Million and Half Doughboys in Pacific To Come Home

Manufacturing Is Resumed in Japan

TOKYO, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Shipping will be available to 1,490,000 American servicemen home from the Pacific within the next seven months, Allied headquarters said it was informed by the war department today.

General MacArthur also announced an order for the seizure of 34 Japanese officers and men suspected of complicity in the fiendish torch massacre of more than 100 Allied prisoners of war at Palawan in the Philippines Dec. 11, 1944.

Foreign Ministers Deadlocked Over Balkan Treaties

LONDON, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Despite Russian insistence that France and China be excluded from discussions of Balkan peace treaties, informed observers said today the question might revert to the full conference of foreign ministers unless an American-British-Russian deadlock could be broken.

The foreign ministers of the Big Three powers have been conferring on the procedure for drafting treaties with Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria in an attempt to reach some measure of agreement before the council is adjourned.

As the 25th formal session of the council was about to be convened, some officials acknowledged that the procedural impasse arose when the Russians felt they were fighting a four-to-one battle for Balkan influence, and wanted to reduce the number of adversaries.

Supported by the British and Americans, the French bitterly protested the Russian attitude. London press comment on the conference switched from bitter criticism of Russia's attitude to exhortations to the public to remain patient in its hopes for permanent peace. But the liberal weekly news statesman lashed out at the conference as "fantastic," and accused Russia and the United States of

Farewell Party Held for PAAF

A stag party, honoring the officer personnel of Pampa army air field, was held last night at the country club.

The Pampa board of city development sponsored the lunch and a program, held afterward. The event represented the effort made by the C. of C. hospitality committee since the field came here in 1942.

Piano music and novelty numbers were furnished by Sgt. Cedric Pihl, entertainment specialist at the field.

The program was emceed by Ed Weiss.

The hospitality committee was organized by Dan Williams, and since that time Jimmie Masss has been chairman.

Mayor Farris Oden reiterated sentiment expressed last Saturday in The News when he said relations between the field and Pampa citizens had been very good. Response to his remarks was made by Commanding Officer Col. James Romlin.

Thirty-three officers were present from the field.

Around-World Air Schedule Is Initiated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—(AP)—A giant C-54 thunders eastward over the Atlantic late today, opening the first regular world-around schedule. It will carry to high adventure seven men and a woman who will be guinea pigs as well as observers on the 23,147-mile flight.

Taking off at 5 p. m. EWT, from Washington National Airport, the 40-passenger Douglas Skymaster of the U. S. army air transport command heads first for Bermuda.

Then, after a one-hour stop, it wings on to the Azores, to North Africa, Egypt, to India, to China and back home again in 151 hours — by way of the Philippines, Honolulu and tiny Pacific Isles made sacred by the blood of American fighting men.

Planes of the A. T. C. have circled the world many times. This schedule, "the Globester," will be the first continuous "round-the-world" service. And more than the mere novelty of the effort is wrapped up in the inaugural journey.

Throughout the flight, tests of many kinds will be made among the three A. T. C. headquarters officers, an A. T. C. public relations officer, a photographer and three reporters who of the more than 20 aboard the "Globester" at the start will be the only ones to go the entire route.

All were given thorough physical examinations. They will undergo further examinations upon their return next Thursday, Oct. 4, at midnight. En route they will observe

Truman Asserts Jurisdiction of U. S. Shelf Oil

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—(AP)—President Truman today issued proclamations asserting United States jurisdiction over oil resources of the continental shelf below waters bordering all coasts.

One reserved the natural resources of the continental shelf under the high seas and placed them under the jurisdiction of the secretary of the interior.

The other provided for establishment, under recommendations of the interior and state departments, of fishery conservation zones in areas of the high seas contiguous to the United States coasts.

Petroleum geologists believe that portions of the continental shelf beyond the three mile limit contain valuable oil deposits, a White House statement said.

"The study of sub-surface structures associated with oil deposits which have been discovered along the Gulf coast of Texas, for instance, indicate that corresponding deposits may underlie the offshore or submerged land," the statement said.

"The trend of oil-productive salt domes extends directly into the Gulf of Mexico off the Texas coast."

"Oil is also being taken at present from wells within the three mile limit off the coast of California. It is quite possible, geologists say, that the oil deposits extend beyond this traditional limit of national jurisdiction."

FIREMAN, SAVE MY CHILD:

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK SCHEDULED OCTOBER 1-8

"Firemen, firemen, save my child!" may be a bit of melodrama from the vaudeville and chataqua but still everyday fire attacks 1,000 homes in the United States, 130 stores, seven churches, three hospitals, 100 factories and seven schools. Twenty-eight people die.

Pampa plays her part. Fire Prevention week, October 1-8, will be observed throughout the nation to more strongly impress individuals with the necessity of preventing fires. Because of the individual nature of the problem of fire prevention, it is essential that each person assume his responsibility. Fire Chief Ben White states that he majority of fires that occur are due to carelessness. The greater number of fires in Pampa have been caused from smoking cigarettes while lying in bed, throwing burning cigarettes or matches into inflammable materials, defective wiring, accumulation of trash and careless handling of gas, according to records of the Pampa fire station. The major part of these causes is due to carelessness. Each year in order to eliminate

Senale Is Not Body Subordinate To HST—Donnell

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Senator Donnell (R-Mo.) contended today there is no basis for President Truman to say the senate let him down in not approving administration's jobless pay bill.

Donnell shouted that the senate ought not to forget for one minute that "it is not a body subordinate to the President."

The Missouri senator took the floor to reply to a White House statement yesterday that Mr. Truman had told some house members the senate "let him down" in passing a bill shelved by the house ways and means committee.

Donnell said that through the remarks of the President to house members, as disclosed by presidential secretary Charles Cross, "the implication is clearly drawn that the senate failed to perform its duty."

"The senate is not a body subordinate to the President, or subject to the duty of following his desires," Donnell told his colleagues. "There is no basis for the President of the United States to be of the opinion that merely because the senate fails to approve legislation suggested by him that the senate has let him down."

Local Fire Results From Escaping Gas

A supply of canned fruits, foods and furnishings were destroyed when fire broke out in a supply and wash room at the home of R. A. Baker, 716 N. Somerville street, at 8:35 this morning. Damage was estimated around several hundred dollars.

The fire was caused by the loosening of a gas hose which connected a gas hot plate. As the hose slipped loose of its connection the heat of the hot plate ignited the escaping gas, said Ben White, fire chief.

Adjoining the supply room was an apartment and garage which were not damaged.

Dispute in China Is Said To Be Settled

LONDON, Sept. 28.—(AP)—The Moscow radio reported today that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and Communist Leader Mao Tse-Tung, who has been conferring at Chungking in an effort to settle China's internal political differences, had reached an agreement to reform the national government.

The broadcast said the agreement provided for wider political representation in the central government and for the holding of general elections at an early date.

British Arrest Jap General at Saigon

Warning Is Issued By President to Argentine Heads

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 28.—(AP)—The Truman administration officially told the Argentine government today that the state of siege and other measures taken by this country's military regime inevitably would have "a deplorable effect" on public opinion in the United States.

Full censorship was applied to Buenos Aires newspaper today by the military government which had taken into custody the Argentine's most distinguished editors.

The city's 2,500,000 people remained almost completely ignorant of events around them. Police instructions from the Farrell-Peron regime "requested" newspapers to refrain from printing commentaries from outside Argentina on developments within the country under the renewed state of siege. Almost a complete blackout was clamped down on Argentine affairs.

"Motherhood" dispatches said six more leading personalities have been taken ashore in the Uruguayan embassy, which now harbors 15. These were Mario Guido, leader of the radical party; Eduardo Helguera and Luis Lopez, businessmen; and Prof. Alberto Pavlovsky, Luis Roque Godina and Abel Housner.

The Uruguayan ambassador requested safe conduct for all, but the Argentine government has not granted permission. Police were stationed outside the embassy.

This was when Warren presented Schwellenbach's invitation to adjourn to Washington. He stepped in the nick of time, because the negotiations were reported near collapse.

Schwellenbach said industry opposition to discussions on an industry-wide basis diverted attention

'BATTLE OF THE BULGE'

LOVE TURNS SOUR FOR AMERICAN LIEUTENANT

By HAL BOYLE
HONG KONG.—(AP)—Thumbing through old notebooks of the European campaign:

It was in the final stages of the "Battle of the Bulge." The Germans had gambled and lost, and were slowly pulling back through battered Belgian villages whose devastated ugliness was relieved only by the white beauty of the snow. And the snow was melting.

Soon after the gray-blue tide of nazis retreated from one village on the Belgian-German border it was entered and occupied by an American outfit. Buildings in livable condition were scarce and one lieutenant was quartered in the home of a local family.

He considered himself in great luck when he discovered that the family consisted only of papa, mama and their very pretty daughter. She was dark-haired, with dark smouldering eyes that passed over the lieutenant without lingering.

Perhaps piqued by her indifference—perhaps because a pretty girl looks desirable to a soldier in a strange cold country—he fell vio-

19 Refineries in Texas Are Closed

New storm warnings were hoisted along the country's labor front today as a fresh major dispute threatened to force more than a half million workers off their jobs.

The newest controversy centered on the walkout of 6,000 textile workers in the Paterson, N. J., area, which closed 70 plants. A CIO union official said the walkout would mean that within 24 hours 68,000 additional workers would be forced from their jobs in 214 plants in nine Eastern and Southern states. He further predicted the shutdowns would idle approximately a half million garment workers.

In event of this development, the number of workers idle because of strikes and shutdowns over labor disputes would soar past the two million mark, including 1,500,000 affected indirectly by the New York City building service strike.

Across the country, strikes and shutdowns kept some 370,000 persons away from their jobs, and with the New York City idle the total number affected touched around 1,700,000.

The 6,000 workers who walked out in the textile printing and dyeing plants in the Paterson area, members of the CIO federation of dyes, finishers, printers and bleachers of America, are demanding, said a union spokesman, a 15 cents an hour increase to make up for loss of pay caused by the switch from the 60-hour work week to a 40-hour week.

Federation President Joseph W. Knapp said the walkout would affect about 68,000 employees in 214 plants.

The walkout was termed a "complete surprise" by Charles Vermorel, CIO spokesman.

Freezing Weather Faces Panhandle

Freezing temperatures are forecast for the upper Panhandle and near-freezing in the lower plains by the U. S. weather bureau, as Pampa dons top coats and lights furnaces, being the brunt of a low Thursday night temperature of 35 degrees mixed in with gusty winds of 35 miles per hour.

Long needed rain, amounting to 1.54 inches fell last night, according to the bureau.

Continued cold is expected Saturday. The norther will extend as far south as the lower Rio Grande valley, the weather bureau said.

Rains turning to sleet continued to fall in Amarillo today. It was the coldest September day since 1926 when the mercury dropped to 32 degrees on Sept. 5, according to the Associated Press.

Parts of the city were without electric power for an hour as rain and hail pummeled Amarillo last night. Winds reached 35 miles an hour.

Rainfall was general over the Panhandle, where the weather established its Texas beachhead. Pampa and Midland were second coldest Texas cities today with 35 degrees.

Falsetime reported heavy showers today Berger 75 inches of rain with low reading of 35; Midland reported 51 degrees "and falling steadily." Midland expects a low of 40 tonight.

In the Dallas-Fort Worth area, rain and colder weather is expected tonight. Low reading will be in the upper 40's. The norther is to hit Fort Worth about noon and Dallas around 2:30 p. m.

Plans Disclosed To Use Marines In Keeping Peace

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Plans for use of United States marines as "minute men" in the international organization to maintain peace were disclosed today by Gen. A. A. Vandegrift.

Testifying in support of a post-war marine force of 100,000 enlisted and 9,200 officer personnel, the marine commandant told the house naval committee.

"In the event that present efforts towards international organization to prevent war are unsuccessful, the scope of the fleet marine force will be expanded. It is a force of 'minute men,' and it will be held in readiness to be moved instantly with the fleet to any part of the world to strike hard and promptly to forestall at its beginning any attempt to disrupt the peace of the world."

"The basic navy post-war plan provides for two fleets, Atlantic and Pacific. . . . In support of this plan, the fleet marine force will be composed of two reduced strength divisions, one brigade and necessary supporting troops and aviation elements."

Planned deployment of major elements of the fleet marine force, Vandegrift said, is for one division on the east coast, one division on the west coast, and one brigade in the central or western Pacific.

The total planned post-war strength of the fleet marine force is 59,289 officers and enlisted men, including 44,190 in the ground forces and 15,999 in the air force.

Marines, he disclosed, will furnish the entire aviation complement of eight escort carriers, although the carriers themselves will be manned by navy crews.

Cave-In Occurs in City Sewer Line

A cave-in on a concrete sewer line 24 feet under the ground was reported to City Manager Garland Franks today.

The cave-in occurred on the huge line that connects the south part of the city with the disposal plant. Franks said that the location was near the municipal airport.

Last night's heavy rains caused the rotted line to cave-in. Franks said. Workmen began repair on the line this morning.

As soon as the engineers survey is completed and the building contract is let, a $350,000 expansion and improvement program on the city's sewer system will begin.

It was reported in the engineer's survey, made by Joe E. Ward of Wichita Falls, that the upper parts of the city's concrete sewer lines were nearly rotted away. Several serious cave-ins were reported last spring.

Polio Cases Reported On Decline in State

AUSTIN, Sept. 28.—(AP)—A total of 39 cases of poliomyelitis reported in the week ended Sept. 22 compared with 30 reported the previous week and represented a continuation of a seasonal downward trend the state health department said today.

6 Cases this year in Texas total 236.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture: Genesis, Chapters 46-50
By WILLIAM E. GIBSON, D. D.
Lessons dealing with the migrations of people, exiles and enslavements, in the ancient world have had particular timeliness and interest in these modern days when the worst tragedies of racial sufferings and persecutions have been repeated.
It is easy to understand what happened to Jews of old in Egypt and Babylon when we consider what has been happening to Jews in Germany and other parts of Europe. Problems associated with racial minorities, and the ways in which they must be solved, are strongly emphasized in Bible stories and their lessons have a very real bearing upon life in our present-day democratic environment.

What happened to Jews in Germany during the past decade comes almost exactly to what happened to Jews in Egypt in the years following the time of Joseph. When Jacob and his company went down to Egypt, they were received with honor, and all went well for a time. Then there arose "a Pharaoh who knew not Joseph," and trouble began.
I suppose that much of it was in modern times. The prosperous Jews evoked the envy of less prosperous, less efficient Egyptians, who, for their own self-interest and aggrandizement, made trouble for the "foreigners." It is the thing, that has happened in Germany, and that would happen anywhere, if bigots, trouble-makers and rabble-rousers, sometimes taking to themselves the sacred Christian name, had their way.
In Germany, from prosperity and prestige, Jews regardless of their character and achievement were suddenly plunged into persecution and ruin. Artists, writers, musicians, along with unoffending humble people, were suddenly assailed with hate and brutal violence, for no reason except their being Jews. Even the oppression in ancient Egypt did not compare with this organized hatred and turbulence of twentieth century anti-Semitism. The Jews in Egypt had to make bricks without straw, but Jews in Germany were not allowed even to make bricks. Their businesses, their very lives, were at stake.
Against all such hate and base treatment of minorities, is the true spirit of Christianity, and of democracy itself. Joseph had saved and

Your Mutual Minute of Prayer

By
RABBI MORTIMER J. COHEN
Congregation Beth Shalom
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

O Eternal Spirit! Thou art the Creator and Lord of all Nature—the wind, the sea, and the earth—Thou dwellest in the hearts of men and nations. Let the wind speak of freedom! Let the sea speak of the cleanness of justice! Let the earth bring glad tidings of growth that reaches toward the stars! These are what men pray for today—freedom, justice, growth into a new and better world. Blessed art Thou, O Lord, Creator of the Universe and Man. Amen.

blessed the very Egyptians who persecuted and oppressed his people. The "foreigners," whom some in our modern democracies would treat with Hitlerist savagery, have made their contribution to the upbuilding and prosperity of our country. In every democratic land, Great Britain, Canada, and the United States, the contribution of non-English-speaking peoples, or of peoples of non-English-speaking origin, has been great. The roll of honor is long and large.
Two things are necessary if we would avoid the pitfalls that have plunged the world into war, and the hates and prejudices that have produced strife and defeated social welfare. To all alike, who live peaceably and in law-abiding ways, we must (1) assure the full protection of the law and the rights and privileges which the state accords; and (2) upon all alike lay the duty of loyalty to the country democracies cannot continue and be strong where there is divided allegiance.

Promotion Day Will Be Held Next Sunday At Methodist School

Sunday will be Promotion Day in the First Methodist church school. The Youth division and Children's division pupils will be promoted in classes and departments. In the Adult division, teachers and officers will take their places for the new church school year.
The Men's Bible class members of the First Christian church will be special guests of the Men's Bible class at the regular hour Sunday morning. Judge Elmer Cary, teacher of the visiting class, will be guest teacher.
The minister, Reverend E. B. Bowen, will bring the message at both the morning and evening hours of worship.

Special organ numbers at the morning hour will be given by Mrs. John Skelly, and at the evening hour by Miss Mildred Martin. Hilda Ruth Burden is piano accompanist for the evening service.
Mrs. Claude Galtman will direct the morning choir in singing the anthem and has arranged special music for the evening service.
The Methodist Youth Fellowship will meet following the evening service.
The Reverend Bowen extends a special invitation to the public to meet with this friendly congregation.

Songs and Sermons Announced for Sunday At Central Baptist

Rudolph Q. Harvey, pastor of the Central Baptist church, will preach Sunday morning on the subject, "We Will Not Sit Down Until He Comes." Topic for the Sunday evening service will be, "Is the Young Man Safe?"

Preceding the message Sunday morning the Enloe sisters, Mrs. Freeman, Mrs. Skidmore and Mrs. Baxter, will present a special song, and special music will precede the evening message.
W. L. Ayres, music director, will direct congregational singing.
The nominating committee is making plans and preparations for the election of teachers and officers for the entire church for the new fiscal year, which begins Oct. 7.

Plans are being completed for a Training Union study course which will be held during October. The Beginners' department in Training Union will be reorganized, and meetings will begin the first Sunday in October, under the leadership of the church secretary, Miss Betty Cypert.

Newer and more efficient plans and policies are being planned in the Sunday school, Training Union and choir, the pastor stated. "If you do not have a church home, you are cordially invited to attend a neighborhood church for a neighborhood people," the Rev. Harvey said.

Bible Course Will Be Offered Free at Central Baptist

"John and His Writings," a course in the Bible, will be taught by the Rev. Rudolph Q. Harvey, beginning Oct. 1 at 8:15 p. m. in the church auditorium.
The course will continue on Wednesday evenings, and is free to all persons who wish to attend, regardless of belief or denomination.
Originally taught in Baylor University by Dr. J. B. Tidwell, it was compiled by the Rev. Harvey, for the purpose of teaching it in churches and clubs.
"This is an opportunity to learn more about the Bible, and everyone is invited to attend and bring a Bible, pencil and paper," the pastor announced.

Dr. David M. Gardner To Conclude Baptist Revival Sunday Night

During the past week, Dr. David M. Gardner, editor of The Baptist Standard, Dallas, has conducted services twice daily at the First Baptist church. The revival will be concluded Sunday evening. No services are to be held Saturday.
Sunday school will begin at 9:45 a. m. Sunday will be the annual Promotion Day, and will be strictly adhered to in every department of the Sunday school and Training Union.

The morning worship service will begin at 11 a. m. with Dr. Gardner preaching. The choir has prepared an arrangement of "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," by Ambrose. The entire service may be heard over radio station KPDN.

Training Union will begin at 7 p. m. and the evening service with song and sermon is scheduled for 8 o'clock. Music under the direction of R. Virgil Mott, music director, will be presented at this service.
Monday evening, Mrs. May Foreman Carr will direct the rehearsal of the "Messiah" at the church, when the Pampa Civic Chorus meets at 8 p. m.

Returned Missionary To Speak on Sunday At First Christian

H. Gray Russell, a missionary teacher of the Congo Christian institute near Bolenge, in Belgian Congo, will fill the pulpit at the First Christian church Sunday morning.

Russell is one of the missionaries founding the Congo Christian institute, a secondary school for native teachers and preachers of the Congo Christian mission of Disciples of Christ. He supervised the erection of buildings, home for students, and other units in 1928, and has continued as an instructor.
Mr. and Mrs. Russell first went to Africa in 1924, where stationed 1500 miles from the mouth of the Congo river, and assisted in the growth of an African community.

The morning services will begin at 10:30, and the public is cordially invited to hear the speaker.
Evening services at the First Christian church begin at 8:45 with a song service for the young people. The evening worship hour is 7 o'clock, and the Rev. James Brown, will speak at this service.

St. Matthew's Church Will Receive Visit From Bishop Fenner

On Friday evening, October 5, The Rt. Rev. Goodrich R. Fenner, Bishop of the Missionary District of North Texas, which includes St. Matthew's Episcopal church in Pampa, will preach at the local church, located at 707 West Browning, at 8 o'clock.

The Bishop will also be present and participate in his official capacity at an early Communion service at 8 o'clock Sunday morning, Oct. 7.
Bishop Fenner is a native Texan, and he was born in Beeville, Aug. 2, 1891. After filling many pastorates he was elected Bishop of Kansas in September, 1931, and was appointed Provisional Bishop of North Texas, in addition to his own Diocese, by the Presiding Bishop, The Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker in January, 1945. He will continue to act in that capacity until a resident bishop arrives in January, 1947.

The bishop is making a tour of the various churches in charge of the Rev. Edgar W. Henshaw. Prior to his arrival in Pampa he will visit Clarendon, Childress, Quanah and Shamrock. Following the services here he will visit Borger, Dumas, and Dalhart. On all his visits, he will be accompanied by Mr. Henshaw.

Immediately after the Friday evening service, a reception will be afforded the bishop at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Buckler, 410 W. Buckler street. A cordial invitation is extended to the general public and particularly to any Episcopalians who are visiting in Pampa at this time to attend the services and reception.

Training Union Will Begin Revival Sunday At Calvary Baptist

Miss Louise Villamain of Dallas, Baptist State Training Union worker, will direct the Calvary Baptist church in the Sixth Annual Associational Training Union revival.
This will be held simultaneously with the Palo Duro association meeting, which is under the leadership of Dr. T. C. Gardner, state secretary of the B. T. U. in Texas.
First meeting will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30, in the First Baptist church, Panhandle, with Dr. Gardner as principal speaker.

Miss Villamain will speak Sunday evening at the Calvary church. Rev. E. M. Dunsworth, pastor, has announced.
Seven classes for all ages with special classes for leaders, will begin Monday evening at 7:30 and continue each evening through Friday. R. Virgil Mott, educational and music director of the First Baptist church, will appear on the program Tuesday night.

The public is invited to attend all of the services.
Sunday will also be observed as Promotion Day in the Sunday school and Training Union. Services will begin with Sunday school at 9:45; worship service, 10:30; Training Union 7 p.m., and evening worship will begin at 8 o'clock.

Lutheran Service Is Announced on Sunday By Rev. R. L. Young

Services are scheduled at the regular hour Sunday, at the Zion Lutheran church, the pastor, Rev. R. L. Young, has announced.

The sermon will be based on John 15, 5; and will stress the intimate relationship which exists between Christ and the believer, the pastor stated.

Sunday school classes will review the lessons taught in the previous quarter, with the exception of the beginners, who will study the story of Moses.

In adult Bible class, the story of Joseph as ruler in Egypt will be discussed.
Rev. Young will preach at the Mission Festival, at Midland, Oct. 7, and there will be no services at the local church on that Sunday.

Reports from our mission in Greece have given shocking details of wanton destruction perpetrated by the Germans. A total of 1091 small villages were wiped out. 414,056 Greeks are homeless.—Roy F. Hendrickson, deputy director general, UNRRA.

Christian Science Sunday Study Topic

"Reality" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 30.

The Golden Text is: "Thou, O Lord, remainest forever; thy throne from generation to generation" (Lamentations 3:19).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel, and his redeemer the Lord of hosts: I am the first, and I am the last; and beside me there is no God" (Isaiah 44:6).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "All reality is in God and His creator, harmonious and eternal. That which He creates is good, and He makes all that is made" (page 472).

The wood of the poplar tree has been used widely for the manufacture of berry baskets and crates because it is soft, tough, clear, light in weight and color, and tasteless and odorless.

Rev. A. L. James To Preach on Sunday at Church of Nazarene

"Some of the Greatest Words in the Bible" is the sermon topic for the service Sunday morning, at 11 o'clock, at the Church of the Nazarene, the pastor, Rev. A. L. James, has announced.

Sunday school will begin at 9:45 a. m. and evangelistic services are scheduled for 8 p. m. Sunday will be Rally Day for the Young Peoples' groups, and an offering will be taken for Australian mission, at 7 p. m. The public is invited to attend the services.

Missionary From The Belgian Congo

H. Gray Russell

Mr. H. Gray Russell is a missionary teacher at Congo Christian Institute, a secondary school for native teachers and preachers of the Congo Christian Mission of Disciples of Christ near Bolenge in Belgian Congo. Mr. Russell, as one of the missionaries founding this school in 1928, supervised the erection of buildings, homes for students, and other units. He has continued as an instructor and has seen remarkable improvements in the work of the native staff on all stations and in the outstations as a result of better training.

Through his "Customs and Culture" classes, and because of his high regard for the art and other contributions the African has made to civilization, Mr. Russell has made extensive studies of African life and customs, and he has become a close friend of the Congo people.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell first went to Africa in 1924, and were stationed at Mondombe, farthest inland of Congo Christian Mission stations, fifteen hundred miles from the mouth of the Congo River. Here in an area where missionaries had been living only four years they made bricks, erected buildings, carried on elementary educational work, conducted Christian worship, and did a variety of pioneer tasks.

Mr. Russell is a graduate of Lynchburg College, Lynchburg, Virginia, the College of Mission, Indianapolis, and the University of Chicago.

Mr. Russell Will Speak at the Sunday Morning Service, Sept. 30th

Jim Brown will fill the pulpit Sunday evening.

Handkerchief Tricks

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK.—You can top the magician's handkerchief trick by turning your dainty square into a fancy piece of neckwear.

Proof, in case you're skeptical, are the hand-embroidered bertha collar and gilet shown, which look expensive but cost only the price of three Irish linen handkerchiefs.

To make bertha, right, fold one handkerchief diagonally, place it in this position over a round neckline dress—which should be folded down center front with edges of neckline even and shoulder seams matching—then cut a circle out of the handkerchief to fit neck, allowing about one-half inch for seam.

Now, cut off that surplus of handkerchief—it will take the form of a little triangle—which extends beyond the opening of dress in back. Because the neckline of your dress measures less from shoulder to shoulder in back than in front, there will be this back fullness. It should be trimmed to conform to the closing of the dress, allowing enough for seams.

To make gilet, as shown left, use two regular size handkerchiefs. Cut other handkerchief as is, but gathered into a butterfly bow to tack at the neckline closing of revers.

Methodist Friendship Class Has Fall Luncheon in Fellowship Hall

Members of the Friendship class of the First Methodist church were entertained with a luncheon Monday afternoon, in the Fellowship hall. Members of group four were hostesses, with Mrs. V. L. Boyles serving as chairman.

The dining tables were decorated with a fall motif of autumn leaves and pine cones.

Following the luncheon, Mrs. H. L. Speer directed the program, and a short business session was held.

The Rev. E. B. Bowen gave the invocation, and group singing was directed by Mrs. Sam Cook, with Mrs. Irvin Cole at the piano.

The devotionals was presented by Mrs. Horace McBee.

Mrs. Sherman White, class secretary, and Mrs. Joe Shelton, corresponding secretary, gave summaries of the class activities and the financial report for the year.

The report was presented as a dialogue, "Does the Class Know What It Did, or Did Not Do, During the Past Year?"

Mrs. White and Mrs. Shelton expressed their appreciation to members of the class, and to the retiring officers, for their interest and work during the past year.

Gifts were presented to Mrs. Walter Purviance, teacher; Mrs. J. E. Kirshman, assistant teacher, and Mrs. J. M. Turner, president. Officers installed for the coming year by Mrs. Lee Harrah are: Mrs. Walter Purviance, teacher; Mrs. Sherman White, assistant teacher; Mrs. J. E. Kirshman, president; Mrs. S. C. Evans, vice president; Mrs. H. L. Jordan, secretary; Mrs. G. W. Appleby, assistant secretary; Mrs. Joe Shelton, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. M. Turner, treasurer; and Mrs. R. C. Lackey, reporter.

Mrs. R. K. Elkins gave the benediction.

Present were Rev. E. B. Bowen, and Mesdames Jesse Stroup, V. L. Boyles, Joe Shelton, W. R. Ewing, George Appleby, L. A. Barber, M. O. Pickett, W. J. Foster, Joe Vincent, Fred Radcliff, J. K. Mother of Pampan Dies in California

Word was received here Saturday morning that Mrs. Harriet Tinsley, mother of Roy Tinsley of this city, had died in San Jose, Calif., as the result of a stroke of paralysis.

Mrs. Tinsley was a pioneer resident of Pampan and moved to San Jose following the death of her husband. She was an active member of the local First Methodist church. A second son, Alfred Tinsley, resides in Marysville, Calif.

Funeral services for Mrs. Tinsley were held Tuesday in San Jose. The body was cremated, and the ashes are being brought to Pampan for preservation.

Compacts Reveal Your Character

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

A hostess who entertains a great deal says she has her fun after parties are over, and guess what doing?

Examining feminine purse accessories which guests left behind, and guessing from their tidy or untidy aspects to whom they belonged.

How would you like to be misjudged by your compact or make-up case? You would be by almost any host or hostess who picked up one harboring a soiled puff, spilled rouge and powder, or a gummed-up lipstick.

If a girl must use such messy objects, she should guard them so they don't escape her clutches.

What accessories left behind do you think made a great impression even upon this worldly hostess of whom I speak?

One was a beautiful antique box in which some fastidious woman carried her powder. Another was an heirloom snuff-box in which one girl carried her vitamin pills.

Refineries Close

rel, president of the Dyers and Fishers employers association. He said the union had made no formal demands for any wage increases.

Other front-rank labor disturbances continued.

The strike in Pennsylvania hit a new high of 77,000, including 28,302 coal miners as 59 pits closed. In neighboring West Virginia 27 mines were closed, keeping about 9,000 off their jobs.

In the Pacific northwest, a threatened strike of some 37,000 CIO lumber workers was postponed at least until Oct. 3, but the area's wood fuel supply was steadily shrinking as the strike by 60,000 AFL workers for wage increases entered its fifth day.

Strikes and layoffs in the Detroit area added 80,000.

New York City's paralyzing strike of 15,000 AFL building service employees continued but there was a possibility of arbitration as leaders and their employees agreed to meet with the New York state mediation board.

The strike costing an estimated millions of dollars in trade and wages daily, spread to 100 additional buildings yesterday, but the union promised no further structures would be struck. Wages and hours are the main issues in the dispute.

The brightest spot on the troubled labor scene was the settlement of a sitdown strike at the New York shipbuilding corporation in Camden, N. J., enabling about 20,000 workers to go back to their jobs on Monday, after a week's idleness.

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 28.—(AP)—The last refinery in Jefferson county, one of the world's largest gasoline production centers, was closed by strike today.

This brought to 19 the number of refineries and affiliated plants shut down in Texas by strikes. Approximately 23,000 men are idle.

The Atlantic Refining company here, employing 409, was being picketed today following an orderly shutdown. The union had voted a strike last week but had called a temporary delay.

Total workers now out in five oil refineries, three rubber plants, an asphalt plant and several smaller related industries in Jefferson county alone number 17,000.

Closings in Houston last night included the ship channel plant of the Sinclair pipe line company and the Crown Central Refinery. At Corpus Christi two Sinclair terminals on Corpus Christi bay quit operation.

Picketing was extended to a seventh gasoline distribution center in Houston and 400 service stations in the area were expected to feel a drastic curtailment.

In East Texas, the salt water disposal company walkout, scheduled early today, was called off following a meeting at Tyler late yesterday between union officials and management. Bryan Payne, president of the firm, said pay increases of from five to 20 percent had been granted employees.

The company takes salt water produced with oil and returns it to the oil pool, thus disposing of the water and maintaining pressure in the pool.

R. W. Lawrence, oil workers international union representative from Fort Worth, said 2,000 East Texas oil field workers will ballot on the strike issues, beginning tomorrow.

The issues include demands for 30 percent pay increases and other concessions.

Wednesday the Texas oil allowable was cut 400,000 barrels daily because of strikes.

Pioneer in Armor Is 'Old Ironsides'

By NEA Service

To the First Armored, the "Old Ironsides" division, rightfully belongs much of the credit for the battle of the American armor. It could just as well be called the "Guinea Pig" division. For it was the first, and for a long time the only, American armored outfit in action. The lessons the First learned in the bloody classrooms of Oran, Mateur, Faid Pass, Kasserine Pass, Cassino, and Anzio, were passed on to its brother units prior to battle, saving them from learning the hard and costly way.

The First has fought over every type of terrain except jungle. The First had its first taste of combat when it went ashore at Oran at the start of the North Africa campaign. After: the "Battle of the Moussetrap" the First, in three days of stabbing action, slashed from Mateur to the Mediterranean at Porto Farina. The flying columns of the First, avenging the mauling it had taken from German armor at Kasserine Pass, chopped the enemy to bits and took 23,000 prisoners.

Now an American soldier at that time had two great weapons in his armory of romance. One was his personal charm. The other was—food.

The lieutenant was a proud man. He decided to win his disdainful girl by personal charm.

He brought the girl flowers. She took them with an audible sniff. He tried to go skimming with her, and she slipped away from him to go to the forest ski run with other village girls.

Realizing personal charm had failed to win him entry, he lowered his gold bar pride and decided to try the second alternative, food.

He brought a boxful of potatoes, two great frozen chunks of meat. The girl turned him a rainbow frown.

His romance was on the upgrade. With each gift of food his girl gave him happy looks.

One evening at dusk he met her on the stairs as he was going to his room. As she passed he reached out and drew her to him and kissed her for the first time. Her face looked troubled as she pulled away, and then she told him lightly in French to come down in an hour and they would sing and play the piano together.

He waited in his room a few minutes, then grew restless and walked down to the first floor.

Then he heard his girl laugh. It was the contented laugh of one in love. It came faintly from below. He walked out into the kitchen. There were fresh bread scraps on the table.

Uncertainly he opened the cellar door, and her laugh welled out again clear and strong. He heard her say tenderly in a tone she had never used with him—"ma cheri."

And then the hairs began to stand up stiffly on the back of his neck he heard a man's voice reply softly in guttural German.

Immediately the lieutenant understood. He had been quartered in a border family of German sympathizers. The girl had fallen in love with a German soldier and hidden him in her cellar. And she had smiled fawningly on the lieutenant only to get her secret lover food.

The lieutenant hesitated only a moment. He drew his flashlight with his left hand and with his right hand pulled out his automatic pistol.

And with sick heart and no sense of victory, the lieutenant moved soundlessly down the cellar stairs to take his rival prisoner.

Fire Prevention

possible fire hazards the firemen of Pampa make an average of 2,470 inspections, find 201 fire hazards, of which 87 per cent are corrected.

In relation to other Texas communities Pampa ranks as average in the amount of fire protection available, having a key rate of 24 with insurance companies. The key rate of Amarillo is 15; Dallas, 13; Lubbock, 23; Borger, 40; Midland, 27. (The lower the number the less the fire risk.)

It must be remembered, however, that fire prevention is not a question of fire protection or rate of fire insurance.

A factor called "credit," based on pure premiums and fire losses over a five-year period by the state, gives another bird's eye view of the damages caused by fire in various communities. Since 1941 when material damages amounted to $57,873, Pampa's credit record was increased from 10 to 25. (Again, the lower the number the better, for it implies that the loss was less.) Pampa will be given a better credit next March, according to Joe Fish of the Hulse-Pitt Insurance agency, when the 1941 damages will not be considered in the five-year period.

Thus far this year damages have amounted to approximately $2,000, with but one record of a person being burned by a fire that was extinguished by the fire department. In 1944 the damages amounted to $4,104; 1943, $13,120; 1942, $28,670; 1941, $57,873; 1940, $7,118; 1939, $8,795.83. Personal losses would be correspondingly greater.

BIG BUSINESS

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28.—(AP)—A mystery has entered the life of Miss Ethel Blank in the form of a U. S. treasury check.

The check was for the payment of one cent and Miss Blank is at sea for the reason.

grenades, or were brutally bayoneted by the Nipponese.

The Japanese ordered arrested much in rank from sergeant to lieutenant. Col. Oie Satoshi, presumably in command of the "murder detail."

Supreme Allied headquarters today rejected Japan's plea for 260,000 tons of her own shipping to return to Japan. Japanese soldiers from outside the empire—assuring considerable delay in returning many thousands of the enemy veterans.

Japan's merchant marine is in rickety shape at best, headquarters explained, and General MacArthur decided that such a great tonnage could not be spared from more vital tasks connected with maintenance of health and minimum living standards of the civilian population. Shipping is urgently needed, for instance, if foodstuffs are to be imported from the Asiatic mainland to avert threatening winter famine.

MacArthur earlier today forbade reopening of the Japanese stock exchange, but permitted reopening of factories to manufacture some goods in limited quantities.

Leaders of the workmen meanwhile met to form a new socialist party, and the reported reorganization of several war-defunct labor unions further marked acceleration of Japan's new liberal movement.

Which thus far has been markedly socialistic. No group, thus far, champions a capitalistic democracy.

One MacArthur directive gave the imperial government permission to produce textiles, certain metals, leather goods and trucks, and to process raw rubber under specific restrictions laid down by him previously.

MacArthur approved the manufacture of motor trucks, but denied the Japanese permission to produce passenger vehicles.

Manufacture of textiles was approved provided they contained "no raw silk, silk yarn, silk thread or silk mixture woven goods."

On the agricultural front, the newspaper Mainichi reported that Allied headquarters had approved the use of idle airfields for farming to help alleviate food shortages.

MacArthur told the imperial government that any request for reopening the stock exchange or any similar institution must be submitted to him with detailed plans—in line with his program of controlling Japan's finances to put the nation on a firm economic footing.

Japan's Domei agency reported

Oil Strike

in the Chicago talks from the main issue of the union's 30 percent wage increase demand. The companies said they would go along for a 15 percent hike.

The labor secretary's first move here, he said, will be to assure both sides that the government has no intention of forcing industry-wide negotiations in disputes.

In the case of the oil strike, he added, it developed so fast there simply wasn't time to deal with each firm's troubles individually.

"I feel that if we can get together on some basis so the workers will get back to work, we can iron out details later," Schwellenbach said. He added that separate contracts could be drawn if issues are once settled broadly.

Schwellenbach said he knew of no plans for seizure of oil fields and refineries to restore production. Aides said if any such action is taken it likely will apply only to facilities supplying the military. This could result in stopping the flow of oil and gasoline to motorists and civilian industrial plants while keeping the armed forces supplied.

ned near all embassies, and legations of American countries, a Montevideo dispatch reported, requesting identifications, presumably to prevent more persons from taking refuge.

The military government for the first time detained leading figures of the two great Argentine morning newspapers, La Nacion and La Prensa.

Military police rounding up prominent Argentines opposed to the military regime of President Edelmiro Farrell and Col. Juan Peron, vice-president, have filled the jails with nationally known citizens.

Mainly About Pampa and Her Neighbor Towns

Mary Ruth Abolt received a telephone call Wednesday night from her brother, T/Sgt. Charles O. Slavens, just after he had landed in New York. Sergeant Slavens is the son of O. E. Slavens, 629 N. Russell. He was a member of the Lost Battalion, was captured by the Japs on Java, and was in prison on Thailand. First word of his release was received from him while on Saigon after being liberated. He will arrive in Pampa in about two weeks for a visit, and from here will go to the army hospital at McKinney.

Rev. W. H. Massengale has been in St. Louis, Mo., for the past 10 days attending a conference of the Pentecostal Assembly of Jesus Christ.

Lost: White silk head scarf, Hawaiian girl embroidered in corner, possibly lost in front of Liberty Bus, $5 reward for return to Louise Pollock. Phone 1889W or leave at News.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack P. Stroup will arrive this weekend from Miami, Fla., for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Jessye Stroup, and his sister, Joan. Mrs. Jack Stroup is the former Miss Ann Hoode of Boston, Mass. Jack has received his discharge after serving for almost four years with the U. S. navy, 18 months of which were spent in the Southwest Pacific.

For Sale: Gaited 3 year old unbroken colt or will trade for cow pony. W. S. Tolbert, St. Rt. 2.

Carpenter's Mate 2/c and Mrs. Willis McCoy of Guymon, Okla., are the parents of a baby daughter, Vicki Jo, who arrived Sept. 8, in the Pampa hospital. Mrs. McCoy is a cousin of Mrs. Mark Vantine of this city.

Word has been received by Mrs. G. B. Hoover that her son, Cadet Joe Cree, of the merchant marines, is sailing for Cristobal, Canal Zone. Cadet Cree has just returned to duty after spending a week in Pampa visiting with friends and relatives.

S/Sgt. and Mrs. C. A. Tucker are the parents of a baby daughter, Joy Charlene, who arrived in Worley hospital Monday morning. Mrs. Tucker and her three-year-old daughter, Judith Ann, have been staying in the home of her sister, Mrs. Ralph DePee, and Sergeant Tucker is stationed at Camp Gruber, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sewell and Mr. and Mrs. Bonnie Rose and daughter, Bonnie Lee, have returned from a vacation trip to Pearl Lake trout camp in Colorado.

Directors Choose Rodeo Uniforms

Maroon gabardine shirts trimmed with white braid to be worn with white tie and regulation tan riding trousers—will be the uniform of all members of the Top o' Texas Rodeo, Horseshow and Fair association, it was announced today.

On the back of the shirts will be "Top o' Texas Cowboys—Pampa." A white sombrero was also suggested as a possible addition to the regulation uniform, which will be worn by members next year in the rodeo and advertising tours of the association.

Members, all who made cash contributions to last summer's show, now total approximately 160. All are eligible to wear the uniform.

A sample of the uniform will be made up within the next few days. The design was selected by a committee appointed by President Wade Thomasson. Committeemen were Paul Carmichael, Silar Hopkins, Homer Taylor and P. D. Wright.

Anyone not a member of the association who would like to become a member is advised to contact President Thomasson for details of membership.

Willie Hoppe is regarded as the greatest all-around billiard player of all time. The world perhaps never has known his equal in versatility and sparkling brilliance. He was king of all billiard players, and so thoroughly dominated the field that he practically wrecked that department of billiard play before he abandoned it.

"When did Willie Hoppe win the world's championship?" asks Frank Singler, MBS commentator.

He won the world's championship in 1906, when 14 years of age.

Veterans Given First Chance at Surplus Vehicles

"Every effort is being made by Smaller War Plants corporation to permit veterans of this section to participate in automotive sales to dealers at Camp Bowie, Texas, Oct. 5," C. Ray Earley, district manager of SWPC, announced today.

"Following a successful experimental sale to veterans and dealers in San Antonio Sept. 19," Earley said, "the regional office of the department of commerce at Fort Worth has tentatively approved our request to permit veterans to go into this camp and buy ahead of the dealers. Final approval of the plan is now being awaited from the department of commerce in Washington."

Earley said that the experiment conducted at the Fort Sam Houston sale for dealers was unusually successful. Approval of veterans to buy ahead of the dealers was received from the department of commerce just one day prior to the sale, and 104 veterans of the area were notified that night in telegrams of their opportunity to inspect the 1,008 trucks and other automotive equipment one day ahead of the dealers.

Fifty-eight veterans purchased trucks and similar equipment valued at more than $40,000. Veterans of Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Southwestern Arkansas entering businesses of their own had 936 pending automotive requests filed with the department of commerce by SWPC as of Sept. 12.

The regional office of SWPC reports that 300 additional requests have been filed since that time for veterans by the eighth district offices of SWPC. Value of this equipment being requested by the veterans was placed at three-quarters of a million dollars.

"We would certainly like to see these veterans have the same chance to go in and bid on this equipment that they were given in the precedent-setting sale at San Antonio," Earley declared.

"At Camp Livingston and at Camp Bowie, 5,089 pieces of automotive equipment are being offered for sale to dealers. If veterans were allowed to go to these advertised sales and inspect the equipment three days ahead of the dealers, it wouldn't be long before all requests from veterans were filled," Earley said.

"The San Antonio sale," he continued, "was a good example. Nobody got hurt. Veterans bought 58 pieces of equipment and the dealers got the remaining 950."

NEWS OF OUR MEN—WOMEN IN UNIFORM

RECEIVES DISCHARGE
SHAMROCK—Arthur Wells received his discharge from the army Saturday. He was met in Amarillo, Tuesday, by his wife who lives here. Wells has been with the field artillery and served 23 months overseas in Italy. He has been in the service about three years and is a brother of Mrs. Edw. D. Derr.

REDISTRIBUTED
S/Sgt. Omno L. Behrends, who served 27 months in the Mediterranean theater of operations as a crew chief has arrived at the San Antonio district AAF personnel distribution command.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Behrends, and the husband of the former Miss Ruth Ann Murphy, Pampa.

Sgt. Behrends wears the good conduct ribbon, presidential citation with one cluster and the Mediterranean theater campaign ribbon with 12 battle stars. He is now undergoing processing in preparation for a discharge or reassignment to duty in this country.

WOUNDED
SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC
Marine Private Glenn G. Fry, box 696, Pampa, has been awarded the Purple Heart for wounds received during the invasion of Iwo Jima with the Fifth marine division.

WITH SEABEES
TWO JIMA (Delayed)—Two Pampa, Texas, navy men are members of the 31st naval construction battalion on this island. The men are Lloyd H. Summers, 728 N. Banks, and Dean Monday, CM3/c, 414 W. Francis. R. P. Bergerson, MM3/c, White Deer, Texas, is also a member of the battalion.

The 31st came ashore with the marines on Feb. 19 when Iwo Jima was invaded and has been here ever since. In 19 days this Seabee unit constructed a two-lane highway with no greater grade than 10 percent to the top of Mt. Suribachi, something the Japanese imperial engineers tried to do for 10 years. A Jap major called the construction "the road that couldn't be built."

NEAR JAP BASE
On the USS FANSHAW BAY (Delayed)—Lt. (j.g.) Judson E. Lane, USNR, whose wife, Lucy Cartes lives at 321 E. King Mill, Texas, is serving on this aircraft carrier which today (Sept. 6) is standing off Ominato, important Jap navy base in northern Honshu, to cover the landing of occupation forces.

SEPARATED
Sgt. Marion O. Welch, 916 E. Campbell, was honorably discharged from the service at the separation center at Lowry field, Colo.

Welch entered the service Jan. 24, 1942, spent 26 months overseas in England, Africa and Italy, and returned to the States Sept. 1, 1944. During civilian life he was an automobile mechanic employed at the Rader Motor Co.

IN TOKYO BAY
ON THE USS PAVLIC IN TOKYO BAY (Delayed)—R. B. Cooke, Cox, McLennan, Texas, is serving on this attack transport which yesterday (Aug. 30) was one of the first Allied ships to enter the bay. The Pavlic landed British marines and volunteers, from her crew to demilitarize the four forts guarding the entrance to the bay.

After the landing party was re-embarked, the vessel sailed to Yokosuka naval base, where the British were landed again to become part of the occupation force. Today American marines came aboard and were carried to a big naval air station which they took over.

COME AGAIN
HASTINGS, Nebr., Sept. 28.—(AP)—The Hastings chamber of commerce, like others throughout the country, is accustomed to receiving all sorts of inquiries.

But the persons in charge of answering queries admitted they were stumped by this poster from a Lanesboro, Minn., resident.

He wrote: "Please send me all the information you can. Thank you."

Benefits paid American families by the life insurance companies of the country are currently running 20 per cent greater than in 1941.

Church Women Will Observe World Day

By MARY FOWLER

Local radio stations throughout the country will cooperate in observance of World Community day on November 2, when, under United Council of Church Women sponsorship, church women will unite interdenominationally with other community organizations to study "The Price of an Enduring Peace."

Through the cooperation of the Council's radio chairman, Miss Jane Tiffany Wagner, of the National Broadcasting company staff, and Miss Dorothy Lewis, coordinator of Listner Activity of the National association of broadcasters, arrangements are made for church women to secure local radio time for one or more broadcasts. Among cities where programs are now scheduled are New York, Indianapolis, Dallas, Santa Barbara, Calif., and Syracuse, N. Y. Others are urged to do so within the near future.

"The cry of mankind today is 'Progress!' while plans for the future are dazzling in their concept; but if the religion of Jesus Christ is left out of those plans, our nation will surely go the way of all 'Godless lands,'" says Mrs. Grace Nell Crowell, poet and author. "Paradoxically there is only one way to progress, and that is by going back to the teachings of Jesus Christ. Make Christ the head of the home and there will be no delinquent children; make him a counselor and there will be no corruption in politics; make him a leader and there will be no limit to our progress as a nation. For years the churches have been knocking at the door of all homes, striving to awaken men to the need of spiritual fitness."

Gill Funeral Service Set 3 P. M. Tomorrow

Final rites in memory of Hiran Alfred Gill will be held tomorrow at 3 p. m. in the First Baptist church in Miami. Rev. W. H. Moore, pastor, will officiate.

Mr. Gill was 71 years of age, and had been a resident of Roberts County since 1939, where he was a stock farmer. He died Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 at his home in Miami.

Surviving are the wife, Mrs. Ocie Gill of Miami; five sons, W. E. Gill, Phoenix; Alton and Ross Gill, Miami; Chester Gill, Salem, Ill.; two daughters, Miss Edna Gill, New York City, and Miss Oleta Gill, Miami.

Three brothers, H. T. Gill, Vigo Park, J. M. and A. W. Gill, Miami, through religious education. Now is the time to heed that clear, wise call. Let us go forward by going back to the lost often neglected teachings of that great educator: Jesus of Nazareth."

"Our lay people are beginning to realize their responsibility if America and the world are to become decent places in which to live," says Mrs. Leslie R. Swain, president of the northern Baptist convention, in urging observance of religious education week, Sept. 30 to Oct. 7. "No one factor can be more productive in building the really Christian community for which we all long than the work being carried on in the church schools of the world. Here young and old alike are instructed in the truths which alone can set men free."

National Cotton Council Will Move

AUSTIN, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Acting President T. S. Painter of the University of Texas today advised the board of regents the national cotton council will move from Dallas to Austin the fundamental research section of its research division.

The section, now operating in connection with Southern Methodist university, has a 10-member staff under Dr. Harold Webber.

The move will be made in the immediate future, Dr. Painter said. At Texas university the section will work cooperatively with chemical biology and biochemical experts. It will bring with it specialized equipment for which space is being provided.

With the move a coordinated program of cotton research will be housed in three state institutions of learning. Texas university now is doing economic research and certain wartime fiber research. The latter program is to be moved to Texas Technological college. Texas A. & M. college is concerned with cottonseed research. Texas Tech is engaged in textile research.

and one sister, Mrs. E. G. Gordon, Miami, also survive. Pallbearers will be M. M. Craig, C. T. Locke, Roy Mathers, Dan Graham, C. C. Shields, J. B. Saul, C. C. Carr and J. O. Dunbar.

Burial will be in the Miami cemetery under the direction of the Duencel-Carmichael funeral home, Pampa.

Football Game To Be Played Saturday Afternoon at 3

One-Day Postponement of Tilt Is Decided Upon by Officials

Rain and near-freezing temperatures have made it necessary to set the Phillips Blackhawk-Pampa Harvester football game up to tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, it was announced this morning.

The game was originally scheduled for tonight at 8:30 at Harvester park but Pampa and Phillips officials agreed today to play the contest Saturday.

Both teams involved in tomorrow's clash are unbeaten in two contests but Phillips has shown a greater scoring punch than have the Harvesters.

In two games, the Blackhaws have rolled up 84 points, 33-0 against Dumas and 51-0 against Dalhart, while the Harvesters have beaten Electra 14 to 7 and Midland 25 to 6.

Co-Captain Charlie Beard, left end, will be out of the line-up for Pampa when the two teams take the field. Beard hurt his shoulder two weeks ago and a physician has ordered that he stay out of action for this game. Beard, however, will be back in the line-up for the Vernon game next week.

In Beard's place, will be Lonnie Williams, 161-pound reserve who has played excellent ball in all of the action he has seen this year. Williams, who also plays in the backfield, took a pass from George Johnson to score against Midland last week.

The rest of the Harvester line-up will be intact with a fairly heavy line and a light backfield.

With Williams will be Jack Dunham, right end, Dunham played at regular guard last year and is one of the outstanding defensive men on the team. He has shown superiority especially in downfield blocking.

At the tackle posts will be Stanley Simpson and Jim Terrell. Simpson, who weighs 194 pounds, played little ball last year but has developed into a "brick wall" on defense in games so far this year. Terrell, who captains the Harvester eleven, is one of the outstanding linemen in the district. He weighs 187 pounds.

Starting at guards will be Jack Hood and Don Humphreys. Both were dependable reserves last year and both are excellent blockers.

Maurice Lockhart will start at center. Lockhart has shown vast improvement since the first of the season and is one of the most aggressive players on the squad. The backfield boasts a veteran from last year, two 1944 reserves and a first-year man.

At the quarterback spot will be Winfred Vaughn, who calls signals. Vaughn, who weighs 156, has proved to be excellent on both offensive and defense since the start of the season. He was a reserve last year.

Holding down the fullback position will be George Johnson, a first-year man who is fast developing into one of the best all-around backs in recent Pampa football history. Johnson, although he weighs only 130, is an excellent ball carrier, passer and is exceptionally outstanding in the punting department.

Co-Captain Randall Clay and Russell Neef hold down the half-back positions. Neef was a top-flight reserve last year and has been particularly good on tackling. Clay, who with Dunham makes up the "returning regular" contingent from last year, has spearheaded the Harvester scoring and running attack this year. With fine support from his teammates, Clay has gone over for three touchdowns and has kicked three conversions.

The Blackhaws are a veteran team and Coach "Chesky" Walker has called them the best team he

Irish, Horned Frogs, Aggies Are Favorites

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Coming back for a second week of football prognostications after an initial 1945 effort of 23 correct picks and five misses for an average of .821.

Georgia Tech-North Carolina: Carl Snively defeated Georgia Tech in both changes during his previous stay at North Carolina but hasn't power enough this time—Georgia Tech.

Illinois-Notre Dame: Notre Dame isn't the Notre Dame of old but the Irish are playing at home, Illinois has beaten Notre Dame and will have to wait another year—Notre Dame.

Southern California-California: The Trojans showed power last week in downing UCLA, 13 to 6, and should triumph by about the same margin—Southern California.

Army Air Forces Personnel Distribution Center-Army: Passes defeated the AAF Comets last week and the Cadets last week. Al Tucker is handicapped by a bad shoulder—But it should be the Army all the way.

Villanova—Navy: George Walsmsley, one of the middies huge supply of backs, may be lost to the team because of an ear condition—One ailing ball carrier won't halt the Navy.

Tennessee-Wake Forest: Tennessee says its lineup is riddled by injuries, hints from the Deacon camp is that the southern circuit club is loaded—But Tennessee is the choice.

Holy Cross-Dartmouth: It is Stan Koslowski vs. Meryl Frost with Koslowski, the Crusader halfback, the favorite.—Holy Cross.

Clemson-Georgia: Both had easy workouts a week ago but tomorrow will be tougher, especially for Clemson—Georgia.

Michigan State-Michigan: The Wolverines to get back on the winning path in a hurry after last week's upset to Indiana.

Texas Christian-Baylor: Baylor has counted 72 points in first two games this season and will wish it had saved a few for its game with the Frogs—Texas Christian.

Oklahoma-Nebraska: The Sooners to rate above a Husker outfit that is just beginning to shake off the effects of a war-time slump.

Washington-Oregon: The Huskies are still husky—Washington.

Indiana—Northwestern: The Hoopsters to pull through for another victory.

Oklahoma A. & M.—Arkansas: Bob Fenimore and his pals to be on top after a high scoring melee—Oklahoma A. & M.

Rice-Louisiana State: For the second straight week-end Rice's Owls will be sad Owls—Louisiana State.

Missouri-Ohio State: It is another veteran Buckeye squad—Ohio State.

Brown—Pennsylvania: Those Quaker Frogs are big, alert and adapted—Pennsylvania.

Hurrying through the rest: Wisconsin over Marquette, Great Lakes over Purdue, Cornell over Bucknell, Pittsburgh over West Virginia, Duke over Boise Field, Berkston Field over Iowa, Colorado over Colorado college, Denver over Kansas (today), Maryland over Guilford (today), Syracuse over Temple (today), Auburn over Wakefield Field (today), Kentucky over Cincinnati, William & Mary over Cawtoha, Coast Guard over Scranton.

Columbia over Lafayette, Mississippi over Florida, Penn State over Muhlenberg, Utah over Nevada, Virginia over North Carolina State, South Carolina over Presbyterian, Colgate over Rochester, St. Mary's over Pacific, Texas over Southwest, Vanderbilt over Tennessee Poly, Yale over Tufts, Kansas State over Wichita, Tulsa over West Texas, Texas A. & M. over Texas Tech, San Diego Navy over UCLA, Mississippi State over Southwest Louisiana, institute, Virginia Military over Richmond, Washington State over Idaho.

Hank Greenberg May Be 'Goal' of Series

DETROIT, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Hank Greenberg, the highest paid player in baseball today and one of its all-around finest characters, stands a good chance of being the "goal" of next week's world series.

It is a painful chore to relate that the big fellow, who returned in July to play left field for the Detroit Tigers after having spent nearly four years in the army, is but a hard-trying shadow of his former self.

Big Hank, who once made pitchers tremble and who played a better-than-adequate outfield, is being made to look bad at the plate, and an injured ankle is restricting him to about the area of the Tigers' stumble toward the American league flag.

The oldest recorded document on paper is a deed of King Roger of Sicily of the year 1102.

Cardinals Succumb To Pirates; Bruins Now Lead by 3 Lengths

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Only a complete collapse on the part of the Chicago Cubs or the Detroit Tigers will prevent them from meeting in the World Series.

The Cubs today enjoy a three game lead over the St. Louis Cardinals in the National League pennant race as a result of yesterday's double triumph over Cincinnati, 3-1 and 7-4 while the Cards were bowing to Pittsburgh, 5-2.

Even if the Cubs were to lose all three of their remaining games and the Cards win their three, Cholly Grimm's now Jolly Bruins, like the Tigers in the American league, can get no worse than a tie for the flag.

The Cubs rest today preparing for their three-game clash with the Pirates starting tomorrow night.

Yesterday's double triumph, Saturday, needing only one victory to clinch the flag. The Cards, meanwhile, engage the Reds in three games, two tomorrow.

Steve O'Neill's cock-sure Bengals, idle yesterday, also remain inactive until tomorrow when they come to grips with the defending champion St. Louis Browns in the first of a two-game weekend meeting, and like the Cubs, need only one victory to edge out Washington for the junior league championship.

The Senators, who ended their current campaign last Sunday, switched from praying to playing yesterday by edging out the Boston Red Sox 2-1 in an exhibition.

In the event a "miracle" occurs, and the Cubs and Tigers blow all their remaining games, while the Cards win theirs, the Cubs and Cardinals would meet in a playoff game on Monday as would the Tigers and Senators. Otherwise the Tigers will attempt to even their world series competition against the Cubs to whom they lost in 1907 and '08 and defeated in 1935.

Should the Cubs cup, they'll have their "cousins," the Reds to thank. Yesterday's twin win gave the Cubs a mark of 21 victories against one loss for the year's campaigning against the Rhinelanders. Only the 1909 Cubs against the Boston Braves, the 1927 New York Yankees against the Browns and the 1927 Pirates against the Redlegs, accomplished that feat.

At the same time the sweep completed the 19th time this season the Cubs have won both ends of a double header.

Hank Wyse and Paul Derringer elbowed the victories, Don Johnson's sixth inning double and Peanuts Lowrey's homer breaking up the opener, and triples by Lowrey and Phil Cavaretta bringing in the deciding runs in the ninth.

The Cubs' joy was dimmed when second baseman Johnson suffered a muscle sprain in his neck in a collision with umpire Babe Pinelli in the opener and was taken to Christ hospital. He was released later, but manager Grimm has not indicated whether he will play tomorrow.

The Cards received their near-kay blow from the left arm of Elwyn (preacher) Roe, Pirate Southpaw, who humiliated them with three hits while annexing his 14th victory of the season. The Cards lost the game in the first frame when George Dockins was tagged for three hits and the same number of runs before he was relieved by Al Jurisich, Jurisich hurled hitless ball until the eighth, when the Bucs banged him for two runs. The Cards nudged Roe for their tallies in the third and fifth.

In the only other big league contest, the Yankees clung to their slight chance to finish third in the American league standing, with a 3-1 conquest of the Philadelphia Athletics. Red Ruffing won his seventh victory since his discharge from the army by combining a home run with six hits. The defeat marked the A's 98th loss of the season and the club's 15th cellar finish.

The Cleveland Indians-Browns contest was washed out by rain.

Ott, McCarthy Will Be Back Next Year

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Managers Mel Ott of the New York Giants and Joe McCarthy of the Yankees will be back at the helm of their ball clubs in 1946.

Ott yesterday signed a new 5-year contract, currently the longest in baseball, replacing a three-year document which still had a year to go. The terms were not made public, but were estimated at $25,000 annually.

President Larry Macphail of the Yankees announced from Havana, where he is negotiating to have his team train next spring, that Joe McCarthy would be retained as manager.

Wilson Holds Slight Lead in Dallas Race

By The Associated Press
Woodrow Wilson holds a bare half-game lead in the Dallas district conference race as the result of being held to a 7-7 tie by Forest night in the feature battle of the Texas schoolboy football campaign.

Football other games were played in the state but none was a conference affair. Ysleta beat Cathedral of El Paso 14-0, Paschal (Fort Worth) trampled Mineral Wells 44-0, Galveston and Reagan (Houston) fought to a 14-14 deadlock and Brackenridge (San Antonio) beat Lamar (Houston) 13-0.

Fifty-three games are scheduled over the state tonight featured by the Breckenridge-Wichita Falls tilt at Wichita Falls, matching two of the sectional powers.

West Texas Has Versatile Team

CANYON, Tex., Sept. 28.—(AP)—Would-be coaches find West Texas State a good place to be this year; they learn to play all positions. There's Billy Greenfield, for instance. This Dumas sophomore never knows whom he will relieve in the backfield. He is learning all the chores in that department. There are few of the Buffaloes who do not play at least two positions. Head Coach W. A. (Gus) Miller is obliged to stress versatility because his manpower resources are meager.

But despite his limited assets, Miller chose to take on some tough opponents this season. Last week the Buffs lost 32-0, to Baylor. This week the opposition is the University of Tulsa, which a week ago punned the University of Wichita 61-0.

While Miller rates Tulsa above Baylor, he thinks his Buffaloes will improve their play notably this week. His freshmen learned a lot at Waco.

Coach Is Casualty Of Electra Workout

ELECTRA, Tex., Sept. 28.—(AP)—Coach Johnny Garrison of Electra high school is favoring an ankle this week.

He was the only casualty of scrimmage sessions; he stepped into a hole while showing his footballers how it ought to be done and wrenched the ankle so severely he was absent from his classes a whole day.

MESSAGE THAT WASN'T SENT

When Lt. Col. James Devereux the other day said he and his valiant men on Wake island did not say "Send us more Japs" back in 1941, he did not change the quality of heroism shown there, nor the picture of the whole Pacific situation at that time.

The expression, coined probably in a moment of patriotic feeling by some yet unnamed American somewhere, reflects a situation that did not exist at that time.

At least it gave us here at home a moment of pride and sheer joy—which otherwise would not have been ours. The truth of the matter is, however, that the men were probably saying "Send us more guns and planes—more men, too."

Neither expression will take its place in our military history. Rather, there will be written the cold fact that America did not have the men and planes and guns out there to justify "Send us more Japs."

In the debunking of that statement we do not find any defraction from the valor of those who stood their ground on Wake—either to die a futile death or be taken prisoner.

MATTER OF PUNCTUATION

(From The Wall Street Journal)

At the breakfast table the amateur poet eagerly opened the morning paper, ran his finger down the "Contributors' Column, and, finding what he sought, began to read. Suddenly cried, "Oh, heaven, what have I done to deserve this?"

"What's wrong, dear," asked his startled wife.

"Wrong?" he muttered. "I wrote a poem about our Willie, and I said, 'My son! My pigmy counterpart!'"

The indignant bard, squaring his shoulders, forced himself to read:

"Yes, yes, go on!" urged his anxious mate.

"My son! My pig, my counterpart!"

Real Cost of State Education

Few people have considered the whole cost of state education. The real and most important cost of state education is not the money required to build school buildings and to pay the teachers.

We are now beginning to pay the real cost of state education. The real cost of state education is the eventual loss of men's souls. That means confusion; it means unemployment; it means being unable to pay our honest government costs. It is even borrowing money to the extent of $2,000 for every man, woman and child in this country. And the end is not yet.

We, the parents, have so exalted our ego that we think we need not pay our own government bills but should borrow money so that we can educate our children even if we are not enough educated or honest enough ourselves to pay the cost of our government.

The loss of individual freedom is inevitable. Whether or not the schools use any textbooks but mathematics and science, state-supported schools are teaching by example that multiplying a crime makes it a virtue; that a thing wrong for an individual to do becomes right if enough people agree to do it. No one would even contend that he as an individual has a right to use force on another to make him help pay for the training of his children. Yet they contend that they have a right to do it collectively. In fact, state-supported education is denying that there is any superior rule to the will of the majority. It is, in short, saying that might makes right; that numbers determine right. Thus it repudiates the impersonal laws that make it possible for people to live in peace and harmony; that make it possible for people constantly to improve their spiritual and material well-being.

State-supported schools are worshipping mammon instead of God. They do this because they deny by their deeds that any principle exists. The result is spiritual bankruptcy. So the real cost of public education is not the money, but the loss of our character; it is the loss of our souls.

The columns, of course, are open to any defender of state-supported schools to refute the above conclusions provided he will answer questions.

Why July 1?

What people would like to know is why it will take the army until July 1 to release 6,000,000 soldiers.

There might be several explanations for this. Possibly the army is so inefficient that it is not able to release all the soldiers it does not need before at least ten months after the close of hostilities.

Another reason might be that the labor unions have brought pressure to bear on the administration to keep the soldiers in arms until the union workers who have been working in war plants get security rights on peace-time jobs. The administration is under such obligations to union labor racketeers that it usually does what they want them to do. If this be the case, it is a terrible price to pay to get union votes.

But when politics come to believe that there is no law superior to the will of the majority, they do almost anything to keep in power.

The army and navy should be demobilized at the first possible moment. Keeping the men in the armed services is harmful to them and harmful to the people outside. Congress should insist on the men being sent home.

It is strange indeed to realize that the very things that were forged in the furnace of war will soon add immeasurably to the life that beckons across the broad plains of peace.—Bayonne, N. J., Times.

News Behind the News

The National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER

DRUGS—Federal narcotic agents have been ordered to keep watch for the recently discovered full employment of justice investigation. It was a coal tar derivative, and it furnished an excellent substitute for morphine when administered by competent hands.

The drug involved was produced by company whose continued association with the German firm has been reported by the department of justice investigation. It was a coal tar derivative, and it furnished an excellent substitute for morphine when administered by competent hands.

Physicians and the police reported to Narcotic Commissioner Harry J. Anslinger that new and old addicts had taken to the use of this article, which they could buy at any drugstore without a prescription. Mr. Anslinger's inquiry confirmed these reports.

AUTHORITY—He immediately petitioned congress for a change in the law so the sale of this and similar medicaments could be barred by regulation rather than by statute. In the past, specific enactment of a law was necessary to give him the authority to rule a dangerous product off the market. The legislators heeded his request, and gave him a blank check for use whenever he may find it necessary through their field investigations.

Ironically, the firm protested violently against federal banning of its fast-selling commodity. Now it is learned that several other drugs based on German synthetics are on their way to the American market.

Addiction has always increased after every conflict of modern times. It results partially from the military medicals' frequent use of habit-forming drugs, and also from the general lassitude which overtakes a war-weary people. It will be aggravated this time because so many of our soldiers have been stationed in such lands as Iran, India, Burma, China. It is one of Uncle Sam's big worries.

OCCUPATION—The Russians are showing the German people no mercy in the Russian zones of occupation. Although confidential reports reaching Washington refer to the general lassitude which overtakes a war-weary people, it is understood that the situation is even worse in areas farther east.

When Marshal Zhukov's men require a home or building for billeting administrative purposes, they simply order the German tenants to scum. When they object, as they generally do, they are thrown out bodily and usually wind up living in a hut built of scrap metal. If the natives protest too violently, they are hustled off to prison.

MACARTHUR'S BIG JOB IN JAPAN

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—If there is one man who has had a hand in the military operations in the Pacific, it is General of the Armies Douglas MacArthur. But things have come to a show-down now and it's possible to see a little more clearly who's who in Japan and why.

MacArthur entered the war as a symbol. In that respect he was a good bit like General De Gaulle. Yet either clung with hope to the symbol or there wasn't anything to cling to.

Any man who becomes a symbol is in danger of falling into the belief that he's pretty important. MacArthur was no exception. War correspondents began to bring back reports—stories they were kind enough not to print—that this man's arrogance was pretty hard to take. It was reflected in a seven-stanza bit of doggerel called, "Doug's Communique," circulated all over the Pacific.

One sample stanza ran:
"My battleships bombard the Nips from Maine to Singapore;
My subs have sunk a million tons—they'll sink a billion more;
My aircraft bombed Berlin last night.
In Italy they say,
"Our turn's tonight, because it's right in Doug's communique."

WASHINGTON TOW-TOWED TO THE SYMBOL
But the need to maintain MacArthur as a symbol was reflected in

Senator Capper Encourages Halt On Big Spending

If America is to avoid financial disaster it is time to call a halt on astronomical government spending and "get down to earth again," according to Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas.

Pointing out that the federal civil service payroll this year was $1,000,000,000, the senator declared in the October issue of Capper's Farmer that "Now the war is over I'd like to see our government planners work as hard trying to find ways to have money and avoid borrowing and taxing people as they have in figuring out plans for spending government funds."

"It will take courage and sacrifice to balance our national budget and reduce spending," he continues. "But it must be done."

"Of course the end of the war has halted a lot of spending. But many war costs will go on for years. Other costs of government amounting to 10 billions or more a year, offer one opportunity for economy."

"What disturbs me is the way our planners now operate on a global basis, are functioning. They already have committed the government to put six billions into the inter-monetary fund and the international bank. The export-import bank has been given an additional $2,000,000,000. And there is talk about government loans to several nations running well into the billions."

"Some planners seem to have the idea that 140 million Americans can underwrite prosperity for the 1,300 million people of the world. I fear we aren't rich enough to do that. And I doubt if we can afford the type of planning being done for the 'new order' here in the United States."

"For instance, the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill for 'cradle to the grave' security for everybody. In it is included nearly everything that would tend to make the people dependent on their government, but little is said about the cost, although the people will have to pay that."

"This is just a sample of astronomical planning in Washington. There is a lot more of it being done—all of it expensive."

That is why I think we had better get our feet back on the ground. We have a man-size job on our hands to take care of returning veterans, to get jobs for them, to keep depression from hitting our country and our people. Let's get that job done first."

Official Appeals For Preservation Of the Open Shop

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Before Gov. Coke R. Stevenson today was a suggestion from Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith for a special session of the legislature "to preserve the open shop and to guarantee expression a preference in public and private jobs."

In a letter to the governor Smith said: "I believe the present oil workers strike by the Congress of industrial organizations involving as it does both issues above presented is adequate reason to warrant the calling of such a session."

He further expressed the opinion there are times when the government must act to preserve the common welfare "against the selfishness of a minority."

"I believe this to be such a time," he added.

One of the arguments in favor of one on Mr. Truman. The two tangled like cats and dogs when, as head of the Truman committee, the chief executive frequently assailed the war department's procurement methods as based on favoritism in the selection of the latter often suggested that the senate should not know what they were talking about, and that they were seeking headlines.

Unlike some of his predecessors, President Roosevelt these personal differences because he apparently regarded his former foe as the man best qualified for this difficult assignment.

When one correspondent wrote a war review story saying that the amphibious operations in the Pacific were planned by the combined chiefs of staff in Washington, it was discreetly suggested that the copy be changed because if MacArthur ever saw the story he would protest the idea that anyone planned his operations for him.

This same deference to the general was carried over even after the surrender of Japan. Officials in Washington who were asked about detailed plans for the occupation of Japan gave the reply that it was not in their hands—that the broad principles were laid down at Potsdam and after that it was up to General MacArthur.

Such an answer did not make sense on its face for the simple reason that the detailed plans for far-reaching military operations were worked out in Washington and were handed complete to General Eisenhower for execution. And it was known that a point committee of state, war and navy department experts had been working for over a year on plans to occupy Japan and break up the old imperial government. Officially, however, the faction was maintained that General MacArthur was Mr. Big in the Pacific.

ACHESON EXPLAINS WHO IS BOSS
Shortly after Secretary of State Byrnes went to London for the Big Five conference of foreign ministers, Dean Acheson held his first press conference as acting secretary of state. He was asked about the occupation policy in Japan because MacArthur already was being criticized. Acheson replied that MacArthur had the power to say what was done in Japan. Questioned further on the point as to who told MacArthur what to do, Acheson replied that this was up to the President.

Less than a week after Acheson made these statements, General MacArthur as supreme commander in Japan announced that only 200,000 troops might be needed for the occupation within six months. Acheson cracked down on him, and this time a different answer was forthcoming. A state, war and navy committee co-ordinated American policy on Japanese occupation, said Acheson, with instructions going to the occupation forces through military channels from the President. MacArthur mentioned by name, but there was no doubt as to who was meant.

MacArthur has been severely criticized by his soft policy of occupation and the apparent slowness with which the Japs have been made to feel they lost the war. With Acting Secretary of State Acheson's new statement, however, it now becomes clear that if the occupation policy in Japan isn't working, it may not be so much the fault of General MacArthur as it is the fault of the state, war and navy bright boys who made the plans in the first place.

In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD—It looks like a first rate feud again between Judy Garland and Deanna Durbin, whose careers have paralleled each other since they crashed Hollywood together.

They married at about the same time, divorced at the same time, switched from singing to high drama at the same time, and re-married again at about the same time. Now they're both going to have babies. When Judy heard about Deanna's date with the stork, she commented:

"Gosh, can't I do ANYTHING by myself?"

Now that Betty Hutton is married, we'll see if her capers weren't just an outlet for boredom. Until her marriage, she told close friends, she was the most bored gal in Hollywood. Now she says she will settle down.

Gruchie Marx and his 18-year-old daughter, Miriam, have made a deal. She's agreed to complete her college education and then she'll get to try a career in show business under papa's wing.

She wants to be a comic, like Groucho. Ruth Hussey is New York bound for the play, "I'd Rather Be Left." Gene Raymond is resuming his film career at RKO after his release from the army air force. RKO hopes to give him a character switch, a la Dick Powell.

Plans are afoot to stage a giant Hollywood banquet honoring the town's war heroes. Jimmy Stewart, as we mentioned the other day, already has mixed the idea. Although we think it is in bad taste, some probably will be anxious to take the bows.

Wedding bells will ring soon for Shirley Mitchell, the radio actress, and Paul Weston, musical director of the new Joan Davis air show.

CAPRA TAKES A FLYER

Frank Capra's first film for his new Liberty Productions probably will be the story, "The Flying Yorkshiresman." The yarn, about a Barry Fitzgerald type of character who learns to fly with his arms, has been kicking around Hollywood for years. Seven studios have owned the story, then sold it because of failure to find technical problems. Original sale price was $700, with Capra paying $70,000.

Ballad Singer Burl Ives ran afoul of the Hays office censors with his early American ballad, "Poggy Dew." Censors deleted several stanzas for the film "Smoky." Ives made a hit with the song on the New York stage but film censors have different ideas.

Aside to Andrew B. Hecht of Reader's Digest: Thanks for reprinting three of our items in your new Hollywood section, debuting in October. . . . Bing Crosby, as usual, got in the best crack when someone asked him how Bob Hope looked after that strenuous European tour. Said Bing: "He looked fine. He held up pretty well for a man of his advanced age." . . . Two studios are bidding for the service of Cornelia Wilde's wife, Patricia Knight. She's a former Broadway actress and beauty.

VILLAIN TURNS SOFT

George Sanders, the screen villain has composed a love song which will be published soon. It's full of June, moon and spoon. Why, George? . . . Last official act of the OWI was the banning of film, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," for foreign distribution. They objected to the film showing lawmakers as they are, not. Or are they? . . . Ingrid Bergman back from that European tour, urges continued support of the USO. "The boys in the occupation units," she says, "need the help and encouragement of those at home more than ever."

Lou Costello has bought the patent rights to a new type of electric razor and is shopping for a Los Angeles factory site.

It happened at a Hollywood party. A girl said she had seen the film, "Thrill of a Romance," four

The scientists who developed the atomic bomb are reported largely in favor of placing control of the atom through international action. There is discussion of whether it should be given to Russia. The military, of course, wants to retain it in deepest secrecy.

The diplomatic aspects of the discovery seem to be overshadowed, for the moment, by its ultimate social and material role.

It is an occasion when the general public cannot be fully informed, either on the international political problems or the immediate possibilities of the new power itself, and so is forced to rely on governmental leaders to decide. There is no general knowledge of how many atomic bombs have been made, what the production rate is or may be, how close scientists throughout the world may be to the secret, or what new discoveries may be in the offing.

There are those who believe that the English-speaking peoples have demonstrated such an active interest in world comity that, for as long as possible, the atom secret would be safest with them. Others feel that equal responsibility and mutual trust in the United Nations organization must be the foundation of all peace, and that the mere attempt of one nation or group of nations to retain a private bludgeon will be disruptive.

Others have been working for a flexible policy which would not, in the long run, defeat itself by forestalling adjustment to new developments. Under it, the use of atomic weapons might be placed under the control of the United Nations, with its secret and its production remaining at least for the time-being in English-speaking hands. Then, when it is determined that share the various powers are to play in backing United Nations with armed power, allocation of atomic production to other powers might be considered.

Company Names Three Texans as Directors

HOUSTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Three new directors, all Texans, have been elected to the board of directors of the Tennessee Gas and Transmission company to fill vacancies in the board, the company has announced. The announcement followed a meeting of the directors Monday.

The new directors are Harvey M. Ansel, vice-president of the Houston Royalty Co. and Arthur B. Judd, vice-president and general manager of the Republic Supply Co., both of Houston; and Robert K. Hanger, lawyer and member of the firm of Caney, Hanger, McMahon, McKnight and Johnson of Fort Worth.
