Taft, Stassen Claim Victory In Election

Ohio Solon Holds Lead; Major GOP Candidates Claim Edge Over Nation

(By The Associated Press)

LATEST returns Wednesday indicate Senator Taft will win 14 and Harold E. Stassen 9 of Ohio's 23 contested Republican presidential convention seats. Thirty went to the Ohio senator unopposed.

The results fell below pre-primary claims of both Stassen and Taft. Who was hurt most if any was in dispute.

Taft interpreted the outcome as a "victory for me and a defeat for Mr. Stassen."

Showing "Significant"

Stassen said his showing was "one of the most significant developments of the entire national campaign."

A Stassen man who had trailed overtook a Taft candidate late yesterday in the Akron district. This gave the Minnesotan the lead in three races with six certain. Taft, on the basis of nearly complete returns, had 11 delegates won and three candidates leading.

Whatever Taft's total of Ohio delegates, they represent his first publicly pledged convention votes. All told, ten men have now been promised votes on the first ballot at the Republican national convention. Some of these are major contenders, the others favorite sons.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey still leads the field with 125, but this is nowhere near the 548 majority required for the nomination. Dewey and Stassen are the only candidates having publicly pledged delegates in more than one state. Dewey's are spread over five states and so are Stassen's. Should Stassen win 9 in Ohio he will have 68 all told.

Taft yesterday claimed he would have more first ballot votes than any other candidate in the national convention. He gave no figure. The Dewey forces estimated, prior to recent primaries, that their man would have around 400. Stassen claimed this week he would have 340.

The three over-all claims exceed the 1,094 total convention vote.

Ohio meanwhile settled a hot Democratic gubernatorial nomination contest by giving former governor Frank J. Lausche the edge over Ray T. Miller, former Cleveland mayor.

Elsewhere on yesterday's political front:

Eden Appeals To Russians

By THOMAS C. WATSON
INS Staff Correspondent

LONDON, May 5—Former British foreign secretary Anthony Eden tonight appealed to Soviet leaders "to rid themselves of this obsession of war."

Eden told the House of Commons that the world situation is "very dangerous but not desperate," and warned Russia against under-estimating western strength.

The Conservative opposition leader in the wind-up of a two-day foreign affairs debate urged a widespread federation of western Europe backed by the United States as a world peace guarantee.

To Stay In Middle East

C. P. Mayhew, government spokesman, declared categorically that Britain is going to stay in the Middle East and Mediterranean because, he said:

"The government recognizes that the Middle East is a vital factor in world peace and it is of supreme importance to the safety and welfare of the British commonwealth.

"We are determined to stay there."

The government spokesman also declared that Britain feels a peace treaty with Japan is long overdue "not only for the Japanese but all states in the Far East must know where they stand."

Negotiations Blocked

Negotiations for a Japanese treaty as well as German and Austrian settlements have been blocked by differences between Russia and the western allies.

Eden, whose speech Prime Minister Attlee termed helpful, said:

"Successful negotiations can be conducted with the Soviet, but only on a basis of strength—when the Soviet government itself learns that neither by sapping, nor mining, neither by abuse nor sabotage, can it force the western peoples to change their way of life."

Eden added: "I believe there are men in the Kremlin far-seeing enough to understand this."

At another point Eden asked:

"Do the men of the Kremlin really believe the western way of life is doomed?

"If the Soviet government does not believe this it is surely running greater risks in hazarding peace in acting as it does . . .

"Must Soviet foreign policy continue to be based on this profound error of judgment?"

Both Eden and Attlee urged nations to respect the United Nations as a world authority, and both said the five-nation western European pact merely is a defensive arrangement.

Attlee pointed to the Soviet-engineered belt of pacts in eastern Europe, and said:

"If there is any drift to war, and if war does arrive it will be because someone has 'chanced his arm' too far."

PEARL HARBOR, May 5 (INS)—Pacific fleet headquarters announced tonight that seventeen passengers were rescued Monday from an Australian flying boat after the plane made an emergency landing in mid-Pacific near American Samoa.

Armed Bandits Rob Two Banks

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 5 (INS)—Two bandits armed with automatic pistols today held up the Hamel state bank near Minneapolis and escaped with between $20,000 and $30,000.

FBI agents, police and sheriff's deputies launched an immediate search in the twin cities area.

The bandits covered four bank employes and a customer while cleaning out the vault. They fled in a black two-door sedan and headed toward Minneapolis.

Bank officials estimated the loss in a preliminary check. Another accounting is being directed by FBI agents.

LONE BANDIT GETS OVER $8,000 IN HOLD UP

TACOMA, Wash., May 5 (INS)—A lone bandit, believed armed with a revolver carried under a handkerchief, held up a woman teller in Tacoma's Bank of California this afternoon and escaped with between $8,400 and $8,800 in large denomination bills.

The teller, Mrs. Pearl Gunn, said the bandit entered the bank and ordered her to hand over all the large bills she had in her cage.

She said she gave him the money in 20's, 100's and 500's.

She said she tripped the alarm as soon as the bandit left her window but he reached the street and disappeared.

She described him as being six feet tall and said he weighed about 160 pounds.

Bill To Repeal Oleo Tax Wins New Backing

By FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 5—Supporters of the bill to repeal oleomargarine taxes won a surprise victory today when the Senate reversed its president, Sen. Vandenberg, (R-Mich), and sent the House-passed measure to the Finance committee for consideration.

The chamber reversed, 47 to 30, an order by Vandenberg referring the bill to the Agriculture committee, where supporters feared it would be pigeonholed.

GOP'S Vote With Demos

Sen. Millikin, (R-Colo), chairman of the Finance committee, said the committee "will decide what to do with the bill at a meeting tomorrow." He explained:

"I am going to place the bill in the lap of the committee and ask that it make a decision on what to do with it. I think we shall give it prompt attention."

Fourteen Republicans joined with 33 Democrats to upset Vandenberg's ruling. Four Democrats voted with 26 Republicans to uphold the Senate's presiding officer.

It was a major defeat for the "dairy bloc," which has maintained the margarine taxes for 62 years to discourage sale of oleo in competition with butter. It is also unusual for a presiding officer to be reversed on a decision regarding committee jurisdiction on legislation.

Victory Surprises Solon

Republicans were generally expected to rally almost solidly behind Vandenberg, who is rated as a leading dark horse possibility for the Republican presidential nomination.

Among those voting against him were Sens. Taft, (R-Ohio), back on the floor from the Ohio presidential primary contest, and Millikin.

The victory, which supporters predict will result in final passage of the bill at this session, was a surprise to Sen. Fulbright, (D-Ark.), who appealed to the Senate to reverse Vandenberg. Fulbright had indicated that he did not expect to win.

Delay Was Feared

The Senate action followed two hours of debate during which supporters warned that the bill might be bottled up in the Agriculture committee.

Senators from dairy states replied that they had no intention of pigeonholing the bill but did not promise early action.

Fulbright said "the vote on the question of referral may be the only opportunity to vote on this bill at this session of Congress."

He called attention to reports that dairy interests intended to

GOPs Seeking Defense Accord

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 5 — A harmony meeting to smooth out clashing defense programs was proposed today for Republican leaders in the House and Senate.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the Senate GOP policy committee, said he would see Speaker Martin (R-Mass) and try to arrange a consultation.

As matters now stand, House and Senate committees working on the preparedness program urged by President Truman have agreed on few points.

Bills Differ

The Senate Armed Services commitee proposes to boost manpower by training 161,000 18-year olds for one year, and drafting men from the 19 through 25 age bracket for regular service.

The House Armed Services committee refused to combine the training plan with the outright draft. It approved a bill calling for a straight draft of men 19 through 25.

Further, the House also has passed by a whopping 343-3 vote a $3,238,200,000 measure to start building a 70-group Air Force. The policy committee has set its similar appropriation bill for action by the Senate tomorrow.

Bonus Approved

Further muddying the troubled defense waters was a proposal by Rep. Leo Allen (R-Ill.) to bypass the draft with an incentive

Anyway, They Know Where He Is Now

(By The Associated Press)

CARLSBAD, N. M., May 5.—Jack Sitton, editor of The Current-Argus, used to work for the Globe-News in Amarillo.

Eighty-five Amarillo business men visited Carlsbad today on a trade trip. Sitton, who hasn't lived in Amarillo for more than six years, walked up to a group of the Amarillo men on the special train to introduce himself.

"Jack Sitton," he said by way of introduction.

Two of the group, Paul Dollarhide and Aubrey Jackron, looked quizzically at each other.

"Sitton didn't come, did he?" asked Jackson.

"No, he isn't on the train," said Dollarhide.

Floyd Rigdon, publisher of Current-Argus, promptly sent a telegram to the Amarillo Globe-News, urging the Panhandle folks to come to Carlsbad "and get acquainted."

Spring Storms Lash Sections Of Texas As Cool Front Hits

(By The Associated Press)

A slow-moving squall line brought rain, hail and thunder to north central and East Texas last night.

The U. S. Weather bureau said the squall line, preceding a cool front, originated in the Mineral Wells area west of Dallas and moved across the state to Louisiana.

Baseball games were called off at Paris, Waco, Henderson, Marshall and Texarkana because of rain. One hundred feet of fence were flattened by wind at the ball park in Texarkana. A game at Amarillo was called because of cold weather.

Spring storms were reported at Tyler, Lufkin and Bryan.

A light hail fell at Love field municipal airport in Dallas. Gusts of wind reached 45 miles an hour. The sky was pitch dark at 6 p. m. The threatening weather produced only a sprinkle.

Hail fell near Wichita Falls, but not in the city proper. Varying degrees of damage were reported from South Bend north to Archer City.

The heaviest damage was reported at South Bend, where windows were shattered, limbs ripped from trees and garden vegetables hammered. Grain fields were

MILITARY PREPAREDNESS URGED

Marshall Opposes Proposal To Rebuild United Nations

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 5—Secretary of State Marshall said today that the western world must be made strong enough to convince the Russians that Communism can't rule the globe.

He told the House Foreign Affairs committee that there must be a "balance of power" such as there was when the United Nations was formed—so that no big power would dare break the peace if the others stood united.

Marshall spoke firmly against congressional proposals, which the committee is considering, to rebuild the United Nations "with or without Russia."

Rival Groups Feared

If the Soviet Union is shut out, he said, the "community of nations" would be broken into rival armed groups and "this result would weaken us and expose us to even greater dangers from those who seek domination of other states."

Marshall and Warren Austin, chief U. S. delegate to the UN, joined in urging that this country strengthen the world organization by building up its own military power and the power of friendly states.

The secretary of state said in effect that world conditions now are as bad as they are likely to get—and that improvement can be expected as the European recovery program, the western European union and like measures make progress.

But military strength, Marshall said, "is not the element which will be paramount in the long run."

"The underlying problem in the immediate future," he said, "is to bring about the restoration of economic, social and political health in the world and to give the peoples of the world aid which is essential for them to carry on

Alabama's 'Big Jim' Tells Girls Goodbye, Weds State Worker

(By International News Service)

ROCKFORD, Ala., May 5—Alabama Gov. James E. Folsom picked a 21-year-old petite brunette out of his State Highway department and married her today in Rockford.

The six-foot, eight-inch, 39-year-old governor said that he had already "kissed all the girls goodbye. And this one I'm taking home."

The bride is Jamelle More of Berry, Ala.

In Cullman, Ala., however, Christine Putnam Johnston wasn't so sure that "Kissin' Jim" had said his last goodbye to her. Miss Johnston was determined to continue pressing paternity charges against Big Jim. The case has been pending for approximately three months and is scheduled to come up in court this month.

Miss Johnston claims she is the common law wife of Big Jim and that he is the father of her child.

The governor, however, wasn't thinking about the suit or even the Alabama elections as he and his bride left for their honeymoon in Florida.

The governor, nicknamed "Kissin' Jim" through his countless bussing while campaigning for the gubernatorial office, married the small brunette in a quiet ceremony at Rockford's First Baptist church.

Mrs. Charles Ellis, the governor's sister, said the couple had known each other for about two years and were "planning the wedding for some time."

Folsom has not answered the court charges against him formally, but told newsmen simply at the time:

"I'm engaged in a political campaign. That ought to answer you."

Folsom currently is in the midst of a primary election in which he is battling for the state's "favorite son" role at the Democratic national convention.

Lewis Files Claim In Pension Dispute

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP)—John L. Lewis today asked a federal court not to block $100-a-month pension payments to retired soft coal miners.

Ezra Van Horn, a leader of coal operators and one of three trustees of the miners' $34,000,000 welfare fund, had sought an order blocking the pension plan agreed to by Lewis and Senator Bridges (R-NH), the other trustees. Van Horn has said the plan would break the welfare fund. He told the court that he, as representative of the employers, must agree to any plan for paying pensions.

Truman Plans Speaking Tour

By EARLE MARCKRES
(INS) Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 5 — The White House announced today that President Truman will make a transcontinental train trip early in June, delivering important speeches in the Midwest and on the West coast.

Mr. Truman's westward journey is regarded by political observers as a pre-convention opening gun in his campaign for election to four more years in the White House. He will be on the road about two weeks.

The presidential trip calls for key addresses at two Midwestern points, three places in California and speaking engagements probably in Oregon and Washington state.

South Backs Threats

As the White House announced the President's forthcoming journey, returns from the Alabama and Florida primaries indicated that the South is making good its threat to bolt Mr. Truman in reprisal for his civil rights proposals.

First returns from the Alabama Democratic voting indicated that the electors would be anti-Truman. Most of the candidates for delegate are opposed to the President's nomination, and one group is pledged to a movement to draft Gen. Eisenhower as the Democratic candidate.

Alabama Democratic Chairman Gessner T. McCorvey said in Mobile, Ala., that the President's "goose is cooked."

To Talk In Chicago

Florida was more concerned with the gubernatorial nomination contest than the election of Democratic delegates, and the count will not be known until later. Most Florida delegate - candidates, however, are anti-Truman.

Mr. Truman, entraining in Washington June 3, will cross the continent through the Midwest and West, which has assured him delegates enough to join with the North and East in nominating him.

On June 4, Mr. Truman will speak in Chicago at the Swedish centennial celebration.

The President then will attend and address the annual conven-

110,000 Germans On Food Strike

By TOM AGOSTON
INS Staff Correspondent

FRANKFURT, May 5 — More than 110,000 Germans in the Anglo-American occupation zones struck today in protest against food shortages, especially bread and meat. No incidents were reported.

American and British officials said they did not expect the walkouts, however, to develop into "a general strike, as such."

Officials believed German regional failure to equitably divide available supplies caused the strikes.

Industries Tied Up

Strikers in the British zone city of Hannover tied up metal, automotive, rubber, and chemical industries.

Three thousand Hannover street car workers went out and tonight 7,000 printers and others quit work rather than cross picket lines.

The shutdown of newspapers threatened to spread over lower Saxony by Monday.

The walkouts also halted preparations for the Hannover trade fair scheduled May 22.

In the American zone 10,000 steel workers in the Nuernberg area returned to work tonight, but the same number went out in

CONDON LETTER IS MOVED TO WHITE HOUSE

Truman Challenges Congress To Attempt To Wrest FBI Director's Report On Scientist From Him

By LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 5—President Truman challenged Congress today to try to wrest from him personally the so-called loyalty letter avidly sought by the House in its investigation of Dr. Edward U. Condon, noted federal atomic scientist.

The latest face-off in the running fight for the letter written by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover about his probe of Condon came when a Commerce department official revealed that Mr. Truman has transferred the document from the department to the White House.

Truman Quotes Jackson

The transfer was made on April 27, the day the House voted overwhelmingly to compel the secretary of commerce to hand over the letter. The department refused, citing a presidential order of April 12 that government heads should ignore congressional subpoenas for loyalty information unless Mr. Truman approves the transmission.

The measure the House approved was not acted on by the Senate and therefore was only an expression of desire without the force of law.

Mr. Truman greeted it by quoting President Andrew Jackson's reaction to a decision by Chief Justice John Marshall. Jackson said:

"The chief justice has made his decision. Now let him enforce it."

The dispute began originally when the House un-American activities committee unsuccessfully subpoenaed then Secretary of

Iowa Farmer Sends Hog To HST; Asks Him To Feed It

(By International News Service)

DYSART, Ia., May 5.—A second Iowa hog was on its way to the White House and President Truman tonight.

It was shipped by R. H. Daily, farmer near Dysart, in protest against the packing-house workers strike.

Previously, Lee Hartman, Ventura farmer, had made a similar present to the Chief Executive.

Daily challenged the President to feed it for a month, and "see if you can make any profit."

He claimed meat packers are taking advantage of the strike situation, and that meat prices are out of line with quotations for live hogs.

UN Rule Seen In Holy Land

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 5—An emergency United Nations regime to rule Palestine appeared tonight to be the temporary UN answer to the Holy Land problem.

The first glimmer of what the 58-nation Assembly might do to meet the immediate crisis in Palestine emerged from two closed sessions of a 12-nation group at the French delegation offices.

The Assembly's political committee—in effect the Assembly itself—asked this subcommittee yesterday to go over the whole complicated issue and try to find a solution before Britain ends her mandate over Palestine on May 15.

Plebiscite Is Asked

Cuba called for a plebiscite if Jews and Arabs cannot agree on a final solution.

It was emphasized that the suggested emergency administration would not be a UN trusteeship, advocated by the United States, nor a permanent answer to the Arab-Jewish deadlock.

Based on comments by sub-committee members, the situation now appeared to stand this way:

1. The delegates recognize that no final solution for the Palestine problem can be found at present. There are not enough votes to reaffirm the UN partition scheme approved last Nov. 29 or overthrow it.

2. An emergency regime should not modify or change the present situation in Palestine, where the Jews have in effect partitioned their own new country and are ready to proclaim it to the world.

3. The UN Assembly should recommend that no UN member recognize any country set up in Palestine during the temporary regime.

4. The Arabs and Jews might be more likely to approve an emergency regime than any other

Confusion On Demo Delegates Explained

AUSTIN, May 5 (AP)—Many of the uninstructed delegations to the state Democratic convention may cast their votes for an instructed delegation to the national convention, Travis county leader Herman Jones said today.

"A lot of people are confusing delegates who are going uninstructed with those instructed for an unpledged delegation to the national convention," said Jones, an Eisenhower supporter. "A lot of counties adopted no resolutions yesterday. They just elected delegates and went home."

He observed that many precinct delegates who went to the Travis county meeting uninstructed yesterday cast their votes for Eisenhower on the first ballot.

Jones said the main job of this county's delegates at Brownwood May 25 will be to advocate selection of Mayor Tom Miller of Austin as national committeeman to succeed Myron Blalock of Marshall.

U. S. Plane With Two Aboard Missing On Atlantic Flight

SHANNON AIRPORT, Eire, May 5 (AP)—Airport officials said today a Superioc Oil Co. plane with a crew of two and no passengers was more than six hours overdue in a flight across the Atlantic from Gander, Nfld. (The British ministry of civil aviation said it was informed three men were aboard.)

The last radio mesasge received from the plane early today said the flight had been normal, at an altitude of 8,500 feet. Officials said the craft's fuel may have been exhausted.

Attempts To Mediate Fail

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 5.—President Truman still hopes to sidetrack the threatened railroad strike, the White House said today.

Af if to underscore his optimism, the President's office announced that he will leave—by train—for the Pacific northwest June 3.

That is just three weeks and two days beyond the May 11 strike deadline set by the 190,000 members of three key rail unions—the brotherhoods of locomotive engineers, firemen and enginemen and switchmen.

Report Is Made

The President's hope for a peaceful settlement of the wage dispute was relayed to White House reporters by Press Secretary Charles G. Ross after the collapse of the latest mediation effort.

Frank P. Douglass, chairman of the National (Railway) Mediation board, and Francis A. O'Neill, jr., a member, conferred for nearly an hour and a half on the matter with John R. Steelman, presidential assistant.

Ross said Steelman relayed the results of the conference to Mr. Truman, although the President did not confer personally with the mediators.

Ross said he did not know whether union representatives would be called to the White House for a conference.

Some Trains To Operate

Douglass came back from Chicago last night to report the failure of his special mediation effort. The strike is set to begin at 6 a.m. (various local times) next Tuesday. Yard workers are to quit at that hour, and train crews out on runs are to bring their trains to their destination or tie-up points before walking out.

The unions said they would permit their members to operate troop, hospital and milk trains.

The three dissatisfied operating unions have demanded a 30 per cent wage increase for their members and certain changes in working rules. Other organizations among the railroads' total working force of 1,250,000 have settled for a raise of 15½ cents an hour recommended by a presidential em-

Rites For Truck Victim Set Today

Funeral services for William Earl Johnson, 42, of 3006 Allen, who was found dead beneath his truck early yesterday near Morton, will be held at the Tahoka funeral home chapel today. The time was tentatively set at 4 p.m. pending the arrival of a relative.

Johnson's body was discovered under his three-ton truck, and his head had been crushed. The truck had stopped on an incline, on the Morton-Plains highway 14 miles south of Morton.

Believed Working On Truck

Investigating officers said they believed that the victim had been working on his truck and that one of the dual rear wheels rolled over him.

Survivors include his wife, a 14-year-old step-child, Jimmy Craddick; his father, George Johnson, of Paris; and two sisters, Mrs. Floy Rogers, of Bairdstown, Irene Simpson, Seminole; and a brother, T. C. Johnson, of Seminole.

Johnson was believed en route to Lubbock after delivering a load of butane from his attached butane trailer to the Slaughter pump station 15 miles north of Plains, his employers, Plains Transport Co., Inc., of North College in Lubbock, said. He had been working for the company only four weeks, John Cates, truck foreman for Plains Transport company, said in Lubbock. Cates said Johnson had returned only recently from Alaska, where he worked three or four years on the Alcan highway. Before the war, Cates said, he was employed as a driver for Dalby Motor Freight lines, in Lubbock.

The Morton Tribune said the

SENATE OKAYS REVIVAL OF PLAN

Home Loan Insurance Program Faces Major House Opposition

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP)—The Senate today voted a stop-gap revival of the big segment of the government's home loan insurance program which lapsed last week, but it ran into a high road-block in the House.

"Not interested," said Chairman Wolcott of the House Banking committee which would handle the measure on that side of the capitol.

If Wolcott's committee backs him—there was no sign it would not—the choice is this:

Let the "Title 6" insurance provision which covers more than 90 percent of the present home insurance business, stay dead.

Put through a longer extender such as the Senate turned down.

Or take action on the Taft-Ellender-Wagner long-range housing bill which includes the longer term extension along with some controversial public housing features.

Senate backers of the short extension insisted on the limited time on the ground that a longer period would give an excuse for putting off action on the T-E-W measure.

"Title 6" is the emergency provisions in the housing law, which permits insurance on a more liberal basis than "Title 2" which is still in effect.

Wolcott Backs Extension

The short-term bill, passed by the Senate on a voice vote, would revive "Title 6" through June 30 to await action on the general housing measure.

Wolcott wants an extension through next March. He made it plain to a reporter that the stop-gas measure is dead as far as he is concerned.

"The Senate was informed last week," he said, "that the House would not be interested in a short-term continuance."

Wolcott said too, that his committee is not going to act on the T-E-W "until it has had adequate hearings." They are under way now.

"Likewise," Wolcott added, "the House is not going to be pressured into premature action on such an important measure (as the T-E-W bill) by any childish tactics which are considered beneath the dignity and the responsibility of the Congress."

MUSEUM GETS MOA BIRDS

NEW YORK (U.P.)— The American Museum of Natural History announced that Dr. Robert Cushman Murphy of its staff is bringing back skeletons of 22 moa birds from New Zealand. The largest specimen was ten feet tall and weighed a quarter of a ton when it lived more than 100,000 years ago. Dr. Murphy estimates that the last living moa probably was killed and eaten by natives about 1350 A. D.

Gold Miners Fail To Recognize Precious Metal, Expert Says

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LEAD, S. D., — A gold miner is about as likely to see an elephant underground as he is gold.

And if he did see it he probably wouldn't recognize it. This is one of the oddities of digging out the yellow metal that gives the boys at Fort Knox something to guard and provides the nation's dentists something to fill a tooth with besides an ache.

"It is very rare to find free specks of gold," said Harlan Walker, assistant general manager of the Homestake mine, largest in the Americas.

A miner can work years here and never see any."

Many miners can't even determine ore-bearing rock from waste or "country rock." Sites worth working are outlined by skilled mining engineers.

Gold mining is an intricate industry comparable in many ways to an automobile factory. It takes many skills to glean from one ton of ore its final product—barely enough gold to make a man's wedding ring. And it may cost $200,000 or more to blast through country rock to reach an ore body worth working.

Practically everything taken out of the mine is put back in with one noteworthy exception—the gold. After the ore has been crushed and passed through meshes of a screen finer than the sifting cloth used in flour mills, the waste sand is pumped back into the mine as "fill" to prevent wall collapses.

Gold miners are a hardy, snuff-chewing crew who hold a high disdain for coal miners. They work a seven-hour, six-day week and the top workers earn $12 to $15 a day. They live a mile above sea level here and work a mile from their homes—straight down.

Huge Operation Described

Their chief task is drilling seven-foot holes in the tunnel face and stuffing them with dynamite which they set off at the end of their shift. Laborers then do the mucking—loading the blasted ore with power shovels.

Here is some idea of the size of the operations in this massive mine that has produced $460,000,000 in 70 years.

It produces 1,400,000 tons of ore in a normal year; it pumps out 500 gallons of water a minute and pumps in 225,000 cubic feet of fresh air; it has 37 levels, 120 miles of tunnels; it burns 773 miles of fuse a year to set off 3,000,000 sticks of dynamite—some 100,000 pounds a month; it uses 1,000,000 feet of timber a month.

Its giant main hoists can haul up nine-ton loads of ore at three times the speed of the fastest passenger elevators in New York skyscrapers.

Man Admits Dividing $1,500 With Juror In Louisiana Oilman's Trial

By PAT J. McDONNELL
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW ORLEANS, May 5—A man named as a co-conspirator in alleged jury tampering testified today in New Orleans federal court he divided $1,500 with a juror in the 1945 income tax trial of wealthy Louisiana oilman William T. Burton.

The witness was Edwin A. Oliveira who said he received his share of the money indirectly after negotiations with Burton and ex-Louisiana state senator Joseph Cawthorn.

Four Are On Trial

Burton, Cawthorn, ex-Louisiana Gov. James A. Noe and Marcel La Branche are on trial on charges of conspiring to fix the jury at Burton's trial.

The present hearing recalls Louisiana's political scandals of the thirties.

A key government witness' admission that he did not tell the whole truth in previous testimony highlighted the early court session today.

The witness was Hughes P. Walmsley, brother of the late New Orleans mayor Semmes Walmsley. Walmsley said his testimony before a federal grand jury was not completely accurate.

Oliveira, who now works in Louisville, Ky., said he was excused from jury service in the Burton trial after being called as a petit jury venireman.

Agreed To Divide Money

La Branche was chosen for service. The witness said he and La Branche had talked about the rumor that there'd be plenty of money put out to the jury. "We agreed that if either one of us was picked we would divide any money that was given to either of us."

Oliveira said La Branche obtained $1,500 in $20 bills after being told by Burton where to pick up the money.

The witness recalled a conversation with Cawthorn in which the former senator said "Mr. Burton authorized him to tell me to tell La Branche that (he) would get $1,000 and I would get $500.

Oliveira was named in the indictment as a co-conspirator along with John Astorias, a New Orleans hotel chef. Neither is on trial, however.

Chicago Judge Rules Against Restrictions

CHICAGO, May 5 (INS) — A Chicago judge ruled against a restrictive convenant today in the first action of its kind in the nation since the U. S. Supreme court ruling last Monday that courts cannot enforce such agreements.

Superior Judge Frank M. Padden made his ruling in dismissing a suit for an injunction which would have prevented negroes from occupying apartments in a building on the southside.

The Park Manor Improvement association and Mrs. Mary J. Cronin sought the injunction against Excell and Ollie Dixon and Mr. and Mrs. John Love.

The Dixons and the Loves recently bought the property in dispute.

The injunction petition said a covenant restricting residence in the area to white persons had been created in 1927 and had been signed by 75 per cent of the neighborhood's property owners.

In dismissing the suit Judge Padden declared:

"When the Supreme court speaks that is the end of controversy for everybody, and all citizens and courts are bound by it.

"Restricted covenants are now a thing of the past."

CHILDREN'S GIFTS

SOMETIMES a mother's ill-assorted get-up can be explained by her grown children's habit of giving her clothes as gifts.

This "gift" wardrobe sometimes is made up of a hodge-podge of effects, from ill-fitting hats to scarfs, coats, dresses and even shoes. The mother, if she is like most mothers, won't complain and wears the garments, although with misgivings.

It seems to us that this problem could be worked out if the children would get together and plan clothes contributions that harmonize.

A better step might be to give gift certificates which will enable the mother to make her own wardrobe choices, rather than to wear pieces of apparel which reflect the varying taste of several people.

THOUGHTFUL GIFT — We heard of a little girl who didn't have any money to spend for a present on Mother's day, but nevertheless, she hit upon an unusual idea for a gift.

When her mother went to the kitchen on the second Sunday in May, she found an envelope tied in bright ribbon. Inside, on colored slips of paper, the child had neatly printed the following "gifts": Good for 4 dish washings; good for 2 bed makings, good for 2 kitchen floor scrubbings.

In the days that followed—as the mother gradually "spent" her presents, she was reminded each time of a little girl who had given her a delightful Mother's day surprise.

TODAY'S GAG

THE question asker is a familiar figure in all meetings and in all class rooms. During the war one turned up at Camp Wolters after the instructing officer had explained and demonstrated the technique of meeting an attacker armed with a bayonet.

He explained how to lunge, how to side-step and how to break through. He went over other steps one by one, and then asked if there were any questions.

"What do you do if there's a bullet in it?" asked one scared infantry trainee.

ONE of our favorite examples of stupid questioning is this: Several years ago we were attending a lecture period at Grand Canyon. A college student, handsome in the natty uniform of a guide, gave the history of the colorful gorge in capsule form and guide book terms.

At the close of the lecture, he paused, glanced over the impatient, gum-chewing tourists and asked, "Are there any questions please?", half-turning as he did so to pick up his notes and leave.

A woman sitting near the back excitedly waved her hand and with a look of pleasure, mixed with bewilderment, he leaned forward and asked with interest: "Yes, madam?"

"Has anybody lost any keys? she queried, waving a ring in a pudgy hand.

"Leave them at the desk," the guide said in a tired and disgusted tone while the rest of the party howled with laughter.

WHICH ARE YOU?

THERE are classes of shoppers we all know. Which, if any, is you?

There is the fond mama who lets her children wreck the store while she shops. The little darlings crawl under the counter, swing from chandelier to chandelier, drag things off of the counter or play hide and seek among the suits and dresses.

Or the hoarder. She can't make up her mind which purse or scarf or bit of costume jewelry she wants and grabs everything in sight while making a selection.

Or perhaps the scatterbrain is with us. She doesn't decide what she wants until she starts to shop.

THE mauler usually comes down on Dollar day. She scrambles through the counter display, tearing off price tags, unfolding the pile and knocking some of the articles behind the counter, ruining more merchandise than she buys.

And don't overlook the bargain hunter. Because she can't resist a bargain, she buys scads of things she doesn't need and never uses.

The impatient type demands attention. It doesn't matter if someone else is being waited on or if the clerk is on the telephone, or, if for some reason she should wait a few minutes, she calls out and wants immediate attention.

But one of the inevitable shoppers is the woman, young or old, who uses the aisle as a dressing room. She pulls and tugs to drag petticoats over her head and holds up this garment and that one; in the meantime also holding up anyone who might like to pass by and do a little shopping.

Police, Firemen Pay Act Upheld

AUSTIN, May 5 (AP)—The State Supreme court ruled in effect today that police and firemen employed in cities of more than 175,000 population are entitled to a $10 a month increase in salary for each five years of service.

Actually, the court's only action was to refuse application by the city of San Angelo for a writ of error. The city sought to appeal from the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals.

However, by its action the state Supreme court upheld the decision of the lower court.

Act Ruled Constitutional

Both the trial court and the appellate court ruled that an act of the 50th legislature, setting minimum wages and monthly increases for term of service, was constitutional.

The controversy centered around interpretation of the law which provided an additional $10 a month for each five years of service up to and including 25 years. The minimum wage was set at $200 a month. The city of San Antonio named five defendants in its original suit, two firemen and two policemen. They were Cletus H. Baird and R. A. Bartlett, both firemen, and D. L. Bradshaw and E. H. Braun, both policemen. All four had served with their departments at least 25 years.

Law Is Retroactive

However, the city of San Antonio contended that the increase for term of service did not apply to service prior to the effective date of the act. That was Sept. 5, 1947.

The defendants held that the intent of the act was to increase monthly wages for each five years of service either prior to or after passage of the act.

Both the trial court and the appellate court agreed with this, and by its action today the Supreme court sustained these findings.

YUM! YUM! THIS Hilton FOOD CAN'T BE BEAT

LOST 47 POUNDS WITHOUT DIETING

The following remarkable story shows conclusively that Barcentrate DOES take off fat.

It contains nothing harmful. In fact, it contains ingredients that make you feel better. No starvation diet—no weakness—no hunger.

Barcentrate, the original grapefruit juice recipe, takes off fat quickly, safely and you can eat plenty.

Here Is Proof

"When I started taking Barcentrate, I weighed 212 pounds and wore size 46 dresses. Now I wear size 18 and weigh 165 pounds. I started taking Barcentrate in March and by June I had lost 47 pounds. I would have lost more weight had I left off fattening foods, but I was anemic at that time and afraid to diet. People who knew me before I started taking Barcentrate are amazed at the weight I have lost. My flesh is firm; I have never become flabby or wrinkled and I am 40 years old.

"Before taking Barcentrate I couldn't do my house work without becoming exhausted; had dizzy spells and my head and back hurt me constantly. I was so short winded, I was miserable. But now all those things have gone and it is really a pleasure to do the chores I once dreaded.

"Three years ago I nearly died with Typhus fever and it left me anemic and I could never get my blood count up again or get back my energy. After taking Barcentrate my blood count started up and is now normal. So you see why I praise Barcentrate so highly and recommend it. Any praise I can give Barcentrate is small compared to the relief and happiness it has brought me."—Mrs. Eula Whitehead, 509 Harmon, Corpus Christi, Texas.

At All Druggists

The above is one of hundreds of amazing endorsements we have received.

If you are overweight and want to take off ugly fat, just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, safe, easy way to take off weight, return the empty bottle for your money back.

'Billion Dollar Club' Of U. S. Business Gains New Members

By T. W. KIENLEN
United Press Staff Writer
(Copyright, 1948, By The United Press)

NEW YORK, May 5—The "billion dollar club" of American business and industry gained three new members in 1947 and now has a roster of 48 firms, the annual United Press survey of U. S. business giants disclosed today.

Biggest business enterprise in the nation at the close of last year was the Bell system—American Telephone & Telegraph company and its affiliated companies—with assets of $8,772,377,290. The Bell system, nudging aside Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., regained top place in the "club" after a lapse since 1944, when Metropolitan took over for a four-year period of leadership.

Texas Company Included

Total assets of the 48 "billion dollar" firms on Dec. 31, 1947 amounted to $114,422,923,575, compared with $107,326,278,749 for the same companies on Dec. 31, 1946.

World War II and record post-war consumer and durable goods demand accelerated the growth of all American industry, a development amply illustrated by the growth of "club" member assets since Pearl Harbor.

When Japan struck on Dec. 7, 1941, there were only 32 business enterprises in the nation with assets of $1,000,000,000 or more, representing a gain of 12 firms in the 12 years between 1929 and 1941, contrasted with a rise of 16 companies over the past six years.

The newest roster of the "club" includes for the first time the Texas co., the Mellon National Bank & Trust company and the Standard Oil company of Indiana. Actually, the last two had assets in excess of $1,000,000,000 a year earlier, but were overlooked when their annual reports failed to arrive in time for inclusion in the last survey. Texas co. assets crossed the $1,000,000,000-level for the first time at the end of 1947.

Oil Corporations Prosper

Of the 48 companies in the club now, only six—including five banks and the Union Pacific railroad—had a smaller asset total on Dec. 31, 1947 than at the end of 1946. The Bell system reported a rise for 1947 of $1,391,451,569 and the second place Metropolitan life had a gain last year of $502,990,217.

Standard Oil co., (N.J.), largest industrial organization in the country, had assets of $2,995,989,693 on Dec. 31, 1947, against $2,659,987,889 a year earlier. Pennsylvania railroad, the nation's largest carrier, had assets of $2,220,597,888, against $2,180,349,028 on Dec. 31, 1946. Assets of Bank of America National Trust & Savings association, world's largest commercial bank, expanded to $5,845,817,669 from $5,675,525,193.

The entrance of Texas co. into the select billion-dollar circle, and the climb in assets of Standard (N.J.), Standard of Indiana and Socony Vacuum Oil co., demonstrated the record prosperity of the oil industry, which is working day and night to keep up with the unprecedented demand for petroleum products.

As usual, banks and insurance companies comprise the bulk of the list, numbering 20 banks and 12 insurance companies. There are six railroads and 10 industrial and utility companies in the group.

American General Fears Korea Will Become Russian Satellite

By JOHN R. RICH
INS Staff Correspondent

SEOUL, May 5—Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, commanding general of U. S. occupation troops in South Korea, told the people today that the United States "does not intend to keep its troops in South Korea a day longer than necessary."

He admitted frankly, however, that the eventual withdrawal of U. S. troops might be followed "by transformation of Korea into a Soviet satellite."

Lengthy Statement Made

Gen. Hodge, in a lengthy statement to the south Koreans, declared that America would not maintain the occupation army "any longer than necessary," despite the risk that Communist forces from north Korea might over-run the southern zone to convert the entire country into a Russia-dominated land.

He further renewed his criticism expressed in the past few days of the recent so-called "All Korean" political conference held in Pyongyang, headquarters of the Soviet occupation force in the north zone.

He declared the meeting was a Communist - arranged "smoke-screen" designed to conceal an effort to confuse the south Korean peoples and thus disrupt the forthcoming election for a new government on May 10.

General Raps Conference

Gen. Hodge's statement coincided with the return of two south Korean political leaders, Kim Koo, rightist, and Kim Kiusic, leftist leader.

Both men voiced optimism concerning the meeting and declared there "was much chance of achieving Korean national unity."

Kim Kiusic asserted the Pyongyang conference had worked out an agreement on proposals he had submitted, but he withheld details, explaining he would make them public tomorrow.

Kim Koo said that he was "treated grandly" at the meeting and that he returned to Seoul "with a feeling of being very much encouraged."

Gen. Hodge let it be known that he strongly disapproved of the conference. He claimed it was strictly Soviet-dominated and that it did not represent the entire Korean nation.

He flatly declared that the meeting was Communist-controlled and did not live up to the concepts of creating a free and independent Korea.

The program included "There's Music in the Air," "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," "Nellie Bly," two negro spirituals "Water Boy" with Travis Hannah as soloist, and "Shortenin' Bread;" "Vive L'Amour," Grahm's "Lullaby," with Schaffer as soloist; "The Pilgrim's Chorus," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," and as the concluding number "Now the Day Is Over."

Mrs. Bryan Edwards, representing the Lubbock Women's club, announced the coming Gainesville Community circus for Friday and Saturday here under sponsorship of the women's club and the Lions club.

Westerners Trounce Plainview

Bill Wylie Is Batting Star

By EARL SCUDDAY
Avalanche Sports Writer

Two-hit hurling by James and Jim Wilson, combined with an eight-hit attack that was aided by seven Plainview errors, gave the undefeated Lubbock High Westerner nine an easy 20-3 District 1-AA triumph over the Bulldogs Wednesday night at Rosenthal field.

Approximately 300 shivering fans watched the Plainview schoolboys take a one-run lead in the first stanza, then saw the Westerners go ahead in the second frame and clinch the conference victory with a 10-run assault in the fourth inning.

Lubbock Tops District

The win kept the Westerners at the top of the district standings with a record of five triumphs and no defeats, while Amarillo's Golden Sandies hold the runner-up slot with four wins and a single loss.

Catcher Bill Wylie paced the home nine in the slow tilt, slamming out two doubles in two trips to the plate, but Charles Galey collected two singles for a perfect night. Dorrance Guy, Westerner first sacker, blasted out the longest hit of the game in the wild fourth frame when he rammed a triple down the first base line.

Wilson Hurls Well

Lanky James Wilson gained credit for the hurling triumph by holding the Plainview boys to two safeties and three runs in four innings, but sophomore Jim Wilson was even more effective as he held the visitors hitless in a three-frame relief job.

The Plainview nine opened the tussle as if it might give the Westerners a bitter fight, with Bobby Kay scoring the first tally on an error and a fielder's choice. But the Lubbock nine bounced right back in the bottom of the initial stanza to deadlock the count as Jack Alderson, who had reached first when his long fly to right field was muffed by Charles Morgan, went all the way home on Galey's single.

Griffin Steals Bases

The Westerners went ahead in the second frame when Bill Wylie connected for the first of two doubles with Dwight Moore on base and Bobby Griffin, speedy third sacker, stole second, third and home after getting a free pass to first base.

Four more Lubbock runners crossed the plate in the third, as the Westerners capitalized on two walks, a balk and Wylie's second double, then the local nine turned the contest into a rout with a 10-run splurge in the fourth.

The White Sox picked up only four hits, but two of them in the fifth inning won the game. Jackie Lewelling's single drove in both the tying and winning runs in the PeeWee league game. Charles Blazi had two singles for the losers out of their five-hit total.

The Pirates had little trouble winning a Midget league game, with Barry Allen getting two for three, one of his hits being a four-master with two men on base. Lindle Bailey had a perfect day at the plate for the losers, getting three for three.

Hubbers Bash Lamesa With Homer Barrage

LAMESA, May 5 (Special)—Records were broken and tied here tonight as the Lubbock Hubbers, displaying a vicious home run attack, pounded out a 24-11 victory over the Lamesa Loboes to bash their first division hopes.

A total of 12 fourmasters were slammed in the game tonight, nine of them by Lubbock, of which six were hit by two men. Manager Jackie Sullivan started the ball rolling, tying a West Texas-New Mexico league record by hitting consecutive home runs. He got his first in the initial inning with no one on; his second in the next frame with two men on; and his final in the fourth with the bases loaded. His hits were good for five runs batted in.

Fowler Hits Hard

Chick Fowler picked it up from there. He struckout his first three times at bat, then homered in the fifth inning with two men on; hit his second in the seventh with two more men aboard the sacks; and lifted his third over the wall in the ninth with one man aboard. For Fowler it was sweet revenge, for he played with Lamesa last year.

Virgil Richardson inserted two roundtrip smashes into the proceedings, following Sullivan's fourth inning home with his first and getting his second in the sixth when two men were on the bases. To top off the evening, Charley Scarborough lofted a drive out of the park, the longest hit of the night, in the eighth frame.

Alexander Takes Win

With that kind of support, Marvin Alexander had no trouble coasting to victory. He was reached for 12 hits and gave up the same number of free walks, which didn't help any. But he was tight enough in the pinches to leave 13 Lamesa runners on the bases and to choke off any violent threat of attack.

Sullivan and Fowler tied the league record for the most home runs in a game, three each, and Sullivan tied the record for the most consecutive home runs, also three. Lubbock established a new record for the most home runs in one game, which stood at eight, and the two teams erased the record for the most home runs by two teams in one game, which stood at 11.

Clements Downs Dory Detton

Ray Clements finally made the grade last night at Sled Allen's arena, wrestling Dory Detton of Amarillo down and out to gain his first victory over the visiting matman.

In other bouts, Billy Hickson tamed wild and wooly Pat O'Dowdy in two out of three falls in the main event and Eddie Gideon wrestled Olan Boynton of Amarillo to a draw in the preliminary.

Lots Of Action

There was a lot of action in the Clements-Detton match, with both men going all-out to win. Detton took the first fall after 13 minutes of struggling with a flying head scissors. Clements came right back to win in 17 long minutes, using a reverse crab to turn the trick. Then the Lubbock grappler threw Detton in the deciding fall in two minutes, using the same hold.

O'Dowdy, who loves the rough stuff, went 21 minutes before taking Hickson's measure in the first fall using a series of body slams and a body pin. But Hickson wasn't through. He came back to pin O'Dowdy in nine minutes with a stepin toehold and in the rubber match came through to victory in three minutes with a leg split and body pin.

Martin May Appear

Boynton and Gideon staged an interesting match, going the full 20 minutes to a draw.

Referees last night were Billy McEuin and Ace Abbott.

Sled Allen said after the bouts last night that he was trying to match Ray "Big Train" Clements with Wayne Martin in the feature presentation on next Wednesday night's card. If Martin will agree to the match, Allen believes he will have one of the best gate drawers in the ring business in Lubbock.

CINCINNATI, O., May 5 (INS)—Archie Moore of St. Louis, Number 4 ranking light heavyweight, tonight gained a unanimous decision over Billy Smith of Oakland, Cal., in a 10-round bout in Cincinnati's Music Hall.

CITATION WINS KENTUCKY DERBY—Jockey Eddie Arcaro became the first jockey in the United States ever to ride winners in four Kentucky Derby races when he booted home Citation more than three lengths ahead of Coaltown, who finished second. The Warren Wright colt left little doubt that it was the top horse in the nation by his convincing triumph on a sloppy track. Both Citation and Coaltown, the one-two finishers, come from Calumet Farm and they finished in front of My Request, third, and Billings, fourth. The winning time was two minutes, five and two-fifths seconds.

Giants Lose Tilt; Phils Beat Cubs

CINCINNATI, May 5 (AP)—Lefty Ken Peterson pulled Cincinnati out of a four-game losing tailspin by limiting the New York Giants to five hits today to give the Reds a 5-2 victory.

Making his first start of the season after five relief jobs, the 22-year-old southpaw allowed only a pair of singles in the first seven innings. Johnny McCarthy broke his shutout with a homer in the eighth and Bobby Thomson hit his second homer of the year in the ninth.

A two-run error by McCarthy, playing first base for the injured Johnny Mize, wrecked starter Sheldon Jones in the first inning. A single by Johnny Wyrostek, a double by Grady Hatton and a walk to Hank Sauer loaded the bases with one out. Then came McCarthy's boot. Ray Lamanno's outfield fly drove in Sauer with the third run of the inning.

Red Stallcup's single, followed by a sacrifice and Frankie Baumholtz' single added a fourth run in the second inning, sending Jones to the showers. Hatton touched Thornton Lee, the second Giants pitcher, for a homer over the right field fence with nobody on in the third.

Andy Seminick topped the Phillies with a three-run homer. Schoolboy Rowe was lost for at least two months when he suffered a fractured left thumb on a liner hit by "Peanuts" Lowrey.

Maxim-Lesnevich Is Possible Coast Bout

EL PASO, May 5. (INS)—Jack Kearns said in El Paso tonight that he had received a $50,000 offer for Joey Maxim to meet Light Heavyweight Champion Gus Lesnevich in Los Angeles this summer.

Kearns said the offer came from Frank Sinatra, who is scheduled to meet with Lesnevich's manager next week to discuss the match.

Maxim Fights Friday

Maxim, 178-pound third-ranking heavyweight, battles Francisco De La Cruz, 238-pound Mexican heavyweight in El Paso in a 10-round fight Friday night.

Kearns said he would discuss with Sinatra the possibility of matching Maxim again with Jersey Joe Walcott, if the latter defeats Joe Louis in June, as Kearns is predicting.

Maxim once decisioned Walcott and Jersey Joe holds two split decisions over Joey.

SINATRA QUICKLY DENIES PROPOSED FEATURE SCRAP

HOLLYWOOD, May 5 (INS)—Singer Frank Sinatra vigorously denied tonight any talks with Manager Jack Kearns concerning a $50,000 offer for Joey Maxim to fight Light Heavyweight Gus Lesnevich.

The Hollywood crooner said:

"The story is absolutely fabricated out of whole cloth. He must be trying to get some publicity. I have had no talks with Kearns. He has had no authorization to use my name. I know nothing of the whole thing whatsoever."

SPRINTERS WILL MEET

AUSTIN, May 5 (AP)—The nation's top college sprinters Charley Parker of Texas and Mel Patton of Southern California, will match strides for the first time May 21 at the Coliseum Relays in Los Angeles.

Red Raiders To Stage Grid Tilt Saturday Night

The first football game under the lights of the new Jones stadium at Texas Tech will be played at 8 Saturday night when spring training for the Red Raiders comes to a close.

Coach Dell Morgan will divide his squad into two teams, the Reds and Whites, and send them through a regulation time game before what is hoped will be a crowd of several thousand fans. There will be no admission charge and the public is invited, Morgan said.

Fans may see an offensive struggle, if the similar scrimmage of last Saturday is duplicated. The Reds and Whites battled through an hour's play, with frequent player changes, before the Reds gained a 27-20 victory.

Tim Hatch, Wellington freshman, galloped 60 yards through the line to set up the first touchdown for the Whites, Bud Conley, Quanah fullback, going over two plays later from the one-yard line. Shaff DeGaish, Sweetwater, later passed 30 yards over the goal line to Dingy Davis, Lubbock end, for another White counter and Hatch kicked goal. A third White counter resulted from a 45-yard pass to Zac Henderson, Quanah back, who went over standing up. Conley kicked goal.

Red touchdowns came on a 12-yard end run by Glenn Lewis, Quitaque; a 12-yard end run by Walter Maloney, Roscoe; a 10-yard pass from Bill Lyman, Littlefield, to Maloney over the goal line; and a 50-yard pass from Lewis to Bill Davis, Littlefield end.

Ex-Brownies Star; Nats Win Shutout

BOSTON, May 5 (INS)—Three "winter reinforcements" purchased by the Boston Red Sox during the off-season contributed standout performances today to lead Boston to a 4 to 3, 11-inning victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Vernon Stephens formerly star shortstop with the St. Louis Browns, cracked out his third home run of the year in the 11th off Relief Hurler "Dizzy" Trout, to stretch the Sox winning streak to four games and six victories out of seven.

The Red Sox came from behind with two runs in the ninth to knot the score and it was Stan Spence, ex-Washington Senator purchased this winter, who drove home the tying run with a sharp two-out pinch-hit single.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

The second chapter in what is probably the hottest individual rivalry in the Border conference will be written Friday and Saturday at Tempe, Ariz., when Jake Broyles—Texas Tech's ace netter—battles for the loop singles championship. Lanky Jake, one of the top players of the Southwest, suffered his most humiliating defeat in recent years at the Border meet in '47 when he was trounced by Herb Benham of Arizona university, 6-2, 6-2, in the final match, and the smooth-stroking sophomore from Lamesa will be seeking revenge for that loss.

Although Benham was expected to win the meet title, and Broyles was just a freshman, the defeat was a bitter pill for Jake to swallow. Jake, as many South Plains fans will remember, was one of the top-ranking schoolboy netters of the state before he entered the Army and his defeats were few and far between. While in the Army and stationed in the Philippines, Broyles swept through every tennis meet staged in that area and listed some nationally-known netters among his victims. When he received his discharge he was given scholarship offers by several of the larger colleges and universities, but selected Texas Tech in preference to the other schools.

As a freshman last year Jake chalked up a brilliant record, defeating the aces of Southern Methodist university, Texas Christian university and most of the Border conference schools. But then Benham dropped Broyles in the finals of the conference play and, as far as Jake was concerned, ruined the entire season. The defeat was especially stinging since Jake felt that he had not turned in as good a brand of tennis as he was capable of playing.

This year the situation is a little better, however. Jake is now a sophomore, with an additional year of top-flight competition under his belt, and the Lamesa stroker has had the advantage of playing practice tilts against some of the ranking players of the state. Broyles recently participated in the nationally-famed River Oaks tennis tourney at Houston, winning one match before he was defeated by the No. 1 singles player of mighty Rice Institute. The lone defeat at River Oaks is the one blot on Jake's record this season.

Although Jake is pointing for Benham, he is not unaware of the danger from several other players. Arizona university's great Tom Van Fleet, who was the Wildcats' No. 1 netter last year until illness forced him to the sideline, is back in uniform and looms as the strongest bidder for the conference crown. In an early season tournament at Tucson, Van Fleet actually drubbed teammate Benham in a singles tussle in two straight sets.

But a great part of Jake's ability lies in his "never-say-die" attitude and fine competitive spirit and South Plains fans—and especially his Lamesa friends and family—will not concede a point to the Arizona duo until the final game is played. Good luck, Jake!

Round Robin Tilt Opens Today

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., May 5 (AP)—Sixteen of the world's best golfers, chosen with tender care, are scheduled to open play tomorrow in the Goodall Round Robin Invitation tournament at a local country club.

The tournament, unique in the complexity of its scoring system, runs through four days, during which each of the 16 stars bats his way around the course five times in "match play" against his opponents.

Highest Plus Wins

At the end, the player with the highest "plus" score wins. Last year it was Bobby Locke, and the South African perfectionist is back to defend his laurels. Added international spice will be added by the presence of Henry Cotton, greatest of modern British players.

Only one round is carded tomorrow, with two on Friday and one each on Saturday and Sunday. Pairings for the opening round are as follows:

(1) Jim Ferrier, Claude Harmon, Dutch Harrison and Bob Hamilton.

(2) Johnny Palmer, Chick Harbert, Ed Furgol and Herman Barron.

(3) Lloyd Mangrum, Herman Keiser, Vic Ghezzi and Cary Middlecoff.

(4) Bobby Locke, Jimmy Demaret, Ben Hogan and Henry Cotton.

The scoring system isn't too difficult to grasp if one concentrates. Take the first foursome. If Ferrier shoots a par 72 tomorrow, and Harmon, Harrison and Hamilton each scores 73, then Ferrier will pick up three points and go into the second round with "plus 3." Each of his companions will stand "minus 1."

The points mount at a great rate. Locke won last year with plus 37. Ghezzi was second at plus 33. A resounding last was Middlecoff, who wound up minus 62. A player who experiences a really bad round, while his three rivals are going good, can ruin his chances in a hurry. All, however, play through to the end.

With each new round the foursomes are shuffled, so that at the finish each player theoretically will have met every one of his 15 rivals at match play.

BIG ONE—And it proves that not all of them get away. Tom Kicklin of Raleigh, N. C., caught this big channel bass while trolling in his home state. The fish weighed 53½ pounds, measured it weight in length and was 18 inches in girth.

Horned Frog Slugger Tops SWC Batters

DALLAS, May 5 (U.P.)—TCU has the leading slugger, Texas A&M the best-hitting team and Texas the leading pitcher in the Southwest Conference, latest statistics showed today.

Jim Busy of TCU connected 22 times in 37 trips for a .595 average in games through Saturday, more than 200 points better than any other palyer with a comparative number of appearances at bat.

Layne Leads Hurlers

Clifford Lindloff of Texas A&M had a .391 average, and Hal Harris of Baylor, .365, followed by his teammate Charles Devereaux with .363.

Bobby Layne of Texas set the pitching pace with four victories without defeat. Bob Fretz and Al Nixon of A&M and Charles Gorin of Texas each had two wins without a setback.

LOUIS WILL RETURN

NEW YORK, May 5. (INS)—Joe Louis, who seems to have been whipping himself into great shape—like a double-exposure—notified the Mike Jacobs management today that, by mid-May, he's planning to hit two things, simultaneously: (a) Town, for the Jersey Joe Walcott fight, and (b) his first sparring partner on the snoot.

JORDAN GREAT PROSPECT

TEXON, May 5. (AP)—Big League scouts, says James Patrick Conley, one of the greatest pitchers the Texas League ever knew, are missing a bet unless they look over Bud Jordan, pitcher for the Heagan County High school team.

State Track Meet Expects Four New Records This Week-End

All Classes Show Strong Entries

AUSTIN, May 5 (AP)—A gaudy array of times and distances will be brought to the Texas Interscholastic League's three-way state track and field meet here this week-end.

Reports from the regional meets in Class AA, Class A and Class B, indicate that at least four records will be set.

There will be one set of records for the state, this including the City Conference meet scheduled next week at Dallas.

Janier Montes of Bowie (El Paso), who ran the mile in 4:25.0 last year, bids fair to break his own mark. He has romped the mile in 4:29.6 already this season.

Mike Michon of Kerrville has vaulted 13 feet 1 inch, a half-inch under the state record.

Several discus throwers, including Reed Quinn and Bill Milburn of Austin have surpassed the state record of 155 feet 7 inches. Quinn has done 166 feet 5 inches.

Schepps Not Interested In Bison Baseball Club; Remains Retired

DALLAS, May 5. (INS)—George Schepps, former owner of the Dallas Rebels of the Texas League, today said he is not making an attempt to buy all or part of the Buffalo franchise of the International League.

Schepps told Dallas sports writers, who were checking on a report that he was trying to buy into the Bisons:

"I am not interested right now in purchasing a baseball club. And Marvin Jacobs, who owns the Bisons, is not interested in selling."

He said that during a recent visit to New York he talked to Jacobs, but with no intention of buying.

Schepps sold the Rebels to R. W. Burnett, Texas oil millionaire, early last month and has indicated since that he is dickering for some other connection in baseball.

New York Jockey Club Bars Sande For Alleged Doping Of Horses

NEW YORK, May 5 (U.P.)—Earl Sande today was barred from New York race tracks for 60 days for the alleged doping of one of his horses.

The action by the Metropolitan Jockey Club came on the heels of the famed ex-jockey's arrest Monday on a federal charge of possessing narcotics.

Sande now is awaiting federal grand jury action on the narcotics charge.

Citation Is After Preakness Title

BALTIMORE, May 5 (AP)—The old and new look in race horses, Stymie and Citation, arrived today at Pimlico in quest of more glory and greenbacks.

Seven-year-old Stymie is aiming for the $25,000 pot in Saturday's Dixie Handicap, while Citation will go after $100,000 in the Preakness, the 3-year-old classic on May 15.

Citation, as usual, came spry and unbothered off the train from Louisville, where he ran off with the Derby. Stymie was vanned down from Jamaica.

While Citation is considered a lead pipe cinch in the Preakness, Mrs. E. D. Jacobs' Stymie will have his work cut out for him in the Dixie.

Ten Top Horses Meet

The mile and three-sixteenths will bring together about ten of the top handicap horses in training. Stymie's owner has two good reasons for being particularly anxious to win the Dixie.

The winner's share will put Stymie much closer to becoming the first million dollar earner in history. The veteran now has won $818,560. But he has failed to win the Dixie, one of the ranking handicap races.

DR. MILLIKAN CLOSES SERIES

Scientist Says 'Power' Guides Footsteps Into Destined Paths

By CHARLES STONE
Avalanche Staff Writer

Dr Robert A. Millikan, chairman of the executive council of the California Institute of Technology and one of the foremost physicists of the world, presented the final lecture of his current series in Lubbock last night in the recreation hall before a gathering of approximately 150 persons.

Taking his subject from the words of William Shakespeare, Dr. Millikan spoke on "There Is A Divinity Which Shapes Our Ends," indicating that at various points in each of our lives there is a superior power which turns our footsteps into the paths of endeavor for which we were destined.

Own Experiences Cited

Using his own life as an example, he pointed out various crossroads of his life at which this power, which he termed "my fairy," forced him to take steps which eventually led him into the field of scientific research on a higher level than he might otherwise have attained.

Having lived an athletic life in the small midwestern town where he grew up, he earned his way during his first years at college by working as student director of the gymnasium and tutoring physics on the side. Later, against his better judgment as to his abilities in the field, he was prevailed upon by one of the college professors to teach a course in elementary physics, a position which brought the first realization that he definitely liked the subject.

Fellowship Was Secured

Through efforts other than his own, he secured a fellowship of physics at Columbia university in 1893, only to lose it the following year. Losing the fellowship caused him to go to the University of Chicago for a summer quarter, where he met Professor A. A. Michael who attempted to influence young Millikan to go to Germany to study.

Going back to Columbia, he finished his schooling there and received his doctor's degree. He wanted to get a position teaching physics, he said, but his "fairy" refused to provide a job. "Had I secured the employment I sought at that time, I would probably have been content to remain for life in the backwash of true scientific progress," he stated.

Studied In Germany

Faced with idleness, Dr. Millikan decided to take Michael's advice, so he borrowed money and went to Germany for three semesters of post-gradute work. "The loss of the Columbia fellowship in 1894, my inability to get a job in 1895, and the subsequent trip to Germany undoubtedly changed the whole course of my life," Dr. Millikan said. For during his study in Germany, he was thrown into contact with some of the scientific giants of the 20th century at a time when the discovery of the x-ray, the advancement of the theory of radio activity and other discoveries were reshaping the entire course of physical science.

His intimate contact with the great scientific minds of that day was largely responsibile, he believes, for his entering the field of physical research after his return to the United States.

Greater Power Turned Tide

Dr. Millikan pointed out a number of situations during the last war in which, he believes, a greater power than man turned the tide in favor of the right-thinking forces of the world. He mentioned several specific instances, including the battle of Dunkirk, the battle of Britain, the turning of the German tide in North Africa, the battle of Stalingrad, and others.

"Just how we fit into the plans of the Great Architect is not known," he said, "but wise men of all ages have seen enough to be at least reverent."

Since the birth of conscience in man, brought about far back in the evolutionary history of the human race, "it has been our sense of responsibility for playing our parts to the best of our abilities that makes us Godlike," he concluded.

German Strike

Augsburg.

Four thousand workers in Mannheim who had struck returned to work tonight, but 14,000 factory hands at Kassel and Munich joined the strike.

While a large number of strikers stayed home, many showed up at the factories but then went on a "sit-down" strike and refused to do any work.

On-the-spot checks showed a general absence of demonstrations.

Reports from the strike areas said "all is quiet" but stressed that many of the strikers feel determined to hold out until something is done about increased rations.

Reports from the Ruhr said there is little or no indication that the strikes would spread in that key industrial region, despite predictions of growing walkouts this weekend on the third anniversary of the end of the war.

FORT WORTH, May 5. (AP) — Masonic Homes hopes of winning points in the Class A pole vault and discus events Friday and Saturday in the State High School Track and Field meet at Austin suffered a blow today. Grayford Campbell, who vaulted 11 feet and threw the discus 130 feet, broke an ankle this afternoon in a District 22-B baseball game at Crandall. The Masons won 6-4.

It is said that one person in every three in the U. S. resides in a different state from the one in which he was born.

Final Rites Set For Three Crash Victims

Triple funeral services will be held for Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Miller of Sundown, and their son, William Lesley Miller, 22, who were killed in a Michigan grade crossing accident Sunday, at 2:30 p. m. today in the Sundown High school auditorium.

Rev. A. C. Hardin, pastor of the Sundown First Baptist church, will officiate. The Levelland American Legion post will conduct military rites for William Leslie Miller, who served three years in the U. S. Navy. Interment will be in Levelland cemetery. Plains Funeral home at Levelland is in charge of arrangements.

The three were killed when a fast passenger train struck their car at a railroad crossing near Saginaw, Michigan while the Hockley county couple were returning their son to Reece, Michigan to his wife and small daughter after a visit at Sundown.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller had been residents of Hockley county for 19 years where he had been engaged in farming, and later in the oil business.

ergency board.

The Louisville and Nashville, Missouri Pacific and Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroads have announced that on Friday they will stop accepting shipments of livestock, poultry and perishables.

The Association of American Railroads said, however, that "we do not contemplate any general embargo order now. It is up to the individual lines, which know their situations best, to take what action they may deem necessary in the acceptance of shipments."

Government agencies also said they would take no action toward any embargo unless ordered to do so by the White House.

Railroad sources here said, however, they expect to see shipments of perishables drop sharply within the next few days unless steps are taken to head off the strike.

The Southern Railway system, over the signature of its president, Ernest E. Norris, notified its employes that the southern plans "the fullest posisble reduction in forces in all departments, if and when the strike occurs." He explained that most employes won't be needed if the trains aren't running.

Although Norris said the strike "now seems certain," he expressed the hope it can be averted.

IN DRIVING

Season Not Open On Ex-Husbands

TULSA, Okla., May 5 (AP)—A woman charged with reckless driving was told today it made no difference that the automobile she is accused of hitting was driven by her former husband.

"I don't think the law makes any exception about running over ex-husbands," Common Pleas Judge Leslie W. Lisle said, "although I admit that sometimes they do get in the way."

The case was passed for trial next week.

Oleo Tax Showdown

delay the bill in the Agriculture committee "for months" and to call 100 witnesses to testify in opposition to the legislation, which would wipe out all taxes and license fees on oleomargarine.

Tax On Color Claimed

The bill, originally offered by Rep. Rivers (D-SC), was passed by the House last week by the thumping majority of 260 to 106.

Sen. Young (R-ND), an Agriculture committee member, asked supporters of the tax-repeal why they should object to a provision requiring that margarine "should be colored a little different shade from butter."

Sen. Thye, (R-Minn), insisted that the main tax of 10 cents per pound on colored oleo was "a tax on color and not on the food content."

He said the question at issue was whether margarine "should be camouflaged in color to deceive people in public eating places and to fool the eye at the dinner table."

He said "it will be utterly impossible to police" oleo if the tax on the colored product is removed.

Sen. Pepper (D-Fla.), denounced the oleo taxes as "levies on the food of the poor."

Ohio Election

won in a Democratic primary. Outcome of the races for 26 delegates to the Democratic national convention remained in doubt. Many will be settled in a run-off primary June 1.

Gov. James E. Folsom, native son candidate for the presidential nomination, was running behind in his race for delegate-at-large to the Democratic convention. In a field of 24 he was 11th, with only eight to be elected. He is anti-Truman but has said he would not bolt the convention.

Senator John J. Sparkman won renomination over four opponents. Rep. Carter Manasco was defeated for the renomination by Carl Elliott, World War II veteran.

Florida—Two other war veterans—Dan McCarty, citrus grower and cattleman, and Fuller Warren, lawyer—outran a field of nine for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, but will enter a run-off May 25.

A long ballot slowed the count for Democratic and Republican presidential delegates. Results may not be known until the end of the week. Democrats will have 20 votes and the Republicans 16 in their national conventions.

After Omaha, Mr. Truman will go to Seattle, arriving at the northwestern metropolis June 10. He will visit Olympia, capital of Washington, and spend at least one night with his friend and former Senate colleague, Gov. Mon C. Wallgren.

Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash.) said that the President also will visit the Hanford, Wash., atomic energy plant, Spokane and the Columbia river project at Pasco, Wash.

On June 11 Mr. Truman will stop at Portland, Ore., where the annual Rose festival will be held.

On the following day he will address commencement exercises at the University of California, in Berkeley.

Then the President will go to San Francisco for a Flag day ceremony sponsored by the Elks.

On June 14 Mr. Truman will move southward to Los Angeles for a luncheon engagement with a group of editors. The schedule calls for his departure from Los Angeles June 14 to return to Washington.

White House Secretary Charles G. Ross said that no plans have yet been made for stops on the homeward trip, and that Mr. Truman may return by plane.

Ross said that the international situation at the time will determine the President's schedule, and how he will travel.

Two Persons Injured In Crash Between Motorcycle And Car

Two persons were injured in a collision between an automobile and a motorcycle about 6 p. m. yesterday in the 2000 block of Eighteenth.

Claude N. Gray, of 2506 Third, and Betty Lou Lee, of Lubbock route 5, who were riding the motorcycle, were treated at Lubbock Memorial hospital for cuts and bruises. The driver of the car, Charles Anderson, of 2719 Walnut, was not injured. Both vehicles were badly damaged, police said.

Fines Levied In Several Cases

Penalties had been assessed yesterday on aggravated assault and drunk driving charges, and bond had been set in connection with a forgery charge.

Phillip Johnson, 31, a student, was fined $50 and county court costs Wednesday when he pleaded guilty of drunk driving.

He had pleaded innocent Monday and bond of $600, returnable May 11 for trial appearance, was set by Judge Walter Davies.

Fines Assessed

Johnson, at the same time the drunk driving charge was filed, was named in three other complaints, filed with C. E. Lynn, justice of peace: driving without an operator's license, speeding, and driving on the wrong side of the road. He pleaded guilty in all three and was fined a total of $66.45, including costs, Lynn's records showed.

Byron Jay Bryant, 35, of Merkel, pleaded guilty of aggravated assault and was fined $50 and county court costs. The complaint drawn by County Attorney John Steele upon oath of Joe B. Gipson, 22, of 2112 Tyler, charged that Bryant inflicted serious bodily injury upon Gipson with a knife. The affray happened early Wednesday morning at a dine and dance place on the Brownfield highway, the sheriff's department was informed. Both principals were treated at hospitals and dismissed afterward. Gipson suffered a cut left forearm.

Bond Is Set

Bond of $1,000 was set yesterday for LeHoma Thompson, 18, a college student of 1808 Ave. X, in binding him over for grand jury investigation of a forgery charge.

The complaint was filed in the justice court of D. W. Robertson, after it had been sworn to by Detective Capt. Pat Davidson before E. G. Pharr, assistant district attorney.

Thompson is accused of having passed a $27.50 check payable to Frank Hayes and signed "Eugen Folsom," April 14 to Haygood Office supply.

Pedro Alanis, 44, of Harlingen, pleaded guilty of a county court charge of aggravated assault on Concha Ayalla, a Latin-American woman, and was fined $25 and costs. He was arrested seven miles south and a mile and a half west of Lubbock by Deps. Sheriff Earl Horton and Tom Cannon.

Batteries were reported taken in a burglary of Lubbock Tire and Appliance company, at 1519 Ave. H.

Walter West and Pete Hubbard, police investigators, said entrance was at a side door, glass of which was smashed to allow intruders to reach in and unlatch it.

Carol Goode of 2401 Ave. G turned over to police a billfold containing the identification papers of a Dallas woman and $7.76 in money. He had found it.

Police said the public had supplied the license number of a hit-run car that struck a taxicab at 7 a. m. at Main and Ave. Q, and had three digits of a Dodge coupe that violated anti-honking ordinances at 1:48 a. m. in 2100-block Twenty-ninth. Both cars were being sought.

Police apprehended a suspect wanted in Fort Worth, and arrested two other men who were charged with drunkenness.

A man wanted by the constable at Fort Worth for theft over $5 was taken into custody in the 1600 block of Broadway by Patrolmen Lynn Campbell and A. C. Sherrell, city police reported.

At a local tourist court a man was arrested after he allegedly damaged another vehicle with his own car. He was charged with driving while intoxicated. Another man was also arrested at a tourist court, and was charged with drunkenness and carrying a prohibited weapon.

Congress Challenged

Commerce Harriman to produce the letter.

The committee, after receiving excerpts from the document, had termed Condon "one of the weakest links in our atomic security." Condon is director of the National Bureau of Standards, which operates under Commerce department jurisdiction.

The committee accused the scientist of "associations" with agents of Soviet Russia and its satellites.

Chairman Thomas, (R-N.J.), of the un-American Activities committee, has threatened to cite the secretary of commerce, now Charles Sawyer, for contempt of Congress if he does not hand over the letter.

Disclosure that the President now has the letter himself apparently makes Thomas' threat a hollow one and creates a situation in which the committee chairman's only recourse would be impeachment proceedings against the Chief Executive.

The House itself intends to take up next week a resolution, on which the Senate would also act, which would force the President to hand over the letter if both chambers re-pass the measure by two-thirds majorities over a certain veto.

The legislative log-jam which both parties are trying to break in time to adjourn for the presidential nominating conventions beginning June 12 would militate against passage, and re-passage, of such a resolution.

The nation's scientists have rallied to Condon, accusing the committee of "smearing" the scientist without giving him a chance to defend himself in open hearing.

Directors Elected At Final Session

Three new directors were elected at last night's final dinner meeting of the season for Lubbock Knife and Fork club at which Col. Jack Major of Paducah, Ky., was the featured speaker.

Elected were Mrs. Lila Lenning, Joe Bryant and Mrs. O. R. Hand. They fill vacancies caused by the death of S. Lamar Forrest, and expiring terms of Mrs. O. L. Byrd and Mrs. M. C. Overton, Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, club president, announced.

The speaker, billed as the "Man Who Makes You Laugh," did just that, according to reports. His subject was "Taxes, Women and Hogs." Col. Major was introduced by O. B. Ratliff.

Dr. Jackson presided at the session held in Hotel Lubbock with approximately 275 person attending.

plan, paying volunteers a bonus to join the armed forces.

Allen said his plan would build up manpower without the necessity of a draft. He heads the powerful House Rules committee that has kept a universal military training bill bottled up for nine months. (This bill, which was approved by the House Armed Services committee last year, calls for a long-range program of training teen age youths apart from the regular armed services.)

Allen launched his proposal at a news conference yesterday as a trial balloon. He said if reaction was favorable, he would press for passage of such a bill.

Allen's program, briefly, would pay $1,000 to men enlisting for two years, and $1,500 for those signing up for a three-year period. Or, if they preferred, they could take advantage of the educational loan and other benefits of the GI Bill of Rights.

VIOLENCE AGAIN BREAKS OUT AS TRUCE TALK FAILS

JERUSALEM, May 5. (AP)—Violence broke out briefly in Jerusalem tonight as efforts to engineer an Arab-Jewish truce in the Holy City apparently bogged down.

After a peaceful day throughout the city, the thunder and flash of mortar shells and grenades erupted in the Moslem Shiekh Jarrah quarter, a few blocks north of the old walled city.

It was not determined immediately what faction made the attack.

Fail To Effect Truce

Authoritative sources said a United Nations three-man truce commission returned from Jericho without having effected a truce in Jerusalem. The three—the Jerusalem consuls of the United States, France and Belgium—met three Arab league delegates hoping to bind them to an Arab promise of sparing the Holy City from further war. The sources said the consuls found that the Arab delegates were not empowered to make agreements.

It also was reported, however, that the UN commission would meet tomorrow with higher ranking Arabs and that a truce might result.

Windstorm Causes Damage To Two Towns Near Oklahoma City

OKEMAH, Okla., May 5. (AP)—A violent windstorm of near-tornado force hit Okemah and nearby Castle late this afternoon and cut communications with the rest of the state for more than one hour.

No deaths or injuries were reported from either community, but property damage was about $7,000, Mayor D. P. Dick of Okemah said.

The storm ripped off buildings, demolished two partly built homes and destroyed the Co-op corn shelter at Okemah.

Hail and rain added up to the extraordinary total of 2.64 inches in 75 minutes, Dick estimated.

Okemah is about 85 miles east of Oklahoma City. It is a farm center with a population of nearly 4,000.

American 'Buck' Now Will Buy Million Chinese Dollars

SHANGHAI, May 5. (AP)—If you had an American dollar in your pocket in China today you were a millionaire.

The Chinese national dollar, the worlds most watered currency, fell to the inflationary depth of 1,000,000 to $1 in the black market.

Most traders predicted the present rapid fall would continue. The Chinese dollar or yuan was at 900,000 to $1 yesterday.

Ever since the Chinese dollar began a steep dive last month traders had been waiting for it to level off. Always before it has had brief moments of recovery.

This time the fall has been nonstop.

Texas-New Mexico Oil Talks Scheduled

AUSTIN, May 5 (AP)—Production and drilling rules for an oil pool underlying Texas and New Mexico will be decided May 27 at a joint meeting of the oil regulatory bodies of the two states.

It will be the first such session of the agencies, a Texas Railroad commission source said.

In Texas the oil-producing area is known as the Scarbrough and North Scarbrough fields in Winkler county. In New Mexico, it is the Rhodes field, Lee county.

The Texas Railroad commission today announced the joint session with New Mexico's Oil Conservation commission at Santa Fe.

It was determined March 10 at a hearing on the application of the Ohio Oil company for a new field designation and field rules to govern operations on their Scarbrough estate lease, that production was from the same pool as the Rhodes field in New Mexico.

The Texas commission then asked and obtained agreements from New Mexico for the joint hearing to establish common regulations.

Marshall's Stand

the task of recovery."

Marshall blamed much of the world's trouble on what he called "serious misconceptions" in the minds of Russia's leaders.

"A fundamental task of the United Nations and of our foreign policy is to dispel the misconceptions of the Soviet leaders and to bring about a more realistic view of what is possible and what is impossible in the relationship between the Soviet Union and the West," he said.

Solons Urge Revision

Marshall's defense of the United Nations, with its admitted shortcomings, was in contrast with statements by some of the congressional revisionists that the UN is useless in its present form.

He described the world organization as "an open door to communication between the East and the West."

Laying aside his prepared statement, Marshall said there is "great fear" abroad that we may run into an impasse with Russia.

Soberly, he added:

"Then all the work we have done would disappear and leave the situation in Europe one of tragic despair. We do not wish to widen the gap with the Soviet Union. It would be a tragic misfortune to break off this (United Nations) relationship."

Most of the representatives and senators backing UN revision would have the big power veto sharply restricted and an international police force set up.

Apartment House Manager Turns Down Italian Title, Fortune

HOLLYWOOD, May 9. (U.P.)—A noble Italian title and fortune in vineyards and cash were turned down by Wilbur F. H. Radeline, Hollywood apartment house manager, because acceptance would mean loss of citizenship.

Radeline asserted that he'd rather be a $35 a week American apartment house manager than a wealthy foreign nobleman. Italian lawyers, who located him with difficulty, were flabbergasted. All Radeline had to do was go to Italy and inherit his wealth.

His father, a young Italian nobleman, met a young German-French girl on the ship that was bringing them both to America 50 years ago and they were married in Allentown, Pa. The father had to go back to his homeland and never returned.

Business Woman To Face All Of Snyder's Power In Tax Battle

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP) — Secretary Snyder said today the treasury will use "all resources" to see that Miss Vivien Kellems pays the government withholding taxes for the 100 employes of her Wesport, Conn., manufacturing plant.

Miss Kellems wrote Snyder last week that she considers it unconstitutional to require employers to collect withholding taxes and that she is "deliberately violating this law."

She added: "Please indict me."

Can Seize Property

Asked for comment, the treasury chief told a news conference:

"We have adequate legal authority for protecting the revenues of the government and are proceeding to exercise all the resources at our command. We are taking appropriate action—proper steps to protect the revenues of the government."

Asked if that meant Miss Kellem's "respectful request"to be indicted will be granted, Snyder that "it means what I said."

In the past, the bureau has seized and sold property of concerns delinquent in turning in taxes. Officials say the law also provides a blanket penalty of as much as five years in prison and a $5,000 fine for criminal violation of the revenue laws.

'Black Book' Seized In Vice Squad Raid On Hollywood House

HOLLYWOOD, May 5 (INS)—Police vice squads today raided a mansion near movieland's Sunset strip, arrested four persons and seized a "little black book" which officers said would "rock Hollywood to its foundations" if its contents were revealed.

Three pretty women and a male guest, who identified himself as film producer Benjamin Berk, 42, were arrested in the pre-dawn raid on the $65,000 mansion.

Police said that the "little black book" and the supplemental index file contained scores of names of film and radio celebrities and eastern business executives.

Raid Planned For Weeks

Amounts ranging from $10 to $50 were jotted down after the names.

Police Sergeant Charles Stoker of the vice detail said that the raid climaxed weeks of preparation. He declared:

"If the names in the book and the file were made public, it would rock Hollywood to its foundations."

Officers bashed in a four-inch solid oak door to gain entrance to the mansion, located within walking distance of Hollywood's famed Sunset strip.

Choice Liquors Available

They reported that the establishment was furnished luxuriously with choice champagnes and liquors in the refrigerators and the long private bar in the front room. Iron grills guarded all doors and windows.

Arrested besides Berk were Marie Mitchell, 30, who said she was the proprietor of the mansion; Carol Jones, 22, and Josephine Jarrett, 24.

All four were released on $500 bail.

Miss Mitchell, who sported a mink coat, boasted that it was her 19th arrest and she had yet to serve a day in jail.

HEALTH NEWS

STOMACH AILMENTS, WEAK KIDNEYS, RHEUMATIC PAINS, ARTHRITIS, NEURITIS
and such complaints as Headaches, Nervousness, Acids, Toxins, Bloating, Lack of Vitality, Energy, Poor Appetite Underweight, Dizzy Spells.

SIXTY years ago, Dr. Horne, a German scientist, discovered the source of GEO-MINERAL. In a remote spot in Mississippi, he found that in several small areas, about fifteen feet below the ground surface, was a layer of mineral bearing clay. He also learned that for years, first the Indians and then the people living in this section had been using minerals extracted from this clay for many medicinal purposes. He heard many stories from people who had been relieved of various ailments by drinking a solution of minerals extracted from this clay. The scientist opened a mine there, and ever since, the fame of this natural mineral medicine has spread throughout the wide continent.

Drugless Health!

REGARDLESS of how long you have been sick, and how many medicines you tried before, you can now hope for relief if you try GEO-MINERAL. Your trouble may be mineral-iron deficiency. Lack of minerals makes your blood weak, your resistance low — run down. Simple anemia, headaches, nervousness, gas, toxins, indigestion, and other symptoms may be present. Arthritis and rheumatic pains also may develop. GEO-MINERAL helps to enrich your blood, and make you strong, full of pep, life and energy.

HIPOCRATES was the father of medicine. Ever since his time, minerals and other natural medicines were a reliable remedy for most of our common ailments. Doctors today use minerals as basic material in many of their prescriptions. GEO-MINERAL contains minerals found in the world's best springs. Watch the results a day or two after using it. The housecleaning it will do in your body, the poisons it will bring out. When you see this, do not get alarmed—thank Nature who created GEO-MINERAL as a sign that the medicine is working on you, and realize its priceless value.

Wonder Minerals

RHEUMATISM, arthritis are dreadful diseases. Acid condition in the blood is often their cause. What could be the remedy? For thousands of years, minerals have been used to relieve the pain and suffering of these ills. People, on the advice of doctors, go to mineral springs to find cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgia. He was helped or would not have gone there regularly twice a year.

YEAR after year, people rush to mineral springs and spas, to drink and bathe in their miraculous water. We have all heard of the wondrous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thronion in ancient Greece where, according to legend Hercules, the god of eternal youth and strength, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

Rich Red Blood

MEDICAL records show 68% of men and women over 35 suffer from nutritional iron anemia. When you feel nervous, dull, lazy, have dizzy spells, no ambition to work or play, a poor appetite, feel blue, when your eyes lack that bright spark, and your mind brilliance, when headaches get the best of you, and you feel old before your time, and when life seems not worth living — it may be simply lack of minerals in your blood. Geo-Mineral then is what you need.

GEO-MINERAL is not a physic, and does not interfere with the foods in your stomach. It is a mineral-iron supplement and adds rich red blood, helps to build you up and assists your system to throw away poisons. When the poisons are out of your system, you begin to feel a new life, as Nature starts to complete the recovery.

100% Guaranteed!

WE urge everyone to try GEO-MINERAL. Do not hesitate one moment. Go to your drug store now. Get one bottle. Use it one week. If you are not satisfied, your money will be refunded in full.

TRY it today—it may do wonders for you, and be the best investment for your health. Make you feel, eat, sleep, work and enjoy life better.

SHOW Geo-Mineral to your doctor and let him tell you, after he reads the formula on the label, about its merit. GEO-MINERAL contains NO alcohol, NO preservatives, NO oil, NO harmful drugs, NO dope—is NOT habit forming. Contains ONLY Natural mineral ingredients highly recommended by the medical profession.

Read What They Say!

Pharmacists, like doctors, know medicine best. Thousands of druggists of high reputation, who now sell Geo-Mineral, report amazing results by its users.

"We not only sell Geo-Mineral"—says G. A. Littlefield, Manager of Smith's Drug Store, Gastonia, N. C.—"but as pharmacists, we know good medicine, and we believe there is none better than Geo-Mineral as a supplement for mineral deficiency. Doctors, hospitals, sanatoriums know the value of natural minerals. We are not surprised at the many users who came back to buy more and told us stories of amazing benefit. We recommend it to our friends, relatives, and beloved ones, and to every one wishing for better health."

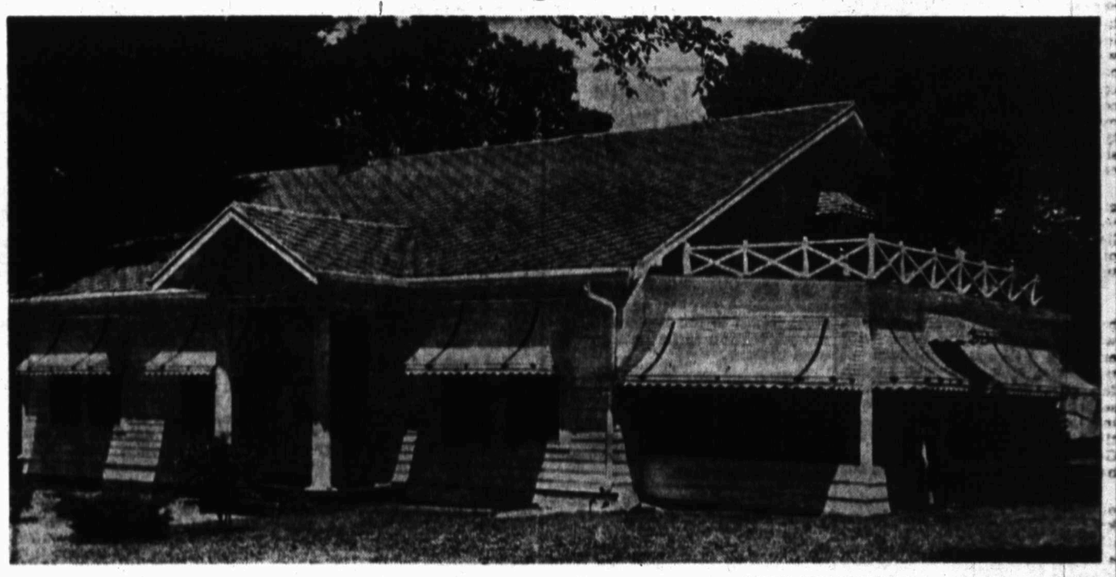

"We wish to state that after selling Geo-Mineral for eight months, this product has broken all sales records in the medicine line in our drug store"—reports Jack Wright, owner of Economy Drug Co., Anderson, S. C. "Users report almost miraculous results, helping sufferers with rheumatism, arthritis, weak kidneys, and various stomach ailments. We believe that there exist very few items on the druggists' shelf with the merit of this natural mineral medicine. Of thousands of bottles sold on guarantee basis, there have been very few refunds made."

"We have sold Geo-Mineral for the last six months and it has been one of the best selling drug items we have ever handled"—say Porter Bros., pharmacists of Concord, N. C. "Users report amazing results in many instances, and we personally believe Geo-Mineral is a good medicine for purposes as indicated, and recommend it to sufferers who have tried other medicines with little if any results. They may discover that Geo-Mineral is what they have probably been needing and looking for — we unhesitatingly recommend it."

National Guard Gives New Inducements

Seeking to interest more eligibles in National Guard membership, a list of inducements as provided under the present law, was cited yesterday by Lt. S. K. Flatt of the local Guard unit, following its release by Adjutant General K. L. Berry.

Lt. Flatt also stressed the weekly meetings of the local unit, each Monday night at the base, with outbound pickups as follows: at courthouse 7:10, American Legion hall 7:15, Broadway and Ave. Q 7:20, Broadway and College Ave., 7:30, and Green Acres at 7:40, allowing time to reach the base for the 8 o'clock meeting.

Among inducements offered for Guard membership are:

Longevity pay for armory training as well as for summer training; longevity pay in federal army, navy, marine and coast guard service; exemption from service (not registration) under universal military training bill as now written; exemption from registration and service under selective service as the bill now is written; eligibility for retirement pay under the proposed non-disability bill.

Prospective members are warned that in order to have advantage of any such exemption, he must be a member when the legislation is passed. Otherwise he will be subject to removal from the reservist component and called for immediate service.

Seminole Doctor Is Delegate To National Medical Meeting

SEMINOLE, May 5 (Special)—Dr. Andrew S. Tomb, owner of the Andrew S. Tomb clinic-hospital in Seminole, returned Friday from Houston, where he attended the annual meeting of the Texas State Medical association as delegate from Dawson, Lynn, Terry, Yoakum and Gaines counties.

At the convention, Dr. Tombs was selected as place one delegate from Texas to the National Medical convention to be held in Chicago in June.

During his stay in Houston, Dr. Tombs also attended the organization meeting of the Texas Chapter of the American Academy of General Practice, an organization with about 300 members in Texas at the present time.

Hollywood Movie Specialists Leave For London As European Film Output Booms

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, May 5 — For my money, Rita Hend, the step-daughter of Mervyn Leroy, is one of the most beautiful girls in Hollywood, but, frankly, I didn't know she was interested in a screen career until MGM signed her. Not for one movie, mind you, but for two.

The first is "Words and Music" with literally every musical star on the lot in the lineup and the second is "Neptune's Daughter" coming up with Esther Williams.

Wouldn't it be the irony of fate if Rita gets well started on a career and then decides to give it up to marry Robert Sterling? These two are inseparable and everyone expects wedding bells to ring for them when Ann Sothern's divorce is final.

Jack Warner thinks he has a real bet in Edmund O'Brien, whom he signed on a long term contract—and I am inclined to agree with Jack. I was on the set of "Another Part of the Forest" and watched O'Brien work. He gave Freddie March some real competition. Moreover, he did an outstanding job in "The Killers" with Burt Lancaster. So far, there is no story ready at Warners, but there will be soon.

On the romantic side, Eddie and Olga San Juan will marry as soon as they can find a house.

Lady Elsie Mendle was supposed to sail on the Mauretania today for France. I have a dictated letter from her, saying that she had had a very serious heart attack, and was not out of bed for seven days. She said she was praying that she would be able to leave.

Elsie is one of those rare people who always writes in long hand, and I knew as soon as I saw the typewritten letter, that something was wrong.

Steve Cochran telephoned a few days ago to ask me if Fay McKenzie is divorcing him. How should I know?

He said that he and Fay had decided not to get a divorce when he left New York, but since he arrived in Hollywood someone printed that she was divorcing him.

"We're good friends," he said, "even though we can't get along and are separated."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The two happiest men in town are Walter Kane and Barry Brannen. They got five per cent of the Hughes-Odlum deal, which ain't hay—it is $285,000 to be exact!

Kenny Delmar is now a proud papa of a boy, born May 3.

Ed "Archie" Gardner, who never has worked in a Broadway theater in his life (seems incredible) opens at the New York Strand in June.

Who was that gorgeous blonde with Antonio Moreno at the Kings at dinner the other eve?

Nora Eddington Flynn is going to look soooo beautiful in New York with those new clothes and those nine hats Rex designed for her. She never wears hats in Hollywood—why should she with that red hair!

Irene Hervey is flying back from London next week with her two children. Alan Jones remains to make further personals. I understand he is doing wonderfully.

Arlene Dahl was the doll who attracted the most attention at Otto Preminger's party. That gal, at the moment, has more admirers than any other young actress.

Otto leaves later this month for London, and it was sort of a farewell. Joan Crawford, the Jerry Walds, Joseph Schenck, and the Mervyn Leroys were among those who accepted the famed Preminger hospitality.

Mrs. Howard Tierney, Gene's sister-in-law, is expecting a baby. This will make Gene an aunt three times, as her sister, and Mrs. Ignor Cassini, her sister-in-law, also are on the stork's calling list.

Several Cases Of Measles In Lubbock But No Epidemic Seen

A concensus of opinion taken from reports of several children's physicians today indicated that while there are several cases of measles in Lubbock, there was no reason to believe that the condition had reached an epidemic stage.

One physician stated the increase in cases of German, or red, measles, is a cyclical occurrence, usually reaching its peak in April and the early part of May, and that the number of cases can reasonably be expected to decline in the near future.

Two of the physicians expressed regret that measles are no longer classified as a quarantinable disease in Texas, and stated that the increase often may be traced to contagion from another youngster at school or at the movies.

Council Orders Halt To Houston Gambling

HOUSTON, May 5 (U.P.)—Open gambling exists in Houston and should be stopped immediately, councilman Edwin Bailey declared today before city council.

However, his motion to call upon Police Chief B. W. Payne to halt gambling was defeated six to three.

The motion directed Mayor Oscar Holcombe to call upon the chief for action and to order officers to remove marble machines punch boards, dice games, race horse betting, betting operators, as well as open betting.

Mayor Holcombe said the motion was "a blanket indictment" of the police department.

The mayor differed with Bailey on charges of open gambling. He denied the charge and said he believed the police department was "doing an excellent job."

Meanwhile, District Judge Frank Williford told newsmen on Monday that he received an anonymous letter listing five places which allegedly were "running wide open."

The herring is the most numerous food fish in the United States a one-house body.

Baptist Minister Files Libel Suit Against Publishing Firm

CHICAGO, May 5 (AP)—The Rev. Frank Norris, Baptist minister of Fort Worth, and Detroit, Mich., today sued Time, Inc., publishers of Time magazine, for $20,000 damages.

The suit, filed in U. S. District court, alleges Mr. Norris was libeled in the May 19, 1947 issue of Time magazine. The suit was based on the magazine's account of proceedings at a Baptist church assembly in St. Louis on May 6, 1947, in which the minister participated.

Mr. Norris is pastor of both the First Baptist church of Fort Worth and the Temple Baptist church of Detroit.

Supreme Court To Decide Poll Tax Exemption Case

Thousands Claimed Facing Loss Of Vote In Texas Under Ruling

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, May 5—An election contest directly involving only 45 votes, but which may bar thousands of Texas old folk from balloting this year, was before the Supreme court today.

Up for review was a judgment of the Eastland court of civil appeals holding that persons over 60 in towns of 10,000 or more must obtain annual poll tax exemption certificates before Feb. 1 of each year to qualify as voters.

Claim Is Challenged

Attorney General Price Daniel told the court that if it upheld the Eastland decision, thousands of voters would be deprived of the ballot. He was joined in this by County Attorney George T. Thomas of Big Spring, where the case originated, and by District Attorney William N. Hensley of San Antonio.

Thomas J. Coffee of Big Spring, attorney for those who had questioned the right of 45 voters to participate in a tax increase election because they had not obtained annual exemption certificates, challenged this claim.

"How do they know how many persons will be disfranchised?" Coffee asked the court.

"This record reflects only one election. I don't like to have our case hinge on sympathy for voters elsewhere who may be disfranchised because of it."

Here's the background:

The 49th legislature amended the exemption certificate law to provide that persons over 60 shall renew their permanent exemption certificates annually, if they live in cities of 10,000 or more. The annual renewal angle was not in the law before.

Sellers Rules Law Invalid

Then-Attorney-General Grover Sellers ruled that the law in effect was invalid because it provided no penalty for violation.

Subsequently county tax assessor-collectors and election officials have generally followed his ruling in the absence of any court opinion on the subject.

Another session of the legislature followed, and no changes were made in the law.

Then the tax raising election was held in a Howard county independent school district. It was contested on grounds that 45 persons over 60 had voted without obtaining a renewal. The trial court upheld the contest.

Then in January of this year, a few days before the deadline for paying poll taxes, the Eastland court of civil appeals upheld the trial court.

Three hundred thousand children in Puerto Rico are growing up illiterate because of a lack of teachers and schools.

Group Leaves For Austin Contests Today

Lubbock Students To Enter State Contests

Eleven track and field hopefuls and six literary aspirants from Lubbock Senior High school were to leave Lubbock at 6:30 a.m. today to complete the list of 21 Westerners journeying to Austin to compete in Texas Interscholastic League finals to be held this weekend. The Lubbock High school one-act play cast left Wednesday morning for Austin.

Lubbock will send a strong group of hopefuls to the Austin meet this year. The Westerners amassed 53½ points to cop first place honors in Conference AA division of the Region 1 Interscholastic track and field meet held at the Texas Tech oval on April 24. In literary events, Lubbock High entries won four first places and walked away with top honors in the Region 1 Class AA one-act play competition.

Teachers Accompany Group

With the students who left this morning were J. W. Reid, debate coach, Marlin R. Hayhurst, track coach, and Mrs. Dick Cozby, director of publications, who is attending the meet as state chairman of the Texas Association of State Journalism directors. She will attend the Interscholastic League Press conference to be held Friday and Saturday.

Literary entrants who left this morning were J. A. White and Dan Davis, boys' debate; Wanda B. Smith, girls' extemporaneous speech; Shelley Furr, typing; Jack Alderson and Coleen Baldwin, number sense.

White and Davis, coached by Reid, won the right to the Austin trip by topping other Region 1 debaters on the subject, "Compulsory Arbitration of Labor Disputes in Basic Industries." For the past six years Reid has sent a team of boys to state in debate, and for the past 13 years his teams—always boys and occasionally girls—have come out as winners in the district Interscholastic league contest. Under new arrangements in Interscholastic league debate rules there will be only five teams of boys competing in each division at Austin this year.

Cast Is Named

The cast of "Thursday Evening," Lubbock's one-act regional winner, includes Bert Nelson, Aletha McCasland, Nancy Davis and Jo Simmons. The play, which is the first Lubbock High school has ever sent to Austin, is under the direction of D. M. Howell, who accompanied the group. Bert Nelson was named No. 1 boy on the Region 1 all-star play cast, and Aletha McCasland was chosen second place feminine performer.

Crosby Negro's Appeal Heard

Appeal of George Holland, 33-year-old Crosby county negro, from a death conviction for the Aug. 2 slaying of Sheriff J. J. Pierce of Crosbyton, was submitted Wednesday to the Court of Criminal appeals in Austin on brief and oral argument.

District Attorney Lloyd Croslin of the 72nd Judicial district was in Austin to argue the case for the state. Bryan B. Dillard and A. C. Cooke, of the firm of Dillard, Cooke and Dillard, were in Austin representing the defense.

New Trial Overruled

Holland's case was transferred to Lubbock county for Sept. 15 and 16 trial in the 72nd district of Judge Dan Blair.

New trial motions were overruled by Judge Blair.

The defendant appealed on four bills of exception, all of which were controverted by the state in a brief filed by Croslin and his assistant, E. G. Pharr. The defense bills were: 1. That the trail court erred in overruling a defense motion to squash the indictment voted Aug. 8 in Crosby county; 2. The court erred in overruling a defense motion of continuance and a "supplemental motion for continuance;" 3. The state failed to prove commission of the offense alleged in the indictment as having happened in Texas; 4. The court erred in overruling the second amended motion for a new trial.

The state answered that the bills of exception were not properly before the court inasmuch as: 1 They were not duly filed—having been "offered 65 days after the date of an order overruling the motion for a new trial"; 2. They were not in proper form—they were in question and answer form, which cannot be considered without a certificate of the trial court showing necessity for such composition.

The state pointed out in asking that the conviction stand that question and answer proceedings in defendant's bill number 4 alone ran 233 pages.

RAINFALL FAR BELOW NORMAL

Serious Drop In Water Stored Over State Noted By Board

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 5—The State Water board today reported an increasingly serious drop in storage, with some reservoirs dry and others drying up for lack of rain.

Texas rainfall averaged generally less than half of normal in April, the board said.

This had a resulting serious effect on surface run-off and water storage. The water board's summary was based on records supplied by the United States Geological survey.

Reservoir Total Drops

Water stored in Buchanan lake and Lake Travis on the Colorado was 25 percent under storage at this time last year and two-thirds of normal. Lake Dallas, Eagle mountain and Bridgeport lakes were six percent under a year ago.

Possum Kingdom reservoir on the Brazos has been steadily falling since December. It shows a 15 percent decrease.

Medina reservoir near San Antonio was dry and Red Bluff reservoir on the Pecos was practically dry. It held only 12,000 acre feet of water compared with 33,000 on April 1.

"As April was the first month of the irrigation season when water is used extensively it can be seen that Red Bluff reservoir will be of little use to the irrigators this season unless more run-off occurs," the water board said. "A very small percent of the 50,000 acres below this project would receive water under present conditions except that considerable water is being pumped from the shallow wells along the Pecos river to supplement the normal low flow of the stream."

Runoff of the Neches river in East Texas indicated nearly normal rainfall for that section, the water board said.

Local Railroad Man To Assume Duties In Houston Next Week

W. M. Mullen, of 3804 Ave. V local railroad man, has been transferred to Houston and will leave next week to begin duties there. For the past two and one-half years Mullen has been traveling freight and passenger agent for the Fort Worth and Denver railroad here.

Mullen will hold a similar position with the company at Houston. His family will remain in Lubbock until living quarters can be secured in the South Texas city.

EVERYTHING SET FOR SHOW

Four Performances To Be Given By Famed Gainesville Circus

Offering a two-hour program in three rings under its own big top that seats 3,000 people, the Gainesville Community circus is to open a two-day stand of four performances here tomorrow, with a wide variety of circus acts that are performed by amateurs, but are in no sense amateurish.

The only show of its kind in the world, because it is wholly non-professional and non-profit, the Gainesville circus has gained wide renown, although it has never appeared outside of Texas and Oklahoma.

Except for hometown appearances, the circus this year is to play only ten engagements, all of them in the two states, and because all of its personnel are Gainesville citizens in normal business pursuits, only a few overnight engagements are accepted.

Non-Profit Setup

A non-profit organization, none of the performers draw financial remuneration for their time and efforts. Money derived is spent for additional equipment to enlarge and better the show, and for operation expenses.

Performers and all other personnel are Gainesville citizens who in every-day life are lawyers, doctors, business men, clerks, housewives, soda dispensers, school teachers, delivery boys, students, etc.

The program of 100 feature acts includes acrobats, aerialists, tight wire performers, trained horses, ponies, dogs and monkeys, and about 50 clowns.

Has Wide Acclaim

The circus idea sprung up in the spring of 1930 as an extra-activity of a Little Theater group, which in the early 30s needed financial assistance. Its first performance proved so popular with performers and spectators alike that is was repeated the next year and made its first out-of-town appearance at Denton where two capacity crowds acclaimed it.

Since then outstanding success has met its 235 performances witnessed by more than a half million people in the Southwest. For example, at the Will Rogers Memorial Colliseum at Fort Worth, 52,250 people saw three performances. At Houston the circus appeared under Shrine auspices and showed to 30,000 people, and at College Station every one of Texas' 254 counties were represented in an audience of 11,000 at a performance given during an annual farmer's Short course.

Due to home town ties and business operations, the circus was forced to turn down an offer by Billy Rose, world famous showman, for an all-season engagement at Fort Worth's Frontier celebration, and another by the William Morris agency in New York which wanted the troupe for a summer showing at Atlantic City.

The circus, sponsored here by the Lubbock Women's club and the Lions club, will set up at the Panhandle South Plains Fair grounds for afternoon and night performances Friday and Saturday. Matinee time is 2:30 o'clock, and night performances start at 8 o'clock.

Tickets are on sale in booths in the lobby of the Hilton hotel downtown, and at the Varsity Book store on College avenue.

Couple Volunteer As Parents To Dead GI

HOUSTON, May 5 (U.P.) — A marine sergeant, orphaned three years before he died a hero on Guam, was buried today with two persons who volunteered to be his parents standing by his grave.

"I know what it means to be alone in death," said Mrs. A. E. Mahan.

Mrs. Mahan was a nurse at New London when hundreds of school children were killed in the explosion, and she was on hand during the Texas City disaster of last year.

A wreath on the casket of Sgt. Richard E. Vervalin bore a card which read: "From Father and Mother." The wreath was from Mrs. Mahan and her husband.

Sergeant Vervalin was orphaned when his parents died three years before he was killed on Guam in 1944.

When she was asked why she and her husband volunteered as proxy parents, Mrs. Mahan said:

"We needed no reason. That boy simply could not be buried alone.

"My husband and I felt some one should come forward for Sergeant Vervalin and when no one did, we volunteered.

"It is a great privilege and an honor."

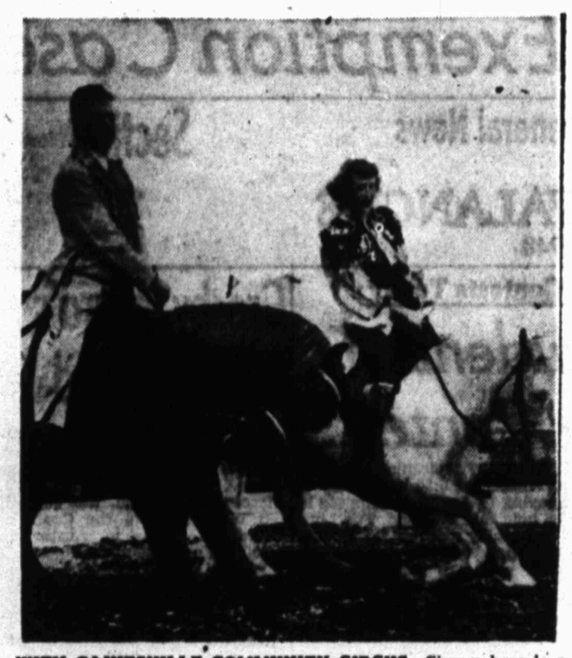

Texas Cotton Ginned In 1947 Twice That Of Previous Year

This compared with 8,517,291 bales for the 1946 crop.

Ginning by states for the 1947 and 1946 crops, respectively, included: Texas 3,309,073 and 1,635,178.

FORT WORTH, May 5 (AP)—H. Frank Hoyt of Amarillo was elected president of the Tax Assessor-Collector's Association of Texas and Houston chosen as the 1949 convention city at the closing session here Wednesday morning of the organization's annual session.

Hoyt, who was first vice president, was elected by acclamation and succeeded Ralph T. Agar of Brownsville. J. H. (Obie) Oberndorfer of Galveston, who was second president, was elected to succeed Hoyt.

Robert Dean of Sherman was named vice-president and George F. McUllar of Kingsville was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Lufkin Man Advanced By Knights Templar

DALLAS, May 5 (AP)—Thomas J. Melton of Lufkin was advanced to grand commander of Texas Knights Templar today at the close of their 95th annual conclave here. He succeeds Vance K. Miller of Dallas.

Melton and all other elective officers stepped up two ranks because of the death last night of S. Van Wie of San Antonio, who had been in line for the grand commandership. R. B. Cowden of Midland became deputy grand commander.

Two men entered the foot of the line of succession, William L. Brown of Amarillo as grand warder and James M. Pugh of Beaumont as grand captain of the guard.

The 1949 conclave will be held at Beaumont, opening April 24.

Coke County Gets Second New Oil Field As Result Of Test

ROBERT LEE, May 5 (U.P.)—Coke county got its second new oil field within recent months today as result of a drillstem test on a wildcat 10 miles southeast of here showed the well flowing an estimated 15-20 barrels of oil hourly from 6,184-6,200 feet in the Ellenburger section.

The well, the No. 1 Reed, a joint operation of Seabord of Dallas and Southern Minerals, inc., of Corpus Christi, is in the southeast corner of the county, on the opposite side from Sun's new field in the upper Strawn and Marble Falls producing horizons.

Operators were reported undecided today on whether to set casing at the present depth or deepen the hole.

Texas Plains Suffering From Critical Drouth Conditions

AUSTIN, May 5 (U.P.)—The U. S. Department of Agriculture reported today that wheat is suffering over most of northwest Texas and the High Plains area from a drouth reaching "critical proportions."

Some fields were being grazed off or plowed up to be reseeded to summer row crops, the USDA said.

The main exceptions to the drouth were a few northeast Panhandle counties, the department added, which had enough moisture for present needs.

Plains Condition Critical

Generally, growing crops showed "some improvement" in the eastern two-thirds of Texas, but soil moisture was "critically short" in the high Plains, low rolling Plains, trans-Pecos and western counties of the Edwards plateau.

The agriculture department said high temperatures were rapidly evaporating surface moisture. Field work was speeded up in the past week in the east and south, but fell behind in dry western areas.

Corn was in "good to excellent" condition over most of the southern and eastern areas, and early corn in southern counties had reached the tasseling stage, the USDA said.

Early-planted cotton was growing satisfactorily in south-central and southeastern counties, and cotton in the extreme south was developing rapidly with some blooms reported.

Eastern Area Improved

The Agriculture department added that cantaloups, cucumbers, potatoes, tomatoes and watermelons in all southern counties made "fast growth."

Most spring-crop commercial vegetables showed a "material" improvement in the past week, the USDA reported. Range and pasture feed improved over the state's eastern two-thirds.

Last week's crop progress was due to rains the preceding week.

But last week was a hot, dry period, as Laredo reported the high temperature of the week, 110 degrees. The wettest point in the state, for the week ending May 3, in fact, was Dallas with .1 of an inch of rain.

Lost Mine Hunter Goes To Hollywood With Tale Of Gold

By RUTH BRIGHAM
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, May 5 — Treasure hunter Barry Storm was in Hollywood today with a tale of $20 million in hidden gold in the Superstition mountains of Arizona.

But Storm privately admitted that he has found his own particular treasure at the typewriter instead of in the hidden trails he knows so well.

The young bachelor has just sold his fabulous story of America's lost gold mines to Columbia pictures for a neat sum, and he's on the scene to assist in directing its conversion to technicolor.

News Story Started Quest

Storm wandered on the luring gold trail quite a few years ago when he became interested in a news story he was writing about the rumored re-discovery of a mine. He remained to investigate himself.

Today he is recognized as an authority—as well as one can be an authority on something yet undiscovered—on hidden treasure in the west.

Storm takes a small boy's delight in those signs of the treasure which he occasionally stumbles upon in the land of the Apaches and Navajos.

He has learned the meaning of cabalistic symbols, which he says lie on rocks and trees to lead to waiting fortunes.

Seeks Lost Spanish Mines

He is particularly interested in the eight lost Spanish mines in the Superstition mountains near Phoenix.

The mines were opened by three Spanish brothers in 1846. Two of the brothers—and 68 of the men who were helping work the mine—were killed by the Apaches.

Men have died—and Storm offers proof—as they attempted to penetrate the secrets of the mountain, usually to no avail.

In 1940 one mine was found and yielded $87,000 until it ran out.

Storm—a bachelor, we repeat—maintains quite a civilized establishment in Phoenix, where he enjoys music, books, and whatever else men enjoy while living alone.

But the majority of the time he spends wandering in mountain paths known only to the Indians, hoping, one day, to discover their secret.

Knowing Hollywood press agents, it wouldn't surprise us a bit if he didn't discover the treasure about the time Columbia releases the movie.

FIREMEN FIGHT REFINERY BLAZE—Firemen play hoses on a fire at a Rosslyn oil refinery on the Potomac River bluffs near Arlington, Va. For two and one half hours flames shot 40 to 50 feet in the air as oil gushed out of a valve at the base of a 20,000 gallon tank. Volunteer Fire Chief William R. Biggs finally hammered the valve shut with a heavy lead bar. (AP Wirephoto).

Court Overrules Appeal In Death Sentence Of McCaine

AUSTIN, May 5 (AP) — The Court of Criminal appeals today overruled Riley McCaine's motion for rehearing of a case in which he received the death sentence on conviction of murdering Elnora Collins of Houston.

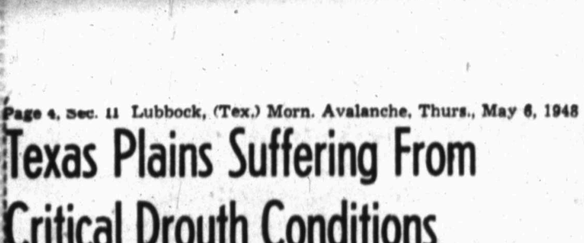

McCaine renewed his argument that trial of the case should have been held in Harris county instead of Jefferson county.

The nude body of the murdered woman was found, partly burned, in a wooded thicket near Beaumont Oct. 3, 1945. McCaine was arrested in Seattle, Wash., in April, 1947.

He argued there was no evidence the slaying had been committed in Jefferson county.

The appeals court refused to recognize this contention and also overruled the objection that McCaine's written confession should not have been admitted in evidence when it was not prepared as provided by statute.

TRAVELER SITS AND WORRIES

Starting Plane Flight Can Be Harrowing Mental Experience

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

EN ROUTE TO MEXICO CITY, May 5—Taking off in an airplane, even one the size of this American Airlines DC-6, always gives me the same emotion that I get immediately after dropping a letter in a mailbox.

You keep wondering whether you put a stamp or address on the thing, you remember all the things you forgot to say, and you wonder how it will get there. You always wish you had taken one more look.

Right now I'm wondering whether the bags got on the plane and feel reasonably certain that my toothbrush, razor and shaving cream have been neatly packed by my wife in someplace where I won't find them for days, and that I accidentally brought along yellow and red golf sox to go with the tuxedo.

Mail Goes Unanswered

The odds are something like Citation's at least, that I didn't bring along cuff-links or a collar button, and what happened to that little note from Doc Weinroth solemnly stating that he had jabbed some anti-smallpox juice in my right arm?

And there was all the mail I should have answered before leaving, including some left over from 1947. Can't answer it from Mexico. At least I can't very well drop a chatty note to George Carr manager of the bank. Mr. Carr would take one look at the postal mark and—though he is a fine gentleman without a trace of suspicion in either eye—would necessarily have to start worrying, or looking up the extradition laws.

Two unanswered letters especially should have been attended to, for the writers of them are pretty sure they can lead the Atomic Energy commission t o great caches of uranium. Seems I had a piece recently, telling about the $10,000 award offered by the AEC for such discoveries.

Letters Are Ousted

Anyway, David Sturgis, of the Santa Monica (Calif.) Ambassador Hotel, wants to get in touch with Mr. Lilienthal immediately. He says in his letters, "Where there is gold there is uranium. I'll guide them to their uranium objective. Sun—gold; uranus-uranium. Two planets interact—two elements interact. Second gold rush; first uranium rush. Ahead!"

See?

And a lady in Nowata, Okla., comes forward with a letter which will have Mr. Lilienthal calling up either Prof. Einstein or the keeper of the Rosetta stone, or both:

"I believe I have discovered a cache. While I was still in the United States (B) I made a discovery of something hidden under a pile of letters, probably to have been written by King Comus. I sent the letters to the University in Oklahoma to have them analyzed. But they were so old the university answer said no such words. So you can see they must of been in use about the time when Julius Caesar was king.

"What I found beneath those letters blended perfectly—one of the elements used in making the atomic bomb. It was a swastika. The bomb's got four beasts in it. If one ever exploded it would frighten the people. They would run hither and yon trying to keep out of the way of the four beasts. I've seen their tracks in many cities. That's why I'm entering the contest."

Plane Seats Too Close

Well, now that we've got our uranium problem licked, let us pass on (or out) to the flight at hand.

The gent in front of me is fiddling around with the button that will soon lower the back-rest of his seat into my lap. My lap just wasn't taken into consideration by the Wrights when they invented this interesting means of travel. Either that or planes (as well as trains, movie houses and burlesque shows) should give the people a break by removing every other row of seats.

(Timber! Here he comes, flattening out the top of my typewriter and driving the button of it into my knees. His head now rests comfortably on the back of his seat, which in turn is on my lap. This will offer me a commanding view of his open mouth through the night, which means that I won't have to drop my cigaret ashes on C. R. Smith's nice rugs.

So off we go, into the wide dark yonder, and as the engines put me to sleep I have only one regret, that the only sentence I learned in Spanish was "Hark! Someone has shot the postillion." How far can a fellow get on that with those Mexican babes?

GEN. EISENHOWER MEETS NEIGHBOR—General and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower are greeted by nine-year-old, David Syrett, at their new home in New York. The General was "mustered out" at Ft. Water Conference

PLANS announced in Amarillo this week for an early meeting to urge construction of a Canadian river dam near there demand alertness in Lubbock. Sponsors of the proposed gathering say such a dam would impound enough water to guarantee a population of more than 250,000 for Amarillo.

Just who may be invited to the meeting was not stated, but Lubbock was not on the announced list of areas which may be asked to send representation. This may have been oversight. It could reflect a desire to exclude Lubbock from the cities which might want water from a Canadian river reservoir. If Amarillo can obtain an abundant water supply and Lubbock cannot, the Amarillo—not Lubbock—almost certainly would become the great city of Northwest Texas. Lubbock would have to become reconciled to the position of being just another good-sized town, second in all things to Amarillo.

No one knows positively whether Lubbock might want and need water from the Canadian. No one knows whether such water, if available, would be suitable for human use. The mineral content probably would be very high. But Lubbock cannot, without risking its future, overlook the possibility that the Canadian might offer the permanent solution of our water problems.

AS to the abundance of the water which might be impounded by a dam near Amarillo, apparently there is no doubt. U. S. engineers' measurements, for several years have shown an annual flow in the Canadian at that point of about 550,000 acre feet, or about 200 billion gallons. This is more than 20 times as much water as Lubbock and Amarillo combined now use. The quantity indicates it would be satisfactory for human consumption.

But, to have the best chance of obtaining a share of water from this source, Lubbock must get in on the ground floor of any development undertaken. No matter how much water might be impounded, the demand will be far greater than the supply. The method of distribution almost certainly will be decided long before any work is started on a dam. The city which put in its bid late is likely to be left high and dry.

Lubbock simply cannot take any chances in matters of this kind. It cannot overlook any possibility connected with the water supply this city must have sooner or later if growth is to continue here.

THE Canadian river may or may not be the final answer to the problem. But until there is proof to the contrary, Lubbock should assume that it will have to go to that stream eventually for its supply. It must not allow itself to be excluded from any movement which looks to the development of that source. It must insist upon an active part in such planning, regardless of anyone who might undertake to ignore Lubbock's vital stake in such matters.

Lubbock must insist on representation at all meetings like that planned in Amarillo even though our participation might be unwelcome.

XXIX

ANN had a lot of time for thought during the days she spent in her room. Carefully, cases against each of them.

So far as she could see her death would accomplish only one thing that might affect Gay. Ann's death would leave Rush a widower.

Lying there, in her darkened bedroom, Ann tried to believe that Gay was in love with Rush. Recklessly and passionately in love with him because certainly it would require both recklessness and passion to murder for that love.

She tried to imagine their being in love with each other. Rush and Gay. They'd worked together for a long time—17 months, hadn't Laurie told Rinda?

But during those 17 months everything had gone on as usual. She and Rush had been very happy; so had Gay. She'd gone off to Cleveland on her dates, or to Akron, sometimes just down to the village. She'd turned down their invitations more often than she'd accepted them; would she have done that if she was in love with Rush?

And on the other side of the ledger was the fact that Gay had suggested that they try to reach Mr. Stark; she had suggested it in the face of open disapproval from Rush and Enos. And she had promised Ann she would help her.

Ann knew that she had to put her faith in someone. She couldn't go on alone any longer.

SHE tried to think of reasons why Laurie might want her to die but her mind balked; if it were Laurie she wasn't sure she wanted to know why.

Because she didn't think it could be the money.

She'd been Laurie's guardian for five years and they'd always got along; they'd never had any trouble. And Laurie must surely have known that Rush and Ann would have given in on Tommy—if Laurie had been insistent.

But Laurie had not been insistent.

The thought brought Ann upright on her pillows. She knew Laurie, knew her inside out, and she'd seen her go after the things she'd wanted. She usually raised enough general hell so that everyone was only too glad to see that she got them.

Why hadn't Laurie fought, tooth and nail then, for Tommy? Enos had suggested that perhaps the affair with Tommy was a prearranged business deal whereby Laurie could come into her inheritance and Ann had poohpoohed the suggestion.

But if they'd made such a deal that would explain Laurie's lack of enthusiasm—except that if Laurie were planning Ann's death why would she have made such a deal with Tommy? Laurie wouldn't have to marry anyone if Ann were to die.

But what could Laurie want so much that she had to kill Ann in order to get it?

ANN moved restlessly under the light coverlet.

You're stalling, she told herself scornfully. Go ahead, play your little game of make-believe. And then go on—on to Rush!

She shivered a little even though the room was quite warm.

She pushed the covers back and got out of bed. She went to the big dresser, tugged at the drawer as it stuck a little, got it open, shoved aside a stocking case.

They were still there. Two golf balls.

Her face was set and her eyes were cold as she looked at them. Everything else in the whole case had disappeared; anything at all that the sheriff might have been able to use as evidence. The can of wax—the letter—the bridge—even the clock.

All that was left were these two golf balls with little red stars imprinted on their rough surface, the rough surface that would certainly not bear fingerprints.

And even if there were fingerprints on them they would be her own and Tommy's; possibly Rush's too, from the last time he'd used them. She tried not to think that the last time he had used them he might have placed them underneath the heavy typewriter that usually stood on the shelf in her closet.

She replaced the golf balls, shoved the drawer shut. She crawled back into bed and pulled up the covers. She lay quite still and endured the pain that cut through her like a knife.

All right.

Face it.

Be as honest as you can but face it.

There were three reasons why Rush might want to get rid of her.

There. She'd said it.

He might want the money she would leave to him except that didn't seem very reasonable when there was so much and he knew full well he was welcome to anything she had.

He might be tired of her. Just sick to death of the sight and sound of her. That happened to people every day. People didn't seem able to help it; it just happened. And of course the lab, which was the love of his life, the apple of his eye, was built right here at Tophill so that if he should leave her he would also, of necessity, leave the lab, too. Rush would never ask her to leave Tophill, she knew that. Never. As long as she lived.

AS LONG AS I LIVE . . . !

Her horrified eyes were wide open and the pain was rising inside her so that she writhed and twisted on the bed.

Suppose Rush had no intention of leaving the lab? Or Tophill? Suppose Rush intended to go right on living here at Tophill—not with her—but with someone else? Suppose. . .

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

"AND everywhere that Mary went the lamb was sure to go."

Little Arthur Dowller, of Springfield, Ill., wasn't a very good pupil. His first-grade marks were very low, and his teacher was afraid he'd never graduate from the first.

She talked to Arthur one day and he told her that he couldn't keep his mind on his studies because he missed "Spareribs," his little brown and white terrier.

BRANDEIS

When "Spareribs" was just a little pup he fell into a well and Arthur had saved him from drowing.

Ever since, the two had been inseparable and when Arthur had to go to school and leave the dog at home, the boy moped in the classroom and "Spareribs" moped around the house.

So, a conference was held and the rules were relaxed. Arthur was permitted to take "Spareribs" with him to class.

His grades improved immediately and now he is in the fourth grade.

But, strange to say, as much as "Spareribs" likes his master, he firmly refused to go beyond the first grade. He accompanies the boy to school every morning and waits for him when school is through. But he goes into the first-grade class room and stays there.

Probably he realizes that first-grade knowldge is good enough for a dog and, furthermore, the teacher reports that "Spareribs" is so well behaved that he is setting a fine example for the kids.

When one of them has to go to the front of the room to recite, "Spareribs" trots along and sits there, encouraging the youngster, until he is finished and then walks back to his desk with him.

But when school is over his duty by the first-graders is done. When the last one has left the room he walks over to the fourth-grade room and takes Arthur home.

In the morning he sees to it that Arthur gets up in time for school, and when he is tardy "Spareribs" accelerates his steps, thus telling the boy to hurry up.

YOU may shake your head and say "A likely story!"

Well, I believe it.

Just as I believe that every child should have a dog for a companion and just as I believe that any boy or girl can learn more about loyalty and responsibility from a dog than from a lot of human beings.

It seems rather strange that dogs—which we call "dumb animals"—seem to have such fine character traits by instinct, while human beings must be taught those very same traits—and many never learn them.

I remember years ago I had a big Airedale. Every evening he came to the station and waited for my train to come in. Several times I was tempted to stay in town for a good time.

But I didn't have the heart to disappoint my dog.

And so I stayed sober and caught my train.

Funny Business

FOR MARSHALL PLAN

Military Aid Asked

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Current secret talks between Secretary of State Marshall and Congressional leaders do not concern possible revision of the United Nations charter so much as whether Capitol Hill will favor a proposal that this country reinforce the Marshall Plan with large-scale military and naval support in the event of a clash with Russia.

TUCKER

European diplomats have impressed the need for such a hard-and-fast arrangement in conversations with American representatives here and abroad. Improvement of their economic condition through operation of our foreign aid program, they emphasize, will not check Communism unless it is fortified by formal pledge of armed action against a Red advance into Western Europe.

AGREEMENT: Five nations—Britain, France, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg — have recently drawn and approved a blueprint for joint resistance and a pooling of their forces. When the Anglo-French-American zones of Germany are unified, they may agree to this alliance. It is expected that Italy will eventually become a member.

But foreign spokesmen point out that this blueprint for defense will remain only a piece of paper unless underwritten and guaranteed by the United States in terms that Russia cannot mistake. What they want is the same kind of an agreement to fight that brought Britain into World War II on the side of Poland in 1939.

President Truman and Secretary Marshall had no hesitation or compunction in committing the U.S. to economic support of anti-Communist nations through the Cabinet member's Harvard address and promulgation of the Truman Doctrine. But they realize that they cannot—dare not—promise prompt and full-scale military action without first canvassing Congressional sentiment.

BOUNDARY: In these preliminary conversations the European negotiators have mentioned the Rhine as the boundary which Russia must not be permitted to cross without provoking another global wa Although they are reluctant to establish such a geographical ultimatum, they regard this line as practicable from a military, diplomatic and psychological viewpoint.

It is virtually the dividing line between Eastern and Western Europe, although it would mean the sacrifice of a large portion of the Reich now occupied by the Russians. It can be made defensible, at least against a land advance, with the construction of modern fortifications along the western bank.

The psychological factor is, perhaps, the most important. The peoples of Western Europe have borne the most severe suffering in two conflicts. Their towns, cities, farms, streets and backyards became the actual field of battle. Their homes, stores, churches and factories were destroyed. Next time, they would prefer to fight it out on enemy territory

PREFERENCE: It will be small comfort to them if, as is admitted possible by every military expert, Russia should conquer every inch of territory as far as the Atlantic ocean, the Mediterranean, the British channel and the Baltic Sea. They had five years of Hitler's rule and they fear tha they might suffer even longer and more harshly under a Russian terror.

In preference to such a fate, even though assured of eventual return of their freedom through a western victory, they might want t remain neutral or even make peace with Moscow.

This consideration applies to England as well as to continental peoples living in more imminent danger. Lord Beaverbrook, famous British publisher and part-time statesman, suggested this possibility on his recent visit to the United States It has been advanced in more official quarters.

PLEDGE: European emissaries do not think that they are making an excessive demand. They point out tha President Truman promised to use "appropriate means" for their defense. Now they want to know how he and the American Congress mean to implement that pledge.

For Capitol Hill it is one of the hardest and most fateful problems ever faced, especially in a reelection and presidential year. It is particularly difficult for Senator Vandenberg, Senator Taft and Speaker Martin, since each of them is a candidate for the Republican nomination. It is equally embarrassing to President Truman.

ALLIANCE: Never before has the United States made such an alliance in time of peace. Congress would still have to declare war, of course, but it would be morally bound to do so if it approves the kind of guarantee now under discussion at Washington, London, Paris and other capitals.

As Secretary Marshall admits, the proposal itself suggests that the United Nations has been a failure because of Russian recalcitrancy and her irritating resort to the veto power. Only substitute consists of regional agreements linking the American and European continents in an anti-Red alliance with teeth in it.

ATOMIC: General discussion of the prospect of atomic warfare has provoked many letters on various phases of this problem. Specifically, they resulted from a report here of an article by Dr. E. R. Lapp, executive director of the Atomic Energy Commission's Joint Army and Navy Research and Development Board.

With the approval of higher authorities, Dr. Lapp described the devastating effect which an atomic bomb would have if dropped over Washington. The article also outlined the targets in the U. S. which an enemy nation would attack first.

M.E.B. of Norwalk, Conn., thinks that both Dr. Lapp and the writer did a disservice in making public this information. "The reports are all right for official Washington," he says, "but I would rather not serve the information on a silver platter to the enemy."

KNOWN: Answer: M.E.B. need not worry about giving information to the enemy on this question. They have long known where ordinary or atomic bombing would do the most damage to this country in an all-out war.

Moreover, Dr. Lapp informs me that he wrote the article, which was published in the Bulletin of Atomic Scientists, to warn federal officials of the need for decentralizing executive and military offices and industry. It will take years to do that job and he believes that we should give thought to it immediately.

As he explained in his article, an atomic bomb dropped over the Potomac river, halfway between the Washington and Jefferson monuments, would destroy almost every Cabinet building, the White House, the Pentagon and probably Congress. It would wipe out our government's executive, legislative and military establishments.

Ignorance is bliss. Many a person thinks another is his friend because he has never had an occasion to test the friendship.

GOP'S STAND IS PRAISED

Dewey Opposes Outlawing Reds

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York has taken a courageous stand, and a sound one truly in accord with our traditions and principles, in refusing to yield to the hysteria of the moment and join those who would outlaw the Communist party by law.

Never have the reasons against such action been more clearly and explicitly stated than in his Portland, Ore., speech opening his campaign for delegates in Oregon where, in the May 21 primary, he is contesting with Harold Stassen of Minnesota, who has come out for outlawing the Communist party. The New York governor did not mention his rival for the Republican presidential nomination, but it was plain from all the circumstances that he was striking directly at him.

STOKES

Violation Of Constitution

What Governor Dewey said should be repeated and emphasized:

"I want the people of Oregon and of the United States to know exactly where I stand on this proposal because it goes to the very heart of the qualifications of any candidate for office and to the inner nature of the kind of country we want to live in.

"I am unalterably, wholeheartedly and unswervingly against any scheme to write laws outlawing people because of their religious, political, social or economic ideas. I am against it because it is a violation of the Constitution and of the bill of rights. I am against it because it is immoral and nothing but totalitarianism itself. I am against it because I know from many years experience in enforcement of the law that the proposal would not work and, instead, would advance the cause of Communism rapidly, both in this country and all over the world."

And, later, he said:

"Stripped of its naked essentials, this is nothing but the method of Hitler and Stalin. It is thought control borrowed from the Japanese war leadership. It is an attempt to beat down ideas with a club. It is surrender of everything that we believe in. It is a philosophy which I shall fight to the limit of my strength."

Governor Dewey astutely recognized that, once you start outlawing groups of people because of their beliefs — religious, political, social or economic—there's no telling who would be proscribed next and where this all might lead. Likewise he cited historical proof of what has happened always wherever the Communist party was outlawed. Communists go underground and out of the "merciless spotlight of publicity" which shows what they are doing.

There's another section of the governor's speech that should be called to the attention of the Republican Congress and of some Democrats there as well, especially of the southern variety, for it suggests the best way to combat Communism. He said:

"The weapons of Communism are poverty, economic and political infiltration, social agitation, industrial unrest, threats, military display and a thousand and one ingenious schemes to discredit and disunite freedom-loving nations. It is a cold, relentless war."

Poverty, social agitation, industrial unrest feed on failure to keep our economic system in proper balance so that everybody has a chance, both economically and politically. The current Republican Congress has failed to do many things and has done many other things that contribute to a lack of equal opportunity in our system today.

Housing Is Needed

In this category is the failure thus far to enact adequate housing, education and health legislation, to expand social security, though a start has been made. Special interests, rather than the people, have weighed most heavily to block these needed measures.

In this category, too, is the failure yet to pass any adequate measures to control inflation, which is the most glaring lack of balance in our economy today—a cancer which, if not checked, will eat into the resources of our people and inevitably bring disaster.

In this category, too, are bills to weaken laws that protect consumers of electricity and natural gas—bills which have been shoved along to the point where their sponsors are hopeful of putting them through in the Republican administration which they confidently expect. In this category also are: The Bulwinkle-Reed bill to exempt another great interest, the railroads, from the anti-trust laws; and the bill to turn the tidelands, which belong to all the people, back to the states, where exploitation by special interests would be easier. All of these are promoted by big, special interests.

Governor Dewey and other Republican candidates would do well to speak out on all these—to say what they think about measures to improve the condition of our people which are the best antidotes to Communism, and what they think about those measures which attack the public interest and thus encourage Communism.

Marshall Sees Need For Change In Attitudes, Not Rules, In UN

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press Staff Writer

Secretary Marshall makes a strong point of the fact that it is a revision of attitudes within the UN, not a revision of rules and regulations, which is necessary if peaceful cooperation is to be achieved.

He is combatting the efforts of an important group of congressmen who want to force a revision of the UN charter, particularly with regard to use of the veto. They want an organization which can impose the will of the majority on recalcitrant nations, which now means Russia. Through the use of such catch phrases as "revision with or without Russian agreement" the impression seems to have gotten abroad that, if unsuccessful, they would have to substitute a new organization exclusive of the Russian bloc.

Nations Would Stay In UN

As I get it, however, what they actually proposed is to tell Russia that, if she continues to refuse to let the United Nations function, the other nations will go ahead outside, but not in contravention of, the organization.

One idea seems to be that, faced with the prospect of a world entente determined to carry out its ideas anyway, Russia will decide to keep the action within the UN and agree to revision.

The congressmen think they are keeping their proposal within the limits of Article 51 and other articles in the UN charter which provide for concerted action outside the Assembly and Security council to meet specific threats.

Secretary Marshall, although apparently not directing himself specifically toward this angle, seems to think that the extension of this idea would leave the UN to dry up on the vine.

To him, the Marshall plan of concerted economic action and the western hemisphere and western European agreements for concerted military action are one thing, while an attempt to completely encircle Russia with one general organization seems to be another. He says what would actually result would be a dispersal of such organization as already has been obtained, with formation of rival military alliances and isolated groups of states.

I don't quite follow him on that, although he may be working from the premise that enough pressure is enough, that what we are doing now will contain Russia until she can be persuaded to live in the present world instead of trying to change it completely.

You can never afford to overlook the possibility that too much pressure on Russia will, eventually force her to attempt a breakout, with war resulting. On the other hand, the Marshall plan and all our other plans will fail if the pressure is insufficient to prevent additional Czechoslovakias.

Dancer Irked As Political Stunt Fizzles

SMU Dean Shoos Strip Tease Artist And Bird From Campus

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, May 5—A saronged night club entertainer was shooed off the campus of Southern Methodist university today just before she was to mount a platform to assist in ballyhooing a student political campaign.

Yvette Dare, blue-eyed, black-haired dancer who does what she calls a semi-strip act with the aid of a macaw, was whisked away in an automobile, leaving several hundred disappointed students with nothing better to watch than a fire eater.

She left the campus after Dean Willis Tate, in charge of student activities, appeared on the scene and held a brief conference with Charles Moore, student political campaign manager, who had dreamed up the idea of having Miss Dare perform.

Dancer Was Embarrassed

Miss Dare, interviewed later, said: "I was humiliated and embarrassed. I certainly didn't intend to take off any clothes on the SMU campus."

Clad in a turquoise blue sarong and a bra to match, the entertainer sat in her automobile while Tate talked to Moore. With her was her macaw, a parrot-like varicolored bird, twice the size of a parrot. In her act, the macaw disrobes Miss Dare by gently nibbling at strategic flowers on her clothing, but as far as the scheduled performance today was concerned, the entertainer said:

"I was just going to pose there on the platform with my bird and speak a few comedy lines and after that I was going to let a fake guillotine drop on my neck. It was all harmless and, after all, I was invited."

Students Quote Dean

Moore was not located immediately, but a friend, Al Carrell of Dallas, who said he was all ears while the dean conferred with Moore stated:

"Dean Tate told Charlie: 'If the show goes on you go.'"

Linzee Evans, another one of Moore's chums, said: "The dean told Charlie that if Miss Dare put a foot on our campus he would have to find himself a new school."

Dean's Story Differs

Dean Tate, however, told another version:

"I talked to the boys a moment," said he, "and after that they wisely put their heads together and decided that it would be poor taste for this entertainer to make a display on the Southern Methodist university campus. To them should go all credit for making this proper decision."

Tate added: "I might say that if they had not decided, we might have decided for them."

Sirens attached to two Sherman army tanks had attracted the students (and possibly Dean Tate) to the platform. A 25-foot banner proclaimed "See Yvette Dare, gorgeous Balinese half-caste and her strong-stealing parrot." More truthfully, all Miss Dare knows about Bali she read in the travel folders. She is a Texas girl—from Gainesville, Wichita Falls and Houston.

Asked for comment on the incident, Dr. Hemphill Hosford, dean of the university, said:

"Hurray for Dean Tate."

MARKET CONTINUES SLUMP

NEW YORK, May 5. (AP)—Pessimism over prospects of averting threatened strikes drove the stock market lower today.

Railroad shares were especial targets, with losses stretching to around 2 points. Many pivotal industrials joined the slide.

Another development against the rails was a report showing first quarter net income of Class I roads was $22,000,000 less than a year ago.

Today's decline in share prices, as measured by The Associated Press 60-stock composite, was .5 of a point, sharpest drop since April 26. The average closed at 67.2. Among 1,042 issues traded, losses outnumber gains 585 to 246. Total transactions were 1,240,000 shares against 1,460,000 Tuesday.

Finishing a point or more lower were such stocks as Santa Fe at 104, Atlantic Coast Line 57, Southern Railway 44⅛, Great Northern Preferred 46¾, Kennecott 53¾, U. S. Rubber 43½, American Woolen 50 and Caterpillar Tractor 61½.

Union Carbide and Textron Inc. both touched new 1948 highs after dividend declarations.

Bonds were steady.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, May 5 (AP) — Cotton futures turned irregular in late dealings today following early steadiness. Heavy selling came into the old crop months, influenced by renewed fears that much of the cotton exports under foreign aid will be shifted to new crop supplies. There was a good deal of switching into the new crop months on this sentiment.

Losses at one time extended to more than $3 a bale, although the market later recovered about $1 a bale from the day's lows on short covering and mill buying. Forenoon gains were influenced partly by Tokyo reports that shippers were being asked to submit offers of cotton for Japan. However, this was interpreted to be an outline of procedure for purchases and not a call for actual offers. The banks involved in private cotton credit program for Japan have not yet signed an agreement, it was stated.

Futures closed unchanged to $2.75 a bale lower than the previous close.
