Faith

Under the Skin—
Selling Salmon—
Jones Pays Either Way—
Iowa Park's Wealth—

MEMBERS of the First Methodist church show the true spirit of Christianity in offering their building to the Colored Methodist conference meeting here in October.

Such an offer, while perhaps not extraordinary from a logical viewpoint, is unusual here in the South. Here in the South, too the spirit in which the offer is made will be best understood, and in turn appreciated by members of the colored conference.

Members of the First Methodist church, in the opinion of The Record News, paid a compliment to their religion in their action. They know that it is broad enough to embrace both white and black, and that judgment is passed according to a man's acts, not the color of his skin.

IF YOU are an average resident of this country you eat about twice as much salmon now as you did three or four years ago, according to an article in Editor and Publisher, which tells of a campaign conducted by salmon packers.

Producers of salmon, co-operating as an association, entered the advertising columns of newspapers and magazines to show the public the food value of salmon, and the many easy and palatable ways in which it could be prepared. There was a huge increase in sales, the surplus in the industry was almost eliminated, and there was little increase in the cost of the product.

It has been often said that the man who doesn't advertise is the man who pays for advertising.

IT IS perhaps somewhat in the future, but the time should come when potatoes dairy products, poultry, sheep, fruits, melons and other products of the Wichita irrigated valley will be marketed cooperatively ad on a system approaching that of the salmon packers, or California fruit growers.

The ability to produce has been demonstrated by valley farmers. The next step is quantity production with a proper marketing plan.

MEMBERS of the county commission and the city commission disagree over an item of $5000, expenses incurred in various ministrations to charity patients at the General hospital, and in work at the county farm, with the result that the county threatens suit to collect its claim of $5000.

Probably the city and county will be able to adjust their differences in this matter, at least The Record News hopes so. The picture of the city and county involved in a law suit is not a pretty one from the tax payer's viewpoint, although both commissions are sincere in their attitude on the question.

Whatever the outcome, Jones will pay the freight, and the more litigation, the more Jones will pay.

IOWA PARK, in the heart of Wichita county's richest agricultural district, must be in good condition judging from bank statements issued in that thriving little city.

A pamphlet issued by the First National bank shows this institution with resources of $1,192,893. Deposits are quoted at over a million dollars, or $1,008,522.04, to be exact, and capital stock and surplus at $150,000.

There must be something in the talk that Wichita's future lies in the intensive development of its agricultural areas.

FINAL REPORT OF ENGINEERS TO BE FILED

Directors of Project To Meet Wednesday At Vernon

HEARING PLANNED

Application For Permission To Impound Water To Be Made

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, July 19.—The postponed meeting of the directors of the ePase and Red River Valleys Irrigation association will be held beginning at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning. The first part of the meeting will be held at 11 o'clock at the chamber of commerce and a luncheon will be held at noon at Hotel Wilbarger.

The directors of the association will meet for the purpose of considering the final report of the preliminary surveys of the irrigation district made by Floyd & Lockeridge, Dallas engineers.

Formal motion for a hearing before the state water board on the irrigation project is also expected to be filed following the meeting. In the hearing, the board will be asked to call an election for the purpose of deciding whether the people of the country accept the district, the local water board which will be appointed by the state board and to vote a bond issue to finance a detailed survey.

Representatives from Wichita Falls, Iowa Park, Electra, Burkburnett, Quanah and Crowell are expected to attend the meeting here. Local directors of the association are Les K. Johnson, J. A. Dixon and R. H. Coffee.

Raised Bill Places Woman in Bastile

Passing of raised money will be filed against a young woman today following her arrest by Officers Wright and Belcher as she was about to board a train for Dallas at 11:45 Tuesday night. According to police, the young woman pasted corners from five dollar bills on a one dollar bill and passed it on the Lamar Stret pharmacy in the purchase of a can of talcum. She was arrested 30 minutes later at the railroad station.

Three Sought After Taxi Driver's Death

MONTREAL, July 19. (AP)—Two men and a woman who hired a taxicab on Sunday for what one of them said was to be a short wedding tour into the United States were being sought by police today as the slayers of Adelard Bouchard, 40, the taxi driver. Bouchard's body with a bullet wound through the neck was found yesterday.

POLICEMAN MURDERED.

ARCADA, Calif., July 19. (AP)—One policeman was killed and another fatally wounded here early today when they attempted to question a trio of young men whom they suspected of having staged a holdup.

SPITE MARRIAGE

So Pretty Bride Wants Wedding Cancelled By Court

LOS ANGELES, July 19. (AP)—Hazel Dean, motion picture actress, in her suit for annulment of marriage yesterday declared she would not have married Hugh W. Anderson, Hollywood masseur, if she hadn't lost her dog.

Miss Dean was looking for her dog when Anderson offered to help her find it. But instead of confining his search to Hollywood he drove her to Goldfield, Nev., and induced her to marry him.

The annulment is asked on grounds of fraud. The complaint charges that Anderson married Miss Dean to spite his former sweetheart, who had broken her engagement to him but a few hours before he asked Miss Dean to wed him.

PLANES WILL BOMB REBELS

U. S. Marines Start Chase Nicaragua Outlaws

By Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, July 19—American marines have swung into action to break up the bands of outlaws terrorizing Nicaragua, Rear Admiral David Foote Sellers, commander of the special service squadron there, reported to the navy department today.

Airplane squadrons have been sent out to bomb the rebels in an attempt to disperse them with a rain of machine gun bullets.

"Airplane reconnaissance continuing daily for information, with orders to prevent any concentration of rebel forces," cabled Admiral Sellers.

The American-trained Nicaragua national guard is on the hunt for General Sandino, leader of the forces which stormed the marines and guardsmen at Ocotal.

War On Outlaws

Branded as "band of outlaws" without backing of any political party, by Secretary Kellogg, there will be no let up in Nicaragua, in the drive against Sandino's forces until they have been captured and disarmed, it was indicated.

"Marines and guards in Ocotal garrison conducted themselves with distinguished gallantry, magnificently supported by our planes," said the report from Admiral Sellers.

President Coolidge was called upon to see that the marines engage in no more hostilities in Nicaragua, by the Women's International league.

The league sent to him a telegram describing the marines' bombing of Sandino's forces as "inhuman."

Ask Cal to Act

The People's Reconstruction league wired President Coolidge urging him to return from South Dakota to Washington at once and end "this illegal and brutal violation of the rights of the Nicaraguans."

"The slaughter of hundreds of Nicaraguans by American marines illegally kept in Nicaragua to protect property is an international outrage," said the message.

"Wholesale murder" was the charge levelled at the American marines in the battle at Ocotal, by T. S. Vaca, Washington representative of the Sacasa or liberal forces in Nicaragua, in a statement issued today.

Attacks upon Secretary of State Kellogg by Solomon De la Selva, Nicaraguan delegte to the Pan-American labor conference here, started the state department on an investigation of his career.

Former Rebel

Information has reached Secretary Kellogg, that De la Selva was formerly in the employ of Mexican revolutionists.

General Sandino's attack upon the American marines, instead of weakening the determined policy of this government has served to intensify it, state department officials declared. On behalf of Secretary Kellogg it was stated the American government will keep its hand in Nicaragua until complete order has been restored.

ATLANTIC HOP STARTS TODAY

British Flier Will Try Flight to Canada

LONDON, July 19.—Captain Courtney, the British aviator plans to hop off to New York from Southampton at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The air ministry reports that the weather conditions are almost ideal, with moderate northeasterly and easterly winds over the Atlantic ocean.

Captain Courtney completed the test of his craft today. Satisfied with the equipment and the radio installations, Courtney, accompanied by Captain Downer, the navigating officer, and Engineer Little, will head tomorrow for Valentia from Southampton, stop there long enough to refuel, and then carry on to Newfoundland.

The Doriner-Napier plane carries a control indicator, designed to keep the flyers on their course through the cloud and fog, the indicator flashes red and green lights when the machine is off its course.

Body of Baby Found Crushed Into Box

SAN ANTONIO, July 19. (AP)—The body of a white baby boy was found in a wooden box by a workman at the city incinerator. It was the second infant body found in San Antonio in two days, a headless body having been found in a residential street yesterday.

The body found today was badly crushed and apparently had been dashed against a wall.

35-Foot Tumble Puts Youth Into Hospital

FORT WORTH, July 19. (AP)—Jack P. Maples was in a hospital here today suffering from a broken leg and body bruises sustained late Monday when he was hurled from a riding device at a local amusement park. Eye witnesses said he stood up just as the car struck a turn and was hurled about 25 feet to the ground.

Wichita Falls Disputes Nebraska's Claim To World's Youngest Orchestra

Claims recently advanced by citizens of Wakefield, Nebr., that Wakefield has the "youngest orchestra in the world," are being disputed here by Wichita Falls residents, who point out that this city has an orchestra with almost an equal claim for first place, and a "cinch" on second place.

Wakefield is claiming the world's youngest orchestra with its group of 22 school children, none of which is more than seven years of age. In the Austin school orchestra of this city, Wichita Falls has an organization in which the average age is not above nine years, but in addition has 32 members who ply much more difficult instruments. If it wished Wichita Falls might undoubtedly approach the age record of the Wakefield orchestra by cutting down to 22 members.

National Interest

According to dispatches received from Wakefield by The Record News, the Wakefield orchestra was started in February this year, and has made good progress in its work. The tiny musicians play the drums, bells, bird whistles, tambourines, clappers, triangles and cymbals. Each child made his or her own uniform, a white cape, lined with red, and a white cap trimmed with the same color. Little Charley Paul is the director of the Wakefield orchestra.

Orchestras for young children are believed to have been originat-

WOMAN TO BE IN SENATE RACE

Mrs. M. F. Cunningham To Oppose Mayfield

AUSTIN, July 19. (AP)—Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, Galveston, secretary of the National Democratic Women's Executive committee, intends to run for the United States Senate in 1928, opposing Earle B. Mayfield of Austin, incumbent, it was learned today.

Mrs. Cunningham is known as the foremost Texas agitator for woman's suffrage and was one of the women who carried the fight to Washington.

Mrs. Cunningham's entry adds to what is regarded as an interesting political development since former Governor O. B. Colquitt of Dallas is another avowed candidate against Mayfield. At least two others have been spoken of freely as probable contenders, and Governor Dan Moody has not said that he will not be among senatorial aspirants.

BENEDICT NEW TEXAS U. HEAD

Dean of Arts Chosen For U. Presidency

By Universal Service.

AUSTIN, July 19.—Dr. H. Y. Benedict, senior dean of the college of arts and sciences and a member of the faculty since 1892, will assume the presidency of the University of Texas on September 1 when Dr. W. M. W. Splawn's resignation becomes effective.

Dr. Benedict was elected to head the university by the board of regents today after Dr. Splawn declined to reconsider his resignation. The vote for Dr. Benedict was unanimous.

Immediately after Dr. Benedict's election, the regents granted Dr. Splawn a year's leave of absence, with salary. He will do research work under the Laura Spellman Rockefeller fund.

At the end of his leave, Dr. Splawn will join the university faculty as professor of economics at a salary of $6500 a year. As president, Dr. Splawn received $10,000.

President Benedict was born in Louisville, Ky., November 14, 1868. Receiving his bachelor of science degree from the University of Texas in 1892 and his master of arts degree in 1893. He went to the University of Virginia from 1893-95 and from there to Harvard for the three years from 1895 to 1898, taking his doctor of philosophy degree there in 1898. He was given the doctor of laws degree from Baylor university in 1930.

In 1900 Dr. Benedict was married to Miss Ada Stone of Henderson, Texas.

Houston Man Pleads Guilty to Swindling

HOUSTON, July 19. (AP)—Herbert J. Lieb, former Rice institute student indicted for embezzlement of $14,500 from Wilhelm Dreyer on December 11, 1925, Tuesday entered a plea of guilty when his case was called for trial in criminal district court and was given two years through agreement of counsel.

TWO COUNTIES IN OKLAHOMA ADOPT BONDS

Jefferson and Jackson Cos. Each Vote $600,000 Bond Issue

VOTE OVERWHELMING

Landslides In Favor Of Both Issues Shown By Results

By overwhelming majorities, two southwest Oklahoma counties Tuesday adopted road bond issues totalling $1,200,000, according to dispatches to the Wichita Falls Record News from state correspondents. Jackson county, of which Altus is the county seat, voted a $600,000 bond issue for graveling and bridging 152 miles of roads, this amount later to be augmented at a second election for permanent paving bonds. Jefferson county, of which Waurika is county seat, also adopted a $600,000 issue for paving, bridging and graveling projects.

JEFFERSON COUNTY TO PAVE ITS HIGHWAYS

Special to The Record News.

WAURIKA, Okla., July 19.—Jefferson county today voted road bonds of $600,000, the amount to be matched two dollars to one by state and federal government. With six small boxes out, the vote on today's issue was 2429 for and 296 against the bonds. A north and south road is to be paved through the county connecting with Stephens county paved roads to the north and passing through the towns of Addington, Waurika, Ryan and Terral, with one-third of the money to be expended on the east and west roads through the county from Ringling to Waurika and thence to Hastings with a strip of paving through each town; one mile of paving through Beaver and Mud Creek bottoms and a good graveled road established at grade with drainage in event there is not money enough to completely pave the east and west highways.

JACKSON COUNTY VOTES $600,000 ROAD ISSUE

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., July 19.—With less than 400 votes not counted, Jackson county taxpayers Tuesday voted a 1100 majority in favor of a $600,000 bond issue for road improvement work. The unofficial vote last reported was 1672 for and 572 against the bonds. With the 400 missing votes not yet reported, even though all against the bonds, the issue is still certain to carry, and it is estimated that at least two thirds of the votes not counted are in favor of the bonds.

The bonds voted Tuesday will be spent to improve and gravel 152 miles of permanent roads in this county and build and acquire five bridges. More than 1600 signatures representing every voting precinct in the county were attached to the petition for the election.

Although none of the roads will be paved, the grade and drainage will be made ready for concrete in case it later is decided to replace the gravel with paving.

A hard surfaced highway will be built clear across Jackson county from east to west and another from the north edge of the county to the Texas line. A number of roads and highways of less importance also will be financed by the proposed issue.

Beatrice Burton's New Novel Starts Here Today

CHAPTER I

In every family in this world of ours there always is one member who shoulders the burdens for the rest—the work-beast.

Sometimes it is a mother, working all day long and far into the night for those she loves.

Sometimes it is a father, slaving and saving to make both ends meet.

In the Jerome family it was Sally.

It was Sally who carried the family burdens — and they were many and heavy—upon her slender young shoulders.

But it is doubtful that she knew what a load she bore. Certainly she did not know what it was to feel sorry for herself. She was the sort of person who sees a load to be lifted and lifts it as if it were a feather instead of a dead weight. The sort of person who sees a hard job to be done, and does it cheerfully.

She didn't look the least bit like a beast of burden either. If you had seen her you would have said that she hadn't a single care in all the world. Her smile was like sudden sunrise, as it flashed out from her eyes and from the lifted corners of her mouth. She walked as lightly as if there were wings fastened to her heels, and she carried those shoulders of hers so proudly that nobody ever guessed that trouble were piled high on both of them.

That was Sally Jerome for you! Clever and courageous and up-and-coming, and without an ounce of self-pity about her.

It was 6 o'clock on the third Monday morning in August, and hot as only an August day knows how to be hot.

In the Jerome family's second-floor flat on Trellis street the green window-shades were pulled down to the sills to shut out the heat that had been hanging over the town for a week, heavy and depressing as fog.

An electric fan had whirred and hummed all night long in Mrs. Jerome's bedroom—the largest and airest room in the flat. But in spite of it she had had a bad night, one of the worst ones she had ever slept through.

Three or four times she had to get her daughter Sally up to ask her for a glass of ice water from the kitchen, and for one of the new headache powders—the only kind she had ever found that did not upset her stomach. Mrs. Jerome enjoyed poor health to the utmost.

She was asleep now and had been asleep for hours, although later she would declare she hadn't slept a wink. Her soft plump hands were still holding the novel she had been reading when she "dropped off."

In the middle room, Beauregard, her only son and the apple of her eye, moved restlessly in his slumbers.

TWO CHARTERS GRANTED HERE

Insurance Exchange Given State Permit

Two charters for corporations in Wichita Falls were issued Tuesday by the secretary of state, according to an Associated Press dispatch received by The Record News.

One charter was granted to the Danciger Oil and Refining company of Texas, capital stock $25,000, with Joe Danciger, J. E. Vaeth and R. O. Kenley Jr. as incorporators. The other was issued to the Wichita Falls Insurance exchange no capital stock, with A. E. Maples, Julian Ivy and B. B. Greever as incorporators.

The Danciger company has been a trust estate and is a subsidiary of the Danciger Oil and Refining Company of Oklahoma, with headquarters in Tulsa, according to J. E. Vaeth, secretary of the Danciger company of Texas. Organization reasons were the cause of the change from a trust estate to a corporation.

The Wichita Falls Insurance exchange, organized one year ago as an association of local underwriters, has been operated as a co-operative body, however under the terms of the charter it will be a corporation.

The association is composed of 19 Wichita Falls underwriters and was formed for the purpose of advancing the best interests of the insurance men in Wichita Falls.

66 Reservations Made For Second Scout Camp

Reservations are coming in fast for the second period of the Boy Scout camp at Diversion dam, according to Frank Creighton, scout executive, who reported Tuesday afternoon that 66 of the possible 100 capacity had been taken. The first period group, 45 in number, will leave the camp on Monday and the second group will take possession the day following.

The boys in the first group are having a great time, Mr. Creighton reported. They were given a taste of wind early Tuesday morning when the tents were blown down shortly after midnight. There was no rain, however, and though the youngsters wanted to put the tents back up, they were brought inside the camp house.

About 16 of the 45 in camp are taking the junior American Red Cross life saving course, the executive reported. The course will be continued through the two remaining periods. The third period will close on August 15 and on the three days following patrol leaders of the district who are entitled to come will have possession of the camp for special work. Four troop patrols have signed up and reservations must come in early as 40 will be the limit.

New War Machine Is Tested

Underwood & Underwood

A military bombing biplane of an entirely new design, built by the Curtis Airplane company, was recently tested at Mitchell Field, New York. The plane is an all-metal Curtiss Condor, motored with two 600 horsepower engines and capable of a speed of 105 miles an hour. Six machine guns are mounted in three turrets, one in the nose, and one on the rear of each of the two engine gondolas, and it has carrying space for 2400 pounds of high explosives.

Ad Club Hears Banker's Address From Adjoining Room Over Radio

Broadcasting of the address of W. S. Abbott, assistant cashier and trust officer of the City National bank, who was principal speaker for the day, presented a novel turn to the luncheon program of the Advertising club at the Kemp hotel Tuesday noon.

Mr. Abbott spoke on banking, first as an institution in existence in the time of Pharaoh and second as a practical aid to business. The speaker remained in an adjoining room and his address was radioed to the luncheon guests with equipment furnished by R. C. Coffee of the Phonograph Shop.

The speaker outlined the various steps in the development of banking, pointing out the increased services performed by these institutions today. The savings departments, he stated, were of long standing, but the general use of checking accounts had been a development of the last two generations. Other functions cited as an addition to the services performed by banks included safety deposit boxes for keeping valuables, handling of investment bonds, money exchanges for travelers and commercial use, management of estates, and as consultant daily in many business deals. Service, declared Mr. Abbott, is the keynote of the banking industry.

The program for the day was arranged by Alva Willigus, program chairman, who urged members of the club to enter the state song contest for the advertising it would bring Wichita Falls as also for the $1000 prize offered. T. A. Bradley, club president, presided.

Whiskey at 50 Cents a Drink Brings Raid by Prohi Squad

Whiskey flew in all directions when city and federal officers raided a blind tiger on Westlake avenue, a half mile outside of the city limits at 10 o'clock Tuesday night. The proprietor of the place attempted to destroy anything in the way of evidence and customers attempted a hurried exit. A half-pint of whiskey was seized and charges of possession and sale will be filed today against the proprietor and his wife.

City Officers Ernest Deaton, Fred Stengel and Fred Fountain and Federal Officers Jones and Logsden made the raid. They reported that as they entered the premises, the proprietor broke a glass pitcher containing a half gallon of whiskey. In a tussle for possession for evidence Mr. Jones was drenched with liquor. Enough liquor was sopped up from the broken vessel to serve as evidence.

Five customers were said to be in the place when the officers entered. These were augmented by three others while they were there. Two of these were well-known business men, it was stated. Liquor was sold at 50c per drink.

Common practice here is for violators to keep whiskey in a glass pitcher. Lysol is also kept. When a raid occurs the pitcher is broken in a sink that is standard equipment, and the Lysol is poured in. The Lysol absorbs the alcohol and no evidence remains.

Stray Bullet Hits Wichita Falls Man

J. W. Aaron, age 60, said to be a resident of Wichita Falls, was struck in the back by a stray hunter's bullet while camping near Quanah, Texas, according to a report made to J. E. Glenn, night chief of police. Mr. Aaron came to the city for treatment for the wound, which was slight. According to information given Chief Glenn, the wounded man travels around the country making baskets, lawn furniture, and doing similar work. He was wounded while in his camp Tuesday and came to the city in the evening for treatment. He ascribed the wound to a stray hunter's bullet.

Here's Your Chance To Break Into Pictures

Moving pictures of playgrounds of Wichita Falls will be made Wednesday, according to Scout Executive Frank Creighton, who reported Tuesday afternoon that filming of outdoor recreation will be undertaken by C. C. Bunnenberg, the park superintendent, and W. B. Ward, recreational director.

The filming will be done with the Boy Scout camera. The first playground to be visited will be Bellevue, at 9 o'clock in the morning, followed in order by Scotland, Grant Street park, Sibley-Taylor park, and several other playgrounds. The pictures taken will be shown later.

FEDERAL AID FOR ROAD HERE

$3333 Added to Fund For Seymour Road

AUSTIN, July 19. (AP)—Nearly $1,000,000 of the state's money was committed to better roads by the state highway commission today.

Contracts running to more than $500,000 were let for work in five counties and around $300,000 in state and federal aid was allotted to four other counties.

Letting of contracts for work in Freestone, Jack and Wise counties was postponed because Freestone county bids were considered too high and the low bidder in the Jack county and Wise counties projects was feared not to be financially sound.

Allotments:

Wichita county, $3333 state aid, $3333 federal aid to match the same amount in county funds.

Carson, $25,000 state aid to match $25,000 county money and $25,000 federal aid.

Kent county $20,000 state aid conditioned that the county would put up the same sum to build a bridge.

Wilson county $100,000 federal aid, $200,000 state aid to be supplemented by about $200,000 county money.

FEDERAL AID IS FOR SEYMOUR ROAD UNIT

The financial aid amounting to $3333 granted for roads in Wichita county Tuesday by the federal government is for the purpose of widening the Seymour road, through the Westmoreland park addition, M. A. Bundy, county commissioner, said Tuesday night. The road is at present 18 feet wide and the project calls for widening to 30 feet.

Due to a hitch in negotiations between all parties concerned in the widening project nothing will be done relative to construction work until the parties concerned reach an amiable agreement, Mr. Bundy said.

HELD AS WIFE SLAYER

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 19. (AP)—Leopola Curli, 45, was in the Huntington county jail today charged with the killing of his wife and the wounding of George Prevet, a former boarder in their home, yesterday. Five children survive the slain mother.

PICNIC TODAY FOR ELECTRICS

Employes of Nine Cities To Meet Here

Approximately 100 employes of the Texas Electric Service company in Wichita Falls, Burkburnett, Electra, Iowa Park, Henrietta, Holliday, Seymour, Bomarton and Archer City will participate in a picnic to be held Wednesday evening on the power plant lawn at Mill and Chester streets.

Various contests will be held and refreshments served, according to the entertainment committee which is headed by A. E. Kelly, manager for the Texas Electric Service company.

Dr. J. Sam Barcus, president of Southwestern university at Georgetown, is in the city in the interest of the school.

SHOOK WRONG TREE

Peach Orchard Invader Draws Fine In Justice Court

A Wichita man was fined $1 and costs in justice of the peace court by Judge R. V. Gwinn Tuesday on a charge of malicious mischief following his arrest for raiding the peach orchard of Will Bamgardner, a farmer residing two and a half miles from Wichita Falls on the Petrolia road.

The raid was the third staged on the farm in the past ten days, another group having invaded the melon patch on Sunday at midnight. The five men involved in the Sunday raid were arrested by Deputy Sheriff R. D. Morris and fined by Judge Gwinn on the same charge.

City's Ordinance To Get Test in Court

The first test of the city's negligent collision ordinance providing a fine for any person found guilty of colliding with another automobile will be instituted in city court today when a complaint filed by H. J. Anderson will come to trial in city court. Mr. Anderson alleged that his car was parked in front of Junior college Friday night when another car collided with it. The ordinance provided that the collision itself is ipso facto evidence of negligence.

CHINESE CITIES CAPTURED

LONDON, July 19 (AP)—A Reuter dispatch from Shanghai says that a message from well informed sources in Hankow reports the capture of Both Hankow and Hanyan from the southern extremists by General Ho Chien, the conservative southern commander.

A Birthday Check from Dad
just as he used to hand it to . . . . his "little girl"

When she was ten, Dad's check had been for ten big dollars . . . her very own . . . to spend as she liked. After that it had never failed . . . through high school and boarding school and even after marriage . . . Dad never forgot. Always he remembered her as "just his little girl."

Dad's "little girl" has grown up . . . now has a "little girl" of her own . . . and a big capable husband to provide for her. But on Birthdays! . . . she is still, at heart "just Dad's little girl." The envelope comes, no longer from Dad, but from the Southland Life to whom he delegated this sentimental trust.

What a thoughtful, beautiful expression of Father's love. One small policy even as small as $1,000 . . . specially assigned as a birthday remembrance, will pay from $44 to $66 annually. The Southland Life Agent will gladly explain its interesting angles, low cost, etc.

don't fool yourself

Decency demands it

Don't fool yourself by thinking that you never have halitosis (unpleasant breath). The worst offenders are usually unaware of it. You, yourself, can never tell.

Therefore, common decency demands that before meeting people, you put yourself on the polite side by the use of Listerine, the safe antiseptic. You simply rinse the mouth.

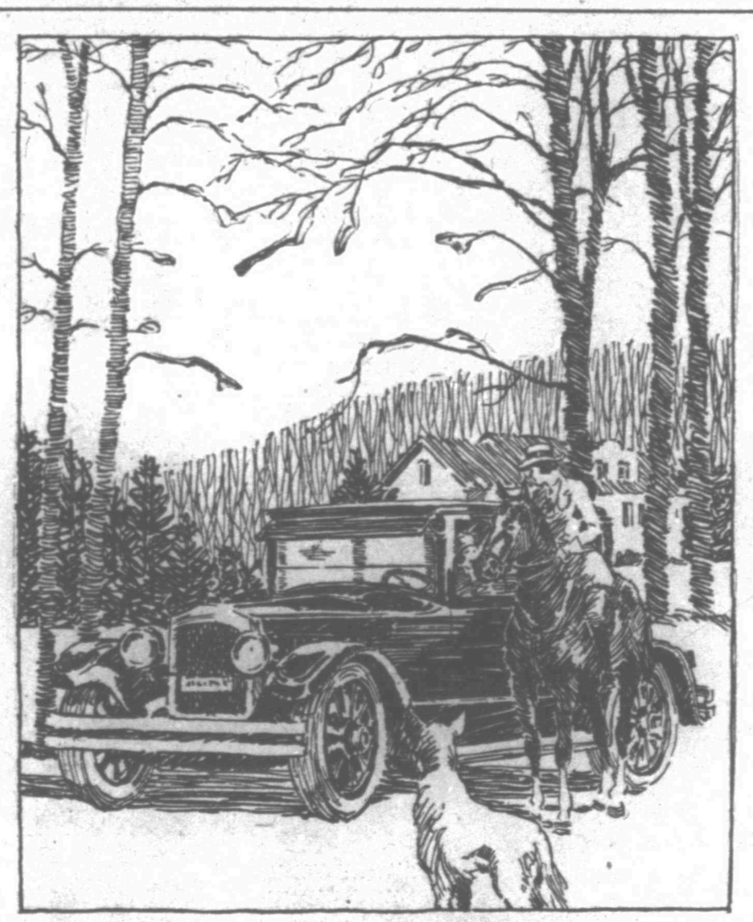

⅓ Had Halitosis
115 barbers say that about every third man that walks into the shop has halitosis. Who should know better than barbers?
Face to face evidence

Immediately and effectively, Listerine combats unpleasant odors arising from teeth and gums, the most common source of halitosis.

Better keep a bottle handy in home and office so that you may never offend. You will be interested in reading our free book on etiquette. Address Lambert Pharmacal Co., Dept. G-3, 2101 Locust St., St. Louis, Mo.

Expert On Love Tells How "To Get Over"

"I Should Keep Myself Looking Neat and Kissable; I Should Be a Salve-Spreader Instead of a Knocker; and I Should Do Something Every Day to Make Her Feel That I Was Actively Trying to Make Her Happy," Says Dorothy Dix, Giving Recipe for Keeping a Wife in Love.

For ages wives have acquired gray hair and crowsfeet around their eyes in trying to devise some sure-fire method of retaining their husbands' affections and keeping them nailed to their own fireSides.

Husbands have not worried over the possibility of their wives becoming disenchanted with them, nor have they felt the necessity of doping out any plan for keeping their wives at home, because (A) they have held to the optimistic theory that once a man won a woman's heart it was his for keeps. He couldn't lose it if he tried, and (B) because they exactly felt that a wife was just as much a piece of household furniture as a piano or a dining table, and once he dumped her down into a home she just naturally stayed put.

The spectacle we see, however, today of destless, dissatisfied wives who are off joy-riding with some other man instead of waiting patiently at home for hubby's return and who feed their families out of tin cans and paper bags because they don't get home from the matinees and bridge games in time to cook dinner, has shaken this comfortable, ancient theory about the deathless quality of a woman's devotion and her innate passion for home-building.

The modern man realizes that his wife is just as likely to get tired of him as he is to get tired of her and that domesticity is quite as apt to pall on her taste as it does on his. Therefore, he perceives that he has to be up and doing if he keeps his wife in love with him and interested in her home and thanking her stars that she got him for a husband.

A young man who is about to get married asks me how this can be done. "I don't want my wife to be a slave or a drudge," he says, "but I do want her to feel that making a real home is a big and worth-while job.

"I want her to put the same enthusiasm and ambition into her work that I do into mine. I don't want her to feel, as so many women do, that cooking and cleaning are menial tasks that they loathe and despise. I want her to get joy out of her housewifery and have pride in it.

"I don't want my wife to feel that her home is a prison to which she has been committed for a life sentence. I want her to want to stay in it and to feel that it is the best place in he world.

"I see so many middle-aged women who merely endure their husbands from a sense of duty or because of the children or because they are the gentlemen who pay the freight.

"I don't want my wife to feel that way about me. I want her to care more and more for me as the years go by. I want her to be gladder and gladder that she married me instead of wodering what made her fool enough to do it.

"So the question is: How can I keep my wife in love with me? How can I interest her in domesticity?"

Well, son, if I wanted to keep my wife in love with me I would continue to cut the same bait after marriage that I did before.

I would reflect that if I had gone a-courting with a two days' stubble of beard on my face and a dirty collar and a mussed and spotted suit and looking generally like something that the cat had brought in that she would not have fallen for my manly charm. Also, I should bear in mind that she would have given me the air if I had been grumpy and grouchy and surly and if I had knocked everything she did and said and told her what a moron I considered her.

So I should keep myself looking neat and clean and kissable, and I shouldn't cut out all of the lovemaking and the soft talk because I was married. I should use the salve-spreader instead of the hammer and handle her with gloves and not run foul of all her little peculiarities and prejudices.

I should be generous and just with her, and I should do something every day of my life to make her feel that I was actively trying to make her happy, and that I didn't consider that just being married to me was all the bliss that any woman could ask.

It is true, son, that women have an abnormal capacity for loving, and when they fall out of love with their husbands it is nearly always for some just and sufficient reason, and mighty few men ever lose their wives' affections unless they have been accessory before the crime.

As for keeping your wife at home, the best way to do that is to stay with her. Too many husbands think their wives should keep the home fires burning while they are burning up the roads having good times with flappers.

It's no more exciting and entertaining to a woman to sit up and watch a baby sleep than it is to a man. So if you want your wife to prefer staying at home to going out of an evening bear her company.

And do something to pep things up. Don't sit up like a graven image with an evening paper in your hand and leave her to commune with her own thoughts. She has done that all day and she is sick and tired of them. Talk to her and talk about the things she is interested in. Enter into her hopes and plans.

Be chummy and companionable. You used to have plenty to say to your wife before you were married. Pull the same line on her now and she would rather have an evening at home than one at the movies.

If you want to "sell" domesticity to your wife, take a heart interest in your home. Praise her cooking and she will develop into a chef. Give her the glad hand about her thrift and she will become a dime-nurser.

The reason that so many women get to be slack housekeepers is because their husbands never do anything but find fault. They never notice a good meal, but raise ructions every time there is a bit too much salt in the soup, and their wives get to feel that there is no use in trying to please a chronic kicker.

And many a woman is extravagant because she knows that her husband is going to row over the bills anyway, so she migh just as well buy what she wants. She'll get no credit for saving.

Oh, it's easy to keep your wife in love with you, son, and to make her a happy and satisfied person. Just give her a little love, a little tenderness and a little jolly and the trick is done.

MODISH MITZI — Dad Tells Some Bedtime Stories — By JAY V. JAY

Dad had to call for help so he called for the Goofer. The Goofer came as soon as he got the telegram. The conversation or the breeze makes Polly shiver and wonder if her zephyr sweater costume—a cardigan sweater over a two piece dress is warm enough. Mitzi wears a rustle in the bushes. The Goofer is about to tell how he saw a five foot rattler stretched across the road. Polly asks if the funny little lizard she saw in the tent is really poisonous. Dad cheerfully "Yes," and warns them to look out for snakes.

They have both very carefully squashed all the bugs in sight. Polly has come to the point where she wishes that her pajamas had long sleeves and not such a charming square neck. Mitzi is very glad that she has a chaille coolie coat—she can wear it over her bathing suit and in the privacy of her own tent as well. Snakes—snakes on their own bed! It's inanimate but even snakeskin pocket book and shoes are startling after Dad's bedtime stories. Wise Dad. He may have his vacation to himself yet!

CRUSHED BLOSSOMS

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

FLOWERS CAN BE REVIVED

A GIRL CAN START ANEW

AND FIND HER DESTINY THROUGH LOVE

One Mistake Need Not Ruin a Girl's Whole Life

By Beatrice Fairfax
An Authority on the Problems of Love and Marriage.

THIS old world of our is tender-hearted and longs to help those who suffer, even deservedly. This is proved anew to me, time after time, by my correspondence.

Occasionally, a young girl writes that she has made a dreadful mistake and is facing the future with terror because of her unborn babe. When I print such a letter, invariably I receive numerous letters begging to be allowed to help this unfortunate girl to find herself and make a new, better start. There can be no doubting the sincerity and kindly motive of these letters and offers.

I am seldom able to give direct aid to these girls. For, without exception, they withhold real name and address, doubtless from a sense of shame. So, if by any chance, they miss the issue of the paper in which the reply appears, they fail to receive the counsel eagerly sought and lovingly offered.

Fortunately, we are reaching a stage of thought nowadays when we do not harshly condemn, but try, rather, to echo the tender mercy of the thrilling reply of long ago, "Neither do I condemn thee. Go and sin no more."

Some time ago a letter came to me from a sixteen-year-old motherless girl who was terrified by the fact that she was about to have a fatherless child. Her letter of despair brought, among others, the following reply:

"Will you please let me know the name and address of the little girl who is in trouble whose letter recently appeared in the paper? I am writing, not through curiosity, but through sympathy. I would like to give her a home, if possible."

Another reader, who also signed her name and address, wrote:

"Poor little sixteen-year-old girl! How I pity her! I wonder if you would tell Lar to come to me, I would love to look after her. I have a sister her age, and I know how I would feel if she were in 'Sixteen's' predicament. Please let me help her."

Generous offers of financial aid to "Sixteen" were also received. But I was never able to get in touch with the young girl who so needed help, and yet, like a hunted animal, feared to come out from her hiding place.

Today I have a letter, signed "Despair," before me. "Despair" was secretly engaged. Her lover disappeared. She is about to become a mother. Her own mother knows and is broken-hearted. They dare not tell her father.

Dear, despairing girl, I can only advise you not to lose courage or hope. You have done wrong and broken a great moral law which must be kept for the protection, security, welfare and happiness of women, children and homes.

You need never make the same mistake again. Helping hands are stretched out to you. Go with your mother to the Salvation Army, or to the clergyman of your own church.

The Salvation Army will give you practical, kindly counsel and, if possible, will send you to one of their hospitals, and take care of the baby until you can make other arrangements. There are various organizations that will help girls in your plight, in various cities. But the Salvation Army is known to all, helps whole-heartedly and makes no distinction of creed.

Sometimes going away to a place where she is unknown helps a girl in making a new start. By doing so you may be able to find work, and, with the aid of free day-nurseries, keep your baby.

Do not become embittered and do not despair if you have made a misstep.

Often a flower crushed in the dusty road blooms sweetest of all when lovingly given its needed fresh water and fresh air.

Make a new start today. Live a clean, wholesome life of high ideals and high purpose. Fill your days with broadening, unselfish interests and hard work. Try to help the old world along with your young strength. Many a woman has lifted herself from just such a plight as yours, despairing, and living a noble life, has in time won understanding love and happiness. May success and happiness be yours.

When Children Imitate Talking Machines

By L. Lamar Matthews

JOHNNY was the only child in the pullman car in which he sat with his parents, during a trip from New York to Boston. Now it takes six hours to go by train from New York to Boston, but Johnny did not stop talking at all during those six hours.

L. LAMAR MATTHEWS

Chatter, chatter, chatter all the time, every mile of the way. When the roar of the train threatened to drown out his voice the shrill tones rose higher and higher. He talked about everything under the sun that he could mention, and then he went all over the same ground again. The subject of the discourse did not seem to matter to him, the main object being to talk—and to keep on talking.

Finally a man across the aisle from Johnny arose in righteous wrath, threw down his newspaper and picked up his hat. "Is it a phonograph?" he said to his companion. And then he escaped to the smoker.

These small human talking machines are all too common. The worst part of the matter is that they grow up into big human talking machines, who are just as nerve-racking and much more destructive than the small ones.

It was only a few days ago that one of the middle-size ones joined a group of young people at a bridge party. "She came in after the theatre," said a member of the party, "and if she stopped talking for one second during the rest of the evening nobody knew it."

"Did the other guests sit in silence and listen?" I asked.

"No. We let her take on one victim at a time, and the rest of us tried to ignore the disturbance."

The pity of it is that the girl who talked too much is otherwise an attractive young woman. She is good-looking, well dressed, has a kindly nature and is rather well educated. But that loose screw in her tongue, or her brain, or her nerves, makes of her a nuisance.

Everybody knows one or more constant talkers. And it stands to reason that people who talk all the time are bound to tell things that had much better be left unsaid. In fact, the majority of people talk entirely too much.

When grown-ups are afflicted with this urge to keep talknig, it seems to be incurable. But the fault could be cured in children, for it is usually caused by a nervous condition that could be remedied.

A home atmosphere of repose and peacefulness can be established by mothers who are willing to take the time and thought and effort. Small interests that will keep the child's hands and brain busy are a good antidote for overtalking. A heart-to-heart preachment on the subject may prove effective. And then there is the force of example. That helps.

Vegetable Salads for Lunch

By Hannah Wing

THE hot vegetable plate, which threatens to rival roast beef and ham and eggs in popularity, gives way during the hot weather to the vegetable salad. For the main dish of a Summer menu the salad must be somewhat more substantial than when served as a side dish or separate course. It must also be more generous in quantity. And most important of all, the cooked vegetables must have been even more carefully cooked and seasoned than when they are to be served hot.

Stuff tiny tomatoes with cooked rice mixed with cooked chicken livers chopped or hard-cooked eggs chopped. Moisten with mayonnaise dressing.

Cut the tomatoes in slices, cover with chopped beet and chopped onion mixed and moistened with mayonnaise dressing.

Cut a tomato in thick slices. On each slice put a thick slice of hard-cooked egg and lay four strips of ham crosswise over the top.

Cut small cucumbers in halves and shape like boats. Remove center and fill with small bits of cooked vegetables mixed with mayonnaise dressing and flavored with bits of anchovy.

Mix cold cooked peas with an equal amount of cooked rice and mayonnaise dressing.

Cut cold, cooked, sweet corn from the cob, mix with whipped cream seasoned with salt and paprika and serve on lettuce.

Combine cooked string beans, cut in tiny diamonds, with small green peas and carrot balls moistened with mayonnaise dressing.

Add tiny balls of sausage meat to potato salad instead of egg. Season with onion and cucumber.

LOVELY region, untainted tomorrow, land of plenty and realm of delight where lies never the shadow of sorrow, where shines ever joy's radiant delight. If today has been hard, has been lonely, if today we have failed at our task, we can turn to tomorrow, which holds all bliss that a mortal can ask. If today has been brimming with rapture, has been heaped with the triumphs men prize, still, tomorrow—who knows—we may capture trophies lovelier yet to our eyes! It may be that today we go haunted by grim spectres of passion and pain; but tomorrow (ah, dawning enchanted!) shall be born without blemish or stain. Tomorrow! No day can be dreary with the hope of such brightness to be; tomorrow! the boon of the weary from all loss and all longing set free!

Fashion Fads and Fancies

CONTRASTING Crowns Considered Chic by those who endorse the fashion for the wider brimmed straw hats for midsummer wear. Hats of novelty straws frequently combine natural colored crowns with brims matching in tone the costumes which the hats were chosen to complete.

Silk Not Snobbish this season, but prefers pique and linen in combining to create smart sports costumes. Pique jackets accompany crepe de Chine or tub satin sports frocks, while man-tailored coats of linen are faced with the same printed silk as that of which the dress is made.

Fearless of Looking Faded, the newest pink gowns are quite unlike their wearers who are far from indifferent in this respect. Faded "Patou pink" is the merest delicate shade stressed for chiffon, organdie or organdie dance frocks.

The Modernized Fig Leaf is none other than a crystal leaf hatpin, which is such a stunning ornament to be placed at the side of a small black toque. The latest rage of Paris, these hand-chased crystal leaves are quite costly, but lovely enough to tempt modern Eve.

'Seeing Things' Means Eye Trouble

By Chas. A. L. Reed, M. D.,
Former President of the American Medical Association.

YOU have often heard of people "seeing red," "seeing stars," "seeing flashes." These, except the last, fortunately are more or less figurative expressions. But people really do see things—and not "snakes" either.

Thus, there is such a thing as "seeing double." It is generally to be looked upon as one of nature's danger signals and should have attention accordingly.

"Seeing double" happens to some people after a severe illness, or towards the end of the day when they are tired.

Very few patients seem to worry about it and the majority pass it over very lightly.

It indicates some defect of coordination, some lack of harmonious action, between the muscles of the two eyes.

Let me explain it this way: You are naturally just a little bit cross-eyed. That is to say a normal pair of eyes converge on a given object with very little effort. If there is a fault in the muscles which govern this convergence, the effort required to fix both eyes on the same object becomes greater. When the whole body is tired this effort may become too much. The eyes then see separately, instead of together.

The strain of trying to force weak muscles to do their task often induces headache.

It is therefore not too much to say that double vision should always be a warning to consult an eye doctor. The error will not cure itself—very few eye errors do and the longer it is left the worse it may become.

Temporary mists may be due, especially in long-sighted people, to a temporary failure to focus properly. Instead of converging on the retina, the rays of light tend to come together behind it, and the eye sees a mist, as in a photograph taken with too great a focal length.

This is merely a warning to get proper glasses. Again, in chronic conjunctivitis, or inflammation of the thin membrane covering the eye, a mist is apt to be formed simply by the matter discharged from the inflamed parts. Neither of these conditions is very serious, but there is one very grave illness that is heralded by just this mistiness of vision. That is chronic glaucoma, a very painful disease that may quickly lead to blindness. If, besides mist, there is a feeling of pain, a specialist should see the eye at once.

There is such a thing as seeing straight lines, or lines of print, as uneven or distorted. People with this condition, unfortunately, rarely seem to be very concerned and mention the fact quite casually to the doctor as interesting but not important. It is, however, an extremely serious symptom, for it shows that there has been some distortion of the inner part of the eye, where all the nerve-endings are situated, possibly by a new growth. Not only does it call for immediate inspection, but for a long period of observation as well.

There is such a thing as seeing multiple images, with one eye or both. This generally is an early sign of cataract. Floating bodies are not usually serious, but if they are persistent the patient should seek advice.

An elderly person sometimes finds out suddenly that he can read without his glasses and is inclined to be pleased with himself. This apparent gain in strength is not, however, all to the good, as it means that the lens has become swollen and has shortened the focus at the expense of the long sight. It is often the first sign of cataract, and sometimes diabetes.

So when you find your sight varying from the normal, look upon it as a kindly danger signal and take the hint.

HINTS FOR THE HOUSEHOLD

For Dirt Walls.

When wall papers are not washable, a good plan is to use a gasoline dough ball. Take two ounces of white snow flake and dissolve in a quart of boiling water. Allow it to cool. Then remove into the open air, where add a quarter of a pint of gasoline. Finally stir in flour till the mixture may be kneaded into a ball. Take care that it is not sticky. Clean the paper with this dough, rubbing in one direction only, changing the surface of the dough as it becomes dirty. After treatment with the ball, go over the paper with a clean, dry cloth.

Filling in Cracks and Holes.

If the staining and polishing of wooden floors is being undertaken, all unsightly cracks and holes must first be filled in. The simplest and quickest way of accomplishing this is by means of plastic wood, a tin of which may be bought at any oil and color store. It is very easy to use, dries rapidly, and makes a permanent repair that is really a part of the wood itself. It takes both stain and polish excellently.

Tarnished Brass.

Tarnished brass can be cleaned by dissolving two heaped tablespoons of salt in half a pint of vinegar, and rubbing with this mixture. A little dry whiting should be used for polishing.

When Manners Are Correct

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Setting a Table

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: Will you please be kind enough to instruct me in the general ideas of setting a table? I have just been married, and I am being my own "maid." Before my marriage I lived at home, and, since we had a large family and no service, my mother had to get on as best she could with service that she knew was not careful, but she realized that she had no time for "style." Now I want to start my home right, if I can, and I am making every effort to learn what's what (as you so often say) in table-setting. And please let me thank you for your constant help to me through your column. T. H.

HOW I welcome questions like this, my dear friend, and how happy it will make me to help you start the new home right.

There are certain rules for table-setting which, if followed, will be the basic helps that will always make your table right. First figure out the reasonableness of the correct way to place your silver. Place only the pieces needed for the menu that you intend to serve. Don't carelessly place several pieces of silver and allow the guests to "help themselves." Of course, if you can arrange to bring in the silver for the dessert course, it is far better not to place the dessert-silver when the other silver is placed.

Next, in placing the silver, observe the sequence in which it is to be used. The diner expects to find furthest from the plate the piece of silver to be used first. That is, he "begins on the outside of the plate and works toward the plate."

Next, remember that, since knives are held in the right hand, they are placed on the right of the plate. Spoons, too, are placed on the right of the plate. But forks, since they are taken up with the left hand, are placed on the left of the plate. However, sometimes the oyster fork is an exception, although it may be placed on either the right of the knives or the left of the forks, depending on which side it balances better. Or the oyster fork may be brought in with the oysters as they are served.

Remember to place the knives on the table with the cutting edge toward the plate. The spoons should be placed with the bowl up. The fork should be placed with the tines up.

Place all the silver pieces, the linen and the dishes one inch from the edge of the table, first because they look better, and second because it prevents their being pushed off the table. The alignment of the silver should be perfect—it should be parallel, one inch from the edge of the table, and all ending on a straight line drawn from the farthest spoon to the farthest fork.

Now keep in mind the rule that all lines must be lengthwise or crosswise but never diagonal. So when you place next your bread-and-butter plate (if you are using one) you place it to the left of the plate and at the tip of the forks. The butter-spreader on it should be placed parallel to the edge of the table, with the handle toward the right. On the right of the plate, balancing the bread-and-butter plate, is placed the water glass or goblet, at the tip of the knife.

Another straight line is obtained when you place the napkin. It is placed on the left of the plate, with the hem and selvedge parallel to the edge of the table and the forks. The lower right hand corner is the open corner.

An Informal Wedding.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: Please tell me if it is proper for a maid of honor to wear a dark blue suit at a small wedding? The bride is going to wear a dark suit and a black hat. UNDECIDED.

SINCE the bride is going to wear a suit, the maid of honor could not choose anything more appropriate than a suit. The maid of honor always adapts her attire to the type worn by the bride.

(Mrs. Beeckman will be glad to answer questions on etiquette submitted by readers.)

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN

By Beatrice Fairfax

Forget About Him.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I am a young girl, still in my teens. I have been going with a young man for a month. We have found that we care a great deal for one another. But he is one who expects a kiss from a girl he likes. I do not care for that.

Because I refused to kiss him a great many times he became angry, and we quarrelled. We are still friends, but have decided not to see each other.

I would like to win him back, for I love him very much. He has no telephone and we never meet on the street. I will be waiting anxiously for your advice. RUSTY.

THE question of the kiss, Rusty, is one each girl must decide according to her own conscience. Some modern men are so spoiled that they demand petting and kissing on first acquaintance with a girl and are highly indignant because she values herself and her companionship too highly to kiss each newcomer. But are such acquaintances worth cultivating?

Just a hint, though—it is quite possible to refuse a kiss lightly, good-humoredly, charmingly without making an enemy. Some girls, of course, by deliberate coquetry, invite kisses, then are insulted by them. That's not fair.

I don't see how you can win your new acquaintance back, under all the circumstances. If I were you, I would think no more about the matter. Go about with other friends.

Folly's Daughter

A Thrilling New Mystery of New York Night Life

By Ann Lisle

Bonnie Plays Up!

"I'M going to take you to the smartest place in town," Kerby said when he invited Folly to Club Bon-Bon.

Folly was proud and happy because Sam was taking her everywhere now. But her joy came to an abrupt end when he saw Bonnie Clair bearing down on her table with a gleam in the "I-can-condescent lamps."

ANN LISLE

Folly remembered that gleam and the determination it betokened. Fifteen years ago Folly had begun her career in the theatre. And Bonnie was a "pony" when Folly was a show-girl. Folly had gone back to the third row when show-girls began to come tall and stately instead of cute and plump and vampish. But Bonnie had gone up . . . And Folly didn't want to be patronized, to be shown up, to be revealed as a pitiless thirty-nine or forty.

Her eyes were wide and pleading as Bonnie stopped at the table and said gayly but insistently: "Is it really Folly Duane?"

"As surely as you are the wonderful Bonnie Clair," Folly said propitiatingly. "I'm delighted to have this chance to introduce my friend, Mr. Kerby, to the only really important woman friend I have."

Bonnie smiled. Good stuff. She was ready to hand it to the little old trouper. Folly's line wouldn't hurt her with Roy. But better be sure first. Before introducing him Bonnie experimented carefully, explaining suavely and waiting to see how well Folly Duane followed her lead.

"We began our careers in the same show ten years ago when we were a couple of little greenhorns," she said.

"You were a baby then," Folly replied promptly, so delighted that Bonnie had called it ten years instead of fifteen that she felt she could risk acknowledging a few years seniority to this young-looking creature. "It's a wonder the Gerry society let you dance. You were not allowed in Boston, were you?"

The show had never reached such a metropolis as Boston, but the effect of Folly's words was excellent. It dated Bonnie as about twenty-four or five, and she was willing to have Roy think her that age. She felt sure a mere flapper wouldn't interest him. And, anyway, if he ever saw her in too strong a light and had a notion she was only twenty, he might turn from her. Too sudden disillusionment was bad business.

"You were a flapper yourself, trouper," Bonnie said generously.

They smiled at each other understandingly. Each was dated ten years under the reality. They had played up to each other's mutual advantage.

"Come to my table," Bonnie said largely. Then she presented Roy, who had stood around long enough and who would feel belittled if she kept him out of things any longer.

Folly was proud to go to Bonnie's table. Sam's show was not yet in rehearsal. There was indeed many a slip betwixt the promise and the part, as Folly knew all too well. It would establish her on a new basis with Sam to appear as the intimate of a celebrity like Bonnie. Bonnie was notorious, and not celebrated, but that was all one to Folly. Miss Clair had a gleam of purpose in her yellow eyes, but Folly was too intent on using her long-lost friend to dream that the clever hostess, who had made good already, wouldn't be so charming to an unknown like her unless she had a plan to use her to some great advantage.

Roy was pleased with Bonnie's graciousness. Sam was delighted to see his little friend wasn't quite the nobody she had seemed. The four of them sat down at Bonnie's table, and the hostess said in lordly fashion to the waiter at her table:

"This is on the house."

Sam gurgled. "No, you don't, little girl. Nobody ever pays Sam Kerby's check."

"It's time somebody did," Bonnie told him, crisply. "And if you think I wouldn't do more than serve a drink and a bit of lobster Newburgh as old home week celebration when I find my old pal Folly again, you simply never learned to judge human nature. And that can't be so, Mr. Kerby. If it was, you wouldn't be producing so many successes."

Sam beamed. Folly thought she would cry for joy. Roy felt vicariously noble as he saw how generous Bonnie was scattering sunshine everywhere. He felt that Bonnie was as good as she was beautiful, as kind as understanding, and that a neglectful wife like Viv could count herself lucky that her husband was out with such a—wonderful girl! He began to feel noble instead of faithless. And under the mellowing influence of Bonnie's wine and tact he assumed an approving and proprietary air. Bonnie felt the atmosphere she had created. She was delighted with it. And she felt that the time had come when she could strike the note for which she had been preparing. So she leaned over to Folly and said, with elaborate carelessness:

"Say, Folly, whatever became of that long-legged, copper-haired kid you used to drag around with you once in a while? She must be a big girl now. Wasn't her name—Jill?"

Forum Game Tournament Proves Elaborate Social Event Tuesday

Seventy-four tables were arranged for the game tournament at the new woman's clubhouse in the Country Club Estates Tuesday morning, when the Woman's Forum gave the initial affair in its new home. Bridge and "42" were played throughout the morning and the hours were pleasantly spent by 300 women attending.

The tournament was planned by the department heads of the forum under Mrs. G. B. Smedley, chairman of the ways and means committee, and Mrs. T. A. Hicks, general chairman was in charge. The affair was a benefit, the fund to be used to purchase a handsome curtain for the clubhouse stage. A neat sum was realized, according to the announcement.

Mrs. Anna Barker from the drama department of the forum, received a prize for selling the greatest number of tickets for the tournament, a lovely bottle of toilet water donated by the Wilford-Harrison Drug store.

Mrs. Eugene A. Shull of the senior forum section, won the high score at bridge, a new fall hat valued at $20, donated by Perkins-Timberlake, and the second high favor in this section, Country Club brick ice cream, donated by the Lehrack Ice Cream company, was won by Mrs. E. W. Calloway. Mrs. W. E. Lindley received the cut favor, bath salts presented by Wilford-Harrison drug store. Miss Elva Killingsworth won high among the junior forum members, a handsome black silk bathing suit presented by the Hub, and high score in the "42" games, a lovely bottle of bath champagne, donated by McClurkan's, was won by Mrs. Ben Nutter of Henrietta. Ice cream sherbert given by the Lehrack Ice Cream company was the second prize in "42" and was presented to Mrs. Preston Thaxton. Consolidation prizes were a pair of silk stockings donated by the Orchid shop, and bath salts given by Wilford-Harrison Drug company. Tallys, cards and score pads were furnished by Kress and Woolworth, and tables and chairs by the Freear, Riley and North Texas furniture companies.

Special hostesses were Mesdames C. C. Parfet, Eugene Millican, R. B. Parker, G. L. Shapard, George Smedley, H. C. Lankford, Guy Raley, C. E. Naylor, T. S. Mabry, T. A. Hicks and Carrie Hosmer.

Maxwell-Lomax Wedding Solemnized

A wedding of unusual interest to scores of relatives and friends of the couple was solemnized at the First Baptist church at high noon Tuesday, when Miss Virginia Lomax, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Lomax, became the bride of Carroll Maxwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Maxwell. The impressive ring ceremony was read by the Rev. S. A. Barnes, pastor of the Floral Heights Methodist church.

The altar and chancel was banked with cut flowers, while ferns and palms formed the background.

Miss Josephine Fisk sang for the pre-nuptial solo "O Promise Me," accompanied at the organ by Miss Elizabeth Cole, who also played the wedding march and recessional.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, T. G. Lomax, presented a charming picture in her gown of white satin and tulle, a basque model with ankle length skirt over which hung bouffant tiers of the white tulle and tulle veil held in place with a headdress of orange blossoms. She wore white satin slippers with rhinestone buckles and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Frances Lomax, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor, and wore a gown of orchid chiffon. Bridesmaids were Misses Georgia Maxwell, sister of the bridegroom, who wore pale yellow chiffon; Catherine Dodson of Vernon, who wore flesh chiffon, and Ellen Castlebury, also of Vernon, who wore blue chiffon. The attendants' gowns were all in the bouffant models in rainbow shades and all wore small horse hair braid hats with ripple brims harmonizing with their dresses and carried arm bouquets of gladioli in the rainbow colors. Little Miss Peggy Fritz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Fritz, was the ring bearer, and carried the ring in the heart of a white rose.

Jimmy McPhail was best man to Mr. Maxwell and ushers were Jinks Smith, Clint Atkins and Bob Thompson of Austin.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell left for a wedding trip to Colorado and California, and upon their return, about August 15, will be at home at 1615 Garfield street.

Both bride and bridegroom are members of two of the city's most prominent families, and are popular members of the younger set.

Among the out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Dodson of Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Davis of Breckenridge, and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Castlebury of Vernon.

Fashionable London Bride

Underwood and Underwood

One of the outstanding events of the "little season" in London was the marriage of the beautiful Joan Yarde-Buller, daughter of Baron and Lady Churston, who was wedded to Noel Guinnes, scion of a wealthy Irish family, at St. Margaret's church, while members of the British royal family looked on.

On the Back Track

THEODORE ROOSEVELT and Woodrow Wilson kept the naval oil reserves under the watchful eye of the secretary of the navy. Warren G. Harding and his secretary of the navy transferred the naval oil reserves to the department of the interior.

What happened is ancient history. Edward L. Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair obtained control of the naval reserves. This precipitated one of the most sordid scandals in American history. President Coolidge in March of this year ordered the naval reserves returned to the naval department. This will take place on August 1. After that date the navy will be responsible for the administration of all leases made in the reserves except three on producing wells in California.

Harding is dead. Daugherty is in disgrace. Albert B. Fall and Edward L. Doheny must go to trial and plead to federal indictments returned against them for alleged crookedness in obtaining the leases. Denby, the naval secretary who agreed to the transfer, is dead but he doesn't know it. Josephus Daniels is happy. He was secretary of the navy for eight years. Oil kings in search of naval leases were not permitted to break down the barriers he had erected.

Robert M. LaFollotte is dead. LaFollotte and Senator Thomas J. Walsh exposed the traffickers and brought them to justice. Now the naval guardians are going to adopt the Daniels policy of conservation, "based on efforts to keep as much of the oil in the ground for as long a time as possible."

This is a vindication of the Roosevelt policy. It is a vindication of the Woodrow Wilson policy. It is a vindication of the work of LaFollotte and Walsh, statesmen of the old school who believe that a public office is a sacred trust.

Money In Sulphur

STATE Comptroller S. H. Terrell has discovered that there is money in sulphur and he has demanded payment of nearly $1,000,000 in gross receipts in sulphur taxes of two big sulphur companies in this state. He alleges that the officials of these companies had been rendering production receipts from six to nine dollars less than the average posted market price per ton, and that the unpaid taxes are for the period beginning June 13, 1923, when the 2 per cent sulphur tax went into effect. Under the law one-fourth of the sulphur tax is credited to the available free school fund of the state, and the remainder goes into the general revenue fund. Former Governor Oscar B. Colquitt has the figures to show that $23,000,000 in back taxes await collection. Why disturb the sleepers? If let alone they may get away with it.

Ferguson Park On the Way

BELL county is the birthplace of James E. Ferguson. Bell county is the birthplace of Mrs. Miram A. Ferguson. Temple has been their home place for many years. Now a 7-acre tract has been deeded to the city of Temple by F. L. Denison, to be known as Ferguson park in honor of Former Governor Miriam A.

Pat Morris Neff was the foremost champion of state parks while he officiated as governor of Texas. Is there a Neff park in the city of Waco; is there a Colquitt park in the city of Dallas; is there a Hobby park in the city of Beaumont; is there a Campbell park in the city of Palestine; is there a Lanham park in the city of Weatherford? Is there a Sayers park anywhere in Texas?

Money In Wheat

A WHEAT market situation as favorable for farmers this season as it was a year ago is foreseen by the federal department of agriculture, despite the forecast of a larger production this year and the increasing stock on hand July 1. Cotton sharps predict 20-cent cotton and prosperity for the southern growers of the fleecy staple. Political corn sharps say that there will be big money in corn fattened hogs this year and prosperity in the pork and corn belt. If so, why farm relief?

The Day Book of a New Yorker

By BURTON RASCOE.

NEW YORK, July 19. (EFS)—In 1897 a malefactor was being tried in the state of Massachusetts on a charge of murder. His last name was Ivory. The prosecution rested its case after a terrific summing up of the evidence. The case that day was not given to the jury. William Sevear Woods was writing heads on the Springfield Republican. He wrote a head over the story of the trial that day which read, "Ivory's Hope Sinks."

This pun attracted the attention of a New York magazine publisher. He telegraphed to find out who wrote the head. When he got the name, he wired Woods to come on to New York to talk over the proposition he had to offer concerning a job.

Woods came to New York. He is now the editor of the Literary Digest.

Rollin Lynde Hartt, who used to be a preacher and who is now a magazine writer, has just read "Elmer Gantry" by Sinclair Lewis. I asked him what he thought of it. "Part of it is very true," said Hartt. "As a work of realism it has a very accurate description of a stove."

The Forlieth street store of the Woolworth ten-cent emporiums is also on Fifth avenue and it is unique among the nickel and dime stores in the class of customers it attracts. Handsome men, garbed in what the popular notion is of what the well-dressed man should wear, may be seen there buying ash trays, decorative candles, novel toys, or bits of household wear and work tools. Grand dames, with immense bosoms covered with ropes of pearls may be seen loading up the arms of uniformed chauffeurs accompanying them with material for curtains, cheap silverware, glassware, and what not.

Dogs are always prominent on Fifth avenue and in Central Park, and it seems to be highly fashionable for young women to walk along the avenue with chows, Pekingese, bulldogs, terriers, and police dogs on leashes. Yesterday I observed a lass of the sort who has tea almost every afternoon at the Ambassador, the Ritz or the Plaza, following no less than three dogs on leashes. And I must say she managed them very well in the crowd.

At an English avenue tea room the other night a ribald and amusing inebriate took shelter under the awnings of the terrace in the rear of the tea shop. A heavy rain was falling. The drunk engaged some of the patrons in conversation. The proprietress, a lady of great firmness, approached the intruder and bade him begone. He was, she feared, annoying her paid guests. The drunk surveyed the bizarre Greenwich Village restaurant with its brisk Japanese waiters trotting silently to and from the kitchen, and shouted loudly, "I'm going, but I wish you success with your Chinese restaurant."

He reeled across Macdougal alley, with its pink fronted geranium adorned houses, and added, as a parting shot, in falsetto:

"What time d'you serve tea?"

The patrons were amused, but not the proprietress.

ABE MARTIN

"I wux jest thinkin'," said Joe Kite, this mornin', about th' ole time bartender who used t' call us back an' set 'em up ever' time we started home." A neat appearin' stranger, who refused t' give his name, is reported t' have told a number o' citizens that th' new Ford now in preparation will not fidget in traffic or cut corners like a gold fish.

Every now and then he sighed and groaned as if he were dreaming of the week's work ahead of him.

Beauregard was called "Beau" for short, but he did not live up his dashing nickname. For the only sweetheart he had ever had was little Mabel Wilmot, and he was going to marry her just as soon as ever he could afford to.

Mabel had come home with Beau at midnight and was asleep now in Sally's bed in the room that Sally and Millie Jerome shared at the back of the flat. Mabel often spent a night with the Jeromes when Beau was too tired to take her home.

Sally had spent the night in the hammock couch on the front portch.

It had been anything but a comfortable night for her. First of all she had got up at midnight to give her bed to Mabel. Then the hammock couch was three inches too short for her straight young body and there had been some mosquitoes to bother her, besides. In short, it had been a night of horrors.

But it takes more than one such night to dim the fresh loveliness of twenty, and Sally was just twenty. Her skin was as smooth as a healthy baby's, and her eyes were bright and dewy when she opened them to the glare of the morning.

High above the housetops across the street the red August sun stood in a sky of brass.

Sally blinked at it. "Hello, Sun! Up and at it again, aren't you?" she asked silently, "And here's where I rise, myself!"

She folded her sheets, set the cushions upright on the swinging couch, and went indoors.

The darkened living-room was a sea of tossed Sunday newspapers. There were cigarette ashes scattered on the rug and Beau's straw hat lay on the seat of the armchair beside the window. Across the back of it hung his limp collar and necktie.

On the dining-room table were the remnants of the midnight meal that he and his Mabel had eaten there six hours before—crusts of rye bread on a plate, a bowlful of cream cheese with green onions chopped up in it, and two half-emptied glasses of ginger-ale. Mabel's little lipstick-stained handkerchief and her meshbag lay beside them. Under the table were the navy-blue sandals that she had kicked off and left lying there.

Sally picked them up and tip-toed down the long narrow hall to the bathroom.

Making as little noise as possible, she bathed, cleaned her teeth and brushed her hair.

It was lovely blue-black hair, clipped close to show the shape of her pretty head, and it shone like satin.

Sally's eyes were deeply blue with thick upcurling lashes that cast shadows against her lids. Unusual eyes that changed with her moods, and became gay and tender and grave by turn.

She had the flawless white skin that is a real gift of the gods to blue-eyed brunettes, and a red-lipped smile that people never forgot once they had seen it.

But her greatest beauty was one that she did not know she had. Her shoulders.

In a world of round shoulders, freckled shoulders, too-fat shoulders, too bony shoulders, and shoulders that do not match, Sally's were a marvel.

They were straight where shoulders should be straight, and they were beautifully curved where shoulders should be beautifully curved.

Many a beautiful chorus girl in Mr. Ziegfeld's famous "Follies" would have given her eye-teeth and a week's salary for shoulders like Sally Jerome's. The pity of it was that nobody ever saw them. But nobody ever did.

For Sally never had owned a low-necked dress in her life. When she went out in the evening with Ted Sloan, who lived in the flat downstairs, she went to a movie or to a restaurant where the women did not "dress," and the frocks that she wore there were plain straight little things with high round collars.

In the mornings "around home" Sally always wore calico bungalow aprons—the kind that can be bought for 90 cents in any neighborhood dry-goods store.

There was one of them hanging on the hook behind the bathroom door and she slipped into it before she started her morning "up-setting" exercises, as she called them.

Every morning of her life Sally did these exercises for 15 minutes, standing before the open window of the bathroom. They kept her fit as a fiddle, so she said.

"One—two—three—four," she began to count aloud, as she bent from the waist down, time after time, to touch the floor with her fingertips.

Then she began to hum, swinging back and forth in perfect rhythm, "Five—six—seven—eight." And, then without realizing it, she began to sing Nick Lucas' little song, keeping time to her movements:

"High—high—high
Up on the hill,
Watching the clouds
Go—by—"

What a nice happy song that was, she kept thinking as she sang. She shut her eyes and thought of a green hill-top with the wind ruffling the tall grass and the clouds sailing by like silver ships—Wouldn't it be gorgeous to get out of town on a sweltering day like this and find some green hill-top far away in the country? To be with someone you loved to be with. With someone you loved—Not Ted Sloan—No, not Ted Sloan. Decidedly not.

The World Was Her Dance Floor

"High—high—high

"Up—on the hill—" Sally was singing in the top of her voice now as she did her daily dozen with all her might and main.

"Well, for Pete's sake! What are you trying to do—Wake the dead?"

At the sound of the peevish voice behind her Sally jumped and swung around sharply. Her happy little song stopped.

Millie, her younger sister, had opened the bathroom door without a sound. She stood now on the threshold in her pink nightgown and bare feet, and her little face was dark with ill-nature.

"Not even seven o'clock yet, and you shieking all over the house like an alarm clock!" she whined crossly. "You woke me up, and I'm dead for sleep—" She sagged against the wall and yawned, opening her little pink mouth like a kitten.

You would have marveled, if you had seen them together, that the same family could produce a Sally and Millie.

For Sally was all pep and life "go" while Millie was a clinging vine, a drone in the hive. Her blue eyes were slow-moving, her voice was a drawl, and every movement of her body was lazy. She drove Sally wild at times.

Nevertheless, she was a pretty thing in a baby-faced kind of fashion.

Like Beau, who was her twin, Millie was exceedingly blond. Her hair was pale gold. So were her brows and lashes but she kept them dyed with some sticky stuff that she called "Chinese black." There was always a bottle of it somewhere in the house.

"How soon are you going to be through with the bathroom?" Millie asked when she had yawned four times. "Because I'd like a bath now that I'm up—"

"It's time for you to be up anyway," Sally cut her short. "That is, if you want to get to the office on time for once in your life! She began to gather together her brushes and clothes.

"I don"t, though. I don't care whether I EVER get to that office again or not." Millie's little rose-and-white face set itself into stubborn lines "I just loathe the thought of going down there and taking dictation from that horrid Mr. Bursall, any more. He always puts his hand on the back of my chair and leans over me so that I don't know which way to look, Sally.—He embarrasses me so! I just know that one of these days he's going to get a little bit too fresh—and there I'll be, walking the weary again for another new Job—" She shrugged her thin shoulders in a hopeless and resigned way.

Poor Millie . . . She was always leaving her jobs. And she always had to leave them for the same reason; because some man or other in the office "got smart" with her. After that there was nothing for her to do but walk out, was there? No nice girl would stay in a place where the men made love to her, would she? . . . Certainly not. Ask Millie. She knew.

"Start my bath-water for me, Sally," she drawled. She wasn't six feet away from the tub, herself but it never ocurred to her to do anthing herself so long as Sally was there to do it for her.

She and Beau were a year older than Sally, but Sally always felt that they were a couple of irresponsible babies and treated them as if they were. She looked after their clothes, got most of their meals, gave them advice that they never took, and loaned them money that they never failed to take. She was like an older sister to them. She was the real head of the family, as well as its willing slave.

And so, without thinking, she obediently bent over the bathtub and turned on both of the faucets. Then she spread a faded bath mat on the floor and took two clean fluffy towels from the linen-closet under the window.

"There you are, Hon!" she said briskly and went out, closing the door gently, so as not to wake the sleepers on the other side of the hall.

By half past seven she had breakfast all ready to put on the table; and was pouring the strained chilled orange juice into five little glasses when her mother came into the kitchen.

Mrs. Jerome had once been a beauty. There were traces of beauty still in her plumb pale face, her blue eyes, and thick fair hair that was just beginning to gray.

"Good morning, Mother. Did you have a wretched night?" asked Sally, all concern and sympathy.

"Wretched. I didn't sleep a wink until it was broad daylight," Mrs. Jerome declared with a moan. She sank down besides the table and her chair creaked under her weight. Mrs. Jerom was stout.

"Pour me a cup of coffee, Sally," she said. "Just a drop, and then I'll go back to bed and have 40 winks. I'm as limp as a rag."

She looked it, too, sitting there in her faded gray kimono and Sally's heart went out to her. Her blue eyes were full of tenderness as she watched her mother drain a second cup of coffee.

"Just nine years ago today that your father walked out and left me with you three children to raise!" Mrs. Jerome remarked when she finished a piece of toast. "You were only eleven then, Sally, and the twins a year older—My soul, but it's no wonder I can't sleep nights when I think of all the trouble I've had!"

She picked up her book—it was Edna Ferber's "Show Boat— and went slowly and heavily back to her bed.

Books were practically the only excitement in Mrs. Jerome's life. She lived on books. Just lived on them.

Perhaps she loved the romance and glamour in them more than most readers because there was so little glamour and romance in her own life.

They had gone out of it 11 years before when her good-looking husband had walked out of the front door for the last time.

"I'm not coming back, so don't look for me," he had told her. "I'm going where I can get a decent meal once in a while and a bed that's fit to sleep in."

Evidently he had found what he wanted for there had never been any word from him except an occasional money-order. But it was too bad he hadn't stayed home for a year or two longer; for by the time Sally was 13 she could keep house far better than her mother She was a born housekeeper, was Sally.

The meal that she put upon the table at a quarter of eight was delicious, even if the food was simple and plain. It was well served too. The glasses, cups and plates shone, and there was abowl of yellow daisies in the middle of the table.

"How tricky everything looks!" Mabel Wilmot cried when she came popping into the room. "May I have my coffee this minute, Sally? I've got to shake a leg or I'll be late for work.

Mabel worked at Bursall's in the same office with Millie.

"Millie tells me she is going to quit her job at the end of the week," she went on, pouring cream into her cup. "I'll tell her she's crazy to do it, but you know Millie—She just won't stay long in a place unless she's having a good time there."

"Good time?" echoed Sally. "I don't know what you mean, Mabel."

Mabel laughed. Her laugh was an odd little sound, sharp as a paring knife.

"Well, she won't stay in an office unless there's somebody there that she's got a crush on," she explained bluntly. "And I don't blame her in a way. I know just how she feels. After all, she got to meet somebody worthwhile or how's she ever going to get married, I ask you. No girl wants to work around an office forever and ever, amen."

With that Beau's future wife jumped up from her chair. "Well, trolly-car! I must scoot!" she called in shrill farewell. "You'd better go and drag Beau out of bed or he'll never get his job-of-work today, either . . . By-by and ta-ta!"

The door slammed behind her.

It took Sally three hours to put the flat into order that morning. It always was at its worst on Monday after the litter and confusion of Sunday. Newspapers everywhere, dust everywhere, clothes scattered about.

But Sally had her own way of working. She played the phonograph in the living-room all the time she was busy, and every now and then she would stop for a second to try some kind of a new dance step—one of the fifty ones that she and Ted Sloan had worked out together.

"There's something nice about everyone,

"But there's everything nice about you—" sang Sally, dusting her mother's room when Mrs. Jerome went into the bathroom at eleven o'clock to dress herself for the day.

The tune went to her heels, and she stopped for a second to do a Black-bottom shimmy step at the foot of her mother's old black walnut bed.

Music always went straight to Sally's feet, and whenever she heard it, they would begin to tap the floor. She would dance anywhere and everywhere, and the world became her dance floor. Or at any rate that part of the world that was her world — the little world of the flat, the restaurants that she and Ted Sloan knew, and Mr. Peevy's office where she worked afternoons for $21 a week.

Mr. Peevey did a small mail-order business, and six days a week Sally appeared at his office at noon to do his typewriting for him.

He had a delicate stomach, and practically lived on little whole-wheat biscuits and raw milk. Every day Sally brought him a pint of milk, heated it on a small electric stove in the office, and served it to him along with three of the little biscuits.

He made it a rule to have the little meal at 12:15 sharp, and one of the chief worries of Sally's life was to get to the office on time every day.

This morning it was perilously close to noon when she opened the door of the flat and ran down the stairs that led to the street.

A door at the bottom of them opened, and a socky young man with gray eyes and rumpled red hair stepped out into her path.

Ted Sloan sold a certain make of cheap automobiles for a living and he kept no regular working hours.

"I'm just on my way downtown, Babe," he said to her with a wide friendly grin that showed square white teeth, "I'll take you in the buggy."

He took her arm to help her into the little car that stood waiting at the curb, but she shook his hand off. "I can get in by myself, thanks," she said. She didn't mind his touch when she danced with him, but at all other times it irritated her and made her nervous.

Just why this was so was a deep dark mystery to young Mr. Sloan. Sally, herself, never thought about it. She was too busy keeping the family fed and mended—keeping Mr. Peevy fed and soothed—to worry much about her own personal problems.

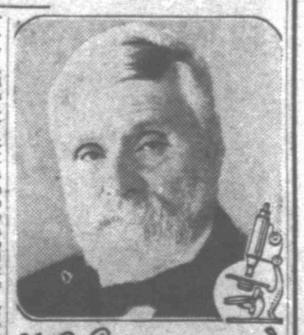

With scarcely a word, she and Ted Sloan drove all the way downtown to the Nye-Naylor building where Mr. Peevey had his small dark office that smelled like a musty pantry.

"Thanks for the buggy-ride, Teddy," Sally said as she got out of the car and started across the sunbaked sidewalk. "See you tonight, I suppose."

And then she forgot all about him. For something happened that swept everything else from her mind."

Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

THE NEED OF VACATIONS

Most of my readers began planning this summer's vacation almost as soon as last year's vacation was completed. All during the year people struggle through their day's work, thinking about how tired they will be when summer comes and how much they will need a vacation. The general idea about the need of vacations is people believe they become so exhausted and enervated during the year that they really need a long rest in the summer to make up for their overwork.

I believe it is possible for one to live so that the hours of work and the hours of recreation are so balanced that one is never harmed by too much work, and never actually in need of long periods of rest. Anyone who thinks he needs rest from work will find, upon a little self-investigation, that he has probably been over-eating, under-exercising, and not playing enough.

Through each day, week, and month of the year, it seems to me, the only real need of a vacation is that of getting away from customary surroundings and, through environment and the education of travel, be in position get new viewpoints, meet new friends, and enlarge the mental horizon. The mental change is the important thing and this of course has its undeniable effect upon the physical.

One who is daily confined to the routine of office work should take his vacation in the woods or mountains or, perhaps, take a camping trip. Even though the office worker has balanced his habits so that he has spent a good deal of time in the open air on Sundays and holidays, he will still get a great deal of pleasure and profit from two or three weeks spent entirely in the open, and close to nature. During such a vacation, the only routine to be practiced is regularity of meals and the proper selection of foods. Long hikes into the woods should be taken, and the mental worker should try to get away from comparisons and be by himself as much as possible.

One who works at mental labor will likewise find he can get a great deal of good from the same kind of vacation. Either the man who works with his brain or the one who works with his hands will find that the essential thing to do is to rest the mind from any burdensome thoughts and exercise the physical body to the utmost. The secret is in getting back to nature and being re-created for a time by the wholesome satisfaction of feeling like a primitive man.

HURRAY!

It's all settled now, girls and boys. We're going to New Orleans. No, you're wrong; that Birmingham lead means nothing, for the Pels will pluck the pennant right out from under them.

Who sezzo?

Why, Lone other than your cousin Bob Tarleton. This famous man of baseball affairs was in the city Tuesday looking over the ivory crop in behalf of the Pittsburgh Pirates. He saw plenty, of several grades. But that's beside the issue. Sir Robert admitted without the least bit of pressure that "New Orleans, bo, HAS GOT the pitchers. 'Nd that's what it takes. They'll win it sure, bo. I been down there and seen 'em!"

And that's all over. Tough on the ball players who believe they can make more money in Birmingham with a Dixie series, but a pleasure plus to pleasure-seeking fandom. Anybody ought to get more of a kick out of going to New Orleans than to Bumingham.

The Pelicans gained a half game Tuesday, winning one while the Barons were splitting a bargain bill.

NICE

Dell Pratt (he's manager of the Waco team) is quoted as having conceded the Texas pennant to Wichita Falls. And now that's settled, too. All the Spudders needed was Mr. Pratt's okeh. Houston hasn't sufficient punch to head off the Williams crew, Pratt avers.

WAR ISN'T OVER YET

About Houston, warns the inevitable Stump Edington the second he hit the orchard yesterday, "Lissen, you (to Pilot Willard Carl), yuh better get out your six-shooters and put on steel shirts when yuh go down there to Houston. Boy, they're laying for you fellas!" There was an altercation of a sort here several days ago, it seems, between Williams of the Spudders, Mathes of the Buffs, Lapan of the Wichita Falls club and Kane of the Houston team. Wichita Falls must have won, because the umpires ejected two Spudders from the park and put out only one Houston player.

Stomach Must Get in the Way

Stump was unusually exuberant. Just kept on bubbling over. Confessed at one stage that Pratt is the best hitter in the league. "Yessir, the best all-'round hitter," with a series of serious nods, "in this man's circuit." Stumpus is no zero hitter, himself, you know. But they do say keep the ball down on him and Pratt can't see it, etc., etc., etc.

* * *

Habits of great men: Mr. Umpty-Umph (unless he checks in with hush coin quickly, I shall divulge his real name), lugging a thermos jug of home brew to the ball game each afternoon, rearing back and quaffing of the same inning for inning until along about the seventh he doesn't know who's winning and doesn't much care just so long as he's aloud to yell as loud as he wants to at Mr. Roberts' umpires.

This hardly could be called an unusual in sports, but—

Mr. Blondy Cross, Sport Editor,
Record News,
City.

Dear Sir:

It is noted in the morning paper that you suggested that the cashier of the Security National bank and its directors remember our Mr. Tut Jenkins for that sweet home run over the Security National bank sign yesterday.

I have been instructed to call your hand and hereby request that you bring Mr. Jenkins into my offices at once, in order that we may present him with the bonus mentioned.

Very truly yours,
HUGH H. COTNER, Cashier.

DETROIT RALLY DOWNS MACKS

Tigers Score Seven Runs In Ninth Round

DETROIT, July 19. (AP).—Detroit snatched a game from the lost column today, scoring seven runs in the ninth inning, beating Philadelphia, 10 to 9, in the last game of their series.

Seventeen players were used by the Tigers, including four pitchers. Walberg for Philadelphia, kept the Tigers under control for eight innings and went into the ninth with a six-run advantake.

In the ninth, Detroit fell upon him and upon Rommel, who succeeded him. A triple by Fothergill scored three of the runs. Pate, relieving Rommel, was wild, walking two after Heilmann had doubled, and then he grooved the ball for Pinch Hitter Bassler, who singled home the tying and winning run. Score:

SENATORS 4, WHITE SOX 3

CHICAGO, July 19. (AP).—Washington drove Elmer Jacobs off the hill in the sixth-inning after erratic support and opportune hitting had given the Senators a lead to win today's game, 4 to 3. Hollis Thurston, who started for Washington, was driven off the hill in the fifth inning when Marberry came to the rescue to force Peck to hit into a double play, which broke up a rally. Thereafter the locals were unable to get a safe hit off Marberry. Score:

Whether Dempsey Will Stay Up Will Be Answered With His Legs

HARRY WILLS, WHILE FULLY CONSCIOUS, COULDN'T GET HIS PINS TO HOLD HIM

By ROY GROVE

The same thing that causes bald-headed men to knock each other down in their mad scramble for front row seats when the peppy burlesque chorus comes to town will carry Jack Dempsey back to the heights he once enjoyed in fistiana, or will erase his name completely from the pugilistic picture. The little boy in the second seat has the answer: "LEGS."

At 40, Walter Johnson still retains enough power and cunning in his good right arm to fool most big league batters. But his legs are finally breaking down under the strain and when Big Barney passes out of the national game it won't be because his arm has gone dead. His legs will have run their race and since there is a rule against a man sitting in a wheel chair in the center of a diamond, Johnson will have to retire from active competition.

At 41, Ty Cobb is hitting the ball just as often and just as hard as he ever did. But where Cobb once was ease personified in scampering around the bases, he now makes the rounds in a galloping motion. His legs are nearly gone.

Eddie Collins, at 40, still can field with all the grace of the Collins of 15 years ago. But bad legs are making it harder and harder for Eddie to keep at his task day in and day out.

Bob Fitzsimmons went out and knocked over some of the leading heavyweights of his day after he had passed the 40-year mark, but he caught them early, before he had to chase them very far. Jim Jeffries managed to stay away from a haymaker for eight rounds and Bob's legs collapsed. He still carried the famous Fitzsimmons wallop, but even a Fitzsimmons wallop is not of much use when you are sprawled out on your haunches.

Jim Corbett, at 34, played a merry tattoo on the tough map of Jim Jeffries for 22 rounds, but his legs failed to carry him out of the path of a vicious left hook to the stomach in the twenty-third round and Mr. Corbett was knocked as flat as a sophomore's pocketbook after a night on the avenue with one of Mr. Ziegfeld's glorified eye openers.

In training for his comeback bout with Jack Sharkey, Dempsey is to the undraped eye, hitting with enough force to flatten anybody. Short left hooks to body and jaw are droppin; sparring mates with sickening regularity. The critics are almost unanimous in stating that Dempsey is hitting with all his old-time ferociousness.

But hitting sparring partners who are paid to tear in and mix it, and hitting a Jack Sharkey, whose big chance for victory lies in his ability to step out of range of those same devastating wallops, is a horse of two or three different colors.

Sharkey, it is hinted, intends to make Dempsey chase him for five or six rounds in hopes of wearing down the ex-champ. Beginning with the seventh Sharkey is expected to begin trading wallop for wallop. And that's where Dempsey's legs will tell their story.

If the work he did in the mountains of California, together with the miles he has traveled on the road at his eastern training camp, have hardened the muscles of his once steel-like legs Dempsey is going to have a great chance to win, even after the seventh round.

But some of the boys who have been watching Dempsey at work are shaking their heads. Jack, in his prime, did all his fighting while balanced on his toes. Some of the critics think Leo Flynn's orders to Dempsey to "get down off his toes," is an admission Jack's legs no longer will stand the strain. One critic, who had seen Jack prance about on his toes against Willard, Brennan, Gibbons Carpentier, Firpo and all the rest, wrote bacl home after watching Dempsey go through a sparring session:

"In delivering a left hook to the body Jack's left heel came down on the ring floor before any other part of his foot."

To the ordinary layman that means noth'ng. But to those who make a study of such things it meant plenty. It mean that, unless Dempsey showed improvement in his footwork between that time and the day of the fight, he was in line for a pasting.

The old punch is still there; that's certain. But what about those legs? That's going to be the big question the day Jack steps through the ropes.

THE QUESTION OF LEGS ENTERS AGAIN

Legs are entering into sports today with more force than at any time in the history of all games. Can Dempsey keep his pins working as have Walter Johnson, Ty Cobb, Eddie Collins and his opponent, Jack Sharkey? The question today is whether Dempsey will fight on his toes or flat-footed. To put Jack on his feet is Leo P. Flynn's greatest worry in training the former champion.

CUBS RETAIN NATIONAL TOP

Pirates Idle While Chi Defeats Giants

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP).—The Cubs regained the National league crest today by tripping up the Giants by 8 to 5 while rain forced idleness on the Pirates. The victory marred John McGraw's jubilee celebration, however, as did a steady downpour of rain throughout the greater part of the game. Hartnett connected for his ninth home run of the year with two on in the eighth and English, following Hartnett at bat, cracked another long distance wallop. Score:

Sharkey Winds Up His Training

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—With a last resounding swipe at a punching bag after three final rounds in the ring, Jack Sharkey today wound up his training for the battle of his life against Jack Dempsey Thursday night.

Only a long walk in Central park and a rubdown are on the card for tomorrow, the fighter having reached the peak of condition and his fighting weight of 192 pounds.

Trained down to a fine edge, Sharkey found it harder than ever to "pull" his punches today, and he uncorked some steaming rights and lefts in sparring which drew words of caution from his corner.

Sharkey continued a favorite in the betting. Wagers were reported at odds ranging from 6 to 5, to 13 to 10 on Sharkey to win.

The bulk of Dempsey money was placed at longer odds, about 1 to 3 on the chance of knockout victory for the former champion.

The card of bouts supplementary to the main go Thursday night was completed today when George Monley of Denver and Ray Neuman of Jersey City, light heavyweights, were matched for a six-rounder to be staged after the Sharkey-Dempsey battle. Four six-round bouts will precede the main event.

Spudders Divide Double Bill With Brazos Village

Estell Grabs Opener With Ease But Benge Nudges Out On Steengrafe In Sharp Mound Battle

By BLONDY CROSS

Tom Estell got away slowly, Waco checking three tallies in the opening chukker, but thereafter the Spudder spitballer displayed superb form and Wichita Falls won the opening game of a double header Tuesday at the Gardner emporium before 2100 odd paid admissions, by an 8-3 score.

Milton Steengrafe gave up only two runs in the second game, a seven-inning melee, but Ray Benge was in top form and allowed none, Waco taking the nightcap by a 2-0 score.

There wasn't much to the second game other than the two pitchers. Steengrafe hurled a great brand of ball and was touched for a mere four safeties, but a home run over the left field fence by West in the fourth, a walk, a sacrifice, a misplaced fielder's choice and an infield out in the seventh scored two tallies for the visitors. Benge scattered four hits over seven frames and was in danger only once, the fourth when Griffin and lamb paired singles, but Griff was cut down at third while Ray stood by with his hand over his heart uttering fervent prayer.

Swenson and Turgeon with three blows each led the Wichita Falls advance in the first game while Windle topped the Waco clubbers with a trio of one-basers. Windle, in other words got almost half the hits Estell allotted. Tom was tagged for eight safeties, three of them in the first chapter. Eight innings of the nine, the veteran wet-ball tosser was complete master.

Beat Elliott.

The Spudders spanked Harold (Ace) Elliott, overworked star of the Cub corps, from the hill in less than five couplets. The left-handed Dick Kerr relieved and was dismantled in the eighth after serving a nobby two and two-thirds innings of crooked-arm stuff.

They reared up at us in a hurry for those three runs in the first frame of the staring game, pinked Tom roughly, then settled back and behaved quiet docilely the rest of the way. Windle started with a single to center and pulled in at third on a double dabbed into right center by Randle Moore. West singled to left, went to second on the throw-in and continued to third when the toss from Jenkins got by Lapan at the platter. Windle and Moore scored. Pratt bounded out to third and Swenson held West to the bag, but Shires flied out to right and West tabulated after the catch. Vigare aviated to Griffin in center.

Elliott shut the door in our faces for the initial round, but one run trickled in the Spud half of the second. Jenkins opened with a single to center. Benton hoisted out to Moore, Jenkins holding first. Swenson blew a double to left and Jenkins took third. Lapan soared out to right, Jenkins scoring after the catch, and Swenson getting trapped out between second and third.

Great Scott!

Our side ran off and left the boys in the fourth, scoring three and came back in the fifth and tabbed another, making the count 5-3, for us. There was one out in the fourth when Benton ripped a two-sacker to left. Swenson squashed the orange right back through the box for a one-baser that sent Benton shuffling over the medallion. The Lusty Lapan tagged up with a life-size double against the starboard wall and this Swenson pulled a Mercury trick (you know, the hombre back in the old Grecian loop who wore wings on his shoes) and literally flew the circuit, scoring on that two-bagger. Estell cracked one at short and Windle, trying for a play at third, plunked Lapan in the back with the result both of our battery was safe. Now, you don't have to believe this, but our pitcher and catcher put on a slug of larceny right on the next play. Maybe you can't imagine these guys being that slippery and swift, but, honest, both of those birds got on their bicycles and stole a base, the anything but fleet Lapan lumbering home with the money end of a double steal. Laffy popped out to short. Turgeon walked and Griffin flied out to center.

Rough on Richard.

With one out, Jenkins doubled to right in the fifth and scored on Benton's biff to center, a single. Swenson singled past short, but Southpaw Richard Kerr relieved Elliott on the dome and our advance did a temporary retreat.

However, Kerr was baptized in the eighth, the Spudders spanking Dickie for a quartet of safeties and three runs. A bevy of fluttering bingles by Lapan, Estell, Turgeon and Griffin teamed in with a sacrifice hoist by Lamb gave us the trio.

Estell fared in the ninth round just as he did in seven other stanzas, was not molested.

TEX WOULD CO-OPERATE

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—George L. (Tex) Rickard, boxing promoter announced today that the Madison Square garden corporation is anxious to co-operate with U. S. Attorney Tuttle in the latter's investigation, scheduled for tomorrow, of the sale of tickets to the Sharkey-Dempsey fight.

Federal subpoenas have been served on the two treasurers of the garden who had charge of the sale of fight tickets.

TOO LATE, BOYS, HE'S BOUGHT ONE ALREADY

Whether it has any thing to do with Carl Williams, Spudder manager, riding a train to the Dixie series, or not, nevertheless it's a fact that he bought a new automobile Tuesday, and according to the records in the office of Guy Raley, county tax collector, the new bus contains enough speed to take Carl to Dixieland just about as fast as a choo-choo.

Guy's records set out the fact that Carl peeled enough dough off his roll to purchase a Buick sedan.

Did You Know That—

WELL?

Bob Tarleton, Pittsburgh scout formerly connected with Beaumont and then Shreveport, was in the stands Tuesday looking over Stump Edington and several other promising youngsters.

Rollicking Robert had much to say but little to divulge. Somebody told him that Tom Jenkins is the greatest natural hitter—hasn't any weakness at all, that ever stepped into the Spud lot. Robert grinned, "This sure is hard work, scouting for Pittsburgh. I imagine a fellow gets up pretty much of a sweat, too, scouting for the Yanks."

You might add an unusual in sports; Bill Newell, the park concessionaire, actually has started putting ice on the soda pop now. This sudden show of extravagance is attributed to free will spirit developed by the one per cent attendance increase registered at Spudder park this season since the gang is leading the loop.

HARD ON LAFFY.

We all like our base hits, any ball player will tell you, and George LaFayette likes his just a little bit better than lots of fellows do. Therefore it must have injured George's feelings more than it would the average guy when Umps Daly called him out on that close one in the third frame of the opening game. George crossed everybody up by laying down a bunt and apparently beating it out with margin to spare. However, far be it from this writer to try umpiring the game from up in the grandstand. But she did look mighty close, at least.

SPEED IS IT?

The grandstand waxed very much excited but it did NOT collapse, as one naturally would have expected it to do, when the sturdy Lapan, who does most of his running sitting down, stole home on the delayed portion of that double steal teamed in on by the inexorable Punch and Estell in the fourth canto of the first game. Now Lapan will strut around for a week with his chest out, telling how back there in 1913 he stole another base. "Lissen, guy, any time yuh think I can't hurry, just try me!"

Turgeon was young Johnny-on-the-spot in the first inning of the second game when Randle Moore tried to steal second. Tobin's throw to the bag was high, but Pete went up with one hand, speared the pill in the webbing of his glove and in the same motion swept down and tagged Moore out as he slid in.

WHY, OF COURSE.

Between games Lamb was heard confidentially telling Manager Williams, "This Tarleton's down here to watch ME play. Can't you get somebody else out there in my place this next game? I don't want to run the risk of losing out on this Dixie series money, honest I do, er-er-er I mean don't."

Speaking of Lamb, there weren't many snappy catches indulged in by the noble athletes yesterday, but that was a pretty snappy non-catch registered on Lucys pop-up two-bagger 15 feet back of short in the second inning of the nightcap. Lamble hoisted one that was by many feet higher than it was long. Windle lost her in the sun. Pratt could have caught it but apparently didn't think of that. West tore in at a nervous gallop from center field but the distance was too much.

Swenson pulled a couple of gaudy snags on drives at third in the aftermath. He went up into the atmosphere with one mitt and robbed Windle in the first. Glued onto bullet drive by Wolgamot in the third.

Vigare gave the customers a reverse thrill in the fourth chukker of the second game when he took West's high bullet throw from center with one paw, dived into the bag and tagged out Griffin as the Spudder hit the dirt for third. Lamb had singled to center and Pug tried to stretch it to third. Only sharp work by West and Vigare could have headed Griffin.

CROOK.

Moore sprayed a few sparkles over the outfied terrain in the fifth when he went to the left field boards at risk of bumping his noggin and pulled in Benton's should-have-been double. We weren't having much luck, for Steengrafe lined a sizzling drive into the dirt at the great Pratt's feet and Pratt came up with a bit of clean highway in the samo stanza.

TOUGH.

It is quite likely Vigare feeling's were hurt, too in the seventh by an umpirical verdict at first, Felix apparently having outfooted a bunt to third base. The left-handed Harry Kane with a grandiloquent gesture, waved Vigare out. Waco coacher shouted, "No!" And Harry gave everybody a laugh by coming right back, fist closed, arm extended in statuesque pose with a heavy basso, "Yes!"

WELL, WELL, WELL

S. S. HOMERIC, July 19.—(By Radio to the Associated Press.)—Arrive Wednesday with Mickey Walker, world's middleweight champion, and the heavyweight champion of Europe, who is ready to substitute for Dempsey if the courts prevent his bout with Sharkey. (Signed) Jack Kearns.

In Paris shortly before departing, Kearns announced he would arrive in New York the day before the Dempsey-Sharkey fight and try to collect money he claims was due him as manager of the former heavyweight champion. If necessary, he said, he would institute court proceedings to prevent the fight.

SYD GOES TO HOLLYWOOD

DALLAS, July 19.(AP)—Sydney Cooper, for several years professional at Tenison Park Golf course has accepted a position at the Biltmore Country club near Hollywood, Cal., on recommendation of his son, Harry Cooper, runner-up in the recent national open tournament. Negotiations were completed last night and Cooper tendered his resignation to the Tenison club today.

HUDKINS AND BAKER DRAW SUSPENSIONS

NEW YORK, July 19.(AP)—Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska wild cat, and Sergeant Sammy Baker, welterweight rivals, were suspended indefinitely Tuesday by the New York state athletic commission for accepting a match in Los Angeles July 25 after contracting for a return bout in New York August 2.

DEMPSEY WILL WIN IN HURRY?

Flynn Tells World Jack Is In Mean Shape

By LEO P. FLYNN
Manager of Jack Dempsey.
(Copyright 1927 by Universal Service and New York American)

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., July 19.—This was the last day of training for Jack Dempsey, and I want to tell the world that he is in the best possible physical condition.

If the result of the fight depends on his physical shape, Jack is coming down to the Bronx with a million majority. I have been criticized by a lot of wise Alecks for laying him away from the boxing gloves six days before the fight, but I can honestly say that he is in better shape right now than he has been in years.

Dempsey was almost ready to go when he arrived here from California. My idea is that he did too much work in the mountains out there, and I had a hard time keeping him from going over the edge.

Thinking About Tunney.

When he trains for the Tunney fight after she has stopped this Sharkey person, there will be different tactics. He is going back to California Saturday night or Sunday, and will rest up out there until it is time to come back East and start working.

He is not going to do any work out there. He is going to take on some weight and come back here ready for about three weeks of hard training. That is all he will need for Tunney or anybody.

Jack is not the kind of a fellow who dissipates or anything like that. He doesn't drink and he doesn't smoke. He is proud of his physique and tries to keep himself at 100 per cent efficiency.

All the stuff about his having a sore left arm is what you might call the hoey. There was no sign of it when he worked out publicly today. I thought he was hitting better with his left hand than he has been hitting since he has been here.

Lots of Friends.

He was shooting that left in with his old-time viciousness, and if this Sharkey person happens to get in the way of it he will realize that Dempsey is fighting and not fooling.

You would be surprised at the number of letters and telegrams Jack gets every day. There were about 200 of them today, most of the mwishing him well and some of them asking him for money. There were also a few cablegrams from friends he made when he was in Europe.

He has a remarkable number of friends for an ex-champion, but he won't be an ex-champion long, take it from me, Jack Dempsey will wade through Sharkey and win his title back. Outside of that we haven't made any plans.

MAJOR LEAGUE LEADERS

STILL INVENTING AT 86.

Although he is 86 and has lost his right arm, John Phillips, who is known in England for his many inventions, goes to work every day and continues to devise new things. He and his wife, who is 84, recently celebrated their diamond wedding anniversary at their home in Streatham. After Phillips lost his arm several years ago, he immediately learned to write and draw with his left hand. Among his inventions are a rotary bacon cutter, a pneumatic brake, a mineral water bottle, a pill packer and counter, and a machine for automatically turning the leaves of music at a piano.

RACING DRIVER KILLED

HOUSTON, July 19. (AP)—Crushed under his racing car when it collided with a crippled entry at the Bellaire speedway about 6:30 p. m., Sunday, W. T. Weatherbee, San Antonio driver, died an hour later.

Americans have been invited to exhibit at the International Exhibition fair at Tallinn, Estonia, this year.

Payne to Hurl Rubber Game

George Washington Payne will essay to halt the Waco Cubs this afternoon at Spudder park in the rubber game of the series.

Payne last night was said to be in pretty fair shape and quite anxious to get at the Cubs. Should George win this afternoon it will be his fifteenth victory of the season.

The Spudders by splitting that double header yesterday dropped a half game to Houston who nosed out on Shreveport. All of which doesn't matter in anybody's young life.

Vessels in many Scandinavian ports were still ice-bound in June this year.

Matlock Returns

JACK MATLOCK

The veteran Los Angeles battler returns to the local ring Friday night in an eight-rounder against Roy Edwards on the card with the Matsuda - Hassen wrestling match.

The card is to be staged at the Ross stadium.

Edwards looms as one of the fastest boys Matlock has been matched with in this section.

GOODBYE, MR. JACK SHARKEY

I'll Win With Two Punches, Declares Dempsey

By EDWARLD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, SARATOGA LAKE, N. Y., July 19. (AP)—If physical condition alone spelled fistic prowess, Jack Dempsey today, his backers assert, would be the heavyweight champion of the world, rather than a former titleholder facing the bitterest struggle of a colorful career when he meets Jack Sharkey Thursday night at the Yankee Stadium.

Best Shape of Career.

Driving through a training period of almost three months with a fierce determination to accomplish what no other former heavyweight champion ever has done—win back the title once lost—Dempsey, at 32, today is declared to be physically stronger than at any point in his ring career and his general condition well nigh perfect. He says so himself, his handlers "admit" and most of the critical observers agree to it.

But somewhere along the path Dempsey blazed through the heavyweight division for seven years from the dust and heat of Toledo to the debacle in the rain at Philadelphia last fall, the erstwhile Manassa mauler has left youth and the prime attribute of youth—speed. The panther stalk is going. The clawing viciousness of a deadly, furiou attack is a part of that past and with it has departed coordination of brain and perfectly timed muscles.

Most of the critics believe that Dempsey to win at all, must finish his man in five rounds—that the youth and strength of Sharkey must triumph in the long 15-round run. But Dempsey has this to say:

Dempsey Confident

"I'll knock Sharkey out in two punches. But if I don't, have no fear that my strength will not carry over the long route. I'm in the finest shape of my career and I can bowl Sharkey over in the fifteenth as easily as in the first."

Two months of rugged manual labor in California, topped by four weeks of exacting drill here have left Dempsey a sun-baked goant of 198 pounds, with arms of a blacksmith, sinewy legs, and shoulder muscles that writhe and knot in action. The care-free, rough-housing spirit of the Firpo-Carpentier and Gibbons day has returned with the passing of mental worries and exasperating lawsuits such as harrassed Dempsey during preparation for his battle with Gene Tunney.

Infighter

Certain salient points, definite indications of Jack's plan of battle, stand out from daily observation of the training grind. Admitting that much of his old speed may be gone, Jack has dropped from his toes to the balls of his feet, modified the famous weaving, bobbing attack to mere swaying of the body and has sacrificed defense for the privilege of storming in close to whale away at the bodies of sparring partners.

Once inside a defense, Dempsey has demonstrated that his punching power is as great as it ever was. Jack has drilled hours both in workouts before newspapermen and in secret morning sessions to perfect a left hook to the body that is at least six inches shorter than that Dempsey has used.

Bridges May Go To Cowboy Corral

ABILENE, July 19.(AP)—Frank Bridges, former Baylor university coach, who was recently appointed director of the Olympic club, San Francisco, met here Monday evening with the Simmons university board of trustees at the board's request.

The successor to Victor Payne, who resigned last week as head coach at Simmons, will be selected Saturday, according to President J. D. Sandefer. A number of applications for the place have been received. It is conceded that Bridges and another prominent Texas college coach have the inside track for the place.

CUBS RELEASE MANN

BOSTON, July 19.(AP)—The Boston Braves Tuesday released outright Leslie Mann, outfielder, who has filled engagements with the Cubs, St. Louis, Cincinnati and the Braves, in 10 years' ball playing.

BRAVES BUY URBAN

BOSTON, July 19.(AP)—The Boston Braves Tuesday filled the gap in their catching staff caused by injury last week to Frank Hogan, by the purchase from the Toledo club of the American association of Lewis Urban former Boston college star.

Thomas Hardy, the novelist, recently celebrated his eighty-seventh birthday.

Littlefield Okehed As Varsity Coach

Bellmont Exonerated And Retained as Director

AUSTIN, July 19.—L. Theo Bellmont, director of athletics, was exonerated on charges made against him on his policy and was retained in his position and Clyde Littlefield was confirmed as head coach and football coach of the university by the regents Tuesday night. The vote was 69 to 3, the report adverse to Bellmont having been submitted by Chairman Robert L. Holliday and Edward Crane of the regents athletic committee and a minority report favorable to Bellmont by Regent Sam Neathery.

"Suggestions affecting athletic policy" of a general nature were carried in the recommendations adopted in upholding Bellmont.

M'GRAW FETED

NEW YORK, July 19.(AP)—Baseballdom joined hands with New York City today in honoring John J. McGraw, veteran manager of the New York Giants, who won ten National league pennants and three world's series championships for the nation's metropolis and who in 25 seasons at the helm has finished in the second division only twice.

It was 25 years ago today that McGraw came to New York as Giant manager during the bitter days of a baseball war. McGraw at that time left the American league to return to his first love, but American league magnates turned out on his jubilee to pay tribute to his remarkable career.

FURTHER OPERATIONS ON FOARD WELL AWAITS STORAGE TANKS

MAY LAY LINE TO FOARD WELL

Oil Standing 1200 Feet In Hole

Special to The Record News.

CROWELL, July 19.—Work on the Fain-McGaha-Roxana Matthews No. 1, the discovery well of Foard county, which hit the pay sand Saturday has been suspended awaiting the arrival of material for the erection of storage tanks.

While rumors carried the report Tuesday that a pipeline would be laid from the Vernon field to the Matthews well nevertheless the preparations for the tanks were made.

Oil was standing at 1200 feet in the hole Tuesday afternoon. Officials of the Fain-McGaha and Roxana companies estimated that when the well is fully completed it will be good for 75 to 100 barrels a day.

Hundreds of visitors inspected the new well Tuesday morning and afternoon. Although no large lease transactions have been reported as a result of the discovery well, nevertheless the activity is expected to "pick up" after the Matthews well has been fully completed.

The pay sand in the Matthews well was topped at 1474 feet. The hole was in a caving condition and as a result a liner was run Monday through the casing to stop the caving.

The Nelson Oil company well on the Allen lands in Cookes county is drilling at 1142 feet.

The F. G. Payne well in the William Sellers survey, block 110, Archer county is reported to have topped the sand at 1456-68.

In northwestern Hockley county, the World Oil company of Fort Worth, has a rig up for No. 1 Elwood at 330 feet from the north and west lines of league 7, Wilbarger county school lands, and two miles north of the town of Ropes. It will be spudded August 1, and will be drilled to 5000 feet, unless shallower production or impenetrable substances are found at shallower depths.

R. C. Schwab, formerly a scout for the Pure Oil company, in the Panhandle oil area, has become oil editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal. The Lubbock paper is taking the lead in publishing the news of the development and expansion of the south plains area. Before the acquisition of Mr. Schwab, it depended upon its able managing editor, Charles A. Guy for its oil news.

Deep Rock Oil company and associate No. 1 Lyman and Balfour, in section 9, block 2, of C. & M. survey, near Channing, in Hartley county, is drilling in line below 3465 feet. This lime was topped at 3420 feet. Unless more red beds should be found the drillers anticipate they may run into oil showings soon. The well is still making around 8,000,000 feet of gas from the upper gas sands.

Prairie Oil and Gas company is rigging up to deepen No. 5 Worley-Reynolds, in the northeast of the southeast of the northwest of section 83, block 3, of I. & G. N. survey, from 3044 feet, its present total depth, to the pay found below sea level in the Pampa pool, of Gray county. The No. 3 and No. 9 both found better production below sea level.

Marland Oil company has finally completed No. 1 Carver, in the Wm. Heath survey of northwestern Hutchinson county, as an 12,500,000 foot gasser in sands from 3240 to 3316 feet. Originally the well was drilled to 3850 feet and was plugged back. Elevation there above sea level was 3564 feet.

M. L. Stateline Drilling and Development company of Fort Worth moved three truck loads of equipment through Amarillo yesterday en route from the Megargel pool of Archer county, North Central Texas, to Artesia, in Eddy county, southeastern New Mexico. The Stateline company has gotten a lease from W. G. McKee of Artesia, to drill near the center of the northeast of 15-16-30E, in the northeast of Artesia. Mr. McGee was also in Amarillo.

Panhandle's Largest Well Temporarily Dead

AMARILLO, Texas, July 19.—The Panhandle field's largest oil well in daily production is temporarily dead.

It was killed so that it could be plugged back and shut off intruding water that came from being drilled too deep. It is the Cockrell-McIlroy Oil Company No. 1-B Cockrell in the southeast corner of section 1, block B3, of D. S. E. survey, in the McIlroy pool of southeastern Hutchinson county.

This well came in April 30, and for some days was one of the biggest in not only the Panhandle, but also of Texas. To June 30, this year, it had produced a total of 503,358 barrels.

On July 13 it made 5,665 barrels and 15 per cent water.

On July 14 it made 5,316 barrels and 28 per cent water.

On July 15 it did 4,665 barrels and 50 per cent water.

On July 16 it produced 1,628 barrels and 56 per cent water.

It was then "killed" to plug back and case off the water. Its total depth when a big gusher was 2,056 feet, and when killed was 2,901 feet.

DIXON GIVES CASH DIVIDEND

Panhandle Companies Make "Pay-Off"

AMARILLO, Texas, July 19.—The most important event of the past week in the Panhandle oil field was the declaration of three cash dividends by the Dixon Creek Oil Company for 50 per cent; Cockrell-McIlroy Oil Company and the McIlroy Oil Company, for 25 per cent each, on the outstanding stock.

These three firms, among the leaders in the Panhandle, are controlled and managed by S. D. and W. W. McIlroy, George W. Pennington, M. T. and H. A. Nobles.

The voting of the cash dividends to be paid to stockholders on August 29 will turn loose a total of $137,500.

While the first "melons" by the Cockrell-McIlroy and McIlroy companies, both now active producers in the new McIlroy pool of southeastern Hutchinson county, it makes the Dixon Creek's cash dividends to date total 250 per cent to its investors.

A summary of the return that investors in Panhandle oil firms have gotten back from local firms, made by Young & Hawley, shows that with the three melons, a total of 2,995 per cent, as follows:

Westex Oil Co., 1,200 per cent.
Smith Royalty Co., 900 per cent.
Dixon Creek Oil Co. 250 per cent.
Tattison-Lenix Oil, 220 per cent.
Heywood Oil Co., 110 per cent.
Triangle Oil Co., 100 per cent.
Echo Oil Co., 100 per cent.
Johnson Ranch Royalty, 45 per cent.
Bryan Royalty Co., 20 per cent.

Delving into the producing phase of the development work in the Panhandle, one finds that the McIlroy companies are well managed, with a minimum overhead in operating costs, and with a potential daily output of 30,000 barrels a day. To date the three firms have produced in excess of 3,500,000 barrels of crude. The Dixon Creek alone had produced 2,667,672 barrels to June 30, its first well coming in March 28, 1925.

Most of its production was sold at an average of $1.41 a barrel, due to contracts, but its present sales are at the posted market price of 95 cents per barrel, but Messrs. McIlroy are optimistic that low prices will not always prevail.

Oil Aid First Meet Scheduled For Tulsa

TULSA, Okla., July 19.—The annual Mid-Continent first aid week will be held as the opening feature of the 1927 International Petroleum exposition to be held here from September 24 to October 1, it was announced this morning by Don Wallace, head of the safety division of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association, under whose auspices the tournament will be held.

The meet is expected to bring more than 20 of the most efficient first aid teams in the Mid-Continent area to compete for the trophies which are being offered to winners, Mr. Wallace stated. In previous years great interest in the meet has been manifest by visitors to the exposition and is considered one of the most spectacular events on the program.

All companies in the petroleum industry within the area of the Mid-Continent association may send teams to the tournament. A team will be composed of six men and any employee of the company entering the team may be a member provided he is not a physician or a trained nurse. The rules for the contest this year will be similar to those of former contests, Mr. Wallace said.

Appeal In Death Case Postpones Execution

NEW ORLEANS, July 19. (AP)—Judge Percy Saint, state attorney general, today ruled that the appeal of Byron Dunn, sentenced to hang Friday, July 22, for the murder of Deputy Sheriff Sam Duhon of Calcieu parish to the United States circuit court of appeals has the effect of staying the execution.

NEW MILITARY CAMP

FORT WORTH, July 19. (AP)—A citizens military training camp which would be established at Lake Worth about 10 miles from here will be sought for next year by executive officers of the eighth corps area, according to Lieut. Frederick W. Maxwell, 358th infantry.

Mountain States Well Swabs Seven Barrels in 24 Hours

AMARILLO, Texas, July 19.—The Mountain States Oil Company at No. 1 Haile, in the southwest corner of section 24, block M21, of T. C. survey, and situated northeast of both the McIlroy and Badger pools, of southeastern Hutchinson county, swabbed seven barrels in 12 hours after it had set 30 hours when drilled in from 3,035 to 3,039 feet. It filled up 1,800 feet natural.

Northeast of White Deer, in Carson county, the Mound Valley Oil Company is starting to deepen No. 1 Whitter, in section 1, block 7, of I. & G. N. survey, from 3,192 feet. This well was originally drilled under the name of the Gibson Oil Corporation.

In the Archer area, west of Pampa, in northwestern Gray county, the Southern Petroleum Exploration, Inc. No. 1 McConnell, in section 174, block 3, of I. & G. N. survey, was drilling ahead at 2,420 feet and carrying the 8 1-2 inch casing. This test has been called the Petroleum Exploration. Roxana Petroleum Corporation No. 1 McConnell, in section 174, is pulling the big pipe at 2,900 feet and expecting the gas sand at once.

Northeast of Borger, in southern Hutchinson county, the Derby Oil Company No. 8 Johnson, in section 20, block Y, of M. & C. survey, was shut down at 3,010 feet to shoot. It made 132 barrels in an eight-hour period. First oil pay was from 2,977 to 2,997 feet and the second from 2,999 to 3,010 feet.

NESW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—A bullish interpretation of the government report on boll weevil emergence, combined with complaints of too much rain in the eastern belt and high temperatures in the west, seemed responsible for an advance which carried new crop months to new high records for the season in the cotton market today.

October sold at 18.68, or 48 points above the closing quotation of Monday, and 14 points above the best price touched on the advance last Saturday. They closed at 18.54, the general market closing steady at net advances of 5 0to 36 points.

The market opened firm at advances of 5 to 29 points, generally 8 to 12 points higher, in response to firmer Liverpool cables and eastern belt reports. Advances of another few points attracted considerable realizing, but it was absorbed on reactions of 8 or 10 points. The market firmed up again on the forecast for further showers in the eastern belt.

At first glance the report on boll weevil emergence attracted bullish comment, but evidently failed to inspire much fresh buying. The detailed weather reports confirming the reports of heavy rains in some eastern belt sections and showing high temperatures in Texas and Oklahoma, stimulated demand, however, and later the trade semed to place a more bullish interpretation on the boll weevil statement particularly with reference to the situation in Alabama and Mississippi.

Stop loss orders were uncovered as prices worked higher, and buying became more general, July advancing to 18.20, or 40 points net higher, while December sold up to 18.94 and March to 19.17, net advances of 44 to 49 points on the active new crop positions. Realizing checked the advance and there were reactions of 10 to 14 points from the best in late trading.

Liverpool cables said continental liquidation in that market had been absorbed by covering, trade calling and scattered buying with a shortage of contracts.

Exports today 39,129, baking 11,071,827 so far this season. Port receipts 5164; U. S. port stocks 1,035,286.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, July 19. (AP)—Bolstered by firm cables, hot weather in the western belt and a bullish boll weevil report, the cotton market experienced a spurt of buying today which sent prices soaring to highs, 50 to 53 points above yesterday's close. Profit taking near the end, however, reduced the gains for the day to 34 to 38 points at the close.

Better cables brought an opening rise of 12 to 18 points which a brief lull reduced five to eight points before the second advance came in anticipation of a bullish weevil report, carrying October to 18.30, December to 18.55, and January to 18.60, 25 to 28 points above yesterday's close. First constructions of the boll weevil report were bearish and prices eased down 15 points before steadying. Full details of the report and hot weather in the west checked the decline and brought a spurt of buying activity which swept October to 18.55, December to 18.80, and January to 18.85, or 50 to 53 points above the previous close.

Profit taking clipped 1 2to 16 points from the gains in the final hour of trading, but the close was steady.

Exports totaled 38,129 bales.

COTTON SEED OIL.

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—Cotton seed oil was moderately active and steadier today on southern buying and covering, inspired by the advance in cotton and the steadiness of crude oil. The close was 6 to 11 points net higher. Sales 16,500 barrels. Prime crude 8.50; prime summer yellow spot 9.50; July closed 9.65; September 9.90; October 10.13; December 10.17; January 10.21.

COTTON GOODS.

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—The sharp rise in cotton today steadied the cloth markets and led many cotton manufacturers to insist more strongly upon not accepting business for delivery in the last quarter of the year at current cloth prices. Advances recently made in flannels, blankets and colored goods were maintained. No change of importance was noted in silk or burlap markets.

Big Trusts Controlling Large Estates Invest Funds In Western Railroad Stocks On Wall Street

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, July 19.—Good stocks forged into new high ground today much to the surprise of the bear contingent. The latter has taken a severe licking in stocks and will be out of the market for a while until they recuperate. A number of strong banking groups have concluded plans to adjust upward the price of nearly 50 high-grade stocks. New peak prices were established by a number of issues today with indications that this character of buying will continue throughout the week. Funds are plentiful for market operations. Member banks are in a position to lend money without recourse to the federal reserve banks, which accounts for the four per cent money rate.

Cotton changed hands at the highest price of the season and wheat was steady. German marks went higher on the flow of American funds to Germany. Tempted by the high rates of interest over there.

With the exception of Lehigh Valley, which slid off five points, several of the rails were strong and at record high levels, particularly Atchison. The investment trusts, which are privately owned trusts in the First National Securities company which controls 40 separate trusts that have been acquiring Atchison, are beginning to reap the benefits of this accumulation.

That Atchison will repeat in the west what Lackawanna did in the east of showing a tremendous appreciation in value over a period of years is predicted by bankers who believe that the stock now going into these trusts will not come out for years. It must be understood that these trusts are wholly owned by rich estates and there is absolutely no stock or securities of any kind sold to the public. Of the 40 trusts, of which the Northern Finance company is an example, practically all have made big profits. The Northern Finance, for example, took over a $24,000,000 estate and has brought it up to $200,000,000 in 20 years. Atchison could easily pass 200 on this character of buying.

Gulf Mobile advanced on news that the 65-mile line of the Jackson & Eastern has been completed. This extension connected with the Gulf, Mobile and Northern. Gulf Mobile has a traffic agreement with the Burlington at Paducah, Ky., and from now on freight over the Gulf Mobile should show a big increase.

Weakness of Lehigh Valley was attributed to reports that the rail situation in the east had been cleared up by the Central getting Lackawanna and Loree the Lehigh. This would eliminate competitive bidding for stock.

Electric shares were leaders. Westinghouse Electric and General Electric were in demand at rising prices. Westinghouse Electric is being bought by the new interests in control of the company. It is believed that later on directors will declare a stock dividend and a recapitalization of the foreign companies will mean big benefits to Westinghouse Electric stockholders.

General Motors reached a record high for the present stock. In some quarters a split-up of three for one which would include motors, accessories and refrigeration, with a $5 dividend on the new shares was spoken of. This would be $15 on the present stock. Earnings in the first six months were better than $15 a share, or at the annual rate of $30.

American Can sold at a new high price on excellent buying. Timken Roller Bearings was strong and is understood to be on its way for 150, the price big speculators predicting for it. Quiet buying is going on in California Packing, which is behind the list of good stocks. The company is doing a big business on the coast and earnings should reflect this at the end of the year. Developments going on in Texas Gulf Sulphur account for the strength of this stock. Freeport Texas is another favorite.

Tobaccos were firm with absorption noticeable in Consolidated Cigar. In the deal with the Whelan-Schulte group the stock is understood to have been guaranteed a $6 dividend and 25 per cent of excess earnings. Baldwin passed 250 as predicted in this column some months ago. A price of 300 is now looked for.

Consolidated Gas and Brooklyn Edison moved higher in response to the steady absorption of the stock by Pittsburgh interests. Atlantic Refining moved higher and a move is said to be under way in Lago Petroleum. Pan American owns most of Lago and negotiations are on between Pan American and the Lago minority stockholders to take over their stock at a price around 40.

WOO LMARKET.

BOSTON, July 19. (AP)—Advances are steady on medium grades but slo won the fine grades of greasy clothing domestic wools.

Scoured wools have been slower the last few days owing partly to price advances. Scarcity is a factor in regard to the medium grade pulled wools and in all grades of wool noils. Noils have advanced 10 per cent during the last six weeks.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN.

FORT WORTH, July 19. (AP)—Cattle change was seen in the Fort Worth cash grain market Tuesday. Demand was reported good for all wheat offered at the present lowered valuations. Yellow corn is still wanted at the premiums offered. Corn from Texas shipping points, white and mixed varieties has little demand.

Receipts for the two-day period ended Monday were: Wheat 201 cars, corn nine, oats 26, barley five sorghums 20, hay one, snapped corn two and milo and kaffir heads one car.

Estimates on Tuesday receipts call for wheat 61 cars, corn two, oats 10, barley two, sorghums three and a single car of hay.

Wheat: No. 1 dark hard old milling $1.55@1.57; No. 1 dark hard milling new $1.51@1.52; No. 1 ordinary hard milling $1.45@1.50; No. 1 red milling $1.53@1.54; No. 1, 75 per cent red milling $1.52@1.53.

Corn: No. 2 yellow $1.15@1.17; No. 2 white $1.08@1.09; No. 3 white $1.05@1.07; No. 2 mixed $1.01@1.04; No. 3 mixed $1.00@1.03.

Oats: No. 2 red 50@51½c; No. 3 red 48@49½c; snapped corn 80@90c; No. 2 barley 87@90c; No. 2 milo $1.87@1.93; No. 2 milo $1.85@1.90; No. 2 kaffir $1.35 $1.50; No. 3 kaffir $1.30@1.35; maize heads $21.00@23.00; kaffir heads $19.00 @21.00; red top cane seed $1.40@1.50.

CHICAGO CASH GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 19. (AP)—Wheat: No. 2 red $1.43; No. 1 hard $1.42¼@1.42½.

Corn: No. 3 mixed 98@99c; No. 2 yellow $1.03¼@1.03½.

Oats: No. 2 white 50c; No. 3 white 44 @45c.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, July 19. (AP)—Improved export demand together with smallness of the winter wheat movement in the southwest, tended to make wheat prices average higher today. Wheat finished irregular, ¼c net lower to ½c gain, corn ⅛ to ⅝c up, oats unchanged to ⅛@⅜c higher, and provisions varying from 27c decline to a rise of 2 cents.

Corn owed its strength largely to reports that the corn crop throughout much of Indiana, Ohio, and Illinois is of less height even than was looked for. Oats were firm, rural offerings being scarce. Provisions had no decided trend.

BUTTER AND EGGS.

CHICAGO, July 19. (AP)—Butter, lower; receipts 15,147 tubs; creamery extras 39¼c; standards 38¼c; extra firsts 38 @38½c; firsts 36½@37c; seconds 34@35½c.

Eggs, unchanged; receipts 17,359.

HOUSTON, July 19. (AP)—John H. Stevens, who escaped from deputy sheriffs a few hours after he had been convicted in criminal district court of robbery and theft and given a 31-year sentence Thursday was recaptured by four city detectives in a downtown hotel at 11 a. m., Monday.

WOMAN KILLED IN FIGHT

HOUSTON, July 19. (AP)—One woman was killed, another badly slashed, a man shot and a boy missing after a fight at the railroad station at Cypress at 11 p. m., Sunday. All the participants were Mexicans.

Livestock

TEXAS LIVESTOCK.

FORT WORTH, July 19. (AP)—Receipts at Fort Worth today were estimated at 3000 cattle, 500 calves, 400 hogs and 400 sheep. A week ago receipts were 3729 cattle, 578 calves, 647 hogs and 653 sheep.

Beef cattle were slow to move during the morning. She stock had an early outlet, selling about steady. Butcher cows $4.5 0to $5.00; canners $3.75 to $4.00.

Heifers had a spread of $5.00 to $7.75 all in the lower grades.

Bulls were steady at $4.50 for lightweights and up to $6.00 for heavy butchers.

Poor quality featured the calf run. A few light veals made $7.35 to $10.00 to packers, with speculators paying up to $11.00 for vealers. Heavy calves were generally undesirable eselling from $5.00 to $7.50.

Two full and two part cars of hogs came to market, selling at $10.60 for one car of 149 pounds and $10.55 for a weight of 202 pounds, which were about 20 cents higher. Truck hogs top $10.30. Desirable feeder pigs were a quarter higher, selling at $10.00.

The sheep division received two decks of breeding ewes, the good mouths made $7.00, the broken mouths $3.50. A part deck of yearling ewes cleared at $10.00.

KANSAS LIVESTOCK.

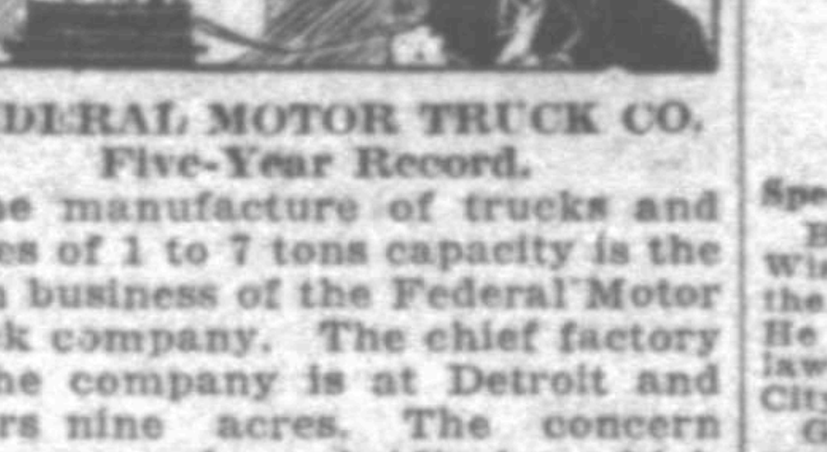

KANSAS CITY, July 19.—Cattle: Receipts 9500; calves 2000; native fed steers steady; others and westerns tending lower; light yearlings, she stock and bulls steady; vealers 50c lower; choice 1443 pound Missouri steers $14.35; bulk native grain fed $10.50@12.50; choice yearling heifers up to $12.00; choice veals $11.00 @11.50.

Cattle: Receipts 11,000; steers and she stock steady to 25c lower; bulls weak to 25c lower; vealers steady; bulk fed steers and yearlings $11.00@13.75; stock steers steady, $7.25@8.50; top sausage bulls $7.00; vealers $12.50@13.00.

Sheep: Receipts 14,000; steady, 15c lower; good native lambs $13.25@13.50; fat ewes $6.00@7.00.

FEDERAL MOTOR TRUCK CO. Five-Year Record.

The manufacture of trucks and busses of 1 to 7 tons capacity is the main business of the Federal Motor Truck company. The chief factory of the company is at Detroit and covers nine acres. The concern has many sales subsidiaries which maintain branches in the larger cities of the United States and England. The concern has a large range of models and is expanding this year with output double that of 1926 planned. In the latter year about 7500 trucks were manufactured.

Funded debt amounts to $1,375,000 in 5 per cent notes due serially up to 1931. There is only one class of capital stock which has no par value and of which 430,656 shares are outstanding. The no par shares replaced shares of $10 par in 1926 on a basis of two new for one old. Dividends were paid in cash and stock at various rates on the old stock. A quarterly disbursement of 20 cents a share on the new stock was started in October 1926 and has been maintained since with a payment July 1 already voted. Two stock dividends of 2 per cent each have been paid so far this year and another is due July 1.

Sales have been irregular since 1920 as have profits. Net income for 1926 was $1,222,850 or $2.98 a share as compared with $1,234,799 in 1925. As of Jan. 1, 1927 total current assets amounted to $6,726,868 current liabilities $1,241,229 and net working capital $5,485,639. Book value applicable to the no par stock amounted to $14.17 a share.

Terms for time payments have been tightened up by the company. Before the end of the year the company hopes to produce 1500 vehicles a month.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—Establishment of new high records by American Can, Baldwin Locomotive, General Electric, General Motors, and Westinghouse Electric, featured the irregularly higher price movement in today's stock market. Despite rather heavy profit taking on the theory that the technical position of the market had been weakened by the recent rapid advance, pools conducted their operations with confidence, basing their campaign on the prospect of easy money rates for some time to come and the expected improvement in fall business.

Declaration of the long-awaited 100 per cent stock dividend on Commercial Solvents B, while discounted by that stock, revived hopes of similar action in some of the other so-called "blue chip" issues. The gain of nearly 10 per cent in the sales of 21 of the largest chain store and mail order houses in the first half of the year, and the publication of the quarterly report of the Hudson Motor Car company, showing $3.62 a share on the common, as against $2.52 in the preceding quarter, also had a bullish effect on sentiment.

General Motors attained a new peak price at 208¾ on a revival of extra dividend rumors. Other motors showed little change, although Timken Roller Bearing and American Bosch Magneto reached new highs in the accessory group. Baldwin fulfilled Wall street's predictions by crossing 250, but met heavy offerings around that figure and sold down five points. American Can was heavily bought just before the close, showing a net gain of 2½ points at 59⅝, the top figure.

Cisco Highway Opening To Be Held Friday

Special to The Record News.

CISCO, July 19.—Last minute acceptance of invitations extended by the Cisco chamber of commerce to cities and towns of west Texas to send large official delegations to the dedication of Lake Cisco bridge, which will open up Highway 23 to serve a wide area in northwest Texas today indicated that a record-breaking crowd for any similar west Texas event here Friday. Wichita Falls has sent word that a large delegation of boosters, possibly accompanied by a bathing beauty, would be in Cisco Friday for the celebration, returning the courtesy extended the north Texas oil city by Cisco, which sent a large delegation to the recent West Texas chamber of commerce visit there.

Old Gray Mare There

However, among the most interesting delegations promised the last few days is one from Brownwood, the home of the famous "Old Gray Mare" and reports are current here that the Old Gray Mare band and the old mare herself will be here for the day. Brownwood is one of the cities entering a bathing beauty in the bathing girl revue scheduled for Friday evening, and a large delegation of Brownwood boosters will accompany her here. May other cities sending beauties here for the contest are expected to be here to boost their fairest daughters.

It was announced today that Gov. Dan Moody will deliver the principal address of the day here Friday at 3 o'clock. The governor had been scheduled to review the Texas National Guard at that hour at Mineral Wells, but the military maneuvers were changed to forenoon to allow the governor to speak here. The speaker's platform will be high up on a knoll overlooking the bathing beach, around which thousands of persons can gather with comfort. Loud speakers will carry his voice to every nook and corner of the Lake Cisco grounds.

In addition to delivering addresses, William J. Tucker, state game, fish and oyster commission, and Commissioners C. V. Terrell and Lou Smith will hold conferences during the day with oil men of this section. Mr. Tucker will be accompanied here by Judge J. R. Smith, head of the anti-stream pollution department of the game, fish and oyster commission. Problems of the oil men will be discussed at these conferences, which will in many cases make a trip to Austin unnecessary. A number of other state officials and Cogressman Thomas L. Blanton will be here for the day.

Cars Over Cliff

A new attraction was announced today when the "Junkit Quik" attraction was reported rigging up. This is an event in which old automobiles are run along a runway over a cliff 100 feet high. A charge of dynamite is turned loose as the cars hurtle through space to the rocks below. This attraction was attempted for the first time at Amarillo recently when it drew large crowds, including motion picture cameramen whose pictures have been shown throughout the nation.

Other events of the day will include boat races on Lake Cisco proper, and swimming contests in which a number of entrants from other west Texas cities are entered for the valuable prizes. The governor's address will take place at 3 p. m., and the climax of the day, the bathing girls' revue, in which 50 of Texas' beauties, entered from Dallas on the east to Clyde on the west and San Saba on the south to Lubbock on the north, will take place at 9 o'clock at night.

Other Towns Aid

The celebration took on a co-operative appearance today when an invitation was extended the chambers of commerce in Eastland, Ranger and Breckenridge to help welcome the expected huge crowds to the oil belt. It was felt that since so large a crowd was assembling in a city of the oil belt all the cities should have the privilege of welcoming and entertaining them. Accordingly the Eastland Booster band has been invited to play on this occasion, and the bands of Ranger and Breckenridge, and whatever other entertainment these cities wish to supply, were asked to come to Cisco for the day.

It was announced that the Country club golf grounds had been obtained as a landing field for the big airplanes to be flown here by William E. Easterwood Jr. of Dallas and J. M. Moellendick of Wichita, Kan., airplane manufacturer. It is understood here that Easterwood will go to the Kansas city to get a large airplane to make the flight to Cisco in. He will be accompanied by one or more of his Dallas-to-Hangkong flyers.

Newspaper men of this section were invited today by the Cisco Daily News to be its guests at a chicken barbecue to be given a distance up Lake Cisco from the dam on the evening of the celebration. Invitations were sent out to all editors of daily and weekly newspapers in this section to be present for the event. Additional facilities to care for filing of press reports from the newspaper men covering the celebration have been installed by the Western Union. A sub-station will be operated at Lake Cisco for acceptance and delivery of telegrams. Engineers from Dallas are in Cisco today looking over the situation with a view to placing additional telephone facilities at the lake.

Electra Man Improves After Operation Here

Joe J. Airy of Electra, who was rushed to the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital in a record ambulance run late Monday night for an operation for internal injuries, was reported by the hospital authorities Tuesday evening as resting well.

Mr. Airy was injured while working in the oil fields on June 23 but at that time did not take the accident seriously. Three days ago, while visiting his sister, Mrs. Joe Woods, in Electra, he decided to go to Dallas for treatment. His condition became serious Monday, however, and attending psysicians ordered his immediate removal to this city for an operation.

Dr. G. T. Singleton is in Rochester, Minn., where he will attend the Mayo clinic for a few weeks.

DOG'S LIFE

Owners Should Restrain Family Canine, Says Burns

Residents of Wichita Falls should keep a closer tab on their dogs, according to Police Chief Frank Burns, who stated Tuesday that the department receives complaints every day concerning the animals. The owner of the dog that bites someone always says the animal was annoyed, said Chief Burns, but "taken all the way round a dog has more liberty than anyone else here."

There is an ordinance against chickens running at large, continued the chief, this being to prevent the tearing up of flower beds and gardens. A dog, however, may run at large in almost any manner just as long as its license is paid. To prevent their pets from becoming nuisances, owners in the city should maintain a strict watch on the family canine.

CONTRACT TO WICHITA FIRM

State Buys 10 Trucks Constructed Here

AUSTIN, Tex., July 19.(AP)—Contracts for several hundred pieces of highway maintenance equipment to cost $1,325,070 were let today by the Board of Control to some 25 or 30 machinery firms, after the board won its insistence on its own recommendations over those of the highway department.

The latter, which has been in a deadlock with the board of control for several days, had recommended equipment that would have cost $1,311,248.

Contracts are for about 96 tractors, 46 graders, about 160 trucks, 400 dirt dumpers, 280 plows and mowers, and a large assortment of specialized road machinery.

Recommendations of the highway departn.ent as to certain implements were reduced in some instances and increased in others. The board of control and highway commission got together this morning after conferences in the last few days with Gov. Dan Moody and Chairman R. S. Sterling of the commission had failed to result in agreement.

LOCAL CONCERN WINS CONTRACT FOR TRUCKS

Ten trucks manufactured by the Wichita Falls Motor company will be added to the Texas highway department's motor equipment as a result of the award of a contract for the motor vehicles to the local concern at Austin Tuesday by the state board of control.

The figure at which the ten Wichita trucks will be delivered to the state is $18,108, according to terms of the award announced by the board of control.

Purchase of the ten Wichita trucks is part of a total of more than $1,300,000 worth of equipment contracts awarded for the state's highway department needs Tuesday at Austin.

New Boiler Added To Hospital Equipment

An additional boiler for the Wichita State hospital will be obtained for the institution in the near future by the state board of control, according to an Associated Press dispatch received Tuesday by The Record News.

The boiler for the Wichita State hospital "will be contracted for later at a cost of $4400," the board announced.

The boiler will be placed in the hospital power house as additional equipment and will probably be of 450 horsepower capacity, Dr. C. W. Castner, superintendent of the hospital said Tuesday night.

Oklahoma Miner Dies Of Electric Shocking

MIAMI, Okla., July 19. (AP)—C. G. Cope of Baxter Springs, Kan., a machine man at the Beaver mine of the Commerce Mining & Royalty company, met accidental death by electrocution today. A 2300 volt current passed through Cope's body when he accidentally hung the nozzle of his hose across a cable carrying electricity to a large motor.

Sterling May Seek Texas Governorship

AUSTIN, July 19. (AP)—Friends of R. S. Sterling of Houston, chairman of the state highway commission today declared Sterling likely will be a candidate for governor in 1928 if Gov. Dan Moody decides to try for the United States senate.

Holman Cook and Roy Reeder are spending a few days in Snyder, Okla., on business.

'BOSS' FOR HOME

Pastor Declares Someone Must Have Final Authority

HOUSTON, July 19. (AP)—The 50-50 basis for matrimony sounds good, but is a rotten domestic relationship, Rev. Dr. William States Jacobs, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, said in a sermon Sunday night on "five causes of divorce."

"Some one should be a boss," the pastor declared. "There used to be a boss in the olden times, and that there is no boss now is a bad omen. I know of some houses where the woman is boss, and they run as well if not better than where the man is boss. There is a boss in all stores and business concerns. There must be one who will exert authority even in the home."

REVIVAL ENDS AT IOWA PARK

Successful Meeting Closes With 28 Baptisms

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, July 19.—The revival which has been in progress for the past two weeks at the Christian church came to a close Sunday night. Twenty-eight additions were made to the church, 10 of whom were baptized Sunday evening at the baptistry of the Baptist chuch. Three more will be baptized later. The meeting was conducted by Dr. F. W. Emerson of Santa Monica, Calif., a leading lecturer and evangelist of the Christian church, and W. D. Kidd had charge of music. The meetings were well attended by all the churches of the town.

POISONED BY MISTAKE

SHREVEPORT, La., July 19. (AP) Miss Lucille Barham, 20, daughter of George Barham, local oil operator, died early today from the effects of poison which she is believed to have swallowed by mistake shortly after midnight.

SUB-DIVISION PERMITS GIVEN

Five Plats Approved By City Clerk

Five permits for the platting of real estate sub-divisions in Wichita Falls were issued Tuesday by W. E. McBroom, city clerk.

Authorization for the permits were recently granted by the city council in carrying out the provisions of a new state law that prescribes that boards of aldermen in Texas cities must approve the platting of all sub-divisions within a radius of five miles of the city.

Before the county clerk can accept plats for filing, a permit from the city government must be presented, according to the law.

Permits issued Tuesday by Mr. McBroom were for the Westmoreland park, second section, addition; J. W. Thomas sub-division of block A, Carter addition; re-subdivision of the McKinley-Simmons addition; Kemp-Harrell sub-division of the J. A. Scott survey, and the Rivers addition.

Widow Given $5000 In Agreed Judgment

Agreed judgment for $5000 for damages as a result of the death of her husband was entered Tuesday by Judge E. G. Thornton in the 30th district court in favor of Mrs. Minnie Lee Langley against the Wichita Valley Railway company.

The plaintiff, suing on behalf of herself and four children, set out in her petition that A. E. Langley, her husband, was employed as a section laborer by the defendant and while riding to Wichita Falls on a railway motor car, the car was derailed, throwing Langley off.

As result of injuries sustained by being thrown from the car, the plaintiff alleged, her husband received injuries which caused his death.

Both attorneys for the plaintiff and defendant agreed as to the amount of judgment.

Lodge Confers Musical Masters Degree Tonight

On invitation of Wichita Falls lodge No. 635, the musical masters Masonic degree will be conferred Wednesday night by Faith lodge in the Masonic Temple, 10th and Scott streets.

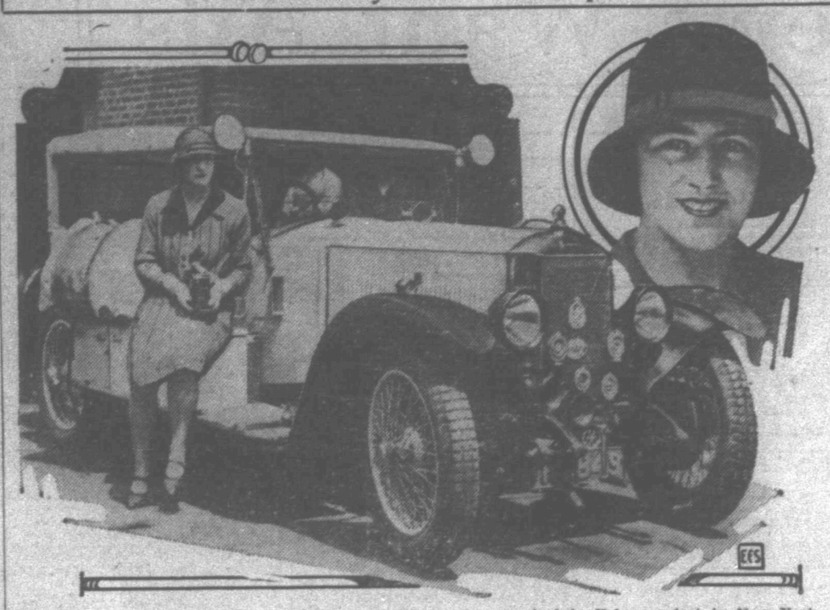

The following members of the degree team will officiate: John McDonald, W. M.; Eli F. Morgan, S. W.; A. O. Thomas, J. W.; G. W. Curd, secretary; A. R. Wilgus, chaplain; Jacob R. Price, S. D.; O. L. Wood, J. D.; H. E. Thomas, S. S.; J. J. Augustus, J. S.; Walter H. Caldwell, S. F. M. The musicians will be: L. D. Parnell, director; Paul Rutledge, J. M. Bridges, Bert Kurtz and G. L. Spotswood.

Jury Suspends Terms In Forgery Cases

Pleading guilty to charges of forging and passing checks to Wichita Falls merchants, D. E. Wetzel and G. G. Henderson, arraigned Tuesday in the 30th district court before Judge E. G. Thornton, received suspended sentences of two years each.

The cases were prosecuted by E. F. Fruechte and Sam Spence, assistant district attorneys.

Miss Cordery Ends Test Trip

Violette Cordery, famous English automobile driver, photographed in February last in New York at the end of a round the world tour, which started from England in February last. She was at the wheel of the car for the entire trip, carrying as passengers, a mechanic, R. W. Sprague, observer for the Royal Automobile club of London, and Miss Eleanor Simpson, a friend.

"College Graduate" Given Two-Year Sentence On Auto Theft Charge

A request for a suspended sentence after he had pleaded guilty to stealing an automobile proved of no avail Tuesday to W. W. Wells, claiming to be a college graduate, when he was arraigned in the 30th district court, before Judge E. G. Thornton.

E. F. Fruechte and Sam Spence, assistant district attorneys, contested the application for a suspended sentence and as a result Wells was sentenced to serve two years in the penitentiary.

The allegation against Wells set out that he had rented an automobile in Wichita Falls and had driven it to Galveston.

Wells admitted the allegations and claimed that it was necessary for him to be in Galveston and not having enough funds to reach there by railroad he had taken the car.

Before the trial started, Wells said that his correct name was Vernon E. Brubaker and that he was a graduate of a California university. He also claimed to be a member of a prominent California family.

Permit Issued For $18,000 Brick Building

Building permit for the erection of a brick business building at 2414 10th street at a cost of $18,000 was issued Tuesday by W. M. McBroom, city clerk, by John W. Hampton.

Two permits were issued Tuesday by Mr. McBroom. The other was for the repair of a building at 615 Indiana at a cost of $1000.

ELECTRA SOCIETY

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, July 19.—A dozen members of the Christian Endeavor enjoyed a picnic at the Ryan-Petrolia lease dam, Monday evening, when they left the First Presbyterian church at 7 o'clock and motored to the picnic grounds. The time was most delightfully spent upon arriving with Miss Marie Beaty of Wichita Falls furnishing music on the banjo-ukelele. Picnic supper of sandwiches, potato chips, pie and baking were served to the following: Misses Thelma Bagwell, Marie Beaty, Dellie Mae Woods, Earnestine Grafton, Helen Schaffer, Eloise Gafford; Messrs. Frank Grafton, Joseph Cramer, Ira Lee Brindley, Rev. L. D. Grafton and Mesdames, A. J. Gafford, and L. D. Grafton.

Dorothy Parr Party

Little Miss Dorothy Parr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Parr was honored on her ninth birthday with a lawn party, Monday afternoon between the hours of five and seven. In the games, Edward Schlaffke Jr., and Mary Ann Keller received prizes. Refreshments of ice cream and cake and punch were served. Those attending were: Rollo and Joe Potter Davidson, Dorothy Cummings, Emslie and Edward Schlaffke Patsey Chaffin, Rule Totten, Mildred and Betty Jo McDannald, Ludsmae Wisdom, Polly Ann Richardson, Camilla Jane and Marie Magee, Billy Jo Weaver, E. B. Bilbrey, James Turner, Mary Ann Keller, Florence Chisholm, Antionette Wolf, James Parr and the little honoree.

Methodist Ladies

The Methodist Missionary society met Monday afternoon at four o'clock at the church with Mesdames J. C. Russell and Bagley having charge of the Bible study which was taken from the 17-22 chapters of the Book of Numbers. There was also a short business session taken up, and the social service report given. There was a fine attendance. The society will meet in Circles next week with the places to be announced later.

North Circle

The North Circle of the Baptist W. M. U. met at the home of Mrs. E. R. Ratcliffe, Monday afternoon, the residence being north of the city. The meeting opened with the song, "I Am Thine, O Lord," with Mrs. P. W. Tubb leading the devotional, taken from Romans, 12th chapter. Sentence prayers were offered and the election of officers was held. The officers were as follows: Leader, Mrs. P. W. Tubb; assistant leader, Mrs. Elsie Weaver; publicity chairman and secretary, Mrs. P. E. Griffin; treasurer, Mrs. Jap Stephens; benevolent chairman, Mrs. A. C. Miller; mission program chairman, Mrs. Joe Brister; personal service chairman Mrs. W. H. Petty; mission service chairman, Mrs. J. M. Tanner. A special prayer was offered for the revival. Refreshments were served to 16 ladies, and Mrs. W. A. Gault will be hostess next week.

Central Circle

The Central Circle of the Baptist W. M. U. met with Mrs. Mary Jewell at the Marriott hotel Monday afternoon with Mrs. John Brownlee in charge. The devotional of the afternoon was taken from Acts 10th chapter. A business session was held in which the report was made that $800 had been turned in by the Central Circle on the building fund of the church. The committees made reports, and sentence prayers were held. Mrs. E. T. Graves will be hostess to the circle next Monday afternoon at her home on West Garrison avenue, and at this time officers will be elected for the coming year and the circle meeting will be abandoned during the month of August. A good attendance is urged at this meeting. There was a fine attendance Monday afternoon.

East Circle

The East Circle of the Baptist church met with Mrs. J. B. Ratcliffe on East Wabash avenue Monday afternoon, Mrs. Wood Overall read the 11th chapter of John and the ladies sang, "Revive Us Again," with Mrs. W. J. Brown leading in prayer. A miscellaneous shower was given Mrs. L. Gatewood. A social hour was enjoyed. Mrs. L. H. Owens concluded the meeting with prayer. Refreshments were served to 14 ladies.

The circle will be abandoned until September 1 after the next meeting.

Y. W. Circle

Mrs. Paul Keesee entertained the ladies of the Young Women's Circle of the First Baptist church Monday afternoon. Mrs. L. Gillum led in the devotional which was taken from Romans. Mrs. J. L. Graham led the prayer, which was closed by Mrs. Myricle. A nominating committee of three was appointed, with Mrs. T. M. Myricle, Paul Keesee and J. L. Graham on the committee. These will submit names for the new officers to be elected at the next meeting. Refreshments were served to the ladies present. Mrs. John Delashaw will be hostess next week.

News Boys Entertained

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Carroll, agent for Electra branch of the Wichita Falls Record News entertained the news boys and a few friends with a picnic and swimming party Sunday afternoon. The party left Electra about two o'clock and motored to the Sandy Beach swimming pool, where games and water sports were enjoyed until five o'clock, when picnic lunch was served to the following: Ray Ballard, Bill Sanders, Alton Walton, Lowell Brister, Kenneth Turner, Woodrow Allison, all news boys, with Bob Palmaur, Abb Scandlin, Valton Burns, Clint Burns, Weldon Burns, Misses, Ruby and Verdie Gladys Carroll, Helen Burns, Trucell Laffingwell, Mary Edna Tinnin; Mr. and Mrs. W. BUSINESS IN GOOD SHAPE

Survey Shows Conditions Here Normal

"General business and economic conditions in northwest Texas are equal to the most prosperous localities of the country. Direct information proves that this section of Texas is on par with South Central Texas, the most prosperous territory that we have so far surveyed."

This is the statement from A. K. Squier, representative of the National Retail Clothiers and Furnishings association, who is in the city to acquire first hand information to be used in the clothiers association survey of business and economic conditions over over the U. S.

Mr. Squier was here conferring with Sam Schineberg and Sol Lasky.

"In this particular locality," said Mr. Squier, "we find that general business is good, although slightly depressed from the unusual oil production. Financially the merchants are in good shape and the outlook for future business is exceptionally encouraging."

Wichita Claims Youngest Band

ed in Wichita Falls with the Austin school orchestra and certainly the movement here has been followed with interest by music teachers and school officials all over the nation.

Membership in the Austin school orchestra comes chiefly from the second, third and fourth grades. All instruments used were furnished by parents of the children as were the white and gold uniforms. The white chairs used by the local group were donated by the Mothers club of the school.

Among the difficulties met by the Austin school orchestra was the transposition and arrangement for harmonicas and banjos, every piece played being copied for each child in the orchestra. Principal rehearsals last year were once a week, before school opened for the day. Groups of instruments occasionally received instructions during the day.

The children, even the youngest had a perfect conception of time. The leader, 9-year-old Ralph Malnby, could catch himself out of time and get back in like a veteran.

Important Concerts

The first important concert was before the district institute at Junior college in December. Others were the cantata, "Childhood of Hiwatha," at Junior college in January and the Lion's club junior concert at the Majestic theater in April.

The orchestra included the following players: Violins, Bonnie Jean Lincoln, Roberta Lincoln, Nancy Haggard, John Haggard, Eleanor Wakefield, Evelyn Rees Arthur Davis, Alma Bauch and Martha Wick; harmonicas, Marguerite Carter, Kenneth Thomas, Louise Short, Evelyn Grey, Harry Rousch, Ramon Seitz, Catherine Goen, and Ney Morgan; banjos, Josephine Sullivan, Billy Howard, John Bone, Elizabeth Magee, Londelie Bridges, Constance Clark, Josephine Willis, Patsy McGregor, and Billy Adams; xylophone, Elmor Hudgins; triangle, Billy Beckhart; drums, Jack Gant; tamborine, Mildred Fox.

The piano was played by Miss Mattilyn Wilson, primary music teacher and coach to the orchestra. Miss Francis Smith, departmental teacher, assisted in coaching and transcribed the music. Miss Emma A. Voss, director of music, originated the harmonica and banjo orchestra organized among the fifth and sixth grade pupils which has been copied far and wide. The orchestra will lose the two oldest members next year but has several younger players to come in.

How To Reduce Varicose Veins

Rub Gently and Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way.

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunches.

If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) at any first-class drug store and apply it night and morning as directed you will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is a harmless, yet most powerful germicide and two ounces last a very long time. Indeed, so powerful is Emerald Oil that old chronic sores and ulcers are often entirely healed and anyone who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded. All druggists sell lots of it.—Adv.

MONROE: Don't Tell the Wife," with Irene Rich and Henry Gordon; also comedy.

Lewis Stone in "Lonesome Ladies," the Attraction at the Majestic Theater Starting Today. His Co-Star Is Anna Q. Nilsson.

Anna Q. Nilsson not only likes to have other beautiful and gifted actresses in her pictures, but she is happy to have them appear at their best!

In her latest picture, "Lonesome Ladies," in which she is co-featured with Lewis Stone, there are five beauties of widely different types; all film actresses with plenty to do in the story!

"Lonesome Ladies," which comes to the Majestic theater today, is a lively domestic comedy-drama, wherein several attractive young women figure prominently. Jane Winton enacts a siren role, Doris Lloyd pursues the hero on her own account and Fritzie Ridgeway, De Sacia Mooers and Grace Carlisle do their utmost to take him from Miss Nilsson.

"I'm no militant 'woman's rights' worker, but I do recognize the value of having as many striking feminine players as the casts permit with me, in a picture," Miss Nilsson observes. "I think the public is, and always will be, interested in stories like 'Lonesome Ladies,' in which women figure in lively and unusual action."

The feminine appeal of the picture originated with its author, Lenore Coffee, and its adaptor, Winifred Dunn, two of the screen's most celebrated writers. Ray Rockett produced the film for First National Pictures and Joseph Henaberry directed it.

Deputy Travels 2400 Miles For Prisoner

R. T. Geea arrived in Wichita Falls Tuesday noon in custody of Deputy Constable E. S. Richardson who went to Phoenix, Ariz., to return him to this city to answer four charges. He was arrested at Gila Bend, near Phoenix, on a charge of swindling.

In addition to the original charge, he will also answer to three indictments brought by the Wichita county grand jury in its recent session, two for the sale of mortgaged property and one for the removal of mortgaged property outside of the state. The trip to return the prisoner involved a total of 2,400 miles travel.

Dried-Out Bowels Hold Malaria in Your System

If malaria is in your system, the only way to get it out without torturing and upsetting yourself is to take Dodson's Liver Tone to clean out all the hardened, dried-out accumulation of bile in the liver and bowels, and carry the germs out with it.

Never take calomel. That's wrong. Calomel is mercury—a dangerous drug. It jars the liver and cleans constipated bowels, that's true. But it salivates you—makes you sick and you lose a day from your work. It stifles the muscles of the bowels, deadens them so they can't act at all.

Dodson's Liver Tone cleans you out good so the liver is free to get the malarial germs out of your blood, and the bowels can carry them off. Before you realize it the chills and fever stop. Malaria is gone.

Get the big bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone from your nearest store. They all have it. Keep it in the house so you will have it handy to take nights before you go to bed.—Adv.

Fire Wipes Out Alabama Town

The little town of West Blockton, Ala., about 40 miles from Birmingham, was visited by a disastrous fire the other day. Lack of water pressure and obsolete apparatus favored the flames which destroyed 35 business establishments and 20 residences at an estimated damage of $400,000 before out of town fire departments could reach the scene. These pictures show two views of the blaze, with a family of victims, salvaging the few belongings they were able to drag out of the flames.

You need not be a property owner to obtain money when you need it. We loan to salaried employes on very favorable terms.
