COOLIDGE SIGNS RIVER FLOOD CONTROL MEASURE

GOVERNMENT EMBARKS ON TASK OF CURBING MISSISSIPPI, ONE OF BIGGEST EVER UNDERTAKEN

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 15.—President Coolidge today signed the Mississippi river flood control bill. By affixing his signature to the measure, Mr. Coolidge placed on the statute books an act which embarks the federal government upon the tremendous task of curbing the waters of the Mississippi—probably one of the greatest engineering undertakings ever attempted in his-

The same stroke of the president's pen also completed the first of what are regarded as the three major steps up to the present congress.

Other two, farm relief and reduction, still are pending in legislative form at the capitol.

The new flood control law was jointly by Senator James H. Eastland and Chairman Reid of the house flood control committee.

The bill for the expenditure by the treasury of $325,000,000.

The engineering plan for the levees along the Mississippi and the building of three levees and a spillway as outlets carry off from the main stream excess flood waters into the Gulf of Mexico.

Upon the federal government is placed the entire expense of the control work with the exception of the furnishing of the levees and the building of the spillway; but this cost to the states is limited only at about $200,000.

The flood control work would be extended to other streams under provisions of the new law. Out of total authorized sum $10,000,000 would be used for levee construction on the main river between Arkansas Island, Illinois and Cape Girardeau, Mo., and on tributaries of the Mississippi affected by backwaters.

$5,000,000 On Tributaries: An allotment of $5,000,000 out of total fund also would be utilized for flood control surveys on tributaries—the Red, Yazoo, Arkansas, Missouri, Illinois, White, Francis and Ohio rivers and tributaries—and if the survey shows the need of control levees reports would be submitted to congress.

Far distant from the Mississippi the new law directs a modification of a flood control project the Pacific coast—the Sacramento valley in California, where government would be called on to contribute one third of the cost of $17,000,000 instead of its present one sixth share.

But Here Facing Peculiar Situation

The wheel of justice were clogged after the blindness of a boy, one of the 24 recently pleading was scheduled to appear in court this afternoon for trial.

With the jury already in their deliberations, the appointment of Judge Nordyke, the mother of the boy, who was in the county. He had recently paroled to her for safekeeping his trial could be heard.

County Attorney L. A. Howard immediately filed a motion asking removal of the boy from the county to escape the court's penalty. The court was entertaining the motion this afternoon.

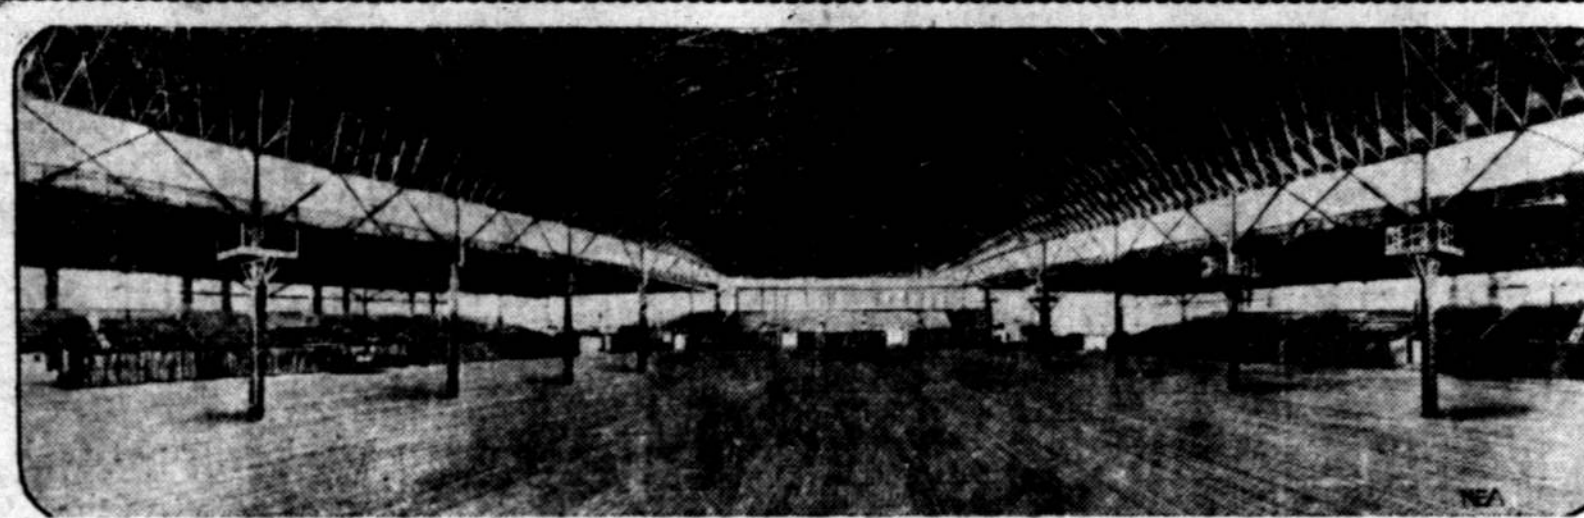

The other boy was scheduled to appear for trial on one of the charges this afternoon.

(By Associated Press)
SPRINGFIELD, O., May 15.—One girl is dead; another is paralyzed and near death, and four others seriously injured, as a result of a fire which swept Woodlawn hall, Whittienburg College girl's dormitory of frame and brick construction early today.

Hilda Spies, 20, of Shelby, was found dead by firemen in an upstairs hall. She apparently had been overcome by smoke and burns.

One Critically Burned

Helen McClain of Troy, 19, is in a hospital where physicians said her chances for recovery are slim. Miss McClain awoke to find the hallway filled with flames. Her only chance of escape was through the porch roof outside her window. She stepped onto the roof. It was burning underneath and began to give way under her. She then leaped to the ground. Doctors said they believed her spine injured. She is paralyzed.

Four More Injured

The injured, all hurt in escaping from the burning building, are:

Lubbock Tests Eastland Horned Toad Experiment

REPTILE IS SEALED IN PILLAR OF NEW OIL STATION HERE

Lubbock will find out some day—just how soon no one knows—whether "Rip," Eastland's famous horned toad, lived in the cornerstone of the Eastland county courthouse for 31 years or whether the whole thing was a publicity-hoax as some of the nation's scientists seem to believe.

For today, shortly before ten o'clock, a horned toad was sealed in a pillar of the new Continental Oil station here and there were plenty of witnesses to see the job well done.

Desiring to test the truth of the Eastland yarn, A. E. Herring, of Wichita Falls, district superintendent of the Continental Oil company and George E. Mullin, local representative, decided that a pillar in the Continental company's new $35,000 filling station, offered an opportunity for experiment. A horned toad was secured, a cameraman was arranged for and witnesses in the persons of City Manager Gus W. McClary, City Secretary W. H. Rodgers, D. D. Roderick and Chas. A. Guy, newspapermen, were marshalled on the scene at the corner of Broadway and Avenue O.

Pictures Are Taken

After pictures, showing the witnesses and the frog had been snapped, P. T. Brown, a bricklayer who resides on Route 5 out of Lubbock, got to work with his trowel and the replica of "Rip," very much alive, was placed in the terra cotta pillar along with copies of the Daily Journal and the Morning Avalanche. The pillar was sealed with mortar—the witnesses will attest to that—and the toad was left in a

Officers Elected

Charge Is Denied

DALLAS—C. C. Renfro, secretary of the Texas unimproved president club, denied today that the club had been formed for the purpose of aiding in the nomination of Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York as democratic presidential candidate. The statement was in answer to a telegram sent by State Senator Thomas B. Love, Dallas, to Senator A. W. Barkley, head of the senate campaign investigating committee.

STATE OFFICIALS TO BE HERE FOR BUS HEARING THURSDAY; 26 CASES FILED FOR SETTLEMENT BY BOARD

Clarence E. Gilmore, chairman, C. V. Terrell, Lon A. Smith, members and Mark Marshall, director of the bus division, of the Texas railroad commission will be in Lubbock Thursday of this week for a hearing of 26 bus line cases which have been filed for settlement with the commission. The hearing will be held at the Lubbock hotel.

Over 250 bus owners and operators from El Paso, Del Rio, San Angelo, Sweetwater, Amarillo, Carlsbad, Roswell and Clovis, New Mexico, are expected here for the hearing. W. D. Benson, president of the Lubbock Union Bus Terminal and attorney for the bus owners and operators of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico, said today.

All except three of the cases will be non-conflict, according to Mr. Benson. The three conflict cases have two parties seeking a permit to operate buses over the same line. A line from Amarillo to Enid, Oklahoma, one from Carlsbad, New Mexico to El Paso, and one from Carlsbad to Van Horn are the lines to be contested in the hearing.

Two lines which will give Lubbock travelers better service and will bring more bus passengers through Lubbock will apply for a permit to operate at the hearing. One line is proposed from Brownfield to Odessa which connects with the Lubbock-Brownfield line. The other new line runs from Lamesa to Brownfield to Roswell, New Mexico and connects with the Lubbock-Brownfield line. The latter line is already operating under a temporary permit.

The hearing will be in session throughout most of the day, it was said.

TECH PAGEANT RENDITION SET FOR SATURDAY

DIRECTORS, BALKED BY RAIN TWICE BEFORE ANNOUNCE DATE

The third annual pageant of Texas Technological college, the victims of inclement weather up on two different occasions, will be held next Saturday night, May 19, weather permitting, Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of the institution, announced today.

Director Horn gave out the following statement for publication:

"After due consultation it has been decided to set another date for the presentation of the college pageant, namely, Saturday, May 19 at eight o'clock.

"The public is cordially invited to be present on that occasion provided the condition of the weather will permit.

Rains Of Much Benefit

"On two separate dates thus far the pageant has been rained out. However, we are sure of the fact that the copious rains have been of more benefit to the country as a whole than the pageant would have been. The college takes pleasure in the thought that the postponement of our exercises on account of the rain has been attended with great good to the people.

If the rain should prevent the pageant being given on the nineteenth, it will be definitely called off for the year.

Rehearsal Thursday

A full rehearsal is called for Thursday evening beginning at seven o'clock.

Miss Cox and all those in charge of the various episodes have worked very hard with them and it is to be hoped that the public will have the opportunity of bearing witness to the success of their work.

The reception to the Senior Class, which was to have been given at the residence of the President on Saturday evening, May 19, is postponed until Monday evening, May 21."

BODIES, SEVERELY BEATEN, ARE FOUND IN LOUISVILLE HOME BY NEPHEW; HAMMER, AXE FOUND

(By The Associated Press)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 15.—The bodies of two aged women, beaten to death as they lay in bed, were discovered today at their cottage home on Maple Street.

A trunk had been pried open and officers advanced the theory that robbery had been the motive. The dead are Mrs. Belle Holmes, 79, and Miss Kate Satterwhite, 72.

Dr. Roy L. Carter, coroner, said the condition of the bodies indicated the two women were slain Sunday night. Neighbors saw them last on Sunday evening when they attended church services at a nearby chapel. Post mortem examinations will be conducted.

The two women lived by themselves. The bodies were discovered by Clarence B. Stephens, a nephew about 40 years old. He was questioned by police but not taken into custody.

Called By House Daily

Stephens told the officers that his mother, Mrs. Ella Stephens, a sister of the two slain women, had been ill for some time and that it had been his custom to call by the home of his aunt each morning and drive Mrs. Holmes to his house to attend her. On Monday morning, he said, he had found the door locked and had thought that his two aunts had gone to church. This morning, however, when he again was unable to gain admittance he became suspicious and broke into the house.

The bodies of the women were found in separate beds, both badly beaten about the head and face.

A broken glass in a rear door of the house added weight to the robbery theory. The women were not wealthy but relatives explained the fact that they had lived together for some time without warning might have given rise to the belief that they had considerable means.

Mrs. Holmes received a pension of $30 monthly as a widow of a union veteran of the civil war. An automobile tire tool, stained with what was believed to be blood, a hammer, an axe and several other heavy instruments were found in the house.

After discovering the bodies, Stephens drove to the home of an uncle, Harry Satterwhite, on South Brook street, and together the two men notified the police.

One-Minute Interviews

The 'Why' Of Voluntary Motherhood

AS MARGARET SANGER, BIRTH CONTROL ADVOCATE SEES IT

Healthier mothers, better cared-for children, and happier marriages are benefits that would accrue from a universal knowledge of birth control, according to Dr. Margaret Sanger.

"The idea of birth control coming to the poverty-stricken mother is the most important factor in her over-worked life. When her babies come too close together in the years of her young motherhood, she is not able to get her full strength."

"She can not give them the proper care and attention her heart longs to give."

Dr. Sanger said she has seen three years at least between the births of children. Life will be different for her and her babies. She should be well and strong and normal psychologically—fully recovered from the strain of bearing one child before she has another.

Financials also should be considered before the family is increased. There should be money enough in the bank to carry them all through any emergency that might occur.

Increasing the family should be a voluntary thing because the children that arrive that way are wanted children for whom preparation has been made and for whom the family budget and family health provide.

Setting the Pace in Beach Attire

The five-piece ensemble is the latest in bathing togs. Bathing suit, cap, beach robe, pillow and coat all are fashioned of the same material, preferably silk and angora or Terry cloth and Jersey. Marceline Day, cinema star, has a beach outfit fashioned of one of the new daisy prints—in five shades of blue on a creamy tan background. The suit is of silk that is waterproofed for swimming. Square-necked and belted, it looks like a snappy little dancing outfit, with bloomers instead of shorts. The kerchief, of self-material, is rubberized also. The pillow cover is all-over print. But the coolie coat and the beach robe are of angora with bandings of the figured silk. Her clogs are black and gold.

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

Dearest Mom:

Just time for a word or two before I dash off to the office on an errand for Alan. He asked Florence to go and I don't want to take her time for things like that when she's leaving so soon.

Ernest, I really think I ought to drop a hint down there about the nuisance of telephone calls. That girl, Anna's new stenographer, must do her work with a typewriter in one hand and a telephone in the other. I told Alan I thought she must be too emotional to be able to concentrate and he just grinned at me. Why is it that a wife can't suggest anything about business to a husband without having him jump to the conclusion that her remark is prompted by jealousy?

I haven't seen this new girl as how could I be jealous of her? Any way, I've never been jealous, but I suppose I would if Alan gave me any cause for it.

If I were of a former disposition, I wouldn't be willing to let Norman and Florence come around together, would I? Because even if I have no right to interfere in Norman's affairs, I feel that one never entirely closes the door that was open to a sweetheart on a lover. I really hear of Norman's marrying, and not turn a hair, but I must confess that I'd prefer not to come in direct contact with his happiness.

Now I suppose I'll call down a brooked torrent of criticism on my head for saying that. But it is the truth. It's a mean little streak but I think it's in all of us who are honest enough to face it. Nothing but a matter of ego. And certainly if a person has no ego he has no personality. Who wants the definite proof of his ego? Is it a favored place in life, or another person's heart, thrust upon him?

For instance, no one, I presume, would want to expect to stay in the White House all his life, but don't tell me that anyone could leave that beautiful place without regret. That's what I mean about old love. You don't want them and you wouldn't want to keep them from finding a successor to you, but darned if you would like to sit on the sidelines and watch your own eviction.

Even if Florence hasn't done so well with her boy friends she's an attractive girl and far be it for me to say that Norman wouldn't fall in love with her. So, with that possibility to face, I think I'm of a very magnanimous nature to permit her to "ghost" for me.

Devotedly,
MARYE

Baptist YWA Honor Mothers Monday

There was a special Mother's Day program Monday evening when First Baptist Y. W. A. met in home of the sponsor, Mrs. W. Lawrence, 1911 10th street. Members of members were guests.

Following the program refreshments were served and a social was enjoyed. Dr. W. B. White, pastor of the church, made an address on "Mothers of Today" as a tribute to the program's many guests.

Miss Frances Stahl, president of the Y. W. A., welcomed the guests in a short talk after which Miss Cecil Clinkinger talked on Sunday in May. Prayer led by Mrs. Fred Grayson and Miss Myrtle S. Smith led the devotional. "A Debt Mothers That is Hard to Pay" was the subject of a talk by Miss Stahl.

Miss Stahl sang "Mother's Love" as a solo and Miss Elsie Lawrence read "Somebody's Mother." A collection of today was given by Mrs. W. A. Stahl.

Those attending this meeting were Mesdames F. B. Jackson, F. Grayson, Mary Terrell, G. T. Benton, E. W. Lawrence, O. W. McNeel, W. A. Stahl, T. R. O'Neal, S. Clark, Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence, and Mrs. White.

COOLIDGE SEES VIVID PAGEANT OF OLDEN DAYS

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 15.—A vivid reproduction of stirring episodes of colonial days called President and Mrs. Coolidge to Annapolis today to witness a pageant in commemoration of the Annapolis convention of 1776.

Reenactment of such historic scenes as the arrival of George Washington in Annapolis to accept the presidency of the United States and the resignation of his commission in the old senate chamber had been carefully rehearsed for the benefit of the distinguished guests. Governor Ritchie of Maryland had invited the executives of the other original twelve colonies to the executive mansion to welcome President Coolidge upon his arrival in the Maryland capital. The state governors were to accompany the president to the old state house and to other historic mansions in the city which were opened up and specially decorated in period style for the occasion.

Address of Welcome Presentation of an illuminated address of welcome to President Coolidge by Mayor Charles W. Smith had been arranged for the state house visit.

At the Hammond-Harwood house, built in 1779, John Hay's Hammond of Washington, a kin of the original builder of the mansion, was to introduce the president and Mrs. Coolidge to various colonial characters including George Washington, Lafayette, and other notables of the time, several of whom were impersonated by their own descendants in original costumes.

AUTO ACCIDENT RENEW HEARING OF YOUNG CHILD

(By Associated Press)
LEADVILLE, Colo., May 15.—An accident last night to the automobile in which Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Anderson and their year old son were returning from Denver where they had consulted a specialist concerning the baby, who was totally deaf apparently restored the boy's hearing.

The specialist had given the Andersons very little encouragement as to the restoration of the child's hearing and the family was returning home when their automobile skidded off the road near here throwing the baby against the top of the car.

Immediately after the accident the child responded to those who spoke to him, and physicians said he had apparently received a blow on the head which had acted to restore his hearing.

The mother received a fractured collar bone and the father several broken ribs in the accident.

Swing-Johnson Bill Given Preference

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The Swing-Johnson Boulder Canyon dam bill today was accorded preferred legislative status by the house rules committee.

This virtually assures the measure of reaching the house floor for action this session unless leaders should change tentative plans and attempt to bring about congressional adjournment before June 1.

The committee's action gives the bill a preferential place on the legislative calendar and there are indications that house leaders probably will give the bill the right of way on the floor either late this week or on Tuesday of next week.

WIDE INTEREST IS DISPLAYED IN PLAINS ASSN

10,000 HENS EXPECTED TO BE SIGNED FOR POULTRY GROUP

Although work along the completion of the organization has been rather slow, Lubbock county's rural strength will be thrown into the work of the South Plains Poultry Marketing association, Miss Louise Baird, home demonstration agent and D. P. Eaton, county agent, predicted this morning as a check of the work done in the county so far revealed that a total of 5,757 hens had been signed up for the association.

"Everyone seems intensely interested in the association," Miss Baird said. She has been out among the various communities during the past several days talking with club women regarding the association's work and reported that all were in favor of it, delaying their membership for several days.

Expect 10,000 Hens
The county's membership is expected to reach the 10,000 hen mark before two weeks is up, officials predicted today.

The Central West Texas Poultry association with headquarters at Stamford is being pointed to as a model for the local association to work by. With a membership spread over five counties, the association is now operating its own finances and paying its members from 2 to 3 cents per dozen more than the regular channels of trade. Only 8 per cent of gross sales are deducted for expenses, and personal contact with members shows that they are well satisfied both with the sale of eggs and with live poultry. It is pointed out that this association is first co-operative in Texas loads of eggs into New York city.

It is the plan of Mr. Eaton and Miss Baird to send an auto caravan of Lubbock farmers and their wives to Stamford soon to study the association there and also to have a speaker from that section to appear here in a meeting.

Meeting Next Saturday
A meeting of the Lubbock County Poultry association in which a progress report of the marketing situation will be made is to be held in the court house on next Saturday.

Of the group that have signed hens for membership in the association, R. L. Powell of the Shallowater community, heads the list. He signed for 485 hens. Other Shallowater farmers followed with a good flock of hens also. J. A. Russell of route 1, Slaton, signed 350 hens while R. E. Swain of the Lubbock Feed and Hatchery, pledged an entire hatchery to the association. J. E. Hinson of Wolffarth signed for 300 hens while Mrs. J. C. Stanford, route 5, Lubbock, pledged 325 hens for the association.

Members signed up for the association in the county are: Mrs. Earl Davis, route 1, Lubbock, 150 hens; Mrs. Ed Griffin, route 1, Lubbock, 200 hens; J. A. Russell, route 1, Slaton, 350 hens; C. E. Patterson, McClung, 90 hens; J. L. Gamble, route 4, Lubbock, 60 hens; Mrs. Virgie Crossland, McClung, 65 hens; D. F. Williams, McClung, 30 hens; W. C. Dickson, McClung, 200 hens; F. H. Cannon, Becton, 75 hens; C. E. Merrill, Shallowater, 80 hens; Isham Tubbs, Carlisle, 150 hens; Troy S. Edwards, route 2, 130 hens.

DECISION IN GAS TAX CASE IS HELD OPPOSITE STATE

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, May 15.—The United States supreme court's decision Monday that dealers can not be forced by state statute to pay tax on gasoline sold the federal government was regarded here as an opposite to the state supreme court's recent holding in the question.

The Texas court, in a suit by the state against the Grayburg Oil company, held this state's three cent levy constitutional, disallowing the Grayburg contention that its sales to the federal army posts at San Antonio should be exempt from toll.

COALITION FOR FIGHT ON RULE ON EAST URGED

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 15.—In a coalition of the south and west, Senator Nye, Republican, North Dakota, sees a means of ending at the terms the "rule of the industrial northeast." Nye declares the economic and political structure designed for the benefit of the east of the Mississippi and the Ohio and Potomac rivers.

It is quite apparent most of the uses in governmental administration have one common ancestor, "they are the product of the current system of political campaigns—particularly national campaigns. So as a candidate must depend on contributions from a few big men and a few great corporations for the funds which to conduct his campaign, just that long the abuses and corruption perpetuate themselves. It is time that the American people realized that campaign contributions are given for value received."

Thought For Today

The wolf also shall dwell with the lamb, and the leopard shall lie down with the kid.—Isaiah 11:6.
All things that speak of heaven speak of peace.—Bailey.

The Man Of Vision

Probably the most abused word in our language is the word "vision."
It is applied, at some time or other to every man in the country who manages to rise higher than the bottom rung of the ladder. If a man makes a lucky investment which makes common sense in managing his business or displays just enough intelligence to avoid the more obvious pitfalls, someone is sure to arise and proclaim him "a man of vision."

This sloppy way of speaking is repulsive, for genuine "men of vision" are rare, and when they come on the scene they make a profound impression on their time.
If we apply the term indiscriminately, and keep rushing to pay homage to minor prophets, we may not be able to recognize the real seers when they appear.

The advancement of any group of men—town, state or nation—depends first of all on the qualities of its individuals; on their industry, alertness, intelligence, fortitude and tolerance. But in the last analysis it depends most of all on their leaders—the "vision" of the men who guide them.

The will for independence was strong in the American colonies during the Revolution; so, also, were the courage and frontier hardihood that enabled the colonists to make independence a fact. Yet it is just as sure as anything in this world can be sure, that without Washington the Revolution would have failed. His leadership—his "vision" of the trend of the times and the requirements of the future —was the prime essential in the situation.

After the establishment of the republic the tide of the new nation's destiny flowed westward. It seemed almost inevitable that the country should expand to the far west; yet without the vision of Thomas Jefferson the expansion probably would have died a-borning.
Jefferson could see farther ahead than his fellows. It was he who saw the need for the great "westward" movement of later years.

You could go on multiplying instances indefinitely. You could point to Lincoln and the preservation of the Union; to Vanderbilt, Harriman and Hill and the development of railroads; to Ford and the growth of modern industry; to Roosevelt and the rise of twentieth century heroism. It is always the old story in a new form. The mass of us will always find our lives, our thoughts, our ideals shaped by the man of vision.

It is a magnificent title, as fine as any we can apply to a man. We should not abuse it. It does not belong to every petty industrialist and business man. When a genuine man of vision comes along the whole country knows it.

De Grasse

Ceremonies recently held in France by French and American authorities to honor the name of Admiral De Grasse serve to call our attention to a little-known but important hero of the American revolution. Every schoolboy can tell you what Lafayette and Von Steuben did, but few know even the name of De Grasse.

When Lafayette sailed for America, De Grasse began assembling a fleet to aid the colonies. He brought it over and it was the presence of this fleet in American waters that helped Washington to insulate Cornwallis and bring about his surrender. De Grasse also raised much money, and was an American cause, and would help his services, by leading off a British fleet that sought to clear the ocean of American sympathizers.

All in all, his contributions were highly important, and his name deserves to be better known.

Whatever else may be said about the oil business, it's one game where a beginner starts from the top.

THE PLAINSMAN

Says:

That Girl on Broadway says she has two beaux and can't decide which one likes the best. Just another case of "neck and neck."

Although it's just like lighting a match in a dynamite factory to suggest anything that costs money in the spring of the year in West Texas, The Plainsman is going to fly in the face of Providence and suggest that the business men of Lubbock organize a "Westerner Club" for the support of athletes in Lubbock high school.
This writer believes the plan is a feasible one and believes it the right sort of leadership is secured it will go over with a "bang."

Frankly, the idea isn't exactly original with The Plainsman. Long ago he did something for the high school boys as well as for the Tech athletes, he has been turning the question of how to boost the local lads over in his mind. In conversation with Superintendent M. H. Duncan, of the city schools, the matter of a Westerner club was suggested by the latter.

As most everyone knows a loyal group of business men have been supporting Tech athletes now for the past couple of years, organized to do what they can to help the game along under the name of the Matador club. It is Mr. Duncan's idea that similar organization, with the purpose of fostering a noncompetitive high school athletics beforeminded, is needed. Mr. Duncan believes the plan is a feasible one and believes it the right sort of leadership is secured it will go over with a "bang."

One hundred business men each paying $1 per month could help high school athletics immeasurably. Superintendent Duncan says, and he is doubtless correct. According to the superintendent money taken in at the gate when high school games are played is not sufficient to carry on the athletics as they should be carried on.
Help from the outside—money to be spent in the purchase of uniforms and supplies—would work miracles and The Plainsman, for one, favors the idea.

As this writer sees it Lubbock's two civic clubs—the Rotary and Kiwanis—could foster a Westerner club to advance the members of these two organizations are solidly behind the schools here and would not doubt be glad of an opportunity to help make a better city in this manner. All the proposition needs is a "Moose" to lead us out of the wilderness. The Plainsman hopes a "Moose" will present himself to Superintendent Duncan and start the ball rolling.

That Man on Avenue Q says that when an aviator wants to do stunts flying other birds are usually willing to give him the air.

"Poverty is the principal cause of disease and sickness among working children," William M. Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, recently said in a radio address delivered under the auspices of the American Child Health association. In his statement Mr.
Green presents an important problem for society, as a whole, to work out.

This writer has no doubt but that Mr. Green is right in his statement, which further said that unemployment and insufficient wage scales were two reasons for the children of the working classes falling into ill health. While it would probably take a revamping of our entire economic structure to bring about a benefit, the result would be worth the effort.

Every child, regardless of the financial status of its parents, has the right to sufficient food, exercise, clothing, medical care and advice. If it is becoming necessary to form federal aid to better the situation by all means let us have the federal aid.

Organized labor, represented by Mr. Green as its chief executive, has gone on record favoring adequate wages and employment to combat sickness and disease in the families of the nation's workers. We in West Texas have very little opportunity to view conditions as they exist in our larger centers of population but we know that these conditions do exist and therefore should be interested in this problem which is facing mankind. Improving conditions such as those spoken of by Mr. Green is a big job, but one which may be worked out by organized labor with the support and commendation of the public at large.

Forget all your woes, be happy and gay!

NEW YORK, May 15—Those handsome, military-dressed ushers of the cinema cathedrals of Manhattan now have a personal following among the matinee girls.
Whereas in times gone the getty maids tucked their marshmallows under their arms and went into raptures over the leading man of a romantic comedy, they now demand a special escort. They are Point-lookers young men, who get somewhere in the neighborhood of $20 a week. Recently a particularly Adonis-like doorman of a Broadway movie palace landed the heiress to a large fortune, through a lobby romance. Some of them are showing with much note. I know one who receives more than the hero in the picture. After all, a prospect in the foyer is worth two in Hollywood.

A Broadway case that was enjoying but medium patronage now jams its doors each lunch hour and overflows into a second-floor series of dining booths because it employed one of the oldest of the French cavalier and gait. A clever young artist was retained to make caricatures of Broadway's prominent theater, movie and newspaper world. Instead of charging for the sketches they were arranged around the vanity of the colonnade, in the surface and they began to congregate in the cafe at lunch hour.
When the celebs arrived the Broadway "mob" followed. Today, you'll see a lot of this place than at any other. It's a variation on the old theme of seeing your picture in the paper. Which, in turn, is a variation on the personal columns in the small town newspapers. And whether it's New York or Sang Centers, the same formulas work.

When I first took a newspaper job I used to start the day's work by getting items for arrival and departure at the railroad station by all means let us have the federal aid.

Just what you'd expect to happen has happened. Some free born American mother and father have decided that their daughter shall wear the uniform if she wants to—and won't wear it she does not. So now the case is in court and has been carried to the supreme bench for decision.

It's all right for a school board to insist upon clothing which is decent and proper. It is all right for a school board to exert its influence so that daughters of wealth may not appear in such dandling attire that they put to shame the girls of poorer families. But to prescribe a uniform—to turn a free, public school into the semblance of a reformatory is "the bunk" and can't be expected to survive in this country.

In the Plainsman's opinion the men who passed the "middy uniform" rule in Colorado have not the necessary intellect and tolerance to hold places upon a school board.

WASHINGTON, May 15—An echo of the loose and liberal days of the last century, when congressmen were more susceptible to shush funds and lobbies and huge public land grants were tossed here and there with lavish hand, is heard in the Northern Pacific railroad land case now before Congress.

One of these commissioners still living testified before the committee that he had been given timber rights to 54,000 acres and that the railroad had promised to buy cross ties made from this timber.
The ex-commissioner admitted that the deal was made while the re-classification was in progress, but said that if any land deal was involved it had been dictated from Washington.

McGowan charged that the railroad had not fulfilled its obligations to the government, that President Grant had been dragged in as an incorporator without ever knowing of the deal, and that only 17 of the original 135 incorporators ever did subscribe for stock and that no more than $200,000 was ever raised for development to meet the act's provision for at least $2,000-000.

Less than 15 years ago, he said, the promoters had pocketed $40-000,000 of the stock, whereas they were supposed to capitalize for $100,000,000 and sell all stock in a bona fide way. If Congress had known that the promoters would pocket the $40,000,000, he said, it would never have awarded the huge land grant.

As to the looseness of former public land administration, it developed that the Interior Department admitted the question of error in the taking several million acres in the northwest by the railroad due to misplacement of survey lines.

The committee finally submitted a record of its hearings to the senate general, who upheld 19 of 22 contentions of the Forest Service. It has since asked for an opinion as to proper legislation to remedy the situation. Whether this will cover only the 3,500,000 national forest acres demanded by the Northern Pacific or 5,500,000 more acres held by the road and demanded back by McGowan has not been decided.

Grants as large as the total area of three or four eastern states were given to railroads in the lush post-Civil War days. The Northern Pacific was granted 47,000,000 acres.
Southern 18,000,000, Union Pacific 12,000,000, Kansas Pacific 12,400-000 and Central Pacific 8,000,000 and together they were given more than $125,000,000.

still holding onto 6,000,000 acres of the original grant although required by law to sell it years ago at $2.50 an acre.

A joint congressional committee investigated the scandal Testimony centered on the deal by which some 30 years previously, the road had been able to exchange a great acreage of practically worthless territory for choice agricultural and timber lands belonging to the government. This was done under a peculiar reclassification law passed by Congress.

Two of the federal land commissioners who reclassified the railroad's Idaho lands in 1895-7 were given valuable timber rights in the best lands still held by the government. This fraud was denounced in Congress, but the law was not repealed until the swapping was all over.

Less than 20 years ago, H. H.
Schwartz, chief of the Department of Interior Grist Service, reported 22,000 cases of land fraud and said that about $110,000,000 worth of public lands had been fraudulently acquired in the two years from 1906 to 1908.

At the time this struck me as an infinitely useless waste of time and a typically small-town stunt, I felt superior to such trivialities. Today I know better. Here

With Our West

A MOVE TOWARD PEACE

It is agreed that "the next war" will break all records for severity.
Gases, high explosives, tanks, machine guns and Big Berthas on the land, floating fortresses on the surface of the sea, with mines and submarines under it, and air fleets fighting in the sky above, will make a very devil's carnival on our planet. This vast enormity is so highly perishable in action that maintaining the supply of it will require a working army in the shorts, and this will far outnumber the fighting division on the battle line. Both of these divisions of the force will have to be drafted for their respective services. Volunteering would not yield a tube of the number of men required, and of course no wages would attract them.

The supporting army—the makers of the tools of war—must live mainly in manufacturing centers, and a declaration of war will bring cities and villages within the zone of legitimate attack. Here will be found a special opportunity for a wholesale use of gaseous poisons—which will mean a "massacre of the innocents" on a scale never as yet approached. Successful strategy will have to make much of this horror, as a means of "attrition" of an enemy's forces.

It is like spring after a hard winter to find that today people do not tamely accept such a fate for themselves or for their children and grandchildren. There is a growing belief that our generation can no longer believe that a war is written in the book of the Fates is worthy of the darkest age, but it is obvious that all available energy should be enlisted to prevent it, and, unhappily, the energy and unanimity that the situation calls for have not as yet been developed. The thesis here maintained is that such a united effort to avert another Armageddon States. Both the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe were also enriched by timber lands.

The last great grab at the public lands within our borders came through the reclassification of the forest reservation bill. Some of these millions and millions of acres were bad land and the railroads decided they must have good land in exchange. Reclassification was supposedly designed to compensate settlers for land taken for the forest preserves.

The railroad lobbyists slipped in the four words "or any other claimant" when the bill went to conference after being passed by both houses. Then the railroads swapped millions of acres of barren desert lands, denuded forest areas and snowy mountain peaks for millions of the best lands still held by the government. This fraud was denounced in Congress, but the law
was not repealed until the swapp-

MAN BELIEVED DERANGED ATTACKS PLANE PILOT WITH HAMMER 2,000 FEET IN AIR; BOTH ESCAPE DEATH

(By Associated Press)
PONTIAC, Mich., May 15.—The story of a battle 2,000 feet in the air between two fliers, Harry Anderson of Roseville, Mich., pilot, and Clarence Frechett of Detroit, an aerial exhibitionist, which resulted in the plane's crashing and in a remarkable escape from death by the occupants, was under investigation today.

Both men were found seriously injured in the plane, which was demolished in landing on the grounds of the state hospital for the insane yesterday.

Attacked With Hammer
Anderson told police he was attacked by Frechett with a hammer while flying over Pontiac. Losing consciousness after repeated blows from the weapon, Anderson said he recovered after the plane had taken a sheer drop of nearly 1,800 feet. He was unable to fly for the rough landing that averted almost certain death for himself and Frechett.

Anderson's skull was fractured and he was painfully injured about the face, most of his teeth having been knocked out, supposedly by blows from the hammer. Frechett was less seriously injured but required hospital treatment.

Under heavy guard at a hospital, Frechett raved. From coherent parts of his talk pieced together the information that he is a stunt flier and parachute exhibitionist who went to an aviation school at Roseville a few days ago for instruction.

Believed Planned Suicide
Yesterday he engaged Anderson, who operates a small commercial flying concern in Roseville, to pilot him to Pontiac. From letters found in Frechett's clothing police thought the purpose of the trip might have been a suicide and premeditated plan of self destruction, the episode of which was to have been over the home town of his sweetheart.

One of the letters, addressed to a Mrs. Georgia Pardee of Pontiac, couched in endearments, concluded as follows:

"Death is my message, sweetheart."

Another addressed to Frechett's mother, said he feared that "death approached."

Appeared to Be Normal
Anderson, who told police he was not previously acquainted with Frechett, said the man appeared to be normal when he made arrangements for the flight. When they arrived over Pontiac, however, the pilot said, the passenger grabbed a hammer and began to belabor him over the head.

"It was awful," Anderson told Sheriff Harvey Tedder. "The first blow at me barely grazed my head. I tried to grapple with him and at the same time keep my machine from pitching. One of the blows made everything go black. Then I remember coming to. I was heading in a nose dive. I jerked the controls and tried to right the plane. Just as I was swinging out of the dive, I felt the wheels of the undercarriage touch the ground for some distance and then the ship went over on its nose."

Asylum Attaches Tell Story Attaches at the asylum filled in the narrative. The plane approached Pontiac cruising leisurely at an altitude of about 2,000 feet, suddenly it began to spiral about. This continued for about a minute then it banked at an angle of about 45 degrees and began a dizzy plunge earthward, nose down. When within 200 feet of the ground, the ship righted itself, and after attaining an even keel, made as if to land. When it touched land, however, the underpinning crumpled, throwing the machine over several times. Anderson was found unconscious.

strapped in the pilot's seat. Frechett, badly dazed, still clutched in his hand the handle of a broken hammer.

Summer School At Tech Very Popular

More inquiries are now being received regarding the coming summer school of Texas Technological college than for any previous session held by the school. Registrar E. L. Dohoney reports. Scores of summer school catalogs go out from his office every day in reply to inquiries regarding it.

Mr. Dohoney anticipates more than 1,000 students in enrollment during the summer here. Other officials, including President Paul W. Horn and Dean James M. Gordon, are of the same opinion. Six hundred were enrolled in the summer last year.

The summer school starts Monday, June 4, and runs for 12 full weeks.

Novarro Has Ideal Role In New Film

Ramon Novarro, hero of "Ben Hur" and other famous plays, has found the ideal vehicle for his romantic type of portrayal in the "Student Prince," the spectacular Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, according to press notices from previous showings of the play.

In the role made famous on the stage by Richard Mansfield, Novarro has what he believes is the best part of his career. Norma Shearer plays the heroine, and Ernst Lubitsch, the famous German director, directed the play. A huge cast of principals and some two thousand extras appear in the production.

Tech Sponsor For WTCC Meet Asked

Texas Technological college will have a sponsor in the social affairs of the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce which will be held in Fort Worth in June. Officials of the college said yesterday upon the receipt of a request from convention officials asking for a sponsor nomination.

The sponsor will be named this week, officials said. She is to be a co-ed of the college. The college has been represented by a sponsor in the past two conventions, by Miss D'Ann Sammons at Amarillo and Miss Anna Belle Collins at Wichita Falls.

MELLON FAVORS HOOVER AS GOP LEADER IN RACE

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP)—Secretary Mellon elaborated today on his statement of Saturday that Herbert Hoover seemed to him to most closely fit the Republican party's requirements for the presidency by saying:

"I think Hoover can win if nominated. I think he would make a good president."

Informed that many interpretations had been given his statement to the Pennsylvania Republican delegation to the Kansas City convention, the treasury head said:

"I don't see why my statement should be misinterpreted. It is pretty plain English."

The Pennsylvania delegation, he said, "is a cohesive organization and there has never been a time when the state organization was more harmonious than it is now."

One other comment was: "Anything can happen."

Mr. Mellon all along has favored renomination of President Coolidge, and the secretary's associates do not believe that his endorsement of Hoover will necessarily mean that Pennsylvania's delegation will support Hoover. They believe the delegation will wait developments before definitely aligning itself.

PRIZE WINNING BEAUTY HELD ON ARSON CHARGES

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, May 15.—Mrs. Vivian Page, who as "Miss Mobile" took third prize in the 1926 Atlantic City beauty contest, was arrested here last night on a bench warrant from Media, Pa., charging her with arson. Assistant District Attorney Toal of Media said Mrs. Page and her husband, formerly an aviator of St. Petersburg, Fla., came to live in Media a year ago. They became involved in financial difficulties, he said, and Mrs. Page's trunks were seized in lieu of unpaid rent by their landlord.

Police went to their apartment to take the trunks, he said, just as Mrs. Page left the building in an automobile. A few minutes after she had left flames broke out in the Page apartment and the building was destroyed.

Mrs. Page denied setting fire to the building. Toal said he would apply for extradition papers to take her back to Media.
