MANAGER FOR WICHITA DISCUSSED

SEVEN JURORS SELECTED FOR SNYDER TRIAL

Court Orders Attorneys To Speed Up Their Work In Jury Picking

MRS. SNYDER HELPS

Accused Woman Aids Staff Of Defense Attorneys To Pick Trial

By DAMON RUNYON
Universal Service Staff Correspondent

LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., April 21.—We know now just about the type of men the sinful sister, Mrs. Ruth Snyder, is willing to let pass on the question of whether she shall live or die.

We know that by the men who sit with their backs against the faded wall in the cavernous old court room in Long Island City, accepted as jurors in the trial of Mrs. Snyder and her feeble brother in blood, Henry Judd Gray.

They are patiently awaiting the addition to their ranks of enough of their fellow-citizens of the County of Queens to complete the jury. My guess is that this will be by tomorrow night. Then the state will proceed to the unwinding of its gory tale of how Albert Snyder, husband of this icy-looking woman with the marble eyes, was butchered in his sleep by his wife and the rabbitty little corset salesman.

Court Orders Speed.

In fact, a statement by Justice Townsend Scudder in adjourning court at 6:30 this evening makes my guess a sure thing. Justice Scudder said to the attorneys:

"With all due charity, the court must inform you that the jury must be selected tomorrow if we have to sit through the next day. We have exhausted the panel, which is why we adjourn now."

Two hundred and forty-eight talesmen had been examined when Justice Scudder made this statement, with but seven jurors selected—the men who sat against the wall. They are:

Foreman—William E. Young, publicity, married, 38.

No. 2—Harry Arnold, clerk, unmarried, 29.

No. 4—Albert R. Kramer, plumber, married, 38.

No. 5—Herman Ballweg, exbartender, married, 63.

No. 6—John Schneider, florist, married, 30.

No. 7—John Connolly, engineer, married, 29.

These jurors are mainly stoutish, well-fed looking men of what I would call the solid citizen type. Most of them are married and therefore presumably of home habits. Some have children. I would say a composite of their temperaments would give you great placidity.

I judge this from the manner in which they sit lined up along the wall behind the grave figure of Justice Scudder, some of them in ruminative attitudes from which they rarely stir.

Woman Aids Counsel.

A general type, strangely enough of the poor art editor slaughtered in his bed that horrible night some four weeks ago, yet I would call them Mrs. Snyder's type of juror in the sense that she seemed to add her opinion to that of her attorneys, Dana Wallace and Edgar Hazelton, in the acceptance of the men.

Wallace and Hazelton must be very shrewd judges of human character in selecting jurors. It is said of them that they have served the defense in no less than 11 murder trials without a conviction going against them.

However, Wallace often confers in whispers with his blonde client as a talesman is under examination and it is quite likely that he gives no little heed to her woman's intuition.

Mrs. Snyder Satisfied.

They said in a statement today that she is well satisfied with the jurors and I have no doubt she is, otherwise they probably would not have been accepted. Thus, as I say, the jurors must represent her idea of the kind of men who may find sympathy in their hearts for a woman in her predicament.

But on the other hand, the state is also satisfied with the jurors, and you know the state is asking of these men that they burn this woman to death. It is a case of the blonde Ruth's intuition, backed by the judgment of her attorneys, against the guess at human

SAPIRO LIBEL SUIT ON FORD COST FORTUNE

$100,000 Spent in Contest Which Ends Thursday As Mistrial

4 WITNESSES HEARD

Sapiro Himself Served On Witness Stand For Fifteen Days

By Universal Service.

DETROIT, Mich., April 21.—Following a declaration of a mistrial here today in the Ford-Sapiro million dollar libel case granted on motion of counsel for Henry Ford Federal Judge Fred M. Raymond, who came from Grand Rapids to sit in the case announced that no decision as to a date for retrial will be reached until April 30.

Sapiro's counsel pleaded for starting the case over immediately. The Ford's attorneys advocate Sept. No funds to pay a jury will be available until after July 1.

Sapiro Offer Rejected

Sapiro's offer to bear half the jury fees, in fact half of the total court expense was rejected by the court. It is estimated the case has cost $100,000 up to date. It has been in progress more than five weeks and only four witnesses have been heard. Sapiro himself having occupied the stand for 15 days, most of it under cross examination by Senator James A. Reed, chief of Ford counsel.

Senator Reed, who was stricken with indigestion Sunday night, today was removed to Henry Ford hospital but tonight was reported to be in no danger and resting comfortably.

The grounds of the mistrial motion included charges against a woman juror, Mrs. Cora Hoffman, but centered principally around a newspaper interview with her after she had been quizzed by Judge Raymond and after announcement by Ford counsel that a mistrial would be asked. In the interview she denied harboring ill-feeling to Ford, as laid to her in affidavits of Ford secret police.

Mistrial Opposed

In arguing the motion for mistrial W. Henry Gallagher, chief counsel for Sapiro, openly charged Henry Ford with being afraid to take the stand as a plaintiff's witness and undergo examination on the charges of agriculture exploitation he had caused to be printed about Sapiro. Gallagher also charged the Ford defense had collapsed completely since April 13.

NORFLEET IN CHASE AGAIN

Texas "Nemesis of Crime" Gets His Man Again

FORT SMITH, Ark., April 21.(AP) J. Frank Norris, veteran Texas peace officer, left here tonight for Tulia, Texas, taking with him Robert F. Blake, 27, wanted in Tulia, for the murder of Fred Conner in July, 1925.

Blake was arrested here last night by Police Captain W. L. Robertson on informtaion furnished by Norfleet, thus terminating a silent chase that led Norfleet over 10 southern states in the last eight weeks.

Blake is alleged to have killed Conner, an automobile dealer of Tulia and then to have stolen his car. Conner had given a stranger a ride on the country road near where he was killed.

Blake waived extradition and the return trip to Texas started less than 24 hours after his arrest. Norfleet is taking his prisoner by way of Oklahoma City on account of flood waters disrupting train service south of here.

"Boomerang Sucker."

Norfleet, a dapper little man of about sixty years, started his career as a master detective some few years ago when a gang in Hale Center, Texas, swindled him out of a considerable fortune. Without outside aid and without benefit of experience, Norfleet trailed each member of this gang until all were arrested. All but two of the gang were convicted, these two took their own lives. Norfleet's striking back at the gang caused him to become nationally known as the "boomerang sucker."

For the past few years Norfleet, a ranchman, has devoted his entire time to the apprehension of major law violators. Blake is his 77th arrest.

CONNER WANTED FOR SLAYING AT PLAINVIEW

LUBBOCK, April 21.(AP)—Fred Conner, in connection with whose death Robert F. Blake is being returned to Texas from Fort Smith, Ark., following his arrest last night by G. Frank Norfleet, was slain on the highway between Plainview and Kress Thursday night, July 16, 1925, while he was en route to his home at Tulia from Dairn. His body was found early in the morning just off the highway grade, and his abandoned car was found nearby headed south, opposite direction from which Conner is supposed to have been traveling. The slain man was an automobile dealer of Tulia and according to his statement to friends here, where he had his car serviced the evening of the night he was killed, he had been to Abilene to trade cars and had $400 on his person. When his car was serviced here, he was accompanied by a young man whom he said he had picked up on the highway near Post. The money was not found on his body.

Friends of Conner here say they can identify his slayer. Several suspects were picked up in various parts of the state immediately following the slaying but were subsequently released. Norfleet, Hale county rancher, who tracked Blake, is one of the most widely known men in the southwest and played the leading role a few years ago in a manhunt which extended throughout the United States and two foreign countries after he was fleeced out of $45,000 in a fake oil swindle by seven confidence men then operating out of Fort Worth. All of the group were sent to the penitentiary. One died in the stripes of a convict.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Warned that the Mississippi flood will continue to increase in intensity for another 10 days, the war department today redoubled its efforts to provide relief to victims and refugees.

An additional 2500 tents were ordered rushed to St. Louis from the army reserve depot at Philadelphia. This was in addition to the 5000 tents shipped from Philadelphia last night.

The tents were shipped at the request of Major Gen. Benjamin A. Poore, commanding the seventh corps area at Omaha, Neb., who is directing army relief work in that area.

With 52,000 refugees already under its care, a new appeal for funds to relieve flood victims in the Mississippi valley was broadcast by the American Red Cross today.

Officials declared that relief needs were already greater than after any flood in the last quarter of a century. Appeals for help have been received from governors and other officials in states bordering the Mississippi from Illinois to the Gulf of Mexico.

50,000 HOMELESS AS FLOOD RANGE WIDENS.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 21.(AP)—The Mississippi flood had extended into the lower valley tonight as a cold wave came in from the west to add to the discomfort of the 50,000 homeless and placed added handicaps in the way of the men along the levees.

The main levee on the Mississippi broke at Stops Landing, 18 miles above Greenville early today and let through waters upon an area 50 miles wide and 75 miles long in eight Mississippi counties.

Greenville faced inundation as did a score or more smaller communities before flood waters again reached the main stream near Vicksburg.

Backwaters from the Ouchita river were approaching Monroe, La., and vicinity, Arkansas, with its thousands of refugees, many of them ill, huddled in improvised

Straw Hat Day!

GOV. DAN MOODY

The norther's over and it 'aint goin' a rain any more—

And it's straw hat day in Wichita Falls.

Even the governor of Texas, Dan Moody himself is shown today in a straw for the edification of mere men of Wichita Falls who might want to follow him in their selections of new models.

A dispatch from Austin recently said that Moody would not put on a straw hat until May 1, principally because he couldn't afford to buy a new hat. But you know, the governor of Texas only gets a few paltry thousand a year—and much of that is eaten up in entertainment.

But there's only one governor. You're supposed to wear a new straw today. Old ones don't count.

The planes were part of a group of 40 flying in formation and carrying out stunts. They fell on a garage which was set on fire.

HATTON BRINGS ISSUE TO FORE IN TALK HERE

Noted Municipal Government Expert in Address At C-C Meeting

LABOR FAVORS PLAN

Trend of Local Opinion In Favor of Test For Managerial Idea

The question of a city manager form of government for Wichita Falls was brought squarely to the front in a lecture here Thursday night by Dr. A. R. Hatton, professor of political science at Western Reserve university and noted expert on city charters and the city manager form of government. A round table discussion followed the lecture by Dr. Hatton.

Dr. Hatton, internationally known as an authority on city governments, was guest at a dinner given by the Chamber of Commerce under the direction of Hubert Harrison, general manager of the chamber. Dr. Hatton was largely responsible for the drafting of the present city charter here in 1919, confessed at the dinner that his trip here Thursday was just to "see what had become of the raw town I visited in your 'boom' days."

Hatton Praises City.

"The development of your city is the most astounding I believe I have ever seen," Dr. Hatton declared near the close of his talk.

"I believe it would be difficult to find a city in the United States more substaptial or well built, or one more beautiful. It seems almost miraculous that this beautiful substantial city has grown in just a few years from that raw town I visited in your oil boom."

Mr. Harrison probably sounded the keynote of the meeting, and perhaps of a considerable sentiment in Wichita Falls, when he said in introducing Dr. Hatton:

"The city manager government has been much discussed here during the last few months. I believe that the majority of Wichita Falls citizens might be placed in the position of merely seeking knowledge as to whether or not this plan might be of benefit to the advancement and progress of the city. Without either endorsing or condemning the manager plan, it is very fortunate that Dr. Hatton is here to throw as much light as possible on the system and its success in other cities."

Mr. Harrison then announced that after briefely discussing the general plan of government, Dr. Hatton would answer questions concerning the general plan, and concerning local problems.

Summed up, the outstanding developments of the meeting were:

Labor Favors Plan.

1. Announcement by P. B. Roberts, editor of the People's Press, that the manager plan of government has already been given approval by the central labor body here.

2. The city council under the Wichita Falls charter is authorized to employ a manager at any time if it so desires.

3. Sentiment in Wichita Falls for the plan is apparently strong enough to bring about within a year either an election or some form of straw vote, the result to be directed at the city council as an expression of the city's position for or against the manager plan.

Sketch on Government

Dr. Hatton opened his talk by giving a brief sketch on the change in the functions of municipal government during the last half century. Fifty or 75 years ago, he said, the chief business of the municipal government was that of maintaining the peace.

"Today, the city has become the greatest public service organization in history. It is greater than any private enterprise, its services and functions are far more diverse than any corporation, not even ex-

State Closes Case in Trial of Negro For Stabbing of Officer

J. D. Masters, negro, on trial in the 30th district court on a charge of assault with intent to murder in connection with the stabbing of M. W. Barnett, federal narcotic enforcement officer, is expected to take the witness stand Friday morning.

The trial started Thursday morning. Selection of a jury was not completed until Thursday noon. The state, represented by James Allred, special prosecutor, closed its case late Thursday afternoon. Court was adjourned at 5 p. m.

The principal witnesses for the state were Barnett and Sam Spence, assistant district attorney. Masters was sentenced several days ago to 10 years for the stabbing of Spence.

Barnett testified that he was attempting to assist Spence in arresting Masters and two other negroes for the alleged reckless driving of an automobile and that during an affray with the negroes, Masters stabbed him.

Spence testified that he attempted to arrest the negroes for reckless driving on Eleventh street, near Scott.

The case is expected to be given to the jury for deliberation on a verdict Friday afternoon.

Grand Jury Returns 11 Indictments; Final Report Expected Today

Eleven indictments were returned Thursday by the county grand jury. With the exception of investigating one or two other cases the work of the grand jurors is practically completed for the spring term of district court.

52,000 Driven Out By Flood

camps little prepared for warmth, was in the path of the cold wave. Cold weather overspread other parts of the valley, while winds created waves on the river, adding to the seriousness of the situation along the banks of the Mississippi.

Big Area in Danger.

At Hickman, Ky., the Reelfoot levee protecting nearly 200 square miles of lowlands was in danger because of sand boils and waves washing over the top of the dykes. Other points where government engineers were concentrating their efforts were Knowlton, Ark., between Helena and Laconia circle and at Albermarle Bend, 20 miles north of Vicksburg.

The crevisses at Stops Landing had been foreseen for 48 hours and forewarned the residents of that section had made preparations to meet the overflow or to reach safety and it was believed all had escaped.

Disease was reported spreading at Vanburen, Wynne, Parkin, and Forest City, Ark., measles, whooping cough and mumps were increasing in some of the camps and a call for typhoid and small pox vaccine for 5000 refugees came from Forest City. The vaccine was ordered from St. Louis.

The flood situation became more acute along the lower reach of the Arkansas river from Little Rock to Pine Bluff, and southeast to the confluence of the White and Mississippi rivers. The Red Cross chapter at Little Rock reported today that "hundreds of families" were in danger of drowning unless rescued within a few hours. Indicative of the strength of the stream, the Arkansas washed away two spans of the Missouri Pacific bridge at Little Rock, carrying with them a string of loaded freight cars that had been run on the bridge to help hold it.

Clarendon Isolated.

Cut off from all communication today, the fate of Clarendon, Ark., remained uncertain tonight, but reports from a number of persons who had escaped from the flood-wrecked city yesterday encouraged the belief that all residents had escaped. A rescue party including a staff correspondent of The Associated Press was enroute to the town tonight.

The wide area flooded in the lower part of the Arkansas river valley was increased today when a break—the third—occurred in the Plum Bayou levee near England. A heavy loss of livestock was reported from this overflow, which adds to the inundation which threatens the towns of Sherill, Altheimer and other communities.

Crews of men worked tonight on weakened levees south of Pine Bluff where the backwaters of the Mississippi swell the Arkansas.

Responding to the inflowing tides from the New Madrid, Mo., area waters of Big Lake and the Little river in the upper St. Francis basin of Arkansas and Missouri were rising tonight.

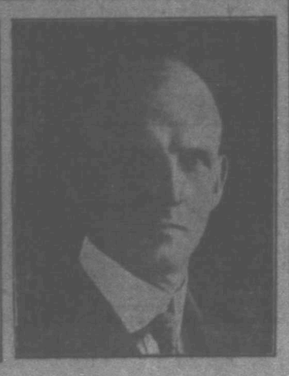

Waters Fill Break.

The floods now coming down the St. Francis basin have come through the breach in the Mississippi river at Dorena, Mo., where the government dykes first yielded. The St. John's bayou levee near New Madrid, Mo., also has broken. They have submerged New Madrid to a depth of five to 18 feet and will be carried again into the Mississippi just north of Helena. New Madrid is virtually abandoned.

W. T. Grant and C. E. Freeman are the heads of the W. T. Grant company, national chain store system, which opens its local store Saturday morning at 914-16 Indiana avenue. The complete list of 117 stores covers 27 states.

New Enterprise For Wichita Falls In Opening Of Grant Store Saturday

The opening of the new W. T. Grant company store at 914-916 Indiana avenue Saturday morning brings the seventh Grant store to Texas and the 117th store in the chain. Although new to Wichita Falls, the Grant syndicate is already well known in Northwest Texas and surrounding states, having stores in Dallas, Fort Worth, Waco, Shreveport, La., and Oklahoma City, Okla.

The new store is one of a great chain of department stores specializing in all types of merchandise at prices of $1 and under, with the exception of millinery which in the local store will be priced as high as $2.95. There are over 30 departments in the new store which will handle among other things the following merchandise: Domestics, yard goods and piece goods, hosiery, infants, and children's wear, men's and boys' items, knit, muslin and rayon undergarments, housewares, tools, auto accessories, radio parts, paints and brushes.

K. W. Tolman, Manager

K. W. Tolman will be manager of the local store. He has for the last few months been acting as assistant manager in the store at Houston, one of the largest stores of the Grant chain and has served an apprenticeship in several other stores of the Grant organization both as assitant and floorman.

Mr. Tolman is a product of the Grant system of training its own managers and looks forward to great success in the new store. The W. T. Grant company has a policy of training its own men and every man in the organization, with the exception of a few technical men, has gone through the training in the stores.

The opening in Wichita Falls has been under the direction of H. K. Garges, district manager for southern stores, R. E. McCain, manager of the Houston store is in direct charge of the opening. Several assistant managers from other stores of the Grant chain have been temporarily assigned to the store and are supervising the details of getting the store ready for the opening.

Beautiful Store

The new store which is laid out along the lines of the latest merchandise principles is beautiful in its opening dress. The polished walnut fixtures form a sharp contrast with the cream colored panels walls, while from the white ceilings the lights of numerous lighting fixtures are reflected so that there are no shadows or dark spots. Plate glass is used as bins and merchandise dividers, while numerous mirrors add a sparkling effect to the whole. Special displays and special lighting equipment increase the attractiveness.

Shopping has been made convenient in the new store by wide aisles, carefully classified merchandise and the method of merchandising which allows customers to practically wait upon themselves.

Every saleswoman is her own cashier and wrapper so the sales are made complete at one counter. There is no waiting for cash and bundles. In the few instances where it is necessary to send to a central office for change, speedy cash carriers make a long wait unnecessary.

Seventy-five ladies under the training of Miss Beatrice Tindall have been hired as the sales force for the opening day. These young women have been schooled in the details of merchandise by Miss Tindall who is a trained field personnel worker, and it will be a thoroughly trained sales force which meets the customers Saturday morning.

The chain now covers 27 states of the union and has with the two new stores, 117 stores which do an annual business in excess of $40,000,000.

Besides the central offices in New York City, district offices are maintained in Hartford, Conn., Chicago, Ill., Buffalo, N. Y., and Atlanta, Ga., while resident buyers are maintained in Chicago and Berlin, Germany, the latter with sub-offices in all the principal markets of Europe. Direct buying connections with Oriental markets enable the Grant organization to bring merchandise from the far east to its counters.

The Remarkable Growth

The opening of the Wichita Falls store and the twin opening of the Ybor City, Fla., store at the same day, marks the latest expansion of the Grant organization. This company has enjoyed one of the most remarkable growths of any merchandise institution and in less than 21 years has grown from one small localized store to one of America's greatest merchandising institutions.

Mr. Tolman and Mr. McCain look for a very large opening Saturday morning. Every preparation has been made to handle the opening crowd with the greatest speed and convenience. Special police have been assigned to maintain order both inside and outside the store. The big show windows have been heavily barricaded and a separate means of exit and entrance provided so there will be no confusion.

Manager

K. W. Tolman is the manager of the new Grant store, formerly connected with the Houston store. Mr. Tolman has been with the Grant company for several years and is thoroughly familiar with its policies and system.

BAYLOR CLUB FORMED HERE

Pittman Named President Of New Organization

The Wichita Falls Baylor club formed at the first meeting of ex-students of Baylor university held Thursday night in the gray room at the Kemp hotel when more than 50 former students of Baylor gathered in a San Jacinto day banquet.

The principal address was made by Wiley L. Robertson who spoke on the hardships and problems facing the founders of Baylor. Mr. Robertson declared that determination and will power of a real student is embodied in the lives of Dr. George W. Truett, Pat M. Neff and Dr. S. P. Brooks, all of whom graduated in the same class with Mr. Robertson.

Mrs. F. R. Collard, speaking on Baylor social life of yesterday, declared that it did not consist of petting parties and automobile rides but all gatherings were chaperoned when she was a Baylor co-ed.

Mrs. Paul Hines spoke on Baylor social life of today and illustrated the result of her courtship by "exhibiting" her husband who was present at the banquet.

Baylor's athletic successes in recent years are the result of better equipment, better financial and moral support and a greater interest on the part of the student body, O. H. Kellog stated in comparing athletics of 1916 and 1917 with present day athletics.

Miss Adell Ray sang three songs as follows: "The Star" by Rogers; "Love's in My Heart," by Woodman and an encore, "The False Prophet," by Scott.

The Wichita Falls Baylor club will hold monthly dinners at the Kemp hotel, it was announced by Ralph D. Pittman, who was elected president. Other officers are as follows: Fred C. Barron, first vice president; Miss Pauline Shirley, second vice president and Mrs. Paul Hines, secretary and treasurer.

OLNEY TO GET 53 MILES ROAD

$1,200,000 Bond Issue to Be Voted On In May

Special to The Record News.

OLNEY, Texas, April 21.—Citizens of Young county are rejoicing over the fact that they are soon to be given an opportunity of expressing their desires as to whether or not the highways throughout the county are to be hardsurfaced. The commissioners court in regular session Tuesday afternoon ordered an election for a county-wide road bond issue and set $1,200,000 as the amount of bonds to be voted upon. The date for election has been set for May 28.

The election order calls for 53 miles of hardsurfaced roads and appropriates $622,500 as the county's portion for same. The balance of bonds voted are to be used in the improvement of lateral roads throughout the county. Representatives from the various communities in the county have held frequent meetings, in fact committee meetings have been held practically every day during the past three months in order that a system of roads could be outlined that would serve the best purpose and the most people. The action of the commissioners court was brought about following recommendations of the chambers of commerce from Olney, Newcastle and Graham and upon presentation of petitions circulated throughout the country by them.

How Money Will Go

Of the $622,500 proportioned for highways in the county the following distribution has been made:

1. Highway No. 24, from the Jack county line to the Archer county line, through Graham, Newcastle and Olney. This highway is to be of the same type as the Jack county highways and the sum appropriated from the sale of bonds not to exceed $10,000 per mile. This type of construction to be used from the Jack county line, through Graham and Newcastle and to a point between Newcastle and Olney, where such type ceases to be the most economical, and from this point on will be of concrete construction, but not to exceed $15,000 per mile.

2. Highway No. 67 from Graham south to the Stephens county line, through South Bend will be of Jack county type and not to exceed $10,000 per mile.

3. Highway No. 79 from Olney north to the Archer county line is to be of most economical type of construction at a cost not to exceed $15,000 per mile.

With completion of the hardsurfacing of the above mentioned highways all of the principal roads in Young county will be taken care of. The FFF highway extending from Fort Worth to the plains crosses the county east and west. Highway No. 79, fills in the gap between Wichita Falls and Breckenridge. Stephens county on the south already has hardsurfaced roads, and Archer county on the north recently voted $1,500,000 so that a complete system of hardsurfaced highways will exist in all directions.

Lateral Road Work.

The balance of the bond issue will be applied on lateral roads extending into every important community center. Sufficient funds will be available to construct a road of standard grade and concrete culverts, from Olney, through Jean and Loving to the Jack county line on the east and from Olney through Padgitt to the Throckmorton line on the southwest.

The following are the projects as outlined for the improvement of lateral roads in the county:

Precinct No. 1.—The road from Graham to the McCann bridge not to exceed $54,000, and a cash balance of $58,500 to be expended upon the order and direction of the commissioners court.

Precinct No. 2.—The road from the McCann bridge to Murray not to exceed $48,000, route to be determined. The road from South Bend to Eliasville not to exceed $28,000, route to be determined. The road from Murray north to the precinct line not to exceed $12,000. Cash balance for precinct No. 2 to be $26,000.

Throckmorton Road

Precinct No. 3.—The road from Newcastle west to the Throckmorton line shall not exceed $60,000. Road from Newcastle in a northwesterly direction to the intersection of the Olney-Elvert road at a point nearest the Reynolds bridge, not to exceed $825,500. The road known as the Newcastle-Proffitt road south to the precinct line, connecting with the Murray road, not to exceed $12,000. The road from the Throckmorton county line to and through Padgitt to intersect highway No. 24 at or south of Olney but no further south than T. E. and L. survey, No. 153, not to exceed $82,500. And the road from Olney toward Jean, route to be determined, not to exceed $30,000. Any funds saved from the construction of the Olney Padgitt road and the Olney Jean road, within precinct No. 3, to be used on roads from Olney, Bitter Creek and Spring Creek.

Precinct No. 4.—The road west from Jean to connect with the Olney road not to exceed $30,000. The road from Jean south to a point west from Loving, not to exceed $15,000. And from the above intersection south to the intersection of highway No. 24, not to exceed $17,000. The road east and west through Loving to the Jack county line not to exceed $66,000. The road from Loving toward Graham to the precinct line not to exceed $13,000. Any funds saved from economical construction of roads in precinct No. 4 will be applied to the construction of roads leading to Markley and Farmer.

$6000 Per Mile

All the above sums, except from Loving south toward Graham, and from Newcastle-Proffitt road south to Murray, and from Newcastle to Padgett, to be spent on lateral roads of standard grade, with concrete drainage to cost not more than $6000 per mile. Any surplus saved from the construction of the highways will be apportioned among the several precincts.

WHAT to WEAR and HOW to WEAR IT

BY LUCY CLAIRE
Favorite Fashion Adviser of the Smart Set

I have never been able to account for that peculiar quirk in human nature that makes us always wish to possess just the opposite of what we already have. Yet again and again, I see indications of it. When the mode for short hair became prevalent, this consideration no doubt retarded many women, for once the long hair was shorn, it could not be wished back again. It was just a question of arduous months of coaxing along.

But now I find that one of the chief arguments waged in favor of short hair is that it can be camouflaged to appear long on any occasion.

A great many smart women are still bobbing their hair and many others prefer to retain its shortness after several seasons of trial wear. But short hair, just like all other fashions, has become more perfect through usage. The first bobbed heads are surely within the memory of everyone—that atrocious, tightly curled, bad arrangement that was as broad as it was high. After a year or so, this developed into the back shingle and then progressed to the natural head contour as we are now acquainted with it.

Look closely at head No. 2 and you will see what I mean by the perfect natural head contour. The hair has been cut short to conform to these lines of the head. It has been parted about half way back and very low on the right side. It waves in two soft peaks—one over the left tmeple and another covering all except the lobe of the ear. In the back it has been cut and brushed in a swirl toward the left, just pointing slightly at the nape of the neck. This style is becoming to faces of any shape and coloring provided the back contour of the head is correct.

The head which I have marked No. 4, is more adapted to an individual type—the rather long oval shaped face with prominent well-modelled features because the sleek effect is as trying to the wrong type of face as it is striking to the right type. Here, again, the hair is parted low on the right side and is cut very short over the entire head with the exception of a single long strand which falls forward over each ear. It may be brought forward in a dip on the forehead but I prefer to see it combed straight back.

Sketch No. 3 illustrates for you how perfectly the short hair can be camouflaged. One may find all manner of twists and rolls, made up, which can be ordered to exactly match the natural hair coloring. These come fitted with two small sets of combs which interlock over the short hair and hold absolutely fast. These formations, the most popular of which are the figure eight and a long smooth roll, are always worn very low and usually extend from ear to ear. Hats are so much more comfortable and becoming fitted over short hair that the long hair is restored to most often for evening use. There is a general feeling that a genuine coiffeur is a bit more dignified and sophisticated during the evening hours.

The guiding rule for arranging long hair is to make it conform to the head contours as closely as possible. Plain and close—drawn toward the back of the head—the long hair is simply worn in a loose knot at the nape of the neck.

As to waves—the tight regular marcel which was always so artificial looking, has been replaced by a soft loose wave that looks perfectly natural.

Health Department Holds Last Meeting

Forty members of the health and home department of the Womans Forum attended the last meeting of the year held at the Y. W. C. A. Thursday afternoon when in the election of officers Mrs. J. D. Bright was made chairman of the department for the coming year; Mrs. Edwin Bebb was elected health chairman; Mrs. R. B. Parker, home chairman; Mrs. Jason Walker, secretary, and Mrs. T. J. Holland, treasurer.

The program proved especially interesting in which Mrs. R. L. Leslie, head of a beauty culture school talked on "Beauty Culture" and gave a demonstration. Mrs. A. R. Bleakley demonstrated how to make salad dressing, afterwards serving the finished product on crackers.

The meeting was presided over by the chairman, Mrs. P. L. Myers who gave an interesting resume of the year's work, and expressed appreciation for the co-operation she has received from the forum and from her officers. Mrs. Myers also requested that even greater co-operation be given Mrs. Bright who fills the office next year. The present chairman is founder of the home phase added to the department this season which has proven an especially interesting asset.

Following the program a social hour was enjoyed and tea and cakes served.

Man Who Loves His Wife Isn't Held By Flapperish Looks, Says Dorothy

If a Man Still Loves His Wife After Middle Age It Isn't Because She Has Fooled Him Into Thinking She Looks Like a Flapper; It's Because of a Spiritual Beauty He Is Sure Of—Anent Synthetic Loveliness.

Most of the married women I know are forever counting their calories and saying that they can't eat this and they can't eat that because it is fattening, and they feel they must keep thin in order to be attractive to their husbands.

But they never say a word about reading and studying and improving themselves so that they may keep their husbands interested and entertained. Yet after marriage it is what a woman puts into her heart and mind, not what she keeps out of her stomach, that keeps her husband in love with her.

I'm not denying that beauty is a great asset to a girl. It is the bait that she dangles before a man's eyes, and that attracts the attention of the poor fish in the first place, but after she has hooked him it is her brains that hold him. Not her complexion or her willowy figure.

A man gets bored mighty soon with gazing upon the most classical features if they are nothing but a blank, unresponsive mask. He very quickly ceases to rave over the most golden locks if they cover a head that is solid ivory. He soon comes to loathe a cupid's bow mouth if it utters only platitudes, or emits only whines and complaints.

The truth is that we have two standards of beauty—one, for the casual acquaintance, the other for those with whom we live. We award the blue ribbon to the casual acquaintance who is young and slender, with a peaches-and-cream complexion, shining, young hair and who is generally easy on the eyes.

But the lady in private life on whom we would bestow the prize for good looks merely looks good to us. She may violate every esthetic standard. She may have a figure that is like a feather bed or a bean pole. She may be grizzle-headed and have a saleratus biscuit complexion. She may have a face that is just an assemblage of useful features.

It doesn't matter, so long as every time we look at her we see in her only the embodiment of sweetness and tenderness, and understanding and sympathy. "The face that launched a thousand ships" is thrilling in song and story, but what we want at home is the comfortable face that launches a thousand kindnesses and considerations. The most beautiful eyes that were ever seen are those in which the love light burns for us. The loveliest mouth is that whose every tone is a caress for us.

Women are always complaining that their husbands never look at them after they are married, that their husbands never notice what they have on, or know whether they have bobbed hair or not unless they are told. Little as wives suspect it, this is God's mercy to them, for it makes it possible for them to keep up the illusion that they are still young and beautiful as long as they live.

But the secret for this is not to be found in the beauty parlors, nor in a starvation diet, nor can it be bought at the drug store. Time takes its toll of every woman and ravages her physical beauty. No synthetic youth deceives any one into believing it is the real thing. No middle-aged rack of bones is intrinsically any more attractive than a tub of lard is. But the wife who has kept herself pleasant and interesting to her husband is ageless and ever beautiful to him because he has never thought of her changing at all. He has never thought of her as anything but the girl he married.

If he looked only at her critically, he would naturally see that she had grown gray and lost her figure, and that the fairness of her complexion was gone, but no man ever looks critically at the woman who makes him comfortable, who is an entertaining companion, and who jollies him along.

Anyway, after middle age, if a man still loves his wife, it is not because she has him fooled into thinking that she looks like a flapper, or because she has a boyish figure. It is because he sees in her a spiritual beauty that far transcends any physical beauty. He loves her because she has given him a devotion and a loyalty that never failed. He loves her because she has been his best friend, his pal and confidant. He loves her because of the battles they have fought shoulder to shoulder; because of the sickbeds they have watched beside together; because of the graves they have wept over; because of the memories of joys and sorrows they have in common.

No wife has ever held a husband yet with a corset string or conjured him with a rouge pot, or enticed him by rattling her bones, but millions of women keep their husbands thinking they are the only women in the world by the simple expedient of just being pleasant and agreeable and entertaining. The home vamps are not the living pictures. They are the wives who give their husbands sympathy and understanding, who can enter into their husband's plans, and who have always something interesting and bright to talk about.

If women would spend more time in the library and less in the beauty parlor; if they would invest more money in books and magazines and less in cosmetics; if they would count their impatient words as carefully as they count their calories; if they would cut out their lectures as rigorously as they cut out sweets and fats, and if they would do their daily dozen of little courtesies and kindnesses to their husbands as they do their daily dozen exercises, they would get better results in retaining their husband's love.

For what the middle-aged woman needs to make her attractive to her husband is to fatten up her mind instead of trying to thin down her body.

MODISH MITZI — Clothes For Shipboard — By JAY V. JAY

"Some sport dresses, nice and summery," is Adelaide's advice so Mitzi is considering this blue silk jacket frock with a smart kerchief blocked in white and blue. With the kerchief or without it, it's a fashionable and practical costume.

"But, Mitzi," says Polly, "you'll freeze in a thin silk dress. Really it won't be warm enough." So Mitzi, poor dear, has to go shopping all over again and finally thinks she has found the proper sort of frock in this silk with a kasha jacket.

Still, if it's really going to be cold it might be well to be prepared. A jersey frock is always convenient. This one is a two-piece model with the blouse buttoning in tailored fashion all the way down the front. Perhaps in a spring green—or in beige—

Aunt Sophia was quite firm. "I've crossed a dozen of times myself," she says, "and I never knew a trip when one didn't need a really warm outfit." So Mitzi, who is always reasonable, buys a coat of checked wool that has a special steamer rug to match it.

Just AMONG US GIRLS
by Kathryn Kenney

Some people fill their jobs—but they fill them with bunk! The mannequin generally fills her job to perfection, unless she eats too much!

It is said that if you do only that work which you are intended to do you'll never get any place. And, if you do more you'll never have the time!

It's easier to strike a position than it is to keep it. Stay in one position too long and it cramps your style. Besides your foot goes to sleep!

Those who are always doing the work of the man ahead may get fired from behind.

Some people talk so much that their station in life should be a gas station. They lose sight of every good idea before they get her address!

Give some men a job digging ditches and they'll wear spats. They may step out of a truck, but they never step out of character. The man who thinks he was born to better things should remember that he wasn't born yesterday!

Some men would rather have their names on an office door than on the tongues of their competitors. They forget that every knock is a boost unless you don't answer the door.

The really important person does not care where his desk is, as long as he has a good light. He wants to get some work done and he kicks on nothing—except the mahogany!

The saleslgirl whose nose is five feet above sea level fills her position and doubles for Queen Mary at the same time. She tries to sell her customer the dress she likes herself and the customer leaves in her old gown and a hurry. The customer may not always be right, but, after all, she shouldn't be left!

If your job is to sell, why act as though you were training for the throne—unless you're going to sell that, too? A nose on the grindstone is worth two in the air.

The bootlegger is one person who fills his job better every day, even if it's short measure! Anyway, love, and his customers, are blind!

Be important and wear a carnation if you must but you will never be great in your job. Over-time is what puts it over. Greatness is knowing that other people are better, but trying your best to catch up!

The big frog shouldn't drink up his little puddle if he wants to swim. However, it's not a bad idea to put a fence around it.

The man who wins is the one who runs with the crowd but who has sense enough to sit down and rest once in a while. And then—he catches a ride when the other aren't looking!

Writer In Jail Dusts Off Books

Author of "Indecent" Play Gets Job in Prison

NEW YORK, April 21.(AP)—Mae West, author and star of "Sex," now serving a 10-day sentence at the work house at Welfare Island for production of an obscene play, is dusting off the books in the library as part of her duties, it was learned today. Keepers reported that soon after she started her sentence yesterday she lost her jaunty air and cried.

The tears came when she gave up her stylish Broadway clothes for the plain cotton garb worn by women prisoners. Before she went to the island she announced that she would have enough material for 10 plays. But it was evident that she would not have any time for actual literary effort while serving sentence.

This cake weighed sixty pounds and was prepared with Calumet Baking Powder. It was made in several layers and filled with fruit. Beautiful flowers molded of sugar adorned the cake, and it was topped with a royal crown, made entirely of palatable sweets

A CITY MANAGER FOR WICHITA FALLS

"THE only fault I find with Wichita Falls is that the city has never appointed a city manager, as was made optional in the charter."

This is the significant paragraph in an interview given out by Dr. A. R. Hatton, author of the Wichita Falls' city charter and professor of political science at Western Reserve university.

Dr. Hatton's work on the present charter has certainly been of real service to Wichita Falls, and, in the opinion of The Record News, the citizens could not do themselves a better municipal turn than to follow his advice and install a city manager form of government here.

The service and economy and development that naturally follows under the city manager form of government is rapidly winning favor for the new order in such Texas cities as Fort Worth, Waco, Beaumont, Austin and others.

Under a city manager charter, the councilmen or commissioners serve without pay. The city manager, a man of engineering and commercial experience, is supposed to be an expert in his line of work, just as much so as a lawyer, dentist, or any other professional man is familiar with his chosen profession. The city, then, through the services of such an expert, would get the advantages of such a man's talent and life work. The commissioners would continue to operate as elective officers, hiring and firing the city manager according to his efficiency.

The greatest feature of the city manager plan, of course, is its tremendous saying of thousands of dollars to the taxpayers year in and year out and, at the same time, keeping uppermost in mind the development of the city.

MR. SOMERVILLE AND THE SPEED LAW

THANKS to the wisdom of the 40th Texas legislature, the impractical unfair and pernicious fee-grabbing system that has been in vogue in the making of automobile speeding arrests, goes into the discard June 14.

The fee system is relegated by the weight of its own weakness. It has steadily grown in disfavor year by year until it was finally abolished by the legislature. The fee system as applied to other arrests than speeding cases will go next. The fee system is decaying because it is an un-American, unfair and because it gives country officers too much leeway. The Record News is glad to see it go.

Now comes County Attorney Wayne Somerville, who says he has no quarrel with the anti-fee provision of the new law, but he, at the same time, suggests that a straight salary, unless high enough to secure men of ability, "has a tendency to make an officer lazy, nearsighted and rheumatic." Well, that's that.

The county attorney, however, does offer some suggestions that no doubt will inevitably be included in legislation to eliminate speeding. The new anti-fee provisions and the anti-hiding provisions are simply the results of the fee-grabbing and the means to which some officers would go to arrest a motorist going a few miles above the limit. The country peace officers have brought the anti-fee legislation upon themselves. The arrest of reckless speedsters is not responsible for the change in the swing of the pendulum, but the arrest of scores of innocent autoists all over Texas is alone responsible for the new law. Otherwise, it would never have passed a legislature of such a personnel as that composing the Fortieth.

HAYS AS A MONEY RAISER

COLONEL WILL HAYS, director of the National campaign for the $15,000,000 pension fund of the Presbyterian church, has made the interesting announcement that his aged pastor fund has passed the $9,000,000 mark. Two gifts of $100,000 each were made to the fund by persons who did not want their names disclosed.

Colonel Hays is going to raise the $15,000,000 fund. He has sold it to men of millions. He is a most experienced money raiser. Before he became the czar of the movies at a salary of $150,000 a year, he had valuable experience in raising money for the republican campaign chest. He never touched the little fellows. He tapped the barrels of the big fellows.

Why not? A business organization is the republican party. All the big business men of America are republicans or in close touch with the republican administration. They believe in a protective tariff. They believe in protecting the business interest of the country. If millions are needed next year, millions will be forthcoming.

SO THIS IS TEXAS

A DISPATCH from the Winter Garden of America says the 1926-27 spinach crop from Crystal City "is just closed." Also the first car was shipped on Nov. 8 and since that time Crystal City has shipped 2450 cars of spinach, each carload containing 828 bushel baskets, and the crop was valued at $1,250,000.

Before the close of the season Crystal City will have shipped about 700 carloads of onions and 51 carloads of onion plants to be replanted all over the United States. This was not all. Crystal City shipped many carloads of carrots, beets, cabbage and cauliflower.

Falfurrias will ship the largest crop of tomatoes in its history before the coming month of May, and the shipment of watermelons promises to be the largest since the truck farmers made their invasion of that section of South Texas.

There was a time when cotton was a money crop of Texas. It is different now.

GAS PRODUCING STATES

FIVE states—Arkansas, Kansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas produce approximately 650,000,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas a year, out of an approximate total for the whole country of 1,250 billion cubic feet a year. Oklahoma is the leading state in the production. And the use of natural gas as fuel in industry in the southwest is said to be far greater than in the older gas producing states. Why not conservation?

A STORY OF MYSTERY, SUSPENSE AND LOVE
"THE SOB-SISTER"

By Clifford Webb and Rose Elo. Illustrated by R. J. Scott.

With Fingers That Shook, Don Adjusted the Record.

WHAT HAS HAPPEND

DIANA BROOKS, beautiful daughter of ROGER BROOKS, owner and publisher of the Catawba City Times and a chain of nine other newspapers, had been kidnaped and then released. Her father is engaged in a persistent fight against the corrupt administration of Catawba City, and through the medium of the Times redoubles his scathing attacks on politicians and the underworld.

Brooks himself is kidnaped, but in five days released. On his return he finds that his newspaper stock is being manipulated and suspects JOHN W. WALDEN, who he determines to fight.

Brooks' close friend is DONALD KEENE, young literary editor and guardian of TEDDY FARRELL, reporter and Sob Sister. Teddy is in love with Don. He believes himself in love with LOLA MANTELL, Diana's cousin.

Teddy and Don install a dictograph in the office of Walden in the hope of securing evidence against him.

NOW READ ON:

CHAPTER XLI

He was holding her hand with his and his right was stroking it much as he might stroke a catback. She felt that she must scream if he didn't stop soon. What was it he was trying to say? He told her.

"I've been wondering," he went on, still smiling and continuing to stroke her hand, "if there were any real understanding between Dinny Morrison and you. It has occurred to me that Dinny might be th' reason for your refusal when I asked—"

"Why—why, Donald Keene!"

The cry broke involuntarily from the girl. It was followed closely by a half-strangled sob, as she jerked her hand from his and jumped to her feet. He looked at her in mild surprise.

"What's th' matter, Ted?" he asked, plainly disturbed by her display of feeling. "Was it anything I said—?"

He stopped. She had turned and was looking at him questioningly, fighting hard to keep the tears back. Was it possible that Don didn't realize what his words implied?

"What was your reason for asking me that—about Dinny?" queried Teddy after a long pause.

"Why—er—well, you're under my care, you know, and of course I'm interested in my ward's heart problems," he replied lamely, and looked away from her.

"Well, if that's all, I'd rather not discuss it," she said in a dull voice.

He glanced back and into her down-turned face. Her slender body was shaking slightly. He rose and lit a cigaret, cursing himself for his stupidity. Of course the poor kid was hurt. How beautiful her devotion seemed. He experienced a momentary thrill of exaltation. Swift on the heels of that came a self-reproach. He was a vain, selfish cad, he told himself savagely.

"Oh, Don, come here . . . ."

He wheeled swiftly as the girl's whisper reached him. Teddy was standing with her ear close to the wall separating the real estate from the law firm's office. All signs of hurt were gone from her face. It was eager now, alive with interest in the exciting game they were playing.

For it was a game, and a big game, too, this plot to get evidence on the Ring—the evidence so necessary to convince the grand jury that an indictment against the Waldens was justifiable.

He stepped across to where she stood.

"I just caught a few words," she told him hurriedly, her eyes shining. "Young Walden said—he must have spoken extra loud—he said: 'I tell you that's all paid for, th' Pop Brooks job. One grand. Th' killing of Valetti saved us two grand. Th' other—' That's all I caught. All you c'n hear now is just a rumble. "Listen!"

They stood for a moment, their ears to the wall. The low murmur of voices came to them, but indistinctly, the words of the speakers entirely unintelligible.

"We're in luck, I think," said Don finally, in a tone just above a whisper. "In luck," he went on, replying to the question in Teddy's eyes, "that they picked this particular time to speak of matters peartaining to Pop. Anything they may say along that line will be of value in securing an indictment. Just that one statement about 'Pop Brooks job' will go far to hook 'em!"

The girl nodded understandingly.

"And we'll have t' wait until t'night?" She spoke tentatively.

"Got to wait," he replied, smiling at her impatience. "No chance to get that cylinder while there's anybody around. It'll take five minutes to make th' change—take this one and replace it with another. For we can't be t'sure, you know," he added to forestall the inquiry he saw coming, "of this cylinder's value. We may have to try again tomorrow. But we'll know in 30 minutes after we get th' record that's now in th' course of making! This'll run for an hour. When th' time's up I'll hide th' plug again and we can beat it. We'll come back tonight!"

And they came back—at the same hour, before—passing the char-woman on the second floor. Again she looked up and then at the expenditure of much effort clamored to her feet.

Once more Don stepped forward flipped back the lapel of his coat to show his badge, and reached out his hand to her. As on the previous occasion she took it, the bill, and mumbled her "t'anks, mister." A moment later and she was kneeling again on her pad with scrubbrush in hand. It was just a passing incident in her life, an unimportant event save that it left her richer by $5.

In the meantime the two midnight prowlers had wasted no time. Entrance to the private office of Walden firm was effected as before. Three minutes later Don straightened, the cylinder he had fitted in the machine on the previous night reposing securely in the leather bag a dpulicate in the dictograph.

"O. K." he whispered to the eagerly-waiting Teddy. "Now for my hole-in-the-wall to find out what sort of fish we've caught!"

The charwoman was at the far end of the hall on the second floor when the ydescended, and so failed to note their departure. Teddy remarked her absence.

"We were more expeditious on this trip," was the explanation on offered, as they directed their steps toward the Times office. He added, "Let us hope it's th' windup. At that," he went on, a whimsical note in his voice, "it's an ill-wind that blows no one good. Whatever our work gets us, it enriched the buxom Mrs. Kovacic to th' tune of $10. Perhaps it served a good purpose.

A brisk walk of 10 minutes brought them to the Times building and they were shot up to the editorial floor. Don's sanctum adjoined the city room.

A machine stood on the table. With fingers that shook slightly Don adjusted the record on which their hopes were based and pushed the starting button. A brief wait and—

The sound of a slammed door came from the record. Then sounded footfalls across the floor, the noisy opening of a desk, a cough. The next moment the voice of young Walden's voice came:

"What's th' matter? You ain't lookin' so good. Haven't been hittin' th' white mule, have you?"

"I don't know what 'tis, but—I'm damned worried over th' Pop Brooks matter." It was the elder Walden's voice.

"Why, what's worryin' yuh?" This was young Walden.

"A number of things. First place I'm fraid he smells a rat."

"Why so?"

"He acted odd th' day he was in here an' told me my account had been wiped f'm his slate—that I owed him nothing."

"Well, what o' that?"

"Funny thing—after all these years. Seemed like he thought that Anna Sutherland case was a dead issue."

"Ain't it?"

"Hell, no! I'll bleed old Pop Brooks to the last dollar he's got 'fore I'm through with him. That is, if—"

"If what?"

"Well—if I can."

"Can't you?"

"I'm not absolutely sure since—"

"Since what?"

"Since we pulled this kidnapin' stunt. That was not such a smart dodge, abductin' th' girl an' lettin' her go so soon. That was your wise idea."

"It was a good idea if—"

"If it had worked, yes—but it didn't. Old Pop kept right on with his cussed paper. An' he'll keep on keepin' on as long as he is in control of th' sheet. That's th' 'Old Ace in the Hole,' his control of that damned Times. If we could oust him f'm that we'd be safe But just as sure as black's black, his infernal reporters will dig up som'p'n one of these days—som'p'n like that waterworks contract. Then it'll be hell to pay and no pitch hot."

"I thought your agents had a line on th' stock he's been dependin' on to kep control."

"That'n th' hell of it. I got word yest'day somebody—not my agents—had nailed a hundred thousand shares in Chicago. Th' question is—who got that stock? That's what's worryin' me!"

The ONE-MINUTE PULPIT

Hear my voice, O God, in my prayer; preserve my life from fear of the enemy.

Hide me from the secret counsel of the wicked; from the insurrection of the workers of iniquity.

Who whet their tongues like a sword and bend their bows to shoot their arrows, even bitter words.

That they may shoot in secret at the perfect; suddenly do they shoot at him and fear not.

They encourage themselves in an evil manner; they commune of laying snares privily; they say who shall see them?—Psalm 64:1-6.

BO BROADWAY ..... By Joseph Van Raalte

There's a theater in New York known and honored as The Neighborhood Playhouse. It is situated far from the Incandescent Inanities of Mazda Lane—way downtown in an environment of teeming tenements, sweat shops and funny old coffee houses that have sand on the floor where far into the night serious-visaged young men with black curley hair and horn rims fore, gather to babble shrily about the Seven Arts, Otto Kahn, Morris Gest the glory that is Leningrad and the grandeur that is Moscow.

After 13 years of experimentation in unusual plays and new forms of drama and lyric drama, the Neighborhood Playhouse which grew from a settlement house venture to a mecca for intellectuals, will close at the end of the present season. Their deficit in that time scaled over half a million, representing an annual outlay exceeding the yearly appropriation of the French government for the Comedie Francaise.

They could have adopted methods of expedience but after careful consideration it was deemed better to pack their ideals, ship them to the storehouse and step aside for a time to find a new adjustment.

With David Belasco's curled clerical and white-wool phiz adorning newspaper cigarette exploitation; with Ethel Barrymore touting a popular brand of ginger ale and of her brothers signing over coat advertisements it is easy to understand the Neighborhood Players when they say that their "present system is not conductive to the further development of effective expression."

Students of the Principles of Potent Appeal are joyfully requested to train little pocket microscopes on the following specimen culled from the weed-strewn stretches of "classified" in a New York morning newspaper.

"Woman wants hard work. Call Sullivan, care of Flynn."

New York's first night club in the sense in which the term today is construed was aired by a gentleman who thrived under the irrepressible jocosity of the name of Jimmy McPike.

"Jymes" conducted a chop house at the corner of Grenn and Belcher streets, a neighborhood that long since succumbed to the drab and devasting influence of mercantile activities.

In the program of the Academy of Music for the evening of October 28, 1860, when Mme. Fabbri and Carl Formes were stars of "Martha," Brother McPike, after after duly extolling the merits of his steaks, chops and brown October ale, directed the attention of music lovers to the fact that—"N. B.—A select, harmonic meeting is held Friday evenings at 9 o'clock. Songs, glees, etc., by distinguished talent. Professionals and amateurs are invited to attend."

A man slipped one morning on the front steps of his boarding house, sprained his ankle and was persuaded by an unscrupulous friend to sue the trolly car company, swearing that he was thrown from one of their cars that got underway prematurely as he was about to alight.

The arolly company brought half a dozen witnesses forward at the trial who swore that the plaintiff deliberately leaped from the car while it was in motion, without a word from the conductor.

"What do you think of that, for perjury!" said the chagrined plaintiff?

Kidney Trouble

Every year 75,000 people die of kidney disorders, and yet, the majority of my correspondents who write about advice for kidney troubles are really bothered with bladder irritation, such as cystitis or from prostatic inflammation.

There are only a few diseases of the genito-urinary tract which are located in the kidneys. They may be grouped under these headings: Stone in the kidney, tuberculosis, nephritis and simple inflammations. Such disorders are not easy for the layman to diagnose, but careful laboratory tests must be made to discover the specific pathology, if any exists.

Periodic examinations of the urine are of great value to everyone as the first traces of functional impairment of the kidneys may be discovered in this way. X-ray pictures will disclose the presence of stones and, with the use of the new dye injections into the kidneys, this examination is now more accurate. New improvements in the methods of cystoscopic explorations make it possible to inspect the membranes of the entire genito-urinary tract.

The cystoscope is an instrument to which is attached a very small electric light. This is introduced into the bladder through a small opening covered with a magnifying lens.

Through the use of this instrument samples of the urine coming from each kidney may be collected and later examined in the laboratory. One kidney may be found to function normally while the other one may be in a bad condition of functional or organic disease.

The presence of albumin, sugar, casts, mucus, pus, blood, crystals or bacteria, indicate a certain disorder which the diagnostician will understand.

Those who write to me and say they have "Kidney Trouble" cannot expect very definite advice as such disorders cannot be diagnosed by correspondence. If a correct diagnosis has been made, I will be glad to give you what suggestions I can about your trouble but do not expect me to tell you what your trouble is when it is difficult enough even by the best physical and clinical examinations.

As general advice, I can safely say—if you have any kind of kidney disorder you should drink more water and at the same time use food which is most easily excreted and whose end products are least irritating to the inflammed renal tissues.

The use of more water flushes out the toxins and bacterial which causes inflammation. If the urine is too acid or too alkaline, the concentration is diluted and the urine is then made more bland. The diet should be very low in both protein and carbohydrates, and the watery vegetables and fruits should constitute the principal part of the dietary.

If you are worrying about kidney trouble, by all means have a good diagnosis made and you can then plan with your physician the proper method of treatment.

QUESTION: Twenty writes: "Am writing to know what to do in case of bad circulation. Am cold from my waist down. At times my limbs are of a purplish blue. My heart beats so fast as to make me quite weak for a few minutes, also experience such a weakness in climbing stairs. At night my hands will get numb, even to my elbows. Am thirty-six years old and weigh 138 pounds, but have large puffy ankles. Could it be caused from a form of dropsy, caused from heart trouble?"

ANSWER: You are no doubt suffering from some form of heart trouble which produces the swelling in your ankles, and all of your other symptoms. You have suggested the answer in your question and have no doubt guessed the truth. Heart trouble and poor circulation can usually be cured by going on a good diet regime, taking the proper amount of exercise, etc. Continue to follow these articles each day and you will soon learn how to overcome your troubles.

QUESTION: Mrs. R. M. writes: "I have puffs under my eyes. Can you tell me what they are from, and the best way to get rid of them?"

ANSWER: Your trouble is caused by some form of dropsy, which is either from heart trouble, or because your kidneys are not able to perform their normal functions. Only a proper diagnosis will tell you the truth about the cause of your trouble.

Compromise Offered by Painters In Disagreement Here Over Wages

An offer to compromise their differences with the Master Painters association was made Thursday by the members of the painters' union, who declared a strike Monday when their employers refused to advance wages from $8 to $9 a day.

The offer presented by the union painters follows:

"We, the executive committee of local union No. 393 offer the following proposition to the Master Painters of Wichita Falls: All painters to go back to work for $8.50 a day for the balance of this year and on and after Jan. 1, 1928 our scale goes to $9 a day. All work started Feb. 15, 1926 will be finished at the old scale. This proposition to be according to the "gentleman's agreement."

T. W. Beck, president of the Master Painters association, said Thursday night that he had not yet received the offer from the union painters and that when it was received it would be taken up for discussion by the members of the association.

A variance in the estimates of Mr. Beck and Bob Newman, secretary of the painters' union, relative to the number of union painters returning to work Thursday morning existed Thursday night.

The association announced Wednesday night that operations on all contracted work would be resumed Thursday morning and that painters who had joined the strike could seek re-employment Thursday morning.

Approximately 20 union men returned to work, Mr. Beck asserted, while Mr. Newman declared that four sought re-employment.

A meeting of union painters who joined the strike was called Thursday night for 9 a. m. Friday in the Labor Temple. The call for the meeting was issued by Mr. Newman.

7 Jurors Chosen In Synder Trial

character by the array of lawyers for the state.

As for Henry Judd Gray, he is so seldom consulted by his attorneys as he sits huddled up in his chair, inert, almost motionless, you would scarcely say that the jurors represent any of his personal ideas as to the type of man he is willing to entrust with his life, if he has any ideas on that point.

Probably Henry Judd felt that what was good enough for Ruth was good enough for him. However, it was noticeable that his lawyers, the urbane Samuel L. Millee and the statesmanesque William L. Millard frequently consulted with Wallace and Hazleton over the talesmen, indicating more concert of action between the legal forces for the defense than has been apparent heretofore.

Damon Runyon Wonders.

As I sat in the court room listening to the examination of the talesmen, I got to wondering just what type of juror I would prefer if I were in Henry Judd's place. I imagine it would be a type that you would scarcely find among the business men, florists, gardeners, plumbers, artisans, salesmen and clerks of the small Long Island towns.

It seems to me if I were Henry Judd I would prefer the blase Broadway type that might understand what a woman can make a fellow do, if he thinks he loves her. You would be surprised. The Broadway type can readily understand how a woman can make a man walk forty miles and he won't know he has gone a block.

My tabulation of the inquisition into the fitness of the citizens of Long Island to be jurors in this case discloses that young men are more disposed toward conscientious scruples against the death penalty than the old folks. It is evidence of the changing times. The world is becoming more tender-hearted.

Wears New Hat.

Mrs. Snyder appeared today in a new black hat. Evidently someone had tipped her off that the beret, or close-fitting helmet that she had been wearing made her face look too hard. It certainly accentuated her chilly chin. It was a punk-looking hat, anyway.

The one she wore today had a wider brim and softened the lines of her face. It gave her an almost coquettish appearance, in fact, what with the strands of her bobbed yellow hair sticking out coyly from under the bonnet. It is really surprising what a hat will do for and sometimes to, a woman.

She had the collar of her black corded silk coat thrown back, showing a considerable expanse of white throat and neck, the whiteness thereof being brought out all the whiter by her string of black beads, with which her white hands are constantly toying. Close up, Mrs. Snyder's neck shows some of the wrinkles laid on by her thirty-three years. They can not duck those, you know.

Ruth Cheers Up.

She has cheered up immeasurably, although she shed a couple of tears today when she saw a newspaper picture of her mother, Mrs. Josephine Brown, who has yet to appear on the scene. In fact, Mrs. Snyder remains all alone, so far as friends and relatives are concerned.

She frequently drained a paper cup of water from a pitcher that stood on the table, invariably offering it first to either Mrs. Wolf, the jail matron or Dana Wallace. She looked well, no doubt of that, and was quite composed.

They got the fifth juror, Herman Ballwag, soon after the morning session opened. He was the 156th talesman. 63 years old, living at 175-60 Henley road, Jamaica, a retired builder. Also, he was a saloon keeper for twenty years, is married and has two children. One is a son 39 years old, the other a daughter 38.

Ballwag was not overjoyed at the prospect of serving as a juror. He said he was "disgusted with the case" and when they pressed him for details of his disgust, he said it was with the crime. He is a paunchy man, with heavy curly gray hair, and seemed somewhat astonished when all hands accepted him.

Thereafter, the familiar tramp of feet in and out of the jury box went on until late afternoon. John Schneider, 30 years and living at 32-42 Twelfth street, Long Island City, was then accepted. He is a florist, in business with his father, is married and has two children. He is the only slender man on the jury.

No Kin of Dead Man.

The dead Albert Snyder once spelled his name Schneider, the same as John, but the florist said he was no relation to Albert, and had never heard of him until the murder. Schneider was the 220th talesman examined and Justice Scudder took a 15-minute recess.

When court assembled again, John F. Connolly, of 385 Jackson avenue, Long Island City, proved acceptable to everybody, and joined the group against the wall.

Expert Explains Managerial Plan

cepting the great public utility companies.

"With this change, city government cannot go on successfully with the old system. It is just as foolish to try to adequately and efficiently perform these new services by the old system of government as it is to turn over the affairs of a bank to a man who knows nothing about banking."

Dr. Hatton then traced the development of the aldermanic and commission forms of government, and lastly the city manager form. He said that more than 350 cities in the United States, and many in Canada, are now operating under the manager form of government. A noted expert sent by Australia to the United States to study the municipal governments here, returned to his home and recommended that the form of government used in Cleveland, Ohio, the city manager form, be adopted in all cities in Australia.

Explains Manager Plan

Most simply stated, the speaker said, the city manager form of government calls for the election by popular vote of the city council, which selects, hires and fires, a city manager to perform the executive work of the city.

The advantage of the system lies in the centralization of responsibility for the execution of city council policies, and in the co-ordination of the work of many men and departments, Dr. Hatton said.

"The system is the important thing. Take Wichita Falls for instance—with the manager form of government, I could pick any member of your present council or executive personnel and secure 10 per cent better results by coordinating the city's activities than under the present system of several executives.

"The chief difficulty of the commission form of government is that is no coordinating head. You can't run the public's business any more by a committee (the council) than you can run that of a private enterprise.

Council as Directors

"In the city manager form of government the city manager is the president or manager of your corporation, the city council is the 'board of directors,' and the people are the 'stockholders.'".

Dr. Hatton pointed out during his talk that in using Wichita Falls as an example of what could be done under the manager form of government, no criticism was to be offered of the present council, as the example would hold good for any city in the nation. The Wichita Falls charter is perhaps the most modern and best commission charters, with an additional provision allowing the council to name a city manager if the members so desire, he said.

Pointing to accomplishments of city manager governments in Cleveland, Dr. Hatton stated that from a condition of running a deficit each year, the Cleveland government had managed to end each year with money in the treasury, and this year had a surplus of approximately $1,800,000 with probably a small reduction in taxes. Fort Worth, Austin and Waco all of which have adopted the manager form of government, are making wonderful strides in municipal improvement, he said.

There is very little graft in city government today, Dr. Hatton declared, adding that "for every dollar lost by graft in city government there is $1000 lost by inefficiency, chiefly because of the handicaps of the government.

Hatton Answers Questions

Dr. Hatton answered questions for more than an hour following his talk, members of the city council showing special interest in the provisions of the manager plan. He left Wichita Falls at 9:30 Thursday night.

KID DUGAN By Dick Dorgan

Deal Al,

Well, just as I told you Huggins couldn't get along without me so he sent for me and says, "We're playing the Athletics again and since you were with them, you ought to be able to pitch to them." And I says, "Yes, I'll pitch to them but not by correspondence school." Which meant I couldn't pitch if he didn't give me a chance so he didn't have no comeback and says, "Go in there today and show me something because I ain't going to stand for much more." So it looks like he found out he couldn't get along with these fancy brick-a-bracs of pitchers what get the big salaries. If they get a hit off me this afternoon, I'll kiss Connie Mack in a soda fountain.

Spudders Make Best Of Almost Nothing and Win

Williams Wallopers Score Seventh Victory On Six Hits, Beating Sports, 6-2 Behind Milt Steengrafe

By BLONDY CROSS

The Spudder bat pile wasn't very loud but it was loud enough.

Mr. Williams' bouncing boys so connived that five of six safeties combed from the deliveries of Grady Adkins and Oggy Ogden tagged up with a brace of walks and scored six runs.

Wichita Falls drubbed the Shreveporters, 6 to 2, Thursday on home soil for its seventh victory of the season, retaining perfect standing at the top of the league ladder and awarding Milton Steengrafe his second win of the current flag scramble.

Steengrafe made an otherwise very cold afternoon a quite warm affair with a fire ball that turned back the Sports scoreless over an eight-inning span and threatened to smoke out Pete Lapan's rubbery mitt. The husky righthander scattered six hits over the eight frames and then took a pasting in the ninth that scored two runs. The Sports shelled the outer regions with five base blows that may have veloped heart failure for many a rabid bug behind the rail had not Johnny Mann come up at shortstop with a double play on Clarke's pinch-hit attempt midway in the batting foray.

Work Like Champs

The Spudders, like the champions they expect to be, made the most of little, scoring much on almost nothing at all, so to speak. They ganged up on Adkins for one large inning. That was the second round when three hits, two bases on balls, and an error and a pair of sacrificial efforts knocked five tallies into the scoring column. Then Adkins donned the chunking shoes and wore 'em the rest of the route. He zeroed the boys until the eighth when our nine popped over another run for extra base measure or something.

Sinking thermometers and semi-hurricanic gales failed to block the athletes in staging several pieces of the niftiest defense play registered at the lot this summer, a-uh, pardon winter. Harris in center with the Phelan outfit and Lamb in right for the home guard both brought the customers up with near sensational snags a la full speed to port and the wind swerving drives every which way. Competing shortstops gave the folks a few to yurble over. Distel and Mann each cock-eyed the boys with sweet work on three putouts and five assists apiece.

How They Did It.

Efficiency! That's all it was. Take that second chapter, for instance. How they going to beat a team that goes'after 'em like that? Adkins just couldn't get 'em over to Jenkins, so Tut being unable to hit, did the next best thing. He walked. Then Petey Turgeon plinked one just across the infield into right and Tom never stopped until he arrived at third. Up came Wally Swenson, who's been batting 'em for a million right along. Adkins put Wally on via four balls route. Swede wanted to peck at one, but his judgment got the better of him and he waited her out. What more could you ask for? Following on Swenson's heels is none other than the redoubtable Pete Lapan. Grady wavered out there on the hilltop like he surely wanted to pass Pete up, walk him or something, but he couldn't. What ever he did was wrong, for Pete crammed a dizzy bounder between first and short. Jenkins and Turgeon scampered on home. Swenson drew up at third. Steengrafe followed with the old army game stuff, squeezed Wally right on in and sent Pete to the keystone. Adkins sprawled all over the infield in covering the ball but came to in time to chop Milt away at first base. LaFayette followed with a bingle through second and Lapan scored. Ritchie took the throw-in and jungle heaved in effort to hold George to one cushion with result the Spud first sacker romped on to third from where he scored a moment later on Mann's lofty sacrifice drive to deep center. That closed the argument as well as clinched it. Fitz retired with a pop to Distel on short.

Knowing what you want to do and doing it might be the way to explain how came that other Spud run in the eighth. Fitz led off with a one-base blister to right. Lambie bunted him on to second and then Jenkins knocked him in with a blast to port. Pretty simple and very effective.

They go again Friday afternoon, the same teams. It's "Ladies' Day."

Senators Defeat Boston's Red Hose

BOSTON, April 21. (AP)—Bill Carrigan's Red Sox came home to open the American League season with a 7 to 4 defeat at the hands of the Washington Senators today. Five runs off Wingfield's offerings in the first two innings proved enough to give the Senators the game despite Tobin's homer in the Red Sox' half of the sixth with the bases loaded. Boston fandom presented Carrigan with an automobile during the pregame exercises.

HOUSTON, April 21. (AP)—Led by "Snake" Henry, the Buffs Thursday celebrated Texas Independence Day by slaughtering the Waco Cubs, 17-5. And a number of the boys bivouaced up in the grandstand under auto blankets. Yessir, that's baseball, the summer pastime.

If it's as cold again the impending p. m. Tom Estell's spitter will freeze right up on him.

TUT, TUT.

Now, now, don't strike the man, Henry, just because he pulled that bewhiskered one about it being likker-weather.

MUST HAVE WAS.

At that, many a suspiciously ruddy beak peered forth etc., etc., etc.

HEH, HEH.

As frigid as it were here Thursday how warm it must has been down on the Trinity. And some guy told some other guy that Dallas has a BALL team this year. Whe-e-e-e, 20 to 5! What a way for Mr. Atz to treat Mr. Conley!

Now, let's see, as the critics say in the gridiron season, figuring it out on comparative scores, our nine beat Fort Worth, 5 to 0, the last time. Now add that to 20 and take it as how Kiefer or somebody wouldn't let 'em score on us, gosh!

YUS, NO.

Which reminds of the alibi gursled by Cowtown scriveners the other day to wit, maybe those free swingers of the Spudders won't do so well when the pitchers get to going better in hot weather. Only back-catch about that "maybe" is those same free swingers swung for a team average better than .300 all last summer and aren't any of them wasting away from old age right now.

But what if they don't hit? Those boys don't need to, not with the pitching we get and the way they pluck runs out of the atmosphere. Six hits yesterday and one of these wasn't used for any purpose other than to fatten Pete Turgeon's swat percentage. Scored six runs. Just how the rest of the league is going to stand it is a serious question.

"And that," confides Jim Covey from the box on the right, "and that is how come he put Alex Metzler out of the dugout today for saying not a thing" Jim having just explained that Umps H. Kane supposedly has been very angry ever since opening day when he copped a skid on his left hip pocket at third base and soiled pretty white holiday umpiring trousers.

Largest Part of It, Anyway.

"And here comes our police department," gurgled wag on the left as Roy Carter hove into view and barged over to box a short distance away. Lots of fun sitting down stairs, when it's too cold to stay aloft, and listen to other managers chirp.

J. Gardner confesses that one of the baseball checks given Ford Wallace of the Senate cafe for food in the knife and fork league during the spring span amounted to a grand and a half. Whereupon, another restauranter, Artie Salmon of the "Quick Lunch" emporium, warbles forth with, "Pshaw, that isn't any money. Just chicken feed down on our corner." And Five-Yard Mitchell, the root beer magnate, grins like he believes every word of it.

It's getting so when the boys who couldn't get out to the game 'phone me and ask the score, that's all I tell 'em. Isn't necessary to explain who won.

TENNIS MEET FLASHES PEP

Wichita County Teams Go To Top in Tilts

By MACK (ICHABOD) TURNER.

The Wichita County colors were carried on high at the district tennis tournament at the Wichita Falls Country club court Thursday. Of the four Wichita county entries one has gone to the state meet and two others have reached the finals.

Mary Dean Reanu and Lorena Parr continued their sensational playing of the county meet and after battling from behind most of the way defeated the Byers girls in the finals in a sensational straight set victory. The sets were 6-3, 6-4.

This victory determined the first team from this district that will enter the state meet.

Finals Today.

The finals will be played this morning at nine-thirty at the Wichita Falls Country club courts and should be decided by noon. In the girls singles finals, Addie East from Burkburnett will meet Dorothy Davis from Nocona. In the boys singles, Victor Davis of Burkburnett will play Emmett Bates from Byers in the finals. The boys doubles finals will be Emmett Bates and Clyde Cummigs from Byers against Harrold Crites and Luke Hall from Nocona.

Both boys and girls singles were run off to the finals before the doubles were started.

In the first morning games of the boys singles, Ben Powell of Archer City defeated James Spivey from Jacksboro, 8-6, 6-1. In the girls singles morning game, Addie East of Burkburnett defeated Francis Adderman of Byers, 6-1, 6-2.

In the afternoon games of the girls singles Dorothy Davis, the left-hander from Nocona flashed her way to a 6-1, 6-0 victory over Edna Sewell from Jacksboro.

The last game of the girls singles was one of the best played contests of the day when Addie East and Virginia Walker of Wichita Falls clashed. The Burkburnett champion emerged the victor after three hard fought sets had been played. Addie won the first set, 6-4 then dropped the second to the Wichita Falls girl, 9-7 then came back to win the last one, 6-4.

Davis Routs Allred.

In the boys singles, Victor Davis walked through to an easy win over Maurice Allred from Wichita Falls, 6-0, 6-0.

Then came the prize match of the boys singles when Kenneth Brite from Bowie lost a long one hour and 40 minute battle to Emmett Bates of Byers. The sets were all hard fought and undecided until the last ball had been hit. The final counts were 5-7, 6-4, 8-6.

Emmett Bates then came back to take a hard battle from John Moillist of Seymour, 6-2, 7-5. This win placed Bates in the finals.

Victor Davis then won the right to play Bates today with a slashing victory over Ben Powell of Archer City, 6-1, 6-2.

In the boys doubles there were only four entries and they were run off to the finals in rapid order. Harrold Crites and Luke Hall from Nocona pushed over the hopes of Wichita Falls team composed of Babe Anderson and Duncan Perkins for a 6-1, 6-1 victory. Emmett Bates and Clyde Cummings then flashed through to a victory over Hurschel Bradley and Ernest Duke of Burkburnett after a long uphill and game battle from both teams, 8-6, 6-4.

In the first game of the girls doubles Annie and Mary Elde e-well from Jacksboro took a 6-4, 6-1 victory from Louise Angone and Ethel Green from Bowie.

Mary Dean Reneau, and Leona Parr from Electra then eliminated the Wichita Falls team, 6-1, 6-2. The Wichita Falls team was composed of Crystal Plummer and Evelyn Pederson.

Martha Shields and Edith Hinderson of Byers then defeated the Jacksboro girls in the semi-finals, 7-5, 6-3.

Then they entered the finals and the scrapping little Electra pair emerged the victor over Byers by the score of 6-3, 6-4.

Famous Baseball Stars Mingle

Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth and Eddie Collins, three of the most famous of present day stars, do their stuff in one game. Both teams are favored for the pennant race. These men should draw great galleries before the year closes.

FOR FEM FANS

They play for the feminine fans Friday afternoon. She's been proclaimed "Ladies Day" by the Spudder management.

Tom Estell, the saliva ball boy, looks like a good guess for the mound work. Yeah, Shreveport's still here.

Mondays and Tuesdays hereafter will be free afternoons to the fems, according to Secretary Guy Airey.

Burk To Enter Four In Meet

The Burkburnett high school will enter four men in the district meet here Saturday and is in hopes of two and maybe three first places in the big meet.

There is one event that Burkburnett has almost a cinch on winning, and this is the mile run. Pat Hood has been capturing mile runs over the country in a reckless manner and would be good for one more trip to the state meet.

Burkburnett will bring Hood, Hurd, Blair and Eddie with them to Wichita Falls for the big meet and this will compose their mile relay, dashes and distance runs.

The Burkburnett team claims that only one other relay team has them worried and that is the Coyotes. The Coyote relay team is composed of Mills, Saye, Meredith and Powell.

In H. D. Hurd the Bulldogs will be pulling for another first in the half mile while Hood is carded as a 2 to 1 bet on the mile if not the proverbial cinch.

They just have four men in the race, but you can keep your eyes on those four men.

JOCKEYS OUT OF LUCK

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 21. (AP) The action of the license committee in refusing licenses to four jockeys for the ensuing racing season and in tabling others was upheld by the Kentucky state racing commission Thursday. BUREAU DATA TALKS SAFETY

Elimination of Accidents At Derricks Is Subject

Safeguarding the lives of oil field workers is the object of a special investigation conducted by H. C. Miller, associate petroleum engineer of the bureau of mines.

Men working in derricks are constantly faced with the danger of falling from working platforms and ladders, Mr. Miller points out in a report just made public. Floor men have their share of danger in the machinery hazards the report says. Working thus in an atmosphere of danger employes cannot maintain the efficiency otherwise possible.

Railing wherever possible and the use of safety belts and life lines where railings are not practical, are recommended in the report.

Collapse of derricks, though infrequent, comprise a constant oil field hazard. Derricks collapse because of improper design, faulty material and construction, deterioration through age and vibration and the softening of ground under the derrick footings by water.

Although guards over all exposed parts of machinery will not eliminate accidents, they will minimize the mishaps and show employes that the employers are interested enough to make some effort to safeguard their lives.

Employes should feel that they have a part in the safety movement and should welcome every provision made to safeguard working places and conditions. They must do their share by always being careful, avoiding risks, unsing the safeguards and safety devices furnished and discouraging carelessness and insisting that others do likewise, the report states.

Copies of Mr. Miller's report, entitles bulletin 272, may be obtained from the United States bureau of mines, department of commerce, Washington, D. C.

SHALLOW WELL

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, April 21.—The slush pit is covered with oil while the bailer is being run to clean out the hole for R. H. Cook et al. No. 4, W. B. Throckmorton, four and one-half miles southeast of Electra. The sand is found from 711 and 719 feet and there is no doubt but there it will make a well. The exact amount it will produce is undetermined but indications are that it will make 50 barrels a day.

CENTRAL TEXAS

A decline of 275 barrels a day is reported from the Central Texas fields during the past week. Present production is 38,325 barrels. The production by pools: Mexia, 10,950; Currie, 725; Richmond, 1025; Powell, 17,000; Wortham, 3775 and Nigger Creek 2850.

CIMARRON COUNTY

Ramsey Brothers No. 1 State, north of Boise City, in Cimarron county, of the Oklahoma Panhandle, encountered water in sand topped at 4286 feet to 4259 feet. Owners will underream the 5 3-16 casing to shut off the water, after which drilling will be continued.

CLIMBING AGAIN

But Decline Has Started In Original Seminole.

TULSA, April 21. — Seminole production or the 24 hours ending yesterday morning totaled 332,230 barrels from 353 wells, an increase of 4330 barrels over the previous day when the production was reported at 327,900 barrels.

The production by pools is as follows: Seminole proper, 199,645; Bowlegs, 50,630; Earlsboro, 48,790, and Searight 33,165. It will be noticed that the old Seminole pool is below 200,000 barrels. This is the first time that this pool has reached this low figure for several months, indicating a decline in the old part of the field where the new production is not sufficient to make up for the decrease.

The outstanding well of the Seminole area yesterday was that of the Sinclair Oil and Gas company. Its No. 3 Harjo, in the southwest corner of the southeast of the southeast of 14-8-6 flowed 2586 barrels in 15 hours. Wilcox sand was topped at 4360 and drilled to 4362 feet. This is a quarter of a mile west of the I. T. I. O. No. 1 Davis.

COLLINGSWORTH

Wildcat Is Showing Strong Indications of Gas.

WELLINGTON, April 21. — The Wishkaemper test in the northwest part of Collingsworth county is still drilling and is down to a depth of 2212 feet. It is reported that the well is now showing stronger indications of gas than at any time. Drilling operations have been suspended for part of the week due to a shut down.

Although some leases have changed hands, the oil developments in Collingsworth county have been quiet since the slump in prices of crude oil.

Cotton

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, April 21. (AP)—Reports of additional overflows in the Mississippi valley with rains and low temperatures in the southwest seemed responsible for the increased activity and strength of the cotton market today. There was a larger volume of business, local brokers said, than at any time since the beginning of last November. Prices for all months made new high ground for the movement.

Contracts for July delivery sold up to 15.25 or more than 3 cents a pound above the low level of early last December and closed at 15.21, the general market closing steady at net advances of 46 to 53 points.

The market opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of three points and quickly sold eight to 10 points up while there was southern selling and probably local selling on prospects for clearing weather in the western belt. The outlook was for low temperatures in that quarter, however, while the flood news from the Mississippi valley seemed to be growing more serious, and the market firmed up again.

Buying became more general as prices worked upward on reports of a break in one of the Mississippi river's levees near Greenville, Miss., which, according to private wires, would result in the overflowing of another 350,000 or more acres of good farming land.

Early sellers turned for cover and trading was very active on the afternoon advance which carried prices up to 15.05 for May, 15.55 for October and 15.72 for December, or 55 to 59 points net higher on the general list. The close was several points off from the best under realizing, but nervousness over the prospective new crop start remained in evidence, and appeared to be increased by the report of rains and low temperatures in Texas.

Exports today 19,919 bales, making 9,412,130 so far this season. Port receipts 15,099; U. S. port stocks 2,178,655 bales.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, April 21. (AP)—Prices developed a sharp advance in today's active session of the cotton market on continued unfavorable weather in the western belt and the serious flood situation in the Mississippi valley.

After a slight advance at the opening, the market started on an upgrade movement which, with one exception, was never checked, and early in the afternoon prices stood 31 to 37 points above yesterday's close, new crop positions showing the greatest strength. On the reported breaking of Scott levee above Greenville, Miss., and the inundating of further cotton acreage, prices in the late trading moved to new highs, 53 to 58 points over Wednesday's finish.

Liverpool came in about as due and first trades here were unchanged to four points higher.

In the late trading all positions passed the 15 cents level, May touching 15.03, July 15.29, October 15.48 and December 15.62 and despite a sag of six or seven points just before the close on realizing, prices showed net gains of 46 to 52 points and a firm tone. Exports for the day totaled 19,919 bales.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, April 21. (AP)—A sensational last hour advance of over seven points in General Motors common to a record high at 195 overshadowed all other developments in today's stock market. Early irregularity was followed by a period of strength in which speculative interest veered from the industrials to the rails, but the late outburst in General Motors induced heavy profit taking in other quarters, leaving closing quotations irregular.

Contrary to expectations in many quarters, the New York federal reserve bank rate was announced as unchanged, at 4 per cent, despite the reduction in the Bank of England rate from 5 to 4½ per cent.

Inasmuch as a large portion of American funds in London are invested in government and other long term securities, rather than short time paper, no immediate return flow of funds is expected, as a result of the lower interest rates in England.

The rally in General Motors had all the ear marks of a drive against the short interest although it undoubtedly received its inspiration from predictions of record breaking first quarter earnings and prospects for a substantial extra cash dividend. At today's top price the stock, allowing for the 50 per cent stock dividend, fulfills the prediction of a 100 point advance reported to have been made by Thomas Cochran, a partner of J. P. Morgan and company on the eve of his departure for Europe last year.

Rails gave a fairly good demonstration of strength with buying influenced by reports of large current earnings and prospects of special dividend distributions. Despite reports of heavy property damage by recent storms and floods in the middlewestern and southwestern sections. Another long list of new high records was established, including Atchison, Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific common and preferred, Denver and Rio Grande Western preferred, Chicago and Eastern Illinois common and preferred, Rock Island common and 6 per cent preferred "Katy" preferred, St. Louis and Southwestern and Erie common and second preferred.

Steels, particularly the independents were inclined to heaviness as a result of the recent slackening of business and the relatively unfavorable first quarterly reports of the Republic and Youngstown companies.

Houston Oil showed independent strength, but the other oils were sluggish. Woolworth responded to the report of heavily increased sales by running up four points to a new peak and the establishment of a new high by Montgomery-Waard revived rumors of a possible merger with Sears Roebuck.

A wide open break in Japanese yen to a new low around 46.50 cents and further rise in Italian lire to the highest price in several years above 5.15 cents were the contrasting features of the foreign exchange market.

Demand sterling held firm around $4.85¾ despite the reduction in the British bank rate and French francs ruled practically unchanged above 3.91 cents.

Real Horses in Bull Fights.

To stem the tide against cruelty in bullfights, managers of contests are protecting the horses. In Lima, Peru, the traditional skin-and-bones equines have been replaced by splendid specimens of horse flesh. They are not blindfolded and are said to show skill in avoiding the horns of the bull while their masters waved the red cloaks in front of the charging bovine. In Madrid tests are being made to find a suitable armour for the horses. Other cities of Spain are introducing more humane metrods.

General Motors Shares Go To New High Mark

BY BROADAN WALL,
Universal Service Financial Expert.

NEW YORK, April 21—Stocks turned strong following a period of irregularity today under leadership of General Motors, which at one time sold at a new high record price of 195. A block of 10,400 shares of General Motors was taken at 190 a share. The deal involved $1,976,000 plus commissions.

The reduction in the Bank of England rate from 5 to 4½ per cent was due probably to the increase in gold reserves. Wall Street expects the local reserve bank to reduce its rate later on. The cut in the British rate is regarded as a bull card on stocks here.

Italian money went higher, Japanese currency lower. Cotton sold at the best price of the year at 15 cents. Floods in the southwest and short covering combined with trade buying were instrumental in lifting prices. Wheat was strong on colder weather in the northwest. Money loaned at 4 per cent.

A report of the treasury department which said that business conditions throughout the United States were good and that there were no grounds for pessimism in this connection, served to improve sentiment.

General Motors made a record top. The stock is likely to repeat what it did when the Duponts and associates went into it from 60 to above 400. With all the side lines for Electrical Refrigeration and Washing Machines, General Motors is today one of the largest and most diversified manufacturing companies in the world. One banker says the possibilities of this stock are beyond conception.

Packard Motors was quiet although the company is regarded as among the best in the industry. The company's financial history is good. It has paid off all of its preferred stock out of earnings and is free of all debt except the common stock and owns real estate and plants property with a value of $40 a share besides the big cash surplus. This stock has done nothing marketwise and is understood to be in line for extra dividend distributions.

Railroad stocks remained strong. A good demand prevailed for St. Louis-San Francisco. Frisco has increased its original holdings of Rock Island from the first lot of 200,000 shares to a further purchase of 100,000 shares. This stock averaged the Frisco around $50 a share. As Rock Island is likely to increase its dividend to 7 per cent, it will mean, with the big earnings of Frisco and an increased dividend on Rock Island, a great increase in profits. Frisco itself, is earning about $23 a share and with these earnings combined with Rock Island's, will show better than $30 a share for Frisco. This does not take into consideration the big increase in market value of Rock Island from 50 to above 100.

Baltimore and Ohio held ground. The B. and O. is going to acquire, or has, the Baldwin Locomotive plant and real estate in Philadelphia. The B. and O. also, will dispose of the Philadelphia and Reading terminal at Tenth and Market streets in the heart of the business section of Philadelphia for a public market, and will have an additional amount of cash over and above the cost of the terminal. This will mean that the Baltimore and Ohio will go after the through business out of Atlantic City on the Philadelphia and Reading which is building a new station in Atlantic City and will mean also additional freight business for the B. and O. which it now lacks on account of no terminal facilities.

Tobacco products crossed par on the exclusive announcement here that the company would make an offer for the United Cigar Stores' minority stock and the formation of the new Anglo-American Tobacco corporation which will be controlled by the new Union-United. The latter is a holding company for Cigar Stores and Schulte. The latter reached a new high. Consolidated Cigar responded to estimates that first quarter profits equalled $1.85 compared with $1.36 in the same period last year. No trouble is expected from the U. S.

Buying is taking place in General Electric on talk of an extra distribution. This could easily be done as the company has a surplus of $161,000,000. General Electric is getting ready for an extensive campaign in Electrical appliances through the public utility companies. The G. E. is going into the manufacture of everything electric in the way of heating and cooking and other sundry businesses. Manufacturers are finding it cheaper to run machines for all kinds of manufacturing purposes with small motors, and the use of the latter helps the public utility companies and also General Electric. This is not a new field for General Electric but is being developed by research and scientific work.

New York Central crossed 150 again. The company is expected to come to an agreement with the minority in its subsidiaries. The minority stockholders, it is estimated, is about five per cent. Acquisition of the minority stock would enable the Central to put back into its treasury all earnings of these roads.

Recent weakness of Electrical Refrigeration was explained today by the passing of the dividend. The company, it is said, lost $1,000,000 in six months. Kelly Springfield responded to reports of an increase in tire prices. This would also help U. S. Rubber. A price well above the current market is predicted for U. S. Rubber.

That the credit situation throughout the country continues good is shown by the condition of the New York reserve bank whose reserve ratio for the week stood at 86.8 compared with 79.7 last week. For the 12 federal banks the ratio was 79.5 against 78.8.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN.

FORT WORTH, April 21. (AP)—Nominal cash grain closed a cent higher Thursday on the Fort Worth grain and cotton exchange, the closing price being $1.46½. Corn was steady throughout the day, closing about the same as on Wednesday.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, April 21. (AP)—Widespread freezing weather with reports both of crop damage southwest and of increased delay to seeding northwest, carried wheat sharply higher today. The volume of future delivery trading was the largest witnessed in many weeks.

Wheat closed strong, 1½c to 2⅛c net higher, corn ⅛ to ⅝c off to ½ to ⅝c up. Oats ⅝ to ½c advance and provisions varying from 22c decline to a rise of 5 cents.

Selling out of corn against buying of wheat to close spreads had a bearish effect on the corn market. Cash demand for corn failed to improve. Oats were responsive to unfavorable weather and to some export business at higher prices.

In the provision market lard was firm, but meats were lower. Grain strength partly offset weakness of hog values.

Tours Ireland On Hands.

Claiming to be a Canadian and an ex-soldier, a man recently passed through Dundalk, Ireland, walking on his hands. He had come from Dublin and said he intended to proceed to Belfast on his digit-and-finger hike. His hands were encased in sandals, and he had with him a goat harnessed to a little four-wheeled cart, which contained a camping outfit and cooking utensils. He aroused so much interest in Dundalk that the Civic Guards had to be called out to regulate the traffic for more than two miles along the Newry road.

40 ARRESTS IN TRAFFIC DRIVE

Police Promise Rigid Enforcement of Laws

Rigid enforcement of all city traffic laws was inaugurated Thursday by the Wichita Falls police department under the direction of Traffic Captain J. H. Scott.

Violators Must Report.

Up to 6 o'clock Thursday night approximately 40 arrests had been made by traffic officers. Ten of those arrested had appeared at the sergeant's office where they were booked and ordered to appear in police court Friday morning. Cash appearance bonds were posted by all of those who reported.

Duplicates of notification tags turned in by traffic officers showed that about 30 additional alleged traffic violators had not reported. If those who have been notified do not appear in court Friday, officers will be detailed to round them up after a second notice, Captain Scott declared.

Violations for which arrests were made Thursday included parking in alleys, driving through safety zones, double parking, parking near fire hydrants and left hand turns.

Captain Scott stated that laxity of late in traffic enforcement had brought about serious conditions in the business district. Streets and alleys have become practically impassible at times, he said.

Conjestion Serious.

Thoughtlessness on the part of drivers of motor vehicles is blamed by Captain Scott for a majority of the violations.

"Most citizens have sufficient general knowledge of traffic regulations to observe them. When laxity on the part of officers lasts any length of time, however, drivers get careless ond thoughtless and stringent methods must be resorted to in order to keep thoroughfares clear," he declared.

A meeting of all traffic officers will be held Friday night at which time special instructions will be issued and plans formulated for obtaining better co-operation from citizens in solving traffic problems.

So This Is Straw Hat Day—Posed By Members of City's Official Family

Maybe clothes don't make a man but straw hats improve the looks and the feelings of city officials, a fact that became evident when Wichita Falls merchants gave the officials new straw caddies. Here they are all dressed up for "Straw Hat Day" today. Left to right: Roy Carter, fire and police commissioner; P. B. Curd, water commissioner; Oral Jones, finance commissioner; Mayor R. E. Shepherd; J. W. Hunt, street commissioner; A. W. King, park and sanitary commissioner; Frank Burns, chief of police; Thelbert Martin, city attorney, and W. L. Bass, judge of the corporation court.

S. H. Slusher Asks Damages for Alleged Injuries.

Claiming to have sustained a crushed foot by being dragged underneath the wheels of a freight car, S. H. Slusher filed suit Thursday for $12,500 damages against the Fort Worth and Denver railroad.

The plaintiff alleges in his petition, that on the night of Dec. 23, 1926, he was crossing the tracks of the defendant at Seventh street and that a loose wire hanging from a moving box car caught in his clothes and dragged him underneath the wheels of the car.

It is further alleged by the plaintiff that there were no lights at the crossing.

FAIR MEETING

Shepherd Calls Conference of Educational Committee.

HODGINS OPENS POLICE BUREAU

Former Chief Heads Detective and Service Bureau

George H. Hodgins, former chief of the Wichita Falls police department, announced Thursday the opening of the George H. Hodgins Detective Bureau and Merchants' Police Service with headquarters in a suite of offices at 500-501 Perkins-Snyder building.

Associated with Mr. Hodgins in the new enterprise are E. H. Carmichael and Lyle Donohue, both of whom were formely detectives on the local police department, and who have been in police and detective work for a number of years in different cities of the Southwest.

The new organization will specialize in handling criminal and legal investigations and it is planned to install a patrol alarm system for protection of local business houses, Mr. Hodgins announced.

Mr. Hodgins stated that the bureau's work had already started, one of the first assignments being a legal investigation in a civil case involving over $60,000.

Speaker Defines True Citizenship In Address at Rotary Luncheon

"A man cannot be a true citizen of his community if he lives in it for what he can get out of it," Dr. W. H. Knight of Baton Rouge, La., told members of the Rotary club at their weekly luncheon Thursday at the Kemp hotel. Dr. Knight emphasized unselfish devotion of man to his country, flag and nation, and said "our country needs us to be true to it more during peace than during war."

He praised the Rotary club because of its ideals, and said that being true to one's country and its ideals was one of the largest contributions one could make.

The speaker called attention to business men of the city of service to the boys and girls of the community because they are the future leaders and citizens. He also urged the Rotarians to support the church and schools.

Charles A. Barker of Grand Rapids, Mich., spoke chiefly on the Rotary club, and said that the club was organized 22 years ago for the purpose of bringing out friendship between the business men and to establish higher standards in business. Mr. Barker added that besides accomplishing this purpose, the Rotarians had done many other things, among them being the tearing down of religious intolerance in the community; putting the Golden Rule into practice and establishing the idea of serving others.

George Keith postponed his barbecue party a week on account of the weather, and a quartette composed of E. F. Bohmfalk, Joel MacGregor, H. W. Grey and F. M Hanson sang several numbers, accompanied at the piano by J. S. Pitman.

Horrace Robbins announced that a number of prizes had been contributed for boy's week which starts April 30.

VULCANIZING

Our Guarantee

Many autoists have the idea that Vulcanizing does not pay. This idea in part is erroneous. You may have had a tire at one time repaired, when it was not repairable, and you did not get your money's worth and no doubt made the remark: "From now on I am off vulcanizing."

We will not repair your tire unless it is worth it. We condemn more tires than we repair.

We guarantee that our repair job WILL OUT-WEAR any other part of your tire!
