Petain Aides Want Laval As Witness

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, July 31.—Marshal Henri Philippe Petain's lawyers said tonight they would ask postponement of his treason trial to call long-fugitive Pierre Laval, who surrendered today, as a defense witness in an effort to save the former Vichy chief from the death sentence.

The electric word that Laval, Petain's right-hand man in the Vichy state and described as the aged marshal's "evil genius," had surrendered to U. S. troops in Austria, shot through the crowded palace of justice courtroom as Petain, General Maxime Weygand, former Premier Paul Reynaud—the big three in France at her collapse in 1940—stood shouting at each other, bitterness in their eyes.

Defense Witness

Gen. Weygand, commander in chief of Allied armies at the time of the German conquest, appeared as a witness and, after taking full responsibility for seeking the armistice with Germany, asserted that as much as three weeks before he acted French President Albert Le Brun and others had been talking of asking the Germans for peace.

This brought Reynaud, who last week testified for the prosecution, to his feet, and Petain rose to his own defense in one of the drama-packed trial's most exciting moments.

As the gavel fell on the eighth day of the trial, the news that Laval was on his way back to France after his surrender in Austria to American forces was made known.

Chief defense attorney Fernand Payen jumped up. "We will ask a postponement in order to obtain supplementary information from Laval," he said. "Naturally he will be called as a witness." The defense lawyers said they would exert every effort to get Laval to Paris as one of their witnesses, but said it would take time to prepare his testimony and they therefore would ask a postponement.

Laval Mainly Blamed

The major portion of the defense case rests on the contention that Laval, and not Petain, was responsible for the many criminal actions perpetrated by the Vichy regime. The prosecution also has built up a case in which Laval is depicted as the principal conspirator in a plot to bring Petain to the head of a "dictatorship."

Weygand was brought under guard from a military hospital to testify for Petain, accused of intelligence with Germany and plotting against France.

Weygand made the first assertion ever submitted that Petain did anything to halt the French from resisting the Anglo-American invasion of North Africa. He declared that the 89-year-old marshal sent a "secret telegram" to the late Admiral Jean Darlan to

Laval Surrenders To Yanks Who Will Hand Him Over To French

By HOWARD COWAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

SALZBURG, July 31. — Pierre Laval, arch pro-Nazi collaborator and No. 2 man in the French Vichy regime, surrendered to American authorities today after being expelled from Spain, and tonight was enroute to Innsbruck to be handed over to French justice.

Wanted by General Charles de Gaulle as a war criminal, the swarthy former chief of government of the Vichy state was expected to reach Innsbruck tonight. With his wife, Laval was in the custody of Brig. Gen. John E. Copeland, assistant commanding general of the U. S. 65th division.

(In Paris a spokesman for the French government said Laval had been turned over to the First French Army at Innsbruck tonight and that he might arrive in the capital at any hour. Cordons of guards surrounded four airfields and the Fresnes prison to prevent any outbreak.)

The pouting fugitive, who sought refuge in Spain 90 days ago, flew into Austria with his wife and two uniformed German luftwaffe fliers this morning.

The party, which took off from Barcelona at dawn in a speedy junkers 88 dive bomber, landed on an airstrip at Horsching, southwest of Linz They were immediately arrested by members of the U. S. 79th Fighter squadron.

Laval was sentenced to death in his absence by a court in Marseille on October 20, 1944, but a retrial probably will be ordered.

When the olive-skinned Laval, who had sought to evade the French government since the collapse of Germany, landed at Horsching, he and his wife were searched an dtaken to headquarters of the 65th division in Iinz.

The Americans found on Laval $10,000 in American currency, all in $500 bills. He also had some Frenc hand Spanish money, and Aerican soldiers took from him an automatic pencil, a penknife and his tiepin. Madal Laval was searched by an American nurse.

The Americans offered Laval and his wife Army rations for lunch. Chubby Laval wouldn't touc hit. His wife only nibbled off her plate.

Troops at Horsching airfield said Laval was very talkative. He wanted to converse about the political situation. But nobody would accommodate him.

"Well, talk about New York or anything," he said. "I have been in New York and I would like to go back there."

The arrested German pilots said their destination had been Salzburg, but that they got lost in a storm and ha dto make a forced landing. They said they did not know where they were landing.

The trip from Spain took Laval a half day. He rode in the same aircraft that ha dtaken him to Generalissimo Franco's country when he fled Germany ahead of Allied troops three months ago.

The American Army wasted no time in dispatching him and his wife on the 160-mile trip from Linz to Innsbruck and the French Army. He was sent on his way at 3:30 p.m.

(Paris said he probably would wind up in the gloomy Fresne prison in the French capital.)

Both Airfields Here To Hold Open House Today; Colorful Demonstrations Are Set

Both South Plains and Lubbock Army Air fields will hold "open house" today, in connection with the 38th anniversary of the Army Air forces.

In addition to offering public view of numerous demonstrations at LAAF with some of the equipment that has made the AAF what it is, there will be afforded a chance to look at hundreds of airplanes, many marked by battle, at SPAAF.

To Show Planes

South Plains citizens will be allowed to visit SPAAF and officers at the field will show them the planes, many of which played an important part in the air defeat of Germany and Italy. Visitors will be allowed to enter some of the planes and see the inside workings of a giant air battleship, Col. Wm Q. Q. Rankin, SPAAF commanding officer, said today.

Visiting Hours will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Officials at LAAF have pronounced everything in readiness for one of the most impressive "open houses" in the history of the field when the gates are thrown open at 9 o'clock this morning.

Plans have been made to take care of several thousand visitors from the city ahd surrounding South Plains counties and indications are that one of the largest crowds in the three and one-half years history of the post will be on hand.

Several new features have been added to the already full program and others may be added by the time the gates are opened to the public.

One of the AAF's fastest fighter planes, the P-47 Thunderbolt, will be on display at the field along with B-17s, B-25s, AT-6s and other types of planes. The P-47 is being brought to the post from Fort Sumner N. M., and efforts are being made to bring other planes heretofore seldom seen in this area to the field.

The day's program will be centered around the ground school building where most of the instruments now in use in the "post graduate" course of advanced instruction in "all weather" instrument flying will be on display and where special films and other events are on the menu. However, the program is a continuous

Two Agencies Deny Big Butter Spoilage

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—A War Food administration official denied before a Senate committee today—and so did the OPA in a statement—that large amounts of stored butter had spoiled and been sold to soap companies.

Dr. D. A. Fitzgerald told the small business committee that only some 3,000 pounds out of 3,000,000 stored under WFA jurisdiction in Illinois had become rancid. He conceded it "might go to soap manufacturers."

Acting Chairman Wherry (R-Neb) told reporters he had information that 90,000 pounds had been sold to Proctor and Gamble and 80,000 to Lever Brothers, both large soap firms. He told reporters the sales were made through an Indianapolis broker, E. Rauh and Sons, and had been approved by James Strickland of the Indianapolis price administration office and by the Washington OPA office.

Wherry said Rauh had informed him he had been handling a boxcar load of spoiled butter every six weeks for some time.

The OPA got out a formal statement. It said an Indianapolis newspaper story had declared "tons of rancid butter and spoiled cheese" had been sold through an Indianapolis broker to make soap.

Claimed Incorrect

The OPA said, "we have found this statement to be incorrect. So far as we have been able to determine no rancid butter or spoiled cheese has been sold in Indianapolis to soap makers."

A survey discloses, it said, that Rauh and Sons had bought butterfat reclaimed from cheese rind from Wisconsin and New York firms and sold it to soap makers.

Tomorrow's committee session was deferred until Monday, when Senator Stewart (D-Tenn) will be back in town and ready to preside. The postponement followed an exchange between Wherry and Senator Ellender (D-La) which resulted in Ellender's walking out of today's committee session. The Louisiana senator objected to questions Wherry was tossing at Fitzberald. Wherry exclaimed:

"Listen, I'm running this hearing and I intend to do it my way. I'm going to do as Jim Murray (D-Mont, the committee chairman) wants me to do."

Ellender, obviously angry, jumped to his feet, declaring:

"I'm getting out; you can run this hearing as you like."

Support for Fitzgerald's claim that butter spoilage had been slight came from Rear Admiral W. J. Carter of the Navy bureau of supplies, and Maj. Gen. C. A. Hardigg of the Army Quartermaster general's office.

JUSTICE WILLIAM LESLIE

Appeals Court Judge Dies At Eastland

EASTLAND, July 31. (AP) — Chief Justice William P. Leslie of the Texas 11th district court of civil appeals, died in a local hospital today after he was stricken at his office.

Judge Leslie, who was in his late sixties, came here in 1927 from Colorado City as associate justice and later succeeded Judge J. D. Hickman as chief justice.

A native of Kentucky, he was a graduate of the University of Texas, class of 1907.

Survivors include his widow, two sons and a daughter.

The appeals court adjourned yesterday for the summer.

Big Three Near End Of Sessions

POTSDAM, July 31 (AP) — The Big Three "made a great deal of progress" in a "fruitful" 3½-hour session today, it was announced officially tonight and observers predicted the history-making conference would end by Thursday at the latest.

President Truman will fly to Plymouth, England, and meet King George VI and Queen Elizabeth there on his way home, the American delegation disclosed.

Stalin Recovers

Premier Stalin was apparently fully recovered from a slight indisposition which had forced a two-day interruption Sunday and Monday in his sessions with Truman and Prime Minister Clement Attlee.

While all signs indicated the conference was drawing to a close, it was announced officially that the three leaders would meet again tomorrow.

President Truman will fly directly from the Potsdam area airport to Plymouth for the meeting with the British royal family. Then he will board the Cruiser Augusta, waiting for him there, and sail directly for the United States.

Only Brief Meeting

The chief executive's meeting with the King and Queen is expected to be a brief, cordial affair, and Truman probably will not spend the night in England, is was said.

These arrangements will permit the President to fulfill his desire to visit England and meet the British leaders.

Today's session of the Big Three, the 11th plenary meeting and one of the longest, did not finish up the work of the conference, it was stated.

Demonstrations And Displays At LAAF

Lubbock Army Air field's officials Tuesday announced final plans for a day-long program for today's big "open house" at the field in observance of the 38th Anniversary of the AAF. Many of the events will continue throughout the day while others will be on display only at specified times.

The following demonstrations and displays will be open to the expected throng of thousands of visitors throughout the day: the display of B-17s, B-25s, AT-6s and other planes on the south end of the flight line, the ground school area where special films and instruments will be on display, the Wac barracks, the field sanitation display and the convalescent training unit of the post hospital, the link trainer unit, personal equipment display, chemical warfare display and other portions of the field.

The events which will of necessity be staged at certain times throughout the program include the parachute training demonstration in which the ground training unit permits simulated jumps but not actual jumps, on the east edge of the field at 10 o'clock and 2 o'clock; the fire fighting and rescue demonstration in which crash experts cut through a flaming inferno to rescue a "dummy" airman from a burning plane, set for 10:30 and 3 o'clock; chemical warfare display immediately following these demonstrations, all on the south end of the field; a retreat ceremony at 5:30 o'clock at which a special Air Medal award will be made to a combat veteran now stationed on the field, a special Memorial Services at the Post Chapel at noon at which time the members of the AAF who gave their lives in the battle of Europe and against Japan will be honored and special films at the Post theater or Japan at 11 o'clock and 3:30 o'clock.

Army Board Probes Death Of Officers

SAN ANTONIO, July 31 (AP)—Two Army boards of inquiry today were investigating the crashes of two Army planes which resulted in the deaths of two flying officers and minor inqury to a pilot and a civilian inspector.

The fatal crash occurred abou six miles south of Seguin Sunday, killing Second Lieut. Harold G. Weaver, Detroit, Mich., and Second Lieut. Warren P. Moffet, Fremont, Neb.

The second plane, a B-24 bomber from San Marcos Army Air field, crashed in a field off he Castroville road near Kelly field last night. The pilot, First Lieut. Donald R. Baxter and Elwin W. Skaggs, a civilian flight inspector, whose home addresses were not available at Kelly field, were injured when they parachuted into a clump of trees. The flight engineer, Sgt. Edward Haffey of Fort Worth and Pfc. Owen Webrey of San Marcos, were uninjured.

School Bond Election To Be Set Soon

THE Board of Trustees of Lubbock Independent School district last night set the legal wheels turning on a $1,500,000 bond election to be set early in September from which funds essential to the growth and expansion of the public education system must be forthcoming.

By unanimous vote, the board directed setting up of the election machinery and date for a special meeting to work out details was set for August 9.

Already overcrowded and growing over the past six years at the rate of approximately 500 scholastics annually, the school system needs at the earliest possible date an over-all expansion touching its every nook and cranny. If approved by the voters, the $1,500,000 bond issue will be used for:

1. A new 12-room ward school on property already held by option located one-half mile south and one-mile east of the Slaton-Tahoka "Y" on South Avenue H. (This project is already in the making and approval by the War Production board at El Paso already has been received).

2. Construction of two junior high school buildings. One will be located on property already purchased and lying between Thirtieth and Thirty-second streets, and between Monroe and Jefferson avenues, in the southwest part of the city. The other will be located upon property not yet purchased, but somewhere in the vicinity of south-central Lubbock.

3. Completion of Senior High school, including a combination cafeteria - bandroom and 12 classrooms.

4. Addition to Dunbar Negro school of a combination cafeteria - gymnasium and study hall.

5. Addition of a combination shoproom and cafeteria at the Mexican school.

6. Adoption of four classrooms (making 12 in all) at McWhorter ward school

7. Remodeling of the present Junior High school whereby the north wing can be used for an elementary school after the new junior high buildings are completed.

8. Institution of modern, sanitary cafeteria facilities in all schools in the system.

It was announced that a complete "breakdown" of expansion expenditures would be made public as soon as architects' plans were completed to the point where estimates could be given.

Dr. J. T. Hutchison, chairman of the board, said "this expansion program is not that of the board, but, instead, is that of the citizens of the school district. It means no more to any trustee than it does to any citizen who realizes that the educational needs of our youngsters must be cared for. When the people vote on this bond issue proposal, they shall vote on one question, alone. That is: Shall we take care of the educational needs of Lubbock children, or shall we not."

Growth Paces City

Doctor Hutchison pointed out that the growth of the school system over the past five years has been impossible to keep up with due to the restraints imposed upon construction by war needs. He also said that although 16 classrooms were added in the Lubbock system during the school year of 1944-45 the conclusion of the term found the schools more crowded than they were before the construction was begun.

Using the McWhorter school as an example, he said when plans were drawn an eight-classroom building was more than enough to care for the needs of that neighborhood, but by the time the school was put into use it was not large enough to care for the needs.

"We re in a growing, expanding city," he said. "The schools are growing and expanding with the rest of Lubbock. That's all there is to it."

The board voted to study the new Senate Bill 38, which the recent legislature passed in an effort to furnish educational facilities to children crippled to an

Staggering Jap Toll From Sea, Air Blows Continues To Mount

68 More Surface Craft, 227 Planes Smashed In Monday's Fleet Attacks

By MURLIN SPENCER
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Wednesday, Aug. 1—Adm. Halsey's Third Fleet carrier planes destroyed or damaged 68 surface craft and 227 planes over the Honshu naval base of Maizuru Monday—a day in which Tokyo radio said more than 2,000 Allied aircraft hammered the homeland.

Adm. Nimitz' revised assessment of destruction, announced today, added eight ships and 89 planes to previous reports of the one-day assault—and gave the vast Allied fleet credit for a total of 1,035 Japanese surface craft and 1,278 airplanes destroyed or damaged in its 21 days of activity in Honshu waters since July 10.

Weather Interferes

Driven from the Tokyo targets Monday morning by thickening weather, American pilots from Halsey's 1,500-plane carrier force damaged a light cruiser and a destroyer at Maizuru, on the west coast.

Reports still were incomplete; there was no estimate of damage done by British carrier planes operating with the Americans.

There was no indication of the great fleet's location today—aside from the Tokyo radio's nervous insistence that it was lingering within quick reach of the Honshu coast for fresh attacks that the enemy expected momentarily.

Afternoon's Toll

In their afternoon sweeps over Maizuru, the Americans sank a medium freighter-transport as well as a destroyer; damaged a light cruiser of the Kashima or Sakawa class, one destroyer, two medium freighters and two small freighters. They also destroyed 56 grounded planes and damaged 33.

Their widespread bombing, rocketing and strafing of ground targets destroyed eight locomotives and damaged four others; damaged 17 war plants, two bridges, four hangars, two radio stations, and railroad cars and turntables. Fires flared in four main buildings of the Kanto special steel company and in the Japan international aircraft company, both located in Hiratsuka, 30 miles south of Tokyo.

Last Propellor Plant

The international plant at Hiratsuka manufactures suicide bombs and is the last remaining Japanese plant still making aircraft propellors.

Maisuru is Japan's only naval repair base on the north side of Honshu fronting on the inland sea, and although secondary it was able to handle Japan's largest ships. The war-booming town has spread to join with Tagashi, making a total population of 150,000 in the area.

Corsairs of the Second Marine Aircraft wing joined in the homeland destruction Monday with sweeps over Kyushu, striking warehouses, railroad facilities and a single parked plane. Today's communique also confirmed in part Tokyo radio's repeated reports of air thrusts at American-held Okinawa; it announced one enemy bomber was shot down there Monday.

Patrols Smash Eight

Naval searchplanes from Okinawa sank or damaged eight more enemy surface craft in patrols ranging from China to the Bonins Monday and Tuesday.

Before dawn Monday, Admiral Halsey sent destroyers within a few miles of the Honshu shore, in Suruga gulf between Tokyo and Nagoya, to shell the enemy's coastal transit system.

Tokyo said at least 90 shells struck the city of 60,000 population 80 miles southwest of Tokyo and admitted the Allied marksmen hit one industrial plant.

FIELD MARSHAL ALEXANDER

Alexander Gets Post In Canada

LONDON, July 31. (AP)—Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander, British hero of the Allied Mediterranean campaign, was named governor general of Canada tonight, succeeding the Earl of Athlone.

The brief announcement from Buckingham Palace that King George VI had chosen the 54-year-old soldier to succeed Lord Athlone, 71 year-old uncle of the king, did not fix a date for the change in office.

Alexander, Britain's youngest field marshal, fought the Germans from the parched African deserts around El Alamein to the snow-covered Alps of Italy, serving as supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean theater since 1944.

Fame At Dunkerque

The new Canadian governor general won fame with the historic Dunkerque evacuation, which he directed. From the sodden French beaches he was transferred to the jungles of Burma, where he fought staunchly against the overwhelming Japanese horde.

Called into the Mediterranean campaign when Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's German Afrika korps was pounding hardest against the Allied line, Alexander marshaled his forces for a supreme effort that hurled the Nazis out of Africa, brought the Italian surrender and eventually the German collapse in northern Italy.

Alexander, son of the fourth Earl of Caledon and grandson of the third Earl of Norbury, resides at Windsor Forest, England.

The Earl of Athlone has served as governor general of Canada since 1940.

WHEAT EMBARGO LIFTS

KANSAS CITY, July 31 (AP) — An embargo on wheat shipments into Kansas City, effective since last Thursday, was lifted today. The embargo was ordered because of the large number of cars tied up in Kansas City yards awaiting unloading.

OPA TIGHTENS RULE

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) — The OPA ruled today that gifts of rationed food and shoes no longer may be shipped to civilians in other countries unless ration stamps are surrendered.

BETTER DUCK, TOGO

GUAM, July 31 (AP)—Maj Gen. Curtis E. LeMay warned 12 Japanese cities today that they are marked for quick destruction by his 20th Bomber command Superfortresses, increasing to 19 the total of warned targets—six of which the sky giants already have burned out.

Six of the B-29s carried today's warning—in the form of 750,000 leaflets—to the doomed municipalities, four of which were among the 11 cities listed in the first warning four days ago.

"Evacuate these cities immediately," the 1,300,000 persons in the 12 places were told.

24 Ships Are Sunk By FEAF

By JAMES HUTCHESON
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Wednesday, Aug. 1.—Smashing Far East Air forces raids on Japanese shipping around Kyushu and Korea knocked out an additional 24 ships, Gen. MacArthur announced today.

That increased to 250 the number of Japanese ships sunk or damaged since Gen. George C. Kenney's FEAF began striking Japanese shipping from Okinawa bases early in July.

The shipping bagged Monday included two destroyer escorts off Korea and a 6,000-ton freighter transport between Kyushu and Korea. Another 6,000-ton freighter transport was forced aground in Korean waters.

Mustangs Strike Hard

In a dawn strike, four Mustang fighters of the 5th AAF scored bomb hits which blew up one destroyer escort and damaged another. In the same waters, more than 20 5th AAF Mitchells sank two small freighters and a large tanker.

The 24 ships sunk or damaged included 11 in Sunday's far-ranging raids to Korea. These strikes were announced in yesterday's communique, but the ship figures were tallied too late for inclusion. They included one medium freighter and seven small freighters sunk by more than 20 Mitchells operating with Mustang cover over southern Korea. Three other medium freighters were damaged.

The 250 vessels of all types hit by FEAF planes in the blockade of Japanese waters totaled 250,000 tons.

Others Far To South

While other FEAF planes blasted at Kyushu targets effectively with fire and explosive bombs, 7th Fleet RAAF and 13th AAF planes hit hard far to the south. River and small coastal craft were attacked at many points.

A 7th Fleet Privateer bombed and blew up two freighters and an oil-loaded 150-foot ship off the Malaya coast. Fleet patrol bombers sank or damaged a river steamer near Bandjermasin, Borneo. Another Privateer damaged two small freighters and destroyed the hulls of two others in a shipyard at Pointianak, west Borneo.

Japs Up In One Area

The only report of Japanese planes in the air over the Far Eastern front came from Balikpapan. Three planes made a Friday midnight raid on the out-

Jap Location Of POW Protested

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) — The State department said tonight that despite repeated American protests, the Japanese persisted in trying to protect target areas from bombing by locating war prisoners' camps nearby.

Denouncing this practice anew, the department issued a statement saying it was seeking to verify a Tokyo radio report that a war prisoners' camp was hit during the bombing of Kawasaki July 26, with casualties to American prisoners.

American Casualties

The Japanese broadcast, which said some casualties, mostly American, resulted when the camp at Kawasaki, southeast of Tokyo, was struck while the area was under aerial bombardment, was monitored by the Federal Communications commission. Requesting verification through the Swiss government and the International Red Cross, the State department said military authorities would notify next of kin when the information is received.

The statement said that the Japanese, although not a party to the Geneva convention governing the treatment of war prisoners, had agreed to conform with its prohibition against using prisoners to protect target areas.

Japanese replies to United States portests against the practice, the statement said, "have been evasive."

The department said American fliers are briefed carefully on the location of all known camps to minimize to the greatest possible extent the danger to Allied nationals.

Men From Area Are Due In U. S. Soon

Eight South Plains soldiers are due to arrive in New York Thursday from Europe aboard Queen Mary, the Associated Press announced Tuesday. Those expected on that date include: Capt. Wayne Henly, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Henly, 1509 Twenty-fifth, former advertising manager for the Avalanche-Journal; S/Sgt. Leonard Baker, of Spur; Sgt. James A. Brasher and Pvt. Linwell H. Kirby of Levelland, S/Sgt. Raymond W. Reece of Seminole, Pfc. Semmion C. French, 313 Hub homes, Lubbock, T/5 Eugene D. Irwin of Andrews, and S/Sgt. Alvin E. Baker, of Floydada.

TELEPHONE OFFICIAL DIES

ST. LOUIS, July 31 (AP)—William L. Holley, first vice president and a director of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, died suddenly of a cerebral hemorrhage in his apartment at the Park Plaza hotel today. He was 57 years old. Funeral arrangements are to be announced later.

Shooting Star, New Jet Plane, Has Speed Exceeding 550 MPH

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—The Army Air forces' new jet plane can fight more than eight miles above the earth at speeds in excess of 550 miles an hour.

One of the P-80s was put on press display here today, a gray-painted, sleek and deadly looking craft, suggesting super-speed even when standing motionless on its tricycle landing gear.

Its pilot, Capt. Wallace A. Lien of Wright Field, Ohio, said some of the P-80s had gone overseas but be believed none had been in combat up to now.

These official and company specifications were released on the P-80, built by Lockheed and powered by a gas turbine built by General Electric:

Speed—in excess of 550 miles.

Service ceiling—"more than 45,000 feet."

Wing span—38 feet, 10½ inches.

Weight—empty, 8,000 pounds; with maximum fuel load, 14,000.

Armament—six .50 caliber machine guns, located in the nose of the ship. The section can be removed and a camera installed for reconnaissance purposes.

Details of the plane's range, one of the problems of jet propelled aircraft, still remain secret. However, the producing companies make this statement: "Problems of range, which limited German jet planes to flights of a few minutes' duration, have been solved in the Shooting Star (the nickname for the P-80), by economy of the G-E jet and aerodynamic lines that are the cleanest of any airplane in the skies. With its jettisonable tanks, the Shooting Star is capable of carrying out missions now handled by long-range fighters."

The use on the P-80 of droppable wing tanks as one means of solving the fuel-range problem was disclosed only with the public debut of the plane today. The tanks are mounted at the extreme tips of the wings, instead of inboard or under the belly of the ship as is done in standard design aircraft. Location of the tanks in this position, the pilot reported, gave only 40 to 50 per cent of the drag resulting from the customary mount.

Discussing another characteristic of the plane, Lien said it requires a "good deal longer" run on the take-off than a conventional plane, gets into the air at a speed between 120 and 130 miles an hour and lands at about the same speed as any fast fighter, 100 to 110 miles. It has, in addition to wing flaps, a set of fuselage flaps located under the belly which help kill its terrific speed when deceleration is required.

MODERN warfare has outdone itself with the Navy's latest new-fangled idea. Nobody thought much of such minor engineering feats as putting a pipeline under the English channel or building bridges in less time than it had taken to bomb them in the first place. But the Navy really has shown up the Army in its latest bid for engineering fame . . . the floating dry-dock is not even to be mentioned as an accomplishment of note any more.

To put the whole thing in a nutshell, the Navy has built a combination super-market, ice house and drugstore out in the middle of the Pacific, or to be more definite, in an "unidentifiable place in the Western Pacific." The combination will be a concrete barge with supplying ice cream to ships smaller than a destroyer its main function. Ten gallons of ice cream every seven minutes is its capacity and the hardening room will take care of 2,000 gallons for storage. But in addition, meats, vegetables, eggs, cheese, fresh vegetables and other perishables and ice will be supplied by the barge.

It may seem silly to people who worry about the taxpayers' money for the Navy to install a floating drugstore out in the Pacific, but it doesn't to us. After all, large ships have their own ice cream departments aboard with a 10 or 20 quart freezer and small fountain. Men aboard these ships can buy ice cream, sundaes, sodas or cokes every day, just like they did back home. Now the crews of smaller ships will be able to do the same thing—at least as long as they stay in the vicinity of the barge.

THE barge reminds you of a statewide drive-in stand, with boats substituted for the steady flow of automobiles, said the supply officer of an auxiliary ship that took on a few gallons of the American delicacy recently. The ice cream purchased from the barge was the first its crew had eaten in 18 months—a mighty long time for anyone Navy-age to go without the No. 1 dessert of the nation. For your information, there are six flavors, vanilla, chocolate, strawberry, maple, pineapple and tropical fruit. And here's the cute part—the price is 70 cents a gallon—exactly the price of the ingredients.

Come to think of it, the Navy is going to a lot of trouble to keep the sailors happy. We came across a story the other day about the rest camps scattered about the Pacific on little islands where part of the crew of a ship will go ashore for a few hours to feel their feet on dry land and loaf around before going back to the ship and letting others of the crew have a turn. It sounds like the Navy had a pretty good idea there. Even a big ship probably gets pretty confining after seeing nothing but the sea and your shipmates for six months or longer at a time.

AMONG other things, the men are given an opportunity to stroll along the shore and "pick up unusual coral and sea-shells," which sounds kind of far-fetched for our idea of the seaman on liberty. They are also furnished "soft drinks and beer and have a chance to visit with crews from other ships and exchange sea tales." That sounds more like it. (We'd like to hear the Navy definition of a sea tale, however.) On these recreation islands, sailors often meet friends and relatives who are serving on other ships, and that's the best part of the whole deal.

Besides all that, it looks pretty good to us when in the midst of a global war the big shots of the various branches of the service can still devote time and effort to getting things over there as much as possible like things over here.

Red Cross Asks For Knitters

Announcement has been made by Mrs. R. A. Mills, chairman of Lubbock County Red Cross production, that a shipment of completed sweaters and mufflers will be made Friday. Anyone having a finished article is asked to bring it to the Red Cross production room Thursday afternoon or Friday morning.

The knitting room will be open from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Friday and is open each week, Tuesday through Friday, from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Mrs. Mills has stated that 100 knitters will be needed to meet Lubbock county's quota which is to be finished by the last of September.

In a recent letter from national Red Cross headquarters was the following quotation: "Our stock of sweaters is low; many knitted articles were shipped this winter to field directors in Italy and France. At present there is a heavy demand for the issuance of sweaters and mufflers to convalescent service men in hospitals here and abroad."

Sharply Stepped Up B-29 Blows Pledged

GUAM, Wednesday, Aug. 1 (AP)—Raids on Japan "soon by 1,200 Superforts carrying nearly 8,000 tons of bombs" were predicted today by Lt. Gen. Barney M. Giles, who said stepped up attacks will continue "until the war lords are forced to unconditional surrender."

At a ceremony at Marmon Field, marking the 38th anniversary of the Army Air forces, the gray-haired deputy commander of the U. S. Army Strategic Air forces said:

"We shall step up the tempo of our assault against Japan in every way possible; soon we shall have double the number of B-29s and drop double the tonnage of bombs. We shall continue to bomb the Japanese empire until the war lords are forced into unconditional surrender."

CCC Subsidies Will Go To Lamb Feeders

DALLAS, July 31. (AP)—Lamb producers and feeders owning the animals at the time of their delivery to authorized slaughterers during the period August 5, 1945 through June 30, 1946, were advised today that subsidies ranging from $5 to $3.15 per cwt., would be paid them through the Commodity Credit corporation.

The new sheep and lamb subsidy program was designed to divert more of the animals into legitimate channels and to encourage more normal marketing, to help producers meet increased costs without raising consumer costs, and to encourage the raising and feeding of lambs to heavier weights.

The announcement, made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Office of Marketing Services, said that the subsidies would be paid regardless of the length of time producers of feeders had actually owned the animals.

Dallas, Fort Worth ODT Offices Merge

DALLAS, July 31 (AP)—Merger of the Dallas and Fort Worth offices of the Office of Defense Transportation was announced today by E. P. McCallum, jr., regional director of the highway transport department at Dallas. The combined district office will be at Fort Worth.

The regional headquarters for the states of Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri and Kansas will continue to be in Dallas.

The other Texas district offices, which will continue, are in Houston, San Antonio and Lubbock.

Portion Of Payroll Robbery Loot Found

BURBANK, Calif., July 31 (AP) A seven year old boy, Gilbert Abelar, today discovered money bags containing $2,293 of the $111,300 taken yesterday in one of southern California's largest payroll robberies, and provided police with the first real clews to the two men responsible.

"I was playing in the alley, went into a garage, and saw six sacks," the boy told officers. "I knew it was money; the sacks were awfully heavy, so I told my mother."

Mrs. Esther Abelar, the mother, said she had rented the garage for $3 a month to a slim man in Army uniform, that he paid her two months in advance and disappeared.

'Flame Thrower' Is Used To Stop Ants

PONTIAC, Mich., July 31 (AP) Black ants in a precise column six inches wide and 30 feet long invaded Gunnard Turnquist's kitchen today.

When Turnquist's efforts to halt the column's march with lead arsenate failed, he seized a blow torch and using it as a flame thrower ran it down the column.

Turnquist said even as the flames swept down the column the ants did not break rank.

SAFEGUARDING THE EYES OF TEXAS

What are the causes of faulty vision?

There is no simple answer to that question, because the eye is one of the most complicated and delicate organs in the body. To find the true cause of faulty vision in any particular case, and to correct it safely, are tasks requiring long professional training and skill. That's why it's foolish and risky to assume that all you need to do, if your vision is defective, is to "buy a pair of glasses." Glasses alone, without the professional services and technical skill of a properly qualified person, cannot improve your eye comfort and visual efficiency. Don't risk your precious eyesight on a bargain counter. Seek professional advice, not glasses at a price.

Sergeant Back At SPAAF Recounts Tales Of Intrigue And Mystery

Fraught with intrigue, glamor, and mystery, is the tale told by T/Sgt. Lester G. Hunselman, 23, of Ladora, Iowa, now working in South Plains Army Air field's instrument shop, and was probably labeled "Top Secret Plus" before the capitulation of the Nazi Reich. Even today his story can be told only by omitting almost completely the details of names, dates, and places.

T/Sgt. Hunzelman flew forty-two missions (ten of them with the British RAF) as radio operator on one of the crews in a secret group which was engaged in liaison work between High Intelligence in England and the Allied underground throughout Europe. The group's planes were constantly being changed from B-17s to B-24s and even to British Lancasters. They were painted black for night-flying, stripped of all guns but top-turret and tail, equipped with special seats for passengers, and generally bore no markings whatsoever. The group itself seldom remained at the same base for over two months, and because of their constant shifting, were known as the "Carpet Baggers."

Many Purpose Missions

The missions were all flown at night, and ranged in purpose from the dropping of men, women, equipment, supplies, and medical aids, to the pick-up of high-ranking Nazi prisoners for Allied interrogation in England.

Looking back, Sgt. Hunzelman thinks that his most interesting experience came when an American major, who had been secretly dropped by parachute some time before, radioed up through the black of night for some cigarettes. Following a whim, Sgt. Hunzelman placed his name and address in one of the cigarette cartons before he dropped them overboard. Later he learned that the major lived but six miles from his home town, and had gone to his own high school back in Iowa.

"Ernie Pyle spent eighteen days at our base," said Sgt. Hunzelman, "talking to the men, and gathering information for a book which was to be called 'The Carpet Baggers.' I don't know if it's been published yet or not."

Black Ship Mystery

Uncovering the mystery which has long shrouded a totally black B-17 new moored at SPAAF, Sgt. Hunzelman explained that he had flown the ship to a point just outside Paris shortly before D-Day for the purpose of bringing General De Gaulle to England for a conference with Prime Minister Churchill and General Eisenhower. Several days later, his crew, flying the same ship, took the French general back.

A "Triangle-J" is now painted on the tail fin of the ship which has been used as a tow-target plane since its return to the states. This "mystery ship" will be one of the many interesting ex-combat planes on display today at South Plains Army Air field which is holding "open house" in honor of Army Air forces' 38th anniversary.

Soybean Studies Conducted Here

Emulating the persistency of Thomas A. Edison who tested 999 different materials before finding the proper filament for the electric light bulb, Texas experiment stations are continuing to try to develop a soybean that be ideally adapted to the soil and climate of West Texas.

"We've been working on it for four years and we haven't found it yet," Don Jones, superintendent of the experiment station east of town, admitted yesterday in describing the numerous experiments that are being made in trying out various bean crosses.

May Be Boon To Farmers

Confident that a soybean will eventually be developed that will prove a boon to West Texas agriculturalists, Jones explained that the present high prices being paid for other crops had prevented the soybean from attracting much attention.

Commenting on an Associated Press dispatch from Champaign, Ill., relating how Illinois botanists are cooperating with Texas researchers in finding a more satisfactory feed grass, Jones said that he had been told that progress was being made in experiments, conducted under the direction of College Station. The news story mentioned that "blue panicum" had been found to be superior to the native Texas rangeland "salt-grass," and was being widely adopted by cattlemen of the Gulf coast area.

Seeking Successful Grass

Jones suggested that the reason this news came from Illinois, instead of from College Station, was no doubt due to the fact that grasses, grown on the King ranch of the Texas Gulf Coast region, have been sent to the government station at Urbana, Ill., for testing. The soil conservation agency is reported to be taking an important part in the finding of a successful range grass.

Experiments in this area have shown that Africa Love grass may become a popular feed grass for parts of West Texas, A. H. Leidigh dean of agriculture at Texas Technological college, said. He also praised Rhodes grass as another that has been developed through regional experimentation.

Tug-Of-War For HST's Legislative Affections Shaping Up In Senate

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Political News Editor

WASHINGTON, July 31. — A tug-of-war for President Truman's legislative affections apparently is shaping up with Senate left wing Democrats first to grasp the rope.

A dozen who have interested themselves in the type of legislation Mr. Truman often voted for when he sat in the Senate fathered today to draft a "progressive" social and economic program they hope the chief executive will support when Congress meets again in October.

The Senate's right wingers watched this maneuver silently. But there seemed little doubt that when the time comes they will put up a battle for the kind of legislation they want.

They also hope that Mr. Truman will be with them, influenced in this view by what they regard as a conservative trend developing in his cabinet.

The so-called liberals privately have been worried about this. There have been rumors, for instance, that all was not well between the party regulars represented by National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan and the left-wing labor group headed by CIO President Philip Murray and PAC Chieftain Sidney Hillman.

He's Planted In Center

Both sides apparently think that the way Mr. Truman goes—if he travels away from the center where he seems to have planted himself at least temporarily—is the issue now.

Accordingly Senators Pepper (D-Fla), Mead (D-NY), Magnuson (D-Wash), and some others quietly invited colleagues of like views to sit down at lunch with them to discuss a 10 or 12-point program dealing exclusively with social and economic problems.

Once their program is formed, Pepper said the group would attempt to sell it to the nation during the Congressional recess.

Gus Robertson Rites Set At Slaton Today

Funeral services for A. L. (Gus) Robertson, 67, of Slaton, member of a prominent West Texas ranching family who died last Friday in an Oakland, Cal., hospital, will be conducted at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the Slaton Methodist church.

Rev. E. C. Raney of Lubbock will officiate, and burial will be in Slaton cemetery, Rix Funeral home reported.

Pallbearers named were John H. Morgan, J. S. Edwards, sr., Howard Swanner, Melton Hancock, J. D. Norris, J. D. Holt, Ben Mansker and Giles Connell. All are residents of Slaton except Connell, who lives at Post.

Survivors are his wife; two sons, Sug and Wade, of Slaton, and a daughter, Mrs. Kimbro. A brother, Briggs Robertson, managed the Slaton Chamber of Commerce for many years until his death last spring. Mrs. A. B. Robertson died in the spring of 1944.

Four-F Seaman Has Costly Masquerade

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 31 (U.P.)—It cost Eugene Clyde Wooley, a 22-year-old 4-F, exactly $25 to show his best girl how he looked in bell bottom trousers.

U. S. District Judge Edgar S. Vaught assessed the fine after the youth told of paying a sailor $10 for his suit, then wearing it to take his girl dancing.

"Oh," he said, "My girl friend wanted to see how I looked in a sailor suit."

Padilla Defends His Argentine Attitude

MEXICO CITY, July 31. (AP)—Ezequiel Padilla, who recently resigned as Mexico's foreign secretary, issued a statement today replying to what he said was criticism of his attitude towards Argentina.

"The attitude assumed by me as president of the Mexican delegations to the conferences of Chapultepec and San Francisco toward admission of Argentina in the American community of United Nations was not a personal one on my part but a movement of all the American nations," Padilla said.

"We were actuated by the desire and advisability of completing the unity of America and the fraternal wish to offer the Argentine people an opportunity to fulfill the decisions of Rio de Janeiro and the Democratic principles of the Charter of Chapultepec."

Houston Polio Ward Said "Not Ideal"

HOUSTON, July 31. (U.P.)—Admitting that although conditions are "not ideal" in the Jefferson Davis hospital polio ward, Dr. Joe B. Foster was on record today with the declaration that "Houston certainly has nothing to apologize for."

Speaking before the Harris county chapter's advisory committee of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis yesterday, Dr. Foster said, "so far as actual needs are concerned, they are being reasonably met."

Dr. Foster, one of the chapter's trio of medical advisers, heads the polio ward at Jefferson Davis where all hospitalized polio cases from Houston and Harris county receive care.

According to a report by Chapter Treasurer W. S. Patton, 27 patients are now being treated in the polio ward. And Patton predicted that the number would increase during the next few months.

THE ARMY AIR FORCES

On This The

38th ANNIVERSARY

OF ARMY AIR ACTIVITY

August 1, 1907—August 1, 1945

On August 1, 1907—just 38 years ago—there was established an Aeronautical Division "to study the flying machine and the possibility of adapting it to military purposes."

Assigned to that unprepossessing division were an officer, two enlisted men, no airplanes.

From 1939 Through 1944, The A.A.F. Training Command Has Produced:

184,394 PILOTS
43,274 NAVIGATORS
264,603 AERIAL GUNNERS
41,403 BOMBARDIERS

Lubbock Is Proud Of It's Share In This Record

Lubbock Army Air Field, until January, 1945, graduated 7,008 single and two engine airplane pilots and trained thousands of men and officers who have activated other A.A.F. fields and who have gone overseas to help make up the air and ground crews in all parts of the world. LAAF, since January, 1945 has been occupied with training instrument instructors for all of the other A.A.F. activities (currently training pilots of the Air Transport Gommand).

South Plains Army Air Field, before inactivation, trained glider pilots who took part in aerial invasions in France, in Holland, in the Philippines and who are still bringing in men and equipment as the Japanese empire is squeezed smaller and smaller.

THOSE WHO HAVE GONE OUT FROM THE LUBBOCK FIELDS TO THE WORLD WIDE RAMIFICATIONS OF THE A.A.F. ARE MAKING LUBBOCK KNOWN IN ALL THOSE WIDELY SCATTERED POINTS.

WE IN LUBBOCK PAY TRIBUTE TO THEM AND TO THEIR BUDDIES FOR THEIR COURAGE AND FOR THE PART THEY ARE PLAYING IN BRINGING PEACE TO THE WORLD.

Lubbock also particularly appreciates the cooperation and friendship of all the officers, enlisted men and women, and civilian employees of the two fields, and the contributions they have made in so many ways to community life while stationed here.

Ickes Insists Army Must Release Miners To Meet Dire Coal Outlook

WASHINGTON, July 31. (U.P.) — Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes told the Senate War Investigating committee today that next winter will be "the coldest of the war" unless sufficient miners are quickly released from military service to increase coal production.

"This would be true," Ickes said, "even if we did not send a pound of bituminous coal to Europe."

He has urged that we send 6,000,000 tons of bituminous to Europe—about one per cent of a year's normal output.

The United States, he continued, has done "prodigious things" to provide fuel to run the war.

Have No Magic Wands

"But I am not a presdigitator and neither are any of the members of the Solid Fuels administration staff," he said. "We have no magic wands, and we can not produce coal without coal miners. No one else can.

Ickes told the committee that he had repeatedly begged the military services to stop drafting coal miners but that he had consistently lost his arguments.

"And now," he said, "we are at the point where our only hope of solving our own production problems is to release men from military service and if we cannot solve our own problem, we cannot continue to ship coal to Europe in any amount.

No Overnight Solution

"Ultimately Europe's coal problem must be solved on the continent of Europe," he said, "but this cannot be done overnight, and until it can be done, our Allies need our help."

Sen. Harley Kilgore, Democrat from the big coal producing state of West Virginia, proposed in an interview that three quick steps be taken. They are:

1. The Army "had better back down" on its refusal to release 30,000 coal miners for U. S. mines "or face a bad situation at home, where coal reserves are non-existent."

2. Russia should join the Anglo-American combined boards to make her raw materials, including surplus coal in Poland and German Silesia, available to the international pool of materials in short supply.

Coal Administrator

3. The Allied Control council for Germany, as soon as it works out an unified policy for the entire area, should appoint an American coal administrator for all Germany because "frankly we are vastly superior to the British and the Europeans in coal mining."

"There must be integration of transportation and coal if Europe is to survive through the winter," he said.

He said the Army was not being asked to grant a blanket release for all coal miners in uniform but simply to "expedite the release of coal miners already eligible under the point system for discharge and grant some furloughs to men in the U. S."

Houston Law Firm To Join State Tax Suits

AUSTIN, July 31. (AP)—Joining with the state in defense of tax suits totaling $495,436 will be a group of domestic insurance companies and the Houston law firm of Vincent, Elkins, Weems and Francis.

The suits were brought by out-of-state insurance companies, for recovery of taxes paid under protest last year following the United States Supreme court's decision that insurance was interstate commerce. The suits claim the tax, which was greater on out-of-state firms than on domestic ones, was discriminatory.

The 49th legislature passed statutes designed to equalize the rates, and a number of companies which originally brought suits, dropped them.

The attorney general's office said it would be aided by the Houston law firm, at no cost to the state.

Vets, Servicemen Are Said Eligible For War Housing Priorities

Families of servicemen and veterans, who do not have homes of who are unable to find rental accommodations within their financial reach, are now eligible for priorities in obtaining privately constructed war housing under the National Housing Agency.

This was the news received yesterday by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce from the National Housing Agency's regional representative, Joseph P. Tufts of Dallas.

"In effect this relaxation places distressed families of veterans and servicemen on a par with war workers in securing private war housing now vacant or about to become available," Tufts explained. He added that only a limited number of privately financed war housing units are now available in the region.

"While the housing problems among returning veterans and families of servicemen are not critical in all communities, there are enough cases of distress in most areas to justify the immediate opening of all war housing," Tufts said. "Because of the continuing shortages of critical material, no great volume of construction can be expected for some months."

Cotton Exports Volume Gaining

HOUSTON, July 31. (AP)—The port of Houston during the past twelve months has shipped 475,838 bales of cotton abroad, marking a resumption of exports in volume for the first time since Pearl Harbor.

These figures are revealed by the annual figures of cotton movement at this port compiled by the Houston Cotton exchange, covering the fiscal year, which ended today.

Destination Not Known

No information as to destination of the cotton exported is available, but practically all of it was shipped under lend-lease and therefore went to Allied government.

During the previous fiscal year only 43,658 bales went out of the port, all on lend-lease.

A considerable volume of export cotton included in today's shipments brought the total outward movement of cotton to 1,003,365 bales. Except for the 475,838 bales exported, all shipments went by rail, a total of 527,527 bales. In the previous season shipments aggregated 731,509 bales.

American battleships are named after states; heavy and light cruisers after large cities; aircraft carriers after historical naval vessels or battles; and destroyers after officers and enlisted men of the Navy and Marine Corps.

San Angelo Is Told Of City's Rat-Proofing

With six cases of typhus fever reported in San Angelo in the first six months of 1945, that city is planning enactment of a rat-proofing ordinance modeled after the Lubbock ordinance adopted recently, local officials revealed yesterday.

San Angelo representatives visited Lubbock last week to confer with Don Cook, who is in charge of the rat-proofing program for the city, and James H. Harris, sanitary supervisor for the typhus control unit of the United States Department of Public Health.

H. L. Draper, state engineer, also described the Lubbock ordinance and the program to members of the San Angelo Junior Chamber of Commerce at a recent meeting. The Junior Chamber went on record as recommending that the San Angelo City Commissioners give careful study to a rat eradication program.

Because of the number of older buildings in San Angelo that city's rat problems is said to be more acute than Lubbock's. Harris may go to San Angelo soon to assist the officials of that city in getting a rat-proofing campaign started.

• SOME FACTS •

about the GM Technical Center

PURPOSES: First, to provide the divisions of General Motors with greatly expanded and superlatively fine research, engineering and design advantages in addition to those which they themselves enjoy. Second, to cooperate with educational institutions, foundations and distinguished individuals engaged in the pursuit of progress in science, engineering and the functional arts.

EXTENT: 350 acres of grounds upon which will be located a number of main buildings to begin with, many more eventually.

FACILITIES: Research and engineering laboratories, libraries, exhibits, studios, auditoriums, meeting halls, living quarters, dining rooms, lecture halls and offices.

ADVANTAGES: Advanced facilities in ideal surroundings, and an inspirational environment.

CHARACTER: Ultra-modern architecture and construction, assuring the finest conditions for work and study.

PERSONNEL: Approximately 2,000 employes.

To be open to the public at times and under conditions to be announced.

Unique and Outstanding Facilities for Research and Engineering in the Interests of Improved Products, New and Broader Service to Public Needs and Expanded Opportunities for Employment . . .

Continuing its recognition of the all-important relation of research and engineering to human progress, General Motors has long planned and now takes pleasure in announcing a noteworthy forward step in this direction—a great new Technical Center.

This "City of Science and Art," to be located just outside Detroit, is designed to provide the finest possible facilities—in the most inspiring and advantageous environment—for the research, engineering, styling and design which have long been fundamental in all fields of General Motors' operation.

The activities of the Technical Center will be in addition to the work of like nature performed by the various divisions of General Motors, and by the General Motors Proving Grounds.

The GM Technical Center is being established primarily in the interests of constant improvement of all General Motors products.

But beyond this immediate objective is the broader one of exploring opportunities to serve public needs and human aspirations in new ways and with new things more desirable, more valuable and more satisfying than ever before.

In addition, General Motors has pointedly in mind that the development of such new means of serving will help to provide new and greater opportunities for employment—will naturally create new jobs for more people.

For what we all hope may be but a short time, this important step in postwar progress must wait upon war needs. So long as military interests require, "Victory is Our Business." But as soon as events justify, ground will be broken for this, a significant step in General Motors' postwar program.

The great new GM Technical Center—inspiring evidence of faith in the future to which science and technology can guide us—will stand as a striking symbol of General Motors' goal—"More and Better Things for More People."

Views Of Japs Differ On Whether Nips Should Meet Allied Demands

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Today the column "Interpreting The War News" is taken over by James D. White, former Associated Press Far Eastern correspondent, as AP's veteran news analyst, Kirke L. Simpson, retires.)

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31 — Premier Suzuki of Japan says his government will "take no notice" of the Allied ultimatum to surrender.

A couple of other Japanese are saying otherwise. One says Japan should surrender soon. The other makes it stronger. He says Japan must surrender—within the next few weeks.

They are Gen. Hiroshi Oshima, last Japanese ambassador to Berlin, and Ken Murayama, American-born Domei correspondent who surrendered the other day in the Philippines.

Neither Is Average Jap

Neither is an average Japanese. Oshima is a Samurai turned diplomat. Ken Murayama, whom I know personally, is a troubled intellectual caught in a fate perhaps not entirely of his own choosing.

It was Oshima who said Japan ought to give up. He watched the death of Berlin, fled its agonies with his staff, and chose to be captured by Americans rather than fall into neutral Russian hands or escape across the Swiss border.

Oshima was Japan's Ribbentrop. He thought Japan could use the Axis as a stepping stone to world domination, and sold the Germans the idea they could do the same with Japan.

Field Man In Plots

He was field man for Japan's diplomatic plotting in preparation for this war. He negotiated and signed Axis alliances for Tokyo.

At last he conceded Japan could never stand up to Allied air superiority, said his secretary, as he sailed from France for internment in the United States, he made a "recommendation" that his country surrender unconditionally as soon as possible. If this is true, it would be strange if Washington did not see that this "recommendation" didn't reach Toyko as soon as possible.

Oshima rode the crest of Axis triumph while it lasted. Yet he is the first important Japanese to call quits. If bombs and shells can convince the Japanese militarist that his supposedly divine race is not only mortal but getting more so every day, it can do the same for others.

Ken Murayama never rode any crest of triumph. I think he never believed Japan could win. He was head of Domei's English language service in Shanghai at the time of Pearl Harbor. Toward us Allied correspondents caught there he remained much the same—not too friendly, because the Army watched him like a hawk, but not unfriendly either—and it would have been very easy for him to be unfriendly in those days.

Mississippi To Have Initial Oil Refinery

JACKSON, Miss., July 31. (AP)—Gov. Bailey announced that work already has started on Mississippi's first oil refinery in the Laurel producing area.

The plant, which will refine Mississippi's oil in the coparatively new oil producing state is to be located at Haney, a flag stop on the Southern railway two miles north of Sandersville.

Since the site is near both the rich Heidelberg and Eucutta fields, the refinery is expected to handle oil from both these producing areas.

The plant is being built by Roger Lacy of Longview, Texas. Construction is expected to be completed in about four months.

The refinery will have a capacity of 3,500 barrels per day and will employ from 50 to 60 persons.

American steel mills have been operating at virtually full capacity from Dec. 7, 1941 to V-E Day, May 8, 1945.

Dental Drill May Be A Forgotten Misery

CHICAGO, July 31. (U.P.)—The days of the dreaded dentist's drill may be numbered.

The American Dental Association Journal announced in its August issue today that a new method of drilling teeth has been developed in which a stream of compressed air is substituted for the conventional drill, eliminating pain, heat and vibration.

The association describes the new technique as "revolutionary."

It was developed by a Texas dentist, Dr. Robert B. Black, Corpus Christi, who said in his report that his method, named "airbrasive," employs for its action a very fine, almost pinpoint, stream of compressed air into which a suitable finely divided abrasive agent has been introduced."

Dr. Black said that though he had used the drill on a limited number of patients, all preferred the new method.

New System Given For Mental Cases

AUSTIN, July 31. (AP)—Weaver Baker, chairman of the State Board of Control, said today the board is initiating a plan by which colonies of adjusted mental patients will be established within the vicinity of existing mental institutions.

First colony will be established in connection wiht Rusk State hospital, next at Abilene State hospital, then Austin State school and the State Farm colony.

"By taking the adjusted patients from the hospitals and placing them in a more normal convalescing environment," said Baker, "not only are these patients benefitted, but those remaining behind will benefit from closer attention being paid to their rehabilitation by the hospital staffs."

Baker said that due to pressure of work and crowded conditions it has too often been the practice of teachers and attendants to train a few patients and use them as helpers with other patients, which becomes sort of a "blind leading the blind proposition."

Before the war, when truck tires were freely available, when truck operators still could choose the brand they wanted, 1 of every 4 of the biggest operators were big users of Riversides! These big "fleet" operators keep a mileage record on every tire. They know from their records that Riversides give more miles-per-dollar. So they buy Riversides! Take a tip from these operators who know which tires stand up best. Put Riversides on your car. You, too, will get more miles-per-dollar, more protection against blow-outs, and more miles-of-safety!

Ships Go Out 'Unfinished' Due To Critical Situation On West Coast

By DEAN W. DITTMER
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 31. — A special congressional committee reported today that repaired warships are leaving west coast shipping yards without the latest and best equipment because of a shortage of skilled help.

Rep. John J. Sparkman, D., Ala., head of the special House Military Affairs investigating committee, said that in some cases ships were sent back to sea "without being adequately repaired."

Army Partly To Blame

"But more often," he said, "it is without the latest and best equipment that is available but is not put on because of a shortage of skilled labor."

The committee placed part of the blame on the Army.

"It is apparent that the War department, under the cloak of military necessity, has not cooperated sufficiently with war activities and other governmental agencies in these areas," the report said.

Suggestions Offered

Calling for immediate action by the Office of War Mobilization to alleviate the west coast manpower situation, the group decommended that the proper agencies consider:

1. "Means of inducing 4-F's and workers not subject to Selective Service to remain on war jobs."

2. Continuation of liberal draft deferments until job-jumping of 4-F's can be stopped.

3. Increased efforts to recruit skilled labor.

4. "Release from armed forces of men having skills needed for war activities which are now having emergency manpower shortages on condition they go to and remain in specified jobs."

Diversion Of Traffic

5. Relieve the west coast of as much war traffic as possible by using Atlantic and Gulf ports to the maximum extent possible.

"Unless something is done immediately, or unless Japan surrenders forthwith, which we cannot gamble upon, an already serious situation on the west coast will become more than critical," the committee reported.

Most acute west coast manpower problems were said to be in railroads and ship repair yards.

U. S. Steel Net Income Totals $16,774,202

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP) — United States Steel corp. and subsidiaries reported today net income of $16,774,202 for the quarter ended June 30, or $1.20 a common share against $15,379,000, or $1.04 a share, for the first three months, and $15,354,917, or $1.04 a share, for the second period of 1944.

Directors declared the usual dividend of $1 a share on common stock, payable Sept. 10 to holders of record Aug. 10.

In the first six months net income was $32,153,373, equal to $2.24 a share on the common stock, compared with $32,282,533, or $2.27 a share common share in the 1944 period.

STUDENTS STANDING PAT

AUSTIN, July 31. (U.P.) — University of Texas students are standing pat on their university enrollment despite action of the southern association of colleges in placing the university on probation.

No student has withdrawn, Registrar E. J. Mithews said.

Plans to call a second student convocation this week to consider the situation have been deferred, the campus newspaper announced.

The U. S. Coast Guard has served in every war since 1790.

Foursquare Churches Join Fund Campaign

Lubbock Foursquare Gospel churches will join others throughout the nation today in a campaign to raise funds for a memorial college building to be dedicated to Aimee Semple McPherson. The building will be adjacent to Angelus Temple in Los Angeles.

The college, established as the College of L.I.F.E., is fully accredited with the state of California, and will be a free-tuition school for full ministerial students. The proposed building will house a new radio station, class rooms, dormitories for resident students, cafeteria, and aid stations for the needy.

In charge of Lubbock's part in the memorial campaign are the two pastors of the churches here, Mrs. Daisy Wiltbanks, pastor of the First Foursquare church at 802 Ave. Q, and Rev. Sidney Westbrook, pastor of the Foursquare Chapel at Seventeenth and Ave G. They represent a total of 250 members of the church.

Production Practices Must Be Reported By Aug. 14, Wells Says

All farm operators are reminded that production practices carried out between Jan. 1 and July 21, 1945, must be reported by Aug. 15, Walter Y. Wells, secretary of the Lubbock County Agricultural Conservation association, said Tuesday.

Some of the soil building practices for which payment will be made and which probably have been carried out are strip cropping on the contour, protecting summer fallowed acreage, contour listing or contour farming row crops, contour seeding drilled crops, establishing green manure or cover crops, application of superphosphate, building standard terraces, or several other practices that are applicable to this area.

"This is the first year that there has been a closing date this early for reporting the practices carried out so we want every farm operator to be sure to report all practices carried out before the closing date," Wells said. The reports may be made at the County AAA office at any time or the community committeemen will be in each of the 12 communities on August 10 and 11 to accept the reports.

Engineers found wooden frame buildings standing amidst the rubble of stone, concrete and steel structures during the 1941 blitz of London.

Lubbock Legion Nine Leaves Today For State Playoffs

Riding the crest of a six game winning streak, and a season's record of eleven wins and four losses, the Lubbock American Legion baseball nine will leave this morning for Austin to play in the state American Legion playoffs, opening Thursday night.

The Lubbock nine will play the second game Thursday, facing Waco in the first test. Adamson of Dallas and Laredo play in the opening game. On Friday, the losers of Thursday night play the first game, and the winners play the second, eliminating the loser of the first game from the race.

Finals On Sunday

The tournament will continue through Sunday, with the championship game to be played in the afternoon

The state winner will come back to Austin for the four-state regional tournament Aug. 14-17. This meet will bring together the top teams from Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Most of the hopes of Lubbock's nine will depend on the right arm of Bob Galey, the fireball ace of the team's pitching staff. But two other members of the mound corps are pretty sure to see plenty of action after reaching Austin.

Jack Vaughn and Charles Presley are likely to have a lot to say in regards to what kind of pitching the Lubbock team will get. Vaughn will be one of the starters, but Presley's role is expected to be strictly that of a relief chunker.

Laredo Is Favored

A new champion is sure to be crowned, and the pre-tournament favorite will be the team that knocked off the defending champions in district play—the Laredo All-Stars.

Laredo knocked off the Austin Buddies in the district race, then went on to the region to beat the Houston Mustangs in a decisive manner. Laredo is tooting the horn of its star chunker, Simon Luna, and fans down along the Rio Grande claim that Luna will be the master of the tournament.

Only two of the four teams that played in last year's state tournament will be back for an encore. These teams will be the Waco and Lubbock nines. But they were the "weak sisters" of the tournament last year.

Lubbock defeated Waco last year in a battle for third place honors in a field of four.

But both these teams are due to be a lot rougher this season, and both have impressive records. The Waco club showed real championship form in winning its regional title over Tyler.

After being beaten by the boys from the piney woods in the first game of the playoff, Waco bounded back to win the title with a double header victory at Waco.

The Dallas entry, Adamson High school's baseball nine, was rated as one of the greatest in the history of the high school race in Dallas, where fast baseball has been played for years.

Adamson's victory over a highly rated Sulphur Springs club, with one of the highest ranked pitchers in the state, certainly puts the Dallas nine in the upper bracket of title threats at the state tournament.

The growth of junior baseball throughout Texas has given the state tournament a layout of teams that indicate the fastest state tournament in the history of the sport. Every team has been given a chance to play a lot of baseball, and obtain polish to their play. Any of the four survivors could not be classed as an upset should they win the state title.

Lubbock's feat of rolling over Amarillo, Morton, Hedley, Lamesa, Wichita Falls and San Angelo in succession indicates that the team will enter the state tournament at its seasons peak.

TOUR PLANS IN MAKING

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) — Comdr. George Malas is drawing up detailed plans for a 90-day tour of advanced Pacific bases by next fall's World Series winner, the Navy disclosed today.

Laredo Boasts Of Mound Ace

LAREDO, July 31 (AP) — "That's all, brother," is Laredo's chant when Simon Luna strides out to the mound.

This 15-year-old is the pitchingest guy to come along down here in many a day.

He put Laredo into the state American Legion junior baseball tournament and the way they have things scheduled at Austin he'll more than likely have his team in the National play-off after next Sunday. Laredo won't play more than one game a day, so Simon probably can pitch them all.

Luna won 17 games and lost only one during the season while hurling for the Laredo Rotary Club team, his major feat being to take two district and two division games to shove his nine into the Austin meet where Laredo will play against Adamson (Dallas), Lubbock and Waco.

Without Luna Laredo hasn't been very tough.

Luna, a good hitter as well as pitcher and as cool under fire out there on the mound as a big leaguer, also is a strike-out artist. He has averaged 11 per game. One time he fanned 18 opposing batters.

Joyce, Larkin Take Spotlight Of Ring

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP) — Willie Joyce and Tippy Larkin took over the week's boxing limelight today as the fuss over Mel Cestac's first U. S. fight fizzled out.

Cestac, hailed as the new Bull of the Pampas, fought John Thomas at Madison Square Garden last Friday. He first was announced as the winner but a few minutes later was declared the loser when Referee Lou Magnolia asserted he had made a mistake.

Max Waxman, manager of the Argentine heavyweight, was in a fine rage after the fight, but today declared "I take back everything I said. It was in the heat of the moment and since then I've decided I don't need a lawyer."

Cestac's next fight, Waxman said, will be against Big Boy Baker at Worcester, Mass., on Aug. 17.

Meantime, Joyce and Larkin went through their training grind for their 10-round bout at the Garden on Friday. Joyce, a Gary, Ind., lightweight and his trainer, Lou Gross of Chicago, seek their fourth straight win at the Eighth Avenue arena while Larkin, a Garfield, N. J., welter, is making his first Garden appearance after a long layoff.

Texas League Calls Meeting For Sept. 1

DALLAS, July 31 (AP) — The Texas League is expected to hold its reorganization meeting Sept. 1 to map plans for resuming baseball operations in 1946.

President J. Alvin Gardner said today he had sent out a tentative call for a meeting in Dallas on that date and that if more than one day is required the session will be carried over into Sept. 2.

Gardner already has replies from six of the eight clubs saying they are ready to start up again after being out three seasons. The St. Louis Cardinals, owners of the Houston franchise, and the St. Louis Browns, owners of the San Antonio club, are the ones that have not replied. But Gardner says thus far they have not offered any discouragement to a meeting.

Giants, Braves Split Twin Bill

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP)—The Boston Braves scored five runs in the 13th inning for new Manager Del Bissonette today to take the second half of a doubleheader from New York, 9-4, snapping a losing streak that was stretched to 10 straight when the Giants took the opener 4-3.

Mel Ott threw 22 players into the second fray and almost pulled it out of the fire, scoring twice in the last of the ninth to tie with the help of an error by catcher Stew Hofferth.

In the fourth overtime the Braves loaded the sacks on a walk to Dick Culler, a single by Whitey Weitelmann and a pass to Tommy Holmes. Andy Hansen, replaced Rube Fischer for the Giants and walked Vince Shupe, forcing in the tie-breaking talley. A wild peg by catcher Clyde Kluttz attempting to complete a double play let two men score, Carden Gillenwater's fly batted home a fourth and Chuck Workman unloaded his second homer of the game into the right field stands to make it unanimous.

Don Hendrickson, who had replaced Bill Lee in the 12th received credit for the victory and Fischer was charged with the loss.

Mort Cooper suffered his second setback of the season to nine victories in the opener when he walked three men in a row in the last of the ninth with two out, forcing in Billy Jurges who had opened the frame with a single. Phil Weintraub then singled to left to break up the ball game.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 31 (AP)—Bernard (Tut) Bartzen of San Angelo, Tex., swept through the second round of the National Junior tennis championships at Kalamazoo college today, beating Jack Thommen of Minneapolis, 6-2, 6-0.

Bartzen is the favorite.

One-fourth of the workers in the United States are engaged in lines of service that were unknown 35 years ago.

Ferriss Is Victim Of Yank Jinx Again

BOSTON, July 31 (AP) — Dave Ferriss' jinx team—the New York Yankees—beat him again today, 4 to 2 in 10-innings.

A banner weekday crowd of 22,477 turned out to watch the sensational rookie right hander try for his 18th victory of the season, but instead saw him lost his fourth game and his third at the hands of the Bronx Bombers.

Walt Dubiel, who beat Ferriss earlier in the season in Fenway park, again shaded the freshman flipper although he yielded two hits to Dave.

Ferriss, who now has lost two in a row, failed primarily because he couldn't stop Tuck Stainback. The Yankee outfielder got four hits in five times at bat. His fourth bingle, a single down the first base line in the 10th scored Hershel Martin from second with the winning run. The Yanks added another before the inning was over, but it wasn't necessary.

Shirley Fry Upset By California Girl

WILMINGTON, Del., July 31 (AP) Barbara Krase, unseeded entry from San Francisco, Calif., rallied twice today for an upset victory over Shirley Fry of Akron, O., National Junior girls champion who is seeded eighth nationally, in the second round of the Delaware State Women's Grass Court tennis championships.

In other matches Margaret Varner, El Paso, Tex., defeated Lillian Lopaus, City Island, N. Y., 6-1, 12-10.

ABC Nine Cops High Scoring Duel, 22-7

American Business club batsmen drew 24 walks from five Rotary hurlers Tuesday afternoon to remain undefeated in the American league with the resulting 22-7 victory.

After shutting out the ABC's in the first frame, the Rotary nine pushed a run across in their half of the first. ABC equalled the tally with one of their own in the second. Rotary took a 2-1 lead in their turn at bat.

It was then that the game went hay-wire. A hit, an error, and twelve walks went for 11 runs as 18 ABC batters paraded before the plate. Six runs were forced across the plate by walks. Tommy Lynch relieved Jack McCabe on the mound in the third, but was unable to get the fire out immediately.

Rotary used a hurler in every frame thereafter: Hise, Maner, and English following Lynch. Tatum relieved York on the mound for the ABC's in the fifth, finishing the contest easily. The contest was called at the end of the sixth on account of darkness.

The line score:

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| ABC | 0 | 1 | 11 | 5 | 0 | 5 | — | 22 | 4 |
| Rotary | 1 | 1 | 2 | 3 | 0 | 0 | — | 7 | 6 |

Edwards, MPs Win Openers

Blue Bonnet laundry, the softball team that set the pace over the full route of the regular season, was the victim of the first major upset in the Shaughnessy playoff series for the city softball league championship Tuesday afternoon at the Thirty-second and Adams street diamond.

Scoring their runs in pairs, Edwards Grocery nosed out the Laundrymen, 6 to 5, in the opening game. In the nightcap, the Lubbock Army Air field MPs slammed out a 12-7 victory over Cummings Food Market in a game that ran true to form.

The opening game was a thriller, and close all the way. Edwards broke loose with a two-run outbreak in the first, and added two more in the second inning.

Blue Bonnet scored once in the first, then rallied in the third to push across three runs and tie the score.

But there Maloney tightened down from the mound, and blanked the Blue Hatters until the seventh, while the Grocers pushed over another pair in the fifth. Blue Bonnet rallied in the seventh, but Maloney snuffed out the rally while still one run short of a tie.

Littrell, the Blue Bonnet ace who was unbeaten in the league, was the victim of the upset yesterday.

Five Inning Nightcap

The second game was cut short to five innings because of darkness, but found the MPs hitting the ball in the lively fashion that had sparked a 19-game winning streak earlier in the season.

The MPs turned loose a heavy barrage early in the ball game, scoring freely until a 12-0 lead had been piled up, half of these scored in a big second inning assault

Henderson blanked Cummings for three innings, then was the victim of a six-run deluge in the fourth when the Marketmen started a wild comeback drive. Another was pushed over in the seventh, but darkness curtailed the game.

W. Sage and H. Sage made up the battery for the losers.

The playoff will move into the second round this afternoon, with Blue Ponnet playing Cummings Food Market in the opening round of a twin bill. In the second game, Edwards and the MPs tangle. The loser of the first game will be out of the runnings, the winner of the second game will roll into the finals.

The world's southernmost city is Punta Arenas, Chile, located in the southern end of the country.

Reports Called "Infamous Lie"

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) — Brig. Gen. Elliott Roosevelt tonight declared that he alone was responsible for his "business affairs" and that any statement that the late President Roosevelt helped him promote them, is "a deliberate, infamous lie."

The late president's son issued a statement denouncing what he termed "falsehoods, half-truths and sly implications" about his business transactions.

The House Ways and Means committee has been investigating a report that he borrowed $200,000 from John Hartford, president of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, in 1939 to finance a Texas radio venture; that the debt later was settled for $4,000 and that Hartford listed the remainder as a bad debt deduction in his 1942 income tax return.

Westbrook Pegler, columnist, had said there was "no doubt that President Roosevelt knew of the loan and approved it."

Gen. Roosevelt is retiring from active duty Aug. 15. In his statement tonight, he explained that his application for inactive status was filed three days after V-E day because the Army had no combat assignment for him in the Pacific and "I certainly have no desire to finish out the war as an arm-chair general."

His statement, issued by his attorney, Randolph Paul, former general counsel of the Treasury, follows:

"I have been advised that the Army will place me on inactive duty on August 15. My application for this status was submitted on May 11—three days after V-E day—because the Army was unable to give me a combat assignment against the Japs, even though I wished such duty at any rank.

"I wanted to take part in the fighting against Japan. Above all else, I still want to do so, but the Army has no assignment for a reconnaissance officer of my qualifications. I have neither the background nor the training for a non-combat assignment, and I certainly have no desire to finish out the war as an arm-chair general.

"Before the Army took action with respect to my status, it was inappropriate for me to make any statement with respect to the pernicious charges and lies which have been published concerning me by a small segment of the press.

"These falsehoods have not even been confined to me personally. I know that any efforts put forth in this hate campaign will have no effect whatsoever on the public judgment of Franklin D. Roosevelt's service to his country. I believe, though, that those millions who loved and respected him have the right to know that Franklin D. Roosevelt never promoted or assisted my personal business affairs.

"Any statement that he ever did so is a deliberate, infamous lie. I conducted my own business affairs. The responsibility for them was and still is mine and mine alone.

"False statements have been made as to my willingness to cooperate with the government in any investigation of my acts. The House Ways and Means committee and the Senate Finance committee have charged the Treasury department with making a complete investigation into my business affairs.

"This investigation is now going on. My cooperation with that investigation has been wholehearted. I have asked the Treasury to make public all of the facts, without reservation, at the earliest possible moment. I have nothing to conceal. The facts will speak for themselves.

"I am entitled to a full public statement of those facts for the sake of my family. These facts will be their own answer to the falsehoods, half-truths and sly implications of that small, irresponsible section of the press which does not hesitate to violate the truth. Until these facts are disclosed my own request is that any charges concerning my affairs should be confined to me, and that no further attempt be made to smear a man who can't talk back."

Davis Gives $50,000 For Polio Hospital

FORT WORTH, July 31 (AP)—Kenneth W. Davis, Fort Worth oil well supply head, today donated $50,000 to the Gonzales Warm Springs foundation for crippled children on the condition that local citizens contribute the rest of the money needed to erect a $100,000 hospital unit at the foundation to care for Fort Worth children who are infantile paralysis victims.

The campaign for funds in Fort Worth began at a meeting yesterday of the local sponsoring committee. A total of $12,500 was subscribed. The committee hopes to attain the $100,000 goal within thirty days.

POSTMASTER KILLED

DEL RIO, July 31 (AP)—Harold T. Todd, 48, postmaster at Langtry, was killed instantly today when he fell from the tower of the windcharger at his Langtry store.

Legless Vet Sues For Divorce, Asks $50,000 Damages

CHICAGO, July 31 (AP)—Cpl. Stanley Heck, 30-year-old infantryman who lost both of his legs in Germany in a mine explosion and who may lose his left arm by amputation, today filed suit for divorce and asked $50,000 damages for the alleged theft of his wife's love.

From his bed in McCloskey hospital at Temple, Tex., Heck, through his attorney, Thomas A. Green, charged his wife, Henrietta, 26, of Chicago, with desertion and adultry. He further charged that Alvin Schupp, 49, also of Chicago, "by subterfuge and contrivance" overcame Mrs. Heck's love for him. The suit asks $50,000 damages for loss of his wife's affections.

Heck, who entered service July 1, 1943, wears the Purple Heart, Oak Leaf cluster and five battle stars, Attorney Green said. While laying communications lines in Germany, both his legs were blown off and his left arm was badly shattered.

Trial Of Petain

case operations against the Allies. Neither Darlan nor the American Army ever has publicly acknowledged that such a telegram was received.

Weygand Takes Blame

Weygand, terrier-like and whirling from one questioner to another, assumed the full responsibility for the Franco-German armistice with the statement that he was not in collusion with Petain. He waved his cane and answered with fiery precision as he faced a hostile jury.

The little former French commander was preceded to the witness stand by two members of the French consultative assembly.

The first, Marcel Paul, a member of the French underground during the Nazi occupation, placed the blame for the cruelty of the Vichy police on Petain himself. "The French people feared the Vichy police 10 times more than they feared the German Gestapo," he said.

Six Die In Buchenwald

Six French generals, Paul alleged, died in Buchenwald prison camp in "most atrocious circumstances." Three of them, he said, were arrested on orders from Vichy. "These dead demand justice," he cried.

The second assemblyman, Paul Arrighi, called by the court to describe the impressions of the "ordinary Frenchman" during the Nazi occupation, declared the French had been "stupified" when the French Army stopped fighting.

Weygand was limping when he entered the courtroom. Waving his cane, he launched into a defense of the patriotism of both Petain and himself, demanding to know "when could we have plotted to overthrow the government?" and declaring "nobody has any right to give me lessons in honor."

Armistice Suggestion

Weygand charged that French President Albert Le Brun was the first to make a definite armistice suggestion at a war council meeting May 25, when King Leopold of the Belgians surrendered, asking if it would not be better to obtain peace conditions before the French armies were destroyed. "I was not thinking of armistice at that time," he added.

On May 29, he declared, Raynaud informed him of a plan to withdraw into the "Brittany redoubt and then to North Africa."

Again, he said, the supreme war council was called and Prime Minister Churchill of Britain attended. Churchill, he asserted, expressed admiration for French resistance and praised his military operations. But, he went on, "Churchill realized, although nothing was said, that we had reached the limit of our ability to resist."

by 1,500 carrier planes disclosed that his British partners were ferreting out the remnants of the enemy fleet taking refuge on the west coast.

His communique reported that British planes Monday damaged three destroyers, four destroyer escorts and 12 cargo ships, most of them in the west coast base of Maizuru, 240 miles west of Tokyo.

The Japanese said the raids thundered on from dawn to dusk, that 1,350 of the attackers came from 14 aircraft carriers, and that 250 land-based fighters—possibly from Iwo Jima—joined the assaults.

Mrs. Fleming Dies At Tahoka Tuesday

one and will take part over portions of the entire field. One of the highlights will be the area at the south end of the field where visitors may listen in on the ground to plane radio conversations. Also in that area will be a fire rescue and control demonstration and a demonstration of some of the same type bombs being dropped on Japan and a chemical warfare demonstration.

Among the many other highlights of the day's program will be a special Memorial Service for all AAF personnel who had died in this war in ceremonies at noon at the Post Chapel, a parachute demonstration, a demonstration of the post sanitation unit, the hospital convalescent training unit, the Link Trainer building, the WAC barracks, the mess hall for student officers, a special retreat ceremony and many other features.

At the same time the routine training mission of the field will continue throughout the day as combat veterans go through their paces over the field in the mission of training for the task of flying the men and materials in the Army's vast plan of redeployment to help speed the war against the Japanese homeland.

Perhaps one of the most interesting sights around Lubbock is the mass of hundreds of war-weary B-17's parked at SPAAF. Row upon row, they stand in the blistering sun, protected from rot and decay by a process known as "pickling."

One Of Four Fields

SPAAF is one of four fields in the Air Technical Service command used for the type "B" storage of aircraft—aircraft placed in indefinite temporary storage or "strategic reserve." 'Pickling" is the method of preserving these ships for future use, not unlike the familiar kitchen "pickling" of cucumbers, beets, and other foodstuffs, but on a much larger scale. The process of preserving just one airplane require one hundred and twenty man-hours, and certain parts of the plane must be re-processed every 90 days — a task requiring almost the same number of man-hours. Thus when one considers the number of planes moored at the field and the time it takes to "pickle" one ship, one can, in some measure, appreciate the job being performed by the personnel at SPAAF.

When an airplane arrives at SPAAF, it is first given a thorough "condition" inspection to determine whether or not the ship is economically repairable. Those which pass the examination are repaired, "pickled," and placed in type "B" storage; others not considered repair-worthy are weeded out, stripped of all critical items, and turned over to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for salvage. The amount of battle damage is the main factor in determining whether or not a ship is worthy of repair.

Equipment Is Removed

The first step in the preserving process is the removal of guns, ammunition, pyrotechnics, photo equipment, bombsights, and secret equipment. Items subject to mildew, such as life rafts and parachutes, must also be removed. All equipment taken from the ship is tagged with the plane's serial number and stored in supply warehouses.

After the removal of the aforementioned items, the plane is thoroughly washed and cleaned, inside and out. It is now ready for the engine "pickling." This consists of treating the oil system with a corrosion-preventive mixture, and covering exposed metallic parts with a rust-preventive compound. The coolant, fuel, lubricating, hydraulic, and oxygen systems are checked for leaks, and the proper fluid levels are maintained. Each 90 days the engines must again be prepared for service and run for one-half hour to check anything which might have gone wrong during the three-month storage period. They are then re-processed into storage.

The last items to be processed are the landing gear and wheel and tire assemblies. Shock struts are checked and serviced with the proper fluid, and the wheels and tires, removed and cleaned. Brake drums receive a special treatment, and the tires are coated with a rubber dressing before they are replaced.

When all this has been completed, the airplane is towed to a designated spot on the field and securely moored. There it rests, stately and serene, protected from the elements by the "pickling" process; awaiting the day when it may be recalled into service.

IT'S A PIPE TO HAVE FUN — Boatswain's Mate 2/C Charles Bassett of the Coast Guard pipes in the traditional manner to the delight of the young son of T/Sgt. and Mrs. Karl Alberti, of Weirton, W. Va. Picture was made aboard the transport on which the youngster returned to the U. S. from China-Burma-India theater where father has been stationed.

Another Polio Case In Hospital Here

Another addition to the list of poliomyelitis victims in Lubbock hospitals was made Tuesday afternoon when 8-year-old Lonnie Howard of Kermit was admitted to Lubbock General hospital.

Condition of the child, whose shoulders, arms, legs and foot are affected by the dread disease, was satisfactory late last night, according to hospital attendants.

Another poliomyelitis victim in Lubbock General hospital, Joyce Page, 16, was reported to be "resting well."

It was reported, at least two more polio victims were en route to Lubbock hospitals Tuesday night.

FEAF planes hit three airfields in the Kyushu raids. The heaviest blow was against mile-square Omura airstrip in west central Kyushu. More than 100 Mitchells and Thunderbolts left immense fires in hangars and shops. P-61s set fires at Byu and Chiran airfields in southwest Kyushu. One of four Mitchells was lost in strikes against radio stations and lighthouses on the southern Kyushu coast.

Three FEAF planes were lost in raids on Japan.

ARMY TRUCKS PICK UP CHILDREN AT PARKS

Beginning at 8:30 this morning Army trucks from Lubbock Army Air field will make the rounds of city parks to transport children to the open house at LAAF today in observance of Army Air forces day, the city recreation department announced last night.

Trucks will stop at Burns park at 8:30, move to the wading pool at Mackenzie State park at 8:45, stop at Pioneer park at 9 o'clock, pick up children at Carlisle park at 9:15, move on to Wagner park at 9:30 and then to the base. A truck, separate from the other group, will be at Booker T. Washington park at 9 o'clock.

The children will be delivered back between 12 noon and 1 p.m. in the reverse order in which they are picked up. A. C. Hamilton, director of the city recreation department, said that the children will be conducted through the base in a croup, and that they will be delivered back to the starting point with no schedule made for lunch. He said those who wish to eat could bring money or wait until they return to the city.

Cong O Dong E Of Quincy Discovered; Bobby-Sox Dismal

QUINCY, Ill., July 31. (AP)—The Quincy bobby-sox set was mong a dong tonight, their cong o dong e no longer is a secret.

Which means the kids in the blue jeans and brothers' shirts are miffed because their modern version of pig latin doesn't conceal their positively delirious conversation from nosy elders.

When "icky," "hepcat," "jive" and "alligator" became perfectly intelligible to outsiders, the set seized upon a new system of gab to puzzle the "squares." They added "ong" to consonants and spelled out the words thus:

Jong e rong kong—Jerk; tong oo tong song—toots; dong rong oo long yong—drooly; song hong a rong pong—sharp; song o long I dong—solid.

The kids had kicked the ong around over cokes and above the wail of juke boxes for weeks while parents wondered what was wong rong o nong gong. Then the alert Herald-whig spilled the bong e a nong song (beans), in an explanatory article.

Now everything's absolutely dismal.

Army Releasing Railroad Men

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) — The War department announced tonight it is expediting release of former railroad men from the Army and making available enough planes and pilots to fly 25,000 troops monthly across the country.

Acting Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson said the two measures were "intended to relieve the pressure on the nation's railroads in connection with the redeployment of American troops."

The department said 1,362 men with railroad experience will be released from military service in Europe by Aug. 10 for return to this country and separation from the Army.

2,063 More Asked

General Dwight D. Eisenhower has been asked to establish a priority for the return of another 2,063 in railway operating and shop battalions in Europe.

An additional 6,000 railroad men are scheduled to leave Europe in September, October, November and December, but it is not known how many will be eligible for prompt discharge under the point system.

"The Army Air forces," the department said, "will make available enough Army planes and pilots for flight operations in this country to move 25,000 soldiers a month across the United States. This operation will be carried on by commercial airlines under contract with the Army, in the same manner as the air movement of military personnel overseas by the Air Transport command."

Both the release of former railroad men and the new air troop movement program were approved by John W. Snyder, director of war mobilization and reconversion, and J. Monroe Johnson, director of defense transportation, with whom Patterson conferred earlier.

Redeployment Of Troops In Europe

PARIS, July 31. (AP)—Today's redeployment table:

Ninth Army headquarters: On the high seas with the first elements expected to arrive in the United States next weekend.

20th Armored division: On the high seas scheduled to begin reaching port in the middle of next week.

28th Infantry division: Advance party has arrived in America with the main body on the high seas, and expected to dock Aug. 6.

Equalization Board Sought

A. C. Jackson, business manager, was directed to secure three citizens to serve on a Board of Equalization and to confer with officials of the City of Lubbock toward co-operating in a tax equalization program.

At the nomination of Supt. R. W. Matthews, the board elected G. E. Dawson, previously director of distributive education, as book custodian and truant officer. Dawson will begin his new duties in September.

Resignations of 14 teachers were accepted upon recommendation of Supt. Matthews. These included: Misses Velma McCandless, Audie Johnson and Bettye Ewing; Mrs. Louise Crowe and L. H. Liston, all of Senior High; Misses Faye Coltharp and Pauline Morley; and Mrs. Pauline Patterson, all of Dupre; Mrs. Lavada Hunter and Miss Dorothy Weiss, of Junior High; Mrs. Imogene Anders, Central Ward; Mrs. Ben Smith, Bean; Miss Wilma Higgins, unassigned; Miss Bessie Mae Smiley, McWhorter. Also accepted was resignation of Miss Rosa Lee Wolverton, office employe.

Replacements Named

Fourteen new teachers were elected to fill the vacancies. Nominated by the superintendent, they are:

Earl R. Ray, to be band teacher at Junior and Senior High schools; Nolan Robnett, Junior and Senior High schools, agriculture; Miss Allene Whiteley and Mrs. Dorothy E. Mints both of Junior High; Mrs. Travia D. Weinbroer, K. Carter; Mmes. David Smith, and Betty Rahlfs, and Miss Annie Burgess all of Dupre; Mrs. Bettye L. Russell and Miss Nellie Wingren, both of McWhorter; Mmes. Lila Kinchen and W. L. Bradshaw, both of Senior High; Mrs. Oletta Beakley, Central Ward, and Mrs. Hortense Tanner, Bean.

Present at the regular monthly business meeting, held in school tax offices at 1007 Texas avenue, were Chairman Hutchison, Trustees R. F. Bayless, E. J. Parsons, H. L. Allen, Paul Hardwick and Chas. A. Guy; Matthews and Jackson.

FREE FOODS FOR CAMPS

SAGINAW, Mich., July 31. (AP) —Uncle Sam is going to offer free food this summer to non-profit camps and recreation centers for children. Through a plan evolved by the Commodity Credit Corp., the donations will stem from surplus food bought by the government and not needed for lend-lease, the armed forces or the government's price-support program. However, the food will not be distributed until the surpluses develop.

Seaplanes have been used successfully since 1911.

England's Future Role

Only Time Can Measure Effect

WHAT effect will the fall of the Churchill government have on the agreements reached at the Big Three Conference in Potsdam?

Will Clement R. Attlee, the new prime minister, carry out the pledges of Winston Churchill to prosecute the war against the Japanese vigorously?

What will be the eventual effect on world security?

These are the questions that hold the attention of millions of thinking persons today, as the world awaits Britain's answer. Some of the answers may not be long in coming.

In fact Attlee lost no time in pledging himself to give top priority to finishing the war with Japan. And there is good reason to believe that his leadership, ardently supported by Labor, may result in an intensification of the war against the Nipponese.

British Labor fully realizes the menace of a strong Japan and remembers the cut-throat competition that Japanese firms, manned by low-wage workers, gave organized labor a few years ago. Textile plants in England and America, unable to meet the strong competition, were forced to shut down, throwing many workers out of employment.

So aside from the fact that Japan is an enemy of the British and American way of life and has set out on a deliberate plan of world conquest, British Labor has a personal stake in the Pacific war.

The statement by Prof. Harold Laski, a leader of the Labor party, that the Attlee victory would make possible "full friendship with the Soviet Union and that the new government would be in a position to do 'full justice' to Spain, was another clear indication that closer cooperation with Russia would be courted.

This may mean a willingness to make certain concessions to Russia in Asia for her assistance in putting the finishing touches on the Japs. It may also mean a coordinated move to boot Franco off his roost in Spain.

It may even mean a willing acceptance of a Sovietized Europe. Certainly there is nothing cheering in the picture for either Franco or the London Polish government.

What the effects will be on the fate of King Leopold of Belgium or the kings of Yugoslavia, Greece and Albania remains to be seen. The chances are that the rise of the Labor government will not aid the European monarchies.

While any prediction at this time as to the possible effect on world security would be premature, the effectiveness of the United Nations Charter does not appear to be endangered. England is plainly tired of war and her war-leaders, but she has learned the hard way just how terrible war is and can be relied upon to carry on in behalf of a more secure world order.

Lubbock Looks Ahead

THE City commissioners and the City engineer are to be commended for the plans they are evolving for the development of new cross-city traffic routes to eliminate some of the congestion on Nineteenth.

Lubbock has outgrown some of her narrow streets and will need wider, improved highways when the new automobiles become available in large quantities again.

In addition to wider, evenly paved streets, which are a part of the forward-looking plan, the city should adopt a uniform system of stop signs. Such a system would eliminate the confusion that arises from the hit-and-miss arrangement of stop signs now in use.

Since it may be necessary for the city to condemn certain residential properties in the through streets, which the commission-order to obtain the right-of-way needed for ers proposed to widen, this move toward city improvement should receive the cooperation of every citizen.

Lubbock is growing up, and it is pleasing to see that its municipal officials are alert to the city's needs.

Believe It Or Not --- By Robert Ripley

We Flew Without Guns

By Gen Genovese

This is a true story of the men who fly the "hump" — carrying passengers and cargo over the high Himalayas between India and China. Pilots call it the toughest airline route in the world.

FIRED ON BY OUR OWN ANTI-AIRCRAFT

X

Whenever we flew gasoline we preferred to do it during daytime, although with other types of cargo it was sometimes safer, because of either weather or Jap activity, to make the trip at night. With gasoline, however, there were plenty of hazards without adding to them the certainty of having to make a instrument approach to the field.

The fields at both Dinjan and Kunming had no floodlights to assist in a night landing or take-off The blackouts at both fields were complete except for dim rows of green and red light that would be flashed on for an instant along the landing strips just before a plane's wheels touched the ground.

The reason for such precaution, of course, was to protect the fields from sneak attacks by Jap planes —and there were many such. Few of them, however, were very successful. There were two techniques most commonly used by the Japs, both of which depended for their effectiveness on the well-known fact that C. N. A. C. planes had frequent radio trouble and were at such times unable to contact the field prior to coming in for a landing. Also, because of the generally bad flying conditions, our planes often came into Kunming or Dinjan with one or both motors in faulty working condition. If both motors were in good shape the pilot could keep them perfectly synchronized, then the sound detectors at the base, which get an effective bearing on a multi-motored ship only if the engines are in synchronization, could exactly determine the plane's position.

A Japanese bomber, therefore, would come in high, above the clouds, with his motors out of synchronization. The ground crew at the base wouldn't know where the plane was because the detector couldn't get a bearing, and there would be no way of knowing until the plane came out of the clouds whether it was a friendly plane having both radio and motor trouble, or whether it was a Jap. If it were the latter, and his instrument approach was on the nose, the bombs would be dropping almost as soon as the plane appeared from out of the clouds. Fortunately, most of their instrument work was pretty sloppy and they would be under an anti-aircraft barrage with Army fighters swarming up to meet them before they were anywhere near.

At night the Japs had a special advantage. Keeping the motors in synchronization sometimes, and sometimes not, the bomber would come in toward the field with its landing lights on, just as if it were a C. N. A. C. plane whose radio wasn't working. The ship was identified, and by then, occasionally, it would be too late and the bombs would be falling. The searchlights on the ground were our best protection in cases like that, because as soon as they found the plane the gunners could see if the landing gear was up or down If it was up, they fired.

After delivering a load of gas to Kunming one day, I started on the return trip to Dinjan about 6 o'clock in the evening, figuring to get in a little before midnight and get a good night's sleep before heading back the next morning with another load. The return trip was rough. We found soft ice on the south route, and, heading up north hoping to get away from it, ran into clear ice —the kind that sticks in big chunks on the wings and propellers instead of conforming to the plane's surface. It was difficult to keep our altitude. The ice gathered on the propeller blades and distorted the rhythm of the motors. If the radio had been working I would have checked with the field about conditions farther south, but it had gone dead half an hour after the take-off.

The strain on the engines was terrific. It was impossible to keep them co-ordinated. A good hour before we got back to Dinjan the one on the left was beginning to foul. It would run good for a few minutes, then start to cough and sputter. By working on the carburetor control, for a few minutes I would get it back into adjustment. Then it would go bad again.

My approach to the field at Dinjan was good on the first try, but just as I was letting down the landing gear that left engine started to kick up again. I grabbed the carburetor control and started working on it, and then I heard Eddie Quinn, my co-pilot, let out a yell. A second later there was a terrific explosion. I realized we were being fired on by our own anti-aircraft batteries. I slammed the throttle forward and got the hell up out of there as fast as I could.

For half an hour we flew around in wide circles—well out of the guns' range — working on that motor, and when it finally seemed to be a fairly good shape we tried the landing again, frantically flashing our landing lights, dropping our gear, slowing our engine speed — doing everything but dropping notes out of the plane that we were good guys, friends, and wanted nothing but a quiet landing and a good night's sleep. We were so earnest about it that the over-zealous A.A. boys finally were convinced and we came in without further trouble.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

WHAT are we fighting for?

You have seen and heard many answers to this question, but I think the best answer is given by the fighting men themselves.

A war correspondent has just returned from a 30,000-mile voyage to the Pacific war theaters, and on his trip he interviewed thousands of American soldiers, sailors marines and aviators.

BRANDEIS

This is what these men told him they are fighting for:

For their home and a decent way of living.

For reasonable prosperity—just enough to provide for themselves and their families and to bring up their children to be happy, self-supporting, useful citizens.

For peace — the kind of peace that will make their homes secure and not force their children to go to war again.

Simple, isn't it?

There wasn't anything very heroic in these replies to the correspondent's question.

All the men wanted was to return to what they had left, only to have it more secure than when they left it.

Strange to say there was nothing said about freedom and liberty and dying for their country and heroics.

Those fighting men didn't go to die, they went out to live and to let others live.

And, by the way, most of the men complained that they were lonesome—lonesome for the very things for which they were fighting — their homes, their families, their jobs.

I do hope that those who are intrusted with the making of the peace will keep the wishes of our fighting men in mind.

I hope they will realize that the important issue is not power and boundaries and tariffs and money and oil, but homes and children and wives and mothers and men and jobs.

IT is too bad that we think and talk so much about millions and billions and continents and nations, and that by thinking and talking in wholesale terms we forget that each nation and each continent is made up of little villages and little people in big cities, each with his modest desires and his yearning for a little happiness.

I wish that our statesmen would remember that today's soldiers and sailors and flyers are yesterday's and tomorrow's farmers and clerks and salesmen and fathers and sons and sweethearts.

Peace can be manufactured in Potsdam or Yalta or Teheran or at a polished council table.

But there can be no eternal peace on earth unless it is securely anchored in the heart and in the home.

Charter's Real Test In Offing

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

ALTHOUGH President Truman achieved a landslide ratification of the United Nations Charter by the Senate, he has won only half the battle for all-out American participation in a world organization to preserve permanent peace and security. His key leaders on Capitol Hill know the difficulties which lie ahead, but they see no sense in publicizing them at this particular moment.

Isolationists and reservationists pocketed their objections during the debate on the charter itself because they knew they were licked. It is almost the same strategy which the 1920 "Battalion of Death" utilized in defeating the League of Nations covenant. They could not assail the noble and general purposes of document Woodrow Wilson brought back from Versailles.

TUCKER

It was not until they went into a huddle and former Sen. George Moses of New Hampshire discovered the implications of Article X, which gave the league jurisdiction over many domestic questions, that they dared to open fire on the pact itself.

In similar manner the enemies of the San Francisco agreement lay down a barrage on American commitments and abridgements of sovereignty which may be imposed by adherence to the charter.

It is possible that the United States may then be a member of the international organization as a result of Senate approval of the new covenant among the nations. But the implementing of our membership by congressional okay of any plan to use our military, naval and air forces to keep the peace will set the stage for a showdown debate. It is then that the isolationists hope to shine.

* * *

DELAY: To be an effective rather than a meaningless but idealistic declaration, the charter provides that the three great powers — the United States, Britain and Russia — organize and maintain a world gendarmerie designed to squelch local outbreaks that might develop into major wars.

It is understood that the U. S. is expected to provide about 60 per cent of the naval, military and aerial police power.

Agreements on allocation of policing strength remain to be negotiated. They must come before the Senate eventually. It is then that the isolationists, who have withheld their fire so far, will deliver their attack.

When these dice are down, they think that they can roll to a triumph. They also plan to delay a vote until they have taken their cause to the country, as Hiram Johnson, the late "Bill" Borah and Moses did 25 years ago.

The isolationist bloc has prepared three restricting reservations to the San Francisco pact. Its leaders planned to offer them during the debate on the charter itself, but decided to reserve them for the subsequent discussion of this country's contribution to the world police force.

* * *

RESERVATIONS: Here are the reservations which they will present, any one of which would make the United Nations organization about as stimulating as a Ladies' Aid society.

1. Limitation of employment of United States units outside the Western Hemisphere. That means simply an enlarged and expanded Monroe Doctrine.

2. A definite statement that Congress, not the President, shall determine when, where and how our military, naval and air forces shall be employed.

3. Assurance that the American representative on the Security Council of the United Nations cannot commit us to war without Congressional authorization.

Until these questions are settled by the Senate of the United States, the United Nations charter is only a pious prayer. And the American people have a right to know the facts about a question which concerns them and the next generation so deeply.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

FRANCE — the France of the Third Republic — is on trial as well as Petain.

For an American to understand the depth of the tragedy unfolded in Paris, he must probe into the personality of the 89 year old defendant and weigh the motives which made the one-time hero and his associates act as they did.

A high official of the provisional government who has just arrived in New York gives this insight into the case:

"Marshal of France" is more than military rank, he explains. It is all possible honors combined in one title, the highest award of merit in a nation conspicuous for its bestowal of stars and ribbons.

Because of his exalted position Petain is accused of having blinded many honest officers and civil servants who followed him instead of General de Gaulle because they sincerely believed that a Marshal of France could not betray the national cause.

LEMAN

Passive patriots could justify Petain's early dealings with the Nazis because they realized that Hitler's pistol was at his chest. But the marshal gave in to the enemy on every occasion. There never was a time that he refused to make concessions or revived his old battle cry, "They shall not pass."

When United States armies landed on French soil he ordered his troops to fire upon our men and there are many gold stars in America today as the result of this action. When Anglo-American forces were liberating France he warned that any Frenchman who aided us would be "guilty of dishonor and treachery" and even at that late hour announced that he desired a German victory.

His unwillingness to fight dates back to the last war. His experience in quelling mutinies after the Nivelle defeat apparently completely unnerved him. The lion of Verdun became a timid opportunist.

When he met Lloyd George after repeated refusals to start an offensive he remarked, "I suppose you think I can't fight."

"No," replied the British prime minister, "not with your record. But I am convinced that for some reason you can't fight."

* * *

SPLIT: Petain despised the shifty Pierre Laval but under Berlin pressure readmitted him to his government.

At their first interview Laval said, "I know you do not like me but you will admit that is better for me to serve under your direction than to have a German Gauleiter here in Vichy."

And thereafter French patriots were punished at the command — not of the Nazi enemy — but of a Marshal of France and a former premier. A recent checkup has been made of all French political prisoners sent to concentration camps; only 15 per cent were accounted for last week. The spirits of unnumbered dead brood over the Paris courtroom.

The trial brings into the light the strange dual alliance held by many Frenchmen. It thrusts into the open the question: Could one serve both Vichy and France?

An underground official told the writer an example of this double allegiance. Railroad trainmen were under Vichy yet they entered into an agreement with the Maquis not to interfere provided that the patriots tipped them off regarding sabotage plans. Thus the crews could desert their trains just before an accident.

The trainmen gave Resistance scouts daily tips on scheduled German troop movements into Italy and frequently "lost" crowbars, pickaxes and dynamite close by a spot selected for sabotage activities.

* * *

DISHONOR: The Vichy railroad director in the Bordeaux area discovered that his top lieutenant had false papers and was relaying to the British the movements of German U-boats from nearby bases. After confronting the patriot with the facts he let him alone for several days. Then he handed him over to the Gestapo.

Stokes Sees Reawakening Of New Dealism

British Election To Affect U. S.

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The thumping victory of the British Labor party is a shot in the arm for Progressive political forces in the United States.

Here, where parties are less tightly defined than in England, progressivism in its broad sense is not confined to one party, though it has worked almost entirely through one party for the last dozen years. It embraces New Dealers in the Democratic party, labor, many farmers, and some smaller businessmen. It includes elements in the Republican party, too, which lately have found more vocal and active leadership.

STOKES

The British election gave a fillup in all these. Particularly it served to lift from the doldrums the New Dealers and their Labor allies in the Democratic party. For it is no secret that they have become discouraged recently.

Congress Stands Pat

They thought they had chalked up quite an election triumph of their own last November. But it hasn't worked out that way. They discovered again that here, unlike in England, a victory at the White House is not always reflected in Congress.

This is due, among other reasons, to the Conservative shackles embodied in the Southern, or Right wing, of the Democratic party. This element is far more powerful in Congress than its numerical proportion justifies, or than it deserves. In recent years the Southern Right wing has been able to check-mate Progressive domestic legislation through a coalition with Conservative Republicans.

Beyond that, there has been a change in the White House, without an election.

NEW DEALERS and Progressives, including Labor, now are beginning to believe that the change was more than in form and figure, that it is bringing a shift toward Conservatism. This has come about in two ways.

It came in a positive way, through replacement of aggressive New Dealers with more practical administrators, either Conservative in inclination or distinctly middle-of-the-road. It came, in a negative way, through failure of the new President to prod Congress by appeals to the people over the head of Congress, which was an effective technique of the late President Roosevelt.

Do you recall "Fireside Chats?"

The New Dealers claim that the swing toward Conservatism in the administration, or what looks much like that, or what looks the majority of the people. They believe that, basically, the story is about the same that the British elections seemed to tell about the English people. That is, the mass of people here want still more change in the direction of the New Deal.

Social Legislation Popular?

The people want, the New Dealers say, more social legislation in the way of adequate unemployment benefits for the re-conversion period, some wage increases to keep up with the cost of living, expansion of the Social Security program, better and cheaper health and medical facilities, better housing, an expansion of the TVA idea as proposed for the Missouri River Valley system and other watersheds, and such protections in employment rights for minorities as envisaged in the FEPC.

The program, at that, is much more moderate than one championed by the British Labor party.

Yet Congress has dropped its domestic legislative program for a long recess.

PROGRESSIVES believe that the English election may have some influence with President Truman and with Congress. They will certainly continue to emphasize them, as they have already, for such effect.

The Progressives point out that this country went Conservative, really Conservative, after the last war, and the results, in the end, were none too happy. Nor do they see how a too Conservative approach to the tremendous postwar problems can solve them here any more than in England.

How firmly the pattern of the Truman administration is set is not clear yet. But there is one lesson that the Progressive forces in this country may learn from the British election, facing at least the prospects of Conservatism both in Congress and the White House. This is, that they had better get out and work themselves, not depending any longer upon a smile from the throne.

A lot of work, over the years, went into British Labor party's victory.

Potsdam Radio Studio Guarded To Prevent "Big Three" Scoop

NEW YORK, July 31.—Armed officers have taken up a guard over the broadcasting studio at Potsdam to prevent premature disclosure of the end of the Big Three conference, the American Broadcasting company reported today.

Its correspondent, Donald Coe, said:

"Indicative of the tightened censorship operations was the presence in the attic studio, used by all British and American broadcasters, of an armed Army officer directed to assure that broadcasters adhere to previously censored scripts."

PIMPLES Disappeared Overnight

Blackheads, Too, Went Fast

Yes, it is true, there is a safe, harmless, medicated liquid called KLEEREX that dries up pimples overnight as it acts to loosen and remove ugly blackheads. Those who followed simple directions and applied Kleerex upon retiring were amazingly surprised when they found their pimples and blackheads had disappeared. These users enthusiastically praise Kleerex and claim they are no longer embarrassed and are now happy with their clear complexions. Use Kleerex. If one application does not satisfy, you get double your money back. Ask for Kleerex today, sure.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.

Public Would Approve $20,000,000 Federal Grant

Cancer Study, Well Financed, Urged By American People, Gallup Survey Shows

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—The American public would favor a Congressional appropriation of a $200,-000,000 fund for the study and treatment of the disease which ranks second only to heart trouble as a cause of death — cancer. Three out of four Americans say they are willing to pay more taxes to provide this money.

GALLUP

In 1942, 163,000 people died of cancer. To combat the disease the Cancer society in its drive for funds succeeded in collecting approximately $4,000,000 this year. The cancer group points out that the March-of-Dimes drive collected about four times that amount for the study and treatment of the baffling disease of infantile paralysis.

To see how far the public might be willing to go in having official government subsidization of cancer study and control the Institute questioned men and women from coast to coast on the following issues:

"Should Congress pass a law would provide 200 million dollars for the study and treatment of cancer in this country?"

The vote:

|---|---|
| Yes | 81% |
| No | 10 |
| No Opinion | 9 |

"Would you be willing to pay more taxes to provide the money?"

The vote:

|---|---|
| Yes | 75% |
| No | 20 |
| No Opinion | 5 |

Studies by the Institute have shown that the American public still has a good many misconceptions and false notions about cancer, indicating the need for continuous education campaigns.

One-fifth of the adult population has the mistaken idea that cancer is contagious or "catching" like some bacterial disease. Fewer than half the adult population say they know any of the signs or symptoms of the disease.

There are also many weird misconceptions as to the cause of cancer.

As collected in Institute surveys these guesses about the cause of cancer include: too much salt, eating raw pork, mental attitudes, horse bite, fungus growth, cooking food in porcelain pots, a stage of leprosy, small peas eaten from tin cans, gold teeth, eating seeds, elements in the air, and "badness coming out in you."

Angora Raisers To Hold Kerrville Show

KERRVILLE, July 30. (AP)—The silver anniversary show of the Texas Angora Raisers' association will open here Thursday and the sales will last through Friday and Saturday.

Nearly 400 registered bucks and nannies will compete for prizes and it was reported the greater part of them will be offered for sale.

At the sale held here last year 253 head of angoras were sold at an average of $55.73. Of this year's entries, 150 are listed as show animals and 250 as sales goats.

The annual membership meeting of the association will be held Friday night when officers will be elected.

VICTIM IS IDENTIFIED

CLINTON, Okla., July 31. (AP)—The Navy today identified the pilot killed in the crash of his Clinton naval air station training plane near Elk City, Okla., last Thursday as Ensign Clifford F. Wick of south Hempstead, Long Island, N. Y. Another naval flier escaped with minor injuries.

PRICE TRENDS ERRATIC

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP)—The stock market today stepped out of a losing month with asserted favorites leaning toward recovery while many leaders continued to exhibit notable rising reluctance. Transfers of 870,000 shares compared with 910,000 Monday.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .4 of a point at 64.7 but on the month showed a loss of 1.6 points.

Better performers included Bethlehem, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, Electric Power and Light (reflecting revival of recapitalization optimism), Du Pont, Canadian Pacific and Eastman Kodak.

On the offside were Chrysler, Packard, Willys-Overland, N. Y. Central, Southern Railway, Texas Co., Boeing, U. S. Gypsum and United Aircraft.

U. S. Stel finished up and, after the close, directors voted th eusual $1 dividend.

Cotton . .

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP)—Cotton futures drifted through a quiet session today as light hedging and tired long liquidation met indifferent trade buying. Final prices were 5 cents a bale higher to 35 cents lower.

Announcement by the Commodity Credit corporation that its August selling price for cotton will be 23.12 cents for middling 15-16ths-inch at Memphis was in line with trade expectations. However, it is expected that the trade will bid heavily for the more desirable grade in the government stockpile when additional offerings are made available next Tuesday. Private crop reports were pessimistic.

Simpson's Successor Is Veteran Observer Of Far East, Jap Mind

By RICHARD TOMPKINS
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK, July 31—James D. White, Associated Press correspondent who has covered Japanese expansion moves in the Far East since 1936, today takes over the daily column, "Interpreting the War News," for the Morning Avalanche.

He succeeds Kirke L. Simpson who is retiring from active AP service, after 37 years as a reporter, columnist and news analyst.

White's experience qualifies him as an authority not only on the Far East but on the Japanese mind.

In Shanghai In 1941

He was in Shanghai at the time of Pearl Harbor. Japanese gendarmerie, who arrested most of the other correspondents, did not molest White; not only that, he says, "I was able to heckle Japanese officers I knew into bringing my wife back into Shanghai so we could be repatriated on the first voyage of the Gripsholm."

(Mrs. White, who was born in China, was then en route to the U. S.; via Manila and had been interned at Santo Tomas camp.)

In May 1941, when White was returning to China from leave in this country, a friend asked him how soon the U. S. would be at war with Japan.

"I guessed six months," he recalls, "and didn't believe it myself."

When Will They Quit?

In 1942, White predicted that "the Japanese will fold up when enough of them realize what they've got themselves into."

On a visit to Japan sometime earlier, White "learned that the Japanese at home are not so tough, but a Japanese in uniform is the same anywhere."

White first went to China in 1932 on an exchange fellowship from the University of Missouri, when he was graduated in journalism, to Yenching university.

Married At Peiping

It was in Peiping that he met his wife, Jennifer, born of a Chinese father and a Scotch mother. They were married in Peiping in 1934.

White was the first correspondent on the scene when the Sino-Japanese hostilities began at the Marco Polo bridge July 7, 1937. He covered the Japanese conquest of North China and dodged shells on the Soviet border when the Japanese started fighting the Red Army in 1938.

After a month's fighting against the Russians, recalls White, the Japanese were glad to call quits.

OPA Studies Closing Of Lubbock Offices

DALLAS, July 31. (AP)—A study of district OPA offices with a view to possible closing of those in areas where price and reconstruction problems are the least prevalent was announced today by William A. Orth, Regional OPA Administrator.

Orth said fewer funds and a new policy of emphasis on enforcement and reconstruction operations were forces behind the survey.

The OPA district office at Tulsa will be closed Aug. 18, Orth said, and its functions transferred to the Oklahoma City office. Other district offices under study are those at Lubbock, and Shreveport, La.

Orth said results of the study would be forwarded to Washington where the decision on offices to be closed would be made.

OFFICE HERE ALREADY ANNOUNCED AS CLOSING

This information brought confusion as to status of the Lubbock OPA district office, since officials of the office here had announced Monday the district office here would be abolished, effective about Sept. 15.

The U. S. Civil Aeronautics Administration is proposing a set of standards for postwar aircraft based on strength, stability, and controllability in handling.

Essair Service To Start Today

An Essair airliner will land at 8:14 o'clock this morning at Municipal airport—marking the beginning of operations of the second airline through Lubbock.

The plane will fly here from Amarillo and take off 10 minutes later for Abilene, en route to Houston.

No passengers will be carried on opening flights and service will be confined to carrying mail and express, airline officials said Tuesday. The company hopes to start carrying passengers within a short time, Brown said.

W. F. Long, president of the company, arrived in Lubbock at 6:30 Tuesday afternoon with other company officials on a tour of inspection of the stations. The group will return this morning on the opening run from Amarillo. Others in the party were A. W. Meadows, operations manager, H. N. Sweeney, traffic manager, Aubrey Childers, communications, and Capt. B. D. Richards, chief pilot, and Max Jocaby, first officer.

Two flights will be operated in and out of Lubbock, the first one from Amarillo going south through Abilene, San Angelo and Austin to Houston and the second flight coming north from Houston and arriving here at 6:49 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Departure for Amarillo will be at 6:59 p. m.

Lockheed Electra twin-engine planes carrying nine passengers and a crew of two will be used by the company in the service here.

First "Local" Feeder Line

The line is the first to be opened in the nation strictly as a "local service feeder" airline and its operation will be watched closely by major airlines and the air transportation industry over the nation.

Essair will start as a small airline as compared with the other sixteen domestic airlines of the country. It is experimental in many ways, but primarily from the standpoint of potential traffic from intermediate points which have been largely overlooked by the trunk line carriers in their expansion programs. It is expected to fill a small but important addition to the already overworked transportation facilities of the U. S.

Contrary to normal traffic practice, the company will gear its operation to encouragement of traffic from intermediate points—Austin, San Angelo, Abilene, Lubbock—rather than to try to develop terminal-to-terminal traffic at the expense of service at other points.

Flights from here to Houston will require four hours and 45 minutes; from here to Abilene, one hour and four minutes; San Angelo, one hour and 59 minutes Austin, three hours and 37 minutes and from here to Amarillo, 49 minutes.

Sam Gardiner, formerly with Pan-American Airways, is to be station manager here. The company opened offices at the airport Tuesday and information may be secured on the airlines service by calling phone No. 4646.

Mail for the trip south should be in the postoffice by 7:30 a. m. and for the northbound flight to Amarillo by 6 p. m. daily.

SITTING IT OUT—Comfortably, if not patiently, Sgt. Joseph A. Lowe, 42, aircraft ground crewman with the 7th AAF in Okinawa, awaits the discharge for which his age makes him eligible. Deep shelter fully equipped with pin-up gals, rations, water, tools, and lights gave the Atlanta, Ga., soldier a dugout a captain would envy.

Missouri-Arkansas Rail Head Resigns

HARRISON, Ark., July 31. (AP)—L. A Watkins of Harrison has resigned as president of the Missouri and Arkansas railroad, effective August 1, it was announced today.

Company directors also announced that Watkins would be succeeded by Malcom Putty, executive vice-president. Putty is the son-in-law of the late Frank Kell of Wichita Falls, Tex., whose heirs own the company.

Watkins will continue with the company as vice president and treasurer. He said he was resigning as president because of his health.

Man Held On Charge Of Voucher Forgery

DALLAS, July 31. (AP)—Charges of forging and distributing thousands of dollars worth of pay vouchers on the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad Co. were filed yesterday by Police against Earl J. Johnson.

Detective Will Fritz said Johnson was under arrest at New Orleans and had waived extradiction. The vouchers were distributed in Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Florida, he added.

In Dallas alone 15 vouchers for a total of $2,646 were cashed, Fritz said.
