A. V. Erickson of Minneapolis, inn., inspected wheat fields in is area Monday. He is a nationally known crop forecaster and his crop eports are used by mills and grain evators in all parts of the nation. Erickson found some black stem ust in fields. He stated that under favorable conditions, meaning dry weather, this probably would affect the yield very little, but with rains and cool weather, it might result in considerable loss in production.

Labor, combines and trucks to handle the harvest continue to be a major worry. Farmers and wheat growers are urged to stay with the price schedule adopted. These are as follows: Custom combining $3.00 per acre up to 20 bushels per acre and 10 cents per bushel in excess of 20 bushels. $7.50 per day for common labor and the OPA ceiling price for hauling.

Writer Sees Long Fight Against Japs

A veteran foreign correspondent told newspapermen of Texas Saturday in Dallas that after the capitulation of Germany it will take from three to five years of bloody war to defeat the "slant-eye slanted toward the United States."

Associated Press War Correspondent J. Norman Lodge, just returned from the South Pacific, spoke at the noon luncheon and closing session of the Texas Press Association and the Newspaper Publishers Association.

"I believe it will be sixteen months before we defeat Hitler," said Lodge, who is a veteran of three wars since 1916 when he rode with General Pershing into Mexico.

Telling newspapermen that the war in the Pacific is a misunderstood war, he declared that 'our immediate objective is not Tokyo. We are headed back to the Philippines where we lost face to the

Baumann Cleaners To Close During Harvest Season

Lester Baumann, owner and manager of the Baumann Cleaners, announced last week that his cleaning plant will be closed on Saturday, June 24, and will remain closed for several weeks during harvest.

No articles will be accepted for dry cleaning after Tuesday, June 20, and anyone having garments in the shop are asked to call for them before the closing date, June 24.

Because of the scarcity of harvest help, Mr. Baumann decided to close in order to take care of his wheat interests.

"I sincerely regret the necessity of suspending business during these harvest weeks," said Mr. Baumann, "but all efforts to secure experienced employees to conduct the plant have been in vain and I feel that I must take care of my wheat. I will appreciate the patience and cooperation of our patrons."

Death in the Afternoon

The late afternoon sun slants across the head and shoulders of a dead American doughboy on a litter. A medical corpsman kneels as he copies data from the dog tags of the dead soldier. He died on Bougainville. Our casualties on Hill 700 were above normal, most of them caused by Jap knee mortars and 90 mm. mortars that the Nips used with deadly effect. Perryton Banker Explains Various Securities Offered Investors in the Fifth War Loan Drive

Carl Ellis, president of the First National Bank of Perryton, summarizes, in the following message to the people of the Perryton area, the various securities offered the investor in the 5th War Loan. Mr. Ellis is familiar with all War Bond securities and has been very active in the promotion of Bond sales. He is now serving as district chairman for "E" bond sales and is co-chairman of the Ochiltree County War Finance Committee. Max M. Boyer is Ochiltree county chairman for the 5th War Loan.

The Fifth War Loan provides the people of the Perryton community with a security to fit every investment need, whether it is a corporation seeking the investment of a temporary surplus of funds for a few months or an institution desiring a long term security with an attractive interest return and a minimum of risk. Regardless of the type selected, there are no safer investments in the world, and the purchaser, in addition to getting a good return on his money, is performing a patriotic service by loaning money to his government at a time when funds are urgently needed to carry on the war.

For the average man and woman, there is no better Bond than the Series E Savings Bond, and this should be the basis of every portfolio of securities. It provides the maximum return of all government securities, yielding 2.9 percent if held to maturity, which is ten years from the month of issue. This is a better return than can be obtained from money invested in a savings bank or in any comparable security of a private corporation. Bought at a discount—75 percent of maturity value—these bonds, at maturity, return $4 for every $3 invested. Even if circumstances compel a person to redeem them before they mature, the purchaser never gets less than he paid for them although the redemption value provides a lesser interest return if they are cashed before they come due. Denominations range from $25 ($18.75 purchase price) to $1,000 ($750 purchase price), and purchases are limited to $5,000 maturity value ($3,750 purchase price) in any one calendar

JUST HERE and THERE

Everywhere we go during the last few days, the first word we hear is something about the prospects for a bumper wheat harvest. That is fine and dandy, but there's another thing, much closer to everyone of us, that we like to hear discussed with at least one-tenth of the enthusiasm of the pre-harvest conversations.

We'd just like to hear a little more about how soon Ochiltree county is going to buy $410,000 worth of war bonds in the 5th War Loan. We'd like to hear people talking about how many bonds they've bought or are going to buy and not so much about how much wheat they expect to make.

Our boys from Ochiltree county who are in the invasion, God grant they're safe, are interested in a good wheat crop in Ochiltree county. . . . but they're more interested in getting this awful war over so they can come back home.

They're interested in seeing this 5th War Loan go over with a bang to provide them with the weapons and supplies to whip those beetle browed Krauts and the slant eyed Orientals. Don't let them down! Put the boys, the war and the 5th War Loan first and that wheat harvest second. That's the way the boys would like to have it.

And while we're on the subject of harvest, just a word of caution. We always have an epidemic of accidents at harvest time. People lose their balance. They run hog wild. They get hurt through carelessness. We've seen good harvests in this country where enough grain was wasted to make a pretty good crop in some areas. So just settle down, don't get excited, use a little common sense.

And that goes for the schedule of prices the farmers have adopted for combining and labor. Stay with the price schedule. It's fair and sufficient. If you want to add to inflation, then go ahead and pay more per acre for your combining, pay more than the agreed schedule for labor, and pirate machines, trucks and men from your neighbor.

Harvest labor is already showing up in Perryton, as are trucks. There comes word of combines that will be here when the grain is ripe. If this wheat goes on and makes, there will be plenty of work for all. There will no doubt be shortages of harvest labor, combines and trucks, but we've got a feeling that the Perryton area is going to get through this harvest a whole lot better than we're expecting.

The Youth Recreation program for Perryton is not dead by any means but the committee headed by Ronald Hendry is not having having much luck finding suitable quarters for a youth center. If

War Writer Tells Hitler's Weaknesses

Hitler is suffering from three great weaknesses which will cause him to lose the war, said Ralph Heinzen, United Press war correspondent, warning at the same time against superoptimism in this country just because the Allied armies have landed in France.

Heinzen, former head of the UP bureau in Paris, speaking before a joint session of the Texas Press Association and the Texas Newspaper Publishers Association at Dallas last Friday, presented a picture of Europe from behind barbed wire—Hitler's side of the barbed wire. He was a prisoner of the Nazis for fifteen months before being, as he explained, "exchanged for eleven and a half German colonels, Generals and consular officials."

Weaknesses in Hitler's fighting machine are manpower, oil and dwindling air power, Heinzen said.

No Strikes in Germany

Hitler started losing the war at Stalingrad, the war correspondent said, when he took responsibility for the direction of the German army from the hands of the general staff. He said that Hitler remains the No. 1 German and will continue in power to the end. There has not been a single strike in Germany since the beginning of the war and there is no chance of opposition to the Fuehrer from inside Germany, Heinzen said.

"We have the problem of the moral disarmament of Germany after the war," he declared. "That won't be so hard with the adults, but with 11,000,000 little jingoes who know nothing but Nazism, it will be impossible. Germany will have to be physically disarmed so that this new generation cannot rise again to the call of a demagogue and dictator."

Blood Plasma Banks Invaluable Aid to Communities

Austin, Texas, June 15—Texas, one of the first states in the Union to establish a blood plasma program for civilian use, operates, through the State Department of Health, a well equipped and efficiently manned mobile bleeding unit which is sent upon request to any community desirous of its services.

Blood plasma banks have been proved an invaluable aid to all towns and hospitals where established. The giving of blood does not cause any ill effects to the donor and blood donors are usually pleasantly surprised at the painless simplicity of the bleeding. The process usually takes about thirty minutes from the beginning of the donation to the resumption of normal activities, and is without discomfort to healthy individuals who, incidently, are the only ones from whom blood is accepted.

Regarding the importance of the blood plasma program, Dr. Geo. W. Cox stated that the man at the front has long since learned to appreciate the value of plasma and would no doubt be grateful to know that it is available for use as needed by the family he has left, and to his home community.

Dr. Cox pointed out that the State Department of Health merely collects the blood and processes it into plasma, and then it is returned without cost to the community from which it came. Any civic group or other organization

Office Supplies at Herald office!

To the People of this Community

There will be a feeling of shame in this community if we find ourselves short of the mark when the Fifth War Loan comes to an end July 8.

We will not permit that to happen here, especially if we look around in our homes and our places of employment and see the shadows of relatives and friends who today are in the midst of bloody battle for us.

We cannot emphasize too strongly that regardless of the size of the oversubscription of our community quota, the Fifth War Loan will be a flat failure for you if you do not exceed anything you have done in the past in War Bond buying.

In this invasion hour our fighting men have a right to demand that you make your record contribution to the success of a war loan.

The slogan, Back the Attack—Buy More Than Before, is not merely a catch phrase. It expresses the cold facts about invasion. Unless we make the supreme effort to do everything humanly possible either at our work benches on in our homes with our sweat, our blood and our dollars we hand over our share of the burden to our fighting men.

'Uncertain Glory' Opens Sunday at Ellis Theatre for Two Day Run

Lovely young Jean Sullivan, shown here in a scene with Lucille Watson, makes her screen debut opposite Errol Flynn in "Uncertain Glory," playing this Sunday and Monday at the Ellis.

War like politics, can make strange bedfellows. In "Uncertain Glory," Warner Bros. explore this mystery with an unusual tale of two men—a prisoner and his jailor—who combine their several talents, both legal and illegal, to outwit their common enemy.

Against a background of France in defeat and humiliation under Nazi occupation, the picture pursues in detail five days in the lives of a French criminal and the police inspector who has hounded him for fifteen years and finally captured him.

Errol Flynn plays Jean Picard, the criminal who, ironically and against his will, becomes one of the heroes of his country about which he had never thought twice. Paul Lukas, Academy Award winner for his unforgettable performance in "Watch On the Rhine", as Inspector Bonet of the French Surete finally captures his elusive quarry only to taste an empty victory.

Agricultural Prices, Farm Indebtedness, Purchase of Bonds

by W. Preston Thomas
Dept. of Agricultural Economics
Utah State Agricultural College, Logan, Utah

IMMEDIATELY following World War I farmers bid up the price of land to a point where most of the purchasers either lost all of their farm equity or it took a lifetime to pay off the mortgage with low priced farm products. During this period of high prices will the farmers of America bid up the price of land and obligate themselves with a heavy debt load as they did in 1918 to 1920? Will they remember the indebtedness they incurred during World War I and how they were forced to carry this burden during a period of 20 years when agricultural prices were depressed? High prices and a post-war depression were new experiences for the farmers during and following World War I. Most of American farmers operating today have experienced both high and low agricultural prices. Will these experiences be remembered and will they plan their economic program more wisely during this period of high prices than was the case from 1914 to 1920?

Economic Program for Farmers

With the present outlook for continued heavy expenditures by the federal government for war purposes and a reduced amount of civilian goods, indications for the immediate future are for continuing good prices. However, with the closing of the war and a reduction of government expenditures and an adjustment in agriculture and industry back to production largely for civilian use, there will most likely come a reduction in prices. The exact time or extent of the reduction can not be predicted.

During the early phases of major wars, farmers should expand production to the limit. However, there comes a time because of uncertainties as to duration of the war and the feet that prices will fall during the post-war period, when the individual should not expand on long time credit which requires many years to liquidate.

Now is a good time for farmers to increase production for a year at a time or shorter periods by intensive use of available resources. It is a time which calls for caution concerning long-time commitments, especially for purchase of high-priced land, breeding stock, or equipment.

During the period of high prices the wise farmer will pay off his indebtedness and buy United States Bonds. During the post-war period there is likely to be a depreciation in land, livestock, and other farm values as well as reduced prices received for agricultural products. On the other hand the United States Government is guarantying the value, with interest, on the E Serics of federal Bonds. The dollar invested in Bonds now when prices are high will be returned with interest without depreciation and at a time when the value of other commodities may be low. The value or purchasing power of the dollar invested in Bonds will be greatly increased when other prices are reduced or when an adjustment is made from a war to a peacetime economy. The farmer who is wisely planning his war and post-war economic program will have funds for use to improve the farm and the farm home during the post-war period. Such improvements might include the home, other farm buildings, fences, irrigation and drainage facilities, and the purchase of new equipment for the home and the farm. The present economic program for farmers should be to produce to the limit, get out of debt, buy government Bonds, and make plans to improve the home and the farm for satisfactory living and for economic production during the post-war period.

Prisoners of War In United States —How They Live

Of more than 180,000 prisoners of war now held in over 100 permanent camps in the United States, 130,000 are Germans and 50,000 are Italians, the Office of War Information reports. Only 200 Japanese prisoners of war, taken captive on the high seas or in isolated outposts have been brought to this country.

German and Italian prisoners are here for three reasons: 1. it is more economical to bring them to this country than to ship food overseas for them; 2. it is dangerous to keep a large group of the enemy in the rear of fighting troops; and 3. American soldiers overseas may be better utilized otherwise than in guarding prisoners of war.

Although Japan did not ratify the Geneva Convention, which governs most of the civilized nations in their internment of prisoners of war, this country treats Japanese with the same consideration given Germans and Italians. Japan agreed to follow the convention "so far as applicable" but has not permitted neutral observers to visit camps where Americans are held.

Considered Dead at Home

While Japanese prisoners in this country may be visited by representatives of the International Red Cross, the YMCA, and the protecting power, Spain, the Japanese prisoners are disinterested. The Japanese refused to send "capture-cards" to their families and they want no reports made to their government. They have never receeivd any mail or gifts from their homeland. In Japan, they are considered dead, and funeral services already have been held for them.

Italians and Germans, however, are eager for mail and parcels from home and talk freely with representatives of the International Red Cross, the YMCA, and their protecting power, Switzerland. Their "gripes" are the usual complaints of a soldier.

Most German prisoners are confident of a Nazi victory and they look upon American newspaper accounts of Allied victories either as propaganda or temporary set-backs.

Prisoner of war camps are like a few square miles of Germany or Italy transplanted to America. Occasionally a German or Italian soldier may be seen wearing all his insignia or decorations on his American uniform, on which are stamped the letters "P. W."

May Listen to Radio

Prisoners may listen to the radio, tuned only to local stations. They may subscribe to American newspapers, even foreign language papers, but none printed in their own countries. German communiques as printed in the New York Times are translated and regularly put on bulletin boards.

There are libraries in all prisoner of war camps, and the PWs may own books passed by the camp censor. Nazi propaganda literature is not permitted, although many German language books are included in library collections. Scientific textbooks are favorites, but German classics are widely read. In one camp with 2,000 prisoners, 300 are studying English.

Teachers, some from leading German universities, doctors, opera singers, musicians, scientists and skilled technicians are among the prisoners. Teachers organize classes, musicians develop orchestral or choral groups and doctors assist in health programs.

Red Cross Is Life-line

The International Red Cross, the life-line between the PWs and their own people, operates seven ships that regularly cross the seas. From Philadelphia they head toward Marseille, with parcels and mail for Americans in prison camps, for other Allied soldiers in Axis hands and for the American civilian internees of Europe. On their return they bring parcels and mail to the German and Italian PWs here. These seven ships are the only ones in the world that may sail from one belligerent country to another.

The PW spokesman, elected by the prisoners, keeps close contact with the International Red Cross representative, but the visiting representatives for German and Italian prisoners—all of them Swiss say "no serious complaints" have ever been made.

Early in February 6,000 Italian PWs were put to work repairing salvaged clothing at the request of the Procurement Division, U. S. Treasury, which provided sewing machines formerly used on WPB sewing projects. Laundry equipment came from WPA. NYA and other government surplus stocks. Buttons, thread and other material came from WPA supplies on hand when WPB was liquidated. Repair centers were set up in midwestern areas and supervisors were sent to start the assembly lines.

Among the Italians several hundred experienced tailors were found who could train their fellow PWs in sewing. Material now being salvaged includes 80 million pounds of Army clothing and equipment. The PWs receive 80 cents a day—the amount they would receive for outside labor. Outside employers of prison labor pay the prevailing wage, the difference between that wage and 80 cents a day going to the U. S. Treasury.

While They Are Dying . . . .

Including the task of shampooing an elephant, there are at least a thousand jobs we'd rather not have. Top of the list would be that of trying to explain some of today's domestic headlines to a frontline fighter or a wounded boy in a foxhole.

"60,000 WORKERS OUT; 1944 STRIKES UP 42%" . . . "LABOR CHIEFS DEFIED." . . . "PLANE PRODUCTION CRIPPLED." . . . ("While we out here are dying, or preparing to die?").

We wonder if it isn't those who are labor's staunchest friends who find these things hardest to grasp. Labor's leaders who assume their responsibility as soberly as they assume their power and whose thoughts envisage the future—in short, those worthy of being leaders at all—cannot condone such shortsighted selfishness at America's expense.

It is they who, on several occasions have sat down voluntarily with the heads of business and management, solemnly and with anxious hearts, to find ways and means of keeping our country at fullest production of the weapons of war. They have found, as have business and management, that cooperation may be had without compromise of principles, when the very fate of our democracy is at stake.

That discovery can and should influence industrial relations for the better, now and in the peace to be won . . . As for those horribly inexplicable headlines—may their type decrease!

Inflation Clouds Loom Threateningly Farmers' Horizon

The storm clouds of agricultural inflation, which have been slowly gathering since Pearl Harbor, within the last few months have begun to look threatening, judging by the data collected and compiled by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Stormy weather is not yet definitely on its way, but at least the forecast is "uncertain."

Some of the indications of inflationary weather are:

1. Agricultural income, country bank deposits and money in circulation are at their all-time highs. Deposits are considerably more than twice what they were in 1940.

2. Production of agricultural equipment, the purchase of which normally would be an outlet for idle agricultural money, is now under drastic wartime restrictions.

3. Land prices already have increased two-fifths above their prewar average—much more than that in many farming areas.

4. Increasing turnover in land ownership suggests growing speculation in land.

5. The average mortgage debt per acre in sales financed by credit has increased about 25 per cent in the last three years—the factor most indicative of future debt difficulties.

As a result of wartime conditions, the farmer has more money to spend than ever before and fewer places to spend it. This situation accounts for what the economists call "inflationary pressure." This is the pressure that has caused the clouds of agricultural inflation to gather.

Disposing of Surplus

To consider the causes of these gathering storm clouds it is necessary to consider what the American farmer can do with his surplus wartime income. Here are five possibilities: 1. Pay his debts. 2. Buy War Bonds. 3. Buy more life insurance. 4. Increase his savings. 5. Buy land or make other investments.

Of these five possibilities, if the farmer does either of the first two—pays his debts or buys War Bonds—he is helping to prevent inflation. If he buys needed insurance, he likewise is helping to prevent inflation. If he merely increases his savings in the form of bank deposits or of money in his pockets, he at least is being neutral in the battle against inflation. It is in the fifth possibility—buying land or making other investments—that the greatest danger lies.

If the farmer buys land that he currently needs at a price justified by the income that the land would bring over a long period if he makes other investments at prices uninflated by wartime conditions, then his investment is justified by postwar earning prospects, but if his investment is made at war-inflated values, the farmer is likely to be laying up trouble for himself and his action is inflationary and therefore dangerous.

Why Farmer Buys Land

The reasons the farmer buys land usually are to be found among these four: 1. Desire to own his own farm. 2. Need for more land to provide a more economical scale of operation. 3. Good prices for farm products, now or expected. 4. Expected increase in land values.

The agricultural economists say that reasons one and two—desire to own his own farm or more land for a more economical scale of operation—are the soundest of all, provided that the price is in line with reasonable earning power of the land.

Reasons three and four may bring economic disaster to farmers after this war just as they did to farmers following the last war when land values took a sharp break in 1920 and continued falling through 1933.

Today, the storm signals are up and the agricultural economists advise farmers to be sure that their wartime surpluses are so disposed of or so invested that they are noninflationary and so that any financial investments may be firmly held even in rough inflationary weather.

Women Workers Should Advise Social Security Of Change of Name

Women workers should notify the Social Security Board when they marry so their names can be changed on the Board's records at Baltimore.

If they do this they will make it easier for themselves and the Board when the time comes to file claims for old-age and survivors insurance benefits.

For the woman who marries and wants to change her name, the Board has provided a special form, which may be obtained at the field office of the Board. She should fill it out, attach the social security card bearing her maiden name and send the form to the Board.

The Board does not assign her a new number, but issues a new card bearing her present name and the number that was originally assigned to her. She thus will have only one social security number during her entire life-time. If she had more than one number she might lose her benefits.

The Board keeps all information it receives from the worker strictly confidential. The worker may obtain further information from the field office of the Social Security Board, Room 324, New Post Office Building, Amarillo, Texas.

V FOR FIVE AND V FOR VICTORY

D. R. Fitzpatrick—St. Louis Post-Dispatch

Our Defenders Speak!

The Herald asks that men and women from this community serving in the armed forces write letters to this department for publication. Letters to relatives that would be of interest to the public will be published under this heading.

Dear Van and Jessie:

Say, I received the paper today by airmail and read it from cover to cover. You know since you send it by air I receive it within six days whereas before it ran behind four weeks. Thanks a lot. It makes it seem closer to home, but of course when you ignore the date line the news was still as good. Ha.

Imagine you are having a lot of fun with the expansion problems. Remember what a time we had when we moved from the building on the corner and had to work everything out on paper before it would all fit in? Jessie, when I get the plans I'll see if you make any bad moves. Eh?

Well as you may well imagine, I am still struggling along and not working up too big a sweat. Am taking another jaunt by air over to one of the other islands on or about June 4 for five days. We have a new detachment commander and you know how I write longhand, well he had been kidding me about some of the notes I would attach to correspondence routed to his office which he couldn't read. So when I put in the letter for the five days, I typed a note saying I hoped he could read that in a favorable light, so he writes on the back "approved if you spend the five days practicing longhand." Ha. Could be—but improbable. They all know how I'll spend the time. This has all been a picnic so far (knock on wood).

Say, how is Myrt getting along in the WACS? I would like to hear from her and hear what goes on. Maybe she didn't take my address with her. I'm always losing addresses.

Van I see where you were quoted in the National Mag about falling out with the New Deal. Well at last you are coming around, but still don't like Dewey huh. We can't discuss politics and such in correspondence, but you know what I always say. Yep. How are you and Jack making out on the question? I'd like to hear some of that and put in my two cents right now. Soldiers can vote, but as usual the red tape is practically worse than income tax forms, which reminds me of Sol Pluvius (the local dimwit) who says, "It's easier to fill out your income tax forms if you don't read the directions first." He pulled that out of the bag around March 15. Pluvius used to forecast the weather on the Bulletin and since the war keeps the weather box on the front page open with sarcasm about the current news. He really gets off some good ones. It is supplemented by a caricature of himself as a native in an aloha shirt and whose antics fit the occasion. When the military and civilian courts were battling out the habeus corpus question over here, he was in the big middle of it with his wisecracks.

Well had better close for now as I see some work approaching. More later. Write and give me the latest scandal which you don't print.

S/Sgt. Morris M. Payne.

Camp Hood, Texas
Sunday night

Dear Van:

Just a line or two to thank you and the U.S.O. for making it possible for me to receive the Herald. I didn't realize how much I depended on it for news of the old home town.

I am training here in the Infantry as a field clerk. They are working us hard, but feeding us good so I guess I'll come through O.K.

Here's hoping the anticipated harvest doesn't slump, and the labor problem rectifies.

Regards and best wishes,
Pvt. Bob Whippo, 38685694,
C-175, 96th Regt. IRTC,
Camp Hood, Texas.

The Sinews of War

By Victor Schoffelmayer

Agricultural Editor of The Dallas News

THE farms and ranches of Texas are still producing a breed of people whose patriotism, courage and faith have no superior.

The indomitable spirit of the Alamo, of San Jacinto and Tarawa still permeates the wide open spaces where for a century Texans have enjoyed the freedom won by their heroic forebears.

The devotion and sacrifice of thousands of Texas farm and ranch boys on the farflung battle fronts in Europe and Asia will serve as a challenging pattern to their fathers, mothers and sisters on the home front.

As their Country again calls for aid in the coming War Bond Drive, Texas farmers and ranchmen will not fail to meet their responsibility to the full. No group knows better that a sure way to stop inflation is to invest a substantial sum in Government War Bonds, thus not only providing its Country with the sinews needed to carry the war to its ultimate success, but as a hedge against the uncertainties of the future.

The men and women in rural Texas who have given their sons, husbands and brothers to the war effort will not fail them in this perilous hour. They will meet their responsibility not only only as patriotic, loyal Texans but as loyal Americans!

U. S. Treasury Department

War and Low Salaries Cause of Shortage of School Teachers

Fort Worth, June 8.—According to surveys made by the Texas State Teachers Association the school year just closed has been one of the most difficult in the history of the Texas public school system. Since the beginning of the war more than 20,000 of the 48,000 Texas teachers have either resigned or changed their place of teaching. Several thousand teachers did not return to the schoolroom last September. In many cases smaller schools operated with a skeleton personnel or were forced to close because they could not obtain teachers. The surveys conducted by the Teachers Association disclosed that 153 common school districts, in 151 counties studied, closed during the year for lack of teachers. The common schools in these counties employed 1900 teachers with substandard qualifications. An average of more than 200 positions were not filled at any time during the year. A few districts were unable to provide any instruction for their children.

The independent school districts also had their difficulties. Of 613 independent districts studied it was found that 574 teaching positions could not be filled. In addition, more than 650 teaching places were abolished or consolidated. These districts were forced to employ 2500 teachers with sub-standard qualifications.

During the year teacher training institutions in Texas were able to supply only one applicant for each seven calls for teachers. At the beginning of the war the average salary for all classroom teachers in Texas was a little over $1100 annually. Although living costs have advanced more than twenty-five per cent, the average salary increase for Texas teachers has been only ten per cent.

The prospect for next school year promises no relief. The surplus of certificated teachers has been absorbed. Enrollments in teacher training courses in the institutions of higher learning in the state have declined approximately sixty per cent since 1941, indicating that thousands of young persons in choosing a profession reject teaching because of the low money value placed on their services by society.

Cadet Rorabaugh Now Training in Kansas

Independence, Kans., June 8.—Aviation Cadet Doyle E. Rorabaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Rorabaugh, Gray, Okla., is enrolled in the class of cadets currently taking basic flying training at the Independence Army Air Field, Kans.

A member of the newly-arrived cadet class of 44-I, he has successfully completed both the pre-flight and primary phases of the aviation cadet training program. At the completion of his ten-week course here, he will move on to an advanced flying school.

Cadet Rorabaugh is a 1939 graduate of the Perryton, Texas, High School and attended John Brown University at Siloam Springs, Ark.

year although with respect to bonds held in co-ownership, the amount may be applied to either person or apportioned between them.

The Series E Bond has many uses. It is an excellent birthday or other gift. It provides an excellent method for accumulating funds for the education of children, or a person desiring to set up his own retirement plan.

Series F and G Bonds are designed primarily for the larger individual investor or for small corporation, associations, church societies and others. The Series F Bond, like the Series E, is a discount Bond, which is sold at 74% of maturity value. It runs for 12 years and yields approximately 2.53% if held to maturity. The Series G Bond is issued at par and is attractive for persons desiring steady income as semi-annual interest at the rate of 2½ percent a year is paid by Treasury check. The G Bond is particularly attractive for elderly persons as it is payable at par on the death of the owner or co-owner. Series G Bonds are redeemable six months after issue, at the option of the owner, at fixed redemption values printed on the Bond, which are less than the face value of the Bonds to provide for a lesser interest return if redeemed before maturity.

Series C Savings Notes provide an excellent means of providing for Federal income, estate and gift taxes as they may be presented in payment of such taxes, current or back, at par and accrued interest, at any time during and after the second calendar month after the month of purchase. They are eligible as collateral for bank loans, and may be redeemed for cash six months after the month of the purchase, so they also provide an excellent vehicle for short term investments in the event that they are not used for taxes.

The 2½ percent Treasury Bonds run for 26 years and are obtainable in either coupon or registered form. The bearer Bonds are readily marketable. They are attractive long term investments for insurance companies, and other large investors, corporate and individual, and may be used as collateral for bank loans.

The 2% Bonds of 1952-54 are an excellent medium term, readily marketable security for investors of all kinds.

A newcomer to the basket are the 1¼% Series B Notes of 1947 (about 2¾ years) which provide an excellent investment medium for corporations building up post-war reserves for inventories and war plant conversions, or for the temporary investment of depreciation, depletion and other reserves.

Therefore, whatever your investment need may be, you can find the security you are looking for in the Fifth War Loan basket.

Invasion is on. Each minute as you read this our American boys are hitting the beach-heads giving their all that we may remain free men and women. Our prayers to a merciful God follow each and every one of them.

We here at home have more to do than beat our breasts and lament. We must help! We can! We will!

Let every American redouble his or her efforts on every War program. Only maximum tempo is sufficient to assure complete victory at the earliest moment.

Stewart, who has served as county chairman for 20 years, has announced that he is retiring with this primary and that he will not allow his name to appear on the ballot as a candidate for reelection.

He says that the added work in community activities in support of the war effort and the difficulties of publishing a newspaper with inadequate manpower forces curtail outside activities.

Farmers In Fifth War Loan

The nation's farm army or six million along with their town and city neighbors went into action this week on the Fifth War Loan, the War Finance Division of the Treasury announces. Total goal for this loan is 16 billion dollars by July 8. Last year farm people bought a total of $1,200,000,000 in War Bonds—about 10 per cent of their net income. With an estimated net farm income of 13 billion dollars for 1944, bond purchases by farm people are expected to be higher this year than last. The War Bonds bought during the Fifth War Loan will enable our Government to get more and better war equipment for its fighters than the bonds bought a year ago, according to a compilation of war equipment costs by the War Department. A heavy bomber, which a year ago cost $500,000, today costs half that much. A Bofers anti-aircraft gun formerly cost $25,000, now costs only $13,000. A year ago the Garand rifle cost $80. Today it costs $35. A few items, among them the good old army mule, have gone up in price. A year ago Uncle Sam paid $190 for an army mule. Today such a mule costs Uncle Sam $225.

More Farm Implements

Certain small manufacturers are permitted to produce unlimited quantities of any farm machinery, equipment and repair parts made entirely from surplus materials or materials needing no allotments or priorities assistance higher than AA-4 preference rating, WPB announces. Items most manufacturers will be able to produce under this relaxation, include corn shellers, feed grinders, pitchforks, hand cultivators, rakes, hoes, shovels and barnyard and paultry equipment.

New Prices on Food

New prices for snap beans, under new ceilings, are expected to be from 16 to 18 cents per pound during June, while field grown cucumbers will sell for 9 to 10 cents from June 16 through June 30, OPA announces. Hothouse cucumbers will sell for about 22 cents per pound. For the remainder of June, prices on early 1944 potatoes will be increased about ¼ cent a pound in all states except California and Arizona. Cabbage ceilings range from 3.9 to 4.3 cents a pound. Effective June 17 retail prices on fresh fish and seafood will be reduced from one to three cents a pound.

Round-Up

Farmers bought and accepted early delivery of the largest tonnage of commercial fertilizers and fertilizer materials in the nation's history during the past 12 months, the War Food Administration says, thus enabling plants to keep working at the capacity permitted by available labor and also avoiding a critical shortage of fertilizers on farms.....Ration certificates issued for purchase of men's rubber boots and rubber work shoes are now good indefinitely, OPA says.....Householders should fill their coal bins during the summer months because the shortage of motor trucks and drivers for distributing coal is expected to reach a critical stage by the beginning of the coal season, the Office of Defense Transportation advises.....On July 1, nearly 100,000 Cadet Nurses from the 1,064 approved schools of nursing will celebrate the first birthday of the U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps.....Candy production of more than 2½ billion pounds reached an all-time high in the U. S. last year, according to the Department of Commerce.....No large-scale resumption of bicycle production will be possible until after the war in Europe has been brought to a successful conclusion, WPB says.....Carry-over of feed grains at the end of the present feeding year probably will be the smallest for any year since 1937, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics predicts.....A new type of cotton-gauze bandage, developed in a Department of Agriculture Laboratory, tends to fit and cling better than ordinary guaze and it allows greater freedom of movement in bandaged joints, the Department of Agriculture reports.

Dirt and heat cause eggs to deteriorate, stated Mrs. Virdie Wheeler, at the last club meeting held in the home of Mrs. J. R. Stump, June 6th.

Gather eggs in wire baskets several times a day and store in cool place. If eggs are dirty, clean with fine sandpaper. Water opens the pores in eggs and causes them to spoil quickly.

We also had a demonstration on preparing peas for lockers. Always select small tender peas. Blanch and pack in containers in brine water. Take to locker and freeze as quickly as possible.

During the business session it was voted to have an exhibit this fall.

Those present were Mesdames: Fred Butler, J. Q. Davis, P. E. Rhine, Philo Harris, A. V. Hamilton, C. B. Barber, M. J. Groves, Pete Wermske, Mart Wagner, Walt Preston, L. R. Conner, Dan Manning, Dan Teeter, H. N. Elledge, members, and S. E. Stump, Maud Stump, David Burger, Allen Dennison, G. A. Burger, Fay Jean and LaVerne, visitors, Verdie Wheeler, demonstrator, and J. R. Stump, hostess.

The next meeting will be held July 25, in the home of Mrs. P. E. Rhine. Everyone is welcome.

Tank-Destroyer Unit Is Very Proud of Its Guns

Combat Team Confident; Differs Little From Battle-Tried Outfit

By Ernie Pyle

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND.—I went out the other day with a tank-destroyer unit. They have been over here long enough to form an opinion of English weather but you can't print it in a nice newspaper like this.

It was the first time in ages I had been with a combat outfit which had not yet been in battle. There isn't so much difference as you might think. The really noticeable difference is their eagerness to "get a crack at the Jerries." After they have been cracking at them a few months they'll be just as eager to let somebody else have a turn at it.

Ernie Pyle

But outside of that they talk and act about the same as men who have been in combat. They cuss a lot, razz each other about their home states, complain about the food, take great pride in their guns, and talk about how they wish they were home, just as though they had been away for years.

This unit has been training together for nearly two years. They don't yet realize what a terrific advantage that gives them, but they will realize it as soon as they are in battle.

They are a vast team of firepower composed of dozens of little teams, each one centering around one gun. They have done it so long they know automatically what to do. They all know every man on the team and they know his personality and how he will react. They have faith in each other. Only those who have fought know what confidence that produces.

A typical gun commander is Sergt. Dick Showalter, (535 S. Gharker St.) Muncie, Ind. I have a special reason for mentioning him. For while I was talking with a group of soldiers he came up and introduced himself and said:

"I married a girl from your home town."

Now things like that are always happening to me, except that nine times out of ten the people are mixed up. People will come up and say, "Don't you remember me? I used to deliver papers at your house." And it will turn out they lived in a town I had never heard of, and were thinking of two other fellows.

When Sergeant Showalter said he had married a girl from my home town I slightly arched my handsome eyebrows and said, "Yes?"

"Yes," he said. "I married Edna Kuhns."

"Why," I said, "I was raised with the Kuhns kids. They lived just across the fence from our farm. I've known them all my life."

"That's what I said," said Sergeant Showalter. And then we left the crowd and sat on the grass, leaning against a rock.

Sergeant Showalter worked in factories before the war. He has been commander of his gun for more than a year and a half. He is a small fellow, quiet, serious, conscientious, and extremely proud of his crew and of the way they take their responsibility.

One of Showalter's best buddies in his crew is Pfc. Bob Cartwright of Daytona Beach, Fla. He is a cannoneer—a small, reddish, good-natured fellow.

When we met I said, "What's that you've got in your mouth?"

He grinned and said, "Chawin' tobacco." Which was just what I thought it was.

He manages to keep well stocked by trading stuff with boys who don't chew. Bob is very young. He didn't know much when he came into the army, but Showalter says he's the best there is now.

As I said the boys are very proud of their guns. They say they've had fine training and lots of practice on moving targets. They say that on direct fire they can hit a moving tank at about a mile and almost never miss. They're anxious to get at it and get it over with and get back home.

They know it won't be easy on the other side. They're living rough now but they know it will be lots rougher pretty soon.

As they say, the chow is bad here compared to what it was in America, but they don't complain too much because they know it's going to get worse.

They know they'll be on C and K rations, and they've had experience with them on maneuvers. But when I spoke of our best ration—the 10-in-1 field ration—they had never heard of it.

They have been working hard since they hit England. They've made long night trips and done a lot of practice firing and sometimes they have to work as late as 10 o'clock at night.

When I saw them they were making preparations for moving overseas. It takes a lot of work to get your equipment ready for an amphibious move. They've worked so hard they haven't had time to get bored. There are some American outfits that have been here for two years without action, and there are Canadians who have been marching up and down for four years. How they've kept from going nuts is beyond me.

The commander of the tank-destroyer battalion I have been visiting is Lieut. Col. Joseph Deeley of Sheboygan Falls, Wis. He used to run a wool-carding mill there. I like his attitude toward things.

When I first showed up he was perfectly courteous but he made plenty sure I had proper credentials and what not. As he said, they have had plenty of security preached into them back home, and this indeed is a critical period and he isn't taking any chances.

But once he had assured himself I was all right he called in his sergeants and told them to go around and tell their men they were perfectly free to show me any and all equipment they had and talk to me as freely as they wanted to.

As I told him later I don't think he need have bothered. For these boys, approaching war for the first time, pumped me so thoroughly on what war is like that I hardly got a chance to ask any questions of them. Maybe I'll have to write some security regulations of my own just out of self-protection. Who the devil is reporting this war, anyway?

One company commander, Capt. Charles Harding, of Olmsted Falls, near Cleveland, had just had a letter from home telling him to keep an eye out for me. He figured that in a war this big our paths would never cross, but they did.

Another Ohioan came up and introduced himself. This was Pfc. James Francis McClory of (6711 Guthrie street) Cleveland. McClory is what is aptly known in the battalion as a "character." He used to be a prize fighter. Being in the horny-handed world of pugilists, he has a great affinity for apes. There's an almost human ape at the zoo in a nearby city which McClory goes to see every time he gets a pass. He calls him "Alfred the Ape," and says he sure wishes he could take him back to Cleveland.

McClory is one of those guys who Cleveland Welding company, which made bicycles. When I asked him what he did he said, "Oh, I was just a hod knocker."

You can kid lots with McClory. When I went to write down his name I put "Sergeant" in front of it, and he said, "No no. I'd never get to be a sergeant if the war lasted 50 years."

So I said, "Well, 'Corporal' then." But he said, "No, I ain't even got sense enough to be a corporal."

So I said, "Well, we simply can't have you a private. What would the McCloys of the world think with you only a private?"

So we compromised and made him a pfc.

McClory is one of those guys who are good for the morale of an outfit. He is always doing or saying something funny. And he is a good soldier. He is one of the kind who are fanatically loyal.

He has a great affection for his company commander, Capt. John Jay Kennedy of (15 Fawndale road) Roslindale, Mass. Once when some gasoline caught fire McClory threw himself on the captain and knocked him out of the way, saving him from serious injury. Another time, when Captain Kennedy's mother was very ill, McClory took the last money he had and telegraphed home to his own parish to have a mass said for the captain's mother.

Life With the Tank Destroyer Units

English dogs have begun to attach themselves to the tank-destroyer boys, as they do to any and all camps of soldiers. These boys haven't actually adopted any of them as individual pets, because they can't take them along to the Continent. They say that in the States they had a number of pigs for pets. In that case you could have your pet and eat it too.

The top commanders who have toiled and slaved for months planning the second front have been under a man-killing strain of work and responsibility.

Thousands of men of high rank have labored endlessly. They are up early, they work all day, and after supper they go back to work far into the night. Seldom can you get one of them to take a day off.

Mrs. Robert Lawrence left Monday for Dalhart, where she was called because of the serious illness of her father, Judd Cloud.

Harry Stumpf came in from Davisville, R. I., and is spending a few days leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Sword, and family.

Christian Science

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 18.

The Golden Text is: "Thou, Lord, in the beginning hast laid the foundation of the earth; and the heavens are the works of thine hands" (Hebrews 1:10).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Lord, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations. Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God" (Psalms 90:1,2).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Inspired thought relinquishes a material, sensual, and mortal theory of the universe, and adopts the spiritual and immortal" (page 547).

An Advertisement Addressed to Buyers of BLACK MARKET Gasoline

Phillips production of 100-octane gasoline could fuel enough Flying Forts to drop 3,000 tons of bombs on the "Invasion Coast" every day!

Gasoline shortage on the home front is a grim reality, and gasoline rationing is our American system of sharing the available supplies fairly, in accordance with car-owners' essential needs.

Why is gasoline short? . . . Re-read the headline above. It is presented not in boastful spirit, but in explanation of one of the vital military uses of the gasoline which you cannot purchase.

Remember, Phillips is only one of many producers of 100-octane aviation gasoline, of butadiene for synthetic rubber, of various fuels for ships and tanks and combat cars. The petroleum raw materials which go into the literally oceans of these military fuels are obviously not available for the manufacture of supplies of gasoline.

Every Black Market purchase reduces the already greatly diminished pool of gasoline that must suffice for our essential transportation. That is why no thinking patriotic American will be a Black Market Buyer. And without Black Market there can be no Black Market purchase.

So do your patriotic part to break the Black Market gasoline line: Endorse every gasoline ration coupon in your possession. Don't accept any gasoline at any price without giving up coupons. And most important of all, use the legal gasoline you buy for essential driving.

John Sim is very much improved and can be seen about the yard. Yesterday, I was doing my evening chores and I heard a very musical voice. Looking about I saw one of the Sim's daughters from away down in Georgia trying to drive the Sim's cows in. I suppose the cows, like myself, liked the Georgian voice for they went into a lake staying just near enough to the edge to hear, while they switched their tails and chewed their cuds. Pretty soon another daughter with a Yankee voice came to help. It took the Yankee voice and two dogs to get the cows to move.

The writer went with Sam to the W. M. Deck ranch where Lawson Deck batches. Lawson has a good garden by the side of the house and he keeps his garden tools on the front porch where they will be convenient. He also has a cow that gives so much milk he just milks a large bucket full then stops milking. Lawson uses the cream, and divides the milk with a hog that continually grunts for the cream.

Uncle Sam Needs it Now You'll Need it LATER

The crucial hour is at hand . . .

Right now, Uncle Sam needs the help of every fighting American both at home and abroad—more than at any time since the war started.

The boys in uniform are doing O. K. Ask Adolph and Tojo! Workers in our industrial plants are turning out the planes and guns and tanks on schedule. Farmers and ranchers are breaking records in food production, despite handicaps.

But when it comes to buying War Bonds to pay for all this, we've got a job to do—the biggest job of its kind in all our history.

6 Stew-pendous Ways to Stretch Meat Rations

There's not a more versatile dish in the archives of American culinary art than the famous meat stew. Found on the table of rich and poor alike, it is a standard item on the national bill of fare.

Even with American meat production at an all-time high, the multiple requirements of the armed forces, lend-lease, and civilians necessitate that meat be conserved and extended. The nation's cooks and homemakers, searching for ways to extend meat dishes and conserve precious ration points, have discovered that merely by adding one or two ingredients to the basic American stew they can achieve almost an endless variety of meat dishes with an international flavor.

Following are recipes for six stews which speak various languages:

Hungarian Goulash

1 pound beef (for stew)
2 medium onions, chopped
Lard or drippings for browning
1 tablespoon paprika
1 clove garlic, minced
2 cups water
4-6 potatoes, diced
1 teaspoon salt

Cook onions in drippings about 5 minutes. Add the meat and seasonings and water. Simmer one hour. Add diced potatoes. Simmer until tender, about 30 minutes. Add bread dumplings if desired.

East Indian Curry

1½ cups cubed lamb
Lard or drippings for browning
¾ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup chopped celery
⅛ clove garlic, finely chopped
1 tablespoon curry powder
1½ teaspoons salt
2 cups lamb broth (stock made from bones removed from lamb roast)
2 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Cover meat with water and simmer until tender. Brown vegetables in drippings, then combine them with seasonings, broth, and meat. Simmer for 30 minutes. Thicken with flour. Serve the curry with rice.

STEW TALKS MANY LANGUAGES

English Meat Pudding

1 beef kidney
1½ cups water or soup stock
1 pound chuck steak
Lard or drippings for browning
Salt and pepper

Wash kidney, cut into pieces. Cover with water and simmer about 30 minutes. Cut steak into strips and brown. Add one-half cup water and simmer until tender. Combine steak and kidney. Season. Thicken gravy. Serve with or without a top of pastry or biscuits.

Mexican Chili

1 pound coarsely ground or chopped beef
Lard or drippings for browning
½ cup onion, chopped
1 tablespoon garlic, minced
2 tablespoons chili pepper
1 tablespoon paprika
1 cup tomatoes
3 cups cooked red beans

Brown meat and onions in lard or drippings. Add garlic, chili pepper, paprika, and tomatoes. Cover and simmer 1 hour. Add cooked beans. Heat and serve on boiled rice, if desired.

Chinese Chop Suey

1½ pounds pork shoulder, cubed
Lard or drippings for browning
1 cup celery, cut in 1-inch pieces
½ cup chopped green pepper
1 No. 2½ can tomatoes
1 can bean sprouts
6 tablespoons cornstarch
3 tablespoons brown sauce
2 tablespoons soy sauce
Salt and pepper

Brown pork. Add celery, green pepper, and tomatoes, and simmer about 30 minutes. Add drained bean sprouts. Thicken with cornstarch blended with brown sauce, soy sauce, and water. Season to taste. Serve with boiled rice.

Irish Stew

2 pounds lamb (for stew)
Water to cover lamb
½ cup carrots, diced
½ cup turnips, diced
1 onion, sliced
4 cups potatoes, sliced or diced
¼ cup flour
Salt and pepper

Simmer lamb for 1 hour. Add vegetables and simmer for 30 minutes. Add potatoes and cook 30 minutes longer. Thicken gravy. Serve.

Behind the Battlefronts

Prepared by the Rural Press Section

Food from the U. S.

Total food shipments from the United States to lend-lease countries May 31, 1941 to May 1, 1944, include about 12 billion pounds of dairy products, 5 billion pounds of meat, 2 billion pounds of eggs, 2 billion pounds of edible fats and oils, 799 million pounds of dried fruit, 949 million pounds of dry beans and peas, 514 million pounds of canned fish, 326 million pounds of canned vegetables and 643 million pounds of canned fruits and fruit juices, the Department of Agriculture announces.

May Miss Wheat Goal

Australia's 1944 wheat goal of nine million bushels may not be reached this year because of bad weather and shortage of labor and fertilizer, the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations reports. Under Australia's wheat stabilization plan producers have been guaranteed minimum prices for several years. Last season 67 cents was guaranteed the grower for the first 3,000 bushels and 34 cents for the excess. The estimated 1943-44 crop will be 108 million bushels, compared with a pre-war average of 160 million bushels.

Czechs Raid German Shops

Czechoslovak armed groups of resistance in Moravia are raiding German shops, co-operative storehouses and farms, looting necessary supplies and destroying the rest, the Czechoslovak Government Information Service reports. The raiders get their arms and ammunition by raiding houses where German soldiers on leave are staying.

German "D" Day Rules

The Germans had worked out several "D" day measures for the French civilian population, the French Information Service says. On the first day all men were to be called into centers for verification of their identities, civilian vehicles were not to be allowed to circulate and supply depots were to be occupied. After the first day civilian were to be authorized to circulate only with an armband and with hands folded behind their necks, under penalty of being immediately shot. All houses were to be searched, and persons not on the census rolls were to be shot immediately.

Chinese Boy Cooks

One-hundred fifty teen-age Chinese boys selected from war orphanages operated by the National Refugee Children's Association have just completed a two months' training period as cooks and soon will be assigned to hostels for United States Army forces in China, according to an English language broadcast reported by the Federal Communications Commission. This is the second group graduated, the first group already serving American troups as cooks and houseworkers at an advanced base in China.

Australians Sell Equipment

Certain machines and materials, including barbed wire, types of motor transport no longer suitable for military use and other valuable materials, are soon to be sold to the public to relieve Australian civilian shortages, says the Australian News and Information Bureau.

"Wrens" Release Men

Welding, painting, ship construction, sign writing and diamond cutting are some of the jobs handled by "Wren" ship mechanics, one of the newest units in Britain's Women's Royal Naval Reserve. British Information Services report that at a Combined Operations depot, "H. M. S. Squid," Wrens paint while perched on 30-foot masts, remove davits from a blazing forge and shape them on an anvil, or wield blow torches to repair damaged plates.

Girls Test Explosives

Six hundred-teen-age girls, chemical analysts, test the high explosives produced in Britain's shell-filling factories, the British Information Services report. Three years ago, school laboratories in all parts of the United Kingdom set up a three-months' course in explosive chemistry for girls who already had credits in science or mathematics and, today, two-thirds of the young chemists come direct from these schools.

Dutch Get Disney Emblem

While the Netherlands Indies Air Force Mitchell Bomber Squadron was training at Jackson, Miss., the flyers asked Walt Disney to design an emblem, the Netherlands Information Bureau says. Disney responded with a design consisting of a winged wooden shoe manned by a gremlin operating a machine gun against an orange background.

Soviet Women on Railways

One hundred seventy-three thousand Russian girls and women worked on the railways as locomotive engineers, firemen, brakemen, dispatchers and station masters, during 1942, the USSR Information Bulletin reports. Since the outbreak of the war hundreds of women also have become skilled coal miners in the pits of the Moscow coal basin.

Study Colonization

Of more than 40 million immigrants who left the Old World to settle in American during the 110-year period prior to 1930, only three million entered other republics besides the United States, according to data made available by the Office of the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs. At present, Cuba, Brazil and Mexico are conducting studies to learn their capacities for absorbing the 20 to 50 million new colonists now available.

"Wooden" Bicycles in Japan

Because of an acute shortage of essential commodities in Japan, the Japanese have resorted to manufacturing "wooden" bicycles, which "dispense with two-thirds of the iron required in ordinary bicycles," according to a Japanese broadcast reported by Aneta, official Netherlands News Agency. Another substitute is suits "woven from the bark of a certain shrub." Shoes are also being made from this bark.

don herold says:

I don't like the words, "free enterprise." They don't say what they mean.

What they really mean is freedom to hustle, freedom of opportunity, freedom for individual initiative, freedom to rise to the top if you have energy and thriftiness and brains—but not at somebody else's expense.

They mean the chance to serve a lot of people in a big way and to get paid for it fairly.

They mean your children and mine can go farther than we've come.

If it means wealth for you, fine! It's fun to live in a country where anybody, even you or I, may take a chance and hit the jackpot.

All businesses start as an idea in somebody's head and with the risk of a few saved dollars in somebody's pocket. All big businesses are little businesses at first.

I'm sure everybody in America wants freedom of honest opportunity with minimum restrictions, but of course with laws to prevent fouls and biting in the clinches.

Yes, the WAVES have places for thousands of young women, 20 to 36 and no dependents under 18. How about you?
