Senate, House Deadlock On Law Allotment

Early Adjournment Treatens By Quarrel Over Amount To Be Given Hoover's Law Enforcement Commission

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—The senate and house became deadlocked today over the amount of money to be allowed the Hoover Law Enforcement commission for next year and the quarrel threatened early adjournment.

Chairman Wood of the house appropriations committee left the conference with senate representatives on the second deficiency bill saying the house would be asked to allow $200,000 for a continuation of the general inquiry by the commission, as requested by President Hoover.

Glass Opposed

Senator Glass, democrat, Virginia, who sponsored the senate move to limit the fund to $50,000 for a probation study alone, left the conference with the observation that any increase by the house would be subject to a point of order in the senate.

"I have an idea," he added, "that such a point will be made."

The senate and house conferences failed to finish adjusting the differences between the two branches on the bill and it will not come up in the house until tomorrow.

Meanwhile, President Hoover is ready to accept private contributions to complete the commission's investigation into law enforcement in the event congress stands by the senate's restriction.

Reported Favorable

Three house bills included in the Law Enforcement Commission's program were reported favorably to the senate judiciary committee today by sub-committees and will be considered tomorrow in a special committee session.

The messages are those amending the Jones act to provide for lesser punishment to petty offenders and defining petty offenses.

However, little hope was held out for action on the dry bills at this session. There is some opposition to the legislation in the senate.

Alexander Hurls Masterful Ball To Defeat Spudders

HOOKS AND SLIDES

Who's to Blame?
"I think you sports writers are overlooking a bet," writes J. H. "in giving these reports on the tremendous balling you do. The balling gets the customers all steamed up and they click the turnstiles merrily, only to see another foul fight. And you are blaming everybody but yourselves for the epidemic of fouls that we've suffered lately."

To which I am tempted to reply that were it not for J. H. and similar assorted suckers, there would be no foul fights because there would be no fight at all. But it would hardly be fair, Sylvester U. Sapp has taken abuse enough. It seems to me. He has paid and paid and paid.

Yes Tell 'Em, Sylvester
Sylvester U. Sapp, however, holds the answer to those foul fights in his lily white hand. Without patronage, the boxers, fair or foul, cannot continue. They will not play their larcenous tactics before empty seats. Let the Sylvester U. Sapp's stay away from the fights in large numbers, and it will not be long before the burglars within the ring get the idea that their stickup game is at an end.

I must agree with J. H., too, in a way, in his accusation of the men who write sporting news. The public was not adequately warned of the foul provisions in the recent Sharkey-Schmeling affair. The law which calls for a pro-rata basis of payment for the boxers in the event of a foul was suspended by New York's assinine boxing commissioners. This was at the insistence of Schmeling. This fact was not played up as it should have been before the fight.

The Supervisors
Being writers universally have taken up the cudgel against the strange practices of the boxing commissions of the various states. Sylvester U. Sapp knows this, but still he pays his money into the hands of robbers.

At this moment in the United States boxing is perilously close to the status of professional wrestling. This remedy and that is being brought forth. Hays, Bro, veteran New York boxing writer, suggests that fouls be abolished; that the boxer be given a rest upon claiming a foul, and ordered to continue thereafter. Joe Williams urges financial punishment and suspension for both fighters involved in a foul affair, with pro-rata payment. It has even been urged by some that the boxers wear pneumatic balloons around their groins.

Larceny is larceny, whether committed in an alley, on the high seas or in a prize ring. These foul practices must be treated as such. Ultimately, the fans themselves have the cure, the same panacea that is applied to bad drama or bad beer. That is, refuse to buy any more of it.

The Writers' Part
The boxing writer's part is to warn Sylvester U. Sapp of the character of the boxers and the people behind the scenes. If he has done that, his job is performed. If Sylvester is apprised of the burglarious nature of the "boys" involved, and still insists on throwing away his dime, who can help?

Fouls Are Banned By New York Body

NEW YORK, July 1. (AP)—The New York State Athletic commission solved the foul problem today. It decided there was no such thing as a foul in boxing. Mandell, lightweight champion, and Young Al Singer, the "Broux Beauty" who will battle him for the crown here July 17, the solemn fathers decided upon the most drastic action in the history of curb the cure that has fallen upon major fistfights. Singer and Mandell wanted a ruling that would prevent their match ending in a foul. They got it—with trimmings. The commission, harassed by the growth of the foul plague and already the sponsors of life saving petitions for a fourth low blow offender, decided to eliminate fouls entirely. Boxers will devise their own implements of protection, gain the approval of the commission and then go into battle with the knowledge that no matter what happens, there can be no claim of foul.

FIVE SENT TO PEN Prisoners Transferred From Jail To Federal Prisons

American Association Moguls Re-Pledge Allegiance To K. M. Landis And Reject Split Season

CHICAGO, July 1. (AP) — The threatened uprising against the "iron hand" rule of Kenesaw Mountain Landis over organized baseball faded unexpectedly today as the American Association club owners re-pledged their allegiance to him and rejected the split season proposal.

Called together for a special conference to consider a split season, the club owners adopted a resolution directing President Thomas J. Hickey to convey to K. M. Landis in expression of confidence and allegiance to the American Association to all final decisions of all disputed baseball matters made by the high commissioner.

The action indicated strongly the federal court suit filed by the Milwaukee club to restrain enforcement of the commissioner's transfer order on outfielder Bennett of the Brewers would be withdrawn.

Miss Elizabeth Lege, bank book-keeper told how two armed men entered the bank and locked her and Chester Griffin, cashier, in the vault after taking nearly $8,000. She identified Scrivner as being one of the two men and said that Johnny Martin, now in prison, was the other.

W. G. Peterson, Texas City car inspector, said that he saw Scrivner at the postoffice at about 10 o'clock in the morning, said "good morning" to him but did not get any reply, and later saw a man he identified as Scrivner come out of the bank with another man and get into a car and drive away. On a cross examination by defense counsel, Maury Hughes, he said he couldn't identify Scrivner.

A SAVING FOR THE COUNTY

FEDERAL designation for the Carlsbad Cavern highway means a great deal to the entire route, and to Lubbock as a point on that route. But it also means something concrete in the way of actual saving to this county in its paving project.

When Lubbock county voted for highway bonds there was no federal designation on the highway which runs from Lubbock to the Terry county line and thence into Brownfield. Furthermore, that part of the road was not subject to federal hard-surfacing aid. Cost of paving was to have been split between the county and the state without co-operation from the federal government but the designation of the route has changed all that.

When representatives of the Lubbock Chambers of Commerce and Board of City Development went to Washington and secured the federal designation of that highway they accomplished a rare stroke of good business, not only for the route itself but also for Lubbock county. The $65,000 or more saving is practically as much as the budget of the CC-BCD organization for a period of two years, which further accentuates the value of a civic organization which stays on the job.

MULTIPLIERS OF JOBS

The makers and unmakers of jobs hold a convention in Detroit; they are the mechanical engineers. They confess the charge of unmaking jobs. "We have been responsible in some measure," said one of the officials of their society, "for throwing men out of employment for the past 140 years. The extent of their influence is indicated by the fact that the convention of their national organization was attended by about 500 delegates coming from every part of the country.

The efforts of the mechanical engineer were not well understood or highly appreciated in the beginning. When he made a machine to spin and weave cotton, he was not popular with the folks who made a living by spinning and weaving by the old, slow hand processes. But gradually it came to be understood that the invention which threw some workers out of employment made jobs for many workers. The motor cars displaced the buggy factories. But thousands were employed in making automobiles, instead of hundreds that had made buggies. And with the advent of the automobile came the whole tremendous volume of servicing business; the garage business, the tire business, the gasoline and oil business and scores of others.

So also have developed the motion picture industry, which, while threatening jobs in some other sorts of amusements, has given employment to many thousands more. And with like results have come in the oil heating industry, the employment connected with the radio, aviation, electric light and power transmission and the whole train of manufacturing and distribution and servicing of equipment connected with these.

Perhaps the engineers would better be known as multipliers of jobs.

POLITICAL MORTALITY RATE AMONG PRESENT SENATORS UNUSUALLY HIGH THIS YEAR

By CHARLES F. STEWART, Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 1.—It is a considerable distinction to be re-nominated for the senate this year. The political mortality rate among "sitting" senators is terrific.

Thus far only two of them, in the ranks of those whose turn it is to stand for re-election next November, have proved themselves strong enough to beat opposition in their own party primaries. Senators McMaster of South Dakota and Schall of Minnesota faced fights and won them. Now it is up to them to win in the autumn if they can.

Senators McNary of Oregon and Stock of Iowa also have been re-nominated, but they were unopposed—McNary because he had his state's G. O. P. organization completely under his thumb. Stock because a Hawkeye Democrat's chances are considered so dubious that no one else desired his place on the ticket.

McMaster and Schall were named as progressives—McMaster notably so. Schall began his term conservatively (in fact, he defeated Magnus Johnson, the Farmer-Labor senator) and developed insurgency gradually, with occasional lapses, winding up apparently 100 per cent. however.

McMaster's record was consistent. Of the 12 progressives who finally voted against the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill he was one of the five who also had the courage to vote against it in the form in which the senate originally passed it. If the whole 12 had stood as pat the first time as Blaine, LaFollette, McMaster, Norbeck and Norris did, the bill's ultimate fate might have been different. However, Borah, Brookhart, Frazier, Howell, Nye, Pine and Schall weakened on the initial test of strength and, although they flipped over later, the tariffites had strengthened their lines in the meantime and won—minus' debenture, plus flexibility and very much to the satisfaction of the "regulars."

The gallant five's judgment was vindicated anyway, and their grit was demonstrated—especially McMaster's and Norris', with re-nomination and re-election campaigns right ahead of them—and their defiance of the administration bound to be used against them by their opponents.

Senators Deneen of Illinois, Grundy of Pennsylvania and Simmons of North Carolina, as we know, already have been beaten for re-nominations—Deneen and Grundy on the Republican and Simmons on the Democratic ticket.

Senator Herlin of Alabama is difficult to classify, not having had an opportunity to be defeated because his party management refused to recognize him as a Democrat, forcing him to run independently—which he is doing, however; so it cannot exactly be said he is out of the race either.

As per their succession of announcements weeks ago Senators Baird, Gillett, Gould, Phipps and Sullivan, respectively of New Jersey, Massachusetts, Maine, Colorado and Wyoming, have not been candidates for re-nominations this year at any stage of the proceedings; nor has Senator Goff, since he looked over the West Virginia situation and his health failed—he thought it is equal to a diplomatic appointment if he can get one. And Senator Brook is an aspirant only for the remainder of an unfinished Tennessee term lasting until next March's adjournment.

Thus ten senators, at least, and accounted for who will disappear from public life with the end of the Seventy-first congress, and these are several others who are doubtful—the vicissitudes of both primaries and of election day being taken into consideration.

For instance, it never is judicious to say that such a state as New Mexico is wholly safe for a Democrat. Like Senator Bratton, or that Republican, such as Senators Hastings, Metcalf, Pipe and Robinson, can reckon with entire confidence on as changeable a quartet of states as Delaware, Rhode Island, Oklahoma and Kentucky.

Senators Allen of Kansas, Couzens of Michigan, Norris of Nebraska, Robinson of Arkansas and Walsh of Montana can scarcely be spoken of as in serious danger; nevertheless, all of them do have contests on their hands.

MOTHER'S MILK IS STILL BEST OF ALL FOODS FOR SMALL BABY

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

"The milk of a healthy mother who is receiving an adequate mixed diet contains all the food elements necessary for the nutrition of the infant for the first half-year of life."

With this statement, Dr. W. McKim Marriott begins a discussion of the importance of having the infant fed by its own mother, and with this statement he reiterates the view held by the vast majority of physicians. If the infant is fed at reasonable intervals and takes as much as he wants, his energy requirements will be met, and there will be little danger of over- or underfeeding.

If reasonable cleanliness is observed, there will be little danger of infection of the infant with harmful bacteria. Human milk is more easily digested by the infant than is unmodified cow's milk. Finally, it is recognized that the milk of the mother helps to supply the infant with certain substances which are of importance in aiding the child to resist disease.

Babies who are fed by their own mothers are usually larger, healthier, and of better disposition than those fed artificially.

Unfortunately, because of a variety of causes, breast feeding is not always successful. The milk of the mother may be inadequate in amount for the infant's need; because of the ill-health of the mother, the milk may be of poor quality.

Notwithstanding these facts, the majority of specialists in diseases of children are convinced that it is advisable whenever possible to have the baby nurse from the mother for at least the first few months of life. The nutrition of the infant should not, however, be permitted to suffer because the supply of the milk of the mother is inadequate, nor should a mother who is in poor health and delicate be compelled to nurse the infant when the child itself is in good health and capable of getting along very well with artificial feeding.

Of greatest importance is the urging of breast feeding among poor people who have not the same facilities for carrying out satisfactory artificial feeding that are available in hospitals and in the homes of the well-to-do.

Since tuberculosis is transmitted directly from grown persons to an infant, a mother with tuberculosis should not be permitted to nurse her child. Neither is it advisable for a mother suffering with advanced stages of heart disease, Bright's disease or cancer to nurse the baby. In very mild cases of infection, of disturbance or inflammation of the kidney, nursing may be undertaken.

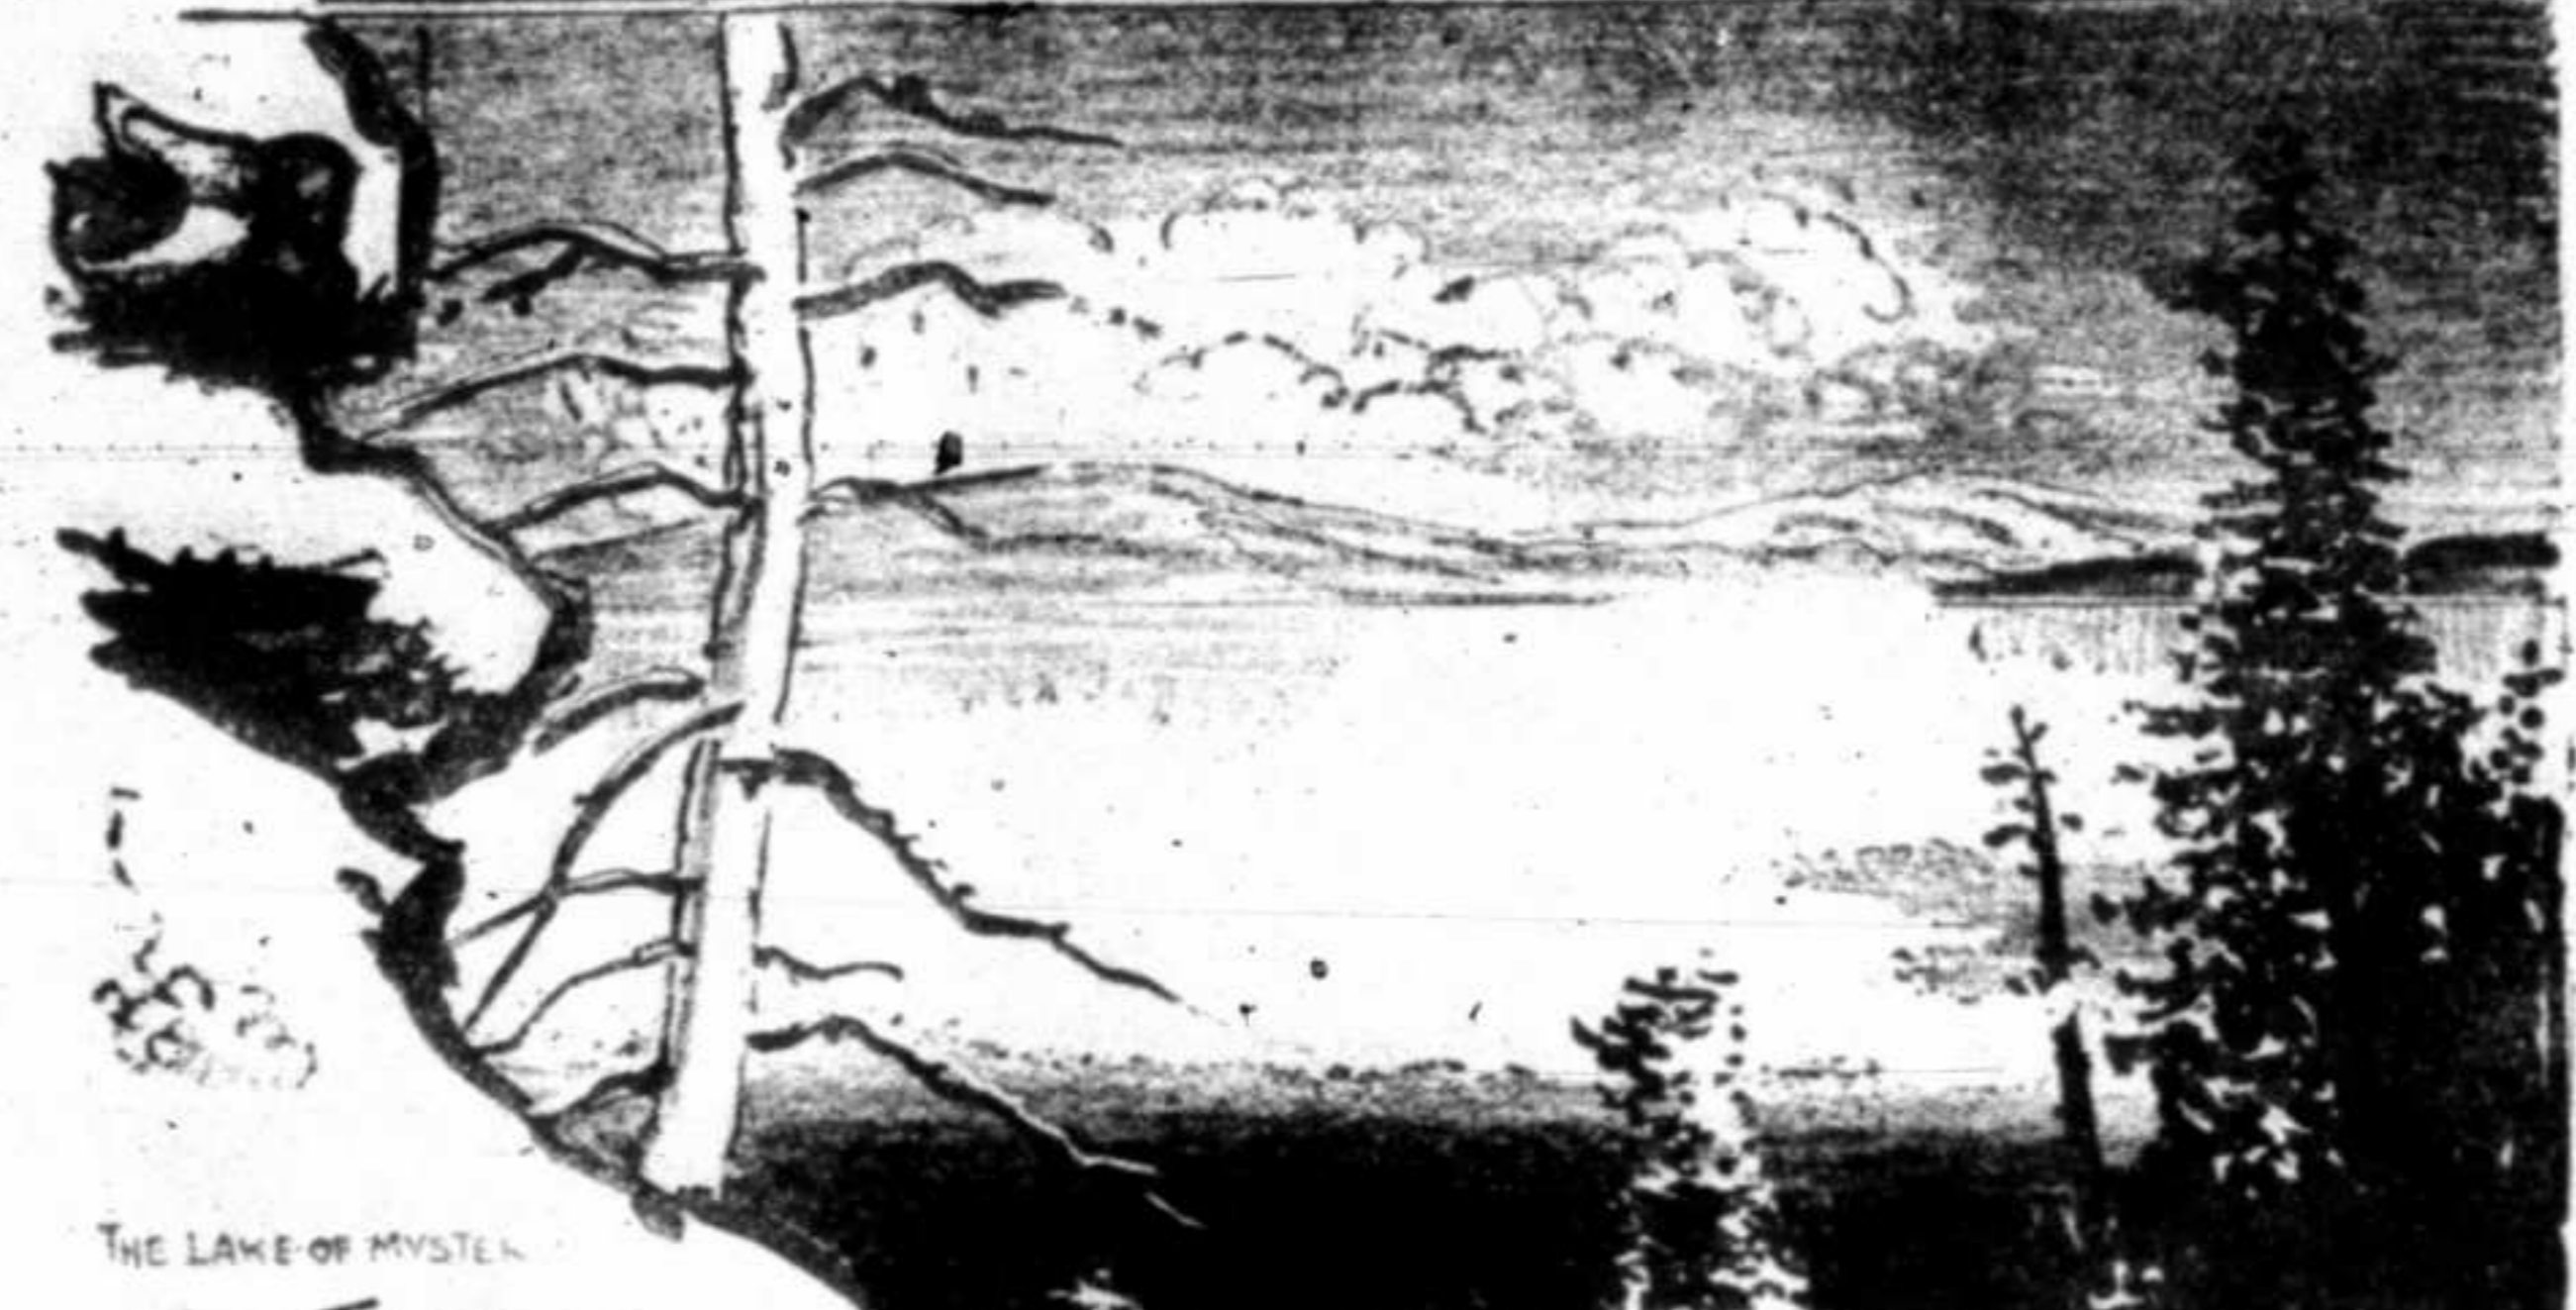

The number of motor vehicles registered in Canada during 1929 was 1,103,869, an increase of 117,070.

DANCING JUDITH

By CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN. COPYRIGHT 1930 BY CHELSEA HOUSE

BEGIN HERE TODAY VINCENT STORNAWAY, successful portrait painter, takes BRUCE GIDEON, wealthy financier, to the picturesque Cafe Ture in Greenwich Village to show him the bohemian life of the world of artists. There he introduces him to JUDITH GRANT, beautiful artist's model and dancer and her friend, CLARISSA MORLEY, known as Chummy, and tells him of Chummy's tragic history. Seven years ago Chummy had loved ALAN STEYNE, and artist. Steyne had abruptly disappeared, and the shock had unbalanced Chummy's mind, so that she had been childish in her mental processes ever since. Chummy lives with Judith, who looks after her and supports her. After the two men leave the cafe, BASTIEN DUMONT, another artist, tells Judith that Steyne has come back to New York. Dumont arranges a meeting between Steyne and Chummy. Chummy fails to recognize Steyne, however; and Steyne, after giving Judith some money to help care for the girl, takes his leave, telling Chummy he hopes to see her again soon.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER III The next day, about noon, Judy and Bastien Dumont were sitting for the famous Max Dickbread, a rather irritable individual. She was exhausted, and had come for a cup of coffee and some sandwiches made of Italian sausage that Dan always prepared for her.

Dumont had a glass of beer before him. He said he had lunched, which did not necessarily mean that he had.

"Do you really think he will marry her?" he asked.

"Of course he will marry her!" the girl replied indignantly. "What else could he do? He will pay doctors to make her well, and then he will marry her. If the doctors can't make her well, he will marry her all the same."

"Did he say so?"

"Of course I mean, it wasn't necessary. He gave me money for her—to spend on nice things. He is going to take her away."

"Did he say so?"

"Of course he must, Bastien. Why should she stay where she is? He is rich, isn't he?"

"I don't think he's exactly rich, but he's well off. He told me about it. When he left here, he was in despair and half-dotted for lack of food. He made his way to Italy with a man he knew, and thought he might make a living by copying old masters. There he fell in with an old gentleman, a rich art collector, who took a fancy to him and made him his secretary. They traveled all over the world. The old man died six months ago, and left Steyne very comfortable off. I don't think he left him everything he had, but it was quite enough to keep the wolf from the door."

Judy clasp her hands.

"How absolutely gorgeous for Chummy!" she breathed. "And Bastien, he is awfully nice!"

"Easy enough to be nice when you have got money," grumbled Dumont. "Easy to keep young, too. I'm getting near 30, Judy, and in a few years I shan't be young any more."

didn't know Steyne at once, he doesn't believe she will ever know him. He says there's no treatment that could cure her. He was rather decent for him; tried to explain the case to me.

Judy was in despair.

"Has Steyne called again?" Dumont asked.

"No."

"Did he say he would?"

"Yes—I mean, Chummy invited him. Oh, Bastien, that night he was so nice to her! I thought him simply perfect. What can be the matter? Why doesn't he come?"

Dumont had no answer. In his own mind he could think of several reasons: He had not Judy's unshakable faith in humanity—which was indeed something to marvel at, considering how much she had seen of life.

Steyne did come a couple of evenings later. He came laden with fruit and flowers, and to Judy he was like a day in spring. His absence was easily accounted for. He had to go to Maine on business connected with the property his late benefactor had left him.

He came several times that week. Chummy was delighted with him in her placid, "take-everything-for-granted" way. She ordered him about just as she did Judy, but not even his repeated visits struck a single chord of her lost memory.

Judy spoke to Steyne about the doctor one night, as he was leaving. Chummy had not been able to go out yet. The two stood on the landing. Chummy's room was only the pretense of a sitting room, because the bed was hidden behind a rickety screen.

"Don't you think you'd better call in some other doctor?" the girl asked.

There was a note of impatience in her voice. Evidently she was feeling the strain of this unnatural position. Alan Steyne sitting and chatting to Chummy as if they had just met and made friends, and Chummy smiling unaware that her best beloved was by her side—it was a spectacle that got on Judy's nerves.

"It's taking such a time!" she went on. "Aren't there better doctors than O'Shane? Can't something be done to make her memory come back and to make her know you? And she's been feeling queer lately. She's told me so. Oh, do something, Mr. Steyne! It must be dreadful for her—this waiting! It's driving me silly—what must it be doing to you?"

Alan Steyne did not answer immediately. He was looking at Judy. As she gazed at him in her perplexity on behalf of her friend, his eyes held hers, and she found herself flushing hotly and angrily as she realized that at that moment the condition of poor Chummy was far from his mind.

She looked away furious and ashamed at her own embarrassment. Steyne took her hand.

"Good night, little guardian," he said. "Of course I'll be only too glad to get another opinion, but I'll see this man O'Shane first."

The result was that a famous specialist came to see Chummy in consultation with the Irish doctor. He did not give much hope. He said just what Doctor O'Shane had said: There was no treatment to be prescribed. It could only be left to nature—it was quite possible that Miss Morley might recover her memory, but there was no means known to science which could accelerate the process.

"So you're just where you were," said Dumont, when Judy told him at the Cafe Turc on the same night.

"Yes, except that of course Mr. Steyne will take Chummy away now. Her child's almost gone. She wanted to come with me tonight, but I was afraid."

The young artist said nothing. (To Be Continued.)

Three Shot In Negro Attack

Aged Woman Near Death, Two Daughters In Hospital As Result Of Bullet Wounds And Fire In Virginia

WARRENTON, Va., July 1. (AP)—Ailie Corbin, 65, near death and her two daughters, Estelle and Isabelle, are in a hospital, all three suffering from bullet wounds and burns reported to have resulted from an attack on them by Elwood Payne, negro.

Payne was arrested and denied the charge. He is held in jail. Sheriff W. B. Wolf said he was told Payne shot Corbin during an argument and then drove the car they were in to the Corbin farmhouse, telling the girls their father had been injured in an accident.

The girls said they left the house on the way to a hospital. Payne shot them, poured gasoline on the car, set fire to it and ran away.

Estelle, though wounded in the neck, succeeded in dragging herself and her father from the machine. Meantime the other girl hid in a nearby farmhouse. Payne told officers who arrested him that the shootings and burning were the result of an accident.

Cotton Trade Quiet In Tuesday Market

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
NEW ORLEANS, July 1. (AP)—Cotton was comparatively quiet today. Prices declined 10 to 17 points in early trading owing to much lower cables than due and to rains. This decline attracted trade buying and price falling as well as covering by shorts owing to the long holiday for the Fourth. This demand caused a rally of 13 to 18 points from the lows, and the market continued to improve in late trading on urgent short covering and a scarcity of contracts, making highs 23 to 27 points above the lows and closing at the top. The general market showed net gain of 12 to 14 points.
Liverpool came in 8 to 9 points worse than due and the opening trades here showed losses of 10 to 14 points with October at 12.85 and December at 13.94. July later made a new low at 12.92, down 17 points but the later months did not drop below the opening figures.
Port receipts 3,551, for week 11,906, for season 6,603,904, last season 9,439,150. Exports 11,711, for week 26,538, for season 6,487,803, last season 7,703,768. Port 500K 1-617,487, last year 713,084. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 26,871, last year 55,671. Spot sales at southern markets 813, last year, not available.

NEW YORK COTTON
NEW YORK, July 1. (AP)—An opening decline in cotton today, promoted by easier cables and a more favorable view of the weather, was followed by rallies on covering which appeared to be encouraged by the firmness of the wheat market. July sold up from 12.28 to 13.33 and new October from 12.87 to 13.10, with the general market closing firm at net-advances of 7 to 11 points.
The opening was steady at a decline of 5 to 11 points under selling because of relatively easy showing of Liverpool and the reports of slightly lower temperatures and showers in some parts of the south. Liverpool cables reported continental and local selling there on certain rain conditions but said the demand for cloth was small with India situation unsteady, and yarns dull. Exports today 11,711, making 6,603,975 so far this season. Port receipts 3,551. U. S. Port stocks 1,959,563.

NEWPORT Wash., July 1. (AP)—Three of Mrs. and Mrs. L. H. Bibbet's nine children drowned while wading in Custer creek near Locke yesterday. They were Bertha 10, Howard 8, and Fred 6. Bertha was dragged from the stream by older sisters but died because they did not understand methods of resuscitation. The mother stood by while the bodies were recovered.

HAPPINESS IS FATAL
Accident Brings Daughter, Death To Aged Man
HOUSTON, July 1. (AP)—A hip fracture suffered in a motor accident led D. A. Shipp, 69, of Houston, straight to the happiness he had sought for 30 years, but that same accident took his life, just as the happiness at last was within his grasp.
Shipp, walking across a downtown street, was struck by an automobile. One of three sisters whom he had sought for three decades, Mrs. Emma McVickers, 78, who had been living here in the same city with him for 16 years without knowing where he was, read in the newspapers of the accident and obtained his address.
She communicated with two other sisters, Mrs. Nancy Rivers, 86, of Abilene and Mrs. Betty Johnson, 80, of Sweetwater. The four were planning a reunion here at the hospital where Shipp smiled joyfully, and was glad of the injured hip.
But he died this afternoon. The two out-of-town sisters had not arrived.

Stock Market Runs Out of Fuel and Lands on Lower Ground on Tuesday

By JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Editor
NEW YORK, July 1. (AP)—The stock market ran out of fuel for the rally in today's late trading and landed on lower ground. Not until the leaders had been pushed 8 to 15 points above last week's lows, however, did the upward movement lose its momentum; but when the energy supplies by short covering had been expended prices soon slipped off, and the close was 2 to 4 points off in the active utilities and industrials. Rains fared better, holding to 4 points of larger gains made during the forenoon.
Measured by the price indices, the market lost only one quarter of the Saturday and Monday advance. Utilities and industrials yielded about half of their gains, but the strength of the rails, which were under extensive accumulation until late afternoon, cut down the decline for the general list.
The carrier shares rose 2 to 3 points. After the morning merchandising shares were also popular and a few miscellaneous shares as well. U. S. Steel sold as high as 161 3/4, or 3-4 above the Monday close. Atchison crossed 214 and New York Central 160.
Shortly after 4 p. m., however, the market appeared, bought out. General Electric and Westinghouse showed signs of heaviness, and were soon joined by American Telephone and Telegraph, American Express, American National Bank, and other issues to which the market looks for leadership. Prices sagged steadily throughout the last hour and final quotations were around the lowest of the day. U. S. Steel finished at 158 1/4, off 2-3-4.

Livestock

PORT WORTH LIVESTOCK
PORT WORTH, July 1. (AP)—Except for cows that were slow and sold 10 to 15c lower for the week, trading in cattle at Port Worth today was about steady with Monday's close. Figures called for 1,600 cattle, 500 calves, 1,000 hogs and 1,000 sheep.
Less than half a dozen loads of steers arrived, and trading was steady with sales up to 7.75.
Trading in yearlings included a load at 9.00 or steady and a short load at 10.00.
Buyers opened trading on cows by picking lower bids. Some canners sold up to 4.25 but odd lots of canners were slow and prices were lower.
Calves sold up to 8.00 with common calves from 3.50 to 4.25.
Sheep steady. Yearlings 7.50 with feeders out at 4.50. Medium to good lambs 7.00 to 7.50.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK
KANSAS CITY, July 1. (AP)—U. S. Dept. of Agriculture's supply of cattle at all large markets developed further strength in most killing classes, and values ruled steady higher than Monday's levels.
Choice right-hand bullocks averaged 12.50 in Chicago for the day's extreme top while most of the red offerings sold from 11.00 down. Some Texas grass and cake fed steers brought 7.10 at Kansas City. Demand for stockers and feeders continued very narrow, and the few offered held about steady. Total arrivals were estimated at 25,000 against 21,023 last Tuesday and 23,353 a year ago.
Trade in lambs was dull and uneven with values anywhere from 25 to 75 lower than yesterday. A few closely sorted natives reached 11.25 at Chicago, while best range lambs stopped at 11.00.
Somewhat lighter supplies of hogs around the eleven markets, and in general a strong feeling to the trade, and prices were steady to 10 higher on most classes. Choice grades reached 9.40 in Chicago on late rounds for the day's extreme top.

REACHES LOS ANGELES
Trail Of Lingle Assassins Extends To California
CHICAGO, July 1. (AP)—The trail of the assassins of Jake Lingle, whose death started a war on gangland, today had reached Los Angeles where Frankie Foster, reputed owner of the assassin's pistol, and four other Chicago gangsters were under arrest as suspects in the slaying June 9th of the Chicago Tribune crime reporter.
The five fugitive gunmen were captured by Los Angeles police and two Chicago detectives in raids on two apartments last night, almost at the same time that 19 other suspects were caught by Chicago police in raids on gang headquarters here.

Veterans Bill
maximum of $30 a month for permanent total disability.
Attain Compensation
The new bill passed by the house after President Hoover had vetoed the measure, allows World War veterans who cannot prove their disability is service-connected to collect government compensation nevertheless.
The rates voted by the senate and those approved by the house follow:
Senate House
Disability Rate Disability Rate
10 per cent $10 25 per cent $12
25 per cent 20 50 per cent 18
50 per cent 35 75 per cent 24
75 per cent 50 100 per cent 40
There was every indication tonight that the house would disagree to the higher rate level and would accept the offer of the senate for a conference on the measure. However, congressional leaders were confident of quick agreement on a compromise.

ONE PERMIT ISSUED
Boost Of $4,000 Given Local Building Total Tuesday
Continuing the steady building activities, unusual for this season of the year, a permit was issued yesterday afternoon for $4,000 to bring Lubbock's valuations for the year to $1,249,405. This was the first permit of July.
The permit went to the Panhandle Oil company for erection of a warehouse at 1801 Avenue H.

Hoover Honors Buchanan's Memory
The late President Hoover's memory was honored by the erection of a statue of James Buchanan in Meridian Hill Park, Washington. He accepted for the nation the monument which was made possible in the will of Mrs. Harriet Lane Johnson, an orphan niece of the bachelor president.

"He played his part with a dignity and courage that only now are receiving the recognition they deserve." That was the tribute of the present Chief Executive to a past Chief Executive when, as pictured above, President Hoover faced a battery of microphones at the unveiling of a statue of James Buchanan in Meridian Hill Park, Washington. He accepted for the nation the monument which was made possible in the will of Mrs. Harriet Lane Johnson, an orphan niece of the bachelor president.

Bystanders Shot By Chicago Gangs

CHICAGO, July 1. (AP)—Two apparently innocent bystanders were shot tonight on State street and Jackson boulevard—in the heart of the Loop district—in what police believe was an attempt to assassinate Jack Zuta, known as paymaster for the Moran gang.
One of the victims, Albert Lusader, street car motorman, was wounded probably fatally as his car crossed the path of two automobiles that sped down the street, exchanging fusillades of shots. Olaf Svenda, an auto driver in the same area as he walked, followed his work at watchman at the Standard club at the intersection where the shooting occurred.
Zuta had just been released from jail, where he had been taken during yesterday's raids in George Moran hangouts. He had been questioned in connection with the slaying of Jake Lingle, Tribune reporter. Several of the other released Moran henchmen rode with him.
Both automobiles sped on after the battle and it was not learned whether any of the participants were wounded.

that more than 20 years ago, Arthur Stillwell sent him to await the coming of the Orient railroad and predicted that trains would be running into that city within six months.
At El Dorado, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Doty, the first settlers in Schleicher county, were at the station waiting for the train. They came to Schleicher county more than half a century ago. In charge of the reception at El Dorado was J. A. Whitten, chairman of the Livestock Sanitary Commission, rancher and banker. He had worked more than a quarter century to obtain the railroad.
Jeff At Throttle
Former Governor Neff was at the throttle when the train pulled into Sonora. Mayor Roy Aldwell delivered the address of welcome at the reception at El Dorado. Neff responded.
Afterward the visitors were led through the streets of the town by the De Molay band from San Angelo and 100 coveboys.
In the dedicatory address, James Cornell, San Angelo attorney, said he had worked 23 years to help obtain a railway from San Angelo to Sonora.
A barbecue dinner was served on the main street of the town to all the visitors, on tables two blocks long. For the occasion, 125 lambs had been barbecued.
Rodeo Given
In the afternoon, a rodeo celebration in the fair grounds featured roping, riding, bronco busting, horse racing and other events in real western festivity style. Fireworks and a dance tonight closed the day's celebration and a similar program was planned for tomorrow.

Each Day Was A Dread

Each Day Was A Dread
"Argotane Has Made A New Person Of My Dad And He Is Looking Better", Says Lubbock Boy
"At the time my dad started on Argotane, he could hardly get around the house and each day was just a dread for him," said Herman Clay of 207 Avenue H, Lubbock, Texas, while talking with the Argotane representative.
"My father had suffered for about six years, with a very bad chronic case of stomach trouble," he continued, "and got so nervous the least thing would upset him. Gas formed on his stomach and he would blow up so, he would almost die, he suffered so. He wasn't able to eat anything, for it disagreed with him. He had rheumatism and got to where he couldn't hardly get around for the past six years, and was almost unable to quit his work. He could hardly sleep at all of a night, and would roll and toss all night long, and when morning came, felt worse than when he went to bed. He just felt badly all the time and didn't seem to have any ambition for anything."
"Argotane had helped so many people and a friend recommended it to dad, and he began to try it. We are all thankful for it. It has relieved him of all his troubles. He eats anything he wants and is not bothered with stomach trouble and gas, dizzy and bilious spells no longer. He feels much better and he honestly looks like a new man. I am glad to give you this statement for him for I know Argotane is the only medicine that has helped him, and we all are so thankful."
Genuine Argotane may be purchased in Lubbock at the Bowen's Drug Store. Adv.

been given federal designation as U. S. Highway No. 62, from Mayaville to Canada and from El Paso to Mexico City, making of the route an international connecting link. Also plans will be formulated for the September meeting of the association to be held in Carlsbad about the 10th. At that time a formal celebration of the opening of that part of the route from El Paso to Signal Peak will be held.
"We want to plan to run a motorcade from Mayaville, Ky., and all towns west therefrom on U. S. Highway No. 62 through Oklahoma City and Lubbock to Carlsbad for the September meeting and perhaps on to El Paso for the annual gathering of the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners association, which meets in that city September 11 and 12," said Mr. Hankins.

SALE

A STORE-WIDE COMBINATION EVENT STARTING WEDNESDAY MORNING EVERY ITEM REDUCED!!

Two weeks more—and you'll begin to hear the sound of hammers at Grollman's. Two weeks more—and one of the greatest complete Close Out Sales of men's and boys' wear ever staged on the Plains will have passed into history. Grollman's—Long known in Lubbock as the store that undersells—is quitting the men's and boys' wear business forever. Every garment must be sold NOW—To do this a final close out price has been placed on every item—It is a price so low that value hunters will not fail to attend. Immediately upon the closing out of our Men's and Boys' Department we expect to start remodeling—to transform our store into the finest exclusive Women's Store to be found anywhere on the Plains. To reduce our stock and get it out of the way of the carpenters we are cutting every other item in the house right down to the bone—Come now for the final wind-up—Stock your wardrobe for the entire family NOW.
