NORRIS TRIAL SET FOR JANUARY 10 AT AUSTIN

Who Got the Plums?

Al Smith Gets Over—
So Does Vic Donahey—
Boss Brennan Out—
And What About M'Adoo?

BY HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD.

NEW YORK appears to be safely democratic for the first time in years. Governor Al Smith has been a lone figure at Albany for four years.

A republican lieutenant governor was on deck and this prevented the leader of the New York democracy from leaving his post or going out of the state as often as he would have liked to go.

* * *

NOW the resurns show the election of the entire state tickets, democratic gains in both houses of the legislature, a United States senator and 25 democratic congressmen.

* * *

THUS it is that New York after January 1 will have a democratic state government through and through, two democrats in the senate, 25 in the house, and every office in the city of New York filled by a democrat.

* * *

AS FOR the modification referendum it was adopted by a very large majority and more than two million five hundred thousand voters participated in the election.

* * *

IT WAS a gloomy day for Wadsworth; it was a gloomy day for Ogden Mills; it was a gloomy day all around for the trainers of and the followers of the republican elephant.

* * *

GEORGE E. BRENNAN lost the senatorship to Frank L. Smith in Illinois by a plurality of less than 50,000 although the Brennan prohibition modification amendment won out in the state by a large majority.

* * *

BOSS BRENNAN expected to carry Chicago by 150,000.

He believed that the wet republicans would vote for him almost to a man.

* * *

THOUSANDS of wets did vote for him, republican wets, but the lack of republican wets voted their straight republican ticket and now the democratic leaders of Illinois say that 50,000 dry democrats deserted Brennan and voted for Magill, independent republican, who made a very sorry showing in the face of the backing that he had or was promised on the part of leading reformers, including many churchmen.

* * *

THERE may have been method in the madness of Brennan. He went down in defeat but his followers captured the country offices which are very rich plums.

Fat salaries go with these plums and Brennan democrats will take down the salaries.

* * *

MISSOURI elected a wet democrat to the senate.

Missouri voted down by a decisive majority a proposal calling for the repeal of the state dry enforcement act.

* * *

OF COURSE the large cities voted for the repeal bill but the country districts including the smaller towns returned sweeping majorities against the repeal measure and for the Volstead Act as it stands, and drastic enforcement of all prohibition acts all down the line.

* * *

AS USUAL there were thousands of voters in Missouri who ignored the repeal amendment. They did not vote either way.

They voted for men but not for measures. They would not vote for the repeal bill.

They did not vote to prevent the nullification of the state pro laws.

* * *

IN 1920 James A. Reed was denied a seat by the McAdoo leaders at San Francisco. In 1926 he is the leader of the democrats of Missouri and succeeded in electing his friend and follower, Harry Hawes to a seat in the senate.

* * *

MARYLAND, Kentucky, Missouri and Oklahoma are border states.

In the good old days there were democratic strongholds. In recent years, when Bryan was the king of the democratic organization, these states drifted from their democratic moorings. On November 2 all four returned.

All four elected democrats to the United States senate.

* * *

ALL FOUR blasted the hopes of the republicans. All four voted with the solid south as in days of yore. Maryland sent Milton Tydings to the senate; Kentucky sent Alvan W. Barkley; Missouri sent Harry Hawes; Oklahoma sent Elmer Thomas.

* * *

OKLAHOMA democrats made almost a clean sweep. They elected all nominees for state offices; both branches of the legislature are overwhelmingly democratic; they elected a democrat to the senate and seven of the eight congressmen.

Jack Walton was not a disturber this year and the clan issue appears to have gone the way of all things perishable.

* * *

CALIFORNIA republicans swept the platter clean. Samuel Shortridge, republican, was returned to the senate by a very large majority. John D. Elliott, the democratic nominee had the personal endorsement of William Gibbs McAdoo and was the choice

ILLNESS HOLDS CHIEF WITNESS IN MILLS CASE

Jane Gibson, 'Pig Woman,' Not Able to Testify In Trial

WILLIE STEVENS NAMED

Fingerprints On Slain Pastor's Card Called Those Of Defendant

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 4. (AP)—Serious illness of Mrs. Jane Gibson, pig raiser today prevented the state from introducing the testimony of its chief eye-witness in the Hall-Mills murder trial.

At the end of a day in which experts testified that a calling card found at the feet of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall bore a finger print of Willie Stevens, one of the defendants, Supreme Court Justice Charles W. Parker and County Judge Frank Cleary decided that Mrs. Gibson was too ill to tell her story and to undergo the "very rigorous, painstaking and trying cross examination" which the defense announced it must conduct, in justice to its clients.

Pneumonia Feared.

Mrs. Gibson is ill at the Somerset hospital from an undiagnosed maladay which physicians testified might develop into pneumonia.

The present investigation which led to indictment of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and three of her male relatives for murder in the killing four years ago of Mrs. Hall's husband and Mrs. Elanor Mills, choir singer in his church was based largely on acceptance of Mrs. Gibson's eye witness story, discredited in the first investigations. She placed Mrs. Hall, her brother, Willie Stevens and a cousin, Henry Carpender, also indicted for murder, at the scene and told of having seen Mrs. Hall bending over the bodies of the slain and weeping "Oh Henry! how could you."

Fingerprint Identified.

The experts who identified the fingerprints on the calling card found on the ground near Dr. Hall's body as that of Willie Stevens' left index finger were Joseph A. Faurot, formerly of the New York police department; Edward Schwartz, also of the New York police force, and Frederick Drewen of the Jersey City police department.

Enlarged copies of the fingerprint found on the card, and finger prints of Willie Stevens made after the double slaying, were passed around to the jurors for comparison. Mr. Faurot pointed out the characteristics which, he said, convinced him that the fingerprint found on the calling card of Willie Stevens.

Defense Objects.

Attorney McCarter, for the defense, objected to admission of the comparative finger prints. He pointed out that the fingerprint found on the calling card was not photographed until at least four days after the card was found and furthermore that it would be unfair to allow entry of the evidence until the circumstances existing between the time of the finding of the card and the making of the fingerprint record, had been gone into.

Ferguson Files For 'Libel Balm'

He Asks $100,000 Damages For Story Printed On Road Fee Charge

TEMPLE, Nov. 4. (AP)—James E. Ferguson, through his attorney, Lon A. Curtis, filed suit for libel here Thursday evening against the Dallas Morning News for the sum of $100,000. The petition names an article published in the News reporting testimony of J. D. Winder, Belleville road contractor before the executive alleged to have been carried under the headline "Ferguson demanded ten per cent on bid says contractor."

Unprivileged Claim

The petition alleges that when Gov. Ferguson, wife of the plaintiff, called the special session of the 39th legislature she did not authorize legislation to appoint members of that body after adjournment of the called session in the investigation of departments or in any other capacity, and therefore the legislative committee has no legal standing, and that its findings are not privileged for publication.

Cites Fee Charge

Matter cited as published in the News was maliciously offensive of and concerning plaintiff, "and that it has been injurious and damaging to his good name and reputation since the import of the headline was that "plaintiff, James E. Ferguson had demanded a "fee" of ten percent of road contracts." The petition seeks actual damage to the amount of $50,000 and exemplary damages in an equal sum.

160 TOTS MADE FATHERLESS BY MINE DISASTER

51 Lives Snuffed Out As Swampy Roof of Iron Mine Collapses

ONLY ONE MAN SAVED

Seven Bodies Brought Out of Michigan Mine Thursday

ISHPEMING, Mich., Nov. 4. (AP)—The little settlement of North Lake which grew around the development of the Barnes-Hecker iron mine eight miles from here was robbed of nearly every man by the cave-in at the shaft yesterday which claimed 51 lives.

Today as the difficult work of attempting recovery of the dead proceded there were only two men residents there to help. The others lay either in a morgue or in the workings, where they were caught by the collapse of swamp land and the consequent flooding of the mine.

160 Orphans Left.

The disaster left 160 orphans. The community school closed today when only six of its 32 pupils came to classes.

In homes widows sat comforting their children, summoning their fortitude to give courage to the weaker.

The listed number of men who perished was reduced to 51 this afternoon by official announcement that Frank Heino previously reported among the missing had been kept from working with his regular shift by a fortunate illness. Arvid Heino, his son, is among the dead in the mine. The father had stayed at home, not reporting to mine officials until they checked at residences today.

Seven Bodies Found.

Only seven bodies have been recovered. Fifty employes of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company perished, as did William Hill, county mine inspector, who was on a trip through the mine.

About 40 men are working to recover the bodies. One crew is preparing to bail the wrecked shaft. Another is working in from the third level to reach the shaft from beneath.

Mine officials believe that men were working on all three levels of the mine but that most of them were on the first level 600 feet below the surface.

The shaft is thought to be a mass of wreckage from 200 feet below its mouth to the bottom.

One Man Escapes.

Wilfred Wills, 23, the only man in the mine at the time of the cave-in to escape told today how he climbed the 600-foot ladder from the 800-foot level in ten minutes while ooze dropped into the mine by the collapse of the swamp bottom licked higher and higher at his feet. His boots were coated with mud when he emerged. Three companions who started with him were caught either by rising mud or falling debris in the shaft.

A memorial service for the miners probably will be arranged. Separate funeral arrangments for the seven whose bodies were recovered are being planned. Probably all will be buried Saturday. No more bodies had been recovered early tonight.

Champagne Bath Party Staged On Rum Ship at Sea

But Grizzled He-Male Plays Role of Chorus Girl In Wine Tub

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. (AP)—A tale of a champagne bath tub party on a rum runner on the high seas in which a grizzled hi-jacker played the part of a bath tub girl was revealed today in the dry, legal phraseology of two indictments returned in federal court.

The rum runner was the Elma, formerly a light house tender, which sailed from Boston last May to engage in the liquor trade. She was seized by hi-jackers among the crew and the bath tub party was to seal a bond of fellowship between the opposing factions.

Ship Is Raided.

While the party was at its height however, the coast guard destroyer Manning came up on the ship off Cape Hatters and after firing several shots halted the rum vessel.

A boarding party, fully armed was sent to take possession. When the guards men stepped on board the captured vessel, they were startled to find, grouped about the captain's bath tub, the combined crews with dippers in hand imbibing champagne while a grizzled and bearded hi-jacker wearing a woman's blond wig was seated in the tub.

Carroll Inspiration.

The inspiration for the bath tub party they explained to the coast guard officers was obtained from radio accounts of the grand jury investigation of Earl Carroll's "bath tub party" on the stage of a New York theatre.

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 4. (AP) A farewell message from John Lee, master mariner, to his widowed mother, believed to have floated around the world in a bottle for nearly 40 years has been received here.

HISTORIC OLD COURT WILL BE SITE OF TRIAL

Norris Case Will Be Heard On Scene of Many Famous Trials

STATE LOSES PLEA

Effort Made By Prosecution To Have Trial Set For Earlier Date

AUSTIN, No. 4.—Trial of Dr. J. Frank Norris of Fort Worth for the slayer of Dexter Chipps, Fort Worth lumberman was tentatively set for January 10, 1927 in Travis county before Judge J. R. Hamilton. Attorneys for the state and defense agreed on the tentative—the court—informed them that he would agree to the date on which they decided.

The tentative setting of the trial was considered another victory for the Baptist preacher, who scored one in the change of venue from Tarrant to Travis county.

Prosecution Loses.

Sam Sayers of Fort Worth and John Shelton of Austin, attorneys representing the prosecution fought in a warm conference with Dayton Moses and Marvin Simpson of Fort Worth, defense counsel, for setting in December but Moses and Simpson succeeded in presenting sufficient and satisfactory reasons for not going to trial in December.

Moses said the trial would be short, while J. D. Moore, Catholic district attorney, who will guide the prosecution of the Baptist minister, said it will continue two weeks.

Norris Is Absent.

Norris did not attend the conference. However, he was in conference with his attorneys prior to their going to the court house.

Moses said that the defense had not employed local counsel yet but it was strongly indicated that they would retain at least one attorney to aid in the picking of a jury.

The conference was held in an office in the ramshackled old court house that has seen many legal battles during its 50 years of existence. While the attorneys called each other by their first names, they resorted to sarcasm and ridicule frequently to make their arguments.

Moses said he had to be in Washington, December 9 on legal business of great importance. This was his reason for asking delay in the trial.

Sayers asked Moses if "you all are going to hold a protracted meeting between now and the trial" and Moses laughingly said, "we have not decided yet."

Difficulties Seen

Sayers pointed out if Dr. Norris does hold a meeting in Austin before his trial that it will be more difficult to select a jury.

Moses remarked that "the remoteness of Travis county" will give both state and defense a better chance to get a fair and impartial jury. Moses said Norris had never lived in Austin and that he thought that both sides would get the best jury to be procured.

"WANT AD HEADQUARTERS"

Texas GOP Poll Too Few Votes For Two-Party Primary To Be Continued

DALLAS, Nov. 4. (AP)—Republican nominees for offices in 1928 will be chosen at conventions instead of primary elections.

That was indicated today when returns from Tuesday's general election showed the republican party had failed to poll 100,000 votes for governor.

Under the state election laws any political party polling 100,000 votes at the last preceding general election must hold primary elections to nominate its candidates.

The huge vote polled by George C. Butte, G. O. P. choice for governor in 1924 made it necessary for the party to hold a primary this year, but the slight vote given El Paso, received 26,713 votes.

Colonel Harvey Haines indicates beyond doubt the republicans will return to the convention system in 1928.

The vote so far reported for Colonel Haines may be less than the part polled in 1918, when C. A. Boynton, now U. S. district judge

HALF-MINUTE INTERVIEWS WITH THE PREACHERS

Delegates to M. E. Conference Tell Their Impressions

Rev. J. R. Allen of Dallas, superannuate minister: "I was in Wichita Falls in 1882 when the city was then only a little village of shanties. The only hotel was a miserable frame concern with poor accommodations. The city has developed in a great way. I am enjoying my stay here and the friendly spirit of Wichita Falls as well as the sessions of the sixtieth annual conference."

R. C. Dial of Greenville, retiring conference lay leader: "The conference is having the finest entertainment in the work and it is one of the greatest conferences I have ever attended. This marks my eleventh year in this conference and I served a period of four years as lay leader in the conference four years before being transferred to the north Texas district."

Dr. C. M. Simpson, presiding elder of the Sherman district and former pastor of the First Methodist church: "Wichita Falls has shown a great growth in the last three years and is developing rapidly into a city. I am enjoying my visit to this city and the conference which is one of the greatest I ever attended."

Rev. D. T. Hayes of Fort Worth, superannuate minister: "I have attended the two former conferences of the north Texas district of the M. E. Church, south, and the growth of the city and the work of Methodism is remarkable in that time. I preached from Ringgold to Texarkana to the east; from north Fort Worth to Marshal, and from the starting point north to Red river. The Indians were still in the country and it was not unusual for them, once in every full moon, to steal women, children and horses, but the preaching went on. I preached under brush arbors, in school houses and anywhere that people could gather. And we had meetings in those days, regardless of the number."

Rev. D. S. Fuller of Grand Prairie, 80 years old: "The conference in Wichita Falls is a great one, and I am pleased with the work carried on by Southern Methdosm according to the reports. I have served 46 years in this conference and 51 years as pastor. It was my privilege to build the second brick church in the conference when the bounds were Arkansas, Louisiana, east to the Harrison county line, following the Texas and Pacific railway to Gray county and from the Trinity river, Wood, Kaufman and Dallas counties west as far as the Indians would let us go. My wife and I have been married 58 years and I have made no sacrifices to the church in comparison to what she has made."

Dr. R. F. Bryant, Dallas: "The conference is fine and is being carried on in an unusually competent way. The delegates and members are enjoying the sessions and are pleased with the hospitality of Wichita Falls."

Dr. J. H. Groseclose of Dallas, former pastor of S. M. U. and president of the Dallas hospital and superintendent of the building of the C. C. Young memorial home: "This is a great conference. I am impressed with the growth and development of Wichita Falls. We are looking forward to the opening of the hospital and the C. C. Young Memorial home. The home is already finished and it recently received a bequest of $100,000. The hospital is being erected at a cost of $500,000 and the home at a cost of $150,000.

Dr. R. F. Shinn, Dallas: "The conference is great and the program is appealing and especially that given Thursday afternoon by the Methodist Orphanage at Waco. The delegates are exceptionally well provided for by the city, which is furnishing excellent entertainment for the visitors.

E. F. Brown, Vashtine, delegate: "The conference is splendid, and we are enjoying all the sessions. Wichita Falls is providing splendid entertainment."

Rev. W. A. Coppedge, superannuate minister from Bonham: "After spending 45 years in the ministry I find that this is one of the finest annual conferences I ever attended. The Wichita Falls conference is meeting with success."

JUDGE ENGLISH RESIGNS BENCH

U. S. Judge Had Been Scheduled For Impeachment Trial November 10

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4. (AP)—George W. English federal judge for the eastern district of Illinois resigned today six days before he was to have appeared before the senate for trial on charges of usurpation of power and other high misdemeanors. Immediately afterward members of the house appointed to prosecute the case agreed to recommend that the impeachment proceedings against him be dropped.

Senate Meets Wednesday

They will appear before the senate called to met as a court next Wednesday and ask that nothing be done until their recommendation can be placed before the full membership of the house in December. At that time steps to bring to an official end the long drawn out battle are expected to be taken.

Judge English's resignation was handed in at the White House by Edward D. Kramer of East St. Louis, one of his counsel and was accepted immediately. The text was not made public here but as given out in St. Louis it said the jurist had become convinced that, notwithstanding the issues, his usefulness on the bench had been impaired by the proceedings instituted against him.

No Trial Expected

While precedents were plentiful for an impeachment proceeding, regardless of the resignation, nearly all authorities agreed that the next step would be for the senate to meet as called, receive a message outlining the duties before it, and then to accept the prosecutor's recommendation and then adjourn.

The resignation of Judge English was delivered in the presence of Attorney General Sargent and two of the house prosecutors. Representatives Michener, republican, Michigan, and Sumners, democrat, Texas. The jurist set forth that while "conscious of the fact that I have discharged my duties as district judge to the best of my ability, and while I am satisfied that I have the confidence of the law abiding people of the district, yet I have come to the conclusion on account of the impeachment proceedings instituted against me, regardless of the final result thereof that my usefulness as a judge has been seriously impaired."

Duty To Resign

He added that he felt it to be a "patriotic duty" to resign and allow the office to be filled with some one not hampered by the difficulties facing him.

In agreeing to recommend dismissal of the proceedings, the house prosecutors explained that the purpose of the impeachment was to remove from office an official whom the house had not determined to be unfit to further to perform the duties of the office and that the resignation accomplished the primary purpose.

Who Got Plums?

of McAdoo in the primary nomination campaign.

At the close of the count Elliott trailed many thousand votes in the rear of the republican winner.

* * *

IT IS SIGNIFICANT that the democrats made no gains in the wheat section or the corn belt section of the west. Their congressional gains came from the cities, notably Chicago.

* * *

IN THE farming districts the republican voters were loyal to their senatorial and congressional nominees, insurgent or regular.

* * *

CHARLES W. BRYAN went down in defeat in Nebraska. Gov. Nellie Taylor Ross was defeated for re-election by the voters of Wyoming.

Colorado elected an anti-clan republican to the United States senate and an anti-clan democrat, governor of the state.

Oregon, Idaho, Washington, Utah, Nevada, Nebraska and Kansas rolled up their usual republican majorities of the off-year variety.

* * *

ARIZONA alone landed in the democratic column where Carl Hayden, democrat, defeated Ralph Cameron, republican for the senate and thus made it possible for the democrats of the 48 states to win seven seats in the senate, giving them 47 votes in the 70th or one short of a tie.

* * *

ALL IN ALL the democrats gained 13 seats in the lower house which will not only give the only insurgeent republicans the balance of the power in the senate but also in the lower house of the 70th congress.

* * *

AL SMITH, Vic Donahey and James A. Reed appear to be the democratic big three that the laurels of victory crown in the political battles of the near future.

* * *

AS FOR the Rocky Mountains states and the Pacific coast states, their republican verdicts knocked the face of McAdoo out of the picture.

CADET'S DEATH BRINGS REPORT

A. and M. And Baylor School Heads Deplore Fatal Clash at Game

WACO, Nov. 4. (AP)—Investigations of the death of Cadet Lieutenant C. M. Sessums, Dallas, in a pitched battle at the A. and M.-Baylor football game last Saturday, are being made at both Baylor university and the Texas A. and M. college, according to Dr. S. P. Brooks and T. O. Walton, presidents of the two institutions, in a joint statement issued today, following their joint conference last night at College Station, home of the Texas Aggies.

Baylor and A. and M. through their executives, pledge their support to legally constituted authorities, the statement avers.

Officers are Busy.

"The agencies of the law are performing their duties," Presidents Brooks and Walton stated, "and they have the full co-operation of both institutions.

"We are profoundly saddened, as are the student bodies and faculties of Baylor and A. and M., by the death of Cadet Sessums, and sympathize deeply and sincerely with his bereaved family."

Calling upon the public to keep in mind "a number of features of college life, which, whether desirable or not, are none the less significent facts," the joint statement mentions the heat of loyalty to their teams and colleges which fired students attending the game, the demonstrations between halves in which stunts are staged and taunt rival schools, and the spirit of burlesque, which last Saturday led to a fight. It was in this clash that young Sessums, struck by a chair or some other object, received the injuries that proved fatal a day later.

Fans Over-excited.

"The events of last Saturday," said the statement, "may be considered to have begun between the halves of the game with students organized under the direction of the yell leaders as demonstrations of spirit and not infrequently these students have partaken of the nature of taunting the rival student body.

"The events of last Saturday may then be considered to have begun with a burlesque, staged by Baylor students, of the callisthenics drill frequently performed by the A. and M. cadets at previous football games. To the Baylor students it was only mockery of other youngsters like themselves. To A. and M. cadets it had the appearance of making sport of the uniform they wear as a feature of their military training and had a significence their rivals did not suspect.

"Following this, a small car, painted in Baylor colors, on which were seated a number of Baylor young women students, bearing placards exhibiting the scores in Baylor football victories with various schools in the past, and dressed in costumes, was driven across the field. These young women in their costumes had been a feature of the homecoming program on the Baylor campus that morning.

"It would seem that the appearance of the car had different meanings to the two student bodies. The A. and M. yell leader states that he had requested of the Baylor yell leader that a certain automobile used in a stunt at a former game be not brought on the field for fear trouble would result, and that he was told, and in turn told the cadets that it would not be used. The cadets asserted that they construed the use of any automobile as an evasion of a promise. We are confident that no such breach of faith was intended.

"When the automobile was moving in front of the portion of the grandstand where A. and M. students were seated two students in uniform leaped the fence and ran to the car. One leaped upon the car and its occupants, the impact of his body causing one young lady to fall from the car to the ground. "The Baylor men, regarding this as an indignity offered the young women, rushed to protect them. Other A. and M. students likewise rushed to the field and a general melee ensued, in which events occurred so rapidly that it is impossible to describe accurately what happened during the next few minutes.

"It is the testimony of A. and M. students that they did not recognize the occupants of the car as young women, but thought them to be boys dressed as young women.

"As soon as the clash started, officials of both institutions and others rushed on the field and made strenuous efforts to stop the conflict, and succeeded in doing so in a very short time, considering the confusion."

SKINNY MEN

This Beats Record

He Gained 28 Pounds in 8 Weeks—Good Solid Healthy Flesh.

In every town in America you can see skinny, scrawny men and women wtih deep hollows in cheeks, neck and chest who are more to be pitied than blamed.

Doctors, Chemists, Scientists all agree that Cod Liver Oil is full of flesh building, health promoting, strength increasing vitimins,. They also agree and the whole world agrees with them that it is about the most evil smelling and nasty tasting, nauseating stuff that human beings come in contact with—it upsets most stomachs.

But now all that is changed—Cod Liver Oil comes in tablet form, sugar coated and as easy to take as candy. Smith and Renfro drug store and druggists everywhere sell McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets with the distinct understanding that if any thin, lean, underweight man or man takes them for 30 days and does not gain at least 5 pounds, the purchase price will be returned.

Just try them for 30 days, all you folks who need 5 or 10 pounds of good, solid flesh. They have rounded out the scrawney places in thousands of people—they will help you.

Stanley E. Howe, Atlantic City, N. J., writes that he gained 28 pounds in 8 weeks and further writes, "I sleep, rest and eat and nothing bothers my nerves—I feel like a real man—thanks to McCoy's."

One woman, exceedingly thin, gained 10 pounds in 22 days; and don't forget that, being full of vitalizing vitimins, they do help feeble old folks who need a real tonic, and for thin, puny, undeveloped children—they quickly bring health, strength and increased weight. 60 tablets for 60 cents. Insist on McCoy's—the original and genuine.—Adv.

Mothers Mostly At Fault In Conduct of Children

"Mothers, You Can Either Make Yourselves a Piece of Tapestry on Walls for Your Children to Admire or a Doormat for Them to Walk on—It's Up to You. But Don't Blame Children for Trampling on You If You're a Doormat Mother," Warns Dorothy Dix.

By DOROTHY DIX.

A mother who has always made a doormat of herself for her children complains because they put her to the predestinated and foreordained use of doormats, and, figuratively speaking, wipe their feet upon her.

From the time they were born this woman has been her children's humble slave. She has worked for them. She has fetched and carried for them. Her life has been one perpetual sacrifice to them.

If there has been any hard job to do, mother has done it. If any one has had to do without new clothes, it has been mother who wore her last year's bird's nest and made over her old frock once more. It has always been mother who has eaten the back of the chicken, and who has been left at home when all the balance of the family went off on a pleasure jaunt and whose comfort and happiness no one has ever stopped to consider.

And it is not because these children are monsters of selfishness and lacking in all feeling. It is because they have never really thought of their mother as a human being at all. They have only considered her as an adjunct to their comfort and they subconsciously bracket her along with the gas range and up-to-date plumbing and the telephone. Things that you would be awfully upset if you didn't have functioning properly, but that you are so accustomed to that you don't feel called upon to emit cheers because you do have them.

It would really give the youngsters quite a turn to find out that their mother had desires and impulses like their own—that she loved pretty clothes and longed for pink and silk lingerie just as much Mamie does, and enjoy stepping out as much as Bobbie does. For they have never thought of her sacrifices for them in the light of sacrifices. They have always thought that they were just manifestations of her peculiar tastes.

Now this mother, and her name is Mrs. Legion, for there are thousands of her, has expected to get her reward when her children grew up and were old enough to appreciate all that she had done for them. She has thought that they would exalt her and put her upon a pedestal and worship at her feet, but to her amazement they do nothing of the kind.

On the contrary, they continue to walk over her, not because they are intentionally unkind, but just because they have always done so, and they are using her just exactly as she has taught them to use her.

It doesn't occur to them any more to suddenly make a fuss over mother than it would to take the battered old kitchen table and install it in the place of honor in the drawing room.

It hurts this mother that her children never ask her advice or consult with her about anything they are going to do, but why should they? What wisdom has she shown in the management of her own affairs that should make her children respect her opinion? Why should Mamie consult a shabby little woman about what to buy when she goes to get a new dress? Why should John talk over the problems of his life with the one who has always been the humblest member of the household?

Why should a mother expect her children to be proud of her, and want to show her off, when she has made herself nothing but the family goat?

When children are selfish to their mother, when they fail to show her proper honor and respect, it is always and invariably her own fault, and she has nobody but herself to blame.

For children take their mother at her own valuation. She alone writes her price tag for them, and she makes it high or low as she wills.

If she begins by being the abject slave of her babies, her children will regard her as merely an upper servant when they are grown. If she does without a new hat so that Johnny may have real lace on his baby cap, John will never ask her to go out riding in his roadster when he is grown, because he will be ashamed to be seen out with her. If she lets Tommy and Mamie sauce her when they are three years old, they will say brutal things that will stab her to the heart when they are 20. If she lets Sammy and Susie defy her when they are two years old, she will have no authority over them when they are 12.

On the contrary, if, from the time they are old enough to know anything at all, she teaches them to look up to her, to admire her, to think that she is the fountain of wisdom and beauty, and an oracle on every subject under the sun; if she teaches them to honor and obey her and respect her, they will believe to their dying day that mother is the most wonderful woman in the world and she will still have authority over them when they are gray-headed.

This is not theory. You can see how it works out in the households of your acquaintances. You can see the children who save up their pennies to buy mother a present, who hush their noise so their mother's rest hour may not be disturbed, who help mother with whatever work is to be done, who consult mother about everything, and who make mother the dominant faetor in their lives.

And you see the children of other households, who let mother do all the work, who never dream of making her a present or showing her any attention, who never consider her in any way. And each mother set the stand for her own children. She put her own value on motherhood and her children accepted it.

The moral of all of which is that you can either make yourself a piece of tapestry on the wall for your children to revere and admire, or a doormat for them to walk over. It is up to you. But if you do make yourself a doormat don't blame them if your children kick you about and trample upon you. It is what doormats are for.

Mothers Mostly At Fault In Conduct of Children

"Mothers, You Can Either Make Yourselves a Piece of Tapestry on Walls for Your Children to Admire or a Doormat for Them to Walk on—It's Up to You. But Don't Blame Children for Trampling on You If You're a Doormat Mother," Warns Dorothy Dix.

By DOROTHY DIX.

A mother who has always made a doormat of herself for her children complains because they put her to the predestinated and foreordained use of doormats, and, figuratively speaking, wipe their feet upon her.

From the time they were born this woman has been her children's humble slave. She has worked for them. She has fetched and carried for them. Her life has been one perpetual sacrifice to them.

If there has been any hard job to do, mother has done it. If any one has had to do without new clothes, it has been mother who wore her last year's bird's nest and made over her old frock once more. It has always been mother who has eaten the back of the chicken, and who has been left at home when all the balance of the family went off on a pleasure jaunt and whose comfort and happiness no one has ever stopped to consider.

And it is not because these children are monsters of selfishness and lacking in all feeling. It is because they have never really thought of their mother as a human being at all. They have only considered her as an adjunct to their comfort and they subconsciously bracket her along with the gas range and up-to-date plumbing and the telephone. Things that you would be awfully upset if you didn't have functioning properly, but that you are so accustomed to that you don't feel called upon to emit cheers because you do have them.

It would really give the youngsters quite a turn to find out that their mother had desires and impulses like their own—that she loved pretty clothes and longed for pink and silk lingerie just as much Mamie does, and enjoy stepping out as much as Bobbie does. For they have never thought of her sacrifices for them in the light of sacrifices. They have always thought that they were just manifestations of her peculiar tastes.

Now this mother, and her name is Mrs. Legion, for there are thousands of her, has expected to get her reward when her children grew up and were old enough to appreciate all that she had done for them. She has thought that they would exalt her and put her upon a pedestal and worship at her feet, but to her amazement they do nothing of the kind.

On the contrary, they continue to walk over her, not because they are intentionally unkind, but just because they have always done so, and they are using her just exactly as she has taught them to use her.

It doesn't occur to them any more to suddenly make a fuss over mother than it would to take the battered old kitchen table and install it in the place of honor in the drawing room.

It hurts this mother that her children never ask her advice or consult with her about anything they are going to do, but why should they? What wisdom has she shown in the management of her own affairs that should make her children respect her opinion? Why should Mamie consult a shabby little woman about what to buy when she goes to get a new dress? Why should John talk over the problems of his life with the one who has always been the humblest member of the household?

Why should a mother expect her children to be proud of her, and want to show her off, when she has made herself nothing but the family goat?

When children are selfish to their mother, when they fail to show her proper honor and respect, it is always and invariably her own fault, and she has nobody but herself to blame.

For children take their mother at her own valuation. She alone writes her price tag for them, and she makes it high or low as she wills.

If she begins by being the abject slave of her babies, her children will regard her as merely an upper servant when they are grown. If she does without a new hat so that Johnny may have real lace on his baby cap, John will never ask her to go out riding in his roadster when he is grown, because he will be ashamed to be seen out with her. If she lets Tommy and Mamie sauce her when they are three years old, they will say brutal things that will stab her to the heart when they are 20. If she lets Sammy and Susie defy her when they are two years old, she will have no authority over them when they are 12.

On the contrary, if, from the time they are old enough to know anything at all, she teaches them to look up to her, to admire her, to think that she is the fountain of wisdom and beauty, and an oracle on every subject under the sun; if she teaches them to honor and obey her and respect her, they will believe to their dying day that mother is the most wonderful woman in the world and she will still have authority over them when they are gray-headed.

This is not theory. You can see how it works out in the households of your acquaintances. You can see the children who save up their pennies to buy mother a present, who hush their noise so their mother's rest hour may not be disturbed, who help mother with whatever work is to be done, who consult mother about everything, and who make mother the dominant factor in their lives.

And you see the children of other households, who let mother do all the work, who never dream of making her a present or showing her any attention, who never consider her in any way. And each mother set the stand for her own children. She put her own value on motherhood and her children accepted it.

The moral of all of which is that you can either make yourself a piece of tapestry on the wall for your children to revere and admire, or a doormat for them to walk over. It is up to you. But if you do make yourself a doormat don't blame them if your children kick you about and trample upon you. It is what doormats are for.

STATE PROBE REOPENS SOON

Investigation Into Capitol Department Resumes Monday

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Nov. 4.—From one to three weeks' more of testimony-taking by the house committee investigating state departments, is expected when the committee resumes work next Monday after an eight-day recess.

The committee and its attorneys, who have been assisted by members of the attorney general's department, are said to be engaged this week in developing new "leads" for additional testimony covering the three principal phases of the investigation—highway department affairs, pardons and prison affairs, and textbook matters.

Week for Report

After the evidence is completed, the committee will spend perhaps a week in compiling its report to the 40th legislature.

On the question of possible court proceedings based on evidence taken by the committee, it has been pointed out the authority and duty of this committee is limited to making the inquiry and submitting a report to the 40th legislature, to permit such action after the new legislature meets as may be decided upon by that body.

It was further pointed out that the attorney general department, through the sessions of three Travis county grand jury, has assisted in the questioning of witnesses on at least one of the phases of the present inquiry.

Testimony Secret

All this testimony was secret, but the grand jurors were given the opportunity to review at least a portion of the testimony now being adduced. The only indictments returned by any of the grand juries were two against one road contractor, both based on a single account against the state.

HENRIETTA SOCIETY

BOBBITT GETS SPEAKER BOOM

Satterwhite Declares He Will Not Seek Re-Election To House Chair

AUSTIN, Nov. 4.(AP)—With the general election aside and many new members coming into the lower house of the Texas legislature, booms for the next speaker are getting under way. R. L. Bobbitt, of Laredo, has been favored and until recently, it has appeared that he would be the only one to seek the job of controlling the lower house, but F. A. Dale, of Bonham has been in Austin for two weeks surveying the prospects as a candidate against Bobbitt.

Bobbitt was an active supporter of Dan Moody, governor-elect in the recent campaign. Dale was the man who introduced the present administration three cent gasoline and its runing mate, the motor fee reduction bill, which went down before the senate.

Speaker Lee Satterwhite of the lower house of the 39th legislature has announced that he would not seek to govern the house in the 40th legislature.

Fried Cornmeal Mush

One cup cornmeal, one teaspoon salt, three cups milk. Mix cornmeal smooth with one cup meal mixture into the boiling milk. Place in double boiler and cook until smooth and thick. A cup of flour stirred in near the end of the cooking holds the mush together better than the cornmeal alone. Pour into bread tin and let cool. In the morning fry on hot griddle and serve with syrup.

Pork Dressing

Make a good bread dressing as for roast chicken, seasoned with sage and onions.

Lemon Pudding

Two cups water, juict one and one-half lemons. Cook in double boiler. Whip into stiffly beaten whites of three eggs.

The Warmed-Over Potatoes

Are left from dinner. They may be creamed, scalloped, fried, or the inside may be scooped out of the shells while still warm ,mixed with butter and milk, seasoned to taste then put back in the shells and put aside until ready to bake for half an hour in the oven at supper time.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARIES

When the bride and groom have completed the first year of their married life they may celebrate their "cotton" wedding anniversary. Suitable gifts are sheets, pillowcases, bath and hand towels, Japanese cotton tablecloths and napkins, box of assorted cotton aprons, shirts, smocks, kitchen dresses, cotton handkerchiefs, cotton rag rugs, etc.

SUGGESTIONS

This list of questions is suggested for you to put to yourself when you are reviewing your budget expenditures:

Where we have bought on the installment plan would we have done better to wait until we could pay cash?

Are there any articles which we buy in too small or in too large quantities?

What articles have we purchased that we did not need? That did not wear well?

What articles which we have bought should be listed as luxuries—that is, as things which we have joy thoroughly—which are not harmful, but without which we could get along well without detriment either to our health or efficiency?

Is our automobile a necessity, a convenience, or a luxury?

Are our charge accounts a convenience or a temptation?

Many times one is in need of paste quckly in the home. An ideal substitute is the white of an egg or if only need for a small amount of pasting such as a postage stamp or an envelope, then simply wipe out the inside of a shell of a freshly broken egg and you have a paste that sticks like glue.

$100,000 PROPERTY LOSS IN SPINDLETOP OIL FIELD WELL FIRE

GUSHER AFIRE THREATENS TO DESTROY FIELD

Steam Pipes, However, Bring Fire Under Control Late Thursday

BEAUMONT, Nov. 4. (AP)—Fire at the Spindletop oil field did damage today estimated at $100,000 and threatened the entire 79 producing wells from the time the Rio Bravo Oil company's T. & N-O No. 53 ignited as it blew in at 3:30 o'clock this morning until the fire was brought under control late this afternoon.

Thousands visited the field today and gazed upon the blaze as it boiled almost twice as high as the derricks which towered 112 feet high. Flames curled and boiled for 150 feet into the air and then were lost in black smoke which rose in curls over the derricks.

Average fire fighting equipment had no effect on the fire which gushed from the well, consuming the 10,000 barrels of oil and all gas which blew sky-ward through the mouth of the well. It was not until late this afternoon that the flames were brought under control and then it was by the united effort of all at the field. All boilers in the field were connected to a four-inch pipe, which was placed at the mouth of the well. At a given signal the steam from each boiler was turned into the pipe and the united force of them all open over the burning well. It was this pressure which overcame the flames.

The Gulf company lost one derrick in the blaze while the Yount-Lee company pulled down two of its derricks. All wells around the fire were closed. Several of them were flowing around 7,000 barrels daily. All drilling ceased when the big blast occurred and the various crews spent the day fighting the fire. The Beaumont and the Port Arthur fire departments both reported for duty and were busy all day throwing water onto derricks to prevent their igniting. The oil refineries of Port Arthur also sent up several tank cars of fomite which was used in the fight. The derrick and rigging of T. & N-O No. 53 were completely melted, down.

LOUISIANA OIL CUT.

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 4. (AP)—A new schedule of prices on crude oil which carried into effect a cut of approximately 35 cents a barrel was posted by the Standard Oil company of Louisiana today.

The cut affects Caddo, Homer, Haynesville, Bull Bayou, Crichton, DeSoto and Eldorado. The prices on Smackover, Cotton Valley and Bellevue crude remained unchanged.

The schedule change affected both gravity and price.

2,753 WELLS COMPLETED.

Oil fields east of the Rocky mountains in October had 2,753 completions, an increase of 259 over September, says the Oil City Derrick. The initial production was 424,525 barrels, a gain of 112,990 barrels. Dry holes totaled 790, or 199 more than in September, and there were 194 gas wells, a gain of 17. New work under way on November 1 was 6,074 rigs and wells drilling, a gain of 152.

BABIES FORGOTTEN
So Tiny Tots Die When Fire Demolishes House.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Two babies were burned to death in their home here today. No effort was made to save them. The children, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wernecke had been left under the care of a six-year-old brother while the mother went to the grocery. The stove exploded. The son ran from the house calling for help, but forgot to tell neighbors that the babies were in the house.

Oil Field Operations On Increase In Mid-Continent Despite Market

At a time of the year when oil field operations are expected to decline, especially under the present weak market conditions, operations in the Mid-Continent are increasing rapidly, according to the current issue of The Oil Weekly. Mid-Continent activity figures show an increase during the past week of 39 operations, running the total number to 3,905 compared with 3,866 the previous week. Oklahoma was largely responsible for the increase, while Kansas contributed also. Oklahoma, due to Seminole area, showed an increase of 67 operations, while Kansas reported 21 additional over the preceding week. Texas showed a marked decline, dropping 46 points.

Texas, however, again gained the lead in the number of drilling wells with 986, an increase of 46 over the previous week. This increase was due to the taking of a number of wells from the shut down list and placing them on the drilling report. Texas leads in the total amount of operations with 1,796, Oklahoma followed with 1,614 and Kansas last with 495.

Following is the table of activity as compiled by The Oil Weekly:

SHUT DOWN TO BENEFIT FIELD

Program Will Be Co-Operative Move For The Good Of All Concerned

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 4.—A co-operative "shut down" program for the Seminole oil field of western Seminole county, and Oklahoma's most sensational oil area today, has been agreed on. The producers in the Seminole field will collectively and as one unit restrict production and development there so that the conservation regulations of the Oklahoma Corporation Commission can be administered.

The agreement of the Seminole shut-down committee took place after a week of almost incessant conferring, many sessions taking place at night.

As a result the future of the Seminole field will be prolonged for an indefinite period, and while its future production may not be as large as it has been lately, all persons concerned, the operating company, the royalty owner and the fee owner, should get more out of the field than by the "reckless, riotous and wasteful campaign" that the operators were pursuing.

Each and every operator there was anxious to get all of the output that he could, and many wells were drilled in that should have been held back, and each completion added a number of other tests that also had to be drilled in.

Under the "shut down" plan agreed on, and which has the approval of Fred Capshaw, chairman of the corporation commission, the Seminole shut-down committee will personally direct operations there until the market can absorb a surplus of oil, such as the Seminole field was developing.

Indians Prepared To Repulse Cameron Today

NEW INTEREST ATTACHED TO COLLEGE CLUB

Banner Crowd Expected To Witness First Home Game

Wichita Falls football fans will have their opportunity to see the Maroon and Gold jerseyed eleven of Wichita Falls Junior college in action when the Indians match brain and brawn with the speedy eleven of Cameron Agricultural college at Spudder park this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. The Indians have been playing out of town on all games thus far since the first date of the season.

Much interest has been shown in the Indian squad recently, despite the fact that the greatest number of local people are attached in sentiment to the high school Coyotes, much the older of the two teams, in point of athletic history made. The young Indian team, starting this fall with few experienced men and with only a small number of men to choose from, has developed rapidly into a real fighting machine that in games so far has been able to make up any lacks in weight and experience through unbeatable spirit.

Open Game

The Indian team plays a game of the open variety that is usually to the liking of the fans, mixing plunges with plenty of runs and passes. Stephenson is a good passer as well as a good receiver. In Thompson and Ford the team has two ends who can snare heaves out of the air in unusual fashion. Ford will be able to play part of the game today in spite of a leg injury that has handicapped him all season. The addition of Rugeley, who will be given his first try-out in the Maroon and Gold uniform this afternoon, will add much to the strength of the passing game, for in practice this young husky has been shooting them far and accurately. Rugeley, who is a letter-man from the 1925 Coyotes, and who was a first-rate passer and a good plunger for that team, came out two weeks ago for the first time, having been prevented from reporting earlier by the necessity of working.

In the backfield McAninch has steadily developed until he can help Captain Steve at plunging and kicking. On the defensive McAninch usually goes to guard while Bland comes out to the half position. Harvey, while green in the football business and small of stature, has demonstrated a fighting spirit which has earned him first call in the quarter's position. Signal calling, however, has been put into more experienced hands, with Stephenson sometimes and Patterson usually calling them from the huddle. Coffey, another candidate for the quarter's job, has shown some promise but has found it hard to keep in condition for the grind of a game. McConnell and Keller are two other backfield men who have shown good promise, the former on offense and the latter on defense, and both will very likely see some of the battle this afternoon.

Two Line Stars

In the line two men are outstanding performers. Burks at tackle and Patterson at center, both with experience in high school or college back of them, are hard-fighting forwards who give the major portion of the steadiness and drive to the Indian line. Thompson at end has made a wingman who would be hard to beat in junior college circles. Boyd, guard and center, former player on Henrietta high school teams, has earned a berth on the line during the last two games through sheer hard fight against odds. Gilchrist at the other tackle has made good use of his experience on last year's fast team of Burk high. Out of the group of other candidates for the forward wall, Bland, Scoggin, Ricks, Trevathan, and Ford have performed in the line in such a manner as to look like almost certain applicants for letters when the time comes to hand out awards for the season. Aside from big boy Ricks, the Indian line is unusually light for a college aggregation, just as the backfield as a whole is lighter than the usual college team or even than the average big high school team.

Work Hard Thursday

Thursday found the Indians still hard at the practice grind, with no lay-off for today's game. The physical condition of the squad as a whole is good, according to Coach Ludgate, and so yesterday's practice was devoted largely to perfecting defenses on punts and passes and to signal drill on plays to be used this afternoon.

Ludgate announced as his probable starting line-up the following: McAninch, fullback; Stephenson, left half; Rugeley, right half; Harvey, quarter; Scoggin, left end; Gilchrist, left tackle; Boyd, left guard Patterson, center; Ricks, right guard; Burks, right tackle; Thompson, right end. Officials already chosen are McClain, referee and Eaton umpire.

ALL PEPPED UP

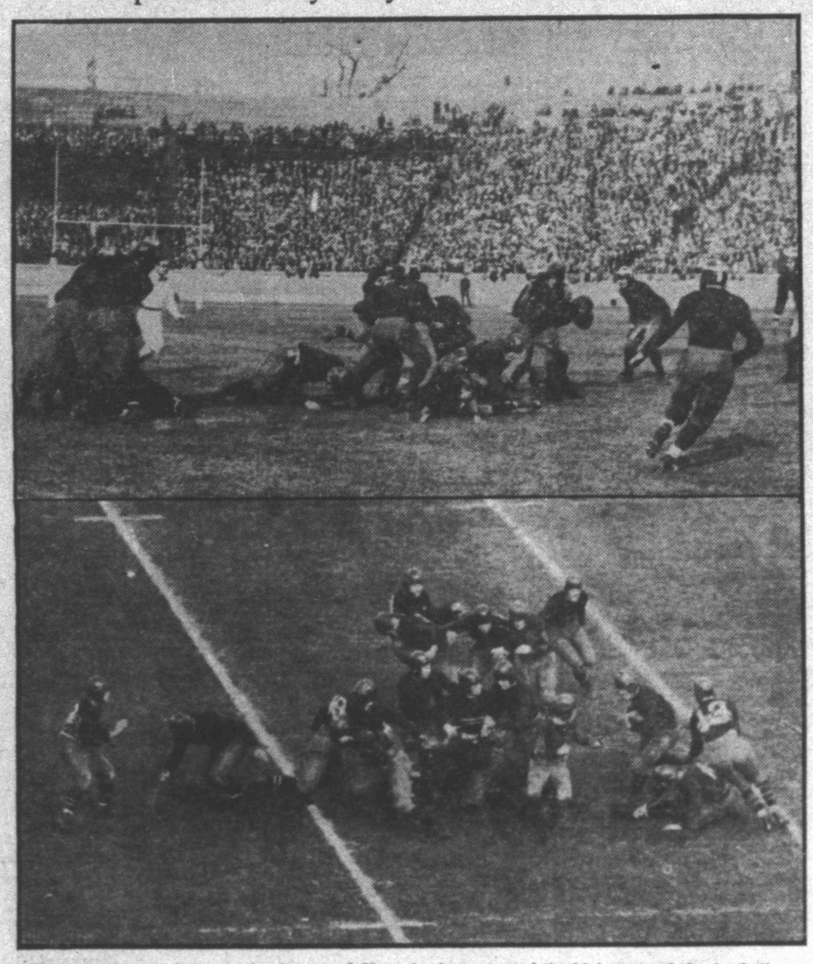

Junior College And High School Grid Fans Stage Rallies

Pepping up for the big week-end games has been one of the chief concerns of the students of the Junior college and high school during the week. Talks in chapel by students on pep and school loyalty were given Thursday, and grid songs were sung. High school students have been holding pep rallies after school also.

College students gathered for a brief rally and cheer practice at the early lunch period yesterday and will convene again at the same time today to prepare for this afternoon's contest with the Cameron Aggies. At today's session the members of the Indian team are to be introduced by Coach Ludgate in order that the players may be better known to the students. Many of whom are from out-of-town and are in this institution for the first time this year.

Jimmie Ford, yell leader, announced a big parade for this afternoon immediatley preceding the game. An almost unanimous attendance of students is expected and school officials hope for a good support from the citizens of the town in this the first opportunity to see the Indians play at home.

Dope Has It Army-Navy Battle Will Be Hummer

The annual game between the Army and Navy is always one of the high spots of the football season because, for one thing, of its colorful setting. But, oh, what a grid battle it ought to be this year! The Middies' victory over Michigan, 10 to 0, and the Soldiers' victory over Yale, 33 to 0, prove once more that both service teams are powerful elevens. Upper photo shows Hannegan, Navy right half, breaking through Michigan line. Lower photo shows Cagle of the Army just before being tackled by Foote of Yale.

He Got Out While Getting Was Good

So Says Cobb With "I Have Swung My Last Bat In a Game".

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 4. (AP)—Tyrus Raymond Cobb, better known as the "Georgia Peach," and the greatest hitter in baseball's history, has swung his last bat in a baseball game.

Ty went back home Thursday in the town where he first received recognition as a baseball player, having resigned as player-manager of the Detroit club of the American league Wednesday after a colorful career of 21 years on the diamond.

Ty saw the realization of a dream of a year's yearning come true Thursday for 12 months ago he had made known his desire to resign to the head of the Detroit club so he could spend his time at home.

Tired and Wants To Rest

"The life of a ball player is hard" Cobb said, "and a ball player is on the road lots. I want to settle down and live with my own folks for a while. That's one reason for my getting out as manager."

"I am tired and I want to rest," Ty said. "The game is getting harder each year and I am getting older. My legs are still good, my eyes are as good as ever, but I can't take chances any more. A ball player who can't take chances ought to quit. That's what I am doing."

Ty said he did not expect to play baseball again, although he said he expects to obtain an interest in a baseball club.

Wouldn't Go To Minors

"I have swung my last bat in a baseball game," he said. "You know I am going to be 40 years old December 18. I don't want to be one of those men who fade or have to be pushed out and of course I will never walk to the plate in a minor league."

The former manager of the Tigers, known as one of the greatest fighting players who ever graced a major league diamond, was in tears as he finished the statement.

Cobb, who in 1905 was sold to the Detroit club by the Augusta baseball club for $700, said he has no plans for the present except "some shooting and a little golf."

TWO INJURED

Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Norton of Wichita Falls, In Wreck

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Nov. 4.—Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Norton, of Wichita Falls, were seriously injured about 9 o'clock Thursday morning, four miles west of Electra, in front of the Magnolia homes when their car turned into the ditch.

An Electra ambulance was summoned and the injured were rushed to the office of Dr. Burton, Ogden and Parmley, and given treatment. The father was found to have a broken collar bone, and the mother severe injuries about her body, probably a broken pelvis bone. Their son, J. W. Norton, who was driving, was uninjured.

AGGIES DETERMINED

Farmers Hope Stage Comeback At Horned Frogs' Expense.

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 4. (AP)—With the return of Captain Ox Deiterich to the line-up assured, the Texas Aggies were today determinated to "come-back" in the southwestern conference limelight by trouncing the T. C. U. Horned Frogs of Kyle field Friday.

Dieterich, who went out with a shoulder injury in the S. M. U. game, was back in practice this week and will start against the Toads. Sprott, the other tackle, is still unable to play.

Coach D. X. Bible of the Aggies predicts that his men will make a much better showing against T. C. U. than they did against Bayolr. He has been drilling Joel Hunt and Jelly Woodman on place-kicking, knowing the value of the three points brought by such scores.

COYOTES HOPE TO HOLD LION AERIAL DRIVES

McCallum Works Diligently On Forward Pass Defense

Darkness only put a stop to Coyote activities Thursday in the efforts of Coaches Bud and Brown McCallum to put the Pack into the pink of condition for Saturday's test against the Wilbarger Lions.

This has been the last severe workout before the big game and all departments received some attention, a light practice being the program for this afternoon.

If Willie Gelhausen's clan is figuring on putting over a passing game, as all reports from the Wilbarger capital seem to indicate they will, then there will be a Coyote team ready to meet this method. The Coyotes have been receiving much practice all week against the aerial attack and have become pretty adept at breaking up such a scheme. Thursday's practice numbered as one of its features a session of pass defense against Ludgate's Junior college Indians, and the Pack looked pretty capable in handling the assignment, considering that the passing game is the Tribe's specialty.

May Take to Air.

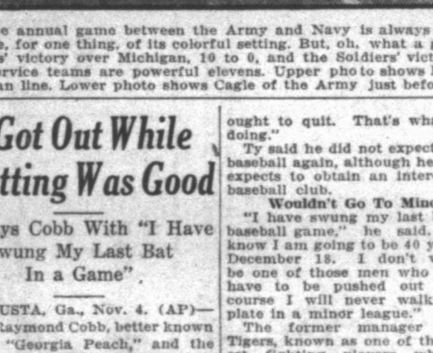

But while the Pack is going to bank its attack on the end run and the line plunge, it will not be entirely absent on the air if there develops any need for entry into this sector of space to put over a victory. Perk Ray, aside from being a good plunger and off-tackle runner, is also a pretty sure passer. Three or four ends and backs have also developed some ability to be at the other end of the aerials to take care of the missive sent from Perk's cool hands.

Daily skull practice on plays and formations, with subs chasing all the curious one out of range to prevent them from learning more than their share of the Pack's secrets, has served to eliminate some of the trouble the team has experienced thus far in remembering its signals. Conditioning exercises have been part of the program daily also, a half dozen laps around the field being nothing to worry about. If some of the Cayutes had a clinker for every time they have obeyed Mac's curt command of "around the field," they wouldn't have to bother their noodles with financial problems for some time to come. Punt running both on receiving and on kicking, have reserved a place of importance on each day's working list as the Packmen have shown slowness in this department all season. Mac realizes that Hunkie Ray's good boots will not do much good if the punt receiver is allowed to scoot back Hunk's spirals for many yards.

Realize Task.

Confidence reigns in the forces of Captain Dobson that they have a good opportunity to take the measure of Captain Gelhausen's Royal Beasts of the Forest, provided that every Packman puts out his best; but to say that there is any great over-confidence evident among Mac's squadmen is to overstate the matter. Mac has worried all the last two weeks to get it into the heads of his players that the Lions will be their hardest test yet and it has been his chief concern to get them into the mental attitude which gives them just enough confidence to believe that they must win.

Football of another variety will be fed the crew tonight when they accept between the hours of seven and nine the Strand's invitation to witness the performance of Richard Dix in the noted gridiron screen yarn "The Quarterback."

BEWILDERING ATTACK?

For one thing, Baggett is expected to tear loose with several rather unusual formations. The Lion mentor has drilled his charges assiduously on a number of fancy new plays this week. It is not likely he will depend on straight football alone to carry him through. In Gelhausen, Castleberry, C. Key and Luttrell, Vernon has a versatile backfield quartet that can adapt itself to a set of bewildering overhead and running plays if given the time.

HARDER THAN IT LOOKS.

The Coyotes are to be guests of the Strand theatre tonight at the presentation of Richard Dix in "The Quarterback." Inspired youths no doubt will depart the movie house with determination to duplicate as near as possible feats of the cinema grid hero against Vernon tomorrow. And could Frances or Mitchell get away with one or two of the spectacular runs the film footballer pulls Baggett's lads will fall under an avalanche defeat.

LA GRAVE SILENT.

Little has emanated from Fort Worth lately regarding Paul LaGrave's efforts to rebuild the Panthers to the champion status of other years. Jack Zellers, the Detroit scout, is expected in Cowtown almost any day, it is understood, with good news for Cat fans. Jack, as Pop Boone words it, is official diplomatic representative of the Cats.

• • •

LaGrave believes he will produce a pretty fair hurling corps next summer but so far is advancing no definite dope. The deal that sent Jimmy Walkup to Detroit will bring Fort Worth a pitcher to take his place, not that there are many wronghanders slated for the minors who really can fill Jimmy's shoes. LaGrave says theres' nothing to the rumor Lefty Johns is ticketed to return to the Cats.

WONDERFUL!

Announcement that Beaumont plans construction of a first class ball park for the 1927 season is glad tidings for seven other Texas league clubs. Beaumont's peanut box "stadium" has made it tough on invading outfits. With a right field fence so close into first base that often runners were thrown out on clean wallops to right that should have been singles or doubles, and with home runs not worth more than a dime apiece to the visitors, the Shippers had the axe on invading teams. Sharpshooting at that fence during training camp practice and around 70 games or more during the regular playing season, Beaumont players became adept at lofting almost gentle taps over the starboard barrier. Foreign teams, naturally, were handicapped. Beaumont batting averages and home run figures won't be so large in the new lot.

AND THEN WHAT?

For the superstitious there's a tidbit or two of mulling-over purposes connected with that Rice-S. M. U. game Saturday. The Mustangs, are the heavy favorites, but for your believer of ghosts and the like: The Mustangs have found Rice to be a jinx, in fact, never have conquered the Owls. Over the last five games Rice has scored 199 points to the Mustangs' 17. Your wisecracker may rally to the occasion and remark, "And those Ponies of 1926 will make up for most of that 199 points Saturday."

The other item for the hoodoo believers is the fact that a fuzzy little owl flopped into a window of the Institute library the other day and was snared by the students. Owlets have done this before and on each occasion the Rice eleven came through with a victory the following week-end.

• • •

The Longhorns, slowly recuperating from that S. M. U. reversal last week, have developed the mental pitch that may bode ill for Jennings' Bears tomorrow. The powerful Longhorn, probably stronger than Baylor, takes the position of the under-dog in this game.

• • •

JINX'S CONJECTURE.

Jinx Tucker, the astute Waco foootball expert, sees the Bear-Steer game as a toss-up. He says Texas has an aerial attack that must be feared and respected. The Aggies gained considerable ground on the Bears through the air—170 yards to be exact. Close followers of both teams, who are also neutral, say that Baylor has a better chance to win from S. M. Y. than it has to win from Texas. They say that Texas has the sort of team to defeat Baylor. Texas has always been at its best in smearing off-tackle thrusts, and runs and passes. Vanderbilt went right through the Texas line for victory, and it is doubtful if Baylor can do it. Baylor will show the Longhorns a better running and plunging attack Saturday than they have seen this season and the contest will abound in thrills.

Indian Goes to Mat With Grip

Victor Will Claim Welter Championship, Says Ross

Yaqui Joe, the meteoric Indian welterweight, in his quest of a championship, meets the stocky Charles Grip, Baltimore cave man, in the feature battle of the Wichita Falls' wrestling association card Wednesday night at the Majestic theatre, it was announced yesterday by Matchmaker A. Ross.

Both wrestlers are contenders for the welter title abandoned by Matty Matsuda, retired, who holds the Police Gazette championship belt.

Jack Reynolds, the middle-westerner, claims the championship. The winner of the Grip-Yaqui match intends to make title claims of his own, says Ross. If Reynolds would dispute the issue, then it's up to the rivals to meet in an elimination match, according to the promoter.

Grip is said to have put up $100 weight forfeit that he come in at 145 pounds at 3 o'clock the day of the match with Yaqui.

Joe Kopecky tangles with Charley Miller, according to Ross, the recognized middleweight champion of the Pacific coast, in a finish match preliminary to the Grip-Joe bout.

Burk Plans Gala Event When Bowie Eleven Scraps Bulldog Grid Machine Armistice Day

Coach Eaton's battling Burkburnett Bulldogs invade Seymour this afternoon for a regular scheduled interscholastic league contest.

Following the Seymour contest, the Bulldogs begin prepping for the Armistice day game with Bowie on the high school gridiron at Burkburnett. The game is to start at 3 o'clock. Providing Burk doesn't get kicked over by Seymour today, the Bowie tilt will take the form of a semi-final contest for the class B championship of district four, southern half.

The game is to be made a gala event with the American legion planning a heavy celebration of which the contest is to be a feature. The legion is to receive 20 per cent of the proceeds with the remainder being applied on a fund to purchase the Burk athletes letter sweaters. Of course, Bowie's traveling expenses will be taken from the gross gate first.

Burk has rocked along in great style and is credited with three victories in league play. The Bulldogs topped Henrietta, 71 to 9, won on forfeit from Wichita Falls junior high school and defeated Nocona, 14 to 0.

Burk's probable starting lineup:

Willingham, left end; Tiffin, left tackle; Woods, left guard; Hickam, center; Gibart, right guard; Vance, right tackle; Gilmore, right end; Griffin, quarterback; Captain McDonald, left half; Hurd, right half; Wolfe, fullback.

Tickets for the Armistice day encounter will be on sale in Wichita Falls at Landon-Hill, it was announced by Coach Eaton.

MAJOR ALL-STARS

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.(AP)—A mythical all-star baseball nine of American league players was unofficially selected by the same committee appointed by President Ban Johnson to name the most valuable player in the league.

The trophy committee is composed of eight baseball writers, one in each American league city, and its team selection made on its own initiative follows:

GRID TICKETS AT RENFRO.

Tickets for both week-end football games will be on sale all day today at Renfro's Drug store, Eighth and Scott streets, according to an announcement from the office of Dean S. H. Rider of the Junior college. Pasteboards for the Vernon-Coyote game at Vernon Saturday will be sold, today only, for seventy-five cents, the price at Vernon to be one dollar. Admissions for the Junior College-Cameron Aggies game here this afternoon may be bought at Rentro's this morning for 50 cents.

MORIARITY ELATED

Umpire Happy Over His Selection To Lead Team

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 4 (AP)—George J. Moriarity American league umpire and former major league star, was elated today over his appointment as manager of the Detroit Tigers to succeed the veteran Ty Cobb.

"It has been my ambition for years to manage a major league baseball club," declared Moriarity. "To say that I am happy over the news is putting it mildly.

"I had been under consideration by President Frank Navin of Detroit, and Phil Ball, of the St. Louis Browns for some time, but the announcement that I had been named to succeed Cobb came sooner than I anticipated."

ALL WRONG, MABEL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Those familiar with surroundings which are supposed to give the advantage to the player in his home park failed to produce the usual effects on the home run work of "Goose" Goslin of the Senators and Lou Gehrig of the Yankees.

So the American league home-run averages recently released revealed.

Gosline in 77 games, played here, hit but two homers, while Gehrig in 11 games, hit four. At the Yankee stadium however, Goslin hit five circut smashes while Gehrig connected with but four.

It was revealed that fewer home runs were hit than in any other American league city.

FOURNIER RELEASED

Veteran Jacques Has Chance To Pilot Club, He Says

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. (AP)—Jacques Fournier, veteran first baseman of the Brooklyn Nationals and major leaguer for 13 years, has been released unconditionally, the club announced today, at his own request.

Fournier, now in St. Louis, informed the Brooklyn club that he had a "wonderful opportunity" to manage a ball club, but did not disclose any details.

His unconditional release to which he was entitled as a "10-year man," was granted by President-Manager Wilbert Robinson after obtaining waiver on the veteran.

Fournier has ranked among the hardest hitters in the major leagues since first entering fast company in 1912 with the Chicago White Sox, who obtained him from Moose Jaw of the western Canada league.

He has averaged about .315 at bat for 13 years, having several of his best seasons after leaving the St. Louis Cardinals for the Brooklyn club in 1925.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

November 5, 1295

William J. Berry, veteran employe of the M-K-T railway, dies at home.

MATERIAL FOR A MOSES

THERE are politicians who will contend that the results of the election in three important states will furnish material for a Moses to lead the democratic hosts in 1928.

Governor Alfred E. Smith carried New York for the democrats by a majority of more than 200,000. He carried his ticket with him. That is, he made it possible for Wagner to defeat Wadsworth and the minor state offices to be filled by democrats. In 1924 Smith was the only democrat elected to office in the state of New York.

Ohio comes next. Honest Vic Donehey was elected governor for the third time in six years. His running mate, Atlee Pomerene, was defeated by the republican contender. It is safe to predict that the Ohio democrats will present the name of Governor Doheney as a candidate for the presidential nomination in the month of June 1926.

This has been the intention of many of the leaders of the Ohio democracy ever since Doheney won his third term nomination away last summer. They will tell the world that Doheney is a dry but not a savage dry. That is a man of the people; that he is close to the farmer and the wage worker in city and town; that he is as honest as Paul and the very embodiment of Jeffersonian simplicity which includes all of the frugal virtues.

And there is another man to be dealt with in the near future. Senator James A. Reed of Missouri is a receptive candidate of the nomination. He backed Harry Hawes for United States senator. Hawes is a congressman from a St. Louis district. He is for the modification of the Volsted act and never dodged the issue.

He defeated for re-election the sitting member, George H. Williams, republican, who is said to be a very able lawyer and has made something of a name for himself in the senate. Senator Reed backed Hawes to a finish. Hawes bowled Williams out of his seat in the senate and added to the list of democratic victories.

Now there are national democrats who would like to see James A. Reed, the standard bearer of their party in 1928. California is the home of William Gibbs McAdoo. He has many backers for the prize. He is more than a receptive candidate.

He had a candidate for senator in the field. His candidate was overwhelmed by the republicans. To be popular a man must be a winner in addition to his other qualifications. California is hopelessly republican.

Nevada, erstwhile a democratic stronghold landed in the republican column of states on November 2. Idaho and Utah rolled up large republican majorities. It was a cruel day for the democrats of these far away states. They did not even stand up to be counted. All sent McAdoo delegates to the Madison Square Garden convention.

Thus far these three are the entrants; Governor Smith of New York; Governor Doheney of Ohio; Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, Smith is from the east; Doheney is from the west; Reed is from a border state. Will there be another deadlock? Will there be another wrecking of the party of Thomas Jefferson? Will childish issues which have no place in the proceedings of a great convention invite overwhelming party disaster and a crushing defeat to the democrat who is finally chosen to carry the banner?

All the signs of the times indicate that Calvin Coolidge will be given the republican nomination if he consents to accept another term. In the defeat of Butler the president received a black eye but Butler is the most unpopular republican in the old Bay state and David I. Walsh the most popular democrat that the people of Massachusetts have known since the close of the war between the states.

If the republicans go east a second time for Coolidge will the democrats pick an eastern leader or cross the Allegheney mountains to find one in Ohio or will they journey farther west for a political Moses?

FARM VALUES IN THE SOUTH

NOW comes the Manufacturers Record of Baltimore with interesting figures concerning the values of farm products in the south. In 1925 the value of agricultural products in the south was $5,855,000,000.00 of which only $1,600,000,000.00 represented cotton. In the year 1923 the manufacturing products of the south amounted to $9,450,000,000.00. In that year more than $1,600,000,000.00 of wealth came from the mines and the quarries of the south.

Colonel Richard Edmonds of the Baltimore publication, is a wizard when it comes to figures. In 1910 he says "the value of all agricultural products in the south was $3,502,000,000.00, while in 1923 the value was $5,855,000,000.00.

"This excerpt from the Record should be most illuminating to all Texans who are interested in the various industries in their states.

"In 1910 the value of Texas agricultural products was $430,000,000.00. Last year it was $945,000,000,00. In 1910 the value of Texas manufactured and mineral products was $291,000,000.00 or $139,000,000,000.00 less than the value of its agricultural products of that year, but in 1923 the value of the mineral and manufactured products of Texas was $1,243,000,000.00, largely more than four times the value of 1910 and not withstanding the enormous increase in Texas' agricultural output, the value of its manufactured and mineral product of 1923 was $298,000,000.00 in excess of the value of its agricultural products of 1925."

Texas, then Texas of old, was a great livestock state and the fortunes of many were accumulated by their activity in the livestock industry. This is the period when the range was free and the cow kings were the monarchs of all they surveyed. Then came the man with the plow and the hoe and agriculture as a wealth maker or producer relegated livestock to second place.

Now manufacturing is having its inning and Texas seems destined to become one of the principle manufacturing states of the union, just as Texas may become chief among the petroleum producing states of America. There's room for all these industries under Texas skies. There is a place for all.

Texas is the producer of all the raw materials which are in demand by the millers and manufacturers of the world. When the textile industry is of the same magnitude in Texas as it is in the Carolinas or Massachusetts and New Hampshire, there will be industrial centers in Texas as great as those found in New England and the per capita wealth of all the people will be as large as enjoyed by New Englanders who are not producers of raw materials and yet are the wealth makers of the American world when it comes to turning the raw stuff into the finished product to be sold everywhere that civilization has found a foothold.

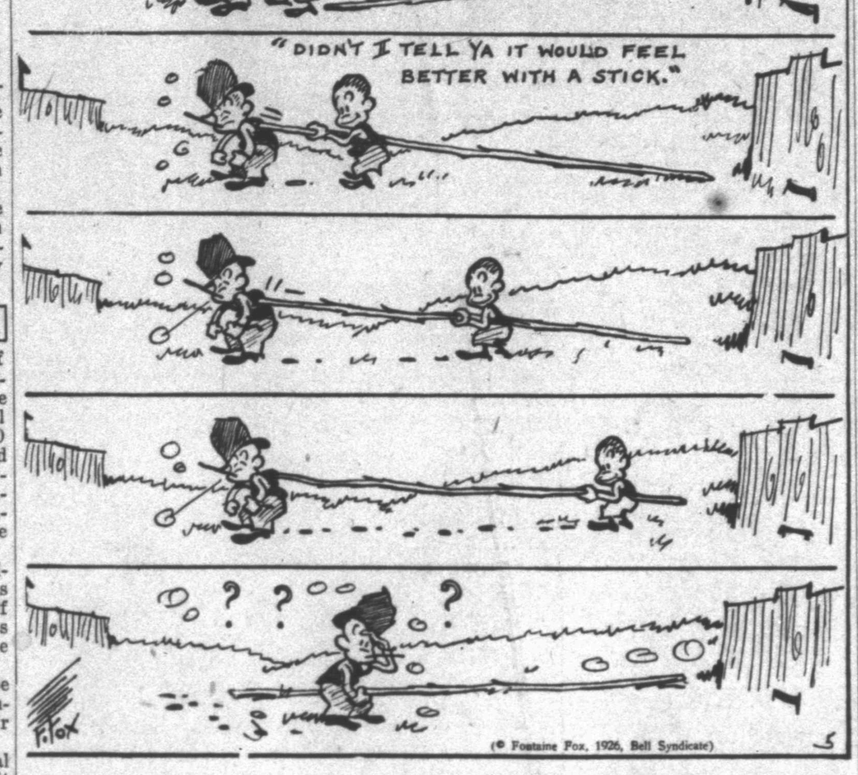

All this is coming to Texas some day.

BABIES

Teacher: Eleanor Berrend
Class: Frances, Harold, Robert, Stanley, Doris, Nan

Teacher: "Well, well, well, so my little scholars would like to learn about babies today!"

Class: "Nothing else otherwise than, dear teacher."

Teacher, "Well, dears, a baby is a small object about the size of a ten-cent loaf of bread. It is composed entirely of an appetite, a bald head, and a pair of lungs."

Class: "And what is it good for?"

Teacher: "It is of no use to anyone excepting its parents. It gives its father more walking exercise than golf. Very early in life the baby begins to think it is grown up and wants to walk around with its papa at night."

Class: "How odd! And of what benefit is it to its mother?"

Teacher: "It gives its mother more to talk about than three major operations, a new fall outfit of clothes, a wedding in the family and a police raid next door."

Class: "And what is a spoiled baby, dear teacher?"

Teacher: "A spoiled baby is one that doesn't belong to your family. There are as many different ways of spoiling a child as there are immediate relatives, but the nicest way of being spoiled is by grandparents."

Class: "In what does the baby excel?"

Teacher: "In oratory. Many a man who knows ten different languages can't get a cigar for nothing, but the baby, which speaks only in scrambled letters, and doesn't know what he's saying when he says it, gets anything he wants and could get paid for accepting it if he insisted."

Class: "What is the difference between a baby and the dominion of Canada?"

Teacher: "Part of the time the baby is—oh, dear. There's the bell Run along, dears, but be sure and come again."

"Them men at the garage made an awful bad mistake when they told me how easy I could lick the Jones boy."

NOW WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT IT?

DAILY SCIENCE SIX.

1. Is Mars completely dry?
2. Has Mars any atmosphere?
3. Is Mars larger than the Earth?
5. What do the mountains of Mars look like?
6. Why is Mars white at the poles?

Answers to these questions in tomorrow's Record News.

MARTIAN CANALS.

Our near neighbor, Mars, is the cause of more of what might be called guessing as distinguished from science than any other heavenly body. Is Mars inhabited? We can't see any men there, but if there were any we couldn't see them. There might be something living on Mars, plants, animals, or some form of life that is neither; in fact conditions favorable to life do exist, or barely exist on Mars. But what about those famous canals that criss-cross the planet? Are they not irrigation ditches dug to drain the failing water supply of a world nearly dried up, into useful channels? The straightness of their lines suggest intelligent planning. And yet some people maintain they are an optical illusion. One teacher asked boys to copy a pattern of dots very faintly marked out. His students, quite unasked, connected the dots up with lines. The teacher concluded that the human mind with its peculiar psychology might be "seeing things" when it "made out" Maritan canals.

Now what do you know about that?

Answers to yesterday's questions:

1. An airplane cannot fly in the upper atmosphere because the gases of that air are too rare to give any traction to the propellers.
2. Balloons cannot fly in atmosphere that is lighter than the gas in the bag.
3. When a balloon drifts toward a mountain peak it does not usually strike it because currents of air flow up and over most mountain peaks like water flowing up and over rocks in a stream.
4. Aviators faint at high altitudes from asphyxiation, lack of oxygen.
5. The chief tests for aviators are ability to stand di inished oxygen and the ability to keep sense of direction when whirled around blindfolded.
6. Aviators who cannot fly very high are not thereby disqualified from the service, as high flying is rather theoretical than practical and an aviator's ability as a common sense flyer matters more than his ability to do fancy stunts.

Henry—Behave!

Henry: "During that terrible hurricane theirs was the only bungalow that wasn't blown away."

Mrs.n Henry: "How do you account for it?"

Henry: "They had two Sunday newspapers on the kitchen floor!"

No, No, Nanette!

Grace: "You say Mildred is convalescing slowly? How will you know when she has her normal strength back again?"

Nanette: "As soon as she can, unassisted, lift a Sunday newspaper with all of its supplements!"

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch.

THE FIRST FORMAL.

She's going to a party, quite alone,
Except the boy who's taking her, of course,
And then, of course, there'll be a chaperone,
A chaperone that Mother can endorse.
But Mother won't be there herself to see,
And Father will not come to bring her home,
And Daughter's feeling suddenly as free
As any birdling first allowed to roam.

There will be other parties, many more,
And great affairs, with taxicabs and all,
And other fellows standing at the door,
To take her to the promenade and ball,
But there will never be another day,
Another party quite the same as this,
And Mother's happy as they start away.
But there's a little sadness in her kiss.

She has been ours entirely, only ours,
But now the world is calling her out there,
As strangers come, attracted by the flow'rs
That other hands have 'tended with such care.
The florist sees an opening bud depart,
His fairest blossom from his garden goes;
The florist sighs, yet pride is in his heart,
To give the world around him such a rose.

PROGRAM POSTPONED.

Holliday School Lyceum Date Moved Up One Week.

Special to The Record News.

HOLLIDAY, Nov. 6.—Announcement has been made by the Holliday school authorities that the first lyceum number which was scheduled for Friday evening, November 5, will not be given until Friday, November 12. Miss Ruby Carleton Walker, head of the department of reading a tthe North Texas Teachers' college, Denton, who is to be presented in reading recital at Holliday on this date, is well known by teachers in this section of the state, and when it was announced that she was to give a recital at Holliday numerous requests were received that the program be deferred one week in order to give more of the teachers in the surrounding community an opportunity to attend. The first date, November 5, conflicted with dedication programs at Valley and Wichita Falls. Miss Walker waas communicated with by wire and arrangements were made to postpone the recital until November 12, thus enabling a larger number of neighboring school people to attend. It is now planned to make the occasion a reunion of teachers in this section, who formerly attended the Denton Teachers' college.

PUNCH STOPS PANIC

CHICAGO.—A panic was started by a spectator yelling at a movie show, but was stopped when an usher punched the offender in the jaw and knocked him out.

"I'M THE GINK"

I'm the gink who marks passages in borrowed books. I read eagerly and when I come across a line or so I like, why, I just mark it. Of course, most of the books I read are borrowed but that makes no difference. I am sure that the owner will be just as enthusiastic over the passage as I am. Really, I don't care so much about reading. I mark largely for effect. Most people prefer their books unmarked but I never think of it. I underline heavily and often. I rarely get books from the same person twice, but I keep borrowing.

QUANAH, Nov. 4.—County agents from Foard, Wilbarger, Cottle, Hardeman and Childress counties together with the secretaries of the chambers of commerce from Paducah, Vernon, Quanah and Childress, met Wednesday afternoon at the Quanah Chamber of Commerce with the heads of four poultry associations organized in these five counties.

The Green Belt Poultry association was organized, covering the five counties represented. Four poultry shows were announced for December, to be held at Vernon, Childress and Quanah as previously arranged, and an additional one at Crowell.

Vernon Show First

The Vernon show will be held December 13, 14 and 15 and will be immediately followed by the Childress show on December 16, 17 and 18. Quanah will show next on December 21, 22 and 23, immediately preceeding the holidays, and the final exhibition will take place at Crowell on December 29, 30 and 31. Many of the same birds are expected to be shown at each place.

Premiums Offered

Premiums are offered for the different classifications. Cocks, cockerels, hens and pullets will each be awarded first, second and third places and will receive premiums which are, respectively, $3, $1 and blue ribbon. These are for individual birds. Pens will be judged also, both for the old and young fowls, and will receive as first prize $3, second $2 and third is a blue ribbon. These premiums will be given for each classification or breed, but will be awarded only on standard breeds.

APA Rules Prevail

The shows will be held under the rules of the American Poultry association and classifications will be made according to standard perfection. A small fee will be charged for entrance.

The largest and most handsome loving cup ever offered the poultrymen of Texas as a single premium will be given the breeder who wins the greatest number of points in all four shows combined. It is to be given by the new Green Belt Poultry association. It stands 24 inches high and will cost $100.

THE NORRIS CASE

Wichita Falls, it seems, came dangerously near acquiring a place in the sun a few days ago.

When Frank Norris set up his plea for a change of venue, believing that neither Fort Worth or Dallas could give a fair trial in his murder case, the state suggested Wichita Falls as a point to which the trial might be brought. It was argued that this city was nearer Fort Worth than any other large community, excepting Dallas; that prejudices were not so inflamed here and information not so widespread as to preclude the possibility of a fair trial for both states; that Wichita Falls offered facilities capable of handling the vast amount of work attending the case; and that it had other factors recommending itself.

However, all of that is not to the point. Norris objected—on what grounds is not yet quite clear—and the trial accordingly went to Austin.

Speaking strictly from a newspaper point of view, the trial would have been welcomed with open arms. It would have meant page one copy for a week or more. It would have been headline material. Yet, after all, we believe that Wichita Falls, as a whole, is just as content that Norris and his sensationalism has not been brought into the midst of this community. He has many admirers here, just as he has many foes implacably opposed to Norrisism. He would pack the court house as it has never been packed before. But after all, a murder case is not the most wholesome tonic for a city.

And the Norris case, probably, would have been a little less wholesome than the average.

SOMETHING ELSE TO DO

While the police department is doing its evangelising work on the "stop" signs, it had better carry on a little farther and conduct another campaign of education for traffic in the business district where the automatic signal lights are supposed to regulate things.

Individual stop and go schedules have been all too frequent of late. Familiarity, as the old saying goes, breeds contempt and in the case of the lights it has been pretty busy of late.

To the average man, of course, it is hard to understand why any one would wilfully and intentionally tear through a red light, make left hand turns where they are barred and commit various and sundry other iniquities. The average man doesn't do it; but there are a lot of men who are not average and it is to be concluded that most of the scapegoats come under this classification.

Ignorance no doubt is responsible for many of the breaks. But truck drivers, who scoot about the city daily, certainly ought to know the traffic regulations and when one of these travels serenely along as his own engineer and dispatcher, it is hard to believe that he isn't looking out of the corner of his eye for a cop. There are others, ordinary motorists, residents here, who are just as guilty.

When the lights were installed and at periodic intervals thereafter the police watched rigidly at all corners where they were in use. A guard is maintained now for part of each day, but most anyone who takes the time and trouble to look, will bear witness that there is plenty of work to be done on this line.

MATERIAL FOR A MOSES

THERE are politicians who will contend that the results of the election in three important states will furnish material for a Moses to lead the democratic hosts in 1928.

Governor Alfred E. Smith carried New York for the democrats by a majority of more than 200,000. He carried his ticket with him. That is, he made it possible for Wagner to defeat Wadsworth and the minor state offices to be filled by democrats. In 1924 Smith was the only democrat elected to office in the state of New York.

Ohio comes next. Honest Vic Donehey was elected governor for the third time in six years. His running mate, Atlee Pomerene, was defeated by the republican contender. It is safe to predict that the Ohio democrats will present the name of Governor Doheney as a candidate for the presidential nomination in the month of June 1926.

This has been the intention of many of the leaders of the Ohio democracy ever since Doheney won his third term nomination away last summer. They will tell the world that Doheney is a dry but not a savage dry. That is a man of the people; that he is close to the farmer and the wage worker in city and town; that he is as honest as Paul and the very embodiment of Jeffersonian simplicity which includes all of the frugal virtues.

And there is another man to be dealt with in the near future. Senator James A. Reed of Missouri is a receptive candidate of the nomination. He backed Harry Hawes for United States senator. Hawes is a congressman from a St. Louis district. He is for the modification of the Volsted act and never dodged the issue.

He defeated for re-election the sitting member, George H. Williams, republican, who is said to be a very able lawyer and has made something of a name for himself in the senate. Senator Reed backed Hawes to a finish. Hawes bowled Williams out of his seat in the senate and added to the list of democratic victories.

Now there are national democrats who would like to see James A. Reed, the standard bearer of their party in 1928. California is the home of William Gibbs McAdoo. He has many backers for the prize. He is more than a receptive candidate.

He had a candidate for senator in the field. His candidate was overwhelmed by the republicans. To be popular a man must be a winner in addition to his other qualifications. California is hopelessly republican.

Nevada, erstwhile a democratic stronghold landed in the republican column of states on November 2. Idaho and Utah rolled up large republican majorities. It was a cruel day for the democrats of these far away states. They did not even stand up to be counted. All sent McAdoo delegates to the Madison Square Garden convention.

Thus far these three are the entrants; Governor Smith of New York; Governor Doheney of Ohio; Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, Smith is from the east; Doheney is from the west; Reed is from a border state. Will there be another deadlock? Will there be another wrecking of the party of Thomas Jefferson? Will childish issues which have no place in the proceedings of a great convention invite overwhelming party disaster and a crushing defeat to the democrat who is finally chosen to carry the banner?

All the signs of the times indicate that Calvin Coolidge will be given the republican nomination if he consents to accept another term. In the defeat of Butler the president received a black eye but Butler is the most unpopular republican in the old Bay state and David I. Walsh the most popular democrat that the people of Massachusetts have known since the close of the war between the states.

If the republicans go east a second time for Coolidge will the democrats pick an eastern leader or cross the Allegheney mountains to find one in Ohio or will they journey farther west for a political Moses?

FARM VALUES IN THE SOUTH

NOW comes the Manufacturers Record of Baltimore with interesting figures concerning the values of farm products in the south. In 1925 the value of agricultural products in the south was $5,855,000,000.00 of which only $1,600,000,000.00 represented cotton. In the year 1923 the manufacturing products of the south amounted to $9,450,000,000.00. In that year more than $1,600,000,000.00 of wealth came from the mines and the quarries of the south.

Colonel Richard Edmonds of the Baltimore publication, is a wizard when it comes to figures. In 1910 he says "the value of all agricultural products in the south was $3,502,000,000.00, while in 1923 the value was $5,855,000,000.00.

"This excerpt from the Record should be most illuminating to all Texans who are interested in the various industries in their states.

"In 1910 the value of Texas agricultural products was $430,000,000.00. Last year it was $945,000,000,00. In 1910 the value of Texas manufactured and mineral products was $291,000,000.00 or $139,000,000,000.00 less than the value of its agricultural products of that year, but in 1923 the value of the mineral and manufactured products of Texas was $1,243,000,000.00, largely more than four times the value of 1910 and not withstanding the enormous increase in Texas' agricultural output, the value of its manufactured and mineral product of 1923 was $298,000,000.00 in excess of the value of its agricultural products of 1925."

Texas, then Texas of old, was a great livestock state and the fortunes of many were accumulated by their activity in the livestock industry. This is the period when the range was free and the cow kings were the monarchs of all they surveyed. Then came the man with the plow and the hoe and agriculture as a wealth maker or producer relegated livestock to second place.

Now manufacturing is having its inning and Texas seems destined to become one of the principle manufacturing states of the union, just as Texas may become chief among the petroleum producing states of America. There's room for all these industries under Texas skies. There is a place for all.

Texas is the producer of all the raw materials which are in demand by the millers and manufacturers of the world. When the textile industry is of the same magnitude in Texas as it is in the Carolinas or Massachusetts and New Hampshire, there will be industrial centers in Texas as great as those found in New England and the per capita wealth of all the people will be as large as enjoyed by New Englanders who are not producers of raw materials and yet are the wealth makers of the American world when it comes to turning the raw stuff into the finished product to be sold everywhere that civilization has found a foothold.

All this is coming to Texas some day.

Wichita Falls, it seems, came dangerously near acquiring a place in the sun a few days ago.

When Frank Norris set up his plea for a change of venue, believing that neither Fort Worth or Dallas could give a fair trial in his murder case, the state suggested Wichita Falls as a point to which the trial might be brought. It was argued that this city was nearer Fort Worth than any other large community, excepting Dallas; that prejudices were not so inflamed here and information not so widespread as to preclude the possibility of a fair trial for both states; that Wichita Falls offered facilities capable of handling the vast amount of work attending the case; and that it had other factors recommending itself.

However, all of that is not to the point. Norris objected—on what grounds is not yet quite clear—and the trial accordingly went to Austin.

Speaking strictly from a newspaper point of view, the trial would have been welcomed with open arms. It would have meant page one copy for a week or more. It would have been headline material. Yet, after all, we believe that Wichita Falls, as a whole, is just as content that Norris and his sensationalism has not been brought into the midst of this community. He has many admirers here, just as he has many foes implacably opposed to Norrisism. He would pack the court house as it has never been packed before. But after all, a murder case is not the most wholesome tonic for a city.

And the Norris case, probably, would have been a little less wholesome than the average.

SOMETHING ELSE TO DO

While the police department is doing its evangelising work on the "stop" signs, it had better carry on a little farther and conduct another campaign of education for traffic in the business district where the automatic signal lights are supposed to regulate things.

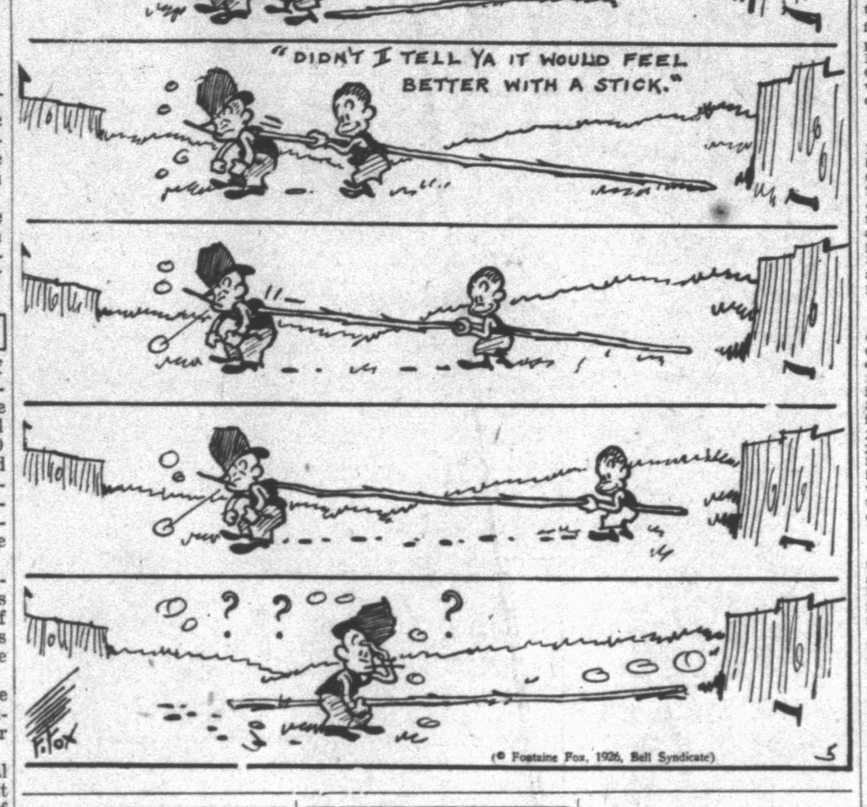

Individual stop and go schedules have been all too frequent of late. Familiarity, as the old saying goes, breeds contempt and in the case of the lights it has been pretty busy of late.

To the average man, of course, it is hard to understand why any one would wilfully and intentionally tear through a red light, make left hand turns where they are barred and commit various and sundry other iniquities. The average man doesn't do it; but there are a lot of men who are not average and it is to be concluded that most of the scapegoats come under this classification.

Ignorance no doubt is responsible for many of the breaks. But truck drivers, who scoot about the city daily, certainly ought to know the traffic regulations and when one of these travels serenely along as his own engineer and dispatcher, it is hard to believe that he isn't looking out of the corner of his eye for a cop. There are others, ordinary motorists, residents here, who are just as guilty.

When the lights were installed and at periodic intervals thereafter the police watched rigidly at all corners where they were in use. A guard is maintained now for part of each day, but most anyone who takes the time and trouble to look, will bear witness that there is plenty of work to be done on this line.

BABIES

Teacher: Eleanor Berrend
Class: Frances, Harold, Robert, Stanley, Doris, Nan

Teacher: "Well, well, well, so my little scholars would like to learn about babies today!"

Class: "Nothing else otherwise than, dear teacher."

Teacher, "Well, dears, a baby is a small object about the size of a ten-cent loaf of bread. It is composed entirely of an appetite, a bald head, and a pair of lungs."

Class: "And what is it good for?"

Teacher: "It is of no use to anyone excepting its parents. It gives its father more walking exercise than golf. Very early in life the baby begins to think it is grown up and wants to walk around with its papa at night."

Class: "How odd! And of what benefit is it to its mother?"

Teacher: "It gives its mother more to talk about than three major operations, a new fall outfit of clothes, a wedding in the family and a police raid next door."

Class: "And what is a spoiled baby, dear teacher?"

Teacher: "A spoiled baby is one that doesn't belong to your family. There are as many different ways of spoiling a child as there are immediate relatives, but the nicest way of being spoiled is by grandparents."

Class: "In what does the baby excel?"

Teacher: "In oratory. Many a man who knows ten different languages can't get a cigar for nothing, but the baby, which speaks only in scrambled letters, and doesn't know what he's saying when he says it, gets anything he wants and could get paid for accepting it if he insisted."

Class: "What is the difference between a baby and the dominion of Canada?"

Teacher: "Part of the time the baby is—oh, dear. There's the bell Run along, dears, but be sure and come again."

NOW WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT IT?

DAILY SCIENCE SIX.

1. Is Mars completely dry?
2. Has Mars any atmosphere?
3. Is Mars larger than the Earth?
5. What do the mountains of Mars look like?
6. Why is Mars white at the poles?

Answers to these questions in tomorrow's Record News.

MARTIAN CANALS.

Our near neighbor, Mars, is the cause of more of what might be called guessing as distinguished from science than any other heavenly body. Is Mars inhabited? We can't see any men there, but if there were any we couldn't see them. There might be something living on Mars, plants, animals, or some form of life that is neither; in fact conditions favorable to life do exist, or barely exist on Mars. But what about those famous canals that criss-cross the planet? Are they not irrigation ditches dug to drain the failing water supply of a world nearly dried up, into useful channels? The straightness of their lines suggest intelligent planning. And yet some people maintain they are an optical illusion. One teacher asked boys to copy a pattern of dots very faintly marked out. His students, quite unasked, connected the dots up with lines. The teacher concluded that the human mind with its peculiar psychology might be "seeing things" when it "made out" Maritan canals.

Now what do you know about that?

Answers to yesterday's questions:

1. An airplane cannot fly in the upper atmosphere because the gases of that air are too rare to give any traction to the propellers.
2. Balloons cannot fly in atmosphere that is lighter than the gas in the bag.
3. When a balloon drifts toward a mountain peak it does not usually strike it because currents of air flow up and over most mountain peaks like water flowing up and over rocks in a stream.
4. Aviators faint at high altitudes from asphyxiation, lack of oxygen.
5. The chief tests for aviators are ability to stand di inished oxygen and the ability to keep sense of direction when whirled around blindfolded.
6. Aviators who cannot fly very high are not thereby disqualified from the service, as high flying is rather theoretical than practical and an aviator's ability as a common sense flyer matters more than his ability to do fancy stunts.

Henry—Behave!

Henry: "During that terrible hurricane theirs was the only bungalow that wasn't blown away."

Mrs.n Henry: "How do you account for it?"

Henry: "They had two Sunday newspapers on the kitchen floor!"

No, No, Nanette!

Grace: "You say Mildred is convalescing slowly? How will you know when she has her normal strength back again?"

Nanette: "As soon as she can, unassisted, lift a Sunday newspaper with all of its supplements!"

—Judy Reisman.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch.

THE FIRST FORMAL.

She's going to a party, quite alone,
Except the boy who's taking her, of course,
And then, of course, there'll be a chaperone,
A chaperone that Mother can endorse.
But Mother won't be there herself to see,
And Father will not come to bring her home,
And Daughter's feeling suddenly as free
As any birdling first allowed to roam.

There will be other parties, many more,
And great affairs, with taxicabs and all,
And other fellows standing at the door,
To take her to the promenade and ball,
But there will never be another day,
Another party quite the same as this,
And Mother's happy as they start away,
But there's a little sadness in her kiss.

She has been ours entirely, only ours,
But now the world is calling her out there,
As strangers come, attracted by the flow'rs
That other hands have 'tended with such care.
The florist sees an opening bud depart,
His fairest blossom from his garden goes;
The florist sighs, yet pride is in his heart,
To give the world around him such a rose.

PROGRAM POSTPONED.

Holliday School Lyceum Date Moved Up One Week.

Special to The Record News.

HOLLIDAY, Nov. 6.—Announcement has been made by the Holliday school authorities that the first lyceum number which was scheduled for Friday evening, November 5, will not be given until Friday, November 12. Miss Ruby Carleton Walker, head of the department of reading a tthe North Texas Teachers' college, Denton, who is to be presented in reading recital at Holliday on this date, is well known by teachers in this section of the state, and when it was announced that she was to give a recital at Holliday numerous requests were received that the program be deferred one week in order to give more of the teachers in the surrounding community an opportunity to attend. The first date, November 5, conflicted with dedication programs at Valley and Wichita Falls. Miss Walker waas communicated with by wire and arrangements were made to postpone the recital until November 12, thus enabling a larger number of neighboring school people to attend. It is now planned to make the occasion a reunion of teachers in this section, who formerly attended the Denton Teachers' college.

"I'M THE GINK"

I'm the gink who marks passages in borrowed books. I read eagerly and when I come across a line or so I like, why, I just mark it. Of course, most of the books I read are borrowed but that makes no difference. I am sure that the owner will be just as enthusiastic over the passage as I am. Deally, I don't care so much about reading. I mark largely for effect. Most people prefer their books unmarked but I never think of it. I underline heavily and often. I rarely get books from the same person twice, but I keep borrowing.

APA Rules Prevail

The shows will be held under the rules of the American Poultry association and classifications will be made according to standard perfection. A small fee will be charged for entrance.

The largest and most handsome loving cup ever offered the poultrymen of Texas as a single premium will be given the breeder who wins the greatest number of points in all four shows combined. It is to be given by the new Green Belt Poultry association. It stands 24 inches high and will cost $100.

GOVERNMENT COTTON REPORT DUE MONDAY SLOWS SPECULATION

MARKET FALLS OFF THURSDAY AFTER BOOST

New Orleans Market Has Narrow Fluctuations In Prices

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 4. (AP) The cotton market was comparatively quiet affair today with price fluctuations decidedly narrow. The general dispostion was to allow matters to drift until after the government's report of next Monday.

Despite favorable cables, prices opened two to seven points down owing to the fair weather and during the early trading prices eased off further to levels seven to nine points below yesterday's close. There was a rally about the middle of the morning on reports that a settlement of the British coal strike was imminent. Two private crop estimates, one of 17,872,000 and the other of 17,300,000, were contributing causes, being smaller than the trade had been led to expect. Prices later lost all the gain and dropped to the early lows, January making a new low point on a later report that the settlement of the coal strike was less promising. New lows were made in the late trading for December and March which brought the price level nine to 12 points under the highs for the morning. The close was a point or two above the lowest, showing net losses for the day of seven to 10 points.

Soon after the opening December eased off to 12.29, January to 12.37 and March to 12.55, or seven to nine points under the previous close. The rally later in the morning on coal strike news advanced December to 12.37, January to 12.44 and March to 12.65, or about parallel with previous close.

Tis rally was later lost during the afternoon and prices dropped back to the earlier lows January actually making a new low at 12.35, December a new low at 12.28 and March at 12.53.

Exports for the day totalled 41,049 bales.

NEW YORK MARKET IN SLIGHT DECLINE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. (AP)—Rallies followed an opening decline in the cotton market today but there were not fully maintained and after selling up from 12.31 to 12.45, January closed at 12.35, compared with 12.42 at the close yesterday. The general market closed steady at net declines of seven to 12 points.

The opening was easy at a decline of eight to 10 cents active positions showing net losses of eight to 12 points in early trading under overnight selling orders from the south, combined with commission house liquidation and local selling prompted by relatively easy late cables from Liverpool.

December sold off to 12.20 and March to 12.57, but initial offerings seemed to be readily absorbed at these figures with trade buying considerably in evidence.

This steadied the market and there were mid-day rallies on covering, but the volume of business tapered off. After selling up to 12.34 for December and 12.68 for March, prices eased off again in the last half hour. The close showed reactions of eight to 10 points from the best.

Big Ginning Estimate.

Two more private crop reports were publised, one placing the indicated yield at 17,873,000 bales, while the other made the crop indication 17,300,000, and estimated ginnings prior to November 1, at 11,100,000 bales. Both these reports showed an increase over the last previous reports of the same authorities and for that reason were commented upon as in line with exceptions of increased figures from the government next Monday. They had no apparent effect on the market, however, and the comparatively small volume of business was considered by some brokers as indicating that small accounts probably have been evened-up, with traders waiting for next week's official report.

Private cables said edge selling in Liverpool had been absorbed by trade calling and covering and reported a broadcasting demand for cotton cloths from India.

Exports today 41,049 bales, making 2,786,771 so far this season. Port receipts, 71,604; U. S. port stocks, 2,366,520.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.(AP)—The stock market made further progress on the up-side today after an early period of irregularity. Bear traders again failed in an attempt to unsettle the general list by hammering the motors and a few vulnerable specialties rushing to cover in late trading when fresh buying appeared for several of the leading rails and industrials.

There was nothing in the day's news to influence the price movement although a more cheerful feeling was apparent in both business and banking circles. While the call money rate held steady at 4½ per cent loans were available in the outside market at substantial concessions below the quoted rate and there were no indications of the stiffening which frequently takes place in the first fortnight of November.

The drive against the motors was based on the curtailment of production by some of the large manufacturers but this reduction in operations was regarded by the trade as seasonal. General Motors after selling down to 151¼, later crossed 154, closing at 153⅛ for a small fractional gain on the day. Hudson was taken i nlarge blocks around 44 but closed slightly below that leveu. Mack Trucks was depressed to a new low at 89⅝, and then rallied to 91½, off 1½.

United States Steel common was under heavy accumulation on reports that the tonnage statement next week may show an increase of as much as 200,000 tons in unfilled orders. The stock rallied from 140½ to 143 closing just below the top for a net gain of 1½ points on the day. An optimistic statement on business by Charles M. Schwab before the Philadelphia bond club also helped to create bullish enthusiasm for the steel shares.

Commercial Solvents "B" was the outstanding individual strong spot, soaring 11 points to 197¾ and closing a point below the top. Famous Players advaced over two points on buying influenced by large current earnings and expectations of a substantial increase in income on the opening of the new Paramount theater here next month. The advance of nearly four points in Baldwin followed the announcement that the company had received large sums on account from foreign governments. American Smelting advanced over two points and Chino, Ray and Nevada coppers touched new 1926 peaks on the prospect of higher dividends by some of the copper companies before the end of the year.

Strength of the anthracite carriers, particularly Lackawanna which scored an extreme advance of over six points by touching 151¼, featured the rail group. Texas and Pacific also recorded a substantial gain.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged. The New York federal reserve re-discount rate was unchanged at 4 per cent. The further recovery in French francs to above 3 1-3 cents despite the reported efforts of the Bank of France to keep the buying movement in check, was one of several highly interesting developments in the foreign exchange market. Demand sterling touched a new low for the year at $4.84 1-16, bringing the rate to a point where gold shipments from London to New York appear probable and the new German reichsmark registered a new low at 23.77 cents. Japanese yen touched the highes tprice in three years at 49½ cents.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.(AP)—Wheat scored a late advance in price today helped by reports that the British coal strike is likely to be settled within two weeks. Closing quotations on wheat were firm, ⅜ to 1⅛c net higher, corn unchanged to ⅝c off, oats unchanged to ⅛c up and provisions unchanged to 12c decline. All deliveries of corn reached the lowest prices yet this season. Liquidating sales by holders were in progress, despite talk which was current that the crest of the old crop movement has been passed. Oats averaged higher, sympathizing with the oats market at Winnipeg.

Foreign selling of lard made provisions finish weak.

"HONEY LOU" By Beatrice Burton

AUTHOR OF "LOVE BOUND," "HER MAN," ETC.

READ THIS FIRST:

HONEY LOU HUNTLEY is private secretary to old "GRUMPY" WALLACK, head of the Wallack Fabric Mills. Honey Lou likes everyone at the mills except JOE MEADOWS, the shipping clerk, who makes love to her against her will.

JACK WALLACK, who comes to his father's mills to learn the business, falls in love with Honey Lou the minute he sees her. Brought up by an old-fashioned mother, Honey Lou is a mixture of flapper and clinging vine.

At a party given by ANGELA ALLEN, Honey Lou has two cocktails which are her first taste of liquor. She "passes out" and Angela takes advantage of her unconscious state to turn Jack against her.

Angela pretends to be a friend of Honey Lou and tells her not to take Jack seriously. Jack begins to call on Honey Lou again, but he is very jealous and one night when DR. STEVE MEYHEW comes to the house Jack is very angry, although Steve is a friend of MARGRET, Honey Lou's sister.

A few nights later while Honey Lou is taking part in a Charleston contest just for a lark, he stalks out of the theater where the contest is held, furious because Honey Lou was "making a holy show of herself," as he says. Honey Lou decides to leave Wallack's, and goes to work with Margret in the offiice of Holy Cross hospital. One day she goes to tea with the Wily Angela and meets Jack's mother, whom Jack calls THE HEAD because she manages everything at home. She tells Honey Lou that "Grumpy" is not satisfied with his new secretary, ANN LUDLOW, the office vamp. The next day, Jack asks Honey Lou to work for his father, who is at home sick with lumbago, and Honey Lou promises that she will.

Honey Lou is asked by "Grumpy" to bring the mail from his office to his sickbed. At the office she has an encounter with Ann, who accuses Honey Lou of stealing her job. Later, "Grumpy" startles her by asking, "What's this I hear about you and Jack running around together?"

Honey Lou is angered by his question and decides to quit her job, but is argued out of it by the fact that "Grumpy" finally admits that he considers her good enough for Jack or anyone. Honey Lou meets Angelas, who tells her that Jack Wallack is taking her out to dance that evening. Honey Lou calls up Tim Donegal, determined to have him take her to the same place.

Honey Lou goes with Tim to the restaurant and he has been drinking. The place is raided by dry agents and Honey Lou escapes with Jack Wallack.

Jack tells Honey Lou that he thought she was tricking him and ends by telling her that he loves her and wants her to marry him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXV.

Mrs. Huntley was worried.

She sat up in bed, trying to read her magazine, but she could not keep her mind on it.

Every now and then, her anxious eyes would shift to the little clock on th etable beside her four-poster bed. Half past one. Twenty minuters to two.

She dozed off and woke suddenly when a church bell, somewhere across the moonlit roofs of the city, chimed two.

Two o'clock, and Honey Lou had not come home! Where on earth could she have gone with that wild Tim Danegal? She had never been out so late before with him or anyone else.

Perhaps she had been hurt in an accident—driving with that wild creature in his roaring torpedo of an automobile. Perhaps she was lying dead, right this minute, out on some frozen country road! Perhaps—

With her mother's heart beating suffocatingly, Mrs. Huntley got out of the bed and put on her flannelette bathrobe and her slippers. In the hallway she stopped and threw her old cape around her shoulders.

She opened the door of the flat, and slipped down the dark stairs past Miss MacComber's door to the street door.

She pushed it open, and stepped out onto the crisp air. The street was empty from end to end—dark and silent under the night time sky.

There was not a sound anywhere. Not even a rustling of dry leaves or paper in the gutters for there was no wind.

She was just turning to go back into the building, when the distant purr of an automobile broke the stillness. It came nearer and nearer.

Then headlights came flashing around the corner, and on up the street toward her.

Mrs. Huntley had just time enough to run up the stairs to the flat, before the car stopped in front of the house. She tiptoed to the bay window of the sitting room, pushed back the curtains, and looked out.

The car was at the curbstone, but it was empty. Beside it stood two people, locked in each other's arms, so that they seemed to be one figure as they stood there.

Up went the window with a sweep and a bang.

"Harriet Louise Huntley! Come in here this minute!" Mrs. Huntley's soft southern voice was curt and commanding, for once.

Surprise was in it, too. The surprise that comes to every mother in the world when she suddenly realizes that her baby has become a woman—with the emotions and experiences that come to a woman.

The two figures sprang apart—came together again for a minute—and then parted.

The man whom Mrs. Huntley thought was Timothy Donegal got into his car, and Honey Lou came into the building. Mrs. Huntley heard the door close after her with a dull thud.

Then, and not until then, did the car move down Arbor street between the sentinel lamp posts.

* * *

"Where have you been until this hour?" Mrs. Huntley asked, when her younger daughter walked into the flat.

Honey Lou stood with her back against the door. Her lips were turned up at the corners, and there were stars in her brown eyes.

"In heaven, if you ask me," she said dreamily. She was given to what Aunt Lucy called "wild talk," from an Irish grandmother, on her dead father's side of the house.

"Where have you been?" her mother asked again, sober as a judge.

Honey Lou suddenly gave her sweet throaty laugh. "Well, if you must pin me down, mother, I've been out with Jack Wallack, getting myself engaged to him!" she said, smiling impishly. Then the dreamy look came back into her face.

There was a note of high happiness in her voice, as she went on: "Mother, I'm going to be married—to him. Tomorrow."

Mrs. Huntley dropped down into the chair beside the yellow lamp. Her face was blank.

"Honey Lou, do you know what you're saying?" she asked. "Was that Jack Wallack who brought you home just now?"

"Why, yes."

"But I thought you started out tonight with Mr. Donegal."

"I'M GOING TO BE MARRIED," SHE SAID

"I did," Honey Lou answered quietly. "Don't make me talk about him tonight, mother. Don't ask me any questions tonight—I don't want to think of anything or of anybody except Jack." She said his name so softly that her mother scarcely heard it.

"And I'm dead for sleep, besides," she added. She went to her mother and held up her face to be kissed.

Then, as she turned to go into the little bedroom where Margret had been asleep for hours, her mother caught her by the sleeve.

"Honey Lou, I can't quite take all of this in—but promise me one thing. Promise me you won't rush off and get married tomorrow." Her dazed, anxious eyes, with their network of wrinkles, pleaded with the gay deep ones of Honey Lou. She was pathetic, somehow, as she stood there.

"I want you to be married in white satin and orange blossoms, the way a bride should be married," she said earnestly. "A girl's wedding day is the loveliest day of her life—and I want you to look the way you should that day, instead of running off to a justice of the peace in your everyday clothes. All the women in your family have had proper weddings—the Huntleys of Kentucky, you know—"

In the end she had her way, and Honey Lou telephoned Jack before she went to bed that night, to tell him that they would have to wait until her mother and Mrs. Sadler made her a wedding dress, before they could be married.

"How long will that be?" he asked.

"A week," said Honey Lou.

"A million years," he answered her.

Honey Lou made the soft sound of a kiss, with her lips close to the telephone. "Did you hear that?" she asked, "Goodnight."

* * *

Margret and her mother were at the breakfast table when Honey Lou walked into the dining room the next morning.

Margret was sipping black coffee and eating a grape fruit with no sugar on it. She had a horror of getting fat, and Honey Lou loved to tease her about it.

"Have some calories," she urged her, now, as she sat down and passed her the plate of hot buttered toast.

"Don't let me even look at the stuff!" Margret almost groaned. If there was one thing she liked more than anything else, it was hot buttered toast.

"That's right, Strong-minded Marg!" Honey Lou said admiringly. "Take care of the calories, and the fat will take care of itself! What if you were skin and bones like me?" She broke off a bit of the toast and popped it into her mouth.

Margret laughed. "If I had skin and bones like yours I wouldn't mind," she replied. "You know you're a dream, so don't fish for compliments. Aren't you going to the office today?"

For Honey Lou was wearing an old black satin dress, and her feet were thrust into her pink felt bedroom slippers.

She shook her head, and sat down her coffee cup.

"No, I'm all through working down there. Jack says I mustn't go there again," she said in the happy contented voice of a woman who knows that she is loved and protected. "I'm going to marry Jack Wallack in a week, Margret."

She looked across the table at her mother. "Why, didn't you tell her?"

"I thought you'd rather tell her yourself," Mrs. Huntley answered.

Margret came around the table and kissed Honey Lou. "I'm so glad for you!" she said, and her face was radiant even though teers stood in her eyes.

Mrs. Huntley shook her head. "I just can't get used to the idea," she decalerd. "I can't seem to realize that Honey Lou's going away from us."

There was a tense little silence in the sunny room with its white curtains, its red geraniums and its cheerful pretty breakfast table.

Then Margret said the most surprising thing. She said it with her eyes fixed on the cup of coffee in front of her, and she said it slowly and almost without feeling:

"I don't know how Steve Mayhew is going to take this, Honey Lou. Pretty hard, I'm afraid."

Honey Lou knew exactly what she meant. But she shrugged her shoulders.

"Pooh!" she laughed carelessly. "How could it matter to Steve what I do? What I'm wondering is how Angela Allen's going to take it! That's what's worrying the life out of me."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

Majestic Bill Unusually Good

Chinese Acrobats Featured On Bill of Good Numbers

Theater goers who love the magic and artistry of the orient are enjoying this week's Majestic program which is featuring Long Tack Sam and his troupe of Chinese acrobats and wonder workers, the most enjoyable being the song and dance acts by the Misses Mi-Na and Nee Sa Long.

The Chinese act is the star feature of the bill and merits praise, for the actors perform the most difficult trapeze, bar and juggling tricks with ease as well as introduce a number of entirely new feats.

There is plenty of comedy also wrapped up in the eccentric performances of Jad Dooley, who takes his art seriously; and McCarthy and Moore in "Anything at All," which is just what the title indicates.

Then for song and dance lovers Naomi Glass and Ervel and Dell round out the program to a full five acts of song, laughter and thrills.

Junk Ordinance Is Held Invalid

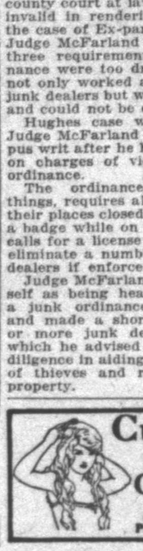

M'Farland Declares Provisions of City Statute Are Too Drastic

The new Wichita Falls city junk ordinance met decisive defeat in its first legal tilt yesterday when Judge C. M. McFarland in the county court at law held the statue invalid in rendering a decision in the case of Ex-parte L. E. Hughes. Judge McFarland held that two or three requirements of the ordinance were too drastic and that it not only worked a hardship on all junk dealers but was discriminating and could not be enforced.

Hughes case was taken before Judge McFarland on a habeas corpus writ after he had been arrested on charges of violating the junk ordinance.

The ordinance, among other things, requires all dealers to keep their places closed at night, to wear a badge while on the job, and also calls for a license fee which would eliminate a number of the smaller dealers if enforced, it was held.

Judge McFarland expressed himself as being heartily in favor of a junk ordinance not so drastic and made a short talk to the 20 or more junk dealers present in which he advised them to exercise diligence in aiding the ferreting out of thieves and recover of stolen property.

WORKMAN HURT

Apprentice on Medical Arts Building Suffers Injured Head.

Herman Wilkins, age about 18, who has been employed as a bricklayer's apprentice on the medical arts building, suffered a severe cut on the head Thursday afternoon as the result of the fall of a piece of iron. Young Wilkins, who is the son of C. F. Wilkins, operator of Wilkins bakery and living at 1105 Travis, was working on the second floor of the building when an iron dropped from the eleventh story through an elevator shaft and struck a piece of 2 by 8 scaffolding. The timber was broken and a section of it struck Wilkins on the head, cutting a deep gash in his scalp.

He was taken to the General hospital where his condition is not regarded as serious.

S.S.S. keeps the Skin clear

WAKE up the sleeping beauty in your skin! Clear up the muddy, sallow complexion—drive away unsightly pimples, blackheads, blotches and other blemishes!

Be yourself! You don't want to go through life handicapped by a bad skin — unpopular and unwanted, simply because people don't like to look at your skin.

The whole trouble is that your system is starving for rich, red blood. With plenty of red-blood-cells a big change takes place. Your skin clears up almost like magic.

S. S. S. helps Nature build these red-blood-cells — builds up your blood to where it is pure, rich and red. You don't have to think about your skin when you take S. S. S. The pure red blood will beautify it naturally.

Pimples, blackheads, blotches and such blemishes vanish before S.S.S. Boils, rashes and eczema dry right up. You take on the soft, radiant glow of health and feel younger all over.

Keep your skin clear with S. S. S. Keep your body strong—your nerves steady—your flesh firm and plump and your eyes sparkling. Take S. S. S.

Get it today at any druggist. And get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

HURT IN WRECK

Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Morton Injured Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Morton of 606 Sunset Drive were seriously injured in an automobile accident about 9 o'clock Thursday morning when the car in which they were riding overturned twice on the highway west of Electra. Pete Morton, their son, who was driving the car, was not injured.

The car was traveling between 35 and 40 miles an hour on the slippery pavement when it suddenly skidded and bounded to one side of the road, overturning twice and landed finally on the wheels, the driver said last night. The injured were given treatment in the Electra hospital and were later brought in a Hines ambulance to their home.

Mr. Morton is suffering from a fractured collar bone and bruises on the chest; Mrs. Morton was injured about the hips and bruised about the body.

CHARGES FILED.

W. A. Charlton, who gives Wichita Falls as his residence, was arrested at K. M. A. yesterday and brought to this city where charges of assault with a prohibitive weapon were filed against him by District Attorney Ben P. Allred. Charlton was placed in the county jail.

Charges against Charlton allege that he stopped a man on the road just outside the city and at the point of a pistol forced him to drive him to K. M. A. At the field he is alleged to have resisted arrest when a deputy confronted him.

TRIBUTE TO HOUDINI

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. (AP)—Broadway paid its last tribute today to Harry Houdini, the magician who died in Detroit last Sunday and his fellow magicians broke a wand and placed it on his coffin, a symbol of the passing of the master of legerdemain and showmanship.

Vapors stop Colds
VAPORS reach a cold directly because they are breathed right into the air passages and lungs. It is for this reason that Vicks VapoRub brings such quick relief. When rubbed over throat and chest at bedtime:—
It is vaporized by the body heat and inhaled, while you sleep, right to the affected parts, loosening the phlegm and easing the difficult breathing.
At the same time it acts through the skin (like a poultice or plaster) "drawing out" the pain and soreness.
Most colds yield by morning to this double action of Vicks.

Stops Chatter and Keeps The Motor Cool

When your clutch, reverse and brake bands slip and chatter, and your motor overheats, you are using the wrong oil.
The transmission bands are lubricated from the crank case by the same oil that is used in the motor. If the wrong oil is used, or if your oil is seriously diluted, these bands become oil-soaked, gummy and slick—and chattering and slipping result.
Use Flivolene—change the oil in your crank case every 500 miles—keep your transmission bands properly adjusted, and you will get the best service from your Ford at the least cost.
Flivolene is manufactured and guaranteed by the Humble Oil & Refining Company, refiners and marketers of the high-grade line of Humble Motor Oils. You can buy it wherever you see the Humble Signs.
