furnished by visiting Mexican pollsters, including General Avila Camacho, secretary of war for the Republic of Mexico, and General Jesus Quinones, prominent Mexico City sportsman. The Texas derby will precede the start of the international polo matches Sunday between the Mexican army team and the hard riding El Rancharito aggregation. A parade of the visitors' polo ponies will be held between the second and third races Saturday.

A pre-race favorite was eliminated yesterday on advice that Col. E. R. Bradley's gallant Black Helen, recent Florida derby winner and considered one of the leading 3-year-olds of the year, would not fill a Texas derby engagement. Texas Jockey club officials were advised that Black Helen is being reserved for fifty stakes later in the year.

Four days before the running of the rich classic finds 16 eligible training for the one and one-eighth mile race. Although several of the now probable field are sure to be eliminated before Saturday's renewal, 12 or more thoroughbreds will definitely compete for the richest stake ever offered in the Lone Star state.

With the exception of Irish and sweet potatoes, food crops grown in North Carolina last year were not sufficient to supply the state's population.

Fred Perry off For England to Patch Romance

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., April 16. (AP)—Luring behind offers of a movie contract, Fred Perry, international tennis star, today was en route to New York and a boat for his native England to resume net play—and possibly patch up a broken romance.

The Englishman, world's amateur singles champion, packed up his bags and abruptly deserted Hollywood 12 hours after his fiancée, Nancy Lawson, British actress, announced in London that their engagement was "off."

Now would be a good time for the publishers of the novel, "Wind," to get out another edition. Dorothy Scarborough, then of Fort Worth, and New York, wrote the yarn about eight years ago. It was based on West Texas prevailing winds in the spring. She had the Sweetwater country in mind. Sweetwater and West Texas folk generally didn't like the book, said it exaggerated. MGM made a picture of it, using Dorothy Gish, as we recall it, in the feminine lead. The picture also was condemned.

THIS gigantic new value is a smartly streamlined, enormously roomy, new 1935 Studebaker sedan—one of the finest automobiles ever built. Only the new and greater Studebaker Corporation, now brilliantly victorious and unshakably strong financially, can offer you such a money-saving deal. Studebaker now has no bank loans, no burdensome overhead, no excessive plant valuation. And all these economies are being promptly shared with the public. This sedan is a better "buy" than any one of the 12 other cars bearing a factory price of $800 or less. In fact, its sharply reduced delivered price puts it just above the three lowest priced cars.
