

Truman, Churchill Exchange Greetings

ICE HITS MISSOURI—Near Charleston, Mo., 35 consecutive telephone poles felled by a severe ice storm are typical of damage done to communications in Southeast Missouri and South Illinois by freezing rain and sleet. Called the worst ice storm in this area in 15 years, the weather has knocked out long distance telephone service in 20 cities.

Growing Bitterness, Name Calling, Mar Korean Truce Talks

MUNSAN, KOREA—(P)—Name-calling and growing bitterness marked the deadlocked Korean armistice talks Saturday. Still unsettled were the issues of truce supervision and prisoner exchange.

But the exasperated Allied delegates went to new sessions in Panmunjom at 11 a.m. Sunday.

A United Nations Command spokesman, obviously irked, told correspondents after Saturday's fruitless talks:

"If you could have seen the Communists at the meeting, you could have seen it was planned stupidity."

The spokesman, Lt. Col. Howard S. Lewis, added, "If given an explanation, they would come right back with the same statements that were exactly contrary to what had been said."

An official UN Command communiqué asserted that a repeated explanation of the Allied proposal for prisoner exchange and the Communist arguments that followed "indicated a misunderstanding was deliberate."

The Communists objected to all six items of the Allied proposal on exchange of prisoners, and ignored a request for immediate exchange of sick and seriously wounded prisoners.

Reds Still Unshaken

In an adjacent tent, Allied and Communist negotiators discussing truce supervision called each other "bandits" and angrily went over a wide field—including the history of American-Chinese relations.

The Reds remained unshaken in their insistence that they be permitted to hold a brief news conference.

Rising Costs Hit Poor Congressmen

WASHINGTON—(P)—Eating costs went up for congressmen Saturday.

Reopening after the Winter adjournment of Congress, the House Restaurant boosted the price of coffee from five to 10 cents a cup and a special luncheon from 75 to 90 cents.

The management said the price increases were made necessary by the recent general wage boost for government employees, estimated at $20,000 a year for the dining accommodations of the House of Representatives.

Alvey Bryant Seeks Reelection To Office

Alvey Bryant Saturday announced his candidacy for reelection as Midland County commissioner from Precinct 2, subject to the July 26 Democratic primary election.

Seeking his second term in the office, Bryant pointed out that a busy program of public improvements in all sections of the county has been undertaken and "it is my hope that I can help see them through to completion."

"I would like to thank all my friends for their support in the past," he said, "and I solicit the continued help of all the citizens of Midland County."

Well known as a stock farmer in the Greenwood Community, Bryant has been a resident of Midland County since 1924.

500 Or More Nabbed In Big Dope Roundup

WASHINGTON—(P)—A Narcotics Bureau official Saturday said sources supplying more than 18 million dollars worth of illicit dope yearly have been dried up in the biggest crackdown ever staged. It came in a series of raids across the nation during the last 36 hours.

N. L. Harney, assistant commissioner of the Treasury's Narcotics Bureau, estimated the more than 500 suspected peddlers who were seized have supplied 5,000 addicts.

He indicated that in some cities the shadowy drug underworld may be facing a "panic"—such a tight clampdown on dope supplies as to leave many addicts frantic. Hardened addicts suffer acutely if their supplies suddenly are cut off.

About 250 underworld federal agents, many of whom risked their lives to get evidence by posing as members of dope rings, continued the mop-up operation Saturday.

Harney said the drive and its followups ultimately may cut drug addiction about in half.

Toll Still Mounting
Narcotics Commissioner Harry J. Anslinger rested Saturday after directing the around-the-clock crackdown. Harney, No. 2 man in the drive, said the toll of seized suspects is mounting. But he had no specific toll.

The average addict, Harney said, spends about $10 a day to satisfy his craving for drugs. He estimated half of this money comes from criminal sources—raised by robbery, gambling, prostitution, or other rackets.

Harney said about one out of every 10 of an estimated 50,000 dope addicts in the country lost his source of supply in the current drive, aimed especially at peddlers who sell heroin and marijuana to teenagers.

The total U. S. illegal drug traffic is estimated at about 220 million dollars a year at the retail level.

Texas Arrests 93 Dope-Sale Suspects

By The Associated Press
At least 10 more persons were rounded up by federal and local officers in Texas Saturday—continuing the nationwide crackdown which has dealt a heavy blow to the country's narcotics traffic.

The simultaneous raids Friday and Saturday caught at least 93 suspected dope peddlers in Texas. The state's big cities were the targets for the clean-up, which brought in 37 persons in Houston, 27 in Dallas, 18 in San Antonio, eight in Galveston and three in Corpus Christi.

At Houston, 13 suspected narcotics dealers were arraigned Friday. Dallas police officials said that city's raids "the biggest single blow" ever struck at the illegal sale of marijuana. They said 95 per cent of the Dallas peddlers were behind bars.

Seven automobiles were seized in Houston's crackdown because the alleged sales of narcotics were transacted in the vehicles. Four women were among the arrested suspects.

Mrs. Ella Mitchell, 73, Dies Of Fall Injuries

Mrs. Ella K. Mitchell, 73, mother of Don Mitchell, principal of Midland High School, died Friday in a Midland hospital.

She had resided here with her son at 1105 East Pine Street about two months. She suffered serious injuries in a fall shortly after arriving in Midland.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday in the Compton Funeral Home at Waco. Interment will be in Rose Lawn Cemetery at Waco. Newell W. Ellis Chapel was in charge of arrangements here.

The body was forwarded to Waco Friday night.

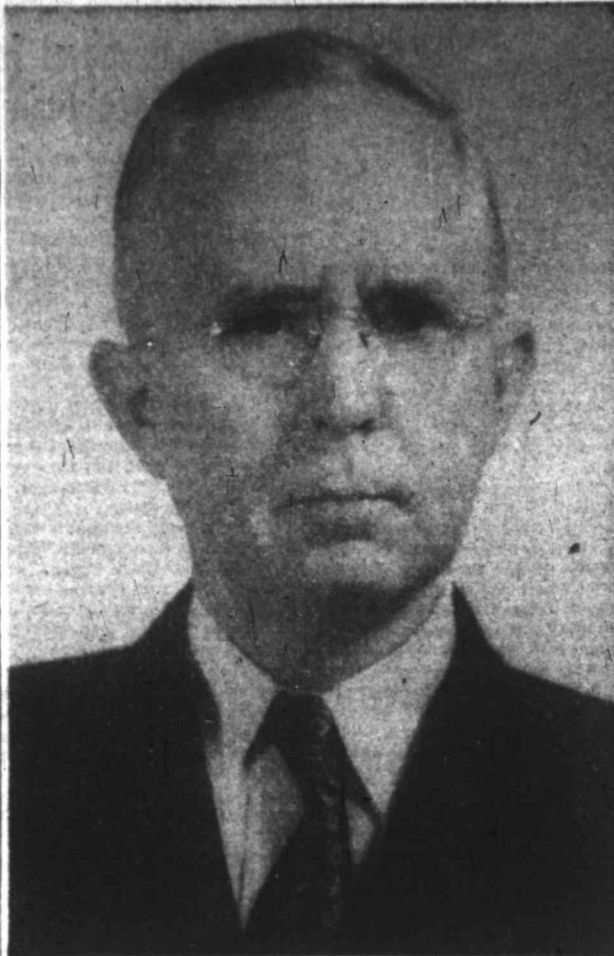

Survivors include three sons, Don of Midland, J. T. of Waco and M. D. of Dallas, and two sisters, Mrs. T. G. Strawn of Houston and Mrs. J. W. Boothe of Waco.

Marvin C. Ulmer

M. C. Ulmer, 65, Prominent Banker, Civic Leader, Dies

Marvin C. Ulmer, 65, prominent Midland banker, well-known West Texas civic leader and a former mayor of Midland, was found dead Saturday morning at his home, 111 North C Street, here. He had been a Midland resident since 1906.

Death was attributed to a heart ailment, from which he had suffered the last several months.

He was president and chairman of the board of The First National Bank of Midland and was well-known as Midland's "number one civic leader."

Mrs. Ulmer was in Vero Beach, Fla., at the time of his death, visiting a daughter, Mrs. Hugh Corrigan, III. Ulmer was alone in the residence. His body was found shortly after 9 a.m. Saturday by John Gard, a bank employee, who went to the Ulmer residence after Ulmer did not show up at the bank at his usual hour. A physician, who was summoned to the residence immediately, estimated Ulmer had been dead several hours when his body was found. Ulmer was to have left this week on a vacation trip to Florida.

Funeral Rites Monday
Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Monday in the First Methodist Church, with the Rev. R. Luther Kirk, pastor, and the Rev. Howard Hollowell of Dallas, a former pastor of the church here, officiating. Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery, under the direction of the Newell W. Ellis Chapel.

The First National Bank will be closed Monday.

Survivors include the widow, the former Helen Rountree whom he married here March 17, 1910; two daughters, Mrs. Barron Kidd of Dallas and Mrs. Corrigan of Vero Beach; a brother, Charles Ulmer of Midland; a sister, Mrs. G. W. (Continued On Page Three)

Crisp, Generally Fair Weather Due To Continue Sunday
By The Associated Press
The crisp and generally fair weather which has prevailed over Texas during the last two days is due to continue Sunday.

Temperatures Saturday afternoon ranged from 70 degrees at Junction to 35 at Amarillo. The coldest point in the state Saturday morning was Dalhart with a reading of four degrees.

Only Corpus Christi and Brownsville reported moisture Saturday. Light rains fell at both points. Except for the coastal area, clouds were high and thin over the state.

The forecast for Sunday is continued generally fair with no important change in temperatures. The lows early Sunday are expected to range from about 10 in the Panhandle to the mid-40's in the South Texas area.

British Boss Confident Of Peace In '52

WASHINGTON—(P)—Prime Minister Churchill and President Truman plunged briskly into a survey of world strategy Saturday after the British leader solemnly declared that Anglo-American teamwork can bring "salvation on earth to struggling mankind."

Bowed by his 77 years but as magnetic as ever, Churchill flew into Washington from New York at 12:28 p.m. to be welcomed warmly by Truman and his cabinet at National Airport.

In their exchange of greetings both emphasized their interest in assuring peace for the world.

"We have only to go along together," Churchill told the President, "each doing loyally his best to understand the other's point of view and the many differences in interest between our countries, and we shall find ourselves safe at the end of the road, and having—through your vast strength—brought peace and hope and salvation on earth to struggling mankind."

Truman declared, "I can't tell you when I have had more pleasure than I have this morning in welcoming you as a visitor to the United States of America."

He expressed the hope Churchill would enjoy the visit and that it will be "a satisfactory one," then went on:

"Great Britain and the Commonwealth and the United States are the closest of friends and you and I want to keep it that way, and I am sure that we will succeed in doing that."

Brief News Conference
When Churchill had responded, Truman added the remark, "Peace on earth is what we are both striving for."

The British prime minister had reached New York only a few hours earlier aboard the liner Queen Mary. There he stopped en route from the ship to the airport to hold a brief news conference.

JayCees To Launch Poll Tax Payment Campaign Saturday

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will kick off its annual campaign Saturday for the payment of 1952 poll taxes.

John Ferguson, chairman of the committee in charge of the drive said a breakfast will be held at 8:30 a.m. Saturday in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer.

"We are inviting representatives from all organizations as well as others to attend the breakfast and participate in the drive," said Ferguson.

"With city, county, state and national elections coming up, it is important that every citizen pay his poll tax this month so he will be eligible to vote."

County Tax Assessor-Collector J. M. Speed will be the principal speaker at the breakfast and will distribute application blanks to all those attending.

January 31 is the deadline for the payment of the tax.

Speed said Saturday only 1,600 of an estimated 10,000 poll tax receipts had been issued to date.

Four Aboard Crashed Transport Are Dead

FAIRBANKS, ALASKA—(P)—A Tenth Rescue Squadron helicopter landed on Chena Dome Saturday and radioed that all four men aboard a wrecked transport plane were dead.

The Transocean Air Line transport, crashed 30 miles east of here last Sunday night on a flight from Point Barrow, but the wreckage was not sighted until two days ago.

Earl Ray Announces For Commissioner Job

Earl Ray, 41-year-old stock farmer and merchant of Midland, Saturday announced as a candidate for the post of county commissioner from Precinct 1, subject to the July 26 Democratic primary election.

A native of Midland, Ray has lived here all his life and has followed closely the growth of the city and Midland County.

"I pledge all my efforts, if elected, to the job of building a bigger and better Midland and Midland County," he said, "and ask for the support of my many friends in this race."

All Of Texas Adopts Frail Tommie Yates

By MARTHA COLE
DALLAS—(P)—It seems the whole of Texas has adopted frail little Tommie Yates—a little four-year-old with big gray eyes who was beaten unconscious on Christmas Eve.

Tommie's mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dale Simpson, are being held in an undisclosed jail under charges of assault with intent to murder in his beating.

Police said Tommie had to sleep on the floor and was beaten when he kept trying to crawl onto the foot of the bed in his apartment home in Vernon.

He's lying in a big, clean white bed in Baylor Hospital now, no longer on the critical list.

His entire right side is paralyzed—brain damage, the two neurosurgeons on his case say, but they won't make any predictions. Tommie hasn't said a word since he was brought to a Dallas hospital the morning of December 27.

But he had a little crooked smile on the left side of his face Saturday when six photographers and two reporters traipsed into his room.

"C'mon, baby, smile—give a great big smile," said the nurse, Mrs. Pauline Kiles, floor supervisor.

Top-Sided Grin
Tommie cut those big gray eyes around at the photographer and gave the top-sided grin.

Tommie smiled for the photographers for 30 minutes. Twice he gave a faint "K-e-e-e" when he was particularly pleased.

Voters' Round-Up Week Proclaimed

AUSTIN—(P)—Gov. Allan Shivers gave the League of Women Voters a helping hand Saturday by proclaiming January 9-16 "Texas Voters' Round-Up Week."

The League of Women Voters—an organization that promotes interest in getting out the vote—will ride herd on the round-up activities, trying to brand every potential Texas voter with a poll tax. Foreman of the pay-your-poll-tax round-up is Mrs. Ed Kilman of Houston, state president of the league. Riding the range in search of maverick voters will be members of 29 local and provisional leagues throughout Texas.

Campus leagues will give coming-of-age parties for all 21-year-olds, who get their first vote free. Local leagues will assist in naturalization ceremonies and give "new voters" parties for these new citizens. Members deputized.

League members have been deputized by local tax assessor-collectors to sell poll taxes in downtown and neighborhood corral-booths, that is.

The League of Women Voters is non-partisan, using the slogan, "Vote As You Please, But Please Vote."

Governor Shivers commended the voters' round-up.

"The Texas citizen who fails to pay his poll tax by Jan. 1, 1952, cannot vote in the important local, state and national elections during the year and will not be eligible to participate in party conventions leading to the nomination of candidates for President," he observed.

Prospects Drab For More Meat

WASHINGTON—(P)—Contrary to hopes, the nation will get little more meat this year than it did in 1951—because of dwindling feed grain supplies—and prospects are even worse for 1953.

The Agriculture Department Friday estimated that reserves of such grains—corn, oats, barley, and grain sorghums—will drop to 18 million tons by next October 1. That is about 10 million tons below last October 1.

With feed scarce, farmers quit raising livestock. Hence, the department said, meat supplies are not expected to top last year's average 140 pounds per consumer and may go even lower in 1953.

Blaze Damages Midland Residence

Heavy damage to one bedroom was reported Friday afternoon when a fire broke out in the home of Frank Besoni at 1008 West Illinois Street.

Firemen reported the furniture and clothing in the one room were destroyed, but the blaze was kept from spreading to the rest of the house.

Origin of the blaze was not determined.

Georgian Proposes Quick Start On Partial UMT By Using 60,000 Volunteers

WASHINGTON—(P)—Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Armed Services Committee Saturday proposed a quick start on universal military training (UMT) by taking in volunteers between 17 and 19 years old.

He outlined a plan for "partial" UMT under which 60,000 youths would be permitted to volunteer for six months' training and an additional 18 months' active duty as reservists.

The proposal, he said in a statement, will be submitted to the Armed Services Committee, due to begin hearings January 15 on UMT legislation.

Congress last June approved the principle of UMT and set up a five-man commission to work out details. The commission has recommended a program that could involve 600,000 youths annually and cost an estimated four billion dollars a year, although it would start on a smaller scale.

Legislation Required

But Congress reserved to itself the right to set the program in motion. That cannot happen until it enacts new legislation setting up a code of conduct for trainees and provides for their health and welfare.

After Congress reconvenes next Tuesday, Senate and House Armed Services Committees have 45 days in which to recommend further legislation on the subject.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the Senate committee told a reporter Saturday the national election campaign may delay final legislation. Russell, a strong backer of UMT, said, "Let's not fool ourselves, the election campaign is not going to help a bit."

If the House committee approves Vinson's proposal, it will become part of its recommendation to the entire house.

As the program has been contemplated previously, UMT trainees would be called up through the Selective Service System, which now administers the draft.

But Vinson proposed to rely for a time on volunteers, saying that would give the nation a chance to evaluate "the entire concept of universal military training."

The Vinson proposal would allow a total of 60,000 youths to volunteer for the six months' training period, if they agreed to serve an additional 18 months of active duty. Not all that number would be taken at once. They also would be obligated for six more years in the reserves, as now required of draftees. As far as possible, volunteers could select their branch of service.

Schlitz Establishes World Sales Record

The Joseph Schlitz Brewing Company of Milwaukee announced Saturday that again in 1951 it established a new world record in sales.

Robert M. Minton, Midland dealer for Schlitz beer, said it was the fifth consecutive year the company had won top position in the entire brewing industry, not only in the United States, but the entire world. He said the company during 1951 sold approximately 5,700,000 barrels of beer.

Western Allies Map Counter-Proposal To Soviet 'Peace' Plan

PARIS—(P)—The Western powers Saturday mapped a counter-drive against a Russian proposal for a special UN Security Council meeting to consider the Korean armistice and other world dangers.

The West gave its support to a proposal calling for a top-level meeting of the Security Council to be held at the time the council considers such a session would do any good.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky has offered a resolution for a special meeting of the Security Council, with the first order of business to be consideration of the Korean armistice.

U. S. Delegate Benjamin Cohen declared such action might disrupt the armistice talks in Korea.

A number of delegations of the small countries, however, favor an attempt by the big powers to talk things over, and Vishinsky's proposal drew considerable support.

To meet the demands of the smaller countries, the proposal for a Security Council session of top importance whenever the council feels it would be the right time was drawn up. This is expected to be introduced in the 60-nation Political Committee of the assembly Monday by some of the 11 countries sponsoring a long resolution on collective measures against aggression.

"Delaying Tactic"

In debate Saturday, Manuel Trucco of Chile called Vishinsky's proposal for a council meeting a "delaying tactic" to another veto-free UN system of collective security.

Trucco said Russian actions since the Soviet Union signed the UN Charter at San Francisco showed the Russian signature was not "worth the ink with which it had been put down."

"Red disciples of Hitler," he declared, were trying to convince the world that the UN and not the Communists committed aggression in Korea.

Kuzma V. Kiselev, White Russia, replied that Trucco's statement was the speech of a "provincial orator at a county fair with fish barrels as a platform."

Jew Must Die For Aiding In Torture

TEL AVIV, ISRAEL—(P)—A Jewish court has sentenced a Jew to be hanged because he allegedly joined concentration camp Nazis in torturing camp prisoners during the war.

It was the first death sentence in Israel for a "crime against humanity." Yeheskel Ingster, 40, was the man sentenced.

The three judges of the Tel Aviv District Court, who passed sentence Friday, added a recommendation that Israel President Chaim Weizmann commute Ingster's sentence to life imprisonment because he is a one-legged cripple who is seriously ill.

Will Groucho Marry Again? He Gives Typical Marx Answer

By ESKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—On the Record: Groucho Marx, answering the will-you-marry-again question: "I contemplate remaining in the bachelor condition permanently, but this is subject to revision. I have no romantic interest. I'm a free soul—like Norma Shearer."

Patrice Wymore, on gossip about a rift with Errol Flynn: "I'm almost afraid to pick up the papers. It's been so long since people have said that we were separated or on the verge of divorce. I imagine it will start up again soon. This time, though, I'll know how to cope with it."

Robert Taylor, on the anti-Hollywood attitude of the British press: "Our actors don't keep their mouths shut. If you go abroad with the basic idea that you must not look down your nose at other people or talk about their politics, food and studios, you'll be all right."

"I go on the basis that I'm a guest in another country and keep my mouth shut. I've never had any big trouble in Europe."

Marilyn Monroe, on cheese-cake photography: "People ask me if it's distasteful to me. Far from it. Why, I get wonderful letters from the boys in Korea. They're so appreciative. One of them just wrote me, 'Don't bother with bathing suits and shorts. Just sit down wearing a sweater and a skirt. But lift the skirt a little.'"

His Favorite Co-Star

Robert Mitchum, about his favorite co-star, Jane Russell: "We want to keep working together, but we don't see why they can't give us something to say. Something important."

"Jane's an American institution. She has a great deal more to offer than has been used by Hollywood. And she's so much wiser than her critics, believe me."

Lili Palmer, revealing how she memorizes lines for TV and movies: "I learn my script while I'm under the dryer in the beauty parlor. I think the heat bakes it in."

Director Chuck Walters, on Judy Garland's hit at the Palace: "Love reflects love. People love Judy and for the first time she truly loves people. There's none of the fear and cringing away from people that Judy went through at one time. When Judy gives of herself, there's some of her blood on the film."

Katy Jurado, the Mexican fireball, on male sex: "One man can 'Ollie' me on radio. He says, 'Katy, you like men?' These are bees on me and see I love men. Should I love women? What are these?"

Marie Windsor, on the subject of romance: "Right now I'm at liberty. I'm not between pictures, but I'm between heart interests."

Alan Nixon, talking of his movie career: "Dis-associating myself from being Marie Wilson's husband helped my career more than anything else. Not that I wanted Marie to divorce me."

"But men marry women stars and something goes wrong. You fall into their shadow."

A New Profile?

Director Bud Boetticher, about Scott Brady: "Scott's going to be a great star. Aside from his ability, there's something fey about him. It's what Barrymore had."

"We went to a sneak of our picture, 'Bronco Buster'. Two little girls rushed up and said, 'Will you give us your autograph, Mr. Brady?' Scott said, 'I'll give you more than that. I'll give you the shirt off my back.' He took off his shirt, ripped it into two pieces, autographed each part and gave half the shirt to each girl.

"I was embarrassed as heck, but I have a great respect for an actor who has this wonderful quality."

Marilyn Buford, former Miss America, on becoming a star in Italy: "I'm a star, but the Italian public has never heard my voice. It's always dubbed in later by an Italian actress. Very few English stars speak their own dialogue in Italian movies. Magnani and Ingrid Bergman are exceptions."

Ethel Waters, on her zooming career: "I left Hollywood in 1948 like a lamb. The wolf had me. It was starvation. Now I'm coming in like a lion."

Byrd Cites Gains In Federal Jobs

WASHINGTON—(P)—Senator Byrd (D-Va) Saturday said total civilian employment by the federal government climbed to 2,503,070 persons in November, a gain of 4,951 over the previous month.

Additional industrial employees (blue-collar workers) in the military establishment caused the gain, the Joint Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures reported. Byrd is the committee's chairman.

Byrd said military agencies employed 1,741,187 in November, the latest month checked, and civilian agencies 1,228,883.

He said there was a decline in classified (white-collar) workers in civilian agencies except in the Post Office Department during the Christmas rush.

Dub Phillips Named Top RCA Bulldogger

DENVER—(P)—Two Texas rodeo performers held national titles Saturday.

A Smithville, Texas, roper, Don McLaughlin, was judged calf-roping champion Friday by the Rodeo Cowboys' Association, and Dub Phillips of San Angelo won the bulldogging championship.

The point award system—based on 327 rodeos—gave the all-around champion cowboy title to Casey Tibbs of Fort Pierre, S. D.

Tibbs, RCA said, amassed a total of 29,104 points, a point for each dollar earned.

Phillips' and McLaughlin's earnings were not announced. Jim Shoulders of Henryetta, Okla., was runner-up to Tibbs for the all-around cowboy title, with Bill Linderman of Red Lodge, Mont., third.

Everett Shaw of Stonewall, Okla., was named steer-roping champion.

Stay-Put Carlsen Rides Toward Port On Broken Vessel

LONDON—(P)—"Stay-put Carlsen" was on his way to port Saturday night, riding his hurricane-broken ship behind a rescue tug and "feeling like a million."

There was a gentle breeze from the west-northwest, once angry Atlantic was almost calm, the barometer rising and the French tug Abeille 25 was standing off 1,000 yards astern in case any thing went wrong.

At 9:37 a.m., Capt. Kurt Carlsen secured a 20-inch tow line from the churning tug Turnoll to the slanting bow of his freighter, the Flying Enterprise.

Then he began the long trip—perhaps the last leg in his epic of the sea—to Falmouth Harbor, England, 320 miles and four days away.

The Turnoll hauled her charge along at a crawl of three and a half land miles an hour, and may take until late Tuesday to reach port.

The 37-year-old Woodbridge, N. J. captain had the company of Kenneth Dancy, 27, mate of the Turnoll, who snatched a dangling line as the tug passed and made a life-or-death leap to the listing ship late Friday.

Headed For Honors

This was the sixth day after the captain began his lonely vigil far in the hurricane-lashed Atlantic, determined to uphold the traditions of the sea and save his two and a half-million-dollar ship and cargo from any possibility of becoming a derelict prize.

The 40 crewmen and 10 passengers, who jumped into the sea at his orders on December 29, all were picked up by rescue vessels, save one crewman, whose body was recovered.

Once the Danish-born Carlsen reaches port he was in for a round of honors. Danish Merchant Navy officers petitioned sea-loving King Frederick to decorate "Captain Courageous." The town council of his birthplace, Hillerød, resolved to send him a congratulatory message.

His Danish parents flew to England to be on hand for a celebration. British seamen planned to give him an official welcome when he steps ashore.

Sends Two Messages

Once his ship was safely in tow, Carlsen sent two messages, relayed by Cmdr. Leslie J. O'Brien, Jr., of Jonesboro, Ark., skipper of the destroyer Willard Keith, to The Associated Press.

One addressed to his wife and two children in Woodbridge, said: "Dear Agnes and children: Very happy to hear from you. Will contact you on telephone as soon as possible. Love, Kurt."

The other, to the owner of the Flying Enterprise, the Isbrandtsen Line of New York, said: "Now under tow by Turnoll, Carlsen."

Through a battery radio he had rigged up in the cabin, Carlsen has been in communication with the relay of Navy vessels that have stood by.

The latest message said Carlsen received a fresh pot of coffee from the destroyer and was "feeling like a million."

He caught a nap after the connection with the 4,000-horsepower tug was made, and then braced himself on the slanting forward deck and watched and listened for signs of strain in the towing gear and in the hull of the 6,711-ton ship.

Weather Still Key

Each groan of the ship's plates had a special meaning for him. The Enterprise had a list which ranged from 60 to 70 degrees, almost heeled over on her side.

She was cracked across her midline and Capt. "Dapper" Dan Parker of the Turnoll had the heavy responsibility of not over-straining the tow line. Like Carlsen and Dancy, he was watching the cable and the weather and keeping his fingers crossed.

Seamen explained that "with her head down and with her enormous list, the Flying Enterprise has a tendency to yaw"—swinging sideways. Much yawing would strain the towing gear.

The weather still was the key. A sudden change for the worse might increase the yawing tendency and force Parker to alter course to another port.

However, Carlsen expressed his determination to ride his ship all the way.

Please Claim Your Pets, SPCA Urges

An urgent plea for persons whose dogs are missing to claim them at the Animal Shelter, 1782 East Wall Street, near the Carver School, was sounded late Saturday by officials of the SPCA, who said the shelter is overcrowded with dogs, many of them fine animals.

"And it is cold out there at the shelter, too," they stated.

Many of the dogs have collars and tags. They are of various breeds.

The shelter also has all kinds of homeless dogs and puppies to give away, according to the SPCA members.

"But the important thing right now is for the owners to claim their pets," they declared.

Stephenson Rites Stated At Blackwell, Interment At Stanton

STANTON—Funeral services for W. V. Stephenson, 44, of Blackwell, a former principal of the Stanton High School, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Sunday in the First Baptist Church at Blackwell, with interment to be held at 5 p.m. Sunday in the Evergreen Cemetery here, Jack Arrington of the Arrington Funeral Home said Saturday.

Stephenson, superintendent of Blackwell schools, died Friday night in a Sweetwater hospital as a result of injuries received Wednesday in an automobile accident near Sweetwater. One other person was killed in the two-car crash.

on the tables in his room—were toys folks had sent him. Polka dot clown, airplanes, cars, a gumdrop tree. Right beside him was a fat, pink piggy bank about a foot high.

"Oh, I just picked it up for him," said Harry Boggs, a big, husky man who works down in oxygen therapy at the hospital. "Had $2.50 in it before I got it up to his room."

The photographers and reporters slipped some money in that piggy bank, too, when they thought nobody was looking. As they were leaving, one of the hospital officials went over to the bed, leaned over the guard rail and wound up a toy dog that started tinkling a lullaby. "Put the baby to sleep, now," the official whispered.

Tommie can't have outside visitors yet, but Baylor Hospital gets scores of calls and letters every day from people all over Texas wanting to send money, to adopt Tommie or help some way.

Up in Vernon, Tommie's hometown, County Judge A. D. Green is the trustee of the Tommie Yates Fund—almost $100 now, with dollar bills coming in in ones and twos from folks all over Texas.

The grand jury meeting Tuesday will consider the assault charges. There's also a suit against the parents to show why they should continue to have parental custody. It's been postponed indefinitely.

"The people in Vernon will do anything for that child. It just seems as if they've adopted him as their own child. It seems the whole of Texas has adopted that child."

member and former chairman of the Board of Stewards of the First Methodist Church. He long had been affiliated actively with Masonic orders, and had served numerous other civic and service groups of the city and area. He numbered his friends by the hundreds.

His year-end talks on business and economic conditions before civic and service groups long had been popular here and in other West Texas cities.

Back in 1938 when the need for additional office space to house oil company offices moving to Midland became apparent, Ulmer recommended to his directors that the bank erect a new and modern office building to assist in taking care of the situation. The recommendation met with unanimous approval, and in 1939 the new eight-story First National Bank Building was completed. It was Midland's first completely air-conditioned office building.

'Conservative Optimist'

Some 13 years previously, when the first oil company to open district offices here needed dwellings in which to house employees, it was Marvin Ulmer who sponsored the construction of the needed houses.

He also had a leading part in the erection of the nine-story Midland Tower in 1946.

He served as general chairman of the successful fund-raising campaign to finance the construction of the 100-bed Midland Memorial Hospital.

He had helped many successful business men of today get their start in business here in earlier years.

Although Ulmer shortened his working hours somewhat following an illness early last year, he continued to spend several hours a day at his desk, seeing customers and friends. It was almost five o'clock when he left the bank Friday afternoon.

He termed himself a "conservative optimist," and friends said he had far more vision and foresight than the average business man.

A West Texas booster, he was a firm believer in what helps Texas helps every city in the territory.

THE NAVY PLUGS AWAY—While Korea talks grab the news spotlight, you don't hear much about the Navy's "war," but, as the picture above proves, the Navy is still very much on the scene. The Navy's ability to apply pressure to the enemy's rear is an Allied bargaining point at the Panmunjom truce conference.

Wholesale Price Index Dips Slightly

WASHINGTON—(P)—The wholesale price index dropped one-tenth of one per cent during the week ended January 1, the Bureau of Labor statistics said Saturday.

The index, 177.2 per cent of the 1926 average, was 0.4 per cent below the level a year ago but 12.9 per cent above the average for the pre-Korean period (May 24-June 25, 1950).

Senator McCarthy Reveals Loyalty Review Board Rap At State Department Program

WASHINGTON—(P)—Excerpts from minutes of a Loyalty Review Board meeting last February, made available Saturday by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.), disclosed sharp criticism of the State Department's handling of its employee loyalty program.

One member of the board, Garrett Hoag of Boston, said the program in the State Department had been "completely ineffective." The State Department, he said, had the "remarkable record of never having fired anybody" on loyalty grounds.

The minutes also showed Board Chairman Hiram Bingham said he had called the situation to the attention of Secretary of State Acheson just a few days earlier and felt it would be taken care of.

Bingham told a reporter he "would prefer not to make any comment" on the situation. He said he is under instructions from the Civil Service Commission not to talk about operation of the loyalty program in the various government departments.

In making parts of the minutes of the Loyalty Review Board's meetings on Feb. 13-14, 1951, available to newsmen, McCarthy said he vouched for their authenticity. He did not say how he obtained them.

Bingham, noting that minutes of the board's meetings are confidential, said, "I can't imagine how anyone could have got hold of them" except possibly from one of the 25 board members.

Bingham has accused the State Department of harboring Communists and Red sympathizers. The Democratic majority of a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee, after a lengthy investigation in 1950, dismissed his charges as "a fraud and a hoax." McCarthy retorted that the probe was a "whitewash."

MEN AND WOMEN TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Just ask your druggist for four ounces of liquid Barconate. Pour into pint bottle. Add 12 ounces of grapefruit juice. Then take just 2 tablespoonsful twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to reduce, return the empty bottle for your money back. Year after year this amazing product increases in popularity. Over four million bottles sold in Texas in eight years. After you have tried the starvation way with vitamins to fortify you against weakness, why not try the safe, sure, Barconate way? You won't know a hungry moment, reducing with Barconate.

LOST 42 POUNDS

"I have lost 42 pounds taking Barconate and am well satisfied with results. I weighed 285 pounds when I started and now weigh 243. I am continuing to take it until I get down to 180 pounds."—S. L. Winton, Box 3648, Odessa, Texas.

23 POUNDS LOST

"I would like to tell you that I think Barconate is wonderful," writes Mrs. E. W. Horton, Route 5, Longview, Texas. "I have lost from 172 to 149. I have so much more energy since taking Barconate and feel more like doing my work. In fact it makes me feel like a new person. Thank you for a wonderful medicine."

Nature Heaves A Snowman

Snow—or moisture of any kind for that matter—certainly hasn't hampered normal activities in West Texas this winter, but that situation does not hold in other sections.

In some of the nation's key cities, snow—the lovely white stuff which does so much for Christmas—isn't doing much good for man or beast.

Look at Chicago, for instance. Chicagoans have watched upwards of 30 inches of snow descend upon them in recent weeks, and most of it is still on the ground. Altogether they've had almost 50 inches since the season began.

The transportation officials are fed up. They've spent $600,000 already in trying to keep buses and street cars rolling, but it's been largely a losing battle. Marooned automobiles block plowing efforts in many spots. Side streets are a bold adventure to any motorist. Hardly a one does not echo continually the whine of spinning tires trapped in churned-up drifts.

Snow removal authorities complain they can't find places to dump the snow they strip from the streets. The usual dumping grounds are loaded, and there's little melting to make room for more.

The thick mantle almost has smothered the city's normal doings. Countless business and social engagements haven't come off. Industry and commerce are slowed. The filling station proprietors are muttering about the 20 to 25 per cent drop in gasoline sales.

Things are no better in Detroit, another industrial whopper. Some 32 inches has been the city's total snowfall since November 1. Virtually all of that fell in a two-week period. Weather officials can't remember a worse winter in the 52-year-old history of Detroit's Weather Bureau.

A motor manufacturer laid 6,000 men off their jobs recently because trains and trucks hampered by snow couldn't keep the plant supplied with parts. Elsewhere in the city, it was like the Chicago story in main details.

Cities like Chicago and Detroit couldn't keep enough snow-removal equipment on hand to deal forcefully with nature when she is in so abundant a mood. So they stay half immobilized for days, possibly weeks, waiting for a warm sun to do what men in all their technical glory seem unable to do.

Anyone who has been in a giant metropolis when the snow was piled high can grasp what a feeling of helplessness grips the city which is weighted with such a burden. Human values are altered, too. What seemed important in a time of clear streets suddenly appears much less so in an hour of urban paralysis. The simplest acts of getting about become major enterprises. Life is measured in terms of only the most elemental necessities.

It all seems rather strange to West Texans, doesn't it? Actually, it is a lack of snow that is disrupting some normal activities in this area.

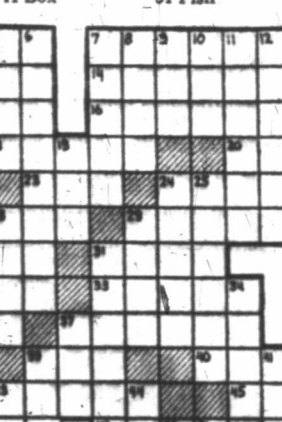

Most West Texans would relish the idea of tossing a few snowballs themselves right now.

State Of The Union

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1952, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: General Electric's Charles E. Wilson has showdown with General Motors' Charles E. Wilson; Tycoons battle over scarce copper, steel and aluminum; Detroit unemployment worries Washington.

WASHINGTON—What Mobilizer boss Charles E. Wilson, former head of General Electric, said behind closed doors to Charles E. Wilson, head of General Motors, wasn't meant to be published. However, it was some of the bluntest talking ever heard in Washington.

Both are Horatio Alger products of American industry, having come up from the bottom to become production geniuses and the heads of their giant industries.

However, General Electric's Charles E. Wilson now sits on the government side of the production problem, and last week bumped heads with General Motors' Charles E. Wilson over how many automobiles should be built in 1952.

Wilson and other motor moguls had come to Washington to protest a drastic slash in production that would cut the 1952 output of new cars in half after April. General Motors' Wilson was most vocal.

"The government has taken enough steel and copper from the automobile industry alone to fill all defense needs," he said, charging that GE's Wilson had discriminated against automobiles.

"We can easily prove that charge is unfounded," shot back Mobilizer Wilson. "Nobody in his right mind with any sense of fairness would say that. Discrimination against the automobile industry is the last thing we contemplate."

General Electric's Wilson pointed out that construction, both for defense and essential civilian needs, was eating up most of the strategic materials.

"I wish some of us had a magic wand," he sighed, "because when you have too little, you wind up by not satisfying practically anyone." Automobile-Man Wilson then quoted steel statistics to show that the railroad and oil industry would be increased one-third at the same time that the auto industry is to be cut one-third.

Autos Vs. Military
Production Chief Manly Fleischmann explained, however, that the primary shortage was not steel, but copper and aluminum.

"I will not say that the way the automobile industry had to be handled was fair, just essential," he added. "We have been acting on the basis that automobiles are less essential than military or industrial expansion."

Fleischmann pointed out that the automobile industry had received "far more fair treatment" than any comparable industry, because a sudden automobile shutdown would have thrown thousands out of work.

After the first angry outbursts, the two Wilsons cooled down, and Mobilizer Wilson cheerfully referred to his namesake as "The Good Wilson." However, the mobilization boss grew exasperated at Mayor Albert Cobo of Detroit, when he persisted in going into a lengthy report on Detroit's fiscal problems.

Wilson tried politely to shut him up, then gave up and listened courteously. However, United Auto Workers' boss Walter Reuther, after squirming in his chair, broke in impatiently: "Don't you think we had better get back to the issues?"

"What the hell do you want me to do?" snapped the mobilizer, "insult the mayor?"

The red-faced mayor abruptly ended his speech, thus giving Reuther a chance to complain that the automobile industry was opening new factories distant from the Detroit reservoir of workers.

He cited several examples, including a Chrysler tank-engine plant in New Orleans.

Governor Williams Objects
Mobilizer Wilson explained this was a World War II plant, and added: "The taxpayers have a $100,000,000 investment in that plant."

He meant to say "investment," and hastily corrected himself.

"There certainly would have been an investigation if we hadn't used that plant," he laughed.

Michigan's Gov. Mennen "Soapy" Williams pointed out, however, that the automobile industry supposedly got steel and copper priorities to relieve unemployment in Detroit, then used the priorities in out-of-town plants, such as Chicago, New Orleans, and Newark.

Munitions Board Chairman Jack Small shrugged that it was "up to the companies" where they produced their automobiles.

"Well, if you are going to put work in Detroit, I don't think you ought to give us weasel words," blurted Williams.

"I am not a weasel," snapped Small, his face flushed.

"It looks to me as if you were," shot back the governor.

Senator Moody Scores
The only other clash was between Michigan's Senator Blair Moody and Ford Motor Company's executive vice president, Ernest Breech. The Ford executive had prepared a press release, accusing Moody of "playing politics" by criticizing the automobile industry for not utilizing its full facilities for defense.

"Grace yourself, Blair," warned Breech, and he gave the closed-door meeting a preview of his attack on Moody.

Bristling, the Michigan senator replied: "Mr. Edgar Kaiser is here. He told me he could step up the production of C-119's (cargo planes) four times by using tools that he had available. Is that right, Edgar?"

"It certainly is," admitted the Kaiser-Frazer executive.

PONCA CITY, OKLA.—Four tribes of Indians Saturday began a funeral feast for Col. Zack T. Miller. The tribal custom will last through Colonel Miller's funeral, set at 2 p.m. Sunday at the 101 Ranch, near here.

Miller died Thursday at Waco after a long illness. Interment will be at Cowboy Hill, the site of the annual meeting of the Cherokee Strip Cowboys Association, an organization Miller founded.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand, one of the nearest I have seen for some time, was played by Eddie Goldblum of New Orleans. He succeeded in making a difficult contract by forcing the opponents to take two winning cards on the same trick.

There was nothing timid about anybody's bidding, but the contract was reasonable enough. If the spades break normally, South loses one spade, one diamond, and one heart (if he guesses correctly).

South won the first trick with the ace of clubs and returned the king of spades. East's discard of a club made it clear that West had two natural trump tricks. Now it looked as though South would lose two spades, a heart and a diamond.

There was, of course, the chance that the diamonds would break 2-2, but there was no need to rely on this. Goldblum, whose king of spades had been allowed to hold, continued with the queen of spades, and West won with the ace.

West continued the clubs, and South ruffed with the three. Declarer had already seen the ace of spades and the king of clubs appear from the West hand, and he decided that West was unlikely to have the ace of hearts in view of his original pass. He therefore led a heart and finessed dummy's jack.

East won with the ace of hearts and led a third round of clubs. South ruffed with the seven of spades. Declarer next took the jack and ten of spades followed by the king of diamonds. When he then led a low diamond toward dummy, West was "fixed."

If West ruffed, dummy would play a low diamond—and West would get only South's losing diamond for his high trump. West actually discarded a heart. Thereupon declarer took the ace of diamonds and the king of hearts, followed by a heart ruff with his last trump. This was his tenth trick, and the opponents won the last trick doubly with a high trump and a high diamond!

Wilson reiterated that the real bottleneck was the copper shortage. However, Vance charged that the military were overstating their requirements.

"I am almost sure," agreed Wilson of General Motors, "that a lot of copper is going into inventory."

"The military gets its requirements from you. The basic figures come from the industry," broke in Munitions Chairman Small.

Mobilizer Wilson finally agreed (1) to treat Detroit as an emergency area, and give preferred treatment to contracts that will help relieve Detroit's unemployment; and (2) to set up a special task force to study auto production and industry unemployment.

Auto-Union boss Walter Reuther offered to be "the proletarian window-dressing for this task force."

"You are the biggest business I know," quipped Mobilizer Wilson. And the meeting broke up with a laugh.

JENNET snapped off the switch that controlled her blanket, swung herself out of the bed, and pressed the wall button which would ring in the kitchen, thus informing Ingrid that she would soon be ready for her breakfast tray. This morning the button-pushing embarrassed her, pointed up the pampered purposelessness of her existence.

She brushed her teeth dutifully. There was a rap at the door.

"Your breakfast is served, Mrs. Logan."

Ingrid entered with the tray. "The doctor is in bed this morning," she told Jenet. "He has a little cold."

"He has? A cold?" Jenet's hand froze to the cup. "Oh, heavens, you should have called me. Is it a bad one? I'll get him some aureocaine and some . . ."

She started up, and then sat down again, reminding herself of Dr. Flynn's edict: "No over-solicitousness. Be casual about slight disturbances. Don't let him get the idea he's an invalid."

"No," she said aloud. "I'll finish my breakfast first."

"Why, sure," Ingrid agreed. "The doctor is fine. I gave him orange juice and cowmilk and English muffins with poached eggs. Two cups of coffee. Ate all that he can't be very sick. He's reading the paper."

JENNET smiled, comforted by the orderly picture Ingrid painted. It was hard to praise Jenet directly; instead she joked, "Ingrid, I think I see canary feathers on your mouth!"

Germany Holds Master Key To Europe's 1952 Prospects

By FETTER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—There is an old superstition in Europe that the odd years are good years, the even years bad. Certainly European crops were better in 1951 than the year before. And more progress was made towards European economic recovery, defense against communism and political stability.

The outlook for 1952 is not, however, generally held to be bad by European experts. Key to the whole situation is Germany. And on everything except the unification of the western Federal Republic of Germany with the Soviet zone of East Germany, American officials are of the opinion many of the outstanding German problems may be settled within the next six months.

There are two main problems. First is agreement on the European army idea so strongly backed by Gen. Dwight Eisenhower. This now is believed so near solution that it can be ratified by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council meeting in Lisbon, Portugal, beginning February 2.

Second major task is completion and ratification of the new "contractual relationship" between Western Germany and the United States, Britain and France. For all practical purposes this amounts to the conclusion of a peace treaty with the Federal Republic of Germany.

Terms of this peace contract now are being negotiated in Paris by representatives of the four countries in what is known as the "umbrella agreement." If the drafts are completed early in 1952, final approval of all four governments is hoped for by June. That is the target date, at any rate.

Some Take Optimistic View
Obstacles to these two major achievements now are considered so much in the nature of routine details there is little doubt about their satisfactory solution. In fact, some American officials now are so optimistic over the outcome they regard the much larger Federation of Western Europe—intended to follow the new contractual relationship with Germany—as being in existence and in progress right now.

The remarkable thing about this is that Germany and France line up in closer agreement than any of the other Western European powers. German government officials led by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer all are for the European Federation. The French appear so disturbed by any alternative plans that they support the Federation. Italy is for it. Britain seems to be supporting the idea although not joining it.

First steps towards the political Federation of Western Europe is to obtain agreement on the European army. The problem here is not just how to organize divisions and command them. It involves the larger issues of how this European army is to be used.

Will the half-dozen countries in the Federation agree to go to war or not to go to war on a majority vote? How will procurement of arms for the European army be handled by a central office, with authority to place contracts where most advantageous? How can the Federation member governments be committed in advance to provide the necessary funds for a common European military budget?

Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg, with somewhat higher living standards and higher pay for their armed services, now are holding back on full surrender of their national authority over their troops. But they are having a hard time explaining their position to the other governments.

The foreign ministers of the Western European countries have been meeting in Paris over the holidays to try to iron out their differences of opinion. If they succeed by January 15 or 30, there is hope that agreement on the European army can be ratified by the NATO council in Lisbon in February.

This will by no means put the European army in being. The plan first must be ratified by parliaments of the six governments.

But the fact that the Schuman plan for integration of Western European coal and steel production was ratified by the French Parliament, 377 to 233, is taken as an indication that the European army plan also will be ratified by France. The Schuman plan goes before the West German Bundestag January 8. Present expectations are that it will be ratified by from 40 to 100 votes. This will indicate how Germany may vote on the European army plan.

Q—What President initiated the custom of transacting business while traveling by rail?
A—Woodrow Wilson, on September 3, 1919, inaugurated the new general practice of transacting White House business in an office car on a presidential train.

Q—When did Soviet Russia declare war on Japan in World War II?
A—On August 8, 1945, just six days before Japan surrendered.

Q—Why is Delaware nicknamed the "Diamond State"?
A—From the fact that it is small in size, but great in importance.

Q—In the Great Seal of the United States, which party typifies the states of the Union?
A—The stripes of the escutcheon on the breast of the eagle represent the states all joined in one entity.

Q—Where is the cypress tree known as the "Tree of Sorrowful Night"?
A—in Mexico City. Under its boughs, in 1520, Cortes paused to mourn the crushing defeat the Spanish had suffered in the New World.

Q—At a party you notice that a friend has a run in her stocking. WRONG! Tell her about it. RIGHT! Don't mention it. If it were something she could do something about it would be kind to tell her. Since she can't it is more considerate to appear not to notice it.

Dr. Logan's Wife

By Diana Gaines

JENNET snapped off the switch that controlled her blanket, swung herself out of the bed, and pressed the wall button which would ring in the kitchen, thus informing Ingrid that she would soon be ready for her breakfast tray. This morning the button-pushing embarrassed her, pointed up the pampered purposelessness of her existence.

She brushed her teeth dutifully. There was a rap at the door.

"Your breakfast is served, Mrs. Logan."

Ingrid entered with the tray. "The doctor is in bed this morning," she told Jenet. "He has a little cold."

"He has? A cold?" Jenet's hand froze to the cup. "Oh, heavens, you should have called me. Is it a bad one? I'll get him some aureocaine and some . . ."

She started up, and then sat down again, reminding herself of Dr. Flynn's edict: "No over-solicitousness. Be casual about slight disturbances. Don't let him get the idea he's an invalid."

"No," she said aloud. "I'll finish my breakfast first."

"Why, sure," Ingrid agreed. "The doctor is fine. I gave him orange juice and cowmilk and English muffins with poached eggs. Two cups of coffee. Ate all that he can't be very sick. He's reading the paper."

JENNET smiled, comforted by the orderly picture Ingrid painted. It was hard to praise Jenet directly; instead she joked, "Ingrid, I think I see canary feathers on your mouth!"

Culberson Declines Imports As Growing Menace To Industry

AUSTIN—(P)—The chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission Saturday declined foreign oil imports as a "growing menace" and expressed fear domestic producers in Texas will have a hard time staying in business.

Chairman Olin Culberson sounded these pessimistic notes in a prepared statement surveying the oil picture in 1951 and looking forward to 1952. "While the oil industry has had phenomenal prosperity as well as growth the last year, and although those who attempt to predict the future demands have prophesied greatly increased need of additional production, it might be well to give sober consideration to some factors that might seriously effect the domestic oil picture of the United States, and especially of Texas, in the coming year," Culberson warned. Cites PAD Figures

"The growing menace of foreign imports bids fair to materially cut into our domestic demand," he asserted.

He backed this statement by pointing to the expectation of the Petroleum Administration for Defense that imports will increase to 931,000 barrels daily in 1952 while exports of U. S. oil will be reduced by 117,000 barrels daily.

Culberson said PAD anticipates only a four per cent increase in the drilling program in the United States during 1952. At the same time, he said, there is an indicated increase of 100 per cent in drilling operations of the Middle East (Saudi Arabia, Kuwait-Iraq and others), 250 per cent in Venezuela, 120 per cent in Mexico, and 50 per cent in Canada.

Freed Flier Has Late Christmas With Youngsters

GLENS FALLS, N. Y.—(P)—Two sleepy youngsters early Saturday gave their father, Capt. John J. Swift, the Merry Christmas he missed in a Hungarian prison.

The Air Force pilot, who with three companions was "ransomed" by the United States government recently, arrived home late Friday night with his wife, Jane Ann. They had been in Syracuse, where Swift's father died Thursday night.

Swift saw their 11-week-old son, David, for the first time. And their five-year-old daughter, Leslie, was awakened for the family reunion in this upstate New York community.

"Leslie was kind of sleepy. I almost had to coax her a little to look at me," Swift said.

Leslie stepped into Santa Claus' shoes and brought gifts from the Christmas tree to her father.

"I had to keep the tree up so my daddy could see it when he got home," she explained.

Asked how he had spent Christmas in prison, Swift said he had lost track of the days and didn't realize it was Christmas until church bells rang.

EL PASO—(P)—Four Air Force men involved in a crash of a Flypa Boxcar near Hachita, N. M., Friday were brought to Biggs Air Force Base here Saturday.

The plane, a C-119, lost an engine while still in the air and crashed on a ranch. None was injured seriously.

The men, veterans of Korea, were enroute from Travis Air Force Base, Calif., to Nashville, Tenn.

T Sgt. Bob L. Molbee of Nashville suffered cuts and bruises and was the most seriously shaken up of the four. The others were Lt. Thomas E. Shaffmaster, the pilot, of Coldwater, Mich.; Lt. John K. Campbell, co-pilot, Knoxville, Tenn.; and S Sgt. F. R. Minns, Murfreesboro, Tenn.

SAVED BY SCRIPTURE—Lt. Richard P. Cassity of Charleston, W. Va., above, says he owes his life to the pocket Bible which he carried in a shirt pocket over his heart while fighting in Korea. Mittie, his black, three-month-old cocker spaniel pet, is missing. Young Bobby is greatly upset over this.

The dog is wearing a harness and is tagged.

Any Midlander finding Mittie would be doing a very sick boy a great favor by returning the animal to the Spaws at 701 North D Street or to Midland Memorial Hospital.

British Clothing Journal Pictures Harry Truman Wearing Derby, Carrying Umbrella

LONDON—(P)—A British clothing journal kered Harry S. Truman Saturday to come on over and get himself properly dressed—like an English gentleman.

The Journal even faked some pictures to show how he would look when the London tailors got through with him.

And brother, wait'll they see him back home in Independence, Mo.—especially in that outfit with the derby and rolled umbrella.

The Journal, Cloth and Clothing, said it would be "quite easy to be rude" about Truman's present taste in haberdashery, and said he was "the worst dressed man in Madame Tussaud's Wax Works."

The wax works is a museum where wax figures of contemporary and historical interest are put on display.

One of the Journal's composite photographs of the ideal Truman shows him garbed as an English squire, in a sports jacket, breeches and riding boots.

Another depicts him in a dark, double-breasted suit, with bowler hat, holding gloves and a rolled umbrella.

"Rather too informal," Berkeley went on, "his jacket sleeves are too long."

"Probably, for a president, he is rather too informal in his choice of dress."

"Often he wears clothes of too big a contrast—dark overcoats with light suits and hats, for instance."

And his cravats? "His neckwear, I feel, is flamboyant, particularly those bow ties, which tend to shorten the neck."

"Mr. Truman's neck," Berkeley concluded, "is rather short already."

Argument Costs Little Woman $100, License To Drive

An argument with her husband cost a Midland woman $100 in cash as well as her drivers license for six months.

She was arrested Friday night on West Illinois Street by Police Lt. Chester Sprague after her automobile had collided with another.

"I was pretty upset," she told County Judge Clifford G. Keith Saturday as she pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

"My husband and I had had an argument and I was just driving around listening to the radio."

Judge Keith fined her $100 and costs and ordered her drivers license suspended for six months.

Most Of Nation Gets Relief From Severe Weather

By The Associated Press

Much of the nation enjoyed a breathing spell Saturday from Winter's polar punches.

Sleet, snow and cold, however, pestered scattered sections of the North.

The mercury dipped below zero in Northern Montana, North Dakota and Maine. Snow fell in Northern New England, the Northern Appalachians, the northern sections of Minnesota, Wisconsin and North Dakota, and Western Montana.

Rain doused sections of Georgia and Alabama and the Atlantic coast from North Carolina to Southern New England.

A snow storm blew itself out after dumping from four to six inches of snow in parts of the Midwest.

Britain Ratifies Japanese Treaty

LONDON—(P)—The Foreign Office announced Saturday that Britain has ratified the Japanese Peace Treaty.

The foreign office said it had received word that Britain's instrument of ratification was deposited in Washington Thursday.

The treaty comes into force when a majority of the member countries of the Far Eastern Commission have deposited their ratifications in Washington.

American Plans Substantial Service Increases In '52

DENVER, COLO.—A substantial increase in service is planned for the American Airlines, President G. R. Smith said here Saturday.

"For the year of 1952," he said in his annual year-end roundup, "American Airlines expects a continuation of the existing high demand for air transportation."

"American is planning a substantial increase in service for 1952 and it anticipates that the services will be operated with reasonable load factors."

"The increase will include additional air coach flights and by the end of the year the company will be operating not less than four round trip flights from coast to coast. This is in addition to nine round trip flights at regular fare."

Smith said the year 1951 was the best traffic year in the history of air transportation and while sales were higher than in previous years, "the net profit per dollar of gross income declined substantially from the previous year."

"The principal reasons are that all elements of operating cost have been increasing continuously, prices for transportation have not been raised to offset the increases and federal taxation has taken a high proportion of each income dollar."

Academy Mourns 19 Cadets' Deaths

WEST POINT, N. Y.—(P)—Celebration of West Point's 150th anniversary began Saturday with the military academy in mourning for 19 cadets killed in an Arizona plane crash.

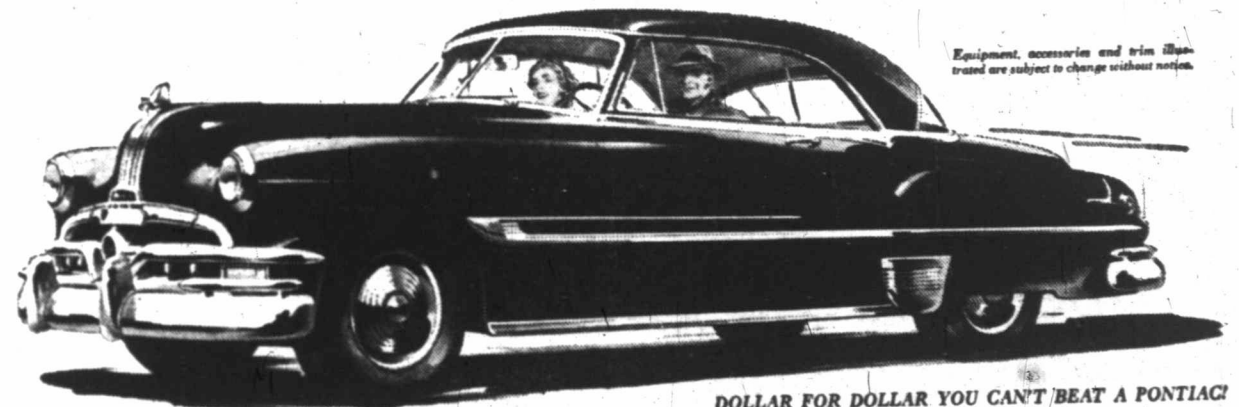

Flags were at half-staff on the huge military reservation as it prepared to greet Secretary of the Army Frank Pace, Jr., and representatives of 48 states, here for the first function of a six-months-long sequentennial observance.

A memorial for the dead cadets, killed while returning to the academy from Christmas vacations, will be held Sunday.

Permian Basin Drilling Activity Jumps 38 Per Cent During '51

The search for petroleum in the vast Permian Basin of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico during 1951 moved at a faster pace than any previous year, according to Reed Roller Bit Company survey.

The years close say 728 rotary rigs in operation as compared to only 531 one year ago. That represents a 38 per cent increase during the twelve months period. During the 15-day period ended December 31, rigs in the area dropped off slightly from 754 to 728. Among the top eight counties included in the survey, only two showed increases. They are Upton and Lea Counties. Upton jumped from 118 to 120 to stay on top and Lea climbed from 95 to 99 to replace Midland in second place. Midland dropped from 108 to 97. In fourth place was Reagan County with its 53 rotary in operation. Followed by Ector with 38. Next, in sixth place were Andrews and Glasscock, each with 32 units.

The December 31 total of 728 rigs was more than were in operation on the same day in 1950. The Reed survey includes counties south of Amarillo, west of Colorado City, East of the west line of Chaves County and north of the Rio Grande River.

Other counties in the survey, with December 15 figures listed first and December 31 figures listed second, were: Borden, 10-15; Crane, 19-20; Gaines, 22-21; Howard, 10-9; Martin, 2-2; Scurry, 36-31; Terry, 15-13; Coke, 14; Crockett, 9; Tom Green, 7; Cochran, 21; Dawson, 6; Schleicher, 15; and Pecos 17-15.

Packer Failed On Test Try At Indicated Ellenburger Discovery In SE Winkler

Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 1-A S. B. Wright, Southeast Winkler County wildcat, 10 miles southeast of Kermit, which has indicated possibilities of opening a new Ellenburger oil field, tried to take a drillstem test on 20 feet of new hole.

The section on which the test was attempted was at 11,557-597 feet. The packer failed after one hour and 14 minutes. No fluid came to the surface while the tool was open.

Will Try Again
Operator was pulling the tester at last report. It is probable that after the tools are out and the hole is re-conditioned that a little more drilling will be done and then another try for a drillstem test will be made.

This wildcat had its first show of possible production in the Ellenburger in a drillstem test at 11,524-577 feet. The tool was open three hours.

There was a slight blow of gas at the surface after 75 minutes. No fluid came to the surface while the tester was open.

Fluid Unloaded
However, soon after operator started pulling the tool fluid started unloading. Total recovery, a large part of which unloaded, was the 2,030-foot water blanket and 8,028 feet of slightly mud cut oil. Gravity of the oil was 38.5 degrees. Open flowing bottom hole pressure was between 825 and 2,025 pounds.

Shut-in bottom hole pressure, after 15 minutes was 3,250 pounds. This development is 1,984 feet from east and 680 feet from south lines of section 32, block 40, psi survey.

Top of the Ellenburger was called at 11,510 feet, which is on a datum point of minus 8,523 feet.

High To Dry Holes
That makes it high to a number of deep dry holes in the immediate vicinity. Some of those failures had some oil shows. This exploration is four miles southwest of the Wheeler multiphase field along the Winkler-Ector County line.

It had logged slight shows of oil and gas in the Devonian and in the Fusselman, but the Ellenburger is the first formation that has been penetrated which has shown free oil and possibilities of commercial production.

The first drillstem test in No. 1-A Wright was at 11,507-527 feet. The tool was open 85 minutes. Recovery was the 2,000-foot water blanket and five feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil, gas or formation water.

Shafer Appointed Production Manager For Conoco Branch

E. L. Shafer, district superintendent of production for Continental Oil Company at Hobbs, N. M., has been appointed manager of production for Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas Company, Ltd., Continental's affiliate in Canada.

The announcement was made by R. C. Brown, Calgary, Alberta, vice president and manager of the Canadian company.

A native of Oklahoma, Shafer received his BS degree in petroleum engineering from the New Mexico School of Mines and joined Continental in 1937 as a roustabout in North Texas. He served during World War II in the United States Army Air Force, rising to the rank of captain.

Shafer has been in the Hobbs district assignment for the last two years. He plans to move to Calgary about March 1.

Ashmun And Hilliard Have Tubb Discovery In Prospect At Wildcat In SW Crane

Ashmun and Hilliard of Midland have found free oil in the Tubb line of the Permian at their No. 1 Evan B. Jones, et al, Southwest Crane County wildcat.

The prospector had a fluid fill up of seven barrels of oil per hour natural and no water from the section at 4,095-4,124 feet.

Will Treat And Test
Operators are now preparing to treat that interval with acid and test and try to complete the exploration as an oil well and as the opener of a new area for production from the Tubb.

The 5 1/2-inch casing is cemented at 4,095 feet. Total depth is at 4,124 feet.

After the casing had been set and cemented operators drilled the plug and drilled ahead. The project began to show oil and after the present total depth was reached all fluid was bailed out and some new oil was recovered.

Fill Up Followed

The seven-barrel per hour oil fill up then followed.

The prospective discovery is 20 miles west and slightly south of Crane and it is seven miles north-east of Imperial.

Location is 1,998 feet from north-west and 1,993 feet from south-west lines of section 12, block 3, H&TC survey. The project is several miles northeast of the nearest Tubb production in the Tucker multiphase area in Southwest Crane County.

IN NEW SET UP—Frank W. Lake of Midland was re-named a vice president and elected a director of The Wilshire Oil Company, Inc., when the executive and management set up of that company was reorganized recently. He has been a vice president of the concern under the previous management which was changed when control of the concern was acquired by B. & L. Associates of New York and Los Angeles. Lake is manager of Wilshire's Texas Division which has its headquarters in this city.

Doshier Is Named Zone Geologist For Gulf In Midland
A. W. Doshier is the new zone geologist in Midland for Gulf Oil Corporation. He will succeed Lincoln E. Warren who has been promoted to be assistant division geological supervisor for the company at Fort Worth.

Doshier comes to the job as chief of Gulf's geological staff in West Texas from Amarillo where he has been zone geologist for the Panhandle territory for several months. Doshier was a staff geologist in Midland for several years prior to his promotion to the Amarillo position.

Blackmon To Amarillo

W. D. Blackmon, who has been a staff geologist for Gulf in the Midland office, has been moved up to take the place as zone geologist at Amarillo which is being vacated by Doshier.

R. L. Boss, who has been zone geologist for the concern at Roswell, N. M., has been moved to Fort Worth and made an assistant division geological supervisor.

Y. B. Newman is to go to Roswell to be zone geologist for Gulf for Southeast New Mexico.

Drilling Activity In State Spurts

AUSTIN—(AP)—A resurgence of drilling activity brought completion of 204 oil wells last week, three more than were completed the first week of 1951.

The total was 22 more than that of the previous week, the Texas Railroad Commission also reported. There were 21 gas well completions, one less than a year ago and 11 less than the previous week.

Dry holes numbered 112, down 11 from the year-ago total but 11 more than the week before.

Wildcaters brought in nine oil wells while drilling 71 dry holes. Operators plugged 111 dry wells and 23 oil wells.

The state's total number of wells Saturday stood at 132,692, an increase of 362 over the previous week. The total average calendar day crude oil allowable Saturday was 2,930,337, down 62,023 barrels per day from a week ago as the reduced January allowable went into effect.

Lighting the average home for a year consumes 600 pounds of coal at the powerhouse.

Executives Of U. S. Petroleum Companies Point To Problems To Face Industry During 1952

Possibility that United States oil companies will refrain from foreign investments because of a widespread disregard for the sanctity of contracts was expressed by Col. Harry T. Klein, president of The Texas Company, in the January issue of World Oil.

Participating in a symposium of oil company executives on major problems likely to confront the industry in 1952, Klein declared that "American oil companies have made investments abroad with the reasonable expectation, based on written contracts, of earning a fair return on their investments."

"However, in the light of recent events in Iran, and earlier in Mexico, it is only natural that companies will become more cautious, perhaps even to the point of refraining from making such investments."

Sanctity Of Contracts

"Fundamentally, there should be no difference between a contract with a government and one with an individual, except that it might be expected that government would be inclined to be even more punctilious than others in the observance of obligations."

"The sanctity of contracts is an issue which cannot be ignored by governments, more than it can by individuals and companies. If the U. S. government would use its influence for morality in business, nationally and internationally, it could be a vital factor in restoring peace and decency to a turbulent world."

K. S. Adams, chairman of the board, Phillips Petroleum Company, sees "the critical steel situation and the necessity for a crude oil price increase" as the industry's two outstanding problems as the year begins.

Last Increase In 1947

Pointing out that the last general crude price increase occurred in 1947, Adams reminded that "since 1948, crude oil prices have dropped approximately one per cent while the cost of iron and steel has gone up almost 20 per cent."

President S. A. Swensrud of Gulf Oil Corporation, Swensrud described current financial results as "illusory" because of "... the current cost of replacing worn-out equipment and depleted crude reserves at today's inflated prices."

Consequently, if the industry is to look forward to a continuing expansion, he said, "it is essential that the sharp upward trend in both corporate taxes and in normal taxes on the sale of petroleum products be arrested."

Another Problem Listed
L. F. McCollum, president of Continental Oil Company, and T. S. Petersen, president of Standard Oil Company of California, agreed that a major problem in 1952 will be the assurance of sufficient petroleum to meet the demands of any crisis which might befall the nation. Prerequisites to these ample supplies, said McCollum, are "... the economic incentives needed by the industry to do the job."

"These, in turn, mean among other things freedom from excessive taxation, freedom from oppressive arbitrary regulations, and a level of earnings which would permit the industry to generate within itself sufficient capital funds for replacement and normal expansion purposes."

Petersen said the industry must "drive forward with a continuing program to develop a margin of reserve production, refining and transportation facilities." Among the obstacles to this needed expansion he cited "a limited availability of steel and a lead shortage which even now is affecting quality of motor gasoline."

PB Region Of NGAA To Meet February 29

The Permian Basin regional meeting of the Natural Gasoline Association of America will be held February 29 in the Lincoln Hotel in Odessa.

Announcement of the meeting was made by W. L. Phillips with Phillips Petroleum Company in Odessa. He is chairman of the program committee.

The program will feature discussions of particular interests to West Texas plant operators, notably sulphur extraction, and a large attendance is expected.

Other members of the program committee are: J. M. Sappington, Barnhart Hydrocarbon Corporation, Big Lake; G. E. Kendrick, El Paso Natural Gas Company, Jal. N. M.; W. T. Edwards, Frontier Natural Gasoline Company, Odessa; G. B. Evans, Honolulu Oil Corporation, Honolulu.

Gulf To Deepen C-E Presidio Failure To Explore Ellenburger

Gulf Oil Corporation is scheduled to deepen an old dry hole in Central-East Presidio County to 14,000 feet for a test of the Ellenburger.

It is No. 1 Mitchell Brothers. Location is 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 40, block 1, TW&NG survey.

Argo Oil Corporation drilled the wildcat to 9,997 feet in dry Pennsylvanian shale and sand and abandoned it in January, 1947.

It is 25 miles southeast of Maria and one-half mile west of the Brewster County line.

Henderson Finishes Two Small Openers For North Pecos

R. H. Henderson of Midland has completed two shallow wildcats in North Pecos County as small pumping producers.

Henderson No. 1 Burton, 330 feet from north and west lines of section 3, block 112, TCRS survey, pumped 24 hours to make an initial production of six barrels of 26.3 gravity oil.

Spraberry Trend Areas Get 11 Wells, 17 More Projects

Eleven more producers and 17 new drillholes have been added to the Spraberry Trend areas of Midland, Reagan, Upton and Glasscock Counties.

Phillips Petroleum Company completed four of the wells in the Tex-Harvey field of Central-East Midland County.

The concern's No. 9-A Beth, 664 feet from north and 1,975 feet from east lines of section 35, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey, was completed for a daily flowing potential of 530 barrels of 36-gravity oil through a one-half-inch tubing choke and from open hole at 6,989-7,288 feet. That section was fractured. Gas-oil ratio was 604-1 and tubing pressure was 200 pounds.

No. 4 Marion

Phillips No. 4 Marion, 664 feet from north and 1,981 feet from east lines of section 25, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey, was completed for a daily flowing potential of 159 barrels of 37.5-gravity oil from open hole at 6,935-7,212 feet.

Phillips No. 4-A Beth, 1,995 feet from north and 690 feet from east lines of section 35, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey, was finished for a daily flowing potential of 486 barrels of 36.8-gravity oil through a one-half-inch tubing choke and from open hole at 6,958-7,280 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 384-1 and tubing pressure was 600 pounds.

Phillips No. 10-A Beth, 1,975 feet from west and 693 feet from north lines of section 35, block 37, T&P survey, T-3-S, was completed for a daily flowing potential of 382 barrels of 36.5-gravity oil through a one-half-inch tubing choke and from open hole at 6,960-7,282 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 597-1 and tubing pressure was 150 pounds.

Forest Oil Corporation No. 2-E TXL is another new well in the Midland County side of the Tex-Harvey field. Located 660 feet from east and 665 feet from south lines of the lease in section 37, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey, the oiler was completed for a daily flowing potential of 351 barrels of 36.8-gravity oil through a 30 64-inch tubing choke and from open hole at 6,990-7,223 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 618-1 and tubing pressure was 175 pounds.

Six of the new wells are in the four Corners area.

SE Midland

In the Southeast Midland County side Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1-B C. C. Reynolds, 660 feet from north and east lines of section 7, block 37, T-4-S, T&P survey, was completed for a daily flowing potential of 121.84 barrels of 37.2-gravity oil through a 16 64-inch tubing choke and from open hole at 7,173-8,184 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 798-1 and tubing pressure was 220 pounds.

In the same area, Humble No. 1 C. C. Reynolds, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 7, block 37, T-4-S, T&P survey, was completed for a daily flowing potential of 104 barrels of 37.9-gravity oil through a choke of unreported size and from open hole at 7,185-8,120 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 698-1 and tubing pressure was 150 pounds.

In the Northeast Upton County section of the Four Corners area, Sinclair Oil & Gas Company No. 3 Fannie Boyd, 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 9, block 36, T-5-S, T&P survey, was completed for a daily flowing potential of 676 barrels of 36.2-gravity oil through a one-half-inch tubing choke and from open hole at 6,708-6,798 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 810-1 and tubing pressure was 180 pounds.

In the

Ellenburger Wildcat To 13,500 Feet Set In C-S Lea Sector

ROBBS, N. M.—In extreme Central-South Lea County, eight and one-half miles southwest of J. A. General American Oil Company of Texas staked location for a 13,500-foot wildcat exploration.

Drill site is 680 feet from south and east lines of section 36-35-33E. That puts it in the east side of the Delaware Basin, just off the west side of the Central Basin platform.

The deep test will be drilled as No. 1, Harper-Federal.

The closest Ellenburger production is in the area discovered by Skelly Oil Company. Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware and J. C. Maxwell, Inc., No. 1-J Mexico 15 miles to the east. That production is in the Central Basin platform. At present there is no production from the Ellenburger in the Delaware Basin.

Skelly, Seaboard and Maxwell No. 2-J Mexico has been completed as a one-location extension to No. 1-J Mexico in Northeast Lea County. It was finished for a daily flowing potential of 1,285 barrels of 4-gravity oil through a three-quarter-inch tubing choke and from perforations at 10,225-285 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 234-1. Perforations were washed with 500 gallons of acid. Pay was topped at 10,810 feet. Total depth is 10,390 feet and plugged back total depth is 10,390 feet. Location is 1,980 feet from east and 600 feet from south line of section 32-24-33E.

One location east of Skelly and others No. 1-J Mexico, Gulf Oil Corporation No. 7-E Leonard was completed for a calculated 24-hour flowing potential of 1,952 barrels of 43.5-gravity oil through a one-half-inch tubing choke and from pay at 10,262-10,303 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 387-1. Location is at the center of the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 32-24-33E.

Direct west and south offsets have been staked to Skelly No. 2-J Mexico, both by Skelly.

The concern's No. 4-J Mexico will be dug 1,980 feet from west and 600 feet from south lines of section 32-24-33E.

Skelly No. 3-L Mexico is 680 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 3-25-33E. Both tests will drill to around 10,250 feet.

Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 2-BTA State has been completed as a Pennsylvania oiler in the Bagley-multipay area of Northwest Lea County. Operator reported a daily flowing potential of 1,980 barrels of 47.4-gravity oil through a 30/64-inch tubing choke and from perforations at 9,929-9,936 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 1,821-1.

Operator washed perforations with 500 gallons of acid. Pay was topped at 9,920 feet. Plugged back total depth is 9,955 feet. Five and one-half-inch casing is cemented at 9,100 feet.

Amerada No. 1 Fred Turner, McKee discovered in Central-West Lea County, has been shut down for completion.

During the last 24 hours gauged the project flowed 827 barrels of new oil through chokes ranging from three-quarters down to 24 64-inch. Gravity of the oil was 45.3 degrees. Gas-volume was 436,690 cubic feet per day. Production is coming from perforations at 9,012-9,088 feet.

No. 1 Turner was drilled to total depth of 9,429 feet in granite wash. Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 17-20-33E.

Amerada No. 1-ECC State, approximately three-quarters of one mile north and slightly east of Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1-ECA State, Devonian discovery in Northwest Lea County, was at total depth of 11,240 feet in Devonian with electric log surveys being run. Five and one-half-inch casing is cemented at 11,179 feet.

No. 1-ECA State has been designated as the discovery well for the East Cap Rock field.

No. 1-ECA State has flowed oil on tests from 11,000 to 11,070 feet, 11,070 to 11,130 feet, 11,130 to 11,210 feet and 11,210 to 11,240 feet.

Exact location is 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 11-12-33E.

Two locations northwest of No. 1-ECC State, Amerada spotted location for No. 1-ECD State. It will be drilled 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 2-12-33E.

Two locations south of No. 1-ECC State, Amerada will drill No. 1-R C. Posey. Location is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 11-12-33E. Both tests will Cap Rock field tests are slated to drill to around 11,000 feet.

Sunray Oil Corporation spotted location for a direct south offset to Skelly Oil Company No. 9-0 State, recently completed Wichita-Albany discovery in East-Central Lea County.

It will be dug as No. 3 Maggie Caylor, 660 feet from north and 665 feet from west lines of section 6-17-37E. It is to drill to approximately 8,500 feet.

Gulf spotted location for a one-mile west offset to the recently opened Bledsoe-San Andres field of West Cochran County, Texas. The test will be dug in Southwest Roosevelt County as No. 1-7 Roosevelt State. Location is 1,980 feet from west and 660 feet from north lines of section 16-35-33E. Destination is 5,000 feet. The Bledsoe field was discovered by Skelly Oil Company No. 1 Pittman. Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company No. 5-C State is to be drilled as a 9,000-foot Pennsylvania test in the Bagley-multipay area of Northwest Lea County. Drill site is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet

LP-Gas Industry Shows Increase In 1951 Sales

The LP-Gas industry, a major supplier of energy in the United States, continued its spiraling growth as 1951 sales reached an estimated 4,100,000 gallons. These estimates released by George R. Bens and K. W. Rugh of Phillips Petroleum Company of Bartlesville, show an industry sales gain of 25.9 per cent over 1950.

Household and farm use, including direct motor fuel use, accounted for sales of 2,868,000 gallons. LP-Gas installations serving suburban homes and all the miscellaneous uses on farms and in farm homes now total more than 8,000, 900 which are served by 4,500 LP-Gas bulk plants located throughout the country.

Previously reported trends toward bulk distribution of LP-Gas and direct motor fuel use continued. In addition to greatly expanded use in farm tractors, LP-Gas now fuels more than 1,000 buses and countless other heavy duty internal combustion engines. There are excellent prospects for far greater growth in this field.

LP-Gas sales to industries and utilities are estimated at 230,000,000 and 252,000,000 gallons respectively.

Both markets showed below average growth principally because of the extension of natural gas lines during the year.

Since the long-term effect of natural gas availability is to increase LP-Gas demand for continuous or standby purposes, future increases in these markets can be expected.

The petrochemical industry remains the second largest market for LP-Gas. The manufacture of chemicals and chemical intermediates required an estimated 750,000,000 gallons. This does not include the use of LP-Gas for the manufacture of synthetic rubber components which alone required 344,000,000 gallons.

Carrier Underway

Another barge for coastwise shipment of LP-Gas was constructed during the year and a pipe line for moving LP-Gas from the Texas Panhandle to the Chicago area is under construction. There are 12-643 tank cars estimated to be in LP-Gas service at the end of the year.

The year's progress indicates a continuing increased demand for LP-Gas comparable to that experienced in the past. There are indications that production will have difficulty in keeping pace with the demand during peak winter months. This unbalanced supply-versus-demand condition is influencing larger storage at all stages of the distribution channels. The results of this influence can make it possible for the industry to balance its demand and supply in a reasonable period of time.

ATKINSON JOINS FLYMOUTH

James C. Atkinson, formerly connected with Muldrow Aerial Surveys Corporation, is now employed by Flymoth Oil Company where he will work in the geological department in Midland.

The banana is not a tree, although it grows as high as 30 feet.

The other new pumping well is Henderson No. 1 Robertson. It made a 24-hour potential of five barrels of oil and 50 per cent water.
Gravity of the petroleum was 26.2 degrees. Gas-oil ratio was too small to measure.
The open hole section between 2,174 feet, where five and one-half inch casing is set and total depth of 2,276 feet, was shot with 50 quarts of nitro glycerin.
No. 1 Robertson is 2,310 feet from north and east lines of section 7, block 113, T&P survey and 15 miles southwest of Imperial.

TPC&OC Will Drill To Ellenburger At SW Upton Wildcat

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company has spotted its No. 1 George Long as a wildcat in Southwest Upton County.
Location is 6,800 feet from north and west lines of section 3, RT Company survey and five miles east of McCamey.
Projected depth is 8,500 feet to test the Ellenburger. Rotary tools will be moved in and drilling will begin at once.
No. 1 Long is two miles southeast of the shallow McCamey field and about the same distance southwest of the shallow Hurdle field.

Ellenburger Wildcat Set For NW Upton

Magnolia Petroleum Company has staked location for a 13,300-foot Ellenburger wildcat in Northwest Upton County.
It is No. 1-P T&P and is located 680 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 9, block 41, T-5-S, T&P survey. That makes it one and one-quarter miles north and slightly east of production in the one-well Davis field.
Drill site is four miles southwest of production in the Pegasus field of Upton and Midland Counties.
Rotary tools will be moved in and drilling on the venture will begin immediately.

E-Andrews Gets New Deep Venture

Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1-DP State is a new wildcat in Central-East Andrews County.
It is located 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 42, block 7, University survey.
Drill site is on a 2,488.30-acre drilling block for which Gulf paid a record bonus of $2,050,000 at the November sale of University of Texas leases.
Projected depth of the wildcat is 13,500 feet to test the Ellenburger. Rotary tools will be used to drill, beginning at once.
No. 1-DP State is six and one-half miles north of the shallow Mabey pool.

WASHINGTON OIL— Federal Trade Commission Attacks Foreign Operations In New, Sweeping Report

By JOSEPH HUTTLINGER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent
WASHINGTON—American oil companies abroad are accused of entering into price-fixing agreements among themselves and with companies of other nations in a massive report just completed by the Federal Trade Commission.

The sweeping report, the result of two years' study by the commission staff, says foreign operations lead toward monopoly, cartels, and high prices for products in the U. S.

The document is circulating among a few top government officials under the label "Secret." A commission official said a decision is due soon on making it public and sending it to Congress. After that, it would take two months to get it into print.

A congressional inquiry into the findings of the report, and what to do to correct the situation, if anything, is likely.

The FTC report was begun about the time Rep. Clarence Cannon of Missouri, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, urged a $250,000 fund for the commission for a top-to-bottom inquiry into petroleum. Cooperatives egged him on.

Other attacks on foreign operations are under way. They may be aired Thursday when 14 oil and gas associations meet with the Petroleum Administration for Defense to talk over oil country tubular goods distribution to the oil industry.

Russell B. Brown, counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, has said for years the government is aiding foreign oil companies at the expense of domestic producers.

Last month, he accused the PAD of violating the defense production act by allocating an unduly large tonnage of oil country tubular goods to foreign companies.

Elmer Patman Report
A week ago, Elmer Patman, an Austin, Texas, lawyer, said American oil companies are "setting up an international cartel," with the aid of PAD and the State Department. The cartel, he said, "threatens to destroy the U. S. independent oil industry."

W. Dave Henderson, retiring president of WTGS will preside at the Tuesday meeting.

SE Upton Venture Waiting On Orders

Delta Gulf Drilling Company No. 1 Carter, wildcat in Southeast Upton County, is at total depth of 11,831 feet in the Ellenburger and is waiting on orders.

Operator took a drillstem test from 11,605 feet to 11,831 feet. Length of the test was not reported. Recovery was 7.46 feet of black slaty sulphur water with no shows of oil or gas.

Location is 680 feet from south and east lines of section 25, block B, HE&WT survey and one mile east of Rankin.

FPC Member Asserts Gas Producing States Selling Selves Out Of Prosperity

EL DORADO, ARK.—(P)—In Arkansas, neither with five other gas-producing states in the Southwest—selling herself out of prosperity?

Harrington Wimberly, six years a member of the Federal Power Commission, thinks so.
Wimberly said in an interview that natural gas producers are committing too heavily their reserves to interstate pipelines feeding fuel to Eastern and Northern markets.

The principal gas-producing states of Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Kansas and New Mexico are producing roughly from four to five and a half trillion cubic feet of gas a year, or more than three-fourths of the national annual production of six trillion cubic feet estimated for this year, he said.

As alone accounts for from three to three and a half trillion cubic feet of the Southwest's annual output.

Federal Authorization
Yet, Wimberly declared, 10 major pipelines are today authorized by the federal government to drain about three trillion cubic feet of gas annually, or 10 billion cubic feet a day, from the Southwest to East.

Tremendous expansions in interstate pipelines has occurred within the last several years, and ever greater reserves are being committed to supply the lines, he said.

One of the largest, Tennessee Gas and Transmission Company, alone is sucking off 1.3 billion cubic feet of gas a day.

Gas is particularly desirable as a fuel, industry observers feel, because it is cheap, clean, and easily transported.

Because the nation has only an estimated 166 trillion cubic feet of natural gas left in recoverable reserves (an estimate made by the American Gas Association in 1950), and because about 90 trillion cubic feet, or almost half, already is committed to existing pipelines, Wimberly fears owners of producing fields literally are selling their own prosperity to faraway markets.

As more pipelines are built, more gas reserves from Arkansas and the other five southwestern states will be gobbled up, since the FPC—which controls pipelines—requires that a line must be assured of a firm supply before it may be built. Producers selling to a pipe line must promise their gas for at least 20 years, and once under contract they are rarely released to sell elsewhere.

Wimberly fears that pipelines will exploit production so heavily that within 20 or 30 years the six source states will cripple their own industrial expansion for lack of fuel for power. There will be no gas to offer new industry, none for existing industry, and supplies available for even domestic uses may run critically short.

"We are already at the danger point," he warned, emphasizing that the crisis is more than a probability.

"It is time for local people and producers to stop, look, and listen. They should analyze the situation... be put on the alert, or they will sell themselves right out of prosperity," he suggested.

There are signs other oil and gas leaders are recognizing the pending dilemma, and several indicate a growing concern.

Arkansas Oil and Gas Commission Chairman O. C. Bailey of El Dorado, well-known as a conservation leader, agrees with Wimberly that the Southwest may be literally selling its birthright.

Bailey feels Arkansas gas reserves are a "big talking point" in inducing new industry to settle here, and he fears the state will have no fuel for power to offer if production is heavily pledged to pipe lines.

He regards natural gas as a highly desirable fuel and believes it is an attraction toward industrial growth.

He reminded that Arkansas has no coal, and if gas reserves are tied up or depleted, this industry-conscious Southern state could be left at an economic standstill.

In the same sector, Tide Water Associated Oil Company spotted location 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 3, block 36, T-5-S, T&P survey for its No. 4 Norma R. Calverley.

Sinclair will drill No. 1-TXL-38.

McCollum—
capsule form a partial history of Continental Oil Company, from its 1929 merger with Marland Oil Company, through its 19 years under the leadership of the late Dan Morgan, McCollum's two-fisted predecessor who made financial history by pulling Continental out of a $34.5-million hole in five years, and up to the present day.

Has Decentralized
One of the major changes in Continental's management operations since the advent of McCollum has been his insistence upon decentralization of authority and responsibility. Business Week points out:

"McCollum is satisfied that he has the organization which will give him the decentralization he wants. But he constantly pushes his subordinates to let go of decision-making. He gives vice presidents full responsibility and authority, expects them to do the same with their people," the article says.

Expansion of marketing and manufacturing facilities rank second only to discovery and development of new oil producing lands in McCollum's plans for Continental's continued expansion, Business Week declares.

More Expansion
The company currently sells in some 23 states, and has built or re-modeled more than 200 service stations since 1947. On the manufacturing side, Continental announced only this week a $7.5-million expansion project at its Ponca City, Okla., refinery, the second big job there in three years.

"Mostly, though, when McCollum talks to outsiders he expands on his favorite topic: 'management.' Business Week reveals. 'He is more complimented if you tell him he has a great team of men under him than if you brag about his company's record since he became top dog. Financial statistics to him are just a measure of his success as a manager.'"

Three-quarters of all logs and lumber in the United States are shipped entirely by truck.

Others pictured include Office Girls Dolores Gibson, Dorothy Etter, Norma Wollard and Avis Norris and Sanford Froge, Bob Kelly, Bob Ray, Earl Rogers, Gilbert Ely and Champ Huddleston of the materials section.

"Happy Hunting Ground for Oil" tells of the importance of the Spraberry Trend production to the United States' recovery. It quotes figures from the Oil & Gas Journal on estimated reserves in the Trend.

The author gets technical with methods of drilling the Spraberry, gives a working definition of the why and whereof of recovering the oil from the highly fractured sands.

A history of the first Spraberry well and subsequent discoveries are related.

As the writer puts it—"the story would not be complete without mention of some important by-products of the sand. Spraberry has large reserves of unusually rich gas, which will yield natural gasoline and liquefied petroleum gas in a proportion three or four times that found in ordinary oil fields."

The article points out that headquarters of the Spraberry boom is "hustling, bustling—at-the-seams city of Midland, long the capital of the vast Permian Basin oil field of West Texas and Southeastern New Mexico." Midland also is the center of a sheep and cattle empire embracing 12 counties and some of the biggest ranches in the southwest, the story reveals.

The writer of the article credits the Spraberry operations with increasing Midland's population by "a couple of thousands during the past year."

Pictures illustrating the story include one of C. J. Cox, Glasscock County rancher who owns 32,000 acres in the vast Trend; Sohio personnel at work; sprawling oil fields, Sohio's Glasscock County camp and several are of scenes in the City of Midland.

Maps featuring Spraberry oil fields in the eight county Trend area accompany the article.

Among the Midlanders pictured and featured in the article are: Kelly Hood, superintendent of the Midland District, Robert F. White of the crude oil purchasing department, A. J. Luigs of the transportation department, Junior Geologist Ben Kamparth, Gene Young, assistant superintendent; Melvin Jorgenson, district engineer; Paul Shoffstall, assistant superintendent.

The Oil Pusher

Offset To Breedlove Field Opener In Martin Gives Promise; To Set Pipe, Test

Pan American Production Company, Forest Oil Corporation and Houston Oil Company of Texas No. 2 F. D. Breedlove is giving favorable indications for its being completed as a producer in the Breedlove-Devonian field of extreme Northwest Martin County.

It is one location northeast of the opener of the field and it is the second well to be drilled to the Devonian in that region. It is now bottomed at 12,197 feet in porous Devonian dolomite.

Operators are preparing to take electric logs, and according to unofficial sources will then run casing and make production tests and try to complete the stepout as a commercial oil well.

It found the Devonian approx-mately flat to the top of that formation in the discovery well of the field, Pan American, Forest and Houston of Texas No. 1 Breedlove. That well was completed for a daily potential of 2,341 barrels of 41.3-gravity oil, and no water, flowing through a three-quarter-inch tubing choke.

Northwest Of Tarzan
The production in No. 1 Breedlove is from perforated section at 12,078-118 feet. That interval had been washed with 600 gallons of mud acid and treated with 500 gallons of Diesel fluid prior to completion.

Location of No. 2 Breedlove is 3,300 feet from east and 1,960 feet from south lines of league 238, Briscoe County School Land survey. It is 13 miles northwest of Tarzan.

Importance And Magnitude Of Spraberry Trend As Major Oil Area Continues To Grow

By JAMES C. WATSON
Oil Editor

The lead editorial in the December 1951 issue of "World Oil" is devoted to the Spraberry Trend of the Midland Basin area of West Texas. The article, written and signed by Warren L. Baker, editor of "World Oil," is titled, "Competition Will Solve Spraberry Problems."

A significant statement in the Baker editorial is this sentence: "Many believe the Spraberry has more oil in place than even the great East Texas field."

Should that surmise prove to be correct it would mean much to this territory and to all persons who have any sort of interest in it. Thinks It Can Be Done
Baker states that many observers fear that only a small part of the oil in the Spraberry will be recovered. He disagrees with that thinking and insists that the petroleum industry will develop ways and means of getting that oil out.

The full text of the editorial follows:

Sweetwater Crash Claims Second Victim
SWEETWATER—(AP)—The tragic two-car crash near here Wednesday which instantly killed a 17-year-old Blackwell Texas, High School girl and injured 11 others, claimed its second victim Friday night.

W. V. Stephenson, 44, superintendent of the Blackwell schools, died of injuries in the Sweetwater Hospital. He was the driver of the car that was carrying seven Blackwell "school favorites" to Sweetwater to have pictures taken.

Ten other persons still are under treatment. Anna Bell Hurt, 17, of Wingate is the only one believed to remain in critical condition.

Janie Janel Herron, 17, was killed in the wreck, which was blamed on icy roads.

Stephenson, a former principal of Stanton High School, was a brother of Dr. W. A. Stephenson, dean of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene.

Permian Basin Banks Set All-Time Growth Records

The heart of the Permian Basin Empire piled up a record-breaking $130,000,000 in bank deposits during 1951.

A survey of 15 banks in the nine-county Midland area showed bank deposits on Dec. 31, 1951, were up 29 per cent over those of the previous year-end statements.

Thirteen of the banks showed sizeable increases while the other two showed only minor declines attributed to a drought-stricken agricultural picture during the year.

The First National Bank of Midland led the increase with its climb from $31,881,528 to $41,377,302 in deposits.

Police Chief Rube Hemingway said a shipment of handcuffs were ordered recently when it was learned only one or two officers were equipped with them.

One pair of handcuffs was issued to each officer Saturday.

Armistice Delays Steel Wage Crisis Until February 21

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The government has at least until February 21 to come up with a solution to the vital steel dispute, which reached the armistice stage Friday, warding off a crippling strike.

Hanging in the balance is the country's defense program, for which steel is the hard base.

Spurred on by two special and personal requests from President Truman to cancel a scheduled strike, the United Steelworkers Union (CIO) voted to avert its walkout plans for a 45-day period, starting Monday.

President Truman applauded the postponement and expressed confidence labor and management will "reach a settlement" of their wage differences.

The CIO contract expired December 31. On Monday, the Wage Stabilization Board starts the delicate job of investigating all aspects of the dispute and coming up with recommendations acceptable both to the steel companies and the $50,000-man union.

U. S. Pegs Price Of Long-Staple Cotton

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Agriculture Department will offer to buy 1952 crop American-Egyptian cotton at an average of $1.071 per pound for grade No. 2, one and one-half-inch staple.

The department made the announcement Friday. The price is more than three cents above that paid for similar grade 1951 cotton. The new purchase offer is for the period Aug. 1, 1952, through April 30, 1953.

Protestants Plan To Organize State Council Of Churches

FORT WORTH—(AP)—Nine Protestant denominations of Texas have made plans to form a state council of churches.

Here Friday, 13 high-ranking churchmen representing the nine denominations planned the organization similar to the National Council of Churches. The plans were given unanimous approval.

Bishop William C. Martin, Dallas Methodist, said the planned council "has no organic relationship to the National Council of Churches but will feel free to make use of facilities and experiences which may be available from the national council."

Bishop Martin, who presided at the meeting, said work done by the drafting committee will be submitted to a larger group made up of about 80 members from the nine participating denominations. This group, Bishop Martin said, will meet in Dallas on February 22.

The next step in the planning, he added, will be a meeting in Fort Worth February 11. An organizational method will be drafted then, the church leader said.

Martin To Be Chairman
Bishop Martin will serve as chairman of that committee.

Quinter Miller, administrative secretary of the National Council of Churches from New York, said individual denominational state conventions, conferences and synods, would be associated with the Texas council in the same manner that the respective national organizations of various churches deal with the national body.

Others who attended the session were Methodist Bishops Robert N. Brooks of New Orleans and A. Frank Smith of Houston; Episcopal Bishop Charles A. Mason of Dallas; Dr. Royal J. Gibson, Congregational Christian, Oklahoma City; Patrick Henry of Fort Worth, state secretary of Texas Christian Churches, and TCU president M. E. Sadler, both representing the disciples of Christ; Bishop Joseph Gomez of Waco and W. E. Green of Fort Worth, both representing the African Methodist Episcopal Church; the Rev. J. Hoyt Boles of Denton, state secretary of the Texas Presbyterian Churches, USA; the Rev. Bob Jones of Fort Worth, representing the Presbyterian Church, U. S.; the Rev. Helm of Fort Worth, representing the Evangelical and Reformed Church, and Erling Peterson of Dallas, executive of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Texas.

McKay Eyes State Agriculture Post

FREDERICKSBURG, TEXAS—(AP)—Walter McKay of Fredericksburg, right-hand man to former State Agriculture Commissioner J. E. McDonald, announced his candidacy for the top agriculture post Saturday.

McKay is the first candidate to announce in opposition to Commissioner John C. White, who unseated McDonald in 1950. McKay resigned that same year after working for the State Department of Agriculture since 1928.

He was chief division of horticulture when he quit. McKay claimed credit for helping in the last 10 years to secure removal of embargoes by other states against Texas citrus fruits, sweet potatoes, and peaches and other orchard produce.

McKay said he was responsible for setting up methods for fumigating all types of nursery stock, citrus and other products for interstate movement, and had taken a leading part in effective enforcement of the pink bollworm law.

He has stock farming interests and is co-owner of Station KNAF in Fredericksburg.

U. S. To Give India 50 Million Dollars

NEW DELHI, INDIA—(AP)—The United States agreed Friday to give India $50 million dollars to help that nation speed up her lagging economic and agricultural development.

The contribution will be made under an agreement signed by Prime Minister Nehru and U. S. Ambassador Chester Bowles at a brief ceremony in New Delhi.

It provides for pooling American dollars with an equivalent sum in Indian rupees to form a 100 million dollar Indian-American Technical Cooperation Fund.

With The Services—Soldier, Midland Mother Provide New Testaments For 160 South Koreans

At least 160 South Koreans are reading the New Testament for the first time because of an American soldier and his Midland mother.

Robert Sutton of Midland is a soldier in Korea, serving with a field artillery battalion.

An active worker in the Bellview Baptist Church in Midland, when he was a civilian, he found out the Koreans were interested in the Bible but that they were unable to acquire any of them printed in their own language.

So Sutton wrote to his mother, Mrs. W. L. Sutton, 511 North Pecos Street, and asked her if she could find any New Testaments, printed in the Korean language.

Mrs. Sutton made inquiries and finally learned that the American Bible Society had them available.

Includes Shipping
The price was only 48 cents each and that including shipping them to the Far East.

"We solicited the help of some of the Sunday School classes," reported Mrs. Sutton last week, "and were able to ship out 160 copies of the New Testament within a short time."

An American chaplain assisted Sutton in distributing the copies and a request immediately came back for more.

So Mrs. Sutton is inviting any Midlanders to participate in the campaign.

Further information can be obtained from Mrs. Sutton, whose phone number is 2-1531.

Pfc. Charles B. Garvin of Midland has received an award of the Purple Heart at the 141st General Hospital near Fukuoka in southern Japan, where he is a patient.

The decoration was conferred for wounds he received in action in Korea.

Sgt. Richard P. Vaughn, whose wife, Betty Ann, lives in Midland, is now serving with the 7th Infantry Division on the Korean front.

A squad leader in headquarters company, Vaughn entered the army in December, 1950, and has been in Korea six months. He wears the Korean Service Ribbon with one campaign star. Before entering the Army, Vaughn attended the University of Texas.

J. E. Dickinson, now serving in Korea with the 1st Marine Division, has been promoted to corporal. He is due home shortly on rotation.

John F. Heard, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd A. Heard of Crane, recently was advanced to ship's serviceman, third class, while serving aboard the landing ship medium, rocket, USS LSMR-412, in the Far East.

Survivors include the husband of Rankin: a sister, Mrs. Grace Roberts, of El Paso; four brothers, Walker St. Claire of Ladonia, Grady St. Claire of Corpus Christi, Jim St. Claire of Mexico, and Norman St. Claire of Dallas.

The Rev. R. L. Shannon, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated at the services. He was assisted by the Rev. Don Cochran of the Methodist church.

Interment was in Rankin Cemetery under the direction of the Jacobson Funeral Home of McCamey.

ADMITTED TO HOSPITAL
Bill Baker, Monahans, Friday was admitted to Midland Memorial Hospital as a medical patient.

Guy C. Henson, airman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Henson of Stanton, was graduated recently from the Aviation Electronics Technician-Electronics School at the U. S. Naval Air Technical Training Center at Memphis, Tenn.

Mugu, Calif., entered the naval service in October, 1950.

Midland Wins Consolation Title

Odessa's Cagers Are Champions In Own Tournament

ODESSA—Odessa won its own basketball tournament here Saturday night, defeating Jefferson High School of El Paso, 40-30. Jimmy Jackson scored 12 points for Odessa to lead the scoring. Brownfield High School won over Lamesa, 30-22, to take third place, with Max Proffitt scoring the winning field goal in the last 11 seconds.

ODESSA—A long set shot by Jesse Hatfield swished through the net with seven seconds left to play to give Midland a 35 to 33 win over Big Spring here Saturday night, and with it the Odessa Invitational Tournament consolation championship.

Big Spring led, 33 to 30, with one and one-half minutes to go. John Van Buskirk hit a long set shot to pull Midland within one point.

Bob Johnson sank a free throw to tie it at 33 all. Hatfield then intercepted a Big Spring pass, dribbled half the distance of the court, stopped, shot—and that was the ball game.

It was 6-5, Midland, at the end of the first quarter and 15-14, Midland, at half-time. Big Spring led, 25 to 24, at the end of the third quarter.

There never was more than four points difference in score. Johnson led Midland in scoring with nine points.

The Bulldogs played without Robert Keating, who was lost on fouls from the middle of the second quarter. Bill Mims also fouled out in the third quarter.

Ironically, Hatfield's game-winning basket was his only two points of the night. Against Stanton, Midland had defeated Stanton, 35 to 22, and Snyder, 44-33, in advancing to the consolation final.

Big Spring won its way into the consolation finals Saturday morning, downing fighting Lubbock, 58-52, after holding a 16-point margin at halftime.

The surprising Midland team—seeded among the bottom-rung teams in pre-tournament speculation—stayed ahead of Snyder all the way to the 44 to 38 triumph Saturday morning.

As he did in the two previous Midland games, the honky Johnson paced the scoring. He slipped in 14 points. Against Stanton he tallied 20 and against Jefferson (El Paso) he grabbed 12 markers.

The Bulldogs hustled all the way in their second win of the tournament, baffling Snyder with a zone defense and handling the ball nicely. Robert Keating tallied 12 points against the Tigers. Midland led, 16-7, at the end of the first frame and 18-13 at halftime, running the count to 31-22 in the third quarter. Early in the final frame, Midland increased the lead to 34-22, but Snyder began to cut the margin down with long set shots and pulled to within three points, 39 to 36. But Keating, Johnson and Company pulled away to win.

Friday, Midland had defeated Stanton, 55 to 22, after losing to Jefferson (El Paso) 43-30, in first-round play.

Other Games
Other Friday games were Denver City shellack Big Spring, 52-33; Odessa B whip Stanton, 46-28; Brownfield take Snyder, 44-40; Jef-

Russia To Enter 1952 Olympic Games

HELSINKI —(AP)—Russia Saturday announced its entry in the 1952 Olympic games at Helsinki, Finland, July 19-August 3.

The decision was revealed in a cable to the Finnish Olympic Committee chairman, Baron Erik von Frenckell, from the chairman of the Soviet Olympic Committee, M. K. Andreanov.

Russian participation in the games would bring the first major test between Soviet athletes and the big team from the United States, which has dominated the games from their start in 1896.

94 Participating
The entry of the Soviet Union in the Summer games increased the number of countries participating to 94.

The Winter Olympic games will be held at Oslo February 14-25, and the deadline for entering them was New Year's Eve. Russia allowed this to pass without filing its entry, and it is not considered likely at Oslo that a last-minute application will be made. Russia is much stronger in the various sports of the Summer games than it is in the Winter events.

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— The $17,500 Los Angeles Open golf show reached the midway mark late Saturday with Jack Burke, Jr., of Texas and John Barnum of Michigan sitting on top of a field of rivals hard hit by illness, injury, holdouts and old man par.

They were tied with a 36-hole total of 144, and for the first time in many a year

Suggs Paces Fair Golfers

JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

—(AP)—Louise Suggs, who hasn't won a major golf tournament in a year, shot her second straight sub-par score Saturday to grab a long lead in the Jacksonville Women's Open.

Miss Suggs, smooth swinger from Carrollton, Ga., scored 37-38—75 to go with her opening round 73 for a 148. She was four under par for the 36 holes over the 6,282-yard Brentwood Municipal Course.

With only Sunday's 18-hole round left to play, she was three strokes in front of the field.

Faulk Is Second
Mary Lena Faulk, tall Thomasville, Ga., girl who has come into prominence only in the last year, was second to Miss Suggs two-thirds of the way through the tourney. She had a shaky start Saturday but came back strongly for 40-37 over the par 37-39—76 links for a total of 151.

Betty Jameson, tall Texan from San Antonio, shot the day's best round at 39-35—74 to go into the third-place tie with Babe Zaharias, Tampa veteran who still is scrambling for her scores. Mrs. Zaharias had 78 Saturday. She and Miss Jameson had 152 for the 36 holes.

Betty Rawls, National Open champion from Austin, Texas, who shared the first-day lead with Miss Suggs, skied to 80 and a two-day total of 153.

Other scores included: Marie Bauer, Sarasota, Fla., 79-76—155 (fifth place); Alice Bauer, Sarasota, Fla., 79-81—160 (ninth place); Betty MacKinnon, Dallas, 83-79—162 (twelfth place); Pat Garner, Midland, 78-91—169 (tied for top amateur).

Andrews Mustangs Rally To Win Own Basketball Tourney

ANDREWS — The Mustangs of Andrews High School came from behind in the last 10 seconds of play here Saturday night to defeat Levelland, 48-46, and win the Andrews Invitational Basketball Tournament.

Trailing one point with 10 seconds left to play, Bill Spears came through with a two-pointer and then Roby Hamilton added another point after the final whistle had sounded.

Spears and Tommy Singleton, with 12 points each, and Donald Ragsdale, with 14 points, paced the Mustang attack.

Seminole beat Monahans, 40-37, for third place while Kermit defeated Tahoka in the consolation finals.

Andrews won its way to the finals by defeating Kermit, 31-30, in a first-round thriller and then disposing of Monahans, 43 to 34.

Levelland trounced Tahoka, 63-28, and then edged Seminole, 44-42.

Ronnie Hucklebee scored nine points for Andrews against Kermit, while Jack Krodell's nine points led Kermit. Tom Singleton scored 19 points against Monahans, Dave Hughes getting 13 for the Lobos.

Monahans had defeated Seagraves, 37-23, with Red Farrell hitting eight points. Seminole shot McCamey down, 39-21, led by Jack Goehard's 11 points. Gary Davidson canned 10 for McCamey.

Harold Phelan was Levelland's hot rock, getting 11 against Tahoka and 24 against Seminole.

In consolation play, Kermit thumped Seagraves, 57 to 31, to advance to the consolation finals as Krodell scored 13 points. Tahoka advanced to the consolation finals with a 45-20 thumping of McCamey.

SMU Rallies Late To Outscore Rice
DALLAS —(AP)—Southern Methodist rallied in the last half Saturday night to beat Rice, 57-53, in a Southwest Conference basketball game.

Rice built up an 18-11 lead in the first period but was ahead only 26-25 at the half.

In the nip-and-tuck third, the Methodists finally got control, though the lead changed hands three times and the teams were tied on four occasions before SMU closed the session, 46-44.

With Bert Dickens and Gene Schwinger fouled out for Rice and it was after these big fellows left that SMU never was behind in the fourth period.

North Batters South, 20-6, In Senior Bowl

MOBILE, ALA. — (AP) — Al Dorow, a passing master from Michigan State, ran 87 yards with an intercepted pass for one touchdown and passed for another to lead the North to a 20-6 victory over the South in the Senior Bowl football game here Saturday.

Until Dorow intercepted a pass tossed by Vanderbilt's Bill Wade in the third quarter, victory in this final college football bowl game could have gone to either side. But Dorow's touchdown run-back put the South too far behind to catch up.

The crowd of 20,336 fans—most of them rabid Rebels—got a bit of pleasure late in the game when Kentucky's Babe Parilli finally began hitting with his throws.

First Tank Victory
Parilli and South Carolina's Steve Wadiak worked the ball to the Yankee goal and Wadiak made the crossing on a three-yard trip over left guard.

The victory was the first for a North squad in this three-year-old competition between senior college stars from every section of the country.

Members of the Yankee team, which included numerous Southerners to help equalize the two squads, became professionals immediately after the game, when they accepted $500 each as their share of proceeds.

Neither Southern passer—Wade of Vanderbilt or Parilli—gained as they were expected to. But neither did Fred Benner of Southern Methodist, a North team member.

Dorow's 87-yard interception run made the score 13-0 for the North-ers and from then on there was little doubt the Yanks would win. But then Parilli and Wadiak partially got the Rebels back in the game and Dorow was called on to wrap it up once and all.

Dorow Leads Parade
Soon after the final quarter opened, Dorow, North Quarterback John Coats of Wisconsin, Bill Reichardt of Iowa, and Frank Gifford of Southern California got the North to moving again. A Dorow-to-Gifford touchdown pass for three yards capped off the push after a 67-yard downfield drive.

Oklahoma's Jim Weatherall converted twice.
Wade's misfired pass got the second half off in wild style and Parilli and Wadiak kept the festivities going. Wadiak's touchdown ended a 68-yard drive in 11 plays, most of them Parilli passes.

The South's resurgence soon died and Dorow's pass to Gifford followed for the final North score. The play came on a fake draw play executed to perfection by Modzelewski. The first half was sloppily played by both teams and gave little indication of the great game coming up in the second half. The South did not complete a pass before the intermission.

College Presidents Convene To Plan Sports De-Emphasis

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Eleven college presidents meet Sunday to work out details of how inter-collegiate sports may be de-emphasized.

The presidents are members of a special committee set up by the influential American Council on Education to study what's wrong with sports.

Raymond Howes of the council told a reporter the presidents hope that by the time they conclude their meetings Monday they will have, in writing, an athletic code which can be enforced.

The code then will be submitted to the executive committee of the council for its approval or disapproval.

In previous meetings here the presidents all have agreed that:

1. Post-season football games should be abolished;
2. Freshmen should not be allowed to play on varsity teams;
3. Athletics should take the same courses as their classmates, and keep up with them in their progress toward degrees;
4. Booster clubs should not be permitted to give financial help directly to athletes, and
5. "Lavish entertainment" of high school stars should be forbidden.

Recruiting Big Problem
Still to be decided is what the committee's chairman and spokesman, Dr. John Hannah of Michigan State, calls the heart of the problem:

What can be done to control recruiting and subsidizing?

Howes said the presidents figure the code will run four or five pages, and that one of these pages will be devoted to the subsidizing of star athletes.

Hannah said after the meeting last month that the presidents had proposed that schools which violated the proposed code would endanger their academic standing.

The council is made up of all the leading educational schools and associations in the country, but it has no power to enforce its decision.

Phillips 66, Artesia REA To Play Here

The famed Phillips 66 basketball team of Bartlesville, Okla., will perform in Midland February 14, meeting REA Travelers of Artesia, N. M.

It originally was planned for Rotary Engineering Company to meet the 66 team, but REA was contacted and agreed to play the AAU conference tilt in the Midland High School gym.

Rotary will tangle with an unnamed opponent in the first game the same night. Speculation is that an all-star team from Midland's City League may face the Rotary bunch.

Phillips, as usual, is having a successful season. The 66'ers have suffered only one loss this year and boast such stars as Loy Doty, Wyoming; D. L. Miller, Arkansas; Lloyd Hendrix, Houston U; Ken Pryor and Paul Courty, Oklahoma U; Bob Kurland, Oklahoma A&M; Bill Klein, Missouri Valley College; Jim Line, Kentucky U; Claude Houchin, Kansas U; Bus Whitehead, Nebraska U; Bob Likens, Oklahoma Baptist U; Bob Pierce, Nebraska U, and Wayne Glasgow, Oklahoma University. Cab Renick, Oklahoma A&M, is the coach.

Artesia REA has a flock of ex-Southwest Conference stars, headed by Don Heatherington, Baylor University.

Texas Loop Moguls To Adopt Schedule, Talk Franchise Move

HOUSTON — (AP) — Texas League officials meet here Sunday to adopt a schedule for next season and perhaps discuss the possibility of moving the Beaumont franchise to Mexico City.

President Alvin Gardner and Guy Airey, owner of the Beaumont franchise, said "It's a distinct possibility for 1952, but very unlikely for 1951."

Beaumont, which led the league in 1950 and finished fourth last season, drew only 105,000 fans in 1951.

"It's not Airey who is raising Cain, it's the other Texas League owners who are doing it," said Gardner. "They're unhappy over getting such small cuts of a small gate in Beaumont, and I guess you can't blame them."

The Orange Bowl game January 1 will be homecoming for two Georgia Tech players. Halfback Bobby Moorhead and guard Orville Vereen both hail from Miami.

Diamond Conference Slated In Abilene

ABILENE — (AP) — Baseball executives from several leagues in the Southwest will gather here January 17 and 18 for a promotional conference arranged by the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

It will be one of three meetings conducted by Robert Finch, director of public relations for the minor leagues, in this section. The others will be held at Oklahoma City January 19 and 20 and at Houston January 21 and 22.

In charge of arrangements for the Abilene session is Hal Sayles, president of the Longhorn League. Baseball men are expected here from the Western, Southwest International, West Texas-New Mexico and Longhorn Leagues, and possibly from some clubs in the Big State and Texas Leagues.

Ticket sale plans and other promotional ideas will be formulated during the meetings.

Five New Champs Certain In Texas Gloves Tournament

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Johnny O'Glee, Raymond Riojas and Eugene Cooper will be back, but at least five new champions will be crowned in the 16th annual State Golden Gloves Tournament February 13-18 here at Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum.

Of course, as many as eight new titlists could be crowned, for O'Glee, Riojas and Cooper aren't even sure of reaching the state meet. They first must win regional titles.

Nineteen Texas regions hold tournaments to determine their representatives in the state meet. The first of these will be the Fort Worth regional January 17-21.

Riojas, the Fort Worth featherweight, and Cooper, the Amarillo middleweight, again will fight in their customary weight classes, but O'Glee, the Dallas and North Texas State College southpaw, has been forced to move up from lightweight to welter. He has won three straight lightweight crowns and that's the limit under Golden Gloves rules.

Three Colleges, Two Pro Teams Without Mentors

NEW YORK — (AP) — Football coaches looking for jobs in a major college or professional ranks may apply to at least three schools and two members of the National Football League.

And there may be a fourth opening among the nation's top collegiate gridiron powers before another day rolls around.

Jobs are open at Pittsburgh, Indiana and Arizona among the colleges and at Washington and the Chicago Cardinals in the NFL. Forrest Evashevski has told Washington State authorities he'll tell them by Sunday whether he'll be back at the helm of the Cougars.

Actually Pittsburgh still has a coach in Athletic Director Tom Hamilton but the war time organizer of Navy athletics has announced he doesn't want the job again. He stepped in last season when Len Casanova resigned in July to take over the coaching reins at the University of Oregon.

Hamilton was scheduled to sit down with the school's athletic committee Saturday to talk over the situation. Some 80 men have applied for the job, including Johnny Michelosen, former coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers of the NFL; Red Dawson, backfield coach at Michigan State and Bill Glassford, youthful mentor at Nebraska.

There have been no announcements from either Indiana or Arizona regarding replacements for Clyde Smith and Bob Winslow, respectively. Both stepped out last Fall after their teams failed to play up to expectations.

The Cardinals are looking for a replacement for Curley Lambeau, who quit the pro club before the end of the season. Joseph L. Kuharchik, coach of the University of San Francisco's unbeaten eleven last year, is reported to be the No. 1 man in line for the job.

Kuharchik announced his resignation at San Francisco before the school dropped football along with Loyola of Los Angeles.

George Marshall also is searching for a man to coach his Washington Redskins in the NFL. Dick Todd took over the Redskins late in October when Marshall fired Herman Ball and was unable to obtain Hunk Anderson from the Chicago Bears.

There also is a possibility the Philadelphia Eagles will have a new coach. Wayne Miller, who replaced the ailing Bo McMillin early in the season, didn't have too much success with the club.

Two major jobs which became vacant after the close of the season were filled promptly. Murray Warmath, Army line coach, replaced Arthur (Slick) Morton at Mississippi State and Horace Hendrickson moved up from assistant to take Beattie Feathers' job at North Carolina State.

Harry Boykoff, former college and professional basketball star, now owns a diaper service in Toledo, Ohio.

In the absence of Larry King, who was tied up with a basketball tournament in Odessa, King's Row for this edition was written by Bob Adams, member of The Reporter-Telegram staff.

Few Southwest conference basketball players or coaches are likely to mourn the decision of seven-foot Arkansas center Billy (Toar) Hester to retire to the farm.

This human version of the fabled bean stalk which grew out of proportions, listed an "intense dislike" for school as his reason for giving up the sport.

The celebrated giant from the hill country had managed to dunk a mere average of 15.7 points so far this season and was nestled "way down" in third place in the Southwest Conference race.

And that was in a season which one of the press services cited as "disappointing" for the big center.

If that wasn't enough, Hester was chided for failing to live up to advance expectations.

Makes one wonder just what is expected of an outgrown cage player who admitted that he didn't like the sport.

Perhaps it was false logic in the first place to assume that the towering Hester would develop into a cage star of national proportions just because the basketball net rubs against his head.

If not it would be just as fair to assume that a person with prominent lips would become an outstanding baseball player.

At any rate the celebrated Arkansas giant performed tolerably well as long as he could stand off the post and have his teammates feed the basketball into him for a looping hook shot.

But when the opposition grabbed the ball (as they are almost certain to do occasionally) Toar literally was left at the post as the opposing team galloped to the opposite end of the court.

And herein lies the dilemma of the cage giant which nature so liberally endowed with limbs.

Most of the "giants" lack the poise necessary to develop into an all-around good player. A few George Mikan and Bob Kurlands excepted, of course.

When the job calls for wheeling in the upper stratosphere with the ball toward the direction of the basket—all goes well. Most of the players have to operate at a lower altitude and hence the giant can sail the ball into the nets with little opposition.

But when the shorter legged foe grabs the ball and heads for pay dirt, it takes daddy long-legs a while to get wound up.

Even so we would toss poise off the court if we could persuade a disinterested seven-foot farm boy to aim for the basket occasionally to throw off some of his wrath for the sport.

And if he disliked school we would prepare him with a crib sheet (but then that's cheating) or lug his books to and from the classrooms.

That is if he cared little enough to dunk in—say 15 or 16 points per game.

Then maybe we could get the other four players interested enough in the sport to branch out of their art of passing the ball to the tall framed hook shot artist and aim for the basket occasionally.

Anyhow Southwest Conference foes who opposed Toar are likely to wish him success in his return to farming.

That is unless he crops up again on the basketball court.

McGrath Orders 93 Grand Juries Called To Check On Crime

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Attorney General McGrath Saturday ordered 93 special grand juries called into session throughout the nation to investigate "racketeers, gangsters and organized crime syndicates."

In a dramatic move perhaps unprecedented in its scope, McGrath directed that underworld figures and racketeers be haled before the juries. The Secret Service, Post Office inspectors and many other federal police agencies are slated to cooperate in the crackdown, McGrath said.

The orders went out to United States attorneys, who were told to call grand juries in each of the 93 federal judicial districts as soon as possible, and report their findings about organized crime to the Justice Department.

The move came at a time when McGrath was under fire from critics who assert he has not been vigorous in combating corruption in government. Only Friday McGrath denied a flurry of reports that he was about to leave the cabinet.

Kefauver Follow-Up
The McGrath action was a direct follow-up to last year's Senate Crime Committee investigation, during which the far-flung activities of the underworld were laid bare in televised hearings.

McGrath, in testimony before the committee headed by Senator Kefauver, (D-Tenn.), suggested annual federal grand jury investigations into crime conditions. The suggestion was adopted as one of the committee's recommendations.

The attorney general also announced Saturday that the Justice Department's criminal division headed by Assistant Attorney General James M. McInerney, is establishing a new "racket unit" to coordinate information on the underworld to be gathered by the 93 special grand juries and other juries.

Quick Action Asked
McGrath told the U. S. attorneys they should move as soon as possible by calling a conference of the local chiefs of the FBI, Secret Service, Customs Bureau, Alcohol Tax Unit, Internal Revenue, Bureau of Narcotics, Bureau of Securities and Exchange Commission, and the Post Office Inspection Service.

This get-together, he said, should develop the necessary suggestions for directing the work of the special juries, and in deciding what state and local officials should be invited to participate in the jury proceedings.

McGrath said the first of the special grand juries already is in session at Atlanta, Ga., and is hearing testimony under the direction of U. S. Attorney J. Ellis Mundy.

ence in which he made these points:

1. "The prospects for world peace are solid in 1952."

2. Regarding the threat of a Russian war, "I don't think there is any greater danger now than at the time of the Berlin airlift, provided we take prudent measures."

3. In response to a question whether he saw any advantage in a meeting between President Truman and Generalissimo Stalin of Russia, he said: "It all depends on the setting and the events leading up to it."

Talks Start Monday

"Of course," he added, "it would be very satisfactory if we could get a settlement of the many common difficulties that confront us."

Advance indications were that the first task of the two men and their advisers would be to agree in a general way at least how they would proceed in their sessions here. Their talk Saturday was described as informal. Formal working sessions are scheduled in the White House Monday and Tuesday.

When the prime minister stepped out on the ramp, Truman, dressed in a grey suit, grey tie, overcoat and soft, buff-colored hat, was waiting at the foot of the steps. Churchill, for all his years, stepped down vigorously and stretched his hand to the President, at the same time baring his head to the wintry blast. Truman also uncovered and shook hands enthusiastically.

Following Churchill came Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and other members of his party, including Lord Lismay, Commonwealth secretary, Lord Cherwell, paymaster general and atomic bomb of Britain; Churchill's physician, Lord Moran, and Field Marshal Sir William Slim, chief of the imperial general staff.

To Address Congress
Truman shook hands with each of these and other members of the party in turn.

Churchill walked over and personally greeted Vice President Barkley, Secretary of State Acheson, Secretary of Defense Lovett, and other members of the cabinet and then spoke to members of the joint chiefs of staff and to ambassadors in Washington of the British Commonwealth countries.

He will be in Washington through next Wednesday, when it is expected he will leave for visits to Ottawa and New York. He will return here on January 15 and on January 17 address a joint session of Congress. That will be his major speech of the trip.

Bottleneck Threat Arises In New Auto Inspection Statute

By The Associated Press
If the family car hasn't been safety-inspected by March 31 it will have to stay in the garage until it gets the official once-over.

"It's a law you can't do anything about," Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Department of Public Safety, said Saturday in Houston. He said there would be no extension of time for motorists to get the safety inspections, which are required before 1952 vehicle licenses can be paid.

"Motorists have to have the test to get a license for 1952," Garrison said. "That's the law and there can't be any deviation."

Garrison would not predict if the 3,500,000 Texas cars, buses, and trucks could be safely inspected by the deadline.

Few Stations Operating
Reports from different sections of the state indicated only a few auto inspection stations were in operation. Those few were clogged with motorists who came early and stayed late.

Some inspection points found as high as 60 per cent of the vehicles tested did not pass. These must be run through the inspections again after the defects are corrected.

However, Garrison and his assistants were optimistic over chances of breaking the bottleneck soon.

Thirty-five hundred firms have applied for certificates as inspection stations but only 400 are in operation, said Capt. George Busby, chief of the Motor Vehicle Inspection Division.

Another 600 or 700 stations have been approved, Busby said, and will be in operation soon.

Missing Fighter Believed Sighted North Of Tucson

TUCSON, ARIZ. — (AP) — An F-51 Mustang fighter plane missing since last Sunday was believed spotted high in the Santa Catalina Mountains late Saturday. The plane appeared to be upside down. No sign of life was seen.

An Air Force pilot picked out the remains of the ship on the west slope of Bassett Peak, about 16 miles north of Tucson.

Civil Air Patrol planes flew low over the spot and reported the plane definitely had been an F-51.

A ground crew was sent into the rugged mountains and was expected to reach the scene of the crash shortly after midnight, according to Bill Thomas, commander of the CAP search squadron.

The single-seater fighter was on a flight from Merced, Calif., to El Paso, Texas, when the pilot radioed the Davis-Monthan Air Force Base tower that he was near Tucson and asked landing instructions.

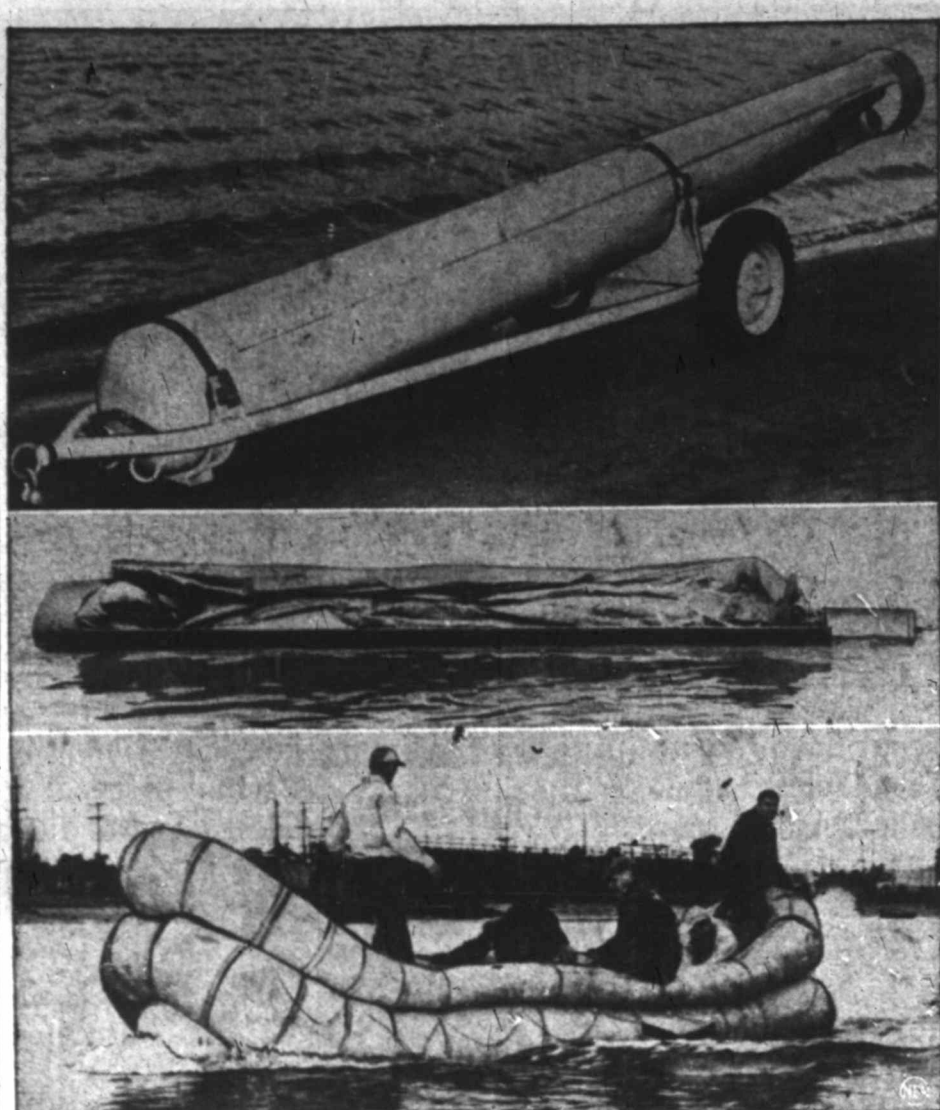

The plane never reached the field.

Oldest German Says U. S. Artillery Good

GELNHAUSEN, GERMANY — (AP) — Karl Gloeckner, 107, a white-haired German villager who was a gunner himself in the Franco-Prussian War of 1870, looked over a 105-millimeter U. S. Howitzer Saturday and said it was "good."

"Very similar (to the old guns), but more mobile and accurate," he told American artillerymen. "But the principle is still the same, except for the higher range now."

Gloeckner is the oldest living German. He celebrated his 107th birthday December 28.

January Thaws Show Up Mailman

GARY, IND. — (AP) — The January thaws have caught up with an extra mailman who got too tired in the Christmas crush.

Postmaster James Neugebauer said recent thaws turned up 3,000 pieces of mail in sacks which had been dumped in snowdrifts along the pre-Christmas routes of Crawford L. Williams, 18-year-old high school senior.

The postmaster said Williams explained: "I was cold. I was tired and it was snowing too bad."

The youth was held without charge.

Midlander To Tour With Cowboy Band

ABILENE — Bill Hill of Midland is a member of the Cowboy Band of Hardin-Simmons University which will make a concert tour of eight Texas cities Tuesday through Friday.

This will be the first tour of the school year for the band, which is one of the most widely traveled of all university musical groups.

The band, under the direction of Marion B. McClure, will give concerts in Mineral Wells, Fort Worth, Arlington, Terrell, Palestine, Athens, Cleburne and Weatherford.

TAILORFINE, INC. WILL CLOSE FOR ULMER FUNERAL
Tailorfine Clothes, Inc., will be closed from 2:30 until 3:30 p.m. Monday out of respect to the memory of M. C. Ulmer, Midland banker and civic leader, who died at his home here Friday night.

Funeral services for Ulmer are scheduled at 2:30 p.m. Monday.

ONE THAT DIDN'T GET AWAY—A new industry for Chile is one of the world's oldest—whaling. A fleet of eight ships, operating out of Quintay, catches an average of 1200 whales a year, with a yield of 5000 tons of valuable oil, 1000 tons of nitrogen fertilizer and other by-products. Size of the whales can be seen from the 74-foot monster, above, hauled up on processing dock at Quintay.

"TORSO" SORE, SO SUES—Curvaceous Jeanne Carmen, who claims she supplied the shapely torso for the 1952 Esquire calendar, wants $50,000 in damages from television comic Ken Murray for introducing another girl as the "calendar girl." Jeanne, a native of Dallas, Tex., now in New York, says her shapely, five-foot-six body has appeared under the heads of a dozen Hollywood stars in advertising during the past five years. The shock of seeing another girl get the publicity she'd been promised as the 1952 calendar girl, she says, caused her to be ill, to stop working and to file the suit in New York's Supreme Court.

23 Egyptians Killed As Riots Flare Anew In Suez Canal Zone

ISMAILIA, EGYPT — (AP) — Twenty-three Egyptians were killed and six Britons wounded in two days of fighting at Suez, the British Army reported Saturday night.

An eyewitness from Suez said Egyptian mobs were getting out of hand, and "it's not the British they're having trouble with now, it's each other. Police and Moslems and who knows who else are having a go at each other."

The British Army said the caretaker of the Christian Coptic Church at Suez was killed, his body dragged through the streets and set afire, and the church gutted by fire Friday. Most Egyptians are Moslems. The Copts in Egypt mostly are descendants of Egyptians who adopted Christianity in the Fourth Century.

British officials said the Egyptian government was trying to hush up some of the incidents in Suez.

Traitor Charges Fly
A Cairo dispatch quoted the newspaper Al Balagh as saying "traitors acting as British spies" intervened in fighting between the British and Egyptian police and "commandos" Friday and fired on the Egyptians from the rear. The newspaper said three of the alleged traitors were captured and shot.

Fighting in Suez started Thursday. The British said Egyptian snipers began firing at detachments guarding a water filtration plant. It developed into the second major clash in the Suez area since the Egyptians cancelled their treaty with Britain in mid-October and began trying to throw the British out.

The British said Centurian tanks and mortars were used to silence Egyptian snipers from low, flat rooftops and other vantage points.

Al Balagh reported all quiet in the area Saturday, with 1,000 British soldiers, supported by tanks, guarding the water plant.

A British spokesman said about 15 shots were fired by snipers in the area Saturday but no casualties resulted.

Army's Oldest GI, Home From Korea, Not Ready To Quit

DOWNNEY, CALIF. — (AP) — The Army's oldest active enlisted man, T. Sgt. Delbert Jenkins, 71, came home from the wars Saturday after almost nine years of continuous service overseas.

With him came his 71-year-old wife, Maniatta, who joined her husband in Japan five years ago and became known there as the "mother of Yokohama."

Although still weary after a stormy crossing from Tokyo on a transport and a 36-hour bus ride from Seattle, the Jenkinses insisted:

"We're not ready to retire to a rocking chair yet!"

Jenkins, a veteran of both world wars and the Korean action, is due to report to Fort Ord, Calif., for reassignment on January 22.

"I've still got a lot of mileage in me," the sergeant said with a wry grin as he expressed anxiety that the Army may want to retire him.

"With the world in such a precarious state, neither my wife nor I want to sit on the sidelines," he declared.

Six Negroes Die When Bus Overturns

LEESVILLE, LA. — (AP) — A busload of negroes overturned Saturday, killing six and injuring three others seriously.

Capt. Wingate White of the state police said the bus was carrying 14 negroes to Camp Polk, near here, where all were employed.

He said the vehicle had just picked up its last passenger and was pulling out on Highway 171 just inside the city limits when it skidded and overturned. An oil heater was upset, he said, setting fire to the bus and trapping the six who were killed.

Dry Weather Slows Concho Hereford Sale

SAN ANGELO — (AP) — Dry weather slowed action at the Concho Hereford Association sale here Saturday.

Seventy-one bulls averaged $895 a head and six females $807 a head. This is lower than last year's $1,000 average on all animals sold. Dry pastures and herds cut short were blamed.

Top price was $5,000, paid by Rector Henderson of San Angelo for Mixer Royal B, consigned by W. B. Barrett of Comanche.

Joe Barton of San Angelo paid $2,500 for Star Domino 45, from Lib Wallace & Son of Sonora.

Cap Rock Cooperative Holds Annual Dinner

STANTON — The annual dinner party for the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative officers, directors, employees and their families was held Friday night in the dining room of the First Methodist Church. More than sixty persons including guests attended the gathering.

Manager O. B. Bryan introduced the program which included skits and readings by Hila Weathers, manager of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce, and L. J. Batton, of Lomax, a member of the cooperative.

First bale of cotton exported from the United States to Europe was shipped from Charleston, S.C., in 1784.

Truce Talks—

mitted to build and repair airfields in North Korea during an armistice. The Allies dared the Communists to try to build them now, while hostilities are going on.

The arguments on air bases produced a statement by Maj. Gen. Howard M. Turner, chief Allied sub-delegate, that the Allies "hold great hopes for the resurgence of the freedom-loving, peace-loving China we have known not long ago."

Turner told Chinese Maj. Gen. Hsieh Fang:

"We Americans think highly of the people of China. We have seen the color of their blood spilled alongside us in battle. . . . Many Americans have died in defense of China."

"You cannot be of such short memory. . . . as to have forgotten the many ways in which the American people have assisted the people of China in war, in famine, in disaster and in plague."

Hsieh replied: "You know full well you do not represent the American people." Hsieh added that statements made in the tent by the Allies were slandering and insulting the American people. He charged the Allies with aggression.

No Idea of Quitting
Turner looked at Hsieh and said coldly:

"Well, I'll tell you something, General Hsieh, the UN Command did not come to Korea to surrender. The UN Command came to Korea to frustrate an attempted forcible seizure of the Republic of Korea by your forces."

"The UN Command has done just that. Having done so, we have no intention of walking away under a threat of your development of air power during an armistice, leaving the Republic of Korea to your tender mercies."

Turner asserted Hsieh had cast himself "in the role of a bandit." The Chinese fumed in reply: "You have fully exposed your ugly, ferocious features of bandit."

Rare editions and manuscripts of the Library of Congress are kept in air conditioned vaults to prevent deterioration.

Broadway's Children Star In Old-Fashion 'Three R's'

School bells on Broadway: Betty Jane Seagle (left) of "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" and Jenny Hecht, daughter of writer Ben Hecht, are pupils at the Professional Children's School in New York. Children who study here have made a start on careers in radio, the theater and TV.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK—Going to school in an office building on Broadway, without benefit of green grass, playgrounds or a ball field, might not seem like fun to the average youngster. But the 210 children enrolled in Broadway's famed Little Red School House think there's no school like their school.

And they're quite right. The Professional Children's School is unique. Every pupil enrolled in it has made some sort of start in show business, be it the theater, radio or TV. These kids are true professionals, serious about their careers and working hard at them.

In their own school, where they have the same subjects studied by kids everywhere, they have a schedule that's built around show business. They go to classes from 10 a.m. until 3:15 p.m. This gives them time to reach the theater for a matinee, to attend a rehearsal, to audition for a new show or to get extra sleep after an evening's performance.

The notes that come from home asking that Johnny be excused rarely are written in connection with a case of mumps. It's almost always a case of stardust. Permission is readily granted because the teachers, too, love show business.

But, while the school adjusts its routine to its pupils, there is no laxity about study rules. From first grade through high school, the children are the special responsibility of both New York State and New York City.

When they miss classes, they have to make up their work. If they go on the road with a show, they keep up their studies by means of a stiff correspondence course.

The first year that the Little Red School House first swung wide its doors was 1914. That year, Deaconess Jane Harris Hall of the famed Little Church Around the Corner was shocked when she found that there was a whole group of stage children who were bright enough but had never learned to read or write.

Their parents hadn't bothered to send them to school because the hours conflicted with rehearsals and matinees. Deaconess Hall took the children in charge and with the aid of some borrowed books, held the first classes.

Since then, the school has had a hand in turning out some famous pupils. Ida Lupino, Nancy Kelly, Nancy Walker, George Price, Ann Blyth, Eddie Bracken, Penny Singleton and Beatrice Kay are numbered among the alumni.

Temperament is the one problem that might be expected to loom large. Actually, it doesn't loom at all. The girl who works regularly in a radio soap opera probably sits next to the boy who has an important part in a Broadway show. This way, there's no room for upstaging and, during school hours, at any rate, no prima donnas.

Citizenship Contest To Be Sponsored By West Texas Chamber

ABILENE — The West Texas Chamber of Commerce Saturday announced a "Fundamentals of Citizenship Contest" aimed at stimulating payment of poll taxes, voting in the primary and general elections and attendance at party precinct conventions.

Eligible to enter are local chambers of commerce in the 132-county area served by the WTCC and other organizations which are affiliated. In some smaller communities service clubs serve as chambers of commerce.

The contest will open Monday and end November 11. Awards will be made on a county basis in four groups — those of 50,000 or more population, 20,000 to 50,000, 10,000 to 20,000 and less than 10,000.

Portion of citizens paying poll tax in comparison to total 1950 population, 25 per cent.

Portion voting in first and second primaries and the general election, compared to county population, 25 per cent.

Campaign conducted to promote the contest — 25 per cent.

Percentage of citizens attending precinct conventions compared to population, 25 per cent.

Wall plaques and trophies will be awarded winners.

Mrs. Bobby Howard

Ceremony Read For Midland Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Howard are on a wedding trip to Fort Davis following their marriage Wednesday in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Lucas.

The Rev. Monroe Teeters of Key officiated at the double-ring ceremony. The bride is the former Peggy Lucas. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Howard.

The mantle of the fireplace, before which the ceremony was read, held an arrangement of white gladioli flanked by white tapers in crystal candelabra.

Black Accessories
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an off-the-shoulder, ballerina length dress of eggshell brocade satin. She wore black accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. B. E. Burrow, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a grey taffeta dress with gold accessories. Jack Russell served as the best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held. A scrum linen cloth covered the table which was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Robert Howard served the cake and Mrs. J. B. Branham poured.

Mrs. Jesse Mason

Walton And Mason Exchange Vows

In a double-ring ceremony Saturday, Natalie Walton became the bride of Jesse Mason. The ceremony was performed in the First Methodist Church, with the Rev. R. Luther Kirk, pastor, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Walton of Mason. The church was decorated with baskets of white gladioli, palms and white tapers.

George L. DeHart, organist, played traditional wedding music. The church choir sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love."

Attendees Listed

Mrs. Raymond Addison of Snyder, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Paul Fitzgerald of Houston, Betty Hudson of Mason and Buna Higgins of Snyder. Jim Moore was best man and the ushers were James Paul Cooper of Odessa, Curtis Regan of Midland and Laban Walton of Mason. Patti Mason of Fort Worth, daughter of the bridegroom, was the flower girl.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Rankin Walton, wore a dress of white lace with a fitted bodice and a shadow neckline. The skirt was ballerina length with lace and nylon tulle over white satin. The fingertip length veil was of nylon tulle. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli and a shower of white satin ribbon.

The matron of honor wore a light blue ballerina length dress of taffeta with a full gathered skirt. She carried a bouquet of maroon shaded carnations with blue mallow.

The bridesmaids wore ballerina length dresses of maroon taffeta and carried bouquets of blue shaded carnations and maroon mallow. The flower girl's dress was of light blue taffeta and carried a basket of blue flowers.

Reception Held

A reception was held in the church parlor. The couple was assisted in receiving by the bride's mother, Mrs. Mason. Mrs. Addison, Mrs. Fitzgerald, Miss Higgins and Miss Hudson.

The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of blue carnations with maroon ribbon and flanked with blue candles.

Lillie Gilbert and Lillie Reithmayer were in the house party.

After Tuesday the couple will be at home at 700 North Main Street.

For traveling the bride chose a royal blue gabardine suit with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mason is a geologist for the Union Oil Company of California. Mrs. Mason is employed as a clerk in the personnel department of Shell Oil Company.

Mrs. Mason is a graduate of McMurry College in Abilene and Mason was graduated from Texas Christian University.

Rejuvenate Your Old Winter-Weary Coat

The out-dated, worn-looking fur coat (left) has been given a smart new line (left center) by removing the heavy "football" padding, and substituting soft, rounded shoulders, changing the flat collar to one that frames the face, and replacing the uninspired sleeves with wide bell sleeves that feature a lined cuff, which can be raised or lowered. The back of the coat now has four bars, and to insure a more graceful line, the hem is longer in the back than in the front. If your fur is only pretty in spots, the fur-lined coat (center right) keeps as much fur out of sight as is possible, and displays the best in the collar. Grandma's old Hudson seal may not offer complete remodeling possibilities, either, but chances are, it can be condensed into a glamorous evening stole (right) or cape.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

If the family skeleton in your closet is a fur coat that you believe has outlived its usefulness, better take another look. According to Harry Treu, expert fur craftsman, about 85 per cent of the furs banished from their wardrobes can definitely be remodeled.

The future of your fur can easily be determined by a simple touch test. Just pinch the leather between your fingers and see if it cracks. This is the one vital danger signal, because dried-out leather can rarely be restored.

As long as the leather is soft and supple, however, there's no reason why your coat can't be remodeled in any style you wish. The important thing to remember at this point is to choose a furrier whose reputation is firmly established. His skill will determine the outcome of your investment. (The cost of remodeling generally runs from $25 to $150.)

Once you and the fur expert have come to a decision regarding style and price, he should make cloth models of the new lines, and then rip the whole coat apart, so that he can start rebuilding from scratch.

Old worn fur should be replaced with matching pieces. Fur will have to be added to allow for any new flares and sweep. If you are satisfied with the body line of your old coat, the furrier can bring it up-to-date by changing the sleeves, narrowing down the shoulders, or putting on a collar. Such changes are not expensive, either. Narrowing the shoulders, for instance, can be done for about $15.

The trouble with your coat may be nothing more than discoloration. The furrier may suggest blending (applying color to the top of the fur) to give it new life, or a complete dyeing job (dipping the fur into a vat of color dye). Furs like sheared beaver or raccoon can often be rejuvenated by a fresh shearing. When the hairs are clipped, a soft under-hair is revealed.

Once your coat is remodeled, there are a few important home care "musts" which should be observed. First, always keep your coat in cold storage during the hot months of Summer. This is not so much to keep moths out of the fur (moth holes can be patched) but rather to keep the leather soft and pliable. Heat dries out leather!

In Winter, when you are not wearing your coat, hang it on a long-necked hanger, and keep it in a reasonably cool closet, away from those hot water pipes.

Another important fur necessity is a yearly cleaning. Unless furs are kept clean, the grease and grit form a shell around the hairs, dry them out, and cause the fur to break off. The best place to have your furs cleaned is at a furrier's. Dry-cleaning fluids are injurious to the life of the fur.

Since your fur coat will be exposed to the rains and snows of Winter, you should also know how to take care of it when it gets wet. To eliminate snarls and tangling, brush and comb short-and-long-haired furs (in the direction of the fur), and then hang the coat to dry in a spot where it won't come

Pecos Rainfall For Year Is 3.55 Inches

PECOS—Pecos was a dry place during most of 1951, having recorded only 3.55 inches of rain throughout the 12-month period.
Rain fell in Pecos in six months of 1951, in addition to "traces" of rain in April and June. Wettest month of the year was July, with 1.42 inches, followed by March with 1.38 inches.
There was no moisture in February, May, October and November.

Reeves Marriages Triple Divorces

PECOS—Old Man Stork and Dan Cupid, enjoyed a successful year in Reeves County during 1951, statistics disclose.
Total number of marriages during the year was almost three times as great as the number of divorces. Births were more than four times as frequent as were deaths.
Records show that there were 163 marriages, 56 divorces, 498 births and 104 deaths.

MEDICAL PATIENT

Jewell G. Cayce, Eunice, N. M., Friday was admitted to Midland Memorial Hospital as a medical patient.

In contact with anything else. A coat of Persian lamb or caracul needs only to be shaken vigorously before it is hung up.

The extra care you give your fur coat will assure you added years of pleasure. With the new and advanced methods of coat remodeling, you owe it to yourself and to an old fur favorite to investigate the possibilities.

RECENT BRIDE—Mr. and Mrs. John L. Stone of Midland announce the marriage of their daughter, Gracie, to Grady E. Frazier, III, of Odessa. The wedding took place recently in Clovis, N. M. Frazier is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Frazier, Jr., of Odessa. The couple will be at home at 306 East Maiden Lane in Midland.

The MATURE PARENT

Fear Can Make Natural Behavior Appear Sinister

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

The father of an adopted child writes me that although she does not know the facts of her birth, she is a happy and contented little girl.

"Why," he asks, "should I divulge the truth to her before she has developed the strength and security to withstand the shock?"

This father certainly should not try to do any divulging at this point. Until he recovers from his fear that the truth would be so shocking, so disturbing to his child that she must have better defenses to stand up to it, he should not attempt to tell it.

His emotions about the facts might present them in an alarming light to his little daughter, just as our own uncomfortable feelings about sex, for example, can make youngsters uneasy about it, too.

I wish this reader could bring himself to get some expert guidance on his attitude toward his foster parenthood. Such help would strengthen him to hold more firmly and confidently to the 'creative goodness of his adoptive action—a necessary development if he wishes his child to regard it as creatively good, no matter how long he postpones telling her the facts. Such help might also shorten the period of strain in which two loving adults must live with their child in cruel and needless fear of the truth.

I am discussing the state of mind in this sincere and conscientious parent because it so well illustrates the point I often try to make in this column—the power of our fear to make a bugaboo of an innocent fact.

Here, in this father's case, the fact is an adoption. Would an expert in this field be alarmed at having to tell his child that he was adopted? No, he wouldn't. His experience has convinced him that a parent's pleasure and pride in his adoptive action insures the child's pleasant and proud reaction to it, too. Would the truth appear menacing to a religious person? No, the truly religious person would say, "As truth is not hostile to love, but is its counterpart, truth can only bring me closer in love to my child."

Fear Makes Difference

The specialist and the religious person are looking at the same fact that my reader is looking at. To him, it is menacing; to them, it appears innocent and benevolent. What makes the difference in what they see? Fear.

It is easy to recognize the fears of others and to perceive how another's fear of losing love is depriving him of peace. But when the fears are ours, we let ourselves be pushed around. Do we, for instance, relate our impatience with our small thumb sucker to our reaction when a neighbor recently called him "backward." Do we link our rage over an impulsive child to fear that the relative who thinks our training is "too soft" may be right? Do we recognize the connection between our own fear of losing love and the way we are behaving to our son's pretty new "date?"

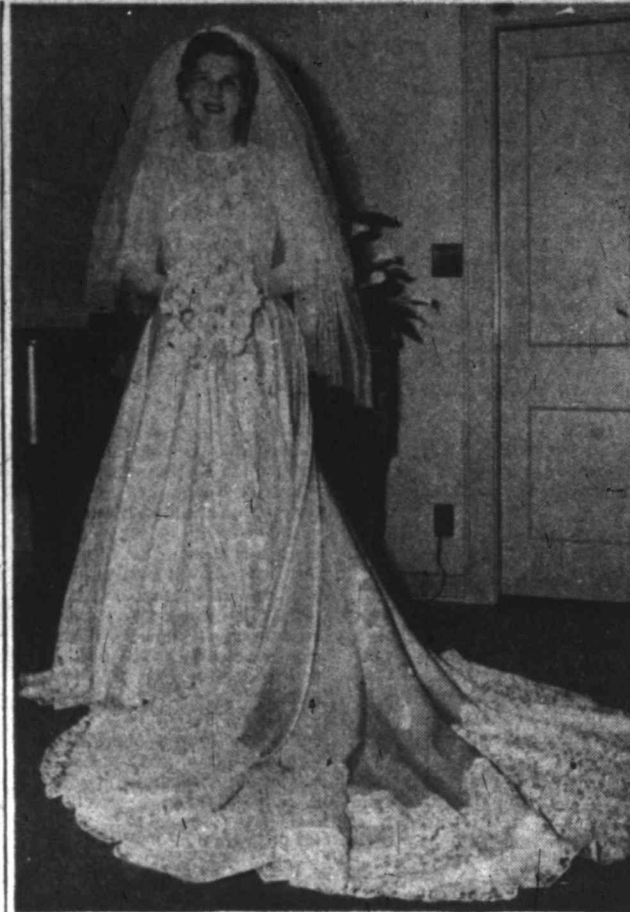

The facts that our children suck thumbs, are impudent or seek out pretty girls for companions are as innocent and benevolent as the fact of adoption. What makes them appear sinister to us is fear.

It is a fact that the state kills people it considers dangerous. Death by state execution is a fact. A criminal, a creature of violence and hate reacts to the prospect of death by state execution with all the violence and hate with which he has reacted to most facts. But once, someone reacted to the prospect of death by state execution by saying, "Father, forgive them; they know not what they do." The criminal and the Christ faced the identical fact. Where was the difference? It wasn't in the fact. Where was it? The answer to this question is very important to us as parents. (All Rights Reserved, NEA Service, Inc.)

JAMES LITTLEJOHN TO APPEAR IN PLAY

James Littlejohn of Midland will participate in a group of one act plays to be presented Thursday night by the Odessa College Little Theater.

The plays to be presented are "For Distinguished Service," "Trifles," "Joint Owners in Spain" and "The Valiant."

Mrs. Theodore Thorson

Annabelle Hughes, Ted Thorson Wed

In a candlelight service in the First Methodist Church of Edcouch, Annabelle Hughes recently became the bride of Theodore Thorson of Santa Maria, Calif.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hughes of Edcouch. Thorson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Playford V. Thorson of Midland.

The Rev. James B. Jordon, assisted by the Rev. Bruce Galloway, read the double-ring ceremony before a choir of background of tapers interspersed with Kenia palms and other greenery.

Baskets of white gladioli with emerald foliage enhanced the altar. Encircling the bride party were antique candlesticks holding cathedral candles. The pews were marked with white satin ribbon and nosegays.

Alva Branch played the wedding music. Patty Doshier and Mrs. Gordon Smith sang the nuptial selections.

Dress Described
Hughes gave his daughter in marriage. The bride wore a lustrous pearl white satin gown enhanced with chintilly lace. The yoke of lace was shoulder width. It dipped onto the form-fitting satin bodice.

The long sleeves tapered to a point over each wrist. A wide lace flounce encircled the bouffant satin skirt which extended into a cathedral length train.

Her bridal illusion veil cascaded from a coronet fashioned of satin beaded with dainty rhinestone and pearls. She carried a bouquet of white camellia and hyacinth blossoms.

Mary Sue Smith of Temple was the bride's only attendant. She wore a gown of American beauty velvet. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice with a cape collar and full skirt. She carried a nosegay of pink carnations centered with pink bouvardia.

P. V. Thorson was his son's best man. Serving as ushers were Buddy Howell, Donald McAlexander, Billy Hughes and Stephen Thorson.

The bride's mother wore a sea green crepe dress with iridescent jewel trim. Her hat was of the same jewels. She wore a purple orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore a dusty rose crepe dress. A close fitting white hat and gloves completed her costume. She wore a white orchid corsage.

Reception Held
A reception was held in the bride's home. Hughes greeted the guests at the door. Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. Thorson, the bride and bridegroom and Miss Smith formed the receiving line in the reception room.

Decorations were pink stock and chrysanthemums. Pink bridal slippers holding arrangements of carnations and sweetheart roses were placed about the room. Evelyn Parker was in charge of the bride's book.

The table was covered with a white organdy cloth. The center arrangement was of pink carnations and sweetheart roses in antique containers. The bases of the vases were graced with two pink bridal slippers.

The wedding cake was in the form of two large hearts. Mrs. Luther Hughes, aunt of the bride, served cake and Mrs. G. O. McDaniel poured.

Others in the house party were Patty Doshier, Paul Anna Jones, Alice Lee Cramer, Mrs. C. V. Jones, Jr. of Austin, Mrs. L. B. Doshier, Mrs. R. B. Carter and Mrs. John Glome.

For her wedding trip the bride wore a suit of navy wool with an ascot of sky blue taffeta with embroidered jewel trim. A blue feather hat completed her ensemble.

Until June the couple will be at home in Santa Maria, Calif., where Thorson is stationed at Hancock Field attending the University of Southern California Aeronautical School. Mrs. Thorson is teaching in the elementary schools.

Mrs. Thorson is a graduate of the University of Texas where she was a member of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority. Thorson attended the University of New Mexico and was a member of the Alpha Phi Omega fraternity.

Peardon, Stokes United In Rites In McCamey

McCAMEY — In a double-ring ceremony held recently in the First Christian Church of McCamey, Pat Peardon was married to Pfc. Frank Stokes.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Kay Peardon. Stokes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Stokes of McCamey.

The Rev. William Tucker, minister of the church, officiated.

The bride wore a suit of brown gabardine with matching accessories. For something old she wore a necklace which belonged to her great grandmother.

Wallace Bradshaw was her only attendant. She wore a gold suit with brown accessories.

Billy Stokes, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Texas Baptists To Attend Fort Worth Evangelistic Meet

DALLAS—Texas Baptist pastors, evangelists, singers, and lay people will gather in Fort Worth January 14-16 for their sixth annual state-wide evangelistic conference.

Ten thousand Baptists are expected to attend the meeting, according to Dr. C. B. Jackson, associate secretary of evangelism for the Baptist General Convention of Texas. Headquarters will be the Will Rogers Coliseum in Fort Worth.

Denominational leaders from Texas and three other states will address the conference crowds on some phase of the general theme, "The Bible Speaks."

Among speakers are Dr. Robert O. Lee, Memphis, Tenn.; Dr. J. D. Grey, New Orleans, La.; Dr. Forrest C. Feenor, Waco, and Angel Martinez, Fort Smith, Ark.

Tomato juice and catsup stains should be dampened with water, rubbed with glycerine and then sudsed out. If the stain persists, sponge it with a solution of one-half teaspoon of sodium perborate to one cup of hydrogen peroxide. Rinse well, and launder again promptly.

Girl Scout Leaders Club Will Have Training Sessions

Three sections of training will be offered at the Girl Scout Leaders Club meeting Wednesday.

Beginning at 10:30 a.m., one section will include songs and games with Mrs. Harvey Herd.

The out-of-doors section will be directed by Mrs. R. H. Frizzell and Mrs. A. P. Belcher. The craft section will be instructed by Mrs. Ray Wagoner.

Mrs. W. L. Woolley, vice president of the Girl Scout Association, and who is in charge of the Leaders Club, has asked "that each person bring a nose-bag lunch. The organization will serve coffee."

The session will end at 12:30 p.m.

MICHERNER WILL SPEAK
R. C. Michener will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the West Elementary Parent-Teachers Association at 3:45 p.m. Tuesday in the auditorium.

Joan Bennett Is Star Of Beauty Role

Joan Bennett, film actress turned author, demonstrates points stressed in her new book, "How To Be Attractive." Emphasizing that self-knowledge is the first step in improving appearance, she faces facts with her tape measure (left), and with a mirror (inset), which reveals truth about complexion changes and color choices. Crepe paper capelet and swatches of fabric aid her in determining becoming shades. Realizing, too, that wardrobe perfection requires careful upkeep as well as thoughtful selection, she greases each hair (right) before storing it away on its easily-made cardboard stand.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Editor

Except for a few legal matters, the number of years you've chalked up on life's calendar has little to do with your age. You're as old as you look.

These are the sentiments of Joan Bennett, well-known film star, whose book, "How To Be Attractive," recently published by Alfred A. Knopf, stresses the rewards of a positive rather than a negative approach to both beauty and life in general.

Instead of sadly fondling faded memories of past glories, it's a wise woman who takes a good long look at herself—here and now—and comes to the sometimes-startling conclusion that youth and beauty are not necessarily synonymous. If you're in your middle years, stop thinking in terms of the fatal forties, and final fifties; chances are there's nothing antiquated about you except your ideas about yourself.

To check how rusty your notions may have become, ask yourself these questions: Are you still trying to squeeze into size ten dress simply because it's always been your size? Is your wardrobe still swamped with pink just because, way back when, someone impressed upon you its becomingness? Then consider how long it's been since you actually tested the truth of these guiding principles: "Learn your figure as it is today," urges Miss Bennett. "Get out the tape measure and start to face facts." If you fear your findings will be embarrassing, she reminds you, "No one but you need know exactly what the tape measure says. But you must know it if you are to dress to conceal the facts." Throw the light of honesty upon your own excuses, too. Avoid buying clothes that are too tight across the rear, pretending you'll "ease the seams, buy a new girdle, lose in a week or two, wear a different pair of shoes."

It is far better simply to admit to yourself a figure defect such as large hips, and formulate for yourself a set of working rules for wardrobe planning. If hips are your problem, Miss Bennett suggests, do give yourself enough room, don't choose shiny fabrics, do be careful about print dresses, do buy skirts shaped for your problem, and do add the appearance of width above your waistline.

Now that you're facing your beauty problems with new alertness, it's probable you'll find your complexion has changed as you matured. Colors once right for you may now be completely wrong; shades you thought you could never wear may prove the very thing to bring out present skin tones. Or perhaps you never quite knew the proper colors to choose, and selected your costumes on a hit or miss basis. "Many of our mistakes in choosing colors can be corrected by an inexpensive learned-at-home lesson," says Miss Bennett. Buy a few packets of colored crepe paper in a good selection of shades. From them make capelets or test blouses, which should be tried on before a mirror in a good strong light. It's helpful to invite, as consultant on this "fitting," a friend who has a tongue. Between the two of you, you should be able to decide, without guesswork, just what hues are now most becoming to you.

Selection of the right clothes is important, but "the most expensive, most becoming, most tastefully selected wardrobe in the world is not better than a handful of rags if it isn't kept in immaculate, constantly wearable condition."

A broken shoulder strap should be sewed back on immediately; a pin may tear the fabric of your slip. Wear-dusty hats should be brushed and put on hat-stands, either bought or improvised of cardboard. Shoes need toe-pads, of crushed tissue or of fabric stuffed with cotton. "This program should be automatic, with no last-minute rush to fix things up."

Rubber flashlights—breakproof, waterproof, and damage-proof—are claimed superior to types in metal cases because they will not injure furniture or other polished surfaces on which they may be laid. This new flashlight can be focused for either a wide beam or spotlight.

Small Furs Add Dash To Costume

NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Fun fashions in fur are fine and they add a dash to any wardrobe. But they should be inexpensive. If they're done in rabbit, they are. And the smaller they are, the less they can cost.

A little shrug jacket in chin-chilla rabbit, the king of rabbit furs, is (left) mostly sleeves. Designed by Furbelows, it's dashing over a short white evening dress. Or, it can go over a suit or coat in place of a stole or even see service as the ultimate in luxurious bed jackets.

An at-home costume designed just for fun (right) by Harold Rubin turns out to be a practical fashion, too. A purple wraparound skirt in rabbit fur is lined with turquoise wool jersey and worn over matching turquoise leotards. But the skirt can serve as a lap-robe for at-home lounging, as a robe in the car, as a knee-warmer at chilly spectator sports.

Mail Route Only Memory For Radtke

SANBORN, MINN.—(P)—Route 2 is now only a memory for Ed Radtke, 69, who gave up the rural mail chore recently.

Ed made the rounds for 46 years, using the same model T Ford for the last 26. He had a total of 20 cars during his career of carrying letters, papers and packages to the 153 boxes on the 45-mile route. He used to find dressed poultry, eggs and other produce in the mailboxes during the holiday season.

But most of all, he misses the people along Route 2. "You just can't help remembering the people," he says.

Davenport Opens New Service Garage Here

Opening of a new service garage was announced Saturday by Johnnie Davenport, owner and manager.

To be known as Downtown Buick Service, the new firm will service and repair all makes of automobiles, according to Davenport, but will specialize in Buicks. The owner has had 28 years of experience in auto repair service.

Location of the new business is 107-109 North Baird Street. The telephone number is 2-3341.

'Believe It Or Not' Oddities To Be Exhibited In Midland

Robert Ripley's personal collection of "Believe It Or Not" oddities, being exhibited on national tour under auspices of the Disabled American Veterans, will be presented in Midland next Saturday and Sunday by the J. O. Raton Chapter No. 34, DAV.

The mobile exhibit, mounted in a special custom-built trailer, features the world-famous "Man or Image," for which Ripley searched more than 30 years. The life-size figure is a masterpiece of exact and realistic detail. Not only is it an exact counterpart of the artist in size, pose, features, skin color and texture, but it contains the artist's own hair, teeth, fingernails, and toenails, pulled by the artist from his body and inserted one by one in holes bored for them.

Mysterious Oddities

Also included in the exhibit are mysterious oddities and wonders of every age and every part of the world. In addition to the countless articles of curiosity or oddity significance, are a large number of rare relics and collector's items, such as the entire Constitution of the United States written within the area of a three-cent postage stamp, and the sword's mark used to silence a nagging woman. Many of Ripley's original cartoon drawings also will be on exhibit.

The exhibit trailer will be located at the corner of Wall and Lorraine Streets. Admission is free, and the exhibit will be open to the public from 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Funds obtained through voluntary donations will be used by the State Department and the chapters of the DAV to assist in carrying on their services to disabled veterans.

PECOS BUILDING DROPS

PECOS—An abrupt drop in building here during the month of December held the 1951 total at more than $20,000 short of the 1950 figure. Building figures for 1951 were estimated at $1,173,318.

Husband's Financial Plans Are Wife's Business Also

By ANNE LARSEN
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—Those ruffled-and-pleated days when a woman referred to her husband as Mister, and deferred to him in all matters, are fast becoming faded memories in the minds of a waning generation. Only when it pertains to family finances does the horse-and-buggy approach sometimes still prevail.

Fluttering helplessness may add greatly to maidenly femininity; but once a marital partnership is agreed upon, it's a wise woman who admits that she is capable of balancing her check book or grasping the small print on the mortgage agreement.

It's well to place the captaincy of family affairs in your husband's command, but to serve as a good lieutenant you'll need to contribute more than an occasional salute to his masculine vanity.

The complexities of modern living make wifely attention to business matters almost a necessity, for the sake of her husband as well as herself.

The woman who thoroughly understands her husband's financial pressures is usually more willing to take steps to lessen her own and the children's demands.

Any woman who has a hand in shaping plans and dreams is in a better position to assist in turning these aspirations into reality.

These things require planning and active interest. It's not enough that your husband turns over all the family papers to you for safekeeping. This may indicate his faith in your sense of responsibility, but little else.

To tackle finances as a functioning partner, it's necessary for you to understand the whole pattern of family money. Discuss with your husband how much of his earnings is earmarked for current living, for an emergency savings fund, for special savings plans for big projects like a summer cottage or refinancing the house, and for life insurance protection.

Don't shy away from a discussion of the latter, labeling it morbid. Insurance can serve you in the positive as well as the negative situations in your life.

It can tide you over financial crisis of many kinds, contributing to your husband's security against business recession, disability or old age, as well as to your own and your children's welfare in case of his death.

It's unwise, from a false sense of delicacy, to leave such important protection to chance. Together you future life may hang upon the decisions she makes at that time.

Whether to take a cash settlement in event of your husband's death, or whether to arrange for an annuity plan that will insure steady income payments, are questions that are best considered before catastrophe strikes.

Sometimes the terms of a policy leave a wife no choice; the husband decides in advance what he considers the best procedure for providing for the continuing welfare of his heirs. In this case, it's well for a wife to understand just what his plan is and why he decided on a certain course.

There are numerous factors to be considered in making these decisions. If you take a cash settlement, how should you reinvest the money? Would the income you would derive from such an investment be as certain, and as much, as the regular sums paid you in an annuity settlement?

There are taxes to be considered, too. How large a bite would the government take from your cash settlement in capital gains and income taxes?

If you decide to cash one policy for immediate needs, and to accept the sum of the other in monthly income payments, it's wise to earmark for annuity arrangements the one that pays the highest rate of interest.

With a complete understanding of all these matters, you will be in a position not only to manage better in event tragedy necessitates your taking over your husband's command of family affairs, but you will also be equipped to share your half of the marital load.

Choose this insurance counselor in the same way you would your doctor, lawyer, minister or banker—for competence, reliability and continuing interest in your welfare.

Preferably, this should be a respected member of your own community—a person who will keep in touch with you and remind you, perhaps, to change beneficiaries when there's a marriage, a birth, or a death; to whom you can turn for advice in time of crisis.

It's best, of course, to work out your plan of action before crisis comes along to color your viewpoint and unbalance your judgment. A woman in the throes of bereavement is hard put to make wise choices; yet the entire course of her

Dirt, Squirt and Quirt

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

Well, we had "some" moisture anyway. The only trouble, it was not of a sufficient amount to even measure. Perhaps the light drizzle was just a forerunner of much more moisture to come in 1952. We still can't hope, can't we?

Charlie Cox, veteran Glascock County rancher and now oil man, really rates in the current issue of The Sohoian, the magazine of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio.

The Sohoian terms Cox "typical of the ranchers whose land is now producing a new and valuable crop—petroleum."

Approximately 1,300 persons from 38 states are expected to attend the 50th annual convention of the American National Cattlemen's Association Monday through Wednesday in Fort Worth.

Roy Parks, Leonard Proctor and other Midland ranchers are planning to attend the session.

Two Stanton 4-H Club lads have entered calves in two of the state's top stock shows. Bobby Sale, who topped top honors at last year's Midland Livestock Show, will exhibit two Herefords in the open steer show at Fort Worth's Southwestern Exposition and Fair Stock Show, January 25-February 3.

Bobby Owen Kelly has entered a Hereford steer in the boys' division of the San Antonio Livestock Exposition, February 15-24.

Elmer Bizzell, well-known Midland stockman and farmer, who has been laid up the last several months on account of illness, favored DSQ with a new New Year's message, which was much appreciated. Thanks, Elmer, and hope to see you up and around again before too long.

Elmer was lavish in his praises of Brigham Young, a former Midlander, who now is an official of the National Farm and Ranch Insurance Company of Fort Worth. It seems that while Elmer was in a Fort Worth hospital recently, Young and other members of his staff sent Elmer and his family a big Christmas dinner with all the trimmings. Of course the Bizzells appreciated the friendly gesture very much.

Young was stationed in Midland during World War II, and Mrs. Young was an office secretary at the Chamber of Commerce. Elmer said the Youngs sent greetings to their friends here.

Two of Elmer's boys, by the way, are doing all right for themselves in the ranching business up New Mexico way.

Delma Ray Bizzell had 20 inches of snow prior to and during Christmas on his ranch near Sacramento. He got 37 1/2 cents a pound for his white-face calves, which averaged 330 pounds, and sold more than a $1,000 worth of Christmas trees off his property. Midland's Community Christmas Tree, which brightened the scene at the city park near the Midland Country Club, came from the Bizzell ranch.

Junior Bizzell, who ranches near Mayhill, reported a 16-inch snow at his place. Junior recently sold a string of calves, Durham and some white-face, at 40 cents a pound. The animals averaged 440 pounds.

Cotton harvesting in Reeves County has slowed to a walk, and only about five per cent of the 1951 crop remains in the fields to be gathered, according to reports from Pecos.

Despite damaging weather effects upon, at least two occasions, the nine gins in Reeves County report a total of 64,640 bales have been ginned, including about 1,051 bales of prized Pima cotton.

Bill Absher, district gin manager for Western Cotton, estimates that about 95 per cent of the crop has been harvested in record-breaking production figures.

"We're well-pleased with the cotton yield in Reeves County," Absher declared, "although it is about 10,000 bales short of our original estimates."

He said that early Fall estimates placing cotton acreage here at 75,000 acres may have been too high.

Also, Friday obviously was a bad day for cotton last year. On Friday, August 10, heavy hail and high winds ranging up to 45 miles per hour struck through a 1,400-acre strip in the Hoban area 16 miles south of Pecos. At the time, many thought the damage would cost farmers $270,000, but Absher feels the loss involved about 4,000 bales.

Another Bad Friday
On another Friday, November 2, Winter's first icy blast reared down on the cotton farmers, pulling the mercury down to 20 degrees and destroying perhaps 10,000 bales.

Absher thinks the cotton harvesting should be completed on January 30, barring the possibility of bad weather. All cotton coming to the gins now is harvested by mechanical strippers.

It is "very rough" cotton, he added, and requires about 3,500-4,000 pounds to make a bale, while at the season's peak only 1,250 to 1,300 pounds were needed for a full size bale.

The first Reeves County bale this year was ginned August 18. It was produced by Paul and Webb Armstrong on their farm 22 miles southwest of Pecos.

The annual membership banquet of the Howard County-South Plains Hereford Breeders Association will be held February 10 in the Settles Hotel at Big Spring. It has been announced by Leland Wallace, president of the group.

Delbert Downing, Midland Chamber of Commerce manager, will be the guest speaker.

The date of the banquet, which will be followed by a business meeting at which officers for the year will be elected, will be the eve of the association's eighth annual sale, which will be held at the West Texas Livestock Auction Arena.

Judging of the 58 purebred Herefords consigned to the sale will be held at 9 a.m., February 11, and the sale will start promptly at 1 p.m. with Walter Britten of College Station as the auctioneer.

Member consignors from Big Spring, Lamona, O'Donnell, Tahoka and Lubbock areas are consigning 50 bulls and eight females to the sale.

Johnnie J. Phillips, a Garden City FFA chapter member, has entered two lambs in the boys' division of the San Antonio Livestock Exposition to be held February 15-24 in the Bexar County Coliseum.

Premiums of $49,477 are offered in the big 10-day stock show, of which $7,910 has been posted for the boys' competition.

The State Fair of Texas will present the Pan-American Holstein Show as the feature of the livestock show at the 1952 fair, October 4-19, at Dallas.

Dates of the featured dairy show will be October 10-17.

Premiums totaling $10,000, the most to be offered for the Holstein-Friesian breed at any show in the country, will be exhibited at the show. Six silver trophies also will be awarded.

A goal of 250 head of cattle has been set for the show.

"This show of national importance will present the greatest group of Holstein-Friesian cattle ever shown in the South of Southwest," Ben E. Cabell, general chairman of the fair's livestock committee, said in announcing the show, which is being presented jointly by the State Fair of Texas and the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, Brattleboro, Vermont.

The champions will be named and awards made at a spectacular "Parade of Champions" which will be the climax of the show.

McCahey Postal Receipts Increase

McCAHEY—At the close of business in 1951, the McCahey Post Office showed an increase of more than $4,000 as it registered a new record in postal receipts for a year's period.

Total postal receipts for 1951 was $29,328.10. This compares with $25,250.66 for the year of 1950, an increase of more than 15 per cent.

Postmaster R. A. Johnson said one new postal employee was added during the year.

In speaking of the new year, Johnson said the new quarters now under construction on Burleson Avenue will have one and one-half times the space as the present building. He expects to move into the new building in January or February.

Johnson said the same fixtures would be used in the new building and patrons will retain the same boxes as they now have.

Innkeepers Buy Inn For The Hired Help

AP Newsfeatures
MT. POCOMO, PA.—After a working day is done, the hired hands at one Pocomo Mountains resort "check in" at their own hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Strickland, operators of an inn near here, recently bought another nearby hotel for the exclusive use of their 30 employees.

The new property consists of two buildings, one with 28 rooms for women workers and the other an eight-room structure housing male help.

The larger building contains recreational facilities comparable to those provided for paying guests at the inn—including game rooms, lounges and a cozy fireplace. The new property includes plenty of acreage for outdoor fun and relaxation, too.

There's a chef to operate the workers' hotel kitchen. A modern cafeteria is being installed. The employers are supplying everything—food, linens, bedding, heat and light.

Checks Everything

A housekeeper daily checks on everything, to see that top hotel standards are maintained.

The Stricklands are no star-gazing idealists but pleasant, hard-working individuals who combine their philanthropy with sound reasoning.

As Ed Strickland put it: "Most of our employees come from nice families and are used to nice things. And a hard day's work doesn't seem so hard if you can relax afterward in comfortable surroundings."

"So this proposition works both ways. The kids are happier, and happy people do better work. And there's less turnover in hired hands, which means more efficiency and a better deal for our own hotel guests."

Livestock Market Strong, Active At Midland Auction

The cattle market was fairly strong and active at the Midland Livestock Auction Company sale Thursday. Most kinds moved briskly except better quality stocker calves.

There was a good run of butcher cattle and a group of 54 mixed-weight calves and yearlings consigned by F. W. Henson of Stanton sold up to $34.70. Other fat kinds brought $31 to $34.50, mediums $27 to $31, commons and culls $21 to $27.

Fat cows drew $22 to $24 and a few heiferish kinds higher, mediums cows $20 to $22, canners and cutters $13 to $20. Bulls auctioned for $24 to $26.75.

Stocker steer calves cleared at $30 to $34 and heifer calves $28 to $32.50. Best prices went for several groups of, both steer and heifer calves consigned by Mrs. E. Dryden Edwards and Glenn Allen, both of Monahans.

One bunch of 18 medium age cows with light-weight calves consigned by M. P. King of Midland were bid to $284.50 a pair. Total receipts were $10 head.

Chintz Is Highlighted In Bedroom Decorations

A bright, feminine chintz is an excellent aid in transforming a dreary, outmoded bedroom into a pleasant, inviting chamber. An old cedar chest (left) becomes an attractive window seat when padded and covered with this soft-resistant material. Matching pillows and valance add to decorative effect. The room is further enhanced by dressing table, stool skirt, and chair cover, all of the same fabric. Print of the chintz is scaled to fit small boudoir furniture.

By ANN LARSEN
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—In most homes, redecoration is apt to be pretty much a front-of-the-house thing.

If your home-beautifying budget has been siphoned into other rooms for a number of years, your boudoir is likely to look pretty dreary by now. The time is ripe for inexpensive renovation.

There's no need to toss out perfectly good furniture simply because it has become a bit outmoded in design. A good coverup job can conceal the fact that your furniture isn't quite as stylish as it was when you bought it.

To convert your cedar chest into a window seat, begin by selecting a bright 36-inch material. A hand-printed chintz in a feminine, yet not-too-fussy pattern, is a good choice.

Pad the top of the chest with cotton batting, then stretch a section of the center panel of the chintz over it. Tack edges to underside of lid. Box-pleat another section of chintz, cutting it lengthwise and allowing for a hem at the bottom and an extra fabric for tacking at the top. Allow enough in length to fit comfortably around the back corners of the chest.

As a finishing touch, add two small round pillows with welled seams, covered in matching material.

Straight, tailored glass curtains of cotton marquisette can be glamorized if you add a valance of the same chintz fabric. Cut a strip of material—preferably the ribbon-binding part of the design—as long as the window is wide, plus three or four inches for turning under at the ends. Width should include hem allowances.

Use buckram for stiffening the valance, and sateen in a harmonizing shade for its lining. For a decorator's touch, take your finished valance to a needlecraft shop, where you can have the outer edges of the leaves and the flowers but-tonhole-stitched to emphasize their outlines. Attach valance to a valance board by means of narrow cotton: tape sewn across the sateen lining at the back.

The same ribbon-binding section from your chintz can be used to add accent to a dressing table which is skirted in sheer white or pastel material.

To revitalize an old chair begin by measuring, allowing about two inches for tucking at the back of the seat and two inches for each seam. Measure the loose cushion, too, making the same allowance.

The length and width of the petticoat must also be determined, with extra inches for hem and seam.

To cut, place the material wrong side out against the inside back of the chair, centering the pattern of the fabric. Pin it firmly in place all along the top. Smooth it closely down the back, and allow for a two-inch tuck-in between back and seat.

Next, bring the fabric forward over the seat and down the front to where the petticoat will join it. Allow one inch for a seam and cut.

Before trimming the sides of the material, fit it to the chair at the point where the arms and wings join the back. Stretch the fabric smoothly and cut off the surplus, allowing for seam.

Then, pin the fabric, wrong side out, to the outside back, matching the pattern with the front. Pin to the chair, and cut away extra material, allowing one-inch seam allowance. Now pin front and back sections together. Cut fabric for the inside and outside arms in the same manner, and pin. Curved arms may require tiny gathers to make the chintz hug closely; square arms may require the insertion of a separate section of fabric.

After pinning all seams together, remove the fabric from the chair, and you're ready to stitch, remembering to insert welting along major seams before beginning structural joining. The same rules of cutting and stitching apply to the loose cushion, also.

When the stitching's done, trim extra material from the seams and put the cover back on the chair wrong side out. Make a final check for perfect fit and restitch if necessary. Now put the cover on right side out.

The next step is the addition of the petticoat, making sure it hangs evenly, about one inch off the floor using a zipper in back seam.

Sitting on your fur coat for long periods—particularly while driving a car—subjects the fur to strain.

Keep Eye On Your Children To Safeguard Their Vision

Invitation to tragedy: The little girl standing by the target is equally a good target for the arrow her inexperienced friend is about to shoot. Such mishaps cause $5,000 eye injuries to children annually.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—When the small boy had finished filling the glass jar with sand, he fished a five-inch firecracker from his hip pocket and stuck it into the top of the jar.

"Light the cracker and put the top back on the jar, Eddie," one of the boys who was watching said. "Then heave the jar up in the air as high as you can and listen for the explosion. It'll knock you off your feet."

Eddie struck a match, lit the firecracker fuse and grabbed for the top of the jar. His hands slipped.

"Eddie! Throw it! Quick!" yelled one of the boys.

Eddie wasn't quick enough. The glass jar exploded at his feet, shattering fragments of glass into his face. And Eddie is blind for life.

Every year, more than a thousand small boys like Eddie lose the sight of one or both eyes through such accidents. And another 85,000 children suffer eye injuries.

About ninety per cent of all such accidents could be prevented, according to Dr. Franklin M. Foote, executive director of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

"Sticks and stones, firecrackers, BB guns and sling shots are not toys," Dr. Foote says. "The parents who let their children play with such things are courting trouble. The best way to prevent eye accidents among children is to keep an eye—literally—on them. It's during unsupervised play, after school, that most children suffer eye injuries."

When parents go shopping for toys, they should remember to check the safety features as well as the entertainment value of each purchase, according to Dr. Foote.

"Be sure that the toy cannot break into jagged pieces that could injure an eye," Dr. Foote cautions. "Buy toys that are well designed. Round corners and blunt points are two good safety features. And, no matter what the child's age, be sure that he can handle the toy properly. A tool chest that might be educational in the hands of Johnny can become as dangerous as dynamite in Bill's hands because Bill has no aptitude for tools."

Parents who buy bow-and-arrow sets should get the bow that fires a rubber-tipped arrow. Even then, Dr. Foote says, the child should be taught to play this game safely. For instance, one child should never stand near a target when another child is shooting.

Boys injure their eyes about three times as often as girls, studies made by the Society show. And, it's boys at junior high school age who run up the highest number of injuries. While parents of boys in this age group can hardly sow them away in barrels, they can watch them carefully to be sure that the chance for tragedy is held to a minimum.

Social Scientist Asks Aid For Arabs

NEW YORK—P—Dr. Arthur Draper, social scientist of the Department of Agriculture, reported recently that the Arab countries should have as much aid from the United States as possible.

Dr. Draper made a 30-day study of the Middle East for the "American Friends of the Middle East." He said there "was currently an emotional element 'bordering on the political' that could be dissipated if the United Nations showed more concern for Arab welfare. He suggested sending technicians and the wherewithal to carry out numerous agricultural and irrigation projects already started.

Leap Year Is Just A Necessity

AP Newfeatures
That year is here again. Leap year, when women are supposed to stride forth and bag themselves a man, was given to us by Julius Caesar. Pope Gregory XIII made some changes in 1582. But the basic idea stems from the emperor's edict in 46 B. C.

In modern times no one has offered a good explanation for the custom of female wooing in leap years, but it seemed to be well known in 1268. That year Scotland passed a law. It said that in leap years any single girl could propose publicly to any man not married or engaged. If the man turned her down he was to be fined.

France passed a similar law a few years later and in the 18th Century Genoa and Florence joined in.

Basically, leap years have nothing to do with who proposes to whom. They are just a means to make our years come out even.

It takes the earth 365 days, 5 hours, 48 minutes and 46 seconds to travel around the sun. The four seasons come and go in that time and then they start over. If every year had just 365 days, the extra six hours in each year would begin to count up. In not too long a time men in the Northern Hemisphere would be planting their crops in January. And they would celebrate Christmas in the midst of a heat wave appropriate to August.

That is what had happened in Caesar's time. The calendar was three months behind and months that were supposed to be Fall were really Winter. The emperor set things ahead again. Then, with the aid of his astronomers, he decreed that every fourth year should have 366 days.

That worked pretty well for a long time. But it supposed the year to be just six hours longer than 365 days. That is too long by 11 minutes, 14 seconds. It amounts to a day in 128 years.

By 1582, the calendar was 10 days off. Pope Gregory ordered the 5th of October to be reckoned as the 15th of October. He also ruled that century years (1800, 1900, etc.) should not be leap years unless they are exactly divisible by 400.

Some parts of the world did not think much of the pope and it took them some time to adopt his system. But it is now in force in most places. Still, the Gregorian calendar exceeds the length of a true year by 26 seconds a year. That amounts to a day in 3,323 years.

In case you want to worry about that, it has been proposed that the year 4,000, 8,000 and all other multiples of 4,000 be common years. If that is done there would be one day variation in about 20,000 years.

The average U. S. woman in the 26-29 age group and five feet six weighs approximately 136.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON—

Texas, Southwest Pace Expanding Economy Of Nation, Report Asserts

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Texas and the Southwest have more than kept pace with the nation's expanding economy, according to a Commerce Department study of trends from 1929 to 1950.

Industrial construction marked the development in the four-state area, which also includes Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona. Texas boomed the most.

The per capita income in the region increased at a higher rate than the national average during the two decades, although it still has less than the 48-state average at the close of the period. The figure was $1,166 for the region in 1949 compared with $1,330 for the country as a whole.

These figures represented a 151 per cent regional increase compared with a national average increase of only 96 per cent. The per capita income in Texas for 1949 was $1,205, up 150 per cent from $480 in 1929.

With 6.6 per cent of the total U. S. income, the Southwest had about 10 per cent of the total new construction. Big industrial and other expansion has been a major factor in its income advance from four billion dollars in 1929 to 13 billion in 1949.

The southwestern region, the Commerce study disclosed, increased 27 per cent in population during the 20 years ending in 1950 notwithstanding the fact that Oklahoma showed a six per cent decline. The national average population increase for the period was 24 per cent. Arizona's population soared 74 per cent, New Mexico's 62 per cent and Texas' 34 per cent.

Texas and New Mexico experienced only "nominal inflows of people by migration" during the 1940-1950 decade, the report noted, while Oklahoma lost a number equal to one-fifth of its population by out-migration. Arizona, meanwhile, gained a number approximately one-fourth of its 1940 population.

"It is clear, therefore," the report added, "that the region's above-average rate of population increase was entirely due to its unusually high rate of natural increase, half again higher than the national average rate."

Fourth Largest Manufacturing now constitutes the Southwest's fourth largest industry, the government survey revealed, and has been increasing in the region faster than the national average.

"Most of the industrial growth of the region in these two decades was concentrated in Texas," the report continued. "Manufacturing establishments in Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona barely kept pace, as measured by manufacturing workers, with the national average rate of increase. Texas employment expanded much faster. x x x "Wages paid in the region's factories were 11 per cent below the national average in 1939, and despite subsequent wage increases at a rate above the national average increase, they were still 8 per cent below in 1947. This cannot be explained by unduly large proportions of low-earnings industries in the region; on the contrary, the Southwest has unusually large proportions of its manufacturing workers employed in high- and medium-earnings industries.

"In most instances, the industry wage scale is less than the national average. An outstanding exception is the petroleum and coal products industry, in which Southwest annual average wages were second highest of all the regions in 1939, and highest in 1947."

Agriculture contributed a larger share to the total income in the Southwest than in any other major region except the Northwest, the report stated. In respect to its contribution to the nation's total income, the Southwest's agricultural output now ranks third.

Is Second in Size The Southwest is second in size among seven major regions into which the country is divided in the study. The other areas are the Middle East, New England, South-east, Central, Northwest and Far West. With four-fifths of its area in pasture, range and forest, only 13 per cent of the southwestern region is in crop land; the average farm has only 18 per cent of its area in crops—the smallest proportion in the nation.

Largely because of a decreased relative share of the nation's total cotton crop, the Southwest's receipts from agriculture barely kept pace with that of the country as a whole in the 20-year period. The rate second only to agriculture as the Southwest's most important industry. Retail sales in the region virtually tripled between 1929 and 1948. In this period, the per capita sales in the region rose from $7 to $95 per cent of the national average. Like per capita income, however, it remained the lowest in the country except for the Southeast.

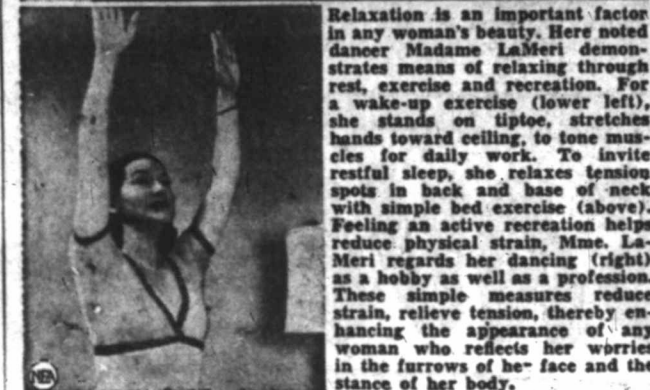

Mineral resources, especially petroleum and natural gas, are more important to the economy of the Southwest than to any other part of the country. The region was the leading producer of minerals in 1948, having moved from second place in 1929—the percentage of the national output increasing from 48 to 54 per cent regarding oil and gas. The entire output of coal for the region comprised only 1 per cent of the total national production.

Among the non-commodity-producing industries, government activities expanded most, largely in the nature of military installations.

Dancer Urges Escape From World's Tension

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Relaxation is a word more commonly associated with health or happiness than with beauty. Yet you need only glance about you at the light faces and taut bodies of women who've abandoned themselves to world crises and private woes to see how tension can negate what is basically a good appearance.

Among staunch advocates of beauty through relaxation is Madame LaMeri, an American who's gained a world reputation for her interpretations of the dances of other countries. At her New York strain of the day has resulted in back discomfort, place a pillow under your hips to ease your vertebrae into better alignment.

The next step is to raise your head until your chin rests upon your chest, at the same time lifting your feet for balance. The purpose of this neck-stretching is to relieve the tautness that often occurs in this area as the result of nervous fatigue. These same base-of-the-neck muscles respond well to simply hanging your head over the edge of the bed as you rest, crosswise, upon your back. Mme. LaMeri adds:

Relaxation of tired muscles through proper exercise, and through proper rest is but part of your anti-tension program. A third, very necessary part according to Mme. LaMeri, is relaxation through recreation. Leisure-time activities should not be limited to such static enterprises as movie-going, reading or television-watching, she emphasizes.

This works best when relaxation procedures are a part of your normal routine, rather than a frantic method called for in an emergency to combat sudden insomnia or an inexplicable strained or hunched feeling in your back.

Mme. LaMeri suggests you begin your day with a stretching exercise, simply to limber your muscles and put them in proper tone for the tasks that lie ahead. Stand in a free area of your bedroom with your arms hanging loosely at your sides. Then, with one coordinated movement, lift your entire body. Rise to your tip-toes as you lift your arms in a sweeping motion high over your head. Your abdomen should flatten, and your chest be raised as you reach as high as you can toward the ceiling. Repeat this several times until you feel relaxed and loose-jointed.

If tension attacks at bedtime, Mme. LaMeri's own trick for relaxation before slumber may prove helpful. A good mattress is a tremendously important factor, she stresses. Even if your sleeping space is limited, it's inadvisable to try to make-do with cots or other makeshift arrangements. Today's hide-a-beds, which offer the firm, springy support needed for proper rest, are a good bet for those restricted by bedroom limitations.

Before settling down under the covers after you retire, try stretching out full-length upon the bed and devoting a few minutes to relaxing over-tired muscles. If the

Artificial Respiration Methods Streamlined, With New Technique Of Back Pressure Now Being Adopted

WASHINGTON —(NEA)—Millions of Americans trained to give artificial respiration now can breathe a little easier themselves.

Their vital technique, used since 1927, is being streamlined on the basis of special research tests, and the new version will be put into effect as soon as possible by nine organizations and agencies specializing in first aid training. They include the American Red Cross and the Armed Forces.

The move consists of a change-over from the Schafer prone pressure system to the back pressure-arm lift method, and adaptation of the Nielsen system used for years in Denmark and Norway and other European countries.

The shift was partially the result of efforts by the Armed Forces to find a way to treat large numbers of nerve gas victims effectively in event of another world war.

Tests showed the back pressure-arm lift method produced a markedly greater exchange of air in the victim's lungs than the Schafer system. This is a highly important factor in reviving persons in deep asphyxia such as could be produced by nerve gas.

A basic difference in the two systems is that the back pressure-arm lift forces air into the lungs as well as expels it.

To accomplish this, the person giving the treatment kneels at the victim's head. The victim is laid on his stomach with his arms folded under his head and his face resting on his crossed hands.

The first-aid's initial movement is to place his hands on the victim's back just below a line between the arm pits and press down by easing his weight forward onto his hands. This expels the air from the lungs.

He then grasps the upper part of each of the victim's arms and pulls them toward him, then releases them. This sucks air into the lungs. The two-movement operation is performed rhythmically 12 times a minute.

On Lower Part

This method differs from the Schafer in that the first-aid kneels over the victim's legs in the latter system, and alternately swings his weight forward onto his hands placed on the lower part of the victim's back, and releases it. This method forces air from the lungs but does not actively provide for getting it back in.

Tests Showed

Tests showed the back pressure-arm lift method produced more than twice the exchange of air in the victim's lungs provided by the prone pressure. In addition it was virtually as easy to teach.

The Red Cross began research into new methods of artificial respiration in 1947, and made grants for research in the two years following.

Two years ago the Army Chemical Center started research on "the growing question" of how best to treat a large number of people in event of warfare in which poison or nerve gas might be used. The Chemical Center arranged for research by four teams of outstanding physiologists throughout the country.

Tests Conducted
Researchers for the Red Cross, the Army and other interested agencies conducted a wide variety of tests, many under unusual conditions.

Included in the studies were animals, volunteers holding their breaths, persons who had just died, sick or injured patients who had stopped breathing and volunteers who were given drugs which completely paralyzed their ability to breathe for a short period of time. These experiments, described by the researchers as "extremely necessary" were carried out under "carefully controlled conditions," they said.

Used to restore breathing to persons whose respiration has stopped, artificial respiration has particular value in cases of drowning, suffocation, electric shock, and poisoning by illuminating gas or carbon monoxide.

Authorities in this field report that if resuscitation is begun "almost immediately" after breathing stops, "most victims" can be revived. If it is not started for six to nine minutes "relatively few" can be saved.

The agreement by the nine agencies and organizations to adopt the new method was made following an October conference called by the National Research Council, at which top scientists and other authorities presented the findings of latest research.

Besides the Red Cross and the Armed Forces, the participating organizations are the Civil Defense Administration, the Public Health Service, the Bureau of Mines, the Fourth, operator continues to rock backward, raising victim's arms until resistance and tension are felt at victim's shoulder. Then he drops the arms and completes a full cycle, repeated 12 times a minute.

Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and the Council of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation of the American Medical Association. A few organizations had already included the Nielsen method in their programs and others are expected to do so soon.

The Red Cross, which trains more people in first aid and artificial respiration than any other civilian organization, issued 1,187,935 first aid and life saving certificates last year.

Its first move in the changeover will be to teach the new system to its 104,331 first aid and water safety instructors. This is beginning with a series of conferences to be held throughout the country this month.

In addition, the Red Cross is printing three million supplements on the new system for its first aid and water safety textbooks.

Officials of the organization emphasize the changeover cannot be made immediately, and that the millions of persons already trained in the Schafer methods should continue to use it until they have received formal training in the new method. Red Cross chapters will offer special instruction courses in the Nielsen system as soon as arrangements can be made.

Is Private Saving a Sign of Greed?

When government steps in on the pretense that for an individual or a corporation to produce beyond immediate needs is an evil that must be corrected, then we have gone a long way toward a socialistic concept in America.

To produce beyond need is the basis upon which the American economy is founded. It has made us the greatest and wealthiest nation on earth, and our standard of living the envy of the rest of the world.

Fact No. 1

Costs Less to Buy

List prices of Chevrolet trucks are lower than comparable models of other makes. As the world's largest manufacturer of trucks, Chevrolet takes advantage of production economies to pass substantial savings on to you! Your capital outlay is lower when you buy rugged Chevrolet trucks.

Fact No. 2

Saves Money on the Job

Chevrolet trucks save money over the miles with proved features that cut operating and maintenance costs! Valve-in-Head economy, 4-Way Lubrication, rugged Hypoid rear-axles, channel-type frames, Ball-Gear Steering, Synchro-Mesh Transmission and others.

Right Truck for Every Load

Your first interest in a truck is: "How well will it do the job?" That's where Chevrolet trucks have it, because they're factory-matched to the payload—tires, axles, chassis, springs, engine, transmission, brakes. You get as much truck as your job calls for.

Fact No. 4

Keeps Its Value Longer

It's a fact, Chevrolet trucks keep their value longer to bring you traditionally higher value. That means two things to you. It represents real, substantial dollar-and-cents savings at trade-in time. And it puts a clincher on the extra value and ruggedness built into every Chevrolet truck.

AMERICA's truck users buy on down-to-earth facts, not fancy phrases.

That's why more of them buy Chevrolet trucks than any other make... nearly as many as the next two makes combined!

What they get for their money is a rugged, sturdy, dependable truck that's factory-matched to their job and payload.

Right power—with 105-h.p. or 92-h.p. Valve-in-Head engine.

Right capacity—with a Chevrolet-built chassis and body, or chassis for special body, that can really "take it."

Right price—with savings in purchase and a record of savings on the job that can't be topped.

DREW PEARSON ON The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1952, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Churchill and Truman last met officially in Potsdam; Truman has chance to sell Churchill on European unity; Churchill still thinks in terms of empire which never can come back.

WASHINGTON. The last time Winston Churchill met in an official conference with Harry Truman, he was on the eve of a great and glorious career as war prime minister; Truman has just taken over the complex burdens of Franklin Roosevelt.

That was at Potsdam. The other figure at Potsdam was Stalin, and Churchill never has forgotten how Truman—new nervous, peppery—began that session.

He began it by bawling out Stalin for being late. The train through Poland was one day late arriving, and Truman, without directly referring to this, delivered a 20-minute lecture to the Russian dictator that sessions would begin on time, would be conducted with regularity, with a definite agenda, and so on.

During the lecture, Churchill and Jimmie Byrnes, then secretary of State, exchanged glances. They wished they could find some way to "soft-pedal" the new President. But they couldn't tug at the Truman cat-tails. And after it was all over, and Secretary Byrnes was about to give Truman a friendly suggestion that the time to bowl out Stalin was when the conference was deadlocked, not when it started, General Vaughan piped up to tell Truman how wonderful the bawling out had been.

A few days later, Winston Churchill went down to overwhelming defeat in the British elections, packed up and departed from Potsdam, leaving Harry Truman to pilot Anglo-American relations over the uncharted seas of the stormy post-war world.

Today Churchill comes back at the ebb-tide of his life, at the ebb-tide of the British Empire. He will try to recover for the empire, and he will try to recover the policies dropped when he was defeated at Potsdam.

He will not find things quite the same as during his previous conference with Truman, however, nor on his previous visits to the White House. Truman is older, more experienced, but just as peppery, just as inclined to bowl people over. In fact, some of his advisers have feared he might bowl out Churchill himself for proposing another meeting of the big three—Stalin, Truman and Churchill.

If Truman bawled out Churchill regarding the unity of Europe, it might set a new milestone for world peace. For most of Europe will be watching the Churchill-Truman conference to see whether the United States follows Churchill's lead for the disunity of Europe, or whether Churchill follows our lead for the unification of Europe.

So if Truman took Winston to task on this vital policy, he would get cheers, not only from most of the prime ministers but from the ordinary folks of Europe.

Truman is more likely, however, to deliver a lecture on this major issue, but on the much less important matter of Churchill's idea of a big-3 meeting. For HST repeatedly has stated that he is up to Stalin to come to see him, not vice-versa. And Truman was a bit irked when the new prime minister would not listen to the advice of our American Embassy in London to omit from a recent speech all reference to a big three meeting.

Another thing Churchill will find different is the atmosphere around the White House. During war days, the White House became a sort of second home to Winston. He and his personal staff occupied a suite of rooms in the White House and the PM used to thump down the corridor to the bedroom of the President in his slippers, a gold kimono flapping round his half-naked torso at all hours of the night, in order to push British policy across on the sometimes reluctant Roosevelt.

3 A.M. Conferences—These midnight conferences became so routine that American admirals and generals worried about them. Churchill has the habit of not getting up until ten or eleven, then going to bed after lunch and sleeping most of the afternoon. Much

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

BY NORTH CALLAHAN

NEW YORK—The young man stood for a moment looking at the lights twinkling across the East River. He had just come out of his tiny apartment to get a cool breath of air and relax a minute from his holiday festivities. Then he turned his eyes to the window of the big house nearby, one of the last old mansions still occupied in New York. Inside a white-haired gentleman could be seen, seated alone at a fine mahogany table, the antique silver and priceless chinaware gleaming against the background of holly and a cherry fire. But the old man did not look happy. He had no children and his wife had been dead many years. The young man turned thankfully toward his little apartment and the new year. Inside his wife and two healthy children greeted him joyfully. For these four, their home was quite big enough.

In a small meeting of members of the press, Fulton Oursler impressed me as one of the keenest reporters I have met. As you know, the former editor of Liberty has written the book and radio show entitled, "The Greatest Story Ever Told," based on the life of Christ. "People have had a jolt," Oursler remarked. "They have lost the faith they had, faith in a lost thing—which was that man alone could solve his problems. Now we know the man needs more than himself."

There was one present I did not get Junior for Christmas. It was a

Dr. Franz Polgar, the author, was lecturing in a Southern town recently and wanted information on how to drive to another city. He looked up the telephone number of the American Automobile Association but by mistake called the number above it—Alcoholics Anonymous. "I need some help," said Polgar. "Where are you now?" asked the voice at the other end. "At the local hotel," was the reply. "We'll be right over," said the voice, and hung up. Before Polgar could stop them, two determined AAs were at his side, and he had some difficulty getting away to his next engagement.

Joe Smith says one thing he will do in the new year is to make more use of his local bank. Most people don't realize what a variety of services one's bank can perform. It is far more than a depository and lender of money, and often bankers get credit for being fish-eyed mongers when actually most of them are also civic leaders. Upon request, the average bank can be confident, private detective, travel helper, estate planner, investment counselor, pensioner and custodian of grandma's earrings.

There was one present I did not get Junior for Christmas. It was a miniature automobile imported from England and on display in a window on upper Broadway. But just for curiosity I went in and asked the clerk how much it was, since it looked just like a big car, with body, upholstery and trimmings exactly like a regular model. The price: only $125—and with pedals. For a mere $35 more, they would attach a small motor with which the young millionaire could drive about.

A traveler just returned here from Europe told me that we are not very popular with the people of most countries over there. I asked him why then they always called on us as soon as a war started—and he shrugged his shoulders. He didn't believe we would ever really have a One World, he said, because people are so different in so many ways. This can be realized keenly from the reactions of some foreign students who recently visited this city. They didn't like baseball or football, thought they were foolish games. Felt our food was drab and ill-prepared (ladies, take note!), but they like our songs, "Home on the Range" and "Old Black Joe." Yes, and another thing that a young Latvian who got out just before the Communists came in said about the U. S.: "It's wonderful not to be afraid when you hear a knock on your door. That's real democracy."

Manhattan trade slogans noted: a roofing concern—"above all, a good roof"; a traveling pet doctor: "I go to the dogs"; a furniture company: "we furnish everything in the house but the bride"; in a department store: "if you crawl on the floor at home, do so here—we want you to feel at home"...

Entrance Hall Can Perform Dual Roles

Families that plan the entrance hall only as a place to welcome guests are overlooking several additional functions it can perform. A good entrance hall provides a "buffer zone" which will protect valuable rugs and furnishings in other rooms, and at the same time helps control the flow of traffic within the home.

The well-planned entrance hall is short; its construction cost is just as much per foot as that of the living room or bedrooms, so don't go into needless expense for a longish hall. The clothes closet should have sliding doors, as these are easier to use in a small space.

A good entrance hall has a floor that does not need coverings and can take dirt, rain, mud and snow. As a traffic control point, the entrance hall should provide easy access to most parts of the home. It should open into the living room, a matter of course. But why shouldn't a bathroom and the kitchen also be handy to it?

A bathroom near the entrance hall means that children coming in from play can reach the bath without tracking through the house. If the kitchen opens off it, the homemaker can reach the front door easily and quickly and save herself many steps daily.

This is an outstanding event at Kruger's—the first dollar day of 1952. Don't miss this opportunity!

Coming—The New '52 Studebaker!

Watch for the announcement, by BROADWAY MOTORS, 125 West Missouri, of the showing of the new '52 Studebaker cars. Many significant changes appear to be integral parts of the new cars and not "add-on" assemblies. They feature newest body styles with innovations that suggest added length without sacrificing the increased area of illumination so popular in the '51 models. Upholstery and trim suggest drawingroom elegance in rich new colors. Your Studebaker dealer is enthusiastic about the new models and we feel the public will be equally so.

New '52 Colors—

Dress-up your car with the modern auto enamel service at R & D BODY SHOP, 1910 West North Front! Rich, smooth paints, individually mixed are applied with factory method finish. A new paint job to face the New Year will give you something to celebrate! Years will drop from your car's age. Drive in and let expert technicians give you an estimate. For only a small sum your car's like new again. Bumps and dents are straightened and paint is applied with such skill that your car looks like new.

Floor Fashions Of Distinction—

All Types Fire Extinguishers—

A fire extinguisher in your home is an inexpensive form of insurance. You can calmly cope with an emergency when there is one within easy reach. THE MIDLAND FIRE EXTINGUISHER COMPANY, 911 North Dallas, can supply all types and also offers service on them. This simple precaution may save serious damages or injuries in case of fire in your home. Dial 4-6572 for more information.

Cabinetry By Expert Craftsmen—

The craftsmen at STEWART WOODWORKS, 1506 West North Front are artists with wood. Expert in creating distinctive home appointments and designing woodwork to exact specifications. Quality workmanship is stressed by them and anything of wood is built to order. They will even build a cabinet and pre-finish it before installing it in your kitchen. Hardwood cabinets are now being designed by the shop. Dial 3-2841 for more information.

Lubrication—Essential Now!

Winter's tough on cars—and that's why it's extra important to have your car properly lubricated right through the cold season. Expert attendants at WOODY ASQUEW'S LUBRIC SERVICE, 702 West Wall, experienced in every make and model of automobile, assure the job well done. The oil they put in your car does more than just lubricate the engine. Important additives help neutralize and clean out engine sludge and gum. Drive up for an oil change now.

Ready For An Emergency—

Safety is more than good intentions when you are driving. Knowledge of traffic regulations, speed laws, signals and road courtesy—are all important. But it is equally important to keep your car in tip-top condition—ready for an emergency on the road. January and February are usually months with bad weather and slippery roads and if your car's wheels are not properly aligned driving is much more hazardous. Drive by SKINNY'S ALIGNMENT SHOP, 1910 West North Front for expert wheel alignment service.

Come And Get It!

A welcome and familiar call 'round dinner time, and especially exciting when the evening meal is prepared from tempting food delights from CONNER'S OUR WAY GROCERY, 1204 South Big Spring. Shop there and watch for compliments when the family gathers 'round the dinner table. Shop conveniently, comfortably and economically for all your food requirements at this modern shopping center. You'll find choice meats, tender baked goods and fresh fruits and vegetables attractively displayed.

Resolve To Be More Beautiful—

Here's how to have beauty on a budget! Take advantage of BEAUTY COUNSELOR COSMETICS' annual sale. The Blue Star Inn specializes in finest American and Chinese foods. For those occasions that call for a special dinner, the charming restaurant can't be beat. What better way to spend an evening with family or friends? Why not make it a date tonight?

Auto Bodies Renewed—

The strangest part about the auto body business is that the less workmanship you can see, the better the job was done. That's why MIDLAND PAINT AND BODY SHOP, 210 North Front and South K, is so proud of the cars that cruise out of the shop with that "brand new" look even though they have been in serious accidents. Welding rips and tears in auto bodies means more than just restoring appearance. It restores strength to the car body and your car is made "showroom new" with factory method painting.

A Wide Selection Of Auto Seat Covers—

Now you can have auto seat covers in exciting new patterns. MILLER BROTHERS TRIM SHOP, West North Front and K, has in stock new 1952 patterns that are revolutionary. Fine quality woven plastic is featured in glorious, shimmering colors and patterns to transform the interior of your better way seat covers are custom cut and installed by experienced craftsmen.
