Re-Check of Loot Reveals Loss of $2,170 When Currency Feared Taken Is Found in Safe.

Red Mud on Ford Sedan Is Proof That It Had Been Driven in Hills East of Higgins.

HIGGINS, Nov. 13. (Special)—Descriptions of three men who yesterday afternoon robbed the First National bank of Higgins of $2,170 were broadcast in Oklahoma today following receipt of information that the bandits were seen passing through Gage, northeast of here, last night.

First reported as $6,000, the loot today was determined as approximately $2,170. Much of the currency at first believed taken was found in a second safe with the silver, which was overlooked. The re-check was made by T. H. Black, president of the bank, who was kidnapped but released a mile north of here and told to forget descriptions of the robbers.

One of the bandits, evidently the leader, was about 35 years old, heavy-set, and swarthy. He told Black he made the raid to get money for "my hungry wife and babies." His companion was much younger, of slender build and blue eyes. Mr. Black did not see the third bandit plainly because that man, who stayed outside to drive the car, had a cap pulled down over his eyes.

Mrs. C. D. Wilkins, bookkeeper, and Loren Grace were with Black in the bank when the pair entered. The former two were imprisoned in the vault but later released.

Officers were believed to have clues to identity of at least one of the men.

PARSONS, Kans., Nov. 13. (AP)—Four persons kidnapped by two men who held up the State bank of Parsons yesterday returned to their homes here last night after they had been released near Quapaw, Okla.

The captives, Joe Flynn, assistant cashier; Andrew Wheat, teller; Miss Ella Travis, bookkeeper, and Dr. F. J. Donnelly, a customer, were released unharmed. They were forced into the bandit machine after the robbers had taken approximately $2,500 from the institution, and had driven 150 miles at a high speed over treacherous roads.

Congress Will Decide Dilemma Of Navy Support

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. (AP)—President Hoover is ready to let congress take the next step in determining how much the American navy will cost.

He plans to submit a navy budget for the 1933 fiscal year calling for $343,000,000. This is $50,000,000 less than the department requested originally and $15,000,000 less than the supply bill passed by the last congress.

In announcing the proposed cuts in expenditures which precipitated him into controversy with big navy advocates, the chief executive said they did not contemplate abandonment of a single navy vessel, commissioning a single combat decommissioning or decreasing the enlisted personnel of the navy.

The method by which they will be accomplished will not be made public until presented to congress next month.

Mr. Hoover said "the budget provides for the continued construction of every one of the treaty ships authorized by congress, except six destroyers... the program proposed under this budget will not decrease but will slightly increase the total direct and indirect employment in the navy in naval construction in the next fiscal year over and above that of the present year."

NOT LOST—JUST MISLAID

It restores a body's faith in his fellowmen to observe how many lost articles are found and returned to their owners by honest people.

We see it every day here at Want-Ad Headquarters—the meeting place of those who lose and those who find.

When you miss something, don't count it lost. It is probably only mislaid and some one is waiting to return it to you.

Japanese Troops At Scene of Tientsin Riots

On the march in the Tientsin trouble zone, members of a typical Japanese machine gun corps are shown here in a picture taken before the recent outbreak of street warfare with rioting Chinese mobs. Japanese soldiers bombarded the rioters after several persons in the Japanese concession in Tientsin had been killed by stray bullets and the concession threatened with invasion.

Must Collect Rail Pledges

Legal Steps Are to Be Started Monday—Large Amounts Required.

Legal means of collecting pledges signed to purchase right-of-way for the Fort Worth and Denver railway line through Gray county will be started Monday morning, Mel B. Davis, chairman of the right-of-way committee, announced today.

Practically all of the money available was paid out this morning so that additional construction work near Pampa could be started.

Little money is being received by A. J. McAllister at his office in the White Deer Land building, and as a result legal procedure must be started. Signers of large pledges are the slowest, Mr. Davis said and they will be asked to pay first.

The railway company stands ready to start more work on the line as soon as Pampans have paid money to purchase additional right-of-way, but until that time the two camps are all that will be established here. Starting of additional work will help relieve the unemployment situation, and it is up to the Pampans who signed pledges to honor them and help the situation, Mr. Davis said.

"Giant-Killer" Is Victim of Jokes

District Attorney Raymond Allred is being "kidded" every where he goes today. He is being called "Giant Killer" and all because the "Amarillo Daily News" made a "bust" this morning. Intending to run the picture of Jimmie Allred, fighting attorney general, a mix-up occurred and the picture of Pampa's Raymond Allred appeared on the front page with a story about James V. Allred and his fight against major oil companies.

The district attorney says he doesn't mind the error and that it will be up to his brother to "kick."

Unemployed Man Works Out Fine

The unemployed Pampan who was placed in jail yesterday afternoon because he refused to accept work offered him by the Pampa Welfare board, entered a plea of guilty to vagrancy charges and Judge J. H. Blythe assessed his fine at $13.50. Chief J. I. Downs then put the man to work and announced that he would work every day until his fine was "paid out."

The welfare board refused to give the man groceries after he had refused a third job offered him. Chief Downs announced earlier in the fall that "loafers" would work, leave town, or go to jail and although he did not press his threat because of lack of work he is going to do so in the future as several men have refused jobs offered them.

R. B. Haines, managing editor of the Miami Chief visited here yesterday afternoon after attending the football game in White Deer.

TEXAS BAPTISTS LAUNCH PROTEST ON CITIZENSHIP REQUIREMENT AS TO WAR

Promise to Bear Arms Is Held Proper When Made On Condition That War Is Morally Justified.

BRIEF ARGUMENT

Methodists Fail to Approve Ministry of Youthful Pastor Who Has Not Finished Education.

WACO, Nov. 13. (AP)—The Baptist General Convention of Texas today adopted resolutions protesting a decision of the supreme court of the United States which declared Douglas Clyde MacIntosh, a Baptist minister and professor in the divinity school of Yale university, ineligible for citizenship because he would not promise to bear arms in any war which the United States may be engaged.

MacIntosh would not promise to bear arms "unless he believed the war to be morally justified," said the resolution, which was offered by Dr. J. B. Tidwell of Baylor university. The court decision was divided, five to four. The resolution, expressed "solemn protest against the conscience-oppressing interpretation of the constitution involved in the decision," and stated "we repudiate the Pagan doctrine of the supremacy of the state over the Christian conscience therein asserted; we insist that when we must choose between the authority of men, even men administering human government, and the authority of Christ, we are bound to say, 'we must obey God rather than man.'"

Work for Reversal The convention pledged itself to work "the reversal of this decision with its un-Christian implications, or in case we fail in this effort, to seek an amendment to the constitution of the United States which will make citizenship harmonize with Christian principles."

To Professor MacIntosh "and others in the same position," the Baptists expressed "our sincere sympathy and the hope that our country will soon admit to the full rights of citizenship all like them who have no disqualification except that they will not violate the integrity of conscience and disobey what they believe to be the will of God."

The resolution was adopted unanimously after the Rev. Jesse E. Livingston of San Antonio withdrew objections he made when it first came to the floor. Dr. Tidwell and Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas spoke in advocacy of the resolution.

Pastor Not Admitted VERNON, Nov. 13. (AP)—The Northwest Texas conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, for the first time in the memory of delegates, failed today to admit a youthful pastor on trial because he had not completed the educational conditions required by church law.

The vote came on recommendation that a student preacher in the Lubbock district be accepted on trial, but lacked the necessary two-thirds majority to set aside the church rule.

Presiding elders of several districts engaged in a spirited argument before the vote was taken, some declaring "a man's knowledge of grammar has nothing to do with the call to preach the word of God."

Postpone Admission This provoked a rejoinder that the church did not bar a man because he was lacking in educational qualifications, but rather asked that he postpone asking admission on trial as a pastor until he could meet requirements, unless he could show circumstances so unusual that the rule should be set aside.

Those admitted on trial were Rev. Ray Johnson, supply pastor at Pampa during the past year; Marvin Lee Boyd, Southern Methodist university graduate; Lester Lee Hill, of Amarillo district; H. R. Bennett, of Perryton district; C. M. Ellis, Stamford district; George C. Hardy, Sweetwater district, and N. Henderson, Vernon district.

Remaining on trial and advanced to the second year class were: Marvin Williams, C. D. Damore, Edwin A. Irvin, Allen A. Pearson, Alfred H. Freeman, Omar P. Story, R. B. Walden, D. W. Thompson, F. M. Beauchamp, J. E. Kirby and J. E. Peters.

Suit for Damages In Accident Filed

Mrs. M. A. Ratcliff of McCall, Miss, entered suit in 114th district court yesterday against the Johnson Transportation company of Borger, claiming damages resulting from the death of her son, Frank E. Ratcliff of Pampa.

Mrs. Ratcliff asked for $7,500 damages and $7,500 exemplary damages. In her petition she named Tom R. Johnson and D. M. Cannon as owners of the transportation company.

Mr. Ratcliff was instantly killed April 2 of this year when the car he was driving crashed into the rear of a gasoline trailer about three miles west of Pampa. Ratcliff's car caught fire from the impact and was practically destroyed.

Mrs. Ratcliff claims negligence and violation of various state laws in her petition.

In Tientsin

Lives of the 500 American residents in riot-torn Tientsin, China, are being protected by troops of the Fifteenth U. S. Infantry under the command of Col. James D. Taylor, above. Widely known in military circles, he was awarded a Distinguished Service medal during the World war.

HONOR COURT TO BE HELD

Boy Scout Awards To Be Made This Evening At Baker School.

The auditorium of the Baker school tonight will be the scene of one of the most important Boy Scouts courts of honor held this year.

The court will be called to order at 7:30 o'clock by the Rev. A. H. Hyde, who will be in charge. He will be assisted by various troop committeemen and scoutmasters. Buck Mundy of Pampa and Wendell Meek of Wheeler will make application to become Eagle Scouts.

Five Pampa Scouts will qualify as Life Scouts. In addition to the raise in rank, seven local boys will receive 17 merit badges.

Parents and persons interested in scouting are invited to attend the court of honor and see how Pampa boys are making men of themselves.

Tom Rose Buys McMurtry Place

Tom W. Rose, owner of the Tom Rose Buick company, has purchased the L. C. McMurtry home at 505 North Gray street.

The house is being remodeled and redecorated and should be ready for occupancy by Dec. 1. Mr. Rose said this morning. The transfer was completed Wednesday between Mr. Rose and Mrs. McMurtry, who is residing in San Antonio.

Mrs. Clara Tarpley, owner of the Tarpley Music store, who has been occupying the McMurtry home for some time, has moved to North Cuyler street. The McMurtry building was one of Pampa's first and most beautiful large residences. It is a two-story brick building surrounded by a spacious lawn.

Leading Citizens Speak at School

One of the largest crowds which has ever attended a ward school chapel program here filled the Woodrow Wilson assembly hall yesterday to hear talks by a number of Pampa's outstanding school men and civic leaders.

The speakers were Mayor D. W. Osborne, City Manager F. M. Gwin, City Supt. R. B. Fisher, County Supt. John B. Hessey, Clyde Farrer, and George W. Briggs.

Music was furnished by Vern Springer's Hawaiian band. A concert solo was given by Robert Gilchrist, with Mrs. Thurman Harris at the piano, and Mrs. Harris later entertained with a piano solo. Highly entertaining also was the marionette show, with pupils taking the parts of dolls.

The meeting was opened with a flag salute, the singing of America, and the Lord's prayer.

SWITCH TENDER KILLED

DALLAS, Nov. 13. (AP)—Joseph B. Ashley, 39, Southern Pacific railroad switch tender, was killed today when struck by a automobile while walking along a highway. The driver of the automobile, police learned, jumped out of the car after the accident and fled. The car ran off the road and overturned in a ditch.

EMPLOYMENT INCREASES

AUSTIN, Nov. 13. (AP)—Employment in Texas increased 2.1 in October over September, statistics gathered from 673 representative firms by the bureau of business research of the University of Texas showed. It was the first increase reported since May 15. The average weekly wage was $25.84.

Increases were noted in Dallas, Beaumont, San Antonio, Houston and Waco.

Communists Hurl Nipponese Back From Bridge With Withering Machine Gun Fire—Planes Seized.

PEIPING, Nov. 13. (AP)—Chang Hsueh-Liang, deposed governor of Manchuria, acceded tonight to a demand by the Japanese charge d'affaires that Chinese troops at Tientsin withdraw to a point six miles from the city in accordance with the terms of the Boxer protocol of 1906.

At the same time however, he insisted that the Chinese at Tientsin must be permitted to increase the police force.

By the Associated Press. Mah Chan-shan, Chinese commander in Northern Manchuria, is still holding Taitshar against Japanese forces which, he reported, sent cavalry against him under cover of artillery fire.

He continued to ignore the Japanese ultimatum that he evacuate Taitshar and said the attack began before the ultimatum expired. Japanese sources blame the trouble in the Taitshar area on Chinese aggression and reported that the Japanese right wing had been surrounded by Chinese troops, cutting off communications.

Mah has been reinforced by a detachment of Chinese and Korean soldiers trained in Soviet Russia and sent into Manchuria from Blagoveshensk, said the Japanese.

May Install Emperor

Henry Pu-Yu, former "Boy Emperor" of China, was reported on the way from Tientsin, where he has been a virtual prisoner in the Japanese concession, to Mukden, where it was said the Japanese intended to enthrone him. Japanese sources described the report as "premature."

TIENTSIN, China, Nov. 13. (AP)—A report circulated in Russian circles today said a Communist brigade of Chinese, Koreans, and Kurils from Blagoveshensk, Siberia, surprised the Japanese troops at the Nonni river and threw them back sharply, taking several of their airplanes.

The Communist troops, marching from the north, swept into the highway near Taitshar, the report said, and attacked with sweeping machine gun fire, demolishing Japanese forces in the Nonni region and forcing them to retreat several miles behind the bridgehead.

Force in Danger

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Nov. 13. (AP)—The Japanese military intelligence bureau reported today that a large force of Chinese cavalry has practically enveloped the Japanese right wing in a battle at the Nonni river and that the Japanese position and communications are seriously endangered.

Japanese headquarters said their detachment had not yet been reinforced, however, although four infantry companies were held in readiness at Chengchiatun.

Meanwhile, additional Chinese troops have been arriving in the Taitshar region and the Japanese claim to have intercepted orders from General Mah instructing one of his cavalry commanders to attack at Taitshar in an attempt to cut off the railway and prevent further supplies reaching the Japanese.

Sends Congratulations

The Japanese also said they have definite information that Chang Hsueh-Liang telegraphed General Mah from Peiping congratulating him on the bravery of his troops and also on the number of Japanese who were killed in last week's battles.

TOKYO, Nov. 13. (AP)—The newspaper Nichi Nichi said today the Japanese consulate at Taitshar, Manchuria, was surrounded by Chinese troops and the consul and his staff arrested. Official confirmation of the report was not obtainable, however.

GIVE TO BANISH NEED

The pitiful little 13-year-old who was rescued from the windowless Washington closet where her father and stepmother had confined her seems to have attracted the kindly attention of most of the nation. Endless columns have been printed about her. We have been told in detail how she had been introduced to the joys of sunlight, toys and good food, and we have been guilty of a good deal of sentimentality concerning her.

News events like the one that has built itself up around her are not entirely good for us. They stir our sympathies, to be sure, and they help us to realize how black and dismal a child's life can be made. But they divert our minds from the real issue.

This youngster's situation was exceptional—in one sense. There are not, luckily, many children situated precisely as she was. But there are hundreds of thousands of children in the United States who do not, on the whole, have things so much better than she had them; and when we expand our sympathetic energies on her we have none left over for the rest, and it is hard for anyone to arouse our interest in them.

Ask any social worker to tell you about the way some children have to live in our biggest cities. Get some mine union representative to tell you about the lot of children in some of the nation's coal towns. Go to one or another of the innumerable homes in which the bread-winner has not had a job for a year or more and see how the children get along there.

Then, when you have done that, see if this pathetically unlucky little girl in Washington was really much worse off than thousands upon thousands of her brothers and sisters.

We don't ordinarily bother our heads much about these other children. We would rather pour out our moral indignation over individual cases that get on the front pages. This little girl lived in the dark, she had poor food, she had no toys? Well, there are many others like her—only we don't hear about them.

From one end of the country to the other, about now, charitable organizations are appealing for money. If the case of this Washington youngster oppressed you—just remember, when you have a chance to contribute to one of these fund campaigns, that your money will be helping some other children who are not very much better off than she was.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Rich old Mrs. Jupiter is soled and murdered during the engagement party she gives for her secretary, MARY HARKNESS. Mary's acquaintance brother, EDDIE, was to have been admitted at the murder house. No one knows this but Mary.

She tells her fiancé, DIRK RUYTER, who hates Eddie, she arranges a rendezvous with the boy but overrules him. However, the star drives Mary there instead. Eddie is run down and killed as he crosses the street to meet Mary. INSPECTOR KANE drove the case, believing Eddie the murderer. When Mary protests he tells her MR. JUPITER and DIRK believe the same. However, Eddie called THE FLY to whom her brother owed money.

However, gives Mary a coat he found in the Jupiter house the night of the murder. It is her brother's. The Jupiter butler recognizes it as having been worn by a "guest-crasher" he ejected the night of the murder. DIRK forgets Mary to go on with the investigation because of the notoriety.

CORNELIA TABOR, DIRK's former sweetheart, behaves cattily at dinner at the Ruyter home. She is still determined to win DIRK.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVI

DIRK drove the car out beyond the limit of the rutty cliff road into the small meadow which crowned the Point and turned off the engine. With a second turn of the wrist he turned off the lights.

Then he turned and drew her to him, swiftly, surely, and with an air of complete possession. Surprise mingled with the ardor with which she returned his long kiss.

Presently she asked curiously, "What did you want to talk about?"

"This," he said, and she heard him chuckle.

"What?"

"And something else. Listen.

"How soon can you get ready to be married?"

"This was surprise.

"Why, I haven't bought anything yet," she stammered, "but there's lots of time, isn't there? A month, surely. It was 66 days the last time I counted, but lately I haven't kept track."

DIRK smoothed her hands gently with his big one.

"I mean, how long would it take you to pack?"

"DIRK!"

"You could pack a toothbrush, couldn't you? And we could buy things here and there as we went along? There are lots of nice little shops for women's fashions in Bermuda—or would you rather go to Europe? We could make it—if we didn't stay too long."

"But what's the hurry?" Mary's heart was hammering happily as she looked in his eyes.

"Let's get married tomorrow. I don't know why we've waited this long, I think it comes to that."

"Well, aren't you the impetuous lover?" Mary quavered, trying to keep a light tone. "Why this, all of a sudden?"

DIRK moved impatiently.

"Oh, people have backed at us long enough," he growled. "If they keep at it much longer, they'll spoil things for us. Look at tonight."

Reviewing the miserable evening she had just spent, Mary thought there might be something in what he said.

He seized her hands and gripped them tightly. "If we've got to quarrel, let it come after. I don't want to spoil the beginning for us. Do you?"

"No, oh, no."

"Well, that's that, then. How's Saturday? That gives you time to shop?" Mary nodded. It was a long time before they felt the need of words.

"That's what I've been wanting to tell you, all evening." Mary whispered, presently. "That we needn't quarrel any more. I won't see that newspaperman again, if you don't want me to."

DIRK felt magnanimous, too, apparently, for he laughed indulgently and kissed her.

"I guess Mrs. DIRK Ruyter can be trusted to do the right thing," he said.

It was nearly two when Mary latched the door and let herself into the great house and went happily upstairs. She wasn't tired now, because she seemed to bounce, rather than to limp, up the long staircase; she felt happy to sleep.

There was a dim light burning in her room, and a note left for her, the thoughtful Della. Mary took it, but later, for the note was difficult to decipher.

"I stayed up to tell you Mr. Jupiter was sorry for something and wanted to apologize. I do know what for!"

The world had been all wrong, and now it was right again in every way. For pure happiness, Mary whirled around the room in an impromptu dance before jumbling into bed.

As she drifted off to sleep the letters of the word "Saturday" seemed to burn upon the walls of her mind like a gigantic electric sign.

THEY both felt better after Mr. Jupiter had "apologized" next morning.

"I was sorry for that the minute I said it, Mary," he scolded. "You hadn't ought to take what an old man like me says to heart so."

"I guess—that one thing—is a kind of sore spot with me," Mary explained. "Whatever Eddie did or didn't do, I feel responsible for, at least partly. So I couldn't let anyone call him a murderer when it isn't the truth!"

Surprisingly, she noticed the old man's eyes were wet. His lined face looked 10 years older.

"I'll bet I've thought the same a hundred times, since," he said, in a broken voice. "You know he came to me for money, I suppose?"

"Yes, for money, I suppose," Mary nodded, in embarrassment. "If I hadn't let him into the way I did, he might not have—"

he broke off hastily, and substituted, "everything might have been all right. So you see, I've got my share to think on, same as you have."

This humility was so new to the old man's manner that Mary could hardly credit her senses. It made it easier for her to know that he blamed himself, too.

"Well—forgive and forget. That's all we can do."

"Oh, I can forgive," Mary assured him, earnestly, "but I can't forget—not till I've found out the truth."

"Well, bless you, child, I won't stop you. Go ahead. But if you run afoul of Emily Ann Ruyter, don't say I didn't warn you."

Mary laughed and snatched her fingers.

"Oh, that for Emily Ann DIRK's all that matters, and he's going to help me—he told me so last night."

At the recollection of what else he had told her last night, her eyes were starry and her lips smiled irrepressibly.

"Everything all right between you, eh?" Mr. Jupiter was an excellent observer, and he saw his answer written in her face. "That's good."

"Stabbing her grapefruit thoughtfully, Mary wondered whether she ought to tell him of her plans. In a way, it was like "giving notice"—but then she wasn't employed here any more, really. At least, her only duties seemed to be playing cribbage, and writing a few notes saying that Mr. Jupiter was sorry but he would be unable to attend, etc. Her salary was still paid regularly every week. Mr. Jupiter had insisted on that, since she was staying on merely to please him.

But somehow she had a feeling that it might be bad luck to speak of her third person, just yet. The fact that she was to be married tomorrow—was so new, so very imminent, that she couldn't tell yet herself.

She felt sorry to leave, for she had had luck to speak of her third person, just yet. The fact that she was to be married tomorrow—was so new, so very imminent, that she couldn't tell yet herself.

ALMOST instantly, it seemed, a startled and statuesque maid appeared with an envelope which she handed to Mary on a tray. (Bessie had been released to pursue the sort of histrionic career for which she seemed to think herself fitted.)

Mary fumbled it open with one hand while holding fast to the receiver with the other. When she finally held up the crisp bit of paper it contained and saw the figure—"$1000—and the signature, J. J. Jupiter, still wet in the corner, her joyful exclamation reached clearly the young man murmuring fatuous nothings into the telephone many miles away.

"A little wedding present" was written on the business card that fell out with the check.

"Never mind supporting me yet—I'm rich!" she caroled gleefully, and told DIRK of the check.

"Well, that's fine!" he replied with perfunctory heartiness. Such munificence rather dashed his own pleasure in turning over his worldly goods to his bride-to-be. "What are you going to do with it?"

"I'll keep it!"

"Buy clothes," she amended happily. "And then buy some clothes. And then buy a few more clothes."

"That's better. Lunch with me?"

"Oh, I won't have time. We'd dawdle and I've so much to get!"

"Better come. I'll be working late at the office, putting things in shape so I can leave. I may not get out until quite late."

"I'll come!"

"You know I will!"

She was to regret that decision about lunch, as she sat sipping a lukewarm, too-sweet drink at a crowded fountain after a hectic morning's shopping. It would have been delightful to be lunching on a cool roof somewhere with DIRK opposite. Shopping, even with a $1000 check in your purse, was terrible. Her feet hurt, her head ached, and she felt as if her eyes would never quite focus again. And there was more to come.

At five she hailed the first taxi she saw, piled it full of bundles and climbed in gratefully.

"Long Island," she told the driver and sank back against the hard leather seat. She closed her eyes as the cab wormed its way crookedly toward Queensboro bridge. That state of complete relaxation spared her the brunt of what followed.

All she remembered afterward was hearing a yell and a creak, and feeling herself jerked violently forward as the taxi swerved and careened wildly to the sidewalk, striking a flight of stone steps. That she must have fainted, for she knew no more.

"Want to go along?"

"Oh, no, thanks. I've something to do. A little shopping." She blushed a tell-tale red.

The telephone that lurked behind the gayly painted wooden parrot in a corner of the breakfast room trilled suddenly. It was DIRK.

"I just called up to tell you, Mrs. Ruyter, that you have a checking account, you know. Why don't you run up a few bills, and see what kind of a husband I'm going to make?"

"Oh, DIRK, you mustn't—not yet. That's one of the rules. Don't you know your Emily Post?"

"Go ahead, woman. Do you know how I treat my wives when they don't obey me?" There was more of the conversation, but it seemed to make very little sense.

Smiling knowingly, the old man held himself out of his chair and tiptoed out of the room with clumsy, schoolboy gallantry.

"That's better. Lunch with me?"

"Oh, I won't have time. We'd dawdle and I've so much to get!"

"Better come. I'll be working late at the office, putting things in shape so I can leave. I may not get out until quite late."

"I'll come!"

"You know I will!"

She was to regret that decision about lunch, as she sat sipping a lukewarm, too-sweet drink at a crowded fountain after a hectic morning's shopping. It would have been delightful to be lunching on a cool roof somewhere with DIRK opposite. Shopping, even with a $1000 check in your purse, was terrible. Her feet hurt, her head ached, and she felt as if her eyes would never quite focus again. And there was more to come.

At five she hailed the first taxi she saw, piled it full of bundles and climbed in gratefully.

"Long Island," she told the driver and sank back against the hard leather seat. She closed her eyes as the cab wormed its way crookedly toward Queensboro bridge. That state of complete relaxation spared her the brunt of what followed.

All she remembered afterward was hearing a yell and a creak, and feeling herself jerked violently forward as the taxi swerved and careened wildly to the sidewalk, striking a flight of stone steps. That she must have fainted, for she knew no more.

Rev. Todd Talks At School Chapel

The Rev. James Todd Jr., addressing students of the Pampa high school yesterday, told of the protection afforded by child labor laws.

Prior to Rev. Todd's talk, the assembly was entertained with a physical culture stunt by some pupils from Woodrow Wilson school. There were seven of the pupils, each dressed in a black and white costume with red accessories.

Five of the girls, Marjorie Hill, Margaret Ellen Barton, Ila Mae Hatrell, Mary Dean Wilkinson, and Dorothy May Clift, were only six years of age. They entertained with hand springs, splits, back bends, fish rolls, and cart wheels. Two older girls, Frances Coffey and Betty Jean Twenter, gave similar but more difficult stunts. All the stunts were taught the girls by Mrs. Catherine Wilkerson, and the high school band played the accompanying music.

After a number by the school band, the Rev. A. A. Hyde spoke on juvenile organization and child protection, explaining some of the benefits of the Boy Scout organization. Ed Whittenburg, accompanied at the piano by Miss Iva June Willis, then sang "Give Me a Man With a Horse He Can Ride," and Dorothy Dodd and Dorothy Doucette sang two vocal duets, "Goodnight Sweetheart," and "It's the Girl."

The concluding number was a talk on health as the foundation of happiness by Coach Oduis Mitchell.

MUCH COTTON BURNED. Frost, Nov. 13. (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin today destroyed the Frost cotton warehouse and 800 bales of cotton stored in it. Loss was estimated at $40,000. Most of the cotton was owned by farmers and very little insurance was carried.

What makes BRAN SO GOOD FOR YOU
BRAN supplies the things that help prevent ordinary constipation. "Bran" which gently exercises the intestines. Vitamin B which tones the intestinal tract.
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is bran at its best. For ten years millions have used it—with entire satisfaction.
Constipation may bring serious results. Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sallow skins, pimples.
Yet it can be overcome so simply. Try two table-spoonfuls daily of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to prevent and relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. If you suffer from intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.
ALL-BRAN can be enjoyed as a cereal, or in cooking. This is far more pleasant than taking pills and drugs that are so often habit-forming.
ALL-BRAN supplies iron which builds up the blood. Get the red and green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

FEMININE FANCIES

By Hollye Sellers Hinkle

"Get in the ring, Jack Rose!" yelled local wrestling fans last night, yet all the while they were a broad grin of approval. Although 3-year-old Bobo Clingan rushed to the ropes every time he got in a tight place while wrestling with his 6-times-bigger father, the popular Otis Clingan, just as Jack Rose would have done, he got only cheers of approval. Considering his size, we think little Bobo was the best wrestler in the ring last night. His holds were genuine, and his father's struggles convincing. Just wait until the little fellow grows up!

Tired of bridge? Then why not try something new. Sunday we will tell you about a new kind of club which is gaining approval in many sections of the country.

Speaking of clubs, the Business and Professional Women's club will set a worthy example for other organizations when it entertains with a "Thanksgiving party" on the evening of Nov. 24. There will be no refreshments served. Instead, each member will bring cans of soup or vegetables, these articles to be presented to the high school and junior high school cafeteria. If other groups would follow this example, giving the food to one of the cafeterias, they would make it possible for many pupils, financially unable to buy their own lunches to be fed. If it were not for donations, including the soup which is given daily by the Schneider hotel, it would be impossible to feed the 35 needy children now being given free lunches at Baker school.

Growing bodies need proper food. By helping the cafeterias, one may be sure that they are helping children, rather than adults.

The Business and Professional Women's club has been active in aiding the needy of Pampa. Besides contributing the food for the school, it plans to aid in the welfare drive and it has already made a cash donation from the club treasury. In addition, it has given clothing to individual girls who otherwise would have been forced to leave school.

The Business and Professional Women's club has proved itself to be an outstanding civic club for Pampa women, ranking with the Lions, the Kiwanis, and the Rotary clubs for men. Welfare work is only a small part of the civic activities of the group. It is sponsoring the 30-Knot club for girls in the junior high school. To be a member of this organization is quite an honor, since both scholarship and character are demanded. Various types of instruction and entertainment are provided for the girls.

The business women also have aided several women and girls to get jobs of various kinds. They have donated to the library. They have made an appropriation for playground equipment to be used on a city park as soon as a place for it is provided. They cooperated in the observance of fire prevention week. They sponsor each year a public relations banquet to which civic leaders, representatives of federated clubs, and other outstanding persons are invited. Needs of the city are discussed at that time, accomplishments are summarized, and, above all, those who attend are inspired to greater cooperative achievements.

Kiddies Will Have Party on Saturday

Children of the primary department, First Baptist church, will have a party tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the church. The party is for boys and girls, 6, 7, and 8 years of age.

Policemen of Manila, P. I., are taught boxing in their training school.

Building Now Is Decorated For Function

About two hundred tickets already have been sold for the elaborate bridge tournament to be sponsored by the Pampa Library association this evening at 8 o'clock at the Mitchell building. The event will be one of the largest of this season.

Under the direction of John I. Bradley, the building is being decorated in chrysanthemums, autumn leaves, corn shocks, and pumpkins, red and gold being the featured colors.

While the crowd is gathering, Vern Springer's Hawaiian band, composed of the following young ladies, will entertain: Misses Vivian Smith, Lavaca Collins, Ann Sweetman, Ruth Clay, Anita Fraser, Vern Springer, and Loretta Line.

Fifty decks of new cards have been contributed by De Luxe cleaners, these cards to be given as high cut favors.

The winner of the high score will be awarded with a turkey given by the Fish and Oyster market; high score for women, a vase given by Thompson Hardware company; high score for men, a cigar given by Kees and Thomas; low score, a pumpkin given by the library association.

Wafers will be furnished by the Brown Cracker company of Amarillo through the courtesy of the C. and C. System, and drinks will be furnished by the Coca Cola Bottling company. The building for the party will be used as the courtesy of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Mitchell.

Red Coat Has Ironical Meaning

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 13. (AP)—The red coat of a Royal Canadian mounted policeman was an ironic symbol to eight followers of the red flag who faced sentence today as members of an unlawful association and parties to a seditious conspiracy.

They were convicted yesterday largely on the testimony of Sergeant John Leopold who doffed his red coat seven years ago to sit in the councils of Canadian Communists and rise to an official in the organization as "Comrade E. W. Esselvain."

The men convicted are: Tim Buck, Tom Ewen, John Buychuk, Amos T. Hill, Malcolm L. Bruce, Samuel Cohen, Matthew Popovitch, and Thomas Cagle.

The crown counsel said he would ask for confiscation of their property and for the deportation of any of them who can be compelled to leave the dominion under the immigration laws.

Sergeant Leopold was the crown's principal witness against the Communists. Clad again in the uniform of his outfit, he told from the witness stand how he had followed the best tradition of the mounties for patient, unrelenting pursuit of their quarry, busy gathering first hand evidence of Communist activities in Canada for seven years. He said he had served as secretary of the regina branch of the party and at one time had been arrested in Toronto for taking part in a Communist demonstration.

Conviction of Buck and his comrades was the climax of a 10-year campaign by the Canadian government to bring about a test of the legality of the Communist party in the dominion.

Progression Is Feature of Party

Members of the senior class of the high school enjoyed a unique party Wednesday evening. The class was divided into three groups, one group meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Sneed, another at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Mullinax, and the other at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Finley. After spending 40 minutes playing various kinds of games in one home, each group went to another home until each of the three groups had been in each of the homes. Then the entire class went in automobiles to the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Baer, where a weiner roast was greatly enjoyed.

In the Sneed home, which was decorated with green and gold, Miss Arless O'Keefe and Mrs. Frank McNeill directed a stunt track meet. The Mullinax home, decorated in red, white and blue, was the scene of a new kind of game called "progressive seniors." This game was directed by Mrs. W. Mullinax. Miss Lillian Mullinax, and Miss Bernice Whiteley. At the Finley home, decorated with yellow football balloons, green streamers, and chrysanthemums, Miss Josephine Cariker conducted several enjoyable games and costumes.

At the Baer home, weiners were cooked over a huge bonfire and served to the hungry seniors with peas, potato salad, mustard, pickles, apples, cookies, and coffee and cream.

FEAST GIVEN FOR GORILLAS

Several unknown talents were brought to light at the dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. W. Q. Workman for the high school Gorillas Wednesday evening when the boys had returned from a football trip to McLean.

The boys sang impromptu solo and quartet numbers, and played the piano. They were also entertained with musical numbers by Harry Kelley, Emmitt Smith, and A. L. Patrick, instructors. Wylita Jean Workman, 5-year-old daughter of the host and hostess, gave two readings, "My First Beau," and "Little Betty."

The menu, served to 40 persons, included baked ham, salmon salad, cream potatoes, cream peas, corn, gravy, pickles, beans, coffee, and, for dessert, fruit salad with whipped cream and angel food cup cakes.

Communist activities in Canada for seven years. He said he had served as secretary of the regina branch of the party and at one time had been arrested in Toronto for taking part in a Communist demonstration.

Constance Bennett Will Marry Soon

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Nov. 13. (AP)—Having filed notice of intention to wed, Constance Bennett, one of the highest paid screen stars, and Harry James la Nally de la Falaise de la Coudray, French marquis better known as "Hank" along Hollywood boulevard, probably will be married Nov. 22.

The wedding will follow completion of a motion picture in which Miss Bennett is now acting.

The filing of the intention came as no surprise to Hollywood. It had long been expected that Miss Bennett and the marquis would eventually marry as they had been seen together almost constantly for several months.

The way for the marriage was cleared last Monday when Gloria Swanson, the former wife of the marquis, obtained her final divorce decree. Immediately after divorcing the marquis, Miss Swanson remarried Michael Farmer, Irish sportsman, in Yuma, Ariz. She had first married Farmer last Aug. 16, almost three months before she obtained her final decree and the second ceremony was performed to avoid any legal complications that might have followed the first marriage.

Ordinarily anything but camera-shy, Miss Bennett fled from the county clerk's office when newspaper photographers attempted to take her picture. She finally placed her signature on the legal papers and managed to keep her face fairly well hidden.

Miss Bennett gave her age as 25 and the marquis his as 33. He said he was a film director.

The marriage to the marquis will be the third for Miss Bennett.

Albert Lard Will Resume Training

Albert Lard, quarterback on the Amarillo college football team, who has been confined to his home here for some time on account of illness, is able to be up again and will return to Amarillo Monday, his mother said this morning. The Badger's doctor was here yesterday and pronounced Lard in good condition and ready to resume football training.

Lard attended the Badger-S. M. U. game in Amarillo Wednesday afternoon but was not in uniform. He will be ready to lead his team in their next encounter. Lard, Troy Stalls, and Buckingham and former Pampa Harvesters who are on the Badger football squad. Stalls is captain of the team this year.

Mrs. G. C. Hoskins was taken to her home in LeFors from Worley hospital this morning.

Mrs. W. W. Harrah is resting nicely at Pampa hospital, attendants announced this morning.

HOOVER ENJOYS GRID DINNER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. (AP)—The football team of Leland Stanford, 94, switched its game to medicine ball today and joined President Hoover in his morning exercise on the south lawn of the White House.

So thoroughly did the president and the team he helped manage enjoy their reunion last night, that Mr. Hoover's parting words were an invitation to return. And most of them did, within eight hours after they departed near midnight.

The president's gridiron dinner turned out to be a quiet but pleasant affair. There were no cheers or songs.

But its keynote was a turning back of music and conversation to the college days of the 90's, and those who attended said Mr. Hoover made a "good listener" and seemed to "particularly enjoy" the whole affair.

JURY OUT THIRD DAY
CONROE, Nov. 13. (AP)—A jury continued through its third day of deliberation as to the fate of George Tolson, negro, charged for the murder of Constable T. J. Beyette of Montgomery. The jury took the case Tuesday.

Beyette was wounded fatally two months ago while taking two negroes to a jail here. Isaiah Edwards, negro, was given a death penalty on a similar charge here recently.

Politics, he said, would be a secondary consideration if his party organizes the house, as is likely, and "no policy of mere obstruction" is intended.

He forecasts that with a presidential election near, every time the Democrats oppose "the White House incumbent and candidate for re-election," they will be accused of "playing politics."

"If we are interested in bringing about the election of a Democratic successor to Mr. Hoover, he and his party are no less interested in accomplishing Mr. Hoover's re-election," Garner said. "There is no more justification for the contention that Democratic votes against administration measures are dictated by partisanship than that the president's own recommendations are actuated by an equally selfish motive."

Billie Burke to Play in Amarillo Billie Burke, one of the foremost actresses of the day, former screen star and wife of Flo Ziegfeld, will appear in person in "The Vinegar Tree" at the municipal auditorium in Amarillo on the night of November 24 at 8:15 o'clock.

Miss Burke and company are being brought to the Panhandle under the auspices of the Tri-State Fair association. Wilbur C. Hawk, president, announces that popular prices, 50 cents to $3, will prevail. "The Vinegar Tree," a gay New York comedy success, offers the popular red-headed comedienne a real opportunity to her marvelous talents. This is said to be Paul Osborn's greatest success and had a remarkable run on Broadway.

Communists Are Severely Flogged PONTIAC, Mich., Nov. 13. (AP)—At least three men were flogged here last night because they were suspected of being Communist sympathizers and one of them said he heard the screams of a woman who apparently was receiving the same treatment.

Authorities, who said the whippings probably were the aftermath of a recent unemployment demonstration in which more than a score of persons were arrested after a brush with officers, were investigating to learn if others had been seized.

Walter Hardin, Clarence Sherman and Lee Fortin had returned to their homes early today bearing marks of beatings. It was Hardin who said he heard a woman screaming nearby as his captors beat him with the butt of a pistol. He said he would recognize his assailants although they were hooded.

Mike Tsykoff, 38, also was abducted as he was leaving a meeting but said he was released without mistreatment when he convinced his kidnapers he was not a communist. He believed the men who took him Sherman, who has been a leader from his home were policemen.

Riga Is Becoming Reno of Europe

RIGA, Nov. 13. (AP)—Riga is fast becoming the Reno of Europe.

Wives who feel their style is cramped and restless husbands are flocking here from all over the continent to get the knot slipped for about $150, which is all the Latvian court charges.

The Latvian law presumes there is no longer any desire for a continuance of married life on the part of a couple who have lived apart for a period of three years or more.

In such circumstances either party is permitted to claim a divorce without the other party's consent.

Ignorance by one party of the whereabouts of the other partner in the matrimonial enterprise is sufficient ground for divorce.

And the law of Latvia also grants divorce by mutual consent—with a somewhat wistful proviso that the couple shall, after a period of two months, appear in person before the president of the court. The president then makes an earnest appeal that they should make up, and if they don't see it that way, he shrugs and pronounces them divorced.

Gossip like Reno's now follow the arrival of any interesting foreigner who takes up residence here. Needless to say, the money and the excitement added to the Baltic seaport's life, are welcomed.

Sixteen trees have been planted in the road leading to the "Ohio State university stadium" in honor of the university's first eleven and their five all-America players.

Utah Eleven Is Near Championship In Mountain Loop

DENVER, Nov. 13. (AP)—Rocky Mountain conference football teams today were set for wind-up contests that will help decide the various positions they will occupy in order after the name of Utah university, perennial champion.

Brigham Young university's Cougars and the University of Wyoming meet today. It is the last game of the season for Brigham Young and the last conference affair for Wyoming.

Utah's Redskins, while expected to win from the University of Colorado in Salt Lake tomorrow by about 30 points, will be up against an inspired invader which, if reports are true, has as its single purpose the vindication of Coach Myron Witham against the attacks of disgruntled alumni.

INJURED GRIDDER DIES

DELAND, Fla., Nov. 13. (AP)—C.

died in a hospital today from a fractured vertebrae received in the Millsaps-Stetson football game here last Saturday.

He had been unconscious since 7 o'clock last night. His home was near Philadelphia, Miss.

KANSAS STATE WILL TRY TO RECOUP TITLE

Must Beat Nebraska To Stay in Running For Coveted Honors.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 13. (AP)—The Wildcats of Kansas State college who looked like certain champions before they faltered and lost to Iowa State a week ago, have a last chance for a share in the Big Six football title in their game with Nebraska at Manhattan tomorrow.

A victory over the Cornhuskers would give Bo McMillin's Aggies only a chance to become co-champion, however, for the Nebraska-Iowa State game the following Saturday will settle the issue.

If the Aggies whip Nebraska and Nebraska wins Iowa State, Kansas State and Nebraska will have equal claims to the title. Although Iowa State would then have only one defeat, its percentage would be less because only four conference games are on the Cyclone schedule.

Iowa State would clinch the championship—its first in conference competition—by beating Nebraska, regardless of the outcome of the struggle at Manhattan Saturday.

Nebraska goes into the game with

Grid Fund For Charity Will Be Nearly Million

CHICAGO, Nov. 13. (AP)—A fund of $900,000 is the amount western conference universities hope to raise for charity by playing five post-season football games.

This was the estimate today by Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics in the Big Ten.

The football coaches and athletic directors will meet here Sunday to draw a schedule for the post season contests. Reports indicated Northwestern and Michigan, which shared the 1930 championship, may meet in one of the post season games. Other reports said Purdue is anxious for a game with Minnesota or Michigan, teams the Boilermakers did not meet in the regular season.

Major Griffith said the idea in arranging the pairings for the charity games was to bring teams together which did not meet in the regular season, or teams of comparative strength.

It was revealed that Soldier field on Chicago's lake front, which held a record smashing crowd of 123,000 for the Notre Dame-Southern California game two years ago, has been engaged for one of the principal attractions, probably the Northwestern-Michigan game if it can be arranged.

The total amount of money raised will be divided among the seven states in which the universities are located.

Husking Contest Ready To Start

GRUNDY CENTER, Ia., Nov. 14. (AP)—Bangboard sharpshooters were accorded clear skies and a fast field today for the eighth enactment of their national corn belt classic.

Weather conditions were nearly ideal as 15 cornhuskers winners and runners-up in contests in eight states, drew for rows and teams preparatory to the battle which will decide the 1931 cornhusking championship.

The special field at the Clyde Wilhelm farm near here dried considerably overnight, following recent rains.

For the most part, contestants took things easy while they waited the signal from Gov. Dan Turner to start down the rows. Arriving early, they took brief workouts yesterday afternoon.

Under the contest rules, entrants must work for 80 minutes, each snatching ears from stalks in his own rows, stripping them of husks and hurling them into his wagon. At the end of the period, wagonloads will be weighed in and deductions made for ears left in the field and for husks left on corn gathered.

Of seven national titles awarded in previous contests, Illinois has won three and Iowa four.

TRAVEL COORDINATED
AMARILLO, Nov. 13. (AP)—Coordinated airplane and motor bus traffic has been introduced to Amarillo. Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., and the Greyhound Bus lines are operating on joint schedules into and from Amarillo, inaugurating a traveling service similar to that which has been practiced by railways and air lines for two years.

SIX GAMES TO FURNISH GRID GRIST

Baylor Not Expected To Stop Mustangs But Texas Menaces T. C. U.

DALLAS, Nov. 13. (AP)—Six of the seven southwest conference football teams will plunge for yardage and fight for touchdowns tomorrow. Texas Christian goes to Austin to play the University of Texas. Baylor will invade Dallas to try to halt the rush of the undefeated and untied Southern Methodist Mustangs and Texas A. and M. will lead the annual cadets corps trip to Houston for a game with the Rice Owls. Arkansas will be idle.

Having stopped A. and M. 6 to 0, Arkansas 7 to 0 and Rice 7 to 0, the Christians, flanked by a power, full line against which only one conference touchdown has been scored, face one of the hardest tests of the campaign. If the Frogs are victorious tomorrow they will be favored to beat Baylor and play Nov. 28 against Southern Methodist with an undefeated conference record and with the championship at stake.

If they lose, it means the best they can hope for is a tie. Last Saturday the 1930 conference champion clicked with a 25 to 0 victory over Baylor and it was a tonic badly needed.

Holding the second spotlight tomorrow will be Texas A. and M. and Rice. These two teams faded as serious championship contenders last week when the Aggies lost to Southern Methodist and Rice lost to Texas Christian. They are tied for third place with the University of Texas and Baylor. The Owls can finish near the front by taking A. and M.

The Mustangs face Baylor in what is regarded as a sure win for the Methodists who have seven consecutive wins to their credit. Coach Morrison has indicated he will play a flock of reserves against Baylor but will have his regulars ready in case the going gets rough.

Carnegie Tech Coach Will Be "Second Guesser"

CHICAGO, Nov. 13. (AP)—Judge Walter P. Steffen, Carnegie Tech's "commuting" football coach, will join the "second-guessers" at the end of the 1931 gridiron season.

Steffen, who for 18 seasons has directed the Skibos in battle, last night announced at the University of Chicago's annual football banquet he would resign at the end of the campaign, "become a Maroon fan and sit in the stands with the 'second guessers'."

Steffen has served as a Cook county circuit judge since 1923 and his present term will expire in 1934. He leaves Chicago in time to reach the place where Carnegie Tech is due to play the next day, and makes his plans just before the battle.

While he is dispensing justice in Chicago during the week, Robert Waddell, a Bucknell graduate, drills the Skibos.

Two victories over Notre Dame were the high spots of Steffen's career at Carnegie Tech. During most of his career at Carnegie Steffen served on a full-time basis. However, when he was elected to the bench, he received the title of advisory coach, and "commuted" to and from games.

Uzdun to Face Loughran Tonight

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. (AP)—Paulino Uzdun, the burly Basque, will attempt to beat Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia sharpshooter, in a 10-round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight.

For more than a year, some of the world's leading heavyweights have tangled with clever Tommy and absorbed a sound lacing for their pains. The betting fraternity thinks so little of Paulino's chances tonight that the Philadelphia has been established a 9 to 5 favorite with few takers.

DEMPSEY AND SCHMELING IN GOSSIP NOW

Teuton's Manager Predicts $2,000,000 Gate When and If They Meet.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. (AP)—Max Schmeling, soon to arrive here from Germany, apparently is ready to defend his heavyweight championship against only two men—Mickey Walker or Jack Dempsey.

If some rosy schemes concocted in the brain of Joe Jacobs, the Teuton's manager, are fulfilled, Schmeling may fight both Walker and Dempsey before the end of 1932. Jacobs, arriving here after a visit of several months in Germany, declared he had received a cable from Dempsey while in Berlin saying the former champion would be ready to fight again in June, against Schmeling and Schmeling only Jacobs forces a "gate" of $2,000,000 if this match goes thru.

While he is waiting to hear definitely from Dempsey again, Jacobs is turning over in his mind an offer of $200,000 for a match between Schmeling and Walker in Los Angeles Feb. 22. The terms appear agreeable to Jacobs but Schmeling objects to defending his title at so short a distance as 10 rounds, the limit for championship affairs in California.

Fires In Vacant Houses Deplored

AUSTIN, Nov. 13. (AP)—Declaring that there was no excuse for fires in vacant houses, J. W. DeWeese, state fire insurance commissioner, issued a statement in which he deplored the number of fires of this nature since the first of the year.

DeWeese stated reports reaching him from local fire marshals in 400 Texas cities and towns for the first nine months showed 589 vacant house fires with a total loss of approximately $510,685.

DeWeese declared this many vacant house fires could not be attributed to carelessness and that it was his assumption that a large number of them were for "profit" and "spite."

Reports from state fire marshals show a large number of the vacant house fires were of incendiary origin. DeWeese urged that all precautions be taken to prevent fires of this nature and that all vacant houses be kept securely locked.

"A thorough investigation should be made of each vacant house fire and when the cause is shown the fire was of incendiary origin every effort should be made to apprehend the guilty person in order that the proper court action may be had in the case," DeWeese stated.

Numerous cities and towns will receive bad fire record charges next year as the result of the numerous vacant house fires. DeWeese said these records mean that fire insurance rates in the towns where vacant house fires have occurred will be increased.

Barge Workers Are Killed in Blast

LAKE CHARLES, La., Nov. 13. (AP)—Two barge workers were killed in a blast on the Clooney Construction company barge at the Sun Oil company loading rack at Hackberry last night, just after the barge and another of the same company had finished loading 2,871 barrels of crude oil for delivery at the vacuum tank farm at Lake Charles.

The bodies of the two men, James Bruce, 31, of Goosport, a suburb of Lake Charles and Joe Donovan, 35, of Moss Lake, had not been recovered from Kelso bayou today.

The blast came after Capt. Richard, of the Clooney tug "Dart," which was pulling the two barges, had given an electric light bulb to Bruce to hand to Donovan, who was on the last barge from the tug, on his way to install the globe.

The fire quickly spread, destroying two barges of W. T. Burton, containing 1,200 barrels of oil of the Young-Lee company. The oil aboard the Clooney barges belonged to the Calcasieu Oil company. The derelict of the Young-Lee company's State No. 33 was burned.

Prohibition Agent Is Shot to Death

CHELTENHAM, Md., Nov. 12. (AP)—A federal prohibition agent, one of a raiding party of six which entered the Southern Maryland woods near here late yesterday, was shot and probably fatally wounded by alleged moonshiners in a pitched battle early today.

The agent, Harry D. McMunn, 39, was shot when the alleged distillers appeared suddenly from a thicket and opened fire after he had blown his police whistle as a signal to his fellow agents. Four of the agents exchanged shots with the attacking party and chased it into the dense woods where its members escaped.

Bible Circulation Was Never Larger

DALLAS, Nov. 13. (AP)—At the annual meeting of the advisory committee of the southwestern agency of the American Bible Society here, the Rev. J. J. Morgan, southwestern secretary, who supervises the work of the society in Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, and Louisiana, reported for his agency the largest circulation of Bibles on record since he began this work 20 years ago.

"We have passed the half million mark," Morgan said, "the exact total of volumes distributed being 512,373. More Bibles are sold during hard times than in prosperous times, though of course the cheaper books prevail; and since the American Bible Society operates without purpose of profit, books are donated to those who cannot pay the cost price, as funds on hand for that purpose may permit. As a matter of fact more than 70,000 volumes were donated last year."

"The most interesting feature of the years experience was the increased number of languages in which Bibles were distributed at the Gulf sea ports at New Orleans and Houston. Scriptures in 55 languages were distributed to seamen and immigrants at the Houston deep water port."

DOES MUCH TERRACING
BIG SPRING, Nov. 13. (AP)—With 26,000 acres in Howard county terraced and contoured in two years, County Agent J. V. Bush has announced an even more energetic program of terracing for this season. Farmers here believe the growth in terraced acreage has set a record for Texas counties. They estimate the value of terracing at two to five dollars per acre. Two years ago, when the county agent began his work here the only terraced land in the county was that of Lee Warren in the Green Valley community.

Muddled Fee System To Be Ruled On Soon By Texas Supreme Court

AUSTIN, Nov. 13. (AP)—In an effort to clarify the muddle surrounding the operation of Texas' antiquated fee system, the supreme court has agreed to advance on its docket a mandamus action brought by a former county official to compel Moore Lynn, state auditor, and George H. Sheppard, state comptroller, to approve a claim of a former county official for duplicate fees in criminal cases.

The action was brought by Fred S. Rogers, former Collin county prosecutor, and involves a claim for duplicate fees in habeas corpus cases against the same man. Rogers claims that under the law he is entitled to a separate fee in each case, even though it be against the same defendant.

Auditor Declines
Lynn, state auditor and efficiency expert, has declined to approve the account. The legislature at the last regular session passed a law requiring approval of the auditor to all claims of county and district officials for fees in the felony cases. Lynn has refused to approve the accounts until they have been audited by members of his department and in several instances has flatly refused to sign them after they have been audited.

The action of the supreme court in advancing the case on its docket indicated an early decision by the highest state tribunal, which will materially affect the claims of other officials for fees in felony cases.

Lynn has refused approval of numerous accounts, several of which have been reduced considerably.

The suit brought by Rogers contends that Lynn's approval or non-approval means nothing on claims filed on or incurred in cases prior to the effective date of the law requiring the auditor to approve the accounts. Under the old law the approval of the district judge and the comptroller was all that was necessary to payment of the claims.

Followed Disclosures
The law requiring the approval was passed after serious disclosures had been made by a special legislative committee investigating the fee system and claims filed by officers against the state treasury for services allegedly performed in criminal cases. The law does not require the auditor to audit the accounts but Lynn has taken the position that he would be foolish to approve them without knowing what they contained.

The investigation by the special legislative committee is being carried forward as swiftly as possible. Four sheriffs have been indicted and one convicted on evidence

Texas Cotton Crop Up Million Bales

AUSTIN, Nov. 12. (AP)—The Texas cotton crop today was estimated by the federal government at 5,250,000 bales compared to 4,038,000 bales in 1930. Average yield was estimated at 150 pounds. In 1930 the average yield was 114 pounds.

Ginnings to November 1 were 4,035,000 bales, a new record, the previous high being 3,865,000 bales in 1928.

Range conditions improved during October and moisture conditions were favorable in all but the south and southeast portions of the state. No change was recorded in the estimated harvest of corn, the figure being placed again at 112,203,000 bushels with a yield of 21 bushels compared to 86,710,000 and 16.5 bushels last year. The report stated 83 per cent of the corn was of merchantable quality while only 77 per cent was marketable last year.

GRIDSTEE BREAKS NECK
DELAND, Fla., Nov. 12. (AP)—Commissaire Dandevener Smith, 22, Millsaps college football tackle, clung to life tonight although physicians have said he cannot live because a neck vertebra was broken in a game between Millsaps and Stetson university here Armistice day.

brought to light by the committee. A district judge has been impeached but acquitted on charges of negligence and incompetency in connection with his approval of fee accounts filed by three of the sheriffs.

May Revises Statutes
Plans have been made by the investigating body to proceed with dispatch in the inquiry into allegedly extortionate charges against the state with the view of recommending a complete revision of the system at the next session of the legislature.

The evils of the fee system have been denounced by numerous members of the legislature for the past several sessions but efforts aimed at its complete abolition have failed. The maximum fees allowed officers, however, have been greatly reduced. Disclosures made by the investigating committee were expected to add impetus to the campaign for ultimate abolition of the fee system and adoption of a salary basis for the remuneration of public officials, the salary to be commensurate with the population of the county or district served by the official and the amount of time and effort that would be consumed normally in discharging the state's business.

By ROBEIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 7.—While very few film players of today have been recruited from the ranks of studio stenographers, there is almost as much competition for posts at Hollywood typewriters as for places in front of the camera.

Almost every girl who spends her summer vacation in Hollywood, running through two or three glamorous weeks that are a decided change from hometown routine, longs to settle down permanently in a job where she can be on the "inside" of movie activities.

The girls would like to continue their sight-seeing indefinitely while they work, catching glimpses of screen favorites through office windows and at lunch, and becoming a part of the Hollywood hubbub.

Of course if they succeed, by freak of fortune, in landing a studio job they soon learn that glamour here as elsewhere is perishable, and that studio stenography is just shorthand and typewriting and hard work, no better paid than elsewhere.

Success For Some
Some of the girls seek stepographic positions here to break into acting, like Jane Keith, who played with Milton Sills in "The Sea Wolf." On the other hand there was Fay Lanphier, a "Miss America" of some years ago, who made one film and disappeared from the screen, to return a few months ago and become, for a time, a studio office-worker.

To the lassies who have serious ambitions toward the more permanent work of the studio, outside of acting, there is always inspiration in Dorothy Arzner and Agnes Brand Leahy, director and scenarist respectively, both of whom began as studio steps.

Why Will Moved
Will Rogers used to live in Beverly Hills, and the reason he moved to his secluded ranch near the ocean has been traced down. Seriously or not, he says it began when his daughter Mary, coming into her teens, decided she had to have a bathroom all her own. There were many bathrooms, but the room Mary chose had none.

"So," says Will, "we called in a relative of Jesse James who said he was an architect, and told him we'd decided to remedy this deplorable defect."

A wall had to come out to make the addition, and then they decided to add a sleeping porch, lengthen the living room, enlarge the dining room and den.

"New decisions every day and ripping and tearing went on until there was nothing left but the kitchen. We thought the kitchen was all right, but standing there, all by itself, it didn't look so good either, and I knocked that down myself! (And they moved.)

HUGE FEEDING PLANT
LUBBOCK, Nov. 12. (AP)—A gigantic feeding plant that may be one of the largest of its kind in the southwest when it is completed in 1933 is under construction on the Yellowhouse canyon, immediately east of Lubbock.

The completed plant will cost about $100,000 and will accommodate between 50,000 and 60,000 cattle, sheep and hogs. About 1,000 head of cattle will be placed in the pens now under construction.

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 13. (AP)—For the first time the Texas Academy of Science will hold its annual convention in San Antonio Nov. 27 and 28. The academy was organized in 1892.

This Game GOLF

By
O.B. KEELER

If a somewhat failing memory has not pretty well collapsed, this same Peter O'Hara who knocked off Sir Walter Hagen in the first round of the late professional golfing championship at Wainamasett, used to put with a method that was pretty much all his own.

For that matter, he continues to put that way, so far as I know—granting always that Peter O'Hara is the O'Hara I am thinking about. It was an O'Hara, anyway, that I discovered using this odd method of getting the ball into the hole back in 1921, at the Columbia Country club of Washington, where the national open championship was in the process of being won by Long Jim Barnes.

Now, there are a number of excellent golfers who display a slight pause at the completion of the backswing of the putter. Bobby Cruikshank has this little, complete pause, before stroking the ball. MacDonald Smith has it in a greater degree. I have been told that Mac developed a complete pause from his considerable experience in billiards, at which game he is very good indeed.

"You don't drag the cue back and then smack the ball with it," Mac has been quoted as saying. "You draw it back slowly and deliberately, pause, settle in your mind where and how you wish the cue to take the ball, and then strike."

This is at least interesting, however authentic.

But the O'Hara theory is yet more radical.

Rests Before Firing

As I witnessed it myself, Mr. O'Hara for a putt of 12 feet or under—I speak approximately—takes his stance, addresses the ball and soles the club's blade in front of the ball—a procedure thus far common to many golfers.

Then he lifts the blade to the address position directly back of the ball and then—this is the trick—carries the club-head to the rear-most position of the backswing, and SETS IT DOWN on the turf. I mean, he not only stops the backswing—he sets the club-head down at that point.

After a deliberate interval, he strikes the ball, without any other motion of the club-head.

Just as a matter of memory, I should say that for a putt of six feet, O'Hara takes the blade back five or six inches, sets it down on the turf, and then starts it toward the ball. He does not drag it along the turf, in any case. He just strikes the ball with a blade started from a stationary position several inches behind the ball.

At any rate, he did that at Columbia, in 1921. I am not sure he does now, or that it is the same Peter O'Hara then. But it was an O'Hara. It was an interesting way of putting and, as I recall it, very deadly.

WILL SHIP TURKEYS

STEPHENVILLE, Nov. 13. (P)—According to reports received from several points in Erath county, the turkey marketing period has begun. The turkey crop in Stephenville and vicinity is good this year, and it is expected that about 30 cars of dressed turkeys will be handled through the local produce houses. About 900,000 pounds of dressed turkeys will be shipped to northern and eastern markets for Thanksgiving. If the turkey raisers receive as much as 15 cents per pound for their product, the returns will amount to approximately $135,000.

PLANT ELM TREES

BIG SPRING, Nov. 9. (P)—A city-wide campaign to have 1,000 elm trees planted along Big Spring streets has been started by the chamber of commerce.

Samples of the trees offered have been received here and many residents are placing orders. The chamber has obtained good plants that are offered at 50 cents apiece.

What's Become of Ruth?

I remember another odd thing, at Columbia. Clark Griffith, the Old Fox, then manager of the Washington Senators, was out at the golf course, talking to Grantland Rice and me. He assured us that Babe Ruth's legs were quite too fragile below the knees.

"The Babe won't be in major league ball more than two years longer," the Old Fox predicted. "Hum—ho! That was ten years, and a 'bit more, ago."

Pork Contest Is Newspaper Project

AMARILLO, Nov. 13. (P)—A contest intended to stimulate the production of pork on Panhandle farms has been announced by the Amarillo News and Globe, sponsors of the movement.

The contest will follow rules like those that govern the News-Globe Master dairy farmer contest, which is now in its fourth year. The score card will give points on good brood sows, production of pork for home consumption and for sale, general farm management, and for hog pastures.

It is probable that farmers throughout the Panhandle of Texas, the Oklahoma Panhandle and eastern New Mexico will be given an opportunity to participate in the contest. Prizes will total about $500.

The master dairy farmer contest has attracted from 15 to 20 dairy farmers each year, with prospects for twice that number in 1932. The pork production contest may attract a still greater number, farm agents have said.

The agricultural department of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce will assist the News and Globe in conducting the contest.

Consumption Increase Is Held To Be Essential In Cotton Problem

AUSTIN, Nov. 13. (AP)—Increased consumption with curtailed production is the only thing that will prove material benefit to the American cotton farmer, in the opinion of J. McDonald, Texas commissioner of agriculture.

Commissioner McDonald commended the bankers' cotton holding plan, whereby a considerable portion of the current crop would be sold off the market, but pointed out the plan would not lessen the available supply or increase consumption by a single bale.

"Holding cotton only retards its marketing; the only thing that can reduce the surplus is consumption, and by curtailed production," McDonald stated.

Commissioner McDonald recently made a brief speaking tour in the interest of the cotton acreage control law passed at the last special session of the legislature, directing farmers to observe both the spirit and the letter of the law. All that could be gained by this year's holding movement would be lost if next year should see another addition to the surplus, he said.

Past moves to finance farmers so they could withhold a part of their crop from the market have proven unsatisfactory and impractical because there was no definite and positive means of limiting the next year's production, Commissioner McDonald said.

"I have been watching the drift of this holding movement and I find farmers holding cotton with their own means; farmers and others holding cotton with the assistance of banks; men with money buying spot cotton speculatively in amounts of from one to 500 bales and a considerable amount of trading in cotton futures," McDonald stated.

"All of this tends to weaken the technical position of cotton and to ultimately result in disappointments for the holders unless there is concerted action and united effort by bankers and others to insure that next year's plantings are reduced in accordance with the law. Farmers are not so worried as some newspapers and people in other professions seem to be about what will be done with the excess acreage brought about by cotton acreage reduction. I do not think it wise to tell the farmer just what to plant. That is an individual problem and most farmers have in their own communities the proper

Randolph Field May Be Enlarged

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 13. (AP)—Construction of a third unit to Randolph field costing $3,500,000 or rebuilding of Kelly field at a cost of $4,000,000, to provide for the Air Corps Advanced Flying school is one of the major projects in the plans for army construction announced by Congressman W. Frank James of Michigan, chairman of the house military affairs committee.

Congressman James announced the plans after a conference here with Brig. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, incoming chief of the air corps, and Brig. Gen. Charles H. Dunforth, commander of the Air Corps Training center.

The original agreement under which appropriations for the construction of Randolph field were made called for abandonment of both Brooks field and Kelly field when Randolph field was completed. Congressman James said. Since that time, however, the question has arisen whether or not there will be room in the air around Randolph field for the great number of planes required for primary, basic, and advanced flying training.

WANT BONUS NOW

HENDERSON, Nov. 13. (AP)—An organization called the Texas "Pay Bonus Now" club has been formed here.

Its officers will attempt a statewide campaign, it was announced, to urge ex-service men and others interested to contribute $1 each for a fund to fight for the cash bonus.

person with whom to advise—the county agent, working through the extension division of A. and M. college.

"I believe we should let a large amount of land rest. It may be planted to clover or other cover crops or turned under to improve the soil. Farmers who do not wish to bear the expense of harvesting their sorghums could build temporary fences and pasture it, possibly with livestock obtained through the feder-breeder movement sponsored by banks. "Generally things are looking better today than they have for a long time. Farmers as a whole are optimistic. Cotton is a good investment. Farmers are going to cooperate and work as a unit in reducing the surplus to the end that cotton values may be restored."

Schools Stress Fire Prevention

AUSTIN, Nov. 13. (AP)—Fire prevention is rapidly being incorporated in the courses taught in Texas public schools.

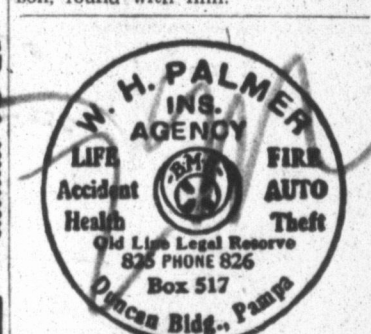

J. W. DeWeese, state fire insurance commissioner, has announced that schools in 680 towns and cities are now teaching fire prevention.

Recent additions were the schools at Bloomburg, Bogata, Blum, Brookshire, Brashear, Carmine, Catrina, Darrout, Edouch, Gruver, Happy, Iredell, Joaquin, Kopperl, Knippa, LeFors, Lytle, Malone, Medina, North Zulch, Ponder, Pflugerville, Pickerton, Robert Lee, Santo, Schertz, Windom, Zavalla.

DeWeese said this was a most effective means of reducing the annual fire waste. He said that at least 75 per cent of the fires are of careless origin and that the instruction given in the public schools taught the boys and girls the various fire hazards, their dangers, and what to do to correct hazards and keep them from arising in the homes.

MINOT, N. D., Nov. 13. (AP)—An unexpected mustache singe received when an automobile burned brought arrest of two men here and, officers said, confession they stole the car.

As Sheriff R. W. Kennard cast about for clues he noticed John Kostenko's mustache didn't look quite right. Yesterday Kostenko admitted guilt and so did Olaf Hanson, found with him.

Allotment Of Auto License Funds To Be Decided By Supreme Court

AUSTIN, Nov. 13. (AP)—The supreme court of Texas, ever deciding constitutional questions involved in legislation accumulating almost incessantly at the hands of legislatures which have been frequently out of the job in late years, soon will have with it another important conundrum to crack.

A San Antonio district court has held constitutional a phase of the law allotting automobile license fee funds to counties, and its attack is appealing, first to the court of civil appeals and then to the state's tribunal of last resort.

Bexar county officials had sought to enjoin its tax collector from turning to the state treasury certain portions of the registration funds. It was contended that the law discriminated against the larger counties and violated that provision of the constitution directing that "taxes shall be equal and uniform."

The law allocated to all counties the first $50,000 collected in registration fees, directing that it be turned into the county is permitted to retain one-half the amount in excess of that sum up to $175,000 the other 50 per cent going to the state highway fund. Everything over $175,000 goes to the state fund.

Few Are In Excess
Only the counties of Bexar, Harris, Dallas, Tarrant and Jefferson have collected in excess of the maximum amount counties may retain.

There is an alternative clause in the statute directing that in event the apportionment feature set out above is held unconstitutional then the counties shall retain 60 per cent of the registration collections and remit 40 per cent to the state. Should the alternative provision be made effective the smaller counties would not benefit so generously as under the other arrangement.

Pete Crawford, who lives at Alpine, has succeeded Roy Bean as "the law west of the Pecos" his friends claim. At least he is the game law west of the Pecos, because he is captain of 13 wardens operating in the Big Bend country.

He guards the game laws zealously in that great wide-open country and the night is never too dark for him to steer his automobile hundreds of miles to "take command" whenever his "troops" find some violator.

He visited the capitol the other day and revealed he is anticipating

Gopher Mining Is Being Revived

YELLVILLE, Ark., Nov. 13. (AP)—Scarcity of money and employment has caused resumption of gopher mining in the Ozark district around Yellville.

With the price of lead approximating $2 per hundred pounds, experienced miners make from $2 to $8 a day digging free ore from a surface prospect. Many of the ore bearing strata that crop out along the hillsides are interspersed with veins and chambers of free lead ready for the market in the form in which it comes from the ground.

Two brothers cut a new entry into an old drift and took out 1,000 pounds of free lead in two days.

MILK BY PIPELINE

CHICAGO, Nov. 13. (AP)—The day may come when milk will be brought by pipeline from the farm to the bottling company.

The idea was advocated yesterday by H. E. Rockefeller, a development engineer, speaking before the thirty-second annual convention of the International Acetylene association. He also suggested powdered coal would be brought in this manner to the consumer's furnace.

Canary on Stand In Damage Suit

CHICAGO, Nov. 13. (AP)—A canary placed on the witness stand in Judge Edward B. Casey's court warbled a song and thereby freed its former mistress of a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Mrs. Dorothy McGarry, the defendant, was accused by Mrs. Susan Halwatz of selling her a bird that wouldn't sing.

"It was a female," she said yesterday when she appeared in court. "I tried every way known to make the bird sing, but it wouldn't. Mrs. McGarry sold the canary to me as a male and they sing. Females don't."

Judge Casey called for the bird. Mrs. McGarry approached and pleaded for a song. Suddenly the bird began to sing.

"The bird wins and so do you," Judge Casey said to Mrs. McGarry.
