The Texas-Oklahoma Panhandle Fair Is Now Organized

HUNDRED AND THIRTY AT C. OF C. DINNER

Hundred and thirty citizens of Perryton and surrounding territory were present at the last meeting and which was held in the Epworth rooms at the Methodist church on last Tuesday evening. The dinner was served by the ladies of the Star and it was indeed a sumptuous repast. F. P. Rogers, President of the First National Bank, presided and he proved himself an excellent master of ceremony.

The principal address of the evening was made by George Sweeney of Oklahoma Mr. Sweeney, who is manager of the Sunshine series took as his subject, "The Cow and Its Value to the Farmer." He told many facts concerning the industry which is so vital to the prosperity of the farmer of today. The incident which he related upon a thorough examination of the note case of the bank failed recently at Gage, it was that less than ten per cent of the debt was owed by farmers.

Mr. H. E. Hoover of Canadian presented and made a very interesting talk on the development of the Panhandle. Chas. W. Callaway reported of his trip to Brownsville as the Perryton delegate to the Texas Chamber of Commerce. Talks on various subjects were made by L. L. Price, Mr. Land, Rev. G. H. Bryant, D. D. Jack Allen, H. C. Coffee, Geo. J. W. Wilson, E. C. Carver and others.

One of the most interesting discussions of the evening was on the matter of the petition which has been asked for a freight rate. Several talks were made, and on this subject and facts and figures were brought out both sides of the question. It is a question in the minds of many as to whether this kind of a petition is the proper way to go at the matter of securing a reduction. We are sure that it was the unanimous opinion of all present that the petition of this branch line are paid to pay exorbitant freight on the greater part of all farm products shipped out, more especially cotton and other grains, and also on the incoming shipments. We are sure that this matter can be adjusted if the matter is taken up with the proper authorities of the railroad between the Inter-State and Texas Railroads.

A large number of slogans have been sent and handed in in the slogan contest. It was decided to hold this open until the next meeting which will be on July first. A committee consisting of Jack Allen, C. B. and L. L. Price was appointed to act as judges in this contest. The prize of which will be given a prize of $6.00 or a paid up membership in the Chamber of Commerce for one year. If you haven't your slogan, get busy and win a good one and win yourself a prize.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

Perryton Palo Duro Camp Girls, accompanied by their mothers, Mrs. A. C. Witt, spent a few days of last week at Tandy's where they were very royally entertained. The girls spent these days horse back riding and hiking. Of course there were other amusements such as drives over the hills in a worn out wagon pulled by old faithful mules. Those in the happy company were: Mrs. A. C. Louise Garrett, Etta Mae Garrett, King, Jimmie Hammon, Mabel Ragan, Pearl Ragan, Norma Mabel Cutter and Marie Kent.

Lilly has been busy this week out an order of nine hundred of cement from Perryton to the Ward Construction Co. who have contract for putting in of the new a few miles northwest of the store.

THIRD SURVIVOR FAMOUS ADOBE WALLS FIGHT

Milford, Ind., — Rev. Emmanuel Dubbs of this village wants Texas to know he's not a dead one.

Associated Press reports recently chronicled the fact that on June 27 Texas citizens will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the fight between white men and Indians at Adobe Walls, near Plemmons. The accounts received here stated that only two survivors of that fight are still living—Andy Johnson of Dodge City, Kan., and Fred Leonard of Salt Lake City.

But Rev. Emmanuel Dubbs is a survivor of that battle, too. He lives here in a little home on a side street, with his wife. Together they care for their garden, and tend the chickens. But Dubbs' greatest pleasure, perhaps, is to discuss the 'good old days in the Panhandle,' and he is never so happy as when spinning yarns about his Indian fighting, buffalo hunting on the old time border.

Dubbs was the first judge of Wheeler County, when the county was organized in the early eighties. He served two terms as treasurer of Donley County. And he preached for a number of years in the Baptist Church at Clarendon.

He was born in Ohio, and fought for four years in the Civil War. He was twice wounded, and at Stone River was picked up with Confederate dead and taken to a Southern hospital being reported "killed" as a result, on the Union casualty lists. After the Civil War he went to Indiana. When his lumber mill there was destroyed by fire in 1871, he started westward in a covered wagon with his wife and what few personal belongings they saved from the fire.

Reaching Western Kansas, Dubbs worked for a time grading for the railroads that were slowly pushing into the wilderness. Then he became a buffalo hunter. At that time the herds of buffalo often darkened the plains as far as the eye could see.

In 1874, Dubbs was one of a large party of buffalo hunters who went from Dodge City to Adobe Walls, where they set up a sort of headquarters, with the tumbledown adobe buildings as the center of a defense against possible attacks by Indians. Dubbs and three companions pushed on past Adobe Walls, and one night while they were camped about where Lelia Lake now stands, Indians stole their horses.

Next day Dubbs went out to hunt for the animals. He was gone almost all day, riding the one horse that the Indians failed to steal. As he returned, about sundown he saw signs of Indians near his camp. Creeping to the top of a hill, he looked down into his camp, where he saw the bodies of his three companions, who had been tortured to death by the Indians.

Dubbs cautiously started back. The Indians suddenly appeared in pursuit. They chased him many miles over the plains, Dubbs said, until the gathering darkness he made his escape.

Dubbs pushed on all night, until his horse fell dead of exhaustion. He then walked the rest of the way to Adobe Walls, and shortly after his arrival there the Indians surrounded and attacked the town.

In the fight that followed, which is part of Texas history, the Indians finally were repulsed and withdrawn. Superior marksmanship on the part of the frontiersmen saved the day for the buffalo hunters, although several of their number were killed.

Later, Dubbs returned to Dodge City, where for a time he ran a dairy. In a few years, however, he went again into the Panhandle and became a "squatter." He gradually developed a little farm and truck garden, and as the town of Mobeetie grew up nearby he sold his product there. Then the county was organized, "and to my surprise they elected me judge," said Dubbs in telling about it the other day.

There was no courthouse and there were no law books. The statutes came overland by wagon from Austin, Texas, by way of Dodge City. Judge Dubbs administered justice on days when he was in town to peddle vegetables.

PERRYTON MUNICIPAL BAND TO GIVE PROGRAM

The Perryton Municipal Band will give a special program in the near future for the purpose of raising funds to pay off the remaining indebtedness on some of the instruments which are the property of the band. No doubt they will be greeted by a capacity audience for the high quality of their programs and their ability to please has been proven in the past.

And now, we want to ask, "Have you signed up to support the band for another twelve months, and if not, then why not?" At the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce on last Tuesday evening the band committee reported that of the $100.00 per month required to pay the salary of the director, they have only secured $55.00. If the boys have called on you and you have turned them down, then we are asking you to re-consider and "do your bit" be it ever so small. If the band committee has not seen you, then look them up and give them the surprise of a life-time by making a liberal subscription. Now this plea for subscriptions is not just to business men, it is to the entire citizenship of Perryton and surrounding country. Somehow the idea seems to be prevalent in this community that the man in business has to foot the bill in all community affairs. This is not right. The title of citizen carries with it the obligation to support and aid all worthy public enterprises and you are not living up to your name if you do not do all in your power to support public movements, enterprises and institutions. The private citizen does not have to subscribe as much as the business house but he should do his part, not only in this but in other similar movements.

W. H. LANCE

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Lance, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Lance and son, Herring, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Conley and son, Audie and wife, returned the latter part of last week from Chillicothe, Texas where they were called on account of the fatal illness of their father and grandfather, W. H. Lance. Mr. Lance died in Fort Worth, Texas at 10:20 on Tuesday of last week at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. B. Phipps and son, Lucius Lance. He was a native of the state of Georgia and had lived in Texas for the past 34 years. At the time of his death he was almost eighty years of age. Mr. Lance is survived by his wife to whom he had been married for almost fifty-eight years, and the following children, Mrs. John Webb, Mrs. Manda Byers, Sam Luther and John Lance, all of Chillicothe, Mrs. J. B. Phipps and Lucius Lance of Fort Worth and Mrs. J. B. Conley and L. L. and L. H. Lance of this county. The deceased was a member of the Methodist Church and had been a member of the Masonic lodge for thirty-six years. This organization had charge of the burial services which were held at the Big Valley cemetery near Chillicothe on Thursday of last week. Rev. Merrell, pastor of the Chillicothe Methodist Church, preaching the funeral sermon. In this sad hour the Herald tendered their heartfelt sympathy to our fellow citizens.

Mesdames Ed Morgan and C. F. Jones entertained the following guests at dinner last Sunday in honor of Miss Eula Mae Hitchcock of Panhandle, Texas who is visiting friends in this city: Misses Mary and Louise Garrett, Nina and Mertice Glasgow, Marie Kent, Myrtle Rogers and Aleene Williams.

Horace Mann came in Tuesday from his home in Illinois to spend the summer in the home of his sister, Mrs. E. B. Beever.

tables on his route—court never convened till he had seen his customers first.

In later years, Dubbs served as treasurer of Donley County. Dubbs has four sons still living in Texas and one in Oklahoma.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

PERRYTON EQUITY STOCK- HOLDERS MET MONDAY

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Perryton Equity Exchange attracted one of the largest crowds that has been in Perryton for several months. It was estimated that at least five hundred were present at the big basket dinner. One hundred and forty answered the roll call. The business of the Perryton Equity has made a steady increase every year since its organization and today the volume of business transacted is probably the largest of any concern in the North Panhandle. Good management combined with real co-operation on the part of the members is the reason for the phenomenal success and growth of this institution.

J. H. Norwood, T. H. Blair, W. B. Dennison, F. P. Rogers, Pruner Apple and T. W. Gray were re-elected to the Board of Directors. New directors elected were John Jantz, H. C. Brillhart and Jno. N. Stump. The Board of Directors re-elected the same officers who are J. H. Norwood, President, T. W. Gray, Vice-President and F. P. Rogers, Secretary-Treasurer.

By an almost unanimous vote, it was decided to change from the present charter to the Texas Co-operative charter. This puts the business under the direct supervision of the State Marketing Department. The State Marketing Department operates along the lines of the State Banking Department and it means that the books and records will be subject to examination of the state officials just as banks are.

The proposition of buying another elevator here at Perryton was discussed and this matter referred to the directors with instructions for them to act as they see fit. A proposition was also made by the Huntton Equity to become a part of the Perryton organization. This question was also left for the decision of the directors.

The members voted by a large majority that on and after June 25th, they would purchase grain from members of Perryton Equity and Texas Wheat Growers Association only. However they will continue to sell to both members and non-members.

A number of excellent speeches were made. Judge Gaugh of Amarillo, President of the Texas Wheat Growers Association made a splendid address. J. B. Cartwright also made a talk on the question of the Huntton Equity becoming a member of the Perryton Equity.

The progress made by this organization is a real testimonial to the value of co-operation. We feel that if every community had their farmers as well organized with all pulling together like they do here, it would be a short time until the farmers of this nation could set the price for their product instead of having to say, "What will you give me?"

CITY MEAT MARKET BUYS SLICING MACHINE

The City Meat Market in keeping with the progressive policy maintained by Manager Kellam has just ordered an American meat slicing machine which costs several hundred dollars which will put this popular market in better position than ever to accommodate their many customers. The new machine will enable them to slice many of their meats and dairy products to a uniform thickness. Jack is a stickler for having the best of everything and there are few markets that are as sanitary and up to date as the City Meat Market.

Wilbur Barker was severely injured last Monday afternoon when he attempted to stop a runaway horse belonging to E. Hall. Little Andrew Wilson was riding the horse when it became frightened and started to run. Mr. Barker tried to stop the horse at the entrance to the alley east of the White House Lumber Co. He was knocked down and run over. At the present time he is reported to be much better.

James Daniels of the Gray neighborhood was shopping here last Wednesday.

JOHN RANDOLPH WRITES FROM REDLANDS, CALIF.

Having read the letter written by Mr. Myers in the Ochiltree County Herald, I feel like defending California in some of the things he wrote. In the first place nearly every one from the east heads directly for Los Angeles or the coast country. A great many of them, having never been in a big city, the rush and jam of the cars and the people put such a scare into them that they imagine every other person they meet is a cut throat or a robber. They form their ideas from the sensational newspaper, and do not find out about the good being done. Los Angeles has great Churches, nearly in the heart of the business districts. Mrs. McPherson has built with out money to start on, one of the most wonderful churches in the world. Mr. Myers said they use foreigners on the police force out here so they can get by with all kinds of crime and graft. From the account of things at Washington I don't believe that would be necessary there. Mr. Myers must have landed in a Catholic community, because every place I have been there are lots of Protestant churches attended by a friendly class of people. The Baptist church in this small city of 13000, has contributed $68,000.00 to the world wide movement. Any one should have known that Southern California was irrigated also statistics show that Los Angeles county is the richest county agriculturally in the United States. If any one wants to see a fine country after they are scared out of Los Angeles they should turn due east, and they will see things that will make their old tired Panhandle eyes glad. They will see fig and peach apricot and apple orchards, and groves of walnuts and pecans, fields of truck and alfalfa, also at one place they will see over 5000 acres of grapes in one field. Water is not scarce, and they do raise oats and barley and other winter crops with out irrigation. The Jap is soon to go as he can not lease or buy land any more. A great deal of irrigation is done on Sunday, on account of having to take water in turn. There are also lots of seventh day adventists here, who keep Saturday and work on our Sunday. Around Redlands you will see hundreds of acres of Oranges, lemons and grape fruit, now in full bloom, and this together with the masses of roses and other flowers every where, make the whole country smell like a perfume box.

I will never go back on Ochiltree county and her people, they can't be beat but I do believe it will do any one good to really come and see this country. I have a notion that some real estate sharks have bitten Mr. Myers, he seems to know how they operate any way.

John Randolph.

S. H. COX IN CASH AND CARRY BUSINESS

S. H. Cox, proprietor of the Perryton Mill has recently opened up a grocery store at the mill. This new business will be conducted on the cash and carry basis. Mr. Cox figures that he will be able to offer attractive prices on account of the elimination of so much overhead expense, such as clerk hire, bad collections, etc.

Paddy Bohanon, foreman of the Coots Ranch was in town on Tuesday of this week getting men to help in the first cutting of alfalfa hay. The Coots Ranch has one of the largest and best alfalfa meadows to be found anywhere, there being two hundred acres. It is extra good this year and will make many tons of good hay to feed the big herd of pure bred Herefords.

Guy E. Holt spends much of his time at Beaver these days looking after the installation of the plumbing and heating in the new school building at that place. Mr. Holt has the contract for this big job and he is doing it in his usual high grade way. Perryton is fortunate in having a man who understands modern plumbing and steamfitting as well as Guy.

PERMANENT BUILDINGS AND RACE TRACK WILL BE CONSTRUCTED

TO BE INCORPORATED

At the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday evening of this week, the report of the fair committee, Messrs. M. R. Coffee, Geo. M. Perry, W. B. LaMaster, C. W. Callaway and H. C. Coffee, was read and adopted. The date of the fair has not been decided upon as yet but it will be held on date to be selected by the executive committee that will not conflict with other fairs in this immediate locality. Arrangements have been made with the county for a lease on a part of the eighty acre tract recently acquired by the commissioners. This land adjoins the city on the west and is now a part of the Lawrence farm. A corporation will be formed and stock issued. Present plans are for the erection of as many permanent buildings as possible this year the building of a race track and all other improvements that can be financed. After due consideration it has been decided to not attempt to put on a free fair, but to charge a small admittance fee at the gate. A real fair cannot be put over without an admittance charge to help in the support. We are not as fortunate as our neighboring Oklahoma counties who are able to raise much of their fair money by taxation. It has also been decided to take in a large scope of territory, to make this something larger than a mere county affair. All neighboring counties in Texas and Oklahoma will be included and Vice-Presidents and Directors from each of these counties will be appointed. There are still many department heads and officers to be chosen. The following officers have been selected to date:

Geo. M. Perry, President; H. C. Coffee, Active Vice-President; Executive Committee, W. B. LaMaster, Chas. W. Callaway, M. R. Coffee and Van W. Stewart; Treasurer, Leon Roembach.

Superintendents — Finance, Chas. W. Callaway; Pageant, L. S. Hobbs; Concessions, Amusements and Entertainment, M. R. Coffee; Grounds and Buildings, W. D. Tenney, Clyde Cofer, R. C. Allen and others; Publicity, Van W. Stewart; Agriculture, H. C. Coffee; County Agent Hutchinson was appointed head of the agricultural department for Ochiltree County. Heads of the other counties and localities will be announced later. Implements, B. B. Kent; Retail Merchants Display, Sam Hergert; Automobiles and Accessories, Creed Walker; Womens Department, Mrs. F. A. Edwards; Practically all the heads and committees in this department have been named. A list of them will be run on our next issue: Cattle, Horses and Mules, G. C. Brillhart; Beef Cattle Division, G. C. Brillhart; Dairy Cattle Division, P. H. Sebastian; Horse and Mule Division, Ed Littleton; Swine, J. L. Donley; Poultry, W. B. Lilly; Catalogue, Ribbons and Premiums, W. B. LaMaster, F. P. Rogers and Van W. Stewart; School Exhibits, David D. Shanks; Grounds, Thos. Thompson. This includes policing, parking information, telephone, rest rooms, water, signs and in general anything that may be found necessary for the convenience and comfort of patrons.

INSTILL IT YOUNG!

INSTILL IT DEEP!

Every father is qualified to teach and stress the importance of thrift—whether he be personally a success or failure. If he is a success—he has known and practiced THRIFT. If he has failed, he has acquired a keen appreciation of the value of money, wherein Thrift pays.

Many successful careers have started with the habit formed by dropping pennies into small home-saving banks. And many fathers have talked thrift until they acquired it themselves.

When the home bank is full—deposit the savings here. We pay interest on saving accounts.

Misses Grace and Jessie Bryant who are employed as teachers in the Amarillo schools came in Saturday to spend the summer months in the home of their parents, Rev. and Mrs. G. H. Bryant.

SOIL COMPOSITION OF OCHILTREE COUNTY

According to maps published by the Bureau of Soils found in Ochiltree County. Amarillo silty clay loam:—The surface soil consists of light brown silty loam averaging in depth from 3 to 5 inches. Below this to a depth of 18 to 24 inches the soil is redder and heavier in texture. Calcareous material is found at a depth of from 18 to 24 inches. The surface soil is friable and easily tilled after the first plowing but when not cultivated it is quite firm and compact.

The surface is gently undulating to gently rolling and in many places has the appearance of a perfectly level plain. It was formed by the weathering of the heavier Tertiary deposits, and it is probable that the wind has played an important part in the formation of the silty layers that covers the surface.

This type is low in phosphoric acid but good in potash and lime with a actual nitrogen for a possible production of 33 bushels of corn per acre.

Amarillo Loam:—The surface soil consists of dark brown, brown, sometimes reddish brown loam to heavy sandy loam, ranging in depth from 8 to 14 inches. The subsoil is usually a brown or reddish brown heavy loam or sandy loam. The soil is friable in texture when cultivated, but in the uncultivated state packs hard on drying.

This soil is one of the most productive of this section being good in phosphoric acid and potash and high in lime with a total nitrogen content for a possible production of 48 bushels of corn per acre.

Richfield silty clay loam:—This soil consists of a dark grayish brown or nearly black silty clay loam, varying in depth from 8 to 18 inches. The soil bakes very hard where not cultivated. It is compact and difficult to break, but, after being brought in a good state of tilth, it is easily kept in a mellow condition. The sub soil is a light grayish-brown silty clay loam or clay, rather heavy and compact. Spots of white calcareous matter occur at a depth of 24 inches or more.

The surface of this soil is nearly level, and to the eye the land appears as flat as the floor. This type was formed in the same way as the Amarillo silty clay loam.

This soil is widely distributed in this county and is also very productive, being good in phosphoric acid, potash and lime with a total nitrogen content for a possible production of 33 bushels of corn per acre.

Alluvial and Broken land:—These soils are found along streams and as a rule the alluvial lands are very fertile. The characteristics vary with that of the formation from which it has been derived by being washed from the upland.

An interpretation of the analysis indicate that lime is good or high in all samples. While nitrogen appears to be the element most liable to become deficient in these soils. Considering the fact that these soils are deep, and plants root deeply in them most of them are well supplied with nitrogen.

Nitrogen in many instances is much the lowest of the relative deficiencies and is, therefore, the controlling element.

Nitrogen is also more easily lost from the soil than the phosphoric acid or potash. It is also easily secured from the air by growing legumes, as clover, alfalfa, soy beans, etc. By turning these legumes under, or grazing them off, or feeding them and then applying the manure, the nitrogen secured from the air is returned to the soil for the use of other crops, such as milo, kafir, cotton, sorghum, etc.

Nitrogen is most likely to be the deficient element in the Panhandle soils, in case any one is deficient. Phosphoric acid comes next, while potash is not likely to be deficient at all, at least for some time to come.

Hints From a House-Wife's Kitchen Diary

Spring Dishes And Hints

IN THE SPRING—ENAMELED WARE PAILS

A woman who believes in taking advantage of all the winter sales of housewives' utensils was wandering through an enameled-ware department recently. Her attention was arrested by two women, one of whom was buying four enameled-ware water pails. Her companion said: "When you live in a city and have water on every floor, what do you want with four water pails?" To which the buyer replied: "In the first place, spring cleaning is not far away, and I know by long experience that nothing is so convenient to use, nor such a saving of labor, at that strenuous time, as water pails—one for scrub water and one for rinsing water. With four pails two people can work at once with great saving of time." "Besides," she continued, "when the first mild spring weather comes, not warm enough to begin with ice again and yet mild enough to worry a bit about milk and such things, I find very cold water in an enameled-ware pail an excellent refrigerant. Milk cans and jars of butter, set in the pail, will keep sweet, and there is no danger of the enameled ware being rusted, as is the case when metal pails are used."

four good-sized apples, pared, cored and cut up. Add two cupfuls of boiled rice and one cupful of sugar, half a teaspoonful of cinnamon and a little grated nutmeg. Just before putting in the oven, pour over two tablespoonfuls of cold water. Cook in a slow oven until the apples are very thoroughly cooked into the rice. If it is more convenient, this dish can be prepared at noon and heated again for supper.

HOW TO BOIL FISH WHOLE

Fish is an important article of diet, but some people find fried fish difficult to digest. A codfish steak, while it is very nice fried, is more digestible boiled. It used to be difficult to boil a codfish steak (even when wrapped in a cloth) without its breaking, but in the small oval enameled-ware boilers which are provided with a tray, cod and halibut steak can be cooked perfectly with no trouble. Lift the tray with the cooked fish upon it out of the kettle and slip the fish off on the platter. A very nice sauce for boiled fish, and a change from the regulation cream sauce, is made by cooking canned tomatoes in an enameled-ware saucepan until very soft. Rub through a sieve with an enameled-ware spoon, add a teaspoonful of butter, salt and pepper to taste; then pour over the fish.

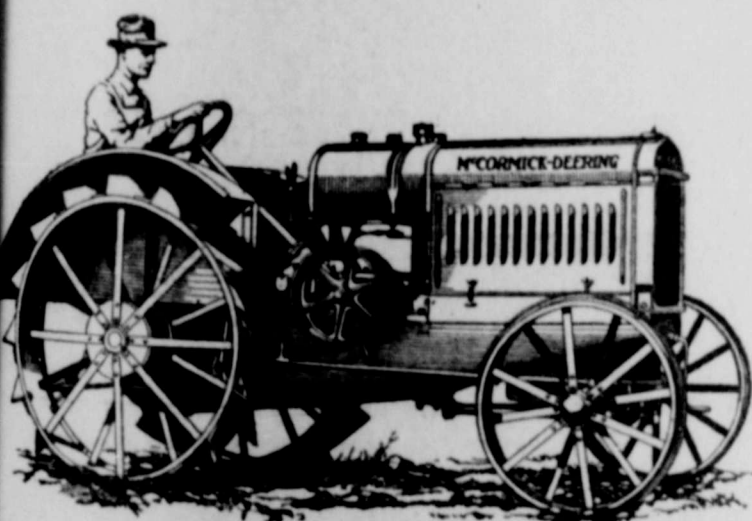

A NEW WAY TO COOK RICE

South Carolinians think they know all about rice and the methods by which it may be prepared. Nevertheless, a South Carolinian admitted at a Sunday supper recently that he was obliged to come north to meet the combination of rice and apples. As he highly approved of the novel dish, it may be taken for granted that it will be welcomed in other quarters. It, moreover, has the advantage of being easily prepared and of being as good when warmed over as when fresh. Butter an enameled-ware bake dish and put in three or

FUNNELS THAT ARE SAFE

Ladles, dippers, skimmers and spoons of enameled ware we all are familiar with, as constant assistants in the kitchen, but all housewives do not appreciate the value of enameled-ware funnels. These are most useful in filling jars of preserves and glasses of jelly and in the preparation of fruit juices. They are not less useful for sauces, especially when such sauces contain vinegar or active acids of any kind. Two sizes of these funnels will be found a welcome addition to any kitchen equipment.

Special Tractor Warranty

The seller agrees to replace free the two-bearing crankshaft in any 10-20 or 15-30 McCormick-Deering Tractor, should it break during the life of the Tractor, provided the broken parts are promptly returned to the factory or one of its branch houses. Further, the seller agrees to replace free any crankshaft ball bearing in the 10-20 or 15-30 McCormick-Deering Tractor, which may break, wear out or burn out during the life of the Tractor, provided that the defective ball bearing is promptly returned to the factory or one of its branch houses.

You Get This Warranty

Every purchaser of a McCormick-Deering tractor gets the above warranty in writing as a part of the purchase contract. It is without doubt the most liberal and far reaching guarantee of its kind ever made. In the history of the automotive industry, including engines, automobiles, trucks and tractors, no warranty equal to this one has ever been given before. This warranty guarantees the crankshaft bearings against breaking, wearing out or burning out, for the life of the tractor, and guarantees the crankshaft against breakage for the life of the tractor. This warranty means two things. First, that the McCormick-Deering tractor owners are relieved of all worry about the main bearings and crankshaft. Second, it shows the complete confidence the Company has that this improved construction is the very best for a farm tractor. Ask for a written guarantee on the main bearings and crankshaft of the tractor you select. It will be protection for you.

DELINQUENT TAXES

The Randall County News published at Canyon, Texas for the past two weeks has been publishing a report of the lands and town lots assessed on the tax rolls of Randall County on which the 1923 taxes are delinquent. We would just like to ask how long it has been since a delinquent tax list was published in this county, if one was ever published. Is it right that some people are allowed to go on year after year with their taxes delinquent, remaining in possession of their property while other people are public-spirited enough to pay their taxes thus carrying the burden of the government for the "slacker" who does not pay his taxes. The delinquent taxes of the County of Ochiltree, the Perryton Independent School District and the City of Perryton amounts to several thousand dollars and we know that the administrative officers of these three organizations could use every dollar of this tax money if it was collected. If the delinquent tax list was published every year, many people that are now back would pay their taxes rather than let everybody know that they were falling down in keeping up their part of the expense of running their county, their school and their town. Now, we don't want to be mis-understood. All parties who are delinquent in their taxes are not "slackers". Some have been absolutely unable to pay. This is the case this year and will always be so, but there are others who would have made some provision for the payment of their taxes if they had known in advance that all delinquent taxes would be collected.

"Feet are important," we read in a newspaper. It may be true, but they seem very unimportant when we are trying to stand up on icy sidewalks.

Folks who have the mistaken notion that they should act as officers of the law, instead of with them, when needed, will come to grief sooner or later.

Happiness is the cheapest thing on earth, but too many people think it costs money.

Few motorists need balloon tires to get up in the air.

FINANCING FARM MORTGAGES

January 1, 1920, census bureau showed $7,857,700,000 farm mortgage debt.

The census enumerators only returned $4,003,767,192, having secured returns on only about half the mortgaged debt.

Based on these facts farm mortgage debts, January 1, 1924, were estimated at $10,500,000,000.

The loans carried on farm mortgage debts are distributed as follows: carried by farm mortgage bankers, $2,450,000,000; farm loan companies, $1,600,000,000; life insurance companies, $1,672,900,000; fraternal insurance companies, $2,884,864,313; federal land banks, $799,596,834; joint stock land banks $392,638,853.

This is a remarkable showing of small percentage of farm mortgage debt mostly held by farm loan bankers and insurance companies with aggregate farm values as security of $70,000,000,000.

American agriculture is operated on about 15 percent of borrowed capital and 85 per cent of capital owned by the farmers themselves.

This is a remarkable contrast to all other lines of business, industries and corporations run on an average with 50 per cent or more of borrowed capital.

Fellows who go through life looking for a soft spot to light can generally find it under their hat.

Not all ambitious men seek public office.

SCHOOL TEACHERS

The following editorial is from the pen of Editor Warwick of the Canyon News. We heartily endorse every word of it and think that he could have put it stronger. We have heard this "stuff" about Texas educators so much for the past few years that we are "cram" full of it. Warwick is right. Why should we insist on getting Texas teachers when our schools are so far down on the list. If the schools of other states rank far ahead of ours, then it stands to reason that the graduates of these schools are better prepared as educators than the graduates of Texas schools.

"A number of newspapers are crying for the appointment of a Texas man to become president of the university. That is well and good if the proper man can be found in Texas. If he proper educator cannot be procured in Texas, what is the matter of importing one. The plea is made that a Texasman will better understand the education needs of Texas. Is education so much different in Texas that only Texas understand education in this state? Perhaps if Texas had followed the lead of other states in education, we would not stand 38th down in the line in education, and it would not now be necessary for our advanced students to go to the east or the west to get advanced training. And furthermore, if Texas would take warning from some of the sister states in education, perhaps we could keep for Texas children a few of the great educators who have been in the state, but have been called to responsible positions in other states. The News trusts that the regents will call the biggest educator in America to head the university—whether he lives in Texas or not."

People who cash in on their mistakes are the kind who have to rent safety boxes to keep track of their bonds.

No man is so meddlesome as the man who retires and has nothing else to do but look after other people's business.

Wonder if we will ever live long enough to realize that Utopia is where there will be no such animal as a congressional investigation.

Along about the time when we dream of the day when there will be no more ashes to empty, it's time to begin spading for garden.

Some educators are worrying about our vanishing vocabulary. But we can't agree it is disappearing after listening to some people talk.

Oil promoters in Arkansas are under suspicion. They will probably find, like Doc Cook did down in Texas, that watered stock and oil do not mix.

The man who devotes all of his time criticizing others never has time to pick out his own faults.

It may take money to make money, but it also takes money to lose money.

MARS WILL TEACH US.
HOPE FOR THE HOPELESS.
ONE GOOD DEED.
THE GREAT DERBY.

Sending photographs by wire is at last perfectly successful. This will mean more to the education of this earth than we can realize now. Merely gratifying curiosity or capturing criminals by telephotography on this little planet isn't the important thing.

What can be done on wires can be done through the ether that separates this earth from other planets in our family.

We shall get from these planets radio portraits showing faces of their strange inhabitants and radio "blue prints" from Mars showing us how to dig canals to store the waters of the oceans when frost, rain and attrition make this earth perfectly round, leaving no natural cavities to hold the water.

If the earth were absolutely round, as it will be in a few million years, the ocean would cover it about a mile deep everywhere. We must know how to prevent that. Mars, tens of millions of years older than Earth, will reach us by radio.

If that sounds preposterous remember what you would have said twenty years ago if you had been told that a preacher in Chicago some day would be heard in Los Angeles and Newfoundland in the same second.

Republican gentlemen that tried to "frame up" Senator Wheeler, as corrupt detectives once in a while "frame" a victim when they need a scapegoat, are in trouble. Men in Montana who thought that copper should control the State, and the men in Washington who thought oil should control the Nation, both disliked Wheeler and decided to put him in jail. They will wish before the thing is over that they hadn't made that attempt. It wasn't a good time for it, although it has doubtless often been done before.

Here's hope for the business victims of hay fever. Mr. Coolidge, who has a "rose cold," sits for forty-five minutes in an air-tight room, breathing in air mixed with chlorine gas. He leaves saying "the trouble is gone."

Chlorine gas cures colds in men and epileptic in horses. Why should it not cure, or at least relieve, hay fever that tortures thousands for weeks every year?

When European nations decided to take what money they could get from China after the Boxer uprising, the United States got some of the indemnity money and then realized that it was a "black" money. The money was sent back to China to be used for education. China now thanks the United States Minister, saying that other nations have followed our example.

"So shines a good deed in a naughty world."

The Dutch Reformed Church of South Africa opposes prohibition, saying: "Wine is the gift of God which no one should desecrate." That church takes seriously the Bible statement that the founder of Christianity, by a miracle turned water into wine, to make a wedding more cheerful. Some American preachers say the wine thus produced was non-alcoholic. But is it likely that wedding guests would have considered that a miracle worth while?

The Senate Committee of Agriculture rejected the Ford bid for Muscle Shoals by a vote of 10 to 6. That isn't final, but it shows how difficult it is to get anything through in Washington sometimes. It isn't quite so difficult if there is a "little black bag" with the right kind of lining in the offering.

Wall Street men will discover that Secretary Mellon who had no trouble in cutting hundreds of millions off the national expenditures, will easily find a way to finance the soldiers' bonus.

Tens of thousands gather at Louisville, Kentucky, all excited, eager, speculating, betting on "the great American Derby." The winning horse will get $50,000. For half the money that a good jockey earns in a week you can buy an automobile that will run any ten race horses to death every day and never get tired. Speed in horses no longer means anything useful. Facing, betting, horse excitement will continue, for it takes men a long time to get over anything they have been doing for a thousand years.

A man who gets up wrong in the morning shouldn't make others suffer for it.

True friendship is the kind that wears well no matter how rough the road.

Friendship ought to be valued for what there is in it and not what we get out of it.

Tax reduction is not a question of politics, but of pocketbook.

Some men want to keep a stiff upper lip by wearing bristles on it.

He who gets pleasure out of work has something to be thankful for.

Clover had previously seemed to be in excellent health and bade fair to last some time to come. In his heyday he was a dashing racer with a pedigree to be proud of, but for the past few years has been unable to do any hard work. He had belonged to Dr. Myers for more than three decades. Mrs. Warren G. Harding sent a check of $100 about a year and a half ago to Dr. Myers as a contribution to Clover's old age fund. Other checks for substantial amounts were forthcoming, and thousands of dollars were contributed. Two years ago the horse was exhibited in Madison Square Garden. Poem Uncle John COMES NOW, the glad "Vacation-time" so happened an' real... Seduction is her favorite crime, though she delights to steel—She baits us with an art sublime—red-tails in appeal... She baits us from her arborescent fern—She calls from Bad-hurst by the sea, or, Bass Creek at its turn—and when she casts her lure at me, she reckons I am there!

So—out from Mammon's fierce demands, my weary soul would fare... You'll see me spittin' on my hands—my golf-ball in the air—sweet maid—yer uncle understands—Gwendolyn, I'll be there!

LAND WILL BE OFFERED IN FROM 320 TO 500 ACRES

The 57,000 acres of state land in Dallam and Hartley counties will be offered for sale to the highest bidders in tracts of from 320 to 500 acres, according to J. T. Robinson, land commissioner, who inspected the tracts in both counties before leaving for Austin.

The Dallam county tract has been surveyed, and the surveyors are now in Hartley county surveying.

The land will all be classified and advertised, and will go on the market September 1, according to the commissioner. Persons interested in bidding on it should write the office of the land commissioner, Austin, for descriptions and minimum price considered.—Dalhart Texas.

BLUEWEEDS

The blue weed (Hellanthus ciliaris) is a near relative of the common sunflower. The root is perennial and sends out underground stems upon which buds are present every few inches.

Being a perennial the blueweed propagates itself by its underground roots, which live over from year to year, and it also produces seed. The root system consists of both running rootstalks and feeder roots. The running, or propagating roots are more or less horizontal and are found at a somewhat shallow depth, while the feeder roots penetrate the ground to a great depth. The soil is filled with a net work of roots and rootstalks, on each of which are borne numerous small fibrous roots. It is largely from these roots that the plant spreads and reproduces itself and this point must be kept in mind when its eradication is attempted.

Every few inches at irregular intervals on these underground stems bud are formed from which new plants grow and find their way to the surface of the ground, where they grow and produce seed and store up energy and food where by the running roots are able to extend themselves and form new plants. When these plants are cut off new stems and leaves are put out immediately below where they were cut off and growth is resumed. A large number of seed are produced but very fortunately the seed are of extremely low viability, experiments having shown that less than two percent of the seed germinated when kept in a germinator for over 100 days.

Most perennials propagate themselves both by seed and underground parts and it is indeed encouraging to observe that in a warfare against the blueweed reproduction from seed seems to be a negligible factor. In such case this would mean that once eradication of a patch of this weed is accomplished new and serious infestations are likely to occur.

There is a common belief that blueweed "poisons" the land. It is not known that any toxic substance is given off by this weed. The failure of crop growth in such areas is due for the most part to this weed's robbing the crop of available soil moisture.

In the native pasture the blueweed is necessarily a shallow rooted plant to take advantage of the moisture in the top soil in competition with other weeds and native grass. That it thrives with culture is shown by its behavior in cultivated lands, only moderately well tilled where it has persisted for years and is apparently getting thicker and spreading in many cases. When the land is put into cultivation and moisture penetrates to greater depths it sends its roots down deeply, obtaining a firmer hold and is able to more stubbornly resist efforts to eradicate it.

The best time to combat it, therefore, it would seem is when new land is put into cultivation for the first time and before the weed has had an opportunity to establish such a deep root system. If these areas are thoroughly plowed and cultivated from the time the sod is first broken, eradication may be more quickly and economically accomplished.

With the view of gaining more knowledge of the habits of the blueweed and determining some practical and efficient methods of its eradication and control, experiments were conducted in the seasons of 1917 to 1919 at Substation No. 8, located at Lubbock, Texas.

A location was selected which had a thick and uniform stand of blueweeds and was divided into 1-20 acre plats to receive treatment as follows:

Plat 1. Cut weeds with a weeder-blade attached to a cultivator.

Plat 2. Plowing and reploting seven inches deep.

Plat 3. Plowing and reploting four inches deep.

Plat 4. Listing and relisting seven inches deep.

Plat 5. Listing and relisting four inches deep.

Plat 6. Listing and relisting planting cotton in 3 foot rows.

Plat 7. Listing and relisting planting cotton in 6-foot rows.

Plat 8. Listing and relisting to keep down weed growth until June 15th, when milo was listed planted.

The results from these experiments in eradication of the blueweed have shown conclusively that it may be killed completely in less than two seasons by plowing at intervals of about two months during the growing season. Plowing seven inches deep proved more efficient than plowing four inches deep. Listing deep or shallow or cutting the weeds at the surface with a hoe or other implements proved ineffective as means of eradication, and shows that these operations would have to be done at more frequent intervals and pursued for a longer time and that the desired end can be attained much more quickly and easily by thorough plowing as required.

A combination of deep plowing, smother crops, and clean-tilled row crops will prove effective on larger and more thinly infested areas. The badly infested areas should be uncropped and the weed eradicated by more intensive measures.

Dry weather will undoubtedly be of great help in facilitating the eradication and it is probable that in wet seasons a greater number of operations will be necessary to accomplish the same results. When the soil is wet the roots and pieces of roots will again take hold in the ground and grow. Much better results will be had if the plowing can be done when the ground is dry, but when once started it must be pursued vigorously to the end or the work will be as good as lost. There is a fallacious idea existing that it is impossible to kill the blue weed. While there is no high and easy road to success in combating this pest it can be destroyed by energetic and methodical cultural practices. A continuous effort is necessary to suppress this weed but the labor is well repaid by the deliverance of the soil from this intruder, which causes every year a great loss in the yield of cultivated crops.

AL DAY AT BLUE MOUND

been requested that an article be contributed to The Ochiltree by the people of this community for this occasion. People began to gather at the cemetery about 9:00 o'clock, most of them direct to the graves of the deceased and placing beautiful flowers on them. In a short time a very large crowd the largest that ever assembled at the cemetery for this kind of an occasion.

At 11:00 o'clock the people assembled at the church house, and the house was called to order by the Chairman, A. E. Pittman and we began to render our program.

After singing America by the congregation, Prayer was offered by Wm. Pittman of Perryton. Leah and Velma Holland of Perryton favored us with a duet that was appreciated. An impressive reading was given by Elia Lee. Judge Grigsby from Perryton gave us an address that was very touching, and we will not forget it soon. In his message our minds were carried back to boy and girl hood days at mothers knee, and how her love was the truest love in this world, he also admonished the people to live such noble lives that when we come to lay down this life that we might reap life everlasting as our reward in the other world that just lies out before us.

The noon hour had come and dinner was announced, the people began to bring in well filled baskets, and they just kept coming in until there was one of the most sumptuous spreads I ever saw. There was plenty, and to spare.

In the afternoon the people filled the house to overflowing. After being called to order a congregational song was sung. Invocation was given by Wm. Pittman.

We are under many obligations to the Union girls for the two beautiful songs that they sang.

Miss Cathryn Shearer of Perryton gave a beautiful reading that was very appropriate for the occasion, it contained a message of its self.

Miss Ruth Cayler favored us with a beautiful solo, entitled, the Vacant Chair.

Rev. Strickland of Balke gave the address for the afternoon. He spoke very forcefully. He spoke of some of our great heroes that had lived and died for our country and we might enjoy freedom and liberty, men that their names have went down on the pages of history and their memory will live forever. At the close of the address a mixed quartet was rendered by, A. E. Pittman, Miss Ruth Cayler, J. W. & J. V. Ferguson.

We would not forget to make mention that we marched in file, two and two, back to the cemetery, for the purpose of planting a flag, at each soldiers grave, and paying tribute to the ones that had given the best part of their lives that Old Glory, the Stars and Stripes might still float out in the sweet breezes of our great land and country, AMERICA. The flower girls placed flowers on each grave as a token of our appreciation of them.

Among the Perryton visitors during the day, were Judge Grigsby and wife, G. R. Wilson, B. L. Holland and daughters, Henry Wilhelm and family, Wm. Pittman and family, J. V. Ferguson and family, and the Salvation Army ladies, Miss Marie Cooper and Miss Imy McMillen.

After the program was rendered the Association had a short business session, C. E. Pattison was the new member elected. Quite a few suggestions were offered in the way of improving and beautifying the cemetery, some of which will be carried out. One improvement we might make mention of is the new addition which adds much to the appearance to the cemetery.

An excellent spirit was shown during the day and it was unanimous voted to have similar program for next Decoration Day.

J. W. FERGUSON,
Secretary.

NEW SCHOOLHOUSE

The contractor, Mr. Farra, has completed a new brick school house in McMillen District, No. 15, in the south part of the county, and it has been accepted by the school board. J. B. Conley is president of this school board and C. L. Leicht is secretary.

This house has two school rooms 25 x 28 feet, a library, and clock rooms, and is equipped with green Hyloplate "black" boards.

The total cost of the building was about $3800. It was built with a bond issue of only $1800.

In order to pay off a small indebtedness the tax levied this year had to be raised to 70 cents. This will be dropped back to the old 50 cents rate as soon as the debt is paid and some more equipment added. This will be sufficient to take care of the interest and sinking fund, and to maintain an eight months school at a good salary for the teacher.

The board is working toward furnishing the new building with single desks, a library, and a piano. This will make it one of the best country school buildings on the north plains. —Contributed
