Gassers To Play Childress Sunday

The Collingsworth Gassers dropped their first game of the season last Sunday when they met the Paducah nine in a game which gave the Paducah boys a 2 to 1 victory. The Gassers will meet Childress on the Wellington diamond Sunday, May 12, in what is expected to be one of the best games played here this season.

It was reported the game last Sunday to have been a thriller in which pitchers on both teams held the hits to a minimum. Birdwell, however, got hold of one for a home run and V. Wilson made the lone tally for the Gassers.

The loss of their game seemed to have little effect on the Gassers, who are expecting to come back in the Childress tangle and renew their standing. The boys

Highly Beneficial

County Commended For Lack Of Law Violations

Grand Jury Report 13 Felony Indictments; Work Of Peace Officers Is Highly Praised

Reporting conditions in Collingsworth County good with reference to violations of law and pronouncing the work of peace officials as diligent, members of the Grand Jury in the April term of district court this week made their official report to Judge A. J. Fires.

26 Criminal Cases
Monday, May 13, the district court will swing into the criminal docket in which 26 cases are listed, according to W. H. Goforth, district clerk, who stated that the civil cases had been disposed of with dispatch and predicted that if the present speed continued the docket would contain fewer cases at the close of the term than at any time he has been in office.

"2. We find that conditions in the county with reference to violations of the law, is good; we hope that this opinion reflects the true conditions rather than the effects of the depression.

"3. We find that the sheriff, constables and their respective deputies have been diligent in the performance of their duties and request that they continue to have the support of law abiding citizens to the end that this co-operation will enable this county to stem the tide of lawlessness which seems prevalent in other localities.

"4. We thank the court for his charge given us at our empaneling and for his courtesies during our deliberations.

"5. We thank the district clerk, the bailiffs and the county and district attorneys all for their assistance rendered us while in session.

"6. We have completed our deliberations and ask that we be adjourned or discharged at the discretion of the court.

Farmers Turning To Tractor Tire As Big Work Aid

Survey Of National Agriculture Convinced Of Thrift And Speed

Farmers throughout the country are turning to the pneumatic tire to enable them to conduct tractor operations at a considerable saving in fuel and at greater speed.

"Farmers are not equipping their tractors and farm implements with pneumatic tires because they have 'fallen for' some high pressure salesmanship, either," was the comment of W. E. Hall, local dealer for the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.

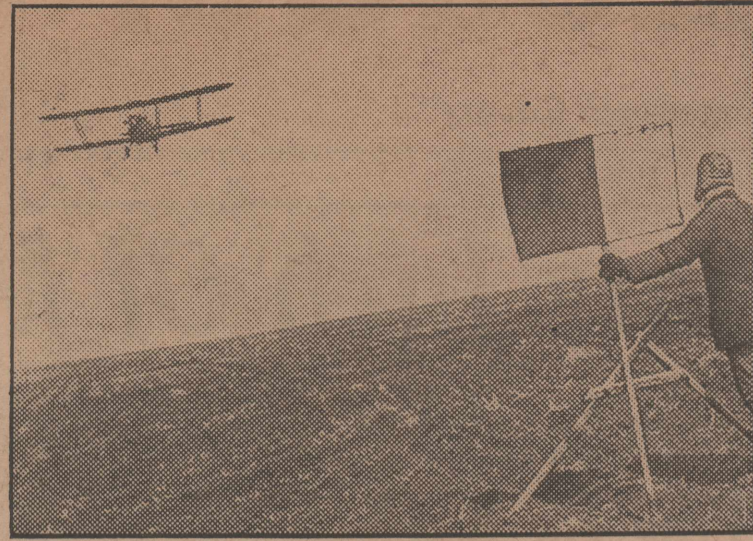

"A survey conducted by the Agricultural Wheel Equipment Committee of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers disclosed that the farmer is firmly convinced after seeing demonstrations and watching the tires in actual use on farms, that the pneumatic tire offers fuel saving ranging up to 50 percent, with an average of 25 percent; that an average of 25 per cent more work is possible in the same length of time; that more power is released for useful work, and that the health and comfort of the operator is increased, as the tires take up vibration and shock and do not kick up clouds of choking dust that accompany operation of steel wheels with lugs.

"The Goodyear Farm Implement tire, originally developed from the Goodyear Airwheel for airplanes, is proving exceptionally popular on the farm, designed as it is especially for farm operations. In addition to the advantages I have listed, farmers replying to the survey declared the tires enabled them to travel on highways, lessen breakage and repair costs by minimizing vibration, did not destroy roots near the surface, did not pack the ground, will operate in sand, were excellent for haying operations, and were generally more satisfactory than steel wheels with lugs.

"The advent of the rubber tire for the tractor signalizes the dawn of a new day for the farmer. Methods and processes are being changed and speeded up, and the tractor is widening its scope as more and more jobs are found for it that were formerly left to some other means," Mr. Hall concluded.

It must have been a secker after knowledge who broke into the Ruban Osborne home at Salt Lake City and made off with 20 books, but nothing else.

Plane And Fancy Sowing

If that quotation, "As you sow so shall you reap," applied here, Russians would apparently have to harvest wheat in an airplane. The plane shown above is sowing wheat on a collective farm in the U. S. S. R. Russia is the only country in the world where grain sowing from airplanes is conducted on a large scale.

Outstanding Attractions Listed At Ritz Theatre During Next 30 Days

The meeting place of Wellington and Wellington trade territory is undoubtedly the Ritz Theatre. And the management has certainly kept faith with the public in the selection of entertainment and the service rendered by the theatre staff. According to announcements from Manager Bonner, patrons may expect a routine of entertainment throughout this month that will equal or excel any month during the past.

Gene Stratton Porter Story
One of America's most noted love stories, "Laddie," from the pen of the late Gene Stratton Porter, is now showing at the Ritz. It is the mid-week booking for Wednesday and Thursday, and according to reports of reviewers and critics offers theatre goers one of the most genuine treats of the year. The story has been selected as one of the ten best stories in the past sixty years, and this talking version brings to life the beloved characters of the popular story which has been read by more than fifty million people. Today concludes the engagement, those wishing to see it will have to attend one of today's performances.

Best Mystery of March
The Friday feature is "Florentine Dagger" by Ben Hecht, selected as last month's best mystery story. Margaret Lindsey, Donald Wood, C. Aubrey Smith and many others appear in the notable cast. It is recommended as one of those plays that will hold you in suspense until the last moment.

Harold Bell Wright Novel
Few, if any, writers of fiction

have ever achieved the success of Harold Bell Wright in presenting the march of progress accredited the genuine West—the West that we know and that lives in the hearts of those who do have a knowledge of its aggressiveness. The picturization of "When a Man's a Man" is doubtless one of his greatest human interest stories, and one that will live in the archives of American memory throughout the decades to come. It will be shown one day only, Saturday, at the Ritz and Manager Bonner urgently requests the presence of all lovers of Harold Bell Wright's literary works, and the public in general who appreciate the real men who paved the way to our present civilization.

Rudy Vallee Breaks Records
Rudy Vallee, famous Radio Star, combined with Warner Brothers, makers of the world's greatest musicals of the screen, have brought to life what is said to be the most inspiring and jubilant musical comedy yet to adorn the talking screen. It is "Sweet Music," the newest Warner musical. In the cast will be seen nine stars, two famous bands and six famous song hits. More than one hundred gorgeous girls appear in the superb chorus members. "Sweet Music" is recommended as one of the finest entertainment features released in the past several months, and Ritz patrons surely have a treat in store when they attend this gala entertainment extravaganza, opening for the prelude Saturday night and continuing through Sunday and Monday.

B. Tate, county agricultural agent. The boys must provide a suitable self feeder and water for every pen, along with a complete record of the crop demonstration, before they can receive the calves. They will be fattened on home grown feed supplemented with only the necessary protein feeds to balance the ration and they will have a separate division at the county show next spring.

To protect your car fully, your motor oil must do two things:

1. It must be on duty during the starting period!

More than half of all motor wear occurs in the five minutes after you start, because straight mineral oils drain away, leaving parts dry. Even in warm weather your motor makes at least a thousand revolutions before the quickest-flowing oil can reach all parts.

Only Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil cuts down costly starting wear. It is the only oil that penetrates and combines with metal surfaces, forming a "Hidden Quart" that never drains away. Your motor is lubricated before you touch the starter! You know your motor is protected!

2. It must withstand unusual driving stresses!

Cars built in 1932 and since have greatly increased power and speed. Bearing pressures and crankcase temperatures have increased in proportion. Flashing pick-up and high speeds make it necessary to have an oil with enough extra oiliness and film strength to withstand the increased load.*

Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil protects modern motors better because it has 2 to 4 times the film strength of any oil not Germ Processed! It maintains this high film strength at high temperatures. Say "O. K.—Drain"—fill with Germ Processed Oil and get full protection for your motor!

*Motor oils generally have no more oiliness and film strength now than they had 10 years ago. Many new refining methods now used to make oils free from carbon and sludge have lowered instead of increased oiliness and film strength, the very qualities on which depends an oil's lubricating value!
Germ Processed Oil is free from carbon and sludge troubles. But more important, the Germ Process puts into it 2 to 4 times the film strength of straight mineral oil, as Timken machine tests have proved!

Medical Association Considers Work Of Cancer Quacks, Cure Possibility

Alleged cancer cures, made and distributed by cancer quacks, range from ordinary table salt dissolved in water to caustic pastes and salves which are guaranteed to "pull out the cancer by its roots." These pastes have been known to remove a growth if it is a small superficial skin lesion. This crude remedy was known in the earliest days of medicine but it has been discarded by all reputable physicians because of the frightful pain experienced by the patient during treatment, because the action of the caustic is not easily controlled, and because of the resulting scars. Internal cancer and extended skin growths obviously cannot be affected by salves and pastes.

The Bureau of Investigation of the American Medical Association is willing to investigate any alleged cancer cure if the backer of the cure will furnish three items of information.

1. A complete statement of the composition of the remedy, including the name and quantity of each ingredient for which therapeutic action is claimed. Such information, if sent to the American Medical Association, will not be accepted in any form that will become a part of the association's records to be used by any person who may inquire.

2. The names and addresses of at least three persons who are claimed to have been cured by the product in question.

3. The names and addresses of the physicians who diagnosed these cases as cancer.

These three simple requirements have so far not been complied with in a single instance, in spite of the fact that hundreds of letters have come from persons claiming cancer cures. Some of these persons are sincere in their desire to help humanity; others have no interest except for the money which they hope to make by selling their product. Elliott C. Cutler, M. D., has said: "Secret cures can never be what they promise, for there is no one scientifically trained or susceptible to the ordinary demands of the human conscience who would withhold for his private means, such an important matter as the discovery of the cure of this disease."

It is to be borne in mind that a cancer patient can expect no more beneficial results by relying on a misguided enthusiast, however honest, than by submitting to the malpractice of the most blatant of cancer "cure" swindlers.

Cancer is probably one of the most complex diseases known to man. Obviously, therefore, to depend on simple salves, herbs or black magic is to waste not only precious time and money but also to waste life. To play safe, avoid every advertised cancer "cure." If in doubt about a so-called cancer cure write to the Bureau of Investigation, American Medical Association, 535 North Dearborn Street, Chicago, Illinois, for information.

Trans-Pacific Air Service Soon To Change 'Far East' To 'Near East'

Between massive steel towers of the Golden Gate bridge, another symbol of progress, the Pan-American Clipper, heads out over the Pacific. This route of the new transoceanic air service is shown in the chart at the left. Below is a view of the desolate Wake Islands, which will provide a "stepping-stone" for the flying sea liners of the future.

Progress is bringing the Orient "next door" to America. This summer it will be possible to step into an ocean air liner in California and, after about three days of comfortable flying, arrive in remote China. Until now, the fastest steamship has required three weeks for this trip.

A whirlwind of recent activity is making possible this amazing achievement. While a steamer is dropping off men and supplies at islands dotting the trail to the Far East, converting them into veritable "stepping-stones," the giant Pan American Clipper has been tested over the first lap of the route.

Climaxing a series of personnel-training, experimental flights with a recent record-smashing hop to Hawaii, the Clipper's crew has spent several days flying about the territory, collecting data necessary when regular passenger and freight service starts this summer.

The Pan American Clipper, and its sister ship, the Brazilian Clipper, will inaugurate trans-Pacific service. Each has a wingspread of 114 feet, is nearly 70 feet long and has four motors which develop 2800 h. p. to propel 19 gross tons of weight through the air at a cruising speed of 150 miles an hour.

Each can accommodate 32 passengers, a crew and a ton of mail and cargo over normal ranges.

Another and still larger type of ship, the Martin Clipper, with a maximum capacity of 53, may be drafted into this nucleus of America's future commercial air fleet.

Bases are being set up at four points: desolate Eastern islands in the Midway group, Wilkie's island in the Wake group, Guam and Manila. At each, the steamship North Haven is dropping a crew of men, pre-fabricated buildings, food supplies—in fact, nearly every necessity down to garden seed and collar buttons.

In July or August, all the Pacific bases will be ready for operation. Soon afterward, passengers can step aboard a commodious plane at Alameda or San Diego, Calif., and, after a short stop in Honolulu, find themselves on the previously uninhabited Eastern island the next day.

Here they will see a modern airport and midget community as they step ashore. There will be huge underground gasoline storage tanks, a powerhouse, and a building housing a powerful radio transmitter.

Nearby will be the transmitting station of the radio direction finder which guides the huge ships. Other frame buildings will be the airport office, radio receiving station, and smug staff quarters.

A similar view will greet the passengers at Wilkie's island. Two more steps, at Guam, and at Manila in the Philippines, then the nose of the great Clipper will turn north for the comparatively short last lap into Canton, China, where it will connect with the Pan American's 3000-mile Chinese system.

LETTERS From the PEOPLE

(Editor's Note: The Leader will gladly publish any acceptable article which is submitted by readers, provided that the articles are signed by the readers and are free from libelous or malicious contents.)

Mother's Day Greetings'

Dear Readers: This is my first time to write, but I've read the interesting letters from time to time, which gave me a desire to say something too.

I chose for my subject, "Love." Folks, we should manifest our love for our parents, brothers and sisters in every way possible and not be negligent of our duty toward them. I came of a large family and I can truly say I love them and would very much miss the comradeship we have with each other.

As you know it's nearing Mother's Day. God bless our mothers, and help us to be more appreciative of them. But let's not forget Father. I think as much publicity should be given fathers as to mothers. Father toils for us and worries over our cares and needs. My father has rheumatism but in spite of his affliction, he is a wonderful father to us.

Life grants some blessings to us all, of one kind or another; but I feel I've been doubly blessed because you are by mother.

Cause Of "Loco" Animals Solved At College Sta.

Mystery Of West Texas Poison Weed Solved, Horse Most Susceptible

COLLEGE STATION, Texas.—The mysterious cause of "locoism," a malady that causes animals in West Texas and other states to act insane after eating the loco weed, has been discovered by scientists of Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Loco is the Spanish word for insane.

Practical means of controlling this hazard to livestock, which usually is on overstocked ranges and under unfavorable grazing conditions, will require further study, however, the station pointed out.

Dr. G. S. Fraps, chief chemist, and E. C. Carlyle of the Texas station working in co-operation with Dr. Frank P. Matthews of the Loco Weed Research Laboratory at Alpine, have finally isolated the poisonous principle of the loco weed, which Dr. Fraps has named locoine. The Alpine laboratory was set up several years ago by the United States Bureau of Animal Industry and the Texas station to study this poison which has cost Texas ranchmen thousands of dollars in past seasons.

Many Experiments Used. The discovery resulted from the simple but lengthy process of making separations of the extract by various chemical methods and testing each of the separations to determine whether it carried the toxicity. Each time the harmless portion was discarded and a further separation made of the part carrying the poisonous principle, until the cause was isolated.

The tedious and costly process, which usually requires three or four months of feeding to animals, was simplified by using cats instead of larger domestic animals. Rabbits and other small animals do not appear to be affected by the poison.

Locoine is related to alkaloids and forms salts with acids, the scientists report. Locoine tartrate has been prepared as microscopic crystals. Locoine exaltate, citrate and chloride also have been prepared.

In addition to the chemical studies, Dr. Matthews has been doing experimental work at the Alpine laboratory to determine the nature and extent of the injuries sustained when grazing animals consume this weed.

Horses Most Susceptible. Horses are more susceptible to the poison than cattle, sheep and goats, he found, as well as that the dry plant is as poisonous as the green weed. For horses only about 30 per cent of the animal's body weight in green loco plants will cause death, but for cattle 90 per cent of the animal's weight in the plants is required to produce the first symptoms of locoism and much more to cause death.

Dr. Matthews also found that when concentrates are added to the ration less loco plant is required to produce a critical stage of locoism, but he found that the toxic principle of the plant is not excreted with the milk. Texas Station Bulletin No. 456 reports his preliminary experiments and discusses the symptoms of the poisoning.

Commissioners To Carry Statistics On Austin Trip

Members of the Commissioner's Court will leave Saturday for Austin to appeal for another letting on highway 4 across this county. In making preparations for their departure they collected statistics on the traffic over the proposed highway by placing two men at the northeast and southeast corners of the town section, according to J. D. Hill, precinct 1, who listed the following results: total, 15,252 cars with an average of 68 cars each hour. The total covers 112 hours and will be continued until Friday morning at 8 o'clock.

Northeast corner—total of 8,673 with 77 cars per hour. Average per day 1,848 cars. In 1931 this average was 1,400 cars per day.

Southeast corner—total of 6,579 cars with 59 cars each hour. Average per day of 24 hours 1,416 cars. In 1931 this average was 1,200 cars in a day.

The commissioners will also carry pictures showing conditions of the road in hopes of securing the letting at the earliest possible time.

George Endro of St. Louis testified that the arrival of twin sons "hindered" his payment of debts for which he was sued.

John Beal, who played "The Little Minister," wins new laurels as "Laddie," the Indiana farmer's son who dares to love the talented "Princess" played by beautiful Gloria Stuart in this RKO-Radio drama taken from Gene Stratton-Porter's masterpiece, now showing at the Ritz.

Baccalaureate Services Will Be Held At Methodist Church Sunday, May 12

Announcements today stated that Rev. John Van Dyke of Wichita Falls will preach the baccalaureate sermon for the graduating class of Wellington High School on Sunday, May 12, at the First Methodist Church. The service will begin at 11 o'clock.

School leaders expressed their high approval of Rev. Van Dyke as the baccalaureate preacher and stated that they believed the class indeed fortunate in having been able to secure such a capable man to deliver the sermon.

Dr. Bradford Knapp of Lubbock will deliver the commencement address at the High School Auditorium Thursday evening, May 16.

More Boys Will Be Enrolled In C. C. C. Camps

AUSTIN.—Authority to enroll 4,986 Texas boys in citizens conservation camps in the eighth corps area was received here last week by Neal E. Guy, enrollment supervisor, for Texas.

County administrators were notified immediately to instruct boys selected to report to recruiting stations between April 17 and 23. Enrollment will be for a six-month period as usual with an opportunity to re-enroll for an additional six months.

Effect of this enrollment of boys will be to take approximately 5,000 Texas families off the relief rolls by June 1, at which time first checks will be received by beneficiaries of enrollees.

Guy said approximately 2,725 young men will be sent out of the state to camps in Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado and Wyoming. The remainder will go to the 55 camps in Texas.

Enrollment of these boys will again bring the quota of Texas young men in CCC camps to the maximum figure of slightly more than 14,000.

American Newspaper Elevens which Prof. John M. Casey of the University of Oklahoma has been selecting since 1926. The Leader was selected as one of the eleven outstanding weekly papers in 1931 and was the first weekly newspaper in Texas to ever be accorded the honor. They expect to return to Wellington Monday.

Gives Credit To Town

The unusual award this year came as a surprise to The Leader and Editor Wells modestly gave credit for the success of the paper to the wholehearted cooperation of the people of Wellington and to the staff of The Leader, which he believes is remarkable in view of the fact that every person employed on the paper received his first newspaper experience on The Leader.

Jimmie Gillentine, managing editor, worked on the paper before entering the journalism school at Southern Methodist University. Herschel Combs, foreman of the mechanical department, started as an apprentice on The Leader eight years ago. Mrs. Deskins Wells, society editor, secretary-treasurer, started her newspaper career as editor of the woman's page. Stansell Scott, compositor, Carrie Nola Campbell, local news editor, and Zook Thomas, also received their first newspaper experience on The Leader.

Largest Edition In County

The prize winning edition, published last July, was the largest single edition ever published in Collingsworth County and contained 92 pages. It also contained more features, more pictures, and more columns of news than any other paper ever published in the county and is recorded as one of the largest weekly editions ever published in the Panhandle.

The Amarillo Daily News summarized the accomplishments of the Leader and the Dalhart Texan with the following biographies of the two editors:

The Texan won the Panhandle Press Association and the Texas Statewide newspaper contests in Community Service for daily papers in 1934 and it was this entry in an enlarged form that won the 1935 National Newspaper contest and the University of Missouri trophy. Its Most Outstanding Edition entry, the 144-page tabloid "Resource Edition," was second to the Wellington Leader Silver Anniversary edition in the 1934 state contest and was able to place second in the national contest, daily division.

Many Enterprises

Whole-hearted cooperation in all worthwhile community enterprises, leadership in many major programs and sponsorship of several regional projects, were among the accomplishments of the paper. Awards for outstanding students in schools of the North Panhandle in a contest stressing Good School Citizenship was one of the papers regional projects. Recognition of local and Panhandle writers through the publication of a large and beautiful anthology of Panhandle poetry, the first book of its kind ever compiled here, was another Panhandle-wide movement.

The brief lists more than 30 separate community service projects. The briefs prepared by the Texan each year are in demand by Schools of Journalism and its 1931 brief, a leather bound document of over 400 pages, is the property of the Department of Journalism, Baylor University. From his experience the Texan editor has written a booklength treatise on Community Service from the standpoint of a small town newspaper editor, but has awaited trying to secure a publisher until he should have won first place in the national contest.

"The constant day-in-and-day-out plugging of an efficient organization, plus long hours of painstaking study and work on the part of staff members, my wife and myself, and the wholehearted cooperation of a fine community," is the way McCarty explains the many awards won by The Dalhart Texan.

McCarty has been editor of The Texan since June, 1929. He changed it from a weekly to a semi-weekly in 1930 and from a semi-weekly to a daily in 1933. In publishing a daily he broke away from the conventional type of paper, publishing The Texan in the popular size of the big Eastern tabloids and to a large degree appropriating their make-up and style of playing news.

Graduating from Abernathy high school in Hale County, he worked his way at almost every type of odd job at the West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon for three years. He left there to accept a job with the Amarillo Tribune in 1923 as sports writer and returned to the college at Canyon in the fall of 1923 as a student and publicity agent. He came back to Amarillo with the establishment of the Amarillo Globe in March, 1924. A few years later in addition to his newspaper work he won a wide reputation for his news-paper and magazine feature arti-

About Deck Wells

Wells, a native of the Panhandle, was a classmate of McCarty's while both were in College at Canyon. Wells, however, took his B. A. and B. J. degrees at Texas University.

He was born on a farm near Wellington May 18, 1902, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wells, pioneer Collingsworth County couple. He returned from college to Wellington in 1924, to enter the publishing business. He became editor and owner of The Leader in 1925.

List of awards won by Wells for his paper:

Three awards in various years for best set advertising, Texas Press Association; Casey's All-American Newspaper, Eleven, 1931; Second award, best all-round weekly in Texas in 1933; first award best local column, State Fair in 1933; most outstanding edition, both daily and weekly, State Fair in 1934; and first award for the most outstanding edition, N. E. A. Weekly, 1935.

Other honors accorded the untiring Wellington editor:

Present mayor of the city; former president of the Panhandle Press Association; a director of the Texas Press Association; a director of the Chamber of Commerce; president of Kiwanis Club; president of a baseball league, and a tennis club; city alderman, and a member of the Masonic Lodge and the Methodist Church.

While McCarty has turned to photography for a hobby, Wells has concentrated his surplus energy on the growing of roses and the raising of cocker spaniels—in both of which pursuits "he has no peer in Collingsworth County."

About John McCarty

McCarty first became interested in the study and development of Community Service programs with the idea of winning the national prize in 1931. In that year The Texan was awarded the Baylor University School of Journalism Gold Medal award for Outstanding Community Service in Texas among towns of under 10,000 population. The Texan was then a semi-weekly and in the 1932 N. E. A. national contests was given second place.

Another First

In 1933 The Texan was awarded first place in the Texas Statewide Newspaper contest for Community Service, sponsored by the Texas State Fair. In that year The Texan also won the outstanding edition contest and was second in the general excellence contest. In the 1934 National Newspaper contests, which are based on the previous year's work, The Texan placed second in the Community Service contest, losing to a much larger city paper, the St. Cloud, Minn., Times, which is published in a city of over 20,000 population. The Texan also placed second in the Most Outstanding edition contest.

Old fashioned linen dust coat with broad long collar that was popular some 25 years ago, now plays a part in Mrs. P. E. Williams summer wardrobe. After ripping the coat Mrs. Williams laundered and steam-pressed the material. The dress that was cut from the coat is straight in line, with fullness added with pleats in the side neatly, bound button holes, and a colored tie furnish an attractive note of trim.

"A place for everything and everything in its place," make home making so much easier, said Mrs. Bill Smith, as she looked into Billie's new closet that cost only 15 cents. "It's really worth every parent's effort to have closet space for children since it is an excellent lesson in training children to take care of their clothes," added Mrs. Smith.

The closet built between two rooms so that there will be space for both rooms. The closet goes all of the way to the ceiling so as to have a storage place for the comforts above the hanging space.

The shelves are arranged according to what she plans to store on them. A dirty clothes bin is placed under the shelves. The walls are papered with white building paper and the shelves are painted a light green to harmonize with her accessories.

Three men, Carlyle Powell, Fred Hatesochi and Louis Keiuth of St. Louis have been arrested under a seldom-used ordinance, for making false reports of robberies.

Mrs. Cathrine Riley of Chicago sued for divorce because when she was entertaining a large number of her friends at bridge her husband was brought home drunk.

Poor Family Gets Free Ride As Home Is Moved

FORT WORTH—To the tune of "We Don't Know Where We're Going, but We're On Our Way," a homeless family, which some months ago moved into a vacant house near Lake Como, was given a free ride last week when the cottage, owned by a building and loan company, was moved more than a mile.

Ordered to vacate, the family didn't know where to go, and moving men decide to haul away the home housing Mrs. W. H. Jones, 78, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Owens and their children, Ruby, 17; Audra, 16; Grace 12; J. W., 9; Rosie 8; and Francis, 4; and three chickens.

The family came to Fort Worth a month ago from Saginaw, where they lived in a box car. Shivering in a raw, wet wind and finding a deserted three-room house near Lake Como, they made inquiries of neighbors concerning ownership. The house had been vacant for years and no one knew who owned it so the Owens moved in.

Robert Ely, a junk man, moved in with them and helped Owens to supply his family with enough food to keep them alive.

Thursday the house movers showed up. A man ordered them to vacate.

Miss Gladys Lynn of New Orleans told the police she fell into the river accidentally, but they arrested Ralph Baker and he confessed he pushed her in.

For stealing his father's diamond ring, Alvin Rymer, 19, of Grand Haven, Mich., has been sentenced to serve one to four years in a reformatory.

Canyon College To Build New Men's Dormitory

General Improvement Is Seen On Campus Of West Texas College

CANYON, Texas—The long delayed construction of the men's dormitory on the campus of the West Texas State Teachers College will definitely begin during the coming week.

Money for the building was received Monday from PWA. J. B. Maxey, general contractor, was here last week end from Lubbock, and placed orders for materials on the building. This is the first PWA project started on W. T. campus, while four more projects have been approved by PWA at Washington.

The building of Buffalo Courts, another campus project, is moving ahead steadily. Two more rooms were completed Wednesday, and ten boys moved to the new quarters. Eight rooms in the Courts are now occupied by 25 boys.

Al Baggett, College coach, states that the materials for the recreation hall will be bought in a few days by the Board of Control from the money appropriated by the legislature three weeks ago. Mr. Baggett says that according to present plans five more rooms will be completed on the Courts during the summer months.

MATRIMONIAL TANGLE

One of the strangest matrimonial mix-ups on record is reported from Pittsburgh. John Murphy and Frances Jones wanted to get married, but on account of Murphy's extremely youthful appearance he feared to apply for a marriage license, so a friend named Lefflingwell volunteered to secure the coveted document in Murphy's name, which was done.

To complete his good turn, Lefflingwell also went through the marriage ceremony with Miss Jones, representing himself to be Murphy, then turned the happy bride and wedding certificate over to Murphy and called it a day.

Later on, meditating no doubt over his friend's happiness, Lefflingwell took unto himself a bride of his own, but their matrimonial bark soon went upon the rocks of incompatibility and a divorce was the result. Meditating again, Lefflingwell was reminded that he had really been married to the supposed Mrs. Murphy, confronted her with the fact, and suggested that she fly with him. She flew. Tiring of wedded life for the second time, Lefflingwell flew again, but alone. In the meantime Murphy has also disappeared.

Now Mrs. Murphy, or it may be Mrs. Lefflingwell, if either, finds herself in a predicament and is asking these questions: Has she a husband at all? Or has she two? Or if only one, which?—and why?

MILL'S TRUE PROPHECY

Shortly before his death in 1873, the noted English philosopher and economist, John Stuart Mill, expressed his views concerning the essentials of freedom and the tendency of various individuals and groups to impose their own opinions and rules of conduct upon others. He said:

"The only freedom which deserves the name is that of pursuing our own good in our own way, so long as we do not attempt to deprive others of theirs. Mankind are greater gainers by suffering each other to live as seems good to themselves, than by compelling each to live as seems good to the rest. The disposition of mankind, whether as rulers or as fellow citizens, to impose their own opinions and inclinations as a rule of conduct on others is so energetically supported by some of the best and by some of the worst feelings incident to human nature, that it is hardly ever kept under restraint by anything but want of power. As the power is not declining, but growing, unless a strong barrier of moral conviction can be raised against the mischief, we must expect in the present circumstances of the world, to see it increase."

The "mischief" of meddling and interference has increased, as Mill feared, and today is in evidence to a greater extent than ever before. In our business life, specially, we are ruled by an army of petty tyrants and bureaucrats, whose edicts and rulings are supposed to have the full force and effect of law. And the end of this sort of thing is by no means in sight.

BLOOD FOR FREEDOM

When the time came for signing the new constitution for the Philippine Islands in Manila a few weeks ago, Gregorio Perfecto, a delegate in the insular House of Representatives, insisted on affixing his signature with his own blood. Accordingly a surgeon opened a vein in Delegate Perfecto's arm to gratify his patriotic whim.

Later, in Washington, President Roosevelt signed the same document, but with ordinary ink. But before becoming operative, the new constitution must be ratified by a vote of the Philipinos, which is considered a foregone conclusion. It is probable that the new government for the islands will be set up before the end of the present year. If all goes well, the Philipinos will have full independence by 1946.

Whether this will be a good thing for the Philipinos is a moot question. A serious economic situation is seen in the fact that they will lose their duty-free privileges now enjoyed with respect to most of their exports to the United States. Another danger is that the islands, removed from the protection of this country, may be endangered by aggression on the part of a foreign power, especially Japan.

But, if the Philipinos are willing to take the risk involved in making the change, that is their affair. During the 37 years in which they have been under American protection they have been a liability rather than an asset to Uncle Sam.

AN OUTWORN SYSTEM

Several years ago the late Chief Justice Taft declared that American criminal procedure was a disgrace to the nation. A recent utterance on the same subject by Judge Walter B. Jones of Alabama is to the same effect, and is worthy of being widely published. He said, in substance:

In the interest of justice and in the name of common sense a change is needed in the ideas we have about criminal trials. Instead of a procedure in which one side works entirely with the object of finding a defendant guilty and the other side with the object of finding him entirely innocent, both sides disregarding or distorting the facts to suit their opposing purposes, he suggests that everything should be subordinate to the truth, and then let the chips fall where they may.

He pleads for doing away with the absurdities of the average criminal trial, for sweeping away all sham and pretense, and the squelching of technicalities which serve only to defeat the ends of justice. In conclusion Judge Jones declared:

"We are living in an age of the airplane-machine gun killer and robber, and yet we are apparently content to hunt him in an ox-cart with slingshot."

A statistician says it costs $6,000 to bring up the average child. A rather potent argument for birth control.

The Great American Home

OUR PAST

By C. C. BISHOP

During the days of the Texas Republic they had many things to employ their minds. One was if the Mexican Government would make war on Texas again. Another great problem that confronted the people was the question of annexation to the United States or some other nation.

Besides all this the Indian question was one of great importance, many times after settlements had been well established the Indians killed and drove off the settlers.

Some of the happenings of the Republic we wish to recall what was given in one issue of a weekly paper.

Sadness had come upon the Republic over the death of two well-beloved citizens. One was the president of the United States, Andrew Jackson, and the other was Kenneth L. Anderson, vice president of the Republic. Anderson had died the last week in June, 1845. He was "a man of great tact, unquestioned integrity, and natural kindness of heart. He kept his popularity throughout his political career. We meet a few such men in life," the Northern Standard editor of Clarksville wrote.

President Jackson died in the States, and Texas had been represented at his funeral by General T. J. Green, Geo. Van Ness, Lieutenant Clarke, and Branch T. Archer, recently resigned from the cabinet.

The loss of the two men could not be dwelled upon long, for too many things were happening. Comanche Indians had been discovered along Brushy Creek, (near Austin) and had been met by one hundred citizens of Robertson and Milan Counties, together with the Lipans and Tonkaways. They dispersed with little difficulty, but succeeded in frightening the inhabitants of Austin considerably.

In the community of San Augustine the ladies held a fair and sold everything from "English rabbits to bachelors." After the manner of the young ladies in Maine, Texas girls decided to discuss at their temperance meeting the subject of "Total Abstinence, or No Husbands." The whiskey distillery on Long Row in Houston was a shame and disgrace. It mattered little that the owner also manufactured tin ware, copper ware, and made casts for bells and "Sturups."

Another article in this issue of the publication carried a story about the truly shocking news of happenings in Galveston, however, a city that formerly had good morals was now in a state of corruption, it was said.

A woman was fined for beating her husband, a man was sent to jail for assaulting his wife, and another man was sent to jail for drunkenness.

In the same year of the above happenings an article was carried in a Texas paper about the price of corn. One farmer reported that he sold corn for $1.36 per bushel at Corpus Christi, while one week later the price had dropped to $1.12. Some farmers near Bas-

Influence Of The Church

Text: Acts 2:41-45; Ephesians 4:1-7, 11-16

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for May 12.

The union of faith and experience to produce fellowship explains the origin of the Christian Church, and of every new movement and organization in the Church's history. Sometimes the faith and the experience are narrow, and the resulting movement and fellowship are sectional or sectarian. This, also, has been the history of the Christian Church.

But in the beginning the Church arose out of a very definite experience of repentance and salvation. The Church had no great temples. There was no organization with worldly strength which men might join for the sake of social prestige, or for the sake of power.

The Church consisted of small groups of those who had found the new experience of salvation and life in Christ Jesus. These groups met in a measure of seclusion, with the threat of persecution constantly upon them.

One can hardly think of anyone joining the Church in those days except from strong conviction and because the Church represented a fellowship in something more precious than anything that the world offered. The marvel is that even under these conditions the members of this early church were not always ideal.

We need only read Paul's epistles to see how even in this primitive church, where everything connected with it seemed to involve sacrifice, there were those whose lives were not proof against vice and whose spirits were not free from narrowness.

But here in our lesson, in the record of the first gathering and fellowship, we have the revelation of an ideal and practice so glorious that there seems little hope of humanity rising to it. So seriously did these early Christians take the words of Jesus concerning brotherly love and the surrender of all to God, that they were willing to disregard their personal possessions, to have all things in common, and even to sell what they had so that any one who needed might be supplied.

If one could find that quality of Christian character and Christian courage more widely exemplified, the solution of life's problems would be easy, particularly in an age when we have discovered that man's conquest of nature is able to provide an abundance of all that is necessary for human life and far beyond man's need.

To imagine, however, that such a state of society could be organized out of a world of unregenerate men, whose hearts and habits are dominated by self-interests, is to trust to a vain delusion.

Yet the ideal in this picture of the early Church is one that should not lightly be obscured. The church in its true character represents a fellowship of love and service with life on a plane far above that of worldly ideals and motives.

The hope of the world is that, in a society dominated largely by self-interest, there are so many, like these early Christians, who live for higher things. They are in the world, but not of the world. They are subject to the conditions of society in which they live, but they recognize a higher loyalty to a Master who came not to seek his own, but to live for others and for the building up of the Kingdom of God.

The Church, making its growth and progress in a world so different from itself, is often colored and marred by its environment. Yet to the eye of faith there is hope in the number of those who strive with sincerity and earnestness to live according to the teachings of Jesus and who seek through the fellowship of the Church to leave the world with righteousness, love, and truth.

What real hope is there for the world apart from that?

Ineva Cudd coming from the post office carrying a handful of mail and a parcel post package.

Wiley Whitley and Jack Henderson smiling very happily as they discussed business prospects after the rain.

Dorothy and Katherine McMinn looking at dry goods in a local store and Dorothy remarking that it was too cold to concentrate even on prints.

H. B. Duke saying, "Who said we couldn't stop sand storms?" and Bill Whitley answering, "Yea boy, it's snowing right now." Another person who says it snowed here Saturday.

Joe Horn very much peevish because his chain on his bicycle was too tight and he couldn't operate it.

Mrs. M. Winter and Mrs. Bob Hickman admiring the display of pretty spring dresses in a local dry goods window.

Rev. and Mrs. T. M. Johnston looking at the display of beautiful hand painted pictures in the library.

Mrs. J. T. Hancock and Mrs. J. A. Leach window shopping.

Emmitt Leach scanning the sky Friday—don't know whether he was watching the clouds or looking for sand.

Gene Wright refusing a ride to the opposite side of the street—saying he was in a hurry to get there.

V. P. Allred and Andy Fennell discussing spring prospects and financial conditions.

C. F. Jones saying he was going to buy a pair of shoes as he is on his feet again.

Jeff Greer and Mrs. J. B. Hauer driving around the square trying to locate the Saturday drawing—that shouldn't be hard to do.

Clyde Emmert and Willie Williams standing in the shelter of a building waiting patiently for the drawing to start.

Mrs. Orval Couch saying that she had started to answer a chain letter that she had received when she noticed that several people had been fined and arrested so she changed her mind.

LETTERS From the PEOPLE

(Editor's Note: The Leader will gladly publish any acceptable article which is submitted by readers, provided that the articles are signed by the readers and are free from libelous or malicious contents.)

Regarding the recent tie vote on City Band Tax, which would have provided musical instruction to school band of thirty pieces (at present) 18 pieces of school orchestra, and a Boy Scout executive with enough time available that we might carry on in a better manner our Boy Scout program, which now includes 126 boys in our city.

I wish to thank those voters who voted for the band tax. It is my belief that many of those who voted against, had they known the purpose of this tax would have cast a different ballot, and those who did not take time out to vote would have been more enthusiastic.

1. We have in our city two Boy Scout troops and one Cub Scout pack. Many of these are underprivileged children. Scout training is beneficial to all. Any of our readers are invited to attend any Scout meeting on either Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday night, at the Legion Hall.

2. We have a young symphony orchestra in the embryo stage, composed of youngsters, who by reason of their talent will make this a better community in which to live.

Town Band, School Band

3. It is possible to have both, but more practical to have a school band for the members are of an age where they do not have jobs, or other responsibilities, and are able to play at any and all times that the occasion merits their appearance. Our present thirty piece school band with the additional strength to be gained by the addition of older musicians here in town, will be a fine one in a few more months.

Musical Training Minus Tuition
4. You might ask our good basketball coach Jarvis if he can limit the members of his team to those only, who can afford to pay tuition. Also, the coach might be asked whether his football gate receipts would be augmented by reason of having a good uniformed band.

Ask the players if they receive an additional stimulus from the driving strains of a good march, and the cheers of a good pep squad. Tuition is a handicap to progress, when the small amount of one mill tax ($1.00 on each $1,000 valuation) of city property is could be eliminated. Many thinking, but imposed upon merchants have seen the value of advertising to be gained from a good band. Weekly trips are made into the trade territory by our present band to assist in rural program, and to keep alive in the hearts of the people thereof a warm spot for the merchants and people of Wellington. Ask them if they like it.

Progress is made in any community in spite of some people, but because of them. These people can be classified as follows:

1. Those who are honest in their opinion.
2. Professional "Aginners." Everything that is up should be down and vice versa.
3. Those on the fence—afraid to commit themselves or lacking in interest. These subjects are classified in the zoology department as jellyfish.
4. Then in every community there are a few old timers, whose motto is: "Peddlers, we gotta protect ourselves against them thar new comers, by heck."

In lieu of the recent tie vote of 125-125 and knowing that the laws of our city must be for justice and for the good of the most people, I feel sure and would like to see another vote taken that we might see the expression (in votes) of all those interested before, those who understand the purpose of this tax more clearly, and of those still agin.

WELLINGTON

People . . . Places . . . Philosophy

By Jimmie Gillentine

On the first page of this edition may be seen the likeness of Deck Wells. One of my first set of instructions when I went to work on The Leader was to never print Deck's picture in the paper. He substantiates this viewpoint by the fact that he is editor and that people will think him brazen in publishing his own picture. Personally, I think however that he is just afraid he will break the press and have to buy some new parts for repairs.

We just got in a new set of rollers this week so I decided to take a chance and print the picture.

Pink Sullivan, Fatty Watkins, and Joe Hardy have been trying to get me to run it everytime Deck leaves town. Fatty even went so far as to call me "yellow" one time because I wouldn't. I saw his picture in the Amarillo Daily News, Wichita Record News and in the Childress Index—and somehow couldn't quite figure out why we couldn't put it in The Leader, especially since Deck was out of town and couldn't stop us.

If Deck gets mad I want everyone to tell him that they didn't even see the picture.

Richard Cocks and I were telling Joe Hardy about making our wives believe that the cherries used in drug stores were made out of paper. Joe waited until we got through and said, "Well, it shouldn't be hard for you boys to fool those two girls about anything after the way you fooled them when you married them."

Folks, here is a real sand-

Judge A. J. Fires says that every sandstorm he sees he believes to be the worst one he ever witnessed in his life and tells the following yarn. Once when he first came out into the country where a man had died in a half-dugout. He was sitting in the room when the man's son walked in and shook his head, then said, "Well, Pa's had lot of sick spells, but I reckon this is the worst one he ever had."

This chain letter business is getting on my nerves. Every time I go to the post office I get a flock of those letters—and every time I get one I feel like it is a blight upon my supposed intelligence. What do you think about them?

Lillie School Will Close May 24 With Program

Members Of Class, Teachers, Trustees And Achievements Listed

The Lillie school will close May 24 with graduating exercises for the seventh grade and program given by the intermediate and primary grades of the school. Those students in the seventh grade subject to graduation are: Gerald Gray, Bernice Bradley, Raymond Horton, Marie Harwell, Novia Lowe, Robert Fike and Dorothy B. Montgomery.

Thursday evening, preceding the graduation exercises on Friday evening, a play will be given by the high school students, entitled, "The Girl in the Fur Coat," a comedy-drama in three acts with plenty of thrills and suspense throughout the play. A small fee will be charged, five and ten cents. Efforts will be made to secure an orchestra to play during the intermission between the acts and before the play starts. The cast of characters for the play are: Gerald Gray, Jack Lowe, Bernice Bradley, Zelma Hall, Zora Bell Morris, Lynn Murrell Humphrey, Cletus Coidron, Thomas McMinn, Anna Maude Morton, Nellie Fike and Elmo Harwell.

The Lillie School will complete a months' term upon the closing date mentioned above, May 24. The school has made progress in many ways and interest on the part of the students and parents has grown in every phase from the beginning of the school term.

As for the Interscholastic League work, the Lillie school has given a good account of itself. Basketball and playground ball were lost to Quail by a small margin. In the county meet the Lillie school hit its stride and Anna Maude Morton won first place in senior girls' declamation; Lola Mae McMinn won first place in junior girls' declamation; Gerald Deen Graham won first place in junior spelling; Anna Maude Morton won first place in high school spelling; Anna Maude Morton also won second place in essay writing. Lola Mae McMinn and Anna Maude Morton represented this county at the district in their respective divisions in declamation but failed to win.

In track and field events, Lillie won senior boys' track, junior girls' track and tied with Prairie View school for first place in senior girls' track.

When all the points were totaled Lillie won the county championship in the rural division of the Interscholastic League, receiving the large loving cup for that honor.

Improvements that have been made on the school building and grounds this year, include: repairs on stoves, extending flues, new steps in front of building, a new chart for primary room, new blackboard for high school room, enameling desks, new floor in coal use, sanitary drinking fountain, new seesaws and a new cement brick toilet was erected for the boys.

The present members of the Lillie school board are as follows: Denz Burkhalter, president; Cecil Brooks as secretary; Mr. Hall, Malcom Horton, Verdine Wilson, Ozro Bartlett, Charlie Graham.

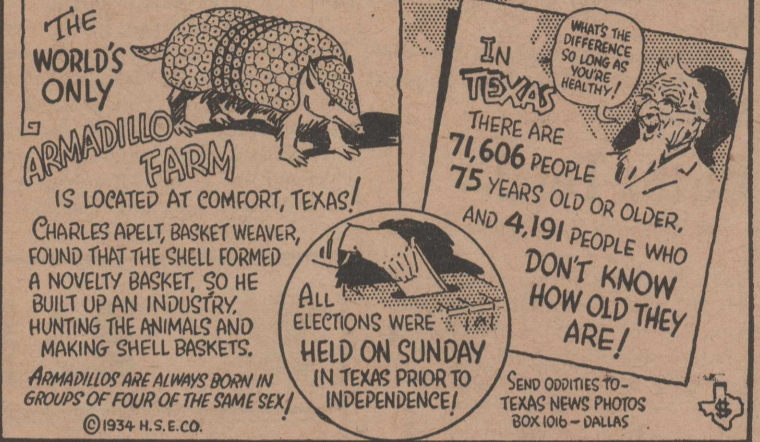

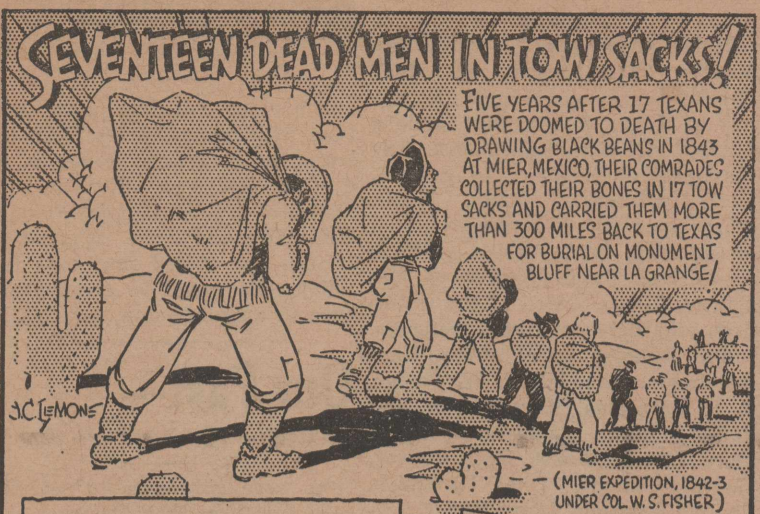

The teachers for the Lillie school this year are: G. Dallas Waters, principal; Mrs. Lewis Morris, intermediate, Carrie Jane Wade, primary. All teachers for the Lillie School mentioned above have been retained for another year.

"The teachers of the Lillie school," said G. Dallas Waters, principal, "wish to thank the members of the school board and the members of the community for their interest and splendid co-operation in helping to make this school year a success and since the Lillie school is now a part of the Quail Rural High School District, No. 4, it is hoped that such interest and co-operation will continue to exist."

Girl's Curiosity Unites Brothers After 17 Years

RATON, N. M.—Two brothers, Glen and Barry Rogers, who, as members of the Forty-fifth Regiment, Eighty-Ninth Division overseas in the World War, were separated September 1, 1918, were reunited last week through the curiosity of a night club hostess. The hostess noted the resemblance of the two men, brought them together and the identification followed. Each had believed the other was killed on the battlefields of France.

Farmers Report--

The moisture began falling here shortly before 2 o'clock Saturday morning in the form of light showers and continued through the night; at 7:30 o'clock Saturday morning a total of three-fourths of an inch of rain was reported in the J. M. Strong floral gauge. The moisture continued to drizzle in a heavy mist Saturday with an occasional light shower and was followed by clouds and possibility of more rain Sunday. The total rainfall measured one and five-hundredths (1.05) of an inch in Wellington.

General Over County
Rainfall was general over the entire county, according to reports, brought relief with about the same amount of moisture shown in every community which was reported in Wellington.

Memphis, Childress, Shamrock, Clarendon, and Hedley reported similar rainfall as that in this county. Wellington merchants, like the farmers, took renewed hopes for bumper crops in the county, this fall and farmers in town this week have gone about the tasks with more cheerfulness than in recent weeks.

Planting Is Started
Until the rain last Saturday this county had received only one and one-half inches of moisture since February 12. Much land was already plowed in this county, but little planting had been done previous to the rain. Farmers generally took up the task of planting their crops this week.

Other points saw a different fare, however, according to Associated Press reports, which showed beneficial snow in the north Panhandle, from Dalhart and extending to Denver, and reaching as far south as Hereford.

In the north and east central portions of Texas, heavy rains brought rises of dangerous proportions to streams and damaged crops. Streams in the Denison area went out of their banks and lakes gushed over following a four and one-half inch rain. Three bridges were washed out at Sherman.

accepting the local call. He will be accompanied by his wife.

At first a lawyer by profession, Minister Wood received his first training at Lebanon, Tenn., and after practicing law for several years entered the ministry and has served in West Texas churches since that time. He will fill a vacancy in the local church which has been open for the past six months following the resignation of Minister H. V. Hendry.

Members of the church have expressed themselves as being well pleased with the selection of Minister Wood and their unanimous vote in calling him to the pulpit has signified their whole-hearted approval of him, leaders said.

Minister Wood and his wife are now visiting his mother in Tennessee, but plan to return here Saturday and take up their regular work Sunday morning.

In the future the church will hold regular worship hours at 11 o'clock each Sunday morning and 8 o'clock each Sunday evening, according to announcements. Sunday School will be held at 10 o'clock each Sunday morning and the Young People's Bible service will be held at 7 o'clock each Sunday evening.

B. tests will be also surveyed through these organizations.

E. L. Myers, district shelterbelt superintendent, will be in this county within the next two weeks and will contact each of the farm organization leaders to secure the shelterbelt applications. Blank forms will be distributed to the county organizations and the leaders will in turn give applications to the residents in their area who are interested in applying for shelterbelt strips.

As previously announced the strips will be planted in a width of 10 rods at intervals across the county and will be either bought or rented with an option to buy by the government. Plans state that the strips are to be fenced and that various types of trees will be planted in the enclosures.

Applications will not be considered as contracts, John O. Stovall, agent, said, but will merely show the interest of the person applying and will be followed by contracts if the government and farmers are able to agree on details. Applications are to be handled solely through the agricultural associations.

"Due to the fact that our stock is not yet as complete as we plan to make it we will wait a week or two before holding our formal opening," Mr. Duckworth said. "The store will feature a complete line of quality groceries and meats and will offer special prices on these items in Collingsworth County."

Following the opening of the store W. Duckworth expects to return to Olney and J. D. Duckworth will have charge of the Store in Wellington.

28 Years Experience

Mr. Duckworth has been in the grocery business for the past 23 years, having gone into business for himself at that time. He also worked in stores previous to opening his own store in 1912. J. D. Duckworth likewise has had extensive experience in the grocery business, having assisted in his father's store and taken a regular position in the stores when he finished school.

The Wellington store will include modern refrigeration systems, clean neat displays and has been completely repainted and furnished on the interior during the past two weeks. Shelving and display tables are also decorated in bright colors which shed a cheery atmosphere to the store. Mr. Duckworth states that the store will be operated on a cash basis and will feature quality merchandise at low prices.

Charging that his father-in-law influenced his bride to leave him on their wedding night, Elmer Andrews of Cancover, B. C., won $500 damages.

trop were only able to sell their corn for three bits a bushel.

Thus we glimpse life in early Texas communities. There was a constant series of events that kept the attention of the settlers on things other than their worries.

Manners and customs have changed in Texas' hundred years of independence, but Texans are fundamentally the same. Centennial celebrations of 1936 will be dedicated to the pioneers, for the noble work that they did for our State.
