Ellison Park, playground of hundreds through the summer, its every day-light hour vibrant with laughter and the sounds of fun, lay quiet as the snow was falling Saturday, February 16. Even the houses that surround the park seemed far away, and the camera's eye saw new beauty in black and white—a beauty unknown to those who see it only in its summer green.

National Guard Unit Affected by Change

Wellington will experience a major change in the National Guard organization under the terms of the just-announced modernization of Texas Army National Guard, it was learned Tuesday.

Present infantry units in Wellington and Shamrock will be transferred to the control of the 49th Armored Division, Major Gen. Seldon Simpson, 36th Division commander, said in announcing the modernization. Both units are to become artillery.

The Wellington and Shamrock National Guard units will be separated, just as they were prior to the National Guard reorganization in 1959. The two now form Company E, 1st Battle Group, 142nd Infantry of the 36th Division.

Under the new set-up, Wellington's unit will form Battery A, 2nd Howitzer Battalion, 131st Artillery, 49th Division.

Shamrock will become Battery B of the same unit.

Lt. Rex Peeples, commanding officer of Company E, will remain as commander of Battery A.

The change becomes official March 1, but Wellington had its first visit from the new battalion commanding officer during an all-day drill Sunday, Feb. 17.

Bi-District Opponent Uncertain

Wellington's Rockettes Take District 2-A Championship

Champions of District 2-A girls basketball are the Wellington Rockettes, who finished off their season with a 60-33 win over Lefors Tuesday Feb. 12, and a 59-33 win over McLean Friday, Feb. 15.

Coach James Stavenhagen said it was not yet certain who they would play in the bi-district contest, but it probably will be Stratford — the school in which he coached before he came to Wellington. He did not coach the girls, however.

Stratford finished in the top place in District 1-A round robin play, but a district tournament this week end will finally name the winner. The tournament will be played at Stratford.

The date and place of the bi-district playoff will be determined by officials of the winning schools next Monday.

"The girls have been playing real ball—and they're still improving," the coach said.

The Rockettes ended the season with 22 wins and 7 losses, and with only one loss, to Clarendon, in district competition.

There was never any doubt as to the outcome as the Rockettes played their closing game with the McLean Tigerettes.

The score at the end of the first quarter saw Wellington leading 17 to 6; at half time it was 34-21 and at three-quarter time 44 to 32.

Neither was there ever a doubt in the Lefors-Wellington game. Betty Courtney was high pointer with 30 points, 20 of them made in the first quarter.

"We have three experienced mechanics to service the tractors and equipment of our customers," Mr. Barker said. These are John Pippins, Hardy Wright and L. B. McNeil.

Joe Petersen will continue with the firm as parts man.

"Don't Visit Patients!"

Flu Reaches Epidemic Proportion in County

Flu in Collingsworth county has reached epidemic proportions, Dr. Carter Holcomb, the county health officer, said on Tuesday night, Feb. 19, and there is no way to know how long it will last.

It is probably worse than the epidemic during the winter of 1957, the doctor added.

"We strongly advise anyone not to go in where there is a case of flu unless it is absolutely necessary," Dr. Holcomb warned.

Those who have not had flu shots were urged to get them.

"Some immunity will build up in a few days," the doctor said, adding that the shots are the only protection offered.

"Please, please, do not visit patients in the hospital unless you are a member of the family and it is absolutely necessary," the health officer continued.

All hospital beds were full on Monday night, several patients were released Tuesday, but by Tuesday night all beds were full again.

Three aides and one of the Sisters were among the patients.

"We are short handed at the hospital, and these flu cases are requiring lots of nursing," Dr. Holcomb said.

Schools have not been greatly affected so far, with most of the cases among adults.

Concerning public meetings, Dr. Holcomb said,

"I am personally opposed to them. Every time you are in a crowd, you run the risk of being exposed."

Donkey Ball Game at Quail Monday Night

A donkey basketball game on Monday, Feb. 25, will provide entertainment for the Quail area, with game time at 7:30 p.m.

This is a double header that will see the Young Farmers competing with their wives and the boys of the senior class playing a team composed of senior girls and other high school girls.

The donkeys are especially trained for this sport by C. F. Cook of Roosevelt, Okla. They have entertained crowds in the county several times in the past and always draw a capacity crowd.

The women's team will come from among their wives.

On the senior boys team will be J. C. Saunders, Richard Keller, Dean Johnson, Phil Pippins, James Branch, Billy Lindsey and Paul Boyce.

The girls team will include the three senior girls, Jenny Ann Kennedy, Barbara Tyler and Rita Moody. The remainder of the team will be from the other high school classes.

Junior High Girls Travel Victory Road

The Crackerettes, junior high girls basketball team, finished their season undefeated — 17 games without a single loss, Coach Harvey Millsap said this week.

The Firecrackers record was also creditable—10 wins and 7 losses.

Both teams ended the year with the Quail tournament, when the four junior high teams entered brought home four trophies. The Crackerettes placed first and the Firecrackers second; the two B teams won the consolation trophies.

The Crackerettes ran up 506 points to 206 for their combined opponents.

The Firecrackers totaled 357 points to 301 for all of their opponents, Coach Millsap said.

Junior High Spaghetti Supper Set for Friday

The Wellington junior high school Parents-Teachers Club is sponsoring a chicken spaghetti supper and its annual basketball game Friday night, Feb. 22.

This is the one fund raising activity of the year for the junior high organization, which devotes the entire proceeds to purchase of equipment for that school.

The supper will be held in the school cafetorium from 5 to 7 p.m.

The basketball game, which follows at 7:30 will feature the junior high basketball teams against the fathers and mothers of junior high students.

Harvey Millsap, junior high coach, is in charge of the two school teams, while A. A. McQueary, junior high principal, is coaching the adult teams.

The girls, the Fire Crackerettes, Millsap points out, have not lost a basketball game this season, wrile the boys have won more than half of their games.

Proceeds from last year's spaghetti supper went to pay for equipment in the math and science departments, some pieces of equipment for each of the other rooms, a record player, and for paving the area between the school and the band house, according to Mrs. Raymond Neeley, who is in charge of the spaghetti supper.

This year, the Parents-Teachers Club plans to buy new encyclopedias for the junior high library, and other library books.

Tickets to the supper are on sale by junior high students, and at least 500 are expected to attend the supper.

Move for Tourism

Enterprises that depend on public patronage and favor consider public relations departments essential. So do most state governments. Texas is not one of them, and if any state needs a "press agent," Texas does.

The need would be supplied through a bill sponsored by Rep. Bill Walker of Cleveland. It provides for the establishment of the Texas Tourist Development Agency, to "conduct in the broadest sense a public relations campaign to create a responsible and accurate national image of Texas."

Such a public relations campaign is especially needed to change the image which Americans generally already have of Texas, for it is a false one. It is a humorous but unfavorable concept of tall men wearing 10-gallon hats and boots, all owning oilwells, driving Cadillacs, and bragging of having the biggest and best of everything. The net influence of this caricature, developed by joksters and encouraged by too many Texans, is to deter rather than attract visitors to the state.

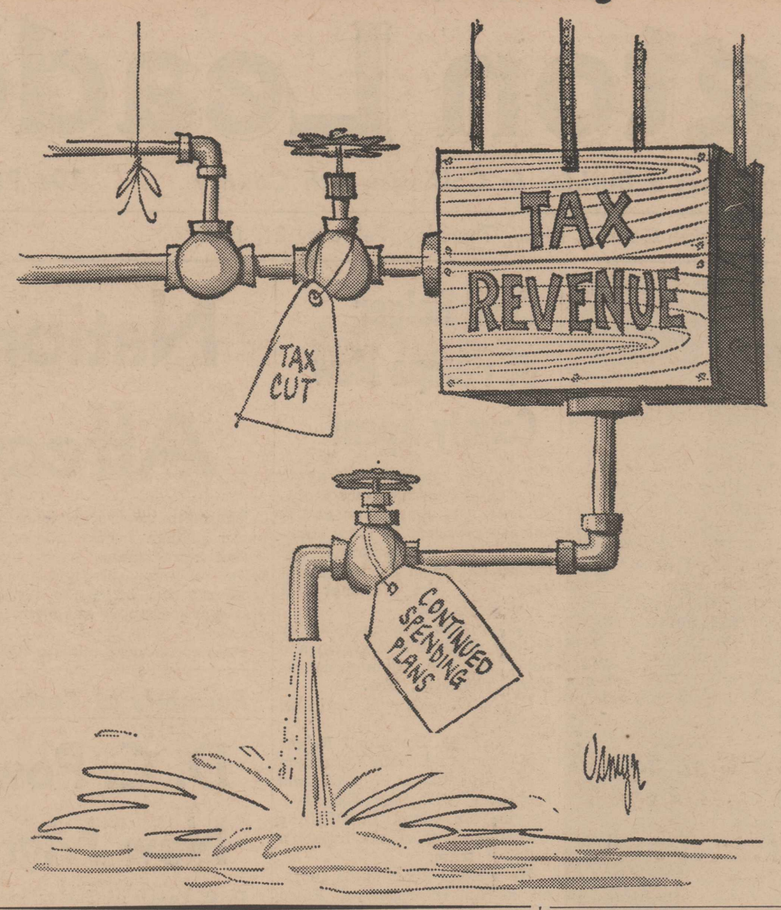

An efficient state agency could give the nation and the world the true picture of Texas ,which compares favorably with other states. Its functions would include promoting and advertising Texas' "Scenic, historical, natural, agricultural, educational and recreational" resources, stimulating the orderly but accelerated development of tourist attractions, encouraging communities, organizations and individuals to co-operate with the various tourist promotion campaigns.

Under legislative authorization a bureau of the State Highway Department now carries on a tourist attraction program, and is doing a creditable job of it. But this is justt an incidental "moonlighter" activity, as Rep. Walker calls it, of the department whose main business is building good roads.

Other states have demonstrated that intensive public relations programs pay off handsomely in tourist dollars and state growth. Although Texas' natural charms outrank those of most other states, its relative share of tourism is low.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where the physical fitness craze has broke out again and some fellows are trying to prove they can walk 50 miles a day as good as any maidless housewife with three kids and a puppy.

My unfit neighbor says about all they have proved is that walking 50 miles makes your feet hurt, and takes your mind off Cuba.

Says he is in favor of physical fitness, but thinks Washington needs mental fitness worse, and walking 50 miles a day may help a fat belly but won't do much for a fat head.

My deep-seeing neighbor says he notes the new postage rates are taking effect, as he just got a letter that took four days to come 200 miles.

Being pretty sharp, he computed this as 50 miles per day, which is a figure that has been prominent in the news here lately.

Says he reckons why Marines, Airmen, Boy Scouts, the attorney general, and numerous other people have been trapped into taking these 50-miles-a-day walks is that they are now carrying the mail.

I see where a high deputy official says Washington has got a perfect right to lie to us people any time that will make the government look better.

This is obviously based on the immemorial precept, mostly sponsored by kings, that the king can do no wrong.

But my drooped faith neighbor says feeding us on adjusted facts may also cause people to lose confidence in the infallibility of government pamphlets on child care, how to wash dishes, etc.

1924 Study Club Gives Tribute to American Music in Meeting Thurs.

On St. Valentine's Day, Mrs. A. L. Elliott was hostess to the members of the 1924 Study Club.

As February is the month of special emphasis on American composers and their compositions, the "Musical Pathways" pursued gave tribute to the Parade of American Music celebrated nationally.

Opening the program, Miss Sara E. Jones recited a quote from Shakespeare's "The Man That Hath No Music in Himself." Using the theme "Music Sets the Mood," Mrs. Mack Bush presented an enlightening and entertaining program of musical quality.

Mrs. Bush related that music has long played an important part in the treatment of disease. Homer accorded music a prominent place in human relationships; Plato and Aristotle also considered music as a form of therapy "to heal the sick heart and the wounded spirit." Present day psychiatrists agree that music readily "lends itself to therapeutic purposes because it is the most adaptable of the arts."

Music has also been utilized effectively with deaf and blind children, in treating children with speech disorders and children afflicted with cerebral palsy, cardiac disorders. Music therapy is now used as an auxiliary form of treatment in VA hospitals and many state hospitals in this country.

In stating that another use of music is in industry, Mrs. Bush quoted an American labor leader in saying "Music is a friend of labor for it lightens the task by refreshing the nerves and spirit of the workers. It tends to make work pleasurable as well as profitable, and adds enjoyment to leisure time."

Mrs. Bush said that industry's rising interest in music is more than a friendly gesture. It is the result of an intelligent approach to handling the problem of employee morale and loyalty and of building good will of the community and the public.

In mentioning music as an integral part of the home, Mrs. Bush illustrated by presenting The '24 Trio, composed of three homemakers—Mmes. Bush, Van Pelt and Sims. A guest musician, Miss Patsy Falk, was accompanist. Mrs. Bush then gave the story of "The Sound of Music" and the vocal ensemble sang interludes of the various arrangements of "The Sound of Music," "Maria," "My Favorite Things," "Do-Re-Mi," "Edelweiss," and "Climb Every Mountain."

In the business session standing committee chairmen reporting were those of the Fine Arts department and the American Studies division.

Plans were briefly discussed for the next meeting, which is to be an International Buffet Luncheon.

Roll call brought forth the members' favorite songs from contemporary American musicals. Progressive plans for the National Cultural Center were discussed by the president, Mrs. Sims. Shown to the members were pictures of the proposed structure in miniature and the floor plan.

The entertaining rooms of the Elliott home featured either red and white or pink and white seasonal arrangements. A delightful dessert plate, bearing an unusual Valentine nut and mint cup, was served to Mmes. Howard Riggs, R. R. Crawley, D. F. Cook, Ed White, Bush, Sims, Van Pelt, J. B. King, Ed Bawcom, J. F. Michael, Miss Jones, Miss Hattie D. Wells, and Mrs. Elliott.

Freddie Watkins, Harold Pigg and Jerry Rainey, students at North Texas State University, Denton, spent the past week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Watkins, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Pigg, and Mr. and Mrs. John Rainey.

BOUNCE BACK—Mrs. Sigrid Carlisle suffers the woes of having hit a parking meter with her auto in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Cheer up! The meter has a flexible post which will bounce back into position.

INTERIOR DESIGN — This costume is made of interior design fabric. Features a flared A-line ski jumper, with hood, stockings and long sleeved shirt of the same material. It was shown at a fabric fair in New York City.

Mrs. Hunter Speaks at Lillie HD Club

Mrs. A. M. Saunders, president, was in charge of the business. The devotional was read from the first chapter of Samuel. Roll call was answered by telling their favorite tree.

Weight Control A Club Study

The topic of the program was "Weight Control." Mrs. Kathryn Barjenbruch pointed ou that a part of the homemakers job is to furnish a wholesome diet for the entire family. It must be one that is suited to the needs of the individual members of the family, and should include foods from the basic four classes: milk and dairy products, meat and poultry, cereal and bread, and fruit and vegetables.

Unless there are special health problems, most families will be able to enjoy one menu together, the speaker explained. Some seasonings can be added after removing portions for the slimming dieters. When eating other foods, the dieter can eat the same foods, but take smaller portions, and no seconds, please.

The women received calorie charts and leaflets giving food values. There were also some who were interested in exercising as a means of adding to the benefits of the diet.

Although the members were very attentive to the weight control program, they were glad to see colorful refreshments prepared by the co-hostesses, Mrs. Hunt and Mrs. Marvin Teutsch. The food and the appointments carried out a Valentine theme.

Mrs. Wayne Reynolds brought a German chocolate cake which disappeared rapidly. The dime in her cake was found by Mrs. Tom Bowling, who will bake the cake for the next club meeting to be held Feb. 26 in the home of Mrs. Bill Brewster.

After refreshments were served, everyone opened Valentine gifts brought by their secret pals. Part of the fun was in trying to guess who brought the gifts, but that secret will have to wait till Christmas.

Members enjoying the festivities included Mmes. Glen Lewis, Bowling, Marvin Wynn, Wilson Mann, Bill Brewster, Chester Wadley, Wendell Burge, A. V. Lowrie, Truitt Holland, Fred Powers, Tommy Vann, Regie Lewis, Leonard Sanders, Clarence Talley, Ben Bogle, Wayne Reynolds, Fred Bobo, Carl Crosnoe, Barjenbruch, and the cohostesses, Mrs. Hunt and Mrs. Teutsch. There were also six children present: Ronnie and Nancy Vann, Glen Lewis, Wen and Mike Burge, and Brian Brewster.

Mrs. Stevenson Tells of Poet Laureates of Texas for Club

The Domestic Science Club met in the home of Mrs. Farris Wood on Thursday, Feb. 14 and following the business meeting, Mrs. J. B. Stevenson gave a program entited "Poets Laureate of Texas." This laureateship was created in 1932; it is an honorary post appointed by a board composed of the governor, two representatives, and two senators. The poet laureate holds the position for two years and is supposed to write or compose for state holidays and state affairs.

Mrs. Stevenson said that in 1932 there were 100 applications for the position. Since that time there have been 16 in all—7 men and 9 women. Judd Mortimer Lewis, age 65, and employed by the Houston Post, was selected the first poet laureate. The next five were women, first of which was Aline Michaelson of Beaumont.

An M.D. of Kingsville, followed her; he had suffered a heart attack and had taken up poetry.

In 1961, Lorena Simon, a musician, held the position for one year only. In 1962, an advertising executive of Dallas, Marvin Davis Winsett, won the office. He has had several poems published in the "Progressive Farmer" magazine.

Farmer Liability on Hurt Hunters Due Legislation

AUSTIN.—Rep. W. T. Dungan of McKinney ran into some sharp questioning when he brought his bill before House Judiciary committee. Proposed bill would exempt farmers and ranchers from liability damage suits filed by injured sportsmen.

"The hunter pays the farmer to go on his land," Rep. W. H. Miller of Houston remarked. "That puts the farmer in business. Why not exempt the theatre owner from damage suits filed by patrons who slip on popcorn sacks?"

After several other similar remarks, Dungan allowed that the wording of the bill might be improved. But he insisted that such a law would encourage more farmers and ranchers to open their lands to the sportsmen.

Historic Sites Bills in Texas House

Reps. Stanley Boysen of Yoakum and John E. Blaine of El Paso have introduced a series of bills authorizing the state, cities, counties to select and protect historic, archaeological and paleontological sites.

One bill would permit local taxes to be spent for the purpose.

Two others prescribe fines for destroying or defacing places marked for preservation.

On the state level, the Historical Survey Committee would advise the State Building Commission which structures and sites should be preserved.

Governor's Mansion Falling Apart

AUSTIN.—According to a description given the House Appropriations Committee relative to the governor's mansion, it's in bad shape. Howard Rose, exeuctive assistant to Gov. John Connally says:

"On the north side, the mansion is settling so much, there is a gap of several inches between the floor and the bottom of the front door." He added, "There are cracks in the wall and ceiling; a good deal of the furniture needs re-stuffing, and the stove won't work right four days in a row."

"Also," Rose says, "we have only one coffee table in the house. If you don't want to hold your coffee cup, you either put it on the floor or balance it on your knee. In the Green Room, there are no pictures. And we don't have eight complete sets of silver."

This prompted Appropriations Committee Chairman Bill Heatly of Paducah to comment "I know we've spent between $100,000 and $125,000 on the mansion in the last six years."

Governor Connally has not requested any money for major repairs. He is asking for $32,872 for each of the next two years to operate the mansion, including $5,000 for utilities; $1,500 for telephone expenses; and $2,200 for "other supplies."

Dies Hears from the Ladies

Sen. Martin Dies of Lufkin says he is misunderstood by the ladies.

He voted against the "equal rights" amendment passed by the Texas Senate.

"I knew I was going to catch it from the women," Dies said. "I wish they could see that I am not against women's rights."

Dies' quarrel is with the constitutional revision route taken by a Senate majority. He believes statutes operating against women in the management and control of property and other matters should be repealed selectively, without disturbing laws that give women needed protection.

Texas Tourist Push Asked

Texas business leaders are urging the Legislature to invest State money in tourism in order to get back millions in new revenue.

They estimate a return of $7,500,000 in direct taxes for an initial outlay of $250,000. That is the sum proposed for a new Texas Tourist Development Agency.

Loan Fund Urged for Industry

A state bond issue of $200,000,000 has been recommended by the Senate Constitutional Amendments committee.

Purpose is to create a self-financing industrial development loan fund.

Sen. Martin Dies Jr. of Lufkin, sponsor of the amendment, says it is a "must" to enable the state to induce new industries to come to Texas and existing ones to expand.

Major Crimes Up in Texas Last Year

AUSTIN.—Texas' increase in major crimes during 1962 outstripped the population increase according to Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety.

Col. Garrison said an offense was committed on the average of one every two and one-half minutes last year. Crime jumped 6.6 per cent over the 1961 total.

Largest increase by population groups was 14.7 per cent in cities between 50,000 and 100,000. Largest decrease was 15.5 per cent in counties with less than five people per square mile.

This Is National FFA Week
Congratulations Members!

We are proud of the faith you have shown in us as you buy your feeds and seeds for your projects. We have much to interest a Future Farmer, beginning with our wholehearted support of his program.

- FEEDS—Whether you're buying straight grain sorghum or a specially compounded supplement, you know you can count on top quality at Singley's. Wherever livestock men carry on their enterprises, the name of our products is known.
- SEEDS — If you chose a crop project, you will know you can depend on us for your planting seeds if they come from us. The crop you harvest can be no better than the seed you plant.
- FERTILIZER — We are gratified to see young farmers learn the value of fertilizing and conservation. These will be even more valuable and necessary in our farming of the future.
- WE CONSIDER YOU A CUSTOMER ALREADY — just as much as we consider your dad or your adult neighbor a customer. Just as you learn the mechanics of farming or livestock care through FFA, you learn these important customer-dealer relations when you come to us.

Come to see us . . . let us help you . . . or just come by to visit

Telephone Co. Ups Advertising in Newspapers

General Telephone Company is increasing the size of its newspaper ads during 1963, Joe H. Collyns, director of public relations, announced this week. The Wellington Leader is one of the papers receiving the advertising.

"It is our plan this year to promote in the 140 newspapers in which we advertise certain tourist or industrial developments in communities served by General Telephone.

"It is our goal to illustrate to all through these ads that small towns as well as larger ones can obtain their share of the growth and development dollars. We sincerely hope that our ads may serve as some inspiration for communities to begin or enlarge an economic development program, " Collyns explained.

HD Agent Says

Delay Pruning Freeze Damaged Ornamentals

Don't cut back damaged shrubs that have been defoliated or had their leaves browned by the recent record-breaking low temperatures, advises Kathryn Potter Barjenbruch, home demonstration agent.

Chances are good, she adds, that only the leaves were damaged. However, she doesn't rule out the possibility of damage to twigs, main branches or even the roots of the less hardy species or varieties.

An immediate examination of the trunks may reveal heavy damage for splitting often occurs. A finger-nail test on young twigs may reveal no fresh tissue beneath the bark and this indicates damage, she says. It is easier to evaluate winter damage in the spring, after new growth starts, she adds, but even then weakened branches often put out new growth which later dies.

Corrective pruning can begin as soon as it is assumed that new growth is lacking or will remain very sparse. Cut out the dead or weak wood well below the damaged area, leaving only strong growth, Mrs. Barjenbruch advises. Do this, she adds, after the growth has started in the spring.

The best treatment, in addition to proper pruning for the winter-sick shrubs, is to keep them well-watered and fed moderately, she says. A mulch of leaf mold, peat-moss or other organic material will insure better plant health. Loosen the soil to a depth of half an inch and then apply a 2-inch layer of mulch over the soil covering an area slightly beyond the branch spread of the shrub, Mrs. Barjenbruch advises.

Shrubs which show no new growth within two months after the spring growth starts can be considered completely dead and those which are extremely weak at the end of the first summer after the freeze damage, should be replaced, she says.

When pruning broken limbs of trees or large shrubs more care is required to promote healing and prevent decay, the specialist says. Stubs should not be left and all pruning cuts should be made flush with trunks. Wounds of more than two inches in diameter should be treated with wound dressing or tree paint, she says. The treated areas should be checked periodically and recoated once or twice a year.

Finally, she suggests that a copy of B-977, "Modern Pruning Methods" be obtained from the county extension office and studied before the pruning job is started.

Mrs. Morris Wells returned Saturday from Dallas after a visit in the home of her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bliss Alexander. Roxanne Bliss, her granddaughter, returned home with Mrs. Wells to spend the week.

FFA Week

Is a good time to tally up the service rendered by Future Farmers of Quail, Samnorwood and Wellington

Future Farmers are well in the forefront of the communities of our county . . . but that's natural. They're always building a gate for someone, or a cattle guard, or trimming a tree, or helping doctor a calf. Part of this is assigned as classwork . . . but part of it is friendly willingness on the part of Collingsworth boys to be accommodating.

Out of this comes the kind of young men our bank wants as customers . . . the kind our community needs as builders. There will always be a need for farmers and livestock men, but now they must be better grounded in the fundamentals of agriculture . . . they must have the skills and possess the leadership FFA teaches. And City State Bank is doing its part to keep these young men in Collingsworth, where they are needed.

Wood Chemical Opens Plant at Artesia, N. M.

ARTESIA, N.M.— Construction has begun here on a fertilizer blending and distribution station designed to serve most of southeastern New Mexico and portions of West Texas.

The announcement was made by W. R. Wood, president of Wood Chemical Company, Lubbock. The company, which also has branches in Knox City and Wellington previously had confined its Artesia operation to such agricultural chemicals as herbicides and insecticides.

Costing about $60,000 exclusive of large inventories of chemical fertilizers to be stored, the expansion is expected ultimately to provide employment for at least 12 new persons in the area.

Storage capacity will be 1200 tons, with capability of moving 24 tons of fertilizer per hour on a 24-hour basis.

Fertilizer will be blended to soil test requirements, Wood said. To be served is a territory extending from north of Roswell, N.M., southward to Van Horn and Pecos, Texas, and esatward to Denver City and Seminole, Texas.

Injuries Minor In Accident

Richard Peters, who lives near Quail, was treated overnight in St. Joseph's Hospital, for minor injuries received when his pickup overturned several miles northwest of Wellington Tuesday night, Feb. 12.

Sheriff John Rainey said the accident was attributed to a tie rod coming loose on the vehicle.

No other cars were involved.

Good Statewide Response on Screwworm Work

MISSION.—Early reports indicate that livestock producers are giving their all-out support to the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation's drive to prevent the Screwworm Eradication Program from having to be terminated because of the exhaustion of funds. Even some California livestock men have sent in their contribution for $500.

The Foundation has set its sights on collecting the remaining $1,000,000 of their $3,000,000 goal by March 1 and is conducting an intensive campaign to achieve that goal. By that date, the $2,000,000 already collected will be practically expended and the program may have to be stopped. Federal funds cannot be used unless they are at least matched by State and private money.

Marvin J. Bridges, executive director of the Foundation, said he had personally talked to the majority of the county animal health chairmen during recent weeks, and judging from their comments, he is confident the livestock industry will rise to the challenge that is facing it. Bridges said some of the counties have already collected up to 50% as much as they had in the previous drive. He said a group of California livestock men expressed their interest in the eradication program and sent a check for $500. The Perry Foundation of San Antonio has made a contribution of $50,000, it's second to the program.

Gov. John Connally recently stated he would await the result of the fund drive before considering an emergency appropriation by the State Legislature. He said he believes the livestock producers and the sportsmen have an obligation to fulfill their commitment and to demonstrate that belief he gave a personal contribution, his second as a Texas rancher.

The Foundation's president, C. G. Scruggs, said the Governor's statement makes it imperative that the money be raised by March 1. Every livestock producer, regardless if he had donated before or not, will be asked to contribute again on the basis of 50¢ per animal unit. Many of the state's sportsmen are actively participating by contributing one dollar for each deer they killed during 1962.

"We cannot afford to let this valuable program die just when its success is so readily apparent," Scruggs remarked. He pointed out that screwworms in 1962 had been almost totally confined to the Southwestern states, whereas in the previous year, 17 states reported infestation. He urged livestock men and sportsmen to contact their local county animal health committee and make their donation immediately.

Congratulations

Today you are Future Farmers
but you are also our Future Customers

Traditionally, Future Farmers learn by doing. They study about cotton by raising a patch of cotton. Here is the American system of free enterprise at work and meaningful, as you plant and spray and harvest, as you buy and raise animals, invest your time and money, sell your project and tote up your profit.

Profits made by Future Farmers contribute to the economy of Collingsworth — and they contribute more than money, for they are learning the right way to farm and raise stock.

Some of you are our customers already . . . Some of our best customers were Future Farmers not so many years ago. And the time when almost every cotton grower who drives across our scales will have been at some time a Future Farmer. THAT'S HOW IMPORTANT YOU ARE TO US.

FORT HAMILTON, N.Y. — SFC Jasper E. Marsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe R. Marsh of Wellington, has been assigned at Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn, N.Y., as Special Frces Recruiting Sergeant to recruit men for Special Forces Duty. He maintains an office in the Post Reenlistment office where soldiers reporting from overseas military installations in Europe report for reenlistment.

His home unit is at Fort Bragg, N.C., where he is a member of the 7th Special Forces Group, (Airborne).

SFC Marsh is one of the Special Forces sergeants assigned at 12 of the largest Army installations in the United States. He will not only solicit volunteers for the unique outfit, but will help to screen thousands of applicants desiring to wear the green beret.

Special Forces personnel are guerilla warfare experts, counterinsurgency agents, evasion and escape artists, political tacticians and social workers. The beret, usually worn with a jaunty flair, is a feature of their uniform. It symbolizes their distinctive role and esprit de corps.

SFC Marsh entered the Army in January 1951 and was assigned to the 1st Special Forces in Okinawa prior to coming to Fort Bragg.

People are talking about the influenza epidemic that is sweeping the county and well they may for the number of victims is distressing. There is hardly a firm in town that has not had one or more people out during the last three weeks. Doctors know so much more about treating the flu than they did in 1919 that there is no comparison, but the old rule of rest in bed and plenty of liquids is still a good one to follow until you can get in touch with your physician.

The influenza epidemic of 1918-19 that followed the end of World War I is seared in the memory of many of us who are not so young any more. It started in November of 1918 and went on through January and the first weeks of February of 1919. It was made more disastrous by the harsh weather and the difficulty of travel. A heavy snow that was over two feet deep on the level and four and five feet deep in drifts on the highways remained on the ground for three weeks in the sub-freezing temperature of January. One snowbound family was found without food or fire with the father and two children dead and the mother and three other children in bed. The Wellington school was closed for something like three or four weeks and so were the numerous rural schools of the county. It was a dour time, but the physical feats and endurance of the doctors and some of the farmers and ranchers was a topic of conversation for years.

I see by The Tulia Herald that my Aunt Doll, Mrs. J. R. Hankins, celebrated her 91st birthday on February 5. Her age is only one of the remarkable qualities of this charming cheerful lady who continues mentally alert despite her age.

I have no hope of approaching the longevity of my Mother's family, but if I can write as good a column as Rev. J. F. Michael preached a sermon last week I will be happy to reach his age. That grand old gentleman continues to amaze me. He is bound to have known words and eloquence and inspiration when he was a young man, but now time has added wisdom and understanding kindness to this forceful and effective man. We are blessed to have him in our midst and the young Methodist men who provided him with a house and talked him into making this his permanent home should be thanked by all of us.

My neighbor, little Ted Bailey, built an impressive snowman last week replete with shiny eyes ,a red nose and a black belt and his father's old black hat. It looked impressive at least on Sunday, but Monday morning I turned the corner and saw what I first took to be a black and white setter dog reclining on his haunches. A second look showed the snowman had bent over and the black hat had slipped down over his face.

Rockets Lose Chance At Top 2-A Place

By one point, the Wellington Skyrockets missed a 3-way tie for top place in District 2-A, as McLean Tigers took the closing game 37-36 Friday night, Feb. 15 at McLean.

Wellington was notified of this by telephone Friday afternoon, Coach James Stavenhagen said.

As it was, McLean finished first in District 2-A with an 8-2 record. It was ironical, but Lefors, a team the Rockets had defeated twice, was second with a 7-3 record and the Rockets were third with six wins and four losses.

The first quarter saw the game tied 8-8, and at the half it was 19-18 for McLean. The score favored McLean again at the three-quarters mark, 29 - 23.

With about two minutes of play left the Rockets lost the ball by a violation, McLean scored and then got a free throw to go ahead one point. With less than a minute of play left, the Rockets lost the ball on a foul, then McLean, bringing the ball down the floor, let it roll loose. Bergvall got it, and tried to pass as the game ended.

"They did a fine job of hustling and they played real hard all season. Ability-wise, they played above their heads a good per cent of the time," he said.

I went swimming on Christmas Day and also on New Year's Day. I bet you couldn't do that in Texas. The weather stays about the same the year around and you just don't feel like it's the first of the year.

With flowers growing and green grass, all the trees are green. But still it doesn't seem like spring. There isn't a freshness in the air or any sign of new life.

It stays more like fall, where things are ready to seed and die for the winter, but they keep right on growing.

There is a stillness in the air of plants that make their life seem continuous. Beauty for eternity seems to be the motto of all the flowers and plants.

They don't seem fresh or new; somehow it seems like that any day they should be bitten by frost and come up next spring, but this never happens.

People harvesting the crops the year around and planting and working. Farmers (if you could call them that) farm in a rotation of eight sections of land. Some sections are only an acre or two. They divide the land up into eight equal parts. They let one section lay by for one year and farm the rest in rotation of about six weeks apart. So each six weeks they harvest, plant, and cultivate their crops. It seems like a funny way to farm but that is the way they do it. It seems to work out all right, and keeps them busy all the time, working one, harvesting another and watering another.

The soil here has a lot of rocks in it. They leave all the rocks in the fields. They might pile them up where they won't take a plow or a plant, but they won't take them out of the field. It seems the more rocks a person has in the fields the less taxes that they have to pay.

And if a field has a lot of bermuda grass in it, they pay very little tax. The government is run funny and each individual has a different law to abide by.

The only people that are allowed down town are the people that are worth a certain amount. They said this had to go into effect because of the beggars.

There is a lot of poverty in this country. And the few that are rich have all the wealth of the country. There isn't any middle class here. It's either real poor or real rich. It reminds me of Mexico in a lot of ways except for the laws and governing of the people.

All in all it is a nice country. You can do about anything that you want to do as far as entertainment. Almost everything is legal if you are an American but there is a few things you can't do. Of course if you can't do them, the Ethiopians can't do them. We have about the same laws governing us as the real rich people.

Vet Chief Warns on Poisons

Dr. Irwin L. Sawyer, Jr. of San Antonio, director of the State Veterinary Medicine Association, appeared before the House Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence in favor of a bill by Rep. Howard Green, Fort Worth, to banish thallium pesticides from the market.

Dr. Sawyer described thallium as a heavy metal, which is colorless, odorless and tasteless in sulfate form.

"When mixed, thallium merely waits for a rat, a man a child or a pet," he stated.

One reason it's so dangerous is that reaction to its poison may be delayed as long as 48 hours. Then it's too late for an antidote. "It's even hard to detect in post-mortem examination," said Sawyer.

Bills Would Curb Annexations

Two "compromise" bills aimed at curbing abuses of annexation powers by cities drew no opposition at a House public hearing.

Both measures would establish "buffer" zones adjacent to cities. Size of the zone would be determined by the city's population.

Cities could exercise certain regulatory powers over such areas, but could not levy taxes on the property owners prior to annexation.
