Strong Labor Setup Planned

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Associated Press Staff Writer

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 19.—President Truman was reported today to be shaping up legislation to restore the Labor department to major cabinet status and give Secretary Maurice Tobin top authority in labor-management relations.

Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) predicted after a talk with the President a more effective cooperation between the White House and congressional leadership in the next Congress. The speaker-to-be said he foresaw harmony "because practically everybody" has been made happy by the outcome of the recent election.

To Plan New Labor Law

At the same time the veteran Texas congressman said the country's financial interests have "nothing to be scared of" in the election of Mr. Truman. Any depression, he said, would be "manmade" and not "justified by our economic situation."

Authoritative but unquotable White House sources said that Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman and Tobin will work together in preparing a new bill which would repeal the Taft-Hartley act by becoming a complete substitute for it.

Steelman is known to have told close friends that he and Tobin are "in complete agreement" on measures to lift the department from its present role of statistics collecting to one of importance in the labor field.

Talks With Rayburn

The President criticized the Republicans repeatedly during the campaign for "tearing up" the Labor department and stripping it of authority.

Meanwhile, the President talked again today with Rayburn who will be speaker of the House again when the Democrats organize it in January.

Rayburn came from Bonham, Texas, to join the President and Gov. Mon C. Wallgren of Washington, the latter a likely ap-

Dulles Denounces Soviet Proposal As 'Cruel Deception'

UN Bluntly Rejects Soviets' Plan For Armament Reduction

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Nov. 19.— The United Nations Assembly defeated decisively tonight Russia's demands for a one-third reduction within a year in the armed forces of the great powers and for the immediate banning of the atom bomb.

Instead the Assembly adopted a western resolution calling for further study by the conventional arms commission of steps which would lead toward eventual arms reduction.

Before the decisions were taken John Foster Dulles of the United States called the Soviet proposals "almost irresponsible" and "cruel deception." He said the Russian resolution was more dramatic than the western proposals, "but it achieves drama at the expense of oversimplying the problem."

U. S., Britain Rapped

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky charged that the United States and Britain are carrying on a "mad armaments race" against Russia. He accused the U. S. of building up a western European system directed against the Soviet Union.

The vote on the Russian resolution was 39 to 6. Only the nations in the Soviet bloc backed Russia's No. 1 project in the 1948 assembly.

The western resolution was approved 43 to 6 with one country, Yemen, abstaining. It means that the conventional arms commission will study next year how to organize an international organ for the gathering of armament information from UN members.

Red Attacks Resolution

In arguing for approval of the Soviet plan, Vishinsky called for the setting up within the range of the Security Council of an organization to which the five great powers would submit their information.

Russia would submit information of her armed strength to such a body when the United States, Britain, France and China turned in their figures, he declared.

Vishinsky's statements in the final debate made it doubtful that the Soviet Union would take much interest in the coming year's work of the conventional arms commission. The Soviet delegate attacked the majority resolution as "hollow, empty and foggy."

Leaders Discuss Ruhr

Other developments:

1. Secretary of State Marshall met with British and French foreign ministers to discuss the Rhur He also will confer with Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U. S. Military governor for Germany, and Ambassador Robert Murphy, Clay's political adviser. Those talks apparently will deal with the Berlin blockade and possibly other German problems. Marshall will fly back to Washington to report to President Truman on Monday.

2. The UN's second political committee approved the preamble of a proposal to extend the life of the "Little Assembly" created last year. Russia has boycotted the Little Assembly.

3. Juan Atilio Bramuglia, Argentine foreign minister, said a way toward a peaceful settlement of the Berlin deadlock may be provided in the answers of the big four powers to his questionnaire on Berlin currency. None of the four powers has answered the questionnaire thus far.

4. Garry Davis, former U. S. Army Air Force pilot who calls himself a citizen of the world, demonstrated in the assembly hall during a short recess. Davis and a French friend, Robert Sarrazac, yelled a slogan for world government. UN guards then took them out of the chamber. It was the first disturbance within the assembly hall since the UN convened in Paris in September.

5. The assembly advanced $5,000,000 for the relief of Arab refugees driven from their homes by the fighting in Palestine.

Several Towns Are Isolated

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 19—Some trains were moving slowly again tonight on the western Kansas plains although winter's first heavy snowstorm still had several communities isolated and hundreds of motorists stranded.

The Santa Fe's westbound California limited reached Cimarron, Kas., tonight 12 hours after it pulled out of Dodge City, just 30 miles away.

The Santa Fe Superchief and Chief, crack passenger trains, were nearly 20 hours late at Kansas City, after being stalled at Dodge City.

Many Cars Stalled

Meanwhile a Union Pacific streamliner and several Rock Island passenger trains were stalled on blizzard-swept plains.

Several Rock Island railroad passenger trains were reported stalled west of Colby.

Two airline pilots said they spotted three marooned passenger trains, more than 200 stalled automobiles and thousands of roaming livestock near the Colorado-Kansas border.

There were no signals of distress seen from any of the snowbound vehicles, reported Capt. Robert Current of Continental Air lines. His plane and another DC-3 piloted by Capt. Cramp surveyed the stormy area along two separate routes on regular Kansas City-to-Denver flights.

(At least two deaths in Minnesota and several injuries were attributed to the raging storm conditions by the International News Service. The International News Service also said that the Weather bureau had reported that the blizzard was headed toward Kansas City, Mo., and that highway police were said to be clearing all roads in advance of the main blast.)

(The International News Service reported that at least 28 towns were isolated by the season's first blizzard, including Dodge City, St. Francis, Atwood, Bird City, Mc-

Warm Weather Forecast Today

The Weatherman says good football weather is in store for Lubbock and the South Plains today, with fair skies and warmer temperatures. The respite from cold weather is expected to hold over to Sunday, with partly cloudy skies and moderate temperatures, but colder weather is in store for the area late Sunday night or early Monday morning.

A storm now sweeping through Washington and Oregon in the Northwest will hit this area then if it continues its present pace, the Weatherman said. The new cold front, which will bring freezing temperatures, will hold on until Wednesday at least, the Weather bureau indicated.

Meanwhile the norther which gripped the area Thursday abated somewhat Friday, and temperatures rose to a high of 51, with a low early Friday morning of 25 degrees. Skies were clear all day.

This morning's low is expected to be in the mid 20's, the Weatherman reported. This afternoon's low will be about 60 degrees, and Sunday's low will be slightly below freezing.

Wind velocity today is expected to be in the neighborhood of 15 miles an hour.

Most of the state is warming up today from its latest norther, the Associated Press reported.

Winds which had whipped the state had grown weak in most sections by nightfall Friday, the Associated Press reported. Skies were fair, and the forecast was for continued fair Saturday.

Amarillo business firms cleaned up broken glass Friday from display windows shattered when winds reached up to 75 miles an hour in gusts there.

Reds Pushed Back In China

(By The Associated Press)

NANKING, Nov. 19.—Triumphant government divisions today drove home their first big victory in months of civil war, reportedly fanning out 70 miles east and 30 miles north of Suchow.

Gen. Huang Po-Tao's Seventh Army group, whose firm stand on the east flank helped turn the course of a battle that saved Nanking, raced east along the Lunghai railroad. This is China's main east-west line.

Pro-government press dispatches reported his troops had reached Hsinanchen, 70 miles east of Suchow. If true, they are halfway to Lienyunkang, east coast port where three Nationalist divisions were landed in the early stages of the battle.

Fliers Are Heroes

Government troops also claimed control of 30 miles of the main trunk railway north of Suchow. This is the line from Tientsin to Nanking.

Gen. Chow Chih-Jou's rejuvenated air force, which was the decisive factor in turning back the great Communist lunge toward the heart of China, took a rest. The fliers were heroes in a grateful capital.

Nanking, relaxed for the first time after months of tension, speculated on what caused such a reversal of form in its air force.

Some sources said Chow was angry because his pilots failed to halt the Reds in north China and Manchuria. He gave them such a tongue lashing that they really opened up for the first time.

'Big Inch' Pipeline Blast Hurts 18 Men

REDDINGTON, Ind., Nov. 19. (INS)—Two explosions ripped holes in the "big inch" and "little inch" natural gas pipelines tonight at a pumping station near Reddington, Ind.

Eighteen persons were injured by the blast which leveled the station. One person is reported still missing.

Fifteen of the injured, all personnel of the station were treated for burns at the Schenck Memorial hospital in Seymour and released. Three men, laborers in a construction crew working on the grounds were hospitalized.

They are Marvin Dixon, 43, of West Baden, Ind., Charles Beineke, 39, of Seymour, Ind., and Jap Walters, 30, of Middletown, O.

General Motors Boosts Prices On 1949 Buicks And Cadillacs

DETROIT, Nov. 19 (AP)—General Motors corporation today boosted the prices of its 1949 Cadillac and Buick autos.

Cadillac prices were hiked an average of 3.2 percent over the 1948 listings, while the increases on the new Buicks ranged from $50 to $100 on various models.

In addition, GM stipulated that the automatic dynaflow transmission, windshield washer and dual backup lights which were optional on the 1948 Buick roadmaster series would be standard equipment on those 1949 models. The list price on the accessories last year was $247.50.

GM has not yet placed its 1949 Oldsmobiles, Pontiacs and Chevrolets on display and consequently no mention was made of any possible price hike on these cars.

MacArthur To Announce Final Decision

Appeals Of Jap War Criminals Studied

By JOHN RICH
INS Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Nov. 19 — Gen. Douglas MacArthur was engaged today in an intensive study of appeals filed by all 25 convicted Japanese war criminals.

The Allied supreme commander was making an intensive review of the trial records and the petitions filed on behalf of former Premier Hideki Tojo and his 24 fellow defendants.

MacArthur planned to devote most of his time during the weekend to the study. He is expected to announce his decision on the appeals shortly after a Monday noon meeting with Allied leaders in Tokyo.

Not To Try Suicide

Ex-Premier Tojo asked that MacArthur reverse the Allied Far East tribunal's decision that Japan had violated international law by waging aggressive war. The wartime leader of defeated Nippon did not ask clemency for himself.

All 25 defendants were found guilty by the 11-nation tribunal. Tojo and six others were condemned to hang. Sixteen were sentenced to life imprisonment and the remaining two received lighter prison terms.

Tojo, who attempted suicide after the Allied troops occupied Japan, promised today he would not try that again.

Says He's Heroic Martyr

The bald-pated general told his American lawyer, George Blewett, that he wanted a "prompt" hanging.

Tojo stubbornly tried to depict himself as an heroic martyr. He said he was happy about the trial because "I had the opportunity to exonerate the emperor."

Tojo insisted that no appeal for clemency be entered in his behalf. He told his attorney to limit the appeal to two arguments:

First, that the Allied Far East tribunal's interpretation of the term "aggressive war" was erroneous.

Secondly, that the court erred in rejecting Tojo's contention that Japan acted in "righteous self-defense" within the legal limits of the Kellog-Briand anti-war pact when it attacked Pearl Harbor.

School Bond Vote Set For Dec. 4

By CHARLES STONE
Avalanche Staff Writer

An order calling for a $1,250,000 school bond election on Saturday, Dec. 4, was read and formally approved by the board of trustees of Lubbock Independent school district, meeting in special called session last night in the school business office.

Prior to the action on the bond election, the board considered petitions which contained a total of 1,111 signatures of persons requesting the election.

Includes New Buildings

The bond issue, if approved by the votes on Dec. 4, will provide funds to finance the construction of a 12-room school building in northwest Lubbock, a 12-room school for negroes, an 18-room school on East Broadway, additions to Cottage school, sites for the new buildings, a cafeteria and remodeling of Carrol Thompson Junior High school, and renovation and additions to several other schools in the system.

All this construction is included in the immediate needs of the Lubbock Independent school system, according to a report by the building committee of the board at the last regular board meeting on Oct. 26.

Polls, Judges Designated

In preparation for the forthcoming bond election, the board set up four polling places—at the school business office, Roscoe Wilson school, O. L. Slaton Junior High school, and McWhorter school.

The following presiding election judges and assistants for each of the polling places were set up as follows: School business office—Glen Hess, presiding judge, Mrs. F. M. Maddox, and J. C. General Inspects Air Bases Here

Major General Robert W. Harper, commanding general of the Air Force Training command, Barksdale Field, Shreveport, La., visited Lubbock Friday on an inspection trip to the former Army Air fields here, the first since their closing down at the end of the war.

His visit to Lubbock Air Force base, west of the city, was seen as a move in the AAF's plans to reactivate the field as a permanent training base late in 1949.

Arriving at the west base in a C-47 transport plane shortly after 10 a. m., Gen. Harper and his aides spent approximately five hours here.

Accompanying him were: Maj. R. W. Tarvin, administrative assistant; Maj. W. F. Shanklin, pilot; Capt. I. T. Westmoreland, aide; and S/Sgt. J. D. Gardner.

Tours City, Too

Following inspection of the west base, Gen. Harper was escorted on a tour of residential areas, schools, parks and the business district of Lubbock before going to the north base for a brief inspection.

At a luncheon honoring him and members of his staff, General Harper told members of the City commission and the Chamber of Commerce committee on Air Force Affairs that he felt his visit to Lubbock was well worthwhile.

Pointing out that he has been at his present command post for only about a month, he said he was making an effort to see every one of the installations—active and inactive—in the several states affected. General Harper said he found Lubbock Air Force Base in good condition and will require relatively little effort and expense to place it again on active status.

He expressed thanks for his welcome here and said he had been impressed by indications, on every hand, of Lubbock's interest in the Air Forces.

Spencer Wells presided over the luncheon. In the absence of Mayor

Storms, Heavy Rain Hit Areas In South

(By The Associated Press)

Freakish, vicious storms and heavy, damaging rain plagued areas in the South as a cold front moved in.

One short-lived but violet disturbance flattened 15 houses and damaged 22 other structures at Calhoun City, in north central Mississippi.

Hundreds of miles away at Forest Park, Ga., on the outskirts of Atlanta, a freakish storm lifted a home from its foundations and set it down 150 feet away. A woman and a child were in the building but escaped injury.

The Calhoun City tornado, doing damage estimated at $500,000, hit Thursday night, and the one at Forest Park Friday. Damage from the latter was put unofficially at $25,000.

Two deaths were attributed to storms in Louisiana. A farmer at Hessmer was electrocuted when he touched a blown-down power line. A sailor grabbed for his hat the wind was blowing away, fell from a gangplank and was drowned near Lake Charles.

Heavy damage from rain was reported in the Vicksburg, Miss., area on the Mississippi river. Nearly four inches of rain fell there Thursday night, 2.5 inches within an hour.

THE first troops scheduled to reach the island were the airborne contingents. The route lay directly across Malta and a number of us went out on the hilltops to watch them pass. In the wind and storm it was difficult for them to keep direction.

No. 10

Our plotting board in the air operations room showed that many planes and tows were blown far off course, but generally the columns kept on target and when the one we were watching had passed overhead, we returned to headquarters to await reports. Most of us turned in to catch a few hours sleep.

Landings Were Successful

The first messages in the morning were a mixture of good and bad. A number of gliders participating in the airborne attack on the British front had been cast loose too far from their targets and the high wind had dropped some into the sea.

We feared a heavy loss of life and, though statistics later showed that casualties were less than we feared, it was still a tragic incident. On both flanks the landings from the sea seemed to be proceeding well with only moderate opposition.

Up to that moment no amphibious attack in history had approached this one in size. Along miles of coast line there were hundreds of vessels and small boats afloat and ant-like files of advancing troops ashore. Overhead were flights of protecting fighters.

PATTON pushed vigorously forward to the center of the island, while with his extreme left flank he threw mobile columns around the western perimeter of the island, entering Palermo within twelve days after the initial landing.

He was a shrewd student of warfare who always clearly appreciated the value of speed in the conduct of operations. Speed

808 New Americans Leave Army Vessel For Homes In U.S.

BOSTON, Nov. 19 — With hope shining in their eyes, 808 men, women and children were enroute tonight to new homes scattered throughout the United States.

The 808 displaced persons from ravaged Europe arrived today on the Army transport Gen. Omar Bundy, coming up the harbor with the dawn.

Slash In Wage Demand Hinted

(By The Associated Press)

Negotiators for striking East coast dockworkers Friday night were unofficially reported to have cut their wage demands in half—from 50 to 25 cents an hour.

The report came from a source close to the negotiators. Neither side would confirm or deny it.

However, William N. Margolis, head of the federal mediation panel, said at the end of meetings last night that the talks had produced "new proposals which would merit serious consideration by both sides." More meetings were set today.

With the second weekend of the strike coming up, ECA Administrator Paul Hoffman appealed to the striking longshoremen and the New York Shipping association to permit shipment of vital goods to Marshall plan countries. Work stoppages that halt the continued flow of recovery goods may imperil success of the entire program, he warned.

Elsewhere on the labor front:

A CIO drive in 1949 for a fourth round of post-war raises began rumbling at Portland, Ore., where the CIO convention starts Monday. Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers said the UAW is "talking already about a fourth-round increase."

At Cincinnati, the American Federation of Labor endorsed a broad civil rights program to better the lot of "all our citizens."

U. S., British Air Lift Is Hampered By Winter Weather

BERLIN, Nov. 19 (AP) — The American - British airlift was sharply curtailed today by fog and mist in the Berlin area but resumed tonight.

Tempelhof and Gatow airfields virtually shut down at noon. The new Tegel strip was closed all day.

The weather focused attention again on the question of whether the shuttle to Soviet-blockaded Berlin is in danger of collapsing during the winter months.

Russian School Teacher Casts Her Lot 'Forever' With U.S.

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—Mrs. Oksana S. Kasenkina said today she would never return to Russia. She said she was casting her lot forever with America.

The 53-year-old Russian school teacher, who leaped from a Soviet consulate window to international fame 99 days ago, spoke to reporters before leaving Roosevelt hospital where she has been recovering from multiple injuries.

She told them, at a closely guarded news conference, she felt "very, very good" and never would consider returning to her homeland.

"I have every intention of staying forever in the United States, Mrs. Kasenkina said. "The throngs outside the consulate at the time I committed my act and the expressions of multitudes of Americans since I jumped have been very encouraging."

Here were some of the reasons she gave for her decision:

"American police are different from the Soviet police. American police protect you; Soviet police destroy human life."

Kings Of Egypt, Iran Divorce Queens Who Failed To Bear Sons

By MAX BOYD
Associated Press Staff Writer

CAIRO, Nov. 19—The reigning queens of Egypt and Iran, who bore no sons to inherit the thrones, have been divorced by their royal husbands.

The royal palace said today King Farouk, Egypt's 28-year-old monarch, signed the decree two days ago which divorced him from Farida, the beautiful queen who bore him three daughters.

Simultaneously it was announced that King Farouk's sister, Princess Fawzia, one of the world's most beautiful women, has been divorced by the shah of Iran. They have a daughter.

Under the law of both countries only a male can ascend to the throne.

Observers generally agree that the suddenly announced dissolutions were due to personal, not international, reasons.

The communiques issued in both countries emphasized that Princess Fawzia's divorce "cannot by any means affect the existing friendly relations between Egypt and Iran."

Farouk was married in January, 1938, before he became king. His then 17-year old bride, Safi

Several Towns Are Isolated

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 19—Some trains were moving slowly again tonight on the western Kansas plains although winter's first heavy snowstorm still had several communities isolated and hundreds of motorists stranded.

The Santa Fe's westbound California limited reached Cimarron, Kas., tonight 12 hours after it pulled out of Dodge City, just 30 miles away.

The Santa Fe Superchief and Chief, crack passenger trains, were nearly 20 hours late at Kansas City, after being stalled at Dodge City.

Many Cars Stalled

Meanwhile a Union Pacific streamliner and several Rock Island passenger trains were stalled on blizzard-swept plains.

Several Rock Island railroad passenger trains were reported stalled west of Colby.

Two airline pilots said they spotted three marooned passenger trains, more than 200 stalled automobiles and thousands of roaming livestock near the Colorado-Kansas border.

There were no signals of distress seen from any of the snowbound vehicles, reported Capt. Robert Current of Continental Air lines. His plane and another DC-3 piloted by Capt. Cramp surveyed the stormy area along two separate routes on regular Kansas City-to-Denver flights.

(At least two deaths in Minnesota and several injuries were attributed to the raging storm conditions by the International News Service. The International News Service also said that the Weather bureau had reported that the blizzard was headed toward Kansas City, Mo., and that highway police were said to be clearing all roads in advance of the main blast.)

(The International News Service reported that at least 28 towns were isolated by the season's first blizzard, including Dodge City, St. Francis, Atwood, Bird City, Mc-

Warm Weather Forecast Today

The Weatherman says good football weather is in store for Lubbock and the South Plains today, with fair skies and warmer temperatures. The respite from cold weather is expected to hold over to Sunday, with partly cloudy skies and moderate temperatures, but colder weather is in store for the area late Sunday night or early Monday morning.

A storm now sweeping through Washington and Oregon in the Northwest will hit this area then if it continues its present pace, the Weatherman said. The new cold front, which will bring freezing temperatures, will hold on until Wednesday at least, the Weather bureau indicated.

Meanwhile the norther which gripped the area Thursday abated somewhat Friday, and temperatures rose to a high of 51, with a low early Friday morning of 25 degrees. Skies were clear all day.

This morning's low is expected to be in the mid 20's, the Weatherman reported. This afternoon's low will be about 60 degrees, and Sunday's low will be slightly below freezing.

Wind velocity today is expected to be in the neighborhood of 15 miles an hour.

Most of the state is warming up today from its latest norther, the Associated Press reported.

Winds which had whipped the state had grown weak in most sections by nightfall Friday, the Associated Press reported. Skies were fair, and the forecast was for continued fair Saturday.

Amarillo business firms cleaned up broken glass Friday from display windows shattered when winds reached up to 75 miles an hour in gusts there.

'Slapping' Incident Brought New Criticism For Patton

THE first troops scheduled to reach the island were the airborne contingents. The route lay directly across Malta and a number of us went out on the hilltops to watch them pass. In the wind and storm it was difficult for them to keep direction.

No. 10

Our plotting board in the air operations room showed that many planes and tows were blown far off course, but generally the columns kept on target and when the one we were watching had passed overhead, we returned to headquarters to await reports. Most of us turned in to catch a few hours sleep.

Landings Were Successful

The first messages in the morning were a mixture of good and bad. A number of gliders participating in the airborne attack on the British front had been cast loose too far from their targets and the high wind had dropped some into the sea.

We feared a heavy loss of life and, though statistics later showed that casualties were less than we feared, it was still a tragic incident. On both flanks the landings from the sea seemed to be proceeding well with only moderate opposition.

Up to that moment no amphibious attack in history had approached this one in size. Along miles of coast line there were hundreds of vessels and small boats afloat and ant-like files of advancing troops ashore. Overhead were flights of protecting fighters.

PATTON pushed vigorously forward to the center of the island, while with his extreme left flank he threw mobile columns around the western perimeter of the island, entering Palermo within twelve days after the initial landing.

He was a shrewd student of warfare who always clearly appreciated the value of speed in the conduct of operations. Speed

808 New Americans Leave Army Vessel For Homes In U.S.

(By The Associated Press)

BOSTON, Nov. 19 — With hope shining in their eyes, 808 men, women and children were enroute tonight to new homes scattered throughout the United States.

The 808 displaced persons from ravaged Europe arrived today on the Army transport Gen. Omar Bundy, coming up the harbor with the dawn.

Slash In Wage Demand Hinted

(By The Associated Press)

Negotiators for striking East coast dockworkers Friday night were unofficially reported to have cut their wage demands in half—from 50 to 25 cents an hour.

The report came from a source close to the negotiators. Neither side would confirm or deny it.

However, William N. Margolis, head of the federal mediation panel, said at the end of meetings last night that the talks had produced "new proposals which would merit serious consideration by both sides." More meetings were set today.

With the second weekend of the strike coming up, ECA Administrator Paul Hoffman appealed to the striking longshoremen and the New York Shipping association to permit shipment of vital goods to Marshall plan countries. Work stoppages that halt the continued flow of recovery goods may imperil success of the entire program, he warned.

Elsewhere on the labor front:

A CIO drive in 1949 for a fourth round of post-war raises began rumbling at Portland, Ore., where the CIO convention starts Monday. Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers said the UAW is "talking already about a fourth-round increase."

At Cincinnati, the American Federation of Labor endorsed a broad civil rights program to better the lot of "all our citizens."

Storms, Heavy Rain Hit Areas In South

(By The Associated Press)

Freakish, vicious storms and heavy, damaging rain plagued areas in the South as a cold front moved in.

One short-lived but violet disturbance flattened 15 houses and damaged 22 other structures at Calhoun City, in north central Mississippi.

Hundreds of miles away at Forest Park, Ga., on the outskirts of Atlanta, a freakish storm lifted a home from its foundations and set it down 150 feet away. A woman and a child were in the building but escaped injury.

The Calhoun City tornado, doing damage estimated at $500,000, hit Thursday night, and the one at Forest Park Friday. Damage from the latter was put unofficially at $25,000.

Two deaths were attributed to storms in Louisiana. A farmer at Hessmer was electrocuted when he touched a blown-down power line. A sailor grabbed for his hat the wind was blowing away, fell from a gangplank and was drowned near Lake Charles.

Heavy damage from rain was reported in the Vicksburg, Miss., area on the Mississippi river. Nearly four inches of rain fell there Thursday night, 2.5 inches within an hour.

AFL, CIO BOTH LOSE

LONGVIEW, Nov. 19. (AP)—Both AFL and CIO unions lost here today in a collective bargaining election among production employes of the R. G. LeTourneau plant. A total of 512 votes were cast for "no union." There were 33 votes for the AFL International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Shipbuilders, and Helpers, and 26 for the CIO United Automobile, Aircraft, and Implement Workers.

Reds Pushed Back In China

(By The Associated Press)

NANKING, Nov. 19.—Triumphant government divisions today drove home their first big victory in months of civil war, reportedly fanning out 70 miles east and 30 miles north of Suchow.

Gen. Huang Po-Tao's Seventh Army group, whose firm stand on the east flank helped turn the course of a battle that saved Nanking, raced east along the Lunghai railroad. This is China's main east-west line.

Pro-government press dispatches reported his troops had reached Hsinanchen, 70 miles east of Suchow. If true, they are halfway to Lienyunkang, east coast port where three Nationalist divisions were landed in the early stages of the battle.

Fliers Are Heroes

Government troops also claimed control of 30 miles of the main trunk railway north of Suchow. This is the line from Tientsin to Nanking.

Gen. Chow Chih-Jou's rejuvenated air force, which was the decisive factor in turning back the great Communist lunge toward the heart of China, took a rest. The fliers were heroes in a grateful capital.

Nanking, relaxed for the first time after months of tension, speculated on what caused such a reversal of form in its air force.

Some sources said Chow was angry because his pilots failed to halt the Reds in north China and Manchuria. He gave them such a tongue lashing that they really opened up for the first time.

MacArthur To Announce Final Decision

Appeals Of Jap War Criminals Studied

By JOHN RICH
INS Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Nov. 19 — Gen. Douglas MacArthur was engaged today in an intensive study of appeals filed by all 25 convicted Japanese war criminals.

The Allied supreme commander was making an intensive review of the trial records and the petitions filed on behalf of former Premier Hideki Tojo and his 24 fellow defendants.

MacArthur planned to devote most of his time during the weekend to the study. He is expected to announce his decision on the appeals shortly after a Monday noon meeting with Allied leaders in Tokyo.

Not To Try Suicide

Ex-Premier Tojo asked that MacArthur reverse the Allied Far East tribunal's decision that Japan had violated international law by waging aggressive war. The wartime leader of defeated Nippon did not ask clemency for himself.

All 25 defendants were found guilty by the 11-nation tribunal. Tojo and six others were condemned to hang. Sixteen were sentenced to life imprisonment and the remaining two received lighter prison terms.

Tojo, who attempted suicide after the Allied troops occupied Japan, promised today he would not try that again.

Says He's Heroic Martyr

The bald-pated general told his American lawyer, George Blewett, that he wanted a "prompt" hanging.

Tojo stubbornly tried to depict himself as an heroic martyr. He said he was happy about the trial because "I had the opportunity to exonerate the emperor."

Tojo insisted that no appeal for clemency be entered in his behalf. He told his attorney to limit the appeal to two arguments:

First, that the Allied Far East tribunal's interpretation of the term "aggressive war" was erroneous.

Secondly, that the court erred in rejecting Tojo's contention that Japan acted in "righteous self-defense" within the legal limits of the Kellog-Briand anti-war pact when it attacked Pearl Harbor.

Avalanche Staff Writer

An order calling for a $1,250,000 school bond election on Saturday, Dec. 4, was read and formally approved by the board of trustees of Lubbock Independent school district, meeting in special called session last night in the school business office.

Prior to the action on the bond election, the board considered petitions which contained a total of 1,111 signatures of persons requesting the election.

Includes New Buildings

The bond issue, if approved by the votes on Dec. 4, will provide funds to finance the construction of a 12-room school building in northwest Lubbock, a 12-room school for negroes, an 18-room school on East Broadway, additions to Cottage school, sites for the new buildings, a cafeteria and remodeling of Carrol Thompson Junior High school, and renovation and additions to several other schools in the system.

All this construction is included in the immediate needs of the Lubbock Independent school system, according to a report by the building committee of the board at the last regular board meeting on Oct. 26.

Polls, Judges Designated

In preparation for the forthcoming bond election, the board set up four polling places—at the school business office, Roscoe Wilson school, O. L. Slaton Junior High school, and McWhorter school.

The following presiding election judges and assistants for each of the polling places were set up as follows: School business office—Glen Hess, presiding judge, Mrs. F. M. Maddox, and J. C. General Motors Boosts Prices On 1949 Buicks And Cadillacs

DETROIT, Nov. 19 (AP)—General Motors corporation today boosted the prices of its 1949 Cadillac and Buick autos.

Cadillac prices were hiked an average of 3.2 percent over the 1948 listings, while the increases on the new Buicks ranged from $50 to $100 on various models.

In addition, GM stipulated that the automatic dynaflow transmission, windshield washer and dual backup lights which were optional on the 1948 Buick roadmaster series would be standard equipment on those 1949 models. The list price on the accessories last year was $247.50.

GM has not yet placed its 1949 Oldsmobiles, Pontiacs and Chevrolets on display and consequently no mention was made of any possible price hike on these cars.

General Inspects Air Bases Here

Major General Robert W. Harper, commanding general of the Air Force Training command, Barksdale Field, Shreveport, La., visited Lubbock Friday on an inspection trip to the former Army Air fields here, the first since their closing down at the end of the war.

His visit to Lubbock Air Force base, west of the city, was seen as a move in the AAF's plans to reactivate the field as a permanent training base late in 1949.

Arriving at the west base in a C-47 transport plane shortly after 10 a. m., Gen. Harper and his aides spent approximately five hours here.

Accompanying him were: Maj. R. W. Tarvin, administrative assistant; Maj. W. F. Shanklin, pilot; Capt. I. T. Westmoreland, aide; and S/Sgt. J. D. Gardner.

Tours City, Too

Following inspection of the west base, Gen. Harper was escorted on a tour of residential areas, schools, parks and the business district of Lubbock before going to the north base for a brief inspection.

At a luncheon honoring him and members of his staff, General Harper told members of the City commission and the Chamber of Commerce committee on Air Force Affairs that he felt his visit to Lubbock was well worthwhile.

Pointing out that he has been at his present command post for only about a month, he said he was making an effort to see every one of the installations—active and inactive—in the several states affected. General Harper said he found Lubbock Air Force Base in good condition and will require relatively little effort and expense to place it again on active status.

He expressed thanks for his welcome here and said he had been impressed by indications, on every hand, of Lubbock's interest in the Air Forces.

Spencer Wells presided over the luncheon. In the absence of Mayor

Russian School Teacher Casts Her Lot 'Forever' With U.S.

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—Mrs. Oksana S. Kasenkina said today she would never return to Russia. She said she was casting her lot forever with America.

The 53-year-old Russian school teacher, who leaped from a Soviet consulate window to international fame 99 days ago, spoke to reporters before leaving Roosevelt hospital where she has been recovering from multiple injuries.

She told them, at a closely guarded news conference, she felt "very, very good" and never would consider returning to her homeland.

"I have every intention of staying forever in the United States, Mrs. Kasenkina said. "The throngs outside the consulate at the time I committed my act and the expressions of multitudes of Americans since I jumped have been very encouraging."

Here were some of the reasons she gave for her decision:

"American police are different from the Soviet police. American police protect you; Soviet police destroy human life."

Kings Of Egypt, Iran Divorce Queens Who Failed To Bear Sons

By MAX BOYD
Associated Press Staff Writer

CAIRO, Nov. 19—The reigning queens of Egypt and Iran, who bore no sons to inherit the thrones, have been divorced by their royal husbands.

The royal palace said today King Farouk, Egypt's 28-year-old monarch, signed the decree two days ago which divorced him from Farida, the beautiful queen who bore him three daughters.

Simultaneously it was announced that King Farouk's sister, Princess Fawzia, one of the world's most beautiful women, has been divorced by the shah of Iran. They have a daughter.

Under the law of both countries only a male can ascend to the throne.

Observers generally agree that the suddenly announced dissolutions were due to personal, not international, reasons.

The communiques issued in both countries emphasized that Princess Fawzia's divorce "cannot by any means affect the existing friendly relations between Egypt and Iran."

Farouk was married in January, 1938, before he became king. His then 17-year old bride, Safi

U. S., British Air Lift Is Hampered By Winter Weather

BERLIN, Nov. 19 (AP) — The American - British airlift was sharply curtailed today by fog and mist in the Berlin area but resumed tonight.

Tempelhof and Gatow airfields virtually shut down at noon. The new Tegel strip was closed all day.

The weather focused attention again on the question of whether the shuttle to Soviet-blockaded Berlin is in danger of collapsing during the winter months.

Settlements Are Made In Cases

Three judgments totaling recoveries of $14,514.58 were signed Friday by 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue.

Two of them were approvals of agreed settlements in damage actions, and the other was based on a jury's verdict in a suit to set aside award of the Industrial Accident board.

The court approved a settlement in the damages action of Mrs. Ezella Jo Thompson, a widow, individually, and Sandra Jeanne Thompson, a minor, acting by her next friend, Guy R. Copeland, against the Inter-City Motor Express, Inc., and others.

Other Payments Made

A jury was waived. Testimony revealed that all things in controversy had been settled by written agreement, and Mrs. Thompson was allowed recovery of $10,469.59, Sandra Jeanne $7,000. Payment was by the express company and Elbert Walker and Ardell Gary.

A lump sum recovery of $2,055 was ordered paid to John J. Avila, in the suit of Texas' Employers Insurance association, plaintiff and cross-defendant, against Avila as defendant and cross-plaintiff.

The judgment was based on a recent verdict of a jury of P. B. Penney and others in answer to special issues, which found that Avila on Feb. 3 had suffered in course of employment temporary incapacity for 66 weeks and temporary partial incapacity for 52 additional weeks. It found his partial incapacity to work to be 50 per cent, and his average weekly wage at time of injury to have been $60. An Aug. 13 award of the Industrial accident board, in which Avila was employe, R. H. Fulton & Co., employer, and the insurance company, insurer, was ordered set aside. The firm of Campbell and Adams represented Avila.

The court allowed a recovery of $1,000 in the damages action of Fred I. Merrick, as next friend of John Stephens Merrick, a minor, against Willis B. Gaddy. The child, 7, was injured April 24 in the north outskirts of Lubbock when struck by a car owned by Gaddy but operated by an agent of the defendant.

Tech Crops Judging Team On Way To Kansas City, Chicago

Members of the crops judging team from Texas Technological college left Lubbock Friday afternoon for Kansas City, where they will compete Tuesday in the national intercollegiate contest, and from where they will go to Chicago for the international contest Nov. 29, Dr. A. W. Young, head of plant industry, has announced.

The four members of the team will stop sometime today in Stillwater, Okla., where they will do practice judging at Okla. A. and M. Following the Kansas City contest, they will stop en route to Chicago at Iowa State college, Ames, Iowa, for another workout. Judd Morrow, plant industry lecturer, will accompany the team as coach.

Team members are Robbie Gill, of Lubbock; Howard Taylor, of Lubbock; L. W. Rosenbaum, of Spearman; and Camille Stevens, of Wimberley.

Last years crops team took first place in the national contest and second place in the international competition.

Drilling Set Again For Old Lynn Test

McAlester Fuel company, of Magnolia, Ark., No. 1 C. O. Edwards is to be a 9,750-foot wildcat in northwest Lynn county, to try to develop production from the Pennsylvanian.

The venture is about 14 miles west of Tahoka, and 440 feet from south and west lines of section 58, GRR survey.

It is an old dry hole on a present total depth of 7,244 feet in lime and shale. York & Harper, Inc., of Midland started the development in 1947 and drilled it to approximately 5,500 feet.

Oil Not Shown

At that point the project was turned to Honolulu Oil corporation, and that concern deepened it to 7,244 feet. No commercial oil or gas signs were encountered in going to the present bottom.

McAlester is scheduled to move in equipment and start drilling ahead by November 25.

It is understood that York & Harper, Inc., retain interests in the area adjacent to the prospector.

Frank and George Frankel No. 3-I University, adjacent to Ellenburger production on the south side of the Fullerton field, in northwest Andrews county, and 2,310 feet from north and west lines of section 32, block 13, University survey, has shown for a discovery from the lower Simpson.

Pressure Given

This project took a drillstem test at 10,824-874 feet. A 2,000-foot water cushion was used. The tool was open two hours and 15 minutes.

Recovery was the 2,000-foot water cushion, 2,500 feet of 40-gravity oil, and 180 feet of oil cut drilling mud. There was no formation water.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure ranged from 1,000 pounds to 1,700 pounds. Shut-in bottom hole pressure, after 15 minutes was 3,700 pounds.

Total Of 4,387 Patch Tests Given By County Association

A total of 4,387 patch tests have been given this year by the Lubbock county Tuberculosis association, members were told at a regular monthly luncheon in Hilton hotel Friday noon.

The number represents an increase of 935 over last year, Mrs. Roy Sanford, field representative for the clinic, reported. Of 127 visitors to the unit, 92 were x-rayed and four adults were found to have active tuberculosis.

Dr. Embree R. Rose reported on the progress of an x-ray survey at Texas Technological college. Miss Mayme Alexander, a board member and member of the state board of directors, announced that she had received appointments to serve on the finance and program committees of the state organization.

Mrs. Elsie Ailes, executive secretary, announced that Christmas seals had been sent to E. J. Ohnemus, superintendent of mails at the Lubbock postoffice, for delivery Monday.

New Mexico To Meet Heavily Favored Red Raiders Today

Techsans Will Attempt To Clinch Border Loop Crown

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

The Cherry and Silver of New Mexico University will collide with the Scarlet of Texas Tech this afternoon at 2:30 in Jones Stadium, with the Red Raiders a heavy favorite to win their fourth Border Conference clash and clinch their second consecutive loop crown.

A crowd of about 14,000 persons, including the New Mexico band, pep squad and Albuquerque rooters, is expected to be in Jones Stadium for the 13th renewal of this inter-state rivalry. Tech holds the upperhand with 10 victories, one loss and a tie.

Lobo Back Injured

The Raiders will be in top physical condition for their fourth Border loop game, but the Lobos have two backs on the doubtful list. Jerry McKown, who saw little action last week against Drake, will start at quarterback, but may have to be replaced if he is re-injured. Joe Stell has earned a starting halfback berth and will be shifted to quarterback in case of an injury.

Kenneth Hart, a reserve back, is a surprise starter in the Lobo backfield, replacing Bill Roche, who still will see a lot of action. Hart was impressive in practice this week. Fullback Rudy Krall, one of the best fullbacks in the nation, is a definite starter. Around him is centered much of the Lobo attack on the ground, while McKown is the chief aerial threat.

Coach Berl Huffman's squad arrived late Friday afternoon and went through a light workout in Jones Stadium. The big, husky New Mexico players impressed spectators, who saw that the Raiders again would be outweighed in the line.

Texas Tech had a light signal drill in the dormitory and didn't go through the ritual of suiting up Coach Dell Morgan's team, possibly overconfident, still is in the best possible physical condition.

Had Poor Season

On the record, New Mexico has had a poor season so far. They opened with a 9-6 victory over Colorado of the Big Seven and swamped the New Mexico Aggies 61-0. After that misfortune fell. They dropped a 27-13 game to Texas Mines, Texas snowed them under a 47-0 lacing, lost to Hardin-Simmons 28-19, fell before Fresno State 20-14, kicked away a 14-6 loss to Arizona and took a 13-0 beating from Drake last week.

Despite these lickings, spirit on the New Mexico squad is high and they definitely are ready to play their best game of the year today against Tech. Coaches expressed deep respect for the attitude of the players and for their ability.

The Raiders, on the upswing after losses to three Southwest Conference teams, will be favored by two or three touchdowns in most quarters. They opened with a 19-0 victory over WTSTC, beat Texas Aggies 20-14, lost to SMU 41-6, beat Tulsa 41-20, lost to Baylor 13-0, upset Arizona 31-0, held Rice to a 14-7 victory and swamped Texas Mines 46-6.

Homecoming Occasion

This is a homecoming occasion for Coach Huffman and Walker Nichols, his assistant coach, both of whom were on the Texas Tech coaching staff until two years ago. They felt confident last night that the Lobos would play a good game today, but neither would prophesy victory. Coach Huffman declared that Tech was too big and too strong and believed that the Raiders could have beaten Texas this year.

Despite this dismal prediction for New Mexico, a large number of fans will be on hand to see what is expected to be one of the best games of the year in Jones Stadium.

ANTELOPE BACKS ON MARCH—Charlie McGuire, (No. 69), Post quarterback is shown above as he blasted through the Littlefield Wildcat line for three yards and a first down on the Littlefield 43 in the fourth quarter of the District 4-A playoff tussle Friday afternoon at Post. On the next play, Post Halfback Junior Malouf, (No. 72 on ground), broke through right tackle and sprinted 43 yards for the second—and clinching—Antelope touchdown. Littlefield gridders moving in to stop McGuire include Tackle John Fowler, (No. 17), Back Tommy Bailes, (No. 26), and Back George Renfro, (No. 45). Post won, 14-0. Malouf And McGuire Spark Antelopes To Tenth Victory

By EARL SCUDDAY
Avalanche Sports Writer

POST, Nov. 19—Post's powerful Antelopes, paced by the brilliant running of Halfback Junior Malouf and the passing of Quarterback Charlie McGuire, scored twice in the second half to defeat the Littlefield Wildcats, 14-0, here this afternoon and win the championship of District 4-A.

The victory gave Post a record of 10 consecutive triumphs this season, nine in regular south 4-A competition, and the right to represent the district in bi-district play against the 3-A winners—the Lockney Longhorns—next week. Littlefield, which represented the north 4-A bracket in the playoff tussle for the full loop crown, had lost only one other game in conference competition this season.

An overflow crowd of approximately 4,500 persons watched the two elevens battle on nearly even terms during the first half, then saw the speedy Antelopes explode for two tallies in the final periods. The Wildcats fought until the final whistle, but they were able to launch only one drive deep into Post territory and could not stop the Post attack at crucial points.

MAY PLAY GAME HERE

POST, Nov. 19. (Special)—The Bi-District game between Lockney, undefeated winner of District 3-A, and Post, victors in District 4-A, may be played in Jones Stadium in Lubbock. Officials of Post and Lockney, here for the District 4-A playoff game, met immediately after the game and agreed to play the Bi-District clash in Texas Tech's stadium, if it could be obtained for a "reasonable fee." Lockney and Post officials will meet Saturday morning at 11 in the Hilton Hotel, Lubbock, with representatives of Tech. An attempt will be made to secure the stadium for a Thanksgiving Day game, since Lubbock High school is out of town and Texas Tech does not play until Saturday at Abilene.

Both teams had trouble in crossing the mid-field stripe during the first half, although the Antelopes chalked up one penetration early in the second quarter. After taking over the ball on their own 24, the Antelopes surged deep into Wildcat territory. McGuire passed to End Buddy Hays on the Littlefield 41, then Malouf broke over right guard to the Wildcat 27. Plunges by Halfback R. F. Josey, Malouf and McGuire picked up a first down on the Wildcat 15, but two line bucks lost ground and two passes by McGuire went incomplete to end the threat.

Coach Bing Bingham's Antelopes roared back early in the third period to tally the first touchdown. Halfback Bob Teaff returned the Littlefield kickoff to the Post 33, then rammed for a first down on the Post 44. Malouf slanted off tackle for five paces, Halfback Roy Wade made it a first on the Littlefield 39 and Malouf sprinted outside right tackle and went all the way to the double stripe.

James Kirkpatrick kicked the extra point from placement and Post led, 7-0.

Minutes later the Wildcats made their most dangerous thrust of the game. Fullback Jiggs Walker returned the kickoff to the Littlefield 15, then slammed to the 28 for a first down. Two complete passes by Quarterback John Srygley moved the ball to the Post 18, then Srygley hit Halfback Lilburn Bales on the Antelope nine. Line smashes and sweeps by Walker, Bales and Srygley failed to gain, however, and the ball went over to Post on downs.

The Antelopes clinched the win—and the district crown—mid-way in the fourth period. Post Back Carl King intercepted one of Srygley's tosses on the Post 46, then Teaff and McGuire picked up a first down on the Littlefield 43. On the next play Malouf broke over right tackle, shook away from two would-be tacklers and sprinted 43 yards to paydirt. Kirkpatrick booted the extra point and Post led, 14-0.

Although Malouf and McGuire grabbed top honors in the tussle, they received outstanding support from End Maurice Fluitt and Guards Calvin Storie and Donald Carpenter. Teaff gained consistently on off-tackle smashes.

Bales was the whole show for Littlefield, although End Billy Perkins turned in some good work in the pass-snagging department.

Lamesa Edges By Midland, 7 To 0

LAMESA, Nov. 19. (Special)—Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes capitalized on a second quarter Midland fumble to push across a quick touchdown and defeat the Bulldogs, 7-0, in a District 3-AA clash here tonight.

Approximately 2,000 chilled fans watched the Tornadoes chalk up their second win of the season in the conference competition, and their third triumph of the season.

The Lamesa recovery of the Midland fumble early in the second period provided the margin of victory in the hard-fought battle. The Lamesans capitalized on the break to drive to the one-foot line, with Halfback Dick Echols turning in a 14-yard jaunt, then Fullback Johnsye Tankersley rammed over the double stripe.

Lamesa Quarterback Art Bizzell booted the extra point from placement and the Tornadoes were ahead, 7-0.

Lamesa held a clear margin in the statistics, with 15 first downs to nine for Midland. The Tornadoes also compiled 231 yards rushing, against 147 for the Bulldogs.

Tankersley and Bizzell shared honors in the Lamesa backfield, with Guard Frank Rose and Center Bill Hart bulwarking the forward wall.

Midland was paced by Quarterback Cecil Stephens and Fullback Bill Little.

Ropesville Eagles Cop 2-0 Win Over Whiteface Eleven

WHITEFACE, Nov. 19. (Spl.)—A surprising Ropesville Eagle eleven capitalized on one break to turn a scoreless tie into a 2-0 victory over the Whiteface Antelopes here today in a District 4-B conference game.

Late in the third quarter, Left Half Wayne Hewlett intercepted an Antelope pass and raced 60 yards, but was caught from behind on the four-yard line by Kenneth Riddle. Hewlett fumbled the ball and Riddle pounced on it.

On the first play, Riddle was trapped in the end zone trying to run out and the Eagles scored a safety.

Whiteface held the upperhand in the game with a 10 to 4 advantage in first downs, while doubling the yardage gained rushing. But both teams put on fine defensive stands and neither was able to penetrate to scoring territory.

Black Panthers Down Wildcats, 22-0, In Boys Club Cage Game

Roy Lee Tunell's 12 points paced the Black Panther quintet to a 22 to 0 victory over the Wildcats in a Pee Wee league encounter at Lubbock Boys Club today.

The Midget loop's Five Little Devils took to the hardwood in the second game and racked up a 20 to 12 win over the Eagles. Bobby Wood and Glen Aiken each got eight tallies for the Devils. Jimmy Washington led the losing Eagle cagers with five points.

A smooth operating Dirty Five smashed the Dirty Demons, 31 to 14 in the Junior tilt. J. R. Bradford scored 12 points for the winners, while Charles Coe paced the Demons with five baskets.

In the Senior loop game, the Bombers defeated the Sharpshooters 43 to 30 behind Donney Washington's 20 points. Roger Van Cleave led the losers with four points.

Bulldogs Trounce Floydada, 33 To 0

SPUR, Nov. 19. (Special) — The Spur Bulldogs, making their final appearance of the District 3-A conference schedule, rolled to an easy 33-0 victory over an outclassed Floydada eleven here tonight.

The victory clinched second place for the Bulldogs and was made somewhat easier by an injury to the Whirlwinds' Bill Jeter, who saw little action.

Clyde Blair romped 17 yards around left end for the initial score in the first quarter and Melvin Lindsey went three yards to cap a drive in the second quarter, Lindsey also converting.

Two scores were marked up in the third quarter, Doyle Slack moving eight yards and Tommy Aldrich racing 22 yards for the touchdowns, with Lindsey converting each time. The final tally came in the fourth period on a pass from Aldrich to Joe King, the play covering 10 yards.

Paducah Wins 31-7 Victory Over Matador In 3-A Tussle

PADUCAH, Nov. 19. (Special)—The Paducah Dragons wound up their District 3-A conference schedule with a 31-7 romp over the Matador Matadors here tonight.

The victors were paced by Joe Ed Sandlin's two touchdowns, both on plunges, coming in the first and second quarter for the first two scores. After that, Rudy Rochelle raced 50 yards to score after Don Buckley had intercepted a Matador pass.

Tom Sandlin scored the third Dragon touchdown in the third quarter on a plunge over center and Joe Clark tallied the last score in the fourth quarter when he intercepted a pass and ran 35 yards.

T. Pitts scored the lone Matador tally late in the fourth quarter on a four-yard plunge and Garland Ratton plunged the extra point.

Crosbyton Ends 3-A Schedule With 40 To 6 Win Over Ralls

RALLS, Nov. 19. (Special) — The Crosbyton Chiefs ended their District 3-A conference schedule here tonight with a 40-6 victory over the Ralls Jackrabbits.

Bill Simmons, the elusive, twinkle-toed Crosbyton back, paced his team to victory and into a tie with Floydada for third place in the conference. Simmons easily was the outstanding player on the field.

Crosbyton scored twice in the first quarter, once on a blocked punt, and from that point on the game never was close. Ralls averted a shutout in the closing moments with a 40-yard pass play from Ray Marsh to C. H. Verett, the latter running 30 yards.

New Home Boy, Girl Cagers Win Games From Cotton Center

NEW HOME, Nov. 19. (Special)—New Home boys and girls basketball teams won a pair of games here tonight, the boys taking a 39-20 victory and the girls winning 42-26, with Cotton Center the victims.

Colleen Savage paced the New Home girls with 18 points, while the District 18 defending champions were led by Ruth Cannon's 12 counters. Carl Ames was top man for the New Home boys with 13 points and Towns had 10 points for the losers.

OWLS SEW UP FIRST PLACE IN 3-B

Hale Center Team Gains 12 To 6 Victory Over Olton's Mustangs

OLTON, Nov. 19. (Special)—The Hale Center Owls wrapped up undisputed possession of first place in District 3-B here tonight with a 12-6 victory over the Olton Mustangs.

The Owls spotted the Mustangs a touchdown in the first quarter, then roared back to gain a 6-6 tie at the half with a second quarter score. A third quarter tally decided the contest.

Jackson Dodd scored the Mustang touchdown when he climaxed a 70-yard drive down the field by plunging for the score.

The Owls, led by Jerry Johnson, scored on a sustained drive of 28 yards, Bennie Shackleford taking Johnson's pass for the touchdown. And in the third quarter, the Owls drove 55 yards for the winning touchdown.

Olton and Hale Center tied on first downs, eight each, but the losers had three penetrations to two.

Friona Awarded Victory Over Anton Team On Penetrations

ANTON, Nov. 19. (Special) — Friona and Anton fought to a 13 to 13 standoff here tonight so far as the scoreboard was concerned, but Friona was awarded the game on four penetrations to Anton's three. Anton led in first downs 14 to 10.

Friona opened the scoring in the first period on a 20 yard power play that hit pay dirt, and then plunged for the extra point. Anton bounced back with Richard Motl racing 20 yards for a score in the second period, but the try for point failed. Friona led 7 to 6 at half time.

A line play that was good for 40 yards scored Friona's second touchdown, but Anton opened up an 80 yard downfield march that was capped by a pass play good for 35 yards and a score from Estes to Glasscock. The same pass combination clicked for the extra point.

MEADOW GIRL CAGERS WIN

NEW DEAL, Nov. 19. (Special)—Meadow's girl cagers chalked up two game triumphs over New Deal here tonight, winning the feature setto by a 35-33 margin and copping the "B" encounter, 18-17. Marie Wales paced the New Deal five with 25 points, while Alma Belew tallied 24 points for Meadow.

Mustangs Subdue Indians, 32 To 14

ANDREWS, Nov. 19. (Special)—The Andrews Mustangs swarmed over the Seminole Indians here this afternoon 32-14 to end the District 5-A conference schedule with second place clinched.

An early Andrews offensive scored two touchdowns for a 13-0 lead at the half and a last half offensive completely ended the Indians' last chance at victory.

Tommy D. Hamilton was the top scorer for the Mustangs with two touchdowns, both on forward pass receptions, while Joe Weatherby, Bob Holman and Enoch Reid each scored once.

Andrews rolled up 19 first downs to seven for the Indians and the visitors never penetrated the Mustang 20-yard line.

The Mustangs surged down the field repeatedly, Weatherby catching a pass in the end zone to climax one drive of 60 yards and Reid plunging two yards to climax another 60-yard drive. Holman intercepted an enemy pass on the second play after the half and raced 60 yards to score.

Both the loser's touchdowns came on long runs by Ralph Jones. The Indian halfback dashed 40 yards in the third quarter to score the first touchdown and then galloped 38 yards in the fourth quarter for the final score.

Monahans Comes From Behind To Drop Pecos Squad, 21-7

PECOS, Nov. 19. (Special) — Monhans, crowned champions of district 5-A last week, had to come from behind here tonight to subdue an ambitious Pecos eleven 21 to 7.

Pecos took the lead in the first period when Halfback Basden grabbed a Monahans fumble in midair and raced 25 yards to score and then kicked the extra point.

Monahans tied the score in the second period when Halfback Waldo Young took a Pecos punt on his own 30 and raced 70 yards for a touchdown. In the third period Fullback Ray Cathey plunged over from the nine yard line for Monahons' second touchdown, and the final marker was made in the fourth period when Cathey broke over right tackle and went 40 yards for a score.

Monahans will meet the winner of the Rotan-Anson game in District 6-A for the bi-district title.

Whitharral Wins 3-B Game Over Amherst On First Downs

AMHERST, Nov. 19. (Special)—Whitharral High school's football team won its first District 3-B conference game of the season here today, gaining victory on first downs after the game had ended in a 14-14 tie.

Amherst had to come from behind to tie up the bitter contest, spotting Whitharral a 14-0 lead at the half and then scoring seven points in both the third and fourth quarters.

The Smith Charges

THE CHARGE by Gen. Holland M. Smith, of the Marine corps, that the bloody capture of Tarawa Island in the Pacific was an unnecessary operation has, not surprisingly, stirred up much controversy.

The consensus of General Smith's critics is that the operation was so necessary as to justify its heavy cost. They are entitled to this opinion and to state it, with supporting arguments, as a contribution to public enlightenment on a controversial subject.

But some of the rebuttals, chiefly from Army and Navy sources, have "deplored" the charges in a manner which implied a conviction that authority should be provided which would forbid the publication of accusations like General Smith has made. No one has been so frank and honest to acknowledge that the hemming and hawing amounts to the advocacy of an outright military censorship of critics. But that's what they mean.

Few Americans will pretend the expert knowledge which would qualify them to sit in judgment of General Smith's charges. Certainly they should be considered with full realization that they are the opinions of just one man. But whether they are right or wrong, most Americans will be in complete agreement not merely that he has the right to state them, but that he should make them public for whatever value they may contain.

U. S. And Chiang

IF THE U. S. State department should accede to the request from Chiang Kai-Shek for a declaration of support of the Chinese Nationalist government, the statement is sure to be studied closely for possible implications not discernible upon casual reading.

In particular, interest in many quarters will be intense in whether a declaration of support, if made, can be construed as differentiating in any way between Chiang and the Nationalist government.

The statement Chiang undoubtedly wants is one which would acknowledge him as being inseparable from the Nationalist government. Such a declaration would strengthen him in a position which has become rather shaky at times. In fact, there is much doubt whether Chiang would be in power now were it not for the widespread assumption among his countrymen that Uncle Sam is squarely behind him. There also has been a growing doubt in many minds as to whether Chiang has not worn out his usefulness as the head of the Nationalist government. A considerable opinion exists that a new leader might ease some of the friction among the Nationalist Chinese.

Whether the State department might deem it expedient even to imply such an attitude at this time, with the Communists threatening to over-run China, is questionable. But certainly the interests of the nation are concerned primarily with the survival of the Nationalist government, with no more consideration for the personal political welfare of Chiang, or any individual, than is justified by his importance to such survival.

Another thing to convince an old bird that he is aging is for him to go out on a lark.

A hat is never the same after it has once been kicked around in the political ring.

THE STORY

Time, 1880. Place, New Orleans. Louis Durand, 37, a well-to-do bachelor, has been corresponding with Miss Julia Russell, whom he has never seen. He has proposed marriage and she has accepted. According to her picture, Miss Russell is dark-haired, strong-featured and no longer young. Durand goes down to the dock to meet the boat that is to bring her from St. Louis. He is dumfounded when an exquisite young blond creature introduces herself as Julia. She explains her little deceit by saying she didn't want him to fall for just a pretty face. Durand is enchanted with her and they are married. Certain things puzzle him, however, during their first days together. Julia drinks coffee, although her letters had said she despised coffee. And her complexion alternates mysteriously between flush and pallor. Also, she shows no interest in the canary bird she troubled to bring with her.)

VIII

HER trunk was recalled to his mind one day by the very act of his own sitting on it. It was no longer recognizable at sight for a trunk, it had a gaily printed slip cover over it to disguise it, and stood there over against the wall.

It was Sunday, and though they did not go to church, they never failed, in common with all other good citizens, to dress up in their Sunday finest and take their Sunday morning promenade.

He was waiting for her to be ready, and had sat down upon this nondescript surface without looking to see what it was.

She was slowed, at the last moment, by difficulties.

"I wore this last week, remember? They'll see it again."

She discarded it.

"And this—I don't know about this." She curled her lip slightly. "I'm not very taken with it."

"That looks attractive," he offered cheerfully, pointing at random.

She shrugged off his ignorance. "But this is a weekday dress, not a Sunday one."

He wondered privately, and with a soundless little chuckle, how one told the first from the second, but refrained from asking her.

She sat down now, still further delaying their start. "I don't know what I'll do. I haven't a thing fit to be seen in." This, taken in conjunction with the fact that the room was already littered with dresses, struck him as so funny that he could no longer control himself, but burst out laughing, and as he did so, swung his arm down against the surface he was sitting on, in a clap of emphasis.

* * *

HE felt, through the covering, the unmistakable shape of a pear-shaped trunk lock. And at that moment, he first realized that it was her trunk he was sitting upon. The one she had brought from St. Louis. She had never, it suddenly struck him as well, opened it since her arrival.

"What about this?" he asked. And then stood up and stripped the cover off. The initialed "J.R." just below the lock in blood-red paint, stood out conspicuously. "Haven't you anything in here? I should think you would, a trunk this size."

She was suddenly looking, with an almost taut scrutiny, at one of the dresses, holding it upraised before her.

"Oh, no," she said. "Nothing. Only rags."

"How is it I've never seen you open it? You never have, have you?"

She continued to peer at this thing in her hands. "No," she said. "I never have."

"Why not?" he persisted. "Why haven't you?" But with no intent whatever, simply to have an answer.

This time she took note of the question. "I—I, can't," She said, somewhat unsurely.

She seemed to intend no further explanation, at least unsolicited, so he asked her, "Why?"

She waited a moment: "It's the—key. It's—ah, missing. I haven't got it. I lost it on the boat."

* * *

SHE had come over to the trunk while she was speaking, and was rather hastily trying to rearrange the slip cover over it.

"Why didn't you tell me?" he protested heartily, thinking merely he was doing her a service. "I'll have a locksmith come in and make you a new one. It won't take any time at all. Wait a minute, let me look at it—"

He drew the slip cover partly back again, while she almost seemed to be trying to hold it in place in opposition. Again the vivid "J.R." peered forth, but only momentarily.

He thumbed the pear-shaped brass plaque. "That should be easy enough. It's a fairly simple type of lock.

The slip cover, in her own hands, swept across it like a curtain a moment later, blotting out lock and initials alike.

"I'll go out and fetch one in right now," he offered, and started forthwith for the door. "He can take the impression, and have the job done by the time we return from our—"

"You can't," she called after him with unexpected harshness of voice that might simply have been due to the fact of her having to raise it slightly to reach him.

"Why not?" he asked.

She let her breath out audibly. "It's Sunday."

He turned in the doorway and came slowly back again, frustrated. "That's true," he admitted. "I forgot."

"I did too, for a moment," she said. And again exhaled deeply. In a way that, though it was probably no more than an expression of annoyance at the delay, might almost have been mistaken for unutterable relief, so misleadingly like it did it sound.

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

DID you read that story about Paddy O'Neil, of Ballymena, in Northern Ireland?

In case you didn't, Paddy O'Neill, a meditative man, always chewed a straw as he drove his pony and cart around sleepy Ballymena.

During the past couple of years Paddy developed a stomach ache. First he didn't pay much attention to it. Probably something he ate, he thought.

BRANDIES

But the stomach ache got worse and worse and finally he went to the doctor.

The doctor looked at Paddy; shook his head and sent him to the hospital.

Now Paddy knows why he had that stomach ache.

They cut Paddy's stomach open and from it they removed two balls of straw, each weighing almost a pound.

I liked the story when I read it, but I didn't know how I could fit it into a column. So I let it lie around on my desk for a week or so.

But today, going over some of my notes, I read these words which I had written in pencil: "Machine. 70 years. Wrong fuel."

Ah. There it was—machine, 70 years, wrong fuel.

Now I remembered. One of my friends complained to me that with all their wisdom, the doctors had not yet invented anything nearly as efficient as the automobile motor.

* * *

For instance. Something is wrong with the carburetor. Simply lift the hood, take a screwdriver, unscrew the carburetor, blow it out, put it back, a few twists to the screws—and, zip the engine runs like new.

But what if the human carburetor goes wrong?

According to the medical profession—and stop me if I am wrong—the carburetor of an automobile is about the same thing as the heart of a person.

Can you just open up the body, unscrew the heart, blow it out and put it back again?

You can not, I said to my friend when he asked me.

* * *

WELL, then, he thought, why can't the doctors work on the human anatomy and improve it so that all the vital parts are exchangeable and replaceable?

You might have a zipper in front, he thought, and the stomach, the heart, the kidneys, the lungs and so on might be on hinges or swivels or what have you.

Great idea, I tolk him. And wouldn't it be wonderful I asked him, if they could put a zipper on top of a person's head?

Then, when that particular person said or did too many foolish things, all one would have to do is to unzipper the pate and pour in some "common-sense liquid" just as you pour anti-freeze into a radiator nowadays. (I got the idea from one of my readers, as I told you a couple of days ago.)

That common-sense liquid, of course, is something that has not yet been discovered.

At any rate, I told my friend, with all the wrong fuel we put into our stomachs and all the stupid things we do with our heads, nature is doing better with our bodies than the engineers are doing with automobiles.

Did you ever see an automobile that can be abused day after day, and still stand up for seventy years?

BY FEDERAL PROGRAM

Spending Boost Seen

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The annual cost for operating the federal government will soar to at least fifty billion dollars, possibly sixty, if President Truman regards his election as a mandate to carry out the handsome pledges he made to so many groups during the presidential campaign. That is the private opinion of budget bureau experts.

Like the voters of Oregon, who approved a $50 a month pension even for the non-needy without providing any means of financing the awards and without knowing that the state was virtually insolvent, the American people apparently authorized an expansionist program which will burden them with terrific taxes if the White House and Democratic Congress put it into effect.

TUCKER

Despite public denials that a general tax increase is contemplated, Uncle Sam must dig up approximately twenty more billion dollars annually to foot the bill of the new "New Deal."

Besides wiping out the reductions granted by the current Congress, it will be difficult to raise that amount of cash without revival of the excess profits levy and enactment of a national sales tax.

* * *

BILL: The American people just do not realize how much money they threw around on November 2, according to the men whose task it is to compute the cost of the various social and economic advances listed in the winning party's platform and approved by President Truman in his several hundred speeches.

It is a fact, however, that Governor Thomas E. Dewey, as Mr. Truman charged, "me too-ed" most of these expensive pledges. But had the Republican nominee been elected, he would probably have swept in a House and Senate which would have balked at the prospective financial outlay.

But the heavily Democratic Eighty-First Congress has a New Dealish complexion. Both the veterans and the new members probably figure that they were elected because of their advocacy of Truman promises, and they will be inclined to support them, although few yet realize what the final bill will be, and how deep a dent the financing will make in the national pocketbook.

* * *

CHARGES: The minimum fifty billion dollar estimate is arrived at by figuring that the basic annual budget will amount to approximately forty-two billions, possibly forty-five, for numerous years.

That sum consists of fifteen billion for national defense, about five for foreign aid and the proposed military alliance with Canada, England and Western European nations, ten for veterans, five for the annual payment of interest on the public debt, and at least seven for the ordinary housekeeping operations of the federal government.

There can be no reduction in those items until and when a change in Russian policy permits us to slash armed services expenditures, until the cost of aiding veterans drops about ten years hence, and until the $250 billion dollar public debt is cut to fifty billion or less, thereby reducing current interest charges.

Nobody at Washington dares to make a guess as to when that happy day will dawn—probably not for a generation.

* * *

CASH: Now, on top of this tremendous financial burden—and this is what a majority of the voters did not realize—they have agreed to pay out hard cash for a more generous and comprehensive "cradle to the grave" economy than even the British author of that paternalistic plan dared to envisage.

Here is what they voted for, although it is doubtful if few realized the implications or figured out that they will have to foot the bill directly or indirectly:

Farm support prices at least through 1949 at the present 90 percent level, which means that the cost of living cannot take a sharp drop without a steep increase in federal payments.

Government aid to education. Besides obligating the government to expand the physical school system and raise teachers' salaries, this contemplates federal subsidies of students for at least two years of a junior college education, provided Mr. Truman endorses the full program.

Doubling the amount of Social Security payments and extending coverage to about 20,000,000 more people. This will require a doubling of employers' and employees' pay roll contributions, cutting down the workers' take-home pay. And, since the government spends these amounts for financing current operations, merely putting aside an I.O.U. promise in the form of federal securities, this inflow and outflow of cash contributes to inflation.

* * *

BUDGET: President Truman is also determined to demand action on several other measures which will eventually mean a great increase in the cost of government. He is particularly insistent on legislation providing federal expenditures for low-cost housing and slum clearance, federal medical care on a large scale and duplication of the T.V.A. setup in other sections of the country.

Should he go through with his Civil Rights program, and should a Southern filibuster in the Senate fail to prevent enactment, the cost of enforcing it will require a vast expansion of the Department of Justice and its units in every state and city. Although a relatively small item, it will combine with all these other proposals to mean a vast enlargement of the size and cost of the federal government.

* * *

MANDATES: Many readers show extraordinary curiosity as to whether the outcome of the Presidential and Congresional contests can be interpreted as a mandate for immediate and outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley law. They recall that President Truman highlighted an appeal for wiping this legislation off the books.

Answer: I do not believe that a careful analysis of the state-by state voting warrants such an interpretation, although one of the President's first explanations of his triumph was: "Labor did it."

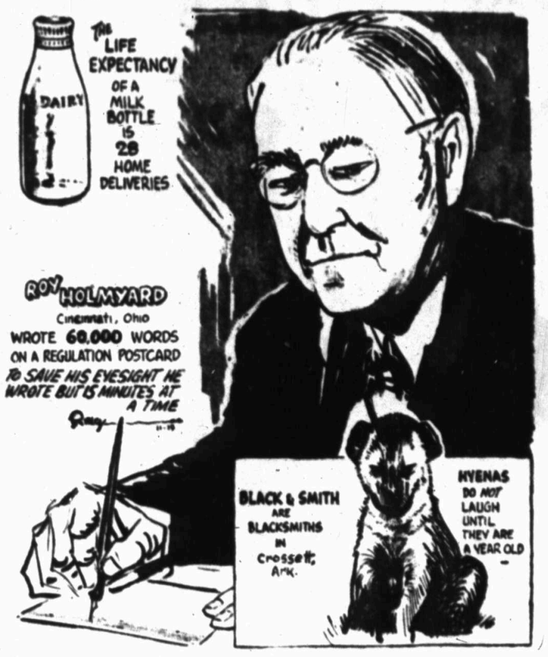

* * *

RURAL: Governor Dewey rolled up 133 of his total 189 electoral ballots in the highly industrialized commonwealths of Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and Michigan. Labor leaders concentrated their campaign against the Republican nominee in this territory.

The only great industrial states which he lost, and even these have a larger rural population than urban, were Illinois and Ohio, with 53 electoral votes. On the other hand, he ran second in such agricultural sections as Iowa, Colorado, Minnesota and Wisconsin, where anti-union feeling was supposed to run high.

High farm prices, together with the fact that they had begun to fall off during the later stages of the campaign, apparently influenced the farmers more than their supposed opposition to the T-H legislation

Believe It Or Not -- By Robert Ripley

COMMITTEE SYSTEM UNDER FIRE

Congressional Changes Urged

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — If a member of Congress can stay in long enough and live long enough he can become chairman of a committee which is, of course, a key place and elevates him to that elect company of "congressional leaders," even if at an advanced age quite often.

That's the only way he can get there under the seniority system. For there is no selectivity on the basis of special ability or qualities of leadership, but only through the gradual process presided over by father time and the goddess of chance.

STOKES

How much a part time plays may be seen in the fact that the average age of those in the Senate who are slated to become committee chairmen in the new 81st Democratic Congress is 66, and in the House a bit higher, 67. Venerability, truly, is the rule, to which five men in their fifties out of 34 hardly offer an exception. The others are in their sixties and seventies, with two in the eighties.

System Faces Problems

While age in Congress is almost invariably a guarantee of experience, it is no sure guarantee of ability, or even wisdom. Able men eventually get their due if they can last, but not all who eventually become chairmen are necessarily able.

In this way the seniority system is a drawback to the best legislative government. But it has other drawbacks which become important now in looking to the next administration and its new Congress which are charged by the election mandate to put through the social program which was made the issue by President Truman.

* * *

For that it is essential that there be what we call party responsibility. The seniority system offers obstacles to clear-cut responsible party government, for often it brings to the tops as chairmen men not sympathetic with the objectives of the President, the party leader, as President Truman learned in the last Democratic Congress, the 79th, and as President Roosevelt learned in previous congresses in his time.

It is true of some chairmen in the new incoming Congress.

As explained here previously, when Democrats are in power, as they are again now, an undue proportion of key posts and chairmanships goes to southerners because of the one-party system in the South that conduces to long tenure in Congress. This was an influence in the successful blockade by southern conservatives, in coalition with Republicans, against Roosevelt and Truman proposals in previous Congresses.

This preponderance still exists in the new Congress. While recalcitrants may be whipped into line temporarily by the extent of President Truman's victory, that may not last. Reform is needed to maintain and preserve real party responsibility, whichever party is in power. The Republican party has the same problem. Its dominant Midwestern conservative leadership in Congress, a beneficiary also of the seniority system, blocked the social reform program pledged in platforms of recent years in the 80th Congress and that certainly was a factor in the party's defeat in the last election.

* * *

Opposition Was Strong

The joint congressional committee that drafted the 1946 Congressional Reorganization act wrestled with the seniority problem, but got nowhere. It decided finally that if abolition or modification of the system were included in its bill the rest of the program revising congressional procedures might be jeopardized, for committee chairmen and those in line of succession were ready to fight it and they were powerful.

For a time the committee considered a requirement that chairmanships be rotated every six years. Among other proposals suggested from time to time are appointment of committee chairmen by the speaker of the House and presiding officer of the Senate; secret election by committee members or by party caucus; selection by the party committee on committees which makes other committee assignments. Against election by committees, themselves, or by party caucus it it argued that this would provoke politicking and logrolling and would not get the best results.

* * *

George G. Galloway, who was staff director of the joint committee, suggests three solutions in his book "Congress At the Cross-Roads"—selection by party caucus, which he thought least advantageous; selection by the party committee on committees; appointment by the majority leader in each party who is responsible for the party's legislative program. He preferred the last and recommended that the majority leader be empowered by the party caucus to remove chairmen who refused to cooperate in the party program.

Fine Of $500 Is Assessed In Liquor Law Violation

A fine of $500 and court costs were assessed Friday morning in the county court of Judge Walter Davies on a charge of liquor law violation.

It named J. W. Martin, 27, of Lubbock, County Attorney John Steele said.

The county attorney said Martin had been convicted of liquor law violation twice before this year, on Aug. 9, and on May 8, 1947. He paid a total of $350 and costs on those charges, records showed. The present charge accused him of having sold whisky.

Martin L. Boling, about 29, was fined $100 and costs for liquor law violation, sale of whisky. It was his first conviction, Steele said.

Judge Davies assessed these other fines: $50 and costs against each Granville Cruse Roberts, 52, of Abernathy, and Gus Walker, 41, a Lubbock negro, on drunk driving charges; and $200 and costs against Weldon Ray Moses, 24, of Ralls, on a pistol-carrying charge.

Each of the defendants pleaded guilty, Judge Davies and Steele said.

Allied Conquest Of Sicily Helped Speed Downfall Of Italian Empire; Three Invasions Successful

of movement often enables troops to minimize any advantage the enemy may temporarily gain but, more important, speed makes possible the full exploitation of every favorable opportunity and prevents the enemy from readjusting his forces to meet successive attacks.

Patton employed these tactics relentlessly, and thus not only minimized casualties but shook the whole Italian government so forcibly that Mussolini toppled from his position of power in late July.

Italian Forces Beaten

By the end of July the Italian garrison, except for a few small elements under the direct domination of their German overlords, had entirely quit, but along the great saw-tooth ridge of which the center was Mount Etna the German garrison was fighting skillfully and savagely. Panzer and paratroop elements here were among the best we encountered in the war, and each position won was gained only through the complete destruction of the defending elements.

Nevertheless, by the time the Seventh and Eighth Armies had closed up into position for their final assault against the Mount Etna bastion the Germans saw that the game was up and began the evacuation across the Strait of Messina. Our bombers operated against this line of escape, but the narrowness of the strait allowed the enemy to get out most of the badly battered German garrison during hours of darkness.

• • •

EARLY on August 17 the U. S. 3rd Division pushed into the town of Messina. A detachment from the Eighth Army soon after arrived and on that date the last remaining element of the enemy forces on the island was eliminated.

It was during this campaign that the unfortunate "slapping incident" involving General Patton took place. Patton, on a visit to base hospital to see the wounded, encountered in quick succession, two men who had no apparent physical hurts. Of the first one he met, Patton inquired why he was a patient in the hospital. To this the man replied, "General, I guess it's my nerves." Patton flew into a rage. He had himself, been under a terrific strain for a period of many days. Moreover, he sincerely believed that there was no such thing as true "battle fatigue" or "battle neurosis."

He always maintained that any man who began to show signs of breaking under battle conditions could by shock be restored to a sense of responsibility and to adequate performance of duty. At the moment, also, Patton was in a highly emotional state because of the sights he had seen and the suffering he had sensed among the wounded of the hospital.

He broke out into a torrent of abuse against the soldier. His tirade drew protests from doctors and nurses, but so violent was his outbreak that they hesitated to intervene.

Met Second Soldier

Within a matter of moments he met a second soldier under somewhat similar circumstances. This time his emotions were so uncontrollable that he swung a hand at the soldier's head. He struck the man's helmet, which rolled along the ground, and by this time doctors and nurses, overcoming their natural timidity in the presence of the commanding general, intervened between Patton and the soldier.

Both enlisted men were, of course, badly upset. One of them was seriously ill. The doctors later testified that he had a temperature of 102. Patton soon gained sufficient control of himself to continue his inspection and left the hospital.

But throughout his visit he continued to talk in a loud voice about the cowardice of people who claimed they were suffering from psychoneuroses and exclaimed that they should not be allowed in the same hospital with the brave wounded men.

THE story spread throughout the hospital and among neighboring units with lightning speed. I soon received an official report from the surgeon commanding the hospital and only a few hours thereafter was visited by a group of newspaper correspondents who had been to the hospital to secure the details. Their report substantially corroborated the one I had already received from the doctor. The question became, what to do?

In forward areas it is frequently necessary, as every battle veteran knows, to use stern measures to insure prompt performance of duty by every man of the organization. In a platoon or in a battalion, if there is any sign of hesitation or shirking on the part of any individual, it must be quickly and sternly repressed. Soldiers will not follow any battle leader with confidence unless they know that he will require full performance of duty from every member of the team. When bullets are flying and every man's safety and welfare depend upon every other man in the team doing his job, men will not accept a weakling as their leader.

Not Noticed In Battle

Patton's offense, had it been committed on the actual front, within an assaulting platoon, would not have been an offense. It would merely have been an incident of battle—no one would have even noted it, except with the passing thought that here was a leader who would not tolerate shirking.

But because of the time and place of his action Patton's offense was a serious one, more so because of his rank and standing. Thus to assault and abuse an enlisted man in a hospital was nothing less than brutal, except as it was explained by the highly emotional state in which Patton himself then existed.

His emotional tenseness and his impulsiveness were the very qualities that made him, in open situations, such a remarkable leader of an army. In pursuit and exploitation there is need for a commander who sees nothing but the necessity of getting ahead; the more he drives his men the more he will save their lives. He must be indifferent to fatigue and ruthless in demanding the last atom of physical energy. All this I well understood, and could explain the matter to myself in spite of my indignation at the act.

I felt that Patton should be saved for service in the great battles still facing us in Europe, yet I had to devise ways and means to minimize the harm that would certainly come from his impulsive action and to assure myself that it would not be repeated.

• • •

IN these circumstances I sent to Sicily three different individuals in whose judgment, tact, and integrity I placed great confidence. I not only wanted independent reports from several sources, but I wanted to accomplish the whole investigation as rapidly as possible.

As a result I determined to keep Patton. I first wrote him a sharp letter of reprimand in which I informed him that repetition of such an offense would be cause for his instant relief. I informed him, also, that his retention as a commander in my theater would be contingent upon his offering an apology to the two men whom he had insulted. I demanded also that he apologize to all the personnel of the hospital present at the time of the incident. Finally, I required that he appear before the officers and representative groups of enlisted men of each of his divisions to assure them that he had given way to impulse and respected their positions as fighting soldiers of a democratic nation.

Patton instantly complied and I kept in touch with results again through a series of observers and inspectors.

In the meantime, as soon as I had determined upon my course of action, I called in to see me the group of reporters who had brought me the story of the occurrence. I explained to them in detail the action I had taken and the reasons for it. I read them the letter I had written to Patton and extracts from the letter he wrote men in reply. This, so far as I was then concerned, closed the incident.

On one point connected with the matter there has been considerable misapprehension. This was the assumption that censorship was applied. On the contrary, my staff and General Patton were told that under no circumstances was there to be any effort to suppress the story. These specific instructions, which I issued personally to a group of newspaper men, covered "indirect pressure' as well as direct censorship. They were flatly told to use their own judgment!

That they voluntarily refused to write or speak about the matter is proved by the fact that two of the press representatives who made a detailed report to me of the affair returned to the United States within a few days after the occurrence. They were then no longer under the direct or indirect influence of Allied Headquarters.

• • •

WHEN, months later, the story finally reached Washington via the gossip route, a great public uproar immediately followed its broadcast by a commentator To play fair with the pressmen in our own headquarters, my chief of staff decided to hold an informal press conference to supply any details of information that they might lack. My only instructions to him were, "Tell the full truth."

After the incident was all over my old friend George sent me a long letter in which the following appeared: "I am at a loss to find words with which to express my chagrin and grief at having given you, a man to whom I owe everything and for whom I would gladly lay down my life, cause to be displeased with me."

Italy Was Rocked

The results of the Sicilian campaign were more far-reaching than the mere capture of the enemy garrison. The bombastic Mussolini was thrown out. Evidence of unrest and dissatisfaction throughout the Italian nation became more and more pronounced and it was obvious that Italy was seeking the easiest way out of the war. Mussolini's place as Premier was taken by old Field Marshal Pietro Badoglio.

The Italian hope of independently negotiating a surrender was slim indeed, because throughout the Italian governmental structure Mussolini had permitted or had been forced to accept the infiltration of countless Germans, all of whom were ready to pounce upon the first sign of defection and to take over the Italian nation in name as well as in fact. But in spite of German watchfulness the Italian government attempted to reach us by sending an agent to Lisbon.

Then began a series of negotiations, secret communications, clandestine journeys by secret agents, and frequent meetings in hidden places that, if encountered in the fictional world, would have been scorned as incredible melodrama.

• • •

BRIGADIER General Maxwell D. Taylor, later the gallant commander of the 101st Airborne Division, had been hurried secretly to Rome, where his personal adventures and those of his companions added another adventurous chapter to the whole thrilling story. The risks he ran were greater than I asked any other agent or emissary to undertake during the war—he carried weighty responsibilities and discharged them with unerring judgment, and every minute was in imminent danger of discovery and death.

These negotiations were still proceeding when, according to plan, Montgomery slipped two divisions across the Strait of Messina one night against no resistance and the Allied invasion of the continent of Europe was an accomplished fact. This was on Sept. 3—a date ten days later than I had hoped it could be done.

Invasion Point Chosen

An invasion on a wider front was clearly indicated, and after examination of every spot of the beach from Rome to the toe of the boot, the Bay of Salerno was selected. The greatest disadvantage of this plan was that its logic was obvious to the enemy as well as to us.

The landing and succeeding operations developed almost identical to G-2 predictions. There was a sharp but relatively short fight in getting ashore and with minor exceptions the details of the actual landing proceeded well. The enemy, as was his custom, immediately began to counterattack and by the thirteenth had gathered up sufficient strength to make a major effort to throw us into the sea.

Continued reports and reconnaissance on the thirteenth furnished the details of the German attack, and that day Air Chief Marshal Tedder was ordered to concentrate the full strength of his air force, to include every plane that could fly, in an attack upon sensitive spots in the German formations.

• • •

THIS great air attack was delivered with precision and effectiveness on the morning of the fourteenth. So badly did it disrupt the enemy's communications, supplies, and mobility that, with the aid of naval gunfire, the ground troops regained the initiative and thereafter German counterattacks were never in sufficient strength to threaten our general position.

Again we decided to gamble, and in this case a tremendous burden of responsibility was assumed by Admiral Cunningham. He unhesitatingly agreed to push his battle fleet directly into Taranto Harbor, discounting the possibility of treachery or destruction by mine fields, in order to carry the British Airborne Division into the docks at that port.

The operation was carried out as planned on Sept. 9, but with the loss of one fine British cruiser and more than two hundred men she was carrying. She was sunk by a mine in the harbor of Taranto.

With this landing we were ashore on the Italian mainland in three places, Salerno, Taranto and Reggio Calabria.

• • •

(One of the continuing political problems of World War II was a difference between British and American leaders on the cross-Channel invasion of Europe which was called "Overlord." Prime Minister Churchill never flatly opposed the plan, but it was clear early in the war that he and his advisers would have preferred to postpone it as long as possible in favor of smaller operations around "the underbelly of Europe."

This problem in the major strategy of the war came into sharp focus at the Cairo meeting of the Prime Minister and President Roosevelt. General Eisenhower attended that conference, where he fought for his plan. His own version of the arguments on both sides is presented for the first time in the next installment of "Crusade in Europe," which will be published here tomorrow.)

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP) — Cotton futures moved in a narrow range in quiet trading today. Restricted demand for cotton goods, the poor October consumption report and the approach of first notice day for the December contracts next Wednesday created a hesitant tone.

A leading spot firm sold a moderate amount of nearby December futures against purchases of May and there was a good deal of evening-up in the December positions and switching to later months.

Cotton futures rallied into new high ground for the day, following the announcement of new cotton export authorizations by the ICA.

Futures closed 20 to 45 cents a bale higher than the previous close.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 19 (AP) — Wheat moved ahead in a strong, active trade today, gains ranged to more than 2 cents at times and the December contract hit a new high since last April.

The strength of the bread cereal was a big help to other grains. Corn futures advanced despite a sagging cash market. Oats scored good gains, accompanied by strength in the cash trade.

Announcement of a stepping up in wheat and flour exports to China was considered partly responsible for the wheat strength. Blocked roads in the snow-bound western Plains were expected to curtail further producer offerings of cash wheat.

Wheat closed 2 to 3 cents higher, Dec. $2.40-2.40⅛, corn was 1¼-1⅜ higher, Dec. $1.43⅞-1.44, oats were ¾ to 1 cent higher, Dec. 84⅝-⅞.

New Deal Chalks Up 6 To 0 Victory Over Meadow Squad

NEW DEAL, Nov. 19. (Special)—Paul Crossnoe hit center for eight yards and the only touchdown of the game this afternoon as the New Deal Lions chalked up a 6-0 victory over the Meadow Broncs.

The lone touchdown, coming in the final quarter, gave the victors undisputed possession of second place in District 4-B. Their only loss during the season was to Idalou, which won the conference crown.

New Deal and Meadow each played sluggishly, but the Lions made three penetrations, while the Broncs got no closer than the 35-yard line. New Deal had an edge in first downs, 9 to 6, and a slight edge in offensive play.

The winning touchdown was set up by a blocked punt recovered on the Meadow eight-yard line. One play failed to gain, but on the next attempt, Crossnoe went for the distance.

Dale Emery and Wayne Worley, a pair of New Deal guards, sparked the Lion attack.

threw two scoring passes, booted an extra point and averaged 32 yards on his punts.

The thrill of the game was on a kickoff return by Jimmy Graves, who raced 105 yards to score. And Shorty Kirk, who won the game for the Buffs the week before, scored on a pass play good for 70 yards.

Dimmitt Beats Petersburg Squad On First Downs, 18-11

PETERSBURG, Nov. 19. (Special)—The Petersburg Golden Buffaloes came within an ace of upsetting the dope bucket here this afternoon, tying Dimmitt 33-33, but losing on first downs, 18-11, when penetrations were all even in a District 3-B game.

Dimmitt took a 14-6 lead in the first quarter, but the Buffs roared back to go off the field at halftime leading 20-14. The Bobcats lost little time in taking the upperhand in the third quarter, leading 27-20, but the Buffs came back in the final canto to make the game even. First downs handed the close contest to Dimmitt.

Delburt Holloway scored twice for Petersburg, once on a 70-yard run with an intercepted pass and the other on a 30-yard run after taking an aerial. Holloway also

Towns Isolated

Donald, Lakin, Tribune, Ensign and Utica, Kan.)

The unexpected fury of the storm caught whole communities unprepared and many families had little food on hand.

No fatalities were reported immediately. Most persons rescued from stalled motor cars said they suffered little because the temperature stayed above 23 degrees.

State Adjutant - General Milton R. McClean at Topeka said National Guard half-tracks, equipped with radio, had advanced 18 miles from Dodge City eastward on U. S. Highway 50, and had rescued 19 motorists who showed no ill effects.

Four eastbound Santa Fe passenger trains were tied up most of the day at Dodge City, but finally were moving on toward Kansas City, said W. A. Gossett, trainmaster at Kansas City.

West of Dodge City, all Santa Fe traffic was halted while the Santa Fe sought the last train.

Santa Fe officials said they did not know how many passengers were aboard the limited.

Heavy Cattle Losses Seen

First reports from Colby in northwestern Kansas tonight indicated possible heavy losses for livestock men who had from 70,000 to 100,000 sheep on wheat pasture in Thomas county.

Garden City, a city of 7,000 population in west central Kansas, was isolated, except for one telephone line. Gov. Frank Carlson said at Topeka he had received reports power had failed at Goodland, Quinter, Gorham and Colby in northwestern Kansas and he assumed other cities must be affected similarly. All are cities ranging from 500 to 4,000 population.

While Kansas was hardest hit, 100 Nebraska communities were without telephone connections. And Lexington, Nebr., had been without power service for 24 hours. The situation there was described as serious. Schools were closed in South Dakota and Minnesota as the storm piled up snow covers up to 15 inches. It headed on toward the lower Great Lakes region where it was expected to hit tonight and Sunday.

District Court Jury Finds Plainview Man Is Insane

A verdict that Johnie J. Wood, 24, of Plainview, is "now insane" was returned Friday morning by a 99th district court petit jury of which F. F. Hendley was foreman.

As a result, a judgment of Judge G. V. Pardue, presiding, will be sent to the county court of Judge Walter Davies, so that Wood may be committed to a state institution for the insane.

The effect of the finding is to place Wood beyond the state's effort to try him on an indictment charging burglary Sept. 22 of a house controlled by Smith Keller—until such time when the defendant may be declared sane. The burglary trial was called for trial Friday.

Money, Clothing Is Taken In Burglary

A total of $250 in money and other properties were taken in a Thursday night burglary of a rooming house at 2413 Fourteenth street, police investigators said Friday.

Officials said $9 was taken from a billfold of Jack Dolberry of 1906 Tenth in another burglary.

The rooming house burglary was reported by J. L. Houser. He told investigators Virgil Stephens and Doyle Clark that a hasp was burst on a hall closet and that his losses were a watch, a ruby ring, $26 in money, a suit, and a suitcase, all of the approximate value of $200. He said that a $50 overcoat owned by James F. Cook also was taken from the closet.

An Army blanket was stolen from a car at 1602 Ave. R.

Veda Mae Sheppard, described by police as a negro woman, complained that an automatic pistol had been stolen from her.

Police said they had fined Hubert Freeman Perkins, 44, $25 for theft under $5 from a grocery store.

The sheriff's department held an 18-year-old Breckenridge man and a 19-year-old Graham man for investigation into forgery. Arrests were by Chief Dep. Sheriff George Eubank and Dep. Sheriff Earl Horton.

George Sneed, 33-year-old Lubbock negro, a porter at a small downtown hotel, was charged Friday with pandering, a felony, in the justice court of D. W. Robertson. He posted $2,000 bond for appearance before a Nov. 29 grand jury of 99th district court.

Number Of Cases Of Stomach Disorders Reported In City

A number of cases of "winter stomach disorders" have been reported in Lubbock and over the area, with the majority of those afflicted with the illness being children.

Local physicians, however, have described this year as an average one insofar as the number of cases of the disease go, and one physician said he had handled fewer cases this fall than last.

While the disease strikes among children most frequently, adult cases are not uncommon, medical circles have reported. The disease almost always is accompanied by vomiting and slight cases of diarrhea and usually lasts four or five days. It is apparently a self-limited disease with no complications, and is of a virus nature. The disease is seasonal, beginning about Oct. 1 and lasting well past the first of the year.

A physician at West Texas hospital said he had had "a number of cases" of the disease, but did not know the exact number. A physician at Lubbock Memorial hospital reported that he had treated approximately 200 cases, while member of the Plains clinic staff said he had had "no more than the usual number of cases at this time of the year."

Denmark has just modified its restrictions on the use of hot water in apartment houses.
