Keeping tab on our neighbors:

Lamesa had the same variety of weather most other cities in West Texas experienced last Monday, with a double helping of brown dust.

"For the record," says Walter Buckel of the Lamesa Press-Reporter, "In the space of 30 minutes Monday, we saw a brown duster blow through—followed by a few minutes of pea-sized hail, then some too brief hard driving rain—followed again (much to the dismay of all) by another brown sandstorm out of the west."

The Post Dispatch reports the "first major theft from an airplane at the Post city-county airport."

The plane had been left unattended after it flipped over while making a landing. However, it had little damage from the flip, the Dispatch reported.

Anyway, the time it was left a few yards from hangars was enough for thieves to make off with the plane's radio equipment.

2 District Capitals Hit

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — South Vietnamese troops withstood a third day of assaults against a provincial capital 40 miles east of Saigon today and battled attacks on two district capitals to the south, the Saigon command reported.

The command said the North Vietnamese who began attacking Xuan Loc, the capital of Long Khanh province, on Wednesday hit the eastern and southeastern edges of the city today.

The Viet Cong claimed the Communist-led forces had gained complete control of the market place, the provincial headquarters, an engineering base and the eastern part of the airfield. But the Saigon command claimed the invaders had been driven out.

To the southwest, 20 to 30 miles from Saigon near the main road to the rice fields of the Mekong Delta, hard fighting was reported in and around Thu Thua and Ben Tranh, both district capitals.

More than 50 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops were killed in the fighting near Ben Tranh, the Saigon command said. It said there were no government casualties.

Associated Press newsman Huynh Cong Ut reported close-quarter fighting inside Thu Thua. He said policemen with loudspeakers called on Viet Cong sappers to surrender as street fighting broke out. Instead, the sappers inside houses fired back and both sides hurled hand grenades. Saigon troops later put bodies of young Viet Cong sappers on display in the center of town.

The battles in Long Khanh and Long An provinces are the first major fighting in the Saigon region in the Communists' five-week-old offensive that has cost the South Vietnamese government three-fourths of the country. But foreign observers said they still could not decide whether the attacks were the immediate prelude to an offensive against Saigon.

The Saigon command claims that more than 900 Communist troops were killed in the first two days of the battle for Xuan Loc and reported 18 South Vietnamese killed and 110 wounded. It said four prisoners and 254 weapons were captured and 10 T54 medium tanks destroyed.

In Cambodia, government troops, planes and artillery halted a 200-man rebel force that battled to within two miles of the Phnom Penh airport. The military command claimed 700 Khmer Rouge were killed in the aerial and artillery bombardment northwest of the capital.

The Cambodian army was trying to organize a counter-attack to push the Khmer Rouge out of mortar range of the airport, Phnom Penh's last supply line.

Directed Acquittal Is Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawyers for former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally asked the judge in his bribery trial today to acquit Connally on the grounds the government's main witness is a paid informer and a perjurer.

In a motion for a judgment of acquittal, chief defense lawyer Edward Bennett Williams was sharply critical of Jake Jacobsen, who testified that he paid Connally $10,000 for help in getting a 1971 milk price support increase.

"He has served as an informer paid by the government for information — not in money, in the more valuable coin of whitewashes of his other crimes," Williams said.

The motion for acquittal will be argued Monday before the defense puts on its first witness.

Before resting their case Thursday, the prosecutors had presented 36 witnesss and a mass of documentary evidence. But only one witness swears Connally took the money.

Former dairy industry lawyer Jake Jacobsen testified he gave Connally two illegal $5,000 payoffs in 1971 for Connally's efforts in persuading the Nixon administration to raise milk prices. He swears he and Connally later tried to cover up the crime in 1973.

But Jacobsen has admitted that in the past he committed perjury, and that in pleading guilty to bribing Connally he got the government to reduce charges against him.

During a day and a half of cross-examination, Jacobsen also conceded his memory was hazy about some details of the story, including whether there had been two or three $5,000 payoffs.

To bolster Jacobsen's story, the prosecutors, led by Asst. Special Prosecutor Frank M. Tuerkheimer, produced a pile of bank records, appointment books, an airplane log, a hotel room-service check, bundles of cash and other documentary evidence.

The documents show Jacobsen was in Connally's Treasury Department office on the two dates in 1971 when Jacobsen says Connally took the payoffs. The documents also show Jacobsen opened bank safe deposit boxes just before each meeting.

Connally denies he took the money in the first place. Jacobsen says only the two of them were present during all of their crucial meetings. Barring a directed verdict, the jury must decide whom to believe.

Ford Unhappy With Fuel Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration is unhappy with a Senate-passed bill requiring Americans to use less fuel. But no veto has been threatened even though the measure would virtually block the President's own program.

Rejecting numerous attempts to free oil prices from federal controls despite President Ford's urgings, the Senate on Thursday approved, 60 to 25, a bill requiring joint state-federal efforts to cut fuel consumption by 4 per cent over the next 12 months.

Two House committees are working to approve by May 1 their own energy-conservation legislation, but the results are expected to fall far short of the White House plan.

The bill pproved by the Senate is designed as a substitute for Ford's energy plan, which would raise fuel prices by up to $40 billion a year to discourage consumption. The President proposes to offset a big chunk of that amount by cutting income taxes.

A the base of Ford's plan is the contention that energy prices should be allowed to rise sharply to encourage investment in the search for more fuel.

The Senate rejected that argument and passed a bill that:

—Blocks the president from removing controls on oil prices without specific approval of Congress.

—Imposes for the first time a ceiling price on "new" domestic oil that now sells for an average price of $12.40 a barrel. The ceiling would be about $2 below that level.

—Requires the states to impose their own energy-conservation plans that would be based on standards written into the bill. The plans could be drawn to meet the needs of individual states, but would have to aim for a 4 per cent cut in energy use during the next 12 months.

In arguing for passage of the bill, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said, "The choice is clear. We can cut energy consumption by the President's steep price increases, which could bring an economic disaster, or we can do it through mandatory conservation."

Sen. Paul J. Fannin, R-Ariz., called the bill "legislative propaganda" and said "only God know how much we'll have to expand the federal bureaucracy to police" the mandatory conservation provisions.

Fannin read a letter from Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb expressing deep concern about the mandatory provisions. Zarb said the conservation requirements would impose "unwarranted restrictions on our daily lives."

Zarb did not say Ford would veto the measure, although Fannin predicted the President would find the mandatory provisions unacceptable.

Chrysler Engine Has Computors

NEW YORK (AP) — A computerized engine that eliminates catalysts and improves fuel consumption by 5 per cent will be installed in at least 200,000 standard-sized 1976 Chrysler Corp. cars, the New York Times reports in today's editions.

Called a "lean burn" engine, it can meet federal exhaust emission standards while running on leaded fuel and without catalytic converters, th Times quoted company officials as saying.

The innovation will not increase the price of the cars, they told the Times.

A key factor in the system is the engine's ability to achieve combustion with "lean" air-fuel mixtures, where the ratio of air to fuel is about 18 to 1, instead of the usual 15 or 16 to 1.

Each engine has two small computers mounted under the hood which constantly receive data such as accelerator position, and air and coolant temperatures. The computers order the individual spark plugs to ignite at the instant calculated to minimize emission of pollutants and to maximize miles per gallon.

AMERICANS MAY BE EVACUATED

Little Hope Seen For Ford's Request

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders predict rejection of President Ford's more than doubled request for $722 million in military aid for South Vietnam but indicate likely approval of limited authority for U.S. troops to evacuate endangered Americans and Vietnamese.

Even before Ford spoke to an unusually grim and silent joint session of Congress and to the nation Thursday night, key lawmakers were saying there was virtually no chance that additional arms would be voted for South Vietnam.

"The Congress will never vote for military aid," declared House Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. of Massachusetts.

"Further military assistance would only prolong or merely postpone an ultimate Communist victory," said Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Appropriations Committee and until recently a strong supporter of U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Ford coupled his request for the additional military aid, more than double the $309 million for arms and ammunition he has been unsuccessfully seeking for South Vietnam since January, with an appeal for a $250 million initial installment for food, medical supplies and other humanitarian aid for the hundreds of thousands of Vietnamese refugees.

In contrast, he made no renewal of his $222 million aid request for neighboring Cambodia, declaring "it may be too late" already to prevent the fall of that embattled country to Communist insurgents.

He called on Congress to act by the end of next week to clarify restrictions on the use of U.S. troops in Indochina so the troops can be used to protect American lives "by ensuring their evacuation, should this become necessary," and to help pull out up to 200,000 friendly Vietnamese.

"I hope that this authority will never be used, but if it is needed there will be no time for congressional debate," Ford said.

When he reached the portion of his "State of the World" speech in which he appealed for the extra Vietnam aid "without delay," there was an eerie silence through the vast House chamber, dotted with an unusually large number of empty seats.

"The sums I had requested before the major North Vietnamese offensive and the sudden South Vietnamese retreat are obviously inadequate," Ford said. "Half-hearted action would be worse than none. We must act together and decisvely."

Several longtime war foes, such as Rep. Bella S. Abzug, D-N.Y., shook their heads in disapproval. Freshman Reps. Anthony Moffett, D-Conn., and George Miller, D-Calif., walked out.

In all, the President was applauded only 12 times through the hour-long speech, most of it from Republicans. Half of the bursts came near the end when he appealed for a continued strong defense and warned against destruction of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Initial congressional reaction produced virtually unanimous agreement that Ford should have authority to use U.S. troops to evacuate the 6,000 remaining Americans in South Vietnam. Some members of Congress said they thought the President had that already.

There was less certainty, however, about the possible use of the troops to evacuate what Ford referred to as "those Vietnamese to whom we have a special obligation and whose lives may be endangered should the worst come to pass."

Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia said he feared using U.S. troops to evacuate large numbers of Vietnamse "would be getting us into a very, very dangerous situation because they could be used all over South Vietnam and the next thing we knew we'd be right back in that war."

Ford shied away from predicting that the aid could turn the tide in Vietnam.

Burglary Is Probed

Burglars forced entry into Munden's Discount Center either Wednesday night or early Thursday morning and stole "a large amount" of bills and coins from a floor safe, according to a City Police report.

Officers said the amount of money taken hasn't been determined yet. The burglars gained entry through a vent on the roof. They either fell through or kicked out part of the ceiling over the pharmacy part of the store.

The money was taken from a floor safe at the front of the store.

Officers also said they ransacked some drawers in the drug department, but did not steal any narcotics.

Police said they have questioned two suspects in the burglary, but that no charges have been filed yet.

They also are investigating the theft of $25 from the office desk of W.C. Garver at Snyder Iron and Metal Company. The money was taken from his desk Wednesday morning when the office was left unattended.

Two Of Aquarium's Trainers Are Women

MYSTIC, Conn. (AP) — Blond, brown-eyed Anne Rowley is 20, stands 5 feet 2, weighs 105 pounds and several times each day she orders around a couple of 350-pound males.

One of the males is an eight-footer; the other, slightly shorter but bulkier. The former is an Atlantic bottlenose dolphin, Kimo by name; the latter is Salty, a formidable California sea lion.

Ms. Rowley is a marine mammal trainer at Mystic Marinelife Aquarium. Her job (which she doesn't regard as work) is to direct the aquarium's contingent of four dolphins and four sea lions through a series of animal behavior demonstrations. "The objective of marine mammal demonstrations," explains Ms. Rowley, "is to show the public in an interesting and enjoyable way the unique physical characteristics that have enabled these striking creatures to adapt to their environment and thus survive."

Splitting the training chores with her is 23-year-old Corrie Brown, dark haired and pert, and a little taller than her colleague.

Together Ms. Rowley and Ms. Brown, as they both prefer to be known, are two-thirds of the current training corps at Mystic Marinelife Aquarium, a sure sign that women are moving into a profession until recent years dominated by men.

Both find the life exciting and exacting, and both are frequently asked the same questions: what drew them into animal training; do women have innate traits or skills for the work that men do not have, and what type of special training is required to become animal trainers.

Both agree that an abiding respect and love for all animal life is basic for training. Even as youngsters, both young women were drawn to animals, an interest that heightened as the years went by. (Ms. Brown's personal pet is a kinkajou; Ms. Rowley's a parrot.)

Neither believes that women are, by nature, specially endowed for training. But patience, they assert, is absolutely essential for animal training. "Patience is neither a male nor a female characteristic, but neither can be an animal trainer without it," says Ms. Brown.

One male trainer in Florida, who has worked with women trainers, takes this view of the male-female patience level:

"I agree that women are no more patient than men. The difference — and it's a big one — is that women do not outwardly show their impatience as quickly as men are apt to, and the animals seem to sense this."

As for learning the art of animal training, there is no formal training for trainers. Apprentices learn from colleagues, by doing, and by picking up techniques through correspondence and conversation with experienced trainers.

Both young women learned their craft on the job at Mystic Marinelife Aquarium. "It's a continuous learning process," says Ms. Rowley. "Each day during the demonstrations, the animals teach us things about themselves that we adjust for in subsequent performances. In many ways it is similar to actors on the stage who refine a role each time they perform it."

In addition to their training assignment, both young women teach classes on marine mammals to many of the thousands of school children who visit the aquarium as part of the institution's comprehensive educational program.

Backing up their experience is their formal education. Ms. Brown, a native of Buffalo, was graduated from Canada's McGill University with a degree in zoology, and Ms. Rowley studied animal husbandry in the New York State University system.

Officials of the newly formed International Marine Animal Trainers Assn. expect the organization's ranks to include more women within the next several years. One officer believes that the physical demands at some oceanariums may be the only limit to female trainers.

"Few women, for example, can ride a killer whale, which is a demonstration at some oceanariums," he says. "That performance requires an underwater plunge that greatly taxes the lungs, and the strain on the body is extreme. Most women are simply not physically equipped to absorb the punishment."

Ms. Rowley and Ms. Brown may not be in line to ride a whale, but may be in line to train one.

Mystic Marinelife Aquarium is seeking to obtain a whale to replace one that died in December, shortly after it arrived from the west coast. The new whale will be either another Pacific pilot whale, an Atlantic pilot whale or a beluga or white whale. All are smaller species of whale, reaching at maturity about 18 feet.

Housewife Feels Jailed and Her Hubby's the Warden

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am 27-years-old and my husband is 31. We've been married for 10 years and have three really nice sons.

Abby, I am a clean, respectable woman, but my home is getting more like a prison every day.

My husband doesn't think I need to leave the house. He doesn't even let me go to church because he doesn't care to go.

I can't belong to any clubs or organizations because my husband thinks a woman's place is in the home and no place else. He wouldn't even let me join the PTA, and our two oldest boys are so ashamed because their teachers have never even met me.

We don't socialize with anybody because my husband says we don't need friends. The only time I get out of the house is when we go marketing together once a week. He handles all the money.

We get into quarrels every time I say I want to go somewhere. Both our families are far away. When I ask him to please sit down and talk things over, he says there is nothing to talk about. If I talk back to him, I end up with a busted mouth, a black eye and bruises.

I mentioned divorce once and he beat me up so bad I could hardly get out of bed for two days. Abby, I can't take the boys and leave because I don't drive and I don't have five dollars of my own. What should I do?

TRAPPED

DEAR TRAPPED: A woman who takes repeated beatings from her husband needs counseling, and badly. The Family Service Agency (listed in your phone book) offers this confidential, excellent help. And don't worry about not having any money. Their fee is based on your ability to pay. If you have no money, there is no charge. Also, there are laws stating that a man is responsible for the support of his wife and children—no matter what he may say about it. I urge you to get the help you need at once. Good luck and God bless.

DEAR ABBY: I am 13-years-old and could pass for 16. I babysit to earn my own money.

My problem is my mother. She said I can spend my own money on whatever I want as long as it is under $10. If it costs more than that, I have to get her permission to buy it.

I saw a beautiful ring that costs $16.95, and I want to buy it. I told my mother about it, and she said that it was probably just a piece of junk. And that I couldn't buy it.

Abby, I keep thinking about that ring, and I really want it. Would it be wrong if I bought it and just didn't wear it around the house? My mother never snoops in my drawers

MAD AT MOM

DEAR MAD: You sound like too nice a girl to be playing hide and sneak. One lie leads to another. Be honest. It's great for your conscience.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TOO GENEROUS": I don't know what your definition of "generosity" is, but those who give of themselves are not constantly trying to prove their "love" by giving "things."

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

PRESENT MUSIC PROGRAM—Mrs. J. Merrill Kayser, left, and Mrs. Jesse C. Long presented the program "American Melodies in New Settings" to the Musical Coterie when they held their regular meeting Thursday evening at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

American Melodies Presented To Coterie

The Musical Coterie held its April meeting Thursday evening at the Martha Ann Women's Club. The Coterie is affiliated with the Texas Federation of Music Clubs and with the National Federation.

The President, Mrs. M.M. O'Rear, presided, and the program "American Melodies in New Settings" was presented by Mrs. J. Merrill Kayser and Mrs. Jesse C. Long. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Ophelia Blackard and Mrs. George Killam. Visual aids were used during the program.

The program surveyed the development of a national American music. Such nationalistic movements in music were characterized by a search for racial expression and primitive inspiration. Thus it was that Dvorak, although from Bohemia, found that "the inspiration for truly national American music might be derived from Negro melodies or Indian chants." During his three years as head of the National Conservatoire in New York (1892-5), Dvorak incorporated American plantation melodies and slave songs into his symphonies. "Largo" from the New World Symphony was selected as an example and played for the Coterie.

American music by the end of the last century began to emerge as a force in its own right and to break away from the sterner European traditions. At this period in America's development, important composers did much to give America faith in its musical self. Many of the composers had studied in Europe, but returned to America to contribute to a national repetoire. Emerging into the Twentieth Century, composers such as Charles Ives, Virgil Thompson, and Aaron Copeland ceased to imitate the styles and traditions of Europe. With a pioneer spirit they courageously experimented, often incorporating melodies of American folk music into new settings. Examples were given during the Coterie's program. Virgil Thompson, for instance, used three cowboy tunes in his piece "Cattle" from "The Plow That Broke the Plains." Aaron Copeland incorporated Western Tunes into his suite "Billy the Kid," and Morton Gould inserted the familiar patriotic melody "When Johnny Comes Marching Home" into his piece "American Salute." Gradually, these composers attained a new identity - a national identity - for American music.

The Musical Coterie meets next on May 10 at a brunch to celebrate National Music Week.

Cancer Program Presented

Members of the Athenum Study Club met for their monthly meeting on April 8 at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. Mrs. Horder Hurst was the hostess for the meeting and Mrs. A.C. Floyd Jr. was program chairman. Dr. Wilton N. Jones presented the program on the early detection and treatment of cancer.

During the brief business meeting which followed the program, the scholarship fund was discussed and the club selected a candidate for the outstanding senior Texan in Scurry county.

New officers will be installed at the next meeting which will be a brunch May 3 at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. Hostesses for the meeting will be the outgoing executive committee.

Bible, Norris Give Al Dark Comfort

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

What do you do when you suddenly lose your best pitcher to the whims of baseball's arbitration process?

If you're Alvin Dark, Bible-toting manager of the Oakland A's, you seek comfort in the scriptures. Dark, in need of guidance after Catfish Hunter slipped out of his Oakland contract and into New York Yankee pinstripes, turned to Jeremiah 33:3:

"Call unto me, and I will answer thee, and show thee great and mighty things which thou knowest not."

Enter rookie right-hander Mike Norris. Norris, a 20-year-old from San Francisco, made his major league league debut Thursday with a sparkling three-hitter as the A's pounded the Chicago White Sox 9-0.

"I've found my Jeremiah," said Dark in a phone call to A's owner Charles O. Finley.

Norris, who likes the nickname and, in fact, bought a Bible himself during spring training, said, "The name's right on. I'm with the Bible all the way."

There were just two other games played in the American League. The Baltimore Orioles opened their season with a 10-0 rout of the Detroit Tigers and the Texas Rangers shaded the Minnesota Twins 5-4.

"I've had dreams about doing something like this," said Norris after his successful bow, "and now it's all coming true."

Norris surrendered a first-inning lead-off single to Pat Kelly but promptly picked him off base. Carlos May's second-inning single and Kelly's double in the ninth were the only other hits off Norris, who walked three and stuck out three.

"I was sure he was nervous at the beginning," said catcher Gene Tenace, "but when he picked that guy off base I said to myself, 'Who knows what he'll do'".

"We all wanted Norris to do well, partly because of sheer necessity," added slugger Reggie Jackson.

Jackson hammered a three-run homer and Bill North and Joe Rudi had three hits apiece for the A's, who collected nine hits off five White Sox pitchers, starting with loser Stan Bahnsen.

Orioles 10, Tigers 0

Jim Palmer, making an impressive return from the sore elbow that hampered him all last season, stopped Detroit on three hits. Lee May, acquired from Houston over the winter, belted a three-run homer and Don Baylor had four hits and three runs-batted-in for Baltimore.

"We missed Jimmy Palmer almost all last season," said Birds Manager Earl Weaver. "With him back it's like we traded for another pitcher."

Rangers 5, Twins 4

Cesar Tovar's eighth-inning double drove in one run and Minnesota reliever Bill Butler walked in another as Texas won its first game of the year. Both runs were unearned, the result of a two-out throwing error by Twins' third baseman Eric Soderholm.

Jim Spencer belted a three-run homer for the Rangers while rookie centerfielder Lynn Bostick collected three hits for Minnesota.

Palmer Trails Nichols By Two

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Can the old man win it one more time?

"If it doesn't peak now, I'm not sure it will ever peak," says the 45-year-old Arnold Palmer, surveying the game that thrust him into the thick of a gold-studded pack going into today's second round of the Masters Golf Tournament.

"I have been getting ready since December. I have been swinging better for the last month and a half. I feel my game is as good as I can possibly make it."

Polite cheers early in the day for Lee Elder, the first black man ever to tee it up in this festival of golf's elite among the pines, turned to exciting roars at dusk for the Masters sentimental favorite as Palmer toured a steady par and birdie course to the final hole.

There on the 420-yard uphill holly hole, where his bid for a championship drowned in a double bogey of errant shots in 1961, Palmer hit a heavy three-iron into the sand and took his lone bogey for a 69.

The score, climaxing a rain-splattered day of triumph and frustration for the field, didn't give Palmer the lead, but you couldn't tell that to members of Arnie's Army, thirsting for the first major victory since Arnie won his fourth Masters in 1964.

The first-round leader is Bobby Nichols, a strapping part-time club pro, who hardly hit a faulty shot in firing a bogeyless 67, five under Augusta National's par 72.

Poised behind Nichols at 68 were the heavily favored JackNicklaus, bidding for his fifth Masters, and the other Miller — Allen, not Johnny — a pleasant, moon-faced University of Georgia graduate who joined the tour in 1971.

Johnny Miller, sensation of the winter tour with three victories in Arizona and California, slogged in with a 75, putting him in jeopardy of missing the cut, and said glumly:

"Maybe all my luck is averaging out — this is for sure, if you can't putt, you can't play. I've been putting awful for four weeks."

Palmer's 69 put him in a tie at that position with J. C. Snead — old Sam's nephew — and Tom Weiskopf, winner at Greensboro, N.C., last weekend. Just behind them at 70 were former champion Bill Casper, plump Bob Murphy and young Tom Watson.

Sam, 62, winner of three Masters, joined a half-dozen others, including a revived Lee Trevino, at 71 — making 16 players under par. Defending champion Gary Player had a 73 and U.S. Open king Hale Irwin a 73.

Elder was one of the 60 over the orthodox figure, shooting a creditable 74 under extreme pressure.

The average age for the Masters golf tournament winner is 32.45 years.

JV Whips Seminole 7 To 5

SEMINOLE—The Snyder High School junior varsity baseball team thumped Seminole, 7-5, here yesterday afternoon to boost its season record to 2-2. Originally, there were two games scheduled, but inclement weather forced cancellation of the second one.

Kelly Ragland fired a 6-hitter for the Tigers while striking out seven.

Snyder scored one run in the 3rd, five in the 5th and one in the 6th while Seminole tallied three times in the 2nd and twice in the 5th.

Seminole got its first three runs on singles by Almager and Dagley combined with an error and a stolen base.

Snyder got its first run on a walk by Kyle Sikes, a stolen base, and a single by Kelly Ragland.

The five 5th inning tallies for the Tigers resulted from three walks combined with an error and a single by Tony Lewis. Seminole got two runs in the same inning on two walks combined with singles by Jameson and Almager.

Snyder added its final run when Armando Rodrguez walked, was sacrificed to second by Kyle Sikes, and scored on a single by Ricky Beard.

Volleyball Team In Region Meet

The Snyder High School volleyball team, District 3-AAA champions, will compete Saturday in the regional meet in the women's gym at Texas Tech in Lubbock.

First round play pairs off Monahans and Perryton at 11 a.m. and Snyder and Graham at 12:30 p.m. The two winners will then play at 3:30 p.m. with the winner advancing to the state tournament at Austin April 25-26.

Starting for the Tigers probably will be Debra Davis, Retha Davis, Tracy Moore, Kathy Williams, Pam Head and Ruth Ann Fagin. Regina Lewis will play the net for Head. Others likely to see action are Kellye Crenshaw and Donna Morrell.

Monahans was last year's state AAA champion with a strong hitter in Connie Pittman, an All-State spiker.

"Monahans has been strong all year," said Joyce Elrod, Tiger coach, "We expected a hard game from them if we get by Graham. But if anyone can beat them, we can. Snyder really wants the regional championship."

Snyder's girls beat Lamesa, 16-14, 15-10, in a playoff for the District 3-AAA championship at Colorado City last week.

Golf Team Competes At Lamesa

The Snyder High School golf team will compete in its third district match of the season Saturday at Lamesa. Tee off is on tap for 9 a.m. on the Lamesa Country Club course.

Coach Geral Greene's Tigers have an 11 stroke lead on the rest of the field after two district matches. The Tigers have a total score of 638 for the two matches. Brownfield and Sweetwater are tied for second with 649's, and Lamesa is in last place.

The fourth and concluding district match will be held at Brownfield April 19.

Snyder will enter two teams in the match Saturday. Team No. 1 is comprised of Richard Turnbow, Stan Talbott, Don Stoker, Bernie Weems and Ricky Ator. Team No. 2 includes Mike O'Day, Frank Osborne, Mark Duke and Todd Line.

Tigers Meet Lamesa Today, Cubs Saturday

An old nemesis, the Lamesa Golden tornadoes, stand in the path of the Snyder High School varsity baseball team today. Game time is 5 o'clock in Lamesa. Saturday, the Tigers host Brownfield at 2:30 p.m. in Moffett Field here.

If the Tigers can win both games, then they will take a half game lead over the other two teams in the District 3-AAA race.

Snyder whipped Lamesa, 5-2, here last Saturday, rallying for five runs in the bottom of the 6th inning. Coach Speedy Moffett was pleased with the Tigers' clutch hitting in that game and hopes the team can maintain its momentum.

He said Ricky Beard, sophomore right hander, will draw the starting mound assignment in today's game. Probable starters, according to batting order include Randy Gressett cf, Kelly Ragland 2b, Robert Alderete ss, Ernie Simons c, Danny Brumley rf, Richard Tovar lf, Ricky Beard p. Sid Perry 1b, and Kyle Sikes 3b.

Gary Greenlee will get the starting pitching assingment in the game against Brownfield here Saturday if he is released by the doctor today.

Brownfield beat Lamesa last Tuesday and currently holds a half game lead in the district race. So, the Tigers and Cubs cound be fighting for the district lead when they tangle here Saturday.

The Monticello choo-choo.
A little train that's helping fight the rising cost of electricity.

You're looking at what may be the shortest railroad in Texas.

The Monticello choo-choo runs only 12 miles from start to finish, but it's doing a big job hauling lignite coal to Texas Electric's Monticello power plant near Mount Pleasant.

The diesel-electric locomotive pulls seven to 15 cars. And each car is loaded with 100 tons of lignite per trip.

After unloading at the plant, the train is "backed" the 12 miles to the mining area. This saves the expense of a turn-around facility. On the trip back the engineer drives the train using controls in a special caboose.

Monticello is our second lignite-fired generating plant. We're building these plants because new supplies of natural gas and oil — the primary fuels we use to generate electricity — are harder to get and more costly.

Lignite plants cost much more to build, which means electricity is going to have to cost you more. But the increase won't be as much, because lignite fuel is available and more economical than new supplies of natural gas and oil.

At Texas Electric we're continuing the orderly development of our power system so that you'll continue having the electricity you need.

Over 20% of your electricity this year will be produced using lignite coal.

And the Monticello choo-choo is a mighty fine line that's helping do the job.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) The early part of the day will prove profitable, but toward evening your extravagant traits will gain the upper hand if you're not careful.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're at your best today in situations where you can exercise your leadership qualities. Don't do things by committee.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Pursue your goals secretly at this time. Talking about them lessens chances for success. There'll be time to crow later.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You'll be the catalyst to bring your group together today. Just be careful. Don't try to mix those with opposing viewpoints.

LEO (July 23-Aug 22) Tenacity is not your strong suit today. In pursuing an ambitious interest, you'll let go before you grab the prize.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept.22) Work closely with those who support your ideas. Ignore persons whose counsel and assistance you know you can't win.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct.23) Be careful today in a situation where you share an interest or all the cash will come out of your pocket.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov.22) Don't take it upon yourself to change social plans affecting others without first consulting them. Angry words will result.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're enterprising today, but only up to a point. Later, you'll try shortcuts that will cause you problems.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan 19) Avoid large, noisy gathering today. They're apt to make you uncomfortable. Seek a more subdued atmosphere.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you're entertaining at home, invite only persons with whom you've exchanged social amenities before. Avoid potential free-loaders.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't let a know-it-all pal talk you out of an idea you've thoroughly studied. You're right. In this case he's wrong.

Dr. Lamb

Your leg (foot) is being pulled

By Lawrence E. Lamb. M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have several friends who are going to a foot reflexologist, who mainpulates reflex "buttons" located in the feet to provide relief for aches and pains. As I understand it, each reflex is said to be related to its corresponding part of the body, and massaging it in a certain way brings relief to that part of the body. What do you think of this? Can it be harmfull if used correctly?

DEAR READER—It sounds to me like a good way to get your leg, or should I say foot, pulled. Any benefits it will have on a person's health are strictly psychological.

The harm is that someone who may need good medical attention may delay seeking competent help while having his or her feet "manipulated."

DEAR DR. LAMB—A couple of weeks ago I visited a friend in the hospital. He was concerned because he couldn't determine the time of day, so I loaned him my wristwatch.

His condition grew worse and he died some 10 days later.

Then I learned that he was being treated for cancer of the prostate and had been given radium treatments and cobalt treatments.

The hospital returned my watch, however, I am now skeptical that the watch could have been worn by the deceased during these treatments.

Could the watch now be radioactive or harm me in any way if I wear it again?

DEAR READER—Don't give it another thought. The watch will not give you any radiation at all and it will not harm you in any way.

A more practical point is that many watches can be magnetized by electrical equipment used in hospitals and it is possible that your watch may be magnetized and not function properly.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Please advise me if I am getting the proper amount of salt. During the time I was preparing meals for a relative who had a heart condition and was on a salt-free diet, I used only a salt substitute for cooking and at the table.

I also used no salt, although I have no reason not to do so. I'm still not using salt.

DEAR READER—There are very few people who are not getting enough salt. There is salt in most of your food, particularly milk, dairy products and meats. That includes fish and poultry.

About the only people who need to take salt other than what is already in unseasoned food are those who are doing heavy manual labor or perspire a lot, usually in hot weather. Then, there are rare people who have a kidney defect and tend to lose salt.

People taking diuretics to eliminate salt and fluid retention sometimes deplete their salt stores, but since you are taking no medicines this doesn't apply to you.

The truth is that most people eat entirely too much salt, or far more than the body needs. I think you can safely forget about that problem.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on spastic colon, send 50 cents and a long self-addressed stamped envelope to the same address and ask for the "Spastic colon" booklet.

Retreat Set April 18-20

Snyder will be host April 18-20 to a retreat led by a group from Cape Cod, Mass.

The group is known as "The Community of Jesus" and at present they have 80 members of all ages and walks of life. Ten of them will be here to share results in their lives of a commitment to God and to each other to live in total honesty in love and lay down self-life for a life in Christ.

They report they have experienced restoration of foundering marriages to unheard-of wholeness, children actually relieved to have their wills crossed, and parents seeing how the wrong kind of love can destroy their children.

Four of the group of 80 run the community's work program, while others have regular outside jobs.

Cay Anderson and Judy Sorneson have led the sharing-teaching sessions weekly and in retreats for the past 17 years. As word of their experiences spread they received requests to speak in churches up and down the East Coast, in Virginia and Bermuda.

For more information and for reservations for the retreat here, you may call Jim Terry at 573-3988, or Lindy Clark at 573-3519 or 573-5594.

Playboy empire to follow Gomorrah?

By David Poling

A decade ago one could hardly get through Playboy magazine without reading some article on religion or some interview with a religious personality. Those were the days of change, uproar and uncertainty within the Christian Church. The war protests were in full swing. The "death of God" theologians owned the media. Black confrontation was the liberal rage. Pictures and personalities like Malcolm Boyd,, William Hamilton, Martin Marty, the Berrigans were in charge. And editor and publisher Hugh Hefner was at the zenith of his preachments on the new morality. He finally was getting even with his Methodist childhood.

A sudden 10 years later, Hefner has run out of friends, money, influence, power and religious stars to headline. His Playboy empire wobbles under real estate failures. Federal agents continue to swarm around the drug charges brought against his long-time personal secretary who commited suicide several months ago. And suddenly Hefner discovered that he was 50 going on 70 and his torment turned to rage—so he has decided to rage aginst religion.

A recent article in Playboy deals with the Washington religion scene, the flourishing of prayer groups and Bible classes around the Capitol. All of this pious expression makes Hefner terribly unhappy but his hatred is saved for those who have had a conversion experience since Watergate: Charles Colson, Herbert Kalmbach and Egil Krough. President Ford has shown regular leanings toward public worship and private prayer and this is sad and dangerous, according to the judge at Playboy. And now, Billy Graham praying with Richard Nixon!

Hefner is irritated by former Sen. Harold Hughes' new devotion to the International Christian Fellowship and is puzzled by Sen. Mark Hatfield's gospel words and social relevance. Washington cannot be trusted. Saul becomes St. Paul only in bibical myths.

Hefner's torment—and expression in rage against religion—is his misunderstanding about love, life and the ultimate destiny of God's creation. He flays against the ethical boundaries of his youth and continues to hope that his world of pleasure-seeking will last forever, yielding neither to old age or death.

By mocking marriage and old-age, Hefner and his friends destroyed their future. And now, "future shock" is upon them and they are frantic to find strength and meaning in life. For immediate first-aid, they and others should read "Old Is Not A Four Letter Word!" (Adington Press). Johnny Carson should read this aloud.

Author Jean Beaven Abernethy has the big picture when she states: "Couples who have lived together for a very long time, even when they do not wax enthusiastic about it, have built up real capital—riches as tangible as any money. It is comfortable to have that kind of money in the bank. One relies on it, builds on it, and is not cheated. One of the less advertised functions of marriage, as far as young lovers are concerned, is that of insuring against loneliness in old age."

ARIES (March 21-April 19) The early part of the day will prove profitable, but toward evening your extravagant traits will gain the upper hand if you're not careful.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're at your best today in situations where you can exercise your leadership qualities. Don't do things by committee.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Pursue your goals secretly at this time. Talking about them lessens chances for success. There'll be time to crow later.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You'll be the catalyst to bring your group together today. Just be careful. Don't try to mix those with opposing viewpoints.

LEO (July 23-Aug 22) Tenacity is not your strong suit today. In pursuing an ambitious interest, you'll let go before you grab the prize.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept.22) Work closely with those who support your ideas. Ignore persons whose counsel and assistance you know you can't win.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct.23) Be careful today in a situation where you share an interest or all the cash will come out of your pocket.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov.22) Don't take it upon yourself to change social plans affecting others without first consulting them. Angry words will result.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're enterprising today, but only up to a point. Later, you'll try shortcuts that will cause you problems.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan 19) Avoid large, noisy gathering today. They're apt to make you uncomfortable. Seek a more subdued atmosphere.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you're entertaining at home, invite only persons with whom you've exchanged social amenities before. Avoid potential free-loaders.

PISCES (Feb 20-March 20) Don't let a know-it-all pal talk you out of an idea you've thoroughly studied. You're right. In this case he's wrong.

Your Birthday

April 12, 1975

Financial prospects are bright this year if you stay in areas whose worth you know. Keep out of uncharted seas. They could be dangerous for your ship of fortune.

Playboy empire to follow Gomorrah?

By David Poling

A decade ago one could hardly get through Playboy magazine without reading some article on religion or some interview with a religious personality. Those were the days of change, uproar and uncertainty within the Christian Church. The war protests were in full swing. The "death of God" theologians owned the media. Black confrontation was the liberal rage. Pictures and personalities like Malcolm Boyd,, William Hamilton, Martin Marty, the Berrigans were in charge. And editor and publisher Hugh Hefner was at the zenith of his preachments on the new morality. He finally was getting even with his Methodist childhood.

A sudden 10 years later, Hefner has run out of friends, money, influence, power and religious stars to headline. His Playboy empire wobbles under real estate failures. Federal agents continue to swarm around the drug charges brought against his long-time personal secretary who commited suicide several months ago. And suddenly Hefner discovered that he was 50 going on 70 and his torment turned to rage—so he has decided to rage aginst religion.

A recent article in Playboy deals with the Washington religion scene, the flourishing of prayer groups and Bible classes around the Capitol. All of this pious expression makes Hefner terribly unhappy but his hatred is saved for those who have had a conversion experience since Watergate: Charles Colson, Herbert Kalmbach and Egil Krough. President Ford has shown regular leanings toward public worship and private prayer and this is sad and dangerous, according to the judge at Playboy. And now, Billy Graham praying with Richard Nixon!

Hefner is irritated by former Sen. Harold Hughes' new devotion to the International Christian Fellowship and is puzzled by Sen. Mark Hatfield's gospel words and social relevance. Washington cannot be trusted. Saul becomes St. Paul only in biblical myths.

Hefner's torment—and expression in rage against religion—is his misunderstanding about love, life and the ultimate destiny of God's creation. He flays against the ethical boundaries of his youth and continues to hope that his world of pleasure-seeking will last forever, yielding neither to old age or death.

By mocking marriage and old-age, Hefner and his friends destroyed their future. And now, "future shock" is upon them and they are frantic to find strength and meaning in life. For immediate first-aid, they and others should read "Old Is Not A Four Letter Word!" (Adington Press). Johnny Carson should read this aloud.

Author Jean Beaven Abernethy has the big picture when she states: "Couples who have lived together for a very long time, even when they do not wax enthusiastic about it, have built up real capital—riches as tangible as any money. It is comfortable to have that kind of money in the bank. One relies on it, builds on it, and is not cheated. One of the less advertised functions of marriage, as far as young lovers are concerned, is that of insuring against loneliness in old age."

Dr. Lamb

Your leg (foot) is being pulled

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have several friends who are going to a foot reflexologist, who mainpulates reflex "buttons" located in the feet to provide relief for aches and pains. As I understand it, each reflex is said to be related to its corresponding part of the body, and massaging it in a certain way brings relief to that part of the body. What do you think of this? Can it be harmfull if used correctly?

DEAR READER—It sounds to me like a good way to get your leg, or should I say foot, pulled. Any benefits it will have on a person's health are strictly psychological.

The harm is that someone who may need good medical attention may delay seeking competent help while having his or her feet "manipulated."

DEAR DR. LAMB—A couple of weeks ago I visited a friend in the hospital. He was concerned because he couldn't determine the time of day, so I loaned him my wristwatch.

His condition grew worse and he died some 10 days later.

Then I learned that he was being treated for cancer of the prostate and had been given radium treatments and cobalt treatments.

The hospital returned my watch, however, I am now skeptical that the watch could have been worn by the deceased during these treatments.

Could the watch now be radioactive or harm me in any way if I wear it again?

DEAR READER—Don't give it another thought. The watch will not give you any radiation at all and it will not harm you in any way.

A more practical point is that many watches can be magnetized by electrical equipment used in hospitals and it is possible that your watch may be magnetized and not function properly.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Please advise me if I am getting the proper amount of salt. During the time I was preparing meals for a relative who had a heart condition and was on a salt-free diet, I used only a salt substitute for cooking and at the table.

I also used no salt, although I have no reason not to do so. I'm still not using salt.

DEAR READER—There are very few people who are not getting enough salt. There is salt in most of your food, particularly milk, dairy products and meats. That includes fish and poultry.

About the only people who need to take salt other than what is already in unseasoned food are those who are doing heavy manual labor or perspire a lot, usually in hot weather. Then, there are rare people who have a kidney defect and tend to lose salt.

People taking diuretics to eliminate salt and fluid retention sometimes deplete their salt stores, but since you are taking no medicines this doesn't apply to you.

The truth is that most people eat entirely too much salt, or far more than the body needs. I think you can safely forget about that problem.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on spastic colon, send 50 cents and a long self-addressed stamped envelope to the same address and ask for the "Spastic colon" booklet.

Retreat Set April 18-20

Snyder will be host April 18-20 to a retreat led by a group from Cape Cod, Mass.

The group is known as "The Community of Jesus" and at present they have 80 members of all ages and walks of life. Ten of them will be here to share results in their lives of a commitment to God and to each other to live in total honesty in love and lay down self-life for a life in Christ.

They report they have experienced restoration of foundering marriages to unheard-of wholeness, children actually relieved to have their wills crossed, and parents seeing how the wrong kind of love can destroy their children.

Four of the group of 80 run the community's work program, while others have regular outside jobs.

Cay Anderson and Judy Sorneson have led the sharing-teaching sessions weekly and in retreats for the past 17 years. As word of their experiences spread they received requests to speak in churches up and down the East Coast, in Virginia and Bermuda.

For more information and for reservations for the retreat here, you may call Jim Terry at 573-3988, or Lindy Clark at 573-3519 or 573-5594.

FEAR ABOUT THE FUTURE

This woman is deeply troubled and afraid. Perhaps she has financial worries, or marital problems. Maybe she is afraid of growing old.

She has not yet turned to God for help, for God banishes fear from our lives. Paul wrote to Timothy, "God has not given us the spirit of fear but of power and of love." (2 Timothy 1:7) Whatever your problems, if you put them in God's hands, he will give you the strength you need to face them. Earthly problems are fleeting, God's Love is Eternal.
