Railroad Board Members To Be First Witnesses Today In House Oil Probe

REASONS FOR CURB FAILURE TO BE SIFTED

Chairman's Testimony To Lay Foundation For Inquiry

COMMITTEE NAMED

Body Organizes to Push Investigation Before Legislation

AUSTIN, July 17. (AP)—Members of the Texas Railroad commission will be the first witnesses called to testify before the committee of the whole of the house of representatives of the Texas legislature which will start tomorrow to investigate the oil industry to determine, if possible, the reasons for the chaotic conditions.

The investigation was ordered yesterday under a resolution predicated on a charge the oil industry was controlled by monopolies and that the anti-trust laws were being violated by agreements in restraint of trade. Members of the lower house evidenced a desire for additional information concerning the oil situation before taking action on bills to remedy the critical conditions.

Proration Failure

Reasons for the failure of the railroad commission to enforce its oil proration orders and for the collapse of the oil proration structure will be sought from the state officials beforeo ther witnesses are placed on the stand.

C. V. Terrell, chairman of the commission, will be the first witness. He will be followed by Commissioners Pat M. Neff and Lon A. Smith. R. D. Parker, chief of the oil and gas division of the railroad commission, also was expected to be called. Parker is the chief proration enforcement officer of the commission.

The marketing system of the oil industry and the method by which the price of crude oil and the refined products is determined probably will be investigated next week.

Steering Committee

A steering committee of five members was named today and the house adjuorned until tomorrow morning. The senate adjourned this morning until Monday but has been invited to attend sessions of the house during the investigation.

The steering committee named included Representatives Bailey Hardy of Breckenridge, chairman of the house oil committee, Harry N. Graves of Georgetown, Lee Satterwhite of Odessa, Earl Adams Jr. of Houston and Walter Beck of Fort Worth. The committee will assist Speaker Fred Minor in directing the course of the investigation and will recommend the witnesses to be presented to the committee for interrogation.

Bills Follows Probe

Consideration of bills will be started after the committee has concluded its investigation. The resolution under which the house resolved itself into a committee of the whole was based on the ground that charges had been made the oil industry was controlled by monopoly and trusts and that certain companies had made agreements in restraint of trade.

A separate investigation of the charges was ordered made by the attorney general who was authorized to employ two special assistants to carry on the work. The expense of the attorney general's investigation will be paid from the

Oklahoma Officials Drop Beer Case Against Mexican Consul

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 17. (AP)—City officials tonight dismissed charges of possession and manufacture of beer, which were lodged against Senor Valdez, Mexican consul following an investigation last Monday.

Decision to dismiss the charges came a few hours after Senor Valdez had been booked at police headquarters and released on his own recognizance. Miss Kay Barrett, his sister-in-law, in whose home the beer was found, was booked on similar charges, and it also was decided not to press the charges against her.

Decision to drop the case was reached after John McClelland, city manager, had conferred with John Watt, chief of police.

Members of the police vice squad said they found "46 pints of beer and eight gallons of beer making" at Miss Barrett's home, where they found Valdez.

Senor Valdez was one of his government's investigator's in the recent slayings at Ardmore of two Mexican students, Emilio Cortes Rubio, kinsman of the Mexican president, and Manuel Gomez, son of a Mexican lawyer. W. E. (Bill) Guess, deputy sheriff, later was acquitted of a murder charge in connection with the slayings.

Senor Valdez, when taken to police headquarters with Miss Barrett, maintained that as an official representative of the Mexican government, he was immune from the prohibition laws of this country.

The charges against Senor Valdez were made by Walter Benson, former justice of the peace and a neighbor of Senor Valdez and Miss Barrett.

"I don't understand the situation," Valdez said tonight. "I have done nothing."

"Monday night I was visiting at the home of Miss Barrett with another couple. We were drinking beer and eating sandwiches when

BOARD HOLDING TO 1930 WHEAT

Stone Denies Competition For New Crop

WASHINGTON, July 17. (AP)—Chairman Stone of the farm board issued a formal statement today to emphasize that stabilization wheat is not being sold in the Southwest in competition with the new crop.

He reiterated the board "is doing and will continue to do everything it can under the law to help farmers meet their present difficult situation."

Meanwhile, the agriculture department said present prospects and indicated demand point to another year of low wheat prices for the world as a whole.

No bumper world crop is expected, it said, but the existing large stocks of old wheat in North America, Argentine and Australia "promise a plentiful world supply."

It added, however, that if a world crop smaller than 1930 should materialize as are the expectations, "there may be some improvement in the world market prices in the latter part of the 1931-32 season as compared with the early part."

Stone said all wheat sold in the Southwest to meet mill or storage requirements since the harvest began had been replaced by purchase of other wheat.

The stabilization corporation has sold approximately 1,000,000 bushels in the Northwest spring wheat section so millers could continue operation.

Farm leaders have appealed to the farm board to agree to hold all the 200,000,000 or more bushels of stabilization wheat from the market in the belief such a promise would bring about an immediate price rise.

The board, acting, according to Stone in the best interests of all farmers, announced in reply it would limit its sales to 60,000,000 bushels this year exclusive of sales to foreign governments under consideration. This included sales to millers in the Northwest which have been made since June.

THIRD TOUR OF VALLEY AUG. 3

Half-Day Trip Arranged For Business Men

A third tour of the Wichita irrigated valley for business men was arranged for Monday Aug. 3, when members of the agricultural committees of the Junior and senior chambers of commerce held a joint meeting here Friday afternoon.

The third tour will be similar to two held previously but will require much less time, it was announced. The trip is especially arranged for business men and in order that those attending will be away from their businesses for the minimum of time, only half a day will be required for the inspection. In order to do this stops will be made only at the major points of interest along the route followed in previous tours.

Third Tour

The third trip is arranged on popular demand. The tours held in June and July met with great favor by those attending, it was said. Inspections of the Wichita valley are conducted and sponsored by the Junior chamber of commerce as an educational measure to acquaint the citizenship here, and especially business men, with the rapid strides made in agriculture in this section during recent years and the prospects for future development.

Oral Jones was named general chairman of the tour at the Friday, meeting. B. B. Greever will be in charge of arrangements for transportation, and Frank Wolf was selected to get together what is expected to be the largest number of persons thus far taking part in tours of the kind here.

Supper to End Tour

Leaving the courthouse at 1:30 o'clock the party will inspect a number of truck farms and dairies near the city, and then will proceed to grain and feed farms at other points over the county. Other places to be inspected include turkey ranches and clover patches. Winding up the tour at the state agricultural experiment station at Iowa Park early in the evening, supper will be served there.

GERMAN LOAN CRISIS NEARS

Paris Conference Today To Settle Issue

PARIS, July 17. (AP)—For the first time since the days of the Versailles treaty negotiations, a German chancellor and his foreign minister are coming to Paris tomorrow.

Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Julius Curtius will be met at the train by Premier Laval and Aristide Briand. Almost immediately they will go into conference with French officials in connection with Germany's financial situation.

Premier Laval will give them an outline of the plan decided upon today at a meeting attended by French, American and British representatives, Sunday morning there will be another session of the four powers, and if these conferences result satisfactorily, all hands will go on to London for a conference of seven nations Monday night.

To Hear Terms

Tomorrow the German statesmen will hear at first hand the conditions which France imposes on her participation in extending financial assistance.

Those conditions have not been made public but it is understood the background of the French proposals will be that any loan must be guaranteed by German customs receipts and that some sort of international controlling committee must supervise Germany's expenditures somewhat in the fashion of the Dawes plan.

The plan presented at today's three-cornered conference had been worked out by the French but was agreed to in its final form by Secretary of State Stimson and Foreign Secretary Henderson. In main outline it calls for an immediate loan of $500,000,000 to the reichsbank.

BRITAIN WORRIED ABOUT PARLEY

LONDON, July 17. (AP)—Great Britain views with some apprehension the French proposal that a $500,000,000 loan to Germany be guaranteed by German customs receipts, and in some authoritative quarters it is said that the French terms in their present form may not be acceptable here.

Arrangements for Monday's meetings of the principal debtor and creditor nations are proceeding, but a serious hitch threatens the plans for that conference.

Reports from Paris indicate that the French are unwilling to come before Germany agrees in principle to the terms which are to be presented when Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius arrive there tomorrow. The absence of French representatives would seriously impede the work of such a conference although all the other nations invited, including the United States, Germany, Italy, Belgium and Japan, have accepted.

It is emphasized that there is no intention of staging the Monday meeting so that what the Berlin Nationalist Press has called "second Versailles" would be imposed upon Germany.

GERMANY HOPES FOR SUCCESS

BERLIN, July 17. (AP)—Chancellor Henrick Bruening and Foreign Minister Julius Curtis left Berlin tonight for Paris, followed by fervent hopes of millions of their countrymen that in their meeting tomorrow with statesmen of France they will lay the foundation for cooperation between France and Germany and will help the reich out of its economic crisis.

Freight Increase Hits Snag In Commissioner's Objections

Meyer Spikes Effort to Introduce Wage Scale Issue Into Hearings Before Commerce Board

WASHINGTON, July 17. (US)—The plea of railroads for a 15 per cent blanket increase in freight rates met with an obstacle in the Interstate Commerce commission today, when Commissioner Meyer openly indicated he considers such a grant as highly unlikely.

During the questioning of H. A. Scandrett, representing the western carriers, Meyer inquired into certain clauses in the carriers' petition which stated that such an increase could not be granted without commission authority. Meyer questioned the accuracy of this statement, as the interstate commerce act provides that the roads may increase tariff schedules by merely filing the increased schedules with the commission.

Wage Issue Ousted

Then, under the law, if any protests are made, the I. C. C. suspends the new schedules and holds hearings.

Meyer subsequently spiked an attempt to inject the railroad wage issue into the hearings.

Scandrett, under cross-examination, was asked by a railroad attorney whether he considered wages too high, but before he was able to reply Meyer interposed:

"We shall have to deal with wages as they stand. They are under another authority."

Volume Questioned

Scandrett was then asked whether the rate increase as pro-

FORMER SOLON SHOT TO DEATH

Philpot, a former jurist of the Jefferson county court, then attempted suicide by shooting himself. The shot went wild, however, and he slashed his wrists but did not inflict serious injuries. A few hours after the shooting the former judge was committed to the state hospital for nervous diseases at Little Rock. The commitment was ordered by County Judge R. H. Williams, who was told by the county physician that Philpot is insane.

Taylor's wife left him two weeks ago and Taylor came here early today seeking a reconciliation.

He and Philpot were standing on the front porch discussing terms of the reconciliation when Philpot drew a pistol and shot Taylor in the head.

BARS BLOCK PASSAGE ON TEXAS SIDE

Sterling Orders Rangers To Guard Span At Denison

TOLLS BOYCOTTED

Governors Exchange Fiery Words in Injunction Dispute

DENISON, Texas, July 17. (AP)—A battle of barricades on this Red river border paralyzed passage across the stream today while what the governor of Texas said to the governor of Oklahoma, and vice versa, heaped coals on the blazing relations between the states.

Texas rangers threw up a new barrier at their end of the Denison-Durant free bridge here, one of three ordered open to motor travel by Governor Murray of Oklahoma. Then Governor Murray, threatening use of the national guard if his men were molested, directed that traffic be shunted to the Preston free bridge in another county from the Oklahoma side of the parallel toll bridge where his state's highway workers had erected barricades and were under orders to plow up the approaching road.

Sterling Replies

Mindful of a federal injunction obtained recently by the toll bridge owners to prevent opening of the free bridge, Gov. Ross S. Sterling told Adjutant General W. W. Sterling of Texas: "Close the highway bridge at Denison and keep it closed."

Then Governor Sterling, former highway commission chairman, who took the executive chair after a meteoric rise from modest circumstances to millionaire oil man and publisher, wired Governor Murray: "I feel you have extended your jurisdiction beyond all reason. Certainly I cannot join you in attempting to make a federal court injunction inoperative. I have sent Texas rangers to protect Texas highway employes endeavoring to obey the court injunction, on request of the Texas highway commission."

Back across the telegraph wires came a reply from Murray, the cotton patch worker who became the most picturesque political power in his state. In part it said:

Amendment Cited

"I assumed you desired the opening of this bridge or Texas would not have gone to the expense of construction. Please remember the 11th amendment to the constitution of the United States which precludes the dragging of a sovereign state into a federal suit by private citizen."

In this last he was borne out by Washington authorities.

Murray anticipated new litigation in the federal circuit court of appeals and in district court at Durant to prevent Oklahoma from destroying business of the bridge company. An order was asked in the Durant district court by the birdge

Railroad Worker Critically Hurt When Hit by Bridge Timber

Struck by a heavy bridge beam during the unloading of a car on the Fort Worth & Denver track between Wichita Falls and Iowa Park Friday afternoon, R. Rogers, about 60, railroad construction worker, was in a critical condition at the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital Friday night.

The railroad construction gang was engaged in unloading stringers, heavy timbers used in bridge construction, according to Denver officials. It was Rogers' duty to stand on the ground and keep the stringers clear of additional timbers being unloaded by other members of the gang in the car. The action of the men in the car became too fast for Rogers, and a stringer rolled down the unloading runway and struck him.

He sustained a serious injury to the back, according to attending physicians.

Rogers' home is in Dallas, although he generally lives with the construction gang as it moves from one point to another. It is believed that he has no immediate family.

Rogers was brought here in a Merkle ambulance from the scene of the accident, near the White Way Filling station on the Iowa Park road.

Mother Attempting Rescue Dies With Baby Boy in Ralls Fire

RALLS, Texas, July 17. (AP)—Heroically trying to save her 18-month-old son from burning to death in their home in Ralls today, Mrs. C. G. Melton, 37, perished in the flames which also claimed the life of her child.

The house became ignited when an oil stove exploded. The mother was washing clothes in the back yard. Several of her other seven children were playing nearby. As the smoke began rolling from the building, the mother recalled that Elmer, a twin and one of her youngest children, was inside the house asleep.

She called to neighbors, forced open a door momentarily barred and rushed into the flaming building.

The entire home was aflame before help arrived.

After three unsuccessful attempts, B. C. Ruthven, sanitary engineer of the state health department, rushed into the mass of flames and smoke.

The mother, with her body charred, was found on the bed. The baby, for whom she was searching, was lying across the room. He was dead.

Ruthven dragged the woman to the front door before he was overcome by smoke and had to let go of her. Others aided in bringing her out. She died within a few minutes after she was rescued from the flames.

The body of the twin was not recovered until after the Ralls fire department had arrived and partly extinguished the flames.

BRIDGE ROW HALTS TRAFFIC

Sterling to Enforce Court Order Against Opening

owners to require removal of toll span barricades.

Answering his appeal to the citizens of North Texas for a boycott on the toll bridge, Denison people joined in directing traffic to the Preston structure. Feeling here and around Durant was tense particularly because a few tourists from the south, forced to return across the toll bridge early today when they reached the Oklahoma obstacles, said they were refused return of tolls.

"Bigger Army"

Governor Murray said he would yield to Governor Sterling's "military power" at the south end of the bridge but contended Oklahoma had a right to remove obstacles from the span itself since it shared the expense of building it.

Jokingly, he said "I can't buck him that way—he can dig up the biggest army. But I have got the biggest organized army."

He also charged the Texas governor's object is to force Oklahoma to pay half of a Texas contract with the bridge owners. In its injunction suit against the Texas commission the toll bridge company alleged the state owed it $60,000 for the bridge and approximately $90,000 additional because of an alleged agreement to extend time for collection of tolls.

"If you want the bridge open we will open it," Governor Murray told Governor Sterling. "If not I bow to your authority over the state of Texas."

Traffic Moves

At the Terral free bridge across the river, also opened last night by executive order of Murray, traffic was moving between the two states today. At Gainesville, site of the third free bridge, an incomplete Texas approach barred travel and barriers were erected. Roadways to parallel toll bridges at both places were ordered destroyed by the Oklahoma executive, on his side of the line.

Another development at Austin, where the state legislature is in session, was an announcement by Senator Jake Loy of Sherman to the effect he would introduce a resolution for an investigation of the contract by which the bridge opening was delayed.

Murray Supported

Governor Murray's contention that he could not be made a party to the Texas injunction suit, which he described as a "nullity," was borne out by Seth W. Richardson, assistant United States attorney general, in a statement at Washington.

The Oklahoma executive disclosed today Joe Bailey, attorney for the toll bridge company at Denison, told him "we can cite the highway employes for contempt of court."

"Just try that," the governor said he rejoined, "and I'll call out the national guard to stop them."

Information from Durant this afternoon was to the effect that Oklahoma road men were awaiting a tractor before plowing up the road leading to the toll bridge there. Barricades, it was said, had been erected at the Oklahoma end by Bert McCaleb, division highway engineer.

When he issued his executive order late yesterday directing that the free bridges be opened, Governor Murray advised Governor Sterling he had instructed highway officials to "tear up" roadbeds on the Oklahoma side approaching the other bridges.

JOHNSON SAYS IT'S OKLAHOMA AFFAIR

TYLER, Texas, July 17. (AP)—Cone Johnson, state highway commissioner, said today the action of Governor Murray in tearing up approaches to toll bridges on the Oklahoma side of the Red river was a matter which concerned Oklahoma alone.

"However, the action of Governor Murray's agents in taking down barriers on the Texas end of the new free bridge, which were maintained under an injunction order issued by Judge Kennerly, was a horse of a different color," Johnson declared.

"The new free bridge is a joint enterprise of Texas and Oklahoma, aided by the federal government, and I think it a sound proposition that each state have equal rights in using the structure. I urged at the hearing before Judge Kennerly that no injunction be granted closing the Texas end of the bridge to deprive Oklahoma and the traveling public free use of the bridge.

"I didn't want them to be hampered by whatever complications might exist between owners of the toll bridge and the Texas highway commission, since Oklahoma was not a party to the suit."

Johnson said Governor Sterling ordered the rangers to Denison so that it might not seem that Texas officials were ignoring or violating terms of Judge Kennerly's order closing the bridge.

contingent expense fund of the legislature.

Three bills were introduced today, one in the senate and two in the house. Two of them provided for establishment of commissions.

The senate bill was offered by Senator Charles Gainer of Bryan. It provided for a commission of three, one to be appointed by the governor, one by the senate and one by the house of representatives. The commission would be given authority to restrict production to a reasonable market demand and to prevent both physical and economic waste.

Under the Galer bill the commission also would have auohtrity to fix the minimum price of oil and gas, the price of oil at the well to be 15 times the retail price of gasoline less taxes and transportation cost and the price of natural gas at the well at 25 per cent of the retail price.

Certificates Required

The bill also would require all persons or companies engaged in oil production, purchase, distribution and transportation and sale of the refined products to obtain a certificate of convenience and necessity. This restriction would not apply to drillers or prospect wells or for necessary offset wells to protect leases.

One of the house bills was regarded as the administration bill. It proposed a conservation commission of three members to take over administration of oil and gas laws from the railroad commission. The bill did not restrict production to market demand and gave the commission authority to prevent only physical waste. Governor Sterling has expressed opposition to any attempt to regulate the price of oil or prevent economic waste.

The conservation commission bill was introduced by Representative Alfred Petch of Fredericksburg and Robert Wagstaff of Abilene and signed by about 20 others.

Limits Set

The third bill was by J. T. Cox of Groesbeck. It would prohibit drilling of a well within 600 feet of any other well, completed or in process of completion, or within 300 feet of property lines. Wells could be drilled closer than these distances to prevent drainage of leases. Rapid drilling of wells in close proximity increases the fire hazard and the danger of water encroachment, the emergency clause stated.

The Petsch bill would simplify court procedure in suits filed by and against the commission. The commission would have power to institute counter injunction proceedings against operators violating its orders. Easier access to the higher courts in appeals from decisions of lower tribunals was provided.

Germans Leave For Loan Parley

were an expression of hope the outcome of the journey would be trustful collaboration and visible proof of international solidarity.

Although he placed much emphasis on such generalities of the present situation, the chancellor did not disguise the brutal reality that Germany badly needs the international loan his journey was designed to facilitate.

There was an almost unanimous feeling in Germany that much more was at stake than the $500,000,000—or whatever Germany finally gets in the way of international financial assistance—to help her through the economic crisis.

HOOVER ADDS TO U. S. STRENGTH

WASHINGTON, July 17. (AP)—President Hoover today enlisted the assistance of Ambassador Dawes to strengthen still further America's representation at the London conference of ministers.

In addition, the chief executive has taken the position that active American participation must be confined to economic problems. This was made known after several transatlantic telephone conversations between Mr. Hoover and Secretary Stimson at Paris.

While a wide range of attending political questions is expected by the administration to be raised in connection with the formulation of a plan for immediate relief for Germany, any suggestions the American delegates may put forward on such issues will be wholly informal.

Isolation Guarded

The president's taboo on active American participation in political commitments or guarantees was described by a high administration authority as a specific application of the general American policy against entanglement in Europe's politics.

Acting Secretary Castle of the state department emphasized today that the part of the conference's work in which the United States was interested was that of banking and economics.

He added that Ambassador Dawes would sail for Europe July 22 on the Mauretania. The ambassador was one of the principal formulators of the original plan of reparations which was supplanted by the Young plan. He has been on leave from his post attending to private affairs in Chicago.

PAIR HELD IN BANK ROBBERY

$1,100 of Missouri Loot Is Recovered

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., July 17. (INS)—Identified as two of the three bandits who bound Otis Lewis, assistant cashier of the bank of Annapolis, Mo., near her, and then robbed the institution of about $1,600, William Flowers, 26, and Roy Sanders, 23, both of Ellington, Mo., were held in the Reynolds county jail at Centerville, Mo., today.

Sheriff Charles Barnes, Reynolds county, said he had been furnished with the name of the third bandit, but that he was withholding it pending the arrest. About $1,100 of the total loot was recovered.

Flowers and Sanders were captured near Ellington last night.

Freight Raise Held Unlikely

posed would not seriously curtail revenues by throwing much service to the competition, and discouraging freight shipments. In the sale of a commodity such as transportation, it was asked, why should the law of price and demand obtain. Scandrett said he believed the boost would not greatly affect the quantity of business.

W. R. Cole, president of the Louisville and Nashville road, and representative of the southern carriers, told the commission the roads of his section are faced with a drastic emergency, which threatens the very existence of the lines. Revenues and earnings have fallen so low that credit is difficult to obtain, he said, adding that credit for railroads is directly dependent upon the earnings of the line.

Periodical Pains Relieved In 3 Minutes
Month after month some women still suffer needless pain, but those who know simply go to a drug store or soda fount, get a package or dose of "B-C," and get perfect relief in 3 minutes, continuing their duties in pain-free, easy comfort.
"B-C" is the formula of two North Carolina druggists, contains several ingredients that function together for the relief of headache, neuralgia and periodical pains, accomplishing in a few minutes what no one drug formula can do under one to three hours.
"B-C" stops the pain, quiets the nerves, is perfectly harmless. No other preparation like it. Nothing else gives such profound relief. Ask your druggist, he knows.—Adv.

It is the safe and satisfying food, easily digested, which helps to prevent fatigue on a long journey." UTILITY WINS FULL VICTORY

Cities Service Company Given Injunction

TOPEKA, Kan., July 17. (INS)—A complete victory was scored today by the Cities Service company in the granting to it of a temporary injunction against enforcement of Blue Sky Commissioner Carl Newcomer's order of July 2 barring from sale in Kansas all but the first preferred issue of its stock.

The injunction was handed down by Judge George H. Whitcomb and Judge George A. Kline of the Shawnee county district court after a five-day hearing.

Immediately after the decision was announced, Roland Boynton, attorney general, said no further action would be taken in the district court on the matter but that an appeal would be taken to the state supreme court.

At the beginning of the hearing the Cities Service company scored signally in the ruling of the court that that part of the blue sky act under which Newcomer ordered barring of the stock, was unconstitutional in that it armed the blue sky commissioner with an arbitrary and unlimited power.

During the hearing the state attorney's pointed out to the court that Newcomer's order was not an actual barring of the Cities Service stock, but a withdrawal of exemption which the Cities Service company had enjoyed by reason of listing on one or more of the recognized stock exchanges.

In its application for the injunction the Cities Service company alleged collusion and conspiracy between Newcomer and Gov. Harry Woodring in barring the stock as a means of forcing a reduction in gas rates. The court ruled out the allegations.

Coast Guard Nabs $36,000 Rum Cargo

CAPE MAY, N. J., July 17. (INS)—Three men and a cargo of liquor valued at $36,000 was seized by U. S. coast guards in the Delaware bay here and turned over to federal agents today.

The cargo was discovered aboard the craft Helena, out of New York and apparently bound for Philadelphia. Members of the coast guards who aided in the capture of the powerful speedboat asserted they believed it was the first effort of a group of rum runners to break the blockade which has been thrown about the coast.

Edward Lewis, Coney Island, N. Y., mate, and two companions were arrested and taken to Wilmington, Del., for a hearing before a United States commissioner. The boat and cargo was sent to Philadelphia.

Resubmission of Money Bills Loses in House

AUSTIN, July 17. (AP)—A resolution asking Gov. R. S. Sterling to resubmit the departmental and educational appropriation bills to the legislature so they could be trimmed down, was defeated in the house today, 62 to 52. It was offered by Representative W. H. Laird of Lufkin.

Laird said the salaries of state employes and of professors and instructors should be reduced in view of the state's critical financial condition. He estimated the deficit on Sept. 1 at $4,000,000.

The house in the regular session voted a 10 per cent reduction in salaries of state department employes and heads and professors, but it was restored when the bills were sent to free conference.

Jones County Marks Fiftieth Anniversary of Organization

Special to The Record News.

ANSON, Texas, July 17.—Half a century ago today the commissioners of Jones county met for the first time, thereby establishing the date for the beginning of the organized work of the county. The county was created in 1858, and was attached to Shackelford county for judicial purposes, and on April 18, 1881, a petition for the organization of the county was presented to the commissioners court at Shackelford county, Phantom Hill being selected as temporary courthouse. Court met there first. Jones City, now Anson, Brazos City and Phantom Hill were all candidates for the courthouse, Jones City winning out.

BRIDE LEAPS FROM TOWER

Princess' Honeymoon Ends In Paris Suicide

NEW YORK, July 17. (INS)—Emotionally depressed, Princess Anna Troubetzkoy, beautiful young daughter of Prince Alexis Obolensky of New York, brought her honeymoon to an end by jumping to her death from Eiffel tower, Paris, it was disclosed by her family today.

The princess, who was 20, sailed for France in June with Prince Serve Troubtzkoy, whom she married here last May. Her fatal leap Tuesday came at a time when she was completing arrangements for a religious wedding ceremony in August in the Russian Orthodox church, Paris.

Lions Officially Censure Americans in Russia

TORONTO, Ont., July 17. (AP)—Censure of the 3,000 United States engineers and executives at present working in Russia which was voiced before the international convention of Lions clubs here yesterday by Col. Alvin Owsley, Dallas, Texas, past commander of the American Legion was upheld in a resolution passed at the closing sessions of the convention today.

The motion expressed "disapproval of the giving of air or assistance to the Soviet government by citizens of countries in which there are Lions clubs." The countries included in the Lion association are United States, Canada, China, Mexico and Cuba.

Sunset News

Special to The Record News.

SUNSET, Texas, July 17.—Many people from several towns and rural communities attended a picnic Wednesday, July 15, at the Sam Jackson place in Denton creek valley, eight miles northeast of Sunset. One of the features of the picnic was a regular picnic dinner spread freely for everybody who desired to eat. This picnic was given in honor of Commissioner Pete Kuykendall and his crew of road hands who have rebuilt the Sunset and Forestburg highway.

The fourth car of cantaloupes was loaded for shipment from Sunset Thursday. The first car of the season was shipped Monday evening. Producers are getting 50 cents a crate at the packing shed. They received 60 cents a crate for the first car. Truck load buyers are hauling a great deal of the cantaloupe crop away from this section. The dry weather has reduced the yield of the crop considerably, but some of the producers say their vines are still holding up good.

Cloudiness and very light sprinkles of rain have helped some here this week, but there is need of a rain sufficient to revive field crops and pastures. Reports from some communities say that crops of most all kinds except corn are doing well but less favorable reports come from some other communities. Cotton here promises the best crop of many seasons. A rain would cause the blackeye pea crop here to produce peas enough for many thousands of families.

LEEMAN RAPS RESOURCE TAX

C-C Manager Urges Help For Industry

DALLAS, July 17. (AP)—Ray Leeman, general manager of the South Texas Chamber of Commerce, in an address to the Lions club here today, warned against the levying of special taxes on natural resources, business and industry.

"No new taxes should be legislated until the Texas tax burden has been equalized," he said. "Texas must attract new industrial developments to supplement its agricultural production. Investors will shy away if current efforts to levy discriminatory taxes are continued.

"Additional taxes should not be placed on industry and business at this critical time. The legisaltors should pare down their appropriations and expenditures rather than increase the tax burden. The need for more money should be supplied by business expansion.

"Agriculture can no longer provide employment for the coming generation and unless proper encouragement is given to the development of industry, our people will suffer."

Last Rites Said For Rudy Vallee's Mother

WESTBROOK, Maine, July 17. (INS)—While silent tribute was paid by a throng of townspeople and others, the mother of Rudy Vallee, radio's "vagabond lover" was laid to rest today in St. Hyacinthe's cemetery.

Burial followed a solemn requiem high mass at St. Mary's church, which Mrs. Katherine Valee, 61, attended during her life.

The church was crowded to overflowing, and several hundred persons were unable to gain admittance, as Rev. Father George Lynch, a cousin of Mrs. Vallee, sang the solemn mass, assisted by Rev. Father Philip Desjardins and Rev. Father Wilfred Soucey.

REED SCORES FARM BOARD

Senator Asks Abolition Of Relief Group

WASHINGTON, July 17. (INS)—A demand for abolitions of the federal farm board was made today by Senator Reed, Republican, of Pennsylvania.

"I have observed that the wheat farmers, instead of profiting from the policies of the board, appeared to be the chief sufferers from its experiments," said Reed. "I am hopeful that they will join in the growing demand for its abolishment."

He said he would ask the federal trade commission to investigate activities of the Land-o-Lakes Creamery Co., a Minneapolis cooperative financed in part by the farm board. Reed said he had received many complaints against the company's alleged action in using federal funds against private concerns.

Farm Agent Buys Hardeman Acres For Experiments

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, July 17.—County Agent L. T. Hunter has recently purchased the toll keeper's house and three acres of land from the bridge company which formerly operated the toll bridge across Red river. He is planning to turn this into an experimental fruit and truck farm, believing that this sub-irrigated river land will lend itself well to such experiment.

This tract is located near the new routing of highway No. 51 now being paved to the recently completed free bridge across Red river. It is also near the Frisco railroad line, and material assistance on the part of the Frisco in developing this experiment is promised.

Mr. Hunter is also developing an irrigation project on his farm, south of Quanah, by means of a large dam and lake to be formed from flood waters. He hopes there will be sufficient rainfall soon to enable fall gardens and some feed stuff to be planted this year.

There is many a stop signal on the road to success.

A Wise Program

ONE of the very finest jobs that the federal government is doing is one that gets very little recognition from the ordinary citizen.

By establishing recently a new "primitive area" in Idaho, the government raised to more than 4,000,000 the number of acres of undeveloped land that are to be preserved forever in their primeval condition. The work has been done so quietly that most people have not even heard of it; yet few governmental actions have ever been more thoroughly wise and beneficial.

All over the Far West, from the Canadian border to the edge of Mexico, are vast tracts of land that will never be disturbed by "civilization." These tracts, known as primitive areas, cannot be exploited. No roads can be built through them. No hotels can be put up in them. No hunting will be permitted in their confines.

Through centuries to come they will remain precisely as they were when the first white man came. They will be, in effect, enormous parks for all the people.

Those who wish to visit them will have to rough it; travel by packhorse or canoe, camp in the open, endure life in the wilderness much as the pioneers endured it. The motorist will have to leave his car outside. There will be no "improvements" to spoil the beauty of nature.

All of this is a matter for loud cheers. Will it not mean much to all generations of Americans to be able to get back to the frontier? Will it not be a magnificent tonic to inhabitants of a machine civilization?

Automobiles, good roads and (we trust) a steadily rising scale of prosperity will make these tremendous parks accessible to every one. The good that they will do is simply incalculable. Someone down at Washington has set in motion a program for which his fellow citizens will bless him as long as the nation lasts.

Cheers and Votes

ANY ONE who reads the papers must be impressed by the fact that returning heroes are often very valuable to harassed officeholders.

A recent newspicture taken when Post and Gatty made their triumphal return to New York shows the two fliers riding down Broadway, surrounded by cheering throngs—with dapper Jimmy Walker, mayor of New York, sitting between them and sharing in the cheers.

Mayor Walker has been subjected to a continual sniping for a good many months. Whether or not his popularity with the average New York voter has diminished as a result we cannot say; but, surely, this little ride with Post and Gatty must have been just the kind of help he wanted.

Perhaps this explains the everlasting eagerness of city officials everywhere to give elaborate receptions to visiting celebrities. It all helps. Cheers that you get by accident can often be transformed, later on, into votes.

Tabloids and Their Readers

PEACHES BROWNING'S recent admission that most of the lurid details about her famous—or notorious, if you prefer—romance with Daddy Browning were boldly "faked" by conscienceless New York tabloids is interesting but hardly surprising.

After all, the stories some of those sheets printed were such obvious fakes that none but the most gullible could possibly have been deceived. The only disturbing part about the whole thing, in retrospect, is the fact that there are papers that will do that sort of thing and people who will rush forward eagerly to read when it has been done.

There is a public for that sort of writing, and probably there will always be papers that will cater to it. The fact that the readers get grossly deceived is not important; it is the fact that such readers exist that is dismaying.

Buying on Installment

AUTOMOBILE and household equipment constitute the bulk of the commodities that are bought on the installment plan, according to Guy H. Hulse, secretary of the National Retail Credit association.

The annual installment business of the United States, Mr. Hulse reveals, runs around $6,500,000,000—an amazing sum. Fully $3,500,000,000 of this goes for automobiles. Radios are in second place, with an even billion dollars; electric refrigerators come next, with $800,000,000 and vacuum cleaners follow with $700,000,000.

The nature of the articles bought on the installment system shows how small is the risk involved. An auto, a radio, an electric refrigerator or a vacuum cleaner markes excellent security for the house that advances the money. And the system unquestionably makes for a far wider distribution of these articles than would otherwise be possible.

Q.—How long had the Acadians been in Grand Pre before they were dispossessed?—N. B.

Q.—How does an encyclical issued by the pope differ from a papal bull?—J. C. W.

A.—An encyclical is simply a papal letter of advice or admonition, together with the statement of opinions sent out to all the bishops of the world, and to the faithful, and is not necessarily of the importance or having the authority of a bull, which has the force of a command.

Q.—How close together were the original markers for the Mason and Dixon line?—R. W. B.

A.—When the line was run the surveyors set up stone monuments one mile apart. On the north face was a marking indicating Pennsylvania; on the south Maryland. Each fifth marker was a "crown stone." On these stones the coat of arms of Penn appeared on the north face and that of Lord Baltimore on the south face.

The advisory board is not restricted to these recommendations but usually makes its choice from them.

Q.—When was geography first taught in schools?—D. G.

A.—In the Renaissance period, geography was taught chiefly as an aid to the understanding of Greek and Roman writers. The study was confined, therefore, to the world as known in the classical period. The first modern geography in English written explicitly for use in schools appeared in 1746. It was called "Introduction to Geography" and was published in England by J. Cowley, Geographer to His Majesty. The first professor of geography in an American university was Arnold Henry Guyot, who was appointed to a chair at Princeton university in 1854.

Q.—What pollens usually cause hay fever?—F. D.

A.—A public health broadcast says that the offending substance in the majority of cases of seasonal hay fever, is the pollen from the wind-borne pollinated plants, which includes many of the grasses, weeds and trees. The season of attack, therefore, usually corresponds with the time of the year in which the respective pollen of these plants is being produced and blown into the air. For example, hay fever symptoms caused by Bermuda grass pollen occur in May, June and July; from the Russian thistle pollen, in July, August and September; while from the ragweed pollen, the latter part of August, September and October.

Q.—What method is used in extracting opium?—M. B. C.

A.—Opium is the dried milky juice of the unripe capsules of a poppy which for this product has been cultivated through many centuries. Every species of poppy is capable of yielding it to a greater or less extent. Opium is procured by making incisions in the poppy-head or capsule, taking care not to penetrate its cavity; the juice then exudes in drops, and after being allowed to remain for a day upon the edges of the incision, it is scraped off—a brownish, jelly-like material. As the soft opium accumulates it is molded into roundish lumps or irregular flattened cakes, of various size and put aside to dry. When of proper consistency it is generally wrapped in leaves and sent to market.

Try This On a Hot Day

Whatever they say say about the hard drinking that went on in this country in early days, "Colonial Punch" hasn't even a suggestion of anything alcoholic in it. Dissolve one-half cup sugar in one-half cup orange juice, one cup cider, one-fourth cup lemon juice, and one cup white grape juice. Pour over a large piece of ice to dilllute. It may be drunk with or without a straw.

Innumerable other good things to drink and to eat are told about in the booklet on oranges and lemons which is no available to readers of The Record News through our Washington information bureau. It is a booklet that is especially interesting at this season of the year.

Portrait of Man Talking to Himself

I always knew it would happen . . . I mean that Going-To-The-Country-Over-The-Week-End Idea . . . I've always said it, and I say it again . . . I'm a Big City Boy Who Cannot Make Good in The Country . . . They told me: "If you only go for the one night—the ride out there will make you sleepy—you'll rest like a top—and you'll want to eat a hearty breakfast. It'll do you so much good—you'll get some sunshine, too!" . . . So what happened? . . . So this is what happened . . . My nerves went to hell over strange bumpy roads trying to keep up with the host in the car ahead, who thinks it is sissified to go less than 70 miles an hour . . . The car wasn't the only wreck upon arrival . . . The moment I stepped into his mansion I tripped over a floor lamp wire—knocking the lamp down, and the crash startled me so—the jitters were with me for hours . . . I tossed in bed longer than usual only to fall asleep, and be aroused by—of all things—the twittering of birds! . . . Then the roar of airplane motors followed . . . The good old quiet country! . . . Huh-huh . . . The next afternoon the sun was so devastating it blinded me—and even with all the olive oil smeared on my puss—it coaxed no rosy cheeks . . . The sun-tan lamp at the doctor's is surefire . . . You can't depend on the lamp in the skies . . . I guess my own artificial routine of living is best, after all . . . I've been doing it since 1910 and I look better right now than Hellinger—who has been dead five years!

Hugh Walpole's piece on why novels are written is engaging . . . Some write them for the money, others to express themselves, and many do it for the alleged Fame that goes along with writing novels, he said . . . Most of the novels, it seems to me, are written by people who have been carrying a wound too long—and who want to even matters with other who might have "handed them a deal" . . . The Big Idea in novel-writing, from where I'm sitting, is to "expose" somebody . . . Or it must be packed with naked things—Women Who Give All, and Men Who Take It . . . Or give the alleged lowdown on some one who Amounts to Something . . . If you're not important, no novelist will take the trouble to scold you or even mention you . . . And the people who would have others believe that they are opposed to "sensationalism" in the "sensational newspapers" are usually the readers of the sensational tomes . . . I don't think I'll bother competing with the boys who sweat for six months or longer putting wordage between covers—only to be told by their publishers that things are dull nowadays and that the royalty statements will have to be suspended indefinitely . . . There's more fun and steady wages in writing nothing in a column.

Columbia Pictures is plotting a "Happiness Drive," is it? . . . And would I, as a "public spirited individual" contribute an opinion to the group—so that the viewpoint might help to restore business conditions and a happy populace? . . . The letter will be included under others entitled: "Why I Am Happy" . . . Well, that's the easiest assignment yet—a cinch . . I'm happy for dozens of reasons . . . One of them is this heat . . . It puts such pep and sip into a fellow, don't you know . . . And have I got a swell toothache? . . . Oh, boy! . . . I'm simply mad about this incessant grind, too . . . It keeps a fellow from getting into mischief, they say . . . Ralph Barton was no chump . . . I love the idea of the new edition, due soon, which means an extra day's work . . . Ain't dat sumpin'? . . . And that bulletin on the editorial room board which urges the entire staff to indicate when they prefer taking their fortnight's holiday—with pay . . . Everybody but Walter, that is . . . Some fun, huh? . . . They elected a good guy to tell others how to be happy, they did. . . So long as they brought it up, how about them telling me how?

Wonder if that lad feels that he got the best of it, after all? . . . I mean the chap who wagered $500 with a pal at the Club Calais the other midnight that the woman across the way in the attractive outfit wasn't Peggy Joyce . . . When Peggy learned of the wager she helped settle matters by proving she was the One and Only Joyce Woman . . . The loser paid off pronto—arousing Peggy's sympathy, of course . . . So she let him take her out the next evening . . . Wonder how many $500 bills he can go for? . . . Expressions certainly perish quickly . . . "That's a bowl of cherries!" frixample . . . Wonder what became of "Makin' Whoopee"? . . . What a lotta fun it was arguing over that one . . . The big wallop used to come with reading the antagonists, who defended the word as being ageless—and then they would spell it "whoopie" or "whoppee" . . . They controversied it right into the dictionary! Oh, for a synonym for "Garbo-Gilberting"! . . . I mean one that would pack as much meat as that one had . . . It stood for Love at 100 degrees . . . You couldn't very well say a couple were Vallee-Webbing or Lindbergh-Morrowing and arouse anyone's pash.

It isn't that I am mellowing, at all . . . Perhaps it is because I've found out that nothing is so comical to the average reader as a writer who gets indignant over anything . . . It is really tough competing with those columns on the editorial pages of newspapers—that department dedicated to subscribers who submit sizzling complaints about this or that . . . The newspapers publish them without comment as a rule—dismissing them with the "So what?" attitude . . . Nearly everybody who has a typewriter thrust at him nowadays imagines he must save the community from something . . . This practice, I suspect, began with the anonymous editorial . . . I've done it a lot myself—and as I look back over the files—my face gets pink a little . . . "Oh, nuts!" I find myself saying at pieces I've written, and which were so indignant . . . They've all been forgotten—and most likely were snubbed as soon as they were read . . . Leave 'em laughing, the vaudevillian's slogan, is, after all, the best theme . . . I shall try to follow that henceforth! . . . Reminds me of the time the staff of a rag decided to scold the city officials, the theater, the fashions, and this or that . . . Everybody was writing angrily about nothing—and the monotony of it all was deadly . . . The liveliest column was the obituary department!

There probably would be fewer swelled-heads if some people remembered that Anything Can Happen Tomorrow! . . . That editor, frixample, who told me I had nothing to worry about—that I was all set, etc . . . Mebbeso, mebbeso . . . I've never summed the sitch-ee-ay-shun up that way, however . . . All I can see is that abbreviated pump near the Palace, where I used to rest a pedal while waiting to snap "celebs" with my Graflex . . . My ambition then was to be a photographer, by golly! . . . I told the editor that I'd seen too many people—the victims of sour breaks—who skidded from their perch—back to whence they started . . . Like that lovely Ziegfeld girl, who elevated herself to the post of a mighty executive job at a fancy wage . . . She brought her family on from the mid-West and set them up in style here . . . Everything was honky-dooly for a spell . . . Then suddenly a wholesale massacre took place, and she went out with other fancy-priced executives . . . She may rejoin the Glorified any day now . . . And I think that all columnists and writers, who who have their names signed to their pieces every day, should be forced to confess in huge print, "There are many people who do not like this column at all!"

Prisoner Facing 40-Year Term Urges Young Men to "Keep Straight Path"

"Take a Tip From One Who Knows," Says F. E. Britton In "Confession" Letter From Decatur Jail

Declaring that he had spent the happiest days of his life in the "cold, old jail" at Decatur, F. E. Britton, under sentence of 40 years imprisonment after conviction on three bank robbery charges, Friday wrote what he styled a "true confession" as a warning to other boys and men.

"Take a tip from one who knows, don't break the laws of God and man," Britton writes.

The youthful prisoner, formerly of Wichita Falls, was convicted of hijacking the Loving State bank, the bank at Forestburg, and the Boyd bank in Wise county. Sentences in the three cases totaled 40 years.

His letter is quoted in full below:

Wise county jail, Decatur, Texas, July 16, 1931.

"To whom it may concern:

"This is a true confession of a boy some of you know well. Friends, my name is F. E. Britton, the so-called bank robber. I have been convicted on three charges and have to spend 40 years of life in prison. Boys and men take fair warning from a true confession from the heart.

"You boys and men out in the free world, that are working for the old devil and have your hearts and minds on worldly and sinful things, please take warning and turn to that straight and narrow path and put your trust in God for your soul's salvation and for the things you need, and he will give you everything you need and should have and the greatest of all His gifts is His love and faith. He will make your heart happy wherever you are.

"Boys, I have spent the happiest days of my life here in this cold old jail. God has saved me since I have been here. And with His love and help I'll live for Him here in this world.

"Boys, the life eternal is what we should think about and look to God as the only one that can take us there, so boys don't wait, now is the time to give your heart to God.

"I'm so thankful for what he has done for me.

"Listen boys, this trouble and sinful life is a ruin to you and lots of heartaches to your dear mother and sisters and friends.

"Remember boys, take a tip from one who knows. Don't break the laws of God and man.

"Signed,

"F. E. BRITTON."

DEATH TRIAL MOVE DENIED

Montague Murder Case Set August 3

MONTAGUE, Texas, July 17.—Judge Vincent Stine Friday afternoon overruled the state's motion for a change of venue in the trial of Olin G. Roberson, Nocona nightwatchman, charged with the slaying of V. A. Lyles in Nocona on June 20. Trial was set in Montague on Aug. 3.

The state's motion alleged that prejudice in Montague county in favor of Roberson and against the slain man made a fair trial in that county impossible.

After the court's decision against the venue change, 200 special veniremen were ordered summoned for the trial. Roberson is free under $6,000 bond.

Lyles was shot to death in the business section of Nocona after an exchange of words with Nightwatchman Roberson.

Health and Diet Advice

Health Value of Laundry and Dry Cleaning

What a difference there is between the laundries of long ago—pounding clothes on a rock in the creek to get them clean—and the modern laundry where as many as 22 different operations may be given to one shirt. What a difference between grandmother standing before a hot stove, using "sad irons" and the ironers in a modern laundry which are said to iron wet tissue paper without injuring it.

A first class laundry and dry cleaning establishment gets your garments cleaner than you can make them at home and also sends the clothes back germless. We do not realize how many millions of disease germs we may have in our clothes. This is especially true of garments like men's suits and overcoats and hats.

All clothes should be cleaned frequently. Real cleanliness should not only include the skin but also the underwear, handkerchiefs, hats, coats, suits, gloves, furs, etc. When we mingle with others, we pick up disease germs as well as dirt. It is easier to be healthy if we keep clean. Money spent in cleanliness is wisely spent.

Clean, well pressed clothes build confidence and self respect and in this way have a psychological influence on people who judge you by the freshness of your linen. A clean home means clean sheets, towels, table linen and adds to the health and attracts the kind of people you would like to know.

The laundry not only makes clothes and linen sanitary, but also washes blankets, sending them back to you with the fluffiness and wooliness restored so that they feel almost like new. It is a good plan to have all of your bedding washed occasionally.

If it is possible you should take a visit through an up-to-date laundry and see with your own eyes how clothes are sorted, given three or four sudsings with soft water and a good soap and fresh water. All water is used once and then thrown out. The different fabrics are washed at different temperatures. Clothes are rinsed from four to six times and then placed in spinning baskets rather than wringers, which saves tearing, and the clothes come out thoroughly clean and sanitary. Such well laundered clothes are sterile and you will find that no disease germs come back to your home with your laundry bundle.

Many housewives, even those who have laundry equipment at home, find it convenient to send out the laundry during the summer months. This gives them more hours every day to spend with the children and they may plan a health program for themselves, taking exercises, walks, sunbaths and deep breathing in the time saved. If you follow this plan, you will find the laundry a double health builder. It makes your clothes sanitary and gives you time to build a reserve of health.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Red Face and Chest

Question—Mrs. B. C. writes: "My face and chest get very red at times, especially across my nose, where small blood veins are visible. What would cause this, and how can I overcome the condition?"

Answer—Your blood capillaries are probably breaking down because they do not contain enough calcium or other mineral matter. This may be due to your not eating foods containing these minerals, or simply because they are destroyed after eating, by an acidosis in your system produced by a diet that is improperly balanced, from the standpoint of physiological chemistry. I will be very glad to send you some articles on "Food Minerals" and "Acidosis" as well as some fasting and dieting instructions, if you will forward a large self-addressed stamped envelope.

Strawberries

Question—Mrs. C. W. D. writes: "I have an acid stomach and have had eczema, both of which are much better since following your menus. I am very fond of strawberries, and would like to know if I should eat them?"

Answer—If the strawberries are well ripened they may be used as the dessert at a meal which does not contain starch, but no sugar should be used with them. Cream may be used if desired. During the season, a very palatable lunch may be had by using one pint of raw milk and as many berries as desired of any one kind.

Stomach Cancer

Question—K. H. asks: "Would your system of fasting and dieting have any effect in the way of a cure of an advanced stomach cancer?"

Answer—There is very little hope of curing an advanced case of cancer of the stomach. However, the best regimen is to follow a liquid diet, such as a milk diet, as this seems to give more relief to the patient than anything else.

Agent of Blind School Visits in Electra

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, July 17.—W. S. Tinnin, field agent for the Texas School for the Blind at Austin, was in Electra Thursday and Friday in the interest of the school. He visited several children who had been reported to be either blind or to have faulty vision that kept them from attending local schools.

The majority of the graduates, he stated, were engaged in business and numbers of them attended college after graduating from the Austin school.

INDIANS WIN FIRST GAME, 4-2; RAIN POSTPONES SECOND

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Miss Myrle Neely, former community chest secretary here who is now doing similar work in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., is not too far away from "home" to forget the Spudders, either of the past or the present.

Every now and then a letter drops on this desk from Miss Neely, and it invariably has something in it about our old ball team.

This time she finds words of cheer in the New York World-Telegram, concerning Irving Burns, and and sends them along to us. The passage she marked is by Joe Williams, columnist for the New York paper, who writes as follows:

Arthur "What-a-Man" Shires, sold by the Senators to Milwaukee, will reappear in the big show next year. He probably will take the place of Earl Sheely at first base for the Braves.

The Browns, closely associated with the Brewers, had first call on Shires, but it is understood that they have told Milwaukee to sell Art to the highest bidder. Phil Ball and Bill Killefer are quite willing to go along with Irving Burns, whom they got from Wichita Falls. Burns hovers around the .260 mark, but is something of a fielding sensation. He is likely to set a modern record for assists at first base.

"Failed to Make Good"

Some Texas papers are putting the above headline on their stories concerning the release by the Spudders of Barton (Bochey) Koch. Everyon in Wichita Falls knows this to be untrue, but this impression does not appear to be widespread over the state.

The fact of the matter is that Koch was quite a brilliant prospect. Certainly he didn't make good in the grand style, because he was not given the opportunity. But his release was not occasioned by his inability to play baseball. It was given him because in these days of "re-adjustment" to the economic situation, Texas league clubs are hard put to find clubs of lower classification to which they can send their farm hands.

Did You Know That—

Somehow a report got abroad up East a few weeks ago that Fred Vincent, star fast-baller of the Spudders, was killed when hit by a pitched ball!

The Binghamton, N. Y., sports editor wired me in haste to either confirm or deny the rumor.

We wired back that nothing could kill that man of iron.

How such a report got out is hard to fathom. However, Freddie's recent operation might have had something to do with it. It may have got about that Vincent was on the shelf, and this report probably was exaggerated by some sensationalist.

The Binghamton editor was greatly interested, for it was with the club in that city that Freddie got his start. Also, he spends his winters there.

"Unscheduled Warfare"

After reading this, Wichitans will agree that the old home town is the best place to spend their vacation, after all. It is from Vin Burke's column in the Beaumont Enterprise:

"That recent mosquito infested series at Galveston provided fans and players alike with a new spectacle. A part of the outfielders' equipment was a towel, which they swished about their heads while play was going on. If a fly ball came their way they dropped their swatter and made the putout, then went on with the unscheduled warfare. (Galveston Chamber of Commerce—don't copy.)"

Full Value Received

A fan properly reinforced against the hot sun by an ample supply of home vintage took his place in the stands.

"Hey," he hey-ed, "What's those two players goin' after same ball for?"

"But there's only one player going after that ball," said his neighbor.

"Aw, well," said the vintaged one, "I shee two. How many games going to be played today anyhow?"

"Only one," replied the neighbor.

"Yeah, for you!" was the retort. "But I'm gonna see double-header."

Davis Cup Players Divide Honors As Tennis War Opens

PARIS, July 17. (AP)—Honors were even today at the end of the first pair of singles matches in the tennis battle between England and the United States for the right to challenge France for the Davis cup.

Henry (Bunny) Austin, England's blonde young stylist, defeated Sydney Wood, his American counterpart, 2-6, 6-0, 8-6, 7-5, but strapping Frank Shields beat England's big fellow, Fred Perry, in the second battle of the youngsters, winning in straight sets, 10-8, 6-4, 6-2.

Thus the final result of the American and European interzone play will not be known until Sunday when today's opponents will be reversed for the final pair of singles. Victory either way in the doubles match tomorrow, however, may all but clinch the right to meet the injury-handicapped French for the historic trophy next week.

The real treat for the French tennis fans came after the Anglo-American play was over for the day and the great Henri Cochet came out to practice. France looks to him to save the Davis cup, despite an ailing shoulder that is just rounding into form.

Orphans to Present Iowa Park Program

At 8 o'clock these children will be served a picnic lunch by the ladies of the church on the church lawn.

HOBO CARSON CHECKS SPUDS

Cop Hauls Hungling From Park After Row

Special to The Record News.

SAN ANTONIO, July 17.—Rain interfered with the proposed double-header here tonight between San Antonio and Wichita Falls but not before the Indians had thrown the Spudders for a 4-2 setback in the first game.

Carson was in rare form, holding the Spuds well in check except in the sixth when Garms singled and Stanton walked before Bradbury doubled against the fence to score the pair. The Tribe collected one in the first on three straight singles, tied the score in the seventh, and won with a pair in the eighth when Heath doubled after Nash and Edwards had singled.

With two down, Buck Stanton got the first hit off Carson in the opening inning of the first game but was forced at second on Gullic's grounder to Higgins.

Tribe Scores One

The Indians filled the bases in the home half with three hits in a row and none down, which with a wild pitch netted one run as Flaskamper was doubled at the plate on Higgins' fly to Gullic. Stebbins scored on the wild pitch, and after Nash walked Sanguinet popped to Allday.

After this onslaught, Cooney held the Tribe to one hit for the next three innings. While the Spudders got two off Carson, it was a brilliant pitchers' battle with snappy fielding on both sides, the Spudders turning in two fast double plays.

The Spudders scored two runs in the sixth to take the lead when Garms beat out a hit to Stebbins, Stanton walked and with two down Bradbury sent a mighty wallop to the scoreboard for two bases, bringing both runners in. Bradbury was out at third trying to stretch his hit on a perfect relay by Nash to Hamilton to Higgins.

Kane Calls Cop

Bud Hungling, coaching at first base, had a run-in with Umpire Kane in the sixth inning on a ball hit by Edwards to first base, which the Umpire called a foul as Stanton had fielded it to beat the runner to the bag, and Kane ordered Hungling off the field, calling for a policeman as Hungling refused to go. With Higgins on second base as the result of a hit and sacrifice and two out Edwards flied to Garms, retiring the side.

After the Spudders were retired in order in the seventh, the Tribe tied the score in the home half when, with two down, Flaskamper tripled to the scoreboard and Stebbins followed with a single to center. A steady, drizzling rain had set in and the players slipped around on the field as if they were on roller skates.

The Tribe took a two run lead in the eighth on a couple of singles by Nash and Edwards when, with two down Heath doubled to left, scoring both runners as Garms slid around on the wet grass trying to recover the ball.

The Spudders were retired in order in the ninth.

HOUSTON, July 17. (AP)—Lee and Winegarner were the heroes of the 4-2 victory the Shreveport Sports gained over the Houston Buffs in 13 innings here tonight. In the last of the 13th, after Selph had doubled to send Carey to third, Winegarner made a sparkling play on Peel's hard drive, tagging out Selph coming to third, and then throwing to first for a double play that retired the side. 14-Year-Old Girl Sets Swim Record

NEW YORK, July 17. (US)—It took a little child to lead them tonight as Katherine Rawls, a wisp of a 14-year-old girl from Florida, swam to a world's record, defeating Eleanor Holm of New York, in the national A. A. U. 300-meter medley at Bronx beach.

The time was 4:45 4-5; eclipsing by four full seconds Miss Holm's international standard set in Honolulu in 1929.

When the 2,000 spectators assembled at the pool saw the tiny four feet, eight-inch southerner from Hollywood, Fla., go to start with the young ladies at her side they wondered. What was this diminutive miss doing in such select company with the best mermaids of the country as this specially pitted against her?

That bob haired, boyish looking 90-pounder from the land of the orange blossoms soon showed them. Pa and ma were in the stands and so was brother "Sonny," 6 years old, and sister "Peggy," 8, and growing up, and Katherine wanted to show the folks too.

So she plunged out, and at the end of the 100 yards of breast stroke had two yards on Miss Holm titlist in 1928, 1929, and 1930.

Trainer Mauls Sharkey In Practice Round

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., July 16. (US)—No fighter a few days distant from an important match ever appeared so bad against his training mates as Jack Sharkey did today and the crowd of 300, which braved a slight downpour of rain to witness his labor, jeered and laughed at him as he fought like as armless man against a swarm of angry bees.

Joe Banovic, light heavyweight and former Binghamton neighbor of the American heavyweight title holder, who has resented Jack's attitude and Joe is nothing but a kid from home who had to be tolerated, made his big opponent miserable as he rushed him off his feet, pummelled Sharkey as he willed and absolutely beat his powerful adversary in a round which was one-sided in Joe's favor.

Sharkey could not stop the bull-like charges of Banovic who succeeded in pinning Jack's hands as he started punches and generally maltreated the Bostonian with sweeping left hooks to the head and middle.

STEERS BEAT SHIPPERS, 5 TO 3

Murray Hands Beaumont First Home Loss

BEAUMONT, July 17. (AP)—The Beaumont Exporters lost their first home game of the second half today when George Murray pitched Dallas to a 5 to 3 victory and evened the series.

Taylor's third error started a Steer rally in the eighth that netted two runs and the game, after Cotter's liner which Hughes misjudged in right went for a triple and counted two runs in the sixth. Score:

Twenty Grand Races At Arlington Today

ARLINGTON PARK, Ill., July 17. (AP)—Twenty Grand will go after 73 "grand" tomorrow, with the prospect he will run away from his small, yet mighty select, field and win by himself.

The horse that in succession won the Wood Memorial stake, the Kentucky Derby, the Belmont and Dwyer stakes, earning $134,195 to rang him as America's leading money winner for the season, will go to the post in the $70,000 added Arlington classic an overwhelming favorite to defeat six others to be set against him.

The race, at a mile and a quarter, is the richest 3-year-old stake in the world and promises to attract a crowd upwards of 60,000.

Six crack 3-year-olds—one a stable mate—will line up at the barrier to conquer Twenty Grand, if possible. The stable mate is St. Brideaux, which will run with Twenty Grand as the Greentree entry. The others are A. C. Bostwick's mate, Spanish Play, winner of the Louisiana and Datonia derbies, owned by Richard Norris of Chicago and Pat Knebelkamp of Louisville; Mrs. Katherine Elkins Hitt's Sun Meadow; Sir Ashley, owned by the Belair stud, and C. C. Vanmeter's sensational cutup of the western turf season, Joey Bibbs

Fort Worth Cavalry Troop Wins Prize

CAMP WOLTERS, MINERAL Wells, Texas, July 17. (AP)—Troop B, 124th cavalry from Fort Worth, won the Galveston cup, most coveted honor accorded to units of the 56th cavalry brigade, it was announced after the annual review, attended by Governor Sterling and a number of high ranking military visitors here today.

The cup was given the brigade by citizens of Galveston at the conclusion of martial law in 1920, to be awarded annually to the best cavalry troop in Texas. It is inscribed in appreciation of "unpleasant duty well performed."

The review was the final formation of the national guard encampment and the units of the command will entrain for their home stations tomorrow. After the review, which Governor Sterling took on horseback, he made a brief talk to the command, still mounted.

Sarazen Shoots 70 To Lead Metropolitan

WEST ORANGE, N. J., July 17. (AP)—Gene Sarazen, former national open champion, scored a spectacular 70, two under par, today for a two-round total of 143 to jump into the lead, as 53 survivors in the Metropolitan open golf championship prepared to start down the 36-hole home stretch final tomorrow.

For the second day in a row, Sarazen dominated the tournament. Emerging from the first round with a 73 after taking a 40 on the outgoing nine, Sarazen required a 71 or better to tie or pass Paul Runyan, of the Metropolis club, and Johnny Farrell, of Quaker Ridge, who played in the morning and were deadlocked at 144 each for first honors.

Standing alone behind Farrell and Runyan was Willie MacFarlen, of Oak Ridge, the defending champion, whose 73 today added to his first round part 72, gave him a total of 145.

ROBINS WHIP CARDS, 4 TO 1

Luque, Quinn Hold Champs In Check

ST. LOUIS, July 17. (AP)—Adolfo Luque and John Picus Quinn, two aged veterans of the baseball wars, held the league leading Cardinals in check today and the Brooklyn Robins squared the series at two victories each by taking the fourth and final game, 4 to 1.

In only one inning, the second, were the Cards able to get more than one hit. Hafey's double and Adams' triple gave them their lone run in that frame. Score:

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 17. (AP)—Cotton was comparatively quiet today with an opening advance followed by reactions.

October contracts, after selling up to 9.55, broke to 9.33 and closed at 9.41 with the general market closing steady net 6 points lower to 2 points higher.

The opening was steady 6 to 10 points higher in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables and overnight buying orders which were in considerable volume at the start. There also was some buying here for continental account but the advance of a little over half a cent from the low levels of last Wednesday apparently to have eased the technical position of the market and attracted some realizing.

Selling probably was promoted by a favorable view of the weather and crop news on the average and after some irregularity prices worked off to 9.10 for July or 4 points net lower, while December sold at 9.57, making net declines of about 10 to 14 points in the new crop months.

Liverpool cables reported covering and continental buying in that market. Egyptian futures in the Alexandria market were 29 to 45 points higher and there was an advance of 20 points in the Indian spot quotation at Liverpool. Exports today 5,718, making 6,455,596 so far this season. Port receipts 5,889. U. S. port stocks 2,829,475.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 17. (AP)—Cotton trading was rather sluggish today, being confined largely to liquidation by recent buyers and scaling operations. Prices, after an early gain of 6 to 7 points on good Liverpool cables and generally more favorable foreign news, turned easier.

The favorable effect of recent good rains and lack of buying support with selling by scalpers caused prices to ease off 21 to 23 points from the highs to levels 14 to 27 points under the previous close. After mid-session favorable weekly statistics caused covering and prices rallied 10 points from the lows. Thereafter for the rest of the session prices fluctuated narrowly within the previous range and the close was steady, the general market showing net declines for the day of 5 to 9 points.

Liverpool came in 2 to 3 penny points better than due and private cables stated that shorts covered on German situation and continent replaced long cotton. Manchester cabled that general business in cloth was only fragmentary and yarns were sparingly purchased. First trades here showed gains of 5 to 6 points and the market improved further after the start. October advancing to 9.56 and December to 9.77, up 6 to 7 points from the previous close.

Port receipts 5,289; for week 16,170; for season 8,872,449; last season 8,763,252. Exports 7,399; for week 82,801; for season 6,628,238; last year 6,582,893. Reaction Cuts Into Gains After Early Stock Market Advance

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, July 17. (US)—A flurry of strength in the stock market today gave way to a reactionary trend which canceled most of the early advance, although moderate net gains were retained in most issues. The railroads as a group enjoyed the best improvement, actually closing with an average net gain of over a point and a half.

More so than in any recent session the market was a purely professional affair, with the so-called bull leaders making valiant endeavor to win more extended public following, although with a minimum of success. They were successful in advancing prices during the middle of the session only to retrace their steps as the market closed. Foreign news exerted little or no impression, since the market seemingly has become committed to a conception of a rapidly shifting European picture whose variations are too difficult of interpretation from nearby viewpoint. Volume was 1,300,000 shares.

Danforth and his followers quite plainly utilized United States Steel and American Can in their bullish endeavors, both issues enjoying fair-sized advance before the reaction set in. Steel, however, closed down ½ point on the day and Can one-eighth.

Danforth apparently is relying on faith in the maintenance of the $7 steel dividend to confirm his bullish stand, but at the moment there is little concrete evidence as to the steel corporation directorate's intention. The market is merely engaging in guess-work in striving to anticipate the directors' action at the meeting a week from Tuesday.

Danforth, however, was more successful in his operation in Commercial Solvents, which changed to a new high for the present recovery. Corn Products continued a weak feature, breaking more than three points. Some of the selling undoubtedly developed from the company's loss of the suit with Penick & Ford whereby the latter's patents were upheld against Corn Products; perhaps the substantial railroad stock investments of Corn Products was another contributing factor to the selling.

Radio was brought forward by its most aggressive sponsor and the stock closed up fractionally. It is almost certain to enjoy continued aggressive sponsorship so long as the general market permits. Radio obviously is a highly speculative issue but with generally bullish sentiment prevailing it usually wins a following.

Bull pools were more active throughout the list. American & Foreign Power closed up the slightest fraction on renewal of active pool work whose objective, however was stated to be not far above the present price. One of the street's leading speculators, whose bearishness on foreign power has been a matter of street knowledge for months, was rumored to have placed an actual value on the stock under prevailing circumstances materially below present prices. Gillette advanced more than a point on short covering. Coppers held fairly firm on somewhat more optimistic reports as to foreign buying of the metal.

Montgomery-Ward and Sears-Roebuck both closed higher. The oft-rumored merger of those companies is definitely under discussion and perhaps the consolidation is nearer to actual consummation today than ever before. The department of justice yesterday declined to comment on reports it had been approached for an opinion an legality of the merger. The merger, it is claimed, would result in very substantial savings.

Incidentally, Montgomery-Ward's statement for the first six months of the current year will be issued in the near future and, according to a banker associated with the enterprise, it "will be better than last year."

German currency and its bonds made further progress on the upside, but all attention in the international situation centers on the gathering of European and United States officials over the week-end and Monday.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, July 17. (AP)—Demand continued good today for wheat and oats and other commodities were fairly easy to sell. Slightly higher prices were quoted on wheat and corn. Exporters were bidding 50@50½c for wheat delivered gulf ports. Estimated receipts included: Wheat, 384 cars; corn, 3; oats, 7; barley, 2; and sorghums 2.

Quotations on wheat ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points and Galveston, according to billing:

No. 1 ordinary hard $1@54c; No. 1 hard 14 per cent protein 52@53½; 15 per cent 53@53½c; 16 per cent 54@57½c.

Coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 17. (AP)—Promise of rain relief and of cooler temperatures knocked down corn prices today. Wheat was weakened by reports of increased offers from Russia and by hedging in connection with enlarged shipments to Chicago as well as by a halt in North American export demand.

A statement from the United States department of agriculture said world wheat conditions pointed to another year of very low prices.

Corn closed unsteady 1¼@2½c lower, wheat unchanged to ½c off, oats ½@¾c decline, and provisions unchanged to 12c advance.

Lowest prices of the day in corn were reached during the final transactions. Aside from the bearish influence of an expected break in the heat wave, and aside also from the market effect of predictions of timely moisture, corn had to battle with selling based on belief in some quarters that prices were too high compared with wheat.

Wheat price declines were partly overcome by late reports that an international loan to Germany would be made on condition of a renewal of Young plan payments a year hence when the Hoover moratorium expired.

Provisions were sensitive to reports of a better European outlook.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, July 17. (US)—Resistance of the wheat market on today's setback was taken as strong indication that sentiment remains in favor of the constructive side. It was apparent in the action of the market that there is more confidence in its ability to maintain a moderate recovery from the lows.

With the crop approaching the critical period and weather playing an important part, comparatively wide swings such as prevailed today are expected in corn. The fact that most of the trade continues between locals is an added influence toward a volatile price action.

The Manitoba Free Press report is due tomorrow. It was expected it might show some improvement in conditions following recent rains, but the issuance of the pool report showing lower conditions changed views on the subject today.

Government Trade Analyst Here To Make Survey of Furniture Business

Cooperative work with Wichita Falls merchants to aid in the solution of important problems affecting the furniture trade is being undertaken by the United States commerce department with the arrival in this city today of Roger M. Jennings, market specialist of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

The work to be done in Wichita Falls is part of a general survey of the wholesale and retail furniture industry of the entire gulf Southwest, including Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri and western Tennessee.

Problems of profitable furniture distribution are to receive particular attention in the survey, according to the government's trade analyst. Methods of interesting the buying public in furniture and the tastes of the buying public as to style, quality and price of furniture, are among the points to be taken up with the local furniture merchants. Study will be made of means employed to facilitate purchases through credit extension, and the degree of promptness with which payments are made. Data will also be gathered to show the relative investment in store, equipment and stock found necessary by different types of furniture firms to enable them to serve their public. The results of the general survey are expected to provide the individual dealer with a valuable yardstick for measuring the relative efficiency of his own merchandising methods.

"The furniture study is the fifth of a series of surveys undertaken by the domestic regional division of the commerce department for the purpose of bringing out the economic resources and marketing opportunities of the gulf Southwest region," Mr. Jennings said.

The report of the first survey, "Distribution of dry goods in the gulf Southwest," charts the channels through which more than half a billion dollars worth of dry goods reaches the hands of gulf Southwest consumers each year.

"A second study, just released, petroleum industry of the gulf Southwest" pictures the development and extent of this great industry and its effect upon the Southwest as a market for goods.

"Other reports dealing with the cotton industry and the hardware trade of the gulf Southwest are now in preparation.

"The program of regional surveys forms part of the commerce department's campaign to provide American business with information upon which it may base its war on wastes in distribution which are estimated to reach to a total of $8,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000 yearly."

More than 100 cities throughout the gulf Southwest will be visited in the course of the furniture survey. Important centers besides Wichita Falls which are included in the itinerary are New Orleans, Memphis, Little Rock, Shreveport, Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth, Galveston, Oklahoma City, Kansas City and St. Louis.

Sports of the Old West Slated For Annual Lubbock Reunion

Special to The Record News.

LUBBOCK, Texas, July 17.—Several hundred old timers and many newcomers will mingle on the shady grounds of Johnston's ranch, 12 miles southeast of Lubbock, at the third annual Old Settlers reunion and rodeo July 22, 23 and 24, H. A. "Hackberry Slim" Johnson, general chairman and rodeo director, estimates.

R. C. "Rollie" Burns of Lubbock, W. T. Florence of Slaton, and other pioneers of this section are scheduled to speak. Prizes will be given old timers coming the greatest distance, living on the plains the longest, and to other claimants of allied records.

The Liggett carnival has been engaged to set up at the ranch headquarters to supplement the rodeo, dance, and other events, Johnston said.

A rodeo arena, with the customary pens and chutes, has been constructed for the celebration, in addition to a five-eighths mile track for horse racing and a half-mile track for motorcycle and hobo automobile events, Johnston said.

A total of 1,600 square feet of floor space will be added to the dance pavilion, which already has 3,600 square feet, according to Johnston.

Rodeo events will include bronco riding, wild horse races, wild steer riding, wild cow milking, calf and goat roping, and steer breakaway roping.

A fat man's hill climbing contest, a hobo automobile race, motorcycle events, and band concerts also are scheduled, the general chairman reported.

STORE BANDITS GET 40 YEARS

Heavy Penalties Meted Out In Denver

DENVER, July 17. (INS)—Severe penalties were meted out today to the three asserted St. Louis gunmen who were convicted Wednesday of burglary in connection with the sensational holdup of a large downtown department store here on May 10.

With tears in his eyes, Henry W. Bostleman, alleged leader of the trio, stood while Judge Frank McDonough Sr. sentenced him to from 35 to 40 years on the counts of burglary with explosives and 9 to 10 years on the charge of burglary with force. The sentences will run concurrently.

E. M. Ryan and Joseph Grey, Bostleman's companions, were each given from 30 to 40 years imprisonment.

Charge Against Consul Dropped

the officers walked in. They searched the house and found the beer which they poured out, over my protest."

Valdez said he did not know he was being arrested this afternoon. Miss Barrett telephoned him, he said, and told him she had been asked to go to the police station, and asked him to go with her.

"I have never been served with a warrant," Valdez said, "and didn't even know I was booked at the police station."

According to a report filed this afternoon by Q. A. Ragland, member of the police vice squad, Ragland and two other officers visited the Valdez home Monday night and seized a quantity of alleged beer. The officers said they made no report of the case at that time and no arrest was made then.

A. A. Crossley, one of the police investigators, said he knew Mr. Valdez was permitted to have liquor from his own country but that he believed he was not allowed to "make liquor lawfully."

TELLEZ INFORMED OF INCIDENT

WASHINGTON, July 17. (AP)—Information that H. Valdez, Mexican consul at Oklahoma City, and Miss Kay Barrett were booked by police on charges of possessing and manufacturing beer was given Ambassador Telles of Mexico today by telephone.

Telles communicated his information to Mexico City and sought further details from Oklahoma City.

The state department had received no formal advices on the arrests.

Legal officials cited the international law providing that in the absence of a treaty, foreign consuls are not immune to arrest. The United States and Mexico have no such treaty.

Valdez could not be tried, however, in a state court, the law giving the federal courts exclusive jurisdiction where consuls are involved.

Only recently the state department expressed formal regrets to the Mexico government over sentencing of that country's consul in Chicago to jail for contempt of court. He was released shortly after being confined.

STORM STRIKES IN NEW MEXICO

LAS CRUCES, N. M., July 17. (AP)—A terrific wind storm struck Las Cruces and vicinity this afternoon. It was accompanied by hail and rain.

RAINS FALL IN SCATTERED AREAS
(By The Associated Press)

Rain, hurried by cool winds from the Northwest, was hastening today to relieve sun-baked north central states.

The welcome respite from three days of parching temperatures was promised by government observers last night for not later than today.

Minnesota and North Dakota already breathed freely as showers and winds drove the heat ahead of them. The death toll in the two states increased by two Friday to 13 for the week.

Illinois, Wisconsin, southwestern Michigan, Indiana, northern Ohio, South Dakota and the middle Missouri and upper Mississimmip valleys continued to cringe under temperatures of 100 degrees and over.

Electric Driven Ship To Get Steam Turbines

WASHINGTON, July 17. (UR)—The U. S. S. New Mexico, the first battleship of any nation to be equipped with electric drive, will be propelled by steam turbines in the future, the navy department announced today.

This decision was made, Rear Admiral Samuel M. Robinson, chief of the bureau of engineering, explained, because it was cheaper to modernize the New Mexico

COUNTY HOME AGENT GIVES MANY USES FOR WHOLE WHEAT

GRAIN CHEAP, WHOLESOME

Use Wheat as Cereal, And In Variety of Dishes

By ETHEL LUISE WEBB
County Home Demonstration Agent

Serve wheat to your family is advice well worth taking. Wheat is indeed inexpensive and has the additional advantage of being a food that satisfies the appetite and an excellent source of many of the elements so necessary for good nutrition. The housewife's use of the whole wheat grain has heretofore been almost entirely limited to flour and a cooked breakfast cereal.

Former President Coolidge recently entertained a member of the federal farm board for breakfast, at which wheat and rye porridge was the cereal. His recipe for this seldom-used dish was, two parts of wheat and one of rye, put in a double boiler and cooked until the kernels burst. The former president's enthusiasm for wheat porridge has aroused a new interest in this revised version of an ancient dish. It is a well known fact that Caesar's conquering legions did their fighting with boiled wheat as their principal ration. Wheat porridge is just as good without the rye, in the estimation of the majority.

Wheat as Breakfast Cereal

Whole wheat may be substituted for rice or macaroni, and served with meats and gravy. Whole wheat may be added to soups as a substitute for rice or macaroni.

Use any good rice pudding recipe, substitute amount of wheat for rice and make a delicious dessert.

For a breakfast cereal open a can of wheat, add chopped dates and cream, makes an unexcelled breakfast cereal.

Whole wheat may be combined with meat, fish, eggs or vegetables and served as the main dish of a meal.

Whole wheat may be used as you do cooked rice, as in stuffed peppers. The flavor is similar to that of nuts and if properly cooked the grain retains its shape. These are all good practical recipes and certainly every pantry in Wichita county should have their supply of whole wheat—either stored for use or already canned and ready for human consumption.

Canned Wheat

Clean and wash thoroughly. Coak overnight in twice the amount of water as wheat used, for instance, one cup wheat and two cups water. Next morning drain and wash the wheat again to remove some of the dark brown color. Cover with boiling water and cook five minutes, stirring constantly. Fill pint jars or No. 2 cans two-thirds full, add one teaspoonful salt. Cover with water in which wheat was boiled. Seal and process for 40 minutes at 15 lbs. pressure.

Whole Wheat, Fish and Tomatoes

One-half pound canned fish.
One quart canned tomatoes.
One-half cup chopped celery.
One teaspoonful salt.
One-eighth teaspoonful pepper.
Two cups cooked whole wheat.

Drain the fish, reserving the liquid and flake the fish into small pieces. Cook tomatoes, celery and fish liquid until the mixture is fairly thick. Add seasoning, wheat and fish, and cook a few minutes longer and stir to blend well. Serve on crisp toast.

Whole Wheat Porridge With Dates

Soak wheat overnight. In the morning drain and add three cups of water and one teaspoonful of salt to each cup of soaked wheat. Boil gently for 3½ hours or until tender and no uncooked starchy flavor is noticeable. If necessary add more boiling water during the cooking to keep from getting too dry. Serve for breakfast while warm with chopped dates and cream. This whole wheat may be placed in ice box and kept for several days.

Whole Wheat Muffins

One cup whole wheat flour.
One cup flour.
One-eighth to one-fourth cup sugar.
One-half teaspoonful salt.
Three and one-half teaspoonfuls baking powder.
One egg.
One cup milk.
Three tablespoonfuls shortening.

Mix and bake as for plain muffins.

Whole Wheat Bread

One cup milk.
Two tablespoonfuls baking powder.
One tablespoonful salt.
One-half tablespoonful shortening.
One-half to one yest cake.
Three to four cups flour.
One-fourth cup mashed potatoes.

Mix as for all yeast breads.

Whole wheat is not only good for human consumption but it highly recommended as a good substitute for corn in the feeding of hogs, beef cattle, dairy cattle, horses and laying hens.

Klean Kids Club Enjoys Park Outing

Approximately 35 members of the Klean Kids Klub enjoyed a watermelon and pop feast at the Kiwanis park Friday afternoon under the direction of the city park department. The melons were furnished by R. L. Ward. Overton Irvine of the Wichita Ice company, T. B. Wilkins and the Jones Brothers who have watermelon stands located throughout the city. The pop was donated by the Dr. Pepper and Coca Cola Bottling works and was iced by the New Ice company. Games featured the entertainment.

Confidence in Wichita Falls Growth Shown in New Quarters Of Growing Firm Here

The Zale Jewelry store has moved into its new location at Indiana avenue and Ninth street, and friends and customers are invited to visit the new headquarters Saturday, according to an announcement by William Zale, vice president of the establishment.

With tile fronts of blue and black and spacious display windows, the new store presents a pleasing appearance. Ample floor space is provided inside to care for many customers at one time.

Zale's former location was on the corner of Eighth and Ohio, where the concern had successfully operated for nearly seven and a half years. The change was made to the new home in line with the progress of the company.

No change will be made in the policy of credit convenience and quality merchandise offered at low prices, which will remain as features of the concern, it was announced.

Movement to the new location was begun about July 1, and was completed during the latter part of last week.

Complete and modern equipment adds to the attractive appearance of the interior. Twelve employes are kept busy at this store, and the long line of customers is evidence of the satisfaction received with courtesy service for which Zale's jewelry store has been known in Wichita Falls.
