

Presentation of Outstanding Plaque

FROM CHAMBER

Mrs. Adolph Wood Wins First Plaque

First of the Retail Merchants Committee of Colorado City Chamber of Commerce prizes for the outstanding sales person of the month was awarded, Tuesday, to Mrs. Adolph Wood, employed at Taylor Hardware, 121 East 2nd St.

Gus D. Chesney, president of the local Chamber of Commerce, formally presented an engraved plaque to Mrs. Wood as winner of the honor for the month of October.

Mrs. Wood was also presented a check for $20 as first winner of the honor in the "When You Shop, Try Colorado City First" current campaign.

Name of the plaque winner was kept a secret until revealed in the presentation. The monthly choice of an outstanding sales person is being sponsored by the Retail Merchants.

ALL GIRL CONTESTS

Crowds See Rodeo Close County Fair

Last night of Mitchell County Fair, Saturday drew a capacity crowd here to exhibit halls, midway and to the Western Riding Club arena where a free All-Girl Rodeo was staged.

County Fair, sponsored by the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce, with James Hull as general chairman of fair plans, attracted big crowds all three nights, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Rodeo night, with riding events staged by Western Riding Club as sponsors, hit the peak for attendance.

Speedy events proved Marilyn Burleson of Sweetwater outstanding cowgirl of the show. She was presented a prize fancy saddle, hand-tooled by Elmer Pickens, Colorado City saddle-maker.

Carl Taylor Rites Pending

W. C. (Carl) Taylor, husband of former Mitchell County Home Demonstration Agent Mrs. Crickett Taylor, died in Fairwell at 10 a. m. Wednesday.

He was a retired Santa Fe Railroad man. Funeral arrangements were not known in Colorado City at Record press time. Mr. Taylor is survived by his wife, four sons, a stepson and a step-daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor moved to Fairwell from Colorado City in June of 1963. She was HD agent here for four years, beginning in May, 1959.

Mrs. Smith, Longtime Citizen, Dies

Funeral for Mrs. R. H. Smith, 82, mother of Mrs. Ed Putman of 880 East 7th St., was conducted in Kiker Chapel here at 2 p. m. Sunday. She had been resident of this county for 57 years.

Rev. Darris Egger, pastor of First Methodist Church, officiated and burial was in Colorado City cemetery. She was a member of First Methodist Church.

Born June 26, 1882 in Marlin, she was married in 1902 to R. H. Smith. The couple moved to Mitchell County in 1907 where Mrs. Smith farmed until they moved to Colorado City in 1921.

Mrs. Smith died in Root Memorial Hospital at 8:30 a. m. Sunday after a long illness.

Her husband, now a retired grocer, survives her. Also surviving are her Colorado City daughter, Mrs. Putman; a son, Millard Smith of Sedgewick, Ark.; two sisters, Mrs. Florence Tarrant and Mrs. Shelton, both of Clyde; eight grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Nephews served as active pallbearers for the late rites.

Maxine Rogers of Colorado City was runner-up for honors as outstanding cowgirl of the All Girl Rodeo. Winners in various events follow.

GSA Accepts $41,596 Bid

Hardcastle Refrigeration Co. of Colorado City was awarded, Tuesday, the contract for air-conditioning, lighting and other improvements at the Colorado City post office.

General Services Administration announced the awarding of the contract in Washington, D. C., Monday to the Hardcastle Co. here.

Amount of Hardcastle Refrigeration's bid was $41,596.

Office of Congressman George Mahon informed the Colorado Record by telegram, Tuesday, of the contract.

Howard Hardcastle, owner of Hardcastle Refrigeration Co., said Wednesday that the contract "gives us an opportunity to do a good job of air-conditioning. It also gives us a good winter time job and we are pleased to have the contract of course."

Hardcastle expects, he said, to let sub-contracts for plumbing to Tom Grant.

A sub-contract for re-painting of the post office, both inside and out, will go to Jimmie Harrison, Hardcastle said.

Improvement for the Colorado City post office will also include new steps and new non-skid tread for the new steps.

Dick Delancy will probably be employed for that part of the remodeling project, Hardcastle said.

New air-conditioning and new lighting for the post office building will be done by Hardcastle and his co-workers. Under the contract Hardcastle has said, 30 days to start the project. That puts deadline day for beginning work on Friday, Nov. 20.

Contract allows a total of 180 calendar days for completion of all remodeling and installation of new lighting and air-conditioning. If full time is required, date of completion is set for May 20.

Post office, built here in 1933, will be undergoing its first major and general renovation since it was constructed, Arlene Morris, Post master, said Wednesday.

Democrats Stage Series of Meets

Democrats of Mitchell County began a series of lively neighborhood meetings this week in their Johnson for President campaign throughout the county.

First event on the Demo campaign calendar was a countywide coffee hour honoring Congressman George Mahon, in Civic House at Colorado City, Saturday morning.

Congressman Mahon also visited Democrat campaign headquarters downtown here in the Root building and spoke at Lorraine Saturday.

Monday night at 8 o'clock a neighborhood meet in the Church of God in Christ, northwest Colorado City, featured 32nd District Judge, Austin McCloud and Elmer Martin, County Judge, as speakers.

Robert Bracey, chairman of Neighborhood meetings for Negro citizens, was assisted in arranging the meeting by Mrs. Lucy Wadley.

Monday night at 7:30 in Washington School at Lorraine, Frank Ginzle, Mitchell County Attorney, and Joe Bell, County Democratic campaign chairman, spoke on behalf of Democrats.

Scheduled for Thursday are two meetings, one in the Westbrook Golden Age Club at 7 p. m. with Bell and Worrell as speakers, the other in Lions Club Building at Lorraine at 7:30 p. m. with Charles C. Thompson, Judge McCloud and Judge Martin speaking.

Friday's Demo campaign feature in Westbrook will be a second neighborhood coffee with Mrs. W. A. Bell, co-chairman of Westbrook Democratic Women, as hostess in her home Judge Martin and Bell will address the coffee hour guests.

Friday evening at 7:30, citizens of the Payne-Seven Wells communities, with Mrs. J. D. Gibson and Mrs. Charles Williams as co-chairmen, will have a community meeting in the Seven Wells School Building. Judge Martin and Bell will make Democratic campaign speeches.

First neighborhood meet announced for the coming week will be held in Fairview community Tuesday night at 7:30 in the Fairview Church with Bell and Martin to address citizens of that community.

Democratic campaign headquarters in the Root Building on Walnut St. between 2nd and 3rd Sts. will be open all day, between now and Nov. 3, National Election day. Coffee is being served and Demo stickers and literature are available.

Shrinks Hemorrhoid: Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like: "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance—E-Z Way—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. At all drug counters.

CONVERSATION CORNER

POLLS of opinion are still with us, and they always will be. Now it's all right with us that the polls show Lyndon B. Johnson still far ahead of the Senator from Arizona.

What we've wanted to know for at least twelve years, though, is just who polls who—that is, whom.

Nobody ever, to this good day, has pointed up about anything. It would seem, too, by the line of questions, that sooner or later those highly touted polls would catch up with our house and the highly valuable political opinions residing therein.

NOW you take those things referred to as ratings—the TV shows and radio programs, too.

Nobody—but nobody has ever dared our number one, the what we are watching, listening to or enjoying, heads of people do it to express their own opinions about what this newspaper did print or didn't print, or didn't. And that's as far as it ever goes.

SAW, think it was in the October issue of the Texas Outlook, this little bit: "A television rating service phoned 1,000 men one night and asked 'To whom are you listening at this moment?'"

Nine hundred men answered "My Wife."

Now you take that, analyze it like Dr. Gallup does, and you come up with some strange figures about life in the pre-election homefront these nights, wouldn't you? You could say that 900 out of 1,000 men are henpecked, couldn't you?

ON the other hand, any rating service in the United States of America could call the average home, before afternoon and ask any 1,000 women "To what is your TV tuned right now?"

And nine hundred and fifty-six women, forced to answer or let it ring, could truthfully say "To pro-football—the Cowboys and the Browns, I think."

So far as we're concerned, polls prove absolutely nothing. Nothing at all about what's really going on in the human heart or home.

All they prove is what particular kind of noise fills the house at the moment. And that women have no say about it.

BESIDES which, back to political polls and opinions, a poll of opinion for today has little bearing on an opinion poll to be made tomorrow. Or next week.

Only thing more changeable than Texas weather in October is the human temperament. Only polls that will prove anything will be those opening—and closing—Tuesday, Nov. 3, fasten the day!

Meantime, those of us trying to cling to the remnants of what passes for tolerance and sense of humor can't keep from being amused at the latest political sticker as pointed out by Paul Crume in his Bid D column, Sunday.

The new sticker says "UNDECIDED." And according to

A letter to our Congressman from JOE B. PHILLIPS

The Hon. George Mahon
Congressman, 19th District
1211 New House Office Building
Washington 25, D.C.

Dear Mr. Congressman:

This letter is concerned with issues which are vital to our particular section of the country. I have some very definite convictions about certain matters, and I would welcome the opportunity of discussing these issues face to face if your schedule could be arranged to do so.

In my opinion the economic growth of West Texas has been retarded by the foreign investments of our federal government. Through the Oil Compact, Texas has been forced to absorb a great percentage of foreign oil, while our own wells have been allowed to produce on the maximum of only 10 days a month. In my opinion, this is not fair to our area.

I believe that the cattlemen in our district have a just complaint over the importation of foreign beef, and that the farmers of our area have been denied support and encouragement to raise sugar beets and other crops because of foreign imports.

I am concerned that our district has lagged behind in the development of Interstate Highways, and in industrial development until this political year.

Very truly yours,

JOE PHILLIPS

A Clear-Cut Choice In The Election

Rural Americans—those who live on the farms and in the towns and small cities across the nation—are faced with a great decision in the upcoming presidential election. Fortunately, the choice is clear-cut.

It is a choice between a candidate who prefers to see rural America without farm and area development programs and an incumbent President who has said and has exhibited by his actions that he sees the necessity for a combination of commodity and rural electrification programs for rural prosperity.

The Democrat has his roots in rural America. He recognizes that agriculture has the ability to overproduce even the best farmers into bankruptcy.

To counteract the economic threat of overproduction, he has sponsored and signed laws to cut down surpluses yet maintain fair prices for farmers. He is also strongly behind programs such as area development and rural electrification which build a stronger economic base for the entire rural economy.

The Republican, on the other hand, has said he doesn't know anything about farming. He, thus, could make the flippant comment in his book "Conscience of a Conservative," that the way to deal with the farm problem is "the prompt and final termination of the farm subsidy program."

This attitude also allows Senator Goldwater to say in Senate floor debate, that "I disagree with the implied assumption of the advocates of (the Area Redevelopment Act) that economic reverses in certain areas of our country constitute either a critical or a permanent danger. Such conditions are perfectly normal to the economic cycle of American enterprise.

But even more convincing than the statements made by Senator Goldwater on agriculture problems are his votes. He has voted against recent price support programs for wheat, feed grains and cotton, among others.

Goldwater was announced in favor of drastic cuts in the Agriculture Conservation Program and he voted for a reduction in funds for maintenance and operation of navigation and flood control projects.

Senator Goldwater voted against the federal atomic power program and against federal construction of the Hells Canyon Dam. He voted against additional funds for the Rural Electrification Administration and has said REA "has outlived its usefulness." In most states, he has urged the sale of TVA to private interests.

He is against rural housing programs and has advocated that Social Security be made voluntary. He is also on record against the war on poverty program laughing at this new attempt to erase ignorance and poverty within our land.

The issue, then, is whether rural citizens will vote for a man who has consistently opposed programs which are vital to the economy of rural America or whether they will support the Democrat, President Johnson, who has demonstrated his concern for rural America's problems and challenges.

A Lesson From Herbert Hoover's Life

Years ago a young embryo engineer, just out of college, walked into the office of our nation's outstanding engineers and asked for a job. He figured that the best place to start in his chosen profession was with the best.

And when the employer stated that the only job open was for a secretary, the young man said he would take it. But he couldn't report for his first day's work for several days.

When he did show up for work as a secretary, the eminent engineer, who had hired him asked why he had to wait a few days before going to work.

"I had to rent a typewriter and learn to type first."

The young gent out of college was Herbert Hoover, who was to rise above the crowd as a professional engineer, administrator, humanitarian and president of the United States.

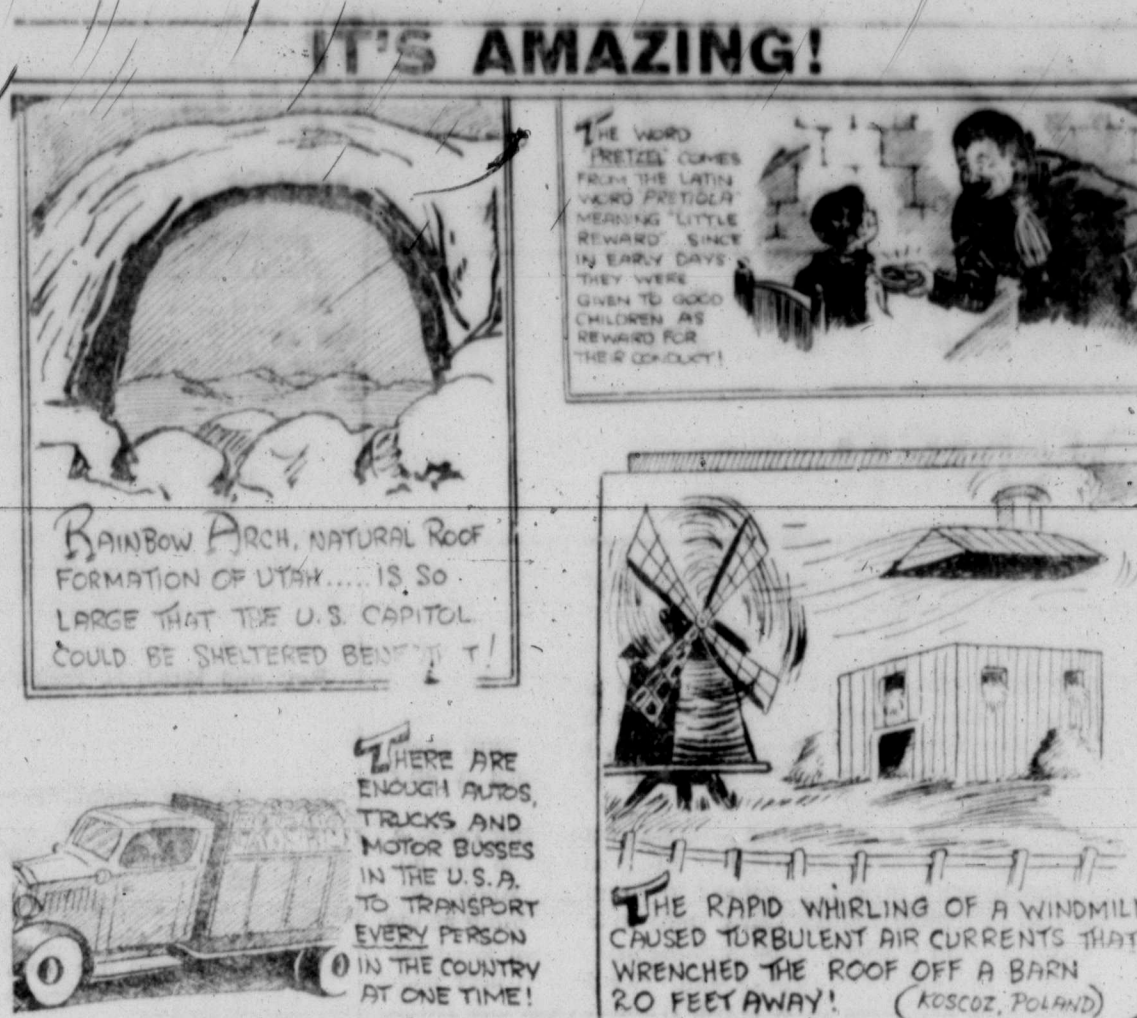

Herbert Hoover died this week after a long illness and the nation observes an official mourning period proclaimed by President Lyndon Johnson.

This former president of the United States is known for many things. His career as president has been criticized again and again, as well as commended, for it was during his term that the economy of our nation began to crumble into what is known as the great depression.

But time and knowledge and understanding has erased most of the harshness out of that criticism and, through the years, Democratic presidents as well as Republican called on Hoover for additional public service and trusted advice.

His service included the big job of organizing the feeding of millions in Europe during and after World War I. His Hoover Commission recommendations for improvement in governmental procedure; investigated and supported by President Truman, is one of the fine marks in his post-presidency service.

Probably one of the finest lessons to be learned from this ex-president's life is that political partisanship, even as bitter as it sometime develops, takes a back seat among the really great when our nation's welfare is at stake.

Expenditure & Tuition For College Proposed

BY VERN SANFORD

Texas Press Association

An increase of $107,000,000 in state expenditures for higher education and doubled tuitions in state colleges and universities is proposed.

Texas Commission on

Higher Education recommends a $457,100,000 budget for the 1965-67 biennium.

for 22 state-supported senior colleges and universities.

Tuitions under the Commission's recommendation would be hiked from $30 to $100 a semester. Last increase was in 1957, when the rate was raised from $25. If the Legislature approves this hike, revenues would be increased $33,000,000, leaving some needed from tax funds.

Overall budget increase of 45.2 per cent would permit a 23 per cent faculty salary raise. Previously, the Commission had asked a $5,900,

000 supplemental appropriation for faculty salaries.

Commission also recommended "phasing out" Texas or and a new assignment.

Already chairman of the National Democratic Government's Caucus, he was unanimously elected chairman of the Southern Conference of chief executives.

In a three-day session, the governors discussed a variety of state problems and adopted 14 resolutions. Among the latter was one urging a federal constitutional amendment to permit states to take other factors than population into consideration in reapportioning their senates. Resolution was aimed at nullifying a U. S. Supreme population alone.

Three governors blocked action on Alabama Gov.

calling on the federal government to leave operation of public schools entirely in the Watson will name a com-

COURTS SPEAKS — Court of Criminal Appeals ordered a new trial for a man convinced of murder, because his attorney filed an appeal after the deadline. Court heard argument that the trial attorney for the defendant lacked sufficient experience.

Third Court of Civil Ap-

new state ban shark law was applied unconstitution-

West-Tex Talk

A Look At West Texas Through Editorial Page Excerpts From It's Leading Weekly & Semi-Weekly Newspapers.

MINUS TWO FOR TEXAS

When Strom Thurmond quit the Democratic party, there were those who lamented the loss in seniority to the Democratic party inasmuch as Thurmond was chairman of a Senate subcommittee after being in the Senate only 10 years.

Ralph Yarborough is chairman of three such committees after being in the Senate seven years.

It's difficult to see how any Texan with the slightest interest in Lyndon Johnson's election would stab him in the back by helping send a second Republican Senator to Washington from Texas.

Yarborough is attracting new support in this election which he's never had before... even some big business men of Texas are willing to support him... not only do they recognize that he has been a good Senator but they are scared to death of having two rubber stamps for Goldwater in the Senate from Texas.

With Johnson in the White House, Texas would be better off having two vacancies in the Senate than having two Republicans of the Tower-Bush variety.

When they were both in the Senate, Johnson and Yarborough voted together more often (85 per cent) than did Johnson and any other Senator.

At that time, Texans had two votes for the great legislation passed during that era. Since Tower went to Washington, his vote cancels Yarborough for the administration-backed legislation giving Texans no vote for any legislation. With Bush up there, Texans supporting the administration would have a strength of minus two in the U. S. Senate.

—TULIA-HERALD

ENTERTAINING OR SELLING

Let's have a party!

Any kind of party will do. You name it... a jewelry party, a lingerie party, a cosmetics party, a hat party, a pots and pans party, a clothing party and etc.

The commercial party boom is really on and with good reason.

The companies selling the "party" products realize they have a gold mine.

This is the way the game works:

You are invited to a friend's home under the pretense of having a party. There you are entertained and fed — to keep up the party illusion — then you are gently but persistently requested to buy something.

Of course there is no obligation to buy. This is always pointed out when you are invited. The usual invitation goes something like this:

"Oh, you don't have to buy anything, you know. Just come."

Anyone who has ever been to one of these parties knows this is a bunch of nonsense.

You may not be required to make a purchase but who wants to feel like a tightwad or a cheap skate?

After all, as is usually pointed out, you are "helping" the hostess with your purchase. She gets a cut of the lost in the form of a "free gift."

In our opinion, this is little more than social blackmail.

You are not invited to these parties by a stranger, but by a friend. To refuse to accept the invitation puts you in a defensive position. To refuse to buy, once you are there, puts you in an impossible position.

No one is more aware of this than the companies backing the salesmen or salesladies.

They are certainly also well aware that they have practically no overhead.

For an office, they use your living room — rent free.

There are no utilities to pay. They are not taxed as a business by the county, school or city. Very little bookkeeping is required. They are not, as are our merchants, requested to donate heavily to the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Red Cross, YFA, FFA, cancer fund, and dozens of other local needs that arise. They do not belong to the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture.

In short, they are taking a lot of money out of this community and giving little in return.

Most of the items offered at the so-called parties can be found in downtown Olton stores at the same prices and, in many instances, at lower prices.

These merchants have invested a lot of money to bring you the convenience of having a place to shop near your home. They invest a lot of money in improving your town and in your children's school. They deserve your patronage.

Of course, it is up to the merchant to keep his prices competitive and, in most cases, we think he does.

So, if you're thinking of having a party, by all means, do so. But let's keep it honest. Let's entertain our friends because we like them and enjoy having them in our home, not because we hope to part them from their pocketbook.

We're just old fashioned enough to think it's plain bad manners to invite someone into your home to try to sell him something.

—THE OLTON ENTERPRISE

Health Commissioner
For State of Texas

It's the unknown that frightens... particularly if it is a disease with a long name like encephalitis.

In recent weeks the ominous sounding word—encephalitis—resounded across Texas. The reason: an encephalitis epidemic in the South Plains and Houston areas.

The epidemic is definitely on the decline, health officials reported, but many continue to be concerned.

One woman in a central Texas town, miles from the epidemic areas, refused to let her children go swimming, afraid they might "catch" encephalitis.

Others, however, sought information about this little known disease. And they discovered that this terrible sounding name is a Greek derivative meaning "an inflammation of the brain."

Encephalitis—a virus disease in not communicated from man to man, so far as scientists now know. The mosquito carries the virus from infected birds or small reptiles.

Not all persons bitten by mosquitoes become sick. Only a small percentage show signs of illness. Sometimes this may be so slight as to be passed off as a mild case of flu. Severe infections may be accompanied by high fever, stupor, mental confusion, coma, tremors and sometimes convulsions in infants. Some exhibit only a few symptoms.

There is a vaccine to prevent the disease in man, and there is no magic cure once a person contracts it.

The answer lies in prevention—mosquito control. Mosquitoes breed, multiplying by the thousands in puddles of standing water, small pot-holes, grassy edges of ponds. See Encephalitis Page 6
