Political Paradox Of Century: Most Delegates Prefer Lyndon But Committed To Kennedy

By DAVID LAWRENCE

LOS ANGELES—It's the political paradox of the century. Sen. Kennedy has the votes to win the nomination, but a majority of the delegates themselves, if they had not been irrevocably committed in advance to the Massachuetts senator, would vote this week for Sen. Lyndon Johnson.

For the Texas senator is the real choice of the delegates here. There's no doubt about it. Every conversation with key men in various delegations confirms that appraisal.

The feeling is that Johnson could surely win in November and that Kennedy is likely to be beaten by Nixon. The contrast is between a youthful candidate and an experienced leader.

Then why doesn't the convention nominate the man of its choice? That's a good question, and to answer it one must be familiar with the arts of preconvention strategy and the influence of organization politics at the local level.

Again and again, as one talks to delegates of the independent type, they bemoan the fact that deals and trades inside the states have brought Sen. Kennedy his delegate strength. They tell of the early efforts of pro-Kennedy men extending back for four years.

It takes time and money to line up a first or second-ballot victory such as Sen. Kennedy has in sight. Some estimates are that $5,000,000 has been spent in the Kennedy movement. This means that commitments were made months ago. It shouldn't be inferred that votes were actually bought, but in politics the ambitious are ready to give their support for what they can get out of it later, either through appointments to office or other favors in federal, state or city governments.

The Kennedy strength is incalculably greater than his opponents ever believed. When any candidate gets within hailing distance of a nomination, only a miracle can prevent his winning it. The "Stop Kennedy" plots have been numerous, but one by one they are proving illusory. For the fact is that the Massachusetts senator has solid commitments. His lieutenants have done their work well. They didn't rely on mere promises of support. They actually selected the delegates in local organizations who would stand by the Massachusetts senator through thick and thin.

One hear a good deal, too, about the religious issue. But it is in a form that's beneficial to Sen. Kennedy. Thus in Pennsylvania, where Gov. Lawrence has been trying to steer a middle course, the pressure from down the line, especially at the local precinct level, is substantial. The governor is a Catholic and has dreaded seeing the religious issue dragged into the campaign, but in the end he will have to succumb to pressure or find himself at odds with large numbers of Catholic voters in his state. That's the way the dilemma of the Pennsylvania governor is described by Pennsylvania sources. Unquestionably the governor would prefer either Lyndon Johnson or Adlai Stevenson. Perhaps last week the governor thought he could keep his delegation neutral, but now he has to release his delegates to vote as they wish.

In state after state the "unit rule" has been a help to Sen. Kennedy. It means that even a thin majority for a certain candidate is enough to compel the vote of the entire delegation to be cast for the candidate desired by the majority. In many of these states the minority are outspoken in favor of Sen. Johnson.

Notwithstanding the Kennedy strength, it is amazing how the groundswell for Lyndon Johnson has grown in recent weeks. But while a groundswell may be reflection of how the voters in a given state feel, this does not sway the delegates. They are not responsive to public sentiment. They are responsive only to the leaders and the organizations that brought them here and, in many instances, paid their travel and hotel expenses.

The Kennedy build-up of the last few months, including the intensive work done in the primaries on behalf of Senator Kennedy, has paid off. For everyone who has had experience with past political conventions knows what "bandwagon" psychology is. Most local politicians want to be found with the winner at the moment of his triumph. They watch a first ballot and, even while the voting is in progress, the switching from "favorite sons" or other candidates becomes a kind of panic. A few decades ago the late Sen. Claude Swanson of Virginia drew up a set of maxims for the guidance of politicians attending national conventions. One piece of wisdom was something to this effect: "Always climb aboard before the last car leaves the station—never be left behind."

There are many politicians who are pondering right now whether to desert their respective heroes and clamber aboard the Kennedy "bandwagon." But, even as they do so, they wish they could be cheering for Lyndon Johnson of Texas. For they think that, of all the Democratic aspirants, he alone can win in November.

Suicide Is Ruled In 2 Local Deaths

Two deaths, each ruled by the coroner to be suicide, occurred Sunday. Both were discovered at approximately the same time.

Dead are Ellis Iden, 43, widely known Howard County rancher and farmer, Vealmoor, and Vernon K. Hicks, 63, watchmaker, Big Spring.

Iden, according to Walter Grice, justice of the peace who acted as coroner, hanged himself in a small shed near his home two miles west of Vealmoor around 8:15 a.m. Sunday. No cause for the act is known, Grice said.

Hicks was found shot to death in the apartment he occupies at the Wyoming Hotel around 9 a.m. He had been dead for several hours.

Mr. Iden's body was removed to the Nalley-Pickle Funeral home and that of Mr. Hicks to River Funeral Home.

BODY DISCOVERED

Grice said that Mr. Iden had left the house around 8 a.m. according to information given him by Mrs. Iden, who found his body. She discovered his death about half an hour later.

Funeral services for Mr. Iden will be at 4 p.m. today in Trinity Memorial Baptist Church in Big Spring. Burial will be at the Trinity Memorial Park. Masonic graveside rites will be conducted.

The Rev. R. L. Creswell, pastor of Hermleigh Baptist Church, will officiate at the services. Nalley-Pickle Funeral home will be in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers are to be Nathan Stalcup, J. S. Jackson, Johnny Walker, Roy Anderson, A. L. Higgins, A. L. Newsom, Paul Bishop and Darrell Smith.

Mr. Iden was born Oct. 12, 1916 in Runnels County. He came with his family to Howard County as a boy. He was married on Feb 6, 1939.

Survivors include Mrs. Dorothy Iden, his wife; one son, Jerry Lynn Iden; one daughter, Mrs. Patricia Hall, Abilene; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Iden, Big Spring; two sisters, Mrs. Porter Hanks, Vealmoor, and Mrs. Clyde Winans, O'Donnell.

STOCKMAN, RANCHER

He was widely known in the county as a stockman and rancher. He also had oil holdings in the area. He was active in agricultural and community affairs and was a member of the Vealmoor District School Board at the time of his death. He was a deacon, Sunday School superintendent and song leader of the Vealmoor Baptist Church.

He was past president of the Howard County Farm Bureau and was serving as director. He was vice president of the Co-Op Gin, Big Spring; and active in both the Southwestern Cattlemen's Assn. and the Texas Hereford Assn.

He has been outstanding in his leadership as a County 4-H Club worker and closely associated with activities of that organization for a decade.

He was a member of the Staked Plains Lodge No. 598 AF&AM and of the Suez Temple Shrine, San Angelo. He was also affiliated with the IOOF Lodge at Knott.

Mr. Hicks was born in Long, Texas, Aug. 12, 1896. He was employed by Jim's Pawn Shop and made his home in one of the Virginia Apartments, a part of the Wyoming Hotel.

His body was found, about 9 a.m. Sunday, on the bed with a wound in the head and a .32 calibre pistol clutched in his right hand. A. O. Wright, a fellow tenant, found the body.

HEARD SHOT

Earlier in the day J. E. Crotwell, another tenant, said he had heard a pistol shot. He estimated that the shot occurred around 3 a.m. At 6 a.m., he said he told George Kirkpatrick, manager of the Wyoming, and Kirkpatrick made a check of the place but failed to discover the body of Mr. Hicks.

Funeral services for Mr. Hicks will be at 10 a.m. Tuesday in River Funeral Home Chapel. Burial is to be in the City Cemetery. The minister to serve has not been announced.

Survivors include one son, Hilliard, San Angelo, and one daughter, Mrs. Floyd Thornton, Wichita Falls. He had one sister, Mrs. J. H. Sheek, El Paso.

Mr. Hicks had been in ill health for some time. For a while he was a patient in the Veterans Administration hospital here. He was a veteran of World War I.

A clipping from a peace officers' magazine telling of the suicide death of Hicks' brother, Jimmy Hicks, was found in a writing tablet in the hotel room.

The dead man's brother was sheriff at El Paso when he took his own life, also in a hotel room, a couple of years ago. He too shot himself, and had been in ill-health prior to his death.

Highspots Of Convention

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Here are the highspots of this week's Democratic National Convention (approximate times are Pacific Daylight Time):

TODAY — Convention opens 5 p.m. at Sports Arena. Keynote speech by Sen. Frank Church of Idaho starting about 6:20 p.m.

TUESDAY—Session convenes 4 p.m. Address by permanent chairman, Gov. LeRoy Collins of Florida, about 5:30 p.m. Report of platform committee.

WEDNESDAY—Session starts 3 p.m. Roll call of states for nominations for president, followed by balloting on nominees.

THURSDAY—Starting time to be decided Wednesday. Continuation of presidential balloting if necessary. Balloting for vice president.

FRIDAY—Program by committee for the arts starts at 4 p.m. at Memorial Coliseum. Convention convenes at 7 p.m. at Coliseum to hear acceptance speech by vice-presidential nominee, followed by acceptance speech by presidential nominee.

Troops Alerted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon said today that two companies of the U.S. 24th Infantry Division stationed in Germany have been ordered on alert to help evacuate Americans from the mutiny-torn Congo, if necessary.

CADET FEAST SLATED TODAY

The annual community-AFROTC Barbecue will be held tonight beginning at 5 p.m. at the Cosden Country Club.

The event, which is for cadets and their sponsors, will begin with a swimming party. The barbecue is slated for 7 p.m.

Over 80 business and professional men bought tickets sponsoring the 184 cadets and 20 staff officers.

BULLETIN

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Pennsylvania today threw the bulk of its Democratic Convention votes to Sen. John F. Kennedy. The swing thrust the Massachusetts senator to within a hair of the presidential nomination.

First reports from a caucus of the Pennsylvania delegation differed, but gave Kennedy from 64 to 65½ of the state's 81 votes.

This may have killed Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson's chances to overtake Kennedy in the final rush for the nomination.

Kennedy Looks A Shoo-In

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Democratic National Convention opens today with Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts booked solidly as a sure shot for the party's presidential nomination.

Barring some unforeseen last-hour development, Kennedy seemed likely to walk away with the coveted prize in balloting beginning Wednesday. Whether he would take it on the first count still was somewhat problematical But that he would take it there remained little doubt.

Candidates already have their campaigns going. But Adlai E. Stevenson, a two-time winner of jackpots in this political gamble, said he was willing to accept a Cabinet post as a consolation prize.

GIVING UP?

There were some rather strong indications that supporters of Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) were about to toss in the sponge. They denied this, of course, but the seeming futility of opposing the Kennedy juggernaut impressed itself deeply on some Symington backers.

Steve Langmade, Arizona national committeeman, told a reporter he understands consideration is being given in the Symington camp to releasing the 104 convention votes supporters claim the Missouri senator has nailed down on the first ballot.

Any such action could be a fatal blow to the efforts of Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas to hold the line in the early counting and thus open the way for selection later of either himself or some other candidate.

THROUGH SECOND

Langmade is pledged to Kennedy on the first ballot and said he will stick through the second tally. If additional votes are needed, Langmade said, he is prepared to switch to Johnson on the third counting.

Kennedy backers said they are confident they will get more than half of the Symington votes if they are released.

Former President Harry S. Truman's double-reverse decision not to attend the convention after all cast a deep pall of gloom over the Symington camp. Symington dismissed the decision with the comment that "Mr. Truman always does what he thinks is best."

All of the presidential hopefuls came together Sunday night in a typical Hollywood setting — a festooned Beverly Hills hotel banquet room in which breathing space was at a premium.

Stevenson, greeted by a storm of applause, was lyrical. Tensely, Kennedy ripped off an old campaign speech at a furious gait. Symington played it down. He said nobody had done him wrong in the preliminaries of the convention, which gets under way late today.

Prosecution Due Captured Pilots

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today it shot down an American RB47 reconnaissance plane July 1 over Soviet territory and that two crewmen parachuted to safety and are being questioned.

This was the first word of the plane since it disappeared July 1 with six men aboard while on an electromagnetic mapping flight over waters north of Norway and the Soviet Union.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko summoned U.S. Charge D'Affaires Edward Freers and handed him a note protesting violation of Soviet air space by the plane.

Similar notes were given to Britain and Norway because the plane was temporarily based in England and was expected to land at a Norwegian air field.

A Soviet announcement said the survivors would be prosecuted "with full severity of Soviet law."

The two captured fliers were Lt. John R. McCone, 38, Tonganoxie, Kan., and Lt. Freeman B. Olmstead, 24, Elmira, N.Y.

The note did not mention the fate of the other members of the crew of six.

The latest Soviet note followed by two days a Moscow announcement that Francis Powers, pilot of the downed American U2 spy plane, would be tried for espionage. Power's plane was downed deep inside the Soviet Union May 1 while on a high altitude photographic mission.

The incident kicked up an international furor and was used by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to call off the Paris summit meeting even before it started.

Today's note said the Soviet air force picked up a trace of the plane while it was over the Barents Sea proceeding toward Soviet territory. When it reached the Soviet border at the Kola Peninsula, a fighter plane took off and identified the plane by its American Air Force markings.

The note said the Soviet pilot ordered the American plane to land but the pilot refused and kept moving in over Soviet territory. When the refusal to land continued, the note said, the Soviets shot down the American plane.

The Soviet note accused Britain of being an accomplice of the United States in "hostile acts" and warned of possible consequences.

The U.S. Air Force said the plane was mapping magnetic fields in the extreme north of the world in a survey intended to provide information for more accurate maps.

The missing plane, normally based at Forbes Air Force Base at Topeka, Kan., was about 1,200 miles from the North Pole when it made its last radio report.

A Pentagon spokesman explained the magnetic force affecting conventional compasses varies in direction over different parts of the earth and at different times. Navigation charts show these variations in degrees along curving lines, and corrections are made from year to year.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Murray Snyder said he was sure the plane made no deliberate attempt to fly over the Soviet Union. He said he based this opinion on the order to halt reconnaissance flights over Soviet territory following the U2 spy plane incident.

In addition to McCone and Olmstead, the crewmen of the plane have been identified by a Forbes Air Force Base spokesman as:

Capt. Eugene E. Posa, 38, originally from Santa Monica, Calif.; Capt. Willard G. Palm, 39, Oak Ridge, Tenn.; Lt. Dean B. Phillips, 25, Inwood, N.Y., and Lt. Oscar L. Goforth, 26, Sardis, Okla.

Ike Hemisphere Aid Plan Bared

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Eisenhower today outlined a U.S. good-will aid program for Latin American nations, but said Cuba's Castro regime would be included only if it shows willingness to cooperate.

At a news conference at the summer White House, Eisenhower declined to go to any extent into the Cuban crisis. For example, he brushed aside a question about his reaction to a hint by Cuba's President that Cuba might demand the United States abandon its Guantanamo naval base.

The President declared he would wait for such a demand before having any comment.

Eisenhower's only comment on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's pledge last Saturday of all-out support to the Fidel Castro regime, was that he regarded Khrushchev's remarks as very crude.

WARNING

The Khrushchev pledge brought from Eisenhower over the weekend a warning that the United States would not tolerate the establishment of a regime in Cuba dominated by international communism.

Eisenhower met with newsmen today after he and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter had conferred for nearly two hours on the Cuban crisis and the new U.S. plan to bolster economic and social standards in Latin American nations.

Eisenhower announced that he has instructed Herter to confer with representatives of these nations. If additional money is needed from Congress to finance the aid program, he will ask for it, Eisenhower said.

In outlining the plan, the President took no specific note of the tense situation regarding Cuba.

In a prepared statement, he did say, however, that Latin America is passing through a social and political transformation, and added that "dictatorships are falling by the wayside."

The President went on:

"Moderate groups, seeking orderly reform, are contesting with dictators of both right and left who favor violence and authoritarianism. Many of the extremists frequently endeavor to introduce dogmas which are inimicable to the traditions of the Western Hemisphere.

"The interests of the United States, now less than those of all the Americas, are directly involved in this struggle, a threat to the security of the hemisphere. It is imperative that institutions be developed and strengthened sufficiently to permit the people's needs to be met through orderly processes of change.

"A renewed hemispheric determination to preserve principles of liberty and the dignity of man is needed. There is also an urgent need for a broader and more vigorous cooperative attack by all American governments and peoples if adequate progress with freedom, is to be achieved."

The U.S. program for such cooperative help will be set forth formally at a meeting of the economic ministers of the American republics at Bogata, Colombia, starting Sept. 5.

Without going into any specific detail regarding this country's proposals, Eisenhower set them forth this way:

"First, we need to consider with other American republics practical ways in which developing countries can make faster progress in meeting their own needs and ways in which their friends can most effectively cooperate with them...

PROBLEMS

"I have in mind the opening of new areas of arable land for settlement and productive use. I have in mind better land utilization, within a system which provides opportunity for free, self-reliant men to own land, without violating the rights of others. I have in mind housing with emphasis, where appropriate, on individual ownership of small homes, and have in mind other essential minimums for decent living in both urban and rural environments.

"Second, in our common efforts toward these goals more attention needs to be given in a manner which respects the dignity and rights of all to improving the opportunities of the bulk of the population to share in contributing to an expanding national product...

"Third, within this framework, we need to consider whether there are better ways to accelerate the trend which is already evident toward greater respect for human rights and democratic government based on the will of the people as expressed in free and periodic elections.

"The United States, with its tradition of democracy, is opposed to tyranny of any form—whether of the left or of the right."

Herter, who flew to the summer White House from Washington Sunday, sat at Eisenhower's side during the session with about 60 newsmen.

After reading the statement, Eisenhower spent about 15 minutes answering questions. One of the first was whether he expected all of the Latin-American nations—particularly Cuba—to cooperate in the U.S. plan.

Cuba May Demand Navy Base Back

HAVANA (AP) — The Castro government implied Sunday it may demand that the United States abandon its Guantanamo Naval Base in eastern Cuba.

President Osvaldo Dorticos told a labor demonstration attended by 100,000 that Cuban territory is "not for rent or sale to foreigners."

Cuba Requests Meeting Of U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Cuba today requested a meeting of the U.N. Security Council to consider the worsening dispute between Cuba and the United States.

A spokesman for the Cuban delegation said a formal complaint has been handed to the current president of the 11-nation council, Ambassador Jose Correa of Ecuador.

No details were available immediately.

Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa arrived in New York Saturday and has been conferring with members of the Cuban delegation on the situation.

The United States delegation was notified of Cuba's action, but had no comment pending study of the complaint.

Although details were not disclosed, it was taken for granted the Fidel Castro government charged the situation is a threat to international peace.

This is one of the conditions required by the U.N. Charter for Security Council action.

A Council meeting is expected to be called later this week.

Leaders Of TSA

Meeting in the offices of Puckett and French this morning to consider the objectives and problems of the Texas Society of Architects were members of the executive committee. Seated are H. E. Calhoun, Houston, vice president; Jack Corgan, Dallas, president; Reginald Roberts, San Antonio, National Director of the American Institute of Architecture; John Flowers, Austin, executive director; Arthur Fehr, Austin, secretary-treasurer; Robert Woltz, Ft. Worth, immediate past president; James Atcheson, Lubbock, vice president.

Architects Meet Here For Talks On Problems

Discussion of architectural problems in the West Texas area occurred today in an executive committee meeting of the Texas Society of Architects at the offices of Puckett and French.

Considering the problems, professional affairs and objectives of the TSA were seven leaders of the association.

Members of the committee were H. E. Calhoun, vice president; Jack Corgan, president; Reginald Roberts, National Director of the American Institute of Architecture; John Flowers, executive director; Arthur Fehr, secretary-treasurer; Robert Woltz, immediate past president; James Atcheson, vice president.

Forty to fifty members of the West Texas chapter and the Abilene chapters of the TSA are to meet tonight at 7 p.m. at Coker's Restaurant for dinner and a general discussion of developments in West Texas. The West Texas chapter includes members from San Angelo, Midland, Odessa and Big Spring.

Fiscal Agent To Report On Bond Financing

A report on financing the city's water and sewer improvement program by representatives of the First National Bank, of Dallas, city fiscal agent, will top the city commission agenda when it meets Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. in city hall.

Financing the program was discussed Tuesday when the Forest and Cotton master plan report on water and sewer improvements was made. No conclusion was reached.

Either M. M. Hatcher or John Clayton is expected to appear before the commission, representing the bank.

Also due consideration by the commission is the master plan report on water and sewer improvements which was approved by the master plan steering committee Tuesday.

Dan Martin and J. C. Dodson, who are signing contracts with property owners for the assessment paving program, will present a list of streets which are considered ready for paving.

John Jones, certified public accountant, will present the annual audit for the fiscal year which ended in March.

Readings will be given ordinances annexing Kentwood addition, and rezoning the Robb property in the College Park Estates.

Congo Regime Asks U. N. Aid In Uprising

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — The Congo government has asked the United Nations to intervene and restore order in this former Belgian territory, Belgian Minister Ganshof van de Meersh said today.

The appeal was forwarded Sunday after talks between the U.S. Ambassador Clare Timberlake, President Joseph Kasavubu, Premier Patrice Lumumba and Dr. Ralph Bunche, United Nations troubleshooter.

No response from the United Nations has yet been received.

Rebellious Congolese troops were reported terrorizing whites today in Luluabourg and Stanleyville and fleets of planes were rushed to help European refugees flee the torn new African nation.

PARATROOPS

Belgian paratroops arrived in trouble centers, to control the native troops rampaging in far-flung sectors of Belgium's former colony in central Africa.

Luluabourg, in the center of the Congo and once intended to become the republic's new capital, was reported still in a state of near panic, with mutineers attacking white civilians and looting homes and stores.

At least 10 Europeans were killed in the weekend of violence. Official Belgian reports said three were killed and one wounded when African rebels besieged hundreds of whites in a hotel in Luluabourg Sunday. They were rescued by Belgian paratroopers.

Seven Europeans, including the [illegible] were killed in fighting at Elisabethville, capital of the rich Katanga province in the lower Congo.

UNDER CONTROL

Belgian troops, called in by Katanga provincial officials, brought most of the native troops under control, but looting and pillaging was reported continuing. One report said a large number of whites were barricaded in a building in the center of the city.

Premier Patrice Lumumba and President Joseph Kasavubu left in a Belgian plane for Luluabourg and Elisabethville in an effort to calm the rebellious troops and the anxious whites.

Another flareup was reported in Stanleyville, storied city astride the equator in the northeast. The Belgian radio said Congolese troops mutinied, invaded an airfield and prevented a plane loaded with refugees from taking off.

The Stanleyville rebels disarmed their European officers and took over command, and later "invaded the European city about two miles from the airfield," the Belgian broadcast said.

CAPITAL CALM

Leopoldville, however, was generally calm and there was less patrolling by native army units than previously.

A U.S. Air Force Globemaster capable of carrying 200 passengers flew into the Congo to pick up Americans and other refugees. The Globemaster took off from Salisbury airport in Southern Rhodesia for the Belgian Kamina military base in Katanga.

A Belgian government officer still working for the Congolese expressed doubt Lumumba could restore order.

"We can have no confidence in the influence of such leaders over those power-crazed African soldiers," he said.

Refugees were streaming out of the troubled land despite efforts of the Congolese army to check the flow and appeals from the native government to sit tight.

A radio appeal for help came from Yanga, about 100 miles from Stanleyville, declaring "we whites are surrounded and are being attacked."

At least 3,000 whites, mostly Belgians, were waiting in the former French Congo city of Brazzaville, across the Congo River, for planes to Europe. They are crowded into hotels, schools, church halls and temporary refugee camps. Dysentery is reported to have broken out in one camp.

Premier Patrice Lumumba broadcast an appeal for order in the sprawling territory. But he protested the armed Belgian intervention was based on "fallacious excuses."

CENTER OF CLASH

The fighting centered in the rich southern province of Katanga, which has threatened to secede from the Congo and join neighboring British-controlled Rhodesia.

"The Congo is falling apart," said a British diplomat in Leopoldville. "This has become a country that is a body without a head. Everything is crippled. All is chaos. Law and order are rapidly disintergrating."

Conditions generally were chaotic. Public transport, mail and communications were seriously disrupted. Food supplies were uncertain.

Belgian sailors recovered control of port installations that rebel Congolese troops had seized at Kitona, Boma and Matadi, at the mouth of the Congo River.

200 FREED

Belgian troops liberated about 200 Europeans held prisoner by Congolese mutineers at Goma, on the [illegible] Trust Territory, and freed another group of whites held captive in a train at Kabalo, in northern Katanga.

The Belgian government started flying in 2,000 troops to reinforce 4,000 left in the territory and in nearby Ruanda-Urundi when The Congo became independent June 30.

Premier Tshombe of Katanga Province, describing himself as the "head of state," appealed to Rhodesia to send troops to help restore order. The British government rejected the appeal, refusing to recognize Katanga as a separate state.

Royal Rhodesian Air Force planes dropped blankets and medical supplies along The Congo border for white refugees fleeing from the Congolese soldiers, some flushed with their new-found freedom and some with drink.

Dixie Appeals Strong Demo 'Rights' Plank

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. of North Carolina today carried a Southern fight against a bold civil rights plank to the resolutions committee of the Democratic National Convention.

Before entering a closed meeting of the 109-member committee, Erwin told newsmen he would urge the committee to soften a plank approved Sunday by a drafting committee. That plank promised use of full powers of the federal government against racial discrimination.

Should he fail at the full committee, Erwin said, he probably will offer a minority report when the full platform goes before the convention Tuesday. Southern critics of the proposed plank were greatly outnumbered in the resolutions committee.

Another Southern delegate, Charles Bloch of Macon, Ga., said he, too, was considering a minority report.

UNANSWERED

But unanswered was what Dixie delegates might do about it. They could walk out of the convention in protest as some did in 1952 to express dissatisfaction with a civil rights stand taken then. Or they could stay and fight out the issue on the convention floor and take a probable defeat.

Their final decision, some of them said, was tied to the fate of the candidacy of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas for the party's presidential nomination.

Southern backers of the Texan were reluctant to stir up too much trouble at this point lest such action embarrass him with Northern delegates who support him for the nomination but also favor a strong civil rights declaration.

They said drastic action by Southern delegates might well be associated with Johnson, inasmuch as he represents a Southern state and has many Dixie votes for the nomination.

JUBILANT

Northern civil rights groups were jubilant over the plank approved Sunday night by a 20-member drafting committee of the convention's full 109-member resolutions Committee. It gave them just about everything they had hoped for. The drafting committee also approved other planks covering foreign and other domestic issues, but civil rights promised the biggest fight.

Speaking for the Southland delegates, Sen. Sam J. Ervin of North Carolina said he could not accept the civil rights proposal He was one of four Southerners on the drafting committee. However, two of these were absent from the session at which the plank was approved. Significantly, one of the absentees was Rep. Paul J. Kilday of Texas, a Johnson supporter.

Ervin declined to speculate, however, on what steps that Dixie delegates might take.

WORDING VEILED

Wording of the plank was not made public. But it promised to use full legislative and administrative powers of the federal government to end racial discrimination in voting, public education, employment, housing, and other fields.

The plank commits the Democratic party to enactment by Congress of legislation to broaden powers of the attorney general in the racial field. He would be given authority to obtain injunctions against any infringement of constitutional rights because of race, color, or creed.

It also promises legislation to give permanent status to the present temporary Civil Rights Commission.

28 Jurors Qualified; Vierra Sanity Trial Opens Wednesday

A jury panel, which dwindled to 28 members, which is four short of the minimum for work, was qualified in 118th District Court Monday morning and was then excused until 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Talesmen were to be called in the meantime to supplement the number to the required minimum.

No cases were ready for jury trial when the docket was sounded. Bulk of the cases on the docket will be pleas of guilty and heard by Judge Ralph Caton.

Scheduled trial of Moses Vierra, a hearing to test the defendant's sanity, was slated as the initial case. Due to a mishap, the superintendent of the Texas Hospital for the Criminally Insane at Rusk, did not receive notice in time to be present. He said he would be on hand Wednesday and this will be the initial case to go to trial on that date.

Pleas of guilty were being heard at noon Monday.

Harold Jean Pitts, Snyder, driver of the car in which W. C. Stansbury died on Feb. 4 of this year, pleaded guilty to an indictment of murder by a motor vehicle. He was given a five year probated sentence. The accident occurred 11.8 miles east of Big Spring on Highway 350. Stansbury was the first traffic fatality recorded in Howard County this year.

Nelda Bly Whitman, charged with DWI second, whose car was involved in a collision with a City Police car Feb. 28, pleaded guilty and part of the testimony in her case was heard. Then Gil Jones, district attorney, asked that a delay in this case be allowed in order that he locate another witness he needed for his case.

Cleofas Rodriquez, charged with DWI second, was given a year's probated sentence and fined $250. He assured Jones that he would pay the fine and Jones recommended to the court that the man be given 9 months in which to do so. Judge Caton agreed to the recommendation.

Half a dozen more pleas are to be heard today and tomorrow.

The only cases remaining to be tried by a jury, as the docket now stands, are the sanity case of Moses Vierra; a theft by bailee complaint against Victor Zeigler, and possibly one other.

Martin County Old Settlers Hold Reunion

Martin County's Old Settlers Reunion gets underway with a get-together at the Legion Hall at 7:30 p.m. today.

This will be the 27th meeting of the group and all those who lived in Martin County 20 years ago are invited to attend the annual fete.

The group will look at last year's pictures and talk over old times at the meeting tonight. Mrs. Morgan Hall, secretary for the group, says that about 350 persons are expected for the get-together.

Tuesday, beginning at 7 p.m. a barbecue will be held and the reunion program will follow. The barbecue and the program will be held in the Stanton City Park and tickets for the meal are $1.20.

One of the highlights of the program will be the memorial service which recognizes the settler who came the farthest distance to the reunion; the oldest and the youngest settler. George Shelbourne is in charge of the memorial service.

Also on the program, will be the election of officers. Hoot Tom is the current president and Dan Saunders is the vice president.

Bernard Houston is to be the master of ceremonies and approximately 600 Martin County settlers are expected for the reunion.

Lions Chief

Finis E. Davis of Louisville, Ky. was elected president of Lions International at the convention just completed in Chicago, Ill. He heads an organization with more than 610,000 members in 106 countries. Attending from here were Louis Carothers, new Downtown Lions president, and J. Fred Stitzell, secretary of the group.

Peruvian Urges Change In U. S.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Peruvian minister of the interior, Dr. Ricardo Aparicio, said Sunday the next president of the U.S. "will certainly have to revise his country's policies towards Latin America."

Aparicio said his country maintains "cordial relations" with Cuba but will "evidently" have to break relations with the Dominican Republic shortly.

Police Check Minor Wrecks

Two minor traffic mishaps, including one hit-and-run, were investigated by police Sunday.

Ray Dillard, Lamesa, was the victim of a hit-and-run driver on the Lamesa Highway.

William James Bearden, Midland, and Raleigh Clyde Harter, 109 W. 11th, were in collision at 3rd and Birdwell.

Springer Back For Discussions

Master Planner Marvin Springer will continue explanation of his proposed zoning ordinance for Big Spring with members of the master plan steering committee, city commission, planning and zoning commission and zoning board of adjustment today at 7:30 p.m. in the class room at the police building.

Springer met with the city officials last month to discuss the first eight portions of the twelve, he has outlined in the ordinance.

Minor Damage

Damage was minor after a divan caught fire Sunday afternoon at the Phil Grozier residence, 1512 Stadium. Firemen said the fire damage was confined to the divan, with some smoke damage to the walls. The Groziers were out of town when the fire occurred.

Thefts Crowd Police Blotter

Thirsty burglars carried off six cases of beer over the weekend in two separate thefts from a railroad box car behind the Standard Sales Co., 108 Lancaster.

The first theft of the Budweiser distributor's goods was discovered Sunday morning. Three cases were reported missing by Agent J. S. Thompson. Sunday afternoon, another three cases were missing, Thompson reported.

Theft of a rug and an end table, total value of about $75, was reported from a trailer at the Mike Hammer Mobile Homes, 3202 West U. S. 80.

Mrs. Ace Vaughan, 318 NE 9th, told police her son's bicycle was stolen sometime Saturday, and George Martin, 504 Abrams, reported that the rear tire and wheel were stolen from his son's bike.

James Meador, 1703 Morrison Dr., reported the theft of a vehicle inspection sticker from the windshield of his car.

Albino Renteria, 309 NE 7th, said someone slashed the front tire of his car.

An attempted burglary was reported at Vick Ziggler's cafe at 304 N. Gregg. The culprits did not gain entrance, however.

REPEATING REQUEST

The city planning and zoning commission was to meet at 5:30 p.m. today at city hall for what was expected to be a short session, with only one item on the agenda.

Discussion is slated for the request by Coronado Hills owners for the commercial zoning of property at the corner of Marcy Drive and Wasson Rd.

Phone Installations Down But Total Numbers Grow

Telephone installations for the first half of 1960 ran only about 70 per cent of last year's, reports Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, But total telephones in operation went up 1,094 from last year, with 13,316 in 1960 compared with 12,222 in 1959.

The month of January showed the only gain over 1959 with 62 installations as compared to 55 last year.

February figures show a total of 107 installations for 1959 while this year only 65 were put in. March showed 92 last year in comparison with 69 this year, and April was the big month of the first half of 1959 with 125 installations against 52 this past April.

May is counted as the smallest month thus far in 1960, when 34 telephones were connected, while there were 67 in 1959. June figures for last year ran above the hundred mark again with 119 to bring the total number of installations for the first six months of 1959 to 565.

June this year was up from previous months with 75 installations, thus bringing the total for the first half of 1960 to 357.

Backs Nixon

Former Texas Governor Coke Stevenson said he is backing Republican Vice President Richard Nixon for president. Stevenson, 72, said he hoped the Democrats nominate Sen. John Kennedy as he would be the easiest for Nixon to beat. Sen. Lyndon Johnson nosed out Stevenson by 87 votes in the Senate race of 1948.

Clear Skies, Bright Sun

By The Associated Press

Clear skies and a bright sun covered Texas Monday as the state enjoyed typical summer weather.

Temperatures early in the day varied from 82 at Galveston to 67 at Dalhart.

No rain fell in Texas early Monday.

Four cities reported light showers Sunday. Van Horn had .50 of an inch, Amarillo .21, and Wink and Beaumont .02.

San Angelo had the highest temperature in Texas Sunday—a 104 degree reading. The low maximum was 87 at Amarillo. Laredo had 103, Mineral Wells, Presidio and Junction had 101 and Cotulla had 100.

Some highways in the Amarillo area remained closed by high water Sunday. Heavy rains last week caused the flooding.

The five-day forecast issued Monday calls for temperature 2 to 5 degrees above normal throughout Texas with little or no precipitation in Western Texas and precipitation light to locally moderate in widely scattered thundershowers in eastern and central Texas.

Driver Impaled On Tree Limbs

SONORA, Calif. (AP)—Howard A. Davidson was in fair condition here today after spending three hours impaled on a tree after his truck went off a canyon road and into the Tuolumne River Sunday.

Davidson, 37, of San Carlos, was returning from a Sierra excursion with Mrs. Avis Watson, 31-year-old divorcee and her two-year-old son, Michael, when his truck went over the 300-foot embankment.

The little boy was thrown to the bottom of the canyon and died instantly.

Davidson was thrown out half way down and tree limbs pierced his upper chest and lower abdomen. His feet touched the ground but he could not move. Rescuers had to saw away part of the tree to free him.

Mrs. Watson was trapped in the cab of the truck, which plunged into the river. Mark Lippert, a Modesto motorcyclist who saw the accident, got to her in time and held her head above the water until rescuers arrived. She is in fair condition.

Elephant Hurts Zoo Employe

TULSA (AP)—Dorothy the elephant, who was condemned to death in Texas two years ago but got a reprieve, injured a Tulsa zoo employe Sunday.

In a hospital with back and internal injuries was Robert McDonald, 36.

Zoo director Hugh Davis said Dorothy was being taken to her barn for the night by McDonald when she suddenly turned. She knocked McDonald down with her trunk and then stepped on him. Another zoo worker, Ken Riddle, 19, quickly moved another elephant between Dorothy and McDonald. Dorothy was then taken on into the barn.

The elephant, former circus performer, was doomed to destruction in 1958 when she allegedly injured a circus worker at Port Arthur. A Tulsa radio station intervened and she was presented to the Tulsa zoo.

Death Toll 29

By The Associated Press

Highway accidents and drownings boosted the weekend violent death toll in Texas to at least 29.

Seven persons drowned during the weekend and 12 persons died in highway crashes.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Don Scarborough, the University of Nebraska coaching aide who has been visiting his mother here, says the Cornhuskers made one of their best hauls in the recruiting wars the past spring and things are looking up for the school in the Big Eight Conference.

The school can't limit its recruiting to Nebraska alone, since the state has only about 350 high schools and about half of those play six and eight-man ball.

Don says that head mentor Bill Jennings and his aides would like to recruit some Texas talent but are pessimistic over their chances.

"Even if we talked to some of the boys down here, all some school in the state would have to do is play 'The Eyes Of Texas,'" Scarborough states.

Don was an applicant for the local coaching job before Emmett McKenzie but he reasons it was just as well he didn't get it.

"They treat us real fine in Lincoln. They understand our problems and I think we may be on our way," he says.

Jennings gained much esteem for himself by leading the Huskers to an upset victory over Oklahoma University last fall. That 'made' the Nebraska season, as far as most Nebraska fans were concerned.

Scarborough looks for both Kansas and Oklahoma to be double tough in this year's Big Eight race.

Don goes back to Lincoln later this summer to serve as director of the Nebraska Coaches Association school, which will be held Aug. 18-19-20 in Lincoln.

The clinic is not unlike the Texas school but not nearly so large. Ara Parseghian of Northwestern University, who will also appear at the Texas clinic, will be one of the chief speakers at the Lincoln course. Another will be Don McKlippe, now at McCook JC but formerly a successful eight man mentor in the state.

That early season football game between the Odessa High School Bronchos and the Tom S. Lubbock Westerners, which was to have been played in Lubbock Friday, Sept. 16, has been moved forward a day and instead will be played in Odessa.

The change was forced on Tom S. because Texas Tech did not want any other team to use its new stadium before it had been dedicated.

Trophies For Upcoming Meet

When winners in the Tournament of Champions get under way at Bobby Layne's Bowl-A-Rama next weekend, the trophies held by the men in the above picture will be up for graps. The individuals in the photo are Marie McDonald, representing the Bowl-A-Rama; Lloyd Duncan, Alexander's Jewelers; and Jay Lebcowitz, Zale's. The two jewelry concerns donated the awards. Proceeds from the meet go toward the Howard County Crippled Children's Center.

Dodgers Edge Near Top Spot In League

C. ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates have the largest lead in the National League at the All Star break in five years, but who's the hottest club in the race? There's just one answer—the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers.

While the Bucs have padded their lead to five games over second-place Milwaukee by picking up 1½ games over the past two week, they've played no better than .50 ball in that span. But the Dodgers, who were in sixth place, 12 games behind two weeks ago, have won 12 of 16 since for a four-game gain.

With Frank Howard walloping home, five runs and Norm Sherry's homer breaking a 7-7 tie, the Dodgers knocked off St. Louis 11-7 Sunday and regained third place from the Cards. It was the sixth victory in seven games for the Dodgers.

The Pirates, holding the biggest bulge at All Star time since the 1955 Dodgers set a record with an 11½-game spread, defeated Philadelphia 6-2 with four runs in the ninth—their 12th last-inning victory. Milwaukee cracked Cincinnati 7-1, and San Francisco, after losing five in a row, scored five unearned runs in the seventh inning for a 5-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Howard, the giant on the Dodgers who has 12 hits in his last 23 at bat, was 3-for-5 in their 16-hit barrage, upping his average to .301. He drove in two runs with his 13th homer the first inning, doubled home two more in the sixth, and then singled ahead of rookie Tommy Davis" first major league home run in the eight. Sherry's shot, his eight, came in the seventh inning and beat reliever Bob Duliba 4-4.

Stan Musial, who makes his 18th All-Star appearance today in Kansas City, drove in the Cards' first four runs, three with his sixth homer in the first inning off Stan Williams. Musial had two of the Biards' six hits before Ed Roebuck 8-1, came on and won his seventh in a row with three innings of no-hit relief. The Dodger right-hander has allowed just one run in his last 28 frames.

A throwing error by Robin Roberts (5-8), who had won four in a row, gave the Pirates the tie-breaking run in the ninth. Pinch hitter Rocky Nelson and Bill Virdon added RBI singles in the rally, with another run scoring on catcher Cal Neeman's error. Harvey Haddix, 6-4, backed by Bob Skinner's running catch with the bases loaded in the sixth, was the winner. Ted Lepcio homered for the Phils, who had taken four of five from the leaders.

CRAIG IS SECOND

Frank Freer Wins Cee City Tourney

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Frank Freer, 29-year-old Railway employe of Lamesa, won the 1960 Colorado City Invitational Golf tournament here Sunday, with a 27-hole medal score of 106.

Freer defeated Bill Craig, a home-town product, by two strokes. Frank Mackey, also of Colorado City, was third, at 109; while Graham Mackey of Midland, was last among the semi-finalists with 115.

Frank Mackey led after the first nine holes of play, with a 34. Freer was four strokes off the pace at that stage.

However, the Lamesan then fired two 34's in succession while Mackey was carded 37-38.

The crown was the fourth Freer has won in invitational play this year.

R. S. (Red) McCullah, Big Spring, captured championship consolations with a final round 75. McCullah was out in 38 and came home in 37.

Bernard Rains, also of Big Spring, captured the first flight consolations with a 75. Hugh Corrigan of Sweetwater won the second flight, with an 81.

The third flight was won by Joe Gunning of Colorado City, who had an 88.

Ben Wilkinson, Colorado City, captured first flight laurels with a 38-39—77. Pete Ainsworth, Colorado City, wrapped up second flight laurels with a 40-38—78.

Gordon Taylor, Snyder, wound up as the third flight winner with a 42-39—81.

Tigers Win 19th In Doubleheader

Big Spring's Tigers ran their winning streak to 19 games here Sunday as they swept a doubleheader from the Midland Indians, 11-4, and 7-3.

The Tigers were originally scheduled to play Andrews in a New Mex-Tex league tilt, but the game had already been forfeited because Andrews dropped from competition. Big Spring is still undefeated in 1960 action.

Bobby Suggs was credited with the win in the first game as he went the distance and limited the visitors to seven hits.

Charles Bolen, Marion Tredaway, Pat Martinez and Sonny Dutchover each collected two hits for the locals in the first game.

Midland jumped to a quick three-run lead in the first game as they chased starter Joe Cadenhead before he could get out of the inning. Chubby Moser came on in relief and quelled the rally. The locals scored one in the second inning and then tied the count in the fourth.

As Moser shutout Midland the rest of the way, his mates added a go-ahead run in the fifth and then iced the game with three in the sixth.

Sonny Dutchover and Billy Paul Thomas were the only Tigers to gather more than one hit.

VFW Takes Win Over Devils, 9-5

VFW used only four hits Sunday as they tromped the Devils, 9-5 and advanced to the finals of the city-wide Little League playoffs.

The Devils outhit the winners with five safeties. Ronnie Anderson clouted a homer in the fifth inning to lead the losers' attack. David Anderson added a pair of singles to the cause.

John Watkins was the winning pitcher. VFW will now face the Braves in the American Little League park tonight to determine the city champion.

Deadline Near For Bowlers

Registration in the Tournament of Champions bowling meet closes tomorrow at the Bobby Layne Bowl-A-Rama.

The handicap tournament is a benefit gesture in favor of the Howard County Crippled Children's Treatment Center and team entries in the meet are restricted to those that finished either first or second in the 1959-60 league play and to the city tournament champions.

Competition will be held the weekends of July 16-17 and July 23-24 at the Bowl-A-Rama. Mixed league team entries are to be composed of the members of the first and second place teams plus one member or sub of that league. Subs used must have bowled a minimum of 15 games in the league from which that team is entered.

Pate, Freeman Win At Meet

Big Spring's swimming team, sponsored by the YMCA, took fourth place at the Junior Olympics meet in Lubbock over the weekend.

Dexter Pate was the local team's high point man as he won the one-meter diving competition; took second in the three-meter diving events; and placed second in the 100-yard free-style swim.

Johnny Freeman contributed to the Big Spring point parade as he took second place in the one-meter diving competition and then won the top spot in the three-meter dive.

Two other members of the local YMCA swim team, Veryla Hewitt and Gail Watson, each won a first, a second, and a third place in the meet.

Miss Hewitt won the honors in the 100-yard butterfly. She took second place in the 50-yard free style and third in the 100-yard free style.

Miss Watson won the 100-yard breast stroke. She placed second in another division of the 50-yard free style and she finished third in her division of the 100-yard free style.

Lubbock won the meet and Slaton was second. Portales, N. M. was in third place just three points ahead of the local delegation. Clovis, N. M. was the other team entry.

Forsan Tournament Begins Play Today

FORSAN (SC) — Two of the pre-tournament favorites, Coca Cola and Ward's No. 1, will tangle in the opening game of Forsan's softball tourney here today beginning at 6:45 p.m.

The game, along with all other first round contests, will be only five innings.

The tournament is a double-elimination attraction and trophies will be given to the winner and runner up and to ten outstanding tournament players.

Twelve teams have entered the meet and the other two meet favorites square off in a first round battle. They are Axten's of Coahoma and Cook's Appliance.

Monday's schedule, besides the 6:45 opener, cards the Forsan Oilers against Foremost at 8 p.m.; Temple Baptist against Tidwell Chevrolet at 9:15 p.m. and Newson's against McDonald Motors at 10:30 p.m.

Tuesday's first round games pit Cook's against Axten's at 6:45 p.m. and the Forsan All-Stars against Ward's No. 2 at 8 p.m. The 9:15 p.m. game Tuesday will see the two winners of Monday's opening two games play. The 10:30 p.m. game will match the losers of Monday's first two games.

A 25-cent admission charge will be levied at each carload coming through the gate. The concession stand will also be open for business.

Yank's Eating Remarks They Made About Hose

By The Associated Press

The last time the New York Yankees saw the Chicago White Sox they left 'em for dead, sweeping a four-game series and tumbling the American League champs to fifth place, five games behind.

Not only did the Yanks figure the Sox were through, but they said so. And those Yankee quotes—tacked up in the Comiskey Park club house—have done more for the White Sox than another starting pitcher.

They've won 14 of 20 since that Yankee sweep, scrambling back to third place and now just three games shy of the top after splitting a double-header with Cleveland. The Indians clung to second by a half game, ending a four-game slump with a 6-2 victory in the opener before the White Sox came from behind and won the nightcap 6-4.

That cut New York's lead to 2½ games going into the All-Star break. The Yankees, who have lost five of their last seven, were whipped 9-5 at Boston for a three-game sweep by the last place Red Sox.

Washington beat Baltimore 2-1; and Detroit, after trailing 7-0, cracked Kansas City 12-10 as Rocky Colavito hit two homers and drove in six runs.

The White Sox made it five out of six—all against the Tribe—with five runs in the sixth inning of the second game. A solo homer by Jim Landis got it started, and a three-run homer by Roy Sievers who has hit in 16 consecutive games, put it away. Mudcat Grant 6-3, was the loser in relief of Dick Stigman, who gave up only three hits in 5 2-3 innings, but walked 10. Russ Kemmerer, 5-4, won it in relief, with a save by Turk Lown.

Vic Power won the opener for the Indians, tying it 2-all with a two-out triple in the sixth and then breaking it up with a two-out double in the eighth. Reliever Johnny Klippstein 3-3, was the winner, while Early Wynn 4-7, lost his sixth decision in the last eight.

The Red Sox, matching their longest winning streak of the season with four, roughed up 11 Yankee pitchers for 31 hits and 23 runs in the three-game series. Willie Tasby and Vic Wertz drove in 15 runs between them in the set. Tasby homered in the first inning off loser Ralph Terry, 4-4, went 5-for-5, and drove in four runs Sunday. Wertz put it away with a grand-slam homer in the second inning off Whitey Ford, who was making his first relief appearance of the year.

Goodfellow AFB Decisions Webb In Links Square-Off

Goodfellow AFB of San Angelo nipped Webb's linksters, 24½-23½, in a series of golf matches played at the Webb course here Saturday.

M. Sgt. Herm Violette fired a five-under par 69 to shatter the course record during the matches. Violette was out in 36 and back in 33.

Violette teamed with Lt. Bryan Hohts to defeat the Webb tandem of Col. Donald Eishnhart and Capt. Glen Ferry, 6½-2½.

Col. Eisenhart won the 2½ points for Webb by defeating Lt. Hohts.

The Webb combination of Maj. Russell Gradel and Sgt. Charles Blaylock flogged the Goodfellow team of John T. Ferguson and M. Sgt. Vern Baldwin, 8½-½.

Ed Hicks and M. Sgt. Charles Cain, Goodfellow, won over M.Sgt. Joe Thompson and M. Sgt. John Conover, 6-3.

Thompson defeated Hicks for the three Webb points in that one.

Col. H. L. Weber and Maj. Emil Urban, Webb, halved with Airman Auston and M. Sgt. Stan Strickland, Goodfellow, 4½-4½.

Capt. Bob Robinson and Capt. Russ Wade, Goodfellow, kayoed Webb's twosome of Capt. Nolan Young and Col. Asa Adair, 7-2.

Braves Humble T-Birds Sunday

A fifth-inning homer by Billy Homberg ruined the shutout hopes of Paul Soldan Sunday as the Braves mutilated the T-Birds, 19-1 in a Little League playoff semi-final contest.

Soldan was also the team's leading sticker with three base hits. His teammate Bobby Ray added a pair of safeties.

Jim Gibson and Jerry Bingham were the only other Birds to hit safely against Soldan's three-hitter.

THIS DAY IN TEXAS

By CURTIS BISHOP

By joint resolution the Texas Legislature voted on this day in 1919 to accept a life-sized portrait of General U. G. McAlexander, the "Rock of the Marne."

The painting was the gift of the enlisted men and officers of the Texas Brigade, the 180th Infantry, which performed valiant service in World War I. The likeness of McAlexander was officially delivered to the state four days later, and on July 25 the state appropriated $68 to pay for a suitable frame.

The Texas Brigade earned its place in World War I annals, among the 198,000 who saw service, with 450 volunteer Texas nurses. One nurse and 5,170 Texans died during the conflict.

The Texans struck a big blow on Nov. 1, 1918, attacking the Freve Stellung line at Andevanne and at Villers-devant-Dun. They accomplished the first breach in the German defense by capturing 18 officers and 789 enlisted men.

Previously the Brigade had been among the Americans bearing the full fury of the St. Mihiel offensive from Sept. 12-16, and capturing Vaniders Cote 327 and Bois des-Rappes, key entrenchments in the German defense.

McAlexander was their colorful commander, and the 'Brigade' insisted on perpetuating his record in Texas history.

Diaper-Changing Chimp Won't Let Go Of Human Baby

TACOMA (AP)—A female chimpanzee, trained to change a baby's diapers, seized a six-months old girl from her stroller Sunday and refused for 20 minutes to surrender the infant.

Little Marcia Lynn Ebert was returned unharmed to her mother, Mrs. Frederick Ebert, after the chimp had completed a diaper change under surveillance of a state patrolman and store officials.

The incident occurred in a Tacoma department store which keeps the chimp for publicity purposes and lets it circulate among the customers on a leash.

The animal, whose name is April, is 4½ years old.

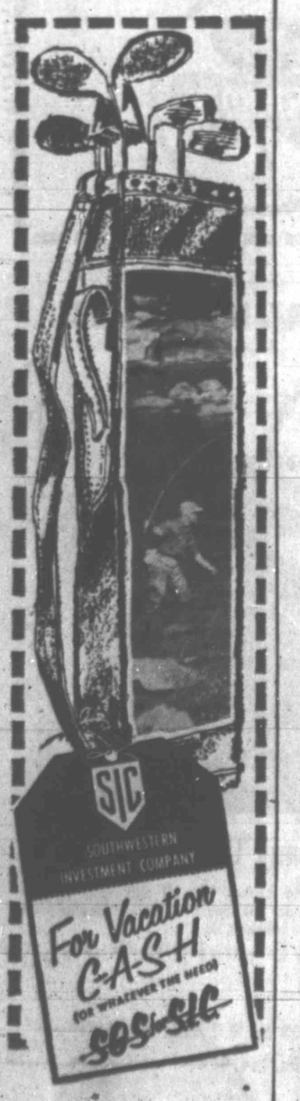

Million-To-One Odds Are Beaten

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—The odds against young Rodger Woodward's surviving his 161-foot tumble down the Horseshoe Falls were 100 million to one, a state engineer says.

Rodger, 7, was swept over the falls Saturday when a motorboat in which he, his sister, and a family friend were riding capsized in the upper Niagara River. His sister, Deanne, 17, was plucked from the swirling rapids at the brink by two New Jersey tourists.

Grandma America Has Advice: Keep Busy If You'd Stay Young

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

You can keep young if you keep busy, says Mrs. Eugenie Carothers. She's the 73-year-old dynamo who just has won the title "Grandma America," in the first contest of its type.

"If you'd maintain a young outlook, you can't sit around moaning about your health that has dropped stitch," she advises older women.

"You must be part of our times to keep youthful," says the cheerful grandma who has retired from three jobs and is now copy and proof reader for the Canonsburg (Pa.) Daily Notes.

You don't have to do a big job to keep busy, she reminds her contemporaries.

"It can be those community enterprises that are important civic responsibilities. They don't pay cash. The rewards are in your mental outlook and the spirit of accomplishment."

Grandma loves work.

"I've been reporting, doing columns and proofreading off and on since 1914," she explains. "At 68 the editor drafted me for this job, and I took a refresher course in English to be sure I hadn't forgotten gerunds, participles and what have you."

Busy women stay healthy, she says.

"You will not have time to think about those aches and pains of arthritis if you keep busy. A little pain will disappear before you have time to think about it. Take an interest in the news of the day. Don't sit in a corner and brood as you watch the world go by. Knit in your spare time, but don't glue yourself to it," she advises.

Grandma used to knit, do afghans, and dream, in between jobs. But she now is too busy keeping alert to fritter away her spare time.

She was dumbfounded when she

MRS. EUGENIE CAROTHERS

was selected to represent Pennsylvania in the Grandma America contest.

"I just thought it was another rejection slip when the letter came. When I opened it, I almost fainted," she says.

Everybody on the paper was thrilled.

"The girls insisted that I looked too young. 'Better take your birth certificate with you to the finals,' they kept saying. 'Nobody will believe you are 73.'"

There were 20 finalists in the contest. The judging was based on civic achievement, domestic achievement and personality. The eldest grandma in the group, Mrs. Carothers stole the show from the beginning.

"I never saw such a wonderful group of women," she says. "There was no rivalry, no cattiness among those women. Do you know that every one of them wanted me to win," grandma says with pride in her voice.

She has been winning friends for long years, so it comes easy.

"When you work hard, you get to know people, how they live, what they enjoy. You get to like everyone for one reason or another," she says.

A Gold Star mother, she had three boys and one girl, now has five grandchildren. Her winnings in the contest included a $500 bond, a sterling silver service, a fall wardrobe of 12 dresses ("and what in the world would I ever do with 12 dresses?") hats, and the grand prize—a trip to Rio de Janiero with a friend with hotel expenses paid for a week.

The friend she invited was a new acquaintance, Mrs. Elizabeth Conway, who was runner-up in the contest as Grandma Greater New York that she was going to ask Mrs. Conway to accompany her.

"Now, why wouldn't I invite everybody when she made the announcement at the banquet in New York. Grandma Carothers startled her," says grandma, "when she almost made it herself?"

Forsaners Are Guests At Barbecue

FORSAN — Young people of the Forsan Baptist Sunday school department enjoyed at barbecue recently at the Mac Robinson home. Seventeen attended.

Mrs. Kee Robinson Is Honored At Tea In Lamesa Friday

LAMESA — Mrs. Kee Robinson of Midland, a recent bride, was the honoree for a tea Friday in the E. L. (Eck) Allen home. Sharing hostess duties with Mrs. Allen were Mrs. Lorene Groves, Mrs. Charnell Jobe, Mrs. Arpie White and Mrs. Walter Wade.

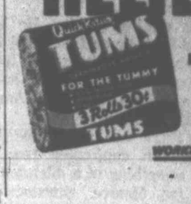

The Robinsons were married May 28 in Munich, Germany, where they were attending the university, and have arrived in Midland to make their home.

Mrs. Groves and Mrs. White greeted the guests, who were received by the honoree; her mother-in-law, Mrs. Frank Robinson, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Vernon Holt.

Laid with an Italian cut-work dinner cloth, the table held white and gold daisies arranged in milk glass provided the floral accent for the tea table. The names of the bridal pair "Kee and Maria" were inscribed in streamers extending from the floral arrangement. Milk glass appointments were used.

Mrs. John Hoffman registered the guests from a desk in the den marked with an arrangement of gold gladioli, daisies and lavender. Mrs. Bill Robinson and Bobbie Robinson assisted with the hospitality as did Judy Hancock, and Connie Williams, who, with Mrs. Groves, provided background music for the tea.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Make-Up Should Have Careful Application

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—I met Sarah Marshall, Herbert Marshall's attractive daughter, for the first time when I visited the Hitchcock set at CBS the other afternoon. After her rehearsal we walked across the street for a late lunch, and I noticed how perfectly Sarah's shocking pink lipstick matched her dress.

When I remarked about this, she said, "I think little things like that are terribly important. My mother (Edna Best) told me as far back as I can remember to pay attention to details, and your impression would take care of itself.

"I have a high appreciation for individuality," Sarah confessed. "If you copy someone else, their personality does not express 'you.' I went through the copy stage by imitating Marlene Dietrich and Katharine Hepburn." She laughed. "But I suppose this is something you have to get out of your system."

Sitting in a booth across from us was a young actress with her eyes heavily circled in black. "I hope eye make-up is here to stay," Sarah exclaimed, "but this type of exaggeration will have to go.

"Since I've been in Hollywood (Sarah lives in New York), I've learned how to make up my eyes the way I like them. The trick that helped was getting a Japanese brush—really a pen—with a long handle. The point is just right for brushing a line close to my lashes. Above that I put color."

I complimented her skill. "It takes practice," she explained. "You have to experiment to know what thickness of line does the most for you and how to keep it from feathering.

"I like liquid eye liners, but my make-up man on this show uses the cake form and I can't tell the difference. Now, when I look at a face without any accent on the eyes, I think it looks washed out. But too much accent is just as bad."

I wanted to know what type of eye shadow she uses. "I like the liquid. It stays on much better—especially in hot weather. Sometimes at night I use the iridescent kind. The sparkle is fun.

"Fun," Sarah repeated. "I think it's terribly important to have a sense of humor. A good laugh can be the best beauty secret a girl has. It will help keep tensions and frown lines away."

EYE MAKE-UP

There is more to eye beauty than simple circling the eye with a pencil line and dabbing mascara on the lashes. Deep-set eyes take different care than those with protruding lids. Nina Foch has helpful suggestions in leaflet M-16, "Make-Up and the Illusion of Beauty." For your copy, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, Big Spring Herald.

Likes Eye Make-Up

Actress Sarah Marshall feels eye make-up is here to stay and explains how to apply it skillfully. She stars in "Baby Blue Expression" on the CBS-TV "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" series next October.

A Devotional For Today

He (Jesus) poureth water into a basin, and began to wash the disciples' feet, and to wipe them with the towel wherewith he was girded. (John 13:5.)

PRAYER: O Thou Creator, who dost astonish us continually by serving us, help us to see that only with the eyes of faith can we witness the glory of Thy service for us. Why dost Thou repeatedly sacrifice Thyself for us? We have the answer in Thy great love. Help us to be grateful, even if we cannot be worthy. In Christ's name. Amen.

Chips Are Down—But They're Hot

Well, the chips are down in our relations with Cuba. President Eisenhower's virtual embargo on further Cuban sugar imports for this year thrust a hot poker in the hands of the Cuban dictator, Fidel Castro.

He had it coming to him. He has, in effect, asked for it by continual and vicious assault on the United States, by his seizure by expropriation of about one-third of a billion dollars worth of American property in the Cuban republic.

However, there was an unexpected repercussion which confronted the United States with something of a dilemma. High spokesmen for Mexico announced that Mexico was casting its support with Cuba in its economic affairs with the U. S.

Many Americans must feel that President Eisenhower delayed too long in slapping Castro down, or that he had dealt too gently with an upstart who got out of hand. Perhaps so, but the Mexican angle now has added another imponderable to the problem.

Suppose the Mexican utterances are taken as the official view of the Mexican government, just where would that put us not only in our relations with the Caribbean countries but also with those in South America? It's time for some realism in our policies as pertains to Latin America and some time for mending fences which, from the time Vice President Nixon was to roughly treated, having obviously been in need of some patching.

Convention Test May Come Today

A showdown test of strength in the Democratic National Convention may come today when the matter of adoption of rules comes up.

Two dark horse candidates, Stuart Symington and Adlai Stevenson, are expected to urge a ban on switching of votes at this convention. Frankly, this is aimed at Sen. Kennedy, the front runner; it has been rumored that the Kennedy managers, at some point during the first or second roll call ballot, would rise and invite some wavering delegations to switch their votes to their man. This could easily set off a stampede to the Kennedy bandwagon.

A ban on switching votes once a roll call has started, which would presumably help the fortunes of Sen. Johnson, was not encouraged by the Johnson camp. His managers said they won't ask for such a ban.

The chairman of the Citizens-for-Johnson committee, John B. Connally, said he was not particularly concerned about switching on the first ballot.

Permanent chairman of the convention, Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida, has discussed the rule change with Symington's manager. In interviews Collins has indicated that if the convention itself doesn't forbid switching of votes, he might be interested in taking action on the matter in his role as chairman, if possible.

Many share belief that switching of votes in the midst of a roll-call could stampede a convention.

Time For Action On Cuban Problem

WASHINGTON—The time for action on the Cuban problem has come. The patience of the United States government is not unlimited.

Dealing with an erratic individual like Fidel Castro requires precautionary measures. So Americans are rapidly getting out of Cuba. In a little while they may all have been evacuated, though no formal warning to leave Cuba has as yet been issued by the Department of State here. Out of the 6,000 Americans living there, nearly 3,000 have already departed with their families.

Is all this the forerunner of military action? Not unless Castro provokes such a crisis. But if he does, he will find no hesitation on the part of the United States to employ its military power to protect the lives and properties of its citizens.

The Castro government has confiscated the property of Americans, British and other Europeans involving hundreds of millions of dollars, and threatens more seizures. Confiscation in itself is not a basis for military action, but, if the property is actually stolen and nothing but worthless notes are issued in exchange, the American government is justified in taking over the properties and retaining possession until such time as a free government comes into office which will respect the rights of American and other foreign citizens in Cuba.

THE UNITED STATES government has an obligation not only to its own citizens but to those of other governments. For ever since the Monroe Doctrine was proclaimed in the early days of our republic, the United States has acted as a trustee for the citizens of other countries. The doctrine was designed as a warning to European governments not to seek to establish a foothold in this hemisphere by annexing or dominating territory not previously colonized by them. The Soviet government, by gaining control of the Castro regime, is today flagrantly disregarding the Monroe Doctrine.

In recent years the Monroe Doctrine has been accepted as an international obligation of all the Pan-American states. In 1954 at Caracas, Venezuela, the 10th Inter-American Conference, attended by members of the organization of American states, adopted a resolution which declared:

"That the domination or control of the political institutions of any American state by the international Communist movement, extending to this hemisphere the political system of an extracontinental power, would constitute a threat to the sovereignty and political independence of the American states, endangering the peace of America, and would call for a meeting of consultation of consider the adoption of appropriate action in accordance with existing treaties."

Such a consultation does not require unanimous action. Indeed, it may be just an intermediate step before a decision is made by the United States, along with several other countries, to use military force as authorized under Article 51 of the United Nations Charter. The only requirement is that the United Nations Security Council be given proper notice of the steps taken.

IT WILL BE RECALLED that back in June 1940 there was a threat of Nazi conquest of the French, British and Dutch possessions in this hemisphere. President Franklin D. Roosevelt secured the adoption by Congress of a joint resolution implementing a document previously signed by the foreign ministers of the American republics. Congress served notice then that no such transfer of sovereignty would be recognized and declared that, if such transfer seemed likely, the United States "in addition to other measures" would consult with the American republics "to determine on the steps which should be taken to safeguard their common interests."

Inasmuch as this is a campaign year, it is quite possible that President Eisenhower will feel impelled to ask Congress for a joint resolution authorizing him to take certain steps to prevent the Soviets from getting a foothold in Cuba. The possible shipment of Soviet arms to Cuba has already been reported. It was precisely to avoid a similar situation in 1914 that President Wilson ordered a ship carrying German arms to Mexico to be halted and turned back to its point of origin. To accomplish this, the customs house at Vera Cruz was seized by U. S. Marines.

THE UNITED STATES is not anxious to become involved in a military way in Cuba, but there have been hints by the Castro government of possible seizure of the U. S. Naval Base at Guantanamo, which is maintained by a Cuban-American treaty of many years standing. Certainly any attempt to interfere with the operation of that naval base would be resisted by U. S. forces.

Castro can have peace and he can do what he pleases internally. But the moment he confiscates foreign properties, does not pay for them, and threatens the safety of foreign citizens, the United States will not hesitate to use force to secure redress and protection not only for its citizens but for those of Britain and other countries whose lives and property have also been threatened.

There'll Be Plenty Of Excuses

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A victory for Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts — who seemed to have the presidential nomination sewed up before the Democratic convention opened today — will bring a gush of explanations, some too glib, some too pat, and some with only temporary significance.

Kennedy, for instance, beat the bushes all year looking for delegates, ran in the primaries, and visited most states while his closest rivals, Sens. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Stuart Symington of Missouri, ran in no primaries, met far fewer people, relied more on contacts with professional politicians.

BUT IT DOESN'T follow that would-be presidents in 1964 will have to imitate Kennedy in the belief the more people they meet and the more publicity they get the better their chances. You don't have to look further than Adlai E. Stevenson for a recent contrary example.

In 1952 he was governor of Illinois, admired by some important politicians, did no campaigning, didn't want the nomination, was known to very few convention delegates, and hardly at all by most Americans. Nevertheless, he wound up with the nomination handed to him.

This year there seemed no doubt he yearned for a third chance, but as the convention opened he looked like a sad also-ran. He was by then a two-time loser in the presidential race, and the delegates were reluctant to take a chance on him again. He said he wouldn't ask them to.

IT JUST HAPPENED that in 1952 there were no outstanding candidates. In that kind of vacuum the eloquent Stevenson looked like a natural. This year none of the Democratic candidates could be called a dominant figure.

Perhaps when that is the case in the future hard work will pay off for some other candidate as it appeared to do this year for Kennedy. But the memory of the unwilling Stevenson of 1952 says this idea isn't necessarily so.

The fact that all the announced candidates this year were senators does not prove that the nation in the future will look more toward Congress for its presidents and less toward other public men, particulary governors who were more or less in political eclipse this year.

For example: On the Republican side New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller would have been a standout—no Republican senator is close to him in prestige or public awareness of him—if Vice President Richard M. Nixon hadn't built himself up through performance and contacts as the No. 1 man.

Johnson indicated on TV last week he felt an obligation, as Democratic leader of the Senate, to stay close to his job. Therefore, he couldn't tear around the country, as Kennedy did, trying to line up delegates.

Instead he seemed to rely on the power of fellow senators and Democratic House members to rally support for him in a big way. This will look like a mistake in strategy if Kennedy wins the nomination. But that wouldn't necessarily be true, either.

For instance, Johnson is from the South. That alone is a handicap to any politician looking for a presidential nomination at a time when the racial issue is still such a problem in the South.

But if Johnson's record in Senate leadership and voting—particularly on civil rights and labor—had been satisfactory to big city Negroes and organized labor, satisfactory enough for them to support him, all of Kennedy's efforts this year might have counted for nothing.

Some Optimism About Parkinson's Disease

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Please write about Parkinson's Disease. My husband, who is 64, has it. We have already been told there is no cure, but there must be something we can do to help at home, along with the aid that drugs give.

—Mrs. B. F. J."

Yes, there are things you can do at home.

But first, let's offer a few words of advice to people who are having an encounter with this disease. I have mentioned Parkinson's Disease, or Parkinsonism before, but not at any length. Since Parkinsonism is probably going to become a more frequent problem in the future, it deserves greater understanding.

This is a disease which involves a small and very specific center in the brain. The result is that muscular activity becomes difficult. There is a chronic rigidity of the muscles, and when the person with Parkinsonism makes the additional effort required to move, there is a tremor or trembling as it is done.

If you don't realize what this is like, hold the muscles in your hand and arm as tense as you can for a minute or two—you'll find this is a long time! Then, still holding the muscles tense, reach for a pencil and write something. You will readily see why, if you had to hold your muscles tense all the time, you would find the tremor or trembling starting to develop.

Parkinson's Disease begins insidiously. The fatigue is often attributed to "age," and the shakiness to "nerves." Gradually the tremor of the hand increases, walking is a bit more difficult, there often is a change in facial expression because of the muscular rigidity.

Too often the patient as well as members of the family deny that the disease exists. This is a mistake. They should face the facts. The facts are not altogether gloomy, and if you admit that a problem exists, you can then find out what to do about it.

Here are some of the optimistic things you should know about Parkinsonism. It does not shorten life. It does not ordinarily progress rapidly. It develops slowly, or may remain static for years. It has no relation to intelligence—I've known both prize fighters and college presidents who have had it.

And after the disease appears, it does not affect intelligence, sanity, hearing or vision. It may, however, affect speech in that the muscular activity of speaking becomes more difficult.

While it is true that it is fruitless as a rule to look for a "cure," there are a good many things that can be done to make the difficulty less bothersome. One of them is to realize—and this applies to the patient's family and friends as well as to the patient—that the trembling, difficulty of speech (if that happens to be present) or other symptoms do not mean that the afflicted person can't see, hear and think as well as ever. This is a MUSCULAR disturbance. Tomorrow let's discuss what you can do about it.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has kidney stone attacks. Sometimes he passes some stones, sometimes not. Is there anything that can be done to avoid them?

—Mrs. J. F."

Yes. An abundance of fluid (water, etc.) to keep the urine dilute is the best preventive for kidney stones. If stones, when passed, have been analyzed, it then becomes possible in many cases for the doctor to suggest diet changes, or medication to alter either the acidity or alkalinity of the urine, to inhibit formation of more stones.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Will taking baking soda for indigestion cause hardening of the arteries?

E.B.C."

No. But if you are on a low-salt diet for elevated blood pressure or heart disease, you should not take baking soda, as it is too high in sodium content. Other drugs, such as aluminum hydroxide jel, either alone or compounded into liquid or tablet form, will work as well.

Postage Is Cheaper Than You Think

One thing and another:

If you get disgruntled with the way things are going in Washington and decide to dash off a letter to your congressman, you pay only four cents to make certain it is delivered to the solon.

Your ancestors, who, no doubt, felt the same compulsion at times, had to ante up anywhere from 25 cents to $1 for the privilege along about 1832. Money was much tighter in those days, too.

Perhaps that's a way to make inroads on the national debt—charge 10 times the postage for sending mail to a representative or a senator as to any other mortal.

THE SOLONS might favor such practices, too. They, no doubt, get buried under avalanches of letters and post cards from disgruntled voters, from time to time.

In 1832, it cost six cents to send a one-page letter up to 30 miles; 10 cents for distances between 30 and 80 miles; 12½ cents for 80 to 150 miles; 18¾ cents for 150 to 400 miles; and 25 cents for more than 400 miles.

Two-page letters were called "double letters" and the fee ran twice as much as one-page epistles. The rate went up accordingly. You can understand why no one took the time to write 10-page letters in those days.

EXPERTS ON THE subject say butterflies can be as stubborn as mules.

They are also lazy, inclined to be flirts and are as finicky about their food as spoiled children.

A Miss Jocelyn Crane of the Department of Tropical Research, New York Zoological Society, who keeps butterflies for study, says it is as hard to cater to the creatures as it is to run a resort hotel.

BIG METROPOLITAN sewer systems will be obsolete within 10 years, one expert believes.

In their place, he sees a self-contained disposal plant for each home. Water, now used as a sewage carrier, could be used over and over again, with purification after each use.

The next major appliance, our informant says, will be a single disposal unit for all wastes.

Candidates Avoid Presidential Suite

LOS ANGELES—Although by actual count I am one of two persons attending the Democratic National Convention who isn't running for anything, even cover, I find myself an occupant of the Presidential Suite of the Biltmore Hotel, convention headquarters.

I owe this heady eminence either to the superstition, the innate modesty or the fear of last laughter—or a combination of all three—among the pride of Presidential candidates stalking the political jungles of southern California.

Not one of 'em would touch the Presidential Suite with a 10-foot pollster, although the Messrs. Kennedy, Stevenson, Johnson, Symington and a gaggle of favorite sons seem to entertain no similar difference about possible occupany of the White House.

SO THE SUITE FELL to the lot of Dan A. Kimball, former Secretary of the Navy in the time of Truman, and Mrs. Kimball, who is the political columnist, Doris Fleeson. Kimball is the other Democrat who isn't running for anything, but he is also the party stalwart who, as chairman of the Los Angeles host committee, raised the funds to defray the expenses of the 1960 Democratic convention.

The long and short of it is that the Kimballs invited me to share the Presidential spread with them. The one penalty attached to this hospitality is the constant necessity to deny the rumor that former President Truman is fighting made and shunning the convention because he didn't get the Biltmore's Presidential Suite.

The truth is that Mr. Truman never asked for the suite. In addition, the Kimballs are such devoted friends of the former President that if he should show up in Los Angeles and ask for the suite, the Kimballs would move out instantly, snatching me with them. And there would be another trio sleeping in the park in this overcrowded town.

Selfishly, I pray that the former President sticks to Independence, Mo., as he threatened.

AS THE DEMOCRATIC show gets on the road today, it is obvious that the most imperative need of anyone attending it is not arch supporters, or vitamins or stamina, but a social secretary.

The social schedule is so crowded that delegates and Democratic VIPs will find difficulty in rendezvousing in a little time to attend the convention proper.

Over the week end, it was a simple matter of paying your driver and taking your choice of a party in Pasadena for Adlai Stevenson, the reluctant dragon, given by Mrs. Agnes Meyer of Washington, D.C., or of a barn-raising in Los Angeles for the press given by California's Gov. Pat Brown, or a glittering cook-out in Beverly Hills given by Jules C. Stein, president of the Music Corporation of America, and Mrs. Stein, at which the stars of the Democratic party and of Hollywood exchanged autographs.

NOR SHOULD I forget the reception and buffet dinner given by Paul M. Butler, chairman of the Democratic party, at the Beverly Hilton Hotel for, as the invitation read, "the distinguished representatives of the media of communications." I think that means "reporters". Or the dinner dance given by Gov. and Mrs. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Pauley. Pauley was treasurer of the national committee in 1944. Or the $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner attended by all the candidates.

Tonight delegates can forget the rigors of the convention's first day at a dinner-dance given by the Los Angeles host committee at the Cocoanut Grove, or pleasure themselves at a buffet supper given by Mr. and Mrs. Phil Regan in honor of David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, and Mrs. McDonald.

THE ONLY HEARTACHE of the Democratic social season is, oddly enough, occasioned by Perle Mesta, the Democrats' party girl.

In the past, the supper-dance given by two-party Perle has always been the social climax of the Democratic National Convention. For some inexplicable reason, Perle is giving a brunch instead of a ball this year. The brunch is scheduled for tomorrow at the Cocoanut Grove.

Party prophets can't figure out whether Perle is so optimistic over a Democratic victory in '60 that she feels a—[illegible] ol' brunch will suffice, or so pessimistic of a Republican landslide that she feels even a ball won't turn the tide.

Platform Committee Out To Knife Lyndon

WASHINGTON—Bitter men already repudiated in their own states by their own closest party associates are trying to break Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson's presidential candidacy in advance.

They are attempting to drive even his supporters from the moderate—as well as the conservative—South out of the Democratic convention before the presidential balloting begins.

They are demanding civil rights and allied planks so irrationally extreme as to make it impossible for any moderate—from any section, for that matter—to accept them.

Though they are unlikely to accomplish their objective, the possibility does exist. And Johnson himself knows it. In leaving here for Los Angeles, the Texan unhesitatingly conceded his chief rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy, to be the front-runner "as of now." Johnson nevertheless showed no great worry over this situation.

HIS PRINCIPAL concern, instead was that his Southern and border state supporters might be taunted into angry reactions by the sustained provocations of ostensible South-baiters who are more exactly Johnson-baiters.

The message of highest priority he carried to his backers in Los Angeles—as, ironically, the only Senate leader ever to pass real civil rights legislation in eight decades—was this:

"No matter what they do or say to you, don't let them make you lose your heads."

A heavy obligation for responsible conduct undoubtedly now rests upon the chairman of the convention Platform Committee, Rep. Chester Bowles of Connecticut. For much more than Johnson's future is involved here. Involved also is the future of Kennedy himself, should he emerge the nominee.

KENNEDY'S DANGER is that overzealous, "friends" might write a civil rights plank so wildly vindictive and unworkable as to lose him the South and the border states as well in the November election. Any such plank—and again ironically—would be wholly alien to Kennedy's record and convictions.

Though a genuine liberal on civil rights, he believes in a rational approach to an old and passionate problem. And he maintains, so far the warmest of political friendships with the moderate Southerners.

Bowles, a frank but fair-minded Kennedy partisan, was appointed to the platform post by Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler. Butler, also a Kennedy backer though lately a quieter one has been cutting at Johnson tirelessly for years.

NO ONE SUPPOSES Bowles personally will be less than fair. The question is whether he can restrain others. The Butler-appointed platform co-chairman, Philip Perlman, is an extremist civil rights advocate, as is Butler. Two additional such advocates with great influence before the committee are Paul Ziffren and Joseph Rauh Jr. Both have had a widely-known animosity to Johnson.

Butler, though still national chairman, long since was ousted by his own colleagues as national committeeman from his own state of Indiana. Ziffren was just similarly ousted by his own colleagues in California. Perlman never held elective office and for eight years has held no appointive office. He was solicitor general in the Truman Administration. Rauh never held any public office. He speaks for a splinter group called Americans for Democratic Action. One of ADA's highest stated aims is the defeat of Johnson.

ELECTED UNITED States senators from the South who are supposed to be on the platform committee have publicly complained that the Butler group for the first time in history has refused even to consult with them. One of these senators, Sam Ervin Jr. of North Carolina, is a distinguished former judge and an honor graduate of a scarcely pro-Southern law school, that of Harvard University.

And he represents the most liberal state in the South—and one of the most liberal in all the nation—on race problems.

It was the same story when he observed his 50th wedding anniversary recently. He was in bed with a cast on his leg for a broken hip.

Marlin Hosts Mystery Light

MARLIN (AP) — James Connally Air Force Base authorities investigated Sunday night a mysterious light that hovered over this Central Texas city.

No one was able to explain the light satisfactorily.

Witnesses said the light appeared about 8 p.m. before complete darkness, and moved slowly east at 1,000 to 1,500 feet. It appeared about a quarter the size of the moon.

C. P. Bridgewater, an electrician, said the light remained in the sky for about two minutes, and then diminished in intensity and trailed off into sparks.

He said he could see no evidence of a parachute such as a military parachute flare would make. Bridgewater said after the light sputtered out, what appeared to be the running lights of a plane turned and went north.

A great many persons in Marlin viewed the light. Connally AFB sent a helicopter to investigate but reportedly found no clues.

DEAR ABBY

DO NOT DISTURB

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a middle-aged woman, own my own trailer and live in a first-class trailer court. I work hard all day and like to come home, shower, fix my supper, get into my housecoat, pin up my hair and relax with my hobbies.

In the trailer next to mine lives a bachelor just my age. Neither of us has ever been married. I like my life and he says he likes his—but every evening about 8:30 here comes this bachelor.

I am not interested in him and he is not interested in me, except as someone to listen to him talk. I've heard his life story a hundred times.

Wouldn't you think if a man enjoys a woman's company so much he would take her out for dinner or a movie? He has plenty of money (he has mentioned it often enough) but he's afraid someone will try to marry him for it. How can I get rid of this bore without making him angry?

NO PRIVACY

DEAR NO PRIVACY: Get a "DO NOT DISTURB" sign and hang it on your door. If he knocks anyway, stick your head out the window and say, "Oh, didn't you see the sign? I was resting." He'll go away. Repeat this as often as you want privacy. It will work.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have a beautiful wife and daughter who look alike and they are beginning to act alike. My wife refuses to wear a slip and my daughter, who is 16, does just what her mother does.

Sometimes it is all right because their outer clothes are heavy enough, but when they wear thin dresses you can see right through. We have had several arguments about this. The wife says that very few sophisticated women wear slips. And the daughter says none of her friends wear them. With summer here, I am getting nervous again. Maybe I am old-fashioned, but I wish you'd set me (and those women of mine) straight. Thanks.

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Your wife is mistaken. A lady never allows herself to be "seen through." Compromise. Ask the girls to wear half-slips.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: We gave our 18-year-old son a car for high school graduation, and now he is out dating every night. He never cared much for girls, but lately he has been staying out until 3 and 4 every morning.

We know that daughters are expected to bring home their dates so their parents can meet them. But is this true of sons? I keep telling my husband that "nice" girls couldn't stay out that late. My husband says I am "over protective."

Am I wrong to be concerned? Why don't parents of boys have the same right to meet the company their sons keep as have parents of girls?

CONCERNED MOTHER

DEAR CONCERNED: They have. Find out who the girls are. You are wise to be suspicious of girls who have as much freedom and as little supervision as these young ladies (?) appear to have.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "KICKING MYSELF": All mistakes are good for something—if only to learn a bitter lesson.

Season's First Hurricane Is In Caribbean

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) —The season's first hurricane, small but violent, roared into the Caribbean sea today and appeared to be growing in intensity.

Hurricane Abby, with winds of 75 m.p.h., was expected to pass about 175 miles south of Cabo Rojo on the southwest tip of Puerto Rico tonight.

There was little danger to Puerto Rico but as a precautionary measure a hurricane watch was in effect for the Dominican Republic and Haiti further westward. Gale warnings flew along the south coast of Puerto Rico.

Small craft between the island of St. Kitts and the Dominican Republic were advised to remain in port.

Abby could take two traditional hurricane paths. One lies westward through the Caribbean and possibly the Gulf of Mexico. The other would take it northward, to the east of Florida and the Bahamas.

It was so far away that the Miami Weather Bureau forecasters would make no future predictions.

Gale winds reached out 150 miles to the north and 75 miles to the south of the storm center.

Abby is not now a major storm but hurricane hunter pilots reported it appeared to be growing.

At 4 a.m. (EST), it was at about latitude 14.7 north, longitude 65.6 west. Since then it has been moving west-northwest at about 14 miles an hour.

Last Thursday hurricane hunters reported an easterly wave passed the windward islands. Hurricane Abby apparently developed from this.

She Likes All The Candidates

49th Division Readies For Camp

DALLAS (AP) — The 49th Armored Division of the Texas Army National Guard got busy this week in preparation for annual summer camp beginning Sunday at North Ft. Hood.

Advance elements of the 106 units of the 10,000-man division will arrive at the Fort Friday.

"This year's main objective will be training of units rather than concentration on the individual soldier's skill," said Maj. Gen. John Thompson Jr., division commander.

Actress Settles Suit Against Studio

LOS ANGELES (AP) — British actress Diana Dors has settled her $1,275,000 suit against RKO Pictures Inc. for $200,000, court aides reported.

Miss Dors, 28, filed the suit in February of last year, claiming the studio had agreed to pay her $200,000 upon cancelling two movies in which she was to star. She said the studio not only refused to pay but also defamed her.

Long Island Commuters At Work Despite Rail Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Long Island's huge commuter population apparently got to work today without major difficulty despite a strike on the Long Island Railroad. The walkout began over the weekend.

Highways and subways into New York City were crowded about 20 per cent above normal, police estimated, but there were no major traffic snarls.

Scheduling of extra buses and subway trains, car pools, and the suspension of some parking regulations were credited with easing the situation.

A threatened spread of the strike to the Pennsylvania Railroad failed to have serious effect on train movements. The road reported that its trains operated normally, although maintenance men and other employes refused to cross LIRR picket lines and stayed away from their jobs in large numbers.

An early start on the rush hour apparently helped smooth the movement of the 175,000 people who normally travel the Long Island's lines from Suffolk and Nassau counties and Brooklyn and Queens into the city.

The railroad the nation's busiest commuter line, was struck early Sunday by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen after efforts by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and mediators had failed to settle the pay-hours dispute.

The only hope for an early settlement was in the hands of a three-man board of inquiry appointed by the governor.

The strikers include 1,350 trainmen and workers in several other job categories.

The pivotal issue in the dispute is a demand by the strikers for a five-day week to replace the present six-day week with no cut in pay. At the prestrike meeting called by Rockefeller, the railroad offered to grant the five-day schedule if the union would agree to economies that would cut the cost from $350,000 a year to $200,000. The LIRR also asked the union to give up its veto power over manning assignments.

Texas Delegation Faces Loyalty Test

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Lyndon Johnson's home state delegation today faces its final test of party loyalty, but the Texas leaders are not expecting serious trouble.

A credentials committee session a few hours before opening of the Democratic National Convention is the last chance for any question to be raised about the right of any Johnson delegate to a seat.

A threatened effort by Mrs. R. D. (Frankie) Randolph, ousted national committeewoman and bitter enemy of Johnson, to put the Republican label on some of his delegates failed to materialize last week.

The Texas delegation leaders and Mrs. Randolph fought a battle of guest tickets Sunday and Mrs. Randolph won by hanging on to half the 120 passes alloted Texas.

She said she was going to distribute them to "a group of fine, loyal liberal Democrats from Texas", some of whom felt they also were entitled to be delegates.

The uproar over tickets left a large group of family and friends of delegates without a chance of getting in to see even one session of the convention. Instead, they will gather in Johnson's public reception room at the Biltmore to watch it on TV.

Both Johnson and Gov. Price Daniel said National Chairman Paul Butler was "rigging the gallery" by giving the guest tickets to Mrs. Randolph, who is out as national committeewoman when the convention is over.

She insisted it was still her right to have the tickets and Butler backed her.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Randolph herself was for a while without a ticket because she inadvertently left her credentials in the national committee offices. They got into the hands of Byron Skelton, national committeeman, and he kept Mrs. Randolph in suspense for awhile. Then he delivered them.

The harsh words aimed at Butler and Mrs. Randolph gave the jittery Texans a chance to let off some steam and perhaps relieve their tension. Los Angeles is a volcano of rumors, such as one that Johnson was about to throw in the towel.

This was quickly squashed by Johnson himself who said he was just beginning to fight. The Johnson leaders have one major objective: to get by the first ballot, then cash in on switches.

Every Johnson lieutenant is working on that.

Johnson is wheeling almost around the clock himself. At the other end of the hall on the seventh floor of the Biltmore, Speaker Sam Rayburn is working on congressmen.

The first official caucus with Johnson presiding as delegation chief was often an uproar of applause as Johnson and Daniel ripped into Butler and Mrs. Randolph.

"The votes may not be rigged but the attendance and galleries are," Daniel said heatedly.

Johnson also drew shouts of applause when he noted that Mrs. Randolph had taken a 2,252 to 37 whipping in the state convention, but was favored with half the tickets by Butler.

"And they lecture us about unfairness," Johnson said.

N. Y. CIO Leader Opposes Lyndon

NEW YORK (AP)—The president of the state CIO says he hopes Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas has no chance to be nominated for president.

"It never happened in history before," said Louis Hollander, "that a man who is a sectionalist, who represents one section of the country, should be nominated for president."

He said that should the Democratic Party be "stupid" enough to nominate the Texan, labor might ignore the presidential race and concentrate on Congress.

Hollander, appearing Sunday on a television program, said it would be impossible for labor to support Vice President Richard Nixon, who is virtually assured the Republican nomination.

Pollander said Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, who is available for a draft, would be a more attractive candidate to labor than Nixon.

Hollander previously announced his support of Sen. John Kennedy for the Democratic nomination.

Water Use Still At Low Levels

Big Spring residents used water at a moderate rate over the weekend as effects of last week's bountiful rain continued to hold.

The city filter plant pumped 14,810,000 gallons Friday through Sunday from the Colorado River Municipal Water District reservoir. Residents used 14,590,000 gallons during the period.

Last year, for the same three days, the filter plant took 17,409,000 gallons from the reservoir, and residents used 17,857,000 gallons.

Filmtown Influence At Demo Meeting

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's only a dozen miles from Hollywood to the site of the Democratic National Convention. So, naturally, the big show will take on some trappings of the glamor capital.

It's not like the old days, when Hollywood was virtually an FDR camp. Like many wealthy and fairly settled towns, Hollywood now leans toward the Republicans. But there are still enough Democratic stars to give the convention a glittering look.

Tonight's opening session will see a star-spangled chorale singing the national anthem on TV. Among the choristers: Ralph Bellamy, Nat King Cole, Tony Curtis, George Jessel, Peter Lawford, Shirley Maclaine, Lee Marvin, Sheree North, Vincent Price, Barbara Rush, Frank Sinatra, Sammy Davis Jr., Shelley Winters, and Jan Sterling.

The man who corraled the talent and prepared the entertainment is veteran screen writer Allen Rivkin, director of the Democrats' Art Council.

"We're not going to give the delegates a lot of entertainment at the sports arena," he explained. "They're here for business; they can get entertainment elsewhere. The main thing we provide is a musical frame for the sessions. We'll have the national anthem at the beginning and at the end, too, following some spirituals. I've seen the English sing their anthem at the beginning and close of their public events, and it's a good system."

Helping to complete the frame will be the 35-piece brass band that also plays for the Los Angeles Rams, plus Gaylord Carter at the mighty organ. They'll no doubt be belaboring TV and radio listeners with the convention's official 1960 tune, "Walin' down to Washington."

If the history-making event isn't enough as bait, they'll also provide everything from a Japanese girl drum corps and Virgin Islands steel band to the Los Angeles police motorcycle drill team performing to the tune of "Dragnet." Dum-da-dum-dum, remember?

Beauties From Around The World

Beauties from five continents of the world gathered a Miami Beach, Fla., for the preliminary judging in the Miss Universe beauty pageant. Pictured in friendly handclasp are, left to right: Miss Ecuador, Isabel Rolando Ceballos; Miss Italy, Daniela Bianchi; Miss USA, Linda Bement; Miss Japan, Yayoi Foruno; and Miss Tunisia, Louise Marie Garrigues. Miss Bement eventually won the "Miss Universe" title.

Negro Congressman Tells Why He Supports Sen. Johnson

By JOE LEWIS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lounging in a bathing suit and waving a long, thin cigar as though it were a scepter, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-NY) welcomed his visitor.

The Congressman from Harlem ambled out to the swimming pool dancer, slid into a lounge chair at the home of a Negro friend with whom he is staying, and started talking.

He's backing Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri for the Democratic presidential nomination, but he said his second choice is Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

Would Negroes vote for a southerner?

"You can't frighten Negro voters with sectionalism," he replied. "LBJ gets things done. For the first time in 82 years, Congress has passed a civil rights bill—thanks to Johnson.

"It took courage for a Southerner to do what he did. (Sen. John F.) Kennedy has not shown that kind of courage."

Kennedy of Massachusetts, addressing a rally sponsored by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, called for a strong civil rights plank and added: "I want our party to speak with courage and candor on every issue, and that includes civil rights."

Powell spoke briefly of Symington—"He's got an excellent voting record"—and then launched into sharp criticism of Kennedy and considerable praise of Johnson, the two front-runners.

He said he was particularly incensed about a luncheon meeting between Kennedy and Gov. John Patterson of Alabama, and Patterson's subsequent endorsement of Kennedy.

Would he endorse Kennedy against Vice President Richard M. Nixon? "I don't know yet," he said with the air of a man who doesn't like the alternatives.

Powell broke party lines and supported Eisenhower against Adlai E. Stevenson in 1956 but since has expressed disenchantment with the President.

Is there such a thing as a Negro vote?

"No more than there's a Jewish or Irish vote," he replied, "and I might add that white people—even revered leaders like Eleanor Roosevelt—no longer speak for Negroes. They speak for themselves."

What sort of a civil rights plank does he favor?

His answer was surprisingly moderate: "The main thing is that the executive, legislative and judicial branches reaffirm that the Supreme Court decision is the law of the land."

Cash For Meat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reports that ranchers and farmers received $11,036,000,000 in cash from their marketings of meat animals during 1959.

Der Bingo's Kids Working Hard, Dad May Keep On

EDITOR'S NOTE — AP TV - radio writer Cynthia Lowry is on vacation. In her absence, noted television and entertainment personalities are pinchhitting. First at bat is none other than durable Bing Crosby, with some reflections on durability.

By BING CROSBY
Written for The Associated Press

Comes now my seasonal seminar on the subject of retirement.

I've given it considerable thought — in a negative sort of way.

My stand is that a fellow shouldn't go into voluntary retirement while his golf game is up to par and he is genuinely enjoying the kind of work he is cut out for.

Golf was not invented as a game for desiccated old duffers who are trying to duck the problem of counting their money and hoping to escape the social fluff invented by their wives.

Let's think about that categorically. My golf game isn't too bad. I let the government count my money. I'm having a ball perprofessional chores. And Kathy has no truck with social chaff.

This brings me to the subject of Bob Hope, the fellow who refers to me as the "crow of the crooners." Why he works so hard, I'll never know. He's really loaded, but he works even to the exclusion of his golf, which is a game I know he lives with all his heart. But he works day and night. He would do anything, fly anywhere to pick up a plaque.

It's better to do an odd job here and there, as the spirit moves you. The ABC spirits only move me to do two of their specials a year, and I take jobs out at Twentieth Century-Fox when they don't interfere with my time with my family, my fishing, and golf. Why, I can have a romp with the children after their morning feeding and be ensconced in the barber chair of the Fox make-up department in five minutes flat.

We've got "High Time" all wrapped up now and, from what I've seen of the rough cut, we may have a winner.

The ABC TV studios are a bit farther down the road from my home, but I can tend to my recording chores en route and pick up some fishing gear at the same time.

My next special for the network is set for Oct. 5, and there isn't much I can tell you about it at this point except that I'll have three of my boys on for a return engagement. They did right well on their last outing.

Come to think of it, these lads have been piling up so many bookings of late they might begin to give some serious thought to their retirement. Dad will be only too happy to keep on working.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

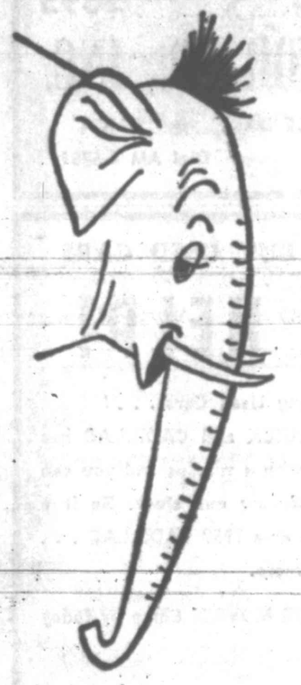

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H.® At your druggist. Money back guarantee.
