Annual Chamber banquet set Saturday

Citizen of the Year, Farm Family to be announced

Announcements of Colorado City's "Citizen of the Year" and Mitchell County's "Outstanding Farm and Ranch Family" will offer a suspenseful prelude to an address by State Sen. Troy Fraser at the 7 p.m. Saturday C-City Area Chamber of Commerce Banquet.

The 91st annual banquet at the Civic Center at 157 W. Second St. will also feature introductions of former Chamber presidents and past Citizen of the Year and Outstanding Farm and Ranch Family award recipients.

"We want to let them stand up and give them all a hand," said Banquet Co-chairman Bob Reily, noting that this is the last banquet of the 20th Century or the first of the 21st Century, depending on your viewpoint.

Reily's wife Charlene is the other co-chairman.

Chamber Manager Sendia Blake said Monday that 150 tickets had been sold, causing optimism that the banquet hall capacity of 300 people will be reached.

Tickets are $13 and will be on sale until 5 p.m. Thursday at the Chamber office next door to the Civic Center.

Ms. Blake said about half of the tickets had been sold by board members and the rest at the Chamber office.

Caterer Sally Neff is planning to serve 250 people, but more can be accommodated.

The menu includes mesquite grilled pork loins, spring green salad with raspberry vinegarette dressing, cheesy potatos, Italian green beans, homemade dinner rolls and chocolate mousse delight with coffee and tea.

After an invocation by the Rev. Sammy Elliott, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, master of ceremonies Rodney Cooper will introduce guests and past Chamber presidents.

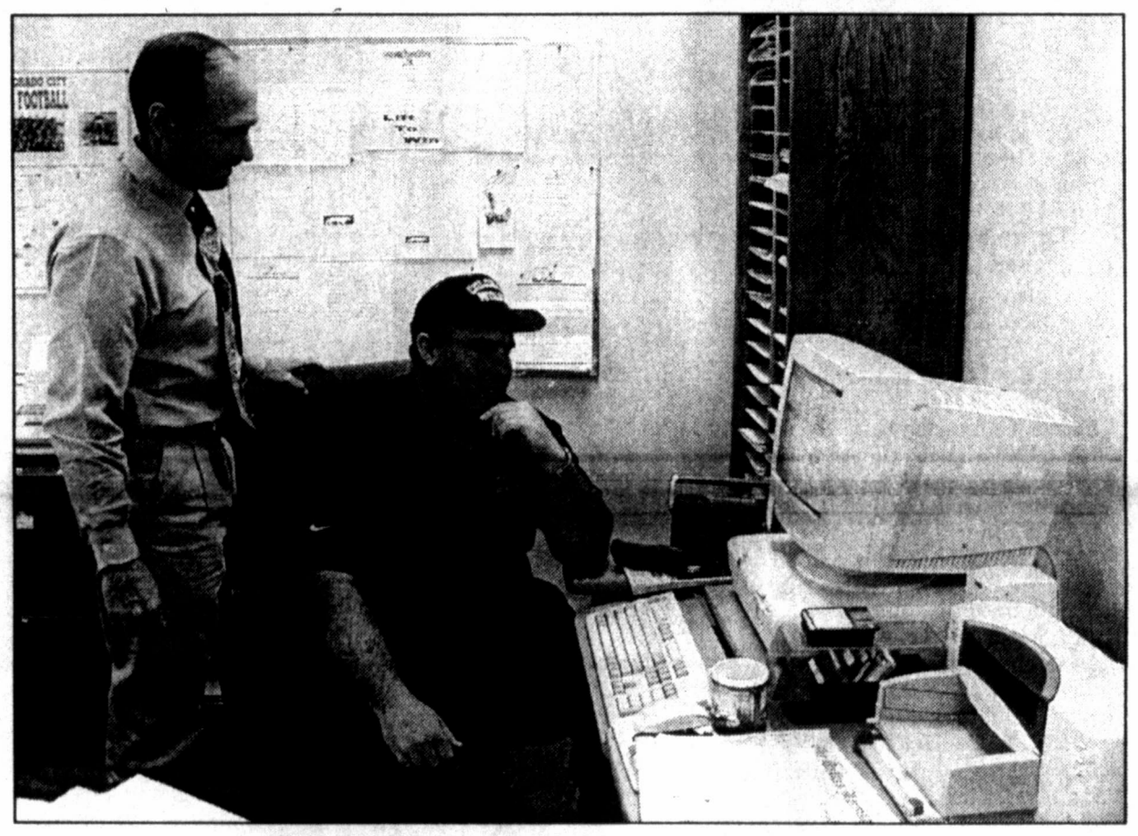

The first president was a very long serving one, the late Dr. P. C. Coleman, who held the office from 1909 to 1932.

The late Charles C. Thompson was president in 1933-37.

Wolves dropped to Class 2A

CISD ATHLETIC DIRECTOR Gerald James, right, and CHS Principal Mark Smith viewed new statewide UIL district alignments Tuesday morning, when they learned that Colorado City had been moved from Class 3-A to 2-A.

The Colorado High School Wolves were realigned into the football tough District 3-2A Tuesday with Stanton, Seagraves, Plains, Forsan and traditional rival Coahoma.

Athletic Director and Head Football Coach Gerald James and CHS Principal Mark Smith took the new UIL alignment off the Texas Education Agency's Internet Website when the new statewide alignments were posted at 9 a.m.

Coach James attended a Tuesday afternoon meeting of the new district's athletic directors in Lamesa to decide the dates and sites of district contests.

He had set the Wolves' 2000 non-district lineup, although not the home and road games schedule.

Confident of a rebound from last season's uncharacteristic 1-9 record, they will scrimmage Munday Aug. 19 there and Coleman Aug. 24 here and play Stamford Sept. 1, Crane Sept. 8, Merkel Sept. 15, Ballinger Sept. 22 and San Angelo Grape Creek Sept. 29.

Oct. 6 will be an open date.

The Wolves will play Seagraves Oct. 13 here, Stanton Oct. 20 here, Forsan Oct. 27 there, Plains Nov. 3 here and Coahoma Nov. 10 there.

Coach James said the Crane and Ballinger games will probably be the toughest on the non-district schedule and Stanton and Seagraves the "top dogs," other than C-City, in district play.

Murder case re-opened

The Mitchell County Sheriff's Office and Texas Rangers have reactivated a 12 year investigation into the apparently drug related shooting death of an Odessa man whose body was found in a pickup truck in a roadside park near Loraine.

Sheriff Patrick Toombs said Friday that four suspects have been identified from information received in Odessa in 1995 and two weeks ago from the Ector County Sheriff's Office, which received a Crimestoppers tip.

Three of the suspects are considered possibly to have been involved in the early Sunday morning, Feb. 7, 1988, killing on the north side of Interstate 20 about 2 1/2 miles east of Loraine.

The fourth is wanted more for questioning.

Sheriff Toombs said the first three men are believed either to be in or have close connections to Odessa, a town in New Mexico and the Big Bend area or Mexico.

The fourth man is from Dallas.

Juan Manuel Villa, 28, was found shot through the left chin and right side of his neck at 9:30 a.m. that day after a motorist told the Nolan County

Rotary Club sponsors American flags on holidays

Flying the American flag is an act of patriotism and appreciation of one's heritage that more people, especially children, should practice, members of the Colorado City Rotary Club believe.

That's why they joined with the Colorado Middle School Future Homemakers of America to offer $30 a year "flag contracts" to C-City citizens and businesses.

For that amount, Rotarians and seventh grade FHA members will put a flag on your porch, in your yard or in front of your business on each of seven flag related holidays during the year.

Only 10 contracts have been sold so far, but the club already has flagpoles the length of Hickory Street and downtown and is putting out a total of 50 flags on the holidays.

The Stars and Stripes go up here at 6:30 a.m. on Presidents Day, Armed Forces Day, Memorial Day, Flag Day, the Fourth of July, Labor Day and Veterans Day and are not taken down until 5 or 5:30 p.m., says Rotary Club President Mike Hemphill.

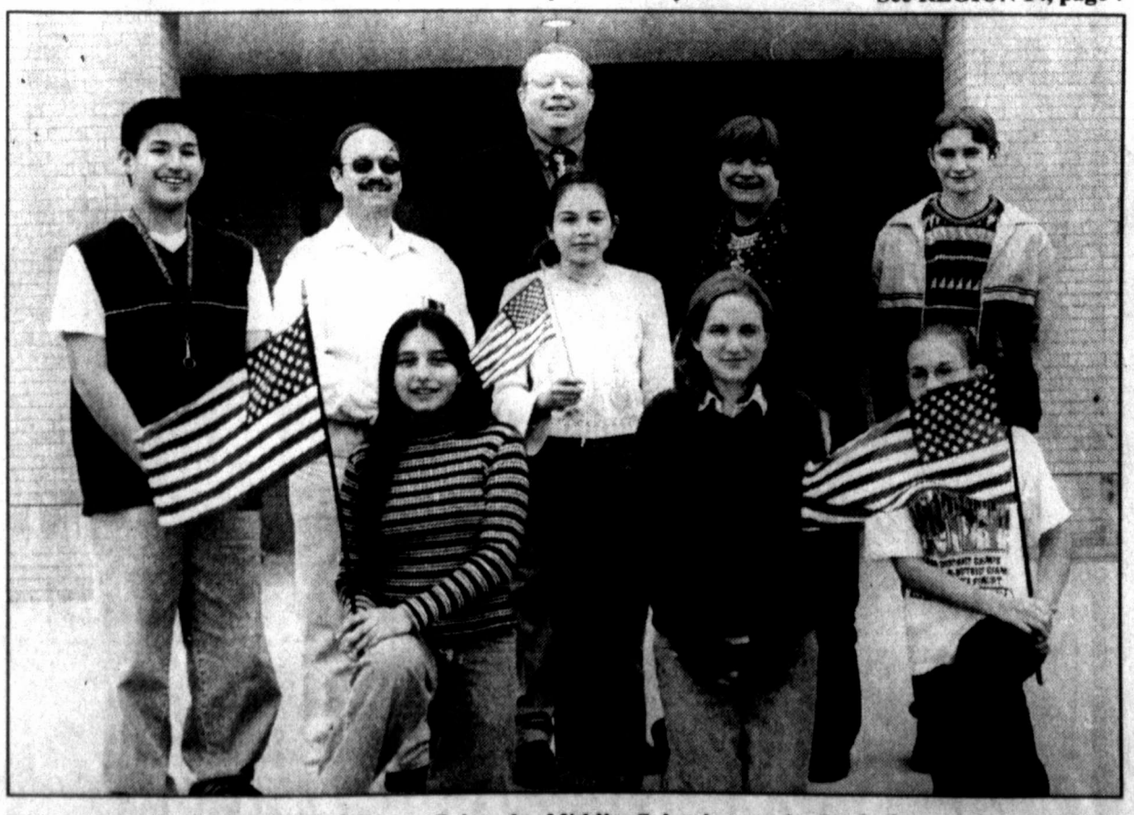

"Mark thought about getting the kids involved and giving them some of the profit for their projects," Hemphill said, referring to club member and CMS Principal Mark Merrell.

FHA students took part in the Veterans Day ceremony here last November.

The date has not been set, but they are planning a 7:30 a.m. observance at the school in which there will be a flag in every classroom and students will lead the Pledge of Allegiance over the school's public address system.

"I visited with the Rotary

Congressman's birthplace is preservation project

The Mitchell County Historical Commission has elected new officers and laid out plans to preserve the historic early 20th Century home of the late Congressman Martin Dies Jr.

2000-2002 officers are President Danny Bell, First Vice President Ann Nobles, Second Vice President Shirley Scott, Secretary Mary Crisp and Treasurer Shirley DeLaney.

Bell was elevated from first vice president after Ms. Scott's two year term as president expired, and Ms. Nobles and Ms. Crisp were named to the executive board after serving on the commission.

Their No. 1 project for the coming year is the preservation of the 305 Hickory St. home of Martin Dies Jr., who was born there in 1900 and who moved with his family to Beaumont two years later.

Dies became a state district judge in Beaumont and was elected to Congress in 1931.

He served until 1958 and was chairman of the Special Committee to Investigate Un-American Activities.

He ran unsuccessfully for the United States Senate in 1957 and died in 1972. He is entombed in Lufkin.

Ms. Scott said the late Congressman Dies' place in American history should make his birthplace an obvious Texas Historical Site, but it has fallen into disrepair and has even been the subject of a tentative plan for it to be demolished.

"It has a marker on it," she said. "It's in very bad condition, and we want to try to preserve it.

"There have been so many things here in Colorado City that were torn down that should have been saved, so we're working on that."

Ms. Scott said Bell plans a meeting with the Mitchell County Commissioners Court about the stucco house and that the commission has already contacted the city government about it.

She said the house is owned by a couple here who do not have the means to preserve it.

Commission members also plan to ask the Texas Historical Commission in Austin for assistance, she said.

Bell led a project during the Keep Colorado City Beautiful "Make a Difference Day" last Oct. 23 to pick up trash in the front yard and mow the grass.

In addition to the officers, commission members are Nell Holman, Donna Laurens, Mary Beth Love, Charles and Virgie Goodlett, Virginia Jones, John Morgan, Virginia Dearen, A.W. Phillips, Gwen Wistrand, Jeanie Bell, Randy Proctor and Mary Stice, all of C-City, and Roland Graham and Dorothy Fowler, both of Loraine.

NWS says weather will be dryer

The National Weather Service predicted mostly dry weather for the remainder of this week following cold rain possibly mixed with snow in Mitchell County Tuesday night and early Wednesday.

Forecaster George Mathews of Midland said partly cloudy skies will cover this part of West Central Texas through Sunday.

Temperatures will warm from around 50 Wednesday to the 60's on Thursday and the 60's and 70's Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Overnight lows will be from 25 to 30 degrees all week.

A northeasterly wind of 10 to 20 mph Wednesday will become light and southerly to southwesterly the rest of the week, Mathews said.

"The air is not real cold, but it's cool enough to change the rain into snow," he said.

Saddle's owner is sought

A state narcotics agent arrested a couple early Tuesday after finding a large amount of marijuana hidden in their vehicle near Loraine.

Agent Marc Fletcher of Abilene reported stopping Alberto Lopez, 21, of Chicago, Ill., and Margarita Arias, 38, of San Jose, Calif., at 2 a.m. on Interstate 20.

Agent Fletcher said a search revealed fewer than 40 pounds of the drug in the gasoline tank of their 1995 Ford Explorer.

The suspects' bonds had not been set Tuesday afternoon, and they were being held in Mitchell County Jail.

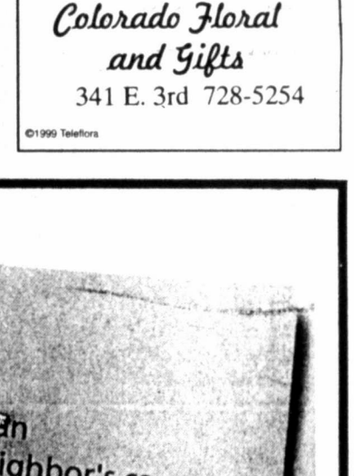

Sheriff Patrick Toombs issued a request for identification of a saddle that was turned in to Deputy Felix Pantoja of Loraine.

A citizen found the saddle hidden under a bridge in the southeast part of the county, the sheriff said, and it is assumed to have been stolen.

If anyone is missing a saddle, he or she should call the sheriff's office at 728-5261 and describe it, he said.

A COLORADO CITY MAN belongs to The CenturyMen, a group of Southern Baptist songleaders who have been nominated for a Grammy Award for their recent Christmas album, "Beautiful Star." He is John Bullock of 981 E. 14th St.

C-City man's CenturyMen earn Grammy nomination

A Christmas album that a Colorado City man sang on has been nominated for a national music award and will be mentioned during the annual Grammy Awards Show at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 23, on CBS Television.

John Bullock, a member of The CenturyMen, said Monday that the 100 Southern Baptist songleaders from around the nation felt they doing something special when "Beautiful Star" was recorded.

It is nominated in the "Best Classical Crossover Album" category.

Bullock is an original member of the group, which was organized in 1969 and is directed by New York City composer and producer Beryl Red.

The 51 minute album features 21 songs and evocative interludes, or "Christmas mosaics," as Red describes them.

It is $15 on CD and $10 on tape and is available at Lifeway Bookstores and Resmiranda Records at P. O. Box 950, Manchester, Vt. 05254.

Bullock has sold the two dozen CD's he had but can get more, he said. He lives at 981 E. 14th St. -- 728-5003.

"We're all kind of in shock over it, but on the other hand, I think it's the best thing we've done," he said.

"We talked about it a lot because we felt like it was a really good one. It showed a lot of promise and ingenuity on Beryl's part."

Bullock is the music director at Oak Street Baptist Church at 805 Oak.

"Beautiful Star" was recorded in five days in January 1998 in the First Baptist Church sanctuary in Knoxville, Tenn., and "mixed" in Red's New York studio.

Mixing is the process in which the multitudinous tracks of the recording are equalized and balanced.

The CenturyMen also performed in a Knoxville concert hall while they were in town, although none of the material they were recording.

"Beautiful Star" has innovative arrangements of traditional Christmas songs like " O Holy Night," "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Joy to the World" and "Silent Night" interspersed with unusual, sometimes moody sound effects that impart a sense of the profundity of Jesus Christ's purpose on Earth.

Then there are "Jerusalem in the Morning," opening with rhythmic noises of barnyard animals, "Ain't that a-Rockin'?" or "Mary Rocked the Baby," and "Wexford Carol."

The powerfully blended tenor, second tenor, baritone and bass voices are particularly impressive on the repetitive but hypnotic "Glory, Glory Hallelujah" and the Spanish flavored "Riu, Riu, Chiu."

"Christ the Son of God in flesh to Earth descended," says the chorus in the latter song. "Born to be a King, though His birth was in a manger. When He took our form, He redeemed us all from sin. Everlasting God, we will ever praise His name."

The CenturyMen are from 22 states and two foreign countries, and they will begin a tour of the Midwest and South in October, Bullock said.

Red is a graduate of Baylor University and Yale University and the original organizer of The CenturyMen.

His work has been described as "unusually creative" by a critic at the Washington Post.

MURDER

Sheriff's Office that his 1982 four wheel drive Chevrolet pickup truck had a bullet hole in the driver's side window.

Left running with the headlights on, the truck had idled until it ran out of gasoline.

Villa was slumped over in the cab, and a cigarette he was smoking when he was shot had burned a hole in the carpet.

Assessing the bullet that was found lodged in the other side of the cab, investigators determined that the murder weapon was a semiautomatic .45 caliber pistol like the old "Army .45" that was used for many years by the military.

Villa was believed to be involved with the Pablo Acosta narcotics ring that controlled border traffic from south of El Paso and Juarez to Presidio, Ojinaga and Big Bend National Park, the sheriff said.

Robbery was not the motive because more than $42,000 in cash was found in a paper sack on the floorboard.

The sheriff and Texas Rangers Sgt. Johnny Billings of Snyder believe Villa, heading west toward Odessa after buying the pickup in Dallas two days earlier, was motioned to pull over by two men he knew who drove up alongside him.

"It would be unusual for him to pull over for a stranger like that," Toombs said.

Villa's driver's side window was found rolled down two inches, and the bullet hole was 9 1/2 inches left of the right side of the window and 3 1/2 inches from the bottom.

The officers do not know if the killer walked to the pickup and fired through the window or if he shot from another vehicle.

If the shot was fired from a vehicle, they lean toward the theory that it was from a pickup because the bullet's trajectory through Villa's neck was level.

They think two men were involved, a wheelman and a triggerman.

Villa was killed between 2 and 4 a.m.

Officers believe he had been hauling marijuana to Dallas for the Acosta gang but had been keeping and selling some of it for himself.

"They made an example out of him, like, 'You don't do this if you work for this family,'" Sheriff Toombs said.

He said three other similar slayings in the Midland area in '87 and '88 are considered possibly to be related.

One victim was found shot in a roadside park and his car set afire with a large amount of money left in the car and scattered around it.

"It was like they were saying, 'The money is not the point,'" the sheriff said.

He said the spate of murders could have also resulted in part from Pablo Acosta's April 24, 1987, shooting death at the hands of Mexican federal police in Santa Elena Canyon, near the Big Bend, because the gang's new bosses felt it necessary to show their ruthlessness.

After the early stage of the investigation and a trip by Mitchell County deputies to Mexico, then Sheriff Wendell Bryant filed suit to claim Villa's $42,276 and the truck.

The county ended up getting most of the money, but the pickup went to Villa's widow in Elkhart, Kan., who was seven months pregnant when he died.

Oddly, a written interview with her was never filed by the Kansas Bureau of Investigation, which was involved in the early stage, the sheriff said.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has now been enlisted, and alerts for the suspects are in the FBI's national crime directory so that if any are contacted or arrested -- or cross the Mexican border and their true names are discovered -- the officers here will be told.

Unless the suspects die, the sheriff said, it will be hard to get anyone to testify against them.

"Someone may know who it is, but they're scared to say anything until the person is dead," he said.

"They don't want to end up like that, so they don't want to talk. They're scared to death of these people."

He said Mitchell County deputies took their '88 investigation to a town in the State of Chihuahua, Mexico, where Villa had relatives.

"They knew he was running with some people they didn't approve of," he said. "They just didn't think it would result in his death."

Q & A
Substance Abuse Trends

(In response to a growing concern among parents, educators and other members of the community, Colorado City Record, in cooperation with Al-Anon support groups and the Snyder Area Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse, is devoting this column to your questions about the increasing threat of substance abuse.)

CHILDREN OF ALCOHOLICS(COA): IMPORTANT FACTS

(Part 1 of 3)

1. Alcoholism affects the entire family.

- Living with a non-recovering alcoholic in the family can contribute to stress for all members of the family. Each member may be affected differently. Not all alcoholic families experience or react to this stress in the same way. The level of dysfunction or resiliency of the non-alcoholic spouse is a key factor in the effects of problems impacting children.
- Children raised in alcoholic families have different life experiences than children raised in non-alcoholic families. Children raised in other types of dysfunctional families may have similar developmental losses and stressors as do children raised in alcoholic families.
- Children living with a non-recovering alcoholic score lower on measures of family cohesion, intellectual-cultural orientation, active-recreational orientation, and independence. They also usually experience higher levels of conflict within the family.
- Children of alcoholics may be hampered by their inability to grow in developmentally healthy ways.

2. Many people report being exposed to alcoholism in their families.

- Seventy six million Americans, about 43% of the U.S. adult population, have been exposed to alcoholism in the family.
- Almost one in five adult Americans (18%) lived with an alcoholic while growing up.
- Roughly one in eight American adult drinkers is alcoholic or experiences problems due to the use of alcohol. The cost to society is estimated at in excess of $166 billion each year.
- There are an estimated 26.8 million COAs in the United States. Preliminary research suggests that over 11 million are under the age of 18.

3. There is strong, scientific evidence that alcoholism tends to run in families. Children of alcoholics are more at risk for alcoholism and other drug abuse than children of non-alcoholics.

- Children of alcoholics are four times more likely than non-COAs to develop alcoholism.
- Genetic factors play a major role in the development of alcoholism. There is an expanding base of literature which strongly supports a heritable basis for alcoholism and a range of family influences that may direct the development of children of alcoholics.
- Children's perceptions of parental drinking quantity and circumstances appear to influence their own drinking frequency.
- Children's alcohol expectancies reflect recognition of alcohol-related norms and a cognizance of parental drinking patterns by a very early age.
- Parental alcoholism and other drug dependencies have an impact upon children's early learning about alcohol and other drugs.
- Family interaction patterns also may influence the COA's risk for alcohol abuse. It has been found that families with an alcoholic parent displayed more negative family interaction during problem-solving discussions than in non-alcoholic families.
- Children of alcoholics are more likely than non-COAs to marry into families in which alcoholism is prevalent.
- Parental alcoholism influences adolescent substance use through several different pathways including stress, negative affect and decreased parental monitoring. Negative affect and impaired parental monitoring are associated with adolescent's joining in a peer network that supports drug use behavior.
- After drinking alcohol, sons of alcoholics experience more of the physiological changes associated with pleasurable effects compared with sons of non-alcoholics, although only immediately after drinking.

Home equity loans slow locally

Taking out a home equity loan to pay off big credit card debts is only a solution if you change your financial practices to avoid getting into a similar situation in the future, says one local banker who has been making the loans.

City National Bank Vice President Bobby Lemons said the bank has made about two dozen home equity loans and that he counsels borrowers who have gotten into difficulty with their credit cards.

"They can cut their interest in half, but it doesn't do them a lot of good if they take the home equity loan and pay off their credit cards and then run them back up," Lemons said.

"We're not taking their credit cards and cutting them up, but we kind of talk to them and encourage them, 'If we're going to do this, we expect you to do this.'

"We're telling them they need to avoid the temptation to go back into that same problem."

Lemons and other county bankers said they have not had any problems with the home equity loans they have made, but there are some changes they would like to see made in the state law that began allowing them two years ago.

They were contacted in conjunction with the release of a statewide survey of lenders that was reported to the Finance Commission of Texas in Austin.

Mark Waldrip, president of the First National Bank, said he has made several home equity loans and will continue to offer them.

"The law in Texas is more restrictive than in other states, so we have a long list of guidelines we have to follow," Waldrip said.

Some are that you can only borrow up to 80 percent of the current fair market value of your home, you must wait 15 days from the date of your application for the loan to be funded and there can only be one loan per homestead and one in 12 months.

Another is that closing costs cannot exceed three percent of the loan.

"Most of these are intended to protect the consumer, but ultimately it is the bank's responsibility to enforce them," Waldrip said.

Bill Crockett, president of the First Bank of West Texas in Loraine, has made about a dozen home equity loans and said he has had no problems other than dealing with the cumbersome process.

"There is a lot of red tape involved," he said. "Some finetuning will need to be done.

With the test of time, these things usually have to be adjusted."

Analytica Inc. of Houston surveyed 91 banks, credit unions, savings banks and mortgage companies last August, September and October for the Finance Commission.

72 gave complete data, reporting 267,716 applications and 105,819 approvals for a 40 percent approval rate and an average loan of $37,553.

"One financial institution (FI) reported well over 100,000 of the 267,716 applications," Analytica said. "This particular FI also reported an unusually low approval rate of under 20 percent.

"If this FI is eliminated, the remaining 71 had an approval rate of 62 percent."

The most common reasons for loan applications to be denied were, in order, a bad credit rating, insufficient equity, the debt to income ratio and the acreage limitation.

With an average interest rate of 8.47 percent, 31 percent of the institutions had set a rate between seven and eight percent and 43 percent one between eight and nine percent.

Amortization schedules varied from five to 30 years and averaged 19.

Banks', credit unions' and savings banks' were around 15 years and mortgage companies' around 30.

30 percent of the executives polled wanted the law's one acre limitation changed, and it was expanded to 10 acres in urban areas in the November constitutional amendments election.

27 percent said the three percent fee limitation should be changed, 20 percent wanted the 12 day waiting period removed and the same number favored eliminating the 80 percent loan to value cap.

18 percent said the lending institution's loss of principal and interest because of one mistake should be done away with.

14 percent wanted a line of credit to be allowed while 13 percent said traditional foreclosure rules should be used and the same number wanted the agricultural exemption removed.

11 percent said the non-recourse and no personal liability clause should be eliminated.

To the voters of Precinct 1:

My name is Bill Muncrief and I am seeking the office of Precinct 1 County Commissioner. I have been a resident of Mitchell County for many years and am a concerned taxpayer due to the continually rising property taxes. I feel this rise is due to what I believe, is excessive spending by our elected officials. I think it is time to start saving the taxpayers' money instead of spending it. We cannot continue to operate as we have in the past because of very poor economic conditions. If the taxpayers will join me, let's try to lower our taxes instead of raising them every year.

Vote Bill Muncrief Commissioner Precinct 1

Political Adv. Pd. for by Bill Muncrief, 904 E. 18th, Colorado City

Kristi Lee Manor & Loraine Manor

We, the owners and administrators of Kristi Lee Manor and Loraine Manor, would like to take this opportunity to present to the public the concerns we shared with the Mitchell County Hospital District Board last week and information about the upcoming vote regarding the proposed new hospital complex.

For years we have felt, and had others in the community tell us, that there are issues which need to be addressed by the hospital district regarding its operations. The problem has been that no one, including us, has been willing to speak out publicly because they did not wish to appear contentious, or because they were concerned about how speaking out might affect their ability to do business in Mitchell County, or simply because they did not wish to risk losing friendships. We have finally come to the conclusion that our silence has not helped us. We find ourselves on the verge of losing at least one of our businesses as a result of what we consider to be unfair practices by the hospital district and some of it's employees. We simply con not remain silent any longer.

Recently in staff meetings, at both of our facilities, we told our employees that our position was one of the supporting the building of a new hospital and clinic if the community was in favor of spending the money. We feel that a new and better facility with new equipment can only benefit our residents. We also told them that they were free to vote any way they choose and with a voter registration card we would give them time off to go vote. After those meetings with our staff the hospital district then voted to include the nursing home in the proposed building project. We must now withdraw our support of the project.

If the building of a new hospital and clinic is passed and handled correctly, it will benefit the community as a whole. On the other hand, if it is not handled correctly and too large a hospital is built or too much is included with the complex, such as the nursing home, it may be difficult or even impossible for the district to pay for it. If that happens, we will have wonderful new facilities sitting empty and/or face a very serious tax increase to cover the shortfall.

Last week Clark Moody co-owner of Kristi Lee Manor and Gary White Administrator of Loraine Manor met with the Mitchell County Hospital District's Board and set before them issues which we feel must be addressed. Over and above the main issue of the hospital district's monopoly these boil down to four major points as well as several minor ones.

The major points are:
1) We feel tax dollars paid by businesses and families in Mitchell County should be used for the benefit of the whole county, not an extremely limited number of people in the district who use the services of the district's nursing home.
2) In addition we naturally object to the use of tax money paid by Kristi Lee Manor and Loraine Manor funding our competitor in any way, especially to build a new facility.
3) The county owned nursing home has an unfair advantage in gaining new admissions because there are some hospital district employees who wrongfully push admissions in Valley Fair's direction.
4) There is an unprofessional and sometime slanderous attitude of some of the hospital districts employees towards Kristi Lee Manor and Loraine Manor.

We are asking the hospital board drop the new nursing home project altogether. We will be placing a statement like this one in the paper and on KVMC and KAUM radio for the next several weeks in order to present issues which we feel must be addressed in this matter. We would like to urge those in the community to write into the newspaper and to contact the radio stations regarding how you feel about what we are saying. We sincerely want to know how the community, as a whole, feels about the proposed hospital/clinic/nursing home complex. In addition, we will be more than happy to discuss our position with anyone who might want to drop by or call Kristi Lee Manor or Loraine Manor for more information, or by meeting with any club, organization or civic group. We welcome your comments to us and especially comments given to the paper or radio. In the spirit of honest and open communication we would ask that if you or your immediate family are connected with the Mitchell County Hospital District or to either Kristi Lee Manor or Loraine Manor, that you identify yourself as such when making the contact. We would also ask that you indicate whether or not you are a Mitchell County taxpayer and voter. We are aware and very thankful that some employees of the hospital district support our position, but they will have a difficult time publicly doing so, especially since more than one source has passed on to us that some hospital staff have been told not to voice negative opinions against the new building project, and not write into the newspaper telling them to get behind the whole project or find another job.

Local knifemaker enjoys hobby

KNIFEMAKER Mel Jaco took up his hobby last summer and has made two dozen knives since studying the ancient art with Snyder knifemaker Kenneth Price.

Art or craft, knifemaking is a complex endeavor that entails some 140 steps from beginning to completion for Colorado City knifemaker Melburn "Mel" Jaco of 887 E. 13th St.

The 55 year old Seymour native worked as a welder, law enforcement officer and oil company production superintendent before developing heart problems and retiring in 1992.

He had made a knife from a sawblade once while working for a Plainview fertilizer company and was looking for a hobby when he went to longtime Snyder knifemaker Kenneth Price to investigate the ancient art.

What he learned was interesting enough to start him making his own knives last June, sell a few and then put some for sale in the hunting department of Dandy's Diner at 121 E. Second St.

He uses stainless 440 surgical steel that he buys from the Jantz Co. of Davis, Okla., exotic hardwoods for handles and handtooled leather for scabbards that he makes in a workshop behind his home.

The green, grape, blue and brown handles give his knives a distinctive look along with the brightly polished blades and individualistic scabbards.

He uses African emerald green, walnut grape, indigo blue and laminated brown hardwood for the handles, engraving "Jaco" on each blade.

Eschewing big, showy hunting knives because he believes the rest of a blade "is wasted" if it is over five inches long, his blades are generally 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 inches long.

"It takes about four days with the tools I've got," Jaco said. "It's 20 to 30 hours of work."

The knives are $95 to $125 with some smaller, simpler models going for $75.

"I used to be a blacksmith when I was working for the fertilizer company," he said. "I took care of all the welding and maintenance, toolbars and so forth.

"If I can see it done or get the feeling of it by hand, I can pick up on it a lot better than I can by reading -- hands on.

"With metal, you learn how to shape it and temper it, weld and cut it -- how to use it. It's like any art or job. The more you do it, the better you get."

Jaco has made about two dozen knives, the first for minister Royce Clay Sr., one for tax consultant Sharon Truelove, four for his Lubbock cardiologist, Dr. Guy Wells, to give for Christmas presents and a half dozen for gunsmith Curtis Rogers to sell at Dandy's Diner.

He has made small knives for three of his and his wife Karen's six grandchildren but is keeping them until the children get old enough to handle them safely.

The couple has two children, Army Sgt. Scott Jaco, who is serving in Kosovo, and Tammy Midwell of C-City, whose husband Eddie is a diesel mechanic at Browne Brothers machine shop.

Jaco earned a GED after leaving Seymour High School, worked for Sunview Fertilizer Co. in Plainview and was a Littlefield policeman in 1969-70.

He was chief jailer and criminal warrant officer for the Taylor County Sheriff's Office in Abilene from '70 to '75, an engineer for Dow Chemical in Abilene and C-City and a production superintendent for the Pro-Thro Co. at Silver.

He was a reserve C-City policeman for about 10 years.

He suffered a back injury while working in the oilfield in '92 and three months later had a heart attack, after which he underwent triple bypass surgery.

Jaco had double bypass surgery in '98, and he was looking for "something" to keep my mind occupied" when he thought of knifemaking.

From his own design or one by a customer, he cuts out the blade with a hacksaw and begins the buffing, polishing, tempering and sharpening process.

Jaco has a grinding stone, four buffing wheels and compound bars to load the wheels.

Through the centuries, tempering metal for knife and sword blades has involved heating it to various shades of red, letting it cool for certain periods and dipping it in oil or water to make the molecules denser and the metal hard enough to hold an edge.

Great care has to be taken to avoid making it too brittle and therefore breakable.

With high quality surgical steel, the tempering process is much simpler.

After a blade is shaped and polished to a mirror finish, Jaco lights a welder's heating torch and starts heating it evenly.

When it's a nice cherry red, not too bright and not too dark, and the metal takes on what looks like "little fish scales" on the sides, he knows it is at the ideal temperature of 1,850 degrees.

Then he lets it "cool naturally without any kind of wind blowing on it," after which he is assured it is at the proscribed 57 to 62 of Rockwell Hardness -- a knifemaker's scale.

A perfect polish is necessary before tempering to ascertain that the blade can be returned to its former state, and now he starts to polish it again to get all the carbon out of the metal.

"440 is what all the knifemakers use," he said. "It will last a lifetime and won't rust.

"There is no maintenance except sharpening, and when it is tempered to the right temper, it will hold an edge for a long time."

Sen. Fraser's speech is futuristic

By Bob Campbell

I have gone to or made it a point to watch on TV most of the things I have been interested in over the years -- concerts by Ray Charles and the Beach Boys, the 1969 Moon Walk, a good Super Bowl. . .

But I've missed a few, too, like blues rocker George Thorogood's shows at Stubb's Barbecue in Lubbock in the mid-1980's and the Muhammad Ali-Joe Frazier "Thrilla in Manilla," the rubber match in their series of title fights.

I figured there was no way Thorogood was in Stevie Ray Vaughan's class, and I thought the second Ali-Frazier fight was predictable and the third would be more so.

I learned by listening to the radio a couple of years later that I had missed an original guitar stylist by tuning out Thorogood, and if anyone has a video of the Thrilla in Manilla, I would like to watch it.

Something else I enjoy is meaty politics, and we have a good taste of it coming to C-City this weekend in the persons of State Rep. Rob Junell of San Angelo and State Sen. Troy Fraser of Marble Falls.

Tickets are $13 and are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce at 157 W. Third St., and you don't want to miss out and have to hear second hand how interesting it was!

Unlike a concert, a boxing match or the Super Bowl, politics and government directly affect our lives and should always be worth our attention.

Texans have always appreciated politics, going back to Ma and Pa Ferguson, W. Lee "Pappy" O'Daniel and Lyndon Johnson.

It's mostly a matter of "cutting up the pie." You don't want to be moongazing while somebody steals your slice.

I would like to see Mitchell County organize with block captains in the towns and precinct captains in the country to get our vote in on election day.

There is no reason to leave it to chance when you can exert more control on the outcome.

I guess even the disinterested know how much influence Rep. Junell has in Austin. As chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, he is probably the third most powerful man in the state, ranking only behind Lt. Gov. Rick Perry of Haskell and House Speaker Pete Laney of Hale Center.

Is it an accident that all three of these men are West Texans?

Sen. Fraser has moved to the eastern end of his huge district, but he is a Coahoma and Big Spring native who has also garnered an increasing amount of influence in his four years in the Senate and earlier terms in the House, where he and Rep. Junell became good friends.

He is a member of the Senate Finance Committee, correspondent to the House Appropriations Committee, and has just been named by Lt. Gov. Perry to chair a committee on worker's comp reform.

That's what you want in a representative or senator -- someone who will take an office and make more out of it.

Sen. Fraser is squarely in the Austin power grid, and his address on West Texas' last 100 years and next 100 should be of interest to everyone.

He is unopposed for re-election this year, so we might not get another chance to hear him for awhile. I am keenly looking forward to it.

Letter to the Editor:

Mark Edwards, when you were elected by the citizens of Mitchell and Nolan counties to bring justice you were not elected God - just District Attorney!

So why not serve the taxpayers and take the evidence to the Grand Jury and let justice take its course, and if the Grand Jury "no bills," so be it. But let twelve individuals decide - not you, Mr. Edwards.

Hopefully, prayerfully, you will never lose a loved one the way my aunt Lucy Garcia died. However, if you do, I hope someone will be compassionate and sensitive toward your family to see justice served.

Also, next election, I hope the Hispanic community of Mitchell and Nolan counties (and other, regardless or race, creed or color) will remember how you handled this case.

I urge the taxpayers to call you and for you to explain to them why you decided Aunt Lucy's death was not worthy of taking before the Grand Jury.

You tell them, Mr. Edwards, why - with all the evidence - you think one middle-aged Mexican-American woman does not deserve justice. Tell us, Mr. Edwards, please tell us.

Lucia, te estranmos mucho. Te amamos y nunca y nunca te olvidaremos.

Letter to the Editor,

Many of us agree that we need a new hospital, since spending a ton of money on the old one would only solve part of the problem for a short length of time, we are told.

The thing about the decision to build a new hospital that makes me very angry is that the hospital board has put us in a "yes" or "no" situation only.

Why in the world do we not have an option between building a small, well equipped, modern hospital that we can pay for, and a ten million dollar monstrosity that we will never pay for in most of our lifetimes?

All of you know, as I do, that there are small hospitals closing their doors all over our state and some in our area. All the more reason to question why we would stick our necks out and mortgage our very souls for 10 million dollars when we could settle for less and be able to pay for it.

The sad thing about this is that our young families will be the ones to carry this monsterous tax burden, as most of us seniors will be gone by then.

Why do we not put first things first, like a hospital and pay as we go? That should be our first priority! In fact, I thought it was.

Another question I have is, Since when did the hosital district go into the real estate business, namely a nursing home, doctor's office, etc.?

I can tell you that I resent my taxes being spent to build a nursing home which is not an emergency, nor is it needed. It should have absolutely nothing to do with building a hospital.

It is my opinion that the hospital district should get out and stay out of the nursing home business, and tend strictly to hospital business. Money not spent on a nursing home could apply to a much bigger and nicer hospital.

If the hospital is built in a strategic location, the doctor's can still get to the hospital, as they always have, that is if they are in town. New offices can come later if we can pay for them! Which brings us to another question.

Why would you want to build a hospital next door to a prison and state jail? I can't believe this location is even being considered, even though the land is being donated.

I have nothing against the prison or jail or the people who so diligently work there, but I do have a problem with building a hospital in that area. Surely there are more appropriate locations available instead of next door to a prison system and an Interstate highway.

Another thing that really bothers me is this. Why does a small hospital such as ours, with an average of four to five patients or less per day, most of the time, plus three doctors and two Pa's, need a $94,000 a year administrator?

That is a lot of money going to one man when our little hospital is struggling to stay open. I realize that I am not up to date on hospital procedure, but I can't imagine what that man does at our small hospital to be worth $94,000 a year!.

He certainly is lacking in some department when he invited Clark Moody to come to the hospital to solicit patients for his nursing home. Can you believe that? It was the CC Record Jan. 27th.

Most of us know the kind of man Clark Moody is and that he would never stoop to such unprofessionalism.

I know that all of the board members did not agree with this proposal of a "yes" or "no," "take it or leave it" situation. I, for one, appreciate their time, efforts and concern for the taxpayer, but not many of us believe a ten million project can be done without more taxes now or later.

I was agreeable to building a small, well equipped, modern hospital that we can pay for, but when my friends and I were told that we had no option, a ten million dollar medical city or nothing.

We choose nothing! We will vote no when the time comes.

Sincerely,
Kay Gregory

In these days of hearing so much about gangs, shootings, and bomb threats in the schools, we would like to share a blessing... thereby, the attached letter.

Dear Mrs. Johnson,

Thank you Mrs. Johnson, for caring enough to obtain the S.H.A.R.E. Program.

Commendations to Principal Mark Merrell, Supt. Buddy Compton, President Larry Blassingame and the School Board as well as the taxpayers, for having a teacher with the insight, concern and ability to acquire a Learn and Serve Grant. This is an opportunity for the students to be doers and not just hearers of the word.

This team is doing great things! They are bringing joy and gratitude to the Senior Citizens of this community. Wallace Center is enriched by the service of these delightful students.

They do not need a level playing field...they know how to adapt! Example: Recently this team was presenting a program during the noon meal at Wallace Center. The lights went out; it was dark.

These talented young people did not panic... they improvised! They lit candles and served the meal to all the Senior Citizens by candle light. They also played their instruments and presented the entertainment they had prepared for us.

The demeanor of these young people is gratifying! They are courteous, polite and serve our needs with a smile!

May God bless all concerned.

Gratefully yours,
Beeman Dockrey

Good Health

By Tumbleweed Smith

I ran across one of those health exams in a magazine. It had questions like do you smoke, exercise, drink in moderation, cook meat until it is charred, take vitamins and are you more than 20 pounds overweight.

The test revealed that I would live to be 86.6 years old.

Actually, I thought I did pretty well. However, there were some weak points in my health regimen. According to the test, I drink too much coffee, don't floss my teeth every day, don't live close enough to my kids and don't take vitamins on a regular basis.

Well, I'm working on improving my health situation. I've already cut down on coffee, started flossing my teeth every day and now take a multi-vitamin daily.

The magazine had several articles on how to be healthy. Everyone of them stated how important it was to avoid stress, to laugh, to look on the bright side, to be optimistic.

The authors also suggested keeping your mind active by working crossword puzzles, learning a new language or figuring out a software program.

The articles talked about how many people in the U.S. are 100 years of age or older. Right now the number is 70,000. Within the next fifty years the number could grow to a million or more.

Centenarians are a healthy bunch, generally. Heart disease and stroke, two of the leading causes of death, are common for people in their fifties through eighties, but the risk is less for people over 90. In fact, the risk of dying slows substantially after age 90.

There are those who don't pay any attention to health rules and live long lives. A lady in France lived to be 122 and smoked until she was 117. She was financially secure, well educated and physically active.

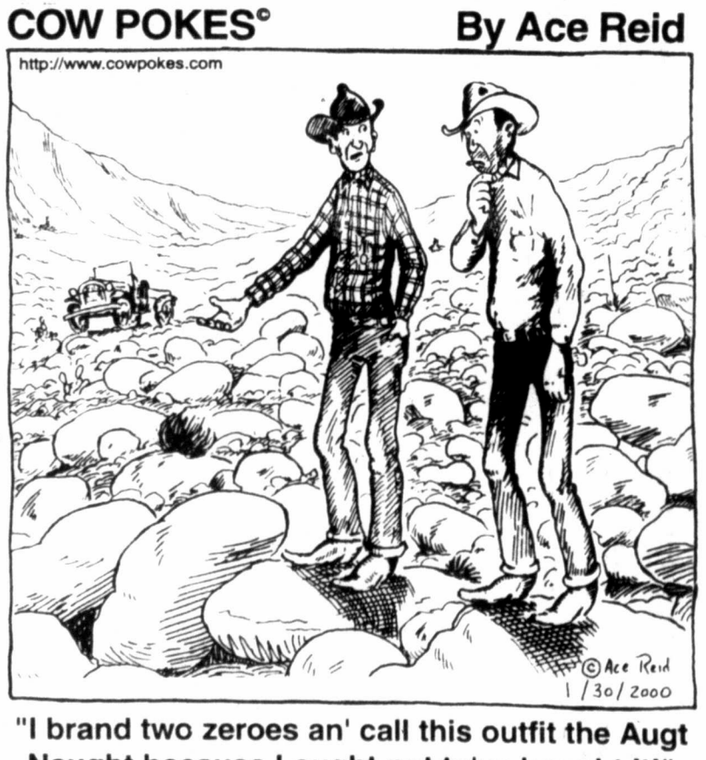

People who live long lives don't have to be senile, says one doctor who treats aging patients. Ways to avoid Alzheimer's include exercise, a low fat diet, antioxidants, anti-inflamatory drugs, harmones, ginkgo and vitamin E. He also says ten minutes of meditation twice a day is good. Above all, don't take yourself too seriously.

Dr. Kenneth Cooper of Dallas, a proponent of phycial fitness, says inadequate sleep, pessimism, depression and financial worry are "youth drains" that deplete energy and endanger health. He promotes reflection, laughter, Bible reading and other spiritual disciplines.

Back to the longevity quiz: To live a long a healthy life, you need to avoid butter, cream, pastries and fried foods, eat less meat and more fruit and vegetables, don't live in air polluted areas, stay out of the sun, have healthy parents who lived to be at least 75 and drink lots of water. Limit your alcolhol intake to two drinks a day, exercise at least three times a week, take vitamin E and selenium daily. Spend more time with your kids and grandkids.

Sounds good to me. My New Year's resolutions are going to be all about living a good and healthy life. I want to grow old without aging.

about a program to raise money for accelerated reading and to support the scholarships that they give away -- at least two each year," Merrell said.

The program is being directed at the school by FHA sponsor Ann Nobles, who reports having nine children involved - - Amy Eades, Heather Sturdivant, Brooke Smith, Leti Reyes, Carl Ramsey, Theresa Molina, Jesse Ferdin, B. J. Barnett and Felicia Flores.

You may call her, Merrell or School Secretary Gayle Younger at 728-2673, Hemphill at Mitchell County Utility Co. at 728-5092 and Don Wood or Lynn Hargrove at Wood's Boots at 728-3722 to buy a contract.

Ms. Nobles teaches seventh grade skills for living and career investigation classes.

Presidents Day is Feb. 21, Armed Forces Day May 20, Memorial Day May 29, Flag Day June 14, Labor Day Sept. 4 and Veterans Day Nov. 11.

The C-City Rotary Club chooses a family each Christmas to give clothing, food and gifts to in its "Adopt a Family" program and gives a $250 college scholarship to each of two or three graduating Colorado High School seniors each spring.

Recipients were Adam Wood and Mica Merrell in 1998 and Brett Hoyle, Jamie Mason and Justin Matthews last year.

The nine member club is looking for more members and a permanent place to meet.

Current members in addition to Hemphill, Merrell, Hargrove and Wood are Tim Lelek, Pat Taylor, Windi Fuller, Judy Suggs and Jerry Munoz.

It meets at noon Wednesday and has been alternating sites among C-City restaurants.

"We appreciate the participants from all businesses and families who support our flag program," Hemphill said.

TDCJ candlelight vigil set for Feb. 4

The American Federation of State County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) Union will be holding a candlelight vigil on Feb. 3, 2000 at the Colorado City Housing Authority, corner of 5th and Oak Street, from 7 to 8 p.m.

TDCJ Petitions and voter registration forms for anyone who wishes to sign them. All TDCJ employees, friends and neighbors are urged to attend this vigil.

The purpose of the vigil is to further the efforts to persuade Gov. George W. Bush to call a special session, to address the TDCJ staff shortage, low pay and safety issues.

During the vigil, there will be a moment of silence to honor Daniel Nagle who was murdered by an inmate in December at the McConnell Unit in Beeville, Texas.

REGION 14

There is no filing fee.

The Place 1 director will be chosen by mail in ballots from 42 school board members in the six school districts in Mitchell and Scurry Counties -- Colorado City, Westbrook and Loraine and Snyder, Ira and Hermleigh School Districts.

The seven member TEA panel meets on the third Thursday of every other month to review contractural issues, Service Center policy matters and other business.

It will meet on April 20 to canvass the votes and on June 15 to install the new directors.

Other counties in the region are Eastland, Comanche, Nolan, Fisher, Stonewall and Stephens Counties.

teams to the playoffs, and if C-City has trouble with Stanton and Seagraves, its main competition for the third slot might be from Coahoma or Plains, he said.

"Seagraves and Stanton are extremely good football teams year in and year out," he said. "They will probably be the top dogs in the district, other than us, but Coahoma and Plains have been getting stronger."

Stanton was the state 2-A champion two years ago and did well in the playoffs last year, but Coach Mark Cotton has told Coach James that this might be their last year in the first echelon for awhile with star running back Jeremy Hull about to graduate.

"Coach Cotton says they have got one more year when they will be real strong and then they will be down a little bit after this year. With Jeremy Hull in the backfield, they will still have real good speed.

"Coahoma has always been a pretty good rival for us. They quit wanting to play us, but we will try to get that going again.

"We needed a couple of strong opponents early, and we look for Ballinger and Crane to be a good test for us to see how far down the road we are early in the year."

Although Crane has been a 3-A power in recent seasons, C-City has historically done well against the school and still expects to, Coach James said.

The Ballinger Bearcats are another of the Wolves' old rivals, and the two teams usually stage a knock-down, drag-out of a game.

The Wolves' former district, 3-3A, remains almost the same with Midland Greenwood taking their place against Seminole, Brownfield, Denver City, Slaton and "top dog" Lamesa.

C-City administrators and coaches expected to be in 2-A District 1, 2 or 3.

District 1 has now been aligned with Anthony and Tornillo, just east of El Paso, McCamey, Ozona and Van Horn.

District 2, the one they preferred, has Eldorado, Junction, Mason, Grape Creek, Sonora and Wall.

"We're excited about it," said Coach James. "The schools are not going to twice as big as us, but it is still going to be good football."

ports, and Cooper will introduce past Outstanding Farm and Ranch Families.

Last year's recipients, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Don Watlington, will introduce this year's winning family.

After Cooper recognizes previous Citizens of the Year, 1999 winner Marge Kolman will announce this year's winner.

The family award is usually based on citizenship and agricultural community involvement, along with exemplary farm or ranch management.

The Citizen of the Year is typically someone who has gone out of his or her way to perform philanthropic services.

The awards have been given since 1963, when Mr. and Mrs. Warren Anderson were the family and Harry Ratliff was the citizen.

State Rep. Rob Junell of San Angelo will introduce Sen. Fraser, who will speak on West Texas' last century and project its next 100 years.

Sen. Fraser said in an interview with the CCR last week that water will be a preoccupation for West Texas and the state for at least the next half century.

Outgoing Chamber Board members Dan Morgan, Helen Edwards, Reily and Johnson will be recognized, and incoming directors Scott Stubblefield, Bill Barlow, Justin Harris and Virginia Jones will be installed.

Holdover directors are Mike Jordan, Donna Laurens, Sharon Gilbreath, Janet McCright and Toelkes.

In addition to Toelkes, the new slate of officers includes Ms. Gilbreath, first vice president, Jordan, second vice president, Ms. Laurens, treasurer, and Ms. Jones, secretary.

Decorations chairmen Marsha Jordan and Cecilia Scott have created center pieces of terra cota pots with all natural earth tones featuring small birds, butterflies, dragon flies and bees.

Pianist Golda Redwine will play dinner music, and young people from the First United Methodist Church will serve the meal.

In Remembrance

Lucy Garcia

Not a day has gone by that we have not thought of her. It has been one year since this tragedy hit us oh so hard.

She was not only the best person ever but ... a mother to me. Her leaving on Feb. 6, 1999 left us so heartbroken. Many people do not know how this feels or how painful it is. It not only hit our family, but many loving friends. She was not only known as Lucy, Lucia, but as Nana and Mom.

ROYCE FEASTER listens as President Larry Phillips makes a presentation speech with his retirement plaque.

Feaster retires from Angelina College

Royce Feaster retired from Angelina College on Jan. 21 after 29 years as the financial aid director at the college.

He said he would miss the students who came to his office. Approximately 50,000 of them have come through the financial aid office during the past 29 years. He and his staff have helped them get financial assistance to enroll in college.

Feaster was hired in 1971 by Dr. Jack Hudgins, who was president of the college at that time. Feaster had been teaching art at Brownfield High School, but Dr. Hudgins did not need an art instructor. He offered Feaster the financial aid position, and the Feasters moved to Lufkin.

In his retirement, Feaster plans to enjoy his hobby, fishing. When asked where his favorite fishing spot was, he replied, "Anywhere there is water." Some of the places he particularly enjoys fishing are Colorado, New Mexico, Arkansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and of course Texas.

His colleagues at Angelina College honored him at a retirement party on Jan. 20.

COOK'S CORNER

By Sheila Plagens

Think of Valentine's Day and you think of red and pink hearts, valentine cards and candy. This week I searched through my recipes and found these that would be good for giving and enjoying this Valentine's Day.

TRIPLE CHOCOLATE KISSES

2 egg whites
1/4 tsp. cream of tartar
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 tsp. almond extract
1 square (1 oz.) semisweet chocolate, grated
42 milk chocolate kisses
Baking cocoa

In a mixing bowl, beat egg whites until foamy. Add cream of tartar; beat until soft peaks form, about 6 minutes. Gradually add sugar, beating until stiff peaks form, about 6 minutes. Beat in extract. Fold in grated chocolate. Insert a medium open-star tip in a pastry or plastic bag. Fill with the meringue. On lightly greased baking sheets, pipe forty-two 1 inch circles. Press a chocolate kiss into the center of each. Pipe meringue around each kiss in continuous circles from the base to the top until kiss is completely covered. Dust with cocoa. Bake at 325° for 15-18 minutes or until the edges are lightly browned. Immediately remove to wire racks to cool. Yield: 3 1/2 dozen.

BLACK FOREST PIE

3/4 cup sugar
1/3 cup baking cocoa
2 Tbsp. all-purpose flour
1/3 cup milk
1/4 cup butter or margarine
2 eggs, lightly beaten
1 can (21 oz.) cherry pie filling, divided
1 unbaked pastry shell (9 in.)
Whipped topping, optional

In a saucepan, combine sugar, cocoa, flour and milk until smooth. Add butter. Bring to a boil, cook and stir for 2 minutes or until thickened. Remove from the heat. "Ready, Set, Read" program in full swing at W'brook ISD

WESTBROOK -- If you're an elementary school student who doesn't like to read, a "reading buddy" from high school can often change your mind.

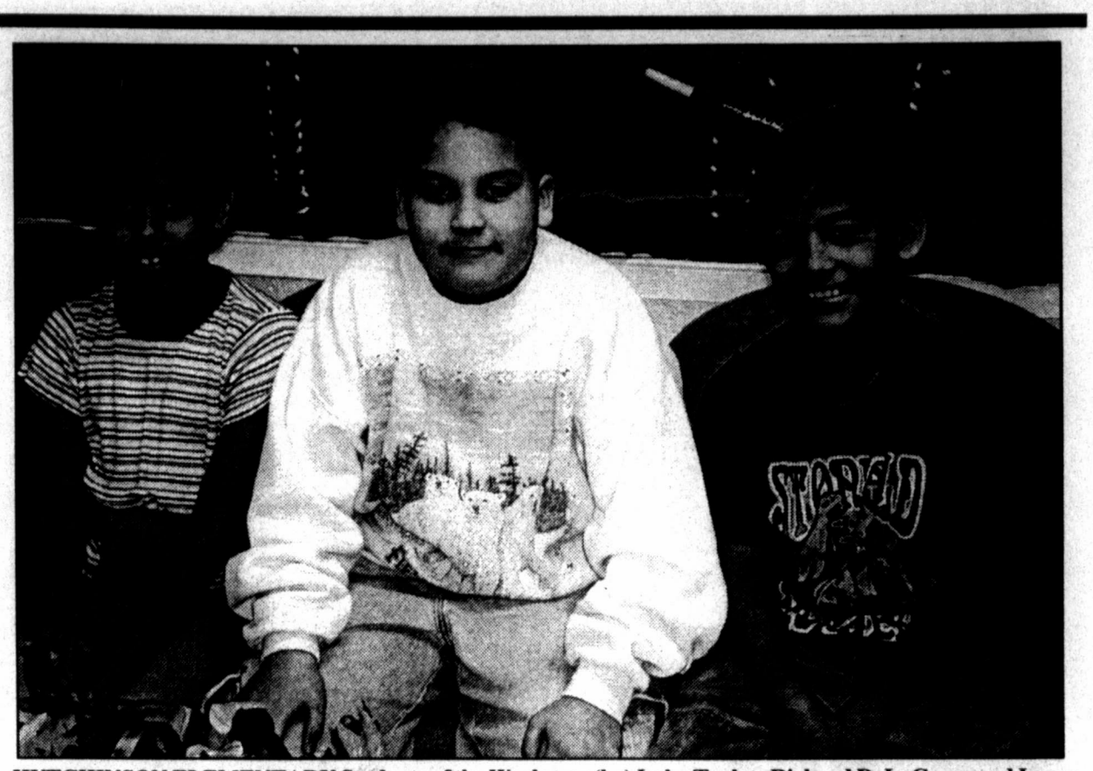

Westbrook FHA members have participated in the state sponsored "Ready, Set, Read" program since the beginning of the school year, pairing up elementary and high school students to impart the value of being a good reader.

According to home economics and life skills teacher Tammy Hardegree, they have also had Christmastime reading parties, produced and distributed pamphlets to parents and staged a book fair and parents' night.

"The goals of this project are to promote the statewide initiative set forth by the governor's office, increase reading skills of children and family members, provide FHA members with skills learned in home economics courses to be transferred into real life situations and learn valuable work and life skills," Ms. Hardegree said.

"Members will continue reading with their elementary buddies through the end of the school year.

"They are also planning future activities for the months of February and March."

LORAINE SCHOOL Citizens of the Week are: (l-r) Elias Gonzales, David Ellis, Stacy Parham and Daniel Talamantes.

Local entities receive grant

Colorado ISD, Mitchell County Hospital District and Mitchell County Library have recently received a planning grant in the amount of $20,000 from the Texas Telecommunications Infrastructure Fund.

The TIF Board's challenge is to "connect Texas." Thousands of public schools, libraries, community colleges, universities and not-for-profit health care facilities have received funds to build advanced local networks. TIF is now providing funds to involve and benefit the wider community.

The Collaborative Community Networking Grant is one way the TIF Board will extend its connectivity investment so that all Texans can have access to advanced technologies. Reaching rural, remote and underserved communities is a high priority.

Successful plans will receive up to $500,000 over a 24 month period to implement the Community Networking Plan.

What is a Community Network? "A Community Network is a locally based, locally staffed communication and information system designed to enhance community and enrich lives," states Terry Ann McAdams, Grant Management director at MCHD.

"Telecommunications can be used to connect neighbors to each other, as well as to the world. Our network can help organize and inform the community while offering access and training to people of all ages."

Ms. McAdams, along with Brenda Hammond, Information Technology Specialist for CISD, have been assigned to work on this project. Mitchell County Hospital District, Colorado ISD and Mitchell County Library, which are all taxing entities, are collaborating on this project in order to "give back to the taxpayers."

According to Ms. McAdams, a computer classroom will be funded and staffed at the Wallace Community Center. "Not every home has a computer with internet access. This classroom would provide access to the internet and training for computer skills.

"Advanced education and degrees are now available through the internet as are offsite jobs. Many companies are looking for communities with a skilled workforce that can do the work. Technology training can help bring jobs to Colorado City.

"We must change our way of thinking about what we have to offer a prospective business. With the information superhighway available, a trained workforce is very important to the economic development of a community.

"This grant will allow us to install the high-speed data transmission lines that are necessary for such business. This classroom would also provide a site for Agriculture Extension Services to conduct training and short-courses as well as a site for people of all ages to send and receive e-mail and surf the web."

The first meeting of the Colorado City Network planners will take place this Friday, Feb. 4 at 2 p.m. at the Wallace Center. All interested citizens are urged to attend.

Fifty-six communities in Texas were awarded Planning Grants for the TIF Community Network Grant. Other communities in our area that received the award were Rotan, Haskell and Coleman.

Local kids compete in Houston

Seventeen FFA members and 10 4-H members from Mitchell County will be joining other FFA and 4-H members from all over Texas for intense competition in the show ring at the 2000 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, Feb. 18-March 5, at the Astrohall in Houston.

The junior show, which show cases the animal projects of these FFA and 4-H exhibitors, is held during the second week of livestock competition, beginning Feb. 24. Professional breeders and ranchers will compete for top prize money and global recognition in the livestock industry during the first week of the Show, which kicks off Feb. 18.

Entries from both the open and junior shows, along with the horse show, combine to make the Houston Livestock Show the largest event of its kind in the world.

Mitchell County FFA members participating at Houston are: Dakota Blaze Dawson, Megan Brook Dawson, Christie Diese, Stacie Diese, Kaci Moody, Cory Don Morton, Michael Clayton Morton, Jimmy F. Roemisch III, Keisha Thurman, Dan Matthew Truelove, Jordan Lee Truelove, and Logan Emmit Truelove.

Mitchell County 4-H members participating at Houston are: Sarah Ann Cox, Tanner James Cox, Carlton Johnston, Griffin Limmer, Kelly Morris, Robin Morris, Mark Sheets, Sam Shrode, Nathan Smith and Sarah Smith.

More than 14,000 entries, representing 1,014 Texas 4-H clubs and FFA chapters, will compete in this year's junior show. A wide variety of animals will be shown in both the junior and open divisions of the livestock competition, including market steers, market barrows, market lambs, market poultry, beef and dairy heifers, breeding gilts, breeding sheep, goats, llamas, ostriches, commercial steers and breeding rabbits.

The four market animal categories represent animals raised by exhibitors for food sources. The finest animals in each of these categories are eligible for their individual market auctions. In 1999, the Houston Livestock Show's junior market auction sales totaled $5,399,375, including a record $550,000 for the Grand Champion Market Steer.

Solar car race includes area student competitors

Students from 36 schools in the Abilene, Brownwood, San Angelo and Wichita Falls areas are riding the sun's rays into the 2000s as part of the TXU Electric & Gas fifth annual competition for solar-powered model cars.

Local schools scheduled to compete in The Race of the Century are Colorado City, Hermleigh, Highland, Roscoe and Sweetwater.

They will be among 36 schools to compete in an area-qualifying race on April 8 at Clack Middle School in Abilene.

Contestants are students in grades 6-9 who build the model cars using kits supplied by TXU, plus a generous amount of creativity. Winners of the area competition will receive trophies and prizes of $50-$300 for their school science departments.

The four top teams then advance to the championship race in the Dallas-Fort Worth area in April. There they will compete against winners from five other areas of Texas for additional prizes for their schools.

"The championship race commemorates Earth Week and salutes environmentally clean, renewable energy resources such as solar power," said Judy Suggs, TXU Electric & Gas representative in Colorado City. "The solar cars are an effective way of making renewables real to the students and emphasizing TXU's priority on clean air as well enter a new century."

In designing and building the bodies of the cars, students face the challenge of balancing speed with visual appeal. In addition to prizes for the fastest cars, awards will be presented for the most overall creativity, most creative car design, best use of recycled materials and best use of the school mascot.

The tax man commeth and did his thing, and he will soon be back again in April, as you well know.

Aren't you glad that our closets aren't taxed like they did some years back in the USA, England and other European countries?

Older homes didn't have closets because of taxes, but a privileged few had beautiful "armoires" and "chiffrobes" for their hanging clothes, plus a large piece of furniture called a "linen press."

All one had to do was press linens with a hot "sad iron" then put things away in the linen press.

Those irons were indeed sad!

Rebecca Maxwell, daughter of Sarah and Rodney Lee of Colorado City and great-granddaughter of the late Opal Norman of Loraine has recently received a huge blessing.

Rebecca, being a diabetic all her 38 years, has always depended on insulin shots everyday in order to survive.

Some time back her health deteriorated to the point that the doctors put her on an organ donor's list, needing both a kidney and a pancreas.

After a year of waiting and being very ill, she was told that she would receive both organs.

Just recently she underwent surgery and immediately after, her kidney was working fine, with the pancreas doing the same shortly after.

The doctors said a few minutes following her surgery, she was no longer a diabetic.

At this time, she is still doing very well and making progress. Rebecca is also related to the Jarrats, a pioneer family of the Loraine area.

If Once You Don't Succeed...Try, Try Again

Without a doubt I know I but every now and again I try.

The last time this urge came upon me I started an oval rug, or my own interpretation of one. Never having had lessons, I calculated that in order to make the thing grow, it would need extra stitches all along the outer edges.

Very soon my oval rug turned into a deformed brassiere right before my eyes. Two humps were determined to stay on the rug and no matter what I tried they popped back out.

I tried steam pressing, I laid big heavy books on them, I soaked it in sugar water then ironed some more. Nothing helped.

If I squinted and almost closed one eye, the humped back thing didn't look too bad.

If you need a warm winter bra looking thing with one side a 48 D cup and the other 22 B, just call me.

TXU advertises for proposals

TXU Electric & Gas, a subsidiary of TXU, is seeking bids for one of the largest renewable energy proposals in U.S. history. TXU Electric & Gas requests bids on approximately 500 million kilowatt-hours of renewable energy credits, in conjunction with TXU's Clean Air 2000 Program.

"Renewable energy is part of TXU's commitment to clean air," said Steve Philley, TXU Energy Supply vice president. "TXU has been one of the leaders promoting wind energy in the Southwest. We are taking the next step in advancing renewables, whether it be wind, solar or other forms of renewable energy."

TXU Electric & Gas currently purchases all of the electricity generated at the Big Spring Wind Power Project, which features eight of the largest wind turbines in America. The Big Spring Project has a capacity of approximately 137 million kilowatt-hours per year.

"The Big Spring Wind Power Project is huge and this solicitation is almost four times larger," said Philley. "A project of 500 million kilowatts-hours is big enough to supply the annual energy needs of 29,000 homes which is roughly the entire city of DeSoto or Haltom City."

TXU Electric & Gas intends to acquire these renewable energy credits through a Request For Proposals (RFP). The deadline for bids is March 27, 2000. Bidders may either offer to sell the renewable energy credits or renewable energy in addition to the credits. TXU officials believe this RFP will be a strong incentive for the renewable energy industry in Texas.

The RFP is in response to a state goal of an additional 20,000,000 kilowatts of renewable energy capacity by January 1, 2009. TXU was a strong advocate of the renewable goals program during discussions of electric industry restructure.

TXU is one of the largest investor-owned energy services companies in the world with assets over $40 billion. The company is a multinational leader in electric and natural gas services, merchant trading, energy marketing, telecommunications and other energy-related services. TXU delivers energy to nine million customers, primarily in Texas, the United Kingdom and continental Europe and Australia.
