Girl's Mutilated Body Is Located

Sheep Herder Finds Body Wrapped In Burlap

(By The Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 10.—The decapitated and mutilated body of ten-year old Virginia Brooks of East San Diego, missing since February 11, was found wrapped in a burlap bag on Camp Kearny Mesa today by a sheep hearder.

The girl vanished while on the way to school and had been the object of a wide search. Deputy Sheriff Blake Mason said she apparently had been dead about four weeks and that in addition to being decapitated both legs had been cut off.

Search Is Underway

The sheep hearder said the body had not been where it was found more than 24 hours as he was in that vicinity yesterday and would have noticed it. The Mesa is about 15 miles north of San Diego.

Authorities were making a careful search to determine whether the body had been brought to the place in an automobile.

A neighbor said he had seen an elderly man, described as a "hermit", take the girl to her school on the outskirts of the city several days preceding her disappearance, but no one seems to have seen her after she left home the morning she disappeared.

Possible Clue Given

A possible clue was given to the sheriff by a taxicab driver who brought in a hat partially identified as having been worn by the girl. The cab driver told the sheriff that two weeks ago he had as passengers a man and a girl wrapped in a cloak.

The man ordered him to drive to an address, the driver said, but three blocks before the address was reached the man ordered the cab stopped, and he and the girl got out. The next morning, the chauffeur said, he found the hat on the floor of the cab.

This conflicted somewhat with the estimate the girl had been dead about four weeks.

The disappearance and death of the Brooks girl recalled the slaying in Los Angeles in 1927 of Marian Parker, 12-year old daughter of a banker, by William Edward Hickman. Hickman was later executed at San Quentin.

Teachers at Virginia's school offered the theory she might have been carried away while searching for flower specimens for her school work.

Lubbock Lions Planning Big Park Project

Lions Park, Located Near The City Site Will Receive A Number Of Improvements In The Near Future

Development of Lions park, which extends from Yellowhouse creek northward to state highway No. 9, is the major activity of the Lubbock Lions club. Present efforts are being concentrated on the southern 40 acres of the plot, which includes nearly 100 acres.

Building of a small artificial lake, construction of a bridge over the creek, and installation of playground equipment are projects included in the program.

Planting Underway

Activities now, however, pertain to planting of trees and shrubs and subsequent development of flower gardens. The plot will be sowed in grass after trees, shrubs and flowers have been set.

More than 900 trees and shrubs already have been ordered for Lions park, and 50 Chinese elms have been donated by Dr. Fred Standefer, according to Paul Sherrod, of the Lions club major activity committee.

The section of the plot now under development is immediately across Yellowhouse creek from City park. The City has agreed to erect a bridge, connecting the two parks, to grade driveways, which have been marked, and to aid in supplying water for Lions park, Mr. Sherrod said.

Road To Be Built

A road which will run the full length of Lions park as an eastern boundry also will be built, according to Mr. Sherrod. Yellowhouse creek is the southern limit and state highway No. 9 the northern. The creek and the highway form diagonal boundaries which cut off the plot to make its western edge considerably shorter than that on the east.

Building of a dam in the creek will result in formation of an artificial lake, which will receive water

Expect Paving March Letting

One Lubbock County Project Included With Two Others In Motley And Hall Counties Expected

One Lubbock county paving project, the slab on No. 9 south of Lubbock to the Lynn county line and two projects in Motley and Hall counties are included in the proposed list of highway contracts to be let by the state highway department at its next letting, scheduled for March 31, it was learned yesterday.

Letting of the contract to pave south from Lubbock will complete No. 9, north and south in two counties, Hale and Lubbock, for a distance of approximately 80 miles. This, together with the 17 miles of paving in Randall county from Amarillo to Canyon, will give that road nearly 100 miles of hard surface. The probabilities are that No. 9 from Canyon to Happy will be paved this summer also, leaving only Swisher county unpaved between Amarillo and south of Lubbock.

Located On Highway 18

The Motley-Hall projects are both on highway No. 18. One is from Matador south to the Dickens

Verdict Given By Jury After A Brief Study

Chosen From Seven Alternative Decisions Proffered By Judge Crumpacker In His Instructions

Death Was Asked

Four Other Youths Are Yet To Come To Trial In Connection With The Death Of Arlene Draves

(By The Associated Press)

VALPARAISO, Ind., March 10.—Virgil Kirkland was convicted of murder by a jury tonight in connection with the death of Arlene (Babe) Draves and a sentence of life imprisonment was recommended by the jurors.

The verdict was returned less than four hours after the jurors had retired to decide whether an attack by Kirkland upon the young high school graduate caused her death.

Seven Alternatives

It was chosen from seven alternative decisions proferred by Judge Grant Crumpacker in his instructions, and represented a compromise between the prosecutions' demand for the death penalty and the defense's demand for acquittal.

The 20-year-old youth, former high school football star, had been accused of joining with four other youths, still to come to trial, in forcing the girl to be intimate with him at a "flaming youth" drinking party at Gary, Ind., last fall.

Thousands Interested

The trial had taken 16 days, engrossing the interest of northern Indiana and the Chicago area to the point where thousands clamored for admittance to the courtroom each day.

In closing arguments today the state had pleaded for death to the defendant while the defense has asked either a complete acquittal or death.

The court room was crowded when the jury returned its verdict at 8:40 p. m. The Draves family and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kirkland, stepfather and mother of the accused youth, were present.

HAVANA, March 10. (AP)—Police of Havana had a new mystery on their hands tonight in the death of an unidentified man, whose body was found hanging in the doorway of the Spanish embassy just after the explosion of a bomb there.

Though perhaps a suicide, authorities could not explain his presence at the embassy where he was unknown. His body was found when they went to investigate the explosion, which did little damage.

Cords Of "Love Market" Entrap Theater Magnate

(By The Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 10.—Complaints charging Alexander Pantages, vaudeville magnate, and four other persons with violations of the juvenile court act in connection with the Los Angeles "Girl Market" investigation, were issued here today by District Attorney Charles A. Whelan.

Jesse H. Shreve, wealthy San Diego real estate man, surrendered voluntarily and furnished $25,000 bail on seven counts.

The others named in the complaints were John P. Mills, San Diego oil man; William Jobelmann, a publicity man and witness in Pantages' trial on a charge of assaulting Eunice Pringle, dancer, and Olive Clark Day of Los Angeles.

Released On Bail

Pantages recently was released from jail under $100,000 bond pending decision on an appeal against conviction on the charge. He was sentenced to a prison term of one to 50 years.

Bail of $10,000 each is to be demanded by District Attorney Whelan of Shreve and Pantages.

Girls Get Only $15

The district attorney also stated his information indicated Olive Day, proprietor of the alleged love mart, had obtained $200 each for the girls and had passed on but

Art's An Artist At Aviation! He Can Make An Airplane Do Things

WHAT IS THIS? A Lindbergh in the making? Does it come natural, and how does he get that way?

Art L. Chase, 18, of 714 Avenue V, made his first solo flight Tuesday afternoon after only 3 hours and 15 minutes instruction. He did a perfect take-off, buzzed around the field a few times and made a three-point landing. Now you try.

Jimmy Moore, licensed transport pilot and Art's instructor, tells us that it usually takes at least 10 hours instruction for one to make a successful solo.

Art first began the gentle art of flying about two weeks ago. He has a student's license and is well on the road to a private license, local airmen say.

Creager Says Landslide Is Now Expected

States There Is Only Slight Chance Of Any Opposition Developing Within Ranks Of The Republicans

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, March 10. — R. B. Creager, republican national committeeman, for Texas, asserted here today his party's chances of "keeping Texas' electoral votes in the republican column are looking very bright since the big schism in the democratic meeting the other day." He referred to the meeting of the democratic executive committee in Washington.

"I confidently look forward," the committeeman declared, "to a repetition of Mr. Hoover's 1928 landslide in the election next year."

Morrow Only Hope

He said there was slight chance of any opposition developing within the republican party to the renomination of President Hoover.

"The one man who might have led the wets within our party in a fight against Mr. Hoover and his prohibition policy is Dwight Morrow, who on his recent election to the senate pledged himself to support the president for reelection, declaring that he believed Mr. Hoover deserved a return to office.

"Nor is there a chance of the inclusion of a wet plank in the republican platform."

Two American Ministers Are Held For Ransom By Chinese

WASHINGTON, March 10. (AP)—The torture of Rev Bert N. Nelson of Minneapolis, Minn., and Rev. Tvedt, a Norwegian, by bandits in China to force payment of ransom was reported to the state department today by the American legation at Peiping.

The report was based on letters received by a Dr. Skinsnes at Sinvangchow from the missionaries who have been held by Chinese brigands since last October.

"We have just been bound and whipped and told to make haste with the ransom money or there would be worse things to follow," Nelson's letter said in part. An aged messenger who brought the letters said the prisoners looked "fair but have been beaten some."

Plainview Girl Suffers A Break Down As Result Scare

PLAINVIEW, March 10. (Staff Special.) — A 13-year-old high school girl is reported in a serious nervous condition by her physician, following an alleged trick on the part of several groups of boys.

Last week while on her way home the girl was followed for several blocks by two cars loads of boys, one in front and the other behind. The cars stopped and one of the boys left the machine and accosted her. The girl did not recognize any of the boys.

Her parents reside in Swisher county and the girl is said to make her home with relatives here while attending school.

Independents Gather Today; Leaders Watch

Democrats And Republicans Look Askance As Possibility Of Third Party Formation Looms Wednesday

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON

WASHINGTON, March 10. (AP)—National leaders of both parties looked apprenhensively tonight at the conference tomorrow of republican and democratic independents.

In the meeting to be presided over by the veteran Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, a foe of President Hoover, the politicians saw the foundation being laid for a third party—although such a purpose was vigorously protested by Norris and his colleagues.

Norris To Open

Whatever its outcome, the meeting assures lengthy discussion of national economic problems. It will be opened tomorrow by Seantor Norris before about 125 participants and will continue Thursday.

No place has been made on the program for prohibition, and the senate independent leaders who called the meeting have no intention of getting to this controversy, feeling they have plenty to do in disposing of the five topics listed for discussion.

These are: Agriculture, power, unemployment, tariff and representative government.

The leaders hope to draft a legislative program for presentation to the next congress in December—a congress in which this group holds the balance of power.

Preliminary discussions today on Capitol Hill developed that both the Hoover program and the democratic platform suggested last week by Chairman Raskob of the national committee are due for bombardment.

Thousands Of Hindus Fight To Catch Sight Of Gandhi

AHMADABAD, India, March 10. (AP) — Mahatma Gandhi, home for the first time since his salt-making march to the sea, was jostled about like an American subway passenger today by a hundred thousand worshipping Hindus who fought to touch his garments.

So great was the crush that he would have been seriously injured had not those closest to him formed a flying wedge and butted a way to the speaker's platform in the center of a tremendous crowd.

"If you love me," he cried, again and again, "don't trample me to death."

Dallas Man Found Dead In Garage; Gas Fumes Cause

Inquest Pends In Levelland Death Tuesday

County Attorney Weldon Johnson States That Consensus Of Opinion Is That Death Was Accidental

(Special to the Avalanche)

LEVELLAND, March 10—Inquest in the death of W. F. Moore, 55, prominent Levelland citizen, who died early today as the result of an alleged accidental bullet, has not been held.

Weldon Johnson, county attorney of Hockley county, tonight said that the inquest would not be held until some of the witnesses, especially Moore's widow, were in a condition to testify. Mr. Johnson reported that it was the consensus of opinion that Mr. Moore's death was accidental.

Moore was found on his bed-room floor about 8 o'clock Tuesday morning by his wife and son who, hearing a loud explosion, had rushed into the room. Moore's clothing was burning, one hand badly burned and there were burnt powder marks just under his right ribs where a bullet had entered, ranged upward and lodged in the region of his chest. A pistol with one empty chamber lay on a nearby dresser.

Last year Moore was a candidate for election as Hockley county judge. Previously he had served as president of the board of trustees for the public schools, and had been head of the Levelland farm bureau gin. He came to Levelland four years ago from Belfalls, Texas. Burial will be in Temple, also a former home.

AUSTIN, Mar. 10. (AP)—A constitutional amendment proposing to place a statute of limitations of 10 years on the collection of delinquent taxes, was adopted today by the house.

First Ride Is Fatal To Trio

Plane Falls On Oklahoma Farm Resulting In Death Of One Woman And Two Boys; Pilot Slightly Injured

MOUNDS, Okla., March 10. (AP)—A farm woman, her son and a neighbor boy fell to their deaths today in a tragic ending of their first airplane ride.

The dead were Mrs. J. T. Reed, of near Mounds, her oldest son David, 17 and Herschel Casey, 15.

Mrs. Reed's 14-year-old son, J. T., Jr., was injured dangerously and may die. He was taken to a Sapulpa hospital, together with J. R. Hays, 20, of near Wewoka, pilot of the ship, an old unlicensed five place biplane. Hays escaped with cuts and bruises.

The plane crashed from an altitude of about 200 feet on the Reed farm. The elder Reed, awaiting his turn in the ship for his first ride, and Delmont Bayles, of near Wewoka, a companion of Hays, saw the accident. They said the ship went into a nose dive, and Hays appeared unable to right it.

Operation Performed Here For Removal Of Man's Hand

An operation for the amputation of his left hand, just above the wrist, was sustained late Tuesday night by J. J. Moffit, of Tahoka.

The man's hand had been badly mangled by discharge from a gun. He was brought to the Lubbock sanitarium late last night and was resting well at midnight. Attendants did not know particulars of his injury.

Counterfeit Money Is Taken By Officers In Waco Raid

WACO, March 10. (AP)—Approximately $100 in counterfeit United States silver and gold coins, and 4,410 pesos in bogus Mexican silver and gold coins were confiscated near here today by a secret service agent.

A raid was made on a house at Elm Mott, nine miles north of Waco, where three Mexicans were arrested. The coins were found in the house and in the yard.

Illness Fatal

JOSEPH P. COTTON
(See Story Below)

Joseph Cotton Dies Tuesday Of Operations

Long A Friend Of President Hoover, Cotton Served For Nearly Two Years As Under Secretary Of State

(By The Associated Press)

BALTIMORE, March 10.—Joseph Potter Cotton, 55, who as undersecretary of state for nearly two years gained a reputation for frank and direct diplomatic methods, died today at Johns Hopkins hospital, where he had undergone two major operations.

Death came at 5:10 o'clock after the administration of oxygen had failed to prolong his life. At his bedside were his wife and daughter Isabel and his New York law partner, George S. Franklin.

Stimson Pays Visit

Earlier in the day Dr. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician, was a caller, and last night Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, informed that his colleague was dying, visited him.

Mr. Cotton underwent an operation for spinal infection January 21, and February 16 his right eye was removed.

The under-secretary bore the chief burden of the state department's work during the absence of Secretary Stimson at the London naval conference, and his health failed last summer. In the fall he took a two months' leave of absence and had his tonsils removed, but this failed to restore him, and he became a patient of Dr. Walter E. Dandy, the brain specialist, at John Hopkins, early this year.

Long a friend of President Hoover, Mr. Cotton was appointed in May, 1929. He was one of a group who worked with Mr. Hoover when the latter was food administrator during the World war and later secretary of commerce.

Confiscation Of Airplane Sought

FORT WORTH, March 10 (AP)—Included in three liquor indictments returned today by the federal grand jury was one in which the government, for the first time in the northern district of Texas, seeks to confiscate an airplane said to have been used in liquor running.

The case is that of Clyde Renfro, arrested at Lubbock and charged with sale, two counts of possession and transportation of liquor. Prohibition agents used an airplane in working up this case and the government has requested that the plane, if confiscated in event Renfro is found guilty, be turned over to the prohibition forces for their use.

House Would Make Suspended Sentence Applicable To All

AUSTIN, March 10. (AP) — The Texas house of representatives today passed a bill to make the suspended sentence law applicable to men over 25 convicted of violating the prohibition laws. The law was hailed by prohibitionists as an attempt to weaken the state prohibition statutes.

The vote was 75 to 39. Representative Holland of Houston moved to reconsider and table the vote. This motion was carried, 80 to 27, and will prevent those opposed to the bill from bringing it up for further consideration by the house.

PRAYER MEETING TONIGHT

Woman Admits Her Identity

Declares She Is Party Mentioned In Death Note Of Traveling Salesman Killed Last Tuesday

CHICAGO, March 10. (AP)— Mrs. Margaret Featherstone, a widow, came forward today to identify herself as the "Margaret," named in the death note left by Leo D. Shire, Marshall, Mich., traveling salesman who killed himself last Tuesday in Washington.

Part of Shire's last message, addressed to Rita Shire, his 17-year-old daughter said:

"Rita, Margaret is your mother."

At her hotel, with Rita, here from Sherman, Texas, for the funeral of her father, Mrs. Featherstone said she had been engaged to marry Shire and the ceremony was planned to take place as soon as he recovered from an attack of influenza.

"He was devoted to Rita and I had promised him that if anything ever happened to him I would care for her as if she were my own daughter," she said. "And I intend to do so. After the funeral, Rita will go back to school at Sherman, and during the vacations and after she finishes school, she will make her home with me."

Big Spring Is On Upgrade

Chamber Of Commerce Secretary Visitor Here; States That Business In His City Is On Increase

Business in Big Spring is "increasing a little," Charles T. Watson, manager of the Big Spring chamber of Commerce, said yesterday afternoon while here to attend the air mail conference.

While the increase has not been as large as merchants had hoped it would be, it is "indicative of an upward trend" according to Mr. Watson.

Big Spring is planning an expansion program that will likely give an impetus to general conditions. Farm conditions in general are much brighter than during the winter, he added.

Defeat of the proposed bond issue for $900,000 recently was in part due to the fact that the railroad shops at Big Spring had been closed temporarily, a ten day layoff having been started two or three days before the election.

"We are going back to our towns and advertise for air mail," Mr. Watson said in a discussion of the proposed mail service. "I believe if we can educate our people to the advantage of air mail, it will be only the matter of a few months until we can work up enough mail to make it interesting."

Lamesa Will Get Federal Building

"We have been allocated $95,000 for a postoffice at Lamesa and we have hopes of getting the preliminary plans under way soon." J. D. Dyer, postmaster of Lamesa, said here yesterday afternoon.

No definite discussion of the site for the proposed Lamesa building has been held. There are said to be a number of sites in prospect but the chamber of commerce committee is keeping "mum" on the location.

Lamesa has been at work on the plan of securing a federal building for some months, considerable correspondence has been had with leaders at Washington.

SUICIDE PRONOUNCED

GAINESVILLE, March 10. (AP) — Joe McMillan, 71, farmer who lived alone at his home in the Mount Pleasant community, was found dead from poisoning today. Justice of the Peace C. N. Jones reported the death as suicidal.

RALEIGH, N. C., March 10. (AP) —The North Carolina house today passed a bill to permit horse and dog racing with pari mutuel betting in Buncombe county.

Asheville, resort center, is in Buncombe county.

Ripley Starts Out On Another Trip To Find More "Believe It Or Nots"

Off On Another Fact-Finding Jaunt

Crop loaded with notebooks, sketch pencils and paper, Robert Ripley, (above), creator of "Believe It Or Not" which appears daily in this paper is shown here starting on another long journey into the "out-of-the-way" places of the world to discover more unbelievable facts. His daily cartoon will continue while he is on the trip.

Skeptical Artist Is On Way To Europe, Asia For Facts

The longer Robert Ripley produces his famous feature, "Believe It Or Not," which appears daily in the Morning Avalanche, the more fanatical he becomes for accuracy. March 6 he sailed for a tour of Africa and the scenes of some of his more astounding exhibits. It will be a "verification" trip.

Ripley is as skeptical as his most amazed fan. There are so many authentically eye-popping wonders in the world that he guards constantly against drawing or describing what is merely heresay or legend. Accompanied by a secretary and a brace of movie cameras he will thoroughly examine scores of the Dark Continent's wonders, geologic, physiological, meterological, or merely illogical.

Must Find True Ones

Rumors reach "the connoisseur of the incredible", weird, exciting and at first blush unbelievable rumors—probably in greater numbers than they come to anyone else on earth. That's why he must spend a great deal of his time in travels. Some of these, some of the seemingly incredible rumors prove true. Ripley must find which ones.

He has heard that there is a man near Meknes, Morocco, who is fair-haired and blue-eyed although he is a native of the country. He is rumored to be a direct descendant of the ancient white race which anthropologists believe may have inhabited Africa ages ago. Ripley will visit Meknes and the man, to discover whether the man is merely an albino or whether he is a figment of tall-tale-telling travelers.

Brothers Talk Queerly

He has heard that in Tunis there is a house which harbors four brothers who talk a language peculiar to themselves and who are able to make themselves understood to their countrymen only by signs. They were supposed to have forgotten their native speech at the time they entered manhood and to have developed a new and unknown tongue with which they could converse together. Ripley will have a long talk with all four.

He will also look into the Sphinx, which he has excellent grounds to believe is not a Sphinx at all, but the old Egyptian sun-god Harmachis, god of social intercourse and talk.

There is the popular conception of the Turkish half-moon, too, which will probably be exploded in "Believe It or Not." It isn't a half-moon at all, Ripley suspects, but the sign of the victorious scimitar. If it is a moon, why is it depicted lying down, in a posture the moon never assumes in Turkish latitudes?

Checking On Fascism

He is interested, too, in checking up the whisper that the United States had the emblem of Fascism on coins long before Mussolini's day and continues with the sign of the "fasces"—the ax and the bundle of sticks on the reverse side. In Italy he will check up on the origin of the Fascist emblem, and see whether Mussolini can be charged with plagiarism.

How about the Man of Biskra, too who is supposed to have lived for 107 years on a diet of white clay and rainwater, who, rumor alleges, looks like a youth of 20 to this day? Ripley wants a look and a picture and a go at him with a sketch-book.

The S. S. Roma, of the N. G. I. Line is to take him to Gibraltar. His itinerary from then on will include Tangier, Casablanca, Marrakech, Meknes, Fez, Jjoa, Lemelen, Oraix, Algiers, Constantine, Biskra, Batna, Tunis, Palermo, Syracuse, Alexandria, the Holy Land, Istambul, through Europe and home.

He wants particularly to see about that hotel which he has heard exists under the Seine in Paris. Then, with bulging notebooks, he will be ready for another season of surprises.

Morton Paper Is Sold To Baldwin

Sale of the Cochran County News, of Morton, owned by George E. Lance, to Pat Baldwin, son of W. J. Baldwin, publisher of the Hockley County Herald, at Levelland, is announced. The change is effective this week. Mr. Lance was the founder of the newspaper and has been engaged in newspaper work for many years.

Drouth Checks Are Received

Seven Additional Loan Checks Received By Lubbock Office Monday; Others Expected In The Near Future

Seven more checks for drouth relief were received Monday by the county committee, J. B. Shannon, in charge of the work, announced. This gives the total as 41. The checks were from St. Louis.

"We sent 21 to Fort Worth Saturday," Mr. Shannon added. "Slaton sent several the day before, I don't know just how many.

"One application was turned down. It was for a minor. It is almost impossible for a minor to secure federal aid. The application left here Friday and Monday we got an answer. That shows how quickly they can handle things down in Fort Worth."

Mr. Shannon announced that Miss Ethel Hicks, stenographer and his assistant, was qualified to make out applications and to answer all questions. "Miss Hicks knows what to do if I am not there, she can give any one whatever information they may want to know," he added.

PRICES ARE REVISED

ENID, Okla., March 10. (AP)—The Champlin Refining company today posted revised prices for crude oil that conform with the reduced gravity scale in effect throughout the state.

This company posted a flat price of 67 cents a barrel in January. Under the new rates 67 cents is top price for oil of 40 gravity or above.

Like Tea . . . the best Gasoline is Blended

EVEN the Japanese maiden who laboriously picks the tea leaves knows that before you sip the delicate beverage from your cup, leaves of another type of tea must be added, for the best teas invariably are blended.

When the tea merchant takes a quantity of Japanese tea, a bit of China tea, and a touch of Ceylonese, then blends them according to the dictates of his expert knowledge, he parallels the making of CONOCO Gasoline. For this is a blended gasoline. It is blended because this is the only method which brings together in one fuel the desirable properties of several types of gasoline. No one type of gasoline can contain them all.

CONOCO refiners use: Natural Gasoline, for quick starting; Straight-run Gasoline, for power and long mileage; Cracked Gasoline, for its anti-knock properties.

There is no secret formula covering the elements which compose this triple-test gasoline. The secret is in the knowledge behind the blending. Knowing how makes one tea blend better than all others... and knowing how places one gasoline in a distinct quality class. Experience the performance advantages of CONOCO Balanced-Blend Gasoline. You'll find it wherever the CONOCO Red Triangle is displayed.

Weather Will Help Program

Officials Expect Large Attendance At Annual Market Week If Weather Continues Bright And Fair

Good weather will greatly increase the attendance from all parts of the South Plains and the entire plains area at the third semi-annual Market Week sponsored by Lubbock chamber of commerce and wholesale firms, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, it was indicated last night.

Traveling men who have been here recently have reported many instances where merchants have said they preferred to attend the Lubbock show to the one staged by Dallas wholesale men there. "If we get any kind of a break in the weather there will be a bigger crowd here than we have ever had," one traveling man told a member of the committee yesterday.

The "pre-Easter" show this year for the out of town merchants, is expected to attract a large number of buyers. From all over the South Plains has come word of renewed buying on the part of the public.

It is reported that many merchants are anticipating considerable late pre-Easter buying, a week or two before April 5. To this end they are said to be planning a rather extensive purchase of spring stocks here next week.

Exhibitors will have their displays here by Friday or Saturday at the latest. That will give them enough time to get the displays arranged for the visitors.

SEMINOLE. (Staff Special)—The senior class of Seminole high school has decided to adopt caps and gowns for all members who will receive their diplomas at the commencement in the spring.

Caps and gowns will be rented at a minimum cost, it was decided. The gowns and caps will be of gray, with the tassel of the cap in the school colors.

PLAN TENNIS PLAYOFF

To determine the tennis championship of Texas Tech, the finals of the tournament started several days ago will be played off sometime this week, it was announced yesterday. The finals were to have been played last week, but on account of weather conditions the games were postponed.

Twenty-four students entered the tourney and all have been eleminated except Gordon May, Lewis Lahm and Raymond Pfluger. The winner of the Pfluger-Lahm match will play May to decide the championship.

Although the college athletic council recently ruled that there would be no intercollegiate matches in tennis this spring due to the financial conditions of the department, there has been much interest displayed in the tennis tournament. Raymond Pfluger was to have been captain of the 1931 squad.

WILL MAKE SPRING PLANS

For the purpose of making final plans for the freshman dance and to plan for "fish day" which probably will be in May, a meeting of the freshman class in the college has been called for Wednesday, March 25, Matt Seymour, class president said yesterday. The freshman meeting probably will be the first class meeting to be held following registration for the spring term.

First year students at Tech will reign supreme on "fish day" when the freshman will get sweet revenge on the upperclassmen. Usually the class members charter a special train and go to Silver Falls lake near Crosbyton to spend the day.

Date of the freshman dance has been set for April 17 or 18, Seymour has announced. The winner of the queen election held recently will be crowned freshman queen at the dance and will reign supreme during the ball. No announcement has yet been made as to who was selected queen.

RETURN FROM FORT WORTH

Several members of the Tech junior stock judging team and members of a class under Prof. H. J. Bower, head of the Tech agronomy department, who left here Friday on a soils survey trip have returned to the college. The junior stock judging team placed second at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show at Fort Worth Saturday, losing to the Oklahoma A. and M. college and winning over the Texas A. and M. college team.

The students in the soil survey class studied the different kinds of soil in North and Central Texas. Some of the students in the senior animal husbandry classes are yet in Fort Worth studying stock at the stock show. They probably will return today.

WORK ON PAPER

Among the students recently named as reporters of The Toreador, student newspaper, by Frank Emison, editor, include Bill Coffee and W. A. Jackson. Both have had experience in high school or on other publications.

Emison announces that any students desiring to work on the paper will be given a trial.

OFFER SPANISH COURSE

Following several requests from the students, Prof. W. A. Whatley, member of the Spanish department, has announced that he will offer a course in Spanish on "Cervantes" during the second term of summer school.

The course will deal with the man Cervantes, his history and works. The course will be open only to advanced Spanish students.

MAIL INVITATIONS

Invitations to colleges and universities in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico are being mailed from Tech, inviting delegates to attend the International Relations club conference which will be held here the latter part of March. The gathering will be sponsored by the Tech club of which Alvis Ellis, Anton, is president.

Important speakers are scheduled to speak and it is likely that several of the students will speak. The Tech club is made up of students studying social science.

WILL CONDUCT SERVICE

Under the direction of Prof. W. R. Waghorne, head of the Tech music department, the regular weekly worship service will be held today at 11 o'clock, Jack Boyd, Tech Y. M. C. A. secretary has announced. Professor Waghorne was to have led the services last Wednesday but was unable to attend.

Students and faculty members are invited to attend the services which are held each Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock.

PLAN THREE-HOUR EXAMS

Plans are being considered by college officials for the inauguration of three-hour exam periods instead of the two-hour ones which are in use here. Under the new system one examination would be held in the morning and one in the afternoon during final exam week.

It has been suggested by several of the leading students that one-hour exams should be given instead of the two-hour period. Under the latter plan the classes would meet at the regular hours on exam week, the term's work would be reviewed on Monday and Tuesday and on Wednesday and Thursday at the regular class hour, the final examination would be given.

Student leaders point out that under the latter plan no schedule for exam week would be necessary and that one hour is enough time for the average student to be tested for his knowledge. Many colleges and universities have abolished final examinations.

WILL ATTEND FUNERAL

Date for the funeral of Raymond Koeninger, Tech student who died early Sunday morning of poisoning, has been set for Thursday at 4 o'clock and many students and college officials have indicated that they will attend the funeral. Funeral services will be held at the First Baptist church at Plainview and burial will be in tee Plainview cemetery.

Students attending the funeral will be given class absence excuses, college officials have indicated.

Revival Plans Are Completed

Bishop Boaz is conducting meetings throughout the conference on the subject of "Keeping the Spiritual Life," in general preparation for revivals to be held over the conference throughout the year. Meetings were held over the conference throughout the year. Meetings were held both Tuesday morning and Tuesday afternoon. Luncheon was served at the church at 12 o'clock.

What a great saving and what a great service are housed in the conveniently compact Hydrator!

Ten Matrons Entertain Members Of The Gleaners Class On Tuesday

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

TODAY I've been house-cleaning and in my desk I discovered a lot of things I would like to pass on to the owners.

There are several photographs of people that I have had to get cuts made from and have been holding. Some of them have been here for months. They are all good pictures, else I would not have them.

I have a couple of Camp Fire themes that were left here when some girls visited me about a month ago. These are prize winning themes in a contest and I was asked to keep them until the girls called. They are here ready to be delivered but they may get dog-eared if I keep them long enough.

Desks get cluttered up. Along with clippings, syndicate features and matrices, letters, booklets and other things, I found tickets to banquets, style shows, plays and other occasions. These were the tickets I had not used or I had not passed o nto other members of the staf..

I was reminded of the thing we hear so often: "It must be lots of fun to be in a position to go to so many things." It would be if that were all of it. But every thing that one attends simply as a representative of the press must be written up immediately, even though it lasts far, far into the night. And many of the things that one attends primarily for the pleasure that they give must be written up also.

There is a lot of fun in being able to attend shows and other performances. If we did not feel that way we would be doing something else, but everything can't be attended at that. We do not scorn tickets, even though we do not always use them.

NEW WEDDING BANDS

HERE'S something else I had put away and it was for use in this column: A note about wedding rings and Paris hinting that in the near future the nuptial bands are to be set with emeralds, rubies and sapphires instead of diamonds.

GOOD PHILOSOPHY

SOME good philosophy was offered this morning by a man in the office. For a week he has been working day and night tediously auditing books.

"You have been working hard lately," some one on the staff commented this morning, stopping at his desk.

"Yes, but I like it," the man replied, elaborating with "You know, things aren't tiresome if you like to do them. Even washing dishes and walloping babies is fun if that is the thing you like to do!"

It's true. The job doesn't count for so much. It's the one behind it.

That is the reason a surgeon sings when he is preparing for an operation. He isn't hard-hearted. He likes his work. I had rather have a doctor who sings over his work than one who doesn't because singing is an optimistic sign to me.

There's Fred Hines, pressman down here. Every one of the hundreds of wheels and inky rollers on that press is a thing of joy to Hiney. He loves a press like a bear loves honey and I suspect that he had rather be a pressman than president of the United tates.

NOT THAT IT MATTERS

WOMEN and their rights is always good for comment because there is no end to the amount that can be made. Miss Grace Ludlow Kelly, 29, prominent New York attorney, is the latest and it all started over the refusal of the Bar Association of New York to admit women to membership, no matter how well qualified they may be as laywers.

Not that it matters, Miss Kelly thinks, because women aren't handicapped in the practice of law by their sex. However, she is writing an article to prove why they should be members.

Miss Kelly was questioned recently about how far she thinks women will go in politics, and she should know as she has been active in political circles in New York since before she was of voting age. The question of a woman becoming president was evaded but she believes that if the Democratic party wins in 1932, there will be a woman in the cabinet. 'And that's pretty close to the presidency!"

Of course, it is all speculation so far. But there is no reason why a woman may not be president some day. Women governors were once unheard of. People have scoffed at the idea of horseless carriages and wireless telegraphy and a lot of things.

HEARD ON THE CORNER

THIS is reported to have occurred on a down-town street corner one day last week after a trial in city corporation court had resulted in a hung jury: A friend met one of the participating lawyers and asked him what the difficulty had been. The lawyer replied "We had four Democrats and two Republicans on "that jury!"

Kotex fits inconspicuously

and it is soft, comfortable, disposable

KOTEX keeps you free of self-consciousness at times when sanitary protection is necessary. It is skilfully shaped to fit securely. It absorbs five times more than surgical cotton—absorbs away from the surface, not in one concentrated area. This method of lateral absorption leaves your protection dry and comfortable far longer than the ordinary pad.

It may be worn on either side with equal protection. There is no chance of getting it adjusted wrong—no possibility of embarrassment.

Kotex has not merely an apparent softness, but a lasting softness. It is treated to deodorize effectively. Hospitals use quantities of Kotex and also the soft absorbent material of which it is made. Kotex is disposable, as you know, quickly, easily—first of all its advantages over old-time methods.

Misapplied Sympathies

THE time is here—has long been here—when romance and soft-headed sniveling must be removed from crime, and in this removing process the newspapers must take the lead.

It is no longer smart, no longer acceptable (if it ever were acceptable at all) to paint a criminal with gilt and bathe him in sweet perfume for public consumption. It is high time that he be presented in his true light and held up as an example to be avoided.

Browsing through other papers recently, the Editor of The Avalanche ran across a beautifully composed editorial which, because it is well presented, places the criminal in the wrong light. Under the heading "Llife's Tragedies", the editorial read as follows:

"There is something strangely pathetic in the story of Nicholas Solombino, 19, of Phite Plains, N. Y., who wanted to go to the movies and stole $4.95 from the bank of his three-year-old niece so he could.

"Nicholas Solombino is going to stay in jail for one year now. He broke a law and there are punishments for offenders. But he must have been very surprised when he went home from the last glamorous show and discovered that perfect fadeouts are found only on the silver screen.

"The bank probably stood on a shelf in the kitchen where Nicholas could see it every time he entered the room to wash his hands or get a drink. At first it didn't mean much to him. It was just the box where his niece gleefully slipped pennies and nickels and dimes through a crack.

"Down the street the moving picture palaces flaunted the charms of a glorious make-believe world. Men with the grace of a Don Juan and the physique of a magazine clothes illustration climbed the business ladder and hung their shingles—law, medicine, or business—at the top.

"Nicholas Solombino was probably given to dreams. He liked to forget about life as it was lived around him and pretend that he was somebody else. And the cinema knew how to advertise.

"But he didn't have enough money to buy a seat in the house. He was barred from the Promised Land.

"And then he noticed the bank. He rattled it carefully one day when nobody was around. It was heavier than he had thought. Maybe he put it back and thought for a while. After all, it wasn't his money. Still . . . it would be a long time until his three-year-old niece grew up.

"One day he opened the bank and counted the money. There was $4.95.

"So Nicholas Solombino went to the movies. He kept going until the money was gone. Then he went to jail.

"Very often there is a pathetic void in the lonely life of a man or woman or child which a book or a play will satisfy. For a little while they are able to slip away from the unpleasantness that surrounds them and be the person of whom they are reading or the one whom they are watching in a gay and gallant part.

"Nicholas Solombino did wrong, of course. He took another's money. But the punishment may be lessened by the memories which he will have of $4.95 worth of romance and adventure."

Here we have the youth who robbed a baby's bank held up as a martyr, when as a matter of fact he typifies the lowest form of sneak-thief. We see him, haloed with soft phrases, when really he has been sent where he belongs for breaking a law that has long been found necessary to the peace and happiness of society. Where is the supporting sane judgment to such a theory?

In making heroes of criminals, newspapers are aiding in a very definite assault against good government. In weeping crocodile tears, misguided "humanists" are contributing to delinquency and to the impotency of juries.

The Avalanche, we hope, is not bereft of the milk of human kindness in disagreeing with any policy of mercy or of sympathy to those who fall by the wayside. But the good of society, as a whole, must overshadow the protection of any individual.

Practical Health Problems

HINTS FOR TUBERCULOSIS VICTIMS
BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Several years ago Dr. Charles L. Minor of Asheville, N. C., wrote some hints for people with tuberculosis which were so successful that they have recently been republished by another authority on this disease who has brought them up to date and modified them to meet modern conditions.

Many of these hints constitute excellent advice regarding hygiene for everyone who is slightly run down, whether tuberculous or not. It is impossible to reprint all of the suggestions here, but a selection is made of some of the most important.

1. Never exercise to the point of fatigue. If you find yourself tired, you have done yourself harm.

2. Remember that rest comes before exercise. By resting a surplus of strength and energy is built up and stored in the body.

3. Aim to spend as much of each day outdoors or in absolutely fresh air as possible. Remember that the air to be fresh need not necessarily be cold.

4. Ideal food should be appetizing, nutritious, and not too bulky. If appetizing and not nutritious, it will not nourish you; if nutritious and not appetizing, you will not eat it; if too bulky, however appetizing, it upsets your stomach.

5. Eat up to the limit of your digestion. It is the food which is digested and absorbed, and not what is put into your mouth, which will do you good. A glass of milk with each meal is advisable. Raw eggs are not so digestible as cooked eggs. Take nothing between meals unless ordered by your doctor.

6. If your digestion is poor, tell your doctor.

7. Eat your meals at regular hours. Do not take reading matter to the table. Smiles and laughter are the best possible aids to digestion.

8. Approach and leave each meal in a rested condition. Never eat when tired. Never exercise immediately after eating.

9. In winter, warm, light, or medium wool underwear; in summer, ordinary summer cotton underwear.

10. Never wear very heavy underclothing or chest protectors. In winter, use woolen underclothing; in summer, ordinary cotton underclothing.

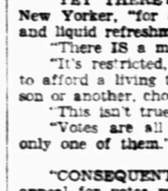

11. Let your shoes be stout and warm in winter and wear warm, woolen socks by all means. Woolen socks at night are often a great comfort. In winter, a flannel shirt is much more comfortable than anything else. When sitting out in winter, have an extra wrap nearby.

12. If you get overheated and perspire, change your clothing and rub dry.

13. A healthy condition of the skin is most important. A warm bath once or twice a week if ordered by your physician is advisable and a cool sponge bath or a tub bath in the morning if your doctor permits it. Remember that the water should be cool, but not ice cold. If you do not have a proper reaction after your bath, if you feel chilly or are blue, the water is too cold. Ask your doctor about it. See that your room or bathroom or wherever you take your bath is warm.

Gum Tactics Are Used

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 10.—"Politics and chewing gum," philosophized Congressman Sol Bloom, "are similar."

"That is to say," explained the representative from the Nineteenth New York district, "in soliciting votes, as in selling gum, one's appeal shouldn't be too high-brow.

"Vending gum," continued the Manhattan islander, "is profitable, provided it can be vended in sufficient quantities. More money has been made out of gum than out of all the different kinds of fancy candies put together.

"Five-cent cigars, too, are the big revenue producers; not the 25-cent brands, or three for half a dollar. There's millions in a good nickel drink, once popularized; champagne never piled up any huge fortunes."

"YET THERE'S this to be said," admitted the New Yorker, "for expensive confectionery, tobacco and liquid refreshments:

"There IS a market for them.

"It's restricted, but it does exist. It's adequate to afford a living to the producer who, for one reason or another, chooses to specialize in it.

"This isn't true of votes.

"Votes are all the same, and each citizen has only one of them."

"CONSEQUENTLY," said the congressman, "an appeal for votes must be a jitney appeal, just like a chewing gum salesman's appeal for business.

"A chewing gum salesman, by addressing the intelligentsia, might possibly catch the patronage of a few intellectuals, but probably not many; anyway, there are not enough of them to chew much gum, if they ALL chewed it.

"Meantime, what about the remainder of his trade? Why, he simply wouldn't be getting any."

IT WAS William Hale Thompson's fight for continuation in the Chicago mayoralty that Congressman Bloom was discussing.

As a professional showman, turned politician, the Manhattan-ite watched "Big Bill's" politico-circus methods with intense interest throughout the Windy City executive's successful Republican renomination contest. He is equally absorbed now in observing developments in his re-election campaign against Anton Cermak, the Democratic candidate.

Sol, himself, is a Democrat, but this, he thinks, promises to be too good a performance for partisan prejudice.

"BIG BILL" was in Washington a few days ago, in his capacity as president of the Waterway and Flood Control association of the Mississippi valley, to consult with Chairman Frank R. Reid of the house of representatives' flood control committee, on the eve of congress' adjournment, relative to Chicago's prospects of a steamship connection with the Gulf of Mexico in the near future.

Sol gave him a cordial hand during his short stay in the capital.

He also studied the visitor attentively and seemed favorably impressed by him.

"OF COURSE," commented the New Yorker, "Bill is at an advantage in being already in office.

"His enemies can howl all they please, but Chicagoans evidently think they might do worse or he wouldn't have had such a primary majority. Unless an administration is almost incredibly terrible, the voters usually take that view. They believe that at least they know the worst of what they actually have got, because they've experienced it. If they try something new, they have no idea HOW bad that may be.

"The average voter also generally votes for the candidate whose name he's most familiar with."

"CHICAGOANS naturally," said Sol, "know who 'Big Bill' Thompson is, because he's their mayor and has been advertised.

"Hence all he has to do is to beat a drum (which is all that his donkey and his elephant amounted to, during the primary fight) and when people ask, 'What's that?' and the answer is, 'That's Big Bill running for mayor again,' most of the voters say, 'Oh, is that so? Well, we must get out and vote for him.'

"But his antagonist has to SAY something, which is a great handicap."

DEFINING A GENTLEMAN

Emerson once analyzed the characteristics of a true gentleman and the manners which one who goes by that name is supposed to possess. A gentleman first of all must have power, in the sense of "original energy". Next he must have a "wide affinity," the ability to be a friend to every man.

The original aim of manners is to facilitate life; therefore at all times they are a means, not an end. A gentleman must have nothing of the pretender about him; he must be sincere. Further, he has a "graceful self-respect", to which may be added, in the ideal case, an aloofness which will warrant the absence of the evils of too much familiarity. A gentleman is also good-natured, with an insight which gives him the discernment necessary to harmonious living. Emerson summarizes this ideal type of human being very happily: "I have seen an individual whose manners, though wholly within the conventions of elegant society, were never learned there, but were original and commanding, and held out protection and prosperity . . . yet with the port of an emperor, if need be, calm, serious, and fit to stand the gaze of millions!"

Manners are fundamental, if one accepts Emerson's definition of them. One is rich when he can be a friend to any man; he is vulgar when he refuses to be rich. In short, Emerson has defined the manners of the soul; the outward manners are significant only in that they are the sign by which men learn the inner.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

MRS. BELLE RYANS HAS SMOKED A PIPE FOR 109 YEARS.—Mrs. Ryans, born in Tennessee March 4, 1811, has been a devotee of a pipe since she was 11 years of age. Although she has used tobacco continuously for 109 years, she does not approve of the modern girl smoking cigarettes. In a recent statement to the press she expressed only one unfulfilled desire in life, and that was to ride in an airplane. This has been denied her because of her age. Mrs. Ryans is now living in Savannah, Georgia.

ONE LOCOMOTIVE ATOP THE OTHER IN A HEAD-ON COLLISION.—This collision, which took place on one of the large railroads in the state of Massachusetts, more than a score of years ago, is unique in the annals of railroading. The engine shown mounted on the other was pushing a snowplow at the time of the collision, and, as a result of the terrific impact, it climbed over the plow and landed on top of the heavier locomotive.

Tomorrow: "35 YEARS A SAILOR BUT NEVER SAILED THE SEA."

For GINGER'S SAKE

by ETHEL HUESTON
©1930 THE BOBBS-MERRILL CO.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GINGER ELLA TOLLIVER, daughter of a minister and stepdaughter of the wealthy and indulgent former PHIL VAN DOORN, organized a Junior country Club in the town of Red Thrush, Iowa, just to keep life among the younger set from becoming too dull. Accordingly, she purchased an old farm house and remodeled it.

BARD HOLLOWAY, a young artist who was hoboing around the country, stopped in Red Thrush. Atracted by Ginger, he agreed to stay and paint portraits and decorate the new club house. He gave the name "Joie de Vivre" to the club and he suggested sending to Chicago for NICOLO CALLENO, who could cook and sing and strum a guitar.

But Nicolo could not come. In his place there arrived three of his countrymen. ANGELO was a musician; PIETRO could cook, and BENITO could sing. Ginger took them on.

Bard began to realize he was in love with Ginger. He suggested leaving. But Phil, knowing Ginger persuaded him to remain longer as the Tolliver's guest. But for Ginger's good she wrote to SPEED RONEY, a former friend of Ginger's, and invited him to visit them. She felt he would give Bard some competition. Ginger thereupon invited PATTY SEARS to the care of Speed. But Patty wouldn't come, pleading loyalty to EDDY JACKSON. Whereupon Ginger went to Eddy about it. Getting word that Speed was bringing his sister, she persuaded both Eddy and Patty to come.

And Eddy decided to ball things up by making life miserable for Ginger. Meanwhile Benito had made a trip to Chicago and returned with a plan to kidnap Ginger. Knowing her stepmother has a lot of money, he plans to hold her for heavy ransom.

Speed and his sister arrive. Her name is COTTON, and she is not at all like the girl Ginger expected to see. Ginger was a little fearful that Cotton would prove very attractive to Bard. Eddy arranges for Bard and Cotton to be together.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXVII

Ginger was honest enough to admit that Cotton was genuinely nice, very cordial, very friendly, most amusing. And for all Ginger's suspicious watching, she could not discover that she put herself out in the least to attract the favorable attentions of Bard. Indeed, among the men she was more personally attentive to Speed than to either of the others, listening attentively when he spoke, dancing with him very often, and betraying an affectionate and sisterly interest in him that was most becoming.

Also Ginger was just conceited enough to be pleased because Cotton, in spite of her Greenwich studio, her New York life, and artistic profession, was gaily delighted with Joie de Vivre.

She could scarcely take her eyes off Benito booming in the corner. She declared the spaghetti was the best she had ever eaten. And when Ginger told her about Ben, and Patty,—sitting modestly apart at a small table in the bay window, Benito having insisted that they make part of the party and leave the work entirely to him and his companions—she wanted to be taken over immediately for an introduction, an office which Eddy was deftly commissioned to fulfill.

For several minutes she sat at their table, chatting cheerfully, to the shy eligh of Benny and the fluttering excitement of his wife, after which she wanted to go to the kitchen to meet the chef at close range.

"Eddy", she whispered, "how about something to drink?"

Eddy ran a nervous finger around his collar. "Well, I think I can arrange it," he said. "The girls don't drink, of course."

"No, but we do, don't we? We do, but can we?"

"I think we can. I'll see what I can do."

He winked at Pietro who joyously admitted them to his private retreat behind the big kitchen door, and filled their glasses from a huge vinegar jar.

"Not bad," said Cotton approvingly. "We'd better have another right away, because it isn't easy thinking up excuses to come to the kitchen more than once. It takes two to get clear down to my toes and improve my dancing."

Not without some inner qualms, Eddy had two with her and led her back to the table where Bard, who had himself been initiated into the kitchen mysteries, viewed their flushed faces with some suspicion.

"If anybody else wants to go on a tour of the premises—especially the kitchen—I proclaim myself official guide from henceforth," he said solemnly.

It was Cotton who, as they were dancing to the newer and more popular airs, suddenly herself burst into song, the others joining gaily, until the old house rang with the rhythm.

"It's the nicest thing I ever heard of, Ginger," she declared. "I just adore it. I wish had one of my own."

When Ginger told her that Bard had done the panel decorations nothing would do but that she be regaled with a private showing at the hand of the artist.

"I suppose it never occurred to you to panel the kitchen, too?" she

Last Rites For Tech Student Will Be Read On Thursday At Plainview

Last rites for Raymond Koeniger, 22, senior Tech student who died here early Sunday morning of poisoning, will be read at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the First Baptist church at Plainview.

Lloyd McLaughlin, E. W. Davis, George Tate, Marshall Formby, William Green and Cyrus LeMaster, classmates of Koeniger, and his two roommates, John Freeze, of Sweetwater, and Arnold Smith, of Colorado, will act as pallbearers at the services. A large number of college students and several faculty members also plan to attend the funeral.

Burial will be in the Plainview cemetery.

Members of his family, who were in Lubbock Tuesday stated that after a careful investigation of the case, the youth's act was undoubtedly the result of a fracture of the skull received in the school rodeo at the college in November. He suffered an injury when thrown from a bucking steer in the rodeo contests.

Young Koeninger died of strychnine self-administered after he had attended the Junior Prom and midnight matinee Saturday night and early Sunday with a girl friend. He had purchased the poison at a local all-night drug store a few minutes before his death.

Six notes to members of his family and classmates were clutched in his hand when he was found by his roommates lying across the bed in his room, gasping for breath. He died after being taken to the Lubbock sanitarium.

Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Koeninger of Plainview and the brother, he is survived by three sisters, Miss Christine Koeninger, a teacher in a school near Plainview and Mary Elizabeth, 11 and Ouida, 8.

Paving Machinery Is Expected Here

Machinery for the paving of highway No. 9 north of Lubbock to Abernathy is to be shipped Wednesday or Thursday from Yoakum to Lubbock, the state highway engineer's office here has been advised by the Interstate Construction company of Yoakum, contractors, who have the job of paving the highway.

The material will be sent to Lubbock. First slab work will be started from Lubbock north. When the first five or six miles is completed the equipment will be moved from the Santa Fe's Crosbyton branch near the highway, to Monroe. The final establishment of equipment will be at Abernathy.

Preliminary work will start as soon as the equipment arrives. Slab pouring is to begin about April 1.

Footings for the underpass on highway No. 9 south of Monroe have been half completed and it is believed that the work will start today on pouring of the footings on the north side of the underpass.

At the same time the forming of the south abutments will be started. The footings were completed recently.

There is some dirt work to be completed, according to Guy R. Johnston construction engineer. Snow and rain of a week ago Saturday night delayed the completion of the dirt work.

COULDN'T SLEEP NIGHT THROUGH

Lady Who Had Suffered Took Cardui Until She Felt Perfectly Well.

Huntington, W. Va.—How a West Virginia woman got rid of a nervous, painful condition is described below by Mrs. Nettie Meehling, of 50 "A" Street, this city, who writes:

"Twelve years ago, I was in bad health. I was nervous. I couldn't eat, sleep or work. My household tasks were a burden, and I had to drag around to get them done.

"I could not sleep a night through, and at the least thing I would go all to pieces. My back ached and my limbs hurt, too.

"I began taking Cardui because a friend urged me to do so. It was not long until I was feeling much better. My improvement was steady. I soon got so I could eat and sleep just like I did before I was taken sick. I continued taking Cardui until I felt perfectly well.

"Since that time I have taken Cardui when I was run-down and felt weak. I can recommend Cardui to other women for I found it a great help when I was ill."

Winter's Grip Holds Europe

Many Sections Are Under Snow While Others Are Suffering From Swollen Rivers Caused By Thawing Process

LONDON, Mar. 10. (AP)— Belated winter continued today to hold large sections of Europe in its grip.

Austria lay under a thick white blanket. Snow whirled across Germany and buried the Rhine valley and the Black Forest, already heavily covered, with the deepest fall in years.

A snowstorm swirled across Paris. In Scotland and northern England many towns and cities were snowbound, and the fall continued. The roofs of London were crusted with white although streets had been cleared and traffic no longer was seriously impeded.

Several deaths in Great Britain were ascribed to the cold, which brought temperatures to zero in many sections.

The snow which blew in from the provinces made the flood predicament of Paris more serious by swelling the Seine, already out of its bounds in the suburbs. Trains into one main railway station were stopped and it was feared the high waters might seep into the subway tubes.

In the earthquake zone along the Jogoslavian, Bulgarian and Greek frontiers bitter cold added to the hardships of thousands who had been injured or made homeless.

Arctic weather unequalled in 50 years clutched Switzerland. It had snowed incessantly there since Saturday and in Berne and Geneva children went to school and business men to work on skis over snow three feet deep. In Basel traffic was almost at a standstill and in the mountain districts conditions were far worse. Two trains were derailed by heavy drifts but none was injured.

Second Legislative Message Of Governor Sterling Seen Tuesday

AUSTIN, March 10. (AP)—Governor Sterling today sent to the legislature his first message since his initial message the day after his inauguration. He recommended that the state be redistricted judicially.

The governor stated he believed that if the district courts were reapportioned, it would be unnecessary to create any additional ones. He pointed out that there were pending bills proposing to establish 13 district courts notwithstanding that Texas already had approximately 120 such courts.

"The state has not been judicially redistricted by the legislature, insofar as concerns district courts, for a very great length of time, if ever," Governor Sterling stated.

"By virtue of this last condition there has been brought about an unequal distribution of the work demanded of the various disrict judges in this state. This is at once apparent by a check of the population of the various districts, which shows the same to vary from a population of 17.000 to 107.000 per district.

"Such a condition is bound to result in a disorganized and inefficient judicial system, in needless expenditure of money, delay in the trial of causes by virtue of congestion of the dockets in some courts, and general dissatisfaction on the part of the citizenship."

Governor Sterling said he believed redistricting, with a view of more equally distributing the work of the various district judges, would be desirable from an economic standpoint. He suggested that both time and money might be saved if creation of additional district courts were held up until the matter of redistricting had been passed on.

Representative Petseh of Fredericksburg had introduced a bill asking redistricting.

Last Shipment Will Be Made

Movement Of Cotton From Bailey County Has Been Good The Last Year Despite The Very Short Crop

By Staff Correspondent

MULESHOE, March 10.—The last shipment of cotton from Muleshoe will be made this week.

Forty-two bales of cotton was placed on the loading dock of the Santa Fe railroad to be shipped to Gulf ports.

Movement of cotton out of Bailey county has been good the past year. Despite the short crop in some sections, the ginnings were reported as very good.

Total shipment of cotton from Muleshoe is slightly over 1,900 bales for the season. Besides the two gins here there are three rural gins. In the section of the county just west of Sudan, in Lamb county, farmers send their cotton to that town for ginning.

Young Infield And All-Round Star To Help Cincinnati

Fred Lucas Is Counted On To Help Reds Out

Skipper Howell Says He'll Be To Blame If Reds Are Not In The Running This Year; New Men Coming Up

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

TAMPA, Fla., March 10.—One of three units generally picked to hold up this year's National League standing from the underside, the Cincinnati Reds gives every promise of keeping faith with the soothsayers.

The reds wound up seventh last season, and their manager, Dan Howley, said he doesn't know why it wasn't eighth.

"But that's no alibi," he hastened to explain. "I stand or fall with my club. If the outfit I'm putting together now doesn't come through this year or next, I'm willing to take the blame."

Hobbling about on a cane, the result of a foot ailment, Howley in his second year at the Cincinnati helm is engaged in a serious job of rebuilding. Such departed stars as Curtis Walker, Donohue, Critz, Gooch, Meusel and Kelly he is replacing with young faces. Except for the pitching staff, the 1931 Reds will be a vitally a new edition.

Young Infield For Reds

Among other things, they will have one of the youngest infields in the business. They also will have possibly the greatest all-round star of the game in Fred Lucas, the pinch hitting pitcher, and in Nick Cullop, a new outfielder who hit a bushel of homers for Minneapolis last year. But compared with what five or six other National League teams have, it scarcely is enough.

The juvenile infield, upon which Howley is basing his plans, includes Mickey Heath, a slugger from Hollywood, at first; Tony Cuccinello at second; Leo Durocher at short and Joe Stripp on third. Sigafoos, Dressen and Ford—if he reports—will be replacements.

Lucas Leads Hurlers

Led by the versatile Lucas, who won 14 games while losing 15 for a seventh place club last season, the pitching has possibilities. There are three veterans, Eppa Rixey, Larry Benton and Ray Kolp, not to mention John Ogden acquired on waivers. Ben Frey and Silas are the younger holdovers.

Owen Carroll, the former Holy Cross star, who slumped after a great start with Detroit several seasons back, but pitched fine ball for Toledo last year, and Harlan Wysong, who joined the Reds late last summer, looked like the pick of the new talent.

Wallie Roettger, acquired from the Giants in last year's big trade, and heavy handed Cullop have been put down for two of the outer patrols.

The third job lies between the veteran Harry Heilmann, not yet reported because of an arm ailment, and a trio of rookies—Gene Moore, a great hitter with Dallas last year, Ray Fitzgerald, last season with Bridgeport, and Estel Crabtree recalled from Columbus.

Clyde Sukeforth expects to catch 130 games this year, with Bill Styles his chief understudy.

Hagen And Smith Lose Semi-Finals

MIAMI, Fla., March 10. (AP)—Willie MacFarlane and Whiffy Cox scattered birdies today to upset Walter Hagen and Horton Smith, one up in the 36-hole semi-finals of the $5,000 international four-ball matches.

Gene Sarazen and Johnny Farrell, favorites, had comparatively little difficulty in taking their round from Tony Manero and Densmore Shute, 4 and 3. A gallery of 1,000 watched the play.

MacFarlane and Cox will meet Sarazen and Farrell in the 36-hole final round over the Miami Country club layout tomorrow.

Hagen and Smith apparently had their match well in hand throughout the morning round. They reached the end of the first nine all even and then steadied their stroke to go 2 up as they came to lunch.

The Nut Cracker

BY JOE O'GOOFTY
Former Big League Pitcher

FORT MYERS, March 10—Buzzards will win the American League pennant this year for the Washington Senators.

During practice here the other day, Kid Gleason, a fungo hitter from Paris, Tex., was lifting a few pop flies to the rookie outfielders of the Athletics, who were amusing the crowd by catching the ball in their hair.

Suddenly a flock of carnivorous buzzards appeared on the horizon, and several of the young outfielders became confused by the swooping and darting of the birds. One rookie flychaser was seen pursuing a bird for several miles in the mistaken belief that it was a baseball.

With buzzards confusing the outfielders in this manner, it is easy to see the advantage given the Washington Senators, who are training at Biloxi, Miss., where the buzzards have learned to sit quietly on the sidelines.

It is just possible, however, that Kid Gleason may save the day for the Athletics. When the first buzzards appeared, the Kid shouted shrilly:

"Look out there, youse bucks—them buzzards will chaw your arms off!"

Goes To Giants

Johnny Vergez, crack third baseman plucked from the Pacific coast by the New York Giants, is being groomed to replace Freddy Lindstrom, who may be shifted to the outfield or second base. Vergez, above, goes after a high one in Giants' training camp at San Antonio, Tex.

Big Ten Commish Refuses Records To Legislature

CHICAGO, March 10 (AP)—Major John L. Griffith, athletic commissioner of the Big Ten, today declined to turn over to a committee of the Iowa State legislature investigating charges of maladministration at the University of Iowa any official documentary evidence dealing with the University's ouster from the conference in 1929.

"All official reports are given to me in strictest confidence and it is not my pleasure to divulge the information contained in those to any one unless the faculty committee of the conference orders me to do so," Major Griffith told the committee, here to investigate the "inside causes" for Iowa's ouster.

The U. S. Army will be represented in the equestrian sports and modern pentathlon at the Olympic games next year.

Intramural Boxing Gets Started With Six Decisions

Seven Weight Divisions In Prelim Bouts

Final Bouts In First Rounds And Second Round Fights Scheduled For This Afternoon At Tech Gymnasium

What looms as the biggest intramural program ever sponsored by Texas Tech got away to a good start yesterday afternoon with six boxing bouts as preliminaries to seven champions in as many weight classes. Each of the four schools of the college, Liberal arts, engineering, agriculture and military, are represented in the boxing and wrestling events. Further first round fights will be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Tech gymnasium.

The fights yesterday afternoon were limited to class eliminations. The school of Liberal arts submitted 10 boxers, six of whom had to fight in order to determine the class representatives in the quarter-finals. Melvin Havis of Lubbock eliminated J. L. Dean of Crockett in the 135-pound class. H. W. Houk of Waco won a decision over Crews. Both tipped the scale at 135 and Houk and Havis will meet to decide the class representative in the quarter finals. Garner eliminated Harris in the liberal arts' 175-pound entry class.

Lubbock Youth Loses

Orville Cummingham of McLean won a decision over Haskell Beard of Lubbock in the 165-pound class for the Aggies. It was the only Aggie fight of the day.

In the ranks of the Engineers, W. M. Nott of Waco defeated H. S. Bettersworth of Amarillo in the 130-pound class and Teague won a decision over Henry. The latter were in the 150-pound division.

No Soldiers Present

The school of militarism was not represented in the first round fights there being no conflicting weight classes in the soldier ranks.

Preliminary wrestling bouts were unnecessary since none of the schools were represented by more than one man in the same weight class.

Williams Begins His Fourth Year As Skipper

(By The Associated Press)

WICHITA FALLS, March 10. — Manager Carl Williams began his fourth term as skipper of the Wichita Falls Spudders today when he sent 17 rookies through the first workout of the season. Although regulars are not due to report until next Sunday, Lester White and Dick Florrid of last year's mound staff were on hand and expect to be in uniform tomorrow. Skipper Williams was his usual conservative self in talking of the prospects of his club this year and promised one thing, that as usual he and his men would work hard.

FORT WORTH, March 10. — Greeted by perfect weather, the Cats plunged into training again today. All of the 36 athletes who reported yesterday were at the park for the second day of work and added to their number was Adolph Krauss, catcher, secured from Shreveport. Although the first string catcher for the Sports last season, Krauss was a first-year rookie, and he comes here as a non-class man.

ORANGE, March 10. — The Exporters staged their first intrasquad game today, the team captained by Haskell Billings beating Paul Easterling's lineup, 5-4, in the sixth and last inning. Tommy Hughes, the former Longhorn and Detroit Tiger got into action with a single and a triple.

CORSICANA, March 10. — The Yannigans defeated the Dallas Steer regulars today in a six-inning game, 4-2 with a two-run rally in the fifth.

HOUSTON, March 10.—The New York Giants and the Chicago White Sox will play the first night baseball game ever participated in by two major league teams here March 21, President Fred Ankenman of the Houston Texas League Buffs announced today.

Street Elated Over Cardinal Wins; A's Win Over Whiskers

Showing Of Card Regulars In Little World Series Wins Popularity With Gabby; Yankees Defeat Braves

(By The Associated Press)

BRADENTON, Fla., March 10. — Having beaten the world champion Athletes in two of the three games of a little series, Manager Gabby Street is highly elated with the showing made by his Cardinals in their 1931 showing so far.

The most gratifying exhibition, according to Street, was the showing of his regular pitchers against the Mackmen. Fellows like Flint Rhem, Syl Johnson, Al Grabowski and Paul Derringer, came through with flying colors.

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 10.—The House of David fell before the world champion Philadelphia Athletics, 4-2, here today in an exhibition baseball game in which most of Connie Mack's regulars and rookies took part.

Mack used three juveniles on the mound, Lou Krausse, Al Butcher and Jimmy Beshong hurled three innings each.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 10.—The old fashioned squeeze play gave the New York Yankees a 6-5 victory over the Boston Braves in the second of their spring series today.

Going into the last half of the eighth with the score tied, the Yanks loaded the bases and then caught the Braves napping as Lou Gehrig rolled a bunt down along the third base line, Arndt Jorgens romping home with what proved to be the winning run.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 10. — Bill Terry, holdout first baseman of the New York Giants, announced at his home here today that he had reduced his salary demands from $30,000 and a three years' contract to $25,000 and a one-year contract, and is willing to be traded to any club that will meet his price.

SAN ANTONIO, March 10.—Vic Frasier, rookie right hander, and Bill Cissell, the ex-soldier boy infielder, grabbed the major share of the glory in today's Chicago intercamp game, which the regulars won, 7 to 5.

Frasier pitched four innings during which the Yannigans did not get a hit, while Cissel contributed two home runs and a triple to the regulars' attack.

HOYT TO PITCH

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 10. (AP)—Waite Hoyt will start on the mound for the Detroit Tigers in their opening exhibition game with the San Francisco Seals Friday. In announcing the change in the projected lineup, Manager Bucky Harris explained the San Francisco management had asked that a first string pitcher be on the mound for the game, which will dedicate the Seals' new park. Hoyt, he said, is furthest advanced in condition of the regular pitchers.

JOHNSON LINES 'EM UP

BILOXI, Miss., March 10. (AP) — Walter Johnson has doped out a tentative batting order for his Nationals.

It has Buddy Myer leading off followed by Sam Rice with Heinie Manush in his accustomed third position and Joe Cronin as cleanup man. Then comes Joe Judge, Sam West, who formerly the list, Ossie Bluege and finally the batterymen.

Borotra Says He Won't Turn Pro

NEW YORK, March. 10. (AP)—Jean Borotra, arriving today from France to compete in the American indoor tennis championships, said he would never turn professional because he "gets too much fun out of the game."

The Davis Cup star said that when the game becomes work it ceases to be a game. He had no criticism to offer of the defection to the professional rangs of William Tatem Tilden, 2nd, but expressed regret he would not get to meet Tilden in competition again. Playing professional tennis, he said, is as honorable an occupation as selling gasoline pumps, "which I do."

Borotra expressed opinion that American tennis is coming along better than the French game and that the crop of American youngsters is better than those of his native country.

Accompanying Borotra and forming, with him, the team that will meet a picked American squad after the tennis championships were Christian Bossus, one of the better young French players and third in the French ranking and Pierre Landry, French tennis veteran. All three will play in the championships.

Three Sooner Teams Remain In AAU Games

East Central, Northwestern And Southwestern Teachers Colleges Enter Third Rounds In Kansas City Meet

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, March 10—The team which sprang the upset of the annual National A. A. U. basketball tournament yesterday narrowly escaped elimination today in a second round game.

The big 4 A. A. quintet from Cincinnati, which disposed of the favored Oklahoma City boosters, eked out a 24 to 21 victory over the Kansas City life aggregation after trailing most of the game.

At the end of the afternoon, three teachers' colleges and four independent teams had advanced to the third round in the day's contest.

The Northwest Missouri Teachers of Maryville eliminated the Hatton-Turner-Strieby cagers of Kansas City, 36 to 11; the east Central Teachers of Ada, Okla., disposed of Dakota Wesleyan, 33 to 27, in a hotly contested struggle, and the Northwestern Teachers of Alva, Okla., conquered the Haskell Indians, 34 to 20.

Another band of embryonic pedagogs, the Southwestern Oklahoma teachers of Weatherford, yesterday won the right to play in the third round tomorrow.

The young men's institute of San Francisco has a scare in its game with the Union Fuel team from St. Louis, but the Westerners finally won in a second extra period, 30 to 22.

The South Side Turners of Indianapolis easily triumphed over the Simone Clothiers of Weir, Kas., 25 to 12.

suggested slyly as they circled the room.

"No, it never did," said Bard.

"What a shame! One of those pretty Puritans would make such a nice view behind the kitchen door with Pietro."

"If you're hinting, I'll take you," he said. "We can go up to see the one on the stair landing, and then go down the back way. But you want to be careful. There's a kick in that Italian grape juice. Remember, we're all preachers in Iowa, and we don't hold with such carryings-on."

"Eddy's one, too, isn't he?" she said. "I adore preachers. I was impressed with the way he turned it into a sacrament."

Pietro rejoiced at their coming. This, now, was the sort of woman he could understand. Ginger was all right, peppy, pretty and a nice girl, but for Pietro, give him slim fingers yellowed with the smoke of cigarets, and a round red line of lip-stick smudging the rim of a g'ass!

The night was all ups and downs for Ginger, momentary exaltations followed by quick depressions.

When they were getting into the cars for the return to town after the dance, Bard crossed to stand a moment by her side and whisper:

"I was going to say I would try to imagine you are right beside me going in, Ginger. But I can't imagine such a thing. For no one but you could possibly be you. I don't even want to imagine it."

Ginger laid her fingers lightly across his hand that rested on the door. She smiled.

"Just the same," she admitted ruefully, "I'm no Cotton, and nobody knows it any better than I do. There's only one.

Three fair maids and three young men, with a fair apportionment of good looks, wit and sex appeal every hour of every day dedicated to the amusement of the moment; unlimited financial resources to pay for their pleasure; high-powered automobiles, thoroughbred horses, well-kept tennis courts and golf links; a place in the country with quiet walks in pleasant forests, big hammocks suspended in leafy dells, canoes afloat upon the shady river, music to be had for the wanting and a polished floor shining its invitation to lightly dancing feet—in such a youth's Utopia, it would seem all life must blend in a merry medley of laughter, song and love.

Ginger's party had all these and more. But there was no laughter among them save what was grimly forced. The only song was that of the willing and large-lunged Benito. As for love affairs—inside of 24 hours they had got their love affairs into such a state of confusion that it seemed as though they could never be righted world without end.

The party opened to a false start on the first day and floundered clumsily along, growing steadily worse, until within three days everything imaginable was wrong with it, nothing was working out well, and nobody was having a good time—unless, indeed, it was Eddy Jackson. And he was pretty well swallowed up in the sorrows of the sad majority.

In some ways the unoffending Patty had the worst of it. Patty was perfectly agreeable to anything and everybody, she was entirely willing to do anything that was asked of her and accept anybody as a partner.

If it seemed advisable, as Eddy maintained, for her to accept the unwilling attentions of Speed Roney, Patty did not complain ever when it became increasingly obvious that Speed's interest was entirely forced, prompted not at all by personal desire but by the clever coercion of Eddy Jackson.

Never much of an ornament to society in a conversational way, Speed fell a prompt prey to the moody constraint of the others and lapsed into a mental depression from which he made no effort to arouse himself.

To Patty he was overbearingly, oppressively polite seeming even to prefer the company of his own sister to her, than which no more fatal thing can be said of any woman. To Ginger he had no opportunity to show even the formal courtesies that might be expected, for she was completely monopolized by the sudden aggressiveness of Eddy Jackson and in a way that brooked no interference.

Speed was not having a good time on his own account. Phil had written him that Ginger was bored, but remembering as he did her utterly unquenchable vivacity in the old days, her almost inhuman capacity for adventure and excitement he was not prepared for this still, soft, suffering Ginger. He quickly made up his mind that she was jealous. And of whom? Of whom, indeed, but Cotton, forced uninvited into the party by his own unthinking act.

For her part, Cotton found herself effectually sequestered in the Rattletrap with Bard Holloway most of the time, and the situation was neither of her doing nor to her liking. Bard did not interest Cotton. She knew a hundred young men very much like him on the whole, and his type had no charm or novelty for her.

But take Eddy Jackson now! There was a type that Cotton had never before encountered, and she was merrily intrigued. A farmer, a rich young farmer—an agriculturist rather!—looked up to by old experienced men—the sort who could make Pay Dirt out of a common Iowa farm—on who knew his way about in the world—good-looking, too, in a powerful way. He was a constant spur to her laughter and to her wit, and a keen observer could almost hear the mental click of their verbal contact.

DON'T DISSOLVE YOUR DOLLARS

YOU might as well throw money away as wash your lingerie and delicate colored print goods in the hot water that common soaps require. Perhaps you wonder how to get them clean any other way. Here's the answer:

White King Granulated Soap, made from the same sort of fine vegetable and nut oils used in salad dressing and other food products, will yield quick, rich suds, thorough cleansing, and swift rinsing in the lukewarm water that delicate fabrics demand. And White King's purity protects anything that lukewarm water won't harm.

White King solves every household washing problem—and it's economical. A teaspoonful for the wash basin, a cupful for the washing machine—plenty, even in hard water. Put it on your list for today. Sold by your grocer.

Cotton Cotton Takes Downward Trend Livestock Open Trade Fairly Active Grain Little Change Grain Prices

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 10. (AP)—Cotton developed a further downward course of prices in today's moderately active trading. Cables were worse than due, and prices opened 3-6 points down. Prices continued to ease off, owing to a reported statement of the chairman of the farm loan board that it would buy no more cotton or wheat until after July 31. Although there were slight rallies, they failed to hold, and prices continued to move downward on liquidation and selling by ring traders until in the early afternoon declines of 15 points from the previous close were shown. The market continued to ease off in late afternoon trading, making new lows 18 points below the previous close still influenced by the farm loan board statement. Prices rallied 6 to 7 points at the end on good trade buying and shorts covering, the general market closing steady at net losses for the day of 10-13 points.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 10. (AP) — Cotton was more active today, and prices were lower under increased selling prompted by a bearish interpretation of a statement credited to Chairman Stone of the farm board that little reduction in cotton acreage is expected.

The market met strong resistance, however, in active trade buying on a scale down, and values gave way relicarnily. May declined to 10.91, a net loss of 14 points from the previous close, but rallied on covering and closed at 10.95, a net loss of 10 points, while the general market closed steady at 8-11 points lower.

Fair Weather Signals In The Bond Market Dominates Financial Scene

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 10. (AP) — Fair-weather signals in the bond market dominated the financial scene today. Wall street attached much more importance to the cordial reception given the large volume of new senior security offerings than to the temperamental changes in shares.

Not only was nearly $2,000,000 in new borrowing quickly taken from the syndicates by dealers, but listed bonds acted well under the competition. Rails, which might have been excused had they sold off in the face of the New York Central and Pennsylvania financing, held firm. Foreign issues received unexpected assistance from the statement by the bank for international settlements that the time was propitious for the extension of long term credits to Europe, and the day's best advances were in this category where many new highs appeared.

Stocks were in strong hands most of the day. A bear drive, coupled with profit-taking, came in the late trading and took much of the wind out of the bulls' sails, but although final prices favored the down side by a narrow margin pivotal issues for the most part behaved in a manner satisfactory to sponsors of the advance.

Air Line

along the route of the proposed line.

A steering committee composed of C. W. Ratliff, chairman, John R. Green and Gerald Wren all of Lubbock was appointed to plan an extensive publicity campaign for building up the air mail poundage along the route to support the application before the postal department. T. E. Johnson, of the Amarillo News-Globe; H. H. Hilburn of the Plainview Evening Herald, C. T. Watson, Big Spring C.-C. secretary. O. D. Carter, of the Lamesa Reporter and Ratliff were named on the publicity committee.

Meeting at Hilton

Mr. Vaughan presidde over the meeting yesterday which opened at noon in the Chimayo dining room of the Hilton. He introduced Mayor J. J. Clements who welcomed the visitors and pledged the city's efforts toward anything that would build a greater West Texas.

Detailing the benefits to be derived from air mail and explaining the work necessary for obtaining the service, C. T. Watson of Big Spring was the first speaker on the informal discussion. He was followed by R. L. Towsend of Amarillo who pledged that city's cooperation toward establishing the line. He told of the five lines running out of Amarillo and the service available to the people. Other speakers were W. O. Stevens of Lubbock who declared he would present the proposition before the South Plains Bankers association in their next meeting; James D. Dyer of Lamesa, who declared air mail service would be as much used in his town as other service, W. T. Strange and Postmaster Fahrenkamp of Big Spring who pledged their city's cooperation to the utmost and explained details of the services benefits. Mayor Cardwell of Plainview and Postmaster Brown also were heard in short talks in which they expressed a desire to see the line in operation.

Search Is Underway

Figures presented on the present air mail now being sent out to junction points on the two trancontinental lies at Amarillo and Big Spring revealed a good patronage. Lubbock had a total of 650 pieces in 21 days, Lamesa had nearly 400 while Plainview reported between 425 and 450 pieces in their survey. Amarillo sent out 749 pounds during the period while Big Spring poundage of 273. The survey was taken without any publicity being carried on the service offered.

Saving of from 12 to 40 hours on letters to the East, north and Pacific coast is available through the use of air mail, it was pointed out. The establishment of this line would make that saving much greater.

Officials present were of the opinion that with an extensive campaign on air mail, the poundage would soon be sufficient to warrant the establishment of the service between the two points.

Next session of the association is to be held at the call of the president and the board of directors.

Besides those mentioned above those attending the meeting yesterday include: George Benson, N. L. Peters of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, Glen A. Smith, president of the Plainivew Chamber of Commerce and R. E. Story of Plainview; J. W. Warp and L. E. Eager of Lamesa; Gregg James, S. T. Shoff, City Manager J. Bryan Miller of Lubbock; and Marshall McCrea and Lee Garner of Big Spring.

Schedule proposed for the line is given below:

Northbound: Plane leave Lubbock 11:00 a. m., arrive Plainview 11:30 a. m., leave Plainview 11:40 a. m., arrive Canyon, 12:15 p. m., leave Canyon, 12:25 p. m., arrive Amarillo 12:40 p. m.; Leave Amarillo 1:00 p. m., arrive Canyon 1:15 p. m.; leave Canyon 1:25 p. m., arrive Plainview 2:00 p. m., leave Plainview 2:10 p. m., arrive Lubbock, 2:40 p. m.

Southbound: leave Lubbock 3:10 p. m., arrive Tahoka 3:30 p. m., leave Tahoka 3:40 p. m., arrive Lamesa 4:00 p. m.; leave Lamesa 4:10 p. m., arrive Big Spring 4:15 p. m., leave Big Spring 5:10 p. m., arrive Lamesa 5:45 p. m., leave Lamesa 5:55 p. m., arrive Tahoka 6:15 p. m., leave Tahoka 6:25 p. m., arrive Lubbock 6:45 p. m.

Livestock

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, March 10. (AP)—Opening hog trade around the eleven market circuit was fairly active at 10-25c higher prices, but a few centers reported a slow close with values weak to lower on strong weight butchers. Extreme top of 8.40 was paid at St. Louis. Total offerings were around 73,000, a slight increase over a week ago.

Fat lambs continued to find a fairly active demand at prices unevenly steady 25c higher, while steady rates were maintained on matured killing classes of sheep. Chicago had a top of 9.35 on choice medium weight lambs, and secured 9.00@9.35 for the bulk of good to choice lots, 90 lbs. and down. The supply approximated 74,300 as compared with 76,200 last Tuesday.

Fed steer trade was slowed down by increased supplies with prices unevenly steady to 25c lower. Better steers showed more decline than off-quality kinds, selling under 8.00.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, March 10. (AP)—Hogs—1,000; truck hogs 5-10c lower; rail hogs steady; truck top 7.60; medium to good light rail hogs 7.45; packing sows 5.50@6.00.

Cattle and calves—2,600; including 600 calves; quotable steady; some short fed steers 6.35@6.75; others around 6.00; few yearlings 7.00@7.25; better grades cows 4.50@5.00; butchers around 3.50, medium stock calves and yearlings 6.00@6.50; one load feeder steers 6.50.

Sheep—2,300; lambs steady; aged wethers 10 to 25c lower; bulk good shorn lambs 7.00; few shorn aged wethers 4.10@4.25; feeder lambs 4.50@5.50.

Lion Park

from Tumble N, municipal swimming pool in the adjoining City park, supplementing rainfall. A pump will be installed to pump water from the lake when the supply otherwise is insufficient.

Eventually, the lake probably will be stocked with fish. It will not be large enough for boating, however.

Gardens Included

There will be flower beds, and organizations and individuals have indicated a desire to develop a rose garden, a cactus garden, a plot of native trees, and water lilies and other water-plants. Walking paths will be made in the park. Present plans do not include construction of stands or buildings, although playground equipment later will be set up, Mr. Sherrod explained.

Business houses, clubs, and individuals will be asked by Lions club members to contribute to a fund for use in buying trees and shrubbery, different plots which they help make possible being so designated, according to Mr. Sherrod.

Lions park can be entered from state highway No. 9 and from the City park near Tumble N pool.

Plan of Lions park was made by Prof. Charles H. Mahoney, head of the department of horticulture at Texas Technological college and chairman of the city park board.

The area comprising Lions park belongs to the City and originally was a part of City park. It remained undeveloped, however, and when the Lions club expressed a desire to make a separate park of it, permission was granted by the City, Mr. Sherrod said.

Members Named

Calvin Hensen is chairman of the Lions major activities committee. Other members, in addition to the chairman and Mr. Sherrod, are Rufus Scarborough, E. L. Pitts and R. C. Campbell.

Work of developing the southern part of the Lions park, or that portion which slopes toward Yellowhouse creek, will continue through the spring and summer, and development of the park generally will be the club's major activity indefinitely, according to Mr. Sherrod.

Rogers Is Speaker

At the regular weekly luncheon session of the club, held Tuesday at noon at Hotel Hilton, Gardner S. Rogers, city planning expert attached to United States Chamber of Commerce at Washington, D. C., was the principal speaker.

Introduced by Chas. A. Guy, newspaperman and chairman of the B. C. D. committee on city planning, Mr. Rogers' talk was particularly interesting to Lions, due to their activities on behalf of parks and playgrounds. He stressed the value of recreational grounds in keeping people healthy and contented and complimented the clubmen in their work of that kind.

Dr. S. S. McKay, of Tech, president of the Lions club, presided, and committee reports were delivered by P. Sherrod, in charge of the club park work, and J. O. Kuykendall, one of his aides.

Plans were laid to secure four Lions to make the trip to Port Arthur within the next few weeks, when the club's district conference is held.

Former Congressman Is Held On Charge Of Embezzlement

CHICAGO, March 10. (AP)—Charles S. Wharton, former congressman, was in trouble again today.

Released two months ago from federal prison, Wharton was arrested on a warrant charging him with embezzling $21,000 in jewelry and bonds from Miss Cecile Ware.

Miss Ware said she retained Wharton, former assistant state's attorney, to handle her investments and that he absconded with the jewelry and bonds.

Americans paid more than $500,000 for Portuguese sardine fishing.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, March 10. (AP)—Prices on the cash grain market here today showed little change from Monday. Red top cane seed easier, demand continued fair for the light offerings.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Wheat, No. 1 hard of any protein 77 1-2@78c; Corn, No. 2 mixed 70@71c; No. 2 white 73 1-2@75 1-2c; No. 3 yellow 72@73c; oats, No. 3 red 42@43 1-2c; (No. 3 white delivered Texas group one points 41 1-2@43c); sorghums, No. 2 milo per 100 lbs. 1.32@1.34; No. 3 kaffir 1.19@1.20; cane seed, bulk country run red top per 100 lbs., according to type, etc., 2.35@2.60.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 10. (AP)—Corn led the grain markets up first and then down today. Buying power in corn faded after an early advance had brought about an onslaught of selling to realize profits. Official announcements that only 709,000,000 bushels of corn yet remained in farmers' hands against a five-year average of 1,077,432,000 were responsible for the transient price gains.

Corn closed weak, 3-8 to 7-8 cents lower, wheat unchanged to 3-8 off, oats unchanged to 1-8 down, and provisions unchanged to 47 cents setback.

Unexpected firmness of Liverpool wheat quotations and smallness of receipts at European continental markets helped to steady wheat.

county line and is for grading and drainage. Distance is approximately twelve and a half miles, all in Motley county.

The other project is from Turkey east to the precinct line near Hovel and is for grading and drainage work also. Distance is approximately fourteen and a half miles.

"With these projects let, the only section not included in a grading and drainage work between Dickens and Estelline is in Motley county from Matador north to the Hall county line," Guy R. Johnston, construction engineer for this district, said in announcing the contracts. "I think this will be included in the April lettings."

"All of these projects will be included in this year's lettings," he added.

No. 18 from Dickens north to the Motley county line is paved. From Dickens to Spur the grading and drainage work has been completed and the highway is ready for paving as soon as legal questions are settled.

Farmers Start Onion Culture

Planting Is Started In Portales, N. M., District By Owners Of Sections With Small Acreages

By Staff Correspondent

PORTALES, N. M., March 10.—Planting of onions on the irrigated sections of the famous shallowater belt in the Portales community is underway as many farmers who have small acreages are beginning to start their work.

There are now around 200 irrigation outfits here, with probably 10 to 15 more pumps to be started in a short time. Some of these will be in operation in two months or less.

Bermuda onions are the chief type used by the onion growers. A majority of these are planting Crystal Wax but some use the yellow Bermuda.

Harvesting comes in June and July, after the onions from the Rio Grande valley and South Texas are off the market. Through a cooperative movement here, the sale of onions is kept on a fairly even keel. Several hundred car loads were handled last year.

Potatoes Major Crop

Sweet potatoes are another major crop. A cooperative marketing group handled 300 carloads of sweet potatoes, taking care of the curing as well as the marketing.

Other crops of a major scale include tomatoes, beans, mostly pinto beans, radishes, peanuts and peppers.

Besides these, watermelons, cantaloupes and fresh vegetables of all kinds are to be found here.

The Portales valley area covers about 100 sections in the well defined area of the shallowater belt. The area is 30 miles long and from three to four miles wide.

Water Rises

Depth of the wells for the most part are 100 feet. However, the water lift is from 10 to 25 feet. Water comes from the third strata of sand. But when the well is down, the water rises up to within 10 to 25 feet of the top of the well, making the lift much shorter.

Irrigation work started here in 1910 and 1911. However, the first few years the work did not progress because the town and community was not growing fast enough to support the unexpected growth of irrigation. Now, with cooperative marketing methods of handling the crops, the distribution is much easier and all of the crops raised can be disposed of.

A large portions of the crops are handled by truck to nearby towns and even as far away as Fort Worth, Dallas, San Antonio, Lubbock, Amarillo and other towns. Many truck men will leave Portales, which is about 20 miles over the line from Texas, late at night and drive all night.

Tomatoes grown here are canned by a local factory. Sale of the output is assured.

Most of the early irrigation farmers have moved away. The men now here are experienced and in the past few years there has been a steady growth of new acreages and new plants.

American Negro Chosen As Queen Of Paris Festival

PARIS, March 10 (AP)—Josephine Baker of St. Louis and points south, noted American negro dancer, tonight was elected to be crowned queen of the colonies in the forthcoming colonial expedition.

At the same time a committee chosen to select a queen of Paris for the forthcoming Mi-Careme Festival April 12, gave its judgment to Mlle. Claire Hebrard, a 21-year old white girl. She is a brunette stenographer.

Josephine Baker was picked for colonial queen, said a communique, "after a remarkable rendition of United States southern melodies."

GOP Plans Are Now Underway

Machinery Of The Republican National Committee Will Be Thrown Into High Gear To Educate The Country

WASHINGTON, March 10. (AP)—The machinery of the republican national committee will be thrown into high gear in an effort to acquaint the country with the work of the Hoover administration.

Plans looking toward 1932 were outlined today by Chairman Fess, after a call at the White House. He said, however, he would not go over the program with President Hoover until later.

A little later, James Francis Burke, general counsel of the committee issued a statement saying it would not meet soon because the country "is suffering of an overdose of politics."

Meanwhile, Democrats and independent Republicans assailed the announcement last night by Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican national committee, that an advisory council for agriculture had been formed to tell the farmers what the administration had done for them.

Senator Fess said the committee's plan called for more intensive publicity, the organization of subcommittees, and the speeding up of state Republican organizations.

Discussing the Republican council for agriculture Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho said tersely: "It is too amusing to comment."

Senator Caraway, Arkansas Democrat, said "under the Hoover administration agriculture has almost perished."

Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, predicted members of the council would be "hooted off the platform if they come out to my country."

Senator Connally, Democrat, Texas, said: "A drive is to be made to induce the farmers to believe that if they will elect the Republicans only one more time the grand old party, though it has fooled the farmer and broken its promises to him repeatedly, will at least brace up and keep its word for once . . . after a year of Republican farm relief, farmers are more deeply in debt more engulfed in misfortune than before."

● STANDARD RATING SCALE for Electric Refrigeration

● Is the refrigerator manufactured by a reliable company with proper experience in the electric refrigeration field?

● Has it plenty of food and shelf space?

● Is the cabinet itself well designed, sturdily built and properly insulated?

● Is there provision for the freezing of an adequate supply of ice cubes? (Quantity of ice rather than number of cubes, which may be of large or small size, should be taken into consideration).

● Will the refrigerator constantly maintain a proper temperature for the preservation of foods?

● Can the freezing of ice cubes and desserts be speeded up when the need arises?

● Can this extra freezing speed for ice cubes be had without affecting the temperature on the food shelves? (Too low a temperature on the shelves will, of course, injure food).

● Is there a place to keep ice cream, meat, fish, game, "quick frosted" foods or extra ice cubes indefinitely at a below freezing temperature?

● Are these various temperatures (a. extra fast freezing; b. fast freezing; c. below freezing for storage; and d. normal food preservation temperature) automatically maintained without any attention from the owner?

● Does the refrigerating unit operate often or infrequently? (The fewer "stops" and "starts" the longer the unit will last and the less it costs to run).

● How long will the cooling unit continue to cool the refrigerator even though the current is shut off? (Refrigeration should continue for 10 or 12 hours).

● Can the back parts of all shelves, even the lowest, be reached without kneeling or sitting down?

● Has provision been made for keeping vegetables fresh and crisp?

● Can the refrigerator top be used to "set things down for a moment" while the contents of the cabinet are being rearranged?

● Will the refrigerator add to the attractiveness of the kitchen?

● Has the experience of users over a long period of years proved the refrigerator long-lived and dependable?

THE vital factors that make for value in an electric refrigerator are so simple and clean-cut they have been put down in black and white. One reading of the Standard Rating Scale will tell any careful buyer that here, at last, a method is presented whereby every element of value in electric refrigeration can be remembered, discussed and weighed. Measure any refrigerator by the Scale, for it applies to all. But we ask you to be particularly sure to include Kelvinator in your search for the biggest values; only a measurement like the Scale can show the quality of Kelvinator compared with that of all others. See if that isn't true. Phone or write for a detailed discussion of the Scale.

Save Your Daughter

from the many foot-ills that you have "enjoyed" since girlhood. Practically all foot discomforts—whether bunions, corns, ingrowing toe-nails, grown-under toes, overlapping toes, or what-not—have been caused from ill-fitted shoes. Very likely this ill-fitting started in the old days when a shoe was considered a shoe just like an egg is an egg.

Shoes must be fitted conscientiously and a retailer must have a wide spread of sizes and widths in order to fit shoes conscientiously. In the old days he did not have them and some don't have them now

Dissolution Of Armed Alliances In Europe Urged By Rome Speaker

ROME, March 10 (AP)—Dissolution of all armed alliances in Europe was urged today by Gaetano Polverelli presenting the 1931 budget in the Chamber of Deputies.

"Europe," he said, "has three fundamental civilizations — French, Italian and German—all of which have the right to live on a plane of moral parity. To conciliate them as a highly meritorous work.

Praising Italy's part in the recent naval accord with France and England, the deputy emphasized the importance to peace of uniting all national interests.

"To exclude anyone would be a mistake," he said. "To unite two against a third would militate against the interests of peace. The long terms of some treaties, the weight of indemnities and war debts, the division of Europe into armed and unarmed nations and the reconstruction of military alliances have long held Europe agitated in a feeling of insecurity.

"Profound unrest remains and many steps must yet be taken for effective reapproachment among the peoples of this continent."
