Crash Landing Near Ackerly

This DC-4, looking out of place in the plowed field, was brought to a safe crash landing about 4:45 p.m. Wednesday about one mile east of Ackerly after engine trouble developed. The pilot was attempting to reach Webb Air Force Base for an emergency landing. The plane received relatively minor damage and neither the pilot, William Tolman, Hayward, Calif., nor co-pilot Kendall Everett, Long Beach, Calif., were injured. At the left are firefighters from Webb Air Force Base who went to the craft in the event of fire.

No One Hurt When DC4 Skids Down Near Ackerly

By JOE BEYER

A DC4 laden with military cargo was brought to a safe crash landing in a plowed field about one mile east of Ackerly Wednesday about 4:45 pm.

Neither the pilot, William Tolman, 50, Hayward, Calif., nor the co-pilot, Kendall Everett, 27, Long Beach, Calif., were injured when the Slick Airways plane skidded to a halt. It was en route to Alameda, Calif., from Dyess Air Force Base and was carrying 19,000 pounds of top priority cargo. The plane was under contract to the U. S. Navy.

"We lost engines No. 1 and No. 3 and had a partial power failure on the other two," Everett said. He explained trouble first developed while the 20-year-old plane was flying over Terry County.

The pilot had radioed into Webb Air Force Base and was headed there for an emergency landing. He said he did not know what caused the trouble.

"We were trying to skirt the bad weather but hit the edge of it," Tolman said.

About one-quarter of an inch of rain fell in the Ackerly area shortly before the crash landing on the Joe Lemons farm, in Martin County, near the Dawson and Howard County line. Lemons said he saw the plane hit the ground. Mrs. Lemons speculated that the local shower might have softened the ground and eased the impact. Water stood several inches deep between the rows in many parts of the field for several hours after the landing.

Several construction workers at the Ackerly school said they heard the plane flying low and heard when the pilot threw the master switch just before landing, but they did not see the craft land. It hit the ground about 200 yards east of US 87.

Large gaps were chopped out of the tops of the rows where the plane first touched ground before sliding about 120 yards to a halt. Tolman estimated the plane was traveling almost at stall speed, about 85 miles an hour, when it hit the ground.

"We made it over the road (US 87) and about that time I was just looking at that big patch of open ground below us," he said.

Tolman shifted the nose of the craft to a 35-degree angle toward the left from the path of travel just before it hit the ground, to keep the 19,000 pounds of cargo from shifting into the cockpit if it broke loose.

"He did an excellent job of landing," co-pilot Everett said. "He is a very good pilot."

Tolman has been flying about 12 years and he and Everett have made numerous trips to West Texas for cargo, Everett said. He had landed previously at Webb Air Force Base.

A helicoptor crew was dispatched from Webb, in the event fuel and oil, which had spilled from the damaged right wing of the plane, caught fire. No fire developed, but firefighters sprayed the area with foam and two members remained behind with a portable extinguisher in the event of a later outburst of fire.

There was little damage to the plane and only a few parts were strewn over the area where the craft skidded to a halt. It came in with landing gear up. All four propellers were bent back, but none was broken off.

Tolman walked out of the field and hitched a ride into Ackerly where he called the company's headquarters in San Francisco to report the accident. He then returned to the downed plane to confer with officials from Webb Air Force Base who had arrived. Everett had remained behind with the cargo.

A military police guard was placed about the classified cargo for the night.

Everett said the plane would have to be towed from the field after the cargo was removed. He speculated a part of the plowed ground would have to be flattened with dozers to make way for the exit.

Official Sees Anti-Red Training

NHA TRANG, South Viet Nam (AP)—With a map and note paper in hand, U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara today watched Vietnamese combat forces training to counter the Communist Viet Cong. After a hot, busy morning, he flew off for a dinner meeting with President Ngo Dinh Diem.

The American defense chief talked with U.S. military advisers working in this coastal area 200 miles northeast of Saigon, and said he was "very impressed by an extremely able group of men."

"They have great knowledge of what is going on," McNamara said.

The secretary, who came to South Viet Nam on Wednesday for a two-day visit, termed a shortage of communications one of the most serious problems in the campaign against Communist guerrillas.

U.S. aid and planning in South Viet Nam included establishment of radio links between the strategic villages but it has not yet been completed.

Yank Sentenced By German Court

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP)—The West German Supreme Court today sentenced American businessman Harold N. Borger to 2½ years in prison for betraying U.S. military secrets to the Communists.

He was the first American ever to face West Germany's highest court on espionage charges.

Clouds Make Noise Again But Show Loss Of Pep

The clouds were back Wednesday but not as bulky and menacing as on other recent evenings. The wind arrived but it lacked the vim it had previously displayed. The lightning which has provided pyrotechnical displays nightly for the past week were missing.

It rained in the late afternoon just north and west of the Howard County line—a brisk and welcome little shower which reportedly dumped up to half an inch of moisture on some of the parched fields in Dawson and Martin counties. The shower stopped as it came to the county line and Howard County farmers got none.

At Ackerly, a shower estimated at a quarter of an inch had just fallen when a crippled DC-4 cargo plane had to make a forced landing on a plowed field owned by Joe Lemons. The mud served as a cushion for the plane and was credited with the minimum damage sustained by the aircraft.

Meantime, announcement was made that the series of weekly meetings at which efforts are made to get farm laborers in contact with farmers and ranchers in need of help has been cancelled.

"We will not meet again until it rains," said a TEC representative. "Farmers will not be needing workers until they have some moisture."

These sessions have been conducted each Thursday for several weeks in the district court room at the Howard County Court House.

Herb Helbig, county farm agent, said that the deadline for planting is not yet at hand but that it is approaching and farmers are becoming increasingly concerned over the lack of rains. Some parts of the county have received more rain than others and the conditions in these areas are not as critical as elsewhere. Across the county, however, rain is needed badly.

The heat was not quite so intense Wednesday and the high for the day was 97.

'Copter Crewmen Hit By Red Fire

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Two Americans were injured by Communist fire and four helicopters were hit in military operations in South Viet Nam on Wednesday and today.

Women Victims Of OAS Terror

ORAN, Algeria (AP) — Secret army terrorists lashed out at Moslem women on the streets of Oran and Algiers today, killing nine of them by noon. In addition, a Moslem woman and a 12-year-old Moslem girl were injured.

Estes Political Links Investigated

Ike Hits Home Policies, OKs Foreign Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower expressed strong disapproval today of the Kennedy administration's domestic program — its "heavy spending on all fronts" and moves for increased presidential powers. But he called for full support for its foreign policy.

The ex-president, facing a room full of reporters at a news conference in the Old Senate Office Building, said no one, in or out of office, had sufficient knowledge to criticize President Kennedy on his handling of foreign policy.

And, without mentioning any specific events, Eisenhower said he applauded what he called "a growing firmness in the administration's handling of its difficulties with the Soviets."

On the domestic front, however, Eisenhower said he had "radical differences" with Kennedy. He read a prepared statement expressing concern over:

"First, the strenuous efforts of the administration to increase greatly the power of the executive branch of government.

"Second, administration insistence upon increasingly heavy federal spending on all fronts."

Early this morning he had a breakfast meeting with Republican congressional leaders and a talk with them about the GOP fall election campaign.

Then Eisenhower met reporters and read them a prepared statement on his views.

"It has long been my judgment," he said, "that the real threat to liberty in this republic will come not from any sudden, calculated assault.

"Rather, the threat to our liberties will be primarily found in a steady erosion of self-reliant citizenship, and in excessive power concentration, resulting from the lodging of more and more decisions in an ever-growing federal bureaucracy."

Seventh Nuclear Burst In Series

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has exploded the seventh nuclear burst in its current mid-Pacific test series.

A terse announcement described Wednesday's blast, the second in two days, as in the intermediate yield range—with an explosive force equivalent to 20,000 to a million tons of TNT.

The device was dropped from an airplane near Christmas Island in what was reportedly a research and evaluation test.

CLARIFICATION SOUGHT

Germans Quizzed On Berlin Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an effort to restore allied harmony, the United States is reported seeking full clarification from the West German government of its stand on exploratory talks with the Soviet Union about terms of an East-West agreement on Berlin.

President Kennedy also made clear at a news conference Wednesday that he wants to see secrecy restored to allied consultations on proposals put to the Soviet government during the talks. He seemed to be asking Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in a diplomatic way to stop debating the issues in public.

Other officials said there is considerable confusion here over what Adenauer is driving at. His public criticism of the U.S.-Soviet discussions is out of line with West German views communicated through official channels, they said.

Kennedy undertook at his news conference to play down reports of allied differences over the talks.

He noted that Adenauer had said in Berlin earlier this week that he was not optimistic about the outcome.

The United States has never been unduly optimistic about achieving an East-West agreement, the President said, but "we believe there should be a continuation of these talks." And the West German government, he added, has supported continuation.

Kennedy said further that the U.S. proposal to Moscow for an international authority to operate the Berlin supply lines across East German territory has not been opposed by West Germany. He conceded differences over details of how such an organization could be set up but said such differences are quite natural.

Adenauer said in Berlin this week that the authority proposal is unworkable. He also said he thought the talks would come to nothing, and he suggested it was dangerous for them to go on indefinitely without results.

The chancellor is known to object to a provision in the authority proposal that would give East Berlin and East Germany membership on the 13-nation authority. He is strenuously opposed to any agreement with the Soviet Union which in his view would afford a degree of recognition to the East German Communist regime.

Kennedy was told by a questioner at his news conference that West Germans generally fear some kind of U.S. move toward East German recognition. He denied there is any basis for such fears.

Kennedy appeared confident that the Washington-Bonn split could be overcome. He recalled that in a speech last Monday Adenauer had stressed the Allied unity resulting from the recent meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization council at Athens, Greece.

But Kennedy deplored the public airing of differences. He said open debate "makes it very difficult to carry on any negotiations with the Soviet Union because all of our proposals are on the table and fought out in public even before they become our official position." He questioned whether this is the best way to carry on negotiations.

Plead Innocent To Price Fixing

NEW YORK (AP)—Four steel company executives, five steel companies and a trade association today pleaded innocent to charges of price fixing and bid rigging in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act.

The four corporations are the Bethlehem Steel Co., U.S. Steel; Erie Forge and Steel Corp. and Midvale-Heppenstall Co. The association is the Open Die Forging Institute Inc. of New York City.

The executives are Erb Gurney, manager of Bethlehem's sales, forgings, castings and special products division; Robert S. Barnes, assistant manager of the same division; Emil Lang, board chairman of Erie Forge, and R. B. Heppenstall Sr., president of Midvale-Heppenstall.

When they appeared before federal Judge Sidney Sugarman he released the executives on their own recognizance—that is, without having to post bond.

Literacy Bill Is Mortally Wounded

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration's voter literacy bill still thrashed around in the Senate today, but it had been mortally wounded.

The death blow was struck with a 53-43 vote Wednesday against a bipartisan leadership move to invoke the Senate's antifilibuster rule and cut off debate. That was 21 votes short of the required two-thirds majority.

Senators Also Probe Cheap Grain Haulings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators were reported today exploring stories that some Washington politicians or their wives held financial interests in firms which profited from dealings with Texas financier Billie Sol Estes.

They also have received reports that the taxpayers paid some hefty and unnecessary freight bills for shipping government-owned grain by unusual routes to storage elevators in Texas owned by Estes. The reports from Texas said the grain could have been shipped at far less cost to grain elevators owned by others who sought and failed to get the business.

These are just two angles the Senate Investigations subcommittee is exploring in its efforts to find out how the Pecos man amassed a fortune at the age of 37.

INDICTED

Estes was indicted last month by a federal grand jury for fraud in connection with chattel mortgages he was charged with selling on nonexistent fertilizer tanks.

His troubles mounted Wednesday when the government slapped him with $554,162 in marketing penalties for alleged illegal dealings in cotton acreage allotments. Estes has declared himself bankrupt and his creditors face heavy losses.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., senior Republican member of the investigations subcommittee, confirmed reports that its staff is sifting through subpoenaed documents which should confirm or explode stories that political figures profited from investments in companies which had dealings dealings with Estes.

LOT OF EXPLAINING

Mundt said Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman will have a lot of explaining to do as a witness in the subcommittee's hearings. He said Freeman's denials that Estes received favored treatment from the Agriculture Department are in bold contrast to evidence.

Mundt said evidence produced already in a Texas court of inquiry shows Estes was required to post only 2 cents a bushel bond for millions of bushels of government grain stored in his facilities, while competing firms had to put up 12 cents a bushel. "This certainly is favoritism," Mundt said.

Another source, declining to be named, said investigators are checking reports that Estes received grain shipments by costly, circuitous freight routes, while competing firms located on a direct rail line were begging for the business.

SOME LIGHT

Mundt said he expects the subcommittee will demand some light on how Estes, after having been assessed $45,000 penalties by the Agriculture Department on earlier challenges of his operations, was appointed by the Kennedy Administration to the National Cotton Advisory Committee.

Mundt said he figured this could only have resulted from influence high up and he wants to know who exerted it.

In a separate interview Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said he believes the investigation may show lax administration at lower echelons. But, Ellender said: "I believe Freeman has clean skirts in this situation. When he found there was something wrong he called in the FBI, just as he should do."

Ellender said there was no need for his committee to investigate since the FBI and McClellan's subcommittee already were on the job.

NOT ONE CENT

In another development Wednesday Jerry L. Holleman, assistant secretary of labor, said Estes did not contribute one cent to a testimonial dinner Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg gave last January for Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Holleman said in a statement that he had discussed the dinner with several Texas friends, including Estes, without consulting Goldberg. He said he thought the Texans might wish to join in giving the party but the matter was quickly dropped because it was against Goldberg policy.

Earlier in the day, Goldberg had said he had no knowledge of a published report that Holleman had asked Estes to pick up the tab for the dinner.

DOGS IN THE FAMILY TREES?

Kennedy Draws Laughs On Businessmen's Ancestry

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy drew laughter from newsmen as he fielded a question about a quote attributed to him that "my father always told me that all businessmen were sons of bitches, but I never believed it till now!"

Here's the exchange between a newsman and the President at Wednesday's news conference on the quote, published April 23 by the New York Times:

"Mr. President, at the time of your controversy with the steel industry, you were quoted as making a rather harsh statement about businessmen. I am sure you know which statement I have in mind."

"Yes. You would not want to identify it, would you?"

"Would you tell us about it, Mr. President?"

"Would I want to comment on it?"

"Yes."

"Oh, well, the statement which I have seen repeated as it was repeated in one daily paper, is inaccurate. It quotes my father as having expressed himself strongly to me, and that in this I quoted what he said, and indicated that he had not been, as he had not been on many other occasions, wholly wrong.

"Now, the only thing wrong with the statement was that as it appeared in the daily paper it indicated that he was critical of the business community—I think the phrase was 'all businessmen.' That is obviously in error, because he was a businessman himself. He was critical of the steel men, and he'd worked for a steel company himself, and he was involved when he was a member of the Roosevelt administration in the 1937 strike, and he formed an opinion which he imparted to me, and which I found appropriate that evening. But he confined it, and I would confine it.

"Obviously these generalizations are inaccurate and unfair, and he has been a businessman, and the business system has been very generous to him. But I felt at that time that we had not been treated altogether with frankness, and therefore I thought that his view had merit. But that is past. That's past. Now we are working together, I hope."

What part the father, Joseph P. Kennedy, played in the steel crisis of 1937 is not clear. He was an intimate of President Roosevelt, who appointed him in that year to be ambassador to London.

Joseph Kennedy apparently worked behind the scenes to try to bring the government, labor and management together.

Pickets Removed

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's month-long newspaper strike appeared settled today. Members of the Plate and Paper Handlers Union removed their pickets from the Detroit News Building meeting Wednesday night.

Notables To Tour Webb Before Attending Festivities At C-City

An array of political and military notables will be brief visitors in Big Spring Friday, making an inspection of Webb Air Force Base before going on to special festivities at Colorado City.

Due in at 9 a.m. aboard a military jet aircraft from Washington D. C. will be Congressman George Mahon, representative from the 19th District and chairman of the House subcommittee on military appropriations, and Air Force Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert.

Rep. and Mrs. Mahon are to be honored at Colorado City's unique annual "Tumbleweed Festival" Friday, and Secretary Zuckert will be a speaker at a luncheon in the neighboring town.

Accompanying these notables will be several other congressmen. They include Rep. W. R. Poage, Waco, of the 11th Texas District; Graham Purcell, Wichita Falls, 13th District and a former resident of Big Spring; and two members of Rep. Mahon's military subcommittee. These are Rep. Harold C. Ostertag, Republican of New York, and Rep. Melvin R. Laird, Republican of Michigan.

Mrs. Mahon also will be in the group.

Accompanying Secretary Zuckert will be Maj. Gen. Glen W. Martin, military assistant to the secretary; Maj. Gen. Jack G. Merrell, budget officer; and Lt. Col. James A. Knight, the secretary's aide. Two of the military appropriations committee staff, Sam Crosby and Bob Michaels, are others in the party.

Lt. Gen. James E. Briggs, San Antonio, commander of the Air Training Command, is to arrive at Webb ahead of the Washington party, and extend an official greeting, along with Col. Wilson H. Banks, Webb commander.

A party of Colorado Citians in some 15 cars will be at Webb to greet the dignitaries, and after the base inspection is completed, will escort them to Colorado City for the Tumbleweed Festival events. There will be a reception for the honor guests at 11 a.m. in Colorado City's Baker Hotel, then a luncheon at the Civic House, where tributes will be paid to Congressman and Mrs. Mahon.

The colorful Tumbleweed parade will follow, in which all the visitors will participate.

The Washington group is to return here Friday afternoon and proceed to San Antonio for an inspection of the Air Force Security Services headquarters. Secretary Zuckert also is scheduled for an evening address there.

Then the party will fly back to Lubbock Saturday morning, and Secretary Zuckert will deliver an Armed Forces Day address at Reese Air Force Base. While Armed Forces Day generally is not observed for another week, Reese AFB moved up its program to accommodate the schedule of Rep. Mahon and Secretary Zuckert.

A number of Big Springers have been invited to the Tumbleweed luncheon in Colorado City, including Mr. and Mrs. Lester Morton, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Greene, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Tollett, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Orme, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Whipkey. Representing Webb will be Col. and Mrs. Banks, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Clifton Bray, and Lt. Col. and Mrs. Jack Price.

Springtime In The Rockies

Springtime in the Rockies can be rugged. The snowcat, a tread-typed snow vehicle pictured on the 12,126-foot Cottonwood Pass in Colorado, almost slipped down a steep incline as the vehicle labored atop snowdrifts measuring 25 feet in depth. A 50-mile-an-hour wind lashed the mountainside as an expedition of men made the 32-mile trek over the rugged pass near Buena Vista. It was a typical early spring day in the high country.

Algerian Europeans Warned They Are Risking Own Future

ALGIERS (AP)—The man who probably will head the government of independent Algeria warned the territory's Europeans Wednesday night that they are risking their future in the country unless they stop their terrorist attacks on the Moslem population.

Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda of the Algerian provisional government coupled his broadcast warning with a plea to the Moslem masses to remain calm despite the daily provocations by the Secret Army seeking to block Algeria's freedom.

Speaking from his headquarters in neighboring Tunis in a broadcast beamed to Algeria, Ben Khedda called on the Europeans "to open your eyes to the new Algerian realities."

"The Europeans have their place in the Algeria of tomorrow," he declared, "but it is up to them to decide if they merit it."

The cease-fire pact reached by the nationalist rebels and France provides for equal rights for Europeans when the Moslems take over the government.

But Ben Khedda charged ultra-colonialists and the underground Secret Army with the help of certain French military authorities were undermining the peace agreement with the campaign of terrorism.

As he spoke, the terrorism raged on in Algeria. Wednesday's toll was 37 dead, 33 of them Moslems, and 38 wounded, 34 of them Moslems.

The Moslems, who outnumber the Europeans 9 million to 1 million, have been kept almost completely in check by their leaders, but Ben Khedda warned: "Anger of the Algerian masses is growing. This situation cannot continue."

Ben Khedda, regarded as a moderate, appealed to his people to hold their tempers and not be provoked into the civil war that the Secret Army is trying to stir up in a desperate attempt to block Algerian independence.

French authorities, responsible for law and order until the country is handed over to the Moslem leaders, ordered European civilians to turn in all their weapons before May 20 or face automatic three-year prison sentences.

Troops and police have already launched house-to-house searches for arms and explosives and are making spot checks of automobiles and pedestrians on the street. European youths especially are being kept under watch.

To combat the Secret Army use of booby-trapped cars, which twice have taken a heavy toll of Moslem lives in Algiers, the authorities enforced a no-parking ban on 50 Algiers streets. More than 150 cars parked in violation of the ban near Moslem sections were seized and destroyed.

Nixon Daughter Bats Way Into Vice Presidency

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Richard M. Nixon's daughter, Julie, almost got batted out of the running for ninth grade vice president.

Julie, 14, was watching a softball game at the private girls' school she attends when the batter swung wildly and hit her in the head. A doctor ordered her to spend the week in bed.

But Julie, nursing a lump on the head and two black eyes, refused to be counted out of the election. She wrote her campaign speech at home and had a chum, Diane Brewer, read the talk at school Wednesday.

The ninth graders promptly elected Julie vice president.

Julie is the younger of Nixon's two teen-age daughters.

Estes Figure Says Quitting Was Mistake

WASHINGTON (AP)—Emery E. Jacobs, Agriculture Department official, who resigned last month in connection with the Billie Sol Estes case, has told friends that perhaps this action was not wise.

Jacobs submitted his resignation to Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman at the latter's insistence after testimony was given before a Texas court of inquiry linking Jacobs with purchase of clothing at an exclusive Dallas store in the company of Estes.

Will Wilson, Texas attorney general who conducted the court of inquiry, said evidence available to him showed that Estes gave clothing to Jacobs and two other department officials to curry favor for his cotton production and grain storage operations under an Agriculture Department program.

Jacobs, who was deputy administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service in charge of farm programs, has written friends saying that charges against him are untrue.

In his letter to friends, Jacobs said he had been searching for a competent forum to which he may be heard and judged.

"I have not found such a forum yet, for I am charged with nothing, except the 'voiced opinion of a store clerk by hearsay.' It's very frustrating to try to fight something I cannot see or reach. It's like fighting a ghost or a roomful of smoke," he wrote.

Girls Back But Not So Racy Now

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The girls of the galaxy show were back in business at the Seattle World's Fair Wednesday night, still semi-nude but not quite so racy.

The show was closed April 25 after Seattle censors said it had been changed from the version they approved. The new format was passed by the Board of Theatrical Supervisors Tuesday.

Under the revised format, comedian Jose Duarte spends more time on stage and the bare-breasted girls less.

Firefly Satellite Launching Fails

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An attempt to launch a flashing light geodetic satellite into orbit failed today when the second stage of the launching vehicle did not ignite.

If successful, the satellite would have helped make more accurate maps of the world.

The 355-pound payload was propelled aloft at 7:06 a.m. by a Thor-Able-Star rocket. The early portion of flight appeared normal as the 79-foot-tall booster streaked swiftly from sight.

However the Defense Department announced about 20 minutes later that preliminary telemetry reports indicate that the Anna satellite had failed to go into orbit. The second-stage ignition was not achieved, it said.

The announcement said records of radio signals from the vehicle were being studied to determine the exact cause of the failure.

The $3.5-million booster rocket and satellite presumably burned in the atmosphere over the Atlantic several hundred miles northeast of Cape Canaveral.

By giving scientists a known point in space to be photographed against a background of stars, the satellite would have allowed them to make better measurements of the earth's surface.

The Defense Department has a backup payload prepared and is expected to launch it within a few months after today's rocket trouble has been analyzed and corrected.

This was the second straight failure for a Thor-Able-Star rocket, which earlier had been successful in placing a number of transit navigation satellites in orbit.

This also was the fourth rocket failure in three days at the Cape. On Monday the first Centaur space rocket exploded in flight. Wednesday a Pershing and a Polaris were destroyed when they wandered off course during a pair of military launchings.

Official name of the satellite is Anna, combining the initials of the Army, Navy, National Aeronautics and Space Administration and Air Force, the participating agencies.

The "firefly" nickname derives from four high-intensity xenon gas lights designed to wink on and off at designated times in a space-age mapping experiment.

The flashing beacons—difficult to locate with the naked eye—plus other precise radio, navigation and tracking gear, were to help ground stations calculate with high precision distances on the globe and the general shape of the earth's surface.

The blinking lights, with a brilliancy of eight million candle power, were not intended to be triggered initially until about three days after launching. This would give trackers time to determine the satellite's orbital path before conducting any experiments.

The Defense Department took the unusual move Wednesday of announcing that the attempt to launch the satellite would be made today. This was to allow scientists around the world to make observations of the flashing beacons and share in the satellite's measuring.

TV Woes Holding Up Fight Plans

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP)—Fight manager Marv Jenson says negotiations for a championship doubleheader on theater television are holding up a date for the middleweight championship bout between Gene Fullmer and Paul Pender.

Jenson, Fullmer's manager, said Wednesday he understands that promoter Norm Rothschild is trying to arrange a match between welterweight champ Emile Griffith and challenger Ralph Dupas.

He said both fights apparently would be the same night on closed circuit theater TV. Fullmer and Pender are scheduled to fight in Bozeman, Mont. The original fight date of June 9 has been canceled, Jenson said.

"MY CHURCH"

By A Christian Writer

I do not have a church, I cannot help makes rules and regulations for the church

I am a member of, nor change it in any way. The church I am in, is not mine; it is the Lord's and I am only an insignificant member of it.

The Lord's church is in the world. He said, "Upon this rock I will build my church"; and then promised that the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. Mat. 16:18, 19. That is why I refer to it as the church of Christ; and not as my church. The early Christians did not speak of "our church."

Neither did I join the church of my choice, I had no choice. I simply obeyed the gospel to become saved. And becoming saved, the Lord added me to the church. "The Lord adds to the church daily such as should be saved" (Acts 2:47).

Thus, the Lord does not ask people which church they prefer to join; but adds all the saved to the same church — to what the Bibles calls, "the church."

One can claim to be in the Lord's church if he has done what the New Testament requires for his salvation, and then has been faithful to the Word, having been content to remain just a Christian.

Details of a debate to be held June 19, 20, 21, 22 to be announced in this article.

Top Mothers

Mrs. Mary Celesta Weatherly, 70, left, and Mrs. John H. Glenn Sr., mother of the astronaut, hold their bouquets after being named officially as leading mothers by the American Mothers Committee Inc., at ceremonies in New York. Mrs. Glenn, of New Concord, Ohio, won the title of "World Mother." Mrs. Weatherly, Fort Payne, Ala., a great-great-great-great-niece of George Washington, was chosen "American Mother of 1962."

'Bounty' Mutineer's Kin Impressed By Civilization

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Fletcher John Christian, whose great-great-great grandfather led the infamous "Mutiny on the Bounty" in 1788, sailed happily toward Holland today, enjoying the solitude of the ship's bridge.

"So many people; so many questions, and I do not know what to say," said the wrinkled, weather-beaten 64-year-old man at his first sight of modern civilization during a 24-hour stop before his ship sailed Wednesday.

Fletcher John received a real American welcome when he arrived aboard the Dutch cruise ship, Willem Ruys. Newsmen, grade school children and members of the Seventh Day Adventist Church greeted him.

Fletcher John was astonished at the size of buildings in this city, and he wanted to see color television.

"It's good to leave home for a while," he said of his first journey beyond the Fiji Islands. "But to go away and leave it forever—no, I don't want to do it."

He declined to compare modern civilization with life on his tiny island of Pitcairn, where he is chief magistrate.

"Well, I just don't know about that," he said. "We were born there and get accustomed to it."

There is a lively tourist trade with ships calling at Pitcairn and every time the Willem Ruys stopped there, Christian went aboard to talk with the captain. Once he said he'd like to make a voyage.

So when the Willem Ruys left Pitcairn on April 26, Fletcher John was aboard for a 10-week cruise as a guest of the Royal Rotterdam Lloyd Steamship Line. This was his first stop en route to Holland.

A religious man, Christian neither drinks nor smokes. The 120 persons on Pitcairn are members of the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

He said fishing and gardening are the chief occupations and selling souvenirs to tourists earns the average resident about $850 a year.

He remembered seeing the original movie about "Mutiny on the Bounty" while visiting aboard a ship in Pitcairn harbor in the late 1930s and recalled, it was enjoyable.

"Actually, we don't know much about the true story of it—we have only the legend handed down from generation to generation," he said.

"When I was a young man, I would have studied navigation had it been possible."

On the cruise he spends much time on the ship's bridge. It's quiet there, and "not so many people."

Delegates Told Need For Priests

MEXICO CITY (AP)— Mexico needs 100,000 priests but has only 36,000, delegates to a meeting of the Organization of Latin American Seminaries have been told.

Father Guillermo Schelembur, the organization president, said that increasing the number of priests is one of the Roman Catholic Church's primary problems in Latin America.

FBI Executive Takes No Note Of 38th Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover's 38th anniversary as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation was widely observed today. But not by Hoover.

"He refuses to treat it differently from any other working day," said an FBI spokesman.

Hoover, 67, steadfastly resisted suggestions of any special gathering to mark the latest milestone in his career.

No special luncheon, no dinner party, no interviews, said the spokesman.

But others insisted on taking note of the occasion.

President Kennedy sent a letter of congratulations.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy ordered up a cake.

As the day dawned, no one was really sure about how and when the cake would be presented to Hoover.

In Baltimore, Mayor J. Harold Grady, a former FBI agent, proclaimed, "J. Edgar Hoover Day." So did Mayors Ivan Allen Jr. in Atlanta and Anthony J. Celebreeze in Cleveland.

Govs. J. Millard Tawes of Maryland and Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio also issued proclamations honoring the FBI director.

The FBI spokesman said the director expected to follow his usual routine, which calls for a drive from his northwest Washington home to a point about five blocks from the Justice Department building offices of the FBI, then a brisk walk to the building with Clyde A. Tolson, his longtime friend and FBI associate director.

After working until about noon, the director usually leaves the building for lunch.

Then comes more work in the afternoon until about 6, when he departs for home and two of his favorite sources of relaxation, gardening and his two cairn terriers, Chi-Boy and Tucker.

And if this is like many other days, there may be another report that Hoover's retirement is imminent. Then the report will be emphatically denied, as it often has been by FBI officials or Robert Kennedy himself.

Subfreezing Readings Up North

By The Associated Press

The temperature dipped to 26 degrees early today at Alpena, Mich., and other sub-freezing readings were reported in the northeastern portion of the Upper Great Lakes region.

In contrast, the early morning's highest reading was 90 degrees at Blythe, Calif.

Scattered rain and thundershowers fell over portions of the Pacific Northwest, Upper Mississippi Valley, the Great Lakes region and South Atlantic states.

The heaviest rainfall ranged up to about one-half inch at Eau Claire, Wis., and International Falls, Minn.

Early morning temperatures were mostly seasonal. They ranged from the 40s and 50s along the Pacific and Atlantic coasts, Midwest and East, in the 60s and 70s in the South, and the 80s in the desert Southwest.

Gen. Stilwell Injures Shoulder

CAMP DRUM, N.Y. (AP) — Brig. Gen. Joseph (Cider Joe) W. Stilwell suffered a dislocated right shoulder Wednesday in a practice parachute jump.

Stilwell, assistant commander of the 5th Infantry Division, was at this northern New York training camp to direct antiguerrilla warfare training of the 2nd Brigade of Ft. Devens, Mass. An Army spokesman said he apparently had landed off balance.

Stilwell is the son of the late Gen. Joseph (Vinegar Joe) Stilwell, who was commander of the China-Burma-India theater during World War II.

17 Suffocate In Formosa Fire

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Seventeen persons suffocated in a fire before dawn today in a two-story brick tenement building. The dead — four entire families —were trapped on the upper floor after the flames destroyed the narrow wooden staircase.

Police said the fire broke out on the ground floor of the building and the people living there did not call the fire brigade or warn those on the second floor. Instead they busied themselves removing their belongings.

30's Called Best Time For Coeds

NEW YORK (AP)—A woman college teacher thinks the time for a woman to go to college is in her early 30s—not when she is striving "as much for the acquisition of a bachelor as for a bachelor's degree."

During the years a young woman now attends college, she states matter-of-factly, "She is driven by a force which, compounded of her own instincts and the pressures of society, approaches the irresistible: the desire to find a man."

Carolyn G. Heilbrun, writing on "Educating Female People" in the spring issue of the Columbia University Forum, a quarterly journal of fact and opinion, concedes that "the finding of a husband and the full use of one's mind are not, within a lifetime, mutually exclusive."

"But it is questionable whether either of these tasks benefits from being undertaken simultaneously with the other."

Dr. Heilbrun is an instructor in English in Columbia's School of General Studies. She took her bachelor of arts degree from Wellesley College and her master's and doctorate from Columbia. She is married and the mother of three.

"To one who is acquainted with many women, and a few educators," she writes, "it appears that women are having the education and their children at times which could not be more inconvenient for the development of their own lives, the needs of society, or the comfort of the men to whom they are married."

She feels that by the time a woman is in her 30s, her youngest child would be in elementary school, and she would be a serious student.

That opinion is based, in part, on her own experience as a teacher at Columbia. There she found that women who had not gone to college in their youth or had returned later for their education were extraordinary students.

By delaying her college education, the Columbia teacher explains, the young woman would avoid being "dropped from the heights of Olympus to the depths of the washing machine."

"Rather the years of her children's babyhood can be experienced and enjoyed in the knowledge that beyond lie the years of the mother's professional life. A woman, like a man, can have a profession, but the time for her profession is later," she says.

"Employers are now skeptical, and rightly so, of their investment in the training of a woman who may become pregnant and leave just when she may begin to be useful to them."

Mrs. Heilbrun concedes that some women would be lost to colleges under her suggestion, but says "if the woman is without the desire to return, she is without the qualifications — a conclusion that is straight-forward, if unsentimental."

SPACE NEWS

WASHINGTON (AP)— A European space scientist says tritium, the heavyweight form of hydrogen used to make H-bombs, has been detected in giant flares that sometimes erupt from the sun.

Asserting the tritium was detected by one of the United States' Discoverer satellites, Prof. Cornelius de Jager of the Astronomical Observatory, Utrecht, believes this is an indication that some kind of nuclear process may be involved in the production of these stormy eruptions from the sun's surface. He spoke at an international space symposium here.

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Mothers Committee, Inc., today conferred the extraordinary award of World Mother on Mrs. John H. Glenn Sr. of New Concord, Ohio.

"This extraordinary award of World Mother is not given because John H. Glenn Jr. has become our first American orbital astronaut," said Mrs. Daniel A. Poling, president of the committee, in presenting the citation.

"It is a tribute," she said, "to the mother whose home training, guidance and love have made her hero-son a symbol of inner spiritual security, of courage and manliness for all mankind to admire and emulate."

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Dr. Stanley White, medical man for the U.S. astronauts, says younger men may be used in the American space program some day.

"We are trying now to pick a man who will still be a good risk three or four years later," he told a meeting of the Harris County Medical Society.

John H. Glenn Jr., first American to orbit the earth, is 40.

White described the ideal astronaut this way: "He would be 18 years old, have a Ph.D. and 25 years' flight engineering experience."

NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov says what impressed him the most about the United States is the friendliness of the American people.

Titov spoke before 3,000 Hunter College students, most of them girls.

Speaking through an interpreter, Titov said "our planet is beautiful, and too small to allow wars and quarrels."

Later Titov visited the Ford Motor Co. assembly plant at Mahwah, N. J.

Russians Have Dope Problem

MOSCOW (AP) — A Moscow judge called for compulsory hospitalization of drug addicts Wednesday in the first public admission that narcotics is a problem among Soviet youth.

Judge A. Aduyev complained in an Izvestia article that present Soviet law is inadequate since addicts cannot be committed for rehabilitation until they commit a crime.

The judge also urged compulsory hospital treatment for alcoholism, a well-known social problem in the Soviet Union.

Playful Pinch For Gherman

As Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov gets a playful pinch on the cheek from his wife, Tamara, he gestures toward the photographer recording this incident. Witnesses said he became angry with the photographer who made the picture as the couple toured the San Francisco Bay area.

Reuther Admits Opinion Split But Supports JFK

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Walter Reuther acknowledged today that his Auto Workers Union differs in part with President Kennedy's wage-price restraint policy although it agrees wholeheartedly with the general aim and purpose.

Reuther described it to reporters as more of a question of emphasis between UAW economists and Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers. He said he and the administration "are agreed on basic policy."

The UAW version was due to be formalized by resolution today at a concluding session of the union's week-long convention.

However pictured, the difference between the Reuther and the Kennedy wage-price policies is that Reuther maintains wages should rise faster than Kennedy says they should.

The President calls for wages to be held generally to gains in productivity. Reuther contends business profits are out of line with labor income and, until a more healthy balance is attained, wages should increase faster than productivity gains. He says a faster rate of wage gains may even be a permanent necessity to buoy purchasing power.

The President in his address here Tuesday and Reuther in various statements have referred obliquely to this policy difference without, however, discussing it pro or con.

Reuther, after talking with the White House, put out a statement Monday night, on the eve of Kennedy's convention visit, saying he supported administration efforts to maintain stable prices. He insisted, too, that the UAW traditionally has sought gains payable out of higher productivity without higher prices.

The UAW chief noted that General Motors Corp. had called its 1961 contract settlement noninflationary. In his address Tuesday, Kennedy praised the 1961 contracts, saying the UAW deserved a vote of thanks from the country for contributing to price stability.

The President also said that he and Reuther don't always agree, but when they don't, Reuther accepts this and their mutual good will continues.

Both Reuther and Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer, were re-elected Wednesday to new two-year terms. At regional meetings, Paul Schrade, Los Angeles, was picked as the UAW's new West Coast director and Bard Young was chosen to head region 1A on the Detroit West Side.

Local Students Seeking Degrees

DENTON—Three Big Spring students are among 550 seniors who have applied for bachelor's degrees to be awarded at North Texas State University June 1. Commencement exercises will be held at 8 p.m. in Fouts Field.

Big Spring students are Audrey Faye Arnold, Roy Edward Brown and Royce G. Hull.

Miss Arnold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Arnold, 1505 Chickasaw, is seeking the bachelor of science degree in secondary education.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Brown, 1303 Sycamore, Brown is a candidate for the bachelor of business administration degree in marketing.

Hull is also seeking the B.B.A. degree. A general business major, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl S. Hull, Route 1.

Medic Defends Inner Controls

HOBBS, N.M. (AP)—The retiring president of the New Mexico Medical Society says controls in medicine can no longer be considered an infringement on the freedom of practice.

Dr. William E. Badger of Hobbs made the remarks at the 80th annual meeting of the society Wednesday.

"We must be willing to criticize and sit in judgment on our fellow practitioners when we have to," he said.

He said the medical profession has possibly viewed itself as an organization within whose ranks behavior and methods were to be kept a secret.

"Let me assure you that those days, if they ever existed, are gone forever," Dr. Badger said. "Controls cannot be considered undesireable or an infringement on the freedom of practice."

Truman Urges Arab-Israeli Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman says the United States has an obligation "to use its influence to bring about a settlement" of the Arab-Israeli conflict.

Truman spoke Wednesday night at the Jewish National Fund of America's salute to Israel on its 14th anniversary.

"We have been in favor of the independence of Israel, and we have worked for its firm establishment as a nation," he said. "But in doing this we have not discriminated against any of the other countries of the Near East.

"Our national policy toward the Arab peoples, and it is a long one, going back to the days of the Ottoman Empire, has been one of friendship, cultural exchange and support for the principle of national self-determination."

Historic Item Found In Trunk

JEFFERSON (AP)—An old trunk in this historic East Texas town was opened recently and found to contain a letter from Julian Hawthorne, son of Nathaniel Hawthorne.

The trunk had been stored in the home of Ruth Sedberry. The letter was addressed to her grandmother, Katherine Drew Sparr.

Katherine Sparr met Julian Hawthorne while attending a girls school at Lexington, Mass., with Julian's sister, Una Hawthorne. This was in 1865.

The letter was written after Julian Hawthorne married and traveled to England to study and teach.

Among other things, it told of Julian Hawthorne's three children —Hildegarde, Jack and Harry.

Texas Spending Up $61 Million

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas spending for fiscal 1962 is up $61 million over last year, State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert said Wednesday.

Texas has spent $866.5 million since Aug. 31, 1961, including $104.9 million during April. April income was $143.6 million, boosting the fiscal 1962 income to $890.7 million.

The largest single expenditure during the year has been $376.2 million for education. Highways cost $233.1 million and public welfare $137.9 million.

Laos Prince Orders Red Troops Back

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Prince Souvanna Phouma has ordered pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong to withdraw his Pathet Lao troops from Nam Tha and Muong Sing to behind the original cease-fire line, informed diplomatic sources said today.

The informants said the neutralist leader sent a cable from France to Souphanouvong, his half-brother and ally, denouncing the seizure of the two government outposts in northwest Laos as a violation of the year-old cease-fire.

Souvanna, the Soviet and American choice to head a neutralist regime in the jungle kingdom, reportedly also cabled his acting premier, Phagna Khamsoukeola, at rebel headquarters at Khang Kay to arrange for the withdrawal of the pro-Communist troops.

Souvanna left for Paris five weeks ago to stay until June 1 for medical treatment and the wedding of a daughter. He told French newsmen Wednesday night he was prepared to return to Laos any time Prince Boun Oum's right-wing regime formally requests resumption of talks on formation of a coalition government of Communists, conservatives and neutralists.

Souphanouvong's pro - Communist rebels also were reported ready to return to unity talks. Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, deputy premier and strongman of the royal Laotian government, said despite the Pathet Lao attacks, he still was ready to negotiate. But he demanded that Souvanna first return to Laos and give assurances that he is truly neutral.

Before his departure for France, Souvanna publicly pledged that his neutralist and pro-Communist troops would not attack unless they were themselves attacked. He told French newsmen that he believed Nam Tha "was not attacked deliberately" but that royal government forces in trying to break the rebel siege of the provincial capital might have provoked the assault last weekend.

Souvanna has the support of the United States, the Soviet Union and other big powers at the 14-nation Geneva conference on Laos. But Boun Oum and Phoumi have balked at joining a government under Souvanna, contending he is not strong enough to prevent the pro-Communists from leading Laos into the Red orbit.

President Kennedy told his news conference in Washington Wednesday that the rebel advances were "a clear breach of the cease-fire." But he said such incidents can be expected to continue as long as the political talks drag on inconclusively.

Trinity Prexy

SAN ANTONIO (AP)— Robert Witt, San Antonio contractor, was re-elected president of the Trinity University trustees Wednesday. The 1962-1963 budget of $3.25 million is up $250,000.

Barrel Racing Puts Girls Back Into Rodeo Arenas

By BOB GRAY, Editor
The Texas Horseman Magazine
(Written for The Associated Press)

It matters not how old you are.

If you're a girl or woman—and if you're horse crazy like most female types — then you're also crazy about barrel racing.

That's the only conclusion a man can draw from attending the early 1962 crop of rodeos, Quarter Horse and Appaloosa shows.

The barrel race is the hottest thing going in America's stock horse set. It's a crowd pleaser everywhere—and it has put women, as contestants, back into rodeo arenas from one end of the land to the other. In fact, girls dominate the contest so thoroughly and are so blamed good at it, men, that you better just stick to cutting, calf roping and riding down the road! Pound for pound, women seem more determined barrel race competitors than the men. The contest is not won or lost on strength but on riding skill and the degree to which a horse is trained for the contest.

ALL AGES

And age doesn't mean a thing. The young lady currently leading the Texas Barrel Racing Association standings race is little Dawn Tripp of Bryan, Texas. She is 11 years old and so far in 1962 has won nearly $600 in purses. Last year she won more than $1,000. In third place is Faye Oglesby of Jonesboro, a pretty grandmother. Another barrel racing grandmother is rancher's wife Gladys Menking of Hallottsville, who is 57 and proud of it. She hauls her quick Quarter Horse stallion, Speckles, to every rodeo or horse show she can reach in her part of Texas.

But it's the horse that wins the barrel race, not the rider. And that's where the contest's challenge lies. This is a more complex contest than you may think. As a spectator you see the barrel racer come into the arena, do turns around three empty oil drums in a triangular pattern then run for the finish line. Looks easy, doesn't it? But consider what the horse has done.

FULL SPEED

The animal raced at full speed from starting line to the first barrel, did a running turn of some 270 degrees, then blasted off toward barrel two where he did another 270. Then, whipping 180 degrees around the third barrel, he raced at full speed to the finish line.

"Winning barrel races is the hardest thing a horse can be asked to do," observes Jane Mayo Heindselman, three-time winner of barrel racing's world chamoionship. "It's as physically hard on a horse to run one barrel race—and run it right—as it is to rope six calves."

"To win he has to have both high speed and controlled speed, strength, maneuverability and intelligence. To be a champion he also needs a good disposition and adaptability."

Jane is 24 and comes from Okemah, Okla. She won nearly $10,000 in capturing the 1961 world barrel crown in Girls Rodeo Association competition. In her new book "Championship Barrel Racing," she describes in detail the kind of horse it takes to win the big barrel purses.

HOLE IN THE WIND

She likes a Quarter-type horse over 15 hands high with some thoroughbred blood in him, a horse that can 'cut a hole in the wind,' yet do a smooth pivoting turn around a barrel in an instant.

Jane figures to train any young novice horse two years before the animal can win consistently. She will first make him an accomplished reining horse. Then she'll walk him through the barrels, and teach him the footwork of barrel turning — a series of controlled pivots. She will haul the horse to rodeos and never compete with him — just to accustom him to crowds and noise. She'll never run the barrels at home once he's trained; she may rope calves on him at home for exercise and variety.

As much as anything, she wants the barrel horse to have spirit.

LIKES SPIRIT

"Personally, I like a horse that has spirit and independence. I don't want to worry about him getting kicked away from the feed trough . . . an easy-going horse doesn't usually care what happens to him and whether he wins in a contest or not . . . if he has some spunk about him, I think you'll have a much better chance of winning at anything you enter."

* * *

L. N. Sikes of Sherman, Texas, is telling buddies about the rancher who was bragging on his herd of pasture ponies.

"Yes sir," he told a visitor to his place, "those horses just flat wintered themselves."

The visitors gazed for a moment at the lean, hungry looking horses, then observed:

"They didn't know much about it, did they?"

Rounds A Barrel

World Champion Barrel Racer Jane Mayo Heindselman of Okemah, Okla., rounds a barrel on V's Sandy, the 14-year-old Quarter Horse gelding that carried her to the top barrel championship in 1959, 1960 and 1961. Jane's technique is not actually to run her horse in a circle around the barrel but to do a series of three fast pivots around it. The turns, barrel racers agree, is where the race is won or lost.

24 Killed When Airliner Crashes

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Coming in for a landing in a rainstorm, a Brazilian airliner with 27 persons aboard crashed and exploded at Vitoria Wednesday night. Police said there were only three known survivors.

The twin-engine Convair 440 took off from Rio de Janeiro for the Brazilian port city 250 miles north of here on the Atlantic Coast with 22 passengers.

Zale's Reports New Records

Zale Jewelry Co. sales and profits soared to new peaks during the fiscal year ended March 31, 1962, it was announced today by President Ben A. Lipshy.

Net sales jumped 17 per cent, reaching an all-time high of $62,885,589. This compares with $53,790,140 for the previous fiscal year.

Net income after taxes rose 22 per cent to hit a new peak of $3,574,096, equal to $2.15 per share on the 1,665,203 combined outstanding common and Class B common shares. This compares with net income after taxes of $2,923,453, equal to $1.78 the year before and adjusted to reflect the current number of outstanding shares.

The company's profit as a per cent of sales also showed an increase, Lipshy said. The profit margin for the current fiscal year rose to 5.7 per cent, compared to 5.4 per cent a year ago.

Twenty-eight stores were either acquired or opened by the company during the fiscal year. Since April 1, he added, another seven stores have been put into operation to give the Dallas-based firm 227 units in 33 states, and 15 additional leases have been signed and will be opened later this year and in early 1963.

Lunar Launching Method Up In Air

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) —The question of whether the first American to land on the moon goes there directly or refuels in orbit apparently has been tossed again on the dice table of experiment.

James E. Webb, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said some months ago a rendezvous of tanker and moonship probably would be necessary because of weight-carrying limitations of available booster rockets.

Tuesday one of his nuclear experts, Harold B. Finger, expressed hope an alternate capability might be found in time to meet President Kennedy's 1970 deadline.

There is a chance, he said, that nuclear propulsion may be perfected in 1968 or 1969 to power the third stage of the manned moon-landing rocket.

Finger told the second annual conference on peaceful uses of space that the program plans flight testing of nuclear rocket stages in the 1966-67 period and that two years of development would be required to achieve an operational nuclear vehicle.

Such a vehicle might be available in the 1968-69 period, he said, and because of its greater thrust probably could perform a manned lunar landing mission by direct ascent rather than by rendezvous.

Asked about this at a news conference later, Webb said the question is still open.

"If flight testing should show that the rendezvous method is not satisfactory we could speed up the direct boost program," he said.

Still sold on the rendezvous technique, however, was Dr. Wernher von Braun, director of the Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala.

"We will want the rendezvous capability anyway for other programs," Von Braun told newsmen.

Dinah Shore Gets Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Singer Dinah Shore, in her first appearance ever in a courtroom, divorced actor George Montgomery in six minutes flat Wednesday.

The actress gets custody of the couple's two children, Melissa Ann, 14, and John David, 7.

The couple married Dec. 5, 1943.

Dinah asked no alimony and her lawyer said that child support was included in a property settlement.

PANEL DISCUSSION
On the importance of English language training

Several Events To Close Out Lakeview School Activities

School activities at Lakeview Junior High will be brought to a close with a program scheduled by the English Department Thursday evening.

There will be a play entitled "Obstacle to Romance," a style show, a panel discussion and presentation of selections by the band.

The events are scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. today at the Lakeview gymnasium. The public is invited. Admission is 15 cents for school children and 25 cents for adults.

The play illustrates the basic rules and values in fundamental English, according to Mrs. Essie L. Person, director. Characters in the play will be Marva Muse, Abel Wrightsil, Beverly Wrightsil, Dennis Hartfield, Roosevelt Brown, John Walter Green and Freddie Williams.

"Is English Over - Emphasized in the Schools?" will be the topic for discussion by a panel consisting of Barbara Frazier, James Green, Elnora Perkins, Larry Harper, Robert Smith and Melvin Johnson. Each panel member will give his point of view regarding the importance of English and whether or not English language training is important in various phases of life.

A special feature of the evening will be presentation of selections by the band, under the direction of Joe Hillman. Selections will be played by Glenn Lester Person Jr. and John Walter Green. They will be accompanied by Jo Hazel Williams.

Lions Name Essay Winner

Peggy Tharp, San Angelo, has been named winner of the Lions district 2-A-1 "I Am an American" essay contest, B. M. Keese, Big Spring, chairman, has announced.

Second place went to Shirley Gary, Miles Rural High School, and third place to Tim Leifeste, San Angelo.

Keese, who spearheaded this district-wide effort to stimulate positive interest in the American heritage, said that participation was good in all zones of the district.

The three best essays from this zone (B, region IV) were those of D. Perry Thompson, Big Spring, Pat Armstrong, Big Spring, and Karen Koger, Big Spring.

More than 200 essays were submitted for final consideration in the zones before they were screened for the district finals.

HCJC Authorizes Final Payment For Paving Job

Trustees of Howard County Junior College authorized the final payment under the contract with W. D. Caldwell for paving and other improvements on the campus.

At the monthly meeting Wednesday evening, the board also authorized the college president, Dr. W. A. Hunt, to investigate the cost of seal coating older paving, particularly that in the circle in front of the administration building and auditorium.

They also authorized him to place orders for five IBM electric typewriters for use in instruction in the business administration department. If acquired, these will be paid out of the 1962-63 budget rather than the current one.

All faculty contracts have been signed and returned with the exception of that of Mrs. Ella A. White, who has informed Dr. Hunt that she is planning to retire from teaching. She and Mr. White plan to live on their ranch near Cisco. Trustees recommended James G. Dickerson, who holds a master's degree in government, to be an instructor in government and history. He carried a heavy minor in the field of history, said Dr. Hunt.

The board again looked at the matter of planning for a science building. Dr. Hunt said that with a proper facility, the college could expand its enrollment readily to 1,200-1,500, which he envisioned as the limits for a county-supported college. The possibility of an annuity program, supported only by participating faculty members, was discussed; so was the possibility of improvement of Adams Avenue from the SUB past the stadium.

A series of miscellaneous accounting procedure recommendations from the auditor, Neal G. Hilliard, were read, and Dr. Hunt said that most of these had been adopted. Included were suggestions of monthly amortization of prepaid insurance, monthly accounting on delinquent taxes, perpetual inventory on bookstore supplies, schedule of building use fees, etc.

Deeds Are Being Signed For FM 700 Extension

Deeds are being signed for right of way on a new FM road extending FM 700 to connect with SH 350 and SH 669, according to Ed Carpenter, county judge. He said that State Highway Department men are contacting property owners on the route of the proposed road and expect to complete signing of the deeds soon. The county is obligated to pay for the right of way needed but the state negotiates for the land.

The extension will begin at the present point where FM 700 intersects IS 20. It will go north and a little east for approximately three miles to join the Snyder and Gail highways.

Music Program Entertains Lions

Downtown Lions Wednesday had a brief program in recognition of National Music Week.

Juanita Palmer, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Beckham, played an allegro movement of a horn number written by Mozart. Juanita is a student in junior high and has been named to compete in state contests at Austin in June. It is relatively rare for a junior high band member to be invited to take part in these contests.

It was announced that the club would have its luncheon of May 23 at the Dora Roberts Salvation Army Citadel.

E. C. Smith and Lt. Warren E. P. Hausman were inducted into the club by Jimmy Ray Smith. President E. B. Boullioun urged a maximum attendance at the district convention May 18-19 in San Angelo.

Car Is Lost

A car, owned by Carmon Zigler, 611 N. Douglas, was listed as a total loss by firemen who were called to the scene of a fire at 4 a.m. Thursday. Cause of the fire, which started inside the car, was not determined.

Businessmen Elect Officers

Twelve local businessmen gathered this morning at the Settles Hotel to form the Downtown Big Spring Association, an organization dedicated to encouraging business in the downtown area.

It had been in the planning stages for almost a month, using the name of Downtowners, Unlimited.

Clyde Clark of Montgomery Ward's was elected president; A. J. Prager, Prager's Men's and Boys' Wear, is vice president, and Eva Pyeatt, the Kid's Shop, is secretary-treasurer.

Elected to the board of directors were Paul Hathaway, J. C. Penney Co.; Sidney Mellinger, Mellinger's Store; Bob Hickson, Hemphill - Wells; and Al Smith, White's.

The organization has 20 members and others have been invited to join. About 40 members are expected when the organization is fully established.

By-laws will be adopted at the next meeting. The group will meet at 10 a.m. on the third Thursday of each month.

Network Denies Paying Worker In Welfare Show

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP)— An indigent laborer was the unhappy center today of a row over whether he was paid $50 to act a weeping role on a televised documentary of this city's welfare crackdown.

City Mgr. Joseph Mitchell said Thomas Weygant admitted on a tape recording Wednesday that he was paid and rehearsed by the National Broadcasting Co.

NBC denied paying him to act on the program, "Battle of Newburgh," televised nationally Jan. 28, but asserted that after the program an NBC staff member "gave him $50 out of sympathy for his plight."

Mitchell was the sponsor of the welfare crackdown plan, which stirred nationwide controversy. Among other things, its 13 points would have cut off aid to unwed mothers who bore subsequent children out of wedlock and would have required able-bodied men to work 40 hours a week for the city.

A state court overruled 12 of the 13 points.

Howard Bats Yanks To Win

NEW YORK (AP)—Elston Howard normally is a contented, pleasant-mannered, easy-going guy but Wednesday he was singing the blues as he sat slumped in front of his locker in the Yankee clubhouse before the game with the Boston Red Sox.

"Look at me," he moaned, "a .246 hitter, a lousy .246 hitter. I'm ashamed of myself. I should be hitting 100 points higher but I'm not. Know why? Because I let a few home runs go to my head. That's why.

"No more of that swinging for the fences for me. I'm just going back to meeting the ball. And I'm going to start today. Just wait and see."

Howard was true to his word although the return to his old style of hitting didn't pay off until the seventh inning. Boston's Bill Monbouquette, after pitching six hitless innings, finally gave up a hit, a bunt single by Tom Tresh with one out in the seventh. It was a little pop over Monbo's head.

But Gary Geiger dropped Roger Maris' liner and, after Mickey Mantle struck out, the Red Sox right-hander walked Yogi Berra, filling the bases. Up stepped Howard and drove a base-clearing double over left fielder Carl Yastrzemski's head to break a scoreless deadlock between Mombo and Whitey Ford. Bill Skowron singled Howard home and the Yankees went on to win 4-1.

Ellie was all smiles after the game.

"I hit it good," he said, "but I wasn't going for the long ball. I didn't swing hard. I was just out to meet the ball. Just like last year. Yes sir, I don't need them home runs. Just base hits, that's all."

The hit, his only one in three times at bat, boosted Howard's average to .250, far below his .348 finish of last year. In justice to Howard, he has been playing with a painful right wrist, injured in the fourth game of the season. Fearful it might be construed as an alibi, the Yankee catcher avoided talking about it, but he admitted under pressure the wrist still bothered him.

Boosters Elect Hollman Prexy

LAMESA (SC) — Adolph Hollmann was elected president of the Lamesa Booster Club for the 1962-63 season here Wednesday.

Hollmann replaces O. G. Nieman, who served two terms as head of the organization. Scott Russell was named vice president and Nieman, secretary-treasurer.

New directors elected included Hollmann, Russell, Gus White Jr., Billy Corbin, Carlos Berry, Bill Anderson, Walter Buckel.

Center Point Road Gets A Topping

W. D. Caldwell, who has a contract for paving approximately 11 miles of new county highway, will complete topping work on the Center Point road today, Billy Paul Thomas, county engineer, said.

The Center Point road was the first to be topped under the contract. It begins at the end of existing paving on the Center Point road and extends eastward five miles.

The contractor will move on to the Vealmoor road next. This is a four mile job.

Other paving jobs are from US 87 west to the new Catholic church for one mile, and one mile of paving on the Allendale and Cindy Lane streets in the Worth Peeler Addition.

In addition to the paving, Caldwell has contract to sealcoat 16 miles of old county highway.

Explorers To Engrave Hubcaps

Members of Explorer Post No. 9 will engrave hubcaps Saturday at Fourth and Johnson Streets.

For $1 a set, the boys will engrave the owners name, or address, etc., on the inside of hub caps as a means for permanently identifying them.

In addition, they will engrave names on hand tools for mechanics, going to their place of business if called. Persons interested are asked to contact David Grifford (AM 4-6006) or Lester Goswick (AM 4-7103).

The hubcap engraving will start at 8 a.m.

Girl Scouts Enter District Art Contest

Six winning entries in a nationwide Girl Scout art contest have been submitted by Troop 142, Park Hill third grade, for district competition to be judged today at Sweetwater.

Winners of today's contest will go on to national competition in Vermont, according to Mrs. Alan Kernodle. Troop 142 was the only local Girl Scout Troop to enter.

Local winners were selected Wednesday at noon by judges Mrs. Joe Hedleston, Mrs. Lyndon Gladden and Mrs. S. A. Walker. They are Nancy Oppegard, Terrie Lou Thompson, Katie Jo Kernodle, Carol Ann Currie, Ashley Summers and Michele Haralson.

Media of the young artists are water color, tempera and crayola.

Coin Machine Found On Pole

While Big Spring police were investigating a burglary at the El Paso Service Station, East Fourth and Circle Drive, a man reported a coin machine on a telephone pole on Birdwell Lane.

A coin machine containing $4 in cash and $28.50 in merchandise was reported taken from the station. The machine, said to be damaged about $40 worth, was found about a half mile north of Hilltop Road.

New 'Tux' Fits Nicely

Former Mayors Lee O. Rogers, left, George Dabney, and Mayor George Zachariah, (right), compliment retiring City Manager A. K. Steinheimer on the "fit" of the tuxedo outfit presented Wednesday night by Big Spring city employes. An appreciation dinner at Cosden Country Club was given for Steinheimer and his family with around 80 present.

Good Crowd Turns Out To Give Steinheimer A Good Sendoff

More than 80 persons attended the appreciation dinner given for A. K. Steinheimer at the Cosden Country Club Wednesday night, sponsored by Big Spring city employes. City officials were honor guests and former officials were included in the program.

Steinheimer begins his duties as city manager of the City of Beaumont May 15 and will leave Big Spring Sunday morning.

John Taylor, former city commissioner, was master of ceremonies. He introduced former mayors George Dabney and Lee O. Rogers, Mayor George Zachariah, and Robert W. Whipkey publisher of the Big Spring Herald, all of whom made brief talks. Dabney was Big Spring's mayor when Steinheimer was employed in 1959. Taylor, Rogers, and Zachariah were commissioners. Rogers later became Mayor, followed by Zachariah.

Each speaker pointed to the work done toward development of the city during the years Steinheimer was manager here.

Roy Anderson, assistant city manager and now acting manager, presented Steinheimer a tuxedo with all accessories, as a gift from all city employes.

SCHOOL'S OUT EARLY FRIDAY; AWARDS DUE

Big Spring public school students will have a half-day holiday Friday, while teachers attend an in-service training program. Classes will be dismissed at noon at all city schools, Sam Anderson, superintendent, said.

A general faculty meeting will begin at 1:30 p.m., Anderson explained, in the high school auditorium. Highlight of the meeting will be the award of service pins to 23 teachers.

Five will get 20-year pins, six will receive 15-year pins and 12 will get 10-year pins. Other business will be before the teachers, then they will attend general work sessions for in-service training. These meetings are expected to end by 3:30 p.m.

Glasscock Schools Plan Activities

GARDEN CITY (SC)—The annual school picnic will be held Monday with separate divisions for the elementary, junior high and high school.

Elementary pupils will have their outing at the Big Spring City Park, while the junior high pupils plan other activities in Big Spring, possibly the skating rink, the movie and other things.

The high school students are planning on a trip to the Ted Brown recreation park at San Angelo.

All of the children will travel in school buses with teachers and sponsors accompanying them.

Primary Election Results Canvassed

LAMESA (SC) — Results of the May 5 Democratic primary election were canvassed Tuesday and few discrepancies were reported by the executive committee.

Waggoner Carr, Lubbock candidate for attorney general, picked up 140 additional votes due to errors in two precincts. The change gave him a total of 2,039 votes. Four other minor changes were made.

City Employe Recovering From Accident Injuries

Claude McLeod, city employe who was taken to the Howard County Hospital Foundation at noon Wednesday suffering from injuries received in a pickup-car collision, was reported resting satisfactorily Thursday morning. He was severely bruised and was complaining of abdominal pain.

The city water department pickup was being driven by emergency meter man M. G. McCasland and was in collision with a station wagon driven by James Ollie Robertson, 16, of Stanton.

McCasland was not injured enough to be hospitalized but was very "stiff and sore" Thursday morning.

"I have been in some pretty bad accidents before, but can't remember ever suffering three harder jolts than those yesterday," he said. "One came with the collision, the second when we hit the power pole, and the third when we stopped against that tree."

Robertson was not injured.

Bruce Dunn, director of public works, was having the pickup appraised to determine its condition Thursday morning but was not optimistic about its being repaired.

The collision occurred at the intersection of East Eighth and Runnels at 11:40 a.m. Wednesday. Police estimates of damage on the vehicles showed about $400 to the station wagon and $1,200 to the pickup.

Other accidents in the last 24 hours, locations, and drivers of vehicles involved were: Third and Gregg, Samuel George Ratliff, Garden City, and Julian Newton Kelley, 3228 Cornell: Sixth and State, James Clydel Chapman, 810 Willa, and Margarito V. Gutierrez, 610 N. Gregg; Lamesa Drive, front of Hull & Phillips, Dan Sherman Rasberry, 801 N. Gregg, and Oscar Lee, 313 Runnels.

56 Appeal City Cases

Fifty-six persons appealed cases in April from Big Spring Corporation court for fines totaling $1,052. Total fines assessed during April ran to $5,665.

There were 165 moving traffic violations and of these 116 paid fines of $1,231, 14 were dismissed and 35 appealed. Forty-two were charged with having no drivers licenses, 36 paid fines totaling $580, one was dismissed, and one was appealed for $25.

Other appeals were one for disturbance ($25), one affray ($20), and one interfering with the duties of a police officer ($25).

During April 2,205 overtime parking tickets were issued. Of these, 1,105 were paid at the window, and 400 overtime notices mailed to those failing to appear.

Management Of Water District Wins Praise

"Texas Water," the monthly publication of the Texas Water Conservation Association, had taken cognizance of a statement lauding the management of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

The letter was from Norman S. Downey of Eastman, Dillon, Union Securities & Co., which served as underwriter for both of the revenue bond issues of the district.

"When your income for one year practically hits your estimate on the nose, and your operating expenses are less than the budget certifies, it certainly speaks well for the management," said Downey.

He had another word of praise for E. V. Spence, general manager, and the district, adding that "to the best of my knowledge, the ultimate investors in your bonds are most happy with the success of the district, and several of them have talked with me about its capable management."

To Visit Wards

Fifteen Rainbow Girls from Midland are scheduled to visit wards at the Big Spring State Hospital Saturday morning to provide songs and homemade candy. The group will be accompanied by Mrs. R. J. Maberry.

Rapid-Fire Developments Churn Tangled Estes Case

By The Associated Press

While Senate investigators are exploring how Texas fertilizer financier Billie Sol Estes built an empire at the age of 37, these rapid-fire developments occurred in the tangled Estes case:

—Suits in excess of $5.5 million stemming from the case have been filed in the past two days in federal court at Amarillo.

—A farm committeeman, William P. Mattox, was suspended Wednesday by the State Agriculture Stabilization Committee. Mattox, in turn, says he is puzzled by the whole thing.

—And the Dallas News says that even state and federal agencies may become rivals in the prosecution of the multi-faceted case.

The suits were filed by two finance companies against Superior Manufacturing Company of Amarillo and 42 individuals who signed lease agreements involving anhydrous ammonia fertilizer equipment.

In April, Estes was indicted by a federal grand jury for fraud in connection with chattel mortgages he was charged with selling on non-existent anhydrous ammonia fertilizer tanks.

He has declared himself bankrupt and his creditors face possible heavy losses.

The suits total 52 and were filed by Walter E. Heller and Co. of Chicago, the Pacific Finance Co. of Los Angeles and the CIT Corp. of New York.

The Heller firm filed 32 suits for $3,556,791.01. The company charged breach of lease contract by individuals in signing lease agreements and breach of guaranty by Superior Manufacturing Co.

Heller maintains in each suit that individual defendants said all chattel and materials in the lease contracts had been furnished and delivered to them.

Pacific Finance Co. filed 19 suits for foreclosure of chattel liens and damages. It sued for $1,982,369.08. This included $1,486,668 in alleged defaulted installment payments on anhydrous ammonia equipment.

Pacific Finance previously, on March 30, filed a $1,982,369.08 suit against Billie Sol Estes, Coleman McSpadden and Superior Manufacturing Co. and several others.

Mattox was vice chairman of the Reeves County (Pecos) Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASC) Committee.

He said his suspension "came as a complete surprise to me. I hadn't expected anything like this."

W. Lewis David, state executive director of the ASC, and his assistant, Jack Bradshaw, stressed that the suspension was not an ouster and was pending a hearing on the case.

Mattox figured in the Estes case because of testimony that Estes once asked that Mattox be appointed to the state ASC committee.

Mattox, a Pecos farmer, said he was turned down by the office of Vice President Johnson for geographical reasons and he concurred in the decision.

Mattox said in an interview with the San Angelo Standard-Times that a published report that he had taken a trip to Washington last January at the expense of Estes had been "stretched out of proportion."

The West Texas farmer said he did take such a trip, but at the cost of Pecos area farmers.

"I didn't go there to represent Billie Sol Estes," Mattox declared.

Of the hearing, he said, "I am tickled to get a chance for a hearing because I intend to lay the cards on the table, I am sure I can clarify this thing in every way."

The Dallas News reports that a rivalry between state and federal agencies may result over prosecution of the case.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, defeated last Saturday in a bid for the Democratic nomination for governor, said prosecution of the Estes case is his "No. 1 project for the months ahead."

Meanwhile, the News said three investigators from the U.S. Justice Department have been searching Wilson's files, along with an FBI agent and an investigator from the McClellan Senate Investigating Committee.

Wilson is expected to file, said the News, perhaps by Friday at Amarillo, a civil anti-trust suit on Estes' grain-storage and fertilizer operations.

A new grand jury at Amarillo also is investigating possible criminal law violations. Wilson had indicated previously that the civil case may be filed some place other than Amarillo.

Wilson has complained that the federal government has denied his staff access to certain records needed by state law enforcement officials.

However, Wilson has said that he believes the implications of the Estes situation "are such that this should be investigated also on the national level. They can do a better job than we can, confined just to Texas." But, he said, the anti-trust questions can be best tried in Texas.

Debate Squabble Gets More Fuel

By The Associated Press

There was no letup Wednesday in the television debate squabble between the two Democratic gubernatorial runoff candidates. In fact, a third person, Republican Jack Cox, jumped into the melee.

Don Yarborough told 250 supporters in Austin that John Connally has "backed down on his promise to debate now that he sees he is facing a man in this race."

The young candidate from Houston, addressing a statewide meeting of county and area campaign managers, said, "Connally said before the runoff he would debate and now that he sees who he must face he put his tail between his legs and ran."

Cox, the Republican nominee said, "It is regrettable that one of those candidates refuses to submit his views to public scrutiny by all the people at one time, preferring perhaps to express his views in terms of appeal to whichever group he happens to be speaking to at a particular time."

However, Cox, who will meet the winner of the Yarborough-Connally race in November, did not save all his attack for Connally.

"By contrast," he said, "almost everyone knows the other contender, Don Yarborough, to be a defiant liberal, in complete accord with Jack Kennedy's radical 'new frontier' program."

Several radio and television stations have offered free time to Yarborough and Connally in their runoff race. Yarborough accepted, but Connally refused. Connally said such a debate would bring "more heat than light."

Preston Smith of Lubbock and Joe Pool of Dallas, two second place finishers in the Democratic primary, were in Houston Wednesday to start the groundwork for their runoff campaigns.

Smith was second behind James Turman of Gober, in the race for lieutenant governor.

Pool, who ran second to Woodrow Bean of El Paso in the contest for congressman - at - large, said he is still distributing "keep cool with Pool" paper fans and is still shaking hands.

Bean, meanwhile, said that reports about his income tax situation will not affect his runoff campaign for Democratic nomination for congressman-at-large.

Bean has said he has not filed an income tax return for the last 10 years.

He said in Washington that "any tax problems I have with the IRS (Internal Revenue Service), I hope and believe can be amicably resolved."

He was in Washington to testify before a Senate Judiciary Sub-Committee on Juvenile Delinquency.

Simmons Is Giant Killer

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

A comeback pitcher who has again found the victory touch, a reserve catcher with a hot bat, and an aging marvel who's simply one of the greatest hitters in baseball annals.

That was the vital combination as the St. Louis Cardinals threw a roadblock at San Francisco's streaking Giants in the National League's feature attraction Wednesday night.

Left-hander Curt Simmons, an ailment-plagued reject by Philadelphia when he was picked up by the Cards two years ago, maintained his perfect season's record in the 7-3 win.

Simmons became the first pitcher to go the distance against the Giants this year in their 28 games, throwing a nine-hitter in his fifth victory and fifth complete game in as many starts. Carl Sawatski drove in four runs with a homer and two singles, zooming his average to .389. And Stan Musial, 41, inched to within one hit of Honus Wagner's NL record of 3,420.

Los Angeles moved into third place in the NL with a handy 9-2 romp against Houston. Cincinnati clouted Philadelphia 7-4 and Milwaukee outlasted Pittsburgh 4-2. Cold weather at Chicago forced postponement of the New York-Cubs game.

Simmons was rapped for three homers among the nine hits he allowed but kept the league leaders in check. San Francisco's Orlando Cepeda hit homer No. 9 against the lefty in the fourth, and reliever Mike McCormick and Jim Davenport connected in the seventh.

Sawatski hit a two-run single against Jack Sanford (3-2) in the first, his homer in the fourth and a run-scoring single in the fifth.

The Dodgers peppered Houston pitching for 14 singles and a pair of doubles, backing up a strong eight-hitter by southpaw Johnny Podres (2-2).

Nicking Dean Stone (2-2) for 11 hits and four runs in seven innings, the Dodgers made it a rout with five more runs off Dave Giusti and Hal Woodeshick in the ninth.

Cincinnati gave Bob Purkey hefty support, hammering Phillie pitchers for 15 hits. Purkey yielded only five hits and two earned runs. The Reds pounded in front by scoring twice off Art Mahaffey (2-4) in the first and were ahead 6-1 after three.

Frank Robinson, showing signs of breaking out of a prolonged slump, singled three times and knocked in three Cincinnati runs.

A 15-hit barrage led by Joe Adcock and Frank Bolling and neat stint of clutch relief by rookie Hank Fischer carried the Braves over the Pirates. Adcock homered and singled and Bolling stroked three singles as Milwaukee took a 4-1 lead, but the Bucks threatened in the eighth by loading the bases against winner Ron Piche (2-0). Fischer taking over allowed the Pirates to salvage only one run out of the rally. Bob Friend took the loss, his second in six decisions.

Cup Stars Play

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Three U. S. Davis Cup stars and the Mexican amateur champion will play here Saturday during the Trinity University Tennis Day Matches. The Davis cuppers to play are Chuck McKinley, Frank Froehling, and Chris Crawford. Antonio Palafox, champion of Mexico, will also play.

LOW BALL PARTNERSHIP LINKS MEET PLANS ARE FINALIZED

Final plans for a Low Ball Partnership Golf Tournament to be held here Memorial Day have been approved by the sports and recreation committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

It will be held at the Big Spring Municipal Golf Course from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. May 30. The entrance fee will be $3. About $250-$300 in merchandise prizes will be offered by local merchants.

All golfers have been invited to enter the Low Ball tourney. About 150 are expected to register.

Partners in the tourney must have one person in the 10 or under handicap range and the second player of the team must be an 11-18 handicapper.

The entry fee may be paid at the first tee, where registration will be handled by R. P. Nicholson, Edward Acri and John Pipes.

Proceeds from the non-profit tourney will be used to defray expenses of sectional qualifiers to the 37th Amateur Public Links Championship Tournament to be held July 9-14 at the Sheridan Parks Golf Course, Tonawanda, N.Y. Sectional qualifying rounds for the national meet will be held June 19 at the Big Spring Country Club.

Teen-Age Baseball Boys Can Sign Up This Week

Player registration for Teen-age baseball will get under way at the YMCA Friday, starting at 6 p.m. and continuing for two hours.

Those who can report at that time can register at the same place anytime from 9 a.m. until noon Saturday.

Boys who are residents of Howard County whose birth certificates show they were born between Aug. 1, 1946, and July 31, 1949, are eligible to play Teen-Age ball. This encompasses the 13-14-15 year age group.

League officials must be given proof of the player's birth, however. Each individual playing in the circuit will be asked to contribute $3, which will be used to apply on insurance and State Association dues.

Plans call for the operation of two franchised leagues, consisting of six teams each. Winner of each league will be eligible for district competition.

League competition gets under way the first week in June.

The Big Spring Teen-Age Baseball association is affiliated with the Texas Teen-Age Baseball association, which conducts district and state playoffs at the end of the regular season.

Clifton H. Bellamy is president of the local Teen-Age association while William H. Bethell serves as vice president and S. T. Bogan Jr., as secretary-treasurer.

The association plays its games in its own park on the north side of town.

Thomas Pitches No-Hit Contest

E. C. Smith Construction decisioned McDaniel Construction, 6-0, and Morton's Foods blanked Neel's Transfer, 2-0, in Big Spring Softball league games played at the City Park Wednesday night.

Morton's has now won three straight league decisions, Smith's has yet to win in three starts while McDaniel Construction is 1-2.

Billy Paul Thomas pitched the victory for Smith's, setting the losers down without a hit. He fanned 17 and did not walk a batter. Only two batters to reach base on him were hit by pitched balls. His mates played errorless ball afield.

The Contractors collected five hits off Spec Franklin, the losing pitcher, including a triple and a single by Oakey Hagood, who scored twice.

Neel's outhit the Morton team, 6-2, but couldn't find the plate and Cotton Mize receipted for his third mound victory.

Gerald Cox and Tito Arencibia drove in the runs for the Morton team.

White had two doubles for the losers while Pidge Daniels and Rogers came up with one each.

In action tonight, Morton's opposes Phillips 66 (0-2) at 7 p.m. while Anderson Music (2-1) tangles with McDaniel Construction at 9 o'clock.

Publicist Dies

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—Jake Wade, 61, veteran sports publicity director at the University of North Carolina, died Wednesday of an apparent heart attack while driving from Raleigh to Chapel Hill. His auto ran off U.S. 54 and crashed into a tree about 1½ miles east of Morrisville.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Two of the most encouraging developments confronting coach Red Lewis of HCJC in last week's Western Conference Track and Field meet at Roswell were Larry Mauldin's ability to scale a new plateau in the pole vault and Lou Balenton's 6 feet 4¾ high jump.

Mauldin, an Abilene product, cleared 13 feet 5½ inches in the vault. He never before had gone over 13-3. Unless he forgets everything he's learned in the next two weeks, h's likely to cop first place in the National Juco meet here May 19.

A vault of 13-2½ won the blue ribbon in last year's nationals.

Balenton has been a consistent winner in the high jump for the Hawks all season but he wasn't able to go beyond 6-4 until last week.

Last year, three boys shared first place in the Nationals with leaps of 6-2.

Vernon (El Goofo) Gomez, the former mound great of the New York Yankees, told an audience in the East recently that people didn't know that Joe DiMaggio could go back behind the monuments in Yankee Stadium (located in deep, dead-away center field) to catch a fly ball until he (Gomez) proved it with his pitching. For that reason, Gomez said he helped put DiMaggio in the baseball Hall of Fame.

Football coaches in Class AAAA schools who favored the retention of spring training can thank Big Spring's Emmett McKenzie for a big share in the campaign aimed at not making a change.

Emmett was outspoken in his criticism of the move to outlaw the spring drills and his letters on the subject to other coaches around the state must have got them to thinking.

Nemo Herrera, one of the better known athletic coaches in the San Antonio school system, is quitting his job at San Antonio Edgewood to return to El Paso.

Herrera has been in San Antonio two years in his last tenure there. Previously, he was a coach at El Paso Bowie. In El Paso, he will serve District 1-AAAA either as assistant athletic director or as a supervisor of athletics for junior high and elementary schools.

Two of Herrera's San Antonio teams won state baskeball championships.

Brassy Cassius Clay, never one to hide his light under a bushel, began to clamor for a match with old Archie Moore after scoring a recent victory.

"A good big man can always beat a good little man," Clay crowed.

Moore studied the challenge and was moved to remark:

"Well, I've alway said that an empty wagon always makes the most noise."

Fred Hansen, a Cuero product now at Rice University, is getting much support for the honor of Texas "amateur athlete of the year."

Hansen has come to the front in a hurry as a pole-vaulter. Few have matched his feat of winning his speciality in the Texas, Kansas and Drake Relays. He set records at Austin and Lawrence.

His poorest jump this season has been 14-9, his best 15-6¼.

Lions Defeat Jets, 10-9

The Lions nosed out the Jets, 10-9, in American Little League play here Wednesday night.

The Jets outhit the winners, 8-6, and seemed on their way when James Newman clubbed a first inning home run with two on. It was the first round tripper of the year in American Little League competition.

The Lions, however, struck for five runs in the fourth and added the decisive two in the sixth.

Cooper Procter wound up with three hits, all singles, for the Lions while Charles Smith had a double and a single.

Mike Clark was the only Jet to collect two hits. Both of his blows were singles.

The Lions now have a 2-0 won-lost record while the Jets are 0-1.

Boxing Feud Riles Champ

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Harold Johnson said today he doesn't feel like the National Boxing Association light heavyweight champion that he is and threatened to pull out of his title bout against Doug Jones Saturday night as the result of a continuing court feud with his manager over money.

But Alfred M. Klein, a member of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission, said, "There's not the slightest chance" of the bout being called off.

"We'll get it straightened out," said Klein as he prepared for a conference with attorneys for Pat Olivieri, Johnson's manager. "I'm surprised he (Johnson) talked that way. All hands will confer and we'll have it worked out."

Johnson said in an interview that regardless of the consequences he would pull out of the 15-round nationally televised bout at the Arena if his purse is held in escrow by legal action or if Olivieri is allowed to take the manager's share immediately after the fight.

Olivieri subpoenaed Johnson into court Wednesday to testify at a hearing at which the manager sought a preliminary injunction to block Johnson from going through with any matches not arranged or approved by Olivieri.

Johnson said he didn't feel like a champion because he felt he was being treated unfairly and dragged into court where false accusations were made against him that he owed Olivieri money. He said the whole thing, occurring three days before his fight has upset him and he couldn't say what kind of a psychological effect it would have on him in the ring.

T-Birds Slam Daggers, 7-1

The T-Birds scored in every inning but one on their way to a 7-1 International Little League win over the Daggers here Wednesday night.

Greg Willis clubbed a home run for the winners with Steve Bingham on base in the sixth.

Pat Kennedy, the winning pitcher, gave up six hits while the T-Birds managed eight off two Dagger hurlers, including loser Greg Adams.

Duane Murphree had two singles for the T-Birds, as did Jimmy Ream. Adams had two one-basers for the losers.

In tonight's game, the Rockets tangle with the Sabres.

Al Kaline Gets Hot, Bengals Begin Move

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Al Kaline continues to roll, Rocky Colavito seems to have taken his first wobbly steps and Detroit may finally be ready to move in that American League pennant chase.

AL KALINE

With hot-hitting Kaline driving in two runs with a double and homer No. 9 and slumping Colavito collecting three RBIs with a triple, the Tigers belted the Los Angeles Angels 6-3 Wednesday night for their second straight victory after halting a five-game skid.

Kaline, who has never hit more than 27 homers in his 10-year career, is off to a fast start with a .363 batting average and the surprising nine homers.

Colavito is batting a tepid .190, has yet to hit a homer and has driven in only nine runs in 22 games.

The victory left the Tigers four games behind the pacesetting New York Yankees, who broke up Bill Monbouquette's no-hit bid in the seventh inning with four unearned runs to whip Boston 4-1. Minnesota's third-place Twins shoved runner-up Cleveland two games back by edging the Indians 2-1.

Baltimore defeated Kansas City 6-3 as Brooks Robinson tied a major league record by hitting his second grand slam homer in two games, and Washington and Chicago split a twi-night doubleheader. The Senators won the first 9-3 with the White Sox taking the nightcap 7-6.

Colavito got the Tigers the decisive runs with his bases-loaded smash in the fifth inning, then protected the lead by robbing Billy Moran of a three-run homer with a fine catch in front of the left field seats in the seventh. Jim Bunning (4-1), won it. Ted Bowsfield (1-1) took the loss.

Held hitless for 6 1-3 innings by Monbouquette (2-3), the Yanks struck suddenly after Tom Tresh got the first hit on a bunt. Roger Maris' liner was dropped by Gary Geiger and one out later Yogi Berra walked to load the bases. Elston Howard cleared them with a double, and Moose Skowron drove in Howard with a single. Whitey Ford (3-1) won it.

The Twins gave Jack Kralick (2-2) all he needed with a pair in the first. Kralick allowed only five hits—one John Romano's third inning homer—before he was lifted in the eighth for reliever Ray Moore. The loser was Gary Bell (2-2).

Robinson's grand slam capped a six-run surge in the second inning off Ed Rakow (3-2). It was enough for Milt Pappas (3-1), who held the A's to five hits, struck out 13 and retired the last 11 men in order.

Southpaw Don Rudolph (1-0), appearing for the Senators for the first time, stopped his former White Sox teammates in the opener with an eight-hitter. John Buzhardt (4-2) was the loser.

The White Sox earned a split by chasing rookie Steve Hamilton (0-1) in the seventh. Joe Cunningham's two-run homer in the sixth had pulled the Chicagoans even. Ray Herbert (2-1) was the winner.

Hester's Joins Softball Loop, Schedule Re-Drawn

A sixth team, representing Hester's Office Supply, has been admitted into the YMCA Slow-Pitch Softball league here.

For that reason, the schedule has had to be revised. Hester's plays its opening game Friday night against Coca-Cola at 6:30 p.m.

In other contests, Montgomery Ward's tangles with J & L Supply at 8 o'clock while Reeder Insurances squares off with the Daily Herald at 9:30 p.m.

The schedule runs through Aug. 17. The league confines its play to one night a week — Friday.

SCRIMMAGE IS SET FRIDAY

The Big Spring Steers will hold their first scrimmage of the spring football drills in Memorial Stadium Friday evening.

Henceforth the Longhorns will stage all their drills in the new stadium. The grass is gone at the old stadium, worn out by countless cleat marks, and the dust there has been a severe handicap to the players.

The public is welcome to watch the scrimmage, coach Emmett McKenzie stated this morning.

Palmer Is Tired But He'll Play

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—With visions of conquering Colonial's sprawling endurance test, Arnold Palmer and 57 members of golfdom's elite set forth today in the first round of the $40,000 tournament.

In the minds of most of the star-studded field is a pay-window appointment for $7,000, but for Palmer the 7,112-yard, par 70 course offers a special challenge.

The Latrobe, Pa., belter already has five tournament championships tucked away this year and 31 during his illustrious career, but none bear the Colonial stamp.

The tour's leading money winner skyrocketed to a 76 in the final round here last year to eliminate himself from contention and help pave the way for Doug Sanders to tuck away the title with a one-over-par 281.

Palmer skipped Wednesday's pro-amateur but showed up in time to play a practice nine, which he termed pretty good. He said he played well but was just generally dead tired.

The pro-amateur wound up in a five-way tie for low pro, with Dow Finsterwald, Don Fairfield, Joe Campbell, Bruce Crampton and Jacky Cupit shooting 68s and sharing $264 each.

Ben Hogan, making one of his rare appearances on the pro circuit, also bypassed the pro-amateur. He toured the course earlier this week but decided to forego a practice round Wednesday.

The only person to win more than one Colonial title, Hogan hit the course today in quest of his sixth championship here.

Braves And VFW Play To 5-5 Tie

The curfew rule caught the Braves and the VFW in National Little League play here Wednesday night, after they had played through eight innings to a 5-5 deadlock.

The game will be made up at a later date.

Default Ruled In Tax Cases

LAMESA (SC) — Judge Truett Smith Monday ordered defaulted judgment in 16 delinquent tax cases in a non-jury session of 106th District Court here.

The total of the taxes, sought by the City of Lamesa and Lamesa Independent School District jointly, amounted to $3,575.97. Approximately five cases were passed since the defendants had made arrangements to satisfy the tax obligation. Following a brief waiting period, the property for which taxes are outstanding, can be sold at public auction.

Jackie Christens Sub

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy grimaces as she smashes a bottle of champagne to christen the Polaris submarine Lafayette at Groton, Conn. At 7,000 tons, the 425-foot vessel is the heaviest sub ever launched in this country. Roger Lewis, president of General Dynamics, is in the background.

Additional Recreational Facilities At Lake Thomas

The approach of the summer season finds Lake J. B. Thomas with additional recreational facilities for the public.

During the winter, 15 new picnic units have been added at various points around the lake, according to R. A. Schooling. This brings to 36 the total number of such facilities which include tables, benches and shade.

Two of the units were installed on the west end near the river bridge, two on the north side recreational area, and the balance on the peninsula at the southeast section of the lake.

Since last fall, 400 trees have been transplanted around the lake, most of them cottonwood and catalpa. Schooling said that these were planted behind terraces and that it increased the amount of rainfall available to them, as well as making it easier to water the area. At latest count, all but three of the saplings were alive and growing.

The trees were raised from switches or seedlings on a nursery plot near the Colorado River Municipal Water District's boat basin.

Another improvement effected during the winter months has been regrading and re-graveling of 2½ miles of the road along the south side of Lake Thomas. Some of the outdoor toilets also have been replaced with newer and larger facilities. These projects have been financed out of proceeds from recreational permits, lease charges, and concessions.

Closing Hours Hurt Business

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Federal District Hotel Association complained yesterday that early closing hours for night clubs and bars is huring the tourist trade.

It asked federal district officials to consider changing a rule which forces many night spots to close at 1 a.m.

Texas Airman Drowns In Germany

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—The U.S. Air Force announced today the accidental drowning of Airman Joe Salinas of Bryan, Tex., 601 Jenkins St.

Salinas fell into the Mosel River April 13 near Cochem, Germany, where he lived with his German wife.

His body was found April 25 several miles downstream from Cochem.

Salinas was a supply specialist stationed at the West German Air Force Base at Buchel.

An Air Force spokesman said investigation showed the death was accidental.

Bean's Still In The Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Judge Woodrow Wilson Bean of El Paso County, Tex., a candidate for the Democratic nomination for congressman-at-large from Texas, reports that his income tax situation won't affect his plans to campaign for the June run-off primary elections.

Here to testify before a Senate judiciary subcommittee on juvenile delinquency, Bean was asked by a reporter for comment on reports that he had not filed a federal income tax return for the last 10 years

"Any tax problems I have with the IRS (Internal Revenue Service), I hope and believe can be amicably resolved," he replied.

Asked whether it was true he had not filed returns, he said: "That's all I have to say."

VICE CHIEF OF STAFF CONGRATULATES TROPHY WINNER
Gen. Smith hands Capt. Paul Baker the Koren Kolligian Trophy

AF Trophy Winner May Pay Visit Here

Capt. Paul Richard Baker, possessor of the Koren Kolligian Jr. Trophy for outstanding airmanmanship, may visit here in about a month before going overseas on his next assignment.

He was presented with the trophy Monday at the Pentagon by Gen. Frederic H. Smith Jr., Air Force vice chief of staff, while his wife, the former Lou Ann Nall, looked on. Also present for the ceremony were Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, Rep. George Mahon, Koren Kolligian Sr., donor of the trophy, and Gregory Kolligian, brother of the young Air Force lieutenant in whose memory the trophy perpetuates.

This was the fifth year that the trophy has been posted. Last year's winner was Capt. Jerome F. King, who flew a MATS C-124 Globemaster.

Capt. Baker was flying a RF-101 Voodoo last September, leading a two-plane formation at 500 feet altitude at 480 miles per hour. A large bird smashed into the cockpit with such explosive force that Capt. Baker was blinded temporarily, was deafened by the roar of the wind blast, and was severely lacerated by flying plexiglass and parts of the instrument panel.

However, he managed to keep his aircraft in control, motioned to his wingman to take the lead, and then flew his crippled aircraft back for a successful landing at Shaw AFB, Sumter, S. C., where he is stationed.

Mr. and Mrs. Kolligian, Cambridge, Mass., dedicated the trophy to the memory of their son who was lost off the California coast in 1955 while flying a mission in a T-33 jet trainer.

Capt. Baker, a member of the 29th Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron, 363 TR Wing, is the son of William F. Baker, McMinnville, Ore., but he lists Big Spring as home. He is a native of St. Croix Falls, Wis., and a graduate of Diagonal (Iowa) High School. Capt. Baker was formerly stationed at Webb AFB and on Jan. 11, 1958, was married to Miss Lou Ann Nall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Nall. He was in England before being assigned to Shaw, and in July he will report to Hachinohe Air Base at Misawa in north Honshu, Japan. There will be a 30-day delay en route and he and Mrs. Baker plan to visit here, going on to Oregon to visit his father.

Great News For Frog Leg Eaters

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—To persons who like fried frogs legs, it appeared that Richard J. Baldauf hit the jackpot.

For the wildlife management professor at Texas A&M College recently found a pond near Franklin wiggling with six-legged critters.

Baldauf estimated that 5 per cent of the pond's frog population has six legs.

Baldauf takes the frogs seriously as a scientific study. But his co-workers are urging him to put the oddball frogs into mass production.

He has assigned a budding scientist to keep an eye on the pond and check it occasionally with hopes of gaining more information.

Baldauf only smiles when people suggest that the frogs should have a good market value if they keep breeding.

But the professor doesn't see much future in that, because, he points out, nature eliminates the abnormal.

'In many cases, abnormalities may have existed for years but as long as no one hunts for them, they go unnoticed," he said.

And just in case you're wondering:

Baldauf says a six-legged frog can't jump any farther than a four-legged frog.

Mussolini Sin Scenes Approved

ROME (AP)—An Italian court ruled Wednesday Benito Mussolini's relations with his mistress, Claretta Petacci can be described in a documentary film about the duce.

The court handed down the ruling in rejecting a suit by Miss Petacci's parents and sister seeking deletion of scenes about her in a feature-length documentary about the Italian dictator.

C-C Workshop Is Scheduled

LAMESA (SC)—James R. Bradley and B. R. Shelton, members of the Industrial Economics Research Division of Texas A&M College, will conduct a workshop for the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce here May 11.

The workshop is designed to acquaint key civic and business leaders with the community's role in modern industrial development and to provide these leaders with the opportunity to analyze facts of industrial development foundations.

Among the topics to be covered are financing industrial development, planning industrial sites and prospecting for new industry.

College Plan

HUNTSVILLE (AP)—A $32 million development plan for Sam Houston State Teachers College over 20 years has been proposed by several regents of the school.

Killed By Truck

ANAHUAC, Tex. (AP)—Eugene Bowling, 26, of Orange was killed Tuesday when he was struck by a truck while working with a Texas Highway Department paint crew on an interstate 10 bridge near Wallisville. The truck driver, Allen Higginbotham of Scotts, La. was charged with negligent homicide.

Boys Admit Stunt That Caused Crash

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Two boys, 11 and 14 years old, have admitted throwing a switch that sent a Pennsylvania Railroad freight train crashing into cars on a siding, killing one crewman and injuring another, railroad police say.

J. H. Yarnovich, 42, of West Brownsville, fireman on the train, was killed. Engineer J. R. Owens, 44, also of West Brownsville, was in fair condition in a hospital.

The 13-car train was enroute from West Brownsville to Uniontown when the crash occurred Wednesday.

The youngsters, whose names were withheld, were released in custody of their parents.

Drowning Victim

GREENVILLE (AP) —James Bearding, 39, of nearby Caddo Mills, drowned Wednesday in a smal spond. He was discharged from a hospital Tuesday after he suffered a broken collar bone Sunday in the collision of his car and a freight train.

Aid For An Aide

Observing Texas Nurses Week, Nurse Valerie Hrncirik was chosen by members of the Provisional District of Nurses to care for the group's favorite aide, Freddie B. Jones. Considered one of the most proficient aides in the city, Jones is presently listed as a patient in a local hospital.

Nurses Week Observed Here In Professional Programs, Work

Programs, meetings and poster displays are prevalent this week, observing Texas Nurses Week. Tuesday evening in the HCJC Practical Arts Building, Miss Bessie Love, president of the district nurses, spoke to members of the newly formed Provisional District of Nurses. She proclaimed their profession as rewarding and worthwhile in the fields of Veterans Administration, hospitals, schools, research, rehabilitation, public health, industrial, foreign service, teaching, missionary service and in anesthesia.

She continued by saying that nurses are working to further the interest in nursing everywhere and to provide better nursing care for the communities. Miss Love also announced that plans are in the making for workshops and institutes to further nursing knowledge and skills.

Twenty members of the district organization were in attendance. Reporting on the Texas Graduate Nurses Convention at Abilene, members who attended announced that the local representation of mine, received the attendance banner. Mrs. Tommy Whatley was winner of a uniform selected from styles shown by the Odessa Uniform Shop.

Miss Love requested that all inactive nurses of the city contact her so that she can compile a list of professional nurses in the interest of Civil Defense.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. George Amos, Mrs. Tommy Whatley and Mrs. E. T. White. The next meeting will be held on June 12.

Mrs. Raley Hosts Tea-Exhibit For Students

Mrs. Ira Raley was hostess to an exhibit-tea given for her art students on Tuesday evening at her home.

Approximately 25 entries were displayed on easels throughout the house. Exhibitions consisted of oils, watercolors, charcoals, pastels and pencils.

The tea table was centered with a tall white figurine holding a pallette and brush and decorated with red roses. Crystal appointments were used.

A painting of wisteria was the cover for the guest register placed on a table with a crystal bowl holding yellow roses.

Serving in the houseparty were Mrs. E. Ledbetter, Mrs. R. B. Aulsberry, Mrs. Joe Wright, Mrs. R. L. Lebwaskey, Mrs. Henry Dirks and Mrs. M. L. Kirby.

Students whose work was displayed were Mrs. Charles Chandler, Mrs. Earl Airhart,, Miss Bertha Schubert, Lonnie Anderson, Karen Rountree, Elizabeth Aulsberry, Kathy Dirks, Jean Jones, Jack Kennedy, Flynn Wright, Mrs. Estelle Howard, Howard Gregory, Bobby Allen, Kathy Kirby, Lynn Kirby, Sherry Root and Gail Matlock.

Eleven members and one guest, Kathy Jones, were present.

WSCS Circle Has Review, Preview

Reviews of the past year and previews of the coming year were Tuesdays presentations for the Fannie Hodges Circle of First Methodist Church in the home of Mrs. Leslie McNeese.

Mrs. Robert C. Hill, program leader, led a pledge day program. By using posters, she reviewed the past year's WSCS budget. Mrs. L. L. Patton gave the four-year 1960-'64, plan for goals of circles' achievement. A preview of study for next year was given by Mrs. Ben Day.

Mrs. Charles Beil led the group in scriptural readings. Thirteen members and two visitors, Mrs. Joe Bell and Mrs. Bob Badger, were dismissed with a vocal solo by Mrs. Patton.

A salad luncheon will be served on May 22 at 12:30 noon at the church for all members.

'ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

As a pre-Mother's Day entertainment to honor her mother, MRS. A. C. BASS, MRS. LOWELL BAIRD was hostess for a luncheon during the week for 11 friends. The affair was held in the Baird home prior to the big day due to the plans of Mrs. Bass to leave today for the National Garden Club convention in Los Angeles, Calif.

Two of the guests, MRS. GARLAND SANDERS and MRS. C. H. DEVANEY, were high school friends of Mrs. Baird when they were students in Coahoma High School. After the luncheon, the group entertained themselves by looking through the picture albums kept by Mrs. Baird of the high school days . . . which, according to Mrs. Sanders, covers the length of women's skirts from way down to way up.

Mrs. Bass plans to make an extended tour of California following the convention.

Cole and Mrs. Bill Swindell of the 4 O'Clock Club; Mrs. R. L. Collins, Mrs. R. O. Carothers and Mrs. D. H. Hine of Planters Club.

Flower judging at Margie's Shop will take place on Friday at 2 p.m. with the public showing to be held afterward, from 3 until 5:30 p.m. Entries must be in during the hours from 9 until 11 a.m. Mrs. Womack, Mrs. Carothers and Mrs. Trantham are members of the placing committee.

The second day of the two-day affair is when fashions will be shown at the HCJC SUB. Coffee will be served from 9 until 10 a.m. preceding the show which begins at 10 a.m. Narration will be given by Mrs. Steve Baker. Proceeds from the event will go to the Garden Club Council.

Home Placement Show Held In Muneke Home

The home of Mrs. A. B. Muneke, 1606 Indian Hills, was the scene of a home placement flower show sponsored by the Oasis Garden Club on Wednesday morning. Mrs. Muneke was assisted by cohostess, Mrs. Albert Smith.

Members and guests were greeted by Mrs. W. R. Douglas at an entrance decorated with a full arrangement of yellow columbine, roses and ivy.

The tea table held a mass arrangement of spring garden flowers, roses, larkspur and honeysuckle, entered by Mrs. W. F. Taylor. Mrs. Douglas presided at the silver service.

Those serving on the show committee were Mrs. C. O. Hitt, chairman, Mrs. Paul Kionka and Mrs. Brandon Curry. Judging artistic arrangements and horticulture were local national judges, Mrs. D. S. Riley, Mrs. J. R. Hensley and Mrs. John Knox.

The arrangements were judged and criticized according to design, suitability of placement in the house, color and the type of flower in relation to its container. Entrants were allowed a previous study of the rooms in which their projects were to be displayed.

In the artistic division, ribbons were not actually awarded, but the judges did stress the good points and how an arrangement could have been improved upon. One of the most outstanding compositions was a dried arrangement of cattails, dock and golden yarrow. This was arranged by Mrs. C. O. Hitt and placed on a raised hearth of the fireplace in the den. Another arrangement in the den was of rattails in a circular design made by Mrs. Albert Hohertz.

Mrs. Curry placed in a pale pink container an arrangement of pink larkspur and darker pink roses. A bedroom composition by Mrs. Jesse Coker consisted of old-fashioned Southern Chestnut roses accented with three shades of other rose varieties and double larkspur, all in a metallic white vase.

In the horticulture division, blue ribbons were won by Mrs. Smith, Fashion rose; Mrs. Hitt, miniature Red Imp roses and double larkspur. Red ribbons went to Mrs. Smith, Audie Murphy roses; Mrs. Muneke, Montezuma roses; Mrs. Hitt, blue columbine; Mrs. Carl South, allium, a member of the garlic family; Mrs. J. D. Leonard, Dusty Miller, a border filler.

Mrs. J. E. Hogan, club sponsor, brought various specimens of horticulture from her garden for display.

Following judging, a short business session was held during which the 17 members present made plans for an installation luncheon on June 13.

Mrs. Hogan, Mrs. Kionka and Mrs. Hohertz invited members to tour their gardens.

Law Wives Announce Officers

Members of the Howard County Law Wives Club held their spring luncheon on Wednesday at the Blue Room of the Cosden Country Club.

The luncheon table was decorated with wicker baskets filled with yellow pompon chrysanthemums intermingled with other cut flowers. Crystal and china appointments were used in serving.

It was announced that officers for the ensuing year are Mrs. W. H. Eyssen Jr., president; Mrs. John Burgess, vice president; Mrs. Roger Brown, secretary-treasurer.

Party bridge games followed the luncheon, with Mrs. R. W. Thompson winning high. Mrs. Joe Moss placed second.

Special guests were Mrs. Roy Pickett, Stanton, Mrs. Merrill McFaul, Mrs. Jerry Spence and new members, Mrs. John Ferguson, Mrs. Bill Harris and Mrs. Wayne Burns.

Special Education Class Is Given Party

Mrs. Dorothy Humphrie's special education class at Bauer Elementary School was entertained with a party given by members of the Mu Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi on Tuesday.

Serving the 14 students were Mrs. Judy Furguson and Mrs. Don Bailey.

Mrs. Sheats Has Her Own Cooking Formula

Mrs. Howard Sheats, wife, mother of a two-year-old daughter, Sabra, insurance clerk at Howard County Hospital Foundation and organist at her church, manages her kitchen and meal planning with great efficiency. This is not a result of pre-marital planning, she says. All the knowledge and skills she possesses are derived from years of learning the hard way, mainly the trial and error method.

Mrs. Sheats cooks in accordance with the weather, how hungry her family is, what she has in store to prepare and how much time she has to spend in the kitchen.

Now that the heat of summer is here, the Sheats family sit down to dinner in the evening to such dishes as ham salads, tuna salads and side dishes such as congealed salads with whipped cream or creamed cheese and fruit.

Broiled steaks and fried chicken are favorites of the family. However, Mrs. Sheats says that a simple, but mouth-watering steak recipe that she "just thought up" is a dish that she prepares often. Using a one pound cut of round steak, not too thick, she cuts it into serving pieces and browns in a little grease in her electric skillet with a few onion slices. After they brown, she cuts the thermostat down to simmer and adds one can of cream of mushroom soup and seasons to taste. Then she lets it simmer for an hour or an hour and 15 minutes.

"HOBO" DINNER PARTY

Mrs. Sheats plans to give a "hobo" dinner party during the summer for some of their friends. This unique and simple-to-plan party is inexpensive in cost and takes very little time to carry out. Red bandanna tablecloths and napkins will be used on the table. The menu will consist of hobo dinners, listed in the recipes below, a salad plate, fresh fruit for dessert and mugs of iced tea.

Rushed meals are a common thing for Mrs. Sheats. Because of this, she tries to plan ahead for meats, vegetables and desserts. She says that her family actually enjoys eating many of the "instants" on the market, such as potatoes, slice and bake cookies, brown and serve rolls, prepared cakes and drinks that are premixed.

Mrs. Sheats admits that there are times when sandwiches would be much easier to fix than a complete meal, but her husband has to take a lunch to work and does not enjoy having sandwiches twice a day. She tries to break the monotony of the lunch by packing broiled sliced ham, pork chops and a few other meats in the place of plain sandwiches. A favorite of Sheats is just about any kind of cakes, cookies and pies, and during hot weather, he likes a carton of frozen fruit once in a while.

TV SNACKS

Great TV snackers, the Sheats nibble on brownies and other types of cookies after the dinner dishes are done and the favorite program comes on. Mrs. Sheats says that her family likes to eat frozen oranges that can be scooped out of the peel with a spoon for an evening snack.

Groceries for the Sheats family are bought by the week. Mrs. Sheats says that she finds meal planning simpler and easier on her budget this way. Her only complaint is lack of freezing space.

Mrs. Sheats lists meat recipes, including "hobo" dinner, and some of her favorite cake recipes.

HOBO DINNER

2 pounds lean ground beef
3 medium potatoes
4 carrots
2 onions
Seasoned salt and pepper

Shape meat in four large patties. Season to taste. Pile sliced onions, carrots and potatoes on each patty. Seal individually in foil. Bake in moderate oven for 30 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Serve with tossed green salad, iced tea and fresh fruit.

PINEAPPLE CAKE

2 cups flour
2 cups sugar
2 tsp. soda
Pinch salt
1 No. 2 can pineapple (crushed)
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla

Sift dry ingredients. Then add last three ingredients. Bake in loaf pan in a 350 degree oven for 35 to 40 minutes.

ICING

1½ cups sugar
1 cup evaporated milk
¾ stick oleo
1 cup nuts
1 cup coconut

Cook first three ingredients until boiling. Set off fire and add remaining ingredients. Boil for two minutes, stirring constantly. Pour over hot cake.

BARBECUED PORK CHOPS

6 1-inch pork chops
Salt and pepper
1 8-ounce can seasoned tomato sauce
½ cup catsup
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. liquid smoke
½ tsp. onion salt

Brown pork chops. Season with salt and pepper. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over chops. Simmer until tender, about one hour, turning occasionally.

MAYONNAISE CAKE

2 cups flour
¼ cup cocoa
1¼ tsp. soda
½ tsp. salt
1 cup water
1 cup sugar
1 cup mayonnaise
2 tsp. vanilla

Combine all ingredients and bake 25-30 minutes in moderate oven.

ICING

½ cup cocoa
2 cups sugar
½ cup butter
½ cup canned milk
2 tsp. vanilla

Bring to rolling boil. Boil for one minute. Set off fire. When cool, add vanilla. Spread on cooled cake.

Time To Relax

Mrs. Howard Sheats finds time to relax with one of her favorite food magazines during leisure time. Besides being a good cook, she enjoys interior decoration. Many of the furnishings in her modern home at 1412 Virginia were acquired when she and her husband were on vacation trips.

Bean Seasoning

Season canned kidney beans with catchup, brown sugar and onion and heat in a casserole in the oven. Nice change from regular baked beans.

Cook Oxtail Enough

When you make an oxtail stew, count on cooking the meat about three hours.

Color Transfer

Just iron on these colorful fruit motifs. No embroidery is necessary. They will brighten up your place mats, aprons, luncheon sets, etc. No. 1812 contains five motifs from 2¼ by 3 to 2 by 6 inches, each with complete instructions.

Shortcuts For Meals In Minutes

Shortcuts in the kitchen are important to the modern homemaker. Why? Because people are living at a more rapid pace than ever before in history. Today's homemaker has far less time to spend in the kitchen.

Reba Staggs, well-known home economist, has suggested several time-savers in meat cookery. Now you can take little time to turn out a wholesome meat dish, one with appetite appeal.

Bake meat loaf mixture in muffin pans or a 9-inch square pan for shorter baking time.

Separate ground beef during cooking with a potato masher when browning meat for casseroles.

Dice bacon, trim pie crusts and cut parsley and other greens with kitchen shears.

Cook bacon for a group more quickly by placing bacon on a rack in an open roasting pan and baking it in the oven.

Open both ends of meats in a can for easy removal. Loosen around edge of meat and push it through.

Cut through several slices of meat at one time for quick julienne-style pieces.

Mix flour and seasonings in a bag and shake with pieces of meat when recipe calls for floured meat.

Assemble all necessary ingredients and utensils on a tray before preparing a recipe.

Sharp knives are necessary for meat carving ease.

Southerner Preserves Recipes By Memory

By KATHRYN JOHNSON

ATLANTA (AP) — If it weren't for the energy of a petite 98-year-old Atlanta woman, traditional Southern cooking might have gone the way of columned mansions.

There probably isn't a woman in Georgia — and maybe the South — who doesn't cherish some of Mrs. S. R. Dull's recipes. And her book, "Southern Cooking", has gone to all parts of the world.

Mrs. Dull was born in the lean Civil War year of 1863 at Stanley Mill near Dublin, Ga. Reared on a plantation where food was abundant and good cooking a part of her heritage, she made a hobby of trying every dish she heard about, and duplicating everything she sampled.

In those days, few recipes were put on paper. How-to-do-it was passed on by word of mouth. Even the best cooks used a dab of this and a pinch of that.

If it were not for Mrs. Dull's amazing memory, her ability to take obscure directions and turn them into tasty dishes, then tackling the monumental task of putting them all into a book, many old South recipes would have been lost forever.

When Mrs. Dull was growing up, woman's place was definitely in the kitchen because she had to prepare three meals a day.

There was no refrigeration and leftovers went to the dog and cat, and not into the icebox for tomorrow's casserole," she says.

"Factories didn't turn out jellies and preserves, housewives did that themselves when fruits and berries were ripe. They also canned their own corn and vegetables."

When Mrs. Dull was left a widow with six children to support, she turned to the thing she knew and loved — cooking. However, her career began in a modest way.

"It was a very common practice back then," Mrs. Dull says, "for women to make up their own fruit cake batter and take it to a bakery to be baked."

Mrs. Dull offered to do this for her neighbors and the word spread. Soon church folks and neighbors were asking for more cookery service and more information about good food. Mrs. Dull found herself in the cooking-school business.

Soon she was demonstrating cooking to schools over the South. And she claims to have started a new profession that now employs hundreds of people.

Mrs. Dull went to work for a gas and light company teaching young women how to get the most out of their ranges." Since then, many manufacturers and distributors have adopted the home service idea.

For 20 years, Mrs. Dull conducted the cooking page for the Atlanta Journal magazine, giving not only recipes and food information, but solving individual cooking problems for readers.

The system worked both ways. Readers sent her their favorite recipes and she compiled the best of these into her cook book.

New Flip On Plain Ordinary Pancakes

3 large eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
¾ cup sifted flour
1 tbsp. sugar
½ tsp. salt
1 cup water
Butter
1 lb. dry-type cottage cheese
¼ cup sugar
¼ tsp. salt
Grated rind of 1 orange

Beat eggs and vanilla just until yolks and whites are combined. Add flour, 1 tablespoon sugar and ½ teaspoon salt; beat until combined. Add water; beat until smooth. Melt about ½ teaspoon of butter in an 8-inch skillet; spread butter so there's a film of fat over bottom and sides.

Into moderately hot skillet, pour just enough batter to cover bottom; as you pour, lift skillet off heat and swirl to make as thin a pancake as possible.

As soon as pancake sets, turn out on board; do not turn pancake in pan. Make rest of pancakes the same way, using about ¾ teaspoon butter for each. Cooled pancakes may be stacked on top of each other, browned side up.

Sieve cottage cheese; mix with ¼ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt and grated orange rind. Put a spoonful of the cheese in the center of the browned side of each pancake. Fold two ends over; fold remaining ends over to seal in cheese.

Refrigerate until serving time, then fry stuffed pancakes in a small amount of hot butter until browned on both sides; turn carefully. Serve at once with sour cream or jam. Makes 16 pancakes.

Freeze Crumbs

Peanut Butter Bread For Meals And Snacks

Peanut butter bread is one treat that's sure to please every member of the family. April is a good time to try this because both peanut butter and evaporated milk are abundant.

Take 1 cup evaporated milk, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1 egg, ½ cup chunk-style peanut butter, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 2-3 cup brown sugar, 1½ cups sifted flour, ½ teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt.

Beat eggs into peanut butter in small mixing bowl. Gradually blend in milk mixture, continue stirring until smooth.

Stir in butter. Then, blend in sugar, making sure there are no "lumps."

Sift dry ingredients together into medium-size mixing bowl. Make a well in center of flour, and pour in liquid mixture. Blend quickly until flour is moistened. Don't over blend. The mixture will look quite "rough."

Pour into greased loaf pan, 8½ x 4½ x2¾ inches.

Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) about 40 or 50 minutes, or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Let bread cool in pan about 5 minutes, then turn out on cooling rack. This recipe yields 1 loaf.

Cook A Tasty Supper Even In A Big Hurry

Supper is dinner in a hurry. The necessity for getting this meal together quickly, however, is no excuse for cutting corners on good eating, as these ideas for autumn suppers demonstrate.

An appealing but rapid supper can be built around Surprise 'Burgers. Prepare thin meat patties, seasoned and made moist with evaporated milk and packaged corn flake crumbs. Then sandwich them together with a filling inside and bake. Recipes for a baked bean filling or an onion-tomato combination are given, but other variations are endless. Chopped olives, pimiento cheese, corn relish and other favorites can be used to appetizing advantage.

SURPRISE 'BURGERS

2 cups corn flakes or
½ cup pkgd. corn flake crumbs
2-3 cup (6-oz. can) evaporated milk
1½ lbs. ground beef
¾ tsp. pepper
1½ tsps. salt
2 tbsps. prepared mustard

If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs. Combine all ingredients thoroughly in large mixing bowl. Shape into 12 thin patties about 4½ inches in diameter. On six patties, place one of the fillings suggested below; top with second patty; press edges together. Place on rack in shallow baking pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 25 minutes.

BEANBURGERS

1 tbsp. butter
1½ cups baked beans, slightly mashed
2 tsps. molasses

Saute onions in butter. Combine onions, beans and molasses. Spoon two tablespoons mixture on each of six patties.

TOMATOBURGERS

Top six of the patties with a tomato slice and a thin onion slice.

Yield: 6 'Burgers.

Savory Swiss Steak Superb For Supper

Savory and saucy the Swiss Steak has family as well as that guest-for-dinner appeal.

2½ lbs. boneless chuck steak, (at least 1-inch thick)
3 tbsps. flour
2 tsps. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
⅓ cup chopped onion
1 cup (1 large) chopped green peper
½ cup chopped celery
1 can (1 lb.) tomatoes
¼ cup tomato paste

Cut most of fat away from edge of steak. Mix flour, ½ teaspoon salt and pepper; pound into both sides of steak. Grease a hot heavy large skillet with a little suet; add steak and brown on both sides. Mix together the remaining 1½ teaspoons salt, pepper, onion, celery, green pepper, tomatoes (including liquid in can) and tomato paste and add to skillet. Simmer, tightly covered, until meat is extremely tender — about 2 hours. Makes 6 servings with plenty of sauce.

Eggs A-La-Mode

Frizzle dried beef in butter and serve atop scrambled eggs.

Original Recipe For Apricot Nectar Cake

If your man of the house likes to putter in the kitchen but doesn't quite have the reserve of experience to build a full meal, you may want to remind him of Apricot Nectar Cake.

He may well be encouraged to go on to greater culinary heights, after success with this tasty concoction.

You can tell him the recipe comes from a man—a veteran Texas farm editor — whose delicious treat has thrilled his wife, hundreds of guests, and many others who have asked for the recipe.

(Note to ladies: If you can't get your point across, make the cake yourself. It will impress the whole family with your baking prowess. And the cake will stay fresh for a week.)

The recipe is given here in the editor's own language:

"Get one package of yellow cake mix, ¾ cup vegetable oil, one 5½-ounce can of apricot nectar, four egg yolks and two teaspoons lemon extract.

"Put all these ingredients together in a mixing bowl and mix for about five minutes at low speed. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in a greased stem (tube) pan for 35 to 40 minutes at 350 degrees. Remove from pan while cake is still hot and apply frosting.

"For the frosting, you need the grated rind and juice of one lemon and enough powdered sugar to make a thick mixture. (The amount of juice varies in lemons, of course, and if frosting is too thin it will run, especially on the side of the cake. I usually apply the frosting to the top of the cake and then add a little more sugar to make a thicker mixture for the sides)."

JFK Wants Laos Fuse Dampened

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says the unity talks in Laos must be speeded along before the sputtering cease-fire explodes into a more hazardous situation.

He told his news conference Wednesday that the pro-Communist rebels had clearly breached the cease-fire agreement Sunday by storming a stronghold of the royal Laotian government and the United States has expressed its concern to the Soviet Union.

But, he added, negotiations between the royalists, Communists and neutralists toward formation of a neutral government must go on.

"I agree it is a very hazardous course but introducing American forces which is the other one—let's not think there is some great third course—that also is a hazardous course," he said.

He urged all three sides in restive Laos—pro-Western royalists, Communists and avowed neutralists—to resume their effort to form an independent government.

The longer the negotiations drag on, he said, "the more hazardous the situation becomes."

Kennedy called for prompt action to halt the shooting in Laos during a news conference which took him over a diversified route, from savings and loan associations to the conference tables of Europe.

The President said savings and loan associations have misinformed the public about an administration proposal—passed by the House but in trouble in the Senate—to withhold taxes on dividends and interest.

He opened the conference with a statement contending defeat of the measure would benefit "only those whose evasion of present taxes is costing every taxpayer dearly."

Kennedy estimated evasion on dividends and interest amounts to $800 million a year in taxes.

He said he wanted to set the record straight because mail coming to the White House and Senate "indicates that a great number of people have been badly misinformed."

Moving into international waters, Kennedy declared the United States would continue talks with the Soviet Union in pursuit of a settlement on Berlin. He minimized differences with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's West German government over makeup of a proposed international authority to supervise access to Berlin, a U.S. suggestion offered toward negotiations. But he protested that leaks and public debate of bargaining alternatives make it "very difficult to carry on any negotiations with the Soviet Union."

The United States bears the major burden, Kennedy said, and has the right to explore possibilities of improving the Berlin atmosphere. Recalling Winston Churchill's dictum that "It is better to jaw, jaw than to war, war," Kennedy said:

"We shall continue to jaw, jaw and see if we can produce a useful result."

The President dealt this way with other inquiries:

Businessmen — He thought a salty comment his father once had made to him about businessmen had merit the night U.S. Steel announced its price increase. But the comment, which he repeated that night, had to do only with steel executives, not all businessmen, he said. And as for the steel men: "That's past. Now we are working together, I hope."

Kennedy, with a grin, offered that explanation when asked about a published account quoting him as saying: "My father always told me that all businessmen were sons of bitches but I never believed it until now."

Politics—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson is invaluable, Kennedy said in scoffing at rumors Johnson would be dropped from the Democratic ticket in 1964. Of course Johnson will run again if he chooses, Kennedy said. The President expressed pleasure that John Connally and Don Yarborough, "who have been attacked for their connection with the administration," gained runoff spots in the Democratic primary for governor of Texas.

Press—To a wave of laughter, Kennedy said "well, I am reading more and enjoying it less" when asked his opinion of the press. But he said the press is doing its job "and I am attempting to do mine."

Civil Rights — Kennedy urged the Senate to vote away a Southern filibuster against a bill the administration says will stop the use of literacy tests to prevent Negroes from voting.

Nuclear—Only after very careful scientific deliberation, he said, will the United States set off a nuclear test in space. The government is studying whether a space blast would disturb the Van Allen radiation belt and hamper scientific discovery.

Broken Stage Killed Centaur

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Trouble in the second stage caused the first Centaur space rocket to explode on its maiden flight, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reports.

Analysis of camera and radio data showed the Centaur upper stage began breaking apart about 55 seconds after the rocket lifted off from Cape Canaveral Monday.

There was immediate concern that the Atlas first stage was at fault. If this had been so, the forthcoming orbital flight of astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter might have been affected. A similar Atlas is to boost Carpenter aloft.

Following the Centaur post-mortem, Project Mercury officials reported they were moving ahead with plans to launch Carpenter on May 17. The shot could be delayed, however, if technical problems develop during tests and checkouts which still lie ahead.

Technicians studied data to determine what caused two missiles to explode during second stage flight after launchings Wednesday.

They were a Polaris launched by the nuclear submarine Sam Houston and a Pershing fired from the Cape.

Pioneer Declares 24 Cent Dividend

AMARILLO—The board of directors of Pioneer Natural Gas Co., at a meeting held Tuesday, declared a quarterly dividend of 24 cents per share on the outstanding common stock, payable June 5, 1962 to stockholders of record on May 25, 1962.

C. I. Wall, president, stated that the net income for the first three months of 1962 amounted to $1,986,936, or 56 cents per share on 3,562,554 shares outstanding on March 31, 1962. These earnings compare with $1,950,258 for the first three months of 1961, or 56 cents per share on 3,464,899 shares outstanding on March 31, 1961.

DEAR ABBY

Problem Of Over-Twisting

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a 6-foot four-inch, 220-pound husband who loves to "Twist" at every party we attend. For the short time he has been "Twisting," he has already torn to shreds one white dress shirt, one pair of dress slacks and three pairs of shorts. Have you any solution, Abby? ALEXANDRIA

DEAR ALEXANDRIA: Your husband is putting too much enthusiasm into "the dance." He needs a sedative.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have been going steady with Claude for 6 months. I am 17 and he is 19. He started college (in this city where we live) but quit because he couldn't see any future in it. His mother blames me. She told him if he didn't stop seeing me she would take his car away. He works as a painter and that is good enough for him, but his mother thinks he should go back to college. I think he should do what he wants to do. His mother has called me and told me to leave him alone. Abby, I love him and don't intend to leave him alone. We can't afford to get married yet. What should I do? HEAVY HEART

DEAR HEAVY: Claude's mother knows her son better than you do. If you can't encourage him to continue his education while he is young and able to, do him a favor and leave him alone.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am getting married soon and the question of who should give me showers has come up. Someone told me showers shouldn't be given by a relative—only by a friend. My problem is, I don't have any friends. All I have is relatives. Now, who gives me the showers? SUMMER BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: A shower should not be given by a CLOSE relative (a mother or sister). But a cousin may give one.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. J.H.: Why don't you tell Jimmy the truth. From the questions he has been asking, I think he would be able to understand perfectly.

How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of the Big Spring Herald.

Focus On Health

By The Associated Press

Words of caution for the gardener and some hints about childlessness are subjects with a focus on health.

Beware Mowers

There are perhaps some 20 million power lawn mowers in use in the United States—and now with summer and grass cutting season here, power mower owners should beware.

So warn Drs. Erick M. Chazen and John L. Chamberlain III of Vanderbilt University.

They cite cases where power mowers, usually rotary types, catch objects in the lawn and fling them outwards, sometimes hitting bystanders, or sometimes the operator of the mower.

There is a local ordinance in Louisville, Ky., making it illegal to employ anyone under the age of 18 to operate a power mower, and similar laws have been proposed in New York, New Jersey and California, the doctors say.

The cause of accidents is sometimes poorly designed mowers, sometimes carelessness by the operators. Removing debris from the lawn before mowing can often prevent accidents.

Lawn Sport

Many kind words have been written about the cool green lawns, the pleasant gardens. But the American Medical Association warns that while it is good exercise to garden, there are also hazards.

In the first place, go at it gradually. Give yourself a chance to get used to strenuous activity after sitting around all winter, if you have been.

Since tetanus germs grow in the soil, especially where barnyard fertilizer is used or farm animals exist, it's wise to get a tetanus shot as a hedge against lockjaw.

Use weed killers and bug killers carefully. Many also kill people. Be sure they are capped tightly and put out of the reach of children.

If you are extra sensitive to insect bites, see your doctor about getting some protective shots that will make you less sensitive.

Childless

The subconscious mind can keep a woman from having children, says Dr. Irving C. Fischer, New York obstetrician.

The unconscious desire not to have children can produce a physical climate where miscarriages occur, he writes in the physicians' newspaper, Factor. The same is true of men who subconsciously want to avoid fatherhood, he adds.

Tension and anxiety can affect the reproductive organs, much as they can affect other glands and organs of the body. For example, he says, the desire to remain childless may trigger spasms in the Fallopian tubes, preventing the union of male and female sex cells. Similar physical changes can cause miscarriages, he believes.

City Clarifies Old Ordinance

An amendment to the city's peddler's ordinance was adopted on emergency reading at Tuesday night's meeting. An ordinance calling for issuance of $90,500 in time warrants for payment of relocation of utilities on IS 20 was adopted, and the second reading of an ordinance closing East Sixteenth street, between Princeton and Virginia, was approved.

One section of the peddler's ordinance, adopted Sept. 12, 1950, was amended to clarify payment of an investigation fee and renewing of registrations cards. A fee of $2.50 was required for investigation, and $12.50 for registration, under the old section but the ordinance did not make clear whether it was required each time or only for the first. The amendment states that only the $12.50 fee be paid for re-registering.

The money for relocation of utilities on IS 20 will be borrowed from the First National Bank. The Texas Highway Department will repay the money, with interest, following completion of the project.

Principal Posts Filled At Lamesa

LAMESA (SC)—B. M. Turner and J. W. Drake were approved for elementary school principal posts by trustees of the Lamesa Independent School District here Monday.

Turner, present principal at South Elementary, will assume the post at Central Elementary at the beginning of the 1962-63 school term. He replaces V. C. Bearden, who retired. Drake, assistant principal at junior high, will move to South Elementary to take Turner's position there next term.

Mrs. Margie Maddox was named as the junior high school's first counselor providing she obtains a counselor's certificate by the beginning of the term. Two new teachers were employed and included Wendell Jones, high school language instructor, and Mrs. M. H. Hulse, elementary teacher.

A Devotional For Today

Martha had a sister called Mary, who also sat at the Lord's feet, and heard his word. (Luke 10:39. ASV.) PRAYER: O Lord, help us in our homes to meditate on Thy Word. Open our minds to understand it, and our hearts to receive Thy spirit. So strengthen us in faith and devotion that our homes may become godly. In the Redeemer's name we pray. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

The Choices In The Run-Off

While the two Democratic candidates for governor reportedly are discounting it, the inescapable fact is that Texas, in the party "runoff" primary next month is confronted with another choice between ultra liberalism and what must at least be called a moderate conservatism.

The young Don Yarborough has proclaimed himself a New Frontiersmen to the utmost, is regarded a favorite of top labor leaders. John Connally has presented himself more in the conservative light, and has let it be knwn that he is not under dictation from anybody.

The same political contest, actually, will appear in all the other state races. For congressman - at - large, Joe Pool, a conservative, has as an opponent Woodrow Bean, the liberal who doesn't believe in the income tax. For lieutenant governor, West Texas' own solid son, Preston Smith, is up against James Turman, who has made a record in the Legislature as a liberal. Waggoner Carr, far in front for attorney general, nonetheless must contest again against Tom Reavley, another in the liberal camp.

And so it is. The Herald, in the earlier primary, endorsed Connally, Smith, Carr and Pool, and holds them forth again as men of real ability, of sound Texas background, of proven performance, and men with a sense of service to their state.

We do not propose to belittle or to in any way cast aspersions upon their opponents. It seems to us that Texas will have a pretty clear - cut choice, and that the voters are intelligent enough and can be well - informed enough to determine their own destiny, through the state's political leadership.

Our worst fear is that, once the excitement of the first primary has died, and local races are fewer, that far, far too many people will "sit this one out." If they do, they will be making a tremendous mistake. Even if their own favorite candidates were eliminated in the first primary, they still have the responsibility of finally picking a party nominee. This responsibility is just as great now as it was before last Saturday.

Providing For The Program

Trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District have agreed to make budgetary provision for adapting facilities so that they may be used as a livestock feeding center for youths taking vocational agriculture.

It may be contended that this is a minority program, but it is nevertheless a part of the vocational offerings of the system. Although this is primarily an urban district, there are nevertheless many whose interests and talents are inclined to agriculture. It is possible that the non-urban responsibility of the district could be increased.

These youngsters need a place to carry on their projects and thus a central facility is currently the most logical answer.

Tax Revision Is Needed

WASHINGTON — Talk of a general revision of tax rates is being renewed in administration circles. The objective is to spur the economy and bring about an actual increase in tax receipts.

The basic principle of tax revision is sound. The federal government is confronted today with a sluggish economy. Wage rates are rising, and the administration either is unwilling or feels it has no power to restrain such increases. It isn't too hopeful either that it now can keep prices stable in view of the fact that the fiasco in steel has been followed by wage-increase demands in other industries.

BY TURNING to the tax problem, therefore, a feeling is developing here that a solution to the whole fiscal situation may be found. Uncle Sam has the biggest stake in encouraging the earning of more tax money. Whatever stimulates interest in better plant and equipment not only can ultimately increase tax receipts but can result soon in a general improvement in busines and larger and larger employment rolls.

Latest figures on the over-all situation, derived from government data on the national economy, tell a sensational story. They show plainly that the profit picture needs to be carefully analyzed by the administration if it wants some day to balance its budget and create a surplus out of which to pay off its debt.

THUS, COMPARING the average of the year 1954 through 1957 with the average of 1958 trough 1961, national income in the United States is up 19.6 per cent.

Sales by corporations are up 18.7 per cent.

The pay of corporation workers is up 18.9 per cent.

But the stark fact which stands out is that, despite all these increases, corporate profits after taxes show a rise of only 3.3 per cent.

THE COMPARISON is worse when it is based on the percentage of national income. The total pay of all corporation employes as a proportion of the national income has actually dropped. It was 43.7 per cent from 1954 to 1957, and 43.5 per cent from 1958 to 1961.

Even more discouraging is the fact that corporate profits, figured in terms of national income, are down by 12.7 per cent in the 1958-to-1961 period as compared with the previous four-year average.

Corporate tax receipts, moreover, dropped 1.5 per cent in the last four years compared with the preceding four years.

THIS MEANS THAT, despite all the talk of national output increasing, there has been in practical effect a retardation of the whole economy. The country isn't "moving ahead" as the politicians predicted.

The downward trend may explain the steady decline in stock-market prices of about $36 billion from mid-December to April 30. Investors who had been hoping to see a steady increase in earnings finally have become skeptical.

High tax rates are the basic cause of the lag in business development in the last few years. They have also failed to produce more revenue for the government.

THE TREASURY could collect more money eventually with lower tax rates than it does today with higher rates. Temporarily there would be a drop-off covering about 18 months of a transition period. But the boom would be felt almost immediately in many lines of business, because planning for expansion would start at once in various kinds of enterprises, especially in the heavy-goods field.

The administration's economic advisors and treasury officials have been debating the best way to use tax changes as an incentive. The so-called 7 per cent credit for new equipment isn't favored by businessmen generally, because it may prove to be a temporary measure and it applies only to new equipment. It doesn't take care of all phases of modernization and all the items usually covered in the building of plant facilities.

WHAT IS FAVORED, on the other hand, is a prompt revision across the board of all the rates of depreciation so that business can at least make five-year plans.

Within the last few days the Secretary of Commerce, Luther Hodges, has talked about tax-rate changes if the budget can be balanced. But, unless there's some check on government spending, the fiscal picture will not improve and tax receipts will not save the day.

What is being suggested by some administration officials is that the top rate in personal income taxes be reduced from the 91 per cent level to somewhere around 65 per cent, corporation taxes be cut from 52 per cent to 49 per cent, and income taxes in the lower brackets also be revised downward.

UP TO NOW there has been talk that something like this might be prepared as a gimmick for the 1964 political campaign. But if America is in the throes of a recession in 1963 and 1964, tax revision would not come in time to help the Kennedy administration. That's why the idea of taking action in the session of Congress beginning in January 1963, but announcing it this summer, is gaining ground inside the administration as much the better political strategy.

Men Will Be Boys

SOMERVILLE, Mass. (AP) — The man in the dome will control what 12 men believe will be the largest portable model railraod in the world.

It will be 30 by 60 feet when completed and is made in sections.

Involved in the project, which is 75 per cent completed, are a truck driver, an obstetrician, an architect, a machinist, a couple of taxi cab drivers, a printer and a gas station attendant.

Truck driver Charles N. Maynard, who works nights, supervises the job days.

The group plans to send the railroad on a tour of states across the country when it is completed in August or September. Work was started last September.

The structure will contain 1,750 feet of track; a river (activated by a washing machine); 35 bridges; 400 trees, brush, grass, stone and gravel; 75 buildings, including model schoolhouses; 150 toy people; and a wide variety of freight and passenger trains.

The man in the dome will sit in the center of the structure to operate the trains. He may see viewers but they will be unable to see him.

How The President Sees His Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, who has used a phrase or two from Theodore Roosevelt in the past, sounded a little like him this week when he talked to the United Auto Workers.

But Kennedy, in telling the UAW he intended to be an active President and was acting for the general welfare in opposing inflationary price and wage increases, was laying down some of his philosophy about the presidency.

What he said wasn't new, or new for him. But he did manage to pull a lot of pieces together. He said:

"I know there are some people who believe the President of the United States should be honorary chairman of a great fraternal organization and confine himself to ceremonial functions.

"I DID NOT run for president of the United States to fulfill that office in that way. I believe it is the business of the President to concern himself with the general welfare."

This sounded like the first Roosevelt who, after leaving the presidency, said:

"My view was that every executive officer, and above all every executive officer in high position, was a steward of the people bound actively and affirmatively to do all he could for the people, and not content himself with the negative merit of keeping his talents undamaged in a napkin."

This was not the only resemblance between the two men, both of whom understood the importance of staying in the public eye to be persuasive, even with the help of their families.

IN THEIR book — "The Presidency Today" — Edward S. Corwin and Louis W. Koenig in 1956 pointed out that "Roosevelt (was) the first modern president to exploit fully the possibilities of rallying public opinion behind his policies."

Besides all Kennedy's personal appearances on television, at meetings, conventions, public places, and news conferences, the Kennedy clan stays in news and pictures.

Clinton Rossiter in his book—"The American Presidency"—also in 1956 noted that "with the help of an attractive and active family he (Theodore Roosevelt) put the presidency on the front page of every newspaper in America."

ALL THE presidents since Roosevelt—some more than others—have asserted some presidential leadership for the general welfare, recognizing a responsibility to act.

But it wasn't until 1946—in the Employment Act—that Congress finally said in so many words that the government does have a responsibility for the general welfare. It put most of the responsibility for action on the President.

So, where their predecessors had to assert responsibility under their constitutional powers, explicit or implicit, Presidents Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy had congressional blessing for acting for the general welfare.

The Blessed Age

NEW YORK (AP)—Every age in life has its rewards.

Sometimes the truth of this is pretty hard to see—but it is there.

The age that many people seem to fear or resent the most is middle age. Its onset brings a kind of panic to them.

"I didn't mind being young, and I'm not afraid of being old," a friend wailed recently. "But I hate the thought of being caught in between. What possible advantage can there be in being middle-aged?"

Well, if a fellow really puts his mind to it, he can find a number of blessings in the mid-span of life. Such as—

As your hair gets thinner, you find it takes less and less muscle to comb it. This enables you to conserve your strength for more important tasks.

You also find out that the shinier your scalp grows the less dandruff you have. There is no longer much for it to hold on to—or hide behind.

Your wife and you get along better and have fewer violent word storms. After all, if you no longer can hear her—and after 45 few men do hear their wives very clearly—how can you disagree with what she says? Her advice comes to have the pleasantly vague sound of ocean surf, endlessly beating on the same old shore.

At the office the boss picks on you less and less after you start sporting that 25-year pin in your lapel. When you pull a blooper, he simply sighs and says, "Well, I guess you can't really teach an old dog new tricks."

You may not sleep as well as you used to, but you find it easier to get a little rest during the day. As a matter of fact, just being middle-aged makes a man feel so worn out he can take a nap in any posture—even while standing on his head.

Medically speaking, you become more and more fascinating to doctor. He dismisses the aches of the young as growing pains and the aches of the elderly as incurable, but any symptom of the middle-aged stirs his active professional interest and sympathy—probably because he is middle-aged himself. Most doctors are.

You can now carry an umbrella or don your rubbers on a day of potential showers without feeling cowardly. A sense of proper protective self-caution is becoming in one at your time of life.

Teen-agers pay no attention to you, but then teen-agers don't really pay attention to anybody or anything except another teen-ager of the opposite sex.

On the other hand, people over 70 still regard you as young and full of promise. They even envy you.

In middle age you abandon all the useless dreams that cluttered your earlier life. You have only one goal left—to grow as old as you can.

But there's no hurry about it. You're perfectly willing to take all the time there is in the world.

Lump In Breast Not Necessarily Malignant

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I would like to pass along my experience to "F. T. D." in response to her questions about a breast lump.

Two years ago when I was 18 I discovered a lump in my left breast.

My doctor suggested that it be removed.

The operation was minor and the lump was a benign cyst. I was in the hospital only four days and my scar is very small. I've had no recurrence or any sign of another lump. I hope this is of some value to "F. T. D." — S. P.

It should be, and thank you for writing.

There seems to be a great deal of misunderstanding about a "lump in the breast."

Since breast cancer is the most frequent type in women, there is every reason to keep people aware of the danger. Treatment as soon as possible is the way to cure it completely.

But it is wrong to assume that every lump is cancer. The ratio of non-cancerous to cancerous is approximately 25 or 30 to one.

For this reason women should not postpone examination of a lump out of "fear of being told that it is cancer." Most of the time it will not be — and in the small proportion of lumps that are, indeed, malignant, speed is the only route to safety, and delay is an invitation to misery and death.

Where the lump is not malignant, there is no reason to be alarmed. True, some of these non-malignant lumps should be removed, some in order to eliminate pain, discomfort or risk of infection, others in order to make a definite decision as to whether malignancy exists. In a good many cases, the doctor will be able to determine, without surgery, that the lump is harmless and may safely be ignored.

There is, among some women at least, a fear that any lump at all is going to result in "disfiguring surgery." This simply is not true, and today's letter is one excellent example of how simple the removal of a benign lump can be.

Don't delay examination because of fear or any other motive.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a boy of 13 and have a problem that I haven't heard of before. My facial hairs are coming out very dark, tough and heavy. Every time I shave, they come out worse. What should I do' Should I continue to shave?—S. D.

Son, I doubt if you have a problem except that your beard has arrived a little ahead of the rest of the gang. About 14 is average, but it can vary a year or so in either direction. Shaving won't make the beard heavier. The growth occurs in the roots under the skin, and cutting off the tops of the hairs has no effect. So all I can say is welcome to the army of razor-users, good luck and don't cut yourself.

Dear Dr. Molner: When I am at home I never have trouble with constipation, but as soon as I am away on a vacation, or even just a weekend, I have terrible trouble. I know it is probably the diet, but is there anything one can do about it? — M. A.

It may not be the diet at all. It may be inactivity while traveling; or excitement and tenseness; or bad timing of bowel action because you have to fit into a different routine. A mild laxative or better yet a glycerine suppository is quite effective for this type of constipation.

Those Pesky Ants Keep Popping Back

Someone should invent a good method of getting rid of red ants.

When a stray dog wanders up, it is only necessary to heave a rock in his general direction and he is gone. Weeds can be chopped down or uprooted. But what to do about ants?

I know there are many remedies on the market, but most of them require a lot of work and even then, they aren't sure-fire. And what works for one place will not necessarily work in another.

AT OUR HOUSE, we had two ant beds. There must of been a jillion ants surrounding the beds. Pouring water on the beds was a waste of time and water. Old engine oil is not much better and I tried a fire, but the ants were not more than temporarily incovenienced by the glowing coals.

Finally, I bought a relatively inexpensive product and put a few drops on the mound. Miraculously, the ants died and abandoned the bed. I decided I had found the cure.

But a few days later, I spotted a red ant marching across the yard. After a brief search, I discovered a new bed and the ants were carrying on shop as if nothing had happened.

I GAVE THEM the treatment too. But this time, it didn't work. I thought maybe they had built up an immunity. But I gave them a larger dose instead. This time, it did the trick.

So once again, our acreage was without red ants, or so I thought.

Sunday afternoon, I spotted another of the creatures. In still another part of the yard, I located two beds and both were doing a thriving business. I whipped out my cure-all and went after them, just as a sprig of grass was being hauled into the depths of the earth. Monday, all was silent around these two beds and I suppose that bunch is taken care of.

BUT I FEEL SURE they will pop up in another section of the yard next. What we need is something as effective as a rock with the dog problem. Apparently, ants can be run off, but they don't go far enough.

The new invention must not only force them to vacate, but to insure that they do some traveling. Perhaps, a controlled form of ant fallout would do the job, if the government doesn't beat them to it with a larger version.

Crab grass is a problem, but the inventor of a good control of red ants is sure to make a fortune.

Have Parents Abdicated?

My theory that juvenile delinquents don't get that way without an adult in the wood pile was unhappily confirmed recently when I spoke at a meeting of deans and counselors of girls, at both the college and high-school level.

There were fine women, dedicated to seeing that the twig grows into an admirable, straight tree. And their main battle, as anyone could perceive, is not with the girls but with the girls' parents.

"WE ARE NO longer paid to be teachers but to be baby-sitters," one high-school counselor said. "We are not hired to 'learn' children the wisdom and knowledge that is man's guide to life. Today we are expected to instill in a child the discipline, deportment and social niceties that were once the first duty of the home.

"Parents find that disciplining children is an enormous and often distasteful task, and one that calls for hard and constant work. In the past," this teacher went on, "there was no doubt to whom this primary job belonged—it was the duty of parents and they didn't shirk it.

"BUT TODAY TOO many parents shrug off this task and say, in effect, to the schools, 'You bring Johnny up and then, if he learns to read, okay.' "

"Yes, that's true," said a second counselor of high-school girls. "But the parent that doesn't have the inclination to discipline Mary and expects you to stand in loco parentis is the first to come rushing to the school to protest and make a big scene if Mary gets at school the discipline she so sadly lacks and needs."

"Beware the parent who asks you to discipline his child, if you really do," ruefully remarked a third counselor.

"PARENTS HAVE abdicated the home to children," said a wise dean of women at a large college. "They have abdicated their responsibility and it never ceases to shock and amaze me.

"Now, my college is about 450 miles from one of the largest and surely one of the most sophisticated cities in the United States," she continued. "I will not allow my girls to go there unless they have the permission of their parents.

"But in all my experience I have yet to call a parent to ask if Mary or Sue or Beth has his or her permission to go to this city that permission has been refused. I keep hoping that, just once, some parent will say 'no'—even roar it in my ear.

"AND DO YOU know what at least 60 per cent of these parents say to me, when I ask if their daughter has permission to make this trip?" And the dean answered her own question.

"They say, 'I might as well say yes, because if I say no, Mary or Sue or Beth will go, anyway.'

"By this time I ought to be used to that admission of parental surrender and self-defeat, but I never am," the dean went on. "It shocks me every time I hear it. What's more, it makes me so mad I want to leap through the phone and knock some heads together. This supine admission that they have no control over a girl not yet of voting age is shameful."

"IT'S SHAMEFUL, all right," agreed another dean. "But it's what you and I are up against. There are times when I want to wring the neck of some fractious, undisciplined, ill-mannered girl. But, then, I always realize that I ought to give priority to her parents."

"And the pitiful thing," added a young counselor, "is that the girls come to me begging for the discipline they don't get at home and asking for help on decisions they know they're not old enough to make. The tragedy is that they want, as well as need, what the home is withholding."

The Russians Are More Realistic

WASHINGTON — Two April days of this year saw the startling contrast of Communist ways of waging the Cold War and our own.

On April 18th, Pravda announced that the higher party school at the Communist Party Soviet Union Central Committee has been opened for admissions.

ON APRIL 21ST, Peace Corps Placement Tests were held throughout the U.S.A., attracting 3105 men and women, to the delight of Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver.

As of last month, then, Russia was still recruiting and training subversives and saboteurs, in the bloody Stalinist tradition, to conquer the world. We, for our part, were continuing to struggle for the world by sending out teachers and social workers of the Peace Corps, which now sports 50 projects in 30 countries and has, at this Congressional session, received an overwhelming vote of confidence.

ONLY IN THE military realm have we, at long last and with painful relunctance, decided to fight rough. The Special Forces of the U.S. Army in South Viet Nam are trained in guerrilla tactics and are teaching the native anti-Communists to use them. President Kennedy, his personal Rubicon crossed, has matched the Russian atmospheric testing with a series of aerial explosions in the South Pacific. Both the jungle tactics and the nuclear blasts are methods which are notoriously unacceptable to polite intellectualist society—yet, by the law of self - preservation, we have adopted them.

BUT THE STEPS we have taken in military science we have left untaken in other phases of the Cold War. We have nothing to compare with the vicious curriculum of what old Communists call the Lenin School of Moscow. Two of the most brilliant alumni are Ho Chi Minh, our adversary in South Viet Nam and Steve Nelson, a Communist party leader in this country. In 1959 another Lenin School alumnus, the former Red, Joseph Kornfeder, gave testimony to the Senate Internal Security committee about the school's activities, saying:

"Only 50 years ago a group of ragged Russian intellectuals embarked upon certain methods of fighting existing society from within . . . a method of infighting . . . so effective that within a period of 40 years they were able to create an empire of 900 million . . . Joseph Stalin himself taught there; so did Trotsky . . . Bukarin . . . and others."

COMMUNIST methods are all too familiar in the seizures of East Europe, China and Southeast Asia. Kornfeder warns against our trying any slavish imitation of these tactics, since the penetration of a closed society is a very different thing from the Communist invasion of our free institutions. For several years Senator Mundt and others have introduced bills to establish a so-called Freedom Academy to study and teach countermeasures by our side. Meanwhile we have only the Peace Corps which, although in surprisingly good repute at the moment, is subject to a general indictment recently made by Senator Dodd. He says:

". . . WE HAVE allowed sentimentality to replace realism in the formulation of our national policies . . . a fuzzy emotionalism which approaches complicated problems either with the rapture of an ardent lover, or the indignation of a dragon slayer."

Dodd goes on to ridicule our silly absorption with plans for "peace," universal brotherhood and social reform. He blames American sentimentality for our early acceptance of Castro as a Robin Hood, for our foolish faith in the United Nations as the solver of world problems, for our inability to handle crime and juvenile delinquency matters at home, and for the terrible losses to World Communism abroad.

MANY EVENTS and many prophets seem to be warning us that the hard line we have taken militarily in the jungles and the atmosphere is the line we should take in the entire struggle. We Americans seem to learn our lessons in toughness only by painful lessons. Maybe we do need a Freedom Academy to match the Lenin School. Maybe our national character requires a hardening that will petrify the soft sentimentality. Anyhow, we had better pray that the next painful lesson stops somewhere short of catastrophe.

Live TV From Cairo

CAIRO (AP)—Work has been completed on the construction of what United Arab Republic authorities claim to be among the best TV studios in the world.

The new studio, which occupies part of the fourth floor of the uncompleted new TV center in Cairo, covers an area of 840 square meters (2,540 square feet).

The new studio, with a capity of 900 persons, is designed and equipped to suit the production of plays. Its large stage has been equipped with the most modern apparatus for automatic change of scenes.

Heavy Fine Levied On Estes Cotton

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has levied a $544,162 penalty against Billie Sol Estes for his cotton production operations. But officials were not too confident today they could make the big assessment stick.

The West Texas financier who is under fraud indictment was penalized for producing cotton on acreage allotments which, the department contends, he had secured illegally from farmers displaced by the government.

Estes has a right under farm law to appeal the penalty to a local farmer committee of three. Should it rule his operations were legal the penalty would be canceled and there would be nothing more the department could do about it.

In expressing some uncertainty, officials emphasized that Estes' controversial cotton operations present fine legal points which do not make a clearcut case that he acted improperly and illegally.

Should the farmer committee fine for the department, Estes could appeal to the courts. Not so with the department if a committee decision goes against it.

Estes was not available for comment Wednesday.

Last month a federal grand jury indicted Estes for fraud in connection with chattel mortgages he was charged with selling on nonexistent fertilizer tanks. And, a Senate subcommittee is investigating whether he received favored treatment from Agriculture Department officials.

In the wake of charges of favored treatment one department official was forced to resign, another has been fired and a third is under investigation.

Meanwhile, there were reports that Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman would shake up personnel in the department who passed on a $700,000 bond Estes posted to protect the government from loss on upwards of $50 million worth of surplus grain he stored in his warehouses.

Officials said they did not know whether Estes himself would appeal the cotton penalty. But they said they felt sure a court-appointed receiver for the Estes elevator, land and fertilizer holdings would do so in a move to protect assets for Estes creditors. The Pecos financier has declared himself bankrupt.

The penalty was assessed against 1961 cotton crop Estes, 37, drew on federal planting allotments which he said he leased from owners of the allotments.

The allotments — totaling 3,123 acres in West Texas—had been pooled under farm law by farmers whose land had been taken over by government agencies under the right of eminent domain. The law allows such farmers to reclaim allotments for use on new farms they might buy, but it does not allow—in the department's opinion —sale of allotments as such.

Estes and a number of other Texans developed plans under which they said they sold farms to displaced farmers and then deeded back both the land and the cotton allotments.

After an investigation—and delays which form the basis of some charges of department favoritism —the department held that the transactions were not bona fide sales of land but a scheme to buy valuable allotments in violation of law.

Estes and his attorneys have contended all along that the department's interpretation of his operations was incorrect. John Bagwell, the department's general counsel, has conceded that the matter is an issue on which the court might rule the department was in error.

Power Usage Indicates Lack Of Rain

STANTON — How dry has it been? Perhaps the records of Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, which supplies power to virtually all irrigators in the area, supplies an answer in its April operating statistics.

During April the system purchased 10,039,560 KWH of power, far above the 6,986,190 for the same month last year. Sales amounted to 9,176,163, similarly above the 6,103,820 of April in 1961.

The purchases for April pushed the first four months aggregate to 24,622,760, or 70 per cent above the 14,073,740 for the same period a year ago. Sales raised the total for this year to 21,172,341 KWH, or nearly twice the 11,411,357 in the first four months of last year.

Last year unseasonably high winter rains and late April showers cut sharply into demands for power in irrigating. This season, however, with little measurable rain, farmers have been pouring on the water for pre-planting moisture.

At the end of April, Cap Rock had 2,325 miles of line energized, an increase of seven miles during the month. There were 4,890 members connected, an increase of 69 for April.

Sub Collides With Ship

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A nuclear-powered U.S. submarine due to be commissioned later this month and a freighter collided in calm seas 30 miles west of here Wednesday night.

Neither vessel appeared to be in serious danger.

Both headed toward San Francisco today.

No injuries were reported.

The collission occurred off the Farallon Islands between the 300-foot Permit and the 468-foot Matson freighter Hawaiian Citizen.

The Permit was launched last July.

Cause of the collision was not immediately determined.

Cmdr. John D. Pillsbury said the submarine had surfaced and was in no immediate danger.

A Coast Guard spokesman said the vessel was expected to arrive here under its own power later today.

The freighter, with a crew of 47, was headed for nearby Alameda from Honolulu with a miscellaneous cargo. A Matson spokesman said the ship sustained some damage below the water line.

Cmdr. Pillsbury said 90 men were aboard the submarine.

He said it was slightly damaged at the top of the superstructure.

The Coast Guard dispatched a cutter to the crash area to escort the submarine.

FCC Herding Commercials Into Reality

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission, which rides herd on television commercials the way the Federal Communications Commission watches the program flock, recently has been rounding up some strays.

Among other activities, it persuaded one company to abandon shaving cream commercials showing a razor shaving sandpaper which was not really snadpaper but glass sprinkled with sand. It ordered toothpaste and shaving cream manufacturers to stop making disparaging comparisons of rival products with their brands.

Effect of this activity has been to push commercial-makers into using the real thing, not doctored-up products or reasonably exact facsimiles.

One of the trade magazines recently conducted an investigation into current commercial-making practices and found some changes in progress.

For instance, a cold-remedy company recently requested the services of a girl model—who was suffering from a head cold. A candy company, which once used plastic fakes which would not melt under hot lights, now uses real candy.

A depilatory, which used to do a film demonstration by using sour cream (instead of the product) on the model's legs, now uses the real stuff—but must hire several models because numerous applications of the depilatory for endless retakes causes burns. Male models in those shaving scenes now have blades in their razors.

More Girls Sign For Beauty Pageant

Two more girls have entered the annual Miss Big Spring Pageant. They are Virginia Ruth Morris in the senior division and Susan Rae Gibbs in the junior division.

The pageant, sponsored by the Jaycees, will be staged June 16 in the city auditorium. Gordon Cizon is chairman of the entries committee, and the signup office is in Cizon's Jeweler's.

The contest is an official preliminary of the annual Miss America Pageant held in Atlantic City, N. J. Winner of the senior division here will compete for the Miss Texas title later this summer.

Contestants in both divisions will be judged on good character, poise, personality, intelligence, charm, and beauty of face and figure. Seniors also will perform or demonstrate any talent of their own selection. The talent may be entertainment or any other skill, such as sewing, horseback riding, etc.

The talent portion of the contest each year is similar to a variety show, with the contestants onstage to display their talents.

Senior contestants may be between the ages of 18 and 28; juniors not less than 16, not more than 18. None must ever have been married, divorced, or had a marriage annulled.

Miss Morris was the second runner-up in the junior pageant in 1961. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Morris of 1012 Stadium. He is with the Soil Conservation Service.

VIRGINIA MORRIS

SUSAN GIBBS

Miss Morris has had training in piano, voice and dance, and likes stories, and plays. Her vital statistics include measurements of 34-24-35, height 5 ft. 5 in., weight 118, blue eyes, olive complexion, and dark brown hair.

Miss Gibbs is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Gibbs of 511 Johnson. Her father is employed by Cabot Carbon Co.

She has much in common with the senior entrant who signed up on the same day besides being pretty—Miss Gibbs has had training in dance as well as dramatics and debate, and she writes plays and speeches.

Her statistics include height 5 ft. 6 in., hazel eyes, weight 105, dark brown hair, fair complexion, and measurements of 34-19-33.

Dr. Kincaid To Judge Art Show May 19

Dr. Clarence Kincaid, associate professor of applied arts at Texas Tech, will judge the Las Artistas regional citation show.

The event, under auspices of the Texas Fine Arts Association, will be held May 19 in the old Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College. Judging will begin at 10 a.m., and the show will be open to the public Saturday afternoon and Sunday.

Dr. Kincaid came to Tech in 1960. Previously, he had taught at Eastern Illinois University, was a teaching fellow at Penn State University, taught at West Texas State, and in the Amarillo public schools.

He received his bachelor's and master's degrees from West Texas State, and his doctorate from Pennsylvania State University. He also has done graduate work at the University of New Mexico.

Dr. Kincaid has exhibited widely in painting and in jewelry. He was commissioned for two series of water colors for the magazine, "Ford Times," and the Tech Student Union Building owns 12 of his water colors.

Political Unrest Ups Bible Demand

NEW YORK (AP)—Periods of political unrest cause an increase in the demand for Bibles in areas of political tension and revolution, the American Bible Society reported Wednesday night.

"Cuba and Congo are cases in point," the report said.

In Cuba last year the annual distribution increased fronf 611,993 copies to 906,660, the society said. And in the Congo there was an increase of over 75,000.

2 Men Buried Alive In Trench

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (AP)—Two men were buried alive by another workman Wednesday in a sewer trench they were digging.

The operator of a mechanical shovel, unaware that Paul-Emile Panneton and Yvon Vincent were in the trench, filled it up with eight feet of earth. The men's absence was not noficed for half an hour and they were not found until too late.

Panneton, 33, was the father of four children. Vincent was a bachelor.

THE CUBAN INVASION: The Chronicle of Disaster. By Tad Szulc and Kurt E. Meyer. Praeger, $3.95. Ballantine, paperback, 50 cents.

It has been one year (on April 17) since this incredibly confused misadventure in U. S. hemisphere policy. Appropriately, on the anniversary appears this documented chronicle of the awesome series of blunders which culminated in the ill-starred invasion of Cuba at the Bay of Pigs.

By this account, the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) emerged from the fiasco with a weirdly comic opera look. To the authors, the CIA agents — "our men in Miami" at the time of the invasion attempt — "were tripping over each other like hapless extras in a movie farce.

Szulc, a veteran of Latin American service for the New York Times, and Meyer, of the Washington Post, piece together a melancholy recital of events leading up to the tragedy.

Most of the story of the Bay of Pigs is well known by now to the U. S. public. But, put together in a single, readable package, the story presents a frightening picture of the persistent ignorance in Washington of what makes Latin Americans tick.

The book presents a picture of CIA agents, in dramatic contrast with their European cloak-and-dagger counterparts, apparently concerned with public relations and, as the authors say, "almost as conscious about projecting a favorable 'image' of their effort as the United States Information Agency."

The authors are fairly gentle, however, with the Kennedy administration. Circumstances, they write, "conspired to make a young administration, staffed with mega-bright intellectuals, the executors of an astonishingly inept scheme that on its merits might never have been initiated." President Kennedy, they write, "seriously underestimated his adversary" Fidel Castro. But they add that the new President by that time was pretty much committed.

Basically, the authors say, the invasion fiasco was the result of military and political miscalculations which in turn rested on intelligence miscalculations and "the burden of the institutional blame falls most heavily on the agency (CIA) that conceived and directed the invasion itself."

The agency, they add, simply was not equipped to make the military and political decisions thrust upon it. Thus, a painful lesson is drawn: that "the agency should be an instrument and not an originator of foreign policy, and the scale of its operations ought not to compromise the free institutions the CIA is defending."

Clear Weather Forecast For State

By The Associated Press

More clear and warm weather is forecast for Texas with only a few scattered thundershowers expected over the northwest portion of the state.

Early Thursday skies were generally clear over the state with only a few sections reporting patchy clouds.

Overnight temperatures were rather warm with the range from the lower 60s to the upper 70s.

Wednesday, grass fires, started by lightning that accompanied small thundershowers, plagued the Big Bend country around Alpine for the second straight day.

The fires damaged hundreds of acres of rangeland and some fences.

The temperature range early Thursday was from a low of 63 at Dalhart and Beaumont to 79 at El Paso.
