Latest reports from United Community Services show that a number of Texas cities and towns already have reached their United Fund or Community Chest goals this fall. However, most of the successful campaigns are in East and South Texas.

Most of these drives are seeking slightly more money than they did a year ago, but some of those who have histories of making it are doing it again, while others which have experienced difficulties in the past are doing the same this year.

The Scurry County United Fund has nearly reached the three-quarter mark toward its goal and time is running out.

Contributions have been rather good, considering their number. The problem has been getting participation. Campaign leaders have indicated that they will not take the drive here past Thanksgiving, and they are right. If the community cannot reach its goal in approximately two months, it is not likely to improve the situation by prolonging the campaign into the Christmas season.

Speaking of the Christmas season, Snyder merchants generally are going to hold off until Thanksgiving is past to turn their full attention to the Christmas shopping season. But they are going all out when the time comes.

The downtown Christmas decorations will be going up soon, because plans are to switch on the lights the day after Thanksgiving. Santa Claus will have his house again on the courthouse square, and this time it will be decorated profusely, Mickey Nunley, Chamber of Commerce Manager, has promised.

15 Marines Perish In 'Copter Crash

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. Marine helicopter returning to Da Nang with a crippled patrol crashed into a mountain side in the fog Wednesday, killing all 15 Marines aboard.

It was the worst crash in Vietnam since Aug. 26, when a big CH47 Chinook helicopter was shot down southeast of Da Nang and 31 U.S. Army men were killed.

Among the dead in Wednesday's crash was Lt. Col. William G. Leftwich Jr., 39, Memphis, Tenn., Tennessee's Man of the Year in 1965.

The helicopter, a medium-size CH46, crashed in the Que Son range about 22 miles southwest of Da Nang.

The U.S. Command said the cause of the crash was unknown, but other sources said fog and poor visibility apparently were responsible.

The wreckage was found on the side of the mountain and all of the bodies were recovered today by a Marine ground team landed by helicopters.

The ill-fated CH46 had lifted out a small Marine patrol from the Que Son mountains and was returning to the unit's base in Da Nang when it got lost in the clouds, field reports said. Another helicopter following it could not spot the craft and lost radio contact.

"The patrol in the Que Son mountains got into trouble," said one officer. "One man broke his leg and two more came down with fever. They called back and asked for a helicopter to lift them out."

Leftwich decided to pull out the entire patrol. Informed sources said he had always gone in after his men when there was an emergency, and he was the first aboard the 45-foot-long CH46 that was assigned to lift out the team.

Leftwich was serving his second tour in Vietnam. He was an adviser to South Vietnamese Marines from February 1965 until February 1966. At that time, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, then commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, called him the best adviser in Vietnam.

Leftwich returned to Vietnam for a second tour last February after serving in Washington as an aide to Undersecretary of the Navy John Winter.

On the battlefronts, 1,000 South Vietnamese troops opened a new drive into eastern Cambodia today, the third this week aimed at heading off North Vietnamese offensives into South Vietnam.

Trade Bill Survives Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — A quota-setting foreign trade bill that backers say would protect threatened U.S. industries has narrowly survived a House parliamentary battle.

With the parlianentary struggle over, the bill drastically modifying the 35-year-old U.S. policy of freer trade was set for expected passage today.

Opponents hoping to strike the quotas and other provisions they say would "kick off a real trade war" at first Wednesday won a rare 204-189 rejection of the House leadership's take-it-or-leave-it rule against amending the bill on the floor.

But then Ways and Means Committee Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., threatened to pull the bill off the floor if it were opened up for rewriting and the House reversed itself to accept the no-amendment rule, 203 to 186.

Critics called the import-curbing quotas on foreign textiles, shoes and apparel a dangerous break with world free trade and a move to U.S. economic isolationism.

But Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., said both Japan and the European Common Market, which have hinted at retaliation if quotas are imposed against them, "would have far more to lose in a trade war because they rely on world trade to a much greater degree than the United States."

Mills told the House that American-made shirts and printed fabrics would be driven off the market within five years by cheaper imports if the textile quotas are not imposed. Foreign-made shoes also threaten the U.S. industry, he said.

Discounting an estimate that the quotas would cost consumers $8.7 billion a year in higher prices by 1975, Mills said consumers are workers but those in the textile and shoe industries would not remain workers without the quotas.

Workers Return To GM Plant

DETROIT (AP) — Workers at one General Motors plant began reporting back to their jobs today for the first time in more than nine weeks, but top-level orders from the United Auto Workers blocked a back-to-work movement at a second plant.

GM was struck nationwide at midnight Sept. 14 to support new contract demands of the UAW and 394,000 were idled. A new national contract has been negotiated, but local unions will not complete ratification votes until Friday.

Thus far, however, 66 of 155 separate GM-UAW bargaining units have approved the new contract, which lifts wages more than $1 an hour over its three-year span. Only one small unit has rejected it.

Cambodia Fund Increase Asked

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania today warned critics of President Nixon's $155-million aid program for Cambodia that opposition could jeopardize $500 million earmarked for Israel.

"If they want aid to Israel," Scott told reporters, "they had better support the whole bill."

And he also contended that "the real issue here is that some people with presidential ambitions have no issue here unless they try to revive Cambodia ... for personal and political reasons."

The funds for Cambodia, and $65 million for South Vietnam, were part of a $1-billion boost in foreign aid that Nixon asked Congress to enact this year.

About half the total, some $500 million, would go to help Israel build her military strength.

But even Republicans acknowledged it might be difficult, despite "urgent needs" Nixon cited in his special aid message, to win enactment of the package during the current, lame-duck session of Congress.

Sen. Gordon Allot of Colorado, chairman of the Republican Policy Committee, said he had some doubts that action would come this year.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and a leading critic of Southeast Asian policies, wouldn't guess at a timetable.

Nixon briefed Senate leaders on his proposal at the White House Wednesday. At a separate background briefing for newsmen a high administration official outlined the administration's rationale, saying past aid to Cambodia already has helped the Vietnam war effort.

The official told newsmen three North Vietnamese divisions have been pulled out of South Vietnam and into Cambodia, and another was withdrawn from South Vietnam into south Laos.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic leader, said after talking with Nixon he was willing to consider the President's proposal provided it would help speed withdrawal of American troops.

Auto Insurance Rating Formula To Hike Costs

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Insurance Board announced today a new approach to auto insurance rate-making that will include profits from investments but will raise the cost of insurance to policyholders.

The board said at a news conference it would set rates that will give insurance companies a rate of return "comparable with" the 10-year average rate of return of industrial firms.

Chairman Ned Price said the 10-year Standard & Poors industrial average, which will be used as the guideline, was 11.56 per cent of net worth after taxes, counting all sources of income.

Board members were quick to point out that they would not necessarily set car insurance rates that would guarantee insurors an average of 11.56 per cent profit from their investments and underwriting.

"If there were no change in rates indicated this year by underwriting, would this approach require an increase in rates?" the board was asked.

"We haven't seen those figures yet, but, yes it would," replied Price.

The board declined to give any information on indicated changes in car insurance rates, saying all this would come out at the annual auto insurance rate hearing Monday.

The board did say rates definitely would rise, although not above 25 per cent—the board's long-standing ceiling on any rate increase.

The new rating formula will include taxes as an "expense" item for the first time, rather than lumping it in with profit.

For many years the board has used a formula that allows 5 cents out of every premium dollar for profits, taxes and "contingencies."

Price said this was "confiscatory," since for years companies have failed to make this amount and have had to rely on their investments to make a profit on car insurance.

In issuing the "fair rate of return" policy, the board also declared it will expect each company seeking a new or renewal license to do business in Texas "to provide a broad automobile insurance market for all insurable risks falling within the classes the company is authorized to underwrite.

"This is considered an absolute must by the board," he said.

The board has been concerned with policy cancellations and refusal of companies to write new car insurance policies for acceptable risks.

In its official notice, the board commented that organized labor, some public officials and a number of citizen groups have advocated for years that investment income should be considered in setting rates.

The argument has been that by recognizing insurance company profits from investment policyholders' premiums, the board could lower rates.

A special committee appointed last year by Gov. Preston Smith recommended that investment income should be included in the rate-making formula.

After years of staunch opposition, most of the insurance industry agreed at a board hearing in October that investment income should be considered.

An industry advisory committee recommended "fair rate of return" of 4.7 per cent from underwriting and 7 per cent on investments, both after taxes, as "an absolute minimum."

Cold Air Hits State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sharp north winds herded a fresh mass of cold air through the Texas plains country toward the southeast today.

Official observers looked for the weak frontal system to set off scattered showers or thunderstorms as it swept through the central and eastern sections of the state.

The latest forecasts indicated however, that it would stay dry in the Panhandle-Plains country, discarding an earlier mention of possibly light snow in that area.

The front whipped into the upper Panhandle around midnight and bored ahead with winds gusting up to 33 miles per hour at Amarillo.

Temperatures before dawn dropped to 34 degrees at Perryton and 37 at Dalhart, which were among the first points to feel the new chill. Readings generally stood in the 40s to 60s elsewhere, with the mercury still registering 70 at Brownsville on the southern tip of the state.

Curtain At 8 For SHS Play

"The Miracle Worker," fall drama production of Snyder High School, opens tonight on the SHS Stage. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

With a cast of 17 young actors, the play unfolds the story of how a young child struck deaf, dumb and blind by a childhood disease was brought out of her affliction by the determination of an "iron willed" young teacher.

Produced on Broadway in the late 1950's the play still has many issues relevant to today's society. A look at the generation gap; at strict discipline vs. laxity; South vs. North, are some of the areas explored.

A number of violent scenes are unfurled as Annie Sullivan, the teacher, refuses to give into the temper tantrums of the pampered Helen. Sometimes having to fight the family as well as the child, Miss Sullivan endures insults, slaps, food thrown into her face as well as a lot of hand to hand combat in order to teach young Helen what she is capable of learning.

The story of Helen Keller is a well known one and the transforming of her life from one of uselessness in a mental institution to one of great purpose is one of the modern miracles of our society.

A handsome unit set involving the use of many levels played before a brilliant blue background, sets the scene for the sometimes humorous, sometimes voilent, sometimes sad story.

Members of the cast include: Greg Carter, Pam Hartsfield, Mark Brock, Marsha Orr, Nita Davis, Randy Carmichael, Delores Lewallen, Cynthia Schiebel, Danny Martin, Kathie Martin, Gwen Camp, Karen Sears, Donna Messimer, Retha Boyd, Jenny Mullins, Allana Patterson, Jan Bellamy.

Other performances are scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 2:30 (Special school childrens matinee) and Saturday evening at 8. Tickets are $1 for adults and .50 for children.

Mitchell Denies Shootings

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — With tears glistening on his cheeks, S. Sgt. David Mitchell testified today he shot no one in a South Vietnamese hamlet during an alleged massacre in 1968, and he saw no one shot.

Ossie Brown, Mitchell's lawyer, asked him one question:

"Did you shoot any Vietnamese people . . . ?"

"No, sir ..." Mitchell interrupted.

"... in a ditch at My Lai 4 on March 16, 1968?"

"No, sir, Mr. Brown, I did not."

"I tender the witness," Brown said.

Under cross-examination by Capt. Michael Swann, Mitchell said he helped gather up approximately 30 Vietnamese civilians.

Nursing homes cause of guilty feelings

By Abigail Van Buren

(c) 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I help run a very high class nursing home and there is something which puzzles me.

Why is it when a person has spent months and even years in our nursing home, and he dies here, the family doesn't want it mentioned in the obituary that their relative died in a nursing home?

Do you think it is because they are ashamed that their loved one didn't pass away at home under their family's care?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Some people still suffer some guilt feelings about putting a family member in a nursing home, especially if the nursing home is not regarded as first class. These feelings are quite unnecessary in most cases, of course. The nursing home is becoming more and more a commonplace institution in our society.

DEAR ABBY: I am a happily married woman with a devoted husband and four, beautiful, school-age children. Money, we have little, but we have been blessed. After struggling with this problem for years I have decided to write to you. Maybe one of your readers can help me.

Nothing will wake me up in the morning. I've tried everything I have ever heard of: Sleeping with the alarm clock next to my ear. Sleeping with the alarm clock clear across the room. Setting two alarm clocks on opposite sides of the room. I have even set one alarm clock in the dishpan.

Before I go to sleep I keep telling myself over and over that I must get up in the morning. The rest of my family is as sleepyheaded as I am, and if I don't wake everybody else up, we all oversleep. I hear the alarm, turn it off, and go back to sleep again. Can you help me?

SLEEPYHEAD

DEAR SLEEPYHEAD: First try getting to bed earlier. And earlier and earlier. Then set two alarm clocks on opposite sides of the room, and after you have shut them off, immediately bathe your face and hands [all the way up to your elbows!] in cold water. Another suggestion. Don't let your husband and children depend on you to get them up. Insist that they get themselves up. After they have suffered the consequences of being late for work and school a few times, they'll cure themselves.

DEAR ABBY: Last Sunday, my husband and I drove over to visit his widowed mother.

As we were leaving, my mother-in-law says to my husband, "Next time, come alone so we can talk." [And she didn't whisper it, either.]

Abby, I always knew that my mother-in-law wasn't the smartest person in the world, but wouldn't you think she would have more brains than to say this in front of me?

On the way home I told my husband that from now on he can visit his mother alone all the time, and then they can "talk" as much as they want to.

Abby, I have bent over backwards to be a good daughter-in-law. Do you blame me for being burned up?

BURNED UP

DEAR BURNED: No. I suspect the poor dear isn't playing with a full deck.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "Young Mother" there is no "right" time to tell her adopted child that he is adopted. The time is now!

My wife and I have an adopted son, now three and one-half, and he knows he is adopted and he will tell the world he is. And so will we. God knows we love him, and he knows we love him, and we don't care who knows he's adopted. We are proud of it.

We have three other children, born to us, and they know we love them, too. No more because they are our "natural children"—and no less. That's what it's all about. L-O-V-E.

Sincerely,
BILL M., CINCINNATI

Senators Press Farm Bill

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate opponents of an administration-backed farm bill are maneuvering for a new round in a legislative battle that has ranged from a blocked Senate door to the White House to farm-belt ballot boxes.

The opponents claim the administration's bill would cost the nation's farmers more than a billion dollars in income by 1973.

Led by Sen. George McGovern, a Democrat from wheat-raising South Dakota, the group of 30 or more senators moved to pressure for House approval of a bill more akin to one first passed by the Senate.

The senators point to signs of farmer anger displayed at voting places in the Nov. 3 election.

They raise the specter of no new farm programs at all if defenders of the administration-backed bill continue on what they term an "intransigent" course.

The McGovern forces hoped to convince the Senate to turn down the report of a House-Senate conference committee which wrote a compromise bill earlier this year after one of the stormiest sessions in memory.

This would send the bill back to conference and instruct conferees to stick to main provisions of the Senate-passed bill.

McGovern has ready an alternative bill repeating all the noncontroversial sections of the new measure and continuing for a year provisions of present law tied to disputed items in the new bill.

The Senate declined to act on the conference report before the elections. For a time, Democratic leaders refused to allow a messenger from the House to enter the Senate chamber to deliver it.

President Nixon, in a sternly worded rebuke, called the delay a "very grave disservice to the American farmer."

Some political observers view election results in some farm areas as a rejection by many farmers of the President's farm program. It is intended primarily to put agricultural production on a market-oriented footing.

Leaders of some farm groups, especially among Plains-state growers of winter wheat and feed grain, say they see grave dangers of worsening farm income through erosion of the parity concept and farm price support floors.

US Helicopters Aiding Pakistan

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN
Associated Press Writer

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP) — The delivery of relief supplies to stricken areas of East Pakistan gets a small boost today with air drops from one plane and the arrival of six U.S. helicopters. But the operation is lagging badly because of the absence of Pakistani air force helicopters.

Anisuzzaman told a news conference Wednesday that many thousands of survivors of the cyclone and tidal waves that struck Friday are still in grave danger because they have not received help. He said there are still "very inaccessible places with which we have not yet had contact."

The Pakistani air force has some helicopters, but most are in West Pakistan and would have to cross hostile India. Three times during the news conference Anisuzzaman refused to answer questions about the failure of the military to provide more aircraft.

Other relief officials said there also had been a delay in the arrival of U.S. helicopters because the Pakistani government tried to specify that its pilots fly them. When the United States refused, the Pakistanis backed down.

Two American helicopters were due today from Nepal. Four others expected tonight will not be ready to fly again before Saturday. Britain also is sending two helicopters.

Otherwise Anisuzzaman's air force consists of a military C130 Hercules freighter which was to start drops today, one military helicopter which had to be grounded for maintenance after 14 hours aloft, one short-takeoff-and-landing plane, and the only seaplane in East Pakistan.

The air is the only feasible avenue for delivery of supplies to many of the stricken areas of the Bay of Bengal coast and the islands at the mouth of the Ganges River because all normal transport facilities were swept away by the winds and waves. Helicopters are particularly needed because many sections are still flooded, and drops from fixed-wing planes probably would miss the dry spots and be lost in the water.

Anisuzzaman said the official death toll now stands at 39,800, with 3,136 missing, but this "may shoot up like anything." The government announced several days ago an official figure of 55,000 dead, and unofficial estimates range from 300,000 to 650,000.

17 States Seek Pollution Order

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A decision appears imminent on a drive by 17 states to have the Supreme Court consider their suit charging the major auto manufacturers with conspiring to delay the development of antismog devices.

The states want the court to order General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors to equip all their cars built since 1953 with devices that would cut down the 67.3 million tons of carbon monoxide released annually from auto exhausts.

That would mean going to work on an estimated 85 to 100 million used cars. Even if the court agrees to consider the matter, such an order is a long way off, however. First the 17 states, headed by Washington, must persuade the justices the Supreme Court is the only suitable forum to settle the suit swiftly.

Then the states would have to win their argument that the four manufacturers are guilty of conspiracy in violation of the Sherman antitrust Act.

Frederic C. Tausend, a special assistant attorney general for Washington state, seemed hopeful in a telephone interview that the court would at least consider the suit.

If the states are turned down, Tausend said, they will consider filing the same kind of joint suit in a federal district court.

Attorneys for GM, Chrysler, Ford, American Motors and a fifth defendant, the Automobile Manufacturers Association, argue the Supreme Court is the wrong place for the kind of complex trial that would be required.

The states say, however, a final decision could take 10 years to reach if suits had to make their way up through several federal courts.

Though this suit does not seek damages, 17 damage suits have been filed in courts across the country by parties ranging from the states of New York and Minnesota to an apricot farmer in California. Last September, federal judge Manuel L. Real of Los Angeles agreed to hold a hearing on the possibility of combining these suits.

The states filed their motion for Supreme Court consideration August 5. The defendants replied October 3. The court could issue its decision on whether to hold a hearing next Monday, just before beginning a two-week recess.

In the closing day of the Johnson administration the Justice Department charged the four auto makers and their association with conspiracy.

The government, however, dropped the case under the Nixon administration but a consent decree restrained the defendants from any future conspiracy without pressing for a judgment on any past violations and without the auto makers admitting any guilt.

This did not prevent the states or individuals from pushing ahead with their own lawsuits. The complaint to the Supreme Court was signed by Washington, Illinois, Arizona, Colorado, Hawaii, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio, Rhode Island, Vermont, Virginia, North Dakota, and West Virginia.

Steelers' Demands Released

PITTSBURGH (AP) — United Steelworkers President I. W. Abel has taken the wraps off major 1971 contract demands and left little doubt his 1.2 million-member union would strike if necessary to back them up.

Although a "substantial ware increase" will be a major issue in the bargaining, Abel said, priority goes to a cost-of-living escalator.

"We waived this in 1969, and as a result the membership has suffered ever since," he said.

Abel spoke Wednesday at a news conference where a 14-page list of union demands was unveiled.

Cost-of-living wage escalators usually provide for automatic wage hikes if government surveys indicate price increases.

Other demands disclosed by Abel include cutting the five-day, eight-hour work week to four days and improved pension-health benefits.

The major demands were hammered out during a two-day session of the wage policy committee, made up of 163 elected local union representatives.

Asked the mood of the steelworkers, Abel said: "The attitude and frame of mind of our wage policy committee these last two days indicate they would strike to gain the equity they feel they have lost these past three years.

The last strike in the basic steel industry was a 116-day shutdown in 1959.

System Worries Police

DALLAS (AP) — Lt. R.E. McKinny, of the crimes against persons division of the Dallas Police Department, is worried that the Shell Oil Co.'s experiment of having customers pay with the exact change when making purchases at local service stations may endanger the staff.

Under the new system, started in September, station attendants carry no cash and the money they receive goes directly into a locked floor safe.

This technique could result in a would-be robber using his weapon out of frustration, McKinny thinks.

"Service stations are targets of opportunity for bandits who do not plan their holdups," he explains. "Not having access to the money might even endanger some night operators. Some have killed for lesser reasons."

But Larry Lentz, a Shell official, pointed out the company has had no holdups or attempted robberies at any of its stations since the security program was started.

"We think the experiment is terrific," said operator C. J. O'Rear at a Shell station on Stemmons. "It makes the night man feel much safer."

Serve Yam Puff With Turkey

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

The best holiday dinner isn't necessarily the one you've always served.

Maybe some of your standard recipes could be improved? Take the way you usually serve yams with roast turkey. Candied? Plain mashed or baked?

This year we suggest you offer a Pineapple Yam Puff with the holiday bird. You can prepare the dish a day ahead, then all you'll have to do an hour before your holiday dinner is to bake the yam puff in a moderate oven.

In this recipe the yams are pared before cooking instead of being cooked in their skins—the cooking direction most often given. We suggest the paring method because when the yams are cooked this way their color is a little better than when cooked with skins on and then peeled.

PINEAPPLE YAM PUFF

4 large (2 pounds) yams
¼ cup (½ of a quarter-pound stick) butter
¼ cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
1 can (9 ounces) crushed pineapple, undrained
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
2 eggs
Toasted pecan halves for garnish, if desired

Pare yams, dropping them into cold water; cut each yam in half crosswise. Place yams in a large saucepot and cover with boiling water; cover and boil 30 minutes or until tender when pierced with a fork. Drain. Put through food mill, placed over the large clean saucepot, to mash.

In a small skillet melt the butter; add the brown sugar and heat, stirring, until bubbly; stir into mashed yams adding undrained pineapple, the orange rind, salt and nutmeg.

In a small mixing bowl beat the eggs until thick and ivory color; fold into yam mixture.

Turn into an ungreased deep casserole or souffle dish (about 1½ quarts). Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven about 1 hour or until heated through and top is slightly crusted. If used, garnish with pecan halves.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Junior Cotillion meets at the Snyder Country Club at 7 p.m.

SUNDAY

Western Recital will be given by pupils of Mrs. Wayne Bethel at 3 p.m. for grades 1-6 and at 4 p.m. for grades 7-12 at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

LIBRARY NOTES

ROBERT E. SHERWOOD, Reluctant Moralist. By Walter J. Meserve. Pegasus (Western Publishing). $6.95.

Sherwood, as the author sums it up at the beginning of his book, was a "dramatist, historian, critic, propagandist, essayist, wit, moralist and concerned idealist."

It was in the 1920's and 1930's that Sherwood hit his stride as a playwright, with such broadway hits as "Reunion in Vienna," "The Petrified Forest," "Idiot's Delight," "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" and "There Shall Be No Night."

He also was an editor, a movie critic and a writer of movie scripts, who later became a speech writer for Franklin D. Roosevelt and wrote a book about the Roosevelt administration. But Meserve is concerned chiefly with his career as a dramatist.

In this critical biography the author interprets Sherwood's status as that of an able theater craftsman who had an idealistic view of life but hesitated to express his ideas fully, cloaking them in facile, romantic stage situations.

Meserve rates him as a smaller figure than such "serious" dramatists as Eugene O'Neill and Thornton Wilder, and comments that "It would almost seem that his demand for wit and humor, from both himself and others, veiled a fear of the strictly intellectual approach to life."

The book is a cool, detached review of the works of a man who took a simplistic view of life but was a complex personality himself. Meserve notes that in an important period for the drama, Sherwood was "in touch with the American common man, and American drama was stronger then as a consequence of his creative work."

To close the session they prepared a Japanese Tasting Dinner and invited two other mission groups, Mission Friends and Girls in Action, to attend the dinner. The Acteens, dressed as Geisha Girls, served food on low Japanese style tables. Pictured are the Acteens and their guests.

Pope Donates

VATICAN CITY, (AP) — Pope Paul VI has donated two large bronze candelabra to Saint Peter's Basilica to commemorate his 50 years as a priest.

The ornate candelabra, now supporting the oil lamps which burn night and day in front of the statue of St. Peter, were blessed by the Pope Wednesday in a brief ceremony.

The lampstands are the work of Italian sculptor Emilio Giarolli and show episodes in the lives of St. Peter and St. Paul.

Federals Probe For Antitrust Violations

By CHARLES R. HORNICK
Associated Press Writer

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Bernie Parrish, former defensive back with the Cleveland Browns, was to resume his testimony today before a special federal grand jury probing for possible antitrust violations in operations of the National Football League.

Parrish, who is director of Teamsters Union health and medical program in St. Louis, was called before the jury Wednesday afternoon following testimony by Ross Fichtner, another former Browns defensice back.

The jury recessed for the day after questioning Parrish for an hour and 45 minutes and instructed him to return at 10 a.m. today.

Parrish, 34, told newsmen he could not comment on questions put to him by the jury until he had completed his testimony.

"I was puzzled when I received the subpoena because I didn't know what it was all about, but now that I am here and have given some testimony, I'm glad to be of any help I can to the investigation," he said.

Fichtner, now a manufacturer's representative in Meadville, Pa., said some of the questions the jury asked him dealt with player-management relations and relations among players in the NFL.

He said the question of blackballing players came up, "but I wasn't able to give them much information."

Newsmen were unable to pin down as to whether he thought he had been blackballed.

"I think I got a raw deal but whether or not you call it blackballing I don't know," he said.

Parrish was with the Browns from 1959 until after the first game of the 1966 season, when he asked for his release. He finished the season with the Houston Oilers and then retired from football.

He declined to say why he asked for his release from the Browns. While with the club he helped organize the NFL Players' Association.

Fichtner, 32, said the Browns did not renew his contract after the 1967 season following a squabble over a celebrity golf tournament in which he had charge of inviting players. He was with the New Orleans Saints in 1968, but saw limited action, and was dropped before the 1969 season began.

The jury reportedly is looking for possible violations of the Sherman Act in the restraint of players' services and restraint of trade in the merger of the National and American Football Leagues. Such violations could bring criminal indictments.

Fichtner said the golf tournament incident "came at an inopportune time when there was a lot of publicity about race relations."

Teammate John Wooten, an offensive guard, also was dropped after he charged that Fichtner had not invited Negro players to participate in the celebrity tournament. He went with the Washington Redskins as a free agent after no other NFL club claimed him, but now is out of football.

Fichtner told newsmen he was accused of bigotry as a result of the golf tournament squabble but was vindicated.

He said the jury asked him about several players, including former teammate Walter Beach, who has claimed he was blackballed, but said Beach's name was not mentioned specifically with any complaint.

Beach, a student at Yale Law School, also is expected to appear before the grand jury.

Tom Fears, who was Fichtner's coach at New Orleans, was one of the first witnesses before the grand jury. He was fired by the Saints about two weeks ago. Representatives of the Browns' front office and coaching staff also have testified.

The investigation is being conducted under strict secrecy by the Cleveland office of the U.S. Justice Department's Antitrust Division. Carl Steinhouse, district director of the division, has declined to say how many witnesses were subpoenaed, but said the probe will take at least a month. The 23-member jury was impaneled Monday.

Griese Lauded As Top Back

MIAMI (AP) — Quarterback Bob Griese says his Miami Dolphin teammates "never lost confidence in me," even though he had failed to produce a single touchdown in 11 dry quarters.

Last Sunday the heat was on for the 25-year-old Purdue standout, and Griese became a rainmaker on the parched Orange Bowl plains. He showered the sky with lofty passes and engineered a green wave of Dolphin jerseys up and down the synthetic turf.

When the final gun sounded, the Dolphin fans, thirsting for victory after three consecutive losses, were riding high on a 21-10 triumph over the New Orleans Saints.

For his performance, the blonde signal-caller was named the National Football League's Offensive Player of the Week by The Associated Press.

"It's been a tough three weeks," Griese said Tuesday after being informed of the award. "But I never lost confidence in the team and I don't believe they lost confidence in me."

"I'm just glad we won," he said earlier. "I wasn't aware of my statistics, but if it took that to win, I'm happy about it."

Despite a bruised hip left over from the previous week's loss to Philadelphia, Griese had gone to the air 19 times with 15 completions—nine in a row—for 225 yards.

Frazier Wins By A Knockout

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Joe Frazier is a deadly puncher like such great heavyweights as Jack Dempsey, Joe Louis and Rocky Marciano but until he beats Muhammad Ali he will be a pretender rather than a king to boxing fans.

Frazier put his skills on display Wednesday night and was impressive as he knocked out light heavyweight champion Bob Foster in two rounds in his first title defense since he knocked out Jimmy Ellis last February.

But lacking was the daily increase in tension and the howling mob that usually makes attendance at a heavyweight championship fight a memorable experience.

Never did the fight excite the sporting public as did a fight like Marciano-Jersey Joe Walcott or Ali's return to the ring against Jerry Quarry.

And a crowd of only 6,300—second to the Ali-Sonny Liston fight in Lewiston, Maine in 1965 as the smallest heavyweight title turnout in modern history—showed up at 12,500-seat Cobo Arena for the feature half of the closed-circuit television doubleheader. Unbeaten heavyweight George Foreman stopped Boone Kirkman in two rounds in the opener in New York's Madison Square Garden.

But the Frazier victory cleared another block to a fight that has surpassed the boundaries of the sports world in catching the fancy of people—a fight with Ali.

When asked if he considered the Foster fight a tune-up for Ali, also known as Cassius Clay, Foster said:

"I was ready for Foster as I would have been for Ma-Ma (a reference to Ali)."

"I'm not talking about any fights for about three weeks," said Frazier's manager, Yank Durham, who then mentioned New York, Houston and Philadelphia as possible sites for a Frazier-Ali fight which could be in February.

"We will get together and talk," said Durham who added, "He might want more money than I want and then there wouldn't be any fight."

"I want Joe Frazier," Ali shouted after watching the bout on closed circuit television in Atlanta where he defeated Quarry last month in his first fight since he was stripped of his heavyweight title for refusing induction into the Army.

"Clay's not gonna take the pressure that Joe's gonna put on him," said Foster.

Promoters feel that people want so much to see whether Ali can take Frazier's pressure or whether Frazier really is what his title says that a fight between the two would be the most lucrative in history—grossing up to $10 million.

The next block to the dream fight is Oscar Bonavena, the brawling Argentine who will fight Ali Dec. 7 in Madison Square Garden.

There also is the five-year prison sentence that went with Ali's conviction, a conviction which still is being appealed. The U.S. Supreme Court has been asked by the Justice Department to act on the appeal within the next 90 days.

Frazier's demolition job on Foster kept him from being the first light heavyweight champion to win the heavyweight crown. Seven previous light heavy champs tried unsuccessfully nine times for boxing's big prize.

It was three deadly hooks that smashed Foster senseless at 49 seconds of the second round.

"I slipped a jab and hit him with a left hook for the first knock down," said Frazier. "The second time I doubled up with the left hook to the body and to the head."

Foster got up at the count of nine after the first knockdown and it was obvious he was in deep trouble.

When Foster went down for the second time, referee Tom Brisco could have counted far past 10. In fact, Foster was still unsteady when his handlers helped him from the ring.

Frazier said he did get stung by a right hand, Foster's power punch, in the first round. "But I always get stung in the first or second round and then I go to work."

When Frazier did go to work, Foster's superior height and reach did him no good.

The 26-year-old Frazier packed 209 pounds on his 5-foot-11¼-inch frame as he scored his 23rd knockout in his unbeaten pro career of 26 fights.

For the 6-3½ Foster, who weighed 188, the heaviest of his career, it was his fifth loss in 46 fights and the fourth to a heavyweight.

Foster, 31, who said before the fight he would not defend his light heavyweight title again, said afterward:

"I've got to defend the light heavyweight title soon."

While Foster, who has successfully defended his crown four times, is through as a heavyweight contender, Foreman is very much in the picture, but his chance for the title probably won't come until Frazier and Ali settle their differences.

The sparse turnout at Cobo Arena paid a gross of $147,000. Frazier was guaranteed $150,000 against 40 per cent of all receipts. The fight was seen on closed circuit television at 110 locations, with 500,000 sets, in 91 cities in the United Sates and Canada and also was beamed to 27 other countries.

Foster's end was 22½ per cent.

Colonels Move Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kentucky opened a 1½-game edge in the East and Indiana closed the gap to 1½ in the West as the divisional battles continued Wednesday night in the American Basketball Association.

The Colonels got a bit of breathing room in the fight to stay ahead of Virginia as they whipped Carolina 122-112 while the second-place Squires were ripped 127-115 by the Floridians.

And Indiana moved even closer to the idle front-running Utah Stars in the West as the Pacers clipped Denver 119-114.

In Wednesday night's only other ABA game—the first half of a twinbill in Jacksonville, Fla.—the Memphis Pros nipped Pittsburgh 114-111.

In National Basketball Association action, Philadelphia beat New York 113-106, San Francisco edged Boston 90-89, Chicago routed Cincinnati 128-107, Baltimore blitzed Cleveland 111-98, Portland crushed Atlanta 146-131 and Milwaukee bounced San Diego 117-111.

Dan Issel and Cincy Powell led the Kentucky attack with 28 points apiece. Carolina, with Joe Caldwell hitting 30 points to take scoring honors, led throughout most of the first half but the Colonels caught the Cougars in the second half and never looked back.

The Floridians got a 35-point burst from Larry Jones and easily held off a Virginia rally to win. The Squires trailed by 23 points in the third period before starting their futile climb back, led by Neal Johnson, who hit 12 of his 15 game points in the final quarter.

Indiana broke an 84-84 deadlock with Denver by scoring the first eight points of the fourth quarter in which Freddie Lewis of the Pacers hit 15 of his game-high 34 points. The Rockets, topped by Don Sidle and Larry Cannon with 27 apiece, never got closer than three points after that.

Memphis, with James Jones leading a balanced attack with 22 points, allowed Pittsburgh to tie the game 108-108 with less than three minutes to go before pulling it out. Mike Lewis of the Condors was high man for the night with 25 points.

Tiger Cage Season Set To Begin November 27

"You never know," said Snyder High School basketball coach Ned Underwood after learning that four of his prime prospects for the 1970 basketball team will not be back.

Three lettermen definitely are out for the season. They include Glenn Rambin, who sustained a knee injury last year and had an operation last summer; Jeff Stewart, who will concentrate on track this season; and, Bruce Almond, who got married.

The other boy Ned had been hoping to get is Ronnie Morse. A B-Team starter last season, he moved to Throckmorton last week.

That leaves only one letterman returning to the Black and Gold fold. Bid Cooper, 5-11 senior, is the only letterman of this year's Snyder High School squad. And, he wasn't a starter last season.

Fortunately for Ned, he's got some talented underclassmen who will play this season. Included are B-teamers Kent Horsley (6-7), Jackie Murray (5-11), Dubby Preston (6-4) and David Thompson (6-0). All four are juniors. Horsley is a center. Murray is a guard, and the other two are forwards.

Underwood has one other senior on the squad, but he doesn't have any previous experience. That is Glenn January, 6-6 senior, who decided to come out for basketball this year.

Four sophomores will be carried on the Black and Gold roster. They include Gary Brooks (6-2), Jerry Brooks (6-2), Jim Fred Liner (6-1) and Tommy Washington (5-11).

The Tigers will play an 18-game, three-tournament slate this season. Underwood says lack of experience is the big drawback, although he admitted the Tigers have a little more height than usual. The team has scrimmaged Abilene and Big Spring.

Bowden Shines

HANOVER, N. H.—Linebacker Murry Bowden of Snyder turned in another fine performance on Saturday as Dartmouth College shut out Cornell University 24-0.

Bowden highlighted a defensive effort that limited the nation's leading ground gainer, Ed Marinaro, to only 60 yards, his lowest total for the year. In completely shutting off the Cornell attack, Bowden was credited with twelve tackles, while the defense only allowed 193 yards in total offense.

The Indians are now 8-0 with only one game remaining. If they are able to defeat the University of Pennsylvania next Saturday, they will clinch the Ivy League football title, and be rated as a favorite to gain the Lambert Trophy, symbolic of the East's top squad.

Tribe Still Out Front

NEW YORK (AP) — The top four college division football teams—with Arkansas State heading the list—retained their positions in The Associated Press poll but there was plenty of action behind the leaders.

Arkansas State's Indians, with a perfect 9-0 record, garnered seven of the 15 first-place votes by the nationwide panel of sports writers and sports broadcasters and amassed 256 points in the balloting announced Wednesday.

Runner - up Montana, 10-2 received four first-place votes and 227 points and North Dakota State, 8-0-1, collected 185 points although receiving no first-place nominations.

Holding onto fourth was Tampa, 9-0, with 154 points while Tennessee State, 8-0, moved up one spot to fifth with 136.

Wofford leapfrogged from ninth to sixth place, followed by four newcomers to the Top Ten -Texas A&I, Eastern Kentucky, Abilene Christian and Wittenberg.

Tampa, Wofford, Texas A&I and Eastern Kentucky each received one first-place vote. Dropping out of the Top Ten were Southwest Louisiana, falling into a tie with St. Olaf, for 11th; Western Kentucky, down to 13th; Delaware, tied with Westminster, Pa., for No. 16, and Southern Illinois, which fell completely out of the Top 20.

The remaining teams in the Top 20 were No. 14 Eastern Michigan; No. 15 Jacksonville, Ala., State; No. 18 Grambling; No. 19 Alcorn A&M, and No. 20 Edinboro, Pa.

Commercial Paper Market Is Changed

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — When the Penn Central Transportation Co. sought protection from its creditors in the federal bankruptcy law last June, nobody was more shaken than those who held the big railroad's commercial paper.

Many of them—banks, mutual funds, insurance companies and other corporations—had forgotten that they were taking on an element of risk in purchasing these unsecured notes.

Belatedly, they realized that as professionals they had ignored the elementary lesson they often gave to amateurs, that there is risk in any investment.

Laxness, however, had been creeping into the commercial paper market, which is where corporations lend out their temporarily unneeded cash and where corporations temporarily in need of funds obtain short-term financing, ranging for a few days to a maximum of 270 days.

During the spring, when money was hard to get and interest rates were high, the lender was in the driver's seat. He drove a hard bargain in order to get the very highest return, but in the process, he sometimes forgot about the quality of his loans.

The Penn Central debacle reminded him, and it also destroyed the confidence that must exist between lender and borrower. Lenders suddenly were aware that borrowers, no matter how strong they appeared, might not be safe risks. Money was hoarded rather than circulated.

In fact, a disaster in corporate financing, which could have tumbled large enterprises, might have developed had not the Federal Reserve and large commercial banks quickly opened up lines of bank credit in order to supply funds to corporations temporarily illiquid.

Confidence, which maintains this market, is now growing again. Goldman Sachs and Co., the largest dealer in commercial paper, reports its business up 12 per cent since the runoff last summer. But it isn't the same market by any means.

Among the changes:

—Buyers of commercial paper are now willing to take lower returns in order to obtain a sounder purchase. As Robert Wilson, a Goldman Sachs partner express it: "They're not reaching for that extra point now. They'll take AT&T at a lower rate than another company."

—Finance committeee, directors, officers and others in hundreds of corporations that buy and sell commercial paper are, for the first time in years, reviewing their own standards and policies.

—Corporations with less than "single A" credit ratings, and which show an earnings decline or loss, are all but eliminated from the market. Instead, they must borrow at higher rates from the banks.

—Professional ratings, which exist in all other investments, are being instituted.

Baird Designs Wooden Actors

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Baird marionettes are getting farther and farther from reality.

Baird, 66, after a lifetime of puppeteering has concluded that children and adults don't like puppets that look and act like people. But they respond warmly to puppets that caricature human traits or make a comment on them. And they adore puppets that do things real people can't do.

"A weeping chicken is twice as sad as a weeping person," Baird says. "And also it's funny. We have one dog that cries about two quarts of water during a song he sings. Audiences love it.

"Puppets can have any emotion, but it is always kind of a takeoff on it. The strength of puppet theater is imagination and absurdity."

Baird runs a 194-seat theater in a six-story house in New York's Greenwich Village. The second floor is his apartment and the rest is used for workshops and storage. He bought the house five years ago, after a visit to Poland to see the 24 permanent puppet theaters there.

His theater isn't thought of generally by adults considering which off-Broadway theater to attend for an evening's entertainment. He says, "We've got some pioneering to do. But we do get more adult audiences than we used to, and once they're here, they love it."

The present play, "The Whistling Wizard and the Sultan of Tuffet," will go off the bill Dec. 5, to be replaced by "Ali Baba and the 38 Thieves"—"38 because it's a bad year in the theater."

Both are designed for children, but plans for future shows include some for children and some for adults, James Thurber's "Wonderful O," a Mark Twain show, one of the three plays that Garcia Morca wrote for puppets and a Punch and Judy show.

Baird says, "I'm not sure kids should be allowed in to see 'Punch.' It may be too risque."

Nudity in the Off-Broadway theater, though, is old hat to puppets, Baird says. "All our animals have been nude for years."

Eight puppeteers pull the strings during a show, from two narrow bridges, 31 inches apart, 6 feet above the stage. They hop back and forth, moving their puppets upstage and downstage, right and left.

The people who operate the puppets also speak their voices and work at making puppets, costumes and scenery. There are seven more people doing office work, maintenance, and working in the box office.

Behind the curtain, Baird says, puppet theaters may have 40 or 50 specialists working. But he prefers that the people who operate his puppets know them from the mold onwards.

Teachers To Be Graded

DALLAS (AP) — Teachers, who are more accustomed to giving out grades than getting them will be handed report cards of their own in Dallas schools starting this month.

The new performance rating forms handed out by principals are part of an evaluation plan designed to give early warning to any of the city's 700 teachers who might face non-renewal of their contracts for unsatisfactory work.

Teachers will be told whether their work is regarded as excellent, good, conditional or unacceptable. The only difference is they won't have to take their cards home to critical parents.

Hobby Earns Man Honors

AUSTIN (AP) — Most working men keep their jobs separate from their hobbies, but Phil Ward, a neon tube bender, has used his skills to develop a hobby that has earned him statewide honors.

Ward's hobby is sculpture, and both of his works that have been exhibited have taken honors in the Art from Industry show in 1969 and 1970 and at the State Fair in Dallas.

Ward took up his hobby less than three years ago when he made an 18½ inch diameter globe called "Our Nutty World" from 2,221 half-inch, three-eighth inch and five-eighth nuts.

The globe won the most ingenious award and went on to take the tri-color award at the 1969 Comal County Fair and first place in the scale model division at the State Fair in 1970.

Ward then competed in the Art from Industry show in 1970 with an entry he calls "My Owl-I-By," which took second place in the sculpture, metal division at the State Fair and most popular in the Art from Industry show in 1970. The owl sculpture stands three feet tall. It is made with punch slugs from an hydraulic punch, quarter-inch and half-inch lag screws and eight-inch and four-inch pipe.

Dreams For A Rainy Day

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Daydreams in a rainy hour:

Someone of these days I'll—

Choke an ox with my wallet.

Find a vast pearl in six oysters in a row.

Ride piggyback on the wings of a helpful angel.

Row a boat into the blue grotto of Capri.

Quit flattening my nose against life's window.

Yes, one of these days I'll—

Write a sonnet that Milton couldn't forget.

Learn again to whistle despite the fact that all my teeth have been permanently bridged at a total cost of $3,700—and how the next generation is going to pay its dental bills is certainly beyond me.

Pass a miracle.

Indeed, for sure, one of these days I'll—

Vow a lifelong silence in defense of free speech.

Invent an ice cube tray which will tamely yield its cubes when simply glared at.

Open Christmas package with something in it worth more than what it is wrapped in.

Pack up all my troubles in my old kit bag, and bury the bag in someone else's back yard.

Yes, you can bet your bottom dollar that one of these days I'll —

Get the hot dog concession at the Taj Mahal.

Sing a duet with Julie Andrews on a surfboard off Waikiki.

Filigree a grace.

Mind my manners.

Spend more time filling my heart than my stomach.

Concoct a pun that does not suffer from fallen archness,

Become, at last, the kind of man my mother always yearned for me to be.

Yes, yes, yes, vassal of time. One of these days ... one of these very days - maybe even tomorrow.

Houston Has Unique Clinic

HOUSTON (AP) — In a rundown area of Houston is a medical clinic with a unique system.

It's the only clinic in Houston which takes any patient, no questions asked, demands no fee and sends no bills.

The clinic is called The Kennedy Bros., after John F. and Robert F. Kennedy.

"We have a standard, moderate fee for everything," says its administrator, Dr. Robert M. Eckert. "When a patient leaves, He's asked how much he can pay. Some people pay $1. Bills are never sent."

The clinic is able to stay in business because medicare and medicaid reinburses it for elderly patients and those on welfare and because persons other than poor also use it.

Even with federal assistance, many of the poor give something from their own pockets "so they feel that they are supporting it," said Eckert.

The poor in Houston can get aid at the local charity hospital, Eckert, a physician, points out. But these services bill patients on a sliding scale and patients must meet tests.

"Patients have to show their welfare checks, tell the number of children they have," he said. "The poor didn't mind because it's the way it's always been done. But in recent years the outspoken have said it's degrading."

When the clinic started a year and a half ago, Eckert and his supporters asked residents of the poverty area in which it is located what they wanted.

"We found out people wanted a single clinic they could come to all the time.

Jockey Eddie Maple won three stakes races at the 1970 Monmouth Park thoroughbred meeting. He won with Dark Stream, Jardara and No Back Talk.

Oil Men Not Seeking Favors

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The top spokesman for U.S. oil operators says his industry asks no special favors from the public nor the federal government.

Otto N. Miller, board chairman of the American Petroleum Institute, says the industry merely seeks reasonable encouragement and the incentives to fulfill the tremendous job ahead—supplying the bulk of the nation's spiraling energy needs.

The board chairman of Standard Oil Co. of California made his observations Wednesday at the concluding session of the annual meeting of the trade group that represents all segments of the domestic industry.

Miller said oil and gas now supply 75 per cent of the nation's energy requirements, which are equivalent to 31 million barrels of crude oil a day. By the end of the century, he says, the energy needs will be three times as great.

"Not only must we cope with demand growth itself, but we must also fill energy gaps that are appearing because of slowdowns in development of other energy sources," he said.

Miller said Congress last year, through tax reforms, imposed a financial drain of $700 million a year on the industry. Such tax policies, he said, can only complicate and delay the industry's assigned task of meeting energy requirements.

"An equitable tax structure is only part of the package of incentives that are essential if capital is to flow into our industry to meet the needs of the future," he said.

"There also must be a price structure for petroleum that fairly rewards the seller for the value of his products—and there must also be import control policies that preserve a healthy domestic producing industry."

Miller said there has been some public reluctance, particularly among conservationists, not only to offshore drilling explorations for new oil and gas reserves but to any kind of drilling at all.

He added that the industry can do its job while protecting the environment and that it should not be necessary to choose between clean water, clean air, and the preservation of wildlife areas on the one hand and the progress of the economy on the other.

"It is necessary to exercise balanced judgment and common sense in setting up the rules and the timetables by which Americans preserve their environment," he said.

"Few of us will have much opportunity to enjoy a clean environment if the price is to lock up natural resources and handcuff industrial development."

Police Gas Wrong House

PASADENA, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. T. J. Cromeens is not mad at the Houston Police Department, but she sure hopes it doesn't rain.

Mrs. Cromeens, her husband and two sons got a rude awakening the night of Sept. 1 when Houston officers searching for two suspects lobbed tear gas into the homes. Turned out the two wanted men were in a similar house a block away.

Since then the house has been oozing tear gas. "It's all right on a warm, sunny day," Mrs. Cromeens says. "But when it rains or the humidity is high you can still smell it."

"I think we have built up an immunity to it, because we have been exposed to it so long," she says. "But a neighbor can detect the odor at the door."

Experts have been trying to expunge the gas, but without success, she said. An interior wall was pierced by a tear gas projectile has been torn down twice and the wood treated with gas nullifying chemicals.

The carpet has been treated. Mrs. Cromens says she has washed everything in the house, from coathangers which were covered with a black, sticky residue, to her straight pins.

"The chemical men have been in here and put their noses in every corner," she says. "They even took part of the piano apart."

The police have said the Cromeens will be reimbursed for the damages.

Mrs. Cromeens says at least one benefit came from the gas attack.

She says she tried for a year to lose weight, but could not. After the gas attack, she says she lost 18 pounds.

Missing Man's Auto Found

HOUSTON (AP) — The automobile of Ralph E. Page, an assistant administrator at the Baylor College of Medicine who has been missing since Nov. 1, was found Wednesday on a restaurant parking lot.

At the time of his disappearance police said there were signs of a struggle in his office at the physiology department. His glasses were on the floor and a narcotics cabinet had been rifled.

The wife of the restaurant owner, Mrs. Earlene Wren, said the car had been there about two weeks. Page's car keys and wallet were under the front seat.

Crime lab specialists were unable to find any identifiable fingerprints.

Inmate Loses Education Bid

HOUSTON (AP) — An inmate of the Texas Department of Corrections lost his bid to get a free college education while serving a life sentence for murder.

U.S. Dist. Judge James Noel dismissed a suit filed by Thomas W. Shaw, 33, convicted of a 1965 murder of a Van Zandt County deputy sheriff.

Shaw has been classified as a Class 3 prisoner ever since a 1967 escape, meaning he has no extra privileges.

The TDC apparently erred last spring when it allowed him to enter Alvin Junior College. The mistake was found and Shaw was allowed to finish the semester but was kept from enrolling this fall.

Noel ruled Shaw did not state a cause of action and that there is no federal statute that requires the state to send him to college.

Pair Conquers El Capitan

By BILL STALL
Associated Press Writer

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (AP) — The Heroes of El Capitan celebrated their 27-day climb up the sheer side of the 3,000-foot granite monolith and began casting glances today at new peaks to conquer.

Warren Harding and Dean Caldwell sipped champaigne and munched fried chicken—their first hot food since Oct. 23—and declared their first ascent of El Capitan's "Wall of the Morning Light" would be their last.

"I feel great," said Harding, 46, of West Sacramento, Calif., as he arrived on the El Capitan crest just before noon Wednesday, smiling broadly through a heavy black and grey beard.

Caldwell, 27, of Portland, Ore., commented, "I don't think I want to do the same one again. But I'll do others like it."

The climbers said they hoped to form an expedition next June to attempt a new ascent route on a 20,000-foot ice peak in the Peruvian Andes called Jirishanca. Then they want to try the unclimbed rock wall along the Angel Falls in Venezuela.

Their first reaction on reaching El Capitan's summit was astonishment at the size of the welcoming crowd, about 75 fellow climbers and news reporters who got to the top the easy way—by a trail on the opposite side.

"God, I don't believe it!" said Caldwell as he arrived on top first at 11:34 a.m. Wednesday. He turned away and calmly resumed the chore of hauling up the 400 pounds of gear the men had carried 3,000 vertical feet, and bringing up Harding on the climbing rope at 11:53 a.m. Then their girl friends rushed to the men and cried and kissed them.

The spot was less than 200 feet from where Harding emerged on the first ascent of the face of El Capitan by an easier route 12 years ago this month.

The reunion of the climbers and the girls began a celebration that lasted into the night and delayed their return to the flat rock-bound valley until well after dark.

Also on top was a five-man standby team of crack valley climbers left over from an aborted rescue attempt, called off last Friday when Caldwell shouted to the ground that "like hell" would he leave the rock except under his own power.

Both men agreed on the worst part of the climb: the rainstorm that soaked them into their hammock-like tents suspended from the sheer wall for nearly a week.

The climbers closed strong despite a shortage of food. They had been on the barest emergency rations for almost a week and ate the last—half a can of sardines—on Tuesday.

Both men took falls during the climb but were saved by their ropes. Caldwell escaped injury but Harding suffered scrapes and bruises.

Harding and Caldwell had hoped to reach the summit late Tuesday, but ran into more difficult climbing than expected on the overhanging rock near the top.

They slept 40 feet from the crest Tuesday night while newsmen and fellow climbers turned the east El Capitan summit into a campground.

LOCAL BULLS EXPORTED TO MEXICO — Winston Bros. Ranch of Snyder recently sold 25 of these bull calves to La Babia Compania Ganadera of Musquiz, Coahuila, Mexico. All were of straight Anxiety 4th bloodlines. This is the third shipment of Winston Bros. bulls to this firm in Mexico, according to Harrie Winston and Scott Casey. Drug Program Well Received

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' new school program on crime and drugs has been met with a "generally very positive" reaction, says the state official who oversees it.

Dr. Harlan Ford, assistant education commissioner for teacher education and instructional services, appeared at a news conference Wednesday.

The conference, believed to be the first of its kind, brought the top officials of the Texas Education Agency and newsmen together for discussion of the agency's 1971 legislative program.

The drugs and crime program was set up at the command of the legislature, which neglected to provide any money for it.

Ford said the TEA is asking $6.4 million for the 1971-72 and 1972-73 school years for the program.

He said feedback on the program is "limited" but "generally very positive" from the "standpoint that teachers and students ... are developing insight into the problem."

But, he said, there is no information yet on "people change"—whether the program has any effect on drug use."

State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar said the TEA will give top priority in next year's legislature to continuing programs approved by the 1969 Legislature. Funding for such things as kindergarten and programmed pay raises for teachers will be automatic unless the legislature repeals or amends the 1969 law—a highly unlikely prospect, given the power of the teacher's lobby.

New programs recommended by the State Board of Education would cost the state $50 million over the next two fiscal years, said Deputy Commissioner M. L. Brockette.

One recommendation would bring bilingual education into the minimum foundation program, assuring funds for such training.

Nantucket, the summer home of Washington lawyers, Boston bankers, Cleveland industrialists, and New York advertising men, not to mention 3,900 permanent residents, originally was inhabited by Wampanoag Indians. The 12-by-6-mile island was bought by 17th-century settlers for 30 English pounds and two beaver hats.

IRS Offering Free Figuring

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service, a stickler for accuracy, is offering to figure income taxes free for 30 million Americans, 3.6 million of whom fouled up their returns last year.

The IRS said Wednesday a taxpayer could qualify if he earns no more than $20,000 a year, takes the standard 10 per cent deduction rather than itemized deductions, and has income only from salaries, wages, dividents, interest, pensions and annuities.

In another move aimed at easing the pain of separating citizens from taxes the IRS unveiled a revamped standard tax return form—form 1040. This year the instructions on how to fill blanks are in a separate booklet, not on the back of the sheet where last year's aggravated form-fillers were forced to keep peeking.

Taxpayers who qualify for free figuring can simply fill out vital information about themselves, list their income, and send in the return, along with W-2 forms.

The government does the rest. If a taxpayer's withholding doesn't cover the amount owed, he will get a bill. If he's due a refund, that will be sent along.

If the taxpayer catches the government overcharging him, he could demand a refund, along with 6 per cent interest.

But if the government pays a taxpayer too large a refund the IRS could collect the overage, but no interest if the money was paid quickly.

In the past, the IRS offers to figure income tax had been extended to Americans making up to $5,000. It estimated 30 million qualify for free figuring under the new rules, but wouldn't guess how many will take advantage of the offer.

In 1969 it said, errors were discovered on 3.6 million of the 78 million income tax returns filed. "These errors resulted from taxpayers using the wrong table, line, or column to figure his tax," it said.

Beauticians Seek To Liberate Men

BALTIMORE (AP) — Four beauty shop operators are seeking to liberate Maryland men from a traditional masculine stronghold—the barber shop.

The operators have asked a three-judge federal panel to strike down a state law reserving most male hair care to barber shops.

"Men increasingly want shaping and styling in beauty shops where they do not get too much cut off," the operators said in their suit.

Meat Costs Don't Dull Appetite

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Meat-hungry Americans will spend a record $114.6 billion for food this year the Agriculture Department estimated today.

The eight per cent jump, sharpest in 20 years, can be laid mainly to an estimated 5.5 per cent rise in food prices. But population increases and a rising appetite among consumers for more meat also are factors, the department said.

High meat prices don't dull the appetite, the report indicates. Consumption of beef, which has been setting price records this year, will be 113 pounds per person this year, up 2½ pounds from 1969, the report estimates.

Pork eaters will consume 65.4 pounds, only a fraction of a pound more than in 1969; veal will be down and lamb will hold even. Chicken, benefiting competitively from higher meat prices, is put at 4.7 pounds, up from 39 last year.

The report was the second in a recent series relating consumer food costs to what farmers are paid. Earlier the department said retail prices are expected to continue rising next year but that the farmer's share of the consumer food dollar will not.

Based on disposable income, consumers this year are expected to spend about 16.5 cents of each take-home dollar on food. This would be slightly less than in 1969 and continues a downward trend.

Although cautious, the report said consumers can expect "a large decline" in pork prices if middleman margins are brought in line with recent price cuts farmers hace taken in the hog market.

Sentencing Deferred

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Sentencing has been deferred on an El Paso couple convicted on a federal charge they conspired to acquire and possess gold bullion.

The couple was convicted Wednesday on the conspiracy charge and on a charge that they illegally acquired and possessed gold bullion.

Federal law requires a license for the possession of gold bullion.

A jury convicted Paul Wayne Slone, 36, and his wife, Ercell Slone, 37. A third person who was arrested with the couple last April, Augustin Ley, 48, has pleaded guilty to the conspiracy charge. All three await sentencing.

U.S. Secret Service agents and El Paso police officers said they confiscated $7,900 worth of gold bullion when they rrested the Slone's and Ley. They said the gold was in the form of shavings and 19 small, oblong bars.

U.S. Dist. Judge Ernest Guinn deferred sentencing pending a pre-sentence probation report on the Slone's.

Park Grant Signature Requested

AUSTIN (AP) — A Corpus Christi lawmaker has asked Gov. Preston Smith to get his friend, Pearce Johnson of the Parks and Wildlife Department, to sign an application for a federal grant to buy some 8,000 acres of Mustang Island for a state beach park.

As state liaison officer for federal park aid, only Johnson can sign the application for about $1 million in federal funds.

Mrs. Sam E. Wilson Jr. of Corpus Christi has offered to sell her 7,495 acres on Mustang Island to the state for $1,100 an acre. The other two commission members, Harry Jerzig of San Antonio and L. P. Gilvin of Amarillo, voted to buy as much of the land as the state could afford.

Johnson said he had not decided whether to sign the application for the $1 million federal grant, saying the state's park plans gave no priority to purchase of the site.

He said if the state spends $2 million in state funds and $2 million in federal funds on the land, no state park bond money will be left to buy land in the Houston area, which he said needs a park "a lot worse than" the Corpus Christi area.

Mrs. Farenthold told Smith the Wilson land offers "a unique and singular opportunity" to enrich the state park program.

"Neither Mrs. Wilson's generosity, nor the interest manifested by the Department of Interior, nor the vast concern expressed by many Texans both in the public and private sector can make the purchase a reality without the cooperation of Mr. Johnson.

"I ask your help in the solution of this dilemma," she wrote the governor.

Barnes Backs Crude Oil Hike

AUSTIN (AP) — Lt.Gov. Ben Barnes has given his support to crude oil price increases which have resulted in boosts in the prices motorists pay for gasoline.

He made his position known Wednesday in a letter to Gen., George Lincoln, director of the U.S. Office of Emergency Preparedness.

Barnes said he favored increases in the prices two major oil companies—unnamed in his letter—pay producers for crude oil. Several companies, however, have announced increases in crude prices and-or gasoline prices.

"The announcement by two of the nation's major oil companies of their intention to increase the price of crude oil by 25 cents per barrel is most encouraging," Barnes said.

"Such an increase is mandatory if we are to hope to increase the crucially important oil reserves of the United States."

He said he was confident that the Office of Emergency Preparedness would "give every consideration to rendering the conclusion that crude oil price increases are justified."

Gulf, Atlantic Richfield, Skelly and American Oil all announced increases of 25 cents per barrel in the price paid for crude and .7 cent per gallon in the wholesale price charged for gasoline.

Continental boosted crude prices on a selective basis ranging from 15 to 25 cents a barrel and also boosted gasoline prices.

Phillips raised gasoline prices but said it was taking no immediate action on crude prices.

Gasoline price hikes became widespread in the Houston area. In the Austin area, Gulf and Mobil raised their prices; Enco, Shell, Texaco and Shamrock said they had returned to their former prices following a gasoline price war.

But a Shell dealer said he expected prices for all major brands to go up a penny a gallon nationwide.
