West Texas Rehabilitation Center...

Therapists Work With People At Local Unit

By Shirley A. Gorman

The Snyder Unit of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, which opened in 1973, offers a variety of therapy to patients. Presently, three therapists and a secretary are employed at the unit, located in a wing of Trinity United Methodist Church; but until almost two years ago only one therapist and a secretary were employed full time. Additional therapists came from Abilene on a part time basis.

Joy McGlaun, occupational therapist, serves as director of the unit. She first began in the field during the 1950s. She has been an employee of the parent facility in Abilene.

Additional staffers include Kathy Summers of Rotan, physical therspist; Kathy Landes, speech therapist; and Dossie Alexander, secretary.

Both Summers and Landes have also been in the field for several years. Landes has worked at the rehab center in Abilene and Summers worked for the public schools for four years.

Currently, 43 patients, ranging in age from nine months to 84 years, are active patients. Approximately 3,776 treatments were given last year.

The Snyder Unit is operated Monday through Friday between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Physicians refer all patients to the unit and prescribe their treatment, McGlaun said.

The unit is a non-profit organization as is the parent facility in Abilene. Another unit is located in San Angelo.

Anyone is eligible to use the facility as long as a physican refers the patient. There is no charge. Towns represented as to current patient load include Hermleigh, Jayton, Post, Snyder, Rotan, Roscoe, Roby, Colorado City, Dunn and Loraine.

In 1973, Shelly Smith, director of the rehab center in Abilene, and Bill Snowden, director of treatment services, were instrumental in opening the Snyder Unit. They met with the board of directors of Trinity United Methodist Church to arrange for the unit to be located at the church.

Echoing the sentiment of fellow staffers, McGlaun said, "We very much appreciate the church letting us use their facility."

At that time 12 patients in Snyder had to go to either Lubbock or Abilene for treatment.

Problems the therapists deal with include congential defects, developmental problems, traumatic injuries, any kind of pain such as low back pain, and language and speech disorders.

A few services are not available locally, and are referred to Abilene. These include an audiology department, an orthotics department, and psychological testing.

Some patients use just one therapist, others a combination of two or three, McGlaun said.

Local fund raising projects include the Christmas Bazaar, McGlaun said. The Abilene office conducts several fund raisers including a telethon in January and a cattleman's roundup for crippled children.

Memorial gifts can also be given.

Hinckley Tested

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential assailant John W. Hinckley Jr. is back in his pre-trial quarters today after undergoing diagnostic tests at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, according to the hospital and a government source.

Hinckley was taken to the hospital by helicopter Friday night for tests "at the request of the court," Elaine Freeman, a Hopkins spokeswoman, said.

A Justice Department source who requested anonynimity said Hinckley underwent a CAT Scan — a computer-enhanced X-ray — that had been scheduled for some time under a secret court order.

Shoot To Kill

GRANBY, Mass. (AP) — The town board is considering implementing a 19th century "shoot-to-kill" law aimed at a wild pack of dogs that has killed 60 sheep and ducks here since January.

The town's dog officer probably will be authorized, at a board meeting Monday, to shoot dogs on site, Selectman Chairman Robert Farr said Friday.

None of the dead animals were killed for food, Farr said.

"It appears to be for fun, and sheep is just a step away from a child. That's what I'm afraid of."

The cost of livestock lost to predators in this western Massachusetts town of 5,700 soared to more than $1,700 in four months, compared with $200 for all of last year, he said.

Farr said a statute dating to at least 1877 gives the town the authority to kill dogs.

Voters Ready For Primaries

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texans unsatisfied with their elected officials get a chance to do some spring cleaning Saturday in the Democratic and Republican primaries.

The long Democratic ballot includes six candidates for governor, an indicted state treasurer, a comptroller recently treated for alcoholism, and a good ole boy agriculture commissioner who says his opponent is backed by "socialistic punks."

Republican Gov. Bill Clements' only opponent on the much shorter GOP ballot is a former San Antonio insuranceman who might spend election night in jail.

Nominees will be picked Saturday for the top seven state executive jobs, one U.S. senator, 27 U.S. representatives, one railroad commissioner, six state appeals court judges and the entire 181-member state Legislature.

Attorney General Mark White, Railroad Commissioner Buddy Temple and Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong are the top contenders for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. White and Temple, perceiving themselves as the leaders, have tossed verbal dirt clods at each other, while Armstrong, largely ignored by his opponents, has developed a solid statewide organization.

Also seeking the Democratic nomination are Don Beagle of Nederland, David Young of Dallas and Ray Mayo of San Juan.

Clements only opponent in the Republican primary is Lowell "Duke" Embs, who has alternately campaigned in a 1967 Lincoln convertible and fended off legal challenges of his sanity. He has been cited for contempt of court.

The Senate race is for the seat now held by Democrat Lloyd Bentsen, who faces token opposition from political unknown Joe Sullivan, a San Antonio college professor.

On the GOP side, state Sen. Walter Mengden of Houston and U.S. Rep. Jim Collins of Dallas are trying to out-conservative each other. Both have portrayed Bentsen as a wild-spending liberal. Don Richardson of San Antonio is the third GOP candidate.

Longtime Democratic Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby is a heavy favorite for his party's nomination over retired Austin businessman Troy Skates. A Hobby victory would set up a big-bucks November battle against former Secretary of State George Strake, unopposed for the Republican nomination.

Political observers are predicting a June 5 runoff to determine the Democratic nominee for attorney general. The field includes former U.S. Attorney John Hannah of Tyler, U.S. Rep. Jim Mattox of Dallas, former state Sen. Max Sherman of Amarillo and state Sen. Jack Ogg of Houston.

The winner faces state Sen. Bill Meier of Euless in November. Meier, a former Democrat, is unopposed on the Republican ballot.

Comptroller Bob Bullock, confident of winning the Democratic nomination, has run a low-profile campaign, despite some nasty allegations by other candidates. Bullock is challenged by Robert C. Calvert, a retired Hurst businessman who is not the late Robert S. Calvert, the comptroller before Bullock, nor Robert W. Calvert, former chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court.

The GOP comptroller race includes former Travis County Sheriff Raymond Frank and state Sen. Mike Richards of Houston. Frank called Bullock a "public drunk." Bullock underwent treatment for alcoholism last year.

Democratic Treasurer Warren G. Harding had no opposition until the final weeks before the filing deadline, when word spread of a grand jury investigation of Harding, drawing three Democrats and one Republican into the race.

Harding, under indictment for allegedly using state employees for political work, faces former Travis County Commissioner Ann Richards, former state Rep. Lane Denton of Waco and Austin businessman John Cutright.

Austin businessman Millard Neptune, a man with a name almost good enough to succeed Harding — who succeeded Jesse James — is seeking the GOP nomination.

Ask Us

Q.—Our teachers' salary is above the state average, but has anyone checked to see if the quality of our teachers is above average?

A.-Since school districts throughout the state are now in the process of setting salaries for the coming year, nobody knows what the "average" is. Snyder schools set their salaries at a percentage above the state minimum, not an amount above the state "average." The figure is 27 percent above the minimum. We checked current year figures on more than 700 Texas school districts and found 50 of that number paying the minimum and the others paying at different levels ranging up to 51 percent above the minimum. As for quality, Snyder teachers come from the same places with the same training as those in other Texas schools, and they are evaluated annually by a specific procedure outlined in policies approved by the local board.

Local Teachers Receive Awards

The banquet was sponsored by the Snyder Classroom Teachers Association and the local unit of the Texas State Teachers Association.

Recognized by Supt. Bill J. Hood for 30 years of service were Elizabeth Brinner, William R. McMullan and Frank Miller.

Others qualifying for service awards include:

Twenty-five years—Charles Anderson, Rita Carter, Roy Carter, Emil D. Flynn, Durelle Gorman, Wayne Kennedy, Jo Alyce McMullan, Jo Ann Peek, Bobbie Taylor, Ned Underwood and Ann Walton.

Twenty years—Florence Lewis, LaNelle Rambin, Ruthie Rasberry and Loyd Rinker.

Ten years—Dolores Ayala, Marvin Jerrald Bowen, Doug Chitsey, Lillian Durst, Milo Garcia, Sue Gressett, Doris Dianne Morton, Sally Rios, Bill Sealy, Wanda Short, Easter Smith, J. D. Smith and Jo Nell Smylie.

Personnel retiring this year were presented retirement gifts by Michael Reed, president of the school board. This year's retirees are Margaret McNair, Nina Nesbit, Nell Spence, Frances Stevenson, Margaret Weaver and Mildred White.

Dr. Don Newbury, president of WTC, spoke to the group. He was introduced by Shirley Jones.

Carolyn Haynes, TSTA president, introduced guests, and Betty Richardson, CTA president, introduced officers of the sponsoring organizations. Charles Anderson gave the invocation and J. D. Smith directed a "sing-along" for entertainment.

The Jake Amato family is in the process of moving to Granbury. And the word "family" here not only means Jake and his wife, but also his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Amato.

Jake is a retired U. S. Air Force Major who came to Snyder as local Boy Scout field executive 15 years ago immediately following his retirement from the Air Force. And he says there is no way that it seems like 15 years.

Since then, the Amatos have moved to a farm at Ira. Jake, a pilot and an instructor, has put in a lot of hours in the air since he left the Air Force. Now, he flies for Neal Johnson, an independent oil operator, and his duties are aking him to Hood County.

We have always thought a person could learn a lot about any city by studying the classified advertising in the local newspaper. The "want ads" give you a clue as to the business climate, the housing situation, the used car market, etc.

Recently we learned of a "code" concerning help-wanted ads.

Experienced job hunters learn to look for certain phrases, and here is what some of them really mean:

"Will assume responsibility." This means you're a department of one, and if anything goes wrong, it's your neck.

"Work closely with top management." You had better be good at apple-polishing.

"Flexible working hours." You can come in any time before eight and leave any time after five.

"Varied working conditions." You'll never know what to expect from day to day.

"A fast-paced office." They're understaffed, and you will be overworked.

"Must be self-starter." You get no help or direction from anybody once you get the job.

"Include salary history with resume." They want to know your bottom dollar.

"Work with a close-knit team." They may average six people in the office with two to a desk.

WTC Schedules Class On Becoming Fashions

Tips on becoming fashions will be the subject of a continuing education course slated to begin May 4 at Western Texas College.

Designed for women who are interested in adapting current fashions to their best advantage, the course will be taught by Margaret Drum, owner of Margaret's dress shop.

The class will meet from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. May 4, 11 and 18, with students paying fees of $10 each.

The first session will focus on "Discovering Your Fashion Identity," with "Wardrobe Planning" in the second session. Accessories, that real "finishing touch," will be discussed in the final meeting.

"This will be a very personalized course," Mrs. Drum emphasized. "We want to help each woman learn to plan, coordinate and establish her wardrobe for years to come. We want to help each woman analyze her own figure and help her decide what styles are the most becoming for that figure type."

Students must call the continuing education office at 573-8511, extension 240, to pre-register for the class.

Senior Citizens Complete All Quilting

Quilters at the Senior Center have completed all the quilts on hand and are ready now to do quilting for the public, Jean Smith, assistant director of the center, has announced.

Persons who have quilt tops ready to be quilted are invited to contact Mrs. Smith for information about the cost. The quilt owner is required to furnish the top, batting, thread and lining. The cost of quilting varies according to the size of the quilt and the intracacy of the pattern.

The Senior Center is located at 2603 Ave. M and may be reached by telephone at 573-4035 on weekdays. May is Senior Citizens Month and the center will have a special welcome for visitors during the month.

Patient Gains 100 Pounds

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Stacey had lost 500 pounds when she was admitted to a clinic last week, but she's gained 100 pounds and is almost ready to go back to work.

The phenomonal weight loss and gain isn't that unusual for the 3,200-pound Burmese elephant.

The Hoxie Brothers Circus elephant entered Auburn University's Large Animal Clinic last week suffering from "chronic weight loss," but her doctors say Stacy is cured.

"We believe her only problem may have been parasites," said Auburn professor Jay Humburg.

For Senior Citizens...

May Declared Special Month

May will be senior citizen month in Scurry County by proclamation of County Judge Preston Wilson in cooperation with the Senior Citizens Center.

"Traditionally, the month of May is a time when we pay special tribute to older citizens for the rich heritage they have provided our county and state," the proclamation states.

"Texas senior citizens, numbering almost 2 million today, now comprise the fastest growing segment of our population. In Scurry County we have in excess of 2,500 senior citizens who remain active and in the mainstream of our society. We need the invaluable leadership these older Texans can contribute. We must encourage them to remain active so our state and county can continue to benefit from their wisdom, acquired through many years of experience," the proclamation concludes.

The Senior Center has scheduled its biggest fund raising activity of the year on May 1 in the Scurry County Coliseum, and invites all county residents to attend. Booths selling arts and crafts items and home baked good are to open at 2 p.m., along with the refreshment stand.

Tickets were sold in advance for a barbecue to be served from 4:30-6:30 p.m. and only ticket holders can enjoy the meal. It is not possible to sell tickets at serving time because of the advance preparations required, Gloria Shaw, Senior Center director, points out.

An auction sale will begin at 6:30 p.m., offering 30 quilts made in the center along with some other items. Several of the quilts are on display in local businesses around town and prospective buyers can get a look at them this week.

There will also be entertainment on May Day, sttarting with a performance by the Senior Center Sunshine Choir at 4:30 p.m. They will be followed by the VIVA Kitchen Rhythm Band and the Promenaders.

"We count on May Day to help raise the $10,000 needed for our operating budget," Mrs. Shaw said. "The community has supported us in a most inspiring way in past years and we earnestly solicit that same kind of support this year."

Rebels Claim Troops Killed

ROME (AP) — Rebels in Ethiopia's Tigre province claim they killed 600 government troops, took 200 prisoners, and captured two towns in the past month. They said they held one town, Batti, for a week, then withdrew, and still hold the town of Lalibela two weeks after capturing it.

Baptist Youth In Bible Drills

Colonial Hill Baptist Church sent eight youth to the state semi-finals in Bible drill and speaker competition in San Antonio last weekend.

Richard Geer was one of five selected at the regional drill to compete in the state finals April 30-May 1. To become a semi-finalist a youth must complete and place in a local church drill and an associational drill.

Seven other youth from CHBC qualified as semi-finalists: Lee McCathern, Melissa Johansen, Jeannie Doles, Denise Merritt, Philip Greer, Sonya Adams and Phyllis Whitfill.

Lisa Thompson was the only entry in the state speakers tournament from the Mitchell-Scurry Baptist Association. The speech was entitled, "Prayer--Conversation With God."

Jan McCathern and Linda Johansen were the group coaches.

Courtesy Like Pulling Teeth

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP) — Sometimes, extracting courtesy from harried public employees is like pulling teeth.

But that apparently wasn't the case with Flint Miller, a receptionist at the Calhoun County Prosecutor's office.

Miller, 23, was confronted Tuesday morning by an angry man who demanded to see Miller's boss, County Prosecutor Conrad Sindt. Miller said the man wanted to file a complaint because "someone beat him up and broke his dentures."

When the man was told he would have to file a complaint with police and was refused entry to the office, he removed his false teeth and hurled them at Miller, despite a glass security barrier separating the two.

The teeth sailed through an opening in the glass, struck Miller's typewriter and fell on the floor, the receptionist said.

Unshaken, Miller — who had been on the job only three weeks — picked up the the teeth with a tissue, smiled and returned them to his assailant through the safety shield.

Life-Saving Course Set

A 21-hour senior life saving course will hold its first class meeting Monday night at Western Texas College.

Classes are scheduled from 6:30 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. on April 26, 28 and 30, from 9 a. m. to noon and from 1:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. on May 1, and from 6:30 p. m. on May 3 and 5. Lee Burke will be instructor.

Students will pay fees of $48 each, which includes the required textbook. Upon successful completion of the course, students will receive American Red Cross certification and will qualify for employment as life guards.

To pre-register, students are to call the continuing education office at 573-8511, extension 240, on Monday.

Exhibit To End Friday

Friday will be the final day for communiy residents to see the "Golden Age of Painting" exhibition in the Scurry County Museum at Western Texas College.

The exhibit is made up of paintings from the 16th and 17th centuries and is on a statewide tour under the auspices of the Blaffer Foundation of Houston.

The museum will be showing three films in connection with the collection this Sunday afternoon and welcomes the public to see the films without admission charge. Sunday hours in the museum are 1 p. m. to 5 p. m.

No Special Session Is Planned

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements says that if a special legislative session is needed to abolish the state property tax, it probably will not be called until after the June 5 runoff primaries.

Clements also said any session on the controversial property tax would include his recommendations for state college construction funding.

"I have an open mind on how college construction should be funded but there is no open mind that it must be funded," Clements said at a news conference.

Clements said his stand on a special session for abolishment of the state property tax had not changed since his statement at a news conference last August.

"If Midwestern University wins its suit (to reestablish the 10-cent state property tax), I will call a special session to address abolishment of the state property tax, to repay anyone who has to pay the tax retroactively, and probably a funding device for construction funds for schools outside the Permanent University Fund."

The Midwestern suit, which has been pending since 1981, is set for trial June 2 in an Austin district court. It challenges the right of the 1979 Legislature to pass a state law that reduced the state property tax from 10 cents per $100 property valuation to .0001 cents.

The university claims the 10-cent levy was written in the state constitution by voters and could not be changed by a simple legislative act.

The 10-cent tax had been used to finance new construction at 17 state colleges and universities outside the University of Texas and Texas A&M systems.

When the 1979 Legislature tried to change the property tax levy it sought to provide college construction funds from general revenue. Later, an attorney general's opinion said general revenue could not be used because the constitution provided for construction funds.

Clements said his legal advisers tell him that Midwestern is likely to win its suit.

Kubiak Takes Campaign To The Road With Fuel

By The Associated Press

State Rep. Dan Kubiak, a land commissioner candidate and gasohol proponent, is taking his campaign to the road with the farm-made fuel.

Kubiak said Friday he plans to travel this week in a truck powered by gasohol and owned by dairy farmer Vic Isham, who operates his own fuel alcohol plant.

Kubiak, a Democrat, said any American automobile can be converted to run on 100 percent alcohol, and to avoid fuel shortages, "all we have to do is get the fuel alcohol industry off the ground."

He is running against Paducah rancher George Fore, Austin lawyer Garry Mauro and State Sen. Pete Snelson.

He is running against Paducah rancher George Fore, Austin lawyer Garry Mauro and State Sen. Pete Snelson.

In other statewide races, attorney general candidate Jack Ogg announced the backing of 15 South Texas political leaders and Republican lieutenant governor candidate George Strake, Jr. criticized incumbent Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

Strake said Hobby is wrong in criticizing President Reagan's proposed New Federalism plan for turning over several federally-run programs to the states.

"For generations Texas leaders, many of them of the same party as my opponent, have said they wanted more responsibility over government programs affecting Texas," Strake said.

"We finally get a president willing to do that and one of Texas' top officials doesn't want the responsibility."

Strake, a former secretary of state, said he favors returning government "to the lowest possible level."

Strake is unopposed in the GOP primary. Hobby is running against Troy Skates, a retired businessman, for the Democratic Party nomination.

Ogg, a Houston state senator, said that his stands on bilingual education won him the South Texas endorsements he announced in Austin Friday.

Elected officials who endorsed him, Ogg said, were Brownsville Mayor Emilio Hernandez; Hidalgo County Commissioners Joe Villareal, Beto Salinas and Ramiro Cavazos; Frio County Commissioner Adolfo Alvarez; Maverick County Commissioner Rudy Bowles.

Travel Class Rescheduled

Hungarian To Face Charges

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — A Hungarian native receiving treatment for phlebitis at a federal prison hospital in Springfield, Mo., faces arraignment on spy charges when he returns here in about three weeks.

Otto Attilla Gilbert was indicted by a federal grand jury Thursday, accused of trying to buy classified military documents and films from a U.S. warrant officer.

Gilbert was arrested Saturday in Augusta after he paid the warrant officer $4,000 for the documents and film, the FBI said. Unknown to Gilbert, Army Chief Warrant Officer Janos Mihaly Szmolka was cooperating with federal authorities, the FBI said.

Warned Not To Show Film

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Three hundred theaters across the country screening the movie "Great White" have been sent telegrams instructing them to stop the showings because the film may infringe the copyright and trademark of the movies "Jaws" and "Jaws II."

U.S. District Judge David Kenyon issued a preliminary injunction against the exhibition of "Great White" on Thursday, in a suit by the owners of the "Jaws" blockbusters — Universal Pictures.

Universal said the promotional material for "Great White," showing a shark attacking a woman who is either swimming or water skiing, is unfairly similar to the material for the "Jaws" movies.

MORE GUESTS--The Snyder Schools annual Spring Awards Banquet was held Friday night at the Western Texas College cafeteria. Bill Hood, superintendent and one of several guests, presented service pins and retiree awards. Dr. Don Newbury, president of the college, was the guest speaker. This Morning...

Police Chase Lone Speeder

Three Snyder police officers found themselves involved in a high speed persuit around 1:15 a.m. Saturday morning.

The chase began when Snyder officer Kerry Fritz attempted to stop a 1973 Dodge pickup for speeding on east 37th St. The male subject driving the truck refused to stop and led officers on a chase that finally ended with a minor accident around 2 a.m. in Jones County.

Snyder policemen Steve Warren and Wade Norris also joined the pursuit which lasted nearly an hour at speeds between 80 and 100 miles per hour. Patrol units from the Abilene DPS, Fisher County Sheriff's office, Jones County Sheriff's office the Shackleford County Sheriff's office were involved before the incident concluded.

The nineteen year old Snyder man fled directly out U. S. Highway 180 and finally gave up the chase after he sideswiped a truck about 3 miles east of Anson, in Jones County.

The man reportedly forced one of the pursuing units from Snyder and the Fisher County SO unit off the road as they attempted to stop him during the pursuit.

When they arrived in Anson, the DPS trooper from Abilene was reported to have fired four shots from his shotgun in an attempt to puncture the rear tires on the fleeing pickup.

One flat tire eventually brought the chase to a close. No injuries and no major damages to any of the police units were reported.

The subject of the early morning pursuit is currently being held in the Jones County Jail where he faces charges of driving while intoxicated and evading arrest. Evading arrest charges are also pending in Scurry and Fisher counties. The man is also facing charges of unlawfully carrying a weapon in Snyder.

Local police also investigated three minor traffic mishaps Friday evening in Snyder.

One accident involving five vehicles was reported in the 1900 block of 40th St. around 4:30 p.m. Friday. Involved in the mishap were a 1979 Chevrolet driven by Malinda Cummingham Jones of 1901 College Avenue and a 1981 Ford driven by Stanford Leamon Land of 2106 40th St.

Three parked cars were also reported involved in the accident. A 1981 Buick owned by A. C. Floyd of 2206 45th St., a 1977 Chevrolet owned by Fred Beard of 3100 41st St. and a 1981 Ford owned by Otis E. Firestone of 2405 Avenue L were all listed as receiving minor damage in the accident.

No injuries were reported in the incident but the Land vehicle had to be towed from the scene.

Friday's second minor mishap occurred around 4:50 p.m. in the 3900 block of College Avenue. Involved in this accident were a 1974 Chevrolet driven by Martin Deporres Baeza of Gail and a barrel owned by the Allsup's Conveinence Store.

Minor damages were reported to the Baeza vehicle while damages to the barrel were listed at $35.

The 200 block of 35th St. was the scene of Friday's third mishap around 6:25 p.m. Involved in this accident were a 1975 Ford driven by Leonard Dale Dunnam of Hermleigh and a parked 1973 Chevrolet owned by Snyder Electronics. only minor damages were reported to both vehicles in this mishap.

School personnel will be involved in staff development sessions for the remainer of the afternoon scheduled.

WTC Receives 4 Press Honors At Convention

Western Texas College journalists received four honors at the 70th annual Texas Intercollegiate Press Association convention in San Angelo.

The 1981 Trailblazer, campus yearbook, earned honorable mention for best overall yearbook on Division II, and three individual awards were received.

Recognized for oustanding achievement were Rhonda Reynolds, second, organizations section; Rickey Gambol, second, sports section, and J. D. Helms, honorable mention, sports photography. Gambol is from Snyder, while Helm is from Abilene and Reynolds is from Crosbyton.

Representing WTC in live print and broadcast competition were Randall Gray, editor of The Western Texan, campus newspaper, newswriting; Patricia Quiros, radio announcing, and Margo Thibault, television announing. Gray is from Hermleigh, while Quiros is from Snyder and Thibault is from Brunswick, Me.

Dr. Don Newbury, WTC president, was one of two keynote speakers. He addressed the Frank W. Buckley Scholarship Luncheon. The other keynoter was Bob Ray Sanders, vice president and station manager of KERA-TV in Dallas.

WTC's competition in Division II included Amarillo, Angelina, Angelo State, Bee County, Brookhaven (Dallas), Cisco, College of the Mainland, Eastfield (Dallas), El Centro (Dallas), Grayson County, Hardin-Simmons, Henderson County, Howard Payne, Kilgore, Lee, McLennan Community, McMurry, Midland, Midwestern State, North Harris County, North Lake (Dallas), Odessa, Paris, Richland (Dallas), San Jacinto Central, San Jacinto North, South Plains.

Also, Southwest Texas State, Sul Ross State, Tarleton State, Tarrant Northeast, Tarrant Northwest, Tarrant South, Temple, Texas Wesleyan, UT Permian Basin, UT Tyler and Wayland Baptist.

Other students attending from WTC were Robert Mendoza, James Hernandez and Danny Massey. Mendoza is from Sweetwater, while Hernandez is from Roscoe and Massey is from Lubbock.

Advisers Dr. Michael McBride and and Mrs. Beverly Cross accompanied the group.

Slavery was abolished in all British possessions in 1834, more than 30 years before the United States enacted similar legislation. The opening of the West Indies and the southern states had made slave trading in the New World a lucrative enterprise. Slaves weren't emancipated in the U.S. until after the 1865 Union victory over Confederate forces in the Civil War.

Child's Care Regulated By Law

Anyone who cares for even one child outside the child's own home is subject to regulation by authority of the Texas Child Care Licensing Law as stated in the Human Resources Code, Sec. 42.001, officials have reminded.

This law, which became effective in 1976, provides for the registration of any "babysitter" who cares for six or fewer children on a regular basis.

Registration is a simple process which can be done entirely by mail. It involves the completion of an application and self-certification that minimum standards are being met. The caregiver is required to keep on file immunization records and signed parental permission forms for medication, emergency medical treatment and trips and activities away from home.

Registration is mandated by law and civil penalties can be invoked against those who care for chilren and refuse to be registered. The intent of the law, however, is not to prevent individuals from caring for children, but rather to protect the health and safety and well-being of the children who stay in day care arrangements. This, in turn, protects the individual giving the child care.

Anyone who is caring for children in their home, or who has a child staying in an unregulated day care home, is urged to contact Suzette Menchaca, the day care licensing representative for Scurry County. Mrs. Menchaca is available to answer any questions concerning registration or day care. She handles all complaints concerning licensed or unlicensed day care centers.

Mrs. Menchaca may be contacted by writing Day Care Licensing Division, Texas Department of Human Resources, P. O. Box 951, San Angelo 76902. Her office is located on Bell at Pulliam Streets, and the phone number is 915-655-0576. 0576.

Eight Men Are Sentenced Here

Eight Snyder men were sentenced last week after they entered guilty pleas to misdemeanor charges in the Scurry County Court.

James Warren Prentice, II was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail after he pled guilty to charges of Class A misdemeanor theft.

Buck Lloyd Jones drew 30 days in the county lockup when he entered a guilty plea to charges of possession of marijuana in a quantity less than two ounces.

Four men drew $500 fines for possession of marijuana in a quantity less than two ounces.

Felipe G. Martinez, Clarence Dale Johnson, Rafael Nieto and Gerald Ray Teel each entered guilty pleas to the possession charges.

Johnson was also assesed a $300 fine and 3 days in the county jail after he entered a guilty plea to charges of misdemeanor driving while intoxicated.

Gary Wurth Terry entered a guilty plea to the misdemeanor DWI charge and was also fined $300 and sentenced to 3 days in jail.

REGIONAL QUALIFIER -- Snyder's Glenn Parham won the District 2-AAAA high jump for the second season in a row Friday. The district meet got underway with finals in the field events and preliminaries in the running events. Saturday, the meet was to stage its running finals. Snyder reached the running finals in six events; the 400 and 1600 relays, the 3200 and 1600 meter runs, and the 110 and 300 hurdles. See article at right for more information. (SDN Staff Photo)

2-4A Track Finals In Blocks

SAN ANGELO -- With field events out of the way, District 2-AAAA schoolboys were in a race for the tape Saturday, hoping to earn bids to the upcoming Region I Track and Field Meet.

Snyder's Glenn Parham was one of eight individuals who earned honors here Friday, finishing either first or second in a field event to advance to future competition.

Parham, who was to run in three events today, won the long jump with a leap of 22-7¼. Brent Petross of Andrews took second with a 21-6¼.

Snyder had hoped to qualify in the high jump, but it wasn't to be. Andrews' Keith Brooks won the event with a jump of 6-4, though it was expected to take a leap of 6-6 or better to win here. Teammate Randy Friemal was second with a 6-2. Parham of Snyder also went 6-2, but had more misses. Snyder also placed fourth with James Caldwell and fifth with D.W. Lofton. Both jumped 6-0.

Randy Roark of Monahans won the shot put with a 59-5½ while Bobby Nunez of Fort Stockton took second. In the Discus it was David Hendrix of Sweetwater beating out Jeff Bozeman of Lake View. And in the pole vault, Andrews swept up with Leo Ruiz and Jaime Vela.

Snyder's only other points for the day were from Ross Bawcum, who took sixth in the shot put with a throw of 50-1¾.

Snyder also qualified for six of Saturday's running finals. Parham ran a 15.2 to qualify third in the 110 hurdles and a 39.8 to qualify first in the 300 intermediate hurdles.

He will also run the 1600 meter relay along with David Miller (52.53), David Nicholson (53.79), and Caldwell (53.02). Parham's time was a 51.85 to give Snyder a seventh-fastest, 3:31.19 time.

The Tigers qualified in the 1600 run with a 5:13, while the 400 relay team of Ramsey Rodriquez, Tommy Holladay, Mark Shaw and Nicholson ran a seventh-fastest 45.0. Mike Everett was to compete in Saturday's finals running of the 3200 meters as well.

USC Put On Probation

LOS ANGELES (AP) - University of Southern California officials were using the weekend to collect themselves after the National Collegiate Athletic Association dealt it a stiff, three-year football probation.

The NCAA's Infractions Committee announced the penalties Friday from Mission, Kansas, saying USC's actions constituted a "flagrant" violation of the rules.

The panel banned the

Gary Announces Intent To Retire As School AD

John Gary, athletic director of the Snyder Public schools for the past three years, has announced his intentions to resign at the end of the current school year.

Gary said Saturday that he had not turned in his official resignation, but planned to do so this coming week.

Gary, owner of Leisure Time Game Room in Snyder Shopping Center, said he plans to enter private business on a full-time basis.

Gary, a Snyder native, has been with the Snyder public schools for 18 years. He began his teaching career as a junior high coach and math teacher. He also was physical education teacher at West Elementary and he served as assistant junior high principal for 10 years.

In 1979 he was named athletic director. Prior to returning to Snyder, Gary taught in the Union of Brownfield school district for eight years.

Gary graduated from Snyder High School in 1952 and he received his bachelor's degree from Hardin-Simmons University and his master's degree from Sul Ross. He has done graduate work at Texas Tech and at Colorado State University.

Gary said he had enjoyed his association with the Snyder schools and with the young people of Snyder, but he looked forward to pursuing his new business interests.

Angelo St. Leads LSC Track Show

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) - Lester Saathoff won the javelin throw with a toss of 199 feet 10 inches to help Angelo State take an 18-point lead after the first day of the 49th annual Lone Star Conference Track and Field Championships.

Abilene Christian, the LSC champion for the last five years, was in second place with winning performances from Greg Johnson's long jump of 23-7¾ and Dennis Green's high jump of 6-10.

Competition was to resume Saturday afternoon with finals in three field and 10 running events. The feature event was to be American outdoor record holder Billy Olson in the pole vault.

East Texas State's Mike Gallagher won the only other final event Friday, hurling a shot put 58-10¼.

In the preliminaries of the running events, Texas A&I football player Darrell Green set a meet record with 20.68 in the 200-meter dash.

Angelo State completed Friday's events with 45 points, Abilene Christian had 27, Stephen F. Austin 16, East Texas 14, Southwest Texas 12, Texas A&I 4, Sam Houston 3, and Howard Payne 2.

Oilers Get 1st Pick Of Collegiate Talent

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Oilers, who have been virtual observers in recent National Football League drafts, join the fun again Tuesday when they will have a first round selection for the first time since 1978.

Not since former head coach Bum Phillips horse-traded Tampa Bay out of its first round selection and picked Earl Campbell have the Oilers had the luxury of picking from the cream of the college crop.

Oiler head coach Ed Biles, who had to drum his fingers on his desk until the third round last year, says he would snap up Texas' defensive tackle Kenneth Sims if given a choice, but since the Oilers likely won't get the chance, Biles probably will pick a quarterback or offensive lineman.

Biles could turn to quarterbacks Art Schlichter of Ohio State or Brigham Young's Jim McMahon as possibilities. If those two prospects are gone, Penn State offensive linemen Mike Munchak and Sean Farrell could be next.

"It's easy to surmise that there are a couple of outstanding quarterbacks in the draft," Biles said. "But it's too difficult to predict right now what's going to happen."

The Oilers will go to training camp with Gifford Nielsen as the starting quarterback with unpredictable Ken Stabler having to earn the job. Stabler was the starter after a brief retirement prior to the start of last season.

The Oilers will have openings on the offensive line. Biles has moved promising 1981 rookie Claude Matthews to defense and waived veteran center Carl Mauck.

The Oilers sent their 1979 first round pick to Kansas City in exchange for two second round selections. The 1980 pick went to New England as past of the Leon Gray trade and last year Oakland took the No. 1 pick in return for sending tight end Dave Casper to the Oiler.

The Oilers, who dipped to a 7-9 record in 1981 and missed the playoffs for the first time in three seasons, will have a full 12 selections. Oakland gets Houston's second round pick to complete the Casper trade but the Oilers have two picks in the third round.

Rockets Even Series; Smack Supersonics

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston's Moses Malone keyed a controlled-tempo offense with 28 points and 23 rebounds and the Rockets shut down the fast breaking Seattle Supersonics 91-70 Friday night to even their National Basketball Association mipi-series playoff at one game each.

The final game of the best of three series will be played Sunday in Seattle.

The Rockets, stunned by the running Sonics 102-87 in the opening game at Seattle, led from start to finish and overcame a brief Sonics rally in the third quarter when the visitors rallied to a five-point deficit, 55-50.

Seattle, which hit only 27 percent from the field in the first half, was led by Gus Williams with 18 points and Jack Sikma with 16 points and 11 rebounds. Malone, almost shutout in the second half of game No. 1, piled up the points in the second half of the second game, scoring 15 of his points after the intermission.

The Rockets went cold for 5:30 of the third quarter when the Sonics ran off eight unanswered points and cut Houston's lead to 55-50 before Malone ended the turnaround with three straight buckets. Houston maintained a 63-53 lead at the end of the quarter.

Leavell gave the Rockets the outside shooting they didn't have in the first game of the series

Seattle hit only three of its first 11 shots and finished the first quarter hitting only 27 percent from the field.

The Rockets led by as much as 40-27 in the second quarter when Malone spurted for 12 points.

Hogs Edge Raiders

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) - A seven-run, come-from-behind rally Friday gave the Arkansas Razorbacks a 7-6 victory over Texas Tech and a berth in the Southwest Conference post-season tournament.

Arkansas trailed 4-0 in the sixth inning when Red Raider pitcher David Carroll re-injured a shoulder muscle and left the game. Arkansas' seven runs came in that inning as the Red Raiders used four pitchers, including Carroll.

Razorback center fielder Gary Jones scored one run and tripled in two others. He scored on a single by Billy Dees.

Tech, 19-21, rallied for two runs in the seventh inning on a two-RBI home run by Jeff Harp.

Charlie Corbell, 5-1, got the victory for Arkansas. Doug Galloway, who was the third pitcher for the Red Raiders, suffered the loss. He dropped to 2-4.

Arkansas is 34-7-2 overall and 13-6 in the conference. The teams play in a noon double-header Saturday.

SWC Net Meet Results

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) - The nation's two top-ranked college singles players, Texas Christian's David Pate and Southern Methodist's Rodney Harmon, won their quarterfinal matches Friday in the Southwest Conference tennis championships.

SMU won all six of its singles matches and two of its three doubles matches Friday to increase its team lead to six points over second-place TCU.

"We're pretty happy to be in the position we're in," said SMU Coach Dennis Ralston. "If we can do this well again Saturday, we're home free. We played pretty well today, but we could improve a lot more in doubles."

Pate defeated Tres Cushing of Rice 6-3, 6-1, and Harmon beat Fred Viances of Texas Tech 6-4, 6-4.

The Arkansas Razorbacks were victimized twice by upsets Friday. Jean Van Rensburg lost to Texas A&M's Greg Hill 6-2, 7-5. Arkansas' Peter Doohan and Pat Serret, last year's runners-up, lost to Houston's Mike Livshitz and Steve Couch 1-6, 6-2, 7-5.

SMU leads the tournament with 67 points followed by TCU with 61, Arkansas 59, Texas A&M 51, Texas 50, Rice 29, Texas Tech 26, Houston 13 and Baylor 1.

Bigger Profits Begin In The Cascot Lab.

You already know that Cascot cottonseed can increase your yield by as much as 25%. What you may not know is why Cascot varieties are so much better.

Well, it didn't happen overnight. The people at Custom Ag Service used the latest scientific methods in selecting and breeding until they came up with disease resistant, early maturing varieties. They selected quality seed perfect for farming in all conditions. Characteristics like premium mike and storm resistance were developed in all the Cascot varieties.

And finally they eliminated contamination by using a separate gin for new seed development.

If you're not planting Cascot this year, try 100 acres and compare its yield to your seed. We're betting next year you'll be knee deep in Cascot.

Brewers Top Rangers; Pitching Looking Super

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - When the Milwaukee Brewers opened the regular season this year, they were picked as contenders in the American League East mainly on the strength of their hitting.

If the Brewer starting pitchers were mentioned at all, it usually was with a shrug and a silent look to the skies.

But when Moose Haas and Rollie Fingers combined for a six-hitter in Friday's 2-1 win over the Texas Rangers, Brewer Manager Buck Rodgers thought it was time for a little bragging.

"Moose was super, right down to the end," he said. "If I hadn't had the best ninth-inning pitcher in baseball (Fingers) rested in the bullpen, Moose would have gone out there again in the ninth.

"That's six decent outings in a row by our starters."

Haas, for one, is tired of hearing how mediocre the Brewer starters are supposed to be.

"I don't know why the starters are always taking that kind of gaff," said Haas, 1-0. "But if you will look down our pitching roster, there is not a weak point in there. We can do the job."

Fingers got his second save in replacing Haas, even though the starter still felt strong.

"I know I could have finished. I wanted to finish," said Haas. "But I know if I were the manager and I had a Rollie Fingers in the bullpen, I'd use him too. He is the best relief pitcher in the game."

Lost in the shine of the Haas-Fingers collaboration was Texas starter Rick Honeycutt, 0-2, who scattered six hits and struck out seven.

"I felt like I had command of all my pitches," Honeycutt said. "I would like to have one slider back - the one (Charlie) Moore hit for a double."

Moore's double moved Paul Molitor, who had walked, to third base and Cecil Cooper scored him with a first-inning sacrifice fly. The winning run scored in the fifth when Gorman Thomas doubled and came home on a single by Don Money.

Tigers Blast Lamesa; Win 10th Straight Game

Snyder's Tigers had the first-round District 2-AAAA title wrapped up going into the game but they played with all the gusto of a team fighting to keep alive here Friday as they tagged Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes 11-1 in five innings.

It was the third time in the last two weeks Snyder has won by the 10-run rule. It also advanced Snyder's winning streak to 10 games and leaves the team at 18-5 for the season and 6-0 in 2-4A play. Lamesa falls to 7-11 and 3-3.

The Tigers pickup second-round district action April 27 in Monahans.

The Tigers had defeated Pecos 3-1 on Tuesday, and that, coupled with a Monahans victory over Lamesa, gave Snyder the round-one title and a berth in any post-season district playoffs, if necessary. But the Tigers didn't let up from John Wilson's first-inning double until Brent Roemisch's fifth-inning homer here Friday.

"We're happy to have won it (the first half) but we don't want to relax now," confirmed Coach Albert Lewis on Saturday morning. "The kids are doing a real good job."

Tommy Gressett went the five innings, giving up only three hits - one over the last four innings - and striking out eight batters.

"Tommy did real well. We're doing a better job of scouting this year and its helping a lot. We're getting good communication between Coach Roland (Herrera) our catcher (Jesse Hernandez) and our pitchers," added Lewis.

Meanwhile, Snyder rapped out 10 hits against losing pitcher Gilbert Arrendondo, including a grand slam home run for Barry Davis.

Lamesa scored first. Blake McKinney struck out, but Leroy Rodriquez hit a single and stole second. He came home on a hit by Arrendondo.

Snyder countered in the bottom of the stanza when Wilson doubled and scored on a single from Hernandez.

In the second inning, Casey Peterson singled and later scored.

Snyder added another in the third off of a Perry Echols basehit, and went wild in the fourth for seven more runs. Trey Harlin got on board via an error and Brent Roemisch doubled to score the runner. Wilson then singled, Echols reached on an error and Hernandez walked before Davis unleashed his grand slam homer to make it 10-1 game.

The Tigers added irony to the situation in the fifth, when Roemisch cracked a towering home run that sailed over the "Welcome to Moffett Field" sign.

Roemisch was two-for-three on the day with three RBI. Wilson also went two-for-three, and Echols, Hernandez, David, Peterson, David Rios, and Harlin added a base hit each.

Gressett struck out seven batters over the final four innings, including all three in the fourth inning. His pitching and good fieldmanship by the Tigers produced three three-up, three-down innings for the Tors.

Astros Pop Cincinnati Avoid Division Cellar

HOUSTON (AP) - Time used to be when a series between the Houston Astros and the Cincinnati Reds was big business in the Natinal League West. Now the two teams are merely trying to avoid the division cellar.

For the moment, Cincinnati holds that spot in the standings after a 7-3 loss to Houston on Friday night. The triumph was the sixth in 16 games for the Astros, leaving them 1½ games ahead of the Reds, now 4-11.

"The concern now is that our club wins," Virdon said. "We can't worry about where we're putting other clubs."

The Astros, supposedly of power hitters, exploded for two home runs and three doubles. Art Howe and Phil Garner connected for consecutive home runs off Tom Seaver in the third inning.

"Seaver probably hasn't had enough work yet," Howe said. "He has good stuff, but his location isn't as good. I was just lucky enough to get hold of one. I always smile when I hit one out of here."

With two out in the third inning, Denny Walling, Terry Puhl and Alan Ashby were on base with walks, issued by losing pitcher Tom Seaver, 0-2, when Ray Knight's single brought in the first two runs of the game.

1979 HOMESTEAD EXEMPTIONS

If a person was 65 years old on or before January 1, 1979 and did not sign up for a Homestead Exemption in 1979, a recent law, HB885, allows an application to be made in 1982. If applications are on file for 1980 and 1981, school taxes will be frozen at the 1979 level after all exemptions are applied. This should result in a considerable saving for these taxpayers. No refund or taxes will be made for 1980 or 1981. The Appraisal District will be accepting applicatons until April 30, 1982.

CARD OF THANKS 060

THE FAMILY of the late Carl O. Kruger would like to express their deep appreciation and love for all the beautiful flowers, cards and comforting words. We especially want to thank Snyder Oaks Care Center employees for their loving care of our father during his stay there. We also want to thank Peggy Rankin, Ethel Wadleigh, Dr. Dillaha, Tim Tarkenton and the nurses on Medical II for the care and kindness shown our loved one during his illness and to the nurses at Cogdell Hospital for the memorial fund established in his memory. We want to express much appreciation to all the ladies that brought and served the delicious food. It was beautiful. May God bless each and everyone of you.

Durwood Kruger Family
Carl E. Kruger Family
Doris Stacy Family

WE WISH to express our thanks to all who came, brought food, sent flowers and for the beautiful cards, for your prayers in the loss of hour husband and Daddy. May God bless you in your time of need.

Bartels Rites

Funeral rites were held Saturday morning in St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Hereford for John A. Bartels, 83, who died Wednesday in Deaf Smith County Hospital.

He was a former resident of Hermleigh, having moved to Hereford nine years ago.

A native of Plum, Tex., he was married on Nov. 14, 1922, in Hermleigh to Frieda Roemisch. He was a retired farmer.

Father Boniface Riedmann officiated at the funeral service, and burial was in St. Anthony's Cemetery, under direction of Rix Funeral Home.

Surviving are his wife; two sons, Erwin and Leonard Bartels, both of Hereford; three daughters, Anita Schilling of Dimmitt, Hilda Reissing of Houston and Bernice Layman of Mangum, Okla.; a sister, Lena Baker of Yoakum; 31 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Sowell

Mrs. Ethel Marie Sowell, 49, who lived on the Lamesa Highway, died at 3:30 p. m. Friday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital following an illness.

Funeral service has been set for 3 p. m. Sunday at East Side Church of Christ. Mike Monroe will officiate, and burial will be in Hillside Memorial Gardens, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

A native of Moran, she had lived here since 1951. She was married in 1947 in Rotan to Gus Sowell. He survives.

Also surviving are a daughter, Linda Marie Botts of Snyder; a son, Terry Lee Sowell of Snyder; her mother, Pearl Sellers of Snyder; a sister, Jane Mosley of Snyder; and three grandchildren.

Registration Is Extended

The Snyder Public Schools kindergarten registration for the next school year has been extended by school officials.

Parents of children who will be attending kindergarten here and who have not registered their children should visit the school in their enrollment area for preregistration.

The results of the preregistration at the six elementary schools shows 229 children had been registered as of April 16. This is 53 more students than were preregistered at this time a year ago. The current enrollment in Snyder kindergarten is 299.

Parents who have not registered their children for kindergarten and who have questions may call the school in their enrollment area, or Mrs. Bobbie Box, coordinator, at 573-9364.

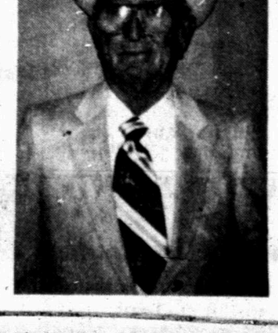

2 Sentenced

Two men received prison sentences after pleading guilty to felony charges in the 132nd District Court last week.

Michael Edward Tidwell entered a guilty plea to charges of burglary with intent to commit theft and was sentenced to ten years in the Texas Department of Corrections.

Tidwell was charged with the burglary of building owned by John Jarrell last September 29.

Asencion Shawn Espinoza was sentenced to four years in the TDC after he entered guilty pleas to three counts of credit card abuse. Espinoza was charged with misuse of a Milchem company credit card in November of last year.

Riggan, Dooley Wed In Afternoon Rites

SWEETWATER—Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Truett Dooley are at home at 1729 Hailey St. following their marriage at 5 p.m. on Mar. 27 in a ceremony at First Chrisitan Church. The Rev. Charles Reece, pastor, led the couple in repeating double ring wedding vows.

The bride is the former Angela Kay Riggan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Denzil Riggan of 307 Ross Ave. and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Denis Dooley of Rt. 2, Sweetwater.

MR. AND MRS. SIDNEY TRUETT DOOLEY

Vows were exchanged on the altar set with an archway entwined with greenery and adorned with a setting of candelabra holding 50 candles. Completing the altar decorations was an arrangement of white gladiolus. Family pews were marked with white satin bows.

Melody Squires, pianist, rendered nuptial selections including "In This Quiet Hour" as candles were lighted by Joyce Harville of San Angelo and Tony Gunn of Midlothian, cousins of the bride. As the bride and groom stood at the altar, Mrs. Squires sang "Feels So Right" and as they lit the unity candle she played "There Is Love."

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her wedding a gown of organza enhanced with re-embroidered lace. The molded bodice was fashioned with a low cut neckline framed with scalloped lace. The sheer long gathered sleeves were caught at the wrist with wide lace cuffs. An accordian pleated ruffle encircled the skirt and chapel length train.

Her chapel length veil of silk illusion adorned with lace medallions was framed in lace.

For the traditional, the bride wore a diamond ring belonging to her sister as something old. Something borrowed were diamond earrings also belonging to her sister. Something new was her gown and something blue was her garter. She wore a brith-day penny in her shoe.

She carried a cascade of white daisies and baby's breath showered with white satin ribbons.

As the bride entered, she presented her mother a yellow rose and as she departed she presented a matching rose to the mother of the bridegroom.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Cheryl Riggan of San Angelo and bridesmaid was Jan Foraker of Lubbock, sister of the bridegroom.

They wore carpet length yellow gowns made high waisted with pleated skirts and spaghetti straps over the shoulders covered with chiffon shawls. They carried bouquets of yellow and white daisies and baby's breath with yellow and brown satin streamers.

Best man was John Lee Brown of Rotan and groomsman was Ronnie Foraker of Lubbock, brother-in-law of the groom.

The groom and his attendants wore brown western tuxedos with beige ruffled shirts and western ties.

Ringbearer was the bridegroom's son, Stephen, and flower girl was his daughter, D'Lane. She carried a white lace basket filled with yellow and white daisies.

Ushers were Jerry Hodges of Sweetwater and Russell Yates of Rotan.

The mother of the bride wore a carpet length yellow gown and the groom's mother chose a light blue gown. They both wore yellow carnation corsages.

The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth and centered with the four-tiered wedding cake flanked by candles surrounded with white and yellow daisies. The cake adorned with yellow and white daisies was served from crystal appointments.

The bridegroom's table was laid with a white cloth and centered with a cotton stalk and miniature bales of cotton. The horseshoe shaped cake was decorated with cowboy boots made of icing. Coffee was served from a gold service.

Members of the house party were Ruby Whitfill, Lucia Sasin, Tonyia Cooper, Lisa Squires, and Becky Windham.

The bride is a 1980 graduate of Sweetwater High School and attended Texas State Technical Institute and Angelo State University. She is employed in the composing room of Sweetwater Reporter.

The groom is a 1972 graduate of Hobbs High School, attended South Plains Junior College and Western Texas College where he received his associate in arts degree. He is now self employed as a farmer.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom at K-Bob's Steak House.

Prior the the wedding, the couple was honored at several socials.

JUNE WEDDING—Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Merritt Sr. announce the engagement and approaching of their daughter, Tammy, to Doug Wilkinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wilkinson Sr. They will exchange vows in the Fluvanna Baptist Church at 8 p.m. on June 25. (Ted Bigham Photography)

Travel Agencies Can Arrange Wedding Trip

Your honeymoon...like your love, is special...to be celebrated as only the two of you will. Whether you want a seaside honeymoon or the magnificent Mexican "Riviera" or Heavenly Hawaii or an urban honeymoon in a romantic city in North America or a quiet mountain hide-away; your travel agency will take great pride in helping you arrange the event of a lifetime.

Don't try to force your honeymoon plans to fit into the wedding plans. Talk with your travel agent and get departure schedules for your wedding trip before you set the exact date and time of your wedding. A cruise, for example, may depart only on Saturday and you would want to schedule your wedding for Friday in order to make the Saturday departure for your dream honeymoon.

Many couples want a quiet, restful honeymoon because they are tired after all of the parties and the excitement of the wedding. Others want the trip of a lifetime to celebrate in high style. Some couples will have a very limited budget while others will have more generous ones. Few couples know exactly where they want to go and fewer still, know how or have the time to book all of the various reservations necessary for their dream honeymoon. Don't be afraid to tell your travel agent that you need help in making decisions and that you will depend on her or him to take care of all the details for you. A good travel agent will make it easy for you, giving you advice on the type of clothing to take, what to expect in the way of tipping customs, what sightseeing is available, transportation methods available, etc., etc.

And best of all, their service is free. Use this kind of service to free your time from numerous long distance phone calls or letter writing and standing in lines to get tickets. After all...you should be the star and enjoy every minute of this most special time.

Beauty Digest

Let it rain

Make sure your new raincoat will keep you dry and comfortable this spring. Be sure the coat is long enough to cover your skirts and dresses. If there is a detachable lining, remove it and try on the coat. Still fit perfectly? Check the fastenings, where it buttons, the material should overlap generously. Zippers should have a protective flap. Gently tug the seams to see if they're secure. Look for elasticized sleeve linings or little wrist belts to keep out the wind and rain.

Hallmark, Tabor Repeat Vows

MAY WEDDING—Mrs. Willie Faye Davis announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Retha Marie, to Phillip Dwight Anthony, son of Harry M. Anthony of Fayetteville, N.C. Miss Davis is the daughter of the late M. R. (Pete) Davis. The couple will exchange vows May 8 at 2 p.m. in Mount Olive Baptist Church.

Sue Lanette Hallmark became the bride of Sy Kirk Tabor Mar. 6 at 4 p.m. in East Cisco Baptist Church. Rev. Armo Bentley, pastor of the church, officiated the double ring ceremony.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bob G. Hallmark of Cisco and the groom is the son of the late Mrs. Bobbie Tabor and brother of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Payne of Midland, formerly of Snyder.

The church altar was decorated with an archway covered in white flowers and greenery. Candelabra flanked the arch and a unity candle stood in the center.

Gary Fink, cousin of the bride, of Cisco and Sherry Hill of Hedley sang "Endless Love" and Mr. Fink sang "Flesh of My Flesh."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a white organza gown styled with a princess neckline, traditional sleeves with bridal point, an empire waistline, and chapel length train which was trimmed with Chantilly lace and pearl brilliants. She wore a derby style hat with a floor length veil and carried a bouquet of silk flowers in burgundy and pink.

Leanne Agnew of Cisco was maid of honor and Barbara Jessup, also of Cisco, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Pam Reid of Rhome and Delia Lopez of Cisco. They wore rose colored dresses with pleated skirts and carried silk roses of burgundy and pink with matching streamers.

Kelli Grieger, niece of the bride, of Irving was flower girl. She also wore a rose colored dress with pleated skirt.

Chad Rogers, nephew of the bride, of Cisco was candlelighter.

Best man was Curt Posey of Cisco and groomsmen were Ray Foote, brother of the groom, of Hobbs, N.M. and Wayne Jones and Walter Banks of Snyder.

Billy Knight, the bride's brother, of Cisco and Dale Burns, her brother-in-law, of Snyder seated guests.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church following the cermony.

The bride's table held a three-tiered cake decorated with burgundy flowers, a burgundy and pink floral arrangement and silver appointments. Mary Rogers of Cisco, Hazel Grieger of Irving, and Linda Burns of Snyder, sisters of the bride, presided.

Linda Knight, sister-in-law of the bride, of Cisco presided at the groom's table which held a chocolate cake and silver appointments.

Karen Bostick registered guests in the bride's book.

Following a wedding trip to Fort Worth, the couple is at home at 400 West 6th St. in Cisco.

The bride is a graduate of Cisco High School and the groom attended Snyder High School and graduated from Cisco High School. They expect to graduate from Cisco Junior College next month. They are employed by D. D. Williams, Attorney, and Ed Posey's Gulf, respectively.

Out of town guests were from Snyder, Roscoe, Midland, Hobbs, N.M., Granbury, Angleton, Breckenridge, Rhome, Irving, and Hedley.

Beauticians Attend Hairstyling Classes

The staff of Nancy's Art Style Beauty Salon attended hairstyling classes featuring some of the latest haircuts and hairstyles.

Also a new perm, Controlled Volume, was presented and demonstrated on a number of models.

A new product by Redken for people with thinning hair was also shown. This was demonstrated on some male models with receding hairlines and thin hair.

Another new product that Redken has worked on and formulated in the past eight years was introduced and has been on the market for a short time is the Cellular Skin Care which helps control the signs of aging. Regardless of your age or skin type, this treatment can actually control visible signs of aging. Literature explaining this treatment is available at Nancy's Art Style Beauty Salon.

Hairstylist attending this program were Nancy Grimmitt, Lisa Holmes, Helen Walker, Lawanna Vincent, Jonnie Taylor, Sherie Smith, Debbie Rannefeld, Rhonda Roberson, Charlotte Hester, Terry Kubena, Lola Hall, and Sandy Sewell.

Beauty Digest

Day into night

When you've got only minutes to look your prettiest for a party, try these hints to look dazzling in a jiffy. Set your hair with hot rollers and leave them in while touching up your makeup; unroll at the last minute to make the most waves. Touch up under-eye circles with concealer, then put on some translucent powder. Next, rev up your eye makeup in stronger colors for nighttime glamour. Try lining your lower lids with bright blue pencil to make your eyes look whiter. Add more blush, blending well; top it off with a gold-flecked translucent powder for extra sparkle. Finish off with a fresh application of lipstick and plenty of gloss. Splash on some perfume and you're all set for a festive evening.

Master point inflation is as high as any today. When Oswald Jacoby became the first man to score over 1,000 in one year, it was 1963. In 1981, 15 players scored more than a 1,000 and three over 2,000.

ACBL president Jim Zimmerman finished eighth with 1,358. Jim is a very fine player indeed as may be seen from this hand.

North raised Jim right to three no-trump, instead of using Stayman and finding the 4-4 spade fit.

Jim ran off four spades and noted East's discards of the 5-2 of hearts and West's of the deuce of clubs.

Now he led a club. West took his ace and led a second club. Jim had to attack diamonds and led a diamond to dummy's ace and returned the nine. When East's jack appeared he took his king and led a third diamond to wind up with five no-trump. It was a very good score since the best a spade declarer could do was to make that same five odd.

He had turned out to be lucky. If West had held queen, jack, fourth of diamonds, Jim would have made just four no-trump, but he had taken the best percentage play at his no-trump contract and it paid off.

Tips For Voters

Scurry County voters will find few contested races on their ballots in next Saturday's primary election, but there are some on the district and state-wide levels that are important. And some of the more important positions are those in which few voters have access to a significant amount of knowledge upon which to base their decisions,

The higher state courts fall into this category. We lay no claim to more than average knowledge of the candidates in these races. Therefore, we usually rely heavily upon the recommendation of the people who know them best—the attorneys-at-law who practice in their courts.

So, with hopes that it will help our readers make wise selections, we are passing along the names of candidates for the higher courts who were favored in a 1982 poll of the State Bar of Texas.

Here are their choices, based on response from more than 11,000 lawyers:

For Supreme Court, Associate Justice, Place 1 full term—Ted Z. Robertson of Dallas, favored by 53 percent.

For Supreme Court, Associate Justice, Place 2, full term—James G. Denton of Austin, favored by 72 percent.

For Supreme Court, Associate Justice, Place 3, full term—Charles W. Barrow of San Antonio, favored by 90 percent.

For Court of Criminal Appeals, judge, Place 1, full term—Carl Dally of Houston, favored by 62 percent.

For Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 2, full term—Chuck Miller of Dallas, favored by 34 percent; Ray Moses of Houston, favored by 24 percent.

In the only contested district race here, our nod goes to Rep. Walter Grubbs for State Representative of the new 78th District. We feel that there are two good neighbors in this race in which Grubbs, formerly of Mitchell County and now of Merkel, and Steve Carriker of Fisher County are seeking the same seat in the Texas Legislature. However, we believe Grubbs' political philosophy is more compatible with Scurry County, and his experience is a factor that weighs heavily in his favor.

Moreover, he has attained seniority and respect in the Texas House that not only will enhance his stature in Austin, but will benefit his district as well.

"Relax — he's on a leash."

roy mcqueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "If you want to make sure your child understands the realities of life, next time he puts a tooth under his pillow, have the tooth fairy leave him a dime and a W-2 form."

Congressmen returning to their home districts during the Easter recess heard lots of solutions of how to balance the federal budget.

Our own 17th District Rep. Charles Stenholm was brave enough to show up in Snyder on April 15, a day when most taxpayers have little patience with the federal government.

Stenholm, one of the boll weevils in Congress, seems sincerely dedicated to the task of helping solve the nation's economic woes. Unfortunately, there are not enough Stenholms in Washington.

One fellow suggested that America could correct most of the ills of federal government if we were to move the November general election to the day after April 15th.

Somehow or another, he said, a taxpayer who has just been told to rake up another two or three thousand dollars for his income taxes, would probably make a more informed voter at that moment than he would seven months later.

Stenholm was asked about a federal ceiling on interest rates as a method of reducing the proposed $100 billion deficit. The congressmen agreed that the deficit would be reduced but characterized such a move as only an artificial or temporary solution.

Deregulation of the savings industry will soon mean that higher rates will be paid savers. This country has already seen higher rates in the last few years with savings plans tied to Treasury Bill rates.

This means that the federal government is the biggest borrower and that the rest of us are competing with the government for money--thus the higher rates.

The high rates on such things as Jumbo CDs and money market certificates are fine if a person is only a saver. It is downright disasterous for the majority of individuals and companies who borrow funds.

There are more folks who borrow than who save. The so-called little people that high rates on savings were to help have in fact been the most single negative influence on our economy.

In order to show a profit, savings institutions must maintain a three or four percent spread of lending rates over savings rates. The little guy is paying the price, either directly or in items purchased, and congresssmen need to understand that.

Congressmen Stenholm also made reference to a law passed in 1975 that requires this country have a balanced federal budget. Such has always been the case in Texas state government.

Stenholm reminded those present that a balanced federal budget has been and still is the law of the land, although it is being ignored by both the administration and congress.

We suggest an incentive for those in Washington to get on with a balanced budget. Either follow the laws of the United States or face what happens to others who break the law--go to jail!

Roundups To Be Repeated?

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — The bloody roundups that killed an estimated 125,000 jackrabbits in eastern Idaho last December and January should be repeated this year, a state task force concludes.

The Idaho Task Force on Jackrabbit Control also urged Wednesday that zinc phosphide, a poison, be used against rabbits, which were blamed for destroying $10 million in crops last year. In addition, the panel recommended further study of another poison, DRC-1339.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Watchdog of the larynx

DEAR DR. LAMB — I had a severe cough for 10 years. I went to doctors and clinics and lung specialists.

Between visits to the doctor and the time I was to be admitted to the hospital for further testing, our beagle became ill and had to be put to sleep. Believe me, it was a miracle — my cough was at least 50 percent gone within five weeks. The tests show no disease but irritation in the lungs.

Now two years later my cough is completely gone. The doctor said he never thought of an allergy to dogs. I'm also allergic to cats, I have since found out. Please pass this on to readers of your column who might have an unexplained chronic cough.

DEAR READER — Thank you for being so thoughtful of others. A cough is a symptom. Some call it the "watchdog of the larynx" because it functions to clear the airways to the lungs.

The cough is stimulated by irritation in the throat, larynx or deeper airways. And occasionally the irritation may come from outside the respiratory tree. An enlarged aneurysm of the aorta may press on nerves to cause a cough; so can a tumor.

The irritation may be chemical irritation or from inflammation as occurs with respiratory infections. And, of course, it can occur from an allergy if the allergy causes excess formation of secretions in the airways.

You can cough because of fluid accumulating in the lungs secondary to heart failure, too. Perhaps the most dangerous possibility is a cancer of the lungs causing irritation and a cough.

You were very fortunate to find out the cause of your cough and more fortunate that it has cleared so completely. I would remind all readers that any unexplained cough that persists for 10 days should be evaluated by your physician.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 8-10, Cough: How and When to Treat It. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I read an article that really upset me. I've had genital herpes since I was 19 years old and I'm 22 now. I always thought it was just an inconvenience that I could live with. Now I'm not so sure.

Is it really incurable? I can't bear the thought that it can be transmitted to babies and that it causes blindness or even death to the infant. I always looked forward to getting married and having children, but if that is true I will never marry because I don't have the right to sleep with a man ever again. Do I have to be celibate the rest of my life unless I want to infect more guys?

DEAR READER — A lot of people have genital herpes simplex, enough for you to find a suitable mate. While there is a danger to a pregnancy, if you have no active lesions at delivery time, the risk is much smaller. I cannot deny that it is a risk, but there are normal babies born to mothers who have been infected. If the lesions are active, some think that a Cesarean section helps protect the baby.

And, yes, there are a number of promising antiviral drugs that will likely produce a cure in a few years. It is an important problem and deserves a major effort to find a cure.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have arthritis of the hips and am to drink four glasses of milk daily. Someone told me that if I don't drink raw milk, the four glasses won't do any good because heat destroys the calcium. Is that true?

Also, I bought a bottle of calcium capsules. A nurse read the ingredients and said that a certain ingredient was lacking so they wouldn't do me any good. Could that be true?

DEAR READER — Maybe you should start listening to your doctor. It is completely false that heating milk will destroy the calcium. If done properly, heating will destroy germs that might cause diseases but it won't destroy calcium or other important nutrients of milk.

The absence of an ingredient is not likely to prevent absorption of calcium. The presence of some ingredients will do so because they bind with the calcium in the intestine. Vitamin D and parathyroid hormone from your own parathyroid gland do influence calcium absorption.

at wit's end

by erma bombeck

A woman in Illinois has a son who is "into weight lifting." She has noted that the stronger the muscles become in his upper arms, the weaker the muscles become in his fingers.

In other words, the boy can press his own weight, but he can't turn off a water faucet.

The answer is a simple one. Teenagers develop only one part of their bodies at a time. If they're making good grades, don't expect them to pick up their room. If you want them to have eight hours sleep a night, they can't handle the garbage. If you want the truth out of them, don't push them to turn off the lights in their room.

If you want logic, you should have raised collies.

We have all lived through the years of parental innocence. I had a son who played basketball four hours a day. The muscles in his legs looked like a bas-relief map of Brazil. Those legs carried him back and forth on the gym floor a hundred times a day. The walking muscles that would transport him home on foot have not developed today.

I had another child who talked on the phone so much we all chipped in and bought her a tongue transplant for her 16th birthday. She could not have formed the words "thank you" had she been given Erik Estrada.

To understand teenagers, you must understand their anatomy. No two things work at the same time.

On the eve of their 16th brithday, their hands will form little fists in anticipation of car keys which dangle from them every minute.

These same fingers cannot replace a towel on a rack.

The eyes that develop X-ray vision to see a piece of pound cake wrapped in aluminum foil in the back of the refrigerator will not see a dog that is tunneling under the door in an effort to relieve himself.

By the time a teenager is 17, there are few things that are "operational." The hearing is gone. The voice is never heard. There is no sign he or she recognizes anyone. The muscles throuhout the body are a mass of inertia.

The only thing that really works is the mind. It accelerates to age 35 and holds there until he or she is 35. Then it goes back down to age 17.

ASTRO-GRAPH

Your Birthday

Bernice Bede Osol

April 25, 1982

Carefully choose those with whom you become involved in seeking another source of income. The possibilities are especially good this coming year if you work with the right people.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't let others make decisions for you today that could affect your material security. They may not have as complete a grasp of the picture as you do. Predictions of what's in store for you in each season following your birth date and where your luck and opportunities lie are in your Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Try to do everything in moderation today, whether it be working, eating, drinking or playing. Tendencies to overindulge could cause problems.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Others will find you difficult to contend with today if you permit yourself to become withdrawn or moody. Come out of your shell. Have some fun.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Go along with the will of the majority today, rather than yield to desires to run the show. Coming on too strong will hurt your image.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Take nothing for granted today concerning important goals. Accomplishments normally achieved with ease could have some unexpected complications.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If possible today, forgo involving yourself in commercial or financial matters. Your judgment in these areas may not be up to its usual standards.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It's best that you don't make any major decisions today involving a cash outlay. You could be too easily swayed by the sizzle in someone's sales pitch.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Even if you are discontented with today's plans, don't make sudden changes without discussing them with all involved. You may mess things up.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't attempt something today if your heart isn't in it. It's best to shelve these projects until you can fully concentrate on what you're doing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Avoid situations today that could put you into competition with friends. Don't make winning or being right more important than a relationship.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Beware of making promises today that you might be unable to fulfill. Once you've made a commitment, follow through regardless of the inconvenience it may cause you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Impulsive financial decisions could backfire today, so take plenty of time to think your moves through where dollars are concerned. You'll be glad you did.

An ancient drug made from goat's blood and white earth from the Island of Lemnos was used throughout Europe as an antidote against poisons for 16 centuries. It was administered in a square pellet and also was used in the treatment of dysentery, hemorrhage and ulcers. It fell from favor when it failed to help victims of the bubonic plague.

April 26, 1982

Material conditions look promising for you this coming year, but you might have to work a little harder than usual to generate the types of returns that will suit you. You can do it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) This is a good day to analyze your expenditures. Try to trim nonessentials from your budget and look for better ways to get more mileage from the dollars you spend. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in each of the seasons following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You have what it takes to be successful today, but be careful not to lord it over others if you outdo them in competitive situations.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) When making proposals today in which you hope to interest others, stick to cold, hard facts. Appealing to their emotions won't do the job.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Should you find it necessary to deal commercially with friends today, be extra-careful how the matter is handled. Wrong moves will hurt the relationships.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your possibilities for fulfilling material desires look promising today, but you must keep your priorities in order. Work first, play later.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't depend too heavily on coworkers today. They may lack your drive and ambition. Establish your own targets and proceed accordingly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) This could be a profitable day, provided you stay in familiar areas. Taking gambles on things you know little about might backfire.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You tend today to reflect the behavior patterns of persons with whom you'll be palling around. Associate with doers if there's something you want to accomplish.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Others will admire your competence today in the way you handle difficult tasks. However, let them sing the praises. Don't toot your own horn.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You have good organizational and management skills today in most situations you'll be required to handle, but you could fall short in governing your own finances.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Schedule your important tasks as early in the day as possible, when you are likely to operate at your best. Later you might get sluggish.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Treat others thoughtfully and with consideration today, but also strive to be practical and realistic. Things could go awry when your heart rules your head.

Accuse South Of Shooting

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea today accused South Korean troops of firing across the 2.5-mile-wide Demilitarized Zone in four separate incidents but made no mention of possible casualties. The alleged "provocations" followed a four-hour gunbattle Wednesday.

Ther U.S.-led United Nations Command in Seoul said the charges, broadcast by official Pyongyang radio, were being investigated.

Wednesday's flareup began after four North Korean soldiers were "killed or wounded" by one of their own mines while trying to defect through the DMZ central sector, South Korean officials said.

Tablet Might Prevent Strokes

HOUSTON (AP) — People who take four aspirin tablets a day to try to prevent a stroke may be able to achieve the same result with as little as a quarter of a tablet, a researcher says.

Dr. William S. Fields, chairman of neurology at the University of Texas Health Science Center here, says studies that have been under way since 1972 have proven a daily dose of common aspirin can ward off a stroke, especially among men.

But at present the recommended dosage is four tablets a day, which causes stomach irritation in some people.

"It has been shown in the test tube that a much smaller dose may be equally effective," said Fields.

Strokes are the nation's third leading cause of death. They cripple or kill more than 1.7 million Americans a year by blocking the flow of blood to the brain long enough to cause permanent damage.

Before that happens, many stroke victims receive brief warnings from their bodies called transient ischemic attacks, or "TIAs," Fields said. They are minor attacks with symptoms similar to a stroke, but much milder and only temporary.

Fields said studies have shown 35 out of every 100 people who experience but are not treated for TIAs suffer a disabling or fatal stroke within five years.

A TIA — triggered by a brief interruption of the blood supply to the brain — can cause temporary blindness, numbness in half the body, paralysis, inability to speak and momentary confusion lasting from a few seconds to 24 hours.

Fields said clinical studies have shown people who have suffered TIAs can stop them from recurring — and prevent a major stroke — by simply taking aspirin daily.

At present, 170,000 Americans die annually of strokes.

Fields said he will seek support later this month at the Aspirin Foundation of America symposium in New Orleans for a three- to four-year study to compare the results of a daily dose of a quarter, a half and a whole aspirin tablet.

"A lower dose of aspirin, if proven effective, would have the advantage of reducing stomach irritation which occurs in some people," he said.

Yale Students Learn About Art

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — With a budget of $10,000, a class of Yale undergraduates toured the contemporary art world of New York last fall and bought two pieces of art that have gone on display at the Yale Art Gallery.

Assistant Professor Jonathan Fineberg, 35, said he began planning the "Connoisseurs in Contemporary Art" class a year ago at a party in New York, where he met a Yale alumnus who complained the university didn't provide an adequate education in contemporary art.

Fineberg persuaded the alumnus, art dealer Horace Solomon, to give $2,500 with the understanding that the class would choose the art and donate it to the gallery. Fineberg raised the rest of the money from other alumni, art dealers and private collectors.

The professor and class of 12 students combed New York City's art world during the 13-week fall semester, interviewing dealers, collectors, gallery owners, museum curators and artists.

As a final exam, they purchased two works. One was a two-part montage by Christo, the artist known for "wrapping" buildings and landscapes with enormous pieces of cloth. It depicts the artist's plan to surround 10 of the 15 islands in Miami's Biscayne Bay with shocking-pink skirts that float out into the water some 200 feet.

The other work, a drawing by Alice Aycock, shows what the artist calls a "fanciful apparatus designed to capture and manufacture ghosts."

Fineberg explained that he wanted to teach students how to recognize and appreciate contemporary art. "I was motivated to teach this course by the fact that most people have no idea what contemporary art is.

"Recent art doesn't look like art to most people. They don't understand what it's all about. They don't have any idea what's good and what's bad," he said in a recent interview.

According to Fineberg, many Yale students want to collect art and should know how to do it "intelligently" instead of being at the mercy of the art dealers.

Referring to the class, he said, "This kind of experience is the way you learn, the way you develop a sense of quality. You can't just walk in cold and expect to know what you're looking at."

Contemporary art is primarily an "intellectual activity in which both the ideas behind it and the appearance" must be considered, Fineberg said.

The class met every week for two hours and frequently dined as a group. Students prepared by reading art criticism and essays in contemporary art journals.

That Are Endangered...

Imported Fish Saves Seals

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Conservationists are importing fish into the cooling basin of a Baltic coast nuclear plant in an effort to save the sea's declining seal population.

In this century alone, man has lowered the population from 100,000 to fewer than 12,000, first through hunting and then, after World War II, through discharge of poisonous wastes into the Baltic.

The pollutants, chiefly polychlorinated biphenyls — PCBs, an industrial waste product — and the insecticide DDT, interrupt the seals' food chain, poisoning the fish they eat and in turn damaging the wombs of female seals. Neither compound breaks down naturally in the environment, and both are ingested by fish.

Restrictions on wastes by countries around the sea in the past decade have cut sharply into the levels of PCBs, down by 30 percent, and DDT, reduced by 75 percent.

But Lennart Almqvist, a researcher heading up the save the seals project, says that's not enough.

He says tests show that pollution has caused severe womb complications in half the female Baltic seals of reproductive age. That, when combined with naturally caused infertility, can mean that as few as one in five mature female seals can reproduce, Almqvist said.

Dear Abby

Millionaire's Cash Flow Is Strictly One-Way

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1982 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: There's a man in our club who has so much money, I'm sure he doesn't even know how much he has. He's considered high society and nobody would dare say anything to him about this bad habit he has, but I think it's time somebody did.

He never has any money. When he needs cash for a tip or a caddy or whatever, he'll turn to whoever is standing near him and say, "Anybody got $10 — or $20?" This happens all the time.

The funny part of it is the way everybody fights to accommodate him. You'd think it was an honor to give this millionaire money.

Far as I know, he's never made any attempt to pay anybody back. I gave him $20 once, and that was the end of it.

My question: Should I remind him that he owes me $20?

P.O.'D IN PALM SPRINGS

DEAR P.O.'D: Go ahead. And when you do, he'll probably turn to somebody else and say, "Anybody got $20?"

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband died suddenly of a massive heart attack three weeks ago. He was only 49 and was never sick a day in his life. It was a terrible blow to me and our four children.

Last week my daughter, who just turned 18, came to me and said she wanted to get married to the boy she has been going with for nearly two years.

I never knew marriage was on her mind and thought maybe she missed her dad and wanted to get married so she would have someone to lean on. Then she told me she had to get married! (The baby is due in six months.) I am in shock over this. I like the boy, but he's only 19 and going to college.

They have to get married as soon as possible, but I wonder what kind of wedding I should put on in view of the circumstances. She wants a church wedding.

DOUBLE TROUBLE

DEAR DOUBLE: Talk to your clergyman and let him guide you. Your daughter can have a lovely church wedding, but since you are in mourning and she is pregnant, hold it down to a quiet, dignified family affair with only very close friends.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: A few years ago you printed "A Mother-in-Law's Prayer." I thought it was hilarious and read it at a bridal shower. Everyone loved it. I've lost my only copy. Please run it again.

NEW YORK POST FAN

DEAR FAN: With pleasure. Here it is:

A MOTHER-IN-LAW'S PRAYER

"O, Lord, help me to be glad when my son (or daughter) picks a mate. If he brings home a girl with two heads, help me to love both of them equally. And when my son says, 'Mom, I want to get married,' forbid that I should blurt out: 'How far along is she?'

"And please, Lord, help me to get through the wedding preparations without a squabble with the 'other side.' And drive from my mind the belief that had my child waited a while, she or he could have done better.

"Dear Lord, remind me daily that when I become a grandmother, my children don't want any advice on how to raise their children any more than I did when I was raising mine.

"If you will help me to do these things, perhaps my children will find me a joy to be around, and maybe I won't have to write a 'Dear Abby' letter complaining about my children neglecting me."

Old-Fashioned Train Operated

RUSK, Texas (AP) — The granddaddy of a steam engine, which once hauled firefighting gear through the Sierra Nevada mountains, sets up a rhythmic racket leaving the Rusk station.

Bursts of white steam call out from under the 86-year-old wheels while a measured stanza of "chuga chuga" answers back.

Train whistle squeals, which rudely poke holes in the melee of sound, signal the merger of the chugas and the team hisses into a pulse.

The voyage through the state's skinniest park, 25 miles of land just wide enough for the train to pass through, begins as the steam engine revs up for the first voyage of the season.

This lesson in the past will be taught Saturdays and Sundays until summer on the Texas State Railroad, where rapid transit is for the birds.

No fender benders, no irate commuters spouting words that a preacher wouldn't, no bumper-to-bumper Excedrin specials — just a nostalgic jaunt through the Piney Woods on the state's only operating steam locomotive.

Granted, a certain speed junkie piloting the 1896 engine between Rusk and Palestine would like to crank the critter up to full throttle just once, but on this track the pace is a relaxing 19th-century crawl of 25 miles an hour.

Don't let the picturesque hardware fool you; the 71-ton, A.L. Cooke engine could exercise a state trooper's siren in a 55 mph zone.

Pilots Told They Failed Tests

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Capt. John Davee maneuvers his jet fighter until he catches an unwary American pilot squarely in his sights, then delivers a sobering radio message: "You're dead."

Wearing the shoulder patch of the 65th Fighter Weapons Squadron, a red star on a pale blue field, Davee is one of a select group of American pilots known as "aggressors."

They are masters in the "airto-air arena," an unforgiving place where death can travel at supersonic speeds and a split second is a lifetime.

Four aggressor pilots from Nellis Air Force Base near Las Vegas, Nev., recently spent a week at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, hunting down their fellow officers in simulated attacks.

The aggressors give no quarter. The only noticeable departure from reality is the substitution of cameras for cannonfire.

Capt. Bob Zaehringer, an instructor pilot with D-M's 357th Tactical Fighter Training Squadron, flew against Davee. He will pass along what he's learned to the A-10 pilots he trains.

The aggressors "have got to be better than the best enemy pilots — if we're used to fighting the best, then second best isn't as tough," Zaehringer said.

There are only four aggressor squadrons in the Air Force — two overseas and two at Nellis — so most of their time is spent working with operational units.

Aside from their time in the air, the aggressors and their victims may spend hours talking about each mission and analyzing the films. The experience can be invaluable in adding to the "bag of tricks" at a pilot's disposal.

The A-10s, often flown in pairs above Tucson, are attack planes. They are designed to support ground forces by destroying enemy tanks, not for dogfights.

But they would have to fend off the attacks of enemy fighters on the way to their targets, and the aggressors give them a taste of what to expect.

Nurse Edith Cavell, English matron of a Red Cross hospital in Brussels, was arrested by German occupation forces Aug. 5, 1915. Cavell, who admitted helping about 200 Allied soldiers to escape to neutral Holland, was shot Oct. 12 along with her chief aide, Philippe Baucq.

Novels Much Like Television

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Novels are becoming more like television, author Jeanne Williams says.

"Editors are asking for more and more immediate action" and discouraging narrative, description and background, she told about 100 people at a recent meeting sponsored by the Friends of the University of Arizona Library.

Editors and publishers are trying to reach a readership trained to "sit there in a haze" by situation comedies and prime-time programs, but the reader suffers in the long run, she added.

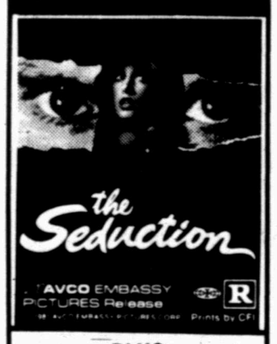

That is because insistence on a fast pace undermines novels' "demand for imagination and involvement" by the reader, and "readers need to feel the same hope, love and despair" as the characters they are reading about, Ms. Williams said.

The 51-year-old Kansas native has published 70 short stories and more than 40 novels, and has five novels in progress. A writer of Gothic novels, Western history, light romance and young-adult fiction, she is known for extensive research and description.

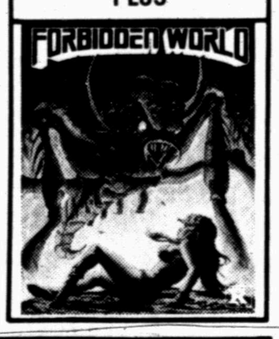

Frank Winfield Woolworth, founder of the five-and-dime store, was born in 1852.

Auction Features Attractive Items

A basketball autographed by the Dallas Hoopsters during their Snyder appearance, a gavel handmade from native mesquite wood and a cut glass pitcher originally owned by a pioneer Scurry County doctor will be among the items to be auctioned Saturday to benefit the Senior Citizens Center.

The auction is part of May Day, the Senior Center's fund raiser, and will begin at 6:30 p. m. All May Day activities will be in the Scurry County Coliseum.

The gavel and a rolling pin were made by Tom Farris. He gathers mesquite locally, then shapes it into beautiful pieces using a wood lathe and an abundance of hand finishing.

Virginia Whitson has donated the cut glass pitcher along with five glasses. The glass items were originally owned by the late Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Leslie, Mrs. Whitson's uncle and aunt. The pitcher and glasses are more than 75 years old, Mrs. Whitson said, and are in excellent condition.

About 30 quilts made in the center will be included in the auction along with various other items. The coliseum will open at 2 p. m. so that prospective buyers can look over the merchandise to be auctioned and shop booths.

IN AUCTION—Tom Farris and Virginia Whison display items they have donated for the Senior Center's May Day auction next Saturday. The auction is held annually to raise funds for the operation of the center.

3 Youths Going To Boys State

Three high school students will represent Scurry County in the 1982 session of Texas American Legion Boys State, Dave Haywood, commander of Layne Kite Post 181 of the American Leagion, has announced.

Named to participate in the annual American Legion workshop in the organization and operation of state and loal governments are Gerald Don Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hicks of Snyder; Shane Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Smith of Ira, and Michael Luera, son of Mrs. Julia Luera of Snyder.

The 1982 American Legion Boys State will be in session June 5-11 at the University of Texas in Austin.

At Austin, the Scurry County youths will participate in the organization of political parties, campaigns, elections and the enactment and enforcement of their own laws within the mythical state. Elected state officials will function "for a day" at the Capitol on June 11 and conclude with a joint session of the Boys State Legislature.

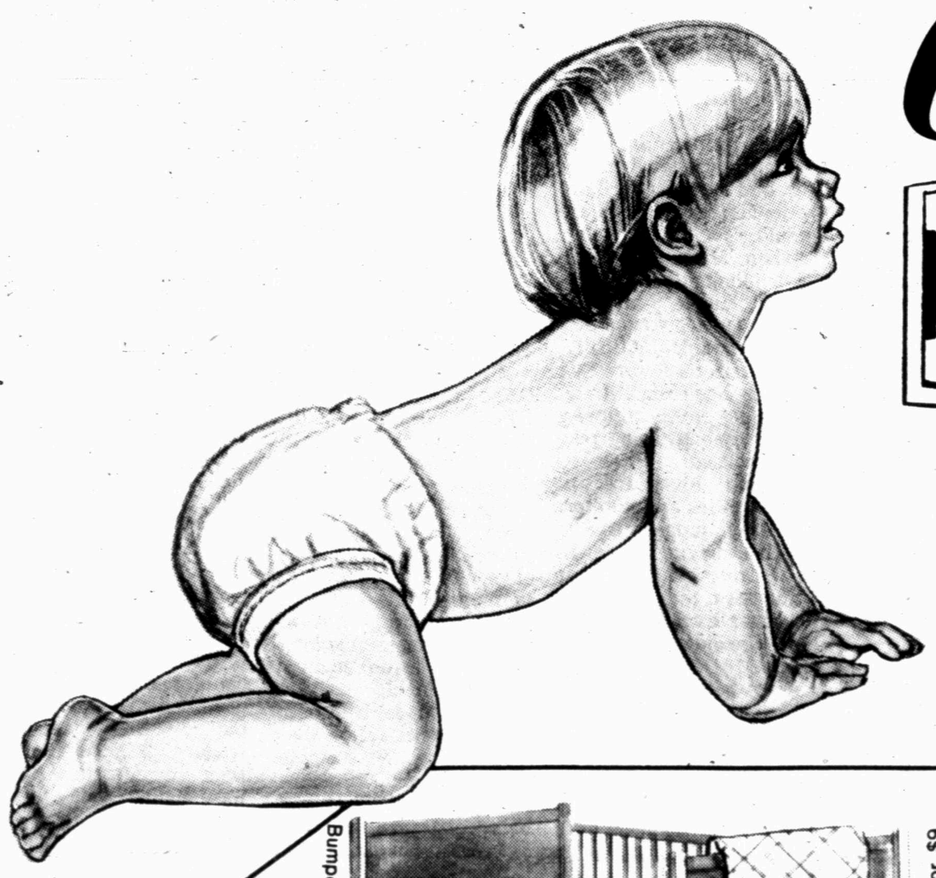

The experience affords the youngsters an opportunity to learn the functions of local and state governments, said Commander Haygood. Also, they will see the importance of the role a good citizen has in discharging his citizenship responsibilities.

Haygood expressed appreciation to the Kiwanis Club, which is sponsoring one of the delegates to Boys State this year.

"I also would like to thank C. R. Agee, Bill Anderson and Joe Dupuy for their hours of work and support," said Haygood.

Americans Declaring War on Drunken Drivers

By TIMOTHY HARPER
Associated Press Writer

How many auto accidents do we hear about that are blamed on drunken drivers? Think about it.

It seems every time someone is in a serious accident, it's because someone was driving drunk. Came barreling through a red light. Crossed the center line. Couldn't stop.

It's so common we almost take it for granted. An act of fate, like getting hit by lightning. Accidents, injury and death caused by drunken driving sometimes seem a price of modern motor travel.

But across the country, people are saying they are not willing to accept that price. They are no longer willing to be lightning rods.

Americans are doing something about drunken driving.

They are pushing and prodding legislators, writing letters to editors and speaking before school and civic groups on the horrors of drunken driving. Police, prosecutors and judges find themselves under new pressures to crack down.

In the last year, 22 states have enacted new drunken driving laws, and tougher measures were proposed in 26 legislatures this year, an Associated Press survey found. They are making it easier to arrest, convict and jail drunken drivers.

President Reagan has appointed a national commission to study the problem, and Congress is thinking about a computerized national driver's register so repeat offenders can't avoid stiffer penalties by moving to other states.

The federal legislation would require first offenders to do 80 hours of community service and make second offenders spend 10 days in jail.

"For too long, drunk driving has been socially acceptable and even condoned as part of our American 'macho' image," says the sponsor, Sen. Clairborne Pell, D-R.I., who has had two staff members killed in drunken driving accidents.

Macho, indeed. Ninety percent of those arrested for drunken driving are men.

"We are talking about a crime that kills more than homicides, a crime that injures more people and more seriously than those who commit assaults with deadly weapons, a crime that does more property damage than the forgers, burglars and robbers all added together," says Candy Lightner, whose 13-year-old daughter was killed by a drunken driver two years ago.

After learning that the driver who killed her daughter had been arrested several times previously for drunken driving, Mrs. Lightner founded Mothers Against Drunk Drivers (MADD) in her home in Fair Oaks, Calif.

Today, chapters of MADD and a group known as Reduce Impaired Drivers (RID) are in the vangard of the movement against drunken drivers.

About 26,000 Americans — one of every two people killed on U.S. roadways — die each year in accidents involving one or more drunken drivers. One million more people are seriously injured or crippled. Property losses run into the billions of dollars.

"Drunk driving is probably the most important public health problem facing our nation," says Vincent L. Tofany, president of the National Safety Council.

There are more than 1.2 million arrests each year for drunken driving: Johnny Carson and F. Lee Bailey on the same recent weekend in California; 41,000 in tiny Vermont last year; 31,000 in Florida the last six months.

But the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration says that for every drunken driver who is arrested, 2,000 others are not. One of every 10 drivers on any given Friday or Saturday night is drunk, the government says.

And it gets worse. The chances of going to jail or paying a fine are even less than the chance of being arrested.

In Oklahoma City last October charges were reduced or dismissed for 170 of the 175 people arrested for drunken driving, a study showed. Of 7,802 people arrested for driving while intoxicated in San Antonio from 1978 to 1980, only 14 were convicted of felony offenses — this in a city where last year at least 78 traffic deaths were due to drunken driving.

In 46 states, the legal blood-alcohol limit for drivers is 0.10 percent, but a study in Georgia says the average person arrested has a level of 0.17 percent, the equivalent of eight drinks for a 180-pound man in an hour.

The same study showed that people arrested for drunken driving the first time admit to doing it at least 15 times before.

Yet 25 states do not even prohibit drinking while driving. In Lafayette, La., there's a drive-in bar called the Daquiri Factory, where motorists pull up, grab a drink through the window and roar off without leaving the car. A house specialty is Jungle Juice, made with vodka and 190-proof grain alcohol.

The AP survey showed a wide diversity in state penalties for drunken driving. In Kentucky and Virginia, the maximum penalty is a $500 fine and a six-month license suspension; even if the judge wants to, first offenders cannot be sent to jail. In Massachusetts, however, you face up to two years in jail, a one-year license suspension and a $1,000 fine.

Indiana's maximum for the first offense is a year on probation, a two-year license suspension and a $5,000 fine, while Wisconsin has a maximum six-month license suspension, a $300 fine and no jail time.

Several states have mandatory minimum sentences — a day in Arizona and Washington, two days in California and Iowa, three days in Ohio, 10 days in Oklahoma — but MADD and RID say prosecutors routinely take plea bargains to lesser charges, and judges routinely substitute attendance at alcohol abuse classes for jail time.

Some states now are considering what Kentucky Gov. John Y. Brown calls a "slammer bill," requiring everyone convicted of drunken driving to spend a day or two or three in jail. Including first offenders, no exceptions.

At the same time, states are trying to make it easier to make arrests.

In Illinois, a new law has reduced the amount of time it takes police to make a drunken driving arrest, and arrests have gone up.

"Previously, a drunken driving arrest took four hours," Larry Layman, a Peoria, Ill., officer says. "Now we can do it in as little as 30 minutes, so we're more willing to make arrests."

In Montana, police have set up a statewide hotline for citizens to report drunken drivers. In the first three months, 243 calls resulted in 44 arrests.

In Tonawanda, N.Y., a suburb of Buffalo, authorities are setting up midnight roadblocks at busy intersections and stopping every car to look for drunken drivers. The first night, they stopped 60 cars and made six arrests.

In New Jersey, 75 towns videotape people arrested for drunken driving as they try to perform simple agility tests like walking a straight line or touching their noses.

If necessary, the tapes are introduced in court, but authorities say most defendants plead guilty after they have sobered up and viewed the tapes. In several communities, conviction rates have risen to more than 90 percent.

"He can refuse to do the physical or chemical tests, but he still has to sit there before the camera," says Ralph Tyson, the city prosecutor in Baton Rouge, La., where a special police van serves as a drunken driver taping studio. "If he falls on his face it is still on video tape. And we have had some do that."

All states have "implied consent" laws — the U.S. Supreme Court upheld the legal concept in 1977 — that require people with driver's licenses to submit to blood alcohol level tests when asked by police.

But people nonetheless refuse to take the breath, chemical, blood or urine tests that most courts rely on for evidence of drunken driving. Since that makes it difficult to get a conviction, some states have stepped up the penalties for refusal.

In Vermont, for instance, the maximum penalty for refusing is a one-year license suspension, a $500 fine and a year in jail — the same as a drunken driving conviction. And the suspect can still be convicted for drunken driving if the arresting officer has enough other evidence, including the officer's own testimony about the driver's condition.

Alabama's maximum penalty for refusing a test, on the other hand, is a 45-day license suspension, and Oregon's is a 120-day suspension.

Some states are also raising the legal drinking age, and the National Safety Council says every state should.

When Michigan raised its drinking age from 18 to 21, officials say, highway deaths among young people dropped dramatically. When Arizona lowered its drinking age from 21 to 19, officials say, highway deaths among young people increased.

MADD chapters in several cities are monitoring how judges handle drunken driving cases. In St. Louis, Margaret Charleville, whose daughter died in drunken driver accident last year, said MADD will print reports before this year's judicial elections to show voters who is toughest and who is softest.

MADD and RID says judges and jurors often sympathize with people arrested for drunken driving, thinking, "It could just as easily be me."

A special state task force in Massachusetts recently recommended that the families of victims be allowed to testify when the judge considers sentencing, but some judges don't need spurring to crack down.

In Homer, Alaska, Judge James Hornaday is sentencing all drunken drivers to 15 days in jail. And in Cincinnati, Judge Clayton Shea takes away not only drivers' licenses, but auto license plates, too.

A California study says that two of every three drivers whose license are suspended for drunken driving continue to drive.

So a bill in Iowa would allow police to confiscate the driver's license on the spot. A bill in Wyoming would allow the car registration to be suspended, too. Oregon already allows police to impound the cars of repeat offenders.

But all the impounding, suspending, fining and jailing of drunken drivers cannot bring back victims — a quarter million of them in the past decade — or ease the grief of friends and families.

Listen to Edward Aramian, who says a year in jail has been the easy part of living with the death of Bruce Gibson, a pedestrian he struck and killed.

"It's something that you have to live with the rest of your life," he says from his cell. "I just don't think about myself. I think about Mr. Gibson's family.

"That's probably the hardest part of this — to know how much sadness you brought on this guy's family."

Parents Share Common Grief

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Diane Zamkoff waved her last goodbye to her son Randy two years ago, just before a truck slammed into his motorcycle. He was 20.

Mitzi Carver's daughter Debbie set out for Disneyland on Independence Day 1980 with two friends. The driver lost control of the car, and 17-year-old Debbie died.

Six years ago, Jim Burwell read his 20-year-old son's suicide note. "He jumped off the roof of a college building," Burwell says. "The best explanation is he was too sensitive, too self-critical."

Three times a month, these parents relive their tragedies — on purpose. They belong to "Compassionate Friends," a self-help organization that unites them with thousands of bereaved parents in the United States, Canada, England, Israel, Australia and New Zealand.

Outsiders might see morbidity here, but Ms. Carver, a 49-year-old department store supervisor, said she found sanity.

"When you lose a child you think you're the only one. You think you're going crazy," she explained in her suburban Simi Valley home. "Once I found the group I realized I wasn't alone. I lost my mother three weeks before my daughter died, but losing a child is like losing a part of you."

The death of a close relative is always devastating, Ms. Zamkoff agreed, "but you've been conditioned to know that at some point your parent is going to die. It's like losing the past. Losing a spouse or sister is like losing the present, but losing a child is losing the future."

Burwell said the Anglican priest who founded "Friends" in Coventry, England, was a hospital chaplain faced with two couples whose sons died the same day.

Introducing them, Father Simon Stephens "saw that as in anything, you can understand better if you have the experience," said Burwell, an insurance salesman and father of four other children.

Dealing with grief — and seeing others who have — is the point of "Friends" chapter meetings, which usually draw about 50 people. As individuals introduce themselves and their circumstances, a topic of discussion evolves. Ms. Zamkoff said occassionally formal topics are discussed or speakers visit.

Style Class Is Slated

"Poise and Personal Style for the Young" will be discussed in a three-hour continuing education class scheduled May 15 at Western Texas College.

The course is open to students 14 years of age and older and will be taught by Margaret Drum, owner of Margaret's dress shop. Fees will be $5 per person, with a minimum enrollment of 10 required to form the class.

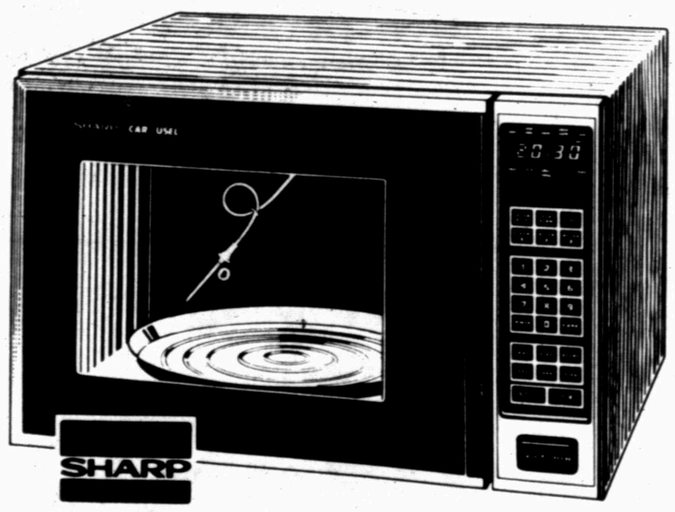

Class discussion will feature attitudes toward styles, personal grooming, and modeling techniques. The class will meet from 1:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. one day only.

Fellow Agriculturalist:

I know you have a deep interest in the future and profitibility of agriculture in West Texas, and I, as a fourth generation farmer, share in your concern. Having been raised on the farm and having been a farmer and stockman all of my adult life, I am keenly aware of the multitude of problems that face agriculture, not the least of which are low prices, high costs, and high property taxes (which must be paid whether you're making a profit or not).

I became a candidate for the state legislature because I felt that someone who knows the problems of the rural areas, and who has a direct stake in the future of West Texas should be in Austin representing this very rural district. I feel strongly that our representative should not be someone from an urban setting who has no real interest in or first hand knowledge of our problems.

There are some important priorities concerning agriculture at the state level. One, to reverse the trend of placing more and more of the burden of financing education on the local property tax. Two, to fight the coming push by urban interests to repeal the sales tax exemption for agricultural inputs. Three, to explore new avenues at the state level of enhancing prices received for our products.

I genuinely believe that I am the only candidate in this race who has the qualifications, ability, and willingness to fight for agriculture in Texas. Please join me with your support, your influence, and your vote.

Sincerely,

Steven A. Carriker

SEEDLING DISEASE COMPLEX VEGETABLE CROPS

With the cold weather we had this week, I suspect there will be some problems with seedling disease. This is a common problem in all areas of the county and is brought about by a group of soil-borne fungi.

These fungi are present in soil throughout the year but are especially damaging during a cool, wet spring. Once the condition begins to appear, there is little that can be done to correct the problem. However, there are several steps that should be taken to reduce losses from damping-off where this disease has become a problem.

"Rotation" is one of the most important steps to preventing losses from this disease. Never follow vegetables from one group with another from the same group. Vegetables from the same group have similar diseases which build up in the soil and increase losses each year. Examples of these groupings are root crop group, vine crop group, and leafy crop group, etc.

"Planting on a bed" is a method of planting which will keep the root zone of developing seedlings in a drier, more aerified soil and thus reduce losses from damping-off. Soil saturation with water has a greater tendency to have damping-off problems than soil from which water drains quickly after a rain.

"Know the soil temperature" at which the vegetable you are planting grows best and do no planting before the temperature is reached. Optimum temperature for beans and cucumbers is 86 degrees to 95 degrees F, lettuce and spinach prefer 77 degrees, but okra needs a hot soil temperature of 95 degrees.

The less time spent as seedlings, the less plants will suffer from seedling disease.

As seedlings develop into more mature plants, they also develop a resistance to organisms involved in seedling disease.

"Seed quality" is important because high quality seeds will grow out of the seedling state faster if all other factors favor seedling growth.

"Use of Vapam fungicide" will reduce losses due to seedling disease, but this practice is expensive and recommended only as a side benefit from nematode control. Captan is a fungicide that can be used on select vegetables. When using Captan, refer to the label for vegetables on which it can be used and the rate per 100 feet of row.

Damping-off is a serious problem in vegetables in this area, but losses from it can be reduced significantly by following the above steps.

Wad Of Cash Entrapment?

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A wad of cash protruding from the pocket of a derelict may be too tempting a target to resist, and therefore constitutes illegal entrapment, a state appeals court has ruled.

The 1st District Court of Appeal issued an opinion Wednesday to explain why it earlier upheld the dismissal of charges against a man who snatched a $150 from a bum who actually was a police decoy.

Chagras Wait In Jail For Ruling

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Two people charged with conspiring to assassinate U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. will spend the weekend in jail awaiting a ruling on whether their bonds totaling $2.7 million will be reduced.

A bond reduction hearing ended Friday, but a U.S. magistrate said he would not decide whether to lower Joe Chagra's $1.6 million bond or Elizabeth Chagra's $1.1 million bond until after a pre-bond investigation is completed next week.

Six witnesses testified that Chagra, 35, and his sister-in-law, Elizabeth, have been "broke" since Internal Revenue Service agents raided their El Paso homes early last year and seized $1.5 million in assets.

The defense sought to show U.S. Magistrate Robert O'Connor that the Chagras were dependable and would appear in court as ordered if they were allowed to go free.

But FBI agents testified that Elizabeth Chagra accompanied her husband, Jamiel "Jimmy" Chagra, 37, while he was a fugitive from the law in 1979.

Jimmy Chagra, an imprisoned drug trafficker, and convicted hitman Charles V. Harrelson were indicted last week for the murder of Wood and for conspiring to kill the judge.

FBI agent Ronald Iden also testified Joseph Chagra was an outside contact for Chagra's imprisoned brother, Jimmy, for conspiracies to smuggle narcotics and to have two men killed. Iden said none of the alleged conspiracies was successful.

Also next week, U.S. District Judge William S. Sessions was expected to rule on objections by five news organizations to O'Connor's closing three hours of the bond reduction hearing on Friday.

Jimmy Chagra is accused of paying Harrelson, 43, about $250,000 to kill Wood on May 29, 1979.
