HST Swings Political Axe On Train Tour

By ROBERT G. NIXON
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—President Truman arrived in Washington at 10:15 o'clock (EST) tonight after politicking his way back from a "non-political" visit to Minnesota.

The President stepped off his special train at Washington's union station and motored to Blair House for a night's rest prior to his radio speech Saturday night on behalf of the New York senatorial candidacy of former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman.

To Polish Speech

Aides said the President plans no action in the critical coal strike for his first full day at the White House since Tuesday. However, he will probably spend a large part of the day polishing his five-minute radio address for Lehman, which will be part of a half-hour Democratic program to be broadcast at 8:30 a. m. Saturday.

Mr. Truman's trip to St. Paul was tagged by the White House staff, and by the President himself, with tongue-in-cheek, as being "non-political and bi-partisan."

The White House aides also gave advance notice that the President would make no platform speeches enroute.

Speech Is Political

Both statements came out of the hopper of events as pure fiction. Mr. Truman wound up and pitched as thorough an out and out political speech at St. Paul's Civic auditorium Thursday night as he did at any time during his presidential campaign a year ago.

He charged that "reactionaries" were doing their utmost day and night to halt the country's progress and keep the salaried worker from making a decent wage.

He didn't do any name calling, but he left no doubt that he was talking about Republican party leaders when he mentioned "reactionaries."

Speaks From Train

Mr. Truman didn't wait even to his arrival in Minneapolis and St. Paul to junk the other bit of "non-political" mummery. A crowd of several hundred, the state's lieutenant governor and the state Democratic party vice chairman met him at Savanna, Ill., yesterday, and the President, beaming and pleased as in campaign days, came out on the platform and delivered an "off-the-cuff" speech.

An hour or so later he was doing the same thing at La Crosse, Wis.

Change In Party Alignment Urged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4. (INS).—Sen. Ecton (R.-Mont.), declared today that President Truman's St. Paul speech highlights the need for re-alignment of the two major political parties to "break the ring of socialism in Washington."

The Montana Republican said it may even be necessary to rename the Republican and Democratic parties to bring about the political shift. He said this might have to be done because "southern Democrats would not want to live under Republican name."

Ecton charged that the Democratic party exists as a label only and that "socialism has taken over the Democratic party."

Reactionaries Lashed

President Truman Thursday night lashed at "reactionaries to the right and left of his program." He accused "tight groups of selfish men of opposing new frontiers because they believe in the 'trickle down' system of wealth distribution." The President outlined anew a 10 point program to improve the health, educational, housing, and working lot of all the people.

Ecton, who succeeded ex-Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D.-Mont.), declared:

"Socialists have taken over the Democratic party. A lot of Democrats are going along on the false assumption that they and not the socialists are in the driver's seat. We are in a revolution today but do not face this fact.

Ecton invited northerners who

Fliers Meet At Plainview

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche Staff Writer

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 4.—A sample of West Texas' most beautiful flying weather helped welcome private fliers from all over Texas and from New Mexico and Oklahoma, who converged on Plainview for opening sessions today of a two-day annual convention of the Texas State Aviation association.

The program continues Saturday morning with outstanding leaders in the aviation field scheduled to make addresses.

Further registration Saturday is expected to raise the total attendance considerably. About 50 persons had registered late Friday.

Elderly Rancher Flies

Among the early registrants were a 69-year-old Grady, N. M., rancher and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fanning. Mr. Fanning learned to fly when he was 66 and now pilots his own planes everywhere.

He owns a Navion four-seater and a 140 Cessna.

"We sometimes use them to count cattle," he says. "Just recently we flew to Winchester, Tenn., east of Memphis to see my mother, who is 95. I've only torn up one airplane in the two years I have been flying, and that was during a takeoff."

The convention opened Friday morning with registration at Hilton hotel at 10 a.m. A luncheon followed at noon, with W. H. Bahnman, Commerce, president of the association, presiding.

Soviets Lose Test In Balkans Dispute

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 4 (AP)—The U. N. Assembly's political committee today called on two Soviet-bloc countries, Albania and Bulgaria, to stop giving help to Greek guerrillas warring against the Athens government. It also accused Bulgaria and Albania of endangering the peace of the Balkans by such help.

The committee then turned down Russian demands that the assembly call for immediate withdrawal of British and American troops form Greece and for an end to the UN special committee on the Balkans (UNSCOB).

His arrival here this morning will climax a tour of 11 Jaycee towns in his native state. The 33-year-old industrialist who started his career as a 50-cent-an-hour assembly line worker is now vice-president of the Wintroath Pump company of California.

Registration for the meeting will take place in the lobby of the Hilton from 9 a. m. until noon today.

After the keynote address, concurrent clinics will be held in the conference rooms on the hotel's mezzanine.

Trio Sought On Assault Charge

ODESSA, Nov. 4. (Special).—James Jefferson Bennett, 34-year-old Lubbock man, today was reported "improved" at a hospital here as officers pressed a search for three men who allegedly shot and stabbed him in front of a local cafe Thursday night.

Warrants charging assault with intent to murder have been issued for the trio, but no arrests had been made late Friday night, it was reported.

Anonymous Call Made

Ector County Sheriff Earnest Broughton said, however, he had received a call from an anonymous person who said he had seen one of the men charged shoot Bennett, and had seen another stab him. Several persons who were in the cafe immediately prior to the shooting have also been questioned, Broughton said.

The suspects, leaving their victim in front of the cafe, quietly disappeared after the assault. The men, possibly accompanied by another man and two women, may have left in an automobile,

Two Persons Die In Train-Truck Crash

SNYDER, Nov. 4 (Special)—Two persons were killed here tonight when their oil-field equipment hauling truck was struck by a Diesel freight engine three and one-half miles southeast of Snyder about 9 p. m.

Killed instantly was G. F. Ruff, about 34, and his wife, about 24, both of Snyder, but formerly of Junction. Ruff hauled equipment for McClatchey Bros. Trucking Contractors of Wink. He had started to San Angelo for a load of pipe.

Observers said the truck gas tank burst into flames, burning the victims slightly. The Diesel locomotive, of the Roscoe, Snyder and Pacific line, and two cars were derailed.

Acheson To Attend Big Three Meet

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Secretary of State Acheson will fly to Paris early next week for a swift conference on German and European unity problems with Foreign Ministers Bevin of Britain and Schuman of France.

The Western big three will also discuss organization of the North American-Western European defenses under the Atlantic treaty, the State department announced.

Acheson probably will leave here Monday night. He will spend two days with Bevin and Schuman and return to Washington by the end of next week.

Vishinsky Talk Slated

The probable departure date means that he will take off shortly after meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky, who is coming to Washington Monday from New York for a Soviet embassy celebration of the anniversary of the Russian revolution.

If it turns out that Vishinsky and Acheson upset predictions of their own aides and engage in more than diplomatic small talk, the timetable affords opportunity for the western foreign policy chiefs in Paris to come to grips quickly with any new East-West problems raised.

Both Russian and American informants said that the meeting of the two—arranged at Vishinsky's request—was supposed to be only a handshaking and chit-chat affair.

Plan Made Separately

Official informants agreed, however, that the plans for the Paris meeting came about independently of the Vishinsky-Acheson talk.

The initial proposal for the conference, according to well-informed diplomats, came from Bevin who has grown increasingly fearful in recent weeks that the United States, Britain and France were beginning to pull apart in dealing with the new western German state they sponsored last summer.

Center On German Problems

Early negotiations on holding the Paris meeting, therefore, centered on the problem of Germany policy. The central issue in this regard appears to be the strong view of top State department officials that the three occupation powers should review their schedules for removing war potential industrial plants from Germany and if possible scale down the list of removals.

In later negotiations for the conference, today's announcement indicated, it was agreed to broaden the program to include other questions of European and general

Murray Retains CIO Leadership

CLEVELAND, Nov. 4 (INS) — A wildly-cheering CIO today unanimously elected Philip Murray to his tenth term as president and refused to seat 10 left-wing nominees to its executive board.

The elections climaxed a week-long anti-Communist battle and left the right-wing elements in complete control of the CIO's six million members.

The labor organization then ended its 11th constitutional convention at 3:35 p.m. (CST).

Reject Communist Bid

The convention rejected outright the executive board nomination of Ben Gold, the admitted Communist who heads the 90,000 fur workers. The nominations of the representatives of the other nine left-wing unions, including Bridges, was referred to the executive committee for action tomorrow.

The fur workers delegation sought to argue the Gold nomination, but Murray throttled argument by ruling that Gold was ineligible because of his party mem-

SAN DIEGO JOLTED BY QUAKE

Wide Section Of California Hit By Window-Breaking Tremor

(By International News Service)

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 4.—A sharp earthquake, felt in varying degrees in communities from Bakersfield to the Mexican border, shook southern California today with the severest jar felt in the thickly-populated harbor city of San Diego.

Hundreds of office workers ran from downtown San Diego buildings as the shock shattered windows and stopped Western Union clocks at 2:43:30 p.m. (CST).

Although the shock in San Diego was termed the most severe since 1941, there was no panic despite the exodus of many workers from buildings, which recalled the devastating earthquake of 1933.

The shock lasted only 10 seconds and was said to have been centered somewhere in the Imperial valley. There are only a few populous areas in the valley and these reported only minor tremors.

Coastal points reported no tidal waves or other disturbances in the ocean as a result of the quake.

SHERMAN PLEDGES CO-OPERATION

Johnson Says Service Unity To Continue Despite Attacks

BY LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

FORT BENNING, Ga., Nov. 4. Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, new chief of naval operations, declared today that he will do the best he can to carry out the unification policies of Defense Secretary Johnson.

At the same time, Johnson said he hopes attacks on unification—which culminated in ouster of Admiral Louis E. Denfeld as chief of naval operations — have ended. Johnson added that the merger plan "is working and will keep on working even if the attacks haven't ended."

All the service secretaries and the joint chiefs of staff came to Fort Benning for a demonstration of new, modern infantry weapons which Air Secretary Symington called "incredible."

Asked About Policies

Sherman, who took office earlier this week, was asked whether he is in entire accord with the Johnson policies which Denfeld bitterly opposed. He replied:

"I will do the best I can to carry out the duties I have been ordered to perform."

Sherman made it clear that he will fight for adequate naval aviation. He called aviation the "core of naval offensive power" and said it wil be devloped "just as much as the budget will permit."

The admiral pointed out that he has been a naval aviator since 1922. He added:

"There's no doubt as to my feel-

Volunteer Workers To Spark Lubbock Poppy Sales Today

American Legion auxiliary members and other volunteer workers today will place more than 10,000 memorial poppies on sale here in their annual drive to raise funds for veteran rehabilitation and child welfare in the city.

And, while today is officially Poppy Day, the Legion auxiliary started their annual drive Friday when they toured the Veterans Administration building, which is closed on Saturdays, and sold approximately $78 of the scarlet paper blooms.

Director Buys Poppy

The first poppy Friday was sold to Bob Sisson, regional director of the VA, for $5.

Auxiliary members reminded Lubbockites Friday that poppies are not being sold for any set price, and urged each person to contribute as much as possible.

Approximately 25 American Legion auxiliary members are to take part in today's poppy sales on downtown streets. About 65 high school girls, members of the Hi-Teen and Camp Fire Girls' groups at Lubbock High school, have

Talks Set In Washington

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 — Federal Mediator Cyrus S. Ching held a two-hour parley with John L. Lewis today and then called southern mine owners to meet in Washington on Monday in a drive to end the 47-day-old coal strike.

Coal operators from other sections of the country will be called later, Ching said.

In the steel strike, prospects for an early settlement remained uncertain.

Details Not Revealed

Both Lewis and Ching were silent on details of their long talk behind closed doors at the Statler hotel.

Lewis stalked from the hotel with a half-smoked cigar between his fingers, and when the newsmen flocked around him he said:

"I have nothing to say."

Ching would not comment on Lewis' reaction to his call for section-by-section conferences with the operators. He said he and Lewis "discussed all the angles."

To Explore Position

The federal mediation chief said that in his talk with the operators "we will explore their position, following the same tactics we did in steel, talking to various groups and companies."

"Then we'll go on from there," Ching said. "We'll be talking and pursuing this thing as long as there is any use."

These were the tactics Ching used in guiding the steel negotiations in New York. But when an agreement finally was reached between the CIO's United Steelworkers and Bethlehem Steel, CIO President Philip Murray contended it was achieved without government aid.

For Operators Only

Ching made it clear that neither Lewis nor any union officials will take part in the talks with coal operators, at least in the early stages. He indicated he would keep in touch with Lewis by telephone in case a break develops.

Meanwhile, President Truman

Officers Seize Liquor In Raid

A quantity of whisky, beer and gin valued at an estimated $700 was seized by officials of the Liquor Control board in a raid Friday afternoon at a house six miles south of the city.

Lewis C. Bramlett, charged with two separate counts of liquor law violations as a result of the seizure, a short time later pleaded guilty of the charges and was fined $200 and costs on each count, the county attorney's office announced.

Officers Follow Car

Bramlett, whose car had been followed for some distance by officers, was arrested as he drove the vehicle into the garage at his home on the old Tokio highway.

Liquor seized included 141 four-fifths quarts and 18 pints of whisky, and two quarts of gin. Five cases of beer also were reported seized.

Officials said 71 bottles of whisky were found in the car, the remainder in the house where it was concealed in a special compartment beneath the floor of the structure.

The whisky was wrapped in packages containing three bottles each.

Warm Temperatures Continue In Area

Continued warm readings during the afternoon and cool nights was the prospect for the South Plains for the weekend, the Weatherman said last night.

The near perfect fall weather which has held sway the past few days was due for at least two more days' run, the Weatherman said with the mercury sarting off with a low in the high thirties this morning, reaching the high seventies this afternoon. Similar conditions were foreseen for Sunday.

Friday's low was 35, the high 79. The Panhandle and South Plains meanwhile boasted of warmer weather than the coast as cool air from Sunday's cold front hung over the area, the Associated Press said.

TRADE WITH RED CHINA HIT

New Curbs Placed On Exports To Block Shipment To Russia

By CHARLES MOLONY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 — The government clamped new controls today on strategic U. S. goods to keep them from slipping into Russia via Communist China—or practically any other route.

To prevent reshipment to the Soviet bloc in Europe already banned from getting direct shipments of strategic goods from this country—it decreed:

A license must be obtained from the Commerce department to ship to anywhere in the world except Canada any of a long list of goods classed as "highly important to the national security."

That gives the agency a chance to "screen" all proposed strategic goods shipments and prevent them if it suspects the goods will be forwarded to Russian areas.

It is now in position for the first time to keep strategic industrial as well as outright military goods from the Chinese Communists, whether or not there is ground for suspecting reshipment to Russia is intended.

The rigid license control precautions against re-shipment had applied only to exports to Europe and adjacent areas such as the System For Payment Of Vet Insurance Dividends Announced; Serial Numbers To Determine Order

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 — The lower the final three digits of his serial number, the sooner a veteran will get his National Service Life insurance special refund.

The order in which checks will be mailed, beginning in January, was announced today by the Veterans Administration.

Under the procedure, veterans whose serial numbers end with 000, 001, 002 003, 004, 005, 006, 007, 008 and 009 will be in the first group mailed checks.

In the second group are veterans whose serial numbers end with 010 through 019. Next come those with serial numbers ending 020 through 029.

This procedure continues until the final group—990 through 999—is reached.

Approximately 16 million veterans are entitled to repayments totaling $2,800,000,000. Checks will range from a low of 90 cents to a high of $528, depending upon the amount of insurance a veteran carried and the length of time he paid premiums.

So far, nearly 13,500,000 veterans have applied for refunds. Applications are coming in at the rate of about 10,000 a day. There is no deadline for filing. Approximately 10 million checks are expected to go out in the first 10 weeks after payments begin.

Some Delay Possible

Some applicants will miss early payments even if their serial numbers end in low figures. This is due, VA said, to the fact that additional information must be obtained from them. These applications will be handled separately.

In the case of a veteran who had more than one serial number while in service, the VA will go by the number which appears on his insurance.

Then there are some Navy vet-

India To Follow 'Gandhian Way'

MADISON, Nov. 4 (INS) — Pandit Nehru, prime minister of India, vowed today that his nation will pursue the "Gandhian way" of non-violence and passive resistance in its foreign policies.

The Indian statesman made his promise before a jam-packed audience at the University of Wisconsin as he wound up his "good will" tour of the United States.

He told the audience:

Own Affairs Dominant

"At present we are not interested in world affairs. We are so interested in putting our own house in order that we don't want to meddle in other people's houses."

Nehru emphasized quickly that this did not mean India was adopting an isolationist attitude. He declared:

"Today a nation can't be indifferent. It has either got to be friendly or hostile. The period of indifference has passed away."

Sounding the keynote of his speech—the necessity of India following the philosophy of Gandhi—the unassuming prime minister said:

"During 30 years our minds under Gandhi have been conditioned to a certain type of action. It conditions our mind today and we look upon foreign affairs with that conditioned mind.

"We would become ineffective if we tried to function any other way than a Gandhian way."

Nehru blamed much of the world's trouble on the fact that the minds of men are incapable of keeping up with scientific and technological changes.

He told the audience that he came to America as a symbol of the new India and that he believed his visit would serve to bring the two countries together.

Nehru and his party left Madison at 1 p. m. (EST) by private plane for New York.

Birthday cake and other refreshments were served to Mesdames Gene Damron, Charley Ehring, Joe McGowen, Dan Christopher, Charley Strain, Leo Saffell, Paul Wendlandt and a child, Shirley Joe McGowen.

To make a delicious salad rub a salad bowl with a cut clove of garlic; add a quarter teaspoon of salt, a half teaspoon of sugar, a half teaspoon of dry mustard, and a tablespoon or two of finely grated onion. Mix well. Now add two tablespoons of cider vinegar and about a third cup of salad oil, and mix again. Break a head of lettuce and the sprays from a bunch of watercress into the bowl, toss lightly, and serve.

Services Set Today For Wreck Victim

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 4 (Special) — Funeral services for Ernest B. Tunnell, 47, a land appraiser for the Federal Land bank, who was killed Thursday in a two-car collision four miles west of Hale Center, will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Plainview First Methodist church.

Rev. W. E. Peterson, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in Quitaque cemetery under direction of the Lemmons Funeral home.

Mrs. Belva Kingery, 56, who lives west of here, was reported "slightly improved but still in a serious condition" at Hale County Co-operative hospital in Hale Center from critical head and chest injuries received in the collision.

Her daughter, Mrs. W. M. Armstrong, 32, and Mrs. Armstrong's 15-month-old son, Gary, were slightly injured in the crash.

Highway patrolmen said a 1949 Lincoln coupe driven by Mrs. Armstrong was struck in the right side by a 1949 Chevrolet coach driven by Tunnell, apparently as Mrs. Armstrong started to cross the Cotton Center road at an intersection.

Tunnell had moved to Plainview from Quitaque. His wife operates a gift shop in the Grenada theater building here.

Mother To Receive Son's Award Today

Formal presentation of the Distinguished Flying cross to Mrs. Owen Berry of 2217 Seventh street in behalf of her son, the late 1st. Lt. Rex Berry, will be made in a formal ceremony at 8 a.m. today at Reese Air Force base.

Col. George W. Pardy, commanding officer of the base, will make the award to Mrs. Berry following a review. Also present will be Mr. Berry and two of their daughters, Mrs. Hazel Riebold and Miss Hallie Fay Berry, both of Lubbock.

Lt. Berry, a resident of Lubbock for five years before the war, was killed June 13, 1943, when his plane and another collided and fell into the sea while on a mission in the Mediterranean theater. No survivors from either plane were found.

Lineman Burned Critically By Contact With 65,000-Volt Line

FORT WORTH, Nov. 4. (U.P.)—Jack E. Little, of Hillsboro, was burned critically today when he came in contact with a 65,000-volt power line, atop a tower four miles south of Alvarado.

Little, a lineman for the Texas Power and Light company, was taken from the tower after a fellow lineman—G. B. Butler, also Hillsboro—climbed up and placed a ground clamp on the wire. A third Hillsboro lineman, A. B. Reed, helped lower Little to the ground.

Substantial Backing Found For HST's Health Plan In New York

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
(American Institute Of Public Opinion)

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 4. — An interesting political paradox involving the socialized medicine issue has arisen in the New York Senatorial race, an election which President Truman has said he regards as a test of the administration's "Fair Deal" program.

The background to this political oddity is this: Herbert H. Lehman, the Democratic candidate, has come out against the Truman Administration's compulsory health insurance bill, proposing instead Federal aid for a voluntary program. This is the one major departure in Lehman's platform from the Truman Fair Deal line. Presumably the Lehman forces saw greater voter appeal in taking this step than endorsing the administration's highly controversial health measure.

But here is the odd part of the situation: it turns out that people who express a preference for Lehman are overwhelmingly in FAVOR of the Truman compulsory health program.

This is shown in interviews conducted with a cross-section of New York State's population by representatives of the American Institute of Public Opinion. Because of the nationwide significance of the New York race, which has been fought on national issues and which many observers have hailed as a curtain-raiser for 1950, the Institute is not only sounding sentiment on the candidates but also on some of the issues involved.

The studies show the following division of opinion on compulsory health insurance among voters preferring the Republican candidate, John Foster Dulles, who has come out strongly against the administration's health plan:

"Do you think the U. S. Congress should or should not pass the government's compulsory health insurance program which would require wage (salary) deductions from all employed persons to provide medical and hospital care for them and their families?"

	Should	Should Not	No Opin.
Total Sample	51%	37%	12%
Prefer Lehman	62	27	11
Prefer Dulles	32	57	11
Not registered or not planning to vote	53	31	16

In the above table, the "Prefer Lehman" group is composed of persons who say they are definitely planning to vote for him or are "leaning" in that direction. The "Prefer Dulles" group is classified on a comparable basis.

Students of government will see in the above results fresh reason for caution in interpreting election results as a "mandate" for action on specific measures.

A victory for either Lehman, who refused to endorse the administration measure, or for Dulles, who opposed it, would not mean that New York State citizens are against the compulsory plan.

National Sentiment Tested

Last April, the views of the nation as a whole were tested on the same question that was put to New York State voters.

This survey showed the country much less in favor of the Truman plan at that time than New York's voters are today.

How Race Stands

Throughout New York State, interviewers for the Institute have been at work all week questioning voters as to how they plan to vote in next Tuesday's Senatorial election.

Earlier surveys, covering the period Oct. 17-25, showed:

Ten Texas Counties Owe State For Drouth Relief In 1918-19

AUSTIN, Nov. 4. (AP)—State Auditor C. H. Cavness suggested today that the legislature either collect or cancel $70,282 in debts owed the state by 10 counties.

The suggestion was in an official audit of the state treasury department for the fiscal year ended Aug. 31.

In 1918 and 1919 the legislature loaned from the general revenue fund various sums totaling $905,200 to various counties for drouth relief.

Most of the counties repaid the advances in full. Eight counties, however, failed to complete payments and two others repaid nothing, his report showed.

The two counties making no payment were shown as Ochiltree, owing $30,000, and Parmer, owing $5,000.

Unpaid balances of other counties were listed as Brown, $10,670; Fisher, $1,675; Kent, $12,400; Kerr, $152; Lamb, $3,500; San Patricio, $453; Scurry $5,481; and Stonewall $950.

Christian Practices Urged For Business

"God First, Family Second, Shoes Third" is the motto of a multi-million dollar shoe company in the United States and a similar motto would be good for all business men, Reuel Lemmons told men of Churches of Christ at a Friday luncheon in Hotel Lubbock.

Church of Christ ministers from approximately 20 towns attended the luncheon.

Minister Lemmons, who is minister of the Central Church of Christ in Cleburne, spoke on "The Christian Business Man's Opportunity to Serve His Community." He said of he were living his life again he would like to be a Christian business man and teach and preach while making his living.

A quartet composed of Horace Coffman, Marion Phillips, James Holmes and Harry Whitlow sang.

Mr. Lemmons, who is conducting the fall meeting at Broadway Church of Christ, will preach on "Christianity Is Practical" at 10 a.m. today and on "Christianity Works in Everyday Life" at 7:30 p.m. today. He spoke on "A Plea for New Testament Christianity" Friday night. He will deliver final sermons of the meeting at 8:30 a.m., 10:45 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

A total of 221 persons attended the Friday morning service and approximately 800 attended Thursday night.

Army Orders Shifting Of Rocket Project From Texas To Alabama

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (U.P.)—The Army today ordered immediate transfer of a rocket development project employing more than 100 German scientists from Fort Bliss, Tex., to Huntsville, Ala.

The Army said it hopes to save about $4,500,000 by the move. The rocket group now housed in temporary quarters at Fort Bliss will be installed in permanent buildings at the Huntsville arsenal.

If the project, which is being expanded, had been left at Fort Bliss, the Army said, it would have been necessary to build new permanent headquarters. By shifting it to Huntsville, existing buildings can be used.

The German rocket experts were brought to this country after the war. All of them, plus 500 military personnel working in the project at Fort Bliss, will be moved to Huntsville.

The Fort Bliss group also included 120 civilians and 180 contractor employes. Of these 65 of the civilians and all the contractor employes will go to Huntsville, with an additional 235 civilians, mostly clerks, will be hired.

More Vets Taking Courses In Agriculture, VA Survey Shows

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4. (U.P.)—A Veterans Administration survey indicated today that the number of veterans taking agricultural training is steadily increasing.

The survey said the number of ex-GI's taking agricultural training increased last year "and the averages apply generally today."

The VA conducted a complete survey of veterans taking training courses under the GI bill of rights as of Nov. 30, 1948. It came up with that conclusion on agricultural training, among others.

"The proportion of veterans enrolled in agriculture increased from 11.1 percent in November, 1947, to 12.9 percent in April, 1948, and 15.6 percent in November, 1948," the survey showed.

The giraffe, attaining a height of 18 feet, is the tallest living animal.

City Police Officers To Attend Training Course In Austin

Three sergeants of the Lubbock Police department, Harold McInroe, J. T. Alley, jr., and L. D. Blakney, will attend a Nov. 14-19 Traffic Officers Training course at Camp Mabry, Austin.

Chief of police Lewis Kittrell said they would pass on to patrolmen working with them whatever they found of significance.

Later, a police detective, L. W. Forrester, will be sent to a Nov. 28 to Dec. 3 School for Criminal Investigators there. Kittrell said there was a possibility that another detective also could go.

The following courses will be offered at the traffic training course: Police courtesy, scientific aids to the traffic officer, law review, public relations, safety education, local traffic records, accident investigation, physical laws of the automobile, traffic law enforcement, inventory of automobile thefts, control of drivers through driver licensing, revocation and suspension of driver licenses, police cooperation, and public safety education.

Rev. David L. Zacharias, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Friday reviewed a recent trip to Arizona at an American Business club luncheon meeting in the Hilton hotel.

He said he was greatly inspired by several talks he heard at a seminar for exchange students sponsored by the Quakers at Old Creek Canyon, south of Flagstaff.

George Dale, president, said there will be no meeting held next Friday because of two important events—"the football game at Odessa and Armistice Day."

Rev. B. Watkins gave the invocation.

Washington Meeting Of Tech Exes Is Conducted Friday

Over 100 exes of Texas Tech were to meet in the Washington hotel at Washington, D. C., Friday night for a reception and buffet supper, according to D. M. McElroy, executive secretary of the Ex-Students' association.

A total of 110 exes now living in and around Washington were invited to the dinner, McElroy said, and all those were asked to bring any other exes they knew. Well over 200 alumni and their escorts were expected to attend the reception.

The dinner was also to see the establishment of an ex-students chapter in the capitol city. The installation of that chapter, plus another to be set up next week in Roswell, N. M., and one in Hereford will bring the total number of chapters to 21, the secretary said.

Ramrodding the Washington get-together were Dorothy Rylander, secretary to Rep. George Mahon, John R. Cummings, a member of the Washington City Board of development, Lt. Col. Marcus Owens of the U. S. Army, and Bill Jackson, currently in Sen. Lyndon Johnson's office. All are ex-students of Tech.

Odessa Rallies To Defeat Inspired Tornadoes, 32 To 14

Lamesa Outplays, Outscores Visitors For Two Quarters

By CHOC HUTCHESON
Avalanche Sports Writer

TORNADO STADIUM, Lamesa, Nov. 4—The impossible almost happened here today—almost, but not quite.

For two full quarters, Lamesa's inspired Golden Tornadoes outplayed, outscrapped and outscored the highly-heralded Odessa Bronchos.

But then, to the dismay of a crowd of 3,000 partisans, the Tornadoes folded in the face of a torrid second-half Odessa onslaught that melted a 14-0 Lamesa lead and gave the Bronchos a 32-14 triumph.

Lamesa Dominates Play

Through those first two periods, the stunned spectators could hardly believe what they saw happening in this District 3-AA grid clash. The crippled Tornadoes, losers to Lubbock by 41-14 last week and four-touchdown underdogs going into this fray, completely dominated play.

At the midway intermission, the Lamesans held a 14-0 lead, and there was nothing freakish about it. They had made seven first downs to only two for the Broncs, and had never let the red-shirted visitors beyond the 50-yard line.

But in the fateful second half, the Bronchos—spurred by a half-time "dressing down" by Coach Joe Coleman—came out snorting, knocked over the corral gate, and were off on a scoring stampede.

Once Odessa got started, there was little doubt as to the eventual outcome. It was just a matter of time, and the clock wasn't fast enough to save the Tornadoes, as Broncho superiority in manpower began to take its toll.

By the close of the third quarter, Lamesa's margin had dwindled to 14-13, and in the final stanza the Broncs turned the affair into a near-rout.

On Top In 3-AA

The triumph was the second in conference play for Coleman's Cayuses, and left them—temporarily, at least—in possession of top spot in the 3-AA standings. As matters now stand, the district race boils down to next Friday's Odessa-Lubbock classic at Odessa. The winner of that one is almost certain to go on to the title and into the state schoolboy playoffs.

Today's first quarter was scoreless, with Lamesa controlling the ball through most of the first 12 minutes—thanks largely to two recoveries of Broncho fumbles by Tornado Center Bill Hart.

Hart's second recovery, late in the period, set up the first Tornado touchdown. Starting from the Odessa 41, Lamesa moved to a first down on the 25 on Delbert Dickenson's end sweep and a pass from Ronald Chapman to T. J. Womack. After a net loss of four yards on two ground plays, the Tornadoes decided to pass. Chapman faded deep while looking for a receiver, but spotted a gaping hole in the scattered Odessa defense and sprinted over left tackle, cut sharply to his right and raced across the goal standing up for the score. Lattimore then split the uprights with the extra-point placement and it was Lamesa 7, Odessa 0.

Fans See Plenty Of Action

Five minutes later, Lamesa electrified the crowd by punching over its second tally. Dick Echols started the drive with a spectacular 47-yard punt return to the Broncho 34. Beautiful blocking, particularly by Jamie Pearson, helped Echols shake loose on the gallop. Two running plays failed to gain, but Chapman punctured the leaky Odessa pass defense with a toss to Womack that carried to the 26. Lattimore then hammered over right tackle to the 22 and a first down.

A run and a pass netted nothing, but Bobby Hawkins revived the drive with a 20-yard heave to Womack, who made a sensational "sitting" catch on the two-yard line.

Backed to the wall, the Broncs put up a terrific goal-line stand, but on fourth down, Hawkins dived over right tackle for the counter. Again Lattimore converted, and it was 14-0.

It stood that way at the halfway mark, as hope for an upset ran high through the strongly pro-Lamesa throng.

Odessa Takes Charge

But a Tornado triumph just wasn't meant to be.

Odessa took charge from the beginning in the second half. Five plays after receiving the kickoff, the Bronchos smashed to a touchdown. Howard Dye capped the 53-yard scoring surge by driving through a wide hole at left tackle for the final step. Dalton Hughes hit the conversion, leaving the count at 14-7.

Eleven plays later, Odessa had another touchdown. This one came on an odd play in which Bobby Jackson, smothered at the line of scrimmage on an attempted right end sweep, pitched an unscheduled lateral to T. W. Harvey. The surprised Harvey gathered in the ball and sped 31 yards untouched to score. Hughes, however, sliced the extra-point try to the right and Lamesa still held a 14-13 edge.

The Bronchos went out front for keeps, however, on the fifth play of the final period, as Harvey broke through the middle, twisted out of the grasp of two would-be tacklers and sped 29 yards to the double-stripe.

The next Odessa marker came after Tommy Salmon's sparkling 31-yard punt runback to Lamesa's 15. From there, Dye and Salmon smashed down to the two, then Harvey knifed across.

Within two plays, the Bronchos racked up another six-pointer. Lamesa's Lattimore brought the ensuing kickoff out of the end zone to his two-yard line, and Odessa drew a 15-yard penalty for roughing Lattimore on the play. On the first play from scrimmage, Carl Beard raced into the left flat to intercept a Hawkins pass

Tired Lamesa Had Crucial Tilt Almost Within Their Grasp

By AL WILLIAMS
Avalanche Sports Writer

LAMESA, Nov. 4.—Everything was quiet in the Lamesa dressing room following Friday's 32-14 loss to Odessa's Bronchos.

The only sounds for some minutes were the metallic clicks of cleats on the concrete floor, as the Golden Tornado players dropped their shoes wearily, and the rubbing together of the equipment as uniforms were taken off.

There wasn't much to say, and no one felt like saying it. For what can be said when you have victory in your grasp and then see it taken away?

Players Were Tired

All the Lamesa players who had seen action were tired. You could see in their faces that they had been beaten by a powerful opponent, one that had stumbled during the first half and suddenly found itself in the third quarter and rushed on to win going away.

Without seeming to alibi, Line Coach O. W. Follis remarked that it was Odessa's superior reserve strength that had turned the tide in the final two quarters. "It is getting so a coach can't win anymore with just one team. You have to have two or three teams in a rough game," he added.

Can Win—Maybe

Asked how Odessa and Lubbock teams stacked up, Follis said he thought that Lubbock had the better team and could beat the Bronchos easily if the Westerners went on the field determined to do so, having more polish and deception.

Delbert Dickenson, who played a large part of the Odessa game, said that his ankle, injured against the Westerners, did not bother him in today's game, and that he did not think the Bronchos had such a good team.

Fullback Larry Lattimore had this to say: "If Odessa doesn't warm up against Lubbock any faster than they did against us, then the Westerners will beat them . . ."

Center Bill Hart and Tackle Robert Adair both commented they thought that Lubbock had the better team and would probably win the district, as did End Jerry Phillips, who does Lamesa's punting.

All the players were downhearted, feeling that they had let Coach Bob Harrell down the last half. Harrell seemed to have a lot on his mind, stopping to talk with several persons before leaving the field, not entering the dressing room until most of the team members were in the shower.

For the coaches and squad, the game was a hard one to lose, but there was somewhat of a moral victory overshadowing the defeat. Lamesa had been slated to take it on the chin and be defeated handily. But instead of bowing out as the script read, the Tornadoes took the fight to the bigger and more powerful Bronchos, hitting hard and giving them a terrific battle until experience and reserves tilted the scales in favor of Odessa in the final quarter.

Odessa apparently had Lubbock on its mind that first half—or something. Anyway, the Bronchos played as though they weren't even in the game, and they weren't. However, Lubbock's Westerners, watching from the stands, were given a good exhibition of what they will face next Friday in Odessa as the Bronchos came back with a powerful running and tackling attack to swamp the Lamesans the final two periods.

The newly born oyster or larvae is so small it can hardly be seen by the naked human eye.

WHOA, THERE, MR. WOMACK — T. J. Womack (90), pass-snagging Lamesa end, is sandwiched between two Odessa tacklers after taking a 12-yard pass from Ronald Chapman in the second quarter of Friday's Lamesa-Odessa game at Lamesa. The play was good for a first down on Odessa's 26 and aided in Lamesa's first touchdown drive. At the right, racing to make a downfield block, is Lamesa's Delbert Dickinson (95). The Broncho in the foreground is Halfback Jim Gerron.

BRONCHOS BEGIN TO ROLL — Howard Dye (27), stocky Odessa fullback, drives through a big hole at left tackle for the Bronchos' first touchdown in the third quarter. This counter launched a scoring parade which saw the Broncs tally five times in the second half as they overcame an early Lamesa lead to win, 32-14. Driving toward Dye, but too late to make a touchdown-saving tackle, is Lamesa Fullback Larry Lattimore (76). (Staff Photos by Bill Hams.)

Littlefield Defeats Sudan Gridders On Penetrations

By EMMETT SHOCKLEY
Avalanche Sports Writer

SUDAN, Nov. 4—An underdog swarm of Hornets from Sudan lost a 7-7 heartbreaker on penetrations to a heavier Littlefield eleven here tonight before a crowd estimated at 4,500.

Littlefield, by dint of penetrations in the first and fourth quarters, won the 4-A North Conference game, three penetrations to one for Sudan.

Outweighed 14 pounds per man, the Hornets held the Wildcats to a scoreless tie at the half. But, with powerful drives through the line on handoffs from Quarterback Don Crossley, Fullback Tommy Bailes and Tailback Frank Gage spearheaded a 61-yard drive for a score after receiving the opening kickoff of the second half. Gage scored the point on an end run.

Sherrill Connects

Then, with only a minute to play, Sudan took possession of the ball on the Littlefield 30, after a poor Littlefield kick rolled dead at that point. The Littlefield line threw the Sudan offense for a loss of three yards in three downs, but then tailback Tommy Sherrill connected with Wingback Clifford Johnston for a touchdown. Johnston gathered in the throw on the five, and went over dragging a would-be Littlefield tackler.

Before the game, Sudan Coach Francis M. Smith was presented with a 1950 four-door Buick sedan from F. O. Masten, Sudan farm leader, for the excellent work he has done in coaching the team.

Masten, who made a large contribution for the erection of the stadium at Sudan, spoke briefly on how Smith had turned down several offers from larger schools to stay with the Sudan team as coach.

Under his tutelage, which began in 1945, the Hornets have won 25 and lost 12 and took second place in the district for three years. He has done all this with a team from a high school with less than 200 enrollment, a school that should be playing in Class B leagues, but prefers to play in Class A.

This year, Sudan was undefeated in conference play, and was tied with Littlefield for the lead until tonight.

Littlefield's first penetration came on a poor Sudan punt. Wildcat end John Edwards caught the punt on a bounce, and ran it back to the Sudan 11.

The first half saw only four first downs by either team, but Littlefield broke loose in the second half to end with a total of 14 to Sudan's five.

The Wildcats piled up 241 yards rushing, with only 92 yards coming in the first half. The Hornets gained 48 yards rushing in the first half and only 23 in the second, but completed four passes during the game for a total of 52 yards through the air to eight for the Wildcats.

Outstanding backs on the offense were Sherrill for the Hornets and Gage for the Wildcats. Littlefield linemen who turned in outstanding defensive performances during the night were Guard Jim Fowler and ends Edwards and Floyd Goff.

The entire Sudan line played a bangup defensive game, especially in the first half. Most effective in stopping the hard-driving Littlefield backs were End Don Whitmire, Guard Ballard Montgomery and Center Jimmy Graves.

Scoring by Littlefield—Gage (two-yard plunge in 3Q). Conversion: Gage (end run).

Scoring by Sudan—Johnston (pass from Sherrill). Conversion: Sherrill (placement).

Littlefield starters—Floyd Goff, re; John Fowler, rt; Floyd Pinkerton, rg; Dickie Hopping, c; Jim Fowler, lg; Jerry Cotter, lt; John Edwards, le; Donald Crossley, qb; Tommy Bailes, fb; Frank Gage, tb; Steven Brock, bb.

Crosbyton Drops Post Squad, 20-13

POST, Nov. 4 (Special) — The Crosbyton Chiefs squeezed out a narrow 20-13 victory over the Post Antelopes in a non-conference tilt here tonight before an estimated 2,500 spectators.

Crosbyton is in District 3-A and Post is in District 4-A South.

The Chiefs forged ahead early in the first quarter with a touchdown when Arnold Ratheal went over center. L. Hargis failed to make the extra point.

In the second period, the Chiefs notched their second touchdown when Hargis went over left tackle for eight yards. He then kicked the extra point.

The Antelopes came through with a touchdown when Ronald Joe Babb, left half, went over right tackle for about 26 yards. Jack Kirkpatrick made the extra point.

In the third canto, Post's Kirkpatrick scored when he went over from the one-yard line, but the kick for extra point failed.

In the fourth quarter, Crosbyton scored for the third time as Ratheal went over right tackle for one yard and Hargis made the extra point.

Coach Francis Bingham's Antelopes scrapped gamely, but Coach Fred Cunningham's Chiefs took and kept a slight edge on the offensive play through most of the contest.

Spur Defeats Antelopes, 19-6

By KENNETH MAY
Avalanche Sports Writer

ABERNATHY, Nov. 4—Battling to keep their first-place tie with Floydada in the District 3-A title chase, the Spur Bulldogs broke loose in the last three minutes of the first half tonight to get their first score and go on to a 19-6 shellacking of the Abernathy Antelopes.

Holding the Bulldogs scoreless until time was running out in the initial periods, Abernathy played heads-up football all the way. Their lone tally came mid-way of the fourth quarter after a Spur fumble on the Spur 37.

Sparked by Right Half Clyde Blair and Fullback Dean Watson, the Bulldogs capitalized on an exchange of fumbles deep in Antelope territory to drive across their first score. Watson carried the last five yards in two tries and Quarterback Melvin Lindsey's try for extra point was fumbled. Score at halftime was 6-0.

On the first play from scrimmage in the third quarter Abernathy's left half, Jimmy Miller, scooted down the sidelines from his own 23 to the Bulldog 43 in what looked like an Antelope come-back. Coach Sam Hawkes' visiting eleven quickly squelched the drive, however, as Back Lancy Ballard intercepted an Abernathy pass to set the stage for a Spur drive to the Antelope 25.

Unable to get past the Bulldog line, the host team could do nothing but dig in as Spur took the punt and began a short 30-yard drive to paydirt on two first downs. Joe King carried the last nine yards and Lindsey's try for extra point was again no good.

Determined to "do or die," the Antelopes got their chance minutes later on a Spur fumble. On the next play Quarterback Don Snod-

Floydada Outplays Tulia, 7-6, In District 3-A Loop Tussle

FLOYDADA, Nov. 4. (Special)—Floydada edged Tulia, 7-6, here tonight before 2,000 fans in an exciting District 3-A contest to enable Floydada to stay in a tie with Spur for the district lead.

The game was nip-and-tuck all night, with Tulia's Hornets making seven first downs and 145 yards to 10 first downs and 150 yards for the Whirlwinds.

Floydada scored in the second quarter when Bob Finley, injured since the Ralls game, ran 17 yards around left end for the touchdown. Aubrey Guthrie plunged for the point which proved to be the margin of victory.

Wandie Hutson crossed into paydirt for the Hornets on a two-yard drive, and W. T. Simmons' attempted run for conversion was short.

A fumbled punt by Floydada on the 10-yard line and Tulia recovery put the Whirlwinds in trouble early in the last quarter, but the ball went over on downs and Tulia took over on the 30-yard line following a Floydada kick, driving for a score from that point.

L. F. Gresham was the winning coach and Roger Smith the loser for Tulia.

Best defensive player for Tulia was Charles Thomas, and Wandie Hutson carried most of the offensive load.

Co-Captain Junior Perry and Aubrey Guthrie were outstanding for the winners.

Farwell Trims Anton, 26-19, In District 3-B Conference Game

ANTON, Nov. 4. (Special) — Farwell trimmed Anton, 26-19, here tonight in a District 3-B conference game before a crowd of approximately 200 fans.

The Farwell team scored two touchdowns and an extra point in each of the first two quarters.

Coach A. D. Shores' Anton squad scored in the first, third and last quarters, making one successful conversion.

Hale Center Is Rapped, 33 To 12

DIMMITT, Nov. 4 (Special) — The Dimmitt Bobcats kept second place in District 3-B race here tonight by rapping the Hale Center Owls, 33-12.

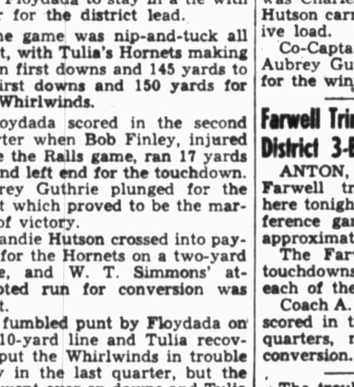

Scoring in every quarter, the Bobcats gave the visitors little chance as Backs Douglas Dennis, Billy Hodges and Everett Wilkinson divided the honors. Coach J. W. Blaine's charges racked up 16 first downs while holding the Owls to six.

Hale Center scored in the second and fourth quarters, with Jack Dyer doing the honors the first time and Lee Jones carrying for the second tally. Both tries for extra point failed.

The Bobcats scored first when Wilkinson lugged the pigskin across the double stripe during the first period. Gene Easley converted the extra point on a run through the line. Hodges scored the second tally before halftime and came back to carry for the third score during the third period. This time Dennis ran across the extra point.

Wilkinson and Hodges carried for scores in the fourth period and Dennis caught a pass from Dale Maxwell for the extra point on the latter.

Jerry Johnson, Owl quarterback, was outstanding in the Hale Center attack, with Dwaine Smith, right tackle, taking line honors for Coach Ralph Huntington's eleven. David Behrends and Charles Thompson, right tackle and guard respectively for the Bobcats were outstanding on the defense for Dimmitt.

Tech And Texas Western Collide Tonight

16,000 Homecoming Fans May See Crucial Border Conference Tilt

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

EL PASO, Nov. 4—Texas Tech and Texas Western, two teams with better than average ground offensives, but lacking an aerial attack, collide here Saturday night at 8:15 (9:15 CST) in a crucial Border Conference game before a Homecoming crowd that probably will number 16,000.

Neither team is at full strength for the game. Both have injuries to key players, but the Red Raiders from Lubbock, with deeper replacements, figure to win the game by a couple of touchdowns. The Orediggers are not dismayed at the odds and figure on evening the score with the Raiders, who humiliated them last year 46-6 for the only defeat on their season's record.

The Raiders, 40-strong, rolled into this Border city this afternoon and went directly to Kidd Field for a light workout with pads. They are staying at the Hilton hotel tonight and tomorrow night.

The weather forecast for tomorrow's crucial clash was clear skies, but cool, with topcoats in demand.

The Miners have rolled over six of their seven foes, losing only to Hardin-Simmons, which administered a 33-14 pasting last week. In the Western victory column are victories over Brigham Young, John Carroll, Hawaii, West Texas State college, Arizona and New Mexico.

Tech Has Won Four

Tech has beaten four teams, while losing to the same number. They hold wins over Abilene Christian, West Texas State college, Tulsa and Arizona. Losses, all to Southwest Conference elevens, have been to Texas, Texas A & M, Baylor and Rice.

Actually, comparative scores give an edge to the Miners. They beat West Texas State 34-7, while the Raiders could get only a 35-19 victory. The Miners beat Arizona 28-0, while the Wildcats scored on Tech in losing a 27-7 game.

Probably missing tomorrow night's game for the Orange-clad crew will be Quarterback Jim Bowden, Guards Lee Fogle and Herman Foster, Fullback Cordell McCraw and H. L. "Sonny" Holderman, defensive star and punter.

Tech also has a large injured list including Guard Milburn Haydon, due for limited action; Tackle Doug McSwane, also seen as available only in limited amounts; Ends Jack Davis and Dick Pirtle, both of whom have weak ankles that have been sprained; and Halfback Ike Stuver of Ysleta. Quarterback Milton Rathbone and Halfback Walter Maloney were left at home.

While the hospital list is impressive, the able-bodied players are just as impressive. The Raiders, on the basis of their play this year, have no stars. They have several backs who can run and they have a host of linemen to plug gaps and open holes.

The Miners do have outstanding players, such as Pug Gabrel, the leading ground gainer in the Border conference and one of the top ranking men in the nation; Halfback Bill Chesak, a rugged line smasher; and Fullback Gerald Campbell.

The Miners also boast an all-conference guard in Ernest Keily and a top center in Wayne Hanson. And Coach Jack Curtice this year has great reserve strength, something he lacked last year.

It shapes up as one of the best games in the Southwest on Saturday, not a free-scoring game, but one which might become unbuckled at any point.

and sprint 16 yards to score. Hughes added the extra point.

Odessa Marches Again

The game ended six plays later, with the powerful Odessa ground machine starting another march at midfield.

Coach Bob Harrell's Lamesan's put up a game battle, but the combination of Odessa reserve power and a strength-sapping sun wilted them in the stretch. Hart, Pearson, and T. J. Womack turned in top line performances, while the backfield work of Echols, Chapman, Hawkins, Lattimore and Dickenson completely baffled the visitors through the first half.

But in the last two stanzas, the hard-charging Broncho forwards held Lamesa to just one first down, and nailed Tornado passers for heavy losses repeatedly.

Meanwhile, the churning legs of Dye, Harvey, Salmon, Bobby Jackson and Carl Beard, coupled with the T-formation quarterbacking of Charles Clover, carried the Bronchos downfield almost at will.

Coleman said after the game that Mac Tyler, who has shared quarterbacking duties with Clover, re-injured his right knee in the game, and probably will miss next week's crucial Odessa-Lubbock battle. Otherwise, the Broncho mentor added, his squad should be near top strength.

ANDREWS TRIUMPHS

FORT STOCKTON, Nov. 4. (Special)—The Andrews Mustangs kept alive their championship hopes in District 5-A tonight by soundly whiping Fort Stockton, 40-0. Coach Francis Tubb's Mustangs, paced by Jack Smith and Enoch Reed, ran up a 27-0 half-time lead as they completely mastered the outclassed Fort Stockton crew. It was Andrews' fifth conference win against one defeat and one tie.

Bulldogs Gain Win

grass passed to Don Brownlow for the tally, then missed his try for extra point.

Taking no chances for an upset, the Bulldogs roared back, however, with Blair receiving an Antelope punt in midfield and making a beautiful run unassisted to the double stripe after breaking away from six would-be tacklers. This time Lindsey's kick was through the uprights and the score stood 19-6.

Taking to the airways in a desperate attempt to get back into the game, the Antelopes rumbled downfield to the Spur 17 after Snodgrass appeared trapped on a pass play only to elect to run and gain 33 yards. The next play saw the Bulldogs intercept a pass, nonetheless, and retain possession of the ball until the final gun.

Spur racked up 11 first downs during the game while holding Coach Boyce Box's eleven to five. The Antelopes attempted 10 passes, completing only one for one yard and having two intercepted. The Bulldogs hurled five passes, completing one for nine yards.

Spur worked exclusively off the T formation, while the Antelopes ran a modified split T.

Army Faces Strong Fordham Eleven

Nation's Top Teams Will Tangle Today

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. (AP)—By tomorrow night it may be possible to say with some assurance whether Notre Dame and Army are colossal and wonderful, as has been suspected, or merely great.

The two big teams which have overwhelmed the Associated Press ranking poll in recent weeks, with Notre Dame the chief overwhelmer, face a couple of college outfits which have no fear in their bones and no intention of submitting without a knock-down and drag-out battle.

The Spartans of Michigan State have run over five opponents since they dropped a narrow 7-3 decision to Michigan in their opener, and if they fail to extend the Irish in their duel at East Lansing, then it might as well be given up as a bad job.

Army Faces Fordham

Army, much to Coach Earl Blaik's surprise, finds itself facing an undefeated and untied Fordham eleven which has sneaked up on everybody and doesn't in fact, know its own strength.

While the most popular opinion is that the Cadets will win by a minimum of three touchdowns, there is sufficient curiosity to assure an overflow crowd in Army's 27,000 capacity Michie stadium. If played at the Polo Grounds, where it originally was scheduled, the game probably would have drawn more than 50,000.

If both Michigan State and Fordham fall down on the job, then the top five powers as designated by the nation's sports writers are pretty sure to skip blithely through another Saturday.

Sooners Heavy Favorites

Oklahoma's Sooners, No. 3 pin-up boys of the college circuit, are heavy favorites to bat Kansas State around; California, No. 4, is a four-touchdown choice over Washington State, and rebounding Michigan, No. 5, is a 14-point favorite over Purdue, though this looks like a slight overplay in view of Purdue's upset victory over Minnesota a week ago.

It will occasion no great surprise if Baylor, current undefeated leader of the Southwest conference and No. 6 in the ballot box, takes a painful tumble. The Bears face Texas on the Longhorns' home field at Austin.

Cornell, seventh-ranked pride of the Ivy league, has a breather against weak Syracuse. So does Rice, No. 8, against Arkansas, at Houston, and Southern Methodist, No. 9, against the Texas Aggies at College Station. Michigan State holds the No. 10 spot, at least until Notre Dames gets hold of the ball.

Tulane Meets Navy

North Carolina, which is scheduled to play the Irish next week at Yankee Stadium and can't back out now, should find William & Mary a welcome change after successive beatings by Louisiana State and Tennessee. Tulane and Navy, which already have gotten their lumps from the Leahy bludgeon, play for the consolation prize at New Orleans.

The Penn Quakers, who tackle Army in the east's second big attraction next week, warm up tomorrow against Virginia at Philadelphia. The Cavaliers have run up six straight wins and they boast the nation's top ground gainer in Fullback John Papit. But they pay off on manpower, which Penn has.

Other major games tomorrow:

Midwest: Iowa at Minnesota, Indiana at Illinois, Wisconsin at Northwestern, Kansas at Nebraska, Iowa State at Drake, South Carolina at Marquette, Tulsa at Oklahoma Aggies, Kentucky at Xavier (Ohio).

East—Ohio State at Pittsburgh, Penn State at West Virginia, Temple at Boston univ., Brown at Yale, Colgate at Holy Cross, Dartmouth at Columbia, Princeton at Harvard, Rutgers at Lafayette.

South—Georgia Tech at Tennessee, Vanderbilt at Louisiana State, Mississippi State at Auburn, Wake Forest at Duke, Boston College at Clemson, Georgia at Florida, Chattanooga at Mississippi, Richmond at N. Carolina State, Davidson at V.M.I., George Washington at Maryland.

West—Stanford at U.S.C., Washington at Oregon, Oregon State at Idaho, Denver at St. Mary's, Missouri at Colorado, New Mexico at Arizona, Colorado Aggies at Utah, Utah State at Brigham Young, Wyoming at Colorado State.

WT-NM Officials To Meet Sunday

Officials of the West Texas-New Mexico League will hold their annual winter meeting Sunday morning at 9 in the Hilton hotel.

Milton E. Price of Dallas, secretary of the Texas League and president of the WT-NM loop, will preside. Hosts for the meeting will be officials of the Lubbock Baseball club, Owner M. L. Wilkison, General Manager Harry Faulkner and Manager Jackie Sullivan.

Club owners will come here from Amarillo, Abilene, Albuquerque, Borger, Clovis, Pampa, Lamesa and Lubbock. They will be Bob Seeds and Buck Fausett, co-owners of Amarillo; Cy Fausett, Albuquerque owner; Paul Dean, Clovis owner; R. L. Edmondson, Pampa owner; H. A. Duke, Lamesa owner; W. V. Young and Joe Langston, Abilene co-owners; and Marshall Dike and D. M. Specter, Borger co-owners.

While the meeting probably will be harmonious, two questions are expected to come before the meeting that might prove to be explosive.

There are indications that a serious proposal may be made to raise the league's status to Class B from Class C and that is certain to be fought by many owners. Already one club has announced that it will fight such a move.

The other question will be the raising of the veteran limit, which could be accomplished either through raising the player limit from 16, as it is at present, or by lowering the required number of limited service players.

Also up for possible discussion will be schedules for 1950, radio broadcast privileges, umpires and other league matters.

Sam Snead Captures North-South Tourney

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 4. (INS) Sammy Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., golfing ace, toured the Pinehurst course with a six-under-par 66 this afternoon to cop the 47th North-South Invitational tourney.

Snead, leading the field throughout the four rounds of play, came through with a 14-under-par tourney total of 274, the second lowest in the history of the meet.

Little Ben Hogan holds the record with a 271 in 1942.

The win is the second North and South victory for Snead, who took the meet in 1941 with a 277.

Six strokes behind Snead came Johnny Bulla of Pittsburgh with an eight-under-par 280. Cary Middlecoff, National Open champion, took third place with 283. Both Bulla and Middlecoff stroked 71's in the afternoon's play.

MAX WEISMAN DIES

CLEVELAND, Nov. 4. (INS)—Max (Lefty) Weisman of the Cleveland baseball club died of a heart attack today. The 54-year-old trainer of the Indians for the past 28 years passed away at his home in suburban Cleveland Heights.

Mississippi State's Champion Added To Blue-Gray Grid Squad

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 4 (AP) — Big Jim Champion, captain of Mississippi State's Maroons, is another addition to the Blue-Gray football squad.

The 215-pound tackle is the 12th Southern player to sign up for the intersectional All-Star game here Dec. 31. His acceptance was announced today by Blue-Gray headquarters.

With Champion on the roster, the Southern squad is half complete. Each side will have 24 players. No Northern stars have been announced.

Odessa Juniors Down Picadors

Tech Frosh Lose, 13-0

ODESSA, Nov. 4. (Special)—Texas Tech's Picadors lost a 13-0 decision to Odessa Junior college's Wranglers here tonight in a game marked by sloppy play on the part of the visiting Tech freshmen. Last week Tech beat the Wranglers by the same score.

Coach Allie White's Picadors missed opportunity after opportunity to advance the ball upfield, having four passes intercepted, losing the ball four times on fumbles and dropping 125 yards on 11 rule infractions.

Williams' Work Tops

Except for the outstanding defensive work of Center Jimmy Williams the score might have been higher. Williams was in on more than half of the tackles while playing from the linebacker spot. He received excellent support from End Hollice Davis. Carl Madison paced the offensive at quarterback for the Tech yearlings. Gene Goss and Waldo Young turned in creditable performances also for the young Techsans.

Odessa scored first in the initial quarter on a 10-yard screen pass from Burr Reynolds to Toots Mathis. J. R. Bizzell's conversion attempt was wide.

Fumble Hurts Tech

The touchdown was setup by a Tech fumble, Madison losing his hold on the pigskin deep in his own territory after Odessa drove to the Picador six-yard line following the kickoff.

In the third period the Wranglers hit paydirt again, with Reynolds going through the middle of the Tech defense for 11 yards.

Before the final score Odessa drove to the Picador 28, losing the ball at that point on downs. On the first play Madison gained to the 33, but Tech was penalized back to the 13 for illegal use of the hands on offense. Denton Lambert made three yards out to the 16 and then took a 10-yard pass from Madison to the 26. Tech was then penalized back to the 19 after losing two yards, and Madison's attempted punt was blocked by Alvin Whaley, Odessa tackle, Whaley covering the blocked punt on the 13. Odessa drove to the 11 with Reynolds scoring on the next play.

Tech threatened in the second quarter, taking advantage of a fumble recovery by Davis, but a penalty set the ball back to the 47, and two plays later Madison's pass was intercepted.

In the same period Tech drove to the 19, losing the ball on downs.

The Picadors played most of the game in their own territory or around midfield, never being able to put on a sustained drive.

First downs for the two squads were even at 12 each, and Tech rushed for 156 yards to only 92 for the winners, passing gains being almost even at 104 for the Wranglers and 101 for the Picadors.

Two blocked punts aided Odessa.

O'Donnell hit paydirt in the second frame on a pass from Back B. Clark to End Raymond Hancock from the 20.

Three penetrations were made by the Stanton squad while O'Donnell had two. The visitors made 12 first downs for a total of 180 yards. O'Donnell made 160 yards and eight first downs.

HONKERS SCARCE AROUND WACO

Hunters Find Ducks Plentiful Along Coast As Season Opens

(By The Associated Press)

Ducks were plentiful along the coast in the Corpus Christi, Houston and Beaumont areas Friday as the first half of the 1949-1950 split season began.

Many hunters in those sections bagged their limits quickly. There was a different report for the central Texas area about Waco: Not many birds sighted; few killed; prospects should be better in a week or two.

First day firing started at noon and ended an hour before sunset.

The first half of the season is from Nov. 4 through Nov. 21. The second half is Dec. 21-Jan. 7.

Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the state Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, predicted 75,000 Texas hunters would try their luck this weekend.

Virtually every boat was used at Port Aransas today, where most hunters got their limit; some of them bagging it in less than a half hour.

Large flocks of geese were seen flying in the coastal bend area. But duck hunting dominated. Redheads and sprigs were the most common ducks bagged on that part of the coast.

Clear, warm weather hampered hunting at Rockport. About a fourth of the duck hunters there bagged the limit, but there were few geese killed. The geese were flying too high.

Houston Post Outdoors Editor Bill Walker called it the best season opening in 20 years. He gave this picture: Most hunters with profesional guides had their limit in a half hour. One group got its limit three minutes after the season opened on the west end of Galveston Island. Twelve hunters at Aransas Pass killed the limit in an hour and a half.

At the Eagle Lake Gun and Rod club near Eagle Lake 26 members and guests bagged their limits. Clear, calm weather made rice field shooting slow.

A report from Beaumont said some 1,400 hunters opened the season with a bang along the southeast coastal region. A special correspondent for the Beaumont Enterprise sent into marshes brought out word that sprig were in abundance. Few mallards were seen, but geese were plentiful. Many hunters bagged their limits.

Daily bag limits are four ducks, five geese and 10 coots. That was also the possession limit the first day. After the first day a hunter could have eight ducks, five geese, and 10 coots in possession.

Other reports included:

San Antonio—Seventy-five hunters, scouting Lake Mitchell, 10 miles southwest of San Antonio, got their limit without trouble. L. G. Hansen brought down a Canadian honker goose—rare in the San Antonio section.

Whiteface Beats Idalou, 19 To 14

WHITEFACE, Nov. 4. (Special) In a District 4-B football clash here tonight before 700 fans, Whiteface defeated Idalou, 19-14, to move into a second place tie with New Deal in the district race.

Idalou held a 14-13 halftime lead and staved off a serious threat by Whiteface in the third quarter before the Whitefaces reached paydirt in the final stanza to take the decision.

The game was even throughout, and Whiteface made 11 first downs to 10 for the visitors.

The eventual winners broke the scoring ice in the first quarter when Daniel Gilbert plunged over from the four-yard line and Johnny Plunkett kicked the point to send Whiteface into a 7-0 lead. But the fighting Wildcats came back in the same period to score on Alvin Joiner's three-yard plunge. Joiner went over also on a plunge for the extra point.

In the second period, sparked by Oscar Powers, the Whiteface eleven put on a drive which was climaxed when Powers lived up to his name by rambling through the Idalou defense for 20 yards and a touchdown. Try for point was no good.

Idalou went ahead in the same quarter, with Joiner passing to Lloyd Allen on a play that covered 35 yards, Joiner again plunging for the extra point.

After stopping Whiteface on the five-yard line in the third stanza, Idalou was unable to hold in the final period, with Max Dickerson scoring on a quarterback sneak for four yards.

Outstanding players for Whiteface were Harold Gouge and Darwood Marshall in the line and Powers in the backfield. Powers made many yards after almost being stopped by the defense.

Coach L. S. Salser is the Whiteface coach, and W. T. Johnson is at the helm at Idalou.

Sundown Turns Back Morton Team, 19-14

SUNDOWN, Nov. 4. (Special)—Coach Jess Davis' Sundown Roughnecks notched their first District 4-A North victory of the season tonight by turning back the Morton Indians, 19-14, before 1,000 spectators.

The defeat shoved Morton into last place in the conference race.

Sundown grabbed an early lead, then choked off a late Morton rally.

Sundown held a 9-8 edge in first downs, and had 63 yards passing to none for Morton. However, the Indians led in net yards rushing, 200 to 197.

Clay Jones plunged three yards for the first Roughneck touchdown in the opening quarter, with R. E. Hensley adding the extra point.

Bobby Clark's 68-yard scamper through the line produced Sundown's second counter.

Clark scored again in the third quarter on a five-yard plunge.

Clifford Wells went 43-yards on an end sweep in the third stanza for Morton's first tally. Jimmy Coats ran across the extra point.

In the fourth quarter, Morton scored again on Kirby Lackey's 37-yard end sweep. Earl Webb added the extra point from placement.

Clark and Jones paced Sundown's offense, while Hensley and Wendell Odom showed up well in the line.

For Morton, Lackey and Coats carried the brunt of the offense, while Roy Smith turned in a top performance in the forward wall.

When SMU blocked Randall Clay's try for extra-point last week, the senior Longhorn halfback failed to score for the first time in 11 straight games. The last time he was blanked was by SMU a year ago. In the 10 intervening games he scored 89 points, 17 of them against Georgia in the Orange Bowl.

Seminole Tramples Monahans, 27 To 7

SEMINOLE, Nov. 4. (Special)—The Seminole Indians scalped the Monahans Lobos, 27-7, here tonight in a District 5-A clash before a crowd of 2,000 fans.

The Indians went on the warpath in the first quarter when Quarterback Guinn Hood slashed over on a sneak from the three-yard line. As the quarter neared the end, Cecil Jeter, Indian right halfback, climaxed a downfield drive when he went over guard from the three. Bert Affleck made the extra point.

The Indians kept the Lobos in their own territory throughout the first quarter. The Monahans squad failed to make a first down during the frame.

In the second, Indian Half Richard Lindley took a pass from Hood on the 50 and sped down the sidelines to score. Affleck converted.

The third period saw no scoring but the Indians worked the ball down to the Lobo one-yard line. The first play of the final quarter saw Hood go over for a TD. Affleck converted.

The lone Lobo tally came in the fourth when the Indians fumbled on their own 20, setting up the scoring play. Seconds later, Monahans Back L. Perryman went over guard from the five. Mickey Hubbard kicked the extra point.

Coach Gordon Woods' Indians made 18 first downs on a total yardage of 301. Coach F. O. Scroggins' Lobos made five first downs and a total yardage of 144.

Indian Back Lindley turned in an outstanding performance, averaging 9½ yards on 14 tries.

Teddy Whitmire and Carl Chumney of the Lobo squad played a fine game.

Lobos Down Muleshoe

LEVELLAND, Nov. 4 (Special)—Levelland's Lobos preserved their chance at the District 4-A North grid championship here tonight by smashing to a convincing 33-0 victory over the Muleshoe Yellow Jackets before 3,200 fans.

It was Levelland's third win against one defeat in district play. The Loboes have yet to play Littlefield, the current conference leader.

Coach Truett Rattan's Levelland team threw up an airtight defense that prevented Durwood Green's Muleshoe crew from seriously threatening tonight. Meantime, the Lobos shoved over three first-half touchdowns to pile up a 19-0 lead, then coasted in. The victors piled up a net gain of 254 yards from scrimmage, getting 15 first downs to Muleshoe's five.

A 40-yard pass from Don Wise to Jim Mac Luker produced the first Lobo touchdown.

In the second quarter, Dean Waltrip plunged two yards to cap another Levelland scoring drive.

Later in the second period, Dee Windsor flipped a 13-yard pass to Glen Clarkson for a six-pointer with Clarkson adding the conversion.

Bobo Johnson scored on a 39-yard end sweep in the third quarter. Glen Waltrip converted.

Wise closed out the touchdown-making with a two-yard scoring plunge in the fourth stanza. Dean Waltrip added the extra point.

For Levelland, Tackles Bobby Kennedy and Edward Byerley and Center Harvey Campbell turned in outstanding line performances.

Tackle Bill Collins and Center Phillip Garrett paced Muleshoe's forward wall, while Bob Goss and Charles King were the Jackets' offensive standouts.

Lamar, Kilgore To Meet In Loop Tilt

BEAUMONT, Nov. 4. (AP)—Lamar tries to knock down an eight-year-old jinx tomorrow night when the Cardinals meet Kilgore in the big game of the Southwestern Junior College conference race.

Both teams are undefeated and untied and the winner will become the top favorite to win the title and probably get the Little Rose Bowl bid in California.

But in eight previous meetings, Lamar has lost each time.

Kilgore beat Tyler, one of the conference favorites, while Lamar hasn't yet met the Apaches.

The game shapes up as a first class offensive duel between Kilgore's Warren Ramsey, leading conference ground gainer, and the Redbirds' Jimmy McNeil, pushing Ramsey for rushing honors. Both have better than 6-yard averages for ball carrying efforts.

Helping Ramsey will be Henry Pratka a bruising 195-pound fullback. Playing in Coach Woody Johnson's single wing and Y formation attack, Pratka holds down the spinner position.

Plains Cowboys Bow To Cooper Gridders On Penetrations

PLAINS, Nov. 4 (Special)—The Plains Cowboys came near to winning their first District 4-B game of the year here tonight before 400 fans, but bowed on penetrations after holding Cooper to a 7-7 tie. Cooper penetrated three times to two for Plains.

Plains scored on the opening kickoff when Newland Rowland rambled 80 yards for the score behind perfect blocking, with J. T. Jackson throwing a key block to send him on his way. Duane Grayson ran over for the extra point.

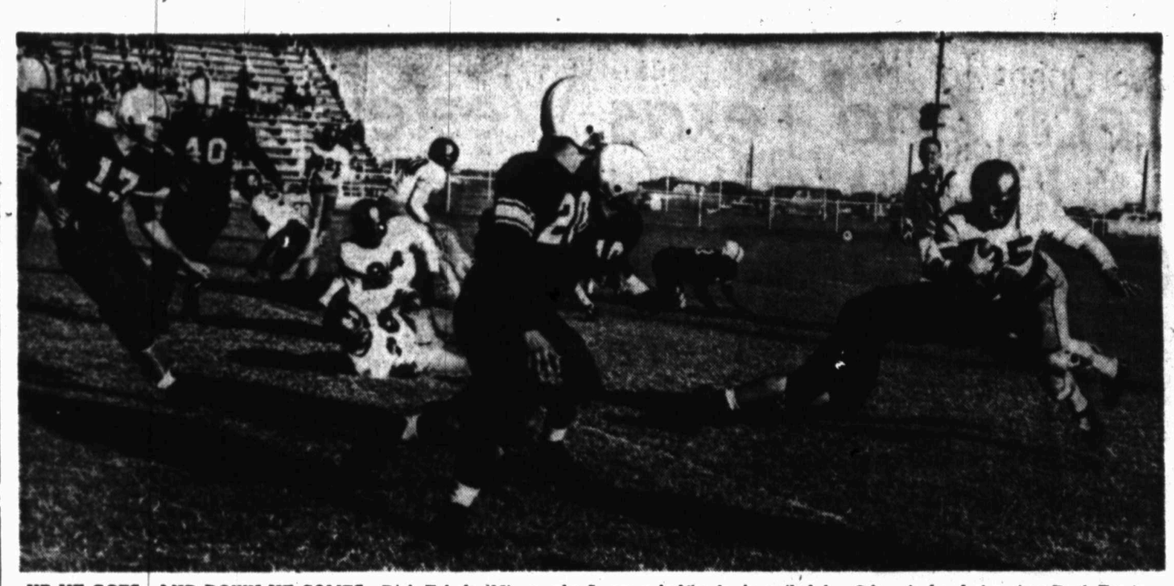

Neither team could cross the double-stripe in the second or third quarter, but in the final period Cooper drove 55 yards for a score following a short punt by Plains, Vinson scoring on a one-yard drive and running for the point after touchdown.

Vinson started the game as guard, being shifted to fullback in the second quarter and playing there the remainder of the game.

Plains threatened in the third quarter but fumbled a successful pass on the Cooper 10-yard line. Cooper drove to the Plains 18 in the second period.

Cooper made 13 first downs to nine for Plains. Guard Hester and Backs Thompson and Vinson were standouts for the winners.

For the home team Rowland, Jackson, Dean Light and Harold Forest played excellent ball.

Closing in to help with the tackle (as though Erwin needs help!) are Carl Beard (20) and Herbert Miller (16). Lamesa players on the ground are Jamie Pearson (84) and Larry Lattimore (76). Bronchos to the left are End Charles Aldridge (17) and Center Mel Etheridge (40). (Staff Photo by Bill Hams.)

Midland Defeats Brownfield, 26-7

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 4 (Special)—Midland's Bulldogs rammed across four touchdowns here tonight in a District 3-AA game to defeat the Brownfield Cubs, 26-7, before 1,800 fans.

It was the seventh straight loss this season for Brownfield, but the game had one bright spot for Coach Tracy Kellow's Cubs. They scored in the third quarter to chalk up their first home touchdown of the season.

Bulldogs Open Early

Midland opened with six points in the first quarter, added seven more in the second frame, then racked up two more touchdowns in the final period.

The Bulldogs, sporting a 13-pound-per-man weight advantage, made 18 first downs to 11 for the Brownfield eleven.

Early in the first quarter, Midland went 71 yards on a series of line plays with Fullback L. C. Thomas going over from one-yard out. He fumbled on the play, and Harry Smith, Bulldog end, recovered over the goal line for six points. Halfback Charles Crowley missed the extra point kick.

Brownfield roared back with a 35-yard pass catch and run by Billy Patterson that carried to the Midland five, but the Cubs were pushed back to the 15 and lost the ball on downs.

In the second quarter, a Midland drive that began on the Cub 40 ended with Thomas plunging over from the 4-yard line. Crowley's kick was good.

Returning the kickoff after touchdown to their 34, the Cubs powered downfield, with Halfback John Thompson scoring on a plunge from three feet out. Quarterback Dale Cary's kick was good.

Crowley Caps Drive

Early in the fourth period, Crowley capped another Midland drive by scoring on a 9-yard run around his left end, and then kicked the extra point.

With time running out, the Bulldogs scored again when Ralph Brooks, substitute halfback, skirted the left side of the Brownfield line for 11 yards and six points. Crowley missed the kick for point.

Brownfield plays Lamesa on Armistice Day, then closes the season by tangling with the powerful Odessa and Lubbock teams.

Outstanding linemen for Brownfield were Howard Swan, tackle; Jimmy Milner, end; and Graham Swain, guard. For Midland, standouts in the line were Jimmy O'Neal, center; Alfred Baze, tackle; and Smith, end.

FLOMOT, Nov. 4. (Special)—Coach R. G. Green's Southland Eagle six-man football team registered its third conference win of the year here today by blanking the Flomot Steers, 12-0.

J. H. Trimble scored the first Eagle touchdown on a 16-yard run in the second quarter, while Avery Moore registered the second on a 40-yard run in the fourth period.

Horace Hitt played an outstanding game at end for Southland.

Woodrow Slover paced the Flomot club.

MUSTANGS DRUBBED

PECOS, Nov. [illegible]—Coach Howard Lumbley's Pecos Eagles chalked up their third District 5-A win of the campaign here tonight by trouncing the Denver City Mustangs, 58-7. Pecos dominated play all the way against the last-place Denver City team.

Mustangs Clinch District 3-B Title

Olton Eleven Drubs Friona Chiefs, 39-0

OLTON, Nov. 4 (Special)—Olton's Mustangs clinched the District 3-B football title here tonight by trouncing the Friona Chiefs, 39-0, before some 1,750 persons.

It was Olton's eighth straight conference triumph. Hale Center, the last team with a chance to overhaul the Mustangs, dropped from contention tonight by dropping a 33-12 decision to Dimmitt.

Dimmitt could possibly Tie Olton's won-lost record in district play, but even should this occur Olton would be declared the conference champion by virtue of its earlier win over Dimmitt.

Coach T. M. Cox's Mustangs wasted no time in grabbing the lead against Friona tonight. They punched across two first-period tallies and were never in serious difficulty thereafter.

The Mustangs amassed 22 first downs to the losers' eight. Olton had 473 yards gained rushing, plus 12 through the air. Friona picked up 154 rushing and two passing.

Huck Nichols notched the first Olton tally with a 27-yard sprint around right end in the first quarter. Later in the period, Gerald Allcorn went over right tackle for 11 yards and another marker. Jimmie Millsap passed to Garland Rose for the extra point.

Maynard Goes Over

In the second stanza, Jerry Maynard scored on a 15-yard run through left tackle, and Huck Nichols tallied on a one-yard plunge over right tackle.

Allcorn launched the second-half scoring by breaking loose on a 69-yard touchdown gallop in the third quarter. Jimmy Millsap converted from placement.

Allcorn also made the final marker, on a 84-yard run around left end. Millsap again passed to Rose for the extra point.

Coach Raymond Cook's Friona club made its most serious scoring bid in the third quarter, driving to the Olton seven-yard line.

In the fourth period, Friona's Tommy Lacewell gathered in an Olton punt and went 90 yards to the double stripe, but the play was nullified because both teams were offside.

Rose checked in a top defensive game for Olton, while Allcorn, Maynard and Nichols shared offensive honors.

Lacewell and Jones were outstanding for Friona.

Paducah's Dragons Beat Ralls, 19-12

PADUCAH, Nov. 4. (Special)—The Paducah Dragons scored a narrow victory of 19-12 over the Ralls Jackrabbits in a 3-A conference contest here tonight.

The first quarter was scoreless, but early in the second, Paducah recovered a Ralls fumble on the seven-yard line, and Pat Green and Hershel Stone moved the ball to the four-yard line. From there Keith Slover, Dragon right half, circled left end for a touchdown.

The Jackrabbits tied the game soon after receiving the kickoff, driving 77 yards to score. Bob Gustine plowed over center from the one for the touchdown.

In the third quarter, after Stone and Slover alternated on ground gainers, a pass from Joe Clark to H. A. Lee netted 15 yards which moved the ball from the Dragon 49 to the Ralls 11-yard line.

From there, Pat Green, Paducah fullback, circled right end for the Dragon's second touchdown. An attempted kick by H. A. Lee was no good.

Shortly after Ralls again tied the game when a pass from C. H. Verrett, jr., to D. Bolander netted 20 yards and a touchdown.

Still in the third, the Dragons again moved ahead, this time to stay, when Pat Green skirted left end for 36 yards and Paducah's final touchdown. H. A. Lee made the extra point from placement.

New Deal Rolls Over Frenship 53 To 0 In District 4-B Tilt

MONROE, Nov. 4 (Special)—New Deal romped rather heavily over Frenship here tonight in a District 4-B clash, defeating the visitors 53-0 before 600 fans.

Coach H. P. Pior's squad scored in every quarter, making 15 points the first quarter, 12 the second, 20 the third and six the last period.

Scoring touchdowns for the winners were Martin Bumpass with two tallies and three conversions, and Wayne Worley, Robert Gentry, Hubert McFarland, Victor Thiel, R. W. Webb and Fred Harkey scoring single touchdowns, Harkey on a pass from Gentry.

J. Gladdin was tackled behind the goal line in the first period to give New Deal a safety.

Standouts for Frenship were Locke, Gladding, Allen and Johnson. Kenneth Shehan, Otis Mennamy and Lonnie Brownlow were tops for the winners.

Lockney Overpowers Matador Team, 35-6

MATADOR, Nov. 4. (Special)—Lockney's Longhorns, with end sweeps and long runs, overpowered the Matador Matadors, 35 - 6 in a District 3-A game played before a crowd of 700 here tonight.

Lockney scored twice in the first quarter, twice in the second and once in the third period with Halfback Ray Ferguson running over all five extra points for a perfect night.

The Matador's lone touchdown came in the third quarter.

Halfback C. B. Smart scored first for Coach Curtis Kelly's Longhorn's with a three-yard line plunge. Fullback DeJuan Strickland followed it up with a 69-yard end sweep for a counter.

In the second period, Bob McHoward, substitute halfback for Lockney, scored from 45 yards out on another end sweep, and Strickland counted again with a 27-yard run.

Matador scored in the third period when Fullback Garland Rattan went five yards through the middle, but Lockney's Ferguson ran the kickoff back 70 yards for the final touchdown of the night.

SEAGRAVES, Nov. 4. (Special)—Seagraves put on a scoring show for the first homecoming crowd in the school's history here tonight to thoroughly squelch Tahoka, 38-0, in a District 4-A South contest before 2,500 persons. Bob Dale scored four touchdowns.

Seagraves amassed a total of 17 first downs while limiting Tahoka to one, that on a pass the last play of the game.

Coach Frank Sonntag's Eagles drove for three touchdowns in the first quarter, two in the third and one in the final frame.

The first drive covered 72 yards, with Smith Bennett, Nelson Smith, Roger Stafford and Bob Dale carrying alternately, Dale scoring from the two-yard line.

Bennett rounded right end for the second touchdown after a 67-yard drive, and Dale scored the third touchdown of the first quarter, with Bennett supplying the extra point.

Dale scored his third touchdown of the night in the third quarter on a 22-yard gallop to climax a 78-yard march and Jack Hale made the conversion try. Dale scored again in the third stanza on a 42-yard sweep after Nelson had carried 27 yards.

Substitutes Kenneth Hart, Benny Wright, Troy Martin and Danny Rapier carried 67 yards for the last touchdown, Wright fumbling and End John Reber recovering for the tally.

Drive Opens To End Coal Strike

traveled back to Washington still facing a decision whether to undertake another showdown battle with Lewis over the coal stoppage. He had made a speech last night at St. Paul, Minn.

Some of Mr. Truman's aides were reported urging him to proceed under the Taft-Hartley law, as he did once before, in an attempt to halt the crippling coal walkout.

Disagreement Reported

But there was disagreement in top administration circles whether the coal strike had reached the "national emergency" stage which Mr. Truman has said must arrive before he will resort to that weapon.

Lewis met a double-barreled setback today in a renewed bid to end the strike on a sectional basis.

Unlike the steel industry, where cracks have developed, the coal operators held a solid front against Lewis' maneuvers for settlements one by one.

Lewis widened an earlier offer to talk with Indiana operators alone. This time he made it a two-state proposition, taking in Illinois.

Both turned him down cold.

Reject Lewis' Bid

Both Indiana and Illinois operators insisted any bargaining must be on a national basis. They rejected Lewis' bid for a meeting in Chicago tomorrow. Lewis had offered to talk with the Illinois group alone if the Indiana owners balked at piece-meal bargaining.

In the 35-day old steel dispute, with 450,000 basic steel workers still idle, there was little sign of any widespread settlements.

Two agreements have been reached between steel companies and Philip Murray's CIO United Steelworkers, but U. S. Steel, the nation's top producer, is not expected to resume bargaining with the CIO union until next week at the earliest.

Union Demands Shift

Union demands, shifting from the 10-cent package of free pensions and insurance recommended by President Truman's fact finding board, were keyed to the settlement with Bethlehem Steel.

While the steel issue hung fire, the Ford Motor Co. sounded a note of cautious optimism saying it will continue nearly full production in all divisions except Lincoln automobiles throughout November.

Ford had planned to shut down its huge Rouge plant between Nov. 11 and 15, with the consequent layoff of about 100,000 Ford Workers.

Ford officials said that even if steel becomes available in volume soon, the company's coal supplies will dwindle to a critical level by the end of November.

Chrysler Shuts Down

The Ford announcement came as the Chrysler Corp. shut down its Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler production because of a lack of steel. This meant cutting off paychecks to some 35,000 of the corporation's 90,000 Detroit area employes.

Chrysler said it hopes to keep Plymouth and Dodge trucks rolling off the assembly lines "as close to Thanksgiving as possible."

There was still no word from the White House on possible coal and steel strike intervention by President Truman. An administration official said Mr. Truman is steering clear of resorting to the Taft-Hartley law's provisions for a court injunction to halt either the steel or coal disputes.

Mr. Truman was described as counting on bargaining to settle both controversies. He has often denounced the Taft-Hartley law.

Motor Transport Division Ends Hearing In Lubbock

A two-day hearing in Lubbock staged by the Motor Transport division of the Texas Railroad commission ended Friday, with a continuation of the sessions to be held Dec. 7 in Amarillo.

Major business of the hearing was an application brought by Curry Motor Freight lines, Inc., for extension of its Odessa-Amarillo line on to Borger.

A group of Lubbock business men appeared before Horace Soule, chief examiner for the Motor Transport division, to testify in favor of the extension. On Thursday, statements were made by witnesses from Odessa and Borger, also favoring the extension.

Motor freight lines and railroads opposing the application are expected to present testimony at the Amarillo meeting.

Uncontested hearings also were conducted during the session before Joe T. Lanham of Austin, examiner of the division. Among these was an application by Merchants Fast Motor lines, 2402 Texas avenue, for an additional freight route between Reese Air Force base and Lubbock.

Tahoka 'Mexican Fiesta' To Stress Good Neighbor Policy

TAHOKA, Nov. 4. (Special)—The Good Neighbor policy will be the main item on the bill Saturday night when the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce begins its "Mexican Fiesta" for the Latin-Americans in and around the city.

The fiesta will start at 3 p. m. with $75 in cash [illegible]s being offered for contest winners. The contests will be for the most beautiful senorita, the best dancing couple and the best entertainer.

The evening festivities will feature a Latin-American band and the master of ceremonies will be Manuel G. Sepulveda of Lubbock.

The fiesta will center around the south and east sides of the courthouse square.

Hubert Tankersley, president of the chamber of commerce, will direct the fiesta activities.

Ocean shorelines are never exactly the same during any two successive seconds.

March Again Brings Campaign To City

Caso March, Texas' travelling candidate for governor in the 1950 elections, arrived in Lubbock last night for two days of speechmaking and handshaking.

March, on his second swing over the state in his third bid for the governorship, spoke over Station KCBD shortly after arriving, lashing out at Gov. Allan Shivers. March charged that Shivers had not spent "four full working days in his office" since he took over the post of governor.

Giving his stand on the 10 amendments on which Texans vote next Tuesday, March said he favored all of them.

March said he would visit in Lubbock today and Sunday, going to Amarillo for talks Monday. March, who came to Lubbock from El Paso after speaking in Houston, Abilene and Odessa the past week, said he would go to San Antonio from Amarillo.

The former Baylor university law school professor said he was making plans to establish his West Texas headquarters in Lubbock for the main part of his campaign.

Rites Scheduled For Tahoka Youth Today

officials said.

(Bennett was charged in Lubbock July 11 with swindling by $200 worthless check given to Carroll Pendley for automobile repairs, but a grand jury did not indict him, records at Lubbock county jail showed. Subsequently, on July 15, he was jailed in Lubbock county again, under a vagrancy charge. He posted bond and has not been tried on the charge.)

Bennett, giving Lubbock as his home when rushed to a hospital for treatment, told officials he was at the cafe when three men asked him to go outside. One poked a gun against his side, and Bennett said he thought the man was joking.

A knife ripped into his right shoulder blade, he said, puncturing his right lung. One bullet shot hit him in the left arm and ranged downward to his stomach.

An unidentified man carried Bennett to Headlee hospital here.

At a swank tourist court where Bennett had been staying here, it was learned that three men in a car answering description of one described to be occupied by the three suspects charged had driven up to the court several times looking for Bennett.

Reports also circulated in Odessa that Lubbock police, about midnight, had received a local call from a woman asking if "anything happened" to Bennett.

Poppy Sales Begin

volunteered to help with the sales.

More Poppies Bought

Mrs. R. J. Watson, who is Auxiliary poppy chairman, said the approximately 10,500 poppies purchased this year is a slight increase over the number sold here last year. The 1948 sale was the largest ever held by the Auxiliary, but an even larger total is expected this year.

She said that poppies to be sold this year are not as uniform in quality and appearance as last year and years previous to that. "Most of the poppies to be sold this year were made by patients in the psychopathic ward in the Veterans Administration hospital in Waco.

"But we think every resident of Lubbock will wear his poppy with even more pride than ever, knowing that those boys were doing the best they possibly could in making these poppies," Mrs. Watson pointed out.

Airman, Injured Near RAFB, Still In Serious Condition

One of three Reese Air Force base corporals injured in two accidents Thursday night, remained in serious condition with a head injury at the base hospital Friday.

He is Cpl. John C. Finch, of Baltimore, Md., hurt about 10:30 p. m. when the motorcycle he was riding struck a culvert near the base.

The other injured men, Cpl. Stout C. Ruffell, of Brooklyn, N. Y. who was riding with Finch, and Cpl. Albert Hammond, of Pineville, La., were released from the hospital after observation.

Hammond suffered minor head injuries when the brakes of his car "locked" near the base entrance on the Brownfield highway about 11:30 p .m. and Board of City development, extended a welcome to the visiting fliers. George Hadaway, editor and publisher of Southern Flight Magazine at Dallas, was principal speaker.

A fixed-base operations forum was conducted beginning at 2 p.m. George W. Jalonick, III, of Dallas, vice-president of Southwest Airmotive company, discussed "Greater Profits Through Better Methods."

Fred Weick, designer of the Aerocoupe airplane, discussed "The Airplane of Tomorrow." He is at present on the faculty of A. & M. college in charge of the aircraft development section.

A. W. Meadows, director of the Texas Aeronautics commission at Austin, spoke on the subject, "The Commission's 1950 Program."

Aviation Needs Outlined

During the course of his talk, he outlined the items needed in private aviation and invited association members to come to Austin and help work out a needed program. "We can sit in Austin and work out a program, but it might not fill the needs as well as it would with help from fliers themselves," he commented.

Eldon F. Fuller, chief of the vocational rehabilitation section of the Veterans Administration regional office at Lubbock, explained "The GI Flight Program."

A business session followed, concluding the afternoon program.

Sen. Robert L. Proffer of Denton, chairman of the legislative council, was principal speaker at a banquet in the dining room of the Hilton hotel tonight.

Pilots Forum Planned

The Saturday session opens with a private pilots forum at 10 a.m. with Bahnman presiding. Charles Dean of Plainview will discuss "The Business Man Flies." B. M. Hackadorn, pilot for Humble Oil company and state chairman of the Jaycees aviation committee, will speak on "Air Age Education in Public Schools."

William M. Berry, assistant regional administrator of the Civil Aeronautics administration at Fort Worth, will speak on "CAA's Aids to Flying."

"Flying Beyond Radio" will be the topic of H. S. Christeston, sales manager for Air Craft corporation of Boonton, N. J.

Surgeon To Speak

A luncheon in the hotel will follow his talk. Dr. E. O. Rushing, heart surgeon of Dallas, will be speaker at the luncheon.

A second business session is scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday, with a banquet, reception and dance concluding the two-day session Saturday night.

Gill Robb Wilson, aviation columnist for the New York Herald-Tribune, a World War 1 pilot and first manager of the National Aviation association and war correspondent in World War II, will be principal speaker at the Saturday night banquet.

Unification Policies

ing about aviation. I'm part of it."

Johnson told newsmen that the infantry demonstration "makes one confident that the plan envisioned by the joint chiefs of staff is sufficient for the defense of America."

He added that "unification is but one step" in the overall defense plan.

Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg indicated that he considered the Navy's demand for a share in atomic bombing plans a lost cause. He said:

"The Air Force is, and will continue to be, the only carrier of the A-Bomb."

Vandenberg added, however, that he believes naval aviation has "certain definite functions" vital to the national defense structure.

In the group also was Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, who during the investigation of the service feud assailed Navy Admirals as "fancy dans."

Navy Secretary Matthews echoed Johnson and added that he does not expect any further changes in the high command of the sea service as an aftermath of the fight.

Matthews said further action against Navy Capt. John G. Crommelin, war hero-flyer who touched off the congressional probe, is up to Sherman, known as a strict disciplinarian.

Crommelin, who disclosed secret documents revealing the admirals displeasure at Pentagon policies, faces courtmartial for his action.

Johnson, who ordered service heads to familiarize themselves with weapons of the other branches, said he thinks "the cross-education of admirals and generals is beginning to take."

The defense secretary declared "you would be shocked if you knew how much more firepower we have now than we had in World War II."

Sherman said he was "tremendously impressed" by the firepower unleashed by the infantrymen, who shook the surrounding countryside with a variety of weapons from the M-1 rifle to 90 millimeter tank-mounted guns, bazookas and the newts non-recoil shoulder-firing 57 milimeter gun.

The demonstration was the next to last phase of a joint orientation conference to acquaint both civilian and military leaders with the nation's defenses. From Fort Benning the group moves to the naval base at Pensacola to watch submarine and aircraft carrier operations.

Quake Strikes

partment and police officials said that there had been no reports of damage outside of the few broken windows.

San Diego seismologist Fred Robinson said that the shock registered "No. 4 on a 12 scale" and was the sharpest earthquake felt there since 1941.

(On the scale of 12, a No. 4 quake is a sharp jolt which may possibly cause considerable damage. The disastrous Long Beach quake of March 1933 which took a toll of more than 100 lives and millions in property damage, was rated at No. 6 on the scale.)

Robinson said that the quake apparently was focused somewhere in the Imperial valley.

Swaying Motion Noted

He said that the initial shock was of an "upthrust" variety, later changing into a north-south swaying motion as it subsided. He said that if the first jolt had been of the swaying variety "much damage would have been done."

Newspaper switchboards were flooded with calls from excited residents.

The California Institute of technology's seismological laboratory reported the center of the quake "approximately 150 miles" from Pasadena.

Dozens of office workers in downtown Los Angeles ran out into the street after feeling the shock there but the jolt was not as severe as in San Diego.

From as far away as Riverside came reports that a slighter tremor was felt there with no damage done.

Man Pushed From Moving Car Here Winds Up In City Jail

An unidentified man who was reportedly pushed from a car in the 3000-block Ave. H shortly before 10 p. m. Friday was lodged in jail after an examination by City Physician L. B. Woods, police said.

Two witnesses, Herschel D. Collings, of 1602 Ave. K, and Archie Thompson, of Thirty-seventh and East Ave. E, said the slowly moving vehicle, a late model Chevrolet, drove off immediately after the man had been pushed to the street.

Dr. Woods said the man, who suffered only slight bruises about the head, was intoxicated, or possibly under the influence of narcotics.

are "Jeffersonian Democrats" to join the working coalition of Southern Democrats and Republicans in Congress.

The senator defined a "Jeffersonian Democrat" as one who "feels the federal government should do only those things that can't be done better at the local level."

He defined socialism as "delayed Communism." Ecton continued:

"We have socialists in the Republican party too, but they are in the minority. If we had been in power 20 years the majority of socialists would be masquerading as Republicans.

"Unless we stop a certain philosophy in this country there will be no individual business left. There is a gang working to prove that all this country has achieved has been done by the wrong method.

Gang Is Rapped

"This gang has been appealing to the prejudices and self desires of people to get something for nothing until a lot of people seem to think that success is a sin."

Ecton warned fellow Republicans they "will lose again if the indifference on the part of the electorate continues" in the 1950 and 1952 elections.

He said a check of an industrial county in a Midwest state showed that no votes were cast in 1948 by the individual auto dealers, 25 per cent of the chamber of commerce, and 37 per cent of independent grocers.

He added that almost as high a percentage of the three groups failed even to register.

Jaycees To Open

merous resolutions are expected to be submitted during this session calling for establishment of more Jaycee clubs throughout the state and country and for doubling the present membership of the established units.

Adjournment is slated for noon Sunday.

The first vanguard of Jaycees arrived Friday morning from Abilleen by automobile. Jim Brown, executive vice-president of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, set up temporary shop in the conference room of Horace Gearhart's Cafe to map final plans with local Jaycees.

Next group of visiting Jaycees to arrive were Vic Hill, Greg Shifflette and Mike Hackedorn of Houston and Tommy Cook of Baytown who landed in a private plane at Municipal airport at 12:15 p. m. Friday.

With them came a proposal for holding the national Jaycee convention at the famed Shamrock hotel in Houston in 1951. The 1950 convention has already been designated for Chicago.

They were greeted by R. S. Wilkinson, president of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce; L. D. Whiteley of Lubbock, a national director and chairman of the meeting and Jim Crook of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

Bill Walker, president of the Houston group, John Flowers, Bill Newkirk and Lee McLemore were expected to arrive here by automobile this morning.

Whiteley said the registration may total more than 500 if the weather remains good.

Jaycees from Fort Worth who were to arrive Friday night and this morning include Claud Fleet, Buster Kirkpatrick and Grover Cole, jr.

Public Hearing To Open Probe Into Fatal Crash Of Airliner

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4. (AP)—A public hearing next Wednesday will open the formal investigation of the disastrous airplane collision which claimed 55 lives, the Civil Aeronautics board (CAB) announced tonight.

Erick Rios Bridoux, pilot of the Bolivian fighter plane which rammed an Eastern Air lines DC-4 near the National airport Tuesday, is too severely injured to attend the hearing. However, CAB announced that questions put to the 28-year-old flier in his hospital room, together with his responses, will be placed in the record at that time.

Meanwhile harbor police pulled out the last missing body, completing recovery of the remains of all 55 persons who were aboard the big EAL plane.

The body was that of William Smythe, 39-year-old secretary-treasurer of the Eberhard Faber Pencil Co. His home was at Roslyn Estates, Long Island.

The wreckage of the fighter plane which crashed into the large plane also was recovered and officials began a minute study of the wreckage for clues to the cause of the tragedy.

southern rim of the Mediterranean sea.

Controls Broadened

Until today the barriers against re-shipment to the Soviet bloc applied almost exclusively to the Marshall plan countries which in most instances are now joined with the U. S. in a military aid pact.

Officials told a reporter the new action was mainly preventive, that no heavy traffic in re-shipments to Russian-controlled sectors is indicated.

Communist China has gotten few goods from this country so far, presumably because of a near breakdown in trade.

The new policy recognizes however, that the recent overrunning of China by Communist forces makes that country a potential "escape hatch" for U. S. industrial goods to get to Russia, officials noted privately.

It also assures pre-shipment screening of exports to Latin America—suspected by some officials of being the source of the greatest re-shipment diversions so far.

List Streamlined

The Commerce department streamlined its list of goods requiring licenses, eliminating 50 classes of goods now considered non-strategic and also "in plentiful domestic supply."

The goods listed as strategic and banned from shipment except under license include:

Large electrical motors and generators, accessories and parts; numerous power-driven metal working machine tools and parts; mining and quarrying machinery; oil field and refining equipment; industrial lubricating oils, and puncture-seal truck and bus tires and tubes.

Goods eliminated from license control requirements, no matter where shipped, included optical glass, platinum ore, bars, wire, etc.; some portable electrical tools and several types of electrical apparatus; bauxite and other aluminum ores; and industrial conversion oil burners and oil-fired boilers.

Murray Re-Elected

bership and that the ruling was not debatable.

Three other former members of the executive board also are missing in the new list. They are Albert J. Fitzgerald, president of the ousted United Electrical Workers who was a vice president; Julius Emspak, also of the UE, and Grant W. Oakes, who represented the expelled Farm Equipment Workers.

New Officers Elected

Joseph Beirne, president of the 320,000 communications workers, was elected a vice president to succeed Fitzgerald.

All other vice presidents were re-elected.

Most of the delegates, at the request of right-wing leaders, refrained from voting on the nominations by the other left-wing unions. Murray then stated that the eligibility of the nominees would be considered at the next meeting of the executive board. The board meets tomorrow.

The quiet, fatherly 63-year-old Murray, who also heads the CIO Steelworkers, native of Scotland and one-time miner in Pennsylvania's coal fields, was re-elected by acclamation, there were no other nominations for the presidency which Murray has held since 1940.

Re-elected secretary-treasurer of the CIO by the howling throng was youthful James B. Carey, who has held the post since 1938, the year the Congress of Industrial organization was organized.

Also re-elected by unanimous acclamation of the delegates was Allan S. Haywood, vice president and director of organization. Carey also heads the organizing committee of the new right-wing International Union of Electrical Workers.

In his brief seven-minute acceptance speech, Murray significantly omitted any direct mention of the anti-Red crusade which was the principal business of the week-long convention which ends today.

However, he did say:

"I shall seek with all the strength and intellect within my power to carry forward the decisions of this convention."

The convention has instructed its executive board, which was given new constitutional power to expel any union, to "take appropriate action — immediately" against the 10 remaining left-wing unions still within the CIO.

Woman Decides Attempt To 'Murder' Husband Was Mistake

PORT ORCHARD, Wash., Nov. 4.(INS)—A pretty, blue-eyed mother who confessed hiring two men to kill her husband because "he wanted to make love to me every night and I couldn't stand it" decided today she had made a mistake and wants to return home.

Brown-haired Mrs. Margaret Susan Piatt, 31, told authorities from a cell in the Port Orchard jail:

"It was all a mistake. I want to go back to him."

Mrs. Piatt and her husband, Willford, 34, who has hired a lawyer to defend her, were married 15 years ago and have two children, Jimmy, 7, and Sherry, 14.

Mrs. Piatt has been charged with attempted murder. The two young men she said she had hired to kill her husband are Hollis D. Scott, 23, self-styled "private detective," and Wallace Mottern, 22, who Mrs. Piatt said was introduced to her as a "trigger man." They have been charged with embezzlement of funds given them by Mrs. Piatt.

GLOBAL FLIGHT PUSHED

GUAM, Nov. 5 (Saturday) (INS)—Milton Reynolds arrived at Guam at 8:55 a. m. today (4:55 p. m. Friday CST) and took off for Honolulu at 11 a. m. (7 p. m. Friday CST) on his attempt to break the 'round-the-world record on commercial airlines.

The infant was born in a Phoenix hospital. Mrs. Shipley's mother, Mrs. Mike Brady, of 2513 Ave. L, has been visiting in the Shipley home for the past several weeks. Mrs. Shipley's mother is Mrs. D. D. Lindley of 619 Eighteenth. Mr. and Mrs. Shipley moved from Lubbock to Arizona this past summer.

Theft of two coats and a dress from a car parked in the 1300-block Ave. H was reported to police Friday. The clothing was the property of Mrs. W. O. Fortenberry and Mrs. W. H. Emery, both of New Deal.

The county attorney's office said Friday E. K. Knight, 52, of San Diego, Calif., had been fined $75 and costs of county court on a charge of driving while intoxicated, not on charges of liquor law violation as previously reported.

Bob E. Clodfelter, of 1514 Eighteenth, a pitcher with the Lubbock Hubbers last summer, reported theft of his black 1949 Chevrolet, license AR 8144, to police Friday night. The keys were in the car, the title in the glove compartment, he said.

Frank Condry, of 2503 Twenty-seventh, told officers a flashlight valued at $1.50 had been taken from the glove compartment of his car which was parked in the driveway at his home.

Charlie Strawn, 67, of east of Littlefield, was reported to be in Littlefield hospital late Friday night suffering from a fractured foot and an arm injury incurred in an accident eight miles northwest of Littlefield. His condition was reported as not serious by hospital attendants.

Truman Flays Foes

ington proved no different.

If Mr. Truman needed any encouragement, he got plenty of it in Minnesota's twin cities.

Four hundred thousand cheering, hand clapping, whistling persons jammed a 21-mile parade route in Minnesota's twin cities to give him a welcome of such magnitude and warmth as he has not experienced since his victory welcome back to Washington last November.

Tremendous crowds, however, also had welcomed him at Pittsburgh and Des Moines, where he opened the 1950 congressional campaign on Labor Day, and at Chicago a week earlier.

Auditorium Jammed

Ten to twelve thousand jammed the Civic auditorium to hear him speak in St. Paul last night.

Mr. Truman was up even before daylight this morning to greet the dawn and a group of Illinois political leaders as his special train pulled into Chicago's railroad yards.

He was beaming and cheerful as he greeted Jacob M. Arvey, chairman of the Cook county Central Democratic committee, Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.), former Mayor Edward J. Kelly, and state Democratic chairman George Kells.

They boarded the presidential train at one side of the enormous Chicago railroad yards and rode through to the other side. Mr. Truman took them into his special car for a breakfast conference.

Politics Discussed

As might be expected, they talked politics in a friendly visit of a half hour.

The president came out on the platform in the early morning chill to tell them goodbye and spent a few minutes joshing reporters about looking so sleepy at that early hour.

Two hours later, the presidential train stopped at Garrett, Ind. Three thousand persons and a band greeted him.

The President was reserving his own counsel on the coal strike. A presidential aide termed a Chicago Tribune story that the President was prepared to take drastic action against mine leader John L. Lewis on his return to Washington as "pure fabrication." The aide said the President contemplated no new action in the strike.

The President was scheduled to arrive back in Washington at 10:15 p.m. (EST).

Doctors Disagree On Preventive Value

New Drug For Common Cold Arouses Medical Controversy

By RUTH GMEINER
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Science has not yet developed a cure for the common cold. But it may have turned up a drug that will stop a cold before it has a chance to get started.

There is, however, a sharp difference of opinion among medical authorities even as to the preventive value of the drug, which actually is a family of drugs known as anti-histamines. Some are enthusiastic; others gloomily skeptical.

If the enthusiasts can prove their case, the drugs may put a helpful dent in the nation's cold bill which annually runs $1 billion to $3 billion and costs 100 million work days.

Startling Success Reported

"Startling" success is reported from recent experiments conducted in prisons, a university, factories, a convent and with Navy personnel.

These tests showed that, if the anti-histamine drugs were taken within a few hours after the first sniffle, colds did not develop in from 75 to 90 per cent of the cases.

Taken later, experimenters said, there were indications that anti-histamine can markedly shorten the length of colds and eliminate later complications. They said the only apparent undesirable effect was that the drugs made some patients drowsy.

Drug To Be Available

The public will get a chance to try out anti-histaminics for itself this winter. One or two drug manufacturers already have stocked drugstores with tablets for across-the-counter sale without doctor's prescriptions. Other brand names are expected to appear soon. The commercial preparations generally contain smaller amounts of anti-histaminics than were used in the experiments but, according to manufacturers, an amount "needed to be both effective and safe."

Much medical and scientific opinion, however, is viewing the rush to the anti-histaminic bandwagon with skepticism.

The American Medical association said in a recent issue of its official journal:

Claims Not Justified

"Authoritative medical opinion supports the view that no substance or combination of substances available at present can be relied on to prevent or cure the common cold. Recent surveys of products which now appear on the market reveal that many of them make claims involving the treatment or prevention of colds which aren't justified by valid evidence."

Officials at the U. S. Public Health service, which is conducting a five-year study of colds, refused comment on anti-histaminics or the new commercial pills. They disclosed that tests conducted several years ago brought "negative" results. But they hinted that they are taking a second look at the drugs.

Westwood Village Women Press Drive To Get House For Neighbor

Offering their cars, caring for one another's children, pressing clothes and collecting clothes, women of Westwood Village Friday were continuing their project to raise money to provide a house for their neighbor, Mrs. W. R. Mahon, and her husband, who is ill in the state sanatorium.

A rummage sale, proceeds of which the women plan to use to furnish a house when one is built, will be conducted today on North Ave. H.

Various gifts for constructing and furnishing a house have been collected. Mrs. Cal Guilliams has been chosen treasurer for the project. Persons wishing to participate may call Mrs. Guilliams, 2-2203; Mrs. Philbert Miller, 2-7980, or Mrs. Wallace Gibson, 2-4369.

Officials Quiet On Slated Hearings Of Seven Dallas Aliens

DALLAS, Nov. 4. (U.P.)— Federal officials were mum today about a closed hearing scheduled for seven Dallas aliens on their possible communistic affiliations.

Immigration Inspector W. C. Young said he was not allowed to comment on the matter because of "orders from Washington." He said the hearing, next Wednesday, would not be open to the press and public.

Judge Orders Testimony

Federal Judge William H. Atwell issued an order yesterday directing Fred W. Estes, 33, of suburban Grand Prairie, to testify about the aliens' cases next Wednesday before immigration and naturalization service officers.

Estes, a tree surgeon, was served with the order late last night. United States Dist. Atty. Frank B. Porter requested the hearing. In his request, Porter stated that Estes had been served with a subpena Oct. 13.

Red Affiliation Sought

The subpena asked that Estes testify concerning "the right of these aliens to reside in the United States." It also asked that Estes testify as to the "association . . . of affiliation of said aliens with the Communist party . . ."

Estes appeared Oct. 24, as requested, but Atwell's order said he "refused to testify . . . unless so ordered by a court . . ."

Estes was accompanied at that time by Sam Barbaria, Dallas attorney who has been in and out of the news for representing the Henry Wallace party and other liberal organizations.

The aliens named in the immigration case were Hymie Adams, Jose Cabello-Fresnillo, Becky Levine, Jose Estrada-Castillo, Daniel Oretega-Ramirez, Uvaldina de la Rosa-Manriquez and Francisco de la Rose-Manriquez.

Harris County Grand Jury Scores Houston Officials For Scandal

HOUSTON, Nov. 4. (U.P.)—A formal report by the Harris county grand jury today criticized city officials, La Porte Constable Dale Richardson and county labor conditions.

Unnamed city officials drew jury wrath in connection with the recent Houston farmers market scandal which led to the dismissal of Market Master Jake Murray.

"Political angles" in the market operation were deplored, and the jury suggested that the "market where now located has survived its usefulness for farmers."

Closer Supervision Needed

The report stressed that although no criminal law was violated, "closer supervision on the part of top city officials" would have prohibited the "loss of revenue to the City of Houston . . ."

(Murray was fired after Reporter Jack Donahue of the Houston Press uncovered the market scandal, in which farmers paid fees to Murray and to Attorney C. R. Goslin for special favors. Goslin currently is being investigated by the State Bar association.)

Cowboy Constable Richardson was mentioned in connection with a statement regarding the need for better training of police officers in "making" cases, gathering necessary evidence, etc.

Constable Presents Evidence

The report pointed to a "much-publicized" Richardson campaign to gather up all one-ball Coaltown marble boards in Houston. He presented his evidence to a grand jury, but no indictments were returned against the board operators or owners.

"Gambling takes a heavy toll from legitimate business, and the entire contabulary is charged with keeping their eyes open in making cases against all violators. This to the end that Houston and Harris county will not become a hotbed of racketeers either large or small," the report read.

The jury echoed a remark made earlier by Foreman David Bintliff to the effect that labor officials and officers should better understand the new laws regulating picketing, and that they should be enforced "from the very beginning of every dispute."

Oklahomans Observe Birthday Of Favorite Son Will Rogers

CLAREMORE, Okla., Nov. 4. (U.P.)—Twelve thousand Oklahomans today paid ther respects to the memory of Oklahoma's favorite son, Will Rogers, in a day-long observance in his old home town.

This was the 70th anniversary of the birth of Rogers, who with famed aviator Wiley Post, was killed in an Alaskan plane crash in 1935.

Rogers' son, Beverly Hills publisher, Will Rogers, jr., participated in the events, along with Donald Day, a Readers Digest editor who edited Rogers' autobiography for a special edition released today.

Sixteen bands and a like number of round-up clubs from Oklahoma, Kansas and Arkansas marched in a mile-long parade up Will Rogers Boulevard this morning.

Mrs. Maude Dupriest, past president of the Pocahontas club, placed a wreath at the Will Rogers tomb. The humorist, as a boy, was an associate member of the club, an early-day Indian women's organization.

Three buffalo were slaughtered for an old fashioned barbecue at noon for the crowd. The affair was held in the state park adjoining the Will Rogers Memorial museum.

Grebes are usually called "dabchecks," "dildappers," "hell divers" and "water witches." They are diving birds related to the loon family.

Commission Okays $1,075,000 Bond Vote

Funds Necessary For Expansion

A $1,075,000 bond election to obtain funds for expansion of Lubbock's sewage and highway dispersal systems was approved Thursday by the city commission.

The commission also agreed to investigate the possibility of purchasing the Broadway Church of Christ, Broadway at Ave. N, for conversion into a public library.

A definite date for the bond election was not set, but tentatively was scheduled for about Dec. 15.

The date will be set in an ordinance formally calling the election which City Attorney Vaughn Wilson was directed to prepare for submission to the commission at a meeting probably to be held next week.

Are Emergency Needs

The issue will propose $550,000 for expansion of the sewage disposal plant and system and $525,000 to buy rights of way for further extensions of the highway dispersal system.

City Manager Steve Matthews termed both of these emergency needs. Community health will be endangered unless the sewage disposal plant is enlarged, he said. Further extensions of the highway dispersal system must remain at a standstill until money is available to buy rights of way, he added.

The bond issue to be submitted is far smaller than figures mentioned when such an election was discussed at a special meeting of the city commission Tuesday.

Estimated $6 Million

The city manager estimated at that time that about $6,000,000 will be needed during the next four years for expansions of the city's water, sewage, fire-fighting, storm sewer, highway dispersal and paving facilities if a broad program of city limits extensions now pending before the commission is approved.

He estimated the provision of these needs will cost about $3,000,000 if the city limits remain as they are now.

Public hearings are scheduled Nov. 29 on proposed city limits extensions which, if approved, will add about 11 square miles to the corporate territory.

To Await Action

Members of the commission agreed unanimously to wait and see what is done about the proposed extensions before calling an election on bonds which, for the most part, would be used to provide improvements in the annexed areas.

The consensus of the commission appeared to be that most of the areas proposed for annexation will be brought inside the city limits and that a call for an-

State Hospital Is Like 'Shack'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of on-the-scene reports on the condition of state hospitals and special schools.)

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

MEXIA, Nov. 4—More than 1,200 wards of the state are living here in war surplus buildings that can only be described as shacks.

They are 404 feeble-minded children and 848 senile adults covering an amazing age-range from 8 to 93. Actually it is two institutions in one and it was opened in April, 1946, as an emergency measure to house the overflow from other institutions.

The Mexia state school and home is using the same buildings, with some improvements, that housed German prisoners of war. There are 47 buildings, all frame except one brick residence and one part-brick residence for staff members.

Heavy Cost Seen

Dr. William Thomas, superintendent, estimated it would cost four and a half million dollars to bring it to a point approaching adequacy.

The big trouble here is that the rickety old dormitories can not be used more than two or three years longer, Dr. Thomas said. Newsmen inspecting the place wondered if some of them would stand that long. Some of the more substantial structures, such as those originally built for hospitals, ought to be good for 20 to 25 years more.

Newsmen saw two sharply contrasting institutions today: That at Mexia where only a scant 15 per cent of the inmates may be reclaimed; and the Waco state home where all the children have the mental capacity to become useful citizens.

Those at Mexia are subnormal mentally; those at Waco run from normal to very high in their I. Q.'s.

In Boarding School

The children at Waco are being cared for by the state in a boarding school because their parents will not or can not provide for them, or because the courts have held the parents should not provide for them. To the extent, it is an orphanage.

Ben S. Peak is superintendent at the comfortable and apparently wellordered Waco home which has 277 pupils, an overload of 20, and a waiting list of 68. The institution's chief needs are a new dorm-

Gaines Wildcat Is Set Up As Producer

The Texas Company has completed its No. 1 E. D. Harris, Central-South Gaines county wildcat, 12½ miles southwest of Seminole, for a daily pumping potential of 41 barrels of 31.9-gravity oil, plus two per cent basic sediment and drilling water.

Gas-oil ratio was less than 100-1.

Completion was through perforations in the 5½ inch casing between the top of the pay at 5,965 feet and the total depth at 6,042, plugged back in the Gloreita. The project was drilled to a total depth of 7,520 feet. The pay section was treated with 5,000 gallons of acid.

The new well is 661 feet from north and 662 feet from east lines of section 17, block A-22, psl survey.

CENTRAL SCURRY WELL FAILS TO MAKE SHOW

Olson Drilling Company No. 1 Green, central Scurry county wildcat, two miles north of Snyder, and two miles south and three quarters of a mile east of the nearest completed producers from the Canyon reef lime, failed to develop any shows of oil, gas or water in a drillstem test in the top of the Ellenburger at 7,904-60 feet.

The tool was open 20 minutes. There was a slight blow of air at the surface for a part of the period. Recovery was 30 feet of drilling mud.

The venture is making hole past 8,013 feet. Top of the Ellenburger was picked at 7,920 feet. Elevation is 2,447 feet.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of the northwest quarter of section 157, block 3, H&GN survey. The development failed to encounter any possibilities of production in the Canyon lime or any other section of the Pennsylvanian.

ALLOWABLE TO BE HIKED IN SCURRY COUNTY AREA

Allowables for the Canyon lime producers in the North Snyder and in the Kelley fields of Scurry county are to be increased to 220 barrels per day, effective Nov. 1.

That production will be permitted for 20 producing days during the month, acording to instructions received by the Midland district office of the oil and gas division of the Railroad commission of Texas, from the commission's headquarters in Austin.

Allowable for the North Snyder and Kelley fields during October has been at the rate of 140 barrels of oil per day for 19 producing days.

No changes have been reported for the allowables of the Diamond-M and Sharon Ridge-Canyon fields

X-Ray Unit Examines 2,085 In Legion Hall

The total number of Lubbock county residents receiving free X-ray examinations at the American Legion hall since Wednesday was 2,085, the Lubbock county Tuberculosis association reported at 6 p.m. Friday.

The examinations will be given from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. today and will be given each day next week except Armistice Day.

Among those receiving examinations Friday were employes of the Hilton and Lubbock hotels and high school students from Cooper.

The examinations are financed by taxes and provided by the State Health department.

Two Killed In Crash Landing Of Air Force Transport Plane

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 4. (AP)—An Air Force "flying boxcar" belly-landed on a muddy cotton-field near here today, killing a crew member and one of the hundred pickers working in the field.

Another worker, a negro woman, was critically injured.

The dead worker was tentatively identified as Robert Brown, negro, of Shreveport; the injured picker as Thelma Evans of Shreveport.

The dead crewman's name is being withheld until next-of-kin are notified. Other crewmen received minor injuries.

The C-82 transport with nine aboard lost an engine seconds after its takeoff from Barksdale Air Force base. At the precariously low altitude the good engine wouldn't maintain flight, the pilot said, so he crashlanded.

None of the crewmen were from Texas.

War Danger Is Seen In 1952

FORT WORTH, Nov. 4. (AP)—"If there is to be a war with Russia, I think it will come by the end of 1952," Larry Allen, Associated Press correspondent said here today.

Allen, Pulitzer Prize winner who has been stationed at Warsaw, Poland, added in an address before the 16th annual meeting of The Associated Press managing editor's association:

"I have three reasons for thinking this. By that time, Russia will have a supply of atomic bombs. Secondly, the Russians feel that Americans are disunited during any presidential-election year.

Marshall Plan End Watched

"Thirdly, the Russians believe that Marshall plan aid will run dry about that time. They think we can't keep on pumping money into Europe. When our financial aid to European countries is at an end, it will be much easier for them to step in and take over."

Lee Hills of The Miami (Fla.) Herald was elected president of the APMEA today. He succeeds William P. Steven of The Minneapolis Tribune.

Officers were elected by the association's board of directors. L. R. Blanchard of the Gannett newspapers was elected vice president. He is a resident of Rochester, N. Y. James S. Pope of The Louisville Courier-Journal was elected secretary and Wallace Lamoe of The Milwaukee Journal, treasurer.

News Sources Hit

Allen said that a foreign correspondent in Communist-run Poland finds that his news sources are constantly disappearing.

"Freedom to write and send dispatches from Poland means nothing if you can't get the news. Any Pole who becomes friendly with an American or any representatives of the western press soon vanishes.

The biggest continuing story in Poland today is the conflict between the Roman Catholic church and the Polish government, Allen said. Poland is a 96 per cent Catholic country.

"There are strong indications the Polish government may adopt laws which will control all church activities. A priest already faces five years in prison for excommunicating any Comunist. A new law provides this penalty on the grounds of denying the excommunicated Communist freedom of worship.

Government Holds Edge

"In the war between church and state, only the government can win. It commands the power and the tens of thousands of security police who are ever alert to close the mouth of anyone who talks against the government."

Allen said it is significant that

QUALITY CITIZENSHIP

Election Interest

THE past few weeks have supplied additional and significant evidence of the quality of Lubbock and South Plains citizenship. It has been demonstrated by the interest of individuals and organizations in trying to inform themselves concerning the 10 proposed amendments to the State Constitution upon which Texans will vote next Tuesday.

We would not go so far as to say that this is a condition peculiar to our own area.

But it is a fact that, as a rule, the great majority of people pay little attention to elections of this kind. Most of them don't vote at all. Too many who go to the polls vote without pretense of real comprehension of the proposals on the ballot.

We don't know how many Lubbock and South Plains residents will go to the polls next Tuesday. We hope the number will be large. But we believe it is a cinch that, in comparison with other portions of the State, the number of ballots will be among the largest in Texas. And, in the vast majority of instances, they will be cast with an understanding of the issues which has been feeling that their city inspired by the feelin gthat their duty and responsibility as a citizen required them to inform themselves concerning them.

It is an exemplification of citizenship of the highest quality— unsurpassed any where in Texas and, unfortunately, matched in relatively few geographical regions of our State.

State's Rights Champion

THE announcement that James Francis "Jimmy" Byrnes is thinking about running for governor of South Carolina will intrigue students of politics and public affairs. It should be of primary interest to every American who believes in state's rights.

"Jimmy" Byrnes, one of the abler public men of our times, has had almost every public honor any man could desire, except that of the presidency and the governorship of his state.

He has been a member of his state legislature; of the National House of Representatives; of the United States Senate.

During time of war, he served as "assistant President" in charge of the home front in both the industrial and the economic fields. He has been a member of the United States Supreme court and he has been U. S. Secretary of State.

Since his retirement from public life —and a voluntary retirement it was and is—Mr. Byrnes has been practicing law in Washington. As he has done so he has not failed to note the constantly increasing encroachment of the federal government on states' affairs and he has become fearful of the consequences. Hence, at a time in life when he might be expected to withdraw from politics, he is considering re-entering public life in order to be better able to fight for a principle.

"Jimmy" Byrnes' aggressive position regarding state's rights is important because of his knowledge of law and of government and because he has been so long identified with legislation and its interpretation. But even so, his stand is more important because he is the same "Jimmy" Byrnes who for so many years went along with the New Deal in its every particular—including its assault on state's rights—and because he was one of the first lieutenants of the era's outstanding opponent of state's rights, the late President Franklin Roosevelt. In short, "Jimmy" Byrnes "has seen the light."

Whether or not Mr. Byrnes runs for governor of South Carolina, the mere fact that he admits the seriousness of federal regimentation is a public service.

In itself it may be sufficient to arouse active interest of others—especially of Southerners who have the most at stake in the matter of federal usurpation of authority.

Old Dobbin had his faults, but you never had to send for wrecker service to get him back to town.

Simile: As tight-lipped as an European diplomat.

Look Who's Annoyed By The Big Hat

Someone To Love

BY IRENE LONNEN ERNHART
Distributed By NEA, Inc.

(THE STORY: Jenny has obtained a divorce from Ted Duncan and has received custody of their twin sons, but the decree will not become final for six months. Jenny looks back on the two unhappy years with Ted, who was unable to forget Liz Conover, to whom he will be married when the divorce is final. There had been financial worries, disillusionment and misery. But now she hoped that Rick Morris, who is in love with her, will take Ted's place in her heart. Meanwhile, Ted has quarreled with Liz, who says that he has no talent and the only way he landed a job with her father's firm was through her.)

XXX

LIZ had some ideas for filling up hose six months she had to wait before her marriage to Tod. First, a trip to Sunrise Valley with some friends. "You'll just adore it, Tod."

"But—"

"It's all right, Tod," Mr. Conover boomed smoothly. "You're practically one of the family. If Liz thinks you need a vacation from the office, off you go!"

For the rest of the day Jenny's small thin face haunted him. He had to keep pushing it out of his mind. "That's all finished," he kept telling himself grimly. "It was never right and we both knew it and now it's all over. And neither of us cares."

Jenny had let Rick persuade her to take the rest of the day off. She couldn't bear to be around people, to feel Nina's commiserating eyes and catch the whispers of the girls at the shop.

"Let's drive out into the country and find some nice place to have lunch," Rick suggested. "Just the two of us."

It sounded good. With Rick she didn't have to pretend. She phoned Nina from a drug-store booth and said she wouldn't be back. It was soothing just to lean her head against the seat and watch the pavement slide swiftly beneath the car as Rick drove.

Rick pulled the car into the gravel drive of a small lo cabin lode. A red neon sin out front kept blinking "Eat." He put his arm around her in a comradely way. "Don't torture yourself, Jenney It's no good."

She tried to return his smile. But there was a lump in her throat all at once. "I'm not torturing myself, but I can't help thinking about it."

"Look, hon," Rick said. "You lay awake nights before the divorce worrying yourself sick about it. You've lost weight. But now it's all over and settled and you've got to brace up like a good girl and get back your sense of humor and start building something new. Right?"

She nodded, her eyes burning. "Yes, Rick?"

Their eyes clung for an instant. "Will you marry me, when that six months is up?"

She stared at him. Something inside her whispered to tell him yes now and have it settled, something to build on, something to shut out all the unhappiness of the past weeks, and this morning in that courtroom.

* * *

HE took her hand, and his arm encircling her shoulder tightened a little. "We'll have such a wonderful life together, Jenny, the four of us. I'll make everything up to you. I'd do anything for you You know that, don't you?"

She nodded again, mutely.

She hated to hurt him. "I'd like to, Ricky, believe me. But—"

He saw her hesitation. "Well," he said slowly, "just don't say no. That will be enough. Maybe I should have waited to ask you —until you'd eaten—or maybe I should have been more subtle about it—dined you and—wined you!" He laughed — and her laughter mingling suddenly with his was a welcome surprise to them both.

For such a beginning as the day had had, it didn't turn out badly. They went to a movie that afternoon and came home to find that Mrs. Drew had prepared an extra special dinner, with all Jenny's favorite dishes. And Ricky helped her bathe the twins and put them to bed. Seeing him struggling to get Dale's squirming little body into the new pink sleepers, Jenny felt a tug of regret that she hadn't given him "yes" for an answer this afternoon.

Tod had never bathed one of the twins, or helped get them to bed. On the other hand, as long as she had known Rick, he had been like that—always wanting to help with the children. He was crazy about kids. Life with Rick would really be wonderful. How silly she was not to give in and start planning!

But something held her back. She couldn't quite take the step.

* * *

OCTOBER came, warm hazy days, with leaves from the maples drifting golden in the sunlight. Jenny took a Saturday off from the shop and raked leaves with Rick and the twins. The children each had a red wheelbarrow their father had brought them on his last visit. He had not come out since the trial. Jenny wondered if he had gotten the impression he wasn't to see the children any more. She had

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

LET us look at this matter of strikes from a strictly human point of view.

The best way to do that, I think is to take a specific case.

BRANDEIS

After five-and-a-half-months the Singer Sewing Machine Company strike was settled some days ago.

The striking employees voted to accept a new contract which grants none of the major demands over which they walked out on May 2.

According to reports, the walkout cost 7,500 members of the union involved an estimated 12 million dollars in wages.

That is $1,600 for each striker.

Now let us say that the strike had brought each of the workers an extra ten cents an hour.

In order to make up for the loss caused by idleness they would have to work 16,000 hours each to have the increase repay them for this loss.

Or, figure it any way you want to, a 168-day loss of pay is a pretty poor investment on such a small return.

No matter how you look at it, what is gained by a strike?

Has anything ever been accomplished by a strike that could not have been accomplished much more quickly and cheaply by sitting down as human beings and talking things over the way people settle family differences or business differences between "equals"?

Please notice that I have put "equals" in quotation marks. Because in reality employers and employees are equals.

But, somehow, rabble rousers have established an idea that there is a difference between Capital and Labor, that Capital considers itself superior to Labor and tries to exploit it.

"Capital," to use that foolish expression for a moment, would be stupid indeed to bite the hand that feeds it.

Not that it has not been done in the past — else we would not have this feeling of antagonism between Capital and Labor.

But, in my opinion, no halfway intelligent member of "Capital" is foolish enough to imagine that he could long remain in the "Capital" category if he did not realize that Labor is entitled to its share and has a right to demand it.

AN American without Capital, which is the basis of all free enterpirse, would be about the same as an army without officers.

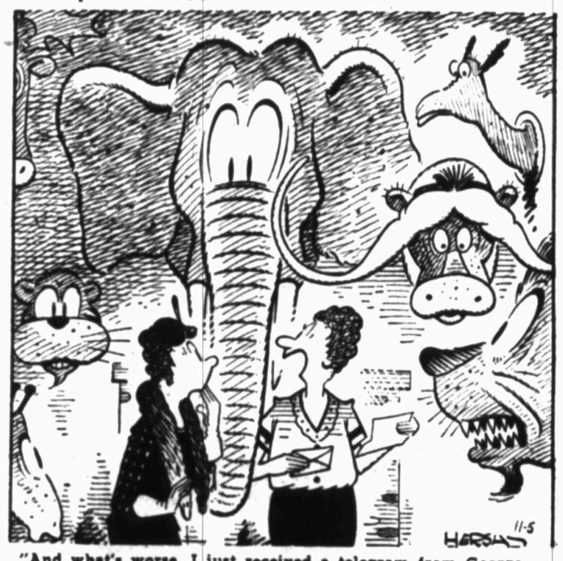

In every free undertaking there must be leaders and followers. No person in his right mind will maintain that the leaders who have put years of planning and studying and millions of dollars into their enterprises are not entitled to more money than those those whose only investiment is eight hours a day.

No will anyone in his right mind maintain that the stockholder who invests his savings in an enterprise is not entitled to a fair return on the money which he himself earned and had the wisdom to lay by.

Unfortunately there are too many false leaders who use Labor for their own enrichment and fattening. If they had to serve without pay while their unions are on strike, I wonder how many strikes there would be.

I don't say I am right. That's just the way it looks to me from where I sit.

"And what's worse, I just received a telegram from George saying that he's killed a whale!"

TIN OUTPUT IS LOW

U. S. Seeking Metals

By ROGER WARREN
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Whether the new Yukon gold discovery peters out or turns up a nugget as large as the record Australian "Welcome Stranger," officials of the U. S. Bureau of Mines won't be excited.

This is not necessarily because Washington is more interested in shoveling out gold than in finding it.

Our gold production is adequate for our needs. Since Columbus' time the total dug, if molded together, would make a monument 20 feet in diameter and 140 feet high. Fort Knox is bulging with bullion.

"If the Alaskan prospectors had only found tin," a Department of Interior expert exclaimed to me, "that really would be thrilling. We have almost no tin output, yet ever since it was used in King Solomon's temple, it has been one of the most important metals.

"A trickle comes from Alaska and South Dakota. But most of our supply is from Bolovia, Malaya and the Dutch East Indies. We were severely pinched when the Japs cut off the Pacific."

PRECIOUS: Gold is worth $35 an ounce; iridium, used in dentistry, is listed at $165. There are other metals more precious today than gold and, of course, in an atomic age, uranium and plutoniam are more vital.

The government is searching for minerals which we do not have in abundance. Official prospectors and geological surveys are all the time poking around. Department of Interior laboratories in different parts of the country are finding new ways of developing sub-marginal deposits and new uses for rare metals and alloys.

A sensational "find" is titanium, which although an element between iron and copper in quantity, could not be produced commercially until the Bureau of Mines recently developed an economical process. It makes white paint. But as it is as tough as stainless steel and as light as aluminum, it can be used in airplanes and in high-speed textile spindles for manufacturing cheaper cloth.

EXPLODES: Another new wonder mineral is perlite, whose possibilities government experiment stations are probing. It is a curious, lightweight volcanic glass, found in the West, containing entrapped water, which explodes like popcorn when heated. Mixed with certain cements, it makes sound-proof plaster and refrigerator insulation. Unlike light cork, it is fire and mildew-proof.

Florida bathing beauties may avoid the black sands in parts of the coast, but not government scientists and private firms. They gather from the beaches a mineral called zirconium, brought together in tiny particles by the action of the waves.

It is employed commercially for refractories, enamels and pottery glazes. But Uncle Sam is particularly interested because in alloys its withstands the extraordinary high temperature in gas turbines and jet planes. And women will like it, since, as a gem stone, it is next to the diamond in brilliance and fire.

OIL: Interior Department scientists also are developing economical methods of extracting oil from shale. The Louisiana, Mo., Federal laboratory is experimenting with liquid fuels drawn from coal. "Coal juice" has been utilized in Scotland but it is too expensive, too competitive here.

These advances forecast that the United States can count on new sources of fuel and power when our petroleum wells approach exhaustion.

Most so-called unexplored areas in the United States and Mexico have been searched by treasure hunters. But in Alaska and Canada are still untouched regions. New sources of iron, copper and nickel have been located in the Dominion and new coal and oil in Alaska.

GOLD: Two types of mining extract gold: Placer (surface) and lode (deep vein). Panning by hand, such as practiced in the recent Alaskan strike, in general has given way to big dredging operations, scooping up lower grade ores in gravel. Heavy machinery to dig and break underground rock containing bits of gold also is common.

Veteran "desert rats," who occasionally visit the Bureau of Mines, recall yarns about balky burros, which kicked mountain trail embankments and accidently uncovered glittering nuggets. But Washington metallurgists think that such miracles are exceptionally rare. Still, they say, an avalanche, wash-out or earthquake could expose another Comstock Lode—so there's always hope.

THREATENED: Alaska, the territory of the recent Fishwheel luck, follows Utah, California, Colorado and Nevada in American production of gold. The first nugget was discovered near Sitka by a Russian when the czar owned the place. But his bosses feared that a gold rush would ruin their fur trade, so they threatened him with 100 lashes—modern Russian fashion—if he didn't quit digging.

Bureau of Mines records reveal that in the first Klondike boom in 1896, a miner brought dust worth $600 into a Dawson City saloon. A coupe of bar pals filled him with raw whiskey and then persuaded him that his claim was wrothless. He swapped it for another strip.

When he sobered up and examined his property, he decided that he had been badly gypped. But he thought he might as well dig for a day or two.

He hit the jackpot. His shaft became the famous No. 29 El Dorado Creek claim, which eventually yielded gold valued at $1,250,000. The original miner cashed in early, married a girl who had told him she would not wed until he was rich, later went broke and wound up working as a day laborer in a British Columbia mine.

STOCKPILING: Uncle Sam is draining many of his mineral resources fast. Hence Interior is stockpiling metals from abroad as a reserve in war, finding new metals and alloys, and developing methods for utilizing economically our great waste heaps and mines of low grade ore.

U. S. ATTENTION ON CONTEST

GOP Has Stake In Senate Race

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—What happens in the special senatorial election in New York next week has a meaning for the Republican party in the matter of future policy, technique and approach beyond its obvious aspects.

However it comes out, it will be analyzed closely by the various elements of the Republican party —staunch conservatives, moderates and progressives—as a possible guide for the future attitude and strategy of the party.

Basically, next Tuesday's statewide senatorial election offers a test of the Truman Fair Deal at a critical stage in its unfolding. It is that undoubtedly upon which most people will be voting despite the inanities, silly side issues, cries of "you're another" and figurative writing on fences which, paradoxically, have featured this contest between two very distinguished and normally dignified elder citizens—Senator John Foster Dulles and former Governor Herbert H. Lehman.

STOKES

Issues In Election

The latter has made the Truman administration's record the issue, broadly. So has the President, himself.

What is significant in the Republican approach is that Senator Dulles in his campaign has chosen to lump the whole Truman program into a very unpleasant package which he calls "statism." He has, in effect, created out of it a new and dangerous philosophy and is riddling that philosophy. This is in the current fashion of the more conservative element of his party.

HE did, it is true, yield somewhat in his earlier rigid stand against further liberalization of social security, conceding there should be some expansion of the long-established principle. But generally his has been an all-out attack on a political philosophy that he sees in the Truman Fair Deal. He has refused to be drawn into specifications as to what he would dispense with in the Truman Fair Deal and the Roosevelt New Deal before it, with one striking exception. He is outspoken in his opposition to the Truman health insurance plan, and Mr. Lehman also does not like that.

It has been the failure to specify that has been the Republican party's weakness heretofore. The number of Republicans who have voted for some of the measures that constitute the Fair Deal, as well as the New Deal, probably explains that.

If Senator Dulles should win, that victory of itself would embolden the conservatives in his party who are demanding the all-out, all-along-the-line, no compromise assault on the Democratic position. They still would claim sustenance and comfort if he lost by only a narrow margin.

A decisive defeat, on the other hand, would provide ammunition for those in the party who have been advocating a detailed, up-to-date, positive program providing for changes in our economy of a gradual sort. Just now this moderate or progressive element is in the minority in high party councils.

GOP Outlook Confusing

In its recent lean years the Republican party has presented a confused front to the public which Republicans, themselves, will admit as quickly as anyone else. This is, in truth, not an unnatural development for a party suddenly confronted with a popular revolution, as it was in 1932. That usually is a shattering sort of experience. Democrats fell heir to it and have skillfully capitalized it since.

Republican presidential candidates of this era, even including the first in 1932, Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas, and on through the late Wendell L. Willkie and Governor Thomas E. Dewey found it expedient as candidates to accept the fact of this revolution and many of the reforms found necessary to meet it. At the same time the party in Congress, with some exceptions, balked repeatedly, so that the public could never be quite sure where the party stood in these critical years.

IN a sense the New York election is a national election. It has attracted national attention as has no by-election in many years. For the first time the Republican party is taking through Senator Dulles the more conservative position of the congressional leadership rather than the compromise attitude of some of its leaders. This, in a way, is a bit strange, since Governor Dewey is in this fight to the hilt. Mr. Dulles saying things that Governor Dewey, himself, never said in his national campaigns.

The impact of the election on the Republican party, itself, should not be overlooked in any analysis of its outcome.

INCOME TAX EVASION ADMITTED

Fort Worth Judge Refuses To Sentence Former Car Dealers

FORT WORTH, Nov. 4. (AP).—Judge James C. Wilson today declined to impose sentence on two former Amarillo automotible dealers who pleaded guilty to charges of income tax evasion of more that $70,000.

Judge Wilson said it was a matter of how much money the two owed the government and not a question of punishment.

Harvey E. Southworth, formerly of Amarillo, was charged with the major shares of the evasion. William Albert Meyers, the other defendant was formerly associated with him.

Briefs To Be Submitted

Judge Wilson, instead of imposing sentence, declared the question revolved around how much money the two owed the government and ordered U. S. Attorney Potter and John Fullingim, Amarillo attorney representing the two, to submit briefs on the amount due.

Potter told the judge any discrepancy in the amount due was "a civil matter" and Fullingim told the court it appeared what was in order was for the court to fix a punishment, "with a fine or the penitentiary as punishment."

"Punishment?" Judge Wilson queried, "oh, no under the circumstances it is not a question of punishment." He said tax matters were set by law.

Southworth and Meyers were released after court adjourned.

The two in pleading guilty waived indictment by a federal grand jury and venue as the case was within Dallas jurisdiction as that was where the alleged erroneous returns were filed.

Fullingm stated in court his clients had withheld certain sums from their income tax returns in 1943 and 1944 because they were selling cars at over-ceiling prices in violation of the law and did not want their returns to give them away.

He said they kept either records or cash on all illegal transactions, though, with the intention of paying the tax when OPA price ceilings came off.

They paid the tax later in amended returns the attorney said adding they do not owe any further sums and never intended to beat their government out of a dollar."

This was denied by Potter who asked that Sam W. Clark, special internal revenue agent, be allowed to speak.

Clark said there was a discrepancy of $71,382 between the sum owed and the amount paid in the original and the amended returns and that there was a fraud penalty of 50 percent on such violations.

Fullingim declared he and his clients were not aware any further sum was owed and declared they had cooperated in the investigation and would pay any further money owed.

Potter in presenting the information on which the two men pleaded guilty referred to Southworth as "being known throughout the Panhandle for black market operations during the war years — but otherwise of good reputation."

He reminded that Southworth paid fines of $1,500 and $10,000 on guilty pleas to OPA car price violations during the war in Judge Wilson's court and was told on the occasion of the second fine "not to appear in my court again on a similar charge."

Corsicana Man Convicted Of Bank Robbery Freed On Bond

DALLAS, Nov. 4. (U.P.)—Ollie Otto Prince, 44-year-old former Corsicana used car dealer convicted as a bank robber, was freed today on bonds totaling $22,500.

Mrs. Ethel Ollinger, Dallas apartment house owner, signed the bond for the former cattle dealer who was convicted of robbing the First State bank of Rice in November, 1948. He was sentenced to serve ten years by a federal court last March.

The case was appealed and $10,000 of the money was an appeal bond set on the Rice conviction. The other $12,500 was an appearance bond to assure that he would be in court in Waco, Nov. 21, in answer to charges that he entered the First National bank of Mount Calm, Tex., in November, 1946, "with intent to rob."

Prince already has made a similar bond in a case charging him with robbing the Malone State bank of $15,764 in October, 1948.

He was convicted of taking $4,002.39 from the Rice bank, and had been held in Dallas county jail awaiting appeal action.

Prince was arrested by agents of the Federal Bureau of investigation after they had traced several $2 bills taken in the Rice robbery to a dice game in his Corsicana used car lot.

More Money Put Into Circulation Expected To Ease Nation's Post-Christmas Letdown

BY SAM DAWSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. — The economic needle is loaded for a couple of shots in the arm in January. This may come in quite handy for merchants at the time of the traditional post-Christmas letdown. And some observers see the nation getting set for a new inflationary upswing.

Veterans will be receiving between two and three billion dollars in insurance refunds. And one million and a half workers will get a pay raise of five to ten cents an hour when the revised minimum wage law goes into effect at the end of January, boosting employers' annual wage bill about $300 million. Both of these things will put more spending money in the nation's pockets.

Strikes Cut Production

Inflation occurs when there is more spending money available, but the amount of goods to buy is not increased. That leads to price rises. Earlier this year production of goods was cut back and inventories whittled because sales and prices were dropping. This fall strikes have reduced production of many goods.

Some see the minimum wage and the veterans' refund in January as but another two items added to many others exerting pressure toward inflation. The most important one they see is the government's policy of deficit financing, which will run the treasury another $5.5 billion behind by June 30, thus pumping that much more money into the banking system of the country.

The stock market has been reflecting this expected renewal of inflation. The market value of stocks has been increased by $10 billion since June 30. All of this, of course, is just on paper. All of that $10 billion has not, probably never will, find its way into the spending stream. And paper profits can always disappear, just as they came, on paper.

Against these upward trends, however, are others acting as a drag, tending to keep sales and prices down. Therefore, some economists insist that 1950 will either be a year of mild deflation, or one in which inflation and deflation fight to a draw.

Labor's drive for pensions, if won, may send production costs of many goods higher, but at the same time either leave the worker's takehome pay the same, or even less if he contributes to pensions. That means less money available to buy more costly goods, and retail sales totals may drop further. Department store sales have been running 14 per cent behind last year, but in the last week picked up smartly and are now only 7 per cent behind.

U. S. Strengthens Position In Cold War By Restricting Sales To Reds

BY J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

The United States has slapped new restrictions on shipment of strategic materials to the Soviet sphere almost simultaneously with their relaxation with regard to Yugoslavia, the former Russion satellite which is now opposing the Kremlin.

The immediate objective seems to be to extend to China the re-shipment controls which have been operating in Europe. Under the system, countries which receive certain strategic materials are prevented from re-shipping them to the Soviet bloc.

Included are many raw materials, certain iron and steel products, and an important list of machinery. Electrical machinery, of which Russia has always been short, is specifically covered.

Control Is Made Stronger

Until now Communist China has been eligible to buy such materials. Now the controls have been made world-wide.

It is a part of the initiative in the cold war which the allies have gradually been taking away from Russia since she tried and failed to drive them out of Berlin with her air-frustrated blockade.

The order has little effect on actual trade with Communist China, of which there is very little.

But it may involve other complications.

In Europe the American policy on restrictions of exports has served to prevent such shipments of materials even when they are European-produced. The Marshall plan countries have been virtually required not to buy such American supplies while shipping its own.

Britain Needs Trade

The situation, then, may have a particular effect on Britain, who is intent on continuing as much of her important Chinese trade as possible. That is why Britain is interested in early recognition of the Chinese Communist government while the United States continues to hold off.

The United States apparently considers these complications as less important than a new demonstration that nations which want the good things of life are far more likely to find them in alignment with the West than in the promises of communism.

War Danger

although the Polish constitution carries the right of habeas corpus, not one of all the thousands of Poles who have been arrested during any Communist. A new law provides this penalty on the grounds of denying the excommunicated Communist freedom of worship.

The meeting will close tomorrow noon.

Eight directors were elected by the membership of the association to serve for three years. They are:

Michael Gorman of The Flint, Mich., Journal; James E. Jarvis of the Chattanooga Times, Vincent S. Jones of the Utica Observer Dispatch; William S. Lampe of The Detroit Times; Walter Lister of The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, Raymond A. McConnell, jr., of The Lincoln State Journal; David Patten of The Providence Journal and C. G. Wellington of The Kansas City Star.

The association's executive committee was empowered to select a site for the 1950 convention.

FABULOUS COLLECTION OF CLOTHES, JEWELS SHOWN

FORT WORTH, Nov. 4 (AP)—Editors got an eye-opening glimpse of what their women readers like at a fabulous fashion show staged for the Associated Press managing editors association today at WBAP-TV studios here.

Topped by a collection of 10 Paris couture designs and flanked by an array of $8,000,000 worth of gems, the show gave a preview of spring 1950 styles which included selections from leading French, American and English designers.

"Fashions of the western world" as presented under auspices of The Fort Worth Star-Telegram was frankly designed to give the editors an insight into why their women readers are keenly interested in fashion news.

Detectives unobtrusively had the studio under heavy guard as the $1,000,000 Jonker diamond and other costly and historic pieces from the largest collection of gems ever assembled for one style show in the United States were pridefully displayed by lissome models.

State Hospital

itory for children, four more classrooms, and a combined administration building and reception room where relatives of the children may visit them. Now such visiting is done in the auditorium.

Peak estimates that better than 50 per cent of its graduates make good, and many of them have become outstandingly successful.

The contrast with Mexia both in physical equipment, type of person, and prospects for their future is shocking.

For the 848 senile at Mexia, there is no future but living out their drab lives in an institution. For the subnormal children, the only hope is the state will bring into play every device to train what minds they have to the point where they can earn their own living and make satisfactory adjustments to life outside.

The percentage of those reclaimed would go up, officials said, if the occupational training facilities were increased both as to equipment and personnel.

Among the urgent needs listed by Dr. Thomas were six ward buildings to cost $2,880,000; an occasional therapy building, $65,000; administration building and hospital, $500,000; employes quarters, $250,000; school $100,000.

Bond Vote Approved

other bond election to provide for their needs then will be considered, probably to be held next summer.

They agreed, however, that action of the sewage disposal needs cannot be deferred without peril to the community health. The city already has far outgrown the present disposal plant, designed to serve the needs of approximately 50,000 people.

Of the sewage bonds to be proposed, $400,000 will be for the enlargement of the disposal plant and $150,000 for the laying of trunk "collection" lines.

Church Building Offered

The commission also agreed that attempts to obtain needed highway dispersal rights of way cannot be deferred without risk that the cost of the property needed will rise further. The extensions specifically mentioned included Nineteenth eastward from Texas avenue to East Broadway, Fourth street and Avenue A.

In regard to the Broadway Church of Christ, Mayor W. H. Rodgers said the present church building has been offered to the city for $135,000. This includes 135 feet of property fronting on Broadway and extending about 140 feet northward to the alley.

The mayor and Commissioner John Spikes were asked to discuss the proposal further with officials of the church.

The city manager also was directed to seek the advice of an architect as to whether the present building is suitable for conversion into a public library and to estimate the cost.

The building, started in 1922 and completed in 1925, will be vacated when the new edifice of the Broadway church on Broadway at Avenue T is completed.

A $500,000 city bond issue was voted in 1947 for a public library. The bonds have not been sold. They would supply the financing for any library project the commission might undertake.

Lubbock Man Faces Second Robbery Charge In Amarillo

AMARILLO, Nov. 4 (Special)—L. H. Moore, 26-year-old Lubbock man, faced a second charge of armed robbery here today after witnesses had identified him as one of three men who robbed a Piggly Wiggly store here of $135 June 22.

Moore, arrested at Crosbyton Tuesday, previously had been charged, along with 25-year-old twin brothers Lee and Leo Rader, with the $10,000 hijacking June 9 of another Amarillo market.

Bonds for Moore have been set at a total of $12,500. The California twins, arrested in Lubbock Oct. 9, also have been charged in both cases.

Three Of Ten Airmen Lost In Crash Of B-29 Identified

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Nov. 4 (INS)—The U. S. Air Force today identified three of the ten men who were believed to have perished when their B-29 Superfortress "Hurricane Hunter" exploded and crashed in flames into the sea 300 yards from Kindley Air base.

Four members of the ill-fated craft which crashed last night were rescued by fast-thinking eye witnesses who rushed to the scene in rowboats but one died before he reached a hospital.

The trio identified as missing were Major Roy H. Bruns, the pilot, Brookfield, Ind.; 1st Lt. Andrew J. Rooks, the co-pilot of College Park, Ga., and Staff Sgt. Preston L. Treadway of Chelsea, Okla.

The Air Force also identified the three men who cheated death. They were Capt. Clee S. Maddoc, radar officer of Kokomo, Ind., who was seriously injured with facial burns, dislocated elbow and undetermined head and abdominal injuries; Tech Sgt. John J. Fisher, Great Neck, N. Y., and Sgt. Gaspero M. Tornatore, radar technician of Poughkeepsie.

Names of all other personnel were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Gaines Wildcat

for November, according to Railroad commission executives.

TEST IS SLATED ON NEW SCURRY WILDCAT

S. B. Roberts of Abilene, and associates No. 1 Lewis, central-west Scurry county wildcat, seven miles west of Snyder, and 467 feet from south and west lines of the southeast quarter of section 256, bloc 97, H&TC survey, was drilling plug on a string of 5 1/2-inch casing which had been cemented at 6,841 feet, over total depth of 6,868 feet.

When the plug is punctured operator will test the open hole and if it fails to develop commercial production the venture probably will be deepened.

Top of the Canyon reef was at 6,836 feet. Elevation is 2,438. That interval developed 60 feet of drilling mud with a rainbow show of oil during a one and one half hour drillstem test.

The exploration is two miles northwest of the Kelley-Canyon field and one and one half miles northeast of the nearest producer on the northeast side of the Diamond M field.

7,000 FOOT TEST SET NORTH OF SNYDER

Claud B. Hamill has staked location and is to begin drilling soon at his No. 2 Lois Sears Sentell, contracted 7,000-foot exploration to test the Canyon reef lime in the North Snyder field of north-central Scurry county, six miles north of Snyder.

The proposed drillsite is 359.3 feet from south and 467 feet from west lines of section 26, block 1, J. P. Smith survey.

Rotary tools will be used.

Standard Oil company of Texas also made location for its No. 2-8 J. W. Brown in the North Snyder field.

No. 2-8 Brown will be 467 feet from north and 680 feet from east lines of section 440, block 97, H&TC survey.

It is projected to 7,000 feet to test the Canyon reef lime.

Standard completed its No. 9-8 J. W. Brown in the North Snyder field for a calculated 24-hour potential of 1,716 barrels of 44 gravity oil, and no water.

Flowing natural through a 32/64th inch tubing choke, the new producer was completed from open hole between the 7-inch oil string set at 6,591 feet and the total depth at 6,931 feet in the Canyon reef.

Flowing casing pressure was 550 pounds and the flowing tubing pressure was 750 pounds.

This new source of oil is 680 feet from north and east lines of the lease in section 449, block 97, H&TC survey.

American fruit trees soon will be growing in the upper reaches of India's Himalayas, where the Himachal Pradesh Government is importing plants of grapes, walnuts, apricots, almonds, apples, pears and cherries for large-scale plantings.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP) — Cotton futures were firm today, with mill buying against textile sales featuring the market. Hedge selling was light, despite continued heavy sales of spot cotton at the ten primary markets. The market was helped by private advices that mill demand for spot cotton continues good, covering a wide range of qualities, with the opinion of some dealers that mills still have a good deal of cotton to buy.

Cotton closed very steady.

Corn No. 2 white 1.55½-58½.

Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo, per 100 lbs. 2.08-13.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 4 (AP) — A small amount of export business helped sustain grain prices on the board of trade today. Dealings fell off from yesterday's rapid pace.

Some flour sales were made overnight to Holland, and lifting of hedges against these sales by mills gave wheat a firm tone. Holland also bought some oats. In corn, exporters reported sales of around 360,000 bushels to Ireland.

One weak spot in the grain market was July wheat. It sold off because of an estimate yesterday by an Agriculture department official that support levels next year would be about 10 cents less than this year.

Wheat closed ¾ lower to 1⅛ higher, December $2.13⅛, corn was ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, December $1.19⅛-¼, oats were ⅜-½ higher, December 73⅛; rye was ¾ to 1 cent lower, December $1.41, soybeans were unchanged to 1½ lower, November $2.23¾-2.24, and lard was 2 to 12 cents a hundred pounds lower, November $9.45.

Post Resident Injured In Car Wreck Reported Much Improved

SLATON, Nov. 4 (Special)—Fannie Bell Gordon, 43-year-old negro resident of Post whose left arm was severed above the elbow in a car-truck collision on the Slaton-Post highway Thursday night, was reported to be resting better and much improved late tonight in Mercy hospital here.

Texas Highway patrolmen said the negro woman was driving a 1940 Ford coach which collided with a 1948 Chevrolet semi-trailer driven by Eric Winston Ward, 25, of Aspermont. Ward was not injured.

A passing motorist, Bill Carter of Post, carried the woman to the hospital. He was credited with saving her life when he applied a tourniquet to the stump of her arm.

STRUGGLE CONSIDERED VALUABLE

'Ike' Urges Use Of Opportunity Rather Than Dream Of Security

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—General Eisenhower speaking (to the Columbia university freshmen). Listen:

"In these times when we hear so much of security, security for everything we do—when so many of us want to be sure that we shall never be cold, or hungry, or out in the rain, or have a leaky roof—I must tell you that you have come to the wrong place if you are seeking complete fulfillment of any ambition that deals with perfect security.

"In fact, I am quite certain that the human being could not continue to exist if he had perfect security. Life is certainly worthwhile only if it represents struggle for worthy causes, and there is no struggle in perfect security. I should think that the best example of it would be a man serving a lifetime in a federal prison.

Opportunity To Be Met

"But you are going to meet here at every turn, every day, all the time, opportunity. You are going to meet it by rubbing elbows with distinguished scholars in the faculty, and among your own student body, and from them you will learn, and you will grow in understanding, and you will grow to love the fight that opportunity brings. And I hope that by the end of the year and more especially by the end of the course, the word 'opportunity' will be one that you will nail to the masthead of your lifetime flag and follow forever.

"So Columbia, in attempting to make you welcome, simply says: Here, we believe, is opportunity for those who seek it, and if you enjoy your opportunities to the full you will have a lifetime of satisfaction and value to your nation, to yourself, and to your God."

Waiter Ignores Verdict

Now and then through the past year I have been writing about a New York waiter named Harry Lepselter who, with his wife, has refused to accept the verdict of the War department that their son was killed in a bomber crash in France on July 17, 1944.

His story aroused only pity in me, which perhaps wasn't valid enough for the newsprint needed to tell it. But he has fired in me and others a reflection of his own inshatterable hope.

A reader of these pieces, Mrs. Florence Baldy, of Carson City, Nev., has helped him distribute his pathetic "Have you seen this American flier?" posters through France, Germany and other countries. Mrs. Baldy also enlisted the aid of a German friend named Brigitte Pollmann, of Nuernberg.

Certain Similarity Seen

On Oct. 22 the head of a Nuernberg hospital, Dr. Ehrdmann, wrote the following to Brigitte Pollmann: "Your search - circulars referring to Sgt. Nat Lepselter were sent to our neurotic establishment in Lohr because there is present there a patient who was with us for some days in 1947. We think there is a certain similarity between that patient and Lepselter."

Also recently, Lepselter heard from a young German who told him that he had encountered a vacant-eyed American inquiring his way to Berlin. The German asked the youth his name and he replied, "Smith. I was shot down in France and I have trouble remembering things." He then asked the first name and the American said, brightening, "Nat. Of that I am sure. I gave myself the name Smith because it is easy to remember."

The Lepselters believe that somehow, incredibly, their dream is about to come true.

Friend Attempts Explanation

My friend Wayne C. Kilbourne, of Northwestern National life, was trying to explain to me today what the financial writers mean when they write, off-handedly, that government expenditures this year will amount to $42 billions.

"Change it into $10 bills and stack it, and the pile would reach 240 miles into the upper stratosphere," he began. "It is a third greater than the total cash receipts for all the produce from America's six million farms in 1948. It is more than the U. S. spent during the entire first world war, and more than we spent in the 142 years between 1776 and 1917. It equals the combined wages of a million manufacturing workers at present wage rates, for fifteen years. It means $1,050 for every American family. To get rid of it, at the rate we're spending it, you'd have to spend $80,000 a minute, 24 hours a day, seven days a week for 365 days."

Mind if I sit down?

Someone To Love

thought of phoning him, but then realizing that subconsciously there was another motive for the idea, abandoned it. Maybe Tod didn't care to see the children.

November now. How slowly the weeks went by, and how aimlessly, Jenny thought. Would it always be like this? Would she always feel inanimate, as though she were a figure in a dream, moving in an unreal world where nothing really mattered?

If she could only bring herself to tell Rick she would marry him, when the six months were up, there'd be something to look forward to.

December brought the usual hush of Christmas business to the shop. And there was a lot to do there, the holiday windows to plan, extra help to be interviewed and hired. She and Nina were both elated at the business they were doing. Jenny was trying to shop for the twins too, and plan their Christmas.

And then one day Tod phoned.
