Don Robbins, who was on the high school coaching taff here a dozen years ago, apparently has brought he Idaho Universtiy football team out of the loldrums. The Idaho team has now won three in a ow, the first time that has happened in a good many years.

A former Breckenridge High School and Texas A&M star, Robbins left Snyder for a post on the Big Spring High School coaching staff, then went to University of Texas at El Paso as an assistant and on to Idaho. He became head coach at Idaho a couple of years ago.

Robbins will bring his team to Texas in 1973 to meet the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs. They are booked for an Oct. 13 engagement at Fort Worth that year.

Another team from the same general area will make a trip to Texas the same year. Montana, a team which Idaho defeated a week ago, has a date with Rice on Sept. 22, 1973, at Houston.

But if you think TCU and Rice are relaxing their schedules by booking these two lesser known teams, it is not necessarily so. Rice will have LSU and Notre Dame on the two succeeding weekends after Montana, while TCU will face Ohio State and Arkansas just prior to Idaho's visit. And later on that season, the Horned Frogs will meet Tennessee at Knoxville.

Some new faces are going to show up on schedules of several other Southwest Conference teams in the next two years. Arkansas has Southern California booked for the next two seasons, and Wake Forest is scheduled to appear twice in Texas the next two years, in 1972 at SMU and in 1973 at the University of Texas in Austin. Baylor will go to Georgia to open the 1972 season and then host Oklahoma's Sooners in its 1973 season-opener. Texas A&M has Army coming to College Station next season and will go to South Carolina to meet Clemson in 1973.

The Office of Emergency Preparedness, which rides herd on the wage-price freeze, reported the other day that the greatest number of complaints alleging price violations has involved the retail price of gasoline.

This undoubtedly stemmed from so-called "price wars" which erupt intermittently in some areas. Some gasoline retailers in neighboring towns reportedly were caught on Aug. 5 with their prices as much as a dime per gallon below the regular price. — WACIL McNAIR

TWO DIVISIONS ATTAIN GOALS — The Snyder Public Schools in the education division and the utilities division had attained their goals this morning in the Scurry County United Fund campaign. The first report session of the drive was held at campaign headquarters and before noon the total had reached $14,904.05. Snyder Public Schools employes accounted for $3,406 and the utilities division had collected $2,448.40. Pictured at the report session are, from left, Bill Gilliland, utilities division head; Ernest Sears, campaign co-chairman; J. D. Hinton, education division head; and Bill J. Hood, campaign co-chairman.

UF Campaign At One-Third Mark

The Scurry County United Fund Campaign had slightly over one-third of its goal following the first report session of the drive this morning.

The total had reached $14,904.05 shortly before noon and a few more workers were expected to report during the day.

Two divisions had reached their goals, although each still had some reports outstanding.

Reaching their goals were the Snyder Public Schools in the education division, with a total of $3,406 and the utilities division, with a total of $2,198. These two divisions are headed by J. D. Hinton and Bill Gilliland, respectively.

The next largest report coming in this morning was from the oil and industry division, with slightly over $1.500. The remainder of the total this morning came from a variety of smaller reports.

The campaign co-chairmen, Ernest Sears and Bill J. Hood, said they were encouraged over the results which came in this morning's reports. However, they were somewhat disappointed in the number of reports made. They expressed hope that workers would complete their tasks and be ready to turn in their cards at the next report meeting which is set for next Tuesday.

The total reported this morning represents about 34 per cent of the campaign goal of $43,800. The funds will be used to support the operations of 10 participating agencies.

Nixon Going To Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)-President Nixon announced today he will take part in a summit meeting in Moscow in the latter part of May after his China trip because there is a climate now for making some progress on mutual problems.

The announcement was made jointly here and in Moscow, Nixon said.

Nixon said the aim was for "better relations" between the United States and the Soviet Union. Any speculation that this visit and the one to China were planned to affect each other in any way "would be entirely inaccurate," he said.

The summit meeting was set for May, Nixon said at a White House news conference.

Homecoming At Hermleigh

HERMLEIGH — Homecoming has been set for Saturday, Oct. 16, at Hermleigh High School.

All former students of Hermleigh and former districts which previously consolidated with the Hermleigh District are being urged to attend the event.

Registration will begin at 2:30 p.m. and the homecoming session will begin at 6:30. Supper will be served from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.

The activities will be climaxed with a football game at 7:30 p.m. between the Hermleigh Cardinals and the McCaulley Eagles.

Labor Leaders To Serve On Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nations top labor leaders agreed today to serve on President Nixon's wage board to control inflation after he promised there would be no veto of the board's decisions.

"We are telling the President we are going to serve on this board and try to make it work," AFL-CIO President George Meany said.

The presidents of the nation's two largest independent unions, Frank Fitzsimmons of the Teamsters and Leonard Woodcock of the United Auto Workers, said they too would serve on the board if asked by Nixon.

The decision was announced after a summit meeting of the labor leaders received a pledge initialed by Nixon that the 15-man Labor-Industry-Public Pay Board would be autonomous.

"The COLC (Cost of Living Council) will not approve, disapprove or serve as an appeal level for case decisions made by the Pay Board and Price Commission and it will not approve, revise, veto, or revoke specific standards or criteria developed by the Pay Board and Price Commission," said the Nixon memo marked "O.K." in the President's handwriting.

The memo, dated Monday, was delivered to Meany this morning before the labor meeting by director George Shultz of the White House Office of Management and Budget and Secretary of Labor John D. Hodgson.

Meany went from the meeting with Shultz and Hodgson to a special session of the 13.6 million member labor federation's 35-man executive council.

Also at the meeting were the presidents of the nation's two largest unions that do not belong to the AFL-CIO.

Vacancies To Be Filled Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon said today he will announce his selections for two Supreme Court vacancies next week. He said Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., and at least two women are among those now under consideration.

Responding to a question at an impromptu news conference, Nixon said Byrd, a conservative West Virginia Democrat, "is definitely on the list" he is considering.

"I don't rule out Sen. Byrd and I certainly don't rule out a woman," Nixon said as he disclosed "I will make the nominations next week."

The President noted that there had been stories during the weekend that he had settled on Byrd as his first choice for the court, and still other stories later that Byrd was unlikely to get the nomination. "Both are wrong," Nixon said of what he called these "dope stories."

He said several of Byrd's colleagues recommended him and he is being considered. Then he volunteered: "At least two women are under consideration at this time."

Earlier White House sources said Nixon has about a dozen individuals under "active consideration" for nomination to the Supreme Court.

Court Declines Ruling On War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court declined 5 to 2 today to rule on the legality of U.S. military action in Vietnam.

The court made no comment in refusing to hear an appeal brought for two soldiers by the American Civil Liberties Union and the New York Civil Liberties Union.

One of the soldiers, Salvatore Orlando, is on duty in Vietnam. The other, Douglas Kaplan, is at Ft. Dix, N.J., under orders for Vietnam but seeking a hardship discharge. They challenged the government's right to send them to war.

The high court has never agreed to hear a case that questions the constitutionality of American military action in Southeast Asia without an explicit declaration of war by Congress.

In other actions today, the court:

—Agreed to decide whether the predominantly white part of a Southern school district may split off and form its own system.

—Refused to halt the interrogation of prisoners at Attica about last month's rebellion at the New York state institution.

—Declined to review a reversal of the murder conviction of Edgar H. Smith Jr., the prison author who has spent 14 years on Death Row in New Jersey.

—Granted the government a hearing on the federal law that prohibits the interstate transportation of obscene materials.

—Rejected a move by Georgia to change the makeup of the Democratic and Republican national conventions. The state wanted the delegates alloted purely on the basis of population.

Justices William O. Douglas and William J. Brennan voted to hear the ACLU's attorneys dispute the legality of the war. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices Potter Stewart, Byron R. White, Thurgood Marshall and Harry A. Blackmun were against a hearing.

Normally, the votes of at least four justices are required to take on a case. Two seats are vacant. The court did not indicate whether it is retaining the four-vote minimum or whether three votes are now needed.

From the very start, Douglas has favored hearing Vietnam war cases. Last year he was supported by Stewart and John M. Harlan, who retired last month with illness. This was the first time Brennan was in favor of considering a test of the war.

Smith Tells Board To Work Fast

AUSTIN (AP) — Taking a swipe at Lt. Gov. Ben Banres, Gov. Preston Smith told the five-man Legislative Redistricting Board today it would be "irresponsible" if it failed to devote its full time to reapportioning the House and Senate.

Smith issued a written statement urging the board, which faces an Oct. 23 deadline, to complete its work quickly.

"Just last Wednesday, at a meeting of the board, essential decisions on redistricting could not be made and had to be deferred because of the absence of a member, who is obligated by the Constitution to help the board reach determinations about legislative district lines for the coming election," the governor said.

He referred to Barnes' skipping a board meeting to give a speech and confer with various individuals in San Antonio last Wednesday. Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong told newsmen after the meeting that he would have moved to proceed with a single-member district plan for the House if Barnes had been present.

"There will be enough time for politics and campaigning for higher office after the board completes its redistricting chores," Smith said.

Barnes has announced as a candidate for governor. Smith has not disclosed whether he will run for re-election.

"Each member of the board should now consider redistricting his principal responsibility. Further delays will only demonstrate that members of the board are inconsiderate of the voters of Texas, the democratic process and those whose careers in public service depend upon the board's decisions," Smith said.

Search For Pair Proves Fruitless

Officers from Dallas and Irving were in Snyder and Scurry County Monday in a renewed search for Robert L. "Tex" Roberts, an elderly investor who has been missing for more than a year.

Lt. J. E. Hobbs of the Dallas Police Dept. and Detective Don Hamon of the Irving Police Dept., came here as the result of a tip from an unidentified convict in the state prison. They found nothing after checking some possible landmarks which they said were described by the convict. The search here was abandoned Monday afternoon.

Scurry County Sheriff Keith Collier said he assisted the two officers in looking for the site described by the convict. Collier said they found four or five places that appeared to fit the description — with a windmill, stock tank and watering trough.

A report that the officers did some digging at one of the sites was erroneous, Collier said. They did find some animal bones on top of the ground near one of the places they inspected.

The unidentified convict had told the Dallas area officers that he was offered $10,000 to kill Roberts, 85, and Roberts' aunt, Jessie I. Forsythe, 89. The two elderly persons have been objects of a search by Dallas officers since August of 1970.

A Dallas lawyer, Leon Horton, and a Grand Prairie notary public, O'Dell Reed, have been charged in connection with the case.

Horton is in jail at Canyon in lieu of $170,000 bond on charges of tampering with the estates of the missing pair and a third missing person, Anna M. Farley, 79, of Dallas.

Reed is sought on forgery charges in connection with a power of attorney Horton claims Roberts gave to him.

Officers said the prison inmate told them he was approached by a Dallas man with an offer of $10,000 to kill Roberts and his aunt and take the bodies to the stock tank near Snyder, cover them with lime and bury them. He indicated the two were to be killed by an overdose of sleeping pills.

The prisoner said he turned down the offer but gave the names of two Fort Worth residents who might do the job.

Larimer Rites Set Wednesday

George R. Larimer, 81, died at 1:45 p.m. Monday in Big Spring Nursing Inns. He was born April 26, 1890, in Wayne, Neb., and had been a resident of Snyder for 19 years.

Funeral services are set for 10:30 a.m. Wednesday in Bell-Seale Chapel with Rev. Miller Robinson officiating. Burial will follow in Hillside Memorial Gardens under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

He is survived by a step-daughter, Mrs. Bill Chauncey of Snyder; a step-son, Marvin Hubbard, of Snyder, and one daughter-in-law, Mrs. I. C. Graham of Stanton. His son, Alton Larimer, preceded him in death in 1962.

College District Eyes $2½ Million Bond Issue

A bond proposal totalling possibly $2½ million to complete construction work on the campus of Western Texas College likely will be submitted to voters late this year by the Scurry County Junior College District.

This was indicated at a meeting last night of the college district's board of trustees, following a conference with architects and receipt of a request that provision be made for a museum building on the campus.

A formal request signed by board members of three local organizations asked that the college consider adding to the proposed bond issue sufficient funds to build a museum. Those making the request represented the Ranch Headquarters Association, the Scurry County Historical Survey Committee and the Scurry County Museum Association. They also suggested a committee composed of Mrs. T. D. Cramer, Ernest Sears, Mrs. Wayne Boren, Mrs. Jess Everett, Jay Huckabee and George Killam to work with college officials in an advisory capacity in planning such a facility.

Following discussion by the college district board, Dr. Robert Hargrove, board president, formally appointed that group to an advisory committee.

There was considerable discussion on the scope of the bond proposal. Current estimates are that it will require approximately $2 million to complete the campus construction work, the two major buildings being the student center and the physical education building. Although temporary student center facilities are available, the permanent structure will become a prime need when dormitories are occupied. The student center will include food service facilities as well as facilities for student activities which will be urgently needed on campus when students take up residence in dormitories.

The college has no physical education facilities of its own at this time.

Following the discussion, which involved economic conditions, federal controls, etc., the board indicated that it would aim for a bond election in late November or early December with a view toward letting contracts in late January or early February.

The construction contracts stemming from this issue would be the last major expenditures in development of the college plant as projected in the initial plans for campus development. Dr. Robert L. Clinton, college president, said that completion of the proposed projects, labeled Phase II of the building program, would provide sufficient facilities for up to 1,500 to 2,000 students. The enrollment is expected to reach that level within a few years.

In other business, the college board approved the policy for dormitory operation and costs, approved a contract with the Scurry County Rodeo Association for stables to be used by members of the college rodeo team, approved two additions to personnel and revised its policies on refunds for dropped courses and procedures for withdrawal of students.

When dormitories are ready for occupancy, room and meal charges for students living on campus will be $416 per semester. The contract with the Rodeo Association is to provide 20 stables at $15 per unit per month for a period of two years. Students who wish to keep horses there will make their arrangements with the college.

The board also approved a proposal to finish a chemistry laboratory and a biology laboratory which will be needed by next fall at a total cost of approximately $34,000.

Rogers To Meet With Diplomats

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the third time in less than a month Secretary of State William P. Rogers is going to New York and a luxurious suite in one of America's most prestigious hotels.

But instead of a three-day vacation spent lounging in the Waldorf-Astoria Towers, Rogers will see officials of at least 20 nations as he reaches out for two of the Nixon administration's most cherished diplomatic goals—continued United Nations membership for Nationalist China and an interim Middle East settlement.

Important as these goals may be to Rogers, there is no firm evidence he is close to either, although State Department officials are constantly maintaining a positive tone.

His goal for the Middle East is reopening the Suez Canal as a temporary agreement between Egypt and Israel that could serve as a first step toward a permanent settlement.

Rogers' next Mideast move comes Thursday when he sees Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban for the second time since the secretary opened his bilateral talks just over three weeks ago.

The Eban meeting assumed increased importance after Rogers met Thursday with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad. Spokesmen for both leaders said the two had settled previous disagreements and narrowed differences, but there was no detailing of what differences.

Perhaps most significant was an apparent negative Israeli attitude.

The night before the Rogers-Riad meeting, Israeli Premier Golda Meir criticized Rogers' Oct. 4 speech to the General Assembly.

Mrs. Meir said the six so-called ideas put forth by Rogers as containing the germ of an interim settlement had encouraged Egypt to maintain an intransigent position.

And as late as last Sunday, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said as he left to visit Moscow that the latest U.S. effort was "giving Israel all she wants."

Through all the vague statements, Rogers has maintained both sides still want the United States to continue its role.

Also continuing for the secretary will be his drive to keep the Nationalist Chinese in the U.N., while supporting membership for the Communist mainland.

The China question will dominate Rogers' conversations this week as it did his earlier New York visits.

The key to the American effort is a resolution maintaining expulsion of a member requires a two-thirds margin, not a simple majority.

According to U.S. officials, the vote on the "important question" move will be very close, but they say there is a great deal of reason to hope for success.

Daniel Issues Statement

AUSTIN (AP) — Rep. Price Daniel Jr. of Liberty reported today he has received $1,050 in donations and spent $1,662 in his race for House speaker since he announced as a candidate June 21.

Daniel made the voluntary disclosure to Secretary of State Bob Bullock and was the first in the race to do so.

Daniel announced the filing in a news release. Bullock's office said, however, it had not yet received the statement Tuesday morning.

Speakers are elected by their fellow House members, not by the people, and are not required by law to report their contributions and expenditures.

"I believe the people of Texas are entitled to know who is financing the campaigns of all candidates for speaker. I intend to update my report periodically and hope that other speaker candidates will see fit to make similar disclosures of their financial backing," Daniel said.

Daniel has advocated passage of a law requiring such disclosures of future candidates.

Decorated Marine Dies At 73

HAMPTON, Va. (AP) — The fighting spirit that made Lt. Gen. Lewis B. "Chesty" Puller the most decorated man in Marine Corps history was best demonstrated in Korea when, with his troops surrounded by Chinese Communists, he told subordinates:

"Those poor bastards. They've got us just where we want them. We can shoot in every direction now."

When Puller died of pneumonia Monday night at the age of 73 and after a lengthy illness, he left behind a string of medals and honors as long as his military record.

Puller' fighting spirit was demonstrated even in his later years.

In 1965, when at the age of 65 Puller requested, and was denied, reactivation for service in Vietnam, he said it was "in the knowledge that I am physically fit, young enough in years and qualified by experience for further service to the U.S. Marine Corps and my country."

But a series of strokes which began when he retired from the Marines in 1955—with 66 decorations from three wars and the only man ever to win five Navy Crosses—sapped his strength.

He was hospitalized several times in recent years, was partially paralyzed by another stroke in June and entered the Kecoughtan Veterans Administration Hospital here in July.

Among those at his bedside when he died was his son, Lewis B. Puller Jr., who as a Marine lost both legs in a land mine explosion in Vietnam in 1968.

Besides his widow and son, Puller is survived by two daughters, Mrs. William Howard Dabney of Fairfax and Mrs. Michael Patrick Downs of Alexandria; and a sister, Emily P. Fishburn of San Diego, Calif.

N-Viets Shell 11 Bases

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese gunners shelled 11 allied bases lightly during the night, keeping up the pressure on both sides the Cambodian-South Vietnamese border, military spokesmen reported today.

One of the outposts shelled was Fire Base Pace, the border artillery base at which five American soldiers balked at going on a night patrol Saturday. Their entire 100-man company was withdrawn from the base today, and a replacement company sent in.

The U.S. Command said Pace, which is about 75 miles northwest of Saigon, was hit by less than 35 mortar rounds and some U.S. soldiers were wounded.

The South Vietnamese said 10 of their bases on both side of the border were shelled, but there were casualties at only four and these were light.

Only one new ground action was reported, a small clash around noon today between a South Vietnamese armored company and a North Vietnamese unit in the border area. A South Vietnamese spokesman said 17 North Vietnamese and three South Vietnamese were killed and six South Vietnamese were wounded.

The U.S. Command announced the withdrawal from combat duty of another artillery battalion of the Americal Division prior to return to the United States.

Agnew Assures Aid To Turkey

ANKARA (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has assured Turkey's leaders that the United States is committed to aid their nation and to maintain the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. He dismissed suggestions of unilateral U.S. troops withdrawals from Europe as "very careless talk."

Agnew, midway through two days of talks in the Turkish capital, said he hopes U.S. negotiations with the Soviet Union will lead to balanced reductions in the Communist and Western forces in Europe. But without agreement for such reciprocal reductions, he said, there can be no American cutback.

Agnew was conferring today with President Cevdet Sunay and, for the second time, with Premier Nihat Erim.

The vice president spent 90 minutes with Erim and other government officials Monday and reportedly told them that U.S. negotiations with the Soviet Union on strategic arms and manpower are a product of diplomatic realism. But a Foreign Ministry spokesman said Agnew also assured Erim that the United States is committed to the support of Turkey through military aid and alliance.

For his part Erim said Turkey believes close ties to the West and the support of NATO are essential to the interests of his nation and the cause of peace in Europe.

Agnew arrived in Ankara Monday from Washington and goes to Iran Wednesday for the celebration at Persepolis of the 2,500th anniversary of the Persian monarchy. On Oct. 16 he will begin a six-day visit to Greece, his father's native land.

Discussing his mission, Agnew said he would not be talking with foreign leaders about any upgrading of American military commitments because President Nixon's policy is to reduce them when that is compatible with U.S. security interests.

"... We're engaged in balanced force reduction conversations with the Soviets," he said, "and as soon as they prove fruitful—which I hope they will—I think we would be in a position to further reduce our military presence in the Mediterranean.

"But one thing is certain, until we can be certain that the forces of NATO that stand ready against the Warsaw Pact nations are able to meet that threat, we cannot move affirmatively in that area.

"And all the talk in the Congress that relates to unilateral force reductions is, in my judgment, very careless talk because it is important that we maintain that readiness."

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield has said he will again propose his amendment to reduce U.S. troops stationed in Western Europe by half, to 150,000. The Senate rejected the measure earlier this year after a massive administration lobbying campaign.

Mishap Logged

Minor damage resulted from a one-car mishap in the 1800 block of Twenty-sixth Street at 2:05 p.m. Monday.

Officers said the 1955 Model Oldsmobile of John William Harris, 1901 Coleman, ran over the curb and struck a utility pole. Damage to the car was minor. Officer James West investigated the mishap.

Fisherman Gains Two Prizes

PORT HARCOURT, Nigeria (AP) — A young fisherman of Sinikiri village found a quick but dangerous way to win public office. He crept up on a sunbathing crocodile and stabbed it to death.

The villagers, who fish for a livelihood and have been harassed by the crocodile for five years, were so elated they appointed the hero, Thomas Bunu, head of the village.

Beaumont Dockers Split

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Beaumont longshoremen's union negotiated with each other today seeking to open the port.

One of the five unions maintained picket lines, and members of other unions refused to cross them despite what appeared earlier to be a plan to ignore Local 1610's pickets.

Business Agent Peter LeBlanc of Local 1316 said efforts were being made to persuade 1610 to end the work stoppage.

LeBlanc said reports that the four non-striking locals planned to cross picket lines was in error.

However, officers of four of the locals did vote Monday night to work but this apparently depended on negotiations with Local 1610.

International Longshoremen's Association members except those in Local 1610 from Lake Charles to Brownsville have refused to take part in the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts strike.

The strike was called Oct. 1 by ILA President Thomas Gleason.

Gleason was supposed to meet with East Gulf ILA leaders last Sunday in Brownsville but did not appear. Contacted in New York Monday night, he said, "I truly expected to be there but I had problems up here."

He said he would be in communication with Texas officials by telephone.

At Sunday's meeting, Bert Bellon, an ILA representative from Lake Charles, said there was a unanimous, understood agreement by East Gulf Coast dockworkers to ignore the ILA strike.

But Eddie Blackwell, president of the resisting ILA Local 1610 in Beaumont, said the strike question did not come up at the Sunday session because Gleason wasn't there. He had pickets on the Beaumont dock Monday.

TSTA Meet Is Slated Oct. 18

Educators from 12 counties will meet Oct. 18 at Nolan County Coliseum in Sweetwater for the fourth annual convention of District 14 of Texas State Teachers Association. Drennon Daves, Sweetwater superintendent and convention arrangements chairman, said that between 1,500 and 2,000 will be in attendance this year.

Presiding over the general session at 10:30 a.m. will be Mrs. Nadine Gordon, current District 14 president from Colorado City. The session will begin with the Pledge of Allegiance led by Mrs. Barbara Bigham of Snyder and the invocation by Dr. Joe Starnes of Abilene. Brief entertainment will be provided by the Sweetwater High School Chorus under the direction of Frank McDonald.

Following a brief welcome by Daves, TSTA state president-elect, Patsy Duncan of Amarillo, will extend TSTA's greetings to the convention. Membership reports for TSTA and NEA will be given by Don Simmons and Dr. Harold Brinson, respectively, both of Abilene.

Charles Anderson, District 14 president-elect from Snyder, will introduce the convention's main speaker, Dr. John Furbay whose topic will be "Education for a World in Transition."

Dr. Furbay, who holds a doctorate from Yale, has taught in universities from Connecticut to Hawaii, served as president of the college of West Africa in Monrovia, Liberia, and as an education advisor to the Liberian government. In Latin America he served as Educational Attache to the U.S. Embassies in Costa Rica and Colombia.

Following the general session, participants will attend luncheons according to their area of professional assignment. Various kinds of programs have been planned for the luncheons.

At 2:30 p.m. the Classroom Teachers section will have Sen. John Tower as its speaker, according to chairman Jerry Tate of Abilene.

Buffalo Hunt Ends

HOUSE ROCK (AP) — Arizona's suddenly - controversial buffalo "hunt" has ended here with 81 of the rangy animals killed by hunters at close range.

Each year, the state holds the buffalo "hunt" to keep the herds at House Rock and Raymond Ranch at about 200 buffalo each.

The animals are shot by hunters selected by drawing after putting $40 each for a once-in-a-lifetime permit which entitles them to one quarter of the meat from the animal killed.

The buffalo are released into a fenced arroyo in twos or threes. An equal number of hunters, backed by state game employes, do the shooting from less than 100 yards.

The annual kill was the subject of a best-selling book, and now a Stanley Kramer motion picture, "Bless the Beasts and Children." The novel depicts the efforts of a small band of children to free the buffalo from the pens during the four-day hunt.

The State Game and Fish Department has built modern slaughtering facilities at both buffalo ranches, and processes the meat on the spot.

One of the hunters this year was Lester Cody, of Gila Bend, great-grandnephew of William "Buffalo Bill" Cody.

AFTER SCHOOL SNACK — Moist, nutritious . . .and tasty. That's Apple Sauce Date Nut Bread, a perfect after-school snack when topped with cream cheese and served with a cold glass of milk. The bread is ideal for school lunch-box sandwiches, too.

Lunch Box And Snack Ideas

With school back in session the problem of what to put in lunch boxes (and what to have for after-school snacks) is back, too. There's also a growing awareness that such foods should be wholesome and nutritious, even if they're often eaten on the run.

Ideal for these occasions is a nutritious Apple Sauce Date and Nut Bread. Topped with cream cheese and served with milk (two more nourishing and filling goods), the bread makes a perfect after-school snack.

When unexpected company comes and dessert presents a problem, serve chilled canned cling peach halves heaped with a yummy mixture of whipped cream and crumbled ginger snaps.

As the key to lunch-box sandwiches, this bread works perfectly, too, since it is extremely moist — thanks to the apple sauce. Besides making the bread moist (it actuallys seems to get more fresh each day!), the sauce adds vitamins and minerals.

You can store the bread in your freezer, slice it frozen and make your sandwiches. By the time lunch hour rolls around the bread will have thawed . . . fresh and moist . . . ready to eat. If you plan to freeze the bread, remember to let it cool thoroughly first and to wrap it tightly for immediate freezing.

APPLE SAUCE DATE NUT BREAD

Cool in pan 10 minutes. Remove to wire rack to finish cooling. Then wrap in foil. Store overnight before slicing. This loaf may be frozen.

Back-to-school time is also pumpkin time, and here is a special apple sauce and pumpkin bread. Eat one and freeze one . . . the recipe makes two loaves. Save one for a quick tea snack or lunches at a later date.

Gestures Can Help In Communicating

NEW YORK AP) — Communicating with gestures began with the cave man, but recognizing the true meanings of gestures is something people have just begun to do, says Gerard I. Nierenberg, co-author of a book called "How To Read a Person Like a Book."

"People give off all kinds of non-verbal clues about what they're really thinking," Nierenberg states. "For instance, people don't like to lie and they practically tell you when they do it. One might put his hand over his mouth, cough or turn his body to the side.

"Or a politician might say, with his hands open, 'I love the youth of this nation,' then add, one hand pounding the other, 'They're the most patriotic of us all'—giving off with his hands, the clues that he doesn't mean what he's saying at all."

Nierenberg says his book is the outgrowth of sessions he conducted on the art of negotiating. "We began doing video tapes of the sessions," he explains," and people started recognizing the meanings of gestures—first the other persons' then their own. And they began to understand how the right interpretation of gestures can help at communicating."

For instance, in a negotiating situation, Nierenberg distinguishes between two attitudes—open and closed. A person with an open attitude would sit on the front of a chair, lean forward on his toes and not have his arms closed. But a person with a closed attitude would sit back in his chair, feet flat on the floor and have locked arms.

"If you're getting the correct verbal feedback from those attitudes, you can avoid a stalemate in a discussion or stop a person from getting angry," Nierenberg says. "If a person develops a closed attiude, you should change the subject or ask for clarification—'why are you acting this way?'—Do anything to change the situation."

The author says traditionally women have been better at interpreting gestures than men, calling their ability part of women's intuition. "It's being able to interpret minute gestures," he adds. As an example, Nierenberg cites the fact that women know they must walk a certain speed. "If she walks too fast, it's not ladylike, but if she walks too slow, she's leaving herself open for an invitation."

Just as languages differ, so do gestures, Nierenberg notes. However he says there are certain universal gestures, like the shrug. And the author contends gestures are both learned and instinctive—citing the shrug again as an example. "A child who has been blind from birth will still shrug," he says.

Americans Are Facing Difficult Questions

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — What are windfall profits? How long is indefinite? Can an aggressive labor movement now participate in holding down wages? How long will business agree to limits on profits?

These are some of the questions before the American people and their government. They hardly could be more fundamental, and yet they are merely a sampling. A tough reality lies ahead.

Forthcoming days are going to require an examination of the charters and constitutions and theories under which many of our institutions operate. Criterias will be established rather than found in historical references.

A windfall profit, for example, has always been dreamed about if not actively sought by industry, and when it came it has always been considered a perfectly acceptable gift from above, although sometimes attributed to skill.

Opinions may be more definite on the matter of indifiniteness. Government control of the economy is to be continued for an indefinite period, it is understood, and it is agreed that the period will be extensive rather than brief.

It is difficult, in fact, to imagine that the government will ever withdraw completely the powers that it is assuming in the marketplace. Previous involvements persist, although in changing form.

The introduction of Social Security, for example, was accompanied by heated opposition, but it is here to stay. Public health insurance was battled as vigorously, but it is almost assured of acceptance in some form. High performance standards for business have always been resisted, but once accepted their use becomes almost routine.

The decisions to be made by labor will require an examination of the basic precepts of the movement, which for decades has assumed that it must fight to achieve its fair share of the rewards of production.

This viewpoint often permitted labor to fix its eye on a single goal of higher wages and benefits, sometimes at the price of weakening an industry or disrupting public affairs.

Now it is being asked to consider a multiplicity of goals that include the control of inflation and the rectifying of the balance of payments deficit, matters that aren't easily related to wages.

While labor leaders pride themselves on their history of cooperation when the common good was endangered, there is some question of whether they will enthusiastically accept seats on the new wage board.

The problem appears to be that while labor is as intent on helping as any other group, it is confronted by a basic question concerning its freedom. Will the Cost of Living Council be able to veto its efforts? That's the question.

Industry is faced with essentially the same decision. How much of its autonomy is it willing to relinquish? How much freedom of decision must it give up to government in matters of pricing?

The questions are difficult. And when they are answered, the impact of each one will be equivalent to a Supreme Court decision.

Dreams Achieved In Youth

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Youth is the time for man to go on golden argosies and make his true dreams come true.

Otherwise, middle age becomes a kind of prison for the would-be adventurer. His argosies turn into armchair travels and his visions into tired daydreams that thrill him less each passing year.

His fantasies may even harden into a ritual as routine and commonplace as his other habits.

So if you're under 40, now is the time to win those dream goals. For example, you might:

Catch a pickled herring.

Lily a rumor to [illegible].

Humble a pride of lions.

Sweep up a sweepstakes prize.

Find out where your bread is buttered.

Go surfboarding with Helen Hayes.

Bring home not only the bacon but a little caviar, too.

Acquire the world's largest collection of box tops you can send away and get nothing back for.

Break up a dice game by throwing eight sevens in a row.

Write a wrong.

Throw a monkey wrench into the machinery.

Sing a song of 12 pence. It takes 12 pence today to buy what six pence used to.

Imagine something no one else has imagined.

Promise a politician anything and give him nothing-not even your vote.

Fight the good fight.

Soften your arteries by unhardening your heart.

Invent a rubber ruler so everything will measure the exact size you want it to be.

Buy your dog a doghouse with plumbing and an automatic dishwasher.

Seek a cure for tree surgeons who can't stand the sight of sap and get nosebleed if they do.

Develop a heating appliance guaranteed to dry any child behind the ears by the age of 15.

Yes, any dream can be achieved, but you have to start young. If you don't, dust will gather on your destiny.

Beef Labeling Changed

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's second largest grocery chain has started labeling its ground beef by relative fat content instead of by cut.

Spokesmen for Safeway Stores said no significant difference in price is expected from the change which has been proposed by a local consumer organization to eliminate what it calls deception in labeling.

A Virginia consumer council survey concluded recently that "ground sirloin" often contains whatever beef happens to be handy, not the cut shoppers thought they were paying for.

The Safeway change, ordered in August for action this month, was made prior to the consumer council's survey.

Kroger, the No. 3 chain, has no plans now to institute a similar system, according to spokesmen. Comment from A&P, the nation's No. 1 grocery retailer, was not available.

Giant Food, a Washington-area chain, is considering the changeover to labeling by fat content, but no decision has been reached yet, said a spokesman.

The old Safeway system, typical of the one in use now by most supermarkets, offered shoppers "regular ground beef" at the lowest price per pound and the increasingly expensive grades of "ground chuck," "ground round" and "ground sirloin."

The new labels, in the same order, are "regular," "lean," "extra lean" and "super lean."

A Safeway spokesman said the approximate fat levels in the newly labeled products will be 25 per cent in regular, 22 per cent in lean, 18 per cent in extra lean and 15 per cent in super lean.

"The reason for this (change) is in line with our effort to provide the most accurate information to our customers," said the spokesman.

Safeway officials said they are able to keep tabs on the content of the firm's ground meat because cutting and initial grinding is done only at a few meat-distribution warehouses before individual stores do the final grinding.

Detective Resigns Becomes Priest

SOLIHULL, England (AP) — A 54-year-old chief detective, Inspector Kenneth Smyth, has retired from the force to become an Anglican priest. "It may seem a big change," says Smythe, "but clergymen and policemen both tend to the needs of the community."

Junior Editors Quiz on VENICE

QUESTION: Why does the city of Venice have so much water?

* * *

ANSWER: Venice, in Northeastern Italy, lies at the center of a shallow lagoon that stretches along the Northern coast of the Adriatic Sea. It is really a collection of small islands connected by bridges. The city is criss-crossed by canals. The Grand Canal goes through the center. The chief means of transportation are gondolas and small steamers. The buildings are built on piles driven down into the muddy islets or small patches of land. The center of public life is at St. Mark's Square, famous for its huge flock of pigeons that gather in the front of St. Mark's Cathedral. The buildings in Venice represent Byzantine, Gothic and Renaissance types of architecture.

Venice is a colorful and romantic city. It was once the city that controlled the trade of the Mediterranean. At this time it carried on an extensive trade with Greece and North Africa. In the 15th Century, at the height of its glory, Venice was called the "Queen of the Adriatic." Today, the economic life of Venice depends a lot on tourism, glass blowing and lace making. Storms from the sea and spring tides occasionally flood the city. Some say the city is below sea level and sinking lower each year.

SAYS SELFSTYLED ANALYST

Garbage Is Revealing

By ANN HENCKEN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Let's go on a garbage hunt tonight—at David Rockefeller's. Maybe we'll find some used money," suggested Alan J. Weberman, 26-year-old selfstyled garbage analyst.

"You can tell a lot about a person from their garbage—their politics, their standard of living," says Weberman. A Yippie with a Groucho Marx sense of humor, he is best known for his study and criticism of poet-singer Bob Dylan.

Weberman prepares for the garbage raid with the dignity of a surgeon, as he paces around his immaculate Bowery apartment. He puts on a clean white shirt. He pulls his halo of red curls back into the semblance of a Paul Revere pony tail and adjusts his gold-rinmed glasses. He folds a fresh plastic garbage bag and pockets a scribbled address and $50 in cash for emergencies.

Uptown, the street is dark and deserted. It is 1 a.m. Weberman calmly approaches the home of David Rockefeller, president of the Chase Manhattan Bank and brother of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. No lights are on. He looks around for a policeman.

"Keep watch," he says, slipping past the iron fence and lifting the lid of the garbage bin. He extracts a small brown paper bag, spotted with grease, and holds it up, grinning.

Once away from the scene, he paws through the remains, spread on the plastic sheet.

But the Rockefeller take is disappointing—a few gnawed chicken bones and a half-finished jar of pickled beets.

"Garbage hunting is an unobtrusive method of sociological research. People have done worse things for science," he says.

Weberman does it for curiosity—and money. He says he received $900 for a recent magazine story about garbage.

His interest in garbage sprung from his obsession with Bob Dylan. Calling himself a Dylanologist, he spent several years organizing a two-volume companion book to Dylan's poetry and collecting rare Dylan tapes.

Still hungry for more scraps of information, Weberman strolled past the Dylan home last fall.

"I reached in the garbage can and pulled out a half-finished letter to Johnny Cash. I said, 'This is no garbage can, it's a gold mine!'

"After two weeks, Dylan got wise. He began to censor his garbage."

Weberman has worked his way into the garbage pails—if not always the hearts—of boxer muhammad Ali, playwright Neil Simon and Yippie leader Abbie Hoffman.

Now, Weberman is gunning for powerful, establishment types.

He plans a book called "You Are What You Throw Away," describing garbage contents belonging to famous people. Among those on the 10 most wanted garbage list are Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, former jockey Eddie Arcaro—"to see if he has small garbage"—, feminist Kate Millett and Tricia Nixon Cox, daughter of the President.

WEARY FIRE FIGHTERS REST — During a lull in the fighting of the four-day brushfire that can be seen burning on the hills behind them these weary fire fighters get a chance for a rest and something to eat. This crew is set up outside of Carpinteria, a coastal town south of Santa Barbara, Calif., where the fire burned Sunday within several miles of the town. Four fire fighters have been killed and two injured since the fire started. (AP Wirephoto)

Jupiter's Atmosphere May Evolve Life Forms

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—A complex chemical broth which could evolve into simple life forms may surround the planet Jupiter, making that huge planet, a "good candidate" in the search for life beyond the earth, a scientist said here Monday.

A laboratory experiment simulating the conditions in the atmosphere of Jupiter produced a "primordial soup" which "naturally would go toward life," Dr. Cyril Ponnamperuma of the University of Maryland told scientists at a meeting here.

If the laboratory experiment is an accurate copy of Jupiter's atmospheric chemistry and pressure he said, "much of Jupiter must be a sea or organic matter."

Dr. Ponnamperuma, head of the University of Maryland's laboratory of chemical evolution, said the simulated Jovian atmosphere was created using a pressure vessel filled with gasses thought to be present about Jupiter. An electrical spark, simulating lightning in Jupiter's atmosphere, triggered the production of the complex soup.

Jupiter, the largest planet in our solar system and more than 10 times the size of earth, has long thought to be completely adverse to the evolution of life, said the scientist. The planet's atmosphere consists of ammonia, hydrogen, methane and water with possibly some helium. Pressues beneath an outer atmospheric shell of ammonia ice crystals increase to 200,000 times that of earth's atmosphere and temperatures are very high.

But Ponnamperuma said that in a layer above the hot high pressure layers, atmospheric conditions exist for the creation of compounds which are "the chemicals required for life."

He said by matching these conditions in a laboratory pressure vessel he was able to produce nitrile and amino compounds similar to the chemical soup from which life is thought to have evolved on earth.

"All of that kind of chemistry must be taking place there (on Jupiter) now," said Ponnamperuma. "It naturally would go toward life."

Natural creation of these pre-life compounds on Jupiter, he said, "may have reached an advanced stage."

The scientist said the laboratory compounds created by the simulated Jovian conditions were a dark red. Astronomers have noted a large area of a similar color on Jupiter.

Ponnamperuma said if life did evolve on Jupiter from this red broth it would be in the form of microbes which are capable of living suspended in the atmosphere. Evolution, he said, would probably cease and not lead to creation of intelligent life.

However, he noted, should even such simple life be found on Jupiter "then the chance for intelligent life in other planetary systems is extremely great."

"Up to now it is only a hope that there is life in another planetary system," he said. "If we can prove conclusively that life exists in one other place in our planetary system, then it should occur abundantly elsewhere. It would really tell us that maybe we're not alone in the universe."

The scientist presented a paper on his findings at the lunar science institute during a two-day conference on space biology which ends today.

House Debating Consumer Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a decade of planning and months of infighting over how to put it together, a bill to build a new governmental loudspeaker for the consumer's voice is headed for its toughest test on the House floor.

Following stage-setting debate today, decisions are due Wednesday on the consumer protection proposal that has generated intense and often bitter personal friction between Ralph Nadern the nation's best-known consumer advocate, and Chairman Chet Holifield, D-Calif., of the Government Operations Committee.

Nader accuses Holifield of going along with an alliance of most committee Republicans and a minority of Democrats in creating what Nader calls "a consumer fraud" by gutting stronger original legislation. Holifield insists his committee produced a good bill full of legal strength.

A key amendment is being recommended by 15 of the 23 Democrats and two of the 16 Republicans on the committee. They seek to broaden the proposed consumer-protection agency's authority to represent consumers in proceedings of other federal agencies. Other proposed amendments would limit the consumer agency's powers.

"The art of legislaton," says Holifield in defense of his committee's work, "is the art of obtaining the possible .... I think this is a good bill, a strong bill in many ways."

But Nader, saying he has the support of Ways and Means Committee Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., is urging the House to strengthen the measure and create "a bill for the vast number of millions of unrepresented American consumers who need representation before federal regulatory agencies.

In an eleventh-hour appeal for support for "a single strengthening amendment" backed by the 17 committee members, Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., told colleagues:

"Despite all the rhetoric that the committee-reported bill is adequate, the fact remains that the leading experts on administrative law have concluded that the CPA, under the language of the committee bill, will be excluded from most agency matters of importance to consumers."

Their amendment would let the new agency intervene in pure so-called adjudicatory proceedings the agency process for formulating orders and conduct reviews of informal proceedings.

The committee-approved bill's major feature would be creation of a consumer-protection agency.

Heart Assn. Reports Made At Session

Reports on the state meeting held recently in San Antonio and on work of the local division were heard Monday at a meeting of the Scurry County Heart Association Board at the Little Mexico Cafe.

Joe Sentell, who has been named as a state director from this region, reported on the state board organization. Sentell, who serves the local division as memorial gifts chairman, also reported that memorials since June 1 totaled $298.16.

It was pointed out that the Scurry County Division now has members on three state committees. Sentell, in addition to serving as a state director, is on the state public relations committee; Ethel Wadleigh, R. N., president of the local division, is on the state committee on professional education, and Jo Pierce, R. N., is on the state nominating committee.

Norma Lloyd reported on plans for the local campaign, which will be held in February.

David Watson, regional field director, urged members of the local board to attend a campaign workshop to be held Nov. 4 in Abilene.

The local group tabled for the second time a proposal that the division here annex Fisher County, which does not have a Heart Association organization at present.

Trio Asks Board To Work Publicly

AUSTIN (AP) — The Legislative Redistricting Board should do its work in public, even though not required to by law, three members of the "Dirty 30" said Monday.

"Our feeling is that since the legislative process being duplicated by the board, its meetings should be open," said Rep. Frances Farenthold of Corpus Christi.

The board is at work on reapportionment plans to make Texas House and Senate districts conform to the 1970 census. It faces an Oct. 23 deadline.

Joining Mrs. Farenthold in a news conference were Reps. Bob Gammage, Houston, and Charles Patterson, Taylor.

They met with newsmen after visiting with Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin, redistricting board chairman, in his office. Martin, they said, had maps spread out and was working on some kind of reapportionment plan.

All agreed that the board is not governed by the Texas open meetings law.

But they said they felt the public had a right to know the board's decision-making process.

The trio all favor cutting the state into 150 single-member House districts, as opposed to the present county wide urban districts in which all representatives run at large.

Mrs. Farenthold said Martin "would give no assurances on single-member districts."

"I didn't come out feeling any more confident about single-member districts after our conference, amiable as it was," she said.

Leaves Recycled

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — Montgomery County residents soon will have the opportunity to buy back the leaves that fall from their trees, under a recently approved agreement with a Virginia recycling firm.

J. C. Kordella, county public works director, said his department will collect an estimated 350,000 cubic yards of fallen leaves and turn them over to the Leaf Co., where they will be converted to garden mulch, bagged and sold to retail outlets such as nurseries and supermarkets.

Previously, the county reduced the leaves to about 90,000 cubic yards and shipped them to a landfill operation. Kordella said the new arrangement "won't cost the taxpayers a cent"—unless they decide to buy back their reprocessed leaves.

New Breed Of Cattle Steals Show

DALLAS (AP) — A new breed of beef cattle, shown by Hubert Bell, manager of the G.A. Cox Ranch near Laredo, nearly stole the show at the Texas State Fair livestock exhibit Monday.

"The Beefmaster breed was started in 1931 by rancher Tom Lasater at Falfurrias," Bell said. "Crossbreeding was mainly with Herefords, Shorthorns and Brahman and it took 22 years to have the breed recognized."

The breed was accepted as an official breed by the Department of Agriculture in 1954.

A typical Beefmaster bull will weigh 2,000 to 2,500 pounds, heavier than an Angus. He can be any shade between pure black and pure white. He stands 56 to 60 inches high and is 30-36 inches wide at the back. His price averages $1,200 but one has been sold for $6,900.

The Cox Ranch has a herd of 185 Beefmasters on its 6,000 acres. Six were shown at the State Fair.

Bell said the Santa Gertrudis is the only other breed developed exclusively in Texas.

"Next year we hope to have the breed well enough recognized and enough exhibitors to have Beefmaster one of the breeds to be judged here in Dallas," Bell said.

Man Charged With Arson

FORT WORTH (AP) — Robert Earl Dancer, 22, has been charged with arson in connection with a rash of fires at an east side apartment complex last week.

Investigators said Dancer had been evicted from the complex last Tuesday night. Four fires broke out there between 10 p.m. Wednesday and 5 a.m. Thursday.

The Meadowbrook Village Apartments have been the scene of 12 fires since mid-August, investigators reported. None caused heavy damage. There were no injuries.

Dancer was arrested a few hours later. Bond was set previously at $5,000.

HUD Cut Ordered

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Romney, secretary of housing and urban development, has ordered a 7.5 per cent reduction in HUD employment by June 30, The Washington Post reported today.

The HUD roster of 16,000 would be reduced by 1,200, and a feasibility study would be made to cut up to 50 per cent in some other areas, the newspaper said.

Quoting HUD sources, the Post said Romney is acting largely because of White House pressure for economy.

Romney would try to absorb the cuts in Washington with its 4,200 employes and 10 regional offices with 2,500 and keep intact a 9,200-member staff at 77 local area and FHA insuring offices.

If Romney's maximum projected job cuts for 1972 were implemented, the report said, over-all HUD employment could drop by 18 per cent to about 13,000.

HUD employment rose from 14,661 in fiscal 1970 to 16,030 last year, with a 15,709 level proposed to Congress during the period ending next June 30.

The Wage-Price Freeze — Questions and Answers

Internal Revenue Service

This column of questions and answers on the Wage and Price Freeze is provided by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service. The column answers questions most frequently asked about the Wage and Price Freeze announced Aug. 15 by the President Nixon.

★ ★ ★

Q — During the first week of August, my union reached agreement with my employer on a new contract giving me a wage increase. However, the agreement has yet to go into effect. Can I still get the additional wages?

A — The new rate can be paid if labor and management had reached an agreement and work was performed or wages accrued prior to August 15 at the new wage rate.

Q — Does the Internal Revenue Service have any publications giving information on the freeze?

A — Yes. Copies of "The Wage-Price Freeze: Some Questions and Answers" can be obtained without charge by dropping a postcard to your IRS District office. The booklet is also available at many post offices throughout the country and from the 10 Emergency Preparedness Regional Offices.

Q — My apartment lease specifically provides for me to pay for any increases in property taxes. Can my landlord now raise rent on the basis of a property tax increase?

A — No. This is not permitted during the freeze.

Q — My employer hired me on a probationary basis. The established practice of the company is to increase wage rates at the end of the probationary period. My probationary period ends in two weeks. Can I still receive a wage increase?

A — Yes. The probationary period is similar to an apprenticeship or learners' program and the wage increase may be granted if the probationary period for the job does not exceed three months.

Q — Can a landlord evict a tenant for refusing to pay a rent increase during the freeze?

A — No. A landlord is in violation of the freeze if he attempts to evict a tenant for refusal to pay rent in excess of the ceiling rent applicable to his rental apartment or house.

A tenant threatened with eviction over an increase in rent during the freeze should immediately consult the Internal Revenue Service. The IRS has 360 offices throughout the country to investigate complaints and provide information about the freeze.

Q — Does the price freeze mean an end of special sales or reductions in prices?

A — No. The freeze simply sets a ceiling. Normal clearance sales and price reductions can take place.

Q — Are advance ticket sales for sporting events occurring during the freeze covered by the President's order?

A — Yes.

Q — Can insurance rates be increased during the freeze?

A — No. The freeze applies to insurance rates. However, if a rate increase was announced before August 15 and a substantial number of transactions occurred at the increased rate, the increase becomes the established rate. No additional rate increases are permitted during the freeze.

Money, Time No Guarantee

CUPERTINO, Calif. (AP) — Sixth grade teacher Rita Kinney hopped on the local fire department's snorkel ladder, rode five stories high and dropped 29 eggs.

Only 13 broke.

Mrs. Kinney was teaching problem solving and she had instructed 29 12-year-olds to devise ways to keep the eggs from breaking. The Cupertino Fire Department agreed to help.

Some children wrapped their eggs in pillows. One girl wrapped an egg in styrofoam and attached a parachute and a boy suspended his in jello. These worked.

One girl soaked her egg in vinegar 100 hours. This didn't work.

Mrs. Kinney said at a class discussion afterwards the children decided that money and time were not necessarily guarantees of success.

Numbers stenciled on the roofs of liquor delivery trucks in Los Angeles have resulted in a drastic decrease in the hijacking of such vehicles. The numbers aid police helicopter pilots.

Conklin Dies At 85

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — His father wanted him to be a minister. But after getting applause at a comic recital, 11-year-old Chester Conklin ran away from home with one goal: "To make people laugh."

Conklin, who died Monday at 85, did just that—as the silent movies' Keystone Kop with the twitching, walrus mustache.

The comedian died of emphysema and a heart ailment at the Motion Picture and Television Country House and Hospital, where he had lived intermittently for 10 years.

Small and goggle-eyed, Conklin joined producer Mack Sennett in 1912 at $3 a week but worked up to $3,500 a week playing a frantic, dour-faced cop.

With helmet, billy club, brass-buttoned uniform and big police star, Conklin did pratfalls, raced trains and took cream-filled pies in the face.

"When I look back now," he once recalled, "the things I did then scare me. We drove the police car off the end of the Venice (Calif.) pier. We dangled at the end of piano wire 50 feet in the air.

"But I was only hurt once, and that was while I was doing a Red Cross show duirng the first World War." He hurt his knee during a benefit baseball game.

A native of Oskaloosa, Iowa, Conklin performed as a vaudeville monologist and boxed a trained kangaroo in a circus before he was hired by Mack Sennett's Keystone Studio.

Besides the Kops comedies, Conklin worked in such silent-screen classics as "Tillie's Punctured Romance," in 1915, and "Uncle Tom's Cabin," in 1917.

He leaves his fourth wife, the former June Gunther; two daughters, Sherry Konkel and Barbar Pontecorvo, and seven grandchildren.

His widow said that by his wishes his body will be cremated and the ashes scattered over the ocean. There will be no funeral.

Soldier's Isle

INVERNESS, Scotland (AP) — The romantic and peaceful looking little Scottish island of Skye provided the British army with 23 generals, 48 lieutenant-colonels, 600 other officers, 120 pipers and more than 10,000 ordinary soldiers or enlisted men in the 40-year period up to 1815, according to a new booklet, "Highland Regiments," by an Inverness writer, Iain Cameron Taylor.

Oklahoma, Texas Share Honors

DALLAS (AP) — Oklahoma breeders shared top honors with Texas showmen in the judging of fine cattle Monday at the State Fair of Texas.

Winrock Farms of Sulphur, Okla., exhibited both the champion Hereford bull, Winrock Mixer 9171, and the reserve champion bull, Winrock Mixer 9170.

Granite Hills Hereford Ranch near Llano, Tex., had the champion Hereford female, Granite Battle 128B, and Van Winkle Ranch of Buffalo, Tex., the reserve champion female, VW Lady Husker D22.

In the placing of Santa Gertrudis cattle, C. A. McDaniel of Uvalde showed the grand champion bull, Ganado Rojo Ranches of Alief, Tex., the reserve grand champion bull and El Colina Ranch of Dallas both the grand champion and reserve grand champion females.

Champions also were chosen for two breeds of swine.

In Hampshire swine, J. J. Mathis of DeLeon had the champion boar and grand champion sow, while James D. Epperson of Valley Spring, Tex., exhibited the reserve champion boar and sow.

J&J Hog Co. of Valley Spring was a double winner in the judging of Chester White swine, owning both the champion boar and reserve grand champion sow. Chris Bradley had the reserve champion boar and Monte Griffin of Lamesa the reserve grand champion sow.

Ecology Crusaders Are Holding Up Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. James O. Eastland says a new and closer look should be taken at environmental protection laws because, he claims, ecology crusaders are stymieing important public-works projects.

"Special-interest groups, invoking the ecology theme, are holding up badly-needed governmental projects," the Mississippi Democrat said. His ire was raised by a court decision delaying construction of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway—a ruling Eastland described as "judicial tyranny."

That action temporarily blocked construction of a 235-mile, commerce-producing waterway between the Tombigbee and Tennessee rivers.

A preliminary injunction was issued against the project, holding the Environmental Defense Fund made a substantial showing that the Army Corps of Engineers failed to comply with the environmental act.

Eastland, chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, also cited court action against the Calvert Cliffs, Md., atomic power plant in which a District of Columbia Court of Appeals said the Atomic Energy Commission made a mockery of the environmental act.

Although the court did not halt the project, it ordered the AEC to revise its rules on atomic power plant construction because, the court said, the agency had been slow in implementing EPA rules and had misinterpreted provisions of the act.

The Environmental Protection Act of 1969 requires that an environmental impact statement accompany major federal projects through the decision-making process.

"Everybody is in favor of protecting the environment," Eastland said, "but this business of yelling 'ecology' every time we get ready for a new project has got to stop.

"Many of these (court) suits are in the vital field of public power. Any delay along these lines could mean serious consequences for our already overworked power system.

"I would urge Congress to review the operation of these laws in an effort to deterine how they are working—and if they are operating in the interest of the nation as a whole," Eastland said.

Pokes Whip Giants 20-13

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys got back on the Super Bowl track Monday night with a relief quarterback and the return of Duane Thomas, but you can bet somebody is at work taping a handle on the game ball.

It was fumble, fumble, who got the fumble in a sloppy nationally televised National Football League contest that saw 11 turnovers with Dallas finally prevailing 20-13 over the New York Giants.

"There were so many fumbles it got to where you started looking around on every play wondering who was going to come up with the next one," said Dallas linebacker Leroy Jordan.

The Cowboys fumbled seven times and the Giants recovered five. The Giants fumbled five times and the Cowboys collected all five. New York also intercepted one Cowboy pass.

New York fumbled on its own 34, 24, 39 and the Dallas 9 and 28 yard lines. Dallas reciprocated by losing the ball on the New York 5, 26, 1 and Dallas 31 and 48 yard lines.

"There were so many fumbles I lost track on who was getting hurt the most," said Cowboys Coach Tom Landry.

Giants Coach Alex Webster said "We kind of goofed. We made too many errors. I believe it was hard-hitting more than anything."

Dallas is now 3-1 and trails the unbeaten Washington Redskins by a full game in the National Football Conference's Eastern Division. The Giants are 2-2.

Dallas took a 13-6 halftime lead on Roger Staubach's four-yard touchdown pass to tight end Billy Truax with 17 seconds left but Landry cleaned house in the dressing room.

He inserted Thomas, who called Landry "a plastic man ... no man at all" in a July press conference, into the fullback slot and benched Walt Garrison. He yanked Roger Staubach for Morton.

Morton hit Bullet Bob Hayes with a 48-yard touchdown pass in the third period to give Dallas a 20-6 lead and it withstood a late Giant surge which had Frank Tarkenton whipping a 24-yard touchdown pass to Clifton McNeil to make the final margin respectable.

Mike Clark kicked field goals of 42 and 41 yards for Dallas and Pete Gogolak hit field goals of 35 and 20 yards for the Giants—all in the first half.

Landry operating under a two-quarterback system, said he brought Morton off the bench because "Roger was throwing too high. He was just rusty. We were down there four times and only got three points."

Staubach said, "I would rather not comment on the quarterback situation. Landry's handling it and he's got his own 'feel' for these things ... The ball was taking off on me. I just wasn't throwing the ball like I can."

Thomas gained 60 yards on nine carries and Landry said, "Duane looked like his old self."

Thomas, the NFC offensive rookie of the year in 1970 who retired, was traded to New England and wound up back with the Cowboys because the Patriots thought he was physically below par, had little comment in the dressing room.

"I come to play," he said.

He brushed aside other questions, showered, dressed and quickly left.

Morton said Thomas "has tremendous determination and concentration. He wants to prove he's the best and show last year he was for real ... Everyone has a right to believe what he wants to—all we ask is that he perform."

Thomas' big beef with the Cowboys was over salary. He's on the second year of a three-year contract.

Thomas return was particularly timely because Cowboys running back Calvin Hill suffered a hyperextension of the right knee and didn't play most of the second half.

Giants speedster Rocky Thompson said Thomas impressed him running down on the "suicide" kickoff coverage teams.

Eight Horns Are Injured

NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the college football wash:

"We've won too many games to expect any sympathy," Darrell Royal of Texas said before the season started when he was contemplating a lineup studded with sophomores.

Texas has a respectable 3-1 record, but how about a little sympathy for Royal anyway, and not just because of Saturday's 48-27 trouncing by Oklahoma.

Royal has lost the following regulars for at least one game—in most cases more—with injuries: Split end Jim Moore, tackle Julius Whittier, tight end Rick Davis, quarterback Eddie Phillips, defensive ends David and Craig Arledge, linebacker-defensive end Stan Mauldin and halfback Don Burrisk.

Even Phillips' sub, Donnie Wigginton, was banged up against Oklahoma and is doubtful for Saturday's clash with Arkansas.

Ever wonder what coaches talk about when they get together before a big game? Royal asked Oklahoma's Chuck Fairbanks if he'd heard any new country music and Fairbanks mentioned California Cottonfields, recorded by Merle Haggard. It's about an Oklahoma family which moves to California seeking greener pastures but which finds only cottonfields.

Royal's been that route. A native of Hollis, Okla., his family moved to California for a while, before returning to Oklahoma.

At any rate, Royal expects a tape of that song in the mail any day, postmarked Norman, Okla.

There were some weird happenings over the weekend: Larry Russell, Wake Forest's quarterback, left the bench on the final play and tackled North Carolina State's Bill Miller, who was attempting to return a missed field goal. The officials awarded Miller a touchdown, anyway.

Southern Cal's Jimmy Jones hurled a 77-yard pass to Edesel Garrison for what looked like the winning touchdown against Oregon with 17 seconds left. But the Trojans were penalized for having an ineligible receiver downfield.

Maybe that was one reason John McKay didn't attend a weekly meeting of football writers in Los Angeles Monday.

"Coach McKay has a bad throat," explained Craig Fertig, a McKay aide. "He was barely audible at the staff meeting this morning, and when he is barely audible after a loss you know he's got a bad throat."

In football the eligible pass receivers on the offensive team are two wide receivers, the tight end and the two running backs.

Orioles Are Marching

PITTSBURGH (AP) — There is an ever increasing feeling about the 1971 World Series that the Baltimore Orioles have traveled this road before—as recently as last October.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, their pitching staff worn and torn, returned home for today's third game of the best-of-7 Series hoping to stall what seems to be a determined Oriole march to a second straight world championship.

Steve Blass got the starting assignment today after the Orioles had battered six Pirate pitchers for 14 singles and an 11-3 victory Monday for a 2-0 lead.

Brooks Robinson and Frank Robinson each collected three hits in the romp that had the Pittsburgh bullpen relief cart operating like a shuttle bus.

The damage absorbed by the Pirate staff was reminiscent of the 1970 series, when Cincinnati's pitching fell apart and the Orioles won in five games.

But there is another parallel: The Birds took 14-game winning streaks into the World Series both last year and this—11 straight at the end of the regular season followed by three-game playoff sweeps.

The streak reached 17 games before the Orioles lost in the fourth game of the 1970 Series and was at 16 today. But the current string doesn't dominate Baltimore's thinking.

"We concentrate on what's next," said Frank Robinson. "Next for us is the third game of the Series. After that, we'll think of the fourth and a sweep."

Frank, who has had five hits in Baltimore's two victories, said that the Orioles approached this Series with a quiet confidence that stamps them as a mature ball club.

"We were sure about ourselves before the playoffs and before the Series," said Robinson. "But we're not overconfident. We're happy to have won two games but we know we need two more.

"We're a mature ball club. We're professionals. When we get going like this, we're tough to stop."

The Pirates found that out Monday when a blitz of base hits—eight of them in the fourth and fifth innings when Baltimore sent 19 men to the plate and scored nine runs—put the game out of reach early.

It was a distinct contrast to Saturday's opener when the Orioles used home runs by Merve Rettenmund, Don Buford and Frank Robinson for a 5-3 victory.

"In the playoffs, my finger stuck on the long ball button; today I pushed the singles button and I couldn't get it off," kidded Manager Earl Weaver, often called a push-button pilot.

Weaver revealed that the Orioles started the winning streak after a meeting following three tough losses in Detroit.

"I called the coaches together Sept. 18 and we went out for steamers and frog's legs," said Weaver.

"We decided," he continued, preparing to let the world in on the secret of the club's success, "to let (coach George) Staller take the line-up card up to the plate. We also decided to have faith in the team because they can play baseball."

The Orioles proved it Monday. They got a gritty pitching job by Jim Palmer, who worked eight innings and left 13 Pirates stranded on base. Richie Hebner's three-run homer in the eighth accounted for the only Pirate runs and that was much too little, much too late.

By the time Hebner connected, the Orioles had singled Pittsburgh into submission. In the second, hits by the Robinsons sandwiched around a walk to Ellie Hendricks made it 1-0.

In the fourth, Frank Robinson singled and a walk and hit batsman loaded the bases. Dave Johnson singled for two runs, finishing Pirate starter Bob Johnson.

Bruce Kison relieved and walked two batters, forcing in another run before Bob Moose came on to get the Pirates out of the inning.

Moose didn't make it through the fifth as the Birds bunched six more singles—two by Rettenmund, tying a single-inning Series record—two walks and an error for six more runs.

4 Teams Share District Lead

Four teams share the lead in District 3-AAA after one week of competition.

Perhaps the biggest surprises of the week were Snyder's 32-13 victory over Sweetwater and Lubbock Dunbar's 17-7 triumph over previously unbeaten Lamesa. In other opening league games, Brownfield blanked Lake View 12-0 and Estacado shut out Colorado City 25-0.

Since the leaders play each other this week there will only be two unbeaten teams in district play after the action this week. The headliner attractions find Snyder's Tigers at Brownfield Friday night and Lubbock Estacado and Dunbar tangling in Lubbock Thursday night. Also Friday night, Lamesa hosts Sweetwater and Lake View is at home against Colorado City.

Estacado and Dunbar have the best records for the season with identical 3-0-1 marks now that Lamesa has joined the beaten ranks.

Jim Carlen Takes Fans To Task

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Jim Carlen, football coach of Texas Tech, touched off widespread public reaction Monday when he took the local fans to task and said: "I'm sick of Lubbock."

Although he explained later that his comment did not convey the meaning he intended and he was speaking only of the attitude of the fans and not of the city itself, the switchboard at the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal lit up for hours with public calls.

Some people agreed with Carlen but others were displeased with his reaction to the crowd booing at Saturday's game, when Texas Tech beat Texas A&M 28-7. Almost all, however, condemned the booing.

Carlen, in an interview later, said he did not take exception to being booed personally or having his decisions booed but he added: "If they were booing me instead of Napper, Charlie sure didn't know that's how it was."

Carlen said after the game that one outstanding recruiting year alone "will not get us out of the woods." He said another excellent recruiting year was needed this year and he added: "But we're not going to unless the fans wise up. You may be proud of Lubbock today, but I'm not. I'm sick of it."

Carlen then interrupted a scattering of applause to remark: "If you don't like it, meet me after this meeting. I'm sick to my toes."

Carlen told the luncheon guests how he went into the dressing room after the game.

"I walked into that room," he said, "and everybody was elated and happy, everybody except this one kid who sat alone in the corner crying. That same youngster, who gives everything he's got, was the one I told last year against SMU that he had to try and get back into the game after he came out bleeding and hurting and his head groggy.

"That same kid you were booing today, and, if you're proud of it, you were sick."

Any defensive player in football is eligible to intercept a forward pass and run with it.

JV Bengals Are Still Undefeated

The Snyder junior varsity Bengals continue to set the pace among local football teams. They are the only undefeated, untied team in Snyder after five weeks of play.

For the season, Snyder teams have won 17 games while losing only eight. Two have ended in ties. The Snyder teams also have a big edge in points scored, having rolled up 606 points compared with only 316 for the opposition.

Travis 9th grade has lost only once in five outings while Lamar 9th grade has lost one time in four outings. Lamar 8th grade is all even for the season with two wins, two losses and a tie. Travis 8th grade also has a stalemate with its opposition with a 2-2 record. The varsity won its first game last week and now is 1-2-1 for the campaign.

LAST WEEK'S RESULTS — Varsity 32, Sweetwater 13; Travis 8th 28, Big Spring Runnels 8; Lamar 8th 6, Big Spring Goliad 0; Travis 9th 41, Big Spring Brahmas 18; Lamar 9th 26, Big Spring Toros 12; Bengals 55, Lubbock Dunbar 12.

Mother won't hide from children while dressing

By Abigail Van Buren

(c) 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a mother should undress in front of her three boys, ages 1, 3 and 5? I never used to because my husband drilled it into me that it was "wrong."

Whenever I was to undress, I or my husband would send the boys out, or have them turn around, or I would hide myself so they wouldn't see what the female body looked like. The two older boys got so curious they used to hang around constantly while I was undressing just to get a look at what Mommy was hiding from them.

Well, I recently changed my views, and I haven't made any effort to hide myself while undressing. I do not parade around naked, I just don't hide anymore. Now, the boys have quit gawking, and sometimes they run off to play and don't even bother to look.

My husband found out last night that I've let the boys see me in various stages of undress, and he had a fit. He thinks I am terrible.

Abby, I have seen 6 and 7 year old boys peek under little girls' dresses to see something they've never seen before and I don't want that happening to my boys. Please tell me if I am wrong or is my husband? I will abide by your decision. "J"

DEAR "J": I vote with you.

DEAR ABBY: My husband likes to look at girls in mini skirts and hot pants, but he doesn't want me to wear them. What's wrong with him? CAROLINE

DEAR CAROLINE: He's like the man who wants to enjoy his neighbor's scenery, but he builds a high fence around his own.

DEAR ABBY: My father in law [a widower] married a childless widow about six months ago. Recently on a visit to their home I noticed that my husband's picture was missing from his father's bedroom bureau where it has stood for 20 years, and in it's place was a STUFFED DOG!

My husband was very hurt but said nothing. He's an only child and has always had a very good relationship with his father—until this marriage.

Dad and his new wife come over about once a week and when they leave she says, "Come around sometime," but she never says when.

Since it was my husband's mother who gave us the money for this house, I feel Dad's new wife should not be welcomed in it after hurting my husband that way. Would I be out of line to have a talk with my father in law? And please don't say, "Let your husband do it." He hasn't got the guts. NO NAME, NO TOWN

DEAR NO NAME: The new wife could use a few lessons in diplomacy and manners, but unless your husband wants to write his father and stepmother off for good [which I doubt], don't say anything.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ROZZIE: Your boy friend seems to have "bone" trouble. [Too much in the head, and not enough in the spine.] If you "love" him enough to want to support him, go ahead and marry him.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Change Asked On Advisor Groups

By JOHN LENGEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's virtual White House routine: Mr. Brown or Mrs. Smith is appointed by the President to serve on such and such an advisory council.

But Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., would like to change all that, or at least alter the ground rules under which the councils operate.

At present, Metcalf says, they are nothing more than special interest groups with direct access to the White House.

For example, he says, the National Industrial Pollution Control Board, created last year to advise the government on environmental programs affecting industry, "consists of 63 top executives of major polluting companies .... There is no comparable organization through which nonindustry persons who are concerned with the environment have entry to the presidential family."

He said the council refused to let representatives of 10 conservation groups attend its last meeting and met at the State Department, where security regulations are tight and the public is denied routine entry.

The Civil Aeronautics Board Advisory Committee on Finance held its first meeting last year at New York's Chase Manhattan Bank, creditor for five carriers, Metcalf said.

There was no transcript of the meeting except a terse summary that the committee "would make recommendations to the CAB on the procedural and philosophical conduct of the board's business."

There are an estimated 2,000 such advisory boards recommending everything from a new vase for the Smithsonian Institution to the best approach to the nation's energy crisis.

The cost to the taxpayer has been estimated at some $75 million a year, mostly for transportation expenses and the salary of a federal employe acting as liaison with the White House.

Metcalf has introducd legislation to require public representation on the advisory boards, open meetings, and a verbatim transcript of what was said, to be made available to the public.

Transcripts are supposed to be kept now unless waived by the head of the federal agency the council advises. This always happens, Metcalf said.

Chinatown Is Disappearing

By MORT ROSENBLUM

SINGAPORE (AP) — Chinatown, a three-story tangle of pushcarts, eating stalls, funeral parlors, mah jong tables, laundry out to dry and flower sellers, is slowly coming down.

Once stretching for block after block in downtown Singapore, old Chinatown now huddles in a corner off New Bridge Road in the shadow of the concrete People's Park Complex, a modernistic shopping, office and amusement center.

A few death houses remain on Sago Lane, where old men in tee-shirts hammer together coffins for aging tenants living in upstairs rooms. The occasional hollow-eyed Chinese still shows signs of the now rare opium pipe.

Secret society members collect a bit in organized crime and extortion but they are only a dim shadow of the unchecked gangs who ruled the city almost from its founding in 1819.

Sheets of barbecued pork and mounds of noodles line the crowded streets, but many sidewalk chefs have moved to hygienic stainless steel stalls elsewhere.

Perhaps half of old Chinatown fell to the wrecker's ball and to fires since the middle 1960s when urban renewal began in full swing.

Government programs, which have put one-third of Singapore's two million inhabitants in low-rent, high-rise apartments at the edge of town, drew heavily from Chinatown.

Vast "squatter areas" where Chinese lived in slum conditions at the outskirts of Chinatown were cleared away. The old market was replaced by the People's Park center.

There are still a half dozen streets of streaked buildings with business downstairs and living space upstairs. Streets are clogged with fruit sellers, pedale rickshaws, black mortuary vans and people bustling from place to place.

More than three-quarters of Singapore's population is Chinese but most live evenly spread around the island, from the rambling colonial style mansions off Holland Road to the rural areas of the east and south.

Chinatown mushroomed as soon as Singapore was Singapore. Junks from the South China ports of Amoy and Canton landed thousands of Chinese traders and laborers who immediately sought the security and familiarity of the neighborhood.

Through the years, it was the social and business center of the predominantly Chinese population.

Now, as a Singaporean identity emerges with younger Chinese, Chinatown finds itself an anachronism, colorful but simply outmoded.

Pressures from officials concerned with Chinatown's tourist value are likely to save at least part of it indefinitely. But for those who live there, Chinatown is disappearing.

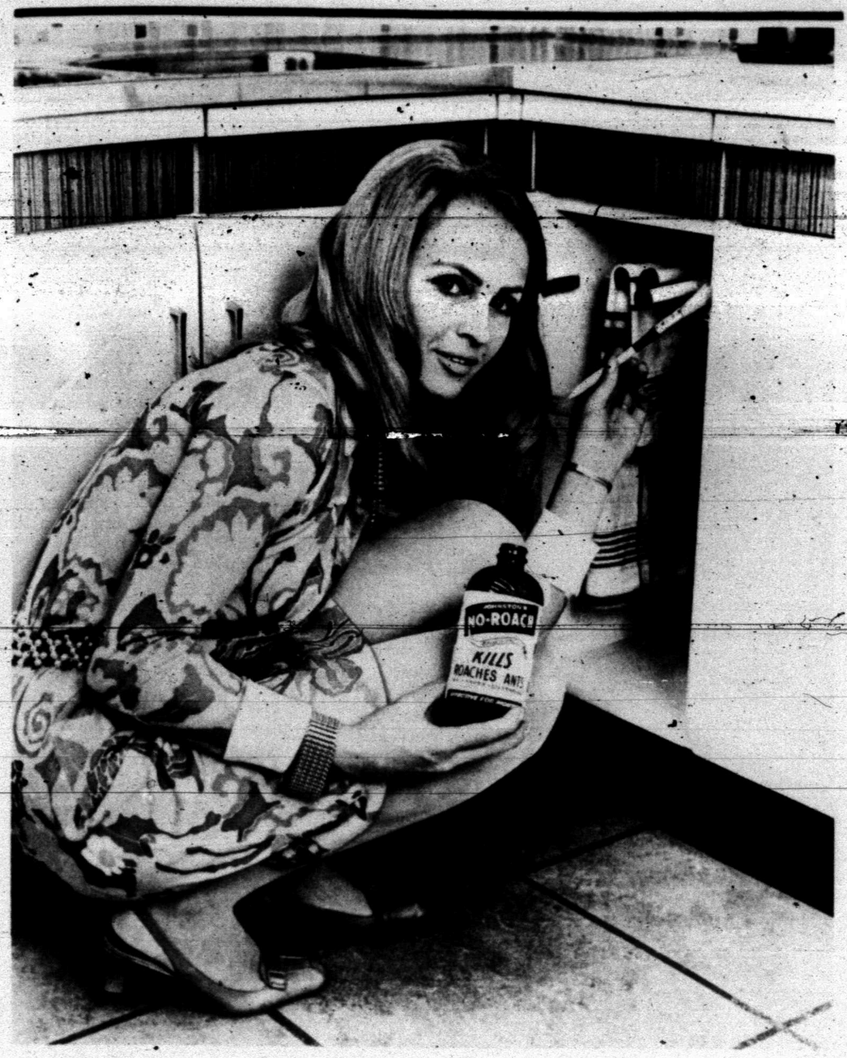
BUSINESS And INDUSTRIAL NEWS



EASY TO APPLY — Johnston's No-Roach is easy to apply, with brush or squirter. It dries to an invisible shield that is deadly to roaches, yet is colorless, odorless and safe around children and pets.

No-Roach Trusted By Housewives Everywhere

Some people never have the neighbors in — and it's understandable. Who wants to take a chance on the neighbor spotting a cockroach flitting across a counter, or down a drain? So it is that thousands of housewives, all over America, never join a Kaffee Klatch, because they know they can never take their turns having the girls in.

Or can they?

Of course they can. All they have to do is discover Johnston's No-Roach . . . the sure-fire answer to cockroach problems. Not to mention ants . . . and silverfish . . . and spiders . . . and so forth. No-Roach, the household insecticide that keeps the promise of its name. The seeming magic about No-Roach is the ease with which it is used. You just brush it on (No-Roach supplies the brush) or squirt it on (No-Roach supplies the squirter, too) anywhere that roaches or other crawling pests may assemble: across doorways, windowsills and baseboards; in cupboards and along the edges of kitchen cabinets.

No-Roach dries to an invisible shield that is colorless, odorless, and safe around children and pets. All the time you are serving coffee to the neighbors, No-Roach is killing cockroach eggs back in the nest . . . 'cause every roach (or insect of any kind) that crosses No-Roach, picks it upon its feet and takes it home

Do the neighborly thing. Serve the ladies on the block a cup of coffee in a roach-free kitchen . . . thanks to Johnston's No-Roach. Available at: Furr's, Piggly Wiggly, B&B, Safeway, Everybody's, Rainbow and all grocery stores. No-Roach is distributed by Kimbell.

Thieu Pleased

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu, making his first public appearance since winning re-election nine days ago, said today the returns showed the people have confidence in him.

"The vote is more good for the country than for me," Thieu said. "The fact that I have more than 90 per cent makes me very glad. It shows the confidence of the people in me.

"But the percentage of voters who went to the polls is more important for the country."

The government says 88.3 per cent of South Vietnam's seven million registered voters cast ballots Oct. 3, and 94.3 per cent of them voted for Thieu.

Thieu brushed aside charges by opposition politicians and others that he rigged the election.

"Everyone knows that the people participated in large numbers and that we had local and foreign observers," he said. "Up to now, no one has said we cheated at all."

Thieu spoke to newsmen at the laying of the cornerstone for a new $12.3-million hospital to be built with aid funds from Japan.

The hospital in Cholon, Saigon's Chinese district, is the first post-World War II Japanese aid project in South Vietnam. It will be the largest in the country when completed in 1974.

Reagan In Singapore

SINGAPORE (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan of California arrived in Singapore today for a one-day visit after assuring Nationalist Chinese leaders of America's determination to keep Chiang Kai-Shek's regime in the United Nations.

Before leaving Taipei, he told an airport news conference that most Americans "would certainly want a great deal of thought given" to whether the United States should withdraw from the United Nations or cut off funds to the world body if Nationalist China is expelled.

"Most Americans are determined that the Republic of China has a place ... in all international councils including the United Nations," said Reagan, President Nixon's personal representative on an Asian tour.

Reagan met for an hour Monday with President Chiang and said his talks "ended, I think, on a very solid note of optimism."

Reagan's schedule in Singapore included a call on Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew and lunch with President B. H. Sheares.

Don't throw out your children's sneakers because of a small tear. They can be effectively mended simply by using iron-on tapes.

52 Cars Derailed

DEL RIO (AP) — A Los Angeles-bound freight train jumped the track about 40 miles northwest of here Monday but Southern Pacific officials said crews built a detour around the wreck and reopened traffic about 2 a.m. today.

There were no injuries as 52 cars were derailed, but Deputy Sheriff Calvin Wallen at Del Rio said the track was torn up for a quarter mile.

One of the locomotives pulling the train left the rails, but stayed upright and came to a stop near a 1,390-foot-long bridge across a deep gorge of the Pecos River.

The derailment occurred in a remote area and train officials said rather than try and clear the wreckage they concentrated on building a 1,000-foot "shoo-fly" detour around it.

Among the cars derailed was one containing missiles belonging to the Army. An emergency disposal team from Ft. Sam Houston was rushed to the scene but told railroad officials Monday night the missiles, which did not contain warheads, presented no danger.

Two other cars were leaking chemicals, a Southern Pacific spokesman said, but neither was causing a hazard. One contained alcohol and the other photographic developing fluid.

Boy Didn't Live To Get Present

HOUSTON (AP) — An Angleton, Tex., boy was promised a very special gift Monday from some of his heroes with the Houston Oilers.

Instead, a funeral service was held Monday for Carlous Lyn Fox, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Fox. Burial was planned today at Lubbock.

The present was a football, autographed by the Oilers, to be delivered by quarterback Lynn Dickey.

Carlous suffered burns over 71 per cent of his body six weeks ago when a gasoline can tipped over and was ignited by a pilot light on a hot water heater.

He died Saturday at John Sealy Hospital in Galveston.

His condition had appeared to be improving, and nurses at the hospital's plastic surgery ward said they believed Monday would be fine to bring the present.

A neighbor, Mrs. J. F. DuBose, wrote the Houston Post Oct. 4 about the boy's accident and hospital stay, asking if it would be possible to get him a football autographed by the Oilers.

"The football would be a bright spot for him during his hospital stay," she wrote. "We would be glad to furnish the football if we could get it autographed."

The Post contacted John Breen, Oilers general manager. He arranged for the ball and for Dickey to take the present to Galveston.

At Mrs. DuBose's request, the football will be sent to the parents.

Two brothers, Chad and Billy Ray, also survive.

Times Change

SYDNEY (AP) — An aborigine, David Edward Wotherspoon, has been granted a liquor license at a hotel 70 miles north of Sydney.

Only a few years ago, over most of Australia, aborigines were not permitted in hotel bars and it was an offense to supply them with liquor.

Bok Installed As Harvard Chief

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Derek C. Bok has been installed as Harvard University's 25th president.

Bok, 48, was dean of Harvard Law School when he was elected president last January to succeed Nathan A. Pusey as head of the nation's oldest university.

In a brief address at Monday's inaugural ceremonies, Bok said that universities must avoid "ventures of dubious merit" which "endanger the quality of their teaching and research."

THE RADIATOR MAN — Frank D. Stephenson is known locally as "The Radiator Man." He has operated Snyder Radiator Service, 1105 Avenue T, since 1949. It is the oldest, exclusive radiator shop in Snyder.

See The Radiator Man Before Winter Arrives

Frank D. Stephenson, the "Radiator Man," is operator of the oldest, exclusive radiator shop in town — Snyder Radiator Service, 1105 Avenue T.

Stephenson opened his business here during the oil boom days of 1949. Since then, he has had many satisfied customers and has earned a reputation for honesty and straight-dealing. If a radiator can be fixed, he can do it. On the other hand if it can't be fixed, he also will tell you that.

Just a quick check with "The Radiator Man" can save you time and trouble later on. For winter preparedness, stop in at Snyder Radiator Service and let "The Radiator Man" check your radiator with his modern testing equipment for quickly and accurately testing all component parts of the pressurized cooling system.

The usual radiator troubles can be handled easily at Stephenson's shop. One of those, which comes about at this time of year, is seepage of the radiator. When anti-freeze is applied, it dissolves the scale which has formed in the radiator, and leaks in the radiator show up. On extremely cold days, the scale which has broken loose often causes stopups.

So, before putting expensive anti-freeze in your radiator, have it pressure-checked for leads in the radiator, hoses water-pump and seals, cylinder heads and engine block.

Snyder Radiator Service has new radiators for virtually all makes and models of passenger cars, trucks and tractors. In addition, Stephenson has radiators for commercial and industrial use as well as radiator caps. The firm also has all sizes of heater cores.

Fonda Wants To Go To Vietnam

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jane Fonda says she wants to take her antiwar theater group to South Vietnam this Christmas but she doesn't think President Nixon will let her.

The actress told a news conference Monday that Bob Hope is permitted to entertain United States troops in Vietnam "because he is prowar, promilitary" and "apparently makes a lot of money off the war."

A spokesman for Hope said the veteran actor loses money on his Christmas tour of U.S. military bases and "never has been prowar."

Miss Fonda said she would leave Nov. 28 to entertain troops with what she called "political vaudeville" on or off base in Hawaii, the Philippines, Japan and Okinawa.

Press Should Be Adversary

BOSTON (AP) — Walter J. Hickel, former secretary of the interior, says the press must be an adversary against special interest groups which might exploit the nation's resources for their own purposes.

Hickel, in an interview appearing in today's edition of the Christian Science Monitor, said the press must not shy away from its adversary role.

"Now is no time for the press to get gun shy because of high level criticism," he said. "That's the worst thing that could happen."

Candidate Well Known

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Former Gov. A. B "Happy" Chandler doesn't figure he needs to spend much on his campaign.

The Kentucky Registry of Election Finance reported Monday that the 73-year-old independent gubernatorial candidate had received $115 in contributions through Oct. 4 and had spent $161.

Chandler said his only expenses have been for food and gasoline.

"I don't need a lot of advertising because the people all know me, don't you see?" he explained.

Recent Mercury Scare May Be Unwarranted

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Recent concern over mercury levels in fish and lakes may be unwarranted because mercury levels in human tissues have declined, researchers say.

Reporting findings of their study to the annual meeting of the American Public Health Association, the researchers Tuesday blamed part of the mercury scare on "emotionalism and ignorance."

Their study was done at Saratoga General Hospital in Detroit, Mich., and involved analysis of tissues taken from human organs at autopsy between 1913 and 1970 and preserved at the University of Michigan in Ann Arborm

The tissue was taken from the bodies of 59 Michigan residents who had died of causes unrelated to mercury.

The authors said that concern over mercury contamination "had profound social reverberations in the form of mass anxiety leading to ... action—often with little or no scientific basis—resulting in chaos, fear, and the economic pain of damaged or killed sectors of industry and commerce."

While research has been conducted on mercury levels in fish, little has been done on mercury content of human tissues, they said. It is presumed that high mercury levels result in damage to the central nervous system of human beings.

At the news conference, Dr. Jack Kevorkian, one of the researchers, criticized the Food and Drug Administration for setting a standard of .5 parts per million of mercury in fish as the maximum permissible level.

There are no data to support such a standard, he said, and added that it is based on "emotionalism and ignorance." Sweden permits a level twice as high, he noted.

The study found that the level of mercury in human tissue, which ranged upward to 34 parts per million, does not remain constant but reaches peaks in early childhood and again in middle age, indicating that it does not accumulate in the body. Tissues were studied from persons ranging in age from the newborn to 81 years.

The researchers also found that there was "an extraordinary degree in mercury content in almost all organs studied, sharper in the early decades of this century, leveling off recently."

"The facts indicate a gratifying cleansing of the environment, or the absolute reverse of recent 'scare' pronouncements which led to such inexcusable panic actions on the part of authorities who had no factual knowledge for truly sound judgment," the authors stated.

They speculated that one reason for the mercury decline was the drastic reduction in use of coal for fuel. Coal smoke has been found to contain mercury.

AT TEXAS OIL, GAS MEETING

Oilman Urges Minimum Restrictions On Energy

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The board chairman of Sun Oil Co. said today the nation's future energy requirements are dependent upon a free market that must be subjected to a minimum of restrictions.

Robert G. Dunlop of Philadelphia also told the Texas Mid-Continent Oil Gas Association a trend toward public decision-making on energy matters must be halted.

Secretary of Treasury John B. Connally also was a speaker before the Texas oilmen, who heard Dunlop express hope that free market restrictions imposed by Phase II of President Nixon's economic program will be held to an absolute minimum.

Dunlop said market forces must be permitted to operate with the maximum degree of freedom consistent with national security requirements.

"Well do I recognize that the economic measure identified for implementation by our national government run counter to this proposition.

"It is fervently to be hoped, however, that they will be short duration for protracted interference with the free market can only have disastrous consequences."

Dunlop said the nation's oil import control program must be revamped and that it be "market oriented" as much as possible.

"I think we would agree that history and experience have amply demonstrated that a free market is the best guarantee of an effective performance and we also learned that we interfere with the market at the peril of a viable economy.

"Therefore, as in the current situation where it is judged that the achievement of vital national goals requires that market freedom be to some degree restricted, such restrictions must be held to an absolute minimum. It is encourageing that this objective is well recognized by the adminstration of Phase II as the economic program emerges."

Kenneth E. Montague of Houston, president of the 4,000-member trade group, told the oilmen there are some grounds for optimism in the national trends affecting the petroleum industry.

Montague added however that an adequate national energy supply calls for bridging the gap of understanding that separates consumers, government and business.

"The Federal Power Commission has made some positive moves toward loosening the price controls for natural gas," he said. "It's not enough to rejoice about, but at least the direction is changed."

He said crude oil prices also have increased a bit the past year.

"This increase was not equal to the inflated operational costs, but it was better than the cut which some administration economists were advocating," he said.

Montague said there also are hopeful signs in the environmental field.

"It seems to me we have weathered the initial wild-eyed blasts that appear to have paralyzed our governmental agencies," he said.

"And paralyzed they still are. But there are signs that suitable compromise can be reached. We need this moderation from the extreme positions of some, who, taken literally, would have us stop the world so we could all get off."

This brought agreement from Byron Tunnell, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, the state's oil and gas regulatory agency.

Tunnell said some environmental issues are being used today to help bring about changes which have little to do with the protection of air and water.

"They are being used to create a climate of emotional hysteria, under which extra legal approaches might be justified in the public eye," Tunnell said. "This is the psychology of lynch law."

A resolution adopted by the association Monday said fieldwide unitization is the only fair and effective way to encourage the use of improved recovery techniques that would permit production of some 3 billion barrels of Texas reserves that do not respond to conventional methods.

Texas has a voluntary untization law but only about one-tenth of the state's 8,000 oil fields operate as a single unit with all interests sharing production costs.

A change made by the Texas Senate Oil and Gas Committee has been blamed in part for killing a compulsory unitization proposal during the 1971 Legislature. In its initial form, the bill would have authorized 75 per cent of the working and royalty interests in a field to force unitization. The committee changed this to 82½ per cent. The bill never reached the senate floor and the house took no action.

"Unfortunately, all elements in the industry could not be brought to agreement on a bill in time for passage," Montague said today.

Montague was to be succeeded today by Robert A. Buschman, president of Field Drilling Co. of San Antonio.

Buschman was the 1968 president of the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors. He also is the president-elect of the Texas Christian University Alumni Association.

Snelson Wants Gus To Resign

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Sen. W. E. Snelson, president pro tempore of the Texas Senate, said Monday that House Speaker Gus Mutscher should resign from the speakership.

"I think he should want to step down until all this is settled," Snelson said in reference to the indictment against Mutscher in connection with the Texas stock manipulation case.

The Midland senator said, however, he agrees with Gov. Preston Smith's decision not to call a special legislative session to remove Mutscher.

"It would just lead to more bitterness and disharmony if (Mutscher) was removed now," Snelson told journalism classes at North Texas State. "A special session wouldn't solve basic problems that have recently come to light."

"Mutscher and I were freshmen in the House together in 1960," he said. "I have no reason to believe that he is dishonest. It just seems to me that Mutscher was just caught up in circumstances and the system. He is paid only $400 per month."

Snelson predicted some voter backlash against the state Democratic party in counties where Democrats and Republicans are divided evenly because of the stock suit.

Explosion Victim Dies

DALLAS (AP) — Stephen Pitkin, 1, whose father and 2-year-old brother were killed in an explosion and fire last week, died Sunday in a Dallas hospital.

The child's mother remains in the hospital in serious condition.

Investigators theorized the explosion was touched off by a gas leak.
