King Plans New March In Protest Of Clubbing

By JIM KNIGHT

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., claiming police brutality, planned to lead a march on the courthouse today to protest a rout of demonstrators by club-swinging sheriff's deputies.

The deputies, astride quick-starting quarter horses, clubbed white and Negro civil rights demonstrators in a bloody melee Tuesday that sent eight persons to hospitals.

"We cannot stand idly by and allow this to happen," King told his followers at a rally several hours later.

"We must get together a peaceful and orderly march on the courthouse in Montgomery."

The horsemen swung clubs, canes and ropes to break up a sit-down by about 600 persons, many of them white college students from other states. Among the injured was a white college teacher from Pennsylvania.

A state official said a mixup in police orders caused the deputies to nudge their horses into the demonstrators.

There were these other developments on the racial scene:

—Gov. George C. Wallace permitted voter registration boards 10 extra days to process voter applications in six Alabama counties. They include Dallas, whose county seat is Selma, a center of civil rights activities for weeks.

—At Hayneville, Ala., the Board of Registrars announced that it has registered the first Negro voter in Lowndes County. Negroes outnumber white residents by a wide margin in the county.

—Civil rights leaders failed twice in attempts to march on the Dallas County courthouse at Selma. Police halted them.

—U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. ended a hearing here on a petition by Negro leaders to prevent police interference with a march from Selma to Montgomery. He took the case under advisement.

—A bill was introduced in the Alabama Senate to junk the state's voter literacy tests now under attack in the federal courts. The proposal would change the state's voter requirements to a sixth-grade education or the equivalent.

—President Johnson's press secretary said the chief executive was keeping in close touch with the Montgomery situation.

FBI agents on the scene of the Montgomery violence began an immediate investigation and others were called to Montgomery to help.

Police had blocked the march because no permit had been given. The horsemen then moved in.

Later 1,000 Negroes, with a permit from the City Commission, marched on the state Capitol with a petition for Wallace. They failed to see him and left after half an hour.

A Wallace aide said the governor had set up appointments with Negro college groups but the appointments were canceled after the march on the Capitol began to develop.

The governor had no comment on the horsemen's actions.

The possemen were led by Sheriff Mac Sim Butler, riding a horse and wearing a Western-style hat, after the white and Negro college students refused to disperse.

The horsemen first routed a small group of demonstrators led by James Forman at Atlanta, executive secretary of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

Forman wrapped his arms around a telephone pole. A posseman swung his club into the pole. Forman fled.

Jury To Get Eastland Murder Case

EASTLAND, Tex. (AP) The case of Mrs. Maurine Bratton, 45, charged with the rifle slaying of her ex-husband, R. L. Bratton, 41, was expected to reach the jury late today.

The shooting occurred Sept. 30, 1963, at Mrs. Bratton's ranch near Ranger. The Brattons had been divorced two years.

Former Sheriff Lee Horn testified Tuesday Mrs. Bratton came to his office the morning of the slaying and told him: "I have just killed my husband."

Horn said she handed over a deer rifle with a telescopic sight. He said he found Bratton's body on the ground near the ranch gate, 17 steps from the house.

Defense attorney Bill Hart brought into court the front door of Mrs. Bratton's home which showed signs of being battered. Testimony was given that the lock had been knocked off.

Mrs. Bratton told officers that on the day of the slaying the door had been kicked in by her former husband.

Oil Allowable Cut Slightly

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission today ordered Texas oil production be held to 28.5 per cent of potential during April, a slight decrease from March.

The commission's order, which calls for an allowable next month of 2,919,535 barrels daily, was adopted at a monthly hearing which featured industry comments on current and future conditions.

March production was ordered held to 2,923,153 barrels daily under a 29.2 per cent order. Only one of the 13 purchasers of Texas crude appearing at the hearing asked for a higher percentage next month.

April, 1964 production was ordered held to 2,931,746 barrels daily under a 29 per cent order.

Pre-hearing purchaser nominations totaled 2,501,759 barrels daily, a decrease of 42,241 barrels daily from March. The U.S. Bureau of Mines forecast for Texas crude is 2,570,000 barrels daily, down 75,000 barrels daily.

Commission Chairman Ben Ramsey noted the Bureau of Mines forecast and purchaser nominations in announcing the reduction, and said the commission hopes the decreased allowable will remedy instances of pipeline proration in two North Central Texas counties.

The pipeline proration situation was discussed by both Commissioner Jim Langdon and George Anderson of Wichita Falls, executive vice president of the North Texas Oil and Gas Association.

Langdon said there are 5,500 barrels of crude oil daily in Jack and Wise counties "which we have not been able to find a home for." Langdon urged the purchasing company representatives present to help solve the problem.

The purchaser proration situation also was mentioned in a statement by Johnny Mitchell of Houston, former president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association.

Mitchell severely criticized Texaco and said the major company's recent attempt to increase production in Louisiana was selfish.

Texaco vice president A. W. Baucum told the commission "I resent very much the slurs of Mr. Mitchell."

Before Baucum could continue, Ramsey stopped him and said, "we had a nice meeting and I don't feel it appropriate to indulge in personalities."

Earlier in the hearing, 23 executives of major national oil companies appeared to give outlooks for 1965 which were almost unanimous in predicting a 3 per cent gain this year in demand for petroleum products.

The executives also noted some cases of excessive stocks of gasoline.

Nominations, in barrels per day and percentage factor, included:

30—Texaco 141,000.

28.5— Sun 104,266; Humble 417,965.

28—Atlantic 76,225; Standard of Texas 36,600, and Gulf 211,800.

27— Pan American 246,000; Mobil 231,900; Continental 26,700; Cities Service 82,000, and Sinclair 101,000.

Hopes Brighten For Vote-Rights Passage

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shrinking Southern opposition indicated today that Senate leaders may be able to win passage of a voting rights bill without encountering a full-blast filibuster.

If lengthy talk should develop to threaten relatively speedy action, an Associated Press cross-section survey indicated that leaders could cut it off by mustering more than the necessary two-thirds majority of those voting.

President Johnson is expected to send the administration's formal version of legislation to Congress during the day. Democratic and Republican leaders have been working with Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach on its final terms.

The means by which the bill reaches down into the Southern states to enforce the right of Negroes to register, vote and get their votes counted in local as well as national elections obviously will influence the length and vigor of Senate debate.

Comment indicated senators expect no full-dress filibuster which would run for weeks, as one did against the 1964 civil rights bill.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said he supposed Southerners whose states were affected by the measure would "put on a token filibuster." But Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said he doubts one will develop.

Two senators who voted against ending debate on last year's measure saw little likelihood of extended discussion.

Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev., said he had always supported full and equal voting rights "and I see no valid basis whatsoever for a filibuster on this basic constitutional guarantee." Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, said he doesn't believe it will be necessary to invoke a debate limitation.

But if the filibuster which Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., has threatened develops, a survey indicated it could be halted by an even larger vote than the 71-29 margin by which the Senate halted debate on the 1964 civil rights bill by invoking its cloture rule.

In the list of the 29 who stood for continued talk at that time, two senators who subseqüently replaced members who voted "no" say they would vote for a debate limitation if it was necessary to get a voting rights bill passed. They are Sens. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., and Ross Bass, D-Tenn.

Sen. Paul J. Fannin, R-Ariz., who replaced Barry Goldwater, declined to commit himself.

Among five senators who replaced former members who voted for cloture, only Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., declined to commit himself to support of a debate limitation. Murphy said he is "inclined to think full discussion is very important in the most deliberative body in the world."

More Phone Petitions Available

Good response has been reported at Hermleigh to petitions requesting that the telephone exchange there be joined to the Snyder exchange to eliminate toll calls between Hermleigh and Snyder.

At the same time, it was reported that another petition lending support to the Hermleigh effort, is being circulated in Snyder.

The petition for Hermleigh residents is located at Hermleigh Cleaners in that community. In addition there are copies of a supporting petition in room 201 of the Brownfield Building in Snyder. The latter petition is worded differently from the one at Hermleigh, since it is designed primarily to demonstrate Snyder support for the effort at Hermleigh.

The Snyder version of the petition was drafted at the request of Snyder residents who have relatives and close friends with whom they regulary communicate in Hermleigh.

CHURNING DUST

Fading Winter Wallops Texas

By The Associated Press

Waning winter aimed a new and chilling punch at the Texas Panhandle today while tornado threats abated and several areas assessed damage from wild winds raking much of the state's northern half.

Silt churned aloft Tuesday over New Mexico and West Texas still sifted from the sky in some sections.

Violent winds — some witnesses blamed a tornado—Ripped across 10 blocks in the northeast part of Tyler shortly before midnight, inflicting considerable damage.

Hail pounded other areas Tuesday night in North Central Texas. Thunderstorms marched through a sector embracing Fort Worth, Dallas, Waco, Texarkana, Tyler, Palestine and College Station, continuing into early morning. A few showers also fell around San Antonio and Houston.

Forecasts meanwhile called for light rain changing to snow in the north part of the Texas Panhandle as icy air surged southward off the snowswept Rocky Mountains.

A cold wave warning went up for most of the Panhandle where temperatures down to 15 degrees above zero were expected by Thursday morning. Sharp drops were in prospect for most other sections of the state.

The Tyler storm, which capped an evening of widespread turbulence, tore the front off a furniture store, damaged three other business places and unroofed several homes. Police found no injured persons, however.

Lightning set fire to a transformer outside Mother Frances Hospital in Tyler, knocking out power temporarily but causing no difficulty in the hospital. Borken power lines and uprooted trees partly blocked streets in the storm-battered neighborhood.

Special tornado forecasts covered areas from the Panhandle-Plains in West Texas eastward into North Central Texas much of the night. The only twister sighting, however, was reported 10 miles south of Aledo, near Fort Worth. It did not touch ground.

Winds hitting up to 67 miles per hour at Lubbock threw up clouds of dust in West Texas, dropping visibility to a few yards in places and occasionally halting traffic.

At Midland the wind snapped power lines and tossed trees into the streets.

Hailstones up to the size of eggs whitened the ground at Dublin in West Central Texas, battering roofs and cars. Lighter hail fell around Fort Worth and parts of Dallas.

Virgil Grissom To Pilot Controlled Gemini Flight

By HAROLD R. WILLIAMS

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Astronaut Virgil I. Grissom is about to become the first Buck Rogers of the space age.

If no hitches develop in his Gemini launch, scheduled for next Tuesday, the short, graying Grissom, an Air Force major, will be the first space traveler, American or Russian, to control the flight of his space ship.

Grissom will drive the two-seater spacecraft across the heavens, actually changing its orbital path. Other U.S. astronauts have been able to control the attitudes of their vehicles but not the orbit.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration today outlined details of the mission, the first manned flight of the Gemini program.

Grissom's copilot on the three-orbit trip will be a likeable, dark - complexioned Navy lieutenant commander, John W. Young, 34.

The 4-hour, 52-minute flight is to grind out the bugs in the two-seated spacecraft in preparation for the long duration and rendezvous missions planned for Gemini in months to come.

Grissom, who will be 39 April 3, will have the distinction of being the first person to have two space trips under his belt.

None of the other 14 persons shot into the heavens have made an encore flight. Grissom was the second American in space, flying a suborbital shot on July 21, 1961.

None of the 15 had much to say where he was going, or where he would land.

The nine Russians and six Americans in a sense were "just along for the ride." Ground crews controlled the flights from liftoff to landing.

Grissom will make tricky maneuvers in space that will change his orbital path four times and will control the 7,000-pound spacecraft for all but 20 minutes of the flight. He will be able to pick his own landing spot and then with the help of a small, on-board computer, guide the capsule to a landing about 70 miles northeast of Grand Turk Island.

The flight primarily is to gather engineering data and the three scientific experiments planned will require less than 7 minutes of the astronaut's time.

A canister of human blood will be exposed to a dose of radiation to measure the effect weightlessness has on it. Sea urchin eggs will be exposed in the same manner.

House Aims Blow At Gerrymander

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has dealt what it hopes is a lethal blow at the gerrymander — that odd-shaped congressional district drawn to favor one party over another.

It did it by passing a bill setting federal standards for congressional districts, which would require districts to be 'as compact as practical."

Although the definition is far from precise, the bill's backers made it clear they mean the courts to outlaw the weirdly shaped districts that take their name from an early Massachusetts governor, Elbridge Gerry.

Another provision of the bill would permit the population of a congressional district to be within 15 per cent of the average district in that state.

The bill, which passed by a voice vote, now goes to the Senate. Since it doesn't apply to the Senate, the House hopes the Senate will pass it speedily, without change. The provisions would go into effect in time for the 1966 congressional elections.

Many states have been under pressure to redistrict since the Supreme Court held last year that one person's vote in a congressional election should be worth as much as another's.

Although the 15 per cent population variation actually permits a difference of 30 per cent between the largest and smallest districts, the House hopes the court will heed its proposed standards as an expression of congressional policy.

The courts have been calling for such an expression to guide state legislatures in redistricting.

During the debate, which showed a great deal of confusion on the subject in the minds of many members, the argument most often used to win support for the bill was that if Congress didn't act, the courts would. And instead of a 15 per cent variation from the average, the courts might permit only 1 per cent, the House was told.

As an example of the confusion on the floor, the House first adopted, and then rejected an amendment that would have permitted members to run at-large in states that failed to complete a redistricting plan in time for an election.

Approval of the amendment came on a 74-50 nonrecord vote. But on a later roll call, it was beaten 255 to 147, with many members changing their votes, after first casting them in favor of the amendment.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for five years and have two children. My husband does not permit me to charge anything. He counts out money to me, by the penny, for things I have to buy. I am usually short because I never know to the penny how much I will spend in the grocery store, for instance. My children wear hand-me-downs from the relatives, but if my husband wants something, nothing is too good.

He takes me to the local movie theatre three times a year. That is my entertainment. He never looks at the children. When he gets mad, he kicks anything in sight. He won't leave the house unless he has suntan lotion on his face, and sunglasses. (In the winter!) He goes out with single friends and leaves me home almost every night. Do you think he needs medical attention?

SICK OF IT ALL

DEAR SICK: Your husband is much sicker than you are. Yes, I think he needs medical attention desperately. Talk to your doctor about your husband's behavior, and follow his advice.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Maybe this sounds silly to you, but I know lots of girls with the same problem. My mother leaves the porch light on when I go out on a date, and I can't decide whether to let my date kiss me goodnight or not. I can't kiss him goodnight in the car because if I sit in the car half a minute after I get home my father has a fit. If we come inside the house I am afraid I will wake my Mom and Dad as they are very light sleepers. And if I kiss him on the porch, the whole neighborhood will get a show. So what should I do?

TOO MUCH LIGHTING

DEAR TOO MUCH: Bring the young man inside and say goodnight to him there. And don't worry about waking up your parents. If they are like most parents, they'll still be up.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: We have a new baby which will be christened shortly. My husband wishes to ask his best friend to be godfather, but he does not want this man's wife to be godmother. I have never heard of asking one of a married couple without asking the other. I always thought you should ask both man and wife or neither. What is your opinion? If my husband is going to ask his best friend to be godfather, then shouldn't I ask my best woman friend to be godmother? I am really confused on this and feel so stupid asking my minister.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: It is not unusual at all to ask one of a married couple to be godfather or godmother. The mother usually selects her best friend and so does the father. They need not be married to each other.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter from "TIM," whose girl, "Mona," was embarrassed when she went swimming with him and discovered that he was hirsute, I just had to write. This girl Mona must be "out of her tree." The girls at work agreed that a man with a lot of hair on his chest, back, arms, shoulders and legs is more alluring. Besides, it is a sign of manliness. Tim should know that lots of girls would like to have him just the way he is.

Panel Oks Four-Year Term Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — Despite one senator's objection that the proposal could kill voter interest, a Senate committee Tuesday night approved a bill providing four-year terms for governor, lieutenant governor and several other offices.

In the House a similar measure was sent back to a subcommittee for two more weeks.

Sen. Louis Crump of San Saba told the Senate Constitutional Amendments Committee if voters have to wait four years to elect top state officials they may lose interest.

Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells, sponsor of the plan, said a gubernatorial candidate in a hotly contested race is hard pressed to raise more than $1 million it takes to run.

"With a two-year term, a governor must spend one year preparing for the next election if he chooses to run," Creighton said.

His proposed constitutional amendment also would give the attorney general, secretary of state, state treasurer, comptroller of public accounts, commissioner of agriculture and commissioner of the general land office four-year terms.

Sponsors of the House measure are Reps. Gene Hendryx of Alpine and James Slider of Naples.

Raids Hit Hard At Red's Supplies

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — An estimated 10 per cent of North Viet Nam's ammunition stockpile, a supply source for Viet Cong guerrillas in the south, was destroyed in two of the eight air strikes U.S. and South Vietnamese bombers made against North Viet Nam since Feb. 7.

This estimate, it was learned today, is based on the March 1 blasting of Xom Bang and the March 14 strike at Phu Qui. It does not take into account the attack last weekend on Tiger Island, a transhipping point for the movement of ammunition and other supplies by sea to the insurgents.

At least one of the recommendations brought back from Saigon by Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff, has received swift approval by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and other top administration officials: more helicopter companies will be sent to South Viet Nam.

There are 400 helicopters there now. A helicopter company has about 25 machines.

There is a strong possibility 200 or 300 adviser-type U.S. military personnel will go to Viet Nam soon to increase the training programs for South Viet Nam's forces.

The persistent report, originating in Saigon, that the deployment of a whole U.S. Army division to Viet Nam was being recommended met with a flat "I deny it" from Johnson.

Within the past month, the U.S. 7th Flet has stepped up its search for gun-running junks and small ships that slip in munitions to contact points along the coast. Aircraft from the three carriers of the 7th Fleet, standing out at sea, are helping South Vietnamese patrol junks run down the Red boats.

Recently, three junks were discovered en route from North Viet Nam to Tiger Island. One was captured.

The first of the air strikes against North Viet Nam ammunition depots were said by the administration to be strictly retaliatory for Red attacks on U.S. manned bases.

Now, their ultimate objectives are first to reduce the flow of arms and men from North Viet Nam into South Viet Nam nd second to convince the North Viet Nam Communist government that it should stop interfering in affairs of her neighbor.

Huge Parade Honors St. Patrick

NEW YORK (AP) — A great green tide surges up Fifth Avenue today as sons and daughters of Erin and hordes of Irishmen-for-a-day parade in honor of St. Patrick.

Estimates of the number of marchers ranged from 80,000 to 120,000, and the spectators up to 900,000 — depending on the weather.

The lineup included 225 marching units and 215 brass bands, pipe bands and fife and drum outfits assembled from far and wide.

The steps of St. Patrick's Cathedral, between 50th and 51st streets, were the vantage point for Francis Cardinal Spellman and other Roman Catholic prelates to view the parade.

In Boston — a traditional stronghold of Irish-Americans — today's parade had double significance: Evacuation Day as well as St. Patrick's Day. Evacuation Day commemorates the departure of the British from Dorchester Heights in 1776.

The Baton Rouge, La., Irish club invited New York City's Irish to join the Baton Rouge parade today because a green line has been painted along the parade route, and New Yorkers don't have one. The traditional green traffic line in the middle of Fifth Avenue — painted by city employes — was banned last year. The official reason: too many nationalist groups had begun clamoring for lines of different colors for parades on their old-country holidays.

In Chicago, Mayor Richard J. Daley, headed today's parade.

Several American cities held their St. Patrick's Day parades last Saturday or Sunday.

Women Save Dallas Boy From Dogs

DALLAS (AP) — Two frantic women rescued a screaming 4-year-old boy as three big dogs mauled and slashed the child.

The little boy, Paul Williamson, received emergency treatment for multiple wounds and went home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd M. Williamson Jr.

Police rounded up the dogs, described as boxers, within 30 minutes. The dogs were placed under observation.

Mrs. T. D. Moores, a part-time piano teacher, and Mrs. Lola Fields, a Negro maid, ran to the child's aid when they heard his screams.

Mrs. Moores used a garbage can lid to fend off two of the animals, which charged her. Then she beat the third dog off the screaming child as Mrs. Fields waded into the melee with a brick.

Bay is vice president and general manager of Air Coach Lines at Brownwood.

Wine is vice president of Central Power & Light Co.

Brown owns C. W. Brown Motor Co., C. W. Brown Pipe & Supply Co. and Brown & Throp Oil Co. of McCamey and Beaumont, and is president of Oswego Gas Corp. and McCamey Pipeline Co.

County Court Jury Not To Be Called

Acting county judge Robert H. Patterson announced this morning that the jury panel summoned for duty in county court on Thursday, Mar. 18, and Friday, Mar. 19, has been excused.

The jurors will not need to report since some of the parties involved in the litigation here are engaged in an unfinished lawsuit in Howard County.

Israel, Germany Ready For Talks

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) — Israel and West Germany are expected to start negotiations immediately following the Israeli Parliament's authorization for the opening of diplomatic relations.

West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's special envoy, Kurt Birrenbach, was due back from Bonn today for the talks.

Parliament voted 66-29 Tuesday night to establish full relations with West Germany. There were 10 abstentions.

Premier Levi Eshkol, suffering with the flu, left his sickbed to open the debate, retired while debate continued and returned to cast his vote.

He said the West German offer of diplomatic ties "constitutes a highly significant example of resistance to the extortionate pressure of our (Arab) neighbors, who claim the right to infect other states with an attitude of hostility and ostracism toward Israel."

Eshkol said "the need to strengthen and consolidate the state of Israel must weigh down the scale" against the considerable anti-German sentiment in Israel, a legacy from the Nazi extermination of the Jews.

The move was endorsed by Eshkol's Mapai party, the National Religious party, both wings of the recently split Liberal party, the Religious Orthodox Workers party and two Mapai-affiliated Arab factions.

Lined up in opposition were the Communist party, the nationalist Herut party and the leftist Mapam party. The Ahdut Avoda, a labor party in the government coalition, and the Agudat Israel, an ultra-Orthodox party, abstained.

Herut leader Menahem Begin demanded a nationwide referendum on the ties with Germany. He said it was wrong to think the Germans had changed since Hitler.

The West German offer of diplomatic ties came after a state visit to Cairo last month by Communist East German President Walter Ulbricht. The West Germans had cut off arms aid to Israel in an effort to persuade President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt to cancel the trip. When this failed, they threatened to cut off economic aid to Nasser but later revised this, saying they would not offer any new aid.

Refuses To Reinstate Rice Editor

HOUSTON (AP)— Rice University President K. S. Pitzer has answered students protesting the ouster of Hugh Kelley as editor of the student newspaper, the Rice Thresher.

About 1,000 students had signed petitions asking that the dismissal of the Houston senior be reconsidered.

Pitzer's answer: No.

"The offense was no mere discourtesy but a clear contempt of the university," Pitzer said in a letter Tuesday to Bill Timme, student association president.

Kelley reportedly refused to answer a summons from Dean S. W. Higginbotham, who removed Kelley as editor of the paper Saturday.

"The dean chose the least severe of the three types of penalties," Pitzer said. "Mr. Kelley should consider himself fortunate that a more severe penalty was not invoked."

Pitzer said Kelley could appeal Higginbotham's decision. Kelley said he would appeal.

Virginian Questions Allocation Of Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — West Virginia "often is cited as a shining example of the need for President Johnson's 'war on poverty,'" Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, wrote today in a report to constituents. "On the other hand, Texans like to brag that their state is one of the richest."

Gross continued:

"However, when the first allocations were made from the administration's poverty war fund, West Virginia's share was listed as $423,811, while Texas got $9,776,483.

"On a population basis, Texas has five times more people than West Virginia, but gets 23 times as much poverty aid. The handout for Minnesota, home state of Vice President Humphrey, is $1,449,407, or three times the allotment of West Virginia."

B&PW Clubs Close Week Observance With Breakfast

"From street construction to commerce, public welfare and civic development, women of District Seven play a major role in the business and educational activities of our nation," so stated Mrs. Travis Rhoades, director of District Seven, to the Business and Professional Women of Sweetwater, at a breakfast Sunday, honoring her and the closing of National Business Women's Week.

Women of many professions in this area united as a body in a 24-county Business and Professional Women's Week, along with approximately 170,000 club women across the nation. Some 8,000 of these were from Texas representing 200 clubs, to carry out the purposes, ideals and ideologies of the National Federation.

Mrs. Rhoades also noted as of October 1964, President Johnson had made 68 executive appointments of women to top government positions. This brought into focus the Federation Theme, "Full Partnership" in responsibilities to create a better America.

An auxiliary purpose, of the week long affairs, was a well organized drive for new members which added approximately 75 names to the rosters of the district. This brings a total membership to well over 800.

Sunday marked the end of the 36th observance. It was inaugurated in 1928 to spotlight activities of women who work in relation to current events within their own communities.

Nearly 875 women took part in the activities within District Seven, representing more than 30,000 women actively engaged in business and the professions.

Mrs. Rhoades told of the many hours spent, the enormous amount of work, and the many activities to perpetuate the success of the designated week.

Locally, the well planned affairs were well attended, very successful and challenging with each member, and many guests taking part. Mrs. Frances Brown, local president, wishes to express a hearty "thank you" to each of her members and a warm welcome to each new and prospective member.

This was the first time National Business Women's Week was held in March. Formerly it was held in October. The new date was so successful and gained so much momentum that the first full week in March has been designed as the best date assessed by local, state and national leaders, to be National Business and Professional Week in the future.

It has often been said that the only logical substitute for a new Cadillac is one that has seen previous service. Whatever you plan to invest in your next car, above all consider Cadillac.

If you are like most people, you hope someday to own a new Cadillac motor car. For Cadillac's continuing greatness in design and engineering has made it one of the world's most desirable and sought-after possessions. But if a new Cadillac is not presently feasible, you should consider the pleasure and satisfaction that would be yours with a late model, previously-owned Cadillac. Your dealer currently offers an unusually wide selection of fine used Cadillacs at a cost in line with that of many new cars of far less stature and quality. These fine Cadillacs are all in superb condition, and many offer features not yet available on other makes. And from a standpoint of investment, remember that a Cadillac traditionally returns more of its cost at resale than any other car at or near its price. So visit your authorized Cadillac dealer, and let him show you a Cadillac—new or used—that will fit your budget. Your visit will be the wisest motoring move you have ever made. Why not make it this week?

Negroes' Public Protests Began Just Nine Years Ago

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two most powerful individual forces helping the Negroes' struggle for civil rights laid their foundation stones nine years ago: President Johnson and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

In 1956, still boiling over the Supreme Court's 1954 decision outlawing segregation, Southerners in both houses of Congress signed a "manifesto" in which they denounced the court action.

They pledged themselves to use "all lawful means" to undo the decision. Only three Southern senators didn't sign it: Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, and two Tennessee Democrats, Estes Kefauver and Albert Gore. Kefauver died in 1963.

If Johnson had signed, almost certainly he could never have been chosen the Democratic party's vice-presidential candidate in 1960 or its presidential candidate in 1964.

By not signing he left the way open both to his political future and to one action after another in support of civil rights.

On Dec. 1, 1955, a 43-year-old seamstress, Rosa Parks, was arrested for refusing to give up her seat to a white man and move to the back of a bus in Montgomery, Ala.

King at the time was a 27-year-old unknown, pastor of the Dexter Avenue Baptist Church in Montgomery. The night after Mrs. Parks' arrest 50 Negro leaders of the city met at the church to discuss her case.

The decision was momentous although it may not have seemed so then: the whole Negro community of Montgomery should boycott the buses in mass protest. Out of that mushroomed all the Negro protests and demonstrations since.

Negroes walked to work or formed car pools. They crippled the bus company, 65 per cent of whose passengers had been Negroes. The boycott continued into 1956. The eloquent King, now one of the leaders, became a spokesman for Negroes' aspirations.

He said: "Integration is the great issue of our age, of our nation, of our community. Our victory will be a victory for justice for fair play, and for democracy."

He was arrested in 1956 by Alabama authorities on a charge of conspiring in an illegal boycott, with the state arguing that once the boycott began King found he had "started a fire he couldn't stop." It was an amazing prophecy.

The spreading fire is stronger now than ever, as events of the past 11 days showed in Selma and Montgomery. Later in 1956 the Supreme Court knocked out Montgomery's bus segregation as unconstitutional.

By now King had become leader and national hero for millions of Negroes, preaching "nonviolence" as the turmoil grew, and receiving as a reward the Nobel Peace Prize last year.

In 1957, a year after the "manifesto," Johnson, Democratic Senate leader, steered to passage the first civil rights bill approved by Congress in this century.

It was no earthshaker. It had been watered down by compromise, in which Johnson took part. Some Negro leaders were angry over its weakness. But it was a beginning. The ancient power of Southern Democrats to stifle civil rights legislation had been broken. The door was open to new and stronger action.

In 1960 Johnson, still as Senate leader, pushed through another civil rights bill and, as president in 1964, still another. Now, under pressure of the present trouble in Alabama, Johnson has asked quick approval of still another bill to wipe out all discrimination against Negro voting.

Anyone who hadn't been following the news but read his address to a joint session of Congress Monday night, urging action on his bill, might have wondered whether it was Johnson or King speaking.

Johnson said in part: "Our mission is at once the oldest and most basic of this country: to right wrong, to do justice, to serve man. . . .The time of justice has now come. . . .It is right — and in the eyes of man and God — it should come."

A Junior Editors Quiz About DOG HABITS

QUESTION: Why do dogs turn 'round and 'round before going to sleep?

• • •

ANSWER: Domestic dogs are descended from wild dogs of long ago. It is believed these dogs spent most of their lives hunting in packs in open, grassy country. Dens, hollow logs, caves and other things small animals use for shelter were not available. At night or in bad weather, wild dogs probably had to camp in the open. By turning 'round and 'round in the grass, however, a dog could hollow out a kind of nest, at the same time scratching at the ground to soften up the earth (top picture.) Quite possibly the building of nests helped to conceal wild dogs from such natural enemies as leopards. This nest-building of long ago is regarded as being a deeply ingrained dog habit which has been passed down to our house pets of today. So, little Spot (below) is industriously scraping up the carpet as if it were ground and twisting around to push back imaginary grasses. He will probably sleep better for having made these arrangements—even if there's no chance of rain beating in on him or leopards attacking him.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: When you care for a dog, remember that deep nest-making instinct. Help him by giving him a cozy bed of his own. 3/17

Cazzie Won't Guard Bill

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — No, there's little or no chance of a head-to-head clash between Princeton's Bill Bradley and Michigan's Cazzie Russell when the two teams meet Friday in the semifinals of the NCAA basketball championships.

"I'd say it's very doubtful that Russell will be guarding Bradley," said Michigan Coach Dave Strack by a four-way telephone hook-up with the four coaches whose teams are in the tourney.

"I'm not sure who will be guarding him.

"Probably everybody."

Strack was apparently reluctant to talk about Bradley, Princeton's two-time All-America and Player of the Year.

He's still haunted by the memory of Bradley's performance in the only previous meeting this season, in the semifinals of the Holiday Festival in New York.

Bradley scored 41 points in that game and propelled Princeton to a 12-point lead over the nation's No. 1 college basketball team before he fouled out with 3½ minutes left. Michigan won it on a 20-foot jump shot by Russell, also an All-America, in the last few seconds.

Michigan, still ranked No. 1 with a 23-3 record, plays Princeton, 22-5, in the first game of the Friday night semifinal doubleheader. Second-ranked UCLA, the defending champion with a 26-2 record, plays Wichita, 21-7 and unranked, in the nightcap.

The winners meet Saturday in the nationally televised final for the national championship. Game time is 10 p.m., EST.

SHS Golf Team Nips Lamesans

LAMESA — Snyder High School golfers took an abbreviated victory over Lamesa High teams here Tuesday afternoon. Play was reduced from 18 holes to 9 holes because of high winds and blowing sand.

The Snyder first team decisioned the Lamesa first team, 162 to 179, and the Snyder second team triumphed over the Lamesa second team, 186 to 195.

Snyder's first team was paced by Jimmy Featherston who negotiated the 9 holes in 37 strokes. Don Copeland and Richard Waters each had 41 and Darrell Haney 43. For Lamesa first team, Jess Claiborne had a 41, Joel Vaughn 44, Mike Addison and Grover Clifft 47 each.

For Snyder's second team, Larry Anderson had a 44, Bill Taylor 46, Jimmy Hogan 47 and Alex LeFeuvre 49. Lamesa second Team's scores included Bob Ayers 46, J. Lyons 49, Rex Sumrow 59 and Jim Anderson 31.

Next action for Coach J. P. Ward's Snyder team will be Saturday in the first round of the District 3-AAA tournament at Brownfield. The district tournament is being played on three weekends again this year. The second round is set for April 3 at Lamesa and the final round is booked for April 10 at the Snyder Country Club.

Top two teams in the district will qualify for the regional tournament. In addition, the medalist and runnerup, if they are not members of the top two teams, will go on to regional as two extra performers.

Army, NYU In Repeat Roles

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — New York University and Army find themselves in a familiar spot. Only they hope the spot becomes unfamiliar after Thursday night.

The basketball teams joined top-seeded Villanova and St. John's in the semifinals of the National Invitation Tournament, NYU defeating Detroit 87-76 and Army outlasting Western Kentucky 58-54 Tuesday night.

In the semifinal round Army will meet St. John's before NYU battles Villanova, the nation's eighth-ranked team.

This marks the second straight year Army and NYU have reached the semifinals. But that's as far as they went last year. Eventual champion Bradley whipped the Cadets 67-52, and New Mexico beat NYU 72-65. Army then nipped the Violets 60-59 for third place.

Both teams face difficult times in surpassing their 1964 achievements. Villanova has a 22-4 record, Jim Washington and Bill Melchionni while St. John's has momentum, Ken McIntyre and Sonny Dove.

"New York has a good solid club, but Villanova has an edge," Coach Bob Calihan of Detroit said after his team bowed out of the tournament.

Coach Johnny Oldham of Westerr Kentucky said the better defense will win for Army or St. John's.

"Army will be stronger physically," he added. "St. John's is better on outside shooting. St. John's must contain Mike Silliman and John Ritch; Army must contain Dove and McIntyre."

As for McIntyre, who has scored 62 points in two NIT games, Army Coach Tates Locke said: "The way he's shooting, we'll have to guard him with a two-iron."

The Cadets didn't trail Western Kentucky after the first few minutes. It wasn't until the final minutes, though, that their victory was assured. Silliman and Ritch each scored 17 points with Silliman scoring four clutch points and throwing a key pass to Ritch for another basket near the end.

A big factor in the NYU triumph was Detroit's loss of 6-foot-8 Dorie Murrey on personal fouls with nearly 18 minutes to play.

Romo Unavailable For Track Season

AUSTIN (AP)—The already-thin University of Texas track squad got its stiffest blow Tuesday when it learned miler Richard Romo would be unavailable for the season.

Romo had an exploratory operation on a spiked ankle and found that a tendon had been severed. The ankle was put in a cast that won't be removed for four to six weeks. Then he will be confined to crutches for another two weeks.

The track season will be over in less than two months.

Romo had run the mile in 4:05.6 and Coach Jack Patterson had figured he would hit the four-minute mark this year.

Giants Get Jap Pitcher

TOKYO (AP) — Masanori Murakami, the perplexed pitcher from Tokyo, probably will do his pitching this year for the San Francisco Giants instead of the Nankai Hawks.

The Japanese baseball commissioner, the Hawks and the Giants were in agreement today that the 20-year-old left-hander should work for the Giants in 1965. After that there's still a dispute. The Hawks want him back in 1966. The Giants want to keep him.

As for Murakami, the man in the middle who would rather play in Japan, he said today:

"I want to play ball. But if I say I don't want to go to the United States and then be unable to play in Japan, then I guess I must go.

"But I want to talk it over with my manager and my parents. It is regrettable but I'll have to go along with the decision of the commissioner and the team."

Yushi Uchimura, the Japanese baseball commissioner who is suffering from a stomach ailment, said he had sent U.S. Commissioner Ford Frick a letter agreeing that Murakami should play for the Giants in 1965. But he said he also recommended that the pitcher be returned to the Hawks in 1966.

Administrators of schools affiliated with the University Interscholastic League are scheduled to receive ballots soon for voting on some proposed amendments and new rules. Three of the proposals would affect Class AAA schools. One of these would prohibit interschool football games before the second Friday in September. Under present regulations football games may be played as early as the first Friday in September and there actually have been cases where football games were played before the school term actually started.

Another would move the qualifying dates for district and regional baseball champions, as well as the state baseball tournament, back two weeks, which would return the baseball schedule to the same place it was three years ago.

Another proposal would allow formal basketball practice to begin on or after Oct. 15, which would provide two more weeks of practice. No games could be played before Nov. 15.

* * *

Indications are that college basketball coaches favor the earlier starting date for high school basketball drills. Although there were some talented individuals, the college coaches apparently felt that in general high school basketball was below par in Texas the past season. The college cage mentors, of course, are anxious to get better - seasoned material for their freshmen teams, and at best they are running well behind those in other sections of the country in that respect.

Harold Bradley, the University of Texas cage coach, was quoted recently as observing that youngsters coming out of high schools in the East and Midwest regions of the country usually will have 150 to 200 more prep school games under their belts than will Texas high schools graduates. That means Texas schoolboys are handicapped when compared to those in other parts of the country, and if Texas colleges are going to use Texas boys, the handicap will be passed on to the colleges.

* * *

There was a paradox to this situation the past season at San Marcos. The high school basketball team there won the Class AAA state title, finishing its overall season with 25 victories and 5 defeats. However, all of the San Marcos defeats occurred while four first - stringers were involved in football. The San Marcos football team went to the state finals, which kept the four football - basketball men busy on the gridiron until deep in December. After the four finished their football chores and devoted full attention to basketball, the San Marcos cage team didn't lose a game.

* * *

However, two - sport men have become a true rarity in colleges and they have been fading rapidly in larger high schools, particularly when football and basketball are combined in a career. Some college athletes double in football and baseball, a few in football and track, but football and basketball are a tough comination in this era of the specialist. It was not unusual in the pre - World War II days for the ends and backs from the football team to compose the bulk of a college's basketball squad. Those days are gone forever.

Bears Take SWC Lead

By The Associated Press

Baylor's unheralded Bears lead the Southwest Conference baseball race and Southern Methodist is the only other unbeaten team in the league.

Baylor rapped Texas A&M 2-0 Tuesday to take over first place with a 2-0 record. At the same time Southern Methodist was winning its first game of the season—a 3-0 10-inning decision over Rice. It also was SMU's first conference game, the Mustangs having been rained out last week.

Fred Rath pitched a clutch four-hitter and beat the Aggies despite eight walks. A&M, the defending conference champion, threatened throughout but just couldn't get to Rath in the clutch.

Bob Zamora slugged two doubles to set up the Baylor runs.

Texas, which had started out with a loss to Texas A&M, climbed back into the picture with a 5-4 triumph over Texas Christian.

Texas drove three runs across the plate in the first inning, added another in the fourth and won with a tally in the fifth that came on Joe Hague's triple and Buddy Young's single.

Jim Raup choked off a TCU rally in the ninth after the first two batters got on base.

Southern Methodist scored all its runs in the 10th with Hugh Hackney singling in what proved to be the winning run. Bob Behren pitched a five-hitter.

The next round of conference games comes Saturday when Baylor hosts Texas Christian, Texas plays Southern Methodist at Austin and Texas A&M battles Rice at College Station.

Former umpire Grover Froese has signed a contract to scout for Philadelphia.

Boys' Club Cage All-Stars Named

Two all - star squads of 18 men each have been selected by coaches in the Scurry County Boys' Club Basketball program.

The all-star selections were taken from the rosters of six teams in both the 5th and 6th grade divisions.

Both the Destroyers and the Bullets placed five men on the 6th grade all - stars. The complete 6th grade lineup includes Bobby Weaver, Bobby Thompson, Bruce Allmand, Glenn Rambin and Gary Gallman of the Destroyers; Tony Breedlove, Dennis Breedlove, Jeff Stewart, Bill Wilson and Max Falls of the Bullets; Gary Shields, Bid Cooper and Mike Shearburn of the Rockets; Harvey Pinkerton and Mike Blyth of the Pistols; Mark Stephens and Stewart Sims of the Jets; and Travis Angel of the Bombers. Larry Wall was named as honorary 6th grade all - star. He was out of action from midseason on because of an injury, although his injury was not sustained in the basketball program.

The Mustangs, Wolves and Wildcats each placed four men on the 5th grade all-stars. The complete 5th grade lineup includes Mitch Butler, Felix Martinez, Mike Glasscock and Jerry Grant of the Mustangs; Tommy Johnson, Mike Line, Terry Arnold and Bill Stokes of the Wolves; David Thompson, Jerry Ferguson, Scott McCaleb and Danny Andrews of the Wildcats; Jackie Murry, Butch Buchanan and Kent Horsley of the Tigers; Eddie Bowlin and Alton Thompson of the Steers; and Roy Morris of the Bears.

NTSU Cage Coach Quits

DENTON (AP)—North Texas State was in the market for a new basketball coach today, particularly one who can win in the rugged Missouri Valley Conference.

Charles Johnson resigned Tuesday, leaving a six-year record of 36-114, of which only 11 of 79 were in the Missouri Valley Conference.

North Texas had had two seasons in the conference prior to Johnson becoming the coach. Under Pete Shands the Eagles had won only three of 28 games.

Johnson's resignation apparently came as a surprise to college officials although there had been some unrest recently in view of several effigies of the coach being seen on the campus.

"That's an occupational hazard that puts me in the class with some great coaches," said Johnson.

He said he was not pressured into resigning or was forced by school officials to quit. "There was just the normal unrest that goes with a losing season," he added.

Johnson said he thought "we were close to competing with the Valley basketball teams, but I've thought that for a couple of years now and it seems we just can't win the close ones to get us going in the right direction."

North Texas won seven and lost 19 the past season.

Small Business Loans Are Established Basic System

By TOM JOHNSON

DALLAS (AP)— A program set up eight years ago to fill an "economic vacuum" is apparently well on the road to becoming the nation's fourth primary banking system.

It is composed of a present total of 720 privately owned (as opposed to government owned) Small Business Investment Companies.

Established by Congress to arrest the pattern of "the big get bigger and the small get smaller," the program is essentially a source of financing for small businesses.

SBIC across the country have provided $50 million to 10,000 small firms since 1959. And the tempo is going up yearly.

Leaders of the program met in Dallas today to explain new concepts in the field to about 100 SBIC owners and managers from the Southwest. The meeting followed similar gatherings in New York, Washington and Chicago. The series will end in San Francisco.

Richard Kelley, deputy administrator of the Small Business Administration, said if the present trend continues, the program will trail only commercial banks, savings and loan institutions and the farm credit system as a source of capital for the burgeoning American financial complex.

Eugene Foley, SBA administrator, said SBIC fills an economic vacuum by supplying long term capital to small businesses hampered by the banking industry's justified preference for short term loans.

Foley said the banking community has endorsed the program and 20 SBIC are wholly owned by banks, with another 60 partially so owned.

One aim of the series of meetings, he said, is to generate more interest in the SBIC program on the part of banks and insurance companies.

"Ultimately," Foley said, "we want to get the government out of it all together. We feel that the economy is more healthy to the extent that capital for the private sector comes from the private sector, not from the government."

SBIC are chartered under federal and state regulations and their books are periodically audited, as in banks. They must have a minimum capitalization of $600,000, of which $300,000 can be obtained through a 20-year, five per cent loan from the SBA.

The SBIC, in turn, makes loans to small businesses. It can charge the legal interest rate in the state, provided this is not over 15 per cent.

"The SBIC is . . . a source of long term loans, up to 30 years, and is a much needed source of risk capital for the small business," Foley said.

The SBIC can make a straight loan or it can purchase up to 50 per cent of the private stock of a firm. Of the 720 now licensed, about 50 raised capital through stock sales to the public.

Foley said the average loan by SBIC is about $50,000.

The SBA, established in 1953, makes loans generally not exceeding $15,000, and required by statute not to be for more than 10 years. As is the case with banks, the SBA cannot buy stock in firms to which it loans.

Foley said the 720 SBIC are capitalized at a total of $750 million. Of this amount, $300 million has come from stock sales to the public, $250 million from SBA loans and $200 million from private sources.

He said some new areas in which SBIC might make investments were:

—Merchant ship mortgages.

—Small companies disposed of by large firms because of Justice Department or Federal Trade Commission action.

The SBIC program is under jurisdiction of the SBA. It defines a small business as one which has total assets of less than $5 million, a net worth of less than $2.5 million and an annual net income of less than $250,000 after taxes.

States with the most active participation so far are:

California—118 SBIC, capitalized at $124 million; New York—110, $93 million; Texas—60, $95 million; Massachusetts—42, $40 million; Pennsylvania—33, $17 million.

US Physicians Earn Top Money

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you want to earn top money be a doctor, lawyer or merchant chief.

That's the essence of a Labor Department study on how the nation's approximately 46 million male workers make their living.

The study of 321 occupations showed a median salary range — at the midway point in the high to low listing — of $14,561 a year for physicians at the top of the list to $550 for newsboys at the bottom.

Business managers in banking and finance were second highest at $12,757 and lawyers were high up on the list at $10,587.

In general, the study shows the higher the educational attainment, the higher the salary. But there were some notable exceptions.

Locomotive engineers, for instance, were 38th on the list of highest paid occupations with a median education level of 9.8 years and median pay of $7,586. The locomotive engineers, the highest paid craftsmen listed, compared favorably in salary with many professional and managerial workers with college educations.

Millwrights were the next occupational group with less than 10 years of schooling, far down the list in 107th place at a salary of $5,933.

Although the study is based on 1960 census figures, the author of the report, Max Rutzick of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the job rankings today are virtually unchanged, although every occupation would show higher salaries now.

The dominance of professional and managerial jobs in the higher salary scales seems to be "a natural structure" that doesn't change much, Rutzick said.

However, he wrote, some professional jobs are comparatively low paid, apparently because of a large number of women in the field who are frequently paid less, "thus lowering the pay scales for the entire occupation."

These include religious workers, with a median education of 16.3 years but a median salary of only $3,033 for 285th place on the list.

Bill Would Ease Taxes For Farmer

AUSTIN (AP)—Land speculation around the expanding boundaries of Texas cities is pushing property taxes so high that some farmers can't survive, a House committee was told Tuesday.

Three legislators were among witnesses asking the House Revenue and Tax Committee to approve for House debate a bill requiring that farm land be assessed for taxation only at its agricultural value.

A farmer might sell land to a speculator for $1,000 or $2,000 an acre—well above its value as farm land—and cause tax assessors to use the price in figuring valuations on neighboring land, Rep. Alonzo Jamison of Denton said.

Jamison and Reps. Bill Dungan of McKinney and Wayne Connally of Floresville are sponsors of the measure. All appeared before the committee.

"Numbers of people around Denton have had their taxes go up $10 or $12 an acre, and there is nothing they can do about it," Jamison said.

Roland Boyd, McKinney lawyer, said there are "thousands of acres of Johnson grass and weeds around Garland (in Dallas County) because high taxes have run the farmer off."

Boyd conceded there is some question of the bill's constitutionality. He said similar legislation has been held unconstitutional in some states and allowed to stand in others.

Spokesmen for the Texas Farmers Union and the State Farm Bureau endorsed the bill. It was referred to a subcommittee.

Texas Senators Stop Bill On Liquor Bottles

By JACK KEEVER

AUSTIN (AP)—With a brief, loud shout a group of Texas senators Tuesday stopped a move to provide miniature bottles of liquor for restaurant customers.

After a procession of witnesses spoke for more than two hours, the Senate Jurisprudence Committee accepted on voice vote Sen. Bill Moore's motion to report the bill unfavorably to the full Senate.

Applause broke out from part of the crowd of about 1,000 in the Senate chamber and gallery.

It was quiet, however, compared to laughter and applause that threatened several times to break up the hearing which began with humor, then got bitter.

"Just a big tourist day, I guess," quipped Sen. J. J. Blanchard of Lubbock.

"Have we got something controversial scheduled?" Sen. Charles Herring of Austin, committee chairman, asked with a smile.

Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg then explained the measure and the battle lines were drawn on the proposal to let restaurants sell liquor in bottles of two ounces or less.

Those favoring the bill spoke first. They predicted a tremendous effect on the tourist business, increased tax revenue for the state, more controlled drinking and an end "to the Texas custom of the bottle in a brown paper bag." The bill was backed by the Texas Restaurant Association.

"This will go a long way toward improving the aura of gracious dining in Texas," said Randall Davis, manager of the Dallas Sheraton Hotel.

"We'd rather have small bottles on the table than big, big bottles in bags, so we control drinking in our restaurants," said George Williams of Waco.

"This is moderation," said W. Price Jr. of the restaurant association, tapping one of several sample 1.6-ounce bottles on the committee table.

He said the bill was important to Texas' progress and its defeat could point the state toward "the ghost of ghost towns . . . another Appalachia."

Dr. James Landis, president of Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene, introduced six opponents of the bill, telling the committee it would hear "fact rather than fiction."

"Having cocktails and eating is not synonymous—it's certainly not true as the liquor industry wants us to believe," said Leroy Daniel, Wichita Falls City councilman.

"Let's not kid each other. This bill is designed to make it easier to get it (liquor), and that means more problems," said the Rev. Lee Ramsour, pastor of the Athens First Baptist Church.

A Bryan resident, Bill Bailey, said: "This is another hat under the arm method of offering something for nothing." This replied to proponents' arguments about tax benefits.

"There's been lots of talk about tourism but not one word about the homes and families of Texas — the biggest tourist attraction would be a wholesome situation in the state," said Dr. Don Morris, president of Abilene Christian College. "The restaurant association's slogan — 'eating out is fun' and liquor by the drink don't mix."

"A place where strong drink is sold is sometimes called a bar — a bar to heaven, a door to hell; whoever named it, named it well," quoted Dr. Sam Morris of San Antonio.

"It would be a greater service to the people of Texas if some of these men were wearing milk bottles," said B. Ray, a Pleasanton dairy farmer. He pointed to paper cutouts of small liquor bottles worn by some people in the audience.

The five-inch tall cutouts read "A drink not a drunk" and "I am for SB8, HB2 ."

Claud Bonham, pastor of the Huisache Avenue Baptist Church in San Antonio, warned against the effect of liquor on pilots, shouting:

"Easy to pack baby bottles of booze might well increase the alarming incidence of drunken flying accidents caused by beverage alcohol."

African Unity Organization Is Paralyzed By Disunity

By DENNIS NEELD

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The Congo problem which has plagued this continent since 1960 now has cleaved Africa's independent nations into rival camps.

Premier Moise Tshombe, key figure in the controversy, emerged from the Organization of African Unity's meeting of foreign ministers in Nairobi with a diplomatic victory.

Although his request for an all-African peacekeeping force to replace his white mercenaries failed to get the 18 votes needed for approval, it won the backing of 15 nations. And Tshombe, denounced by many African leaders as an imperialist stooge, came out of the meeting unscathed by any resolution critical of his policies.

It was the organization which suffered defeat. The OAU, born two years ago with pledges of pan-African solidarity, now appears paralyzed by disunity.

The conference, which spent five bitter days last week discussing the Congo, failed to reach any policy decision, passing the buck to Africa's heads of state meeting in Accra, Ghana, Sept. 1.

In the pro-Tshombe camp were most of the French-speaking states, plus Nigeria, Liberia and Sierra Leone.

In the other, Ghana, Tanzania, Algeria, the United Arab Republic and Uganda opposed Tshombe.

Resolutions condemning South Africa for its policy of apartheid and Portugal for hanging on to its African colonies went through with barely a hitch.

The split came as soon as delegates got down to the Congo question.

Tshombe checked in at a newly built hotel taken over exclusively for delegates, and Tanzania's foreign minister, Oscar Kambona, promptly checked out. The two men later argued violently on the conference floor, with Tshombe at one stage demanding of Chairman Joseph Murumbi, foreign minister of Kenya, that he "silence this demagogue."

Sudan proposed that Congo rebel leader Christophe Gbenye be given a hearing at the conference. Tshombe opposed this idea and it failed to get the necessary majority approval.

In a bid to hide the split, Murumbi imposed an information black out. Delegates continued to leak information to the press, however, and the blackout failed to conceal the increasingly bitter tenor of the debate.

Tanzania and Ghana tried to drum up support for a move to withdraw recognition of Tshombe's government if it refused to abide by the conference decisions. They failed.

At the opening session, Kenya's President Jomo Kenyatta had urged delegates to find a "speedy and peaceful solution" to the Congo problem.

But for Tshombe, as he told a news conference later, the OAU meeting showed the Congo had "sure and solid friends."

Viet Congs Boast Finest Of Arms

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Three years ago a Viet Cong guerrilla was lucky to own an old bolt-action French rifle. Today the same guerrilla probably owns an assortment of the finest jungle weapons made.

The Viet Cong still lack planes, tanks and trucks, but they have come a long way in building up their arsenal.

No longer are they a ragged peasant army with castoff and homemade weapons. The Red force fights in uniform and is supplied with the best. Last year the Viet Cong captured 13,700 American weapons from government forces.

But the new Viet Cong arsenal also includes the latest from the factories of Red China and the rest of the Communist bloc.

Among these weapons is a new Soviet-designed assault rifle. This weapon fires a 7.62mm cartridge intermediate in size between those used in heavy U.S. automatic rifles and light carbines. Used more or less as a long-range submachine gun, it is sturdy and reliable. American officers think it is as good or better than similar Western weapons.

A new Chinese Communist antitank rocket launcher is smaller and lighter than the American bazooka but works on much the same principle. It fires a heavy rocket shell capable of piercing 6 to 8 inches of armor and wrecking a bunker or blockhouse.

An accessory is a lightweight ammunition pack carrying two rockets and two propellent charges. The whole rig is suspended from a comfortable harness ideal for a guerrilla hiker.

Recoilless 57mm and 75mm cannon are in abundant supply. Their range is limited, but for close-in use they are at least as destructive as pack howitzers. They are easily portable.

In the past, the guerrillas have relied heavily on Chinese antiaircraft machine guns. Captured American 50-caliber machine guns are now adapted in jungle factories for the same purpose. The Chinese gun can easily bring down helicopters or planes from altitudes of several thousand feet.

Locally made Viet Cong arms have improved enormously from the days when the guerrillas made shotguns out of plumbing pipe.

The guerrillas are turning out a variety of special weapons. Government authorities seized several dummy fountain pens last week near Can Tho, in the Mekong River Delta. The pens were loaded with nitroglycerine with ingenious fuses.

Intelligence reports indicated about 150 of these pens have been issued to Viet Cong agents.

Soldier From Texas Shot By Mistake

NOVICE, Tex. (AP) — Cpl. Louie Parham, 21, of this West Texas community near Abilene died Tuesday in South Viet Nam after being shot by mistake.

Another Marine was killed and another wounded Sunday night. They were members of fire team and the Marine who fired thought they were Viet Cong Guerrillas.

Reports from Viet Nam Tuesday night said the man who fired the shots has been relieved from duty with his company and is at base headquarters under restriction. He is a private in his early 20s.

Parham will be buried with military honors at Atoka. The time has not been set.

His mother, Mrs. Louie Parham, said:

"We realize we may never know who the boy is, but we would like for his parents to know that we hold nothing against the boy for doing his duty."

Parham was discharged in June and volunteered for another tour. He had served 14 months in the South China Sea area.

"I do feel we are not accomplishing anything by having troops in Viet Nam," Mrs. Parham said. "We are only getting our boys killed daily for no reason at all."

Her husband agreed.

Economists Contradict Pessimists

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cassandras are having a hard time of it just now.

Whenever the prophets of doom stress problems that could become tomorrow's disasters—the gold drain, unemployment, disregard of wake-price guidelines, threatened overheating of the economy—government statisticians come out with their routine reports that show each month's performance better than the last.

The problems are there. And they are knotty. But the current measures of the economy show it is strong that the public—whether consumer or businessman—seems inclined to let the problems take care of themselves in due course.

That goes for the fighting in the two Viet Nams, which rarely now causes a flurry in the stock market as it once did.

The same attitude goes for the steel labor negotiations which some see as currently overheating the economy, but which many outsiders now seem to feel will be worked out without too much damage.

The general complacency holds for the balance of payment deficit, the renewed drain of U.S. gold reserves and the whole international monetary dispute, which the worries say could undermine the value of the dollar and hamstring world trade, but which much of the public regards as something the bankers will take care of in time.

Arousing the public to future threats is hard because the recurring monthly figures are so good.

The Labor Department reports that almost 70 million Americans have jobs. Instead of declining in February as is customary, nonfarm payrolls rose to more than 58 million, and the seasonally adjusted factory work week of 41.4 hours was the highest for any month since the end of World War II.

Steel production continues to set records. So do new car sales. Many other industries are enjoying prosperity along with these two, which are most in the public eye.

Ocracoke, N. C., can be reached only by water. A toll ferry makes a three and a half hour crossing from the North Carolina mainland.

Freeloading California Owl Has Taste For Barbecue

By DIAL TORGERSON

LAGUNA BEACH, calif. (AP) — Here's what happened when the owl came to the barbecue:

"Get the cat!" cried the hostess. "Get the cat!"

"But dear," said the host, one hand protectively over his martini olive, "the cat can't catch a bird that size!"

"No, no," said the hostess, shaking a spatula at the sky, "I mean the owl might catch the cat!"

The Bluebird Canyon Owl was out freeloading again.

The bird is a great horned owl someone apparently caught young, raised as a pet, and then freed. But this is one owl which doesn't give a hoot for the call of the wild.

It likes handouts — and young girls.

Six girls have been scratched by the owl's talons, and mothers around Bluebird Canyon playground are now passing a petition demanding that the Humane Society remove the owl.

"Remove him!" said the Humane Society's Fred Garcelon, "we've been trying to catch him for two years, and we haven't been able to get closer than six feet. I guess it's a case for the game warden."

"If we can't catch him," said District Game Warden Richard B. Kramer, "I'm afraid we'd be forced to destroy him."

"They can't kill Mr. Hoo Hoo," said June Budd, one of the many homeowners who feed the owl and claim a proprietary interest in it. "He loves children. He just wants to sit on their shoulders and be fed.

"When he gets hungry he flies into the kitchen — you should see him look into the refrigerator when I open the door! Mostly he prefers beef hearts.

"But the other day he did steal some spareribs from a neighbor's barbecue. And then from another neighbor's fish pond."

A Lagunan who fought the owl away from the cheese dip at a patio party swore the owl's wings spanned five feet. But Mrs. Budd's husband, Otho, once caught the bird and measured it: the span is just under four feet.

Budd took the owl 20 miles into the mountains and released it. The next morning it was back at the kitchen window, hooting for beef heart.

Other residents of the canyon — a wooded vale a mile from this resort city's bustling beach district — care less for Mr. Hoo Hoo.

One housewife, en route home from market, nearly wrecked her convertible when the bird flew into the car and peered owlishly into the grocery sacks. "The worst of it all," she said, "was that my husband wouldn't believe me."

Darkhaired Laurie Hano, 11, is nursing a grudge — and a scratched scalp.

"He tried to sit on my head," said Laurie, "and I ran. Guy! You ever try to outrun an owl? He taught me. Mostly he chases blondes. He's just keen on blondes."

Queen Mum Has Line To Horses

By RAYMOND E. PALMER

LONDON (AP) — Well, blow me down, the Queen Mum's on the blower:

The Queen Mum is Queen Mother Elizabeth, mother of the present queen. The blower, as any British horse player will tell you, is the private phone system which carries a commentary service from the tracks to the nation's thousands of betting parlors.

The Queen Mother's London residence, Clarence House, has been hooked in to the blower service by Exchange Telegraph, the company that operates it. Now she can pick up the same commentary that is relayed to the legal betting shops throughout the land — along with odds, jockey changes, the state of the going, the weights, the lot.

"She cannot always get to the races," explained a spokesman at Clarence House, "and she likes to follow her horses' progress."

What horse fancier doesn't?

The Queen Mother's keenly interested in their progress at the moment. Having already achieved more than her century of wins, she is currently leading the list of winning owners during the present jumping season with 21 first places.

Her prize money, a total of $27,440, is exceeded only by Anne Duchess of Westminster, the lucky owner of champion hurdler Arkle, the jumper that shows lots of sparkle.

If anyone had any doubt that the Queen Mother was Britain's most enthusiastic steeplechase fan, it was dispelled with the news about the royal blower.

She has 14 jumpers at training under Maj. Peter Cazalet and five more under Irish trainer Jack O'Donoghue. One of the O'Donoghue string is Rip, joint favorite for the Grand National, the greatest steeplechase of them all.

Surfers who gauge a wave as it begins to build up and catch it as it swells, may swish to shore at speeds up to 40 miles an hour.
