Two Littlefield Men Victims Of Accidents

(Special To The Avalanche)

LITTLEFIELD, May 23. — Bruce Melton, 33, employe of Southwestern Public service company, was electrocuted between 2 and 3 p.m. today when he came in contact with a live wire while working atop a power pole on the outskirts of the city.

(Melton's death was the second violent accident to claim a Littlefield man Monday, Billy Knight, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Knight, drowning during a fishing trip to Buffalo Lake near Umbarger in the Panhandle.)

Aid Rushed To Scene

Bob Barnett, a fellow employe who was working with Melton on the pole, said that apparently Melton's arm came in contact with a "hot wire" carrying 4,160 volts of electricity. The accident occurred near the city water booster station on the northeast edge of the city.

Robert Owen, also an employe of the utility company, was working at the base of the pole at the time of the accident and helped Barnett lower Melton to the ground where Barnett and Freddy Friday, utility company worker, administered first aid and gave artificial respiration until a respirator could be rushed to the aid of the injured man.

Suffered Severe Burns

Melton, however, was pronounced dead about an hour and a half after the mishap. The examining physician said that the worker suffered severe burns on one arm and a leg.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the First Baptist church here with the Rev. Lee Hemphill, pastor, officiating. Hammond Funeral home will be in charge of arrangements.

Survivors include his wife, and three children, Faye, 8, Robert Vernon, 6, and Bruce Wayne, 4; parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Melton, of Brownwood; two brothers, Raymond and Haynes Melton, both of Littlefield, and a sister, Mrs. W. A. Nipper, of Idalou.

YOUTH IS DROWNED ON TRIP TO PANHANDLE LAKE

LITTLEFIELD, May 23. (Special)—A fishing trip to Buffalo Lake, near Umbarger, in the Panhandle, today ended in tragedy as Billy Knight, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Knight, drowned while attempting to swim from the lake bank to a raft.

Knight, an Army serviceman, had left early today with his father, J. E. Knight, a carpenter here; a brother, Kenneth, 17; a friend, Leon Durham, and a neighbor, Ellis Tittle, for a day's fishing at the lake.

It was reported that Knight de-

Shivers Hit For Tidelands Stand

AUSTIN, May 23 (AP)—Lt. Gov. Allan Shivers was lashed and then defended on his tidelands stand in personal privilege speeches in the House today.

Rep. Preston Smith of Lubbock declared that Shivers could give much better service to the state by presiding over the Senate than by "running up to Washington and discussing a compromise on our valuable tidelands."

"The people are not going to stand for such political shenanigans," Smith said.

Smith Makes Charge

"Our lieutenant governor was in Washington contacting our Texas representatives and from news reports he was quoted as saying that in his opinion he believed that the tidelands question should be settled by compromise. Should he be able to do this, then, as a reward President Truman would be asked to appoint Governor Jester to the ambassadorship of old Mexico. Of course this action would make our lieutenant governor the governor and chief executive of the State of Texas."

Rep. Leslie King of Vernon declared: "If we'd spend less time criticizing things the Senate does and trying to run somebody for governor, the people of Texas would be better off."

King added we couldn't all be in Washington on the tidelands question and "if the governor

House Committee Hearing On Bonus Bill Again Delayed

AUSTIN, May 23. (AP)—A House committee hearing on a veterans bonus bill sputtered to a halt 20 minutes after it started tonight, and a new hearing scheduled Wednesday night.

Rep. Paul S. Wilson of Geneva suggested the postponement in order that Rep. Jimmy Horany of Archer City and Rep. Jim Heflin of Houston might work out a compromise on how to finance bonuses for Texas veterans of World Wars One and Two.

IN PROTECTIVE CUSTODY—A beaten, bloodied Eastern Zone railway policeman (hatless) is roughly taken into "protective custody" by uniformed British sector policemen at Charlottenburg railway station in Berlin. The incident occurred after the Russian sector railway police fired their pistols into a crowd of 300 non-Communists railway strikers. The station is in the British zone of Berlin. The railroad men are striking against custom of paying them off in Soviet zone currency instead of West German marks which are worth four times as much. Temperature Hits 93 To Set New High

Showers Forecast In Plains Area Today

SOUTH PLAINS marked up a new high temperature mark for the year Monday of 93 degrees as generally fair weather with scattered exceptions, settled over the area for the third straight day.

Heavy thunderclouds which swept across the southeast and eastern portion of the South Plains Monday afternoon dumped some rain, a little hail and left dust over the area. Heaviest fall was reported in the Whiteflat area north of Matador where an estimated two inches of rain fell.

The Lubbock Weather station last night said that aside from a few scattered thundershowers this afternoon tonight and tomorrow, South Plains weather probably would continue partly cloudy and warm through Wednesday.

Warm Weather To Continue

Temperatures near or possibly above the 90 degree mark are expected today and tomorrow. The forecaster said showers probably would be widely scattered with possible heavy downpours in only limited sections. He emphasized that no violent storms are foreseen for the area.

A cold front that had been driving southeastward earlier Monday had become almost stationary last night, the weatherman said. The front is not expected to reach this section before Thursday, and the possibility is that it will not reach this far south at all, he said.

Fall Is Heavy

At times Monday, it appeared that the area might be in for another heavy soaking, however the threatening clouds disappeared except for the southeast and eastern parts of the section.

Although Matador received only a light sprinkle Monday, the Whiteflat area north of Matador received a heavy rainfall which totaled an estimated two or more inches.

Twice last week the Whiteflat area received heavy rains which washed across farmlands and

Rescue Crews Toil Where Storms Left 45 Dead, 300 Hurt

(By International News Service)

Rescue and emergency crews toiled Monday in a dozen communities in Missouri, Illinois and Indiana to rescue injured and restore normal facilities in the wake of tornadoes which killed 45 persons in the three states.

Red Cross authorities said that many persons still were missing in the stricken areas. The injured list is over 300 and damage is estimated in the millions of dollars.

Flood and polluted water conditions caused by heavy rains have endangered drinking water supplies where the tornadic winds did not actually knock out service completely.

21 Killed In One Town

Communications still were in the first stages of restoration with power lines broken by the rampaging twisters.

Hardest hit city in the three states was Cape Girardeau, Mo., where 21 persons were killed. More than 112 persons were injured and at least three still were missing in the southeastern Missouri community of 20,000.

Eight were dead in Shelburn, Ind., a town of 1,600, in the southwestern part of the Hoosier state. Sixty-five were injured and property damage was heavy. More than one third of the town's population was made homeless by the twister which lasted but five minutes.

Other States Hit

Red Cross officials listed the following dead in other towns: five at Wood River, Ill.; two at Terre Haute, Ind.; one at Clay City, Ind.; four at Palestine, Ill. one at Bessville, Mo.; one at Cabool, Mo.; one at Somerset, Ky.; and one at Clarksville, Mo.

Witnesses said that the violence of the tornadic winds was indescribable. Houses and livestock were lifted 50 or 60 feet into the air and tossed hundreds of yards.

$779 Million Is Slashed From Administration Foreign Aid Bill

By H. K. REYNOLDS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The House Appropriations committee today slashed $779,730,000 from the administration's foreign aid bill in making a 15 percent across-the-board slash in Marshall plan and occupied-area funds.

The action, maneuvered by a Republican-southern Democrat coalition, was the biggest victory economy-minded congressmen have achieved at this session of Congress.

The cut, which must face hurdles in both the House and Senate, follows a report by congressional tax experts that the government faces a $3,000,000,000 deficit in the fiscal year beginning July 1, even if President Truman's $41,900,000,000 budget is not increased.

Hoffman Critical

Foreign Aid Administrator Paul G. Hoffman criticized the committee for making a "spur of the moment" decision which may result in achievement of Marshall plan goals "only at a later date and at a much higher cost."

Hoffman told newsmen that his Economic Co-operation administration was the victim of a "new jury," composed of only five mem-

Berlin Riots Again Flare

By RICHARD S. WEIL
INS Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, May 24, (Tuesday)—Attacking rail strikers forced Communist police and strike-breakers to evacuate a string of elevated stations last night in a renewal of fighting that took the life of a 16-year-old German boy.

A crisis was averted at the Westkreuz station when Communists broke before the threat of an organized assault by West Berlin police.

Reds Forced Out

British military authorities had authorized the use of force by West Berlin police in order to seize the station which has changed hands several times.

The West Berlin police are permitted under a decision announced Monday to seize control of stations to prevent further strike bloodshed, provided they obtain western military approval.

The strikers, braving bullets from Communist guns and defying a Communist police threat of death sentences for persons found guilty of violence, attacked the Zoo and Westkreuz stations in the British sector and forced the Communists to pull out.

Three thousand strikers stormed the Zoo station and touched off the bloodiest battle of the day, which until then had been comparatively quiet.

Communist police opened fire, felling eight strikers, including the boy who died. Angry strikers seized two Soviet officers and beat them until they were rescued by Communist police.

Fire On Crowds

The death of the German boy boosted the strike death toll to three. West Berlin police said two persons died Sunday night as the result of wounds received during a battle against Communist police in the same area. Some 1,200 persons have been wounded in the fighting that started Saturday.

Meanwhile, the Communists inside the station withdrew through the British sector under a hail of rocks, steel scraps and wood showered upon their heads by strikers who climbed to the station roof.

The Communists fell back to the Soviet sector, while the 200 Communist police who accompanied

Cost Of Living Shows Slight Rise In Month

WASHINGTON, May 23. (AP)—The cost of living inched up again during the 30 days ended in mid-April.

The Bureau of Labor statistics announced the April 15 index today. It stood at 169.7 percent of the average for the years 1935 to 1939. That represented an increase of one-tenth of one percent from March 15.

This was the second monthly advance, after a five-month decline. In the 30 days preceding March 15, the index had risen 0.3 percent.

On April 15 the index stood at almost the same level as it did a year earlier. But it was 27.3 percent above June, 1946, when most price controls were abolished. The new index was 72.1 percent above August, 1939.

Forrestal To Be Paid High Honors

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—The funeral honors due to a military hero will be paid to James V. Forrestal, who broke under a nine-year burden of high service in war and peace.

The National Military Establishment announced today the nation's first secretary of defense, who took his own life, will be interred in Arlington National cemetery with military ceremonies.

The funeral has been scheduled for 9 a. m. (CST) Wednesday. Religious services will be held at the graveside with President Truman in attendance.

Salute To Be Fired

Forrestal's body will be taken directly from the hospital to the cemetery. It will be transported through the cemetery on a caisson and escorted by small detachments of the three military services.

Representatives of the military services will be at the cemetery and a 19-gun salute will be fired.

Attendance will be restricted to members of the cabinet, government executives, members of the congressional armed services committees and personal friends of the family. The family has expressed a wish that the funeral ceremony be as simple as possible.

Members of the cabinet will be honorary pallbearers.

Youth Drowns In Tank Near Borger Despite Rescue Efforts

BORGER, May 23. (AP)—Everett Eugene Wade, 13, drowned tonight while swimming in a stock tank. Artificial respiration, oxygen, adrenalin and a last ditch heart operation all failed to save him.

The mishap happened on a ranch at Spring Creek community, six miles northeast of Borger.

The lad was found under water at 7 p. m. Artificial respiration failed. The body was taken to North Plains hospital where oxygen and adrenalin were given.

There seemed to be some response and doctors cut through his chest to massage his heart. The boy was declared dead at 8:25 p. m.

Senator Demands Atomic Board Chief 'Be Fired'

Probe Ordered Of Lilienthal's Handling Of Atomic Security

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 23. — A Congressional investigation was ordered today into David E. Lilienthal's handling of atomic bomb security while a House group injected the name of a mysterious California "scientist X."

Lilienthal is chairman of the Atomic Energy commission.

House spy hunters said the unidentified "Mr. X"—who was accused last year of giving atomic secrets to a Communist leader—is now reported to be a supervisor of students holding government-paid atomic fellowships.

"Mr. X" has flatly denied the charge of divulging secrets.

Informants said the scientist and several other supervisors will be called before a House subcommittee soon. They asked newsmen not to disclose the identity of the subcommittee until the subpoenas are served.

Scientist Denies Charges

"Scientist X" has never been officially identified. He figured in investigations by the House un-American Activities committee for several months last year, and is said to have worked on atomic secrets at the University of California during World War II.

His story came to light for the first time last September in a House committee report which said the scientist visited the San Francisco home of Steve Nelson, a Communist party organizer, in 1943 and allegedly gave Nelson an important formula.

Hailed before the committee in secret session, "Scientist X" denied the charges and said he had never met Nelson. The committee decided to keep his name secret pending further investigation.

Meetings Described

Nelson, now a Red organizer in western Pennsylvania, refused to testify on the ground that he might incriminate himself.

The name of "Scientist X" cropped up again shortly after House investigators spent two hours questioning Mrs. Sylvia Crouch, wife of Paul Crouch, an employe of the Miami, Fla., Daily News and a former Communist.

Mrs. Crouch, also a former Communist, told a story of Communist meetings in California attended by atomic scientists and described a Communist party unit at the Berkeley, Calif., laboratories.

Searching Probe Urged

An investigation into Lilienthal's administration of the nation's atomic weapon and atomic energy program was ordered by Senator McMahon (D-Conn), head of the joint congressional "watchdog" committee on atomic matters.

Lilienthal has held his post as AEC chairman for more than two years, taking over after a bitter Senate battle on his confirmation.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) made a point of Lilienthal's "attitudes" toward the nation's atomic secrets and called for a searching inquiry. Over the weekend, Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) had bluntly demanded that Lilienthal be fired.

Mismanagement Charged

After a four-hour session behind closed doors, Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) announced that the Senate-House Atomic Energy commission will investigate the charges against Lilienthal.

McMahon did not outline the scope of the inquiry, except to say the committee would consider carefully Hickenlooper's statement. The Iowa senator, the senior Republican on the committee, had asserted Lilienthal's regime has been marked by "incredible mismanagement."

Lilienthal himself called Hickenlooper's blast "a vague and ungenerous wholesale indictment." He said he is willing to stand on the commission's record.

Lilienthal and the atomic commission have been in congres-

First Peace Step In Ford Dispute Taken

DETROIT, May 23. (AP) — The CIO United Auto Workers tonight proposed arbitration of the main issue in the Ford strike. It was the first major step aimed at breaking a 19-day deadlock.

UAW President Walter Reuther suggested that six minor issues be settled first before going to arbitration. After these were agreed upon, he said, the union would sign a strike settlement.

When talks broke off yesterday, the company expressed belief that the chief issue in the dispute —the one for which the UAW proposed arbitration — was the big snag.

The big question was how to adjust manpower to the rate of production at Ford's two Detroit plants. Disagreement on this point was the spark that set off the strike of 65,000 workers May 5.

Collection Of Back Taxes In State Urged To Avoid Tax Hike

AUSTIN, May 23. (AP)—A Republican leader suggested to Gov. Beauford Jester today that the collection of delinquent taxes would do away with the need for any new taxes.

H. J. (Jack) Porter, Houston oil man and Republican candidate for U.S. Senator last year, told Jester in a letter that taxes on more than $79,000,000 worth of real property in Texas was overdue.

"There are thousands of acres of land in Texas owned by nonresidents on which no tax payments have been made for more than 20 years," he said.

ELECTION TO TOP FINAL DAY

Panhandle-Plains Lions To End Convention Here Today

CURTIS A. CRYER
To Be New District Governor

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche Staff Writer

MORE than 400 members of Lions clubs in 50 Panhandle-Plains towns will close out their annual District 2-T-1 convention here today after a full day's program Monday, climaxed by a banquet and dance honoring their district governor, Wm. R. Rutherford of Dumas, and the president of Lions International, Dr. Eugene Briggs of Enid, Okla.

Today's program, to be held at the Clifton theater, will be featured by the election of a new district governor and selection of a 1950 convention city.

Nomination Unopposed

Usually a hotly-contest, only one nomination was submitted for both ballots in Monday afternoon's session at the First Baptist church auditorium. Curtis A. Cryer, superintendent of schools at Borger, was nominated unopposed for district governor and Childress submitted the only bid for next year's convention. Lubbock Lions announced in convention banners the candidacy of Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, Texas Tech professor, for district governor in 1950.

Balloting will be conducted from 8 until 10 a.m. today in the lobby of the Hilton hotel, convention headquarters.

Report of the credentials and resolutions committee and announcement of election results will close out this morning's brief session at the theaters to be followed by a general assembly luncheon at Hotel Lubbock at 12:15 p.m.

Gold Watches Presented

Featuring last night's banquet program was the presentation of gold wrist watches to Dr. Briggs, who is also president of Phillips university at Enid, and District Governor Rutherford and an electric clock to State Secretary Marlowe Fisher of Austin. Presentation of the watches was made by Ralph Randle of Panhandle, past district governor.

The Lubbock club, host to the convention, presented Dr. Briggs

Burglary, Theft Probes Launched

Three burglaries and numerous thefts, involving a property loss of several hundred dollars, were under investigation of officers here Monday.

Mrs. James E. Hartley of 1518 Ave. O told police detectives that $21 had been taken from her purse at the residence between 5 and 6 p.m. Monday. The house was unlocked at the time, she said.

F. L. Butler of 1415 Ave. L said eight to 10 new sheets, a desk lighter, underwear and a wrist watch were taken in what was described as a theft from his residence.

A burglary at 1614 Broadway resulted in loss of $20 in silver from a piggy bank, R. F. Spikes said. The house was broken and entered at a front door, police were told.

Tools Stolen

Henry White of Shallowater and Allie Callaway of 609 Ave. L, carpenters, reported theft of their tool boxes and a 200-foot roll of heavy electric cord from a construction project at 3600-block Thirty-first.

Value was assessed at $495. The tools included a $105 skill saw, police said.

Other thefts included:

A tire and wheel valued at $25

Red Break Through At Shanghai Feared

SHANGHAI, Tuesday, May 24. (AP)—Communist forces appeared today to have achieved a partial break through of besieged Shanghai's southwest defenses.

The Nationalist defenders were rushing reinforcements to the critical area where reports indicated the Reds had reached the wooden fence encircling the city.

This would put the Reds through the main defenses of this Asian metropolis.

Earlier, Communist forces pushed to the eastern bank of the Whangpoo river opposite the heart of the besieged city.

'INVESTMENT' PROGRAM URGED

Lubbock Solon Offers Plan To Finance New Hospital Buildings

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 23. — New state hospital buildings, but no new taxes—a way was offered in the House today.

Rep. Preston Smith of Lubbock introduced a bill he said would arrange for $2½ million to $4 million a year for new buildings at the state's hospitals and other eleemosynary institutions.

Just invest the state's unused money as a bank invests its own money, Smith said.

"The comptroller told me the state had about $100,000,000 in special funds just lying there," Smith said.

"Under this bill the comptroller would be authorized to invest that in government bonds. Net earnings will go into a special account to be known as the eleemosynary special building account."

Most representatives and senators have agreed with Gov. Beauford Jester that an eleemosynary building program is needed. It will take about $31,000,000 to take care of present needs, he estimates.

Gov. Jester said at a press conference last week he would call a special session of the legislature to provide the buildings if this session does not vote the money.

Legislators have worried mainly about how to take care of all the state's needs, including the building program, without a new tax.

Liquor Cache Is Seized In Raid

The opening gun in another week's war on bootlegging was fired Monday with the seizure of 364 pints and 92 four-fifth quarts of whisky, and the charging of Frank Moore, 42-year-old negro, with liquor law violation.

C. D. Matthews and Fred Prestage, both of the liquor control board, and Deputy Sheriff Frank Mitchell seized the whisky from a servants quarters behind a residence on Levelland highway.

The raid followed a complaint from residents of the main house that "bootleggers" were furnishing the negro servant with whisky, thereby interfering with his work.

Liquor Found In Attic

Most of the large load of liquor was taken from the attic of the servant quarters, liquor board members said. Moore was also charged with being drunk, records of the sheriff's department said.

Moore indicated to arresting officers that the whisky did not belong to him, but would not name the real owner. Under the law, the proof of ownership is not necessary in a charge of possession for the purpose of sale, County Attorney Waggoner Carr indicated.

In the meanwhile, city police were left holding the bag in another case involving a large supply of liquor—the "bag" being 64 four-fifth quarts and six pints of whisky, and two cases and 20 cans of beer.

A property owner telephoned police Sunday that a car had been

Surprise Red Move Fails

By KINGSBURY SMITH

PARIS, May 23—The Big Four conference got off to an amicable start today when Russia quickly agreed to the West's four-point agenda proposal aimed at deciding the fate of Germany and Austria.

Secretary of State Acheson and the two other western ministers blocked a surprise Russian move to inject the Japanese peace treaty question into the talks which opened in Anna Gould's palatial Paris mansion.

Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky raised the question to find whether it was possible to discuss it outside the Big Four conference room.

No Commitment Made

Vishinsky added he hoped the ministers would be willing to set a date for consideration of the Japanese peace treaty.

But he dropped the matter without much argument when Acheson pointed out the problem is one for the Far Eastern commission rather than the council of foreign ministers.

A spokesman for the French delegation said he interpreted Acheson's remarks as meaning the American official was willing to discuss the Japanese problem away from the conference table. However, an American delegation spokesman said the French had misunderstood and Acheson had made no commitment.

Soviet Move Blocked

Acheson and his British and French colleagues also blocked a Soviet move to place the question of four-power control of Germany on the agenda as a separate item. This was interpreted as an attempt to give Russia a grip on the question of the Ruhr and establishment of the West German state, which Moscow is determined to block at this conference.

After the initial session, which lasted less than two-and-a-half hours, a Soviet spokesman said his delegation "is not pessimistic over the outcome of the conference."

A friendly exchange between Vishinsky and Bevin took place at the outset of the initial session of the sixth meeting of the coun-

Prince Aly Khan To Have Special Showing Of Rita's Last Film

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

CANNES, May 23.—Wedding guests arriving at the L'Horizon chateau in Cannes for the marriage of Rita Hayworth and Prince Aly will have a private screening of the bride-to-be's latest picture, "Loves Of Carmen."

Aly expressed the wish to see his actress-fiancee in the role of Carmen, the famous heart-breaker, and Columbia pictures which hasn't released it in Cannes sent down a special print from Paris.

Aga Khan Favors Career

Aly and, of course, the Aga Khan saw Rita in "Gilda" at L'Horizon's private theater and it was then that the Aga said his future daughter-in-law shouldn't give up her screen career because she has too much to offer as an actress. "Gilda" was in black-and-white but Carmen in technicolor presents lovely Rita as a much greater beauty.

I wonder if after the prince sees how beautiful Rita's flaming red hair photographs he will still insist she keep her hair very dark chestnut brown. His reason for wishing her to remain brunette is that "she is much more beautiful with the natural color of her hair."

'Jealousy' Rumor Denied

The Aga arrives in Cannes Wednesday from Switzerland for the wedding but the begum, his beautiful young wife, will not be present. She recently underwent an operation for arthritis which was planned long before Rita and Aly set the wedding date.

The gossip that the begum would absent herself from the ceremony because of jealousy over Rita's beauty and all the attention she has been receiving is vigorously denied. She and Rita liked each other immensely when they met at L'Horizon at the time the engagement was announced.

Future Home Indefinite

I asked Rita if Aly is buying her a palace in California as has been often printed, and she told me she still owns her home in Brentwood, a suburb of Hollywood. Rita's home is a modest bungalow and unlike the palaces her future husband owns.

Prince Aly owns three homes in Europe but he spends most of the year at Chateau L'Horizon and the house in Paris. He recently acquired another home in England and has a country place outside Dublin where he and Rita spent Christmas.

"I will do as any other wife does and live where my husband wishes me to be," Rita said today. "He has always lived in Europe and as much as I love California there's no chance of our making our home there permanently."

Blood Donations To Boost Mission Fund

PLAINVIEW, May 23. (Special)—A pint of blood each will be donated by several Wayland college students Thursday to help send a student missionary to San Andries island in the Caribbean area this summer.

Clayton Hicks of Chilton, said in chapel here today that he and some other students will drive to Fort Worth and collect enough from giving their blood to push the mission fund over the needed $600.

The missionary, designated by student vote is Sid Davis of Amarillo, who last summer was one of five students who went on a mission from Wayland to Alaska.

COWS DIE IN LINE

COLUMBIA, S. C., (AP)—A perplexed milkman looked across a pasture and saw 13 Holsteins and seven Guernseys had died, falling eerily in a perfectly straight line. It was found the grazing cows had stumbled one at a time upon a fallen high tension line and were killed by its 4,300-volt charge.

Business Outlook Is Steady, Banker Says

FORT WORTH, May 23. (AP)—President John T. Yantis of the Texas Bankers association said today the U.S. is safe from depression "so long as we keep our heads and think clearly."

He told the association convention postwar declines in production and sales are normal.

"I see no cause for pessimism," he said, "the history of U.S. finance is an endless record of men who have accepted challenges to their adaptability and ingenuity and turned them into outstanding successes," he said.

Yantis, president of the First National Bank of Brownwood, said what business needs is "to be let alone."

He said business should have some relief from taxes, less interference from the government and less competition from government agencies.

Youth Convicted Here Is Granted Pardon

The time, assessed in 99th District court of Lubbock county, was to run concurrently, but Henegar —convicted of forging a $10 check passed to a dress shop here and forging the endorsement on a $130 treasury check made out to Claude Hardy Rampy of 1515 College Ave. — was out on conditional pardon by December of that year.

MacArthur Sets Precedent By Ordering New Trial For Jap

TOKYO, May 23 (INS) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur broke war crimes precedents in the Far East today when he ordered a new trial for a convicted Japanese war criminal.

The action was the first of its kind in war crimes cases in Japan.

The supreme Allied commander set aside the death sentence imposed on Lt. Tetsutaro Kato, former Japanese army officer convicted of having bayonetted an American war prisoner, Pvt. Frank Spears of Kansas City, Mo.

Gen. MacArthur ordered the case retried with the explanation that the military commission which had tried Kato had admitted "prejudicial evidence without informing the defendant."

Jottings From The Notebook Of An European Traveler

(This is another series of articles written by the Women's Editor of The Avalanche-Journal publications, who recently returned from a two months' tour of Europe, accompanied by Miss Ruth E. Ford and Mrs. John D. Lynch of Grosse Pointe, Mich.)

By MARGARET TURNER

IF WE could choose only one talent of the Europeans, it would be to acquire their art for taking life easy.

We were told that no one in France has headaches and they are struck with amazement at the American's proclivity to consult psychiatrists at every move. Nervous collapses and heart disease are relatively rare in France, Italy and Switzerland. We think we know the answer. It's because those people live at a slow tempo and know absolute relaxation.

No one hurries in Paris, we were told. If you have an engagement, you allow your companion from 20 minutes to an hour to arrive after the appointed time. In the meanwhile you are sitting in the sun or strolling along window shopping or just sitting quietly. From what we were able to gather during our stay in the city on the Seine, the Parisian is happy when he has an agreeable companion, a bottle of wine, a loaf of bread and a place to sun bathe. We could understand his liking for bread after eating the marvelous loaves that are baked on the Continent. One could enjoy a satisfactory meal on bread alone.

WE LEFT France the day before May day, the occasion of a labor holiday and also the universal wearing of sprigs of lilies of the valley. The French say the flower brings good luck, so nobody dares go without it. Street venders were exhibiting literally tons of the white-blossoming, heavenly fragrant, wild flowers, which grow in the woods around Paris.

There were to be no taxi cabs on the streets in the morning of May day; theaters were not to open until night, no French radio programs were to be broadcast until after 9 p.m. and the museums were to be closed all day.

In other words when the Parisian takes a holiday, he ceases work and he strolls with his friends or stays at home with his family.

French cooking has been described as the best in the world, but surely no one would dare compliment the coffee. No amount of thinning with either hot milk or water can make it taste like the beverage we are accustomed to in America. The swirls of sweet butter, the marmalade or jelly and the rolls that make up the Continental breakfast, are so good, however, that you can overlook the sticky, chicory concoction.

There is very little soap in Europe and we were told the poorer classes scrub their hands and faces with sand to cleanse them. The only hotel soap we saw in seven countries was in the Bristol at Vienna, which is run under supervision of the U.S. Army.

BEING an American, you are glad to meet fellow American travelers. Once in a while, however, you wish they would use tact or talk more quietly or just go away someother place, where you won't have to see them and to feel embarrassment. We met several dozen Americans who were genuine, good company and we noticed others behaving with decorum. There were still others. We are thinking of an elevator ride in the Eiffel tower.

The tower elevators were crowded and one transferred three times before reaching the top. Crowded in with us were young men in the uniform of one of our most popular branches. Although a number enjoyed the day and disturbed no one, there were three young American men who had been drinking something stronger than milk and their companions for the day weren't exactly characters out of "Little Women."

LATER that night at the Folies Bergere two other young men in our country's uniform made a great nuisance of themselves and finally passed out in the aisle back of us. They were young. You'd have to be very young or very old to go to sleep at the Folies Bergere. Perhaps the boys were homesick. There were many occasions when we felt ashamed of the actions of a loud mouthed American, banging on the desk and demanding a room, or lunging toward other Americans, asking his state and inviting him to a bar or inviting himself to a seat and an uninvited chat with your party.

We don't know how popular Americans are, either in the occupied countries or elsewhere abroad. One has a strange feeling that we are tolerated because we are the conquerors and have the hand with the money. In subsequent articles we'll write of good deeds done by American women who have joined their husbands for their assignment abroad. We do have a number of foreigners' opinion of their generosity.

Dove Of Peace Looks For Place To Land At Ministers' Meet

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

PARIS, May 23.—A jittery dove of peace alighted gingerly in the ornate grand salon of Anna Gould's "pink palace" in Paris this afternoon and the four foreign ministers, eyeing one another speculatively, began trying to make it feel at home.

This sixth meeting of the Big Four ministers since the end of the war began shortly after 4 p.m. (11 a.m. EDT) with the future of commonly-defeated Germany and of the world itself at stake.

Andrei Vishinsky, almost dapper-looking in a blue business suit and a natty blue and gray tie, may or many not have shaken hands with serene-looking United States Secretary of State Dean Acheson after reporters and cameramen were expelled from the gilded marble room where the welfare of the earth's billions will be weighed in coming weeks.

Welcomes French Official

But he did not get around to that gesture of friendliness during the four or five minutes reporters were permitted to gape at the four leaders, each in a gilded ceremonial chair, and at their aides in common chatauqua-like squats.

The Russian did, however, get up from his place, shortly after making himself comfortable, and push through photographers and aides to walk to the other side of the 20-foot green-clothed round conference table to shake hands with Robert Schuman, France's bald, bland, grinning foreign minister.

In doing so, Vishinsky was forced to brush heavily against Acheson's chair, disturbing the calm of the American enough to cause him to look around a bit impatiently.

Bevin Non-Committal

The only member of the Russian party who shook hands openly with the Americans at the start was the famed interpreter for Stalin and Molotov, Nikolai Pavolav, a slight, straw-haired man who greeted advisors John Foster Dulles and Charles Bohlen.

Britain's Foreign Minister Bevin, looking like a man who had eaten much too heavy a lunch and was regretting it, stared impassively across the conference table.

Photographers and newsreel men filled with light the same salon where a royalty-struck American heiress held her fabulous soirees at the turn of the century and Nazi General Otto Stuelpnagel heiled Hitler during the German occupation.

After giving Vishinsky a look like that an offended male driver gives a woman driver who cuts in on him, Acheson whispered quietly with Bohlen, the State department's top expert on Russia.

Acheson never looked to the right, where the occasionally smiling Vishinsky sat, flanked by the grim-visaged, bemedalled four-star General Chuikov, ruler of eastern Germany, and such Russian diplomatic brass as Smironov, Soviet authority on Germany.

Acheson Arrives Early

Outside the 30-bedroom "pink palace" which sits just off swank Avenue Foch about 300 persons had gathered to watch the arrival of the fat black limousines with four men who have come to Paris with views which at this time do not melt easily.

The brilliantly uniformed Garde Republicaine, spring sunshine bouncing off their ornate gold helmets, greeted each mission head with a flash of long swords and rigid attention.

Acheson was the first person of importance to arrive. He showed up a half hour early and went to one of the former bedroom offices assigned to the United States delegation.

He was also the first of importance to enter the red-carpeted conference room.

Vishinsky was the last in the room, with two minutes to spare before the scheduled starting time. He had to weave his way through the American delegation en route to his place but did not speak.

He was heavily surrounded by aides and was the first to show impatience with the repetitious flashbulb shots of himself and his party.

It was just a restless gesture accompanied by a weary smile, but brisk orderlies immediately began singsonging:

"Messieurs de la presse. C'est fini. C'est fini." (Gentlemen of the press, it's over, It's over.)

There were no speeches of welcome for correspondents' ears.

A flunky closed the great French doors looking out onto lush gardens and the Avenue Foch, and the floodlights were extinguished, leaving friends and combatants alone.

The last photographer was halfpushed through the great mahogany doors of the Grand Salon and —from within— a foreign minister cleared his throat.

So on this bright day the dove of peace began lurking amid the ghosts of bygone splendor and the hopes of the peoples of the world.

Accidents Claim 19 Lives In State

(By The United Press)

Automobile collisions and drownings took a heavy toll of life in Texas Saturday and Sunday.

A boating mishap after 11 o'clock Saturday night in Lake Brownwood cost the lives of five picknickers.

Three persons died in the state's worst highway collision.

Victims of the Lake Brownwood mishap were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Logan, Mr. and Mrs William C. Geer, and Ben Russell. Their bodies were recovered early Sunday from 30 feet of water, by search parties using grappling hooks. It was believed that the boat capsized while the remaining four tried to rescue one who fell overboard.

Killed near Sunset in the Saturday night truck smashup were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn W. Sellman of Amarillo and Roy Matheson of White Deer.

Supreme Court Decision In Terminiello Case Stirs New Debate Over Right Of Free Speech

By PAUL M. YOST
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 23—As the result of a recent Supreme court case, you may hear a lot of debate these days on the real meaning of the cherished American expression:

"This is the United States. I can say anything I please!"

Everyone knows that the right of free speech is not unlimited.

In trying to point out where the limits lie, the Supreme court for many years has followed a test devised by Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Holmes Gives Rule

Speaking for a unanimous court in what is known as the Schenck case, Holmes declared:

"The most stringent protection of free speech would not protect a man in falsely shouting fire in a theater and causing a panic.

"The question in every case is whether the words used are used in such circumstances and are of such a nature as to create a clear and present danger that they will bring about the substantive evils that Congress has a right to prevent. It is a question of proximity and degree."

Lawyers call it the "clear and present danger test." It applies particularly in a case where a violation of law is induced by a speech. The test written by Holmes is used to determine the power of the authorities to decide whether the speech itself is an offense.

In the Schenck case, the Supreme court upheld convictions involving incitement to resist the draft in the first world war.

Priest Is Tried

The clear and present danger test had clear sailing until last Monday. Then the court threw out, 5 to 4, the conviction of the Rev. Arthur Terminiello for a fiery speech made three years ago in a Chicago auditorium.

Justice Douglas, speaking for the majority, said the disorderly conduct ordinance under which the Catholic priest was fined $100 contains parts that are unconstitutional, as they were construed by the trial judge in Chicago.

Douglas said the ordinance, as explained by the trial judge to the jury, "permitted conviction of Terminiello if his speech stirred people to anger, invited public distrust, or brought about a condition of unrest." Conviction on any of those grounds, Douglas said, may not stand.

Newspaper Opinion Divided

How does this square with the clear and present danger test?

A sampling of newspaper editorial opinion on the subject shows the same contrasting views as those expressed by the court's majority and minority opinions.

For instance, the St. Louis Globe Democrat said the decision "would justify agitators who incite to riot."

But the Miami Herald said it "is along the historic path we have moved as people."

The trial court heard evidence that stink bombs, bottles and brickbats were hurled around the Chicago auditorium. Twenty-eight windows were broken.

The street outside was jammed with people, described as "a surging, howling mob hurling epithets at those who would enter and trying to tear their clothes off." The mob was said to be out of police control.

Has the clear and present danger test actually been abandoned?

Douglas did not say that free speech is protected "unless shown likely to produce a clear and present danger of a serious substantive evil that rises far above public inconvenience, annoyance or unrest."

Defense Rests In Iowa Murder Trial Of St. Louis Doctor

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., May 23 (AP) — The defense rested its case today in the murder trial of Dr. Robert C. Rutledge, jr., and the state immediately sought to knock holes in it.

In rebuttal testimony, Detective Capt. Tom Condon told of questioning the 28-year-old St. Louis doctor and his wife last Dec. 17 following Rutledge's arrest on a charge of fatally stabbing Byron C. Hattman, 29.

The defense claims Hattman "forcibly seduced" Mrs. Rutledge last July 31. Hattman met death accidentally in a Cedar Rapids hotel room fight last Dec. 14 after the two men argued over the St. Louis engineer's alleged demands for money to "quit pursuing her," the defense contends.

House Group Votes To Allow Two Jap Children To Enter U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 23. (INS) A House judiciary subcommittee voted today to permit the two children of a dead Jap naval commander to join their mother and foster father in Seattle.

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) sponsored the bill approved by the group. It would waive immigration restrictions for Teiko and Yoshiko Horikawa, whose mother, widow of the dead Jap navy man, remarried war veteran David B. Carpenter and now lives with him in Seattle.

The children are at present living with their grandparents in Tokyo. The bill must be approved by the whole committee, the House and the Senate.

Embargo Planned On Grain Shipments

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP) — The Association of American Railroads is planning a partial embargo June 1 on shipments of grain in the winter wheat belt, designed to allow movement of grains only where unloading or storage space is available.

The regulation, an association official said, would be aimed at preventing congestion in grain terminals and sub terminals and undue delay in movement of cars.

Texas Solon Praises Forrestal For Willingness To 'Co-Operate'

WASHINGTON, May 23. (Special) — Cong. Geo. H. Mahon, chairman of the House appropriations sub-committee on the armed forces, told the House today that James Forrestal was ready to go to all limits to co-operate with Congress.

Mahon, at whose insistence all appropriations for separate arms of the military were considered jointly this year for the first time, had an intimate knowledge of Forrestal's problems under the unification plan.

"I believe the last request I made of him was an unreasonable one, yet he complied willingly," Mahon said. "I asked him to come before our committee at 10 a.m. the next day with the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force."

Mahon's committee recommendations increased considerably over the budget figure the amount available to the Air Forces for expansion and cut the Army and Navy budgets slightly. The committee did not cut budget recommendations by the President as to expeditures for the Navy's aviation program.

PEARL: COME HOME

It was all my fault, Pearl. I admit I was surly and grumpy. No wonder that even the kids were scared of me. But everything's better now. I've found out that constipation caused by lack of bulk in my diet can be licked! Believe me, I advise others who suffer the same way to do what I did: just eat a bowlful of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every day and drink plenty of water. They say it's America's most famous laxative cereal—believe me, it sure gets my vote. Or make it up into muffins—they taste grand too . . . Come home, dear, and find a brun new man waiting for you. That's me—your ever-lovin' husband, JOE.

FARMERS GET MOST OF FUNDS

Subsidies During Last 16 Years Have Averaged $940,310,000

WASHINGTON, May 23. (AP)—Direct government subsidies to farmers and business in the last 16 years averaged $940,310,000 a year. Under present laws, $526,098,000 more will be paid out in the 12 months beginning July 1.

A $15,571,060,000 cost tag was set on the whole 17 years by the Budget bureau today in revision of figures given the Senate-House Expenditures Reduction committee.

Many Services Paid For

"Direct" subsidies cover only a part of the government's outlay to business, farmers, individuals and state and local governments. They were defined as meaning:

"Direct financial assistance paid to business or farmers in order to bridge the gap between cost of production and the existing or desired market price, or to stimulate businesses and farmers to accomplish some desired public objective."

In that class fall such items as payments covering "part of the cost of soil conservation practices," wartime payments to food producers and distributors to help hold prices down, shipping subsidies," among them: Payments for metals producers.

On the other hand, the bureau said, the definition excludes some business and farm aid items which often are popularly called "subsidies," among the: Payments for transporting air mail, maintenance of air navigation facilities, certain soil conservation technical services, weather information and Commerce department trade promotion activities.

Also uncounted were federal grants to state and local governments, social security payments to assist needy individuals, loans and loan guarantees, and "payments to foreign governments and individuals."

The report said farmers got some two thirds of the 17-year total. Of the approximately $10,880,000,000 paid out by the Agriculture department, roughly half was listed as payments to farmers for soil conservation practices.

The net cost to the government of supporters to prices of farm commodities was listed at $380,000,000.

Subsidies paid by the Maritime commission to help cover the cost of building ships and operating losses sustained by shipping concerns were listed at nearly $400,000,000.

Laredo Police Hold Suspects In San Antonio Holdup, Kidnapping

LAREDO, May 23 (AP) — Two youths were picked up early today at a police roadblock and held as suspects in the early morning robbery and kidnapping of a San Antonio filling station operator.

About 12 miles outside San Antonio, Yarbrough said, they put him out of the car and fired two shots over his head before speeding away.

Four-Year-Old North Carolina Boy Kills Father At His Request

CONCORD, N. C., May 23 (INS) —Fetzer Lee Talbert, 37, shot and killed his estranged wife today, then commanded his four-year-old son to fire a fatal bullet into his own heart.

Mrs. Talbert had been shot six times with a rifle.

The double tragedy was discovered when little Doyle Talbert, playing with his brother and sisters in the yard of the family's home near Concord told a neighbor's son:

"Daddy shot Mama and then made me shoot him."

Sheriff Jack Moore said the neighbor youth found the bodies of Talbert and his wife, Carry Lonnie, 36, liying side by side on a bed.

Moore pieced the story together from conversation with the small children and two older boys, Roy Lee and J. C. Talbert. Moore said the father had called at their tenant farm home in an effort to end of the four-year-old estrangement with his wife.

To meet your needs in 1959... we have to start now!

Most of the oil you are using today was found more than ten years ago. It takes about that long to explore and develop potential resources to their full, efficient capacity.

First, you have to find the oil. Geologists and geophysicists spend months of scientific study before they pronounce an area a "prospect." It takes more months to drill exploratory wells; and if they find oil, it takes years to drill the other wells that define the field, establish the amount of oil in it, and bring it into full production.

Today, this year, continuously, we must develop the oil resources we may need — without notice — on some future tomorrow. In spite of minor fluctuations in demand, the need for oil has increased steadily over the years; and every now and again, there is a sudden, heavy, unexpected need for additional supplies, like the demand for fuel oil on the Eastern seaboard during the cold winter of 1947-48. Furthermore, we must face the fact that in this atomic era, in this day of the jet airplane and the long-range submarine, the U. S. oil industry must prepare now to meet the needs of any future national emergency.

That's why the American oil industry is undertaking the heavy costs of exploring the Tidelands of the continental shelf in order to bring the oil fields that geologists think are there into full production now. Rest assured that the oil will not be wasted; on the contrary, it will be ready for instant use when you and the nation need it.

This is Humble production in the Friendswood, Texas, field. Exploratory work was begun here in 1928; and the discovery well was drilled in 1937. By 1941, Humble had 211 producing wells in the field; these wells supplied 66,110,000 barrels of oil toward the winning of World War II.

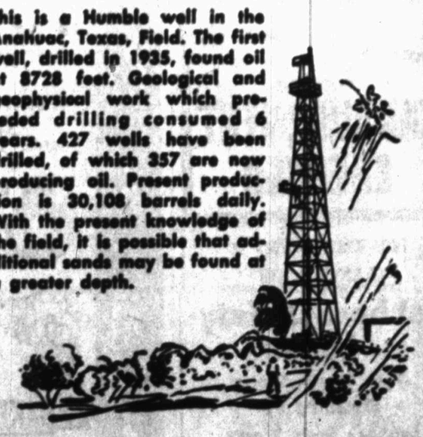

HUMBLE

HUMBLE OIL & REFINING CO.

This alkylate plant was placed in operation by Humble at Baytown refinery in 1938. Alkylate is an essential element in the manufacture of aviation gasoline, and by December 14, 1944, Baytown had provided a billion gallons of 100-octane gasoline for Allied airplanes.

This is a Humble well in the Anahuac, Texas, Field. The first well, drilled in 1935, found oil at 8728 feet. Geological and geophysical work which preceded drilling consumed 6 years. 427 wells have been drilled, of which 357 are now producing oil. Present production is 30,108 barrels daily. With the present knowledge of the field, it is possible that additional sands may be found at a greater depth.

Hubbers Drop Gassers, 10-9

Mills And Willis Share Limelight

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

Hollywood would throw out the script of last night's game at Rosenthal Field and call it impossible, but over 1,000 fans saw the Hubbers come from behind in two consecutive innings to win their fourth straight game and sweep a three-game series from Borger with a 10 to 9 victory that took ten innings to achieve.

Jim Cain was rolling along in fine style going into the ninth. He had allowed only three hits, one in the second, third and sixth innings and the Hubbers had gotten only one run across the plate. Their hitting had been mighty anemic.

Then two pitchers took a hand in things to change the complexion of the game entirely. Royce, Mills, who received credit for the victory, slammed a ninth inning home run to send the contest into extra innings. And Charles Willis dumped a perfect sacrifice to score Manager Jackie Sullivan from third in the overtime canto.

Borger had picked up two runs off Bill Grafton in the first, sent another cross the plate in the second and chipped in two more in the seventh for what appeared to be a safe 5-2 margin, before Mills came in to take over.

Then the dikes burst. Mike Dooley opened the ninth as a whiff victim, but Al Duarte was safe on Jimmy Littlejohn's error. Sullivan walked and broke up a double play with an upsetting slide into second when Willis forced him. Mills took three balls and a strike before parking a Cain curve into the netting in leftfield.

But trouble wasn't over. Travis Cato walked and was forced by Cain. Mills hit Earl Butler and Larry Gilchrist, subbing for his brother Verdon, walked to load the sacks. Manager Eddie Carnett pumped a single into leftfield to score two runs and after Bob Ferguson had walked and Littlejohn had fanned, Clayton Fries drilled a single into rightfield for two more runs.

A good many fans already had left and more headed for the exits when Nelson Davis lined to Billy Wynns to start the bottom half of the tenth. But that was the last out of the frame. Bo Dempsey singled through the box and Jim Prince followed with a blow to center sending Dempsey to third. Dooley walked to load the sacks and Vallie Eaves came in to relieve Cain.

Cato dropped Al Duarte's high pop foul and, with this unexpected life, Duarte obligingly doubled into left centerfield to clear the bases. Sullivan, hitless all night, followed with a single to center that sent Duarte in with the tying run; and when Butler made a wild throw to the plate, Sullivan raced all the way to third.

Willis, a .255 hitter up to this point, took aim and dumped a perfect bunt down the third base line and Sullivan came tearing in with the winning run. It broke up the most thrilling game of the year and sent the Hubbers into a three-game series against Albuquerque with a record of five victories in their last six games.

Tribe Pounds Out 10 Hits To Thrash Philadelphia, 7 To 3

White Sox Defeat Washington, 3-1

PHILADELPHIA, May 23. (AP)—Cleveland's owner Bill Veeck flew into town tonight to see his world champions finally break into the win column as they pounded out 10 hits and thrashed the Philadelphia Athletics 7-3. It was the Indians' first victory since last Thursday and only their second in 20 games since starting their eastern swing.

Early Wynn, obtained from Washington in a trade, went the route to record his first pitching triumph with the Indians. He set Philadelphia down with six hits, one of which was Hank Majeski's third home run of the season.

A five run fourth inning rally against relief pitcher Charley Harris put the game on ice for Cleveland. Harris took over for starter Bill McCahan when an elbow injury forced the latter out of action with one out in the third inning.

At that Harris deserved a better fate as faulty play aided in Cleveland's big rally. Elmer Valo dropped a fly ball and later Eddie Joost erred.

Philadelphia threatened in the last inning when catcher Mike Guerra doubled home two runs but he was cut down trying for a triple to end the game.

BOSTON'S RED SOX DOWN DETROIT 4-0 BEHIND KINDER

BOSTON, May 23. (INS) — Ellis Kinder, veteran righthander of the Boston Red Sox, held the Detroit Tigers to five hits today and white-washed them, 4-0. It was his fourth win in fire tries this season.

It was the third straight victory for the Red Sox, raised their percentage above the .500 mark and put them in the first division.

Vern Stephens, the leading home run hitter of the majors, gave Kinder enough runs to win in the third inning with a two-run homer, his 11th circuit clout of the season. Ted Gray was the victim.

Pygmy Pirates Defeat Yankees

In the Pygmy league ball game at Boys club Monday the Pirates defeated the Yankees, 10-6.

Richard Carrigan belted a triple and two singles in three times up for a perfect day at the plate.

A double play by the Yankees highlighted the action when Dickie Burman caught Guinn Sanders' line drive and threw to Mike McElrath, doubling Carrigan off second base.

Cameron Cunningham hit two home runs in three times up, driving in four runs; Gary Daniels had a home run and single; and Coy Gilliam hit a triple and a single.

For the Yankees Royce Williams knocked a homer in his only appearance.

In a Pee Wee game the Pirates downed the Yankees, 11-9. Ray Stephenson knocked a home run and single in three times up, hitting into a double play his third time at bat. A fly to Truman Galyon at first base caught Morys Hines off first for the double killing.

Leading the Yankees was Mike Wofford with a four-ply wallop with three men on base. Galyon had two singles in two trips.

Today the White Sox play the Dodgers in both leagues.

Braves Gain 11-4 Victory Over Cubs

CHICAGO, May 23 (AP) — The Boston Braves took undisputed possession of first place in the National league race by defeating the Chicago Cubs, 11 to 4, here today.

This broke a first-place tie with the New York Giants who were idle along with the rest of the circuit.

The Braves had the game in hand as early as the second inning. They pounded Walt Dubiel for four runs in the first, with the big wallop coming from Marv Rickert's three-run homer, and then added another tally in the second.

Vern Bickford went the distance for the Braves and scattered ten hits for his sixth win of the season. Among the hits were No. 3 homers by Hank Edwards and Frankie Gustine.

Lubbock Plays Friday

First Game Set At Wichita Falls

The last lap before the State Baseball tournament is ahead of the Westerner baseball nine, and only one obstacle remains to be cleared—Wichita Falls.

In the first game of the bi-district playoff between Lubbock and the Coyotes, the local crew will travel to Wichita Falls Friday morning for a game there at 2 p.m. in Spudder park, home of the Wichita Falls Spudders of the Big State league.

The final games of the series will be unreeled at Rosenthal field in Lubbock. Game time will be 2:30 p.m. Saturday. Price of admission to the contests will be 30 cents for students and 60 cents for adults. If one team should win the first two contests then the third game will be unnecessary. Proceeds of the games at Rosenthal field will go toward sending the Westerners to the tournament in Austin should they win.

Both teams have a good record over the full season, Wichita taking the District 2-AA crown while Lubbock was winning the District 1-AA playoff from Amarillo.

In 21 contests the Coyotes have won 19 and dropped two. The Westerners won 17 while losing three. The bi-district tilts should be tough going for the local nine.

Monday afternoon practice for the fielders and infielders was given, and two rounds of batting practice were held. The seniors will miss practice today, but the rest of the boys will have a hard workout. Should the weather remain warm the team should be in good shape for the trip to Wichita Friday.

Blue Sox Turn Back Albuquerque, 7 To 4

ABILENE, May 23. (AP)—They were a little late getting started, bu the Abilene Blue Sox came through in the clutches and turned back the league leading Albuquerque Dukes, 7-4 here tonight to win the series, three games to one.

The victory kept Abilene well up in second place, narrowed the margin of Albuquerque's leadership to a game and a half.

George Sturdivant hit one of the longest homers on record in this park, with none on, to tie the score at four-all in the fifth inning. Singles by Carlos Perez and catcher Mike Feduniak, former Pampa catcher who joined the Blue Sox tonight, with an error and a couple of walks provided the three runs in the fourth after the Dukes had moved to a lead.

For the second day in a row, the Dukes found Rene Vega vulnerable and worked on the Abilene ace righthander for walks and hits enough to score twice in the second, once in the third and again in the fourth to get that far ahead before Abilene tallied.

CLOVIS PIONEERS DROP PAMPA NINE, 10 TO 2

PAMPA, May 23 (AP)—The Clovis Pioneers blackjacked the Pampa Oilers with six runs in the first inning here tonight and went on to grab the game 10-2. This gave them two victories in the three-game series for the possession of the WT-NM basement.

John Waselchuck, a newcomer to the Pioneer mound staff, held the Oilers in check all the way, pitching a four-hitter until the final inning, when the Oilers got their final two hits.

Big stick for the Pioneers was Wilcy Moore who connected for a single and a double, driving home two runs and playing a good game afield.

Lions Take To Fairways Today

Lions will forego the political fights and serious aspects of their District 2-T-1 convention here this afternoon for the pleasures of the fairways at the Lubbock Country club in the first district golf tournament.

Chick Trout, Lubbock golfer and chairman of the tournament, has lined up seven attractive trophies for various winners; and no golfer may win more than one of them.

Golfers among the Lions will tee off from the first hole at the Country club at 1:30 p.m. and will play 18 holes. Prizes will be given in the following categories:

1, Championship low medal score; 2, Low net score; 3, Blind bogey, 4, Most pars; 5, Most 5s; 6

Seagraves Is Still Leading

Seagraves continued its ride atop the standings in the Oil Belt Baseball league after games the past Sunday, and Brownfield lost its seventh consecutive start to remain firmly entrenched in the cellar position.

Brownfield came near to winning its contest with Post before bowing, 12-11. After a slow start that saw Post go ahead 7-4 after five innings of play, Post scored a run in the sixth which was surpassed by a six-run rally by Brownfield in their half of the inning. The losers put together one more run in the seventh to take a 11-8 lead, but Post salvaged the victory with a four-run last inning to hand Brownfield's K. Russell the loss. Boren was the winning pitcher.

Anderson, Brownfield centerfielder, had five hits in six times at bat; Bish, third base, collected four for six; and Russell hit safely twice in three times up. Leading Post were Thomas, three for four; Boren, two for four; and Walt Holland with three for five. G. Hester had two hits in five times at bat.

Seagraves scored two runs in the second and four in the sixth to down Tahoka, 8-4, with Faulkner pitching the winning game. Faulkner led the hitting with two safeties, including a double, for the winners, and Hicks knocked one out of the park and was credited for two runs batted in. Pierce had a triple and B. Rogers hit a double for the losers. Deatherage also was credited with a double for Seagraves. Holcombe was the losing pitcher.

Levelland posted a 12-1 victory over Sundown as the winners collected 17 hits to only six for the losers. Leading the hit parade were Trammell and Cooper with three hits in five trips and Terry and Stone with three for six. McChristal and Toten paced Sundown with two hits apiece in four times at bat. Credited with the win was Thedford, and Wright was tagged with the loss.

In the final game of the day, Denver City downed Slaton, 9-8, in a very close tilt with Epperson gaining the victory. Collard was the loser.

SWC Trackmen Meet Big Seven Next Week

DALLAS, May 23 (AP)—Southwest Conference trackmen will go to Kansas City next week to meet the Big Seven in their annual interconference meet with an excellent chance of keeping the Southwest's record clear.

Twice this meet has been held with the southwest winning the first time and the teams battling to a tie last year.

The Southwest Conference generally had better times and distances in its annual meet than did the Big Seven. However, the latter was run off last weekend on a wet track. All the field events except the javelin had to be held indoors. Thus the times and distances were not indicative of what the Big Seven can really do.

The southwest also will not have the services of Charley Parker, ace Texas sprinter who has given up track this year because of a leg injury. Without him, the southwest still will boast an apparent edge in the sprints with Perry Samuels of Texas, Stonie Cotten of Baylor and Bill Napier of Texas A. and M.

John Robertson, Texas broad jumper, also won't compete. He reinjured his leg in the Southwest Conference meet.

WHO SAID NO PITCHING?—This is the mound corps that pitched the New York Giants into first place in the National League, after everybody said that the club had no pitching. Manager Leo Durocher worked Sheldon Jones, Clint Hartung, Larry Jansen and Montia Kennedy, shown above left to right, in rotation and they came through. Dave Koslo, shown kneeling, has been doing the relief work. The Giants recently equaled the longest winning streak that they compiled at any time last year.

Myers Captures Honors In Shoot

MIDLAND, May 23. (Special)—Carl Myers of El Paso won the Class AA division of the West Texas Skeet Association's first shoot of the year here Sunday, but Lubbock shooters placed well up in several events.

Myers busted 149 birds out of a possible 150 to walk off with top honors in Class AA.

Tatum, Fields Tie

Clyde Tatum of Lubbock and Bill Fields of El Paso tied for first place in Class A with 145 out of 150 each, but Tatum won a beautiful trophy in a shoot-off between the two.

In the shoot to break the tie, Tatum busted 25 straight birds, while Fields missed one. Tom French of Lubbock was third high with 144 birds out of 150

Class E honors didn't come to Lubbock, but Julius Fairley was runner-up in this division.

French and Tatum teamed up in the two-man team matches and broke 289 birds out of a possible 300.

Next Shoot In June

In the five-man Class AA, A, B, C, D and E team matches, the Lubbock team of Tatum, French, Tye Williamson, Fairley and Hal Langford tied for second in the Maxwell Cup shoot, falling behind Midland by two birds.

Other shooters from Lubbock making the shoot here were Tom Arrn, jr., and E. T. Daniels.

The next official shoot will be held sometime in June at Roswell, N. M. The date will be announced later.

Eagles Sell Southpaw Quentin Altizer To Los Angeles Nine

DALLAS, May 23. (AP) — The Dallas Eagles today sold southpaw pitcher Quentin Altizer to Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast league and purchased Garth (Red) Mann, a right-hander, from the Shreveport Sports.

Altizer, a product of the Dallas sandlots, won 14 and lost 10 for the second-division Eagles last season, but hasn't been able to hit his stride this season.

Mann, also a Dallas resident, won 10 and lost 6 for Shreveport last year and had a 3.02 earned run average, but has lost two games without a victory while appearing in seven games this season.

Frank Stranahan Draws A Bye

Turnesa Leads Countrymen In British Amateur Meet

PORTMARNOCK, May 23. (AP) Wee Willie Turnesa, the American champion led five of his countrymen safely through the opening round of the British Amateur golf championship today over the windswept Portmarnock links by the Irish Sea.

The little ace of the short irons, who won the British crown two summers ago, lifted his game after being one down as far along as the 10th hole to eliminate Alan Turner, a young and stubborn Yorkshireman, 3 and 2.

Taking 38 strokes on the rugged outward nine—two over par—Turnesa turned all even and then went one down on the 10th, a 378-yarder, where he took a five. But he rammed down a 15-footer for a birdie three to win the 11th, and from there on remained in full command as his opponent slammed wildly into the rough and bunkers.

Stranahan Watches

Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, the defending champion, drew a bye in the opening round and entertained himself by watching Turnesa do his stuff.

The big American contingent in the championship failed, despite Turnesa's winning effort, quite to break even on today's play. While five others, including the great veterans Francis Ouimet of Boston and Chick Evans of Chicago, got safely past their first tests, seven were beaten by Irish and British opponents.

Ellis Knowles of New York City, several times National American seniors champion, beat S. Kennedy of England 4 and 3.

Leonard Martin of New York City defeated P. Urlwin-Smith of Yorkshire, 2 and 1. Frank E. Craven of Boston completed the list of American victors by downing S. A. Schofield of England, 3 and 2.

Leonard Martin Wins

Maj. Lewis J. Wright of the American Army in Germany lost to B. F. Smyth of Ireland, 6 and 5; Max Felix of Los Angeles was beaten by Michael Power of Ireland, 4 and 3; James B. Wildlife Districts May Be Subdivided

AUSTIN, May 23. (AP)—A plan to subdivide the Texas Wildlife Federation into seven districts has been drawn up for final consideration at an October meeting.

Representatives of the federation ended a two-day meeting here yesterday.

The statewide group, which now works through affiliated clubs, would be streamlined into seven districts with each to have definite lines of authority.

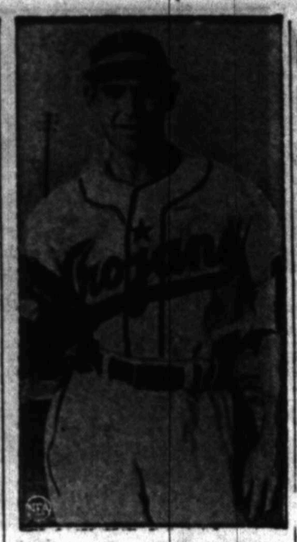

In order to place a vice president in charge of each district the proposal calls for two new vice presidents. There would be quarterly meetings instead of semi-annual sessions.

The seven districts, with headquarters in the home town of the regional heads, would be:

Central Texas, Conrad Fath, Austin. South Texas, Col. J. K. Boles, San Antonio. Coastal, Louis Bonner, Houston. East Texas, M. C. Joy, Bryan. Northeast Texas, John Cadawallader, Fort Worth. West Texas, Si Perkins, Brownwood. Panhandle, Dave Brittain, Amarillo.

Fath and Boles would be elevated to vice president posts if the plan is approved.

A special meeting was tentatively scheduled at Amarillo, July 30-31. The next regular meeting is in October.

Big Four Open Paris Meeting

cil of foreign ministers, which carries the hope of an East-West cold war settlement.

Jap Question Raised

Vishinsky declared:

"I am sure we will settle all points on the agenda."

Bevin retorted:

"That will depend largely on you."

To which Vishinsky smiling replied:

"I do not see why. On your side this is a three-power meeting and agreements depends three times as much on three as on one."

Vishinsky raised the Japanese question after agreeing to go along with the West's agenda plan, which calls for discussion of the following points in this order:

Problems Listed

1. German unity, political and economic, plus restoration of four-power control which was suspended more than a year ago.

2. The Berlin problem, including the troublesome currency issue.

3. Preparation of a German peace treaty.

4. Consideration of an Austrian treaty.

Vishinsky, all smiles, at the opening of the session, quickly gave in on little points to the western ministers during their initial two-hour-and-24 minute meeting.

He did not insist that the Japanese question should be placed on the agenda, agreed to the West's idea of what should be discussed, and then gave in on the question of when the four-power control problem should be discussed.

Vishinsky originally wanted four-power control of Germany discussed as a separate item but finally agreed to include it as part of the first agenda item.

Although there were minor differences, the cordiality of this first session, held in the ornate grand salon of the American-born Duchess of Talleyrand's pink marble palace, was apparent to all.

The Japanese question raised by Vishinsky, who asserted a peace treaty was called for soon under terms of the Potsdam agreement, was dropped quickly without much argument from the Russian official.

The western ministers made it clear at once they did not consider the present conference a suitable place to take up the Japanese question. China is expected to join in any eventual talks on the problem.

Vishinsky finally agreed to the West's agenda, with the question of four power control of Germany as part of the first item.

Russia's big problem is her announced determination of blocking establishment of the proposed separate West German state.

The West intends to stand firm in applying the basic freedoms of the Bonn constitution to the Soviet zone of Germany under any plan for unification.

Today's developments indicated the West intends to enter into no agreement on four-power control unless a satisfactory accord is reached on economic and political unity.

On the Austrian question, the ministers agreed to instruct their treaty deputies, who recently adjourned their conference in London, to submit by June 1 a list of articles on which agreement has been reached and another on which no agreement has been achieved.

The ministers also agreed to keep their sessions secret, with individual delegation briefings of newsmen after each session.

The chairmanship, held today by French Foreign Minister Schuman as host, will rotate daily. Bevin will be chairman at tomorrow's session.

FBI Agent Describes Actions Of Judith Coplon, Soviet Employe

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP) — An FBI agent testified today that Judith Coplon and her alleged Russian sweetheart, Valentine A. Gubitchev, sat apart on an uncrowded New York bus shortly before they were arrested.

Special Agent Daniel F. Garde, testifying at Miss Coplon's espionage trial said he was shadowing the pair last March 4.

Miss Coplon, 28-year-old former justice department analyst, is accused of stealing government secrets with intent to aid a foreign power.

Film Companies Sued By Suspended Group

LOS ANGELES, May 23 (AP)—Ten film companies were sued for a total of $52,000,000 today by ten Hollywood film personalities cited for contempt of Congress in 1947 when they refused to tell a House committee if they were members of the Communist party.

The ten men, who had been suspended by various studios following their contempt citations, asked the following damages:

Albert Maltz, writer, $3,750,000; Lester Cole, director, $6,435,600; Edward Dmytryk, director, $8,350,275; Adrian Scott, producer, $6,942,600; Ring Lardner jr., writer, $7,147,500; Dalton Trumbo, writer, $7,233,000; Alvah Bessie, writer, $3,000,000; Samuel Ornitz, writer, $3,000,000; Herbert Biberman, director, $3,000,000, and John Howard Lawson, writer, $3,000,000.

The suit, according to Attorney Robert W. Kenny, stemmed from last month's announcement by 20th Century-Fox studios that it would not produce the novel, "Journey of Simon McKeever," for which it paid Bessie $35,000.

The incident, according to the attorney, was taken as proof that the defendant film companies had agreed not to employ or to produce any writings of the ten film personalities who were suspended.

Kenny added that the suit, based on anti-trust laws, alleges a conspiracy to prevent the men from working at their professions.

Atom Probe Ordered

sional hot water ever since disclosures over the last two weeks:

1. That an admitted Communist, Hans Freistadt, 23-year-old University of North Carolina student-instructor, was awarded a $1,600-a-year atomic fellowship to study nuclear physics, and that similar grants went to several others whose loyalty has been questioned.

At Chapel Hill, N. C., Freistadt said today he is willing to take a loyalty oath to the United States government, but he added:

"I would not renounce my allegiance to the Communist party even if my fellowship is withdrawn."

2. That a tiny cylinder of Uranium 235 was missing from the Argonne atomic laboratories in Chicago and the loss was not reported to the FBI for seven weeks. The atomic commission announced recently that most of the uranium had been recovered from waste material from the lab.

The committee today heard secret testimony by Dr. Walter H. Zinn, head of the Argonne laboratories from which the U-235 vanished, and then threw open the doors to hear from Dr. Isidore S. Edelman, a Harvard medical student.

Edelman, who holds a $3,750-a-year atomic fellowship, told the committee he may have applied for membership in the Communist party but never became an active member.

Edelman testified that he attended two Communist meetings in Indianapolis with his wife in 1943, but he said:

"It was not my understanding then that I was a member of the Communist party. It took me only a few weeks to decide that I couldn't become an adherent."

The young Boston scientist went on to say that in 1943 there was "a lot of sympathy for Russia and I never thought that what I did would be taken as doing anything wrong."

While Hickenlooper insisted that Truman should oust Lilienthal as a result of the rumpus over U-235 and Red students, Vanderberg told newsmen he was reserving "final judgment" pending the outcome of the Senate investigation.

The Senate confirmed Lilienthal by a 50-to-31 vote on April 9, 1947, after a bitter 11-week debate in which Senator Byrd (D-Va) asserted that Lilienthal had "a tolerance toward Communism which is just as dangerous as if he were an avowed apostle of Communism."

Other senators staunchly defended Lilienthal at that time, and Vandenberg told the Senate he found no basis for charges that Lilienthal had "either sympathy for Communism or too easy toleration for it." Hickenlooper also supported him.

District Lions End Meet Today

and Rutherford with silver belt sets.

Chas. Dean, Plainview attorney and past district governor, was toastmaster at last night's banquet, a buffet affair which taxed the capacity of all three banquet rooms of the hotel.

Musical Program Given

Dr. J. Wm. Davis was chairman of a varied program featuring music by Lee Searcy and his Plains Riders Joe Meador, Texas Tech student, in a comedy skit, Bob Parkinson and the Plainsmen Quartet in vocal numbers.

Prior to the dance, music for which was furnished by C. A. Rodgers and orchestra, square dance numbers were presented by Harold Wilson and the Amarillo Darlings, a group of children square dancers

Dr. Briggs and Rutherford spoke briefly in response to the gifts.

International organizations, such as the Lions, are striving for a common objective —to bring about better conditions and better understanding in the world, Dr. Briggs said in his convention talk Monday afternoon in the First Baptist church auditorium.

Speaking on the letters of "LIONS — Liberty, Intelligence, Our Nation's Security," Dr. Briggs declared the intelligent use of liberty will guarantee our liberty.

"Anything that's of public interest that doesn't smack of sectarianism is supposed to be a part and parcel of our business." Dr. Briggs said, pointing out that forum discussions in civic groups make for a more intelligent people.

'Obligations' Stressed

"I challenge the idea that has become prevalent today that every man has a right to his own opinion," Dr. Briggs said. "And I know I'm treading on mighty thin ice, when I make that statement. But I say that we do not have the right of opinion until we pay the price of knowing what we're talking about.

"When we know what we're talking about, then we're obligated to make ourselves heard," he added.

"But we seem to be too complacent in this democracy of ours," the Oklahoma educator said, "and take our issues too lightly, when we let less than half the people decide for us in voting.

Founder Sends Greeting

"We've got to get something started in this vibrant nation of ours so that the idea will catch on for the rest of the world, so that our chain of good will becomes so effective that peace will come around the world."

Dr. Briggs brought greetings from the founder of Lions clubs, Melvin Jones of Chicago and declared he was "speaking for 385,000 Lions in 7,200 clubs in 26 nations on five continents.

Prior to his talk, Bob Wear of Hereford gave an impressive talk in conducting a necrology ceremony for Lions club members who had died in the past year.

Lloyd Thompson, jr., sang two songs and members of the Childress High school stage band, under the direction of Charles Coffman, presented several musical numbers.

Session Held At Theater

Monday morning's session was conducted at the Clifton theater. President Wayne Henly of the host club called the convention to order and presided during the address of welcome by Dr. Doyle D. Jackson of Lubbock and response by Dr. Wm. A. Roberson of Brownfield.

District Governor Rutherford was then presented the convention gavel and presided over the remainder of the convention.

Introduction of distinguished guests, cabinet members, report of the district governor, appointment of committees, report of Cabinet Secretary Arthur L. Baer of Dumas and State Secretary Marlowe C. Fisher of Austin occupied attention of the convention Monday morning.

Model Luncheon Held

Model luncheons were conducted by the Plainview club at Hotel Lubbock and the Borger club at the Hilton at noon Monday.

Two speakers, Harper Scoggins of Borger and Dr. J. W. Marshall, president of Wayland college, Plainview, were heard in the model luncheon programs. The Squeaky Door Four, a Pampa quartet furnished entertainment at the Borger luncheon and members of the Wayland International choir, directed by Shelby Collier, entertained at the Plainview luncheon. Earl Stokes, president of the Borger club, and Dr. C. D. Wofford, president of the Plainview club, presided at their respective luncheons.

Visiting ladies were guests Monday morning at a coffee at the Hilton hotel and will be entertained at a style show and ladies luncheon at Lubbock Country club at noon today.

A golf tournament, directed by C. M. (Chick) Trout, will be staged at the country club this afternoon for Lions.

Berlin Riots Flare

them fired from overpasses on crowds who followed in the streets.

Stations Guarded

West Berlin police moved in and took over control of the Zoo and other stations evacuated by the Communists in the British zone.

But the Communists returned to Westkreuz and seized that station, refusing to give it up despite a British military police request.

Other Communist police troops meanwhile occupied signal posts and switchyards at Wannsee, and patrolled the station platforms with "shoot to kill orders" in anticipation of renewed attacks by strikers.

The strikers are demanding payment of wages by the Soviet zone rail directorate in West marks instead of the less valuable East marks.

Engineers Walk Off

Their walkout halted service on the elevated rail line and last night all Soviet bound freight traffic from Berlin was cut off when engineers walked off the job. They had been impressed by the Russians to drive reparation trains to Russia.

Just before strikers swarmed down on the Zoo station, which has been the scene of bitter fighting previously, Soviet sector police warned persons found guilty of attacking and injuring Communist strike-breakers and their police protectors would be subject to death penalties.

Stiff prison sentences ranging up to five years were announced for sabotage or rail property in an apparent move to crush the three-day old strike.

The attack on the Zoo station followed a day of mounting tension in the district.

To Continue Strike

Strikers ripped up tracks and cut power lines to prevent attempts of Communist strike-breakers, with police protection, to restore partial elevated service.

The strikers, whose spokesman announced determination to continue the walkout until the Soviet zone rail directorate meets their demands, acted in the face of a Soviet sector police warning that violence would bring death penalties to strikers and sympathizers who fell into their hands.

General Motors Corporation Announces New Cut In Prices

DETROIT, May 23. (AP)—General Motors Corp. cut its car and truck prices again today.

Effective immediately, the biggest of the motorcar makers announced, prices will be reduced from $10 to $40. Almost three months ago GM made a similar reduction.

As in the February cut, today's reduction coincided with announcement of a downward adjustment in the cost-of-living allowance to be paid General Motors' 341,000 workers.

Forrestal Rites

officer took his own life early Sunday morning.

Poem Left Behind

He plunged to his death from the 16th floor of the naval medical center at Bethesda, Md., where he had been a patient since a few days after turning over his cabinet post to Louis A. Johnson in late March.

He left behind only an ancient Greek poem of dispair and death, portions of it copied out of a book by his own hand.

Through all tributes today ran the theme that Forrestal was a war casualty.

The native New Yorker will be buried near the grave of Frank Knox, wartime secretary of the Navy whom Forrestal succeeded prior to unification of the armed services.

Inquiry Scheduled

Mrs. Forrestal, who was in Paris at the time of her husband's death, returned to Washington by plane today and expressed a wish that the funeral be simple.

A naval board of inquiry, meanwhile, was named to look into the circumstances of Forrestal's death. What it might examine was not certain in advance.

From the hospital came a denial of a report by radio commentator Drew Pearson that Forrestal had made a previous suicide attempt at the hospital about two weeks ago.

Several days after Forrestal entered the hospital, Pearson had broadcast a report dealing with Forrestal's mental condition. Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) accused the commentator of making "a vicious attack" on the former secretary.

Target Of Criticism

Rankin referred in the House today to his previous speech, but did not again name Pearson. In response to inquiries, Pearson said he had no comment.

Forrestal during his later years in office was the target of criticism from a number of other sources. These critics accused him of representing a "Wall street" viewpoint, of exerting undue influence on foreign policy, etc.

Rep. Boggs (D-La) told a hushed House today that Forrestal was "subjected to a campaign of abuse and vilification the like of which I have never heard."

"This should give pause—real pause—to the irresponsible elements of the press and radio," Boggs said.

Chairman Tydings (D-Md) of the Senate Armed Services committee said Forrestal was the target of "unwarranted carping and quite often uninformed criticism." He added: "Part poet and part warrior, he was one of the most misunderstood men in public life."

Rep. Vinson (D-Ga), Tydings' counterpart in the House, said the former cabinet officer possessed "as competent a mind, as objective an outlook, as abiding a concern for the public interest as the nation can ever hope to have."

Vinson said "the vastness and endlessness" of Forrestal's work as defense secretary took their toll, adding "he drove himself, in our service, beyond human endurance and now it has cost his life."

Senator Lodge (R-Mass) said there was tragic irony in the fact that a bill the Senate began debating today would carry out some of the changes in the unification act which Forrestal fought for.

Liquor Seized

abandoned in front of his place here.

R. O. Christesson, a police patrolman, investigated and could see whisky bottles under some paper in the car.

He reported his finding. Another member of the police traffic department, instead of calling the Liquor Control board to set up watch, asked for a wrecker.

The car was towed to the police station, where it was opened and the liquor removed to a vault inside the station. The car was left parked outside.

It was assumed that the owner would call for it.

The police were right. The owner did call—but not when any policemen were around to watch.

The car was gone Monday morning.

Whisky Remains

Police explained that they usually remove part of the distributor when holding a suspect automobile in such cases, but slipped up Sunday.

They don't know who was driving the automobile when it was parked in Lubbock, but had traced down the name of the record owner of the machine, who lives in another town.

covered the Matador-Turkey highway in places. Monday's fall was in the same general vicinity, although perhaps slightly farther north.

Farms Hard Hit

It was reported from Matador last night that farms belonging to Joe Bloodworth, Ben Keltz, and others in the Whiteflat area were "just like lakes" after the rain fell. The highway was flooded in places.

Rain also fell in the Flomot area in northwest Motley county. However, little or no hail was reported in the three communities.

Spur received an estimated one-fourth to one-half inch of rain Monday, it was reported from there last night. Light hail fell in places, but no damage was reported.

The Santa Fe dispatchers' office in Slaton said last night that no reports of rain had been received from any station along its lines in this area. Slaton itself had no rain.

No rainfall was reported at Ralls, Lorenzo, or Crosbyton. Some electrical display was seen Monday evening in the Post area, but no rain had fallen.

Lamesa and O'Donnell had no rain Monday, and none was reported in the Lockney and Floydada areas.

New Storms Hit

Meanwhile, scattered thundershowers were reported over a wide section of the state, according to the Associated Press, but the state was breathing easier.

The threat of a major flood was lifted in the Trinidad, Tex., area where swollen Trinity river waters climbed toward a predicted 42-foot crest.

Both Army engineers and the Weather bureau said there was little chance the 42-foot crest would break through Henderson levee district and Anderson counties, the Associated Press said.

Severe lightning marked wind and rain storms which hit scattered areas Sunday night and Monday.

At Electra, three houses were set afire in widely separated locations within 30 minutes by a storm early Monday. All the blazes were extinguished. Large hailstones accompanied the rain.

A severe electrical storm also swept the Marshall area early Monday, bringing an inch of rain. Gale-velocity winds struck Texarkana at 2 a.m. and power lines in several outlying sections were blown down.

Fort Worth and Dallas also had two storms, one about 10 p.m. and the other about 3 a.m. Fort Worth reported trees uprooted over the city and some plate glass windows broken.

Winds of tornadic force also flattened some homes in Abilene Sunday night but no extensive damage was reported.

Texan Leads In Economy Move

By SARAH McCLENDON
Avalanche-Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 23. — A Texas congressman who formerly sold goods over the counter in Nacogdoches today made a victorious move to cut funds for the Marshall plan and occupied areas by 15 percent.

He is Rep. Albert Thomas, Houston, who already this year had cut $750 million from independent Offices appropriations and boasted that he could have cut $75,000,000 more away "and nobody would have missed it." Thomas is chairman of the Independent Offices sub-committee of appropriations.

Appropriation Cuts Urged

The slash in funds for the Economic Cooperation administration, if passed eventually by House and Senate, will mean a saving of almost $800 million for the U. S.

Thomas, who still flavors his talk with the East Texas vernacular, bid today for the championship in money raising by congressmen, He has already suggested publicly that President Truman could easily avoid another tax raise and deficit financing if he would but pass the word along to the Senate to cut big pending appropriations bills.

'Declining Economy' Cited

"Here's the thing—we are facing a declining economy. When there's no meal in the barrel, how are you going to get anymore to hand out?"

He said the cut did not mean that any member of the committee was opposed to the Marshall Plan—they just want cuts made and feel that declining costs of goods will offset these cuts.

In this he was joined by at least six Democrats who voted with Republicans.

The cut amounts to an 18 percent reduction in original estimates.

bers who completely heard ECA's case.

He warned that the adverse effect of the committee's $630,000,000 Marshall plan cut would multiply itself in terms of the national income of the participating ECA countries.

The cut in funds, he asserted, will mean reductions in the purchases of commodities which the recovery nations need to keep their industries going full blast.

Subcommittee Overruled

The committee rejected the recommendations of its own subcommittee which drew up the appropriations bill and ordered $629,730,000 whittled from the $5,272,200,000 asked by President Truman for the Economic Co-operation administration.

Also voted by the appropriations committee was a cut of $150,000,000 from the even billion sought by Mr. Truman for administrative and relief costs in occupied areas.

The committee approved $4,642 470,000 for the foreign aid program for the period from April 1, 1949 to July 1, 1950.

This represented a slash of $629,730,000 from the figure requested by the administration. The subcommittee had called for a cut of only $182,300,000.

Other Slashes Made

Since April 1 the ECA has been operating on a billion dollar advance from the RFC which is to be reimbursed.

Instead of the billion dollars for occupation costs in Germany, Austria and Japan asked by Mr. Truman, the committee voted $850,000,000. The subcommittee had recommended a cut of only $50,400,000.

The measure goes before the House for passage Thursday and thereafter must be acted upon by the Senate Appropriations committee and by the Senate itself. Thus administration supporters are hopeful that some funds may be restored.

The committee approved the full $50,000,000 asked for continued military aid to Greece and Turkey.

The committee's action set the stage for a stiff floor fight on the foreign aid bill when it comes before the House on Thursday.

Jenkins; and a tire and wheel, two mirrors, a spotlight and two headlights from the car of Charles A. Veal of Lubbock route 3; 145 pounds of spool wire belonging to the City of Lubbock, from a construction project in an alley of 300-block Ave. P; and a $35 bike from Roland King of 1410 Ave. D.

Veal told the sheriff's department his car "went dead" Saturday night and that he had to leave it until next morning. Someone "stripped" it in the meantime, he said.

Copper Wire Stolen

W. G. Newton of the REA office on Plainview highway asked local police to be on the lookout for 35 coils of copper wire weighing 250 pounds each. The wire was stolen from an REA warehouse at Merkel, Newton said, but might show up at Lubbock.

A spotlight was reported stolen from the car of Lowell Campbell of Abernathy while the vehicle was parked in 900-block Broadway here, police were told.

From Lamesa, it was announced that Early Sydney Abbott, 21, and Lewis Ables, 26, were held in Dawson county jail in lieu of $10,000 each on charges they hijacked a Lamesa service station and abducted Leon Edwards, station attendant, early Saturday.

The two Oklahoma City men were arrested in Lubbock later Saturday morning by Robert Brasher and A. R. Mason, police patrolmen.

Russia claimed to have returned 17,177 former German prisoners of war to Germany from Russia, during the first half of April, 1949.

wants to send Allan Shivers to Washington he's well within his bounds."

Smith had said: "We appropriated $100,000 with which to fight the tidelands. The money ought to be used for that purpose."

King said he knew that Shivers didn't use a cent of that money on his trip to Washington.

Rep. J. K. Aynesworth of Waco interrupted to say that he knew Shivers was summoned to Washington by Attorney General Tom Clark.

Rep. Jack Cox of Breckenridge said he was with Shivers in Washington and knew that he was on Texas business and talked about a Texas problem—the tidelands. Cox added that "compromise was the only way to save the tidelands."

Rep. Jack Brooks of Beaumont also defended Shivers, saying "I have faith in him as I do in other officials of our government."

Rep. John Crosthwait of Dallas told the House he'd just like to point out that "these silly personal privilege speeches had cost the state about $2,000.

DANIELS, SHIVERS CLASH OVER TIDELANDS CASE

AUSTIN, May 23 (AP)—Texas' attorney general and lieutenant governor collided head-on today in disagreement over what this state should do in the tidelands dispute with the federal government.

Keep on fighting, said Attorney General Price Daniel.

Quit name-calling and work out the best deal possible with Uncle Sam, said Lieut. Gov. Allan Shivers.

Both officials regarded as among leading candidates for governor in 1950, said the question should be kept out of state politics.

Daniel in a statement this morning said in effect he would get out of politics if it took that to unify support for Texas' claims to the offshore lands.

Compromise Urged

At a press conference this afternoon Shivers said he agreed that it "should not be mixed up in politics."

Shivers said Texas was faced with the proposition of "losing all or trying to out-trade the federal government in a controversy in which very few lawyers feel Texas can prevail."

Daniel's view was that the case was not lost "and we are going to win in the court or Congress, if Texans themselves do not weaken or give up the fight."

Shivers said adoption of a compromise plan would ultimately bring more revenue for Texas school children "than could be obtained by winning the tidelands law suit or passing the tidelands quit-claim bill."

Daniel said that California is still controlling its tidelands two years after losing in federal court, and there is no need "to rush into a settlement on account of fear as to what the court will do in the Texas case."

Alger Hiss Perjury Trial Again Delayed

NEW YORK, May 25. (AP)—Federal Judge Samuel H. Kaufman today delayed the perjury trial of Alger Hiss until May 31.

Counsel for the 44-year-old former State department official asked a postponement until Wednesday. The government did not object.

However, Judge Kaufman ignored the suggested date and ordered both sides to be ready to proceed May 31. Hiss was not in court.

The trial, on an indictment handed up by a spy-probing federal grand jury last Dec. 15, originally was scheduled to begin Feb. 24. Today's delay was the sixth postponement.

HOUSTON, May 23 (U.P.) — John Mahan, 3, died in a hospital here early today, 12 hours after drinking a bottle of hair preparation he found in the family medicine cabinet.

Mahan said the bottle was not labeled, but had been carefully placed at what was thought a safe distance.

Voters Give Slight Edge To 81st Congress Over 80th In Survey

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
(American Institute of Public Opinion)

PRINCETON, N. J., May 23.—The 81st Congress is given a slightly better rating than the 80th in a national poll inviting voters to compare the two legislative bodies.

Twelve percent call the present Congress worse than the 80th, which President Truman described as one of the "worst" in our history, while 20 percent think it is better than its predecessor.

However, the largest single group in the poll either say that the present Congress is much the same as the 80th or that they don't know just yet how to rate it.

The caliber of the present Congress was the subject of a pointed remark by the President who said that the 81st Congress has too many B-Y-R-D-S in it—a reference to Senator Byrd, Virginia Democrat, who opposed many administration measures and who advocates strict economy in government. Labor union leaders are reported to be planning an intensive drive to elect a "better," more "forward looking" Congress in 1950.

Vote Indicates Attitude

The public's general attitude toward the present Congress is indicated in the vote on this question:

"From the impression you have thus far, based on things you have heard or read, how do you think the present 81st Congress in Washington compares with the one just before it—that is, the 80th?"

81st Congress is better	20%
81st Congress is worse	12
About the same	31
Neither very good	2
Too early to judge	2
	67%
Don't know	33
	100%

Union Attitudes Given

Although the present Congress has neither repealed nor modified the Taft-Hartley act members of labor unions are apparently hopeful of such action, for only one in every 12 union members questioned in today's poll criticizes the 81st Congress as being worse than its predecessor.

A sizeable number think it is better—perhaps on the ground that nothing could be worse for organized labor than the 80th Congress.

The union vote follows:

81st is better	21%
81st is worse	8
About the same	30
Neither very good	2
Too early to judge	2
	63%
Don't know	37
	100%

Democratic voters tend to take a much more charitable attitude toward the 81st Congress, which their party controls, than do Republican voters, whose party controlled the 80th Congress.

Independent voters side more with the Democrats in their attitudes. Here is the contrast:

81st Congress	Dem.	Rep.	Ind.
81st is worse than 80th	8	20	8
81st is better	26%	14%	21%
About the same	27	34	35
Neither very good	1	2	4
Too early to judge	1	1	3
	63%	71%	71%
Don't know	37	29	29

Senate Okays Major Appropriation Bills

Medical School Dispute Rages

By MAC ROY RASOR
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, May 23 — Two major appropriation bills won Senate approval today but a squabble over creating a new medical school temporarily blocked passage of a third.

Amended with Senate figures and returned to the House were the judiciary and departmental bills. The action cleared the way for conference committees to adjust House and Senate differences.

The Senate also accepted a House change to a proposed constitutional amendment to permit women to serve on juries and sent the measure to the governor. The House changed the date at which the proposal would be voted on to the last Saturday in September.

Liquor Control Bill Delayed

In the House a bill was advanced to tighten up liquor control regulations but opponents mustered enough strength to delay the bill from immediate final passage. The House also passed and sent to the Senate a proposed constitutional amendment to permit counties to set up hospital districts.

As passed by the Senate the judiciary bill called for $5,404,554 and the departmental bill for $51,547,554. The House measures were for $5,337,014 and $49,069,316 respectively.

The higher education bill ran into bitter debate on an amendment by Senator Fred Harris of Dallas to create and appropriate $2,000,000 for a southwestern medical branch of the University of Texas at Dallas.

"If Texas ever needed a new medical school in the history of its being, it needs one today," Harris argued.

Senate To Study Plan

Opponents raised points of order against tacking the measure onto a general appropriation bill but the points were overruled.

Senator W. A. Shofner of Temple who is author of a proposal to create a new medical school at Temple told the Senate that he had not expected today's procedure and had not prepared an amendment to tie his plan to the appropriation bill. His motion to adjourn the Senate for an "overnight consideration" of the matter was approved.

A third plan also still pending calls for a medical branch at San Antonio.

Senator James Taylor of Kerens, Finance Committee chairman, counseled the Senate to provide for creation of one new medical school but not for three.

City Must Match $1,000 Grant By County

Welfare Fund Boost Approved

By EDWARD WELSH
Avalanche Staff Writer

The City-County Welfare association Monday was granted a conditional increased appropriation following a report of insufficient funds.

A boost of $1,000 each per quarter for the county and city was agreed to by the County Commissioners court, providing Lubbock city commission matches the allotment.

"Current welfare appropriations are not enough to cover our expenditures," Gerald Jarvis, director of the City-County Welfare association told the court Monday.

Jarvis presented each of the commissioners with a copy of the welfare costs for April which listed a total of $2,168.61 spent on 94 cases. Of this latter figure 74 were new cases.

At the present time the welfare association receives $2,000 per quarter from the county and a similar sum from the city of Lubbock. Jarvis asked that this be raised to $3,000 each until a further check could be made. This would give $2,000 per month for operating expenses, Jarvis said, and added:

"This $2,000 would still be short of our costs per month for this year. Actually our account for April is the lowest we have had." The expense account for April shows $725 for salaries with the next largest item being $650.55 which was applied to hospital bills.

Regarding the conditional allotment, Jarvis said he was confident there would be no hesitancy on the part of the city. He also explained that he was operating on a much smaller budget than most cities of comparable size throughout the United States.

The county commissioners also approved the bond of Tom Armstrong as public weigher for precinct No. 1; authorized a contract to install a drinking fountain on the first floor of the court house; transferred $995.20 from the permanent improvement fund to the new court house sinking fund; and authorized Judge Walter Davies to sell, by any means he sees fit, seven pieces of property on which the taxes have been long delinquent.

The contract for the installation of the drinking fountain went to the A. & B. Refrigerator company for $250. The tax title property to be offered for sale includes three parcels in Slaton, three in Lubbock and one in Idalou. These parcels first became

Dr. Young Gives Commencement Sermon At Lubbock High School

"No outside power can ever do to us what we can do to ourselves," Dr. M. Norvel Young, minister of Broadway Church of Christ, told Lubbock Senior High school's graduating class in the commencement sermon Sunday afternoon in the school auditorium.

"The greatest threat to our own nation is to our souls, ourselves," he said. Nations are made up of souls, not factories or armies, he said, emphasizing the danger of losing a nation from inside.

The greatest challenge, he said, "is to conquer your own self. You will always live with yourself. Don't kid yourself. There is no invention, no success materially that can make it unnecessary for you to conquer your own soul."

He described the graduating students as "a conquering army infiltrating in every city, town, hamlet, farm, range in this great land. In just a few years," he said, "you take over business, churches, schools, farms, banks, industry."

He said the "greatest decisions of life have to be made when you are young and least experienced." Persons have a choice in what they do, he said, and as they sow they shall reap. "We can choose the alternatives, but not the consequences."

Dr. Young's text was Luke 21:19: "By your patience ye shall win your souls."

He commended youth for "being young and being enthusiastic and zealous." Most persons "when they begin to get the signs of old age look down their noses at young people and think they have gone astray," he said. He said young people have not all "gone to the dogs" and "the world the older generation is handing you is as, as one young man put it, 'pretty well ruined, knocked to pieces, leaky, red-hot, threatening to blow up'."

The graduating class is composed of 290 students. An estimated 1,000 persons attended the sermon in addition to seniors.

The graduation exercises are to be conducted at 8 p. m. Thursday at the Chapman field gymnasium, Floyd Honeyl, principal, has announced.

Invocation at the Sunday afternoon exercises was given by Rev. David L. Zacharias, pastor of Westminister Presbyterian church. Nancy Davis, member of the graduating class, presented a piano solo, 'Romance" (Schumann). The senior girls' chorus, directed by J. H. Penn, sang "Refuge

STRANGE PLAYMATES—Shorty, a five-year-old prairie dog, and Goldie, a two-year-old Persian cat, get along splendidly. "Goldie" obligingly licks and bathes "Shorty" with her tongue, and the two animals frequently greet each other by rubbing noses. Both pets belong to Mrs. George Hart, Lamesa, who says Shorty has become so domesticated that he "doesn't know he's a prairie dog anymore." The pets usually eat their meals together as shown above. 'SHORTY' LIVES LIFE OF RILEY

Lamesa Woman Declares Prairie Dog Makes Amusing Little Pet

LAMESA, May 23. (Special)—"Shorty," an amusing little pet trapped in a "prairie dog town" on the West Texas plains, cost Mrs. George Hart, Lamesa, only 50 cents but she "wouldn't take a million dollars for him."

Shorty's place in the Hart household is in fact the result of careful selection, and he enjoys seniority over the rest of the family's pets by virtue of five years residence.

Buys 23 Prairie Dogs

In April, 1944, Mrs. Hart, who had begged in vain for some one to trap a prairie dog for her, finally in desperation offered a schoolboy 50 cents for one of the animals.

The next morning exactly 23 young West Texas counter-parts of Frank Buck showed up at the Hart store near the high school with "fifty-cent dogs." Mrs. Hart dutifully bought them all at the stipulated price. Her predicament was solved quickly and surprisingly as she re-sold most of the animals and received orders for 16 more.

She kept Shorty, who was about two weeks old, measured five inches from tip to tip and weighed only 6 ounces, and two other prairie dogs named Mickey and Oscar.

The latter two animals were sold in October 1944.

Gnaws Wooden Slab

Shorty, member of a rapidly-diminishing specie which once roamed the West Texas prairies by the thousands, is completely domesticated now. His owner says he doesn't "know he's a prairie dog anymore."

He observed his fifth birthday recently, tips the scales at three pounds and is over a foot long. He spends most of his time in a small wire cage or in the house. When outside he no longer tries to

Big Four Opens Paris Meeting In Deadlock On German Question

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

The Big Four foreign ministers seem to be opening their Paris conference in a virtual deadlock on Germany.

The Allies are expressing determination not to be traded out of the economic and political advances they have accomplished in western Germany in the year and a half since the council's last futile meeting in London.

If there is to be any agreement on German unity, say the Allies, it must be through extension of the western federal constitution and its accompanying policies.

Allies Discuss Strategy

Allied officials have been more vocal about their plans for the meeting than have the Russians. However, Russian propaganda organs have been repeating the line that no "ultimatum" will be accepted, and have given a general idea of Russia's expected proposals. These include unification of Germany under a central government and a peace treaty providing for withdrawal of occupation troops. But their views of what a central government should be are vastly different from those of the Allies, and the end of occupation is something the Allies cannot envision for a long, long time.

Austrian Case May Arise

On one or two points there may be some agreement. The ending of the Berlin blockade has made some sort of Berlin settlement imperative from the standpoint of both Russia and the Allies. Money, trade between the East-West zones, and various administrative matters are expected to come up. Something might come of discussions on the Austrian case.

Whether or not there is any general agreement, as now seems unlikely, the conference should be very revealing in one highly important respect. It should give us a much clearer insight into the policy Russia currently pursues.

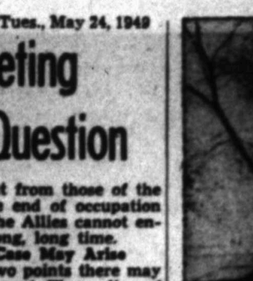

It already seems clear, from the lifting of the blockade, the propaganda that peace can be attained, and from the generally more approachable attitude of her diplomats recently, that Russia is genuinely desirous of lessening the tension.

U.S. Soldiers Released From Czech Prisons Describe Beatings, Threats Following Arrest

By RICHARD O'REGAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 23.—Two American GI's who were held in Czech prisons for six months as "spies" said today beatings and threats had not broken their spirits.

The two, recruits George Jones of Owensboro, Ky., and Clarence R. Hill of Pampa, were released yesterday. Czech President Klement Gottwald, bowing to strong American pressure, gave the men a "pardon."

Jones had been sentenced to 10 years and Hill 12 by a secret Czech court for "espionage."

At the Czech-German border the men were turned over to U.S. Lieut. Col. Charles Y. Talbot.

Men Face Army Trial

When locked in Czech prisons "we always felt sure we'd get back to the American zone of Germany before too long," they explained in a telephone interview.

They face possible U.S. Army court martial on charges of being absent without leave at the time they were arrested by the Czechs, Dec. 9, 1948.

"But at the present moment they are free like every other soldier," said Col. Talbot. "They are getting some good American food, too. They didn't get enough in Czechoslovakia."

"That's right," said Jones. "We were quite often hungry. The food was not too bad, but we didn't get enough of it."

Beaten By Czechs

The two soldiers said they were manhandled when first arrested.

"For a week or ten days in the first part of December," said Hill, "we moved around from jails in Pilsen to jails in Prague and back to jails in Pilsen.

"They told us they wanted information from us. When we wouldn't talk, they beat us on the back, on the head, and on the feet. Sometimes they used sticks, sometimes hard rubber billyclubs."

Hill continued:

"I once was beaten so badly on my feet I could not put my shoes on. Jones was knocked unconscious once. Who did it? Czech police. Everybody who questioned us or guarded us was Czech."

Spying Charges Denied

Hill said he and Jones crossed into Czechoslovakia "when we lost our way."

He denied emphatically that the two men were spying, and ridiculed their "trial."

"They read the charges in Czech, snapped their fingers a couple of times, had a couple of recesses and then announced 'ten and twelve years.'"

Jones and Hill said so far they had not had time to get in touch with their relatives at home.

"But they shouldn't worry. It is good to be back—even if we have to face another trial," said Hill.

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

When you buy Barcentrate, you buy a preparation for taking off weight. You do not pay for any printed diet or for vitamins to fortify you against weakness while on a starvation diet. You need never know a hungry moment while taking this preparation. Barcentrate is the original grapefruit juice recipe for weight reduction.

Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to take off ugly fat, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Lost 56 pounds

Here is what Mrs. L. J. Bryant, P. O. Box 66, Whitewright, Texas, wrote us:

"I want to tell you what Barcentrate has done for me. I weighed 248 pounds when I started taking it. I now weigh 212.

"I have taken my dress size down from size 40 to 42 and never felt better in my life and everybody tells me how much nicer I look than I did.

"I am still taking Barcentrate as I want to get my weight down to 165 or 170 pounds."

With the close of school, congratulations are in order . . . to those who graduate . . . to those who move ahead . . . and too, to the schools in Lubbock and the surrounding territory for their sustained health program throughout the year. In each of the school cafeterias, milk was served with the children's lunches. Many, no doubt, have thus acquired, or retained, the wholesome habit of drinking milk daily. During the summer months it is only natural that children will expend more energy at play. Milk is is an important energy food! Let's keep it in the children's daily diet.

FORMER 'BATORY' CREWMEN FACE QUESTIONING

House Group Probes Possibility Communist Spies Used Polish Liner As Means Of Escape From U.S.

By GEORGE MOISE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 23—The House Un-American Activities committee sought today to learn whether other Communist fugitives than Gerhardt Eisler used the Polish liner Batory to flee the United States.

It was learned that committee investigators plan to question some of the more than 100 former crew members of the Batory who jumped ship in New York rather than return to Poland. The former crew members, all described as anti-Communist, are held at Ellis Island, N. Y.

Mrs. Sylvia Crouch, a former Communist and wife of Paul Crouch, formerly a party organizer, testified today for two hours behind the committee's locked doors.

She was subpoenaed to appear again tomorrow, as were a man and wife once reportedly denied passports for a trip abroad because of Communist connections.

The committee is seeking to discover the means by which Communist spies escape the United States.

Meanwhile the State department forwarded to London documentary evidence that Eisler is not a political refugee. He was taken off the Batory by British authorities and is held for an extradition hearing.

The evidence sent to London was designed to show that Eisler was wanted on charges that make him extraditable. He has maintained in England that he fled the U. S. as a political refugee, and as such is not subject to extradition.

The committee has not yet held open hearings on the Soviet espionage case this session, but several members have asked that the spy probe be opened up.

Identity Of Reds Offered

Mrs. Crouch did not reveal what she told committee probers, but it was indicated that she substantiated the testimony of her husband, who offered to identify some of the figures mentioned in the Arthur Adams spy case.

The committee has accused Adams, who fled the country in 1945, of being a "super spy" for the Communists.

The couple subpoenaed to testify tomorrow are expected to be asked about their possible Communist connections. Committee members said they both were employed at one time by the United Nations, but that the wife is no longer with UN. They explained that both were denied passports by the State department after they applied for permission to go abroad.

Transit Strikes At Beaumont Port Arthur Enters Fifth Day

BEAUMONT, May 23 (AP)—The city bus strike here and at Port Arthur entered its fifth day today.

Last night, a taxi company which bid for the "jitney" service in the two cities said its plans were "still hazy." Milton J. Bass of Houston, co-owner of the Star Taxi company, said, "we are not going to oppose the union nor make a bid for the franchise of the bus company."

Meanwhile, the mayor of Beaumont, Otho Plummer, said last night that resumption of negotiations between the locally operated subsidiaries of the National City lines and the union appeared unlikely in the near future. Wages are under dispute between the drivers and the company.

The Isle of Guernsey sent Britain the first tomatoes weeks ahead of time this year, and they brought $1.60 a pound in the markets.

Suicide Ruled In Death Of Convict At Texas Prison Farm

ANGLETON, May 23. (U.P.)—The death of a 40-year-old fourth-term convict was labeled suicide today, after he was found hanged in his cell at Ramsey Prison Farm No. 2 near here.

General prison system Manager O. B. Ellis said the man, Reuben Davis, hanged himself with his belt early yesterday. Davis tried to take his life Saturday night by slashing his wrists, Ellis said, but his wounds were only minor.

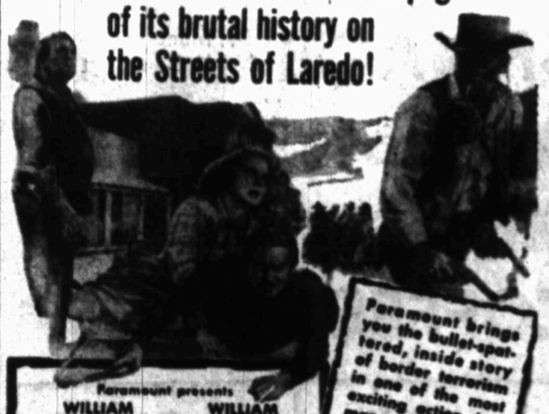

Davis was discharged from prison last July, but returned Feb. 16 on a two-year sentence for forgery from Gregg county.

Simplicity is the keynote of the film version of John Steinbeck's widely known story about a sensitive boy and his attachment to the red pony. A character study for the entire family, "The Red Pony" is in close pattern with the series of successful films about horses and dogs—the "Lassie" group and those like "Smoky" and "Green Grass of Wyoming"—and so it is that we turn to them for comparison.

HOUSE BILL 885:

It Should Not Pass

ONE OF THE many measures which has been slipped through the State House of Representatives, unnoticed by Texans as a whole, is one described as "House Bill No. 885."

It provides, in gist, that any legal action brought against the officials of any city to try to compel them to do their duty will have to be filed in the Supreme court at Austin. Such actions now can be filed in any District court.

The objection to the measure is that a great many people would be barred by time and cost considerations from running down to Austin to seek court corrective action against corrupt, or inefficient city officials. Officials of that type would have more protection in their wrongdoings by making it more difficult for the citizenship to take advantage of the protection and relief which more convenient district courts now provide.

The sponsorship of this proposed law, which has been approved by the House, is vague. The League of Texas Municipalities is suspected of being the motivating force behind it. But, regardless of its sponsorship, it invites condemnation, first because of the manner in which it was sneaked through the House and, second, because it would add to the difficulty of calling a halt on city officials whose actions arouse suspicions of corruption.

Room For Hope

Past experiences do not allow optimism as the conference of foreign ministers gets under way in Paris. Without exception, similar meetings since the war have been washouts. They usually have widened, rather than narrowed, the breach between the free and the Communistic states.

But it indulges no excess of optimism to recognize that prospects for constructive decisions in this meeting appear more favorable than in any East-West conference since Victory in Europe. The odds may be against worthwhile achievements in the meeting. But, at least, there's a chance.

This is more than could be said in advance of previous similar conferences—and particularly the last two. Representatives of the free nations said bluntly before they left to attend the meetings that they thought they were wasting their time. They participated because they would not risk the refusal of their cooperation with anything which offered the remotest possibility of improved relations between the democracies and Russia.

Prospects appear better for the new conference than others of the past for several reasons which add up to one fundamental fact. The democracies now are stronger and in better condition to repel Russian aggressions than at the time of any previous meeting. The free nations now can talk the language that the Russians seem to understand better than any other—the language of force. And the Russians doubtless are fully aware that the airlift which kept 2,000,000 Berlin residents in necessities and some comforts for many months could be used and expanded, if necessary, for the swift movement of military personnel and supplies.

Some optimism, therefore, is justified for the conference, founded solely upon the hope that, for the first time, the Soviet representatives will be compelled by self interest to be reasonable. In that case, the Paris conference could mark the turning point away from the eventual war toward which past relationships have been leading.

There's A Reason

Island Of Escape

By HUGH LAWRENCE NELSON
Disributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: The violent death of Lilly Warren has upset the routine on Henry Gough Harding's island of escape, Speare Island. Lilly was found shot in a car of a funicular railway running to the store room on the beach. None but Bea Cosgrove knows that Lilly was killed by the automatic which Bea hid among the sugar sacks in the kitchen the day she arrived. An inquest is held at which everyone, Harding, Miss Cosgrove, Agnes Firth, Mabel Jones, Fred Sillwell, George Bascombe, Mollie Stark and Nona McGuire, all have alibis. But, Harding asks, where did the gun come from? Bascombe says that all the guns on Sillwell's yacht, which was shipwrecked on the island, were 38 or larger caliber, while this gun was a Mauser .765, about a .32.)

XVI

FRED Sillwell snapped his fingers. "Wait a minute. I just remembered. I picked up a little automatic in a nock shop the day before we sailed It had 'Waffenfabrik Mauser A. G. Oberndorf A. N. Mauser's Patent stamped on one side. And the serial number just in front of that. Three hundred thousand and something. Six figures anyhow. I packed it away in oil rags in a watertight tin box and forgot it. I don't think any of the others knew I had it. Does that help you any?"

Miss Cosgrove could have supplied the rest of the serial number from memory.

There was no doubt in Bea's mind that the gun was the one she had smuggled onto Speare Island and had hidden among the sugar sacks on the night of her arrival. She also recalled the gently swinging door that had aroused her suspicions after she had hidden the gun.

Harding took the gun from his pocket and looked at it closely. "The first number is correct. I think it is clear this is your weapon. I am glad to have that detail explained."

BEA'S pencil point broke. She resharpened it quickly, looked up to meet George's glance. He returned quickly toward Sillwell, his lips twisted down at the corners.

"There is only one other thing," Harding said. "Motive. I have left that for the last because of a personal element. Also I wanted to keep everything fair and impartial until the method by which she obtained the weapon was ascertained.

"Last night I was forced to speak plainly to Mrs. Warren. Perhaps I spoke too sternly. It seemed the kindest thing at the time, a surgeon's stroke. I was forced to tell her bluntly I would not consider marrying her."

George Bascombe opened his mouth, shut it to swallow audibly, then said. "Was she upset by the news?"

Henry Harding stared, found George's face completely expressionless. "She was," he admitted. "Extremely upset. Naturally I thought at the time she would recover, but the amount she drank subsequently did not help her mental processes."

Fred Sillwell sighed. "That does it."

Harding rapped on the table sharply. "Ladies and gentlemen of Speare Island you have heard the facts of the case. It has been proven no one on this island could have been near Mrs. Lilly Warren at the time of her death. The method by which she obtained the weapon is clear I wish written into the record a statement absolving Mr. Sillwell from any responsibility. She obtained the automatic from the sea, by an act of God. I have told you her reason for the deed, explained her state of mind. I am sure you will all agree there can be but one just verdict. Are there any further questions?"

There was silence.

"Very well," Henry Gough Harding said. "Miss Cosgrove you will enter the verdict of this court Mrs. Lilly Warren came to her death by a self-inflicted gunshot wound while of a temporarily unsound mind."

HENRY Harding brought dynamite from the large supply in the storeroom and planted it skillfully in the hole scooped from the shallow topsoil. The bedrock was shattered for a foot or two and pieces and dirt blew in all directions

The flowering plant on the grave of A. Roble was clipped off neatly at its base by a flying fragment.

"It's deep enough," Harding said.

George Bascombe and Fred Sillwell helped him lower the stiffened canvas-wrapped body of Lilly Warren into the grave. The women, with the exception of Mollie stood and watched.

Harding picked up a shovel and tossed in some dirt and rock.

"Aren't you—going to say something?" Agnes Firth asked hesitantly.

"Say something?" Harding snapped "What do you want me to say. Dust to dust? The only thing to say is that it is unfortunate Mrs. Warren's weaknesses should inconvenience others."

He began shoveling again.

Bea Cosgrove heard Nona McGuire draw in her breath sharply. She put her hand on the younger woman's arm in time to stop an outburst.

They watched while Harding and Bascombe filled in the shallow hole. They turned in silence and filed slowly toward the main house.

Harding washed his hands thoughtfully at the kitchen sink, then joined the rest in the main room. He smiled suddenly. "I have thought of a way out of the present difficulty,' he said. "For the time being I will ask Miss McGuire to take over the house duties and the cooking. I will get a black dress for you, Miss McGuire, in place of the green you're wearing."

"I'm glad to know what was worrying you," Nona said too sweetly "Now what would you like for lunch? Fudge or a tossed salad? That's all I know how to cook."

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

ONE kind of letter I receive occasionally makes me madder than any other kind.

BRANDEIS

It is when the sender tells me what an easy time I have, dashing off my column in a comfortable chair, getting up whenever I feel like it and being an all-around playboy in the game of life.

It is surprising how many people think that creative work is a cinch. Just because brain calluses don't show on the outside, a lot of folks have an idea that writers and artists don't work.

Let me tell you a few things about that.

My old friend, George McManus, who originated and still does "Bringing Up Father," and whose Jiggs and Maggie have become national characters that will probably outlive Harry and Bess, gave a dinner party to some of his cronies a few nights ago.

During the dinner I asked "Bugs" Baer, the famous humorist, who sat next to me, how old George is.

"I don't know his exact age," said Bugs, "but I am told that he was the first white child to cross the Brooklyn Bridge." The Brooklyn Bridge was completed in 1883.

At any rate, George McManus is in his sixties. Yet there is never a day that he is not at his drawing board before nine in the morning, and I have seen him at that same drawing board as late as nine o'clock at night.

Another artist present was Hal Foster, who does that beautiful "Prince Valiant" Sunday page.

Hal lives near me in Connecticut, so I know his working habits pretty well

His work week is 58 hours, and on top of that he and his wife Helen put in hours and hours of research work, so that his characters and backgrounds may be exactly true to historical facts

Another fellow at our table was Robert "Believe It Or Not" Ripley.

Bob not only works long hours every day and keeps a whole staff busy with research and correspondence, but he has traveled millions of miles in the quest for new and odd material.

DON'T ever think for a moment that these celebrities, who are called "trained seals," came by their fame by playing and taking it easy.

It takes infinite patience and hard work for a seal to learn to juggle the ball.

It takes not only infinite patience and hard work to become a human "trained seal," but also inborn talent and diligent cultivated ability

In case you have any ambition to be a famous artist or writer or composer, always remember this:

The things that look the easiest have usually been the most difficult to do.

Inspiration, to repeat an old saying, is primarily perspiration.

Creative work may be done in an easy chair, but the thinking is done at the other end.

Feud May Halt Taxes

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The personal rivalry of two elderly Southerners on Capitol Hill, even more than President Truman's wishes or recommendations, may determine the action of Congress on the White House request for a tax boost of four billion dollars.

The two jealous gentlemen are Representative Robert L. Doughton of North Carolina, guardian of tobacco and cigaret interests as chairman of the House Ways and Means committee, and Senator Walter F. George of Georgia, who watches out for the affairs of the soft drink firm in which James A. Farley also has great concern. Their word is frequently law in enactment of tax legislation.

TUCKER

Their Southern and conservative background leads them to oppose any new levies at this time. For the miraculously expanding South would be especially hard hit if heavier burdens on business and industry precipitated a major slump.

A serious drop in prices for key crops, together with unemployment in new and growing industries, would be exceedingly harmful in this territory.

PREROGATIVE: The House, of course, enjoys the constitutional prerogative of initiating all revenue and tariff measures, and 83-year-old "Muley" Doughton revels in this perquisite. He runs his big, sprawling committee with an iron hand.

Senator George also has a high regard for his role as chairman of the Senate Finance committee. Whenever news on the eastern wing of the Capitol is dull, the 70-year-old Georgian issues an interview in which he denounces the presidential proposal for a tax increase. He intimates that, even if the House should compromise with Mr. Truman, the Senate would kill any bill.

These Georgian outbursts make Mr. Doughton sputter and growl, and he has a hot temper. "He has no right to be making such statements," he complains to his committee members. "We'll decide over here on that issue."

VICTORY: Mr. Doughton's resentment against Senate encroachment on his field may enable President Truman to score a minor victory in the controversy over additional taxation. "Muley" may throw a bill boosting rates into the face of the Georgia veteran's group, assuming that the House will pass such a measure.

The North Carolinan would not agree to the four billion upping asked by the White House. But he might settle for a $2.5 billion or even a $3 billion increase, in return for reduction or abolition of the duties on transportation and communications. And also if the federal tax on cigarets made in North Carolina is softened.

LOYALTY: Fact is that the Doughton bark is worse than his bite. He has frequently criticized New Deal and Fair Deal proposals when they were first unveiled.

But his loyalty to a Democratic Administration frequently inclines him to fall in line, as he did for many Roosevelt reforms he did not approve in his heart.

Thus, if any bill imposing new taxes is to be blocked, it will be the Senate rather than in the House. There are enough men of the George-Byrd kind to form a hostile majority in combination with the Republicans.

ACTION: House-Senate jousting, however, is not confined only to these two cavaliers from below the Mason and Dixon Line. A spirit of suspicion, rivalry and hostility exists among the leadership of both parties in the two chambers.

Speaker Sam Rayburn is holding up action on several measures, notably compulsory health insurance and an investigation of the "big five" life insurance companies, to force the Senate to act first. He does not want to pass these extremely controversial proposals, only to have them pigeon-holed on the other side of the big building. It would make the House look both "radical" and foolish.

As a result, both may die for this session.

HARMONY: The Taft-Vandenberg faction has also posed a grave problem for the more conservative Martin-Halleck-Taber-Brown leadership. In fact, their differences threaten to split the G.O.P. even more violently than did the nomination of the Dewey-Warren ticket.

With Senator Taft commanding the Republican camp, the Senate has passed the housing and aid-to-education measures, although in slightly different form from that requested by Mr. Truman. Nevertheless, both programs are entirely satisfactory to the White House.

House bosses, especially former Majority Leader Halleck of Indiana and Jesse Wolcott, former Banking and Currency Chairman, still regard these schemes as "socialistic." So do such moguls as Brown of Ohio and Taber of New York. In combination with Southern Democrats, they aim to defeat or mutilate them. They will not agree even to the mild form of federal health insurance suggested by Senator Taft.

Rarely before has there been less party harmony or solidarity on Capitol Hill than now. There are almost as many solo performers and factions as there are in the French Parliament.

MOTIVES: "Are the Russians kidding us again in agreeing to lift the Berlin blockade and to confer over the problem of Germany," asks R.F. of Charlotte, N.C., "or are they serious about a general settlement of postwar problems?"

Answer: Finding the answer to that question will be one of Secretary Dean Acheson's tasks at the Foreign Ministers' Council at Paris. In fact, it will be his main job. As of today, he doesn't know the answer.

He plans to accept Moscow's proposals for ending the Berlin stalemate at their face value. Dealing with Russia is like walking in the dark, however.

So, according to his attitude as expressed here, he will walk warily. He will try not to duplicate the mistakes made at Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam, when we placed too much trust in the Kremlin's promises.

Two things he will not do: He will not agree to a withdrawal of our occupation troops from Berlin and Western Germany. And he will not listen to Russian suggestions that formation of a Western German state under auspices of the western allies be abandoned.

Washington does not believe that the Soviet has scrapped her long-range policy of world revolution and unrest, although Secretary Acheson will try to get the answer to that major question.

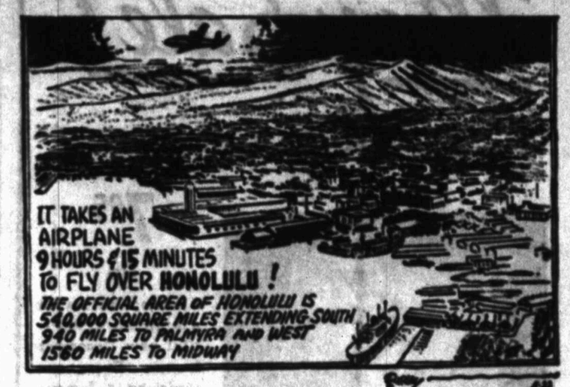

It is sufficient for the moment, he believes, that for some reason Stalin seems willing to come to an agreement on the Berlin impasse. Even a decent arrangement on that question will be a gain.

After critics had praised his "abstract" paintings in Wuppertal, Germany, the artist found that six had been hung upside down.

Christmas buying in Guatemala has been slowed down by apprehension over the results of elections for the Guatemalan Legislature.

At a conference in Dundee, Scottish Liberals unanimously adopted a resolution calling for "our own parliament in Scotland dealing with Scottish affairs."

REFORMS BRING USUAL REACTION

Plea For Economy 'On Schedule'

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—As the saying goes: "you took the very words out of my mouth."

Here, a couple of days ago, it was pointed out that about this time in the new regime of a president who pledges certain reforms the opposition in Congress and outside raises the familiar demand for "economy" and for the President to be "reasonable" about reforms, to drop some of them, to wait for a more appropriate time. Now also, as it was explained then, the opposition has the additional excuse of a slowdown in business upon which to capitalize.

STOKES

It was reported that this sort of propaganda was abroad.

GOP Leader Gives Views

Now, in further proof, we find it all proclaimed as official doctrine of the Republican party in the House of Representatives, and by no less a personage than Rep. Joseph W. Martin, jr. (Mass.), speaker of the House in the 80th Republican Congress, now Republican floor leader in the 81st Democratic Congress. Mr. Martin spoke as follows about the next reform to come before the House, probably next week, the housing bill:

"I am in favor of housing. But it is like a lot of other things. If you don't have the money you have got to do without them for another year. I very seriously question whether we can embark on any new spending ventures when the Treasury is warning that there is going to be a deficit, with the possibility of higher taxes, which I believe would cause a crash and plunge us into a depression.

"That means we have got to forego some of the things we would like to do and simply haven't got the money to pay for."

Now let's look squarely at the facts—and at Mr. Martin.

He says now he is for housing legislation — next year, maybe. He was not for housing legislation last year when business was prosperous and profits were lush. The House leadership, which he then directed, bottled up the housing bill in the rules committee and refused to let it go to the floor so members could vote on it. It already had passed the Senate last year, as it had once before, and as it has in this Congress. Joe Martin killed it last year, and he would like to kill it again. Next week at a party conference he will seek to rally his party in the House on his new line of defense—"economy." Last year the slogan was "socialism." But politicians are permitted to change their "line."

One of the first reforms of the Democratic leadership in the House in the new 81st Congress was to make it impossible for the Rules committee to pigeon-hole legislation approved by a regular legislative committee, as was done in the last Congress with the housing bill. So this blockade is no longer available.

Joe Martin is worrying about a deficit and a new tax bill. Why is it those results are possible? Simply because the last Republican Congress voted a four-billion-dollar tax reduction over the protests and two vetoes by President Truman, who pointed out very plainly just why taxes should not have been cut. Developments back him up 100 percent.

Business Benefitted

Big business enemies of the housing bill "got theirs" in the tax reduction. Veterans and other citizens who only want such a simple thing as a decent place to live did not get housing legislation.

Now how about the housing bill and "economy?" Let's look at the simple facts again. As it passed the Senate, and as reported from the house banking committee, the housing bill authorizes contributions by the treasury of $85,000,000 for each of the first three years—1950, 1951 and 1952—with gradual increases thereafter. The Senate bill would permit an additional $55,000,000 at the discretion of the President, or a total in each of the first three years of $140,000,000. The House bill would permit an additional $80,000,000, or a total of $165,000,000 for each of the first three years.

This is to assist slum clearance and public housing for low-income groups in co-operation with localities, which also would contribute. This is a minor part of the housing legislation, though it has stirred up all the controversy. The primary objective is to encourage private real-estate interests. The contribution for public housing, for something so sorely needed today, is but a drop in the bucket compared with the tax reduction which big private interests got from the last Congress and less than a drop in the bucket compared with our over-all $40,000,000,000 budget.

Housing legislation will be passed this year. That's sure. Only the Republican party will be the loser by the attitude of its House leadership which contrasts, for example, with that of Senator Taft of Ohio, its outstanding Senate leader, who sponsored the bill in that body.

Evidence Presented In Damage Case Here

Evidence of the defendant in the damages action of L. M. Blair against William J. Powell will continue this morning in 99th district court, and it was expected that the case would be closed today.

The plaintiff's evidence, with the possible exception of some rebuttal testimony, was completed during the afternoon session yesterday, and testimony for the defendant was begun.

The jury was selected at Monday morning's session, and pleadings were read. Actual testimony began at 1:30 p.m. yesterday when Judge G. V. Pardue ordered the jury to report.

The case is outgrowth of a partnership in a Clovis, N. M., automobile agency. Blair eventually bought the interest of Powell, but claims Powell removed $5,000 in partnership funds prior to the deal. Powell admits he took that amount, but says the act was done with full knowledge of Blair after they had talked it over several months before the deal between the partners. Blair denies such knowledge and therein lies the issue before the court, officials said. Half the $5,000 is being sued for, it was explained.

Blair is represented by the firm of Anderson and Howard, Powell by the firm of Nelson and McCleskey.

The jury is composed of Bob Crump, J. E. Martin, C. T. Benson, R. S. Johnston, R. B. Cheney, Joe W. Hatcher, Sidney Keeton, Fred R. Kelley, Edgar H. Beyers, S. C. Simmons, V. Neal Silver, and C. B. Lively.

The City Council at Richmond, England, has asked cafes to open on Sundays.

Wall Street

MARKET HITS LOW
NEW YORK, May 23. (AP)—The stock market dropped to the lowest average level in nearly three months today.

Weakness in the steel group paved the way for a general decline. Losses of fractions to nearly two points were enough to push many key issues to new low prices for the year.

Trading volume turnover amounted to only 730,000 shares. It was one of the slowest days of the year.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost .4 of one point at 62.5. Industrial stocks showed the largest average loss, followed by rails and utilities.

The average was at the lowest figure since 62.4 was touched on Feb. 28 and within easy shooting distance of the 1949 low of 61.4.

The day's news had the same bitter taste that Wall Street has come to expect during recent weeks: declining orders for machine tools, lumber, and freight cars, another decline in steel production schedules, another cut in the price of lead, and another reduction by General Motors on its passenger cars and trucks.

Several steels hit new lows for the year, along with such stalwarts as Chrysler. Montgomery Ward, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse Electric, Santa Fe, and American Telephone. General Motors equalled its low.

U. S. Steel (old) common finished ⅛ lower at 48⅞ and the new off ½ at 33. Bethlehem lost ¼ at 37. Youngstown Sheet dropped 1½ to 61¼. General Motors, ⅜ at 36¾, Chrysler ⅛ at 49¾, Montgomery Ward 1⅜ at 51½, American Telephone ⅛ at 146½, Westinghouse Electric ¼ at 32½, Allied Chemical 1¾ at 192, and Socony 3⅝ at 18½.

Others marked down included Republic Steel, Studebaker, Firestone, Sears Roebuck, Deere, Douglas Aircraft, Western Union, Consolidated Natural Gas, Kennecott Copper, Anaconda, General Electric, J. C. Penney, International Paper, N. Y. Central, Southern Railway, Chesapeake and Ohio, Nickel Plate, Sinclair Oil, Gulf Oil, Pacific Western Oil, United Air Lines, and Warner Bros.

Hitting against the trend for small gains were Woolworth, Caterpillar Tractor, American Can, and Mission Corp.

Railway obligations yielded a little ground in the bond market. U. S. government issues showed few changes of consequence.

Curb losers included Cities Service, Electric Bond and Share, Barium Steel, Arkansas Natural Gas "A", Northern Aircraft, Mead Johnson and Humble Oil, the last down 3½. Great Northern Paper improved, along with Rotary Electric Steel and Gray Mfg. Sales of 170,000 shares compared with 300,000 Friday.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, May 23 (AP) — Cotton futures drifted lower today on scattered liquidation and hedging which met indifferent trade demand. Declining domestic cotton consumption and a lack of covering in futures against export sales contributed to the dullness.

Futures closed 25 to 30 cents a bale lower than the previous close.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT
CHICAGO, May 23 (AP) — Grains did not attract much trading but they gave a pretty good display of firmness today. With wheat gaining more than a cent, the entire market had a steady undertone right from the start.

best," he advised.

The House passed two more bills after a noon recess and then quit work until morning. Both bills go to the Senate.

One measure would raise the pay of Supreme Court justices and Judges of the Court of Civil appeals to $12,000 a year and of Civil Appeals judges to $10,000. District judges were raised to $7,000 a year as long as they did not receive more than $2,900 also from the county.

The other bill provides that the adjutant general's department may pay medical expenses of National Guard members when they are injured during National Guard duty.

A bill which would have raised candidate's filing fees in most campaigns above the county level was killed by a vote of 37-31.

Consideration of the money bills came up following compromise of a textbook bill controversy that flared during the morning.

The bill called for the board of education to select five texts for elementary courses and leave final selection to the teacher who taught the subject.

A compromise amendment finally approved permitted the board to make the final selection but specified that the recommendation of its textbook committee would be mandatory. Committee membership was limited to two years. The bill now goes to the House.

Other Senate and House action today sent three measures to the governor for his signature to become law.

One of them was the key Gilmer-Aikin education bill—finally approved by both Houses several weeks ago but not signed by the lieutenant governor and speaker of the House until today.

A bill providing a method for setting up underground water districts for developments, conservation and use of underground water also made the trip to the governor. Accompanying it was another bill to set up a separate nine-member board to administer the affairs of the state's eleemosynary institutions, now under the Board of Control.

The House held up a proposal to lift the old age pension ceiling when it refused to concur in a Senate change which would require the pensioner to give the state a lien on any property he owned as security. The refusal was 113-11. The measure will go to a conference committee.

In the House a new plan was offered to pay for eleemosynary building without requiring new taxes. Rep. Preston Smith of Lubbock introduced a bill to permit the comptroller to invest unused special state funds. He estimated the investments would yield from two and one-half to four million dollars annually to finance the eleemosynary building.

Recall Of Bill Rejected

The House turned down an effort by Rep. Jack Bryan of Buffalo to recall the House-passed million dollar Lamar College bill from the Senate. Bryan said the recall would open the door for the Senate to finish work on the major bills. It was charged in the House last week that refusal of the senate to take up the bill ahead of the major money bills was cause for the stall on the major bills.

A Senate resolution calling on Texas members of Congress to oppose socialized medicine was passed by the House, 84-14.

The Senate passed and returned to the House with minor amendments a bill to make it an offense punishable by fine and suspension of driver's license to drive faster than 25 miles per hour in the day time and 20 miles per hour at night on Texas beaches.

Passed by the Senate and sent to the House for consideration was a bill to require county mutual insurance companies to maintain a $10,000 surplus to meet claims if operating in one county and $25,000 if operating in more than one county.

Senator Keith Kelly of Fort Worth introduced a bill to make an emergency appropriation of $15,000 to the adjutant general's department for expected expenses caused by the emergency mobilization of National Guard forces for the Amarillo tornado, Fort Worth flood and levee break at Rosser.

delinquent in 1927 and were offered at a sheriff's sale at that time. No buyers were found.

At the request of Lewis Stum and E. Z. Hogan the commissioners agreed to plat and dedicate 'City View Addition' some 38 acres approximately five miles north of the court house and outside the present city limits of Lubbock.

Three commissioners voted to allow the state highway department to go ahead with the paving of a road south out of Shallowater according to the original plan. Commissioner Perry Corley abstained.

The road in question connects Shallowater with the Lubbock-Levelland highway. The original plan calls for paving 4.3 miles or about one-half the distance. One group of property owners and their friends sought to have the road laid down along the section line one mile east of the present location. A minor controversy has taken place over the location for the past six weeks.

The commissioners ordered that $2,000 authorized for the Child Welfare Unit be paid to that organization upon request.

J. C. Anderson, Lola Anderson and Mrs. Minnie Garner asked the commission to plat and dedicate a subdivision to be known as 'Rock Haven Addition." The land lies between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth, and Tyler and Fillmore. This was approved by the commissioners as was a request from County Agent D. W. Sherrill.

Sherrill asked for $100 to defray expenses for sending 4-H club representatives to College Station for the annual round-up.

The commission delayed action on a request of Perron Bean, acting for himself and others, to instruct the Fort Worth and Denver railroad to return to the county a road of some four miles in length on which a siding is installed. The siding was laid on the county road under a war time emergency agreement to haul supplies into South Plains Army Air Force base north of the city.

According to Bean there is no longer any emergency need for the railroad siding and it should be removed so that the roadbed could be returned to service as a county road.

Bean said that the installation of the track made it necessary for dig a hole in traditional manner of his race.

A wooden slab is kept in his cage so that he may gnaw on it and keep his four front, fang-like teeth worn down. Otherwise they would grow out of his mouth.

Shorty has the run of the house, but is watched carefully to keep him from gnawing on the door facings. He has a harness and leash, and enjoys riding in the car perched on the top edge of the front seat.

Shorty, a vegetarian in his native habitat, eats nearly anything including meat, candy, peanut butter, fruits, grass and peanuts which he peels impatiently himself. He drinks milk with his pal, Goldie the cat, but requires very little water.

Is Accurate "Barometer"

He ate a radish once but never again. A wildlife expert explained that a radish requires a burp, a reaction impossible for a prairie dog's digestive system.

A fine barometer, Shorty invariably fluffs and rearranges the cover in his cage 24 hours before a change in the weather. When loose in the house, he packs rags as large as a hand towel in his jaws and carries them to his cage. He frequently sleeps on his back with his cover pulled up under his chin.

Shorty, who has never been teased, barks in recognition of Mrs. Hart's arrival and sets up a constant chatter when annoyed. He sheds his coat twice a year, wearing a rich red-fox color in summer and sporting a greyish cast in winter.

He has to stay penned since he has no fear of dogs. Tuffy, family's pet dog now dead, was Shorty's boon companion in his early life.

Mrs. Hart doesn't know the average life of a prairie dog, but expects Shorty to live a carefree life to the age of 12 to 15 years, barring possible disturbances resulting from radishes.

him to cut another road on his property in addition to the easement he had already given the county. He also alleged that poor maintenance along the siding caused water to back up on his property and cause further damage.

The trackage was laid down under an agreement dated April 28, 1942, and includes the proviso that it would be of temporary nature only and would be removed when the war was officially ended.

Judge Walter Davies, Commissioners R. O Short, George G. Green, Otis Isom, Perry Corley, and County Clerk Louie Moore were present.

The measure will be acted on Thursday by the full committee and Chairman Celler (D-NY), of the latter group, said "no opposition" is expected.

Among the additional judgeships, which Celler has said are needed to overcome crowded conditions in the federal courts, is one for the southern district of Texas.

But I want a telephone—not a cable

Telephones and telephone cables go together. You talk into the telephone—but it's the cable that carries your voice.

If you are waiting for a telephone you may wonder why we don't connect it to a telephone cable already near your home.

The answer usually is: That cable is carrying a full load right now.

It would be handy if we could hang out an "SRO" sign like a theater—"Standing Room Only"—and connect a lot of extra telephones to these full-up cables.

But cables aren't like that. When they're working 100 per cent—when every wire in them is already connected—there just isn't any more room, standing room or anything else.

So . . . to bring service to you and to others waiting, we must place more cables. That gives us extra wires. Then we can connect new telephones.

That's what we're doing, getting more cables in place, and faster than ever before. A million miles of cable wire this year alone. All so that we can get telephones to those waiting just as soon as we can, and to make all service better than before.

Farm Leader Foresees Curbs On Wheat If New Market Not Found

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—A farm leader said today that next year's wheat crop may have to be held down by acreage allotments if a foreign market isn't found for surplus American wheat.

This leader, Charles Marshall, president of the Nebraska Farm Bureau, told a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee the Agriculture department is "seriously considering" acreage allotments and marketing quotas.

Marshall urged approval of the international wheat agreement. He was speaking for the American Farm Bureau federation.

"I understand the Department of Agriculture is considering seriously the establishment of acreage allotments and possibly marketing quotas, to limit wheat production next year," Marshall said.

New Market Sought

"While it appears obvious wheat producers will be forced to reduce their acreage somewhat in the next few years, the American Farm Bureau federation believes every effort should be made to minimize the required adjustment by maintaining present, and developing new, markets for our surplus wheat."

James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union, said the surplus wheat carryover this year may run as high as 400,000,000 bushels. He estimated 1,500,000 acres of wheat will be planted in the United States.

Patton said whatever the cost of the international wheat agreement, it will be cheaper in the long run than accumulating huge surplus stocks.

Would Dispose Of Surplus

He urged a similar international marketing plan for such commodities as tobacco, cotton and rice.

The National Grange also urged the agreement as an "essential part of a sound world peace structure."

J. T. Sanders, Grange legislative counsel, said the pact would help dispose of the predicted bumper crop of over a million bushels of U. S. wheat this year.

Sanders said in testimony prepared for a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee the agreement would also help keep down unpredented added funds for support prices and eliminate some of the possibility of wheat acreage controls.

Quick Action Asked

"But we must act quickly," Sanders said, "if we are to derive benefits from the agreement covering the 1949-50 marketing season."

Under the agreement, the United States, Canada and 39 other nations agree among themselves to buy and sell more than 450,000,000 bushels of wheat each crop year for the next four years at a fixed price.

The top price would be $1.80 a bushel, the minimum from $1.50 the first year to $1.20 the fourth year.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan urged the Senate last week to approve the agreement which must be ratified by July 1 to be effective in this crop year.

He said the United States would be able to sell 168,000,000 bushels of wheat each year to consumer nations.

The subsidy cost will run about $84,000,000 a year, Brannan said. But he added this would be cheaper than the cost of a cut-back in U. S. wheat production.

Georgia City's Mayor Awaits Threatened Legal Action By Klan

SOPERTON, Ga., May 23 (U.P.)—Mayor Jim Peterson waited today to see if the Ku Klux Klan will take threatened legal action against him for stripping the hoods off three robed men here Saturday night.

Klan Grand Dragon Samuel Green, in Atlanta, claimed that Peterson "violated the civil rights" of the men by forcing the unmasking and declared that "he's going to hear something about it."

Green commented that "we don't like our dogs to be kicked around, by mayors or anybody else."

Men Freed On Bond

Meanwhile, the men who were unmasked went free on $100 bond each, charged with disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace.

Their trial, originally set for today in city court here, was postponed until June 13 when their attorney said he was unable to appear in court today.

They were listed at city jail as Joe Green, farmer; Malcolm Braddy, mechanic, and John Edge, State Highway department worker.

Peterson, 55-year-old mayor serving his ninth year in office, may have to sit as judge at their trial. The city recorder died recently and has not been replaced.

Escaped Convicts Sought

Peterson explained that he ripped the masks from the robed men because this area was on the alert for five escaped convicts and "nobody knows how they might have disguised themselves."

The mayor said he unmasked the men after they refused to tell who they were.

Peterson said housewives in his neighborhood complained to him Saturday night that hooded and sheeted men were in the streets. He saw two in front of his house and went out to talk to them, the mayor said.

Peterson said he thought the men might have been stationed on the corners to direct a Klan motorcade, but Grand Dragon Green said he knew of no Klan parade in that area.

He himself, Green said, was attending a "nice, orderly courthouse speaking" at Springfield, Ga., 50 miles away.

Lubbock Man Is Given $50 Fine, Jail Term

It cost John M. Howard, 37, of 202 Ave. H, a year in county jail, plus $50 fine and court costs, when he pleaded guilty Monday afternoon of aggravated assault upon a seven-year-old Lubbock girl.

Police in an official report submitted to County Attorney Waggoner Carr said two patrolmen were dispatched late Sunday to a theatre after a report had been phoned to the station saying that a man was molesting a child there.

The patrolmen, Robert L. Sears and W. C. Johnson, watched Howard taking lascivious and revolting liberties with the child and arrested him, the report said.

The defendant, a shoe repairman and father of two children, "admitted molesting the little girl and said he deserved any punishment that he could get," the official police report further said.

The assessment was made by County Judge Walter Davies after evidence was presented for the state by Dudley Brummett, assistant county attorney.

Leroy is three years old.

Yesterday Leroy stumbled and fell into Buffalo lake. He was going down for the second time when his father reached him. Artificial respiration worked again, and Leroy went back to work—throwing rocks into the water.

THE SECRET IS OUT! You knew it all along!!!

INTEGRITY

Simple wasn't it? The displays at the grocer's carried the letters "I-N-T-E-G-R-I-T-Y" on the different pieces. His newspaper ads did too. Put them together and they name the Secret Ingredient. Without the honesty and integrity of the Duncan Coffee Company behind it, Admiration Coffee could never have won and held for 30 years the loyalty of so many thousands. So we truly said "3 Decades of Honest Fulfillment"—fulfillment to every pledge, obligation and responsibility to Admiration's patrons, real and implied, private and public.

THE SECRET INGREDIENT IN Admiration Coffee
IS THE I-N-T-E-G-R-I-T-Y OF THE MANUFACTURER

freshness

No matter how good a coffee is when originally roasted, it loses its richness, flavor, aroma, and strength if not kept fresh. Years and years ago a method was devised by which Admiration is kept fresh until the moment the can or package is opened for use in the kitchen. Every characteristic of Admiration is yours to enjoy—as blended by the Company.

flavor

The clues were many and self-evident. Flavor, to be sure, was one, in that it has never been adulterated by the use of cheaper, less desirable grades of coffee, even during wartime. That would have been dishonest and in contradiction to Admiration's policy of faithfulness at whatever cost.

Aroma

The wholesome, inviting aroma of Admiration is not an accident. It is blended into Admiration by the use of certain exotic green coffees from distant lands. The delightful fragrance that thrills you on opening a fresh pound results from the method by which Admiration is packed. Every delicate whiff is captured and sealed in.

Honesty

Honesty covers a multitude of company Policies and viewpoints. No manufacturer can be honest who does not place first in every consideration the loyal thousands of his patrons. That has been Duncan Coffee Company's No. 1 policy from the day of its small but gallant beginning to its present position as the Southwest's largest coffee roaster. It shall continue to be its policy always.
