HER CHEERY GREETINGS BRING $500

Here's a tip Lubbock waitresses might follow to good advantage. For 15 years Mrs. Maudine Collins, Kansas City waitress, smiled a cheery good morning to James K. Morris, a patron in the restaurant where she worked. After Morris' death his will revealed he had left his entire estate—$500 and some jewelry—to her because of her daily smile.

Madrid Besiegers Stand Firm And Repel Attacks Launched From The Air

TONS OF BOMBS ARE DROPPED BY SQUADRONS OF PLANES; STRATEGIC HILL IS CAPTURED

By The Associated Press

Socialist airmen five times today attempted to break the lines of Madrid's fascist besiegers.

Squadrons of government planes dropped tons of bombs on fascist lines south and west of the beleaguered capital while infantrymen were capturing a strategic hill dominating the northwestern battle zone.

Portugal, long fearful such civil strife would spread through the entire Iberian peninsula, blamed two days of terroristic bombings on international agitators and said the "Spanish reds" had previous knowledge bombs would explode in Portuguese public buildings including the war and education ministries.

The insurgent headquarters at San Sebastian added a threat to the complicated international situation, announcing the fascist fleet in Biscay bay had been ordered to halt and inspect any vessel encountered in waters controlled by insurgents.

Germany meanwhile made ready to reply to the British note demanding a ban on foreign volunteers. The note being put in final form after Reichsfuehrer Hitler's approval, will be favorable in tone but will make no detailed commitments.

Plans for an insurgent coup in autonomous Catalonia, reports from Perpignan, France said, were frustrated when a ton of dynamite was discovered in a villa outside Barcelona. Directors for aiding the landing of fascist troops also was found, the reports declared.

Germany's Colonial Dream Near Reality

LEASING OF LAND IN ANGOLA REPORTED BEING PLANNED

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—Persistent yet officially denied rumors amid the ranks of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's black-uniformed "schutz staffel" today had it that Germany's colonial dream would be partly realized Jan 30.

That is the day der fuehrer will address the reichstag, commemorating four years of nazi power in Germany, and members of the bodyguard heard the reich was about to lease part of Portuguese Angola for 99 years.

Precious Raw Materials

Angola, containing 476,712 square miles covers a section of Africa twice as large as Germany itself and has many precious raw materials which are either scarce or nonexistent in Germany. These include gold, silver, copper, manganese, cotton and rubber).

Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, attacked Czechoslovakia as the Soviet union's military outpost in central Europe.

Linked To Russia

Going beyond a thinly veiled warning from the foreign office to the border state to revise its attitude to Germany while opportunity remained, the nazi leader's paper definitely linked Czechoslovakia to Russia.

RETAIL TRADE IN ADVANCE

VOLUME IS BOLSTERED BY SPECIAL PLANS AND PROMOTIONS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Diversity of demand occasioned by the vagaries of weather in various sections of the country enabled retail trade to make a better showing this week, Dun & Bradstreet said today in the weekly review of business.

Wide sweeps of temperature spread needs through the entire range of offerings, the agency said, with special promotions bolstering volume in areas where mild weather prevailed.

Buying Is Expanded

"Reorders to freshen current inventories and preparations for early spring merchandising events extended the expansion of buying in wholesale markets," the review said.

"Although industries unaffected by labor tangles advanced their operating rates, the steady flow of new business resulted in slow back-

Ultimatum Offered In Chinese Revolt

NANKING, Jan. 22 (AP)—Military authorities issued an ultimatum today to the revolting communist-inspired armies of the northwest, ordering them to surrender by midnight (10 a. m., C. S. T.) or war would follow.

At the same time reports here indicated the revolution had spread from Shensi province to Kansu and Tsinghai, threatening the safety of 38 Americans.

VERY "IFFY" QUESTION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22. (AP) — Asked at his press conference today if any consideration was being given to legislation affecting the Supreme court, President Roosevelt said that was a very "iffy" question.

TWO BABIES DIE TODAY AT END OF MERCY DASH

By The Associated Press

MONTREAL, Jan. 22. (Canadian Press)—Two of the Rondeau quadruplets, rushed to St. Justine hospital in a 40-mile dash over icy roads during which their ambulance crashed into a snow plow, died today.

Hospital attendants announced the dead babies were Joseph Archille Alfred and Marie Lise, third and fourth in the order of birth.

Born Thursday

The two boys and two girls were born yesterday to Mrs. Arcade Rondeau, 40-year-old farmwife of St. Thomas, Que.

Fearful the infants, weighing little more than two pounds each, could not live unless placed in incubators, physicians ordered them brought here before dawn.

All reached the hospital alive and apparently unhurt in the accident, doctors said.

At the end of his mercy dash, the ambulance driver was carried from his seat on a stretcher. He, the doctor, and one of two nurses accompanying the quadruplets were injured in the crash.

LEADERS BELIEVE THE NEXT STEP IS NOW UP TO PRESIDENT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22—President Roosevelt said today statements, conversations and headlines were "not in order" in efforts to settle the automobile strike.

The president made his first comment on the sit-down strike in General Motors plants at his first press conference of his second term.

No Further News

"In response to questions about the stalemate in government efforts to settle the widespread strike, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"I have no further news than what you have. Of course, I think that in the interest of peace there come moments when statements, conversations and headlines are not in order.

In a departure from customary rules of his press conferences, he allowed this statement to be quoted.

Speculation Aroused

It aroused immediate speculation over whether he directed it against any particular statement by either side or press interviews and other remarks given by representatives of both sides.

Negotiations for further conferences ended abruptly for the second time here yesterday after conferences at the labor department.

Both Alfred P. Sloan jr., company president, and bushy-haired John L. Lewis, strike generalissimo, indicated their belief a White House conference was the next logical step.

The White House has given no indication, however, that Mr. Roosevelt would make any immediate

WOMAN SORRY FOR CRIMES

DECLARES THAT SHE WILL MAKE AMENDS FOR ALL TROUBLE

By The Associated Press

COLLEGEVILLE, Ark., Jan. 22—Penitent Mrs. Billie Bell, 237-pound "perfect" prisoner at the state reformatory, accepted responsibility today for some two-score forgeries in offering aid to exonerate a Texas woman accused of the crimes.

Texas authorities convicted Mrs. Nell Harvey, Wichita Falls, of passing worthless checks at three cities. Scores of witnesses "positively identified" her as the person who passed checks at more than nine other cities. She spent over six months in various jails.

Obtains Statement

J. Earl Kuntz, Mrs. Harvey's lawyer, noticed a picture of Mrs. Bell in a detective story magazine. It resembled that of his client. He traced the Arkansas prisoner and obtained from her a statement he said cleared the Wichita Falls

CRISIS FACES JAPAN TODAY

MILITARY CONTROL OF JAP CABINETS NOW IS THREATENED

By The Associated Press

The storm in the Japanese diet parliamentarians is the release of civilian politicians long smouldering resentment of the army's domination of imperial policy and the defense services heavy drains on the national purse.

It may presage the end of a five-year cycle of military control of Japanese cabinets; it may impel the militarists and bureaucrats to move swiftly if they wish to swing Japan toward fascism, and a totalitarian state under the emperor.

CONFESSION MADE IN SLAYING CASE

SNYDER, Jan. 22 (AP)—County Attorney Sterling Williams said today J. L. Heard had admitted killing his trapping partner, J. H. Reynolds, in an argument Dec. 21 over a trap.

The Scurry county attorney said the argument occurred while Reynolds was setting a trap on the edge of a water hole in the Colorado river 12 miles south of Gail, Borden county.

Heard held in the Scurry county jail since his arrest at Odessa the day Reynolds' body was found, has been charged with murder.

Williams quoted Heard as saying he struck Reynolds, his lifelong friend, on the head with a hatchet after Reynolds drew a gun and threatened him. According to the county attorney, Heard said the body fell into the water hole and Heard covered it to a nearby gulch, piling dirt over it with a stick.

Prayers Are Said For Former Leader

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 22 (AP)—Pope Pius XI himself dangerously ill, recited special prayers from his sickbed today in memory of his predecessor, Benedict XV, who died just 15 years ago.

Mass was said simultaneously in the private chapel, adjoining the sick room for the man who made Pius both archbishop and cardinal.

TEXAS VALLEY HAS ESCAPED ICY BLAST

MERCURY RANGES FROM 6 AT AMARILLO TO 72 DOWN SOUTH

By The Associated Press

A stinging cold wave chilled North Texas today while the Rio Grande citrus belt basked in almost summery weather.

There was an amazing range of temperatures varying from 6 above zero in the Panhandle to 72 at Brownsville as the winter's latest onslaught forged across the Lone Star state's extraordinary expanse.

Roads Ice Covered

Flurries of sleet and rain, freezing as they fell, turned the northern part of the state into a treacherous network of ice-slicked highways and streets, again threatening disruption of communication and power lines.

Despite the northers tight grip this morning, the weatherman saw some hope of relief in clearing skies to the west.

For the second straight day Amarillo thermometers registered a low of 6 above zero this morning. The mercury had not been above 18 at Amarillo in the last 24 hours. Borger was chilled by 10-above zero weather but had no snow.

Gradually Creeps Upward

From those minimums, the temperature chart gradually crept upward in readings to the south but only the gulf coast plains and the lower Rio Grande valley showed readings above the freezing mark.

The low pressure area which kept the cold wave out of the valley still blocked its advance today. Brownsville's barometer reading 29.66. The weather bureau said it was probable the high pressure area to the north

PARTIES PLAN FOR DRIVES

POLITICAL GROUPS TO SEEK CASH TO WAGE ELECTION FIGHTS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON Jan 22—Plains of the major parties to raise continuous campaign funds indicated today there would be no political armistice as at the start of the first Roosevelt administration.

Officials of both the Democratic and Republican national committees looked first to elimination of the deficits — about $500,000 and $900,000 respectively — and then to generous sums to keep the party viewpoints constantly before the voters.

Goal Is Set

W. Forbes Morgan, Democratic treasurer, set a $10,500,000 goal for contributions before the 1940 presidential election under his "systematized control" plan accepted by the committee yesterday.

Chairman Joe Hamilton and other Republicans were expected soon to complete their financing plans.

Seven Persons Are Held As Suspects

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 22 (AP)—Five men and two women were held for questioning by local officers today as the investigation into the killing of Motorcycle Officer A. A. Edwards continued.

Three of the men and the women were brought here last night from Corpus Christi where they were arrested in an apartment house and are to be viewed by witnesses in the policeman's slaying.

INFLUENZA INCREASES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22. (AP)—The public health service said today influenza cases almost doubled during the week ended January 6.

A total of 23,258 cases was reported, compared with 12,145 the previous week.

KFYO's Service To Be Improved

DeWITT (Judge) LANDIS

Manager of "Radio Station KFYO, The Avalanche-Journal Station in Lubbock, Texas, the Hub of the Plains and the Home of Texas Tech."

STATION TO CUT OVER ON NEW EQUIPMENT EARLY TOMORROW

At 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning, Radio Station KFYO will leave the air. Fifteen minutes later, the voice of the Avalanche-Journal will return to the air.

During those 15 minutes of silence a vast change will take place. At 8:30, when the power is cut off, KFYO's listeners will have heard for the last time a program put on the air through the old composite transmitter that has served KFYO in Breckenridge, Abilene and Lubbock since 1927.

Transmitter Latest Type

At 8:45 KFYO will return to the air with a brand new transmitter. It is the latest type RCA high-fidelity transmitter which will feed the new vertical steel tower, now serving as the antenna for the station.

Listeners are asked by Manager DeWitt Landis to leave their radios turned on with the dials set at 1310. "The difference," he said, will be amazing."

With the installation of the new transmitter and erection of the tower, KFYO's technical equipment has been entirely replaced since last April 8, when the Avalanche-Journal purchased the station from T. E. Kirksey, founder and owner.

Special Programs Planned

From the time the station comes on the air Saturday morning until "sign-off" Sunday evening, KFYO will carry special dedicatory programs sponsored by merchants and business houses of Lubbock. All of the best talent available in Lubbock and the surrounding area will be heard throughout the two days.

A brief program of dedication, in which leading citizens and representatives of the station and The Avalanche-Journal will be heard is to be on the air Saturday afternoon

CITRUS CROPS THREATENED

ORCHARD HEATERS ARE KEPT GOING TODAY IN CALIFORNIA

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 22—Citrus growers of southern California, fighting to protect a total investment of $500,000,000, kept orchard heaters going hours past the dawn today combating the worst freeze since 1913.

Preliminary reports indicated the damage was not as much as had been feared when forecasts were issued indicating possible lows of 16 degrees at scattered points.

Warm Air Helps

In Los Angeles the official minimum was 34 degrees but Col. L. H. Daingerfield said the warm air drifting from the heated orchards probably prevented the breaking of the all-time low temperature here of 28 degrees, set in 1885 and 1913.

Unofficial, front-porch thermometers dipped as low as 20 degrees, and icicles formed under ice box drains.

Citrus men said the orchard heating was the long and most intense the world has ever seen. The pall of oily smoke over Los Angeles, through which the sun shone but dimly even at 8:30 a. m., P.S.T., was the thickest seen here in a generation.

Fog Horns Heard

It was so heavy at the harbor that fog horns were kept blowing all night.

It will probably be hours, and perhaps days, before agricultural experts can survey the crop, valued in its entirety last year at $112,000,000, to determine if the damage of the first great freeze of the winter, Jan. 9, has been further increased.

Up to last night the loss was unofficially estimated at upwards of $15,000,000.

Twenty-Seven Are Captured In Raids

WICHITA FALLS, Jan. 22 (AP)—Twenty-seven persons, three of them women, were being held in the city jail for investigation today as city and county officers aided by Texas rangers launched a cleanup drive following a series of daring holdups.

Two couples were hijacked and one of the men shot and slightly wounded Thursday night after a daylight holdup in a downtown finance company earlier in the week.

BURNS PROVE FATAL

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 22 (AP) — Burns received when his clothing caught fire from an open stove proved fatal to Stetson Robinson, former local insurance man. He died in an Amarillo hospital last night, according to word received here.

ELEVEN LIVES ARE CLAIMED BY STREAMS

CITIES SUBMERGED BY WATER AND RESCUE WORK HAMPERED

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 22—Relentless rivers of the Ohio valley, swelling toward the highest crests in their history, swept man and his puny barriers before them today.

Flood waters along thousands of miles of riverfront in 10 states claimed at least 11 lives, made more than 80,000 homeless and caused property damage that mounted into the millions.

Catastrophe Threatens

The grim prospect of a major catastrophe hung over cities and towns along the banks of the yellow Ohio, with 15,000 homeless in the Portsmouth area and 10,000 in the Cincinnati district.

Added to the homeless, the injured and the ill were the unemployed, thousands of them forced from water-logged factories.

The nation's flood panorama stretched from Pittsburgh where waters eddied again into the business district, the golden triangle," to northeastern Arkansas and southeastern Missouri, plagued by heavy rain swirling backwaters and the rising Mississippi.

Greatest On Record

The Ohio reached a stage of 70 feet at Cincinnati today. Meteorologist W. C. Devereaux predicted the "greatest flood on record" for Cincinnati and lower river points.

A sleet storm whipped the southern Illinois flood zone, breaking telephone and telegraph connections and adding new hardships to the army of workers reinforcing dikes and levees. Shawnetown, isolated by high water, threatened with the worst flood since 1913, was completely cut off when wires went down. Naval reservists went on the air immediately to establish radio contact with the stricken area.

The Ohio poured through a broken levee at Lawrenceburg, Ind., driving 7,000 residents to high ground. It ripped a half-mile gap in earthen levees at Portsmouth, Ohio, filling one section of the city

FOUR DEAD IN OIL BLAST

FIVE OTHER PERSONS AT WILDCAT TEST ARE UNINJURED

By The Associated Press

HUTCHINSON, Kas., Jan. 22—A boiler explosion killed four members of a wildcat oil drilling test northwest of Hutchinson in Rice county just before midnight last night.

The dead were identified as Jack Stone and C. S. Lemon, Sterling, Kas.; Ralph Crelly, Lusk, Wyo.; and J. G. Calame, Lyons, Kas.

Others Are Unhurt

Five other members of the crew were unhurt in the explosion which was heard for miles around.

The four victims and the five who escaped were all employes of the Roxana Drilling company.

Those who escaped injury were standing on the rig floor 50 feet from the boilers and were protected by the engine house and rig.

Fragments of the bodies were found as far as 600 feet away.

Cause of the explosion was not immediately determined. The well is known as the No. 1 Bailey.

Tech Exams Are To Open On Saturday

Final classes of the fall semester are being conducted at Texas Technological college today, and examinations will begin Saturday. They will end Friday, Jan. 29.

Extra-curricular activities were halted this week so that students might study for the examinations. Three examinations will be conducted daily except for the last two days. Examinations will end at 2 p. m. Friday, Jan. 29, and students will return the following Monday to register for the second semester. Registration will be conducted Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 1-2.

Defiance of "dead" week and examination week is becoming more marked as beards become more stubby. Many men students have not shaved since Saturday. They plan to go unshaved until conclusion of examinations.

Furniture Of Wild West May Be Recreated To Have Comfort And Modern Lines

Pioneer Modes May Be Made Charming

By NEA Service

NEW YORK—New furniture, straight from California, is as rugged as the Rockies. Made of northern maple and pine, it is as sturdy as a cowpuncher's saddle yet as charming as the picture he makes when he sings "Home On the Range" before an open sagebrush fire.

If you are tired of some of your rooms the way they are, this sturdy furniture is just the thing to brighten your interest.

For example, it would be perfect in your husband's den, in the game room or on the sunporch. It is massive and durable yet lovely in a robust kind of way. It can go in your living room or dining room, of course, but it is most ideal for a summer home, seashore cottage or mountain cabin.

Some of the pieces, including a double-decked bed, drawing desk, and gun-stock tripod lamp, were designed especially for a boy's room. With furniture like this, Sonny can romp to his heart's content without breaking chair rungs and table legs.

If you want a "salty" atmosphere in your home, look at the nautical motifs. The chief design used is the wheel of a ship. This is seen on the backs of chairs, lamp bases, bed ends, mirrors and ash trays.

OF STURDY STOCK

The history of this new furniture is pretty interesting, and might make dinner table conversation if nothing else.

It originally portrayed the colorful pioneer days of the early western settlers, the Pony Express, and the life of the Spanish settler and the Mexican emogrant. The original designs and models of it were different and attractive, to be sure. But they were hardly adaptable to modern usage. So they were refined and tamed in color and texture, and now the finished product is a desirable asset to the homes of today.

One of the most original designs is a unique peasant type called Early California. In its primary form, it was copied from the pieces used by Spanish Padres in their early missions—then made by the Indians without the aid of tools.

Naturally, it was sturdy furniture built for long hard use. Realizing the practicality and charm of such pieces, designers went to work. They visualized and made rawhide or rope interlacing seats crudely fastened to a frame totally lacking in graceful lines.

They captured exactly the Mexican use of color; bright hot blues of southwestern skies, brilliant greens of the California valleys, and the golden yellow of the sun. The finish on the furniture was of the rough "old wood" variety, resembling black aged driftwood. Loose cushions were thrown over the ropes or rawhide seats.

Made for the early California homes with their adobe walls, tiles and rafters this furniture was colorful and unusual in appearance, but it certainly wasn't comfortable.

So with the picture of the average American home with its smooth walls and modern interiors in mind the designers again set to work. This time they determined to fashion furniture which would reveal Spanish Mexican and pioneer influence and yet have comfort and modern lines.

Instead of the raw colors of berry red, antique red and mellow yellow they used the exciting cheerful fiesta colors toned down a bit. They used softer toned finishes for the framework, such as briar, tanbark, tobacco brown and age poam. The resultant combination of new colors and new finishes plus decoration of the darker finishes with sprays of colorful flowers and Castilian roses achieved the desired effect.

Our northern hard maple was introduced because it could stand up better under the most extreme climates without warping. The frames were lightened in weight, corners rounded off and springs used in chairs and divans. The use of iron became merely decoration. And finally, the newest upholstery of soft textured chenespuns were used to replace the old rawhide coverings.

Three-fourths of New York state, geologists estimate, was under water millions of years ago.

This living room is done in the new Early California furniture. Lightness of line and finished woods are emphasized in the complete ensemble, including tables, desks, lamps and book stand. The Mexican influence is reflected in bright touches of color that decorate chair and secretary, as well as the striped upholstery.

Card Club Party Is Given Thursday

Sylvester, L. C. Ellis, C. T. Hvass, Sid Claiborne, C. C. Webb, Hub Jones, Charles Read and R. W. Amick.

To Be Introduced

Mrs. C. E. Maedgen, chairman of the program committee of the club, will introduce guests to Mrs. W. S. McDonald, the president. Mrs. McDonald will in turn present Dr. K. E. Oberholtzer, superintendent of schools; Mrs. J. P. Giles, secretary of the hostess organization will present R. W. Matthews, principal of Senior high school, who will introduce the teachers.

Mesdames Oberholtzer and Matthews will officiate at the tea table assisted in serving by Mrs. M. C. Overton, T. R. Prideaux, and Robert Allen. At the register at the door will be Mrs. K. L. Riggs, Mrs. Marvin McLarty and Mrs. Charles Smith. Mrs. H. D. Woods and Mrs. Charles Whitacre, entertainment committee members, will direct guests to the receiving line.

Leidighs, Mowerys Are Dinner Hosts

Dean and Mrs. A. H. Leidigh and Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Mowery were dinner hosts Thursday night at the F. R. Friend home, 2005 Broadway, as an annual courtesy to faculty members of the agricultural division Texas Technological college, and their wives.

The occasion also honored W. L. Stangel, head of the department of animal husbandry, and Mrs. Stangel, who recently returned after a year spent in Dallas; L. G. Harmon and Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Harrison. Messrs. Harmon and Harrison are new professors in the division.

The list of 32 guests included Dr. and Mrs. Bradford Knapp.

In May, 1936, scheduled United States airlines set an alltime record by carrying 96,368 passengers.

Meetings Attended By School Patrons

There were programs for several parent-teacher association groups Thursday afternoon.

Approximately 50 members of the Dupre Parent-Teacher association met at the school building to hear Dr. Arthur Jenkins discuss "Examination and Immunization of School Children." David Coursey, a fourth grade pupil sang two songs, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Jane McArthur. Attendance prize went to Miss Dorothy Rushing's room.

Twenty-nine members attended a meeting of the Central Ward Parent-Teacher association at the First Presbyterian church and heard Julien Paul Blitz play some cello numbers. Piano accompaniments were by Mrs. Blitz. Hubert Lee Burgess played a piano solo.

Attendance prizes went to Mrs. Lattie Rankin's room on the first floor and Miss Frances Conley's on the second.

Mothers Have Meeting

Mothers of pupils in Mrs. Josephine Ballenger's room at George M. Hunt school met in regular session at the school building Mrs. Gus Niblack, a guest, told stories to the children.

Mrs. Ballenger explained work the children are doing in school and showed a list of the children's rating in class accomplishments.

Mrs. Jimmy Davis served refreshments. Other mothers attending were Mesdames George Barnett, Arnold Campbell, R. F. Houk and J. Sam Lewis.

Twenty-eight pupils of Miss Susie Shipp's room at George M. Hunt school were entertained at the school building by Mesdames Arthur Pierce and S. L. Parkinson. Games were played and refreshments were served.

Louie Paulger Is Honored Thursday

Miss Louie Paulger, who is leaving today to resume her studies at Moody Bible institute in Chicago, was complimented when Mesdames W. H. Trice and A. L. Hawkins entertained with a miscellaneous shower Thursday night at the Trice home, 1917 Sixteenth street.

Miss Paulger is a daughter of Mrs. Elda Mae Paulger, 1814 Avenue X. She plans to remain in Chicago a year and a half, at the end of which period she is to receive a degree.

Games and contests were the order of entertainment. Refreshments were served.

The guest list included Mesdames W. C. Barnett, G. W. Scott, W. T. Raybon, William Lowrimore, D. A. Davis, H. E. Singley, Ida Whittaker, William Whittaker, A. L. Faubion, Minnie Pickas, N. A. Terrell, Tom Owens, R. R. Baise, E. A. Rampy, L. R. Rampy, J. B. Rhodes, Ralston Woolam, Paulger and Misses LaVerne Terrell, Dorothy Duncan, Arabelle Stahl, Gladys Tyson, Martha and Jennie Mae Whittaker, Tarsey and Bertha Singley, Eudora Trice and Evelyn Raybon.

Le Jeudi Club Holds Annual Election

Officers were elected by Le Jeudi club Thursday afternoon at a meeting with Mrs. Charles A. Ross 1924 Ninth street. They are:

President, Mrs. C. R. Matthews; vice-president, Mrs. B. L. Sheppard; treasurer, Mrs. L. L. Miller, and secretary-reporter, Mrs. Ross.

Mesdames G. G. Stringer, C. E. Fry and O. A. Gooding were received as members.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Matthews talked on the subject, "Father Time," and late New Year's resolutions were read by the members.

The hostess served coffee, stuffed dates and candy cookies to Mesdames Fry, Sheppard, Matthews, Stringer, W. J. Whittaker, T. S. Cranford, F. W. Martin, Claude Martin, Miller, M. Cranford and a guest, Mrs. H. R. Cleveland. Miss Marzelle Wallace assisted in serving.

The club will meet at 3 p. m., February 4 with Mrs. Whittaker, 1810 Ninth street.

Religious Group Has Discussion Hour

The Rev. C. E. Hereford of First Baptist church was speaker at a supper meeting of the Students Religious council at the First Presbyterian church Thursday night. He discussed the advantages of religion to the college student.

Mrs. W. R. Vivrett, chairman, presided.

Mrs. William Dingus, program committee chairman, discussed plans for monthly meetings of the council during the remainder of the scholastic year.

Nurses Entertain Honoring Director

Honoring Mrs. Harry Tomlinson, director of nurses at the Lubbock sanitarium, the school of nursing entertained with an informal reception at the senior nurses home Thursday night. Mrs. Tomlinson was Miss Lillian Waltemate before her marriage.

This was the first entertainment in several years which all of the students could attend.

The receiving line was made up of Misses Nellie Bridge, Frances Ussery and Ruth Evans. Miss Dorothy Robertson presided at the register.

In House Party

In the house party were Mrs. Sylvia Larsen, anesthetist; Miss Alice Greenwall, instructor and Mrs. Marcella Pierce, obstretical supervisor.

Miss Ila Bess Gordon presided for the following program: piano solo, Miss Georgia Kirkpatrick; vocal solo, Madge Malone; talk, "Appreciation of Mrs. Tomlinson," Miss Louise Golden; tap dance, Beverly June Fanning; reading, Tubby Wright. The honoree received a dinner set after the program.

A color scheme of red and white, carrying out a St. Valentine's motif, was used in refreshments of Russian tea, cookies and candy. Misses Evans and Merrie C. Owens poured tea.

Group singing of "Auld Lang Syne" ended the entertainment.

Advance Sales For Dances Planned

Members of the ticket sales committee of the local President's Birthday ball met this morning to discuss a campaign of advance ticket sales, which will begin Monday. A drive is not being planned, but the tickets will be placed at drug stores and cigar counters wherever posters are displayed.

"Buy early" is the slogan for the dances, which will be given on Saturday night, January 30 from 9 until 12 o'clock at Hotel Lubbock and Sled Allen's Auditorium.

The ticket sales committee is made up of the following representatives: W. H. Carpenter, Lions club; J. Ray Dickey, A. B. C. club; Amos Howard, Kiwanis club; Riley F. Hule, Retail Merchants association; Alex McDonald, Rotary club.

Truth Seekers Class Plans Reunion

Truth Seekers class of the First Baptist church is to observe homecoming day at the Sunday school hour at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning. The class meets in a room in the church auditorium.

FOR FULLER FLAVOR

To bring out the full flavor of raisins, dates, currants or figs soak them in a little boiling water for five minutes. Two tablespoonsful of boiling water for each half cup of fruit will be satisfactory.

LUBBOCK FARMERS TO MEET MONDAY

A called meeting of Lubbock county farmers for the district courthouse Monday at 2 p. m. has been made. Cliff H. Day, Plainview, a vice-president of the Texas Agricultural association and A. M. Bourland, Vernon, will speak.

President Henry Mahoney, Shallowater, of the county group, called the meeting. Every farmer in the county is invited and urged to attend, he said.

O. G. Tumlinson, College Station, district county agent leader, also plans to attend. The meeting is one of a series over this area.

Six Saved From Storm Fury On Lake Erie

Towering waves of Lake Erie were cheated of their human quarry when six men, comprising the crew of the oil barge Bruce Hudson, battled their way to safety after the barge tow line broke off Erieau, Ont., during the storm. This photo shows the climax of the dramatic battle, just as a line from the barge was made fast to the tug, Rival, left. Water from a mountainous wave is pouring over the Bruce Hudson. The tug had been towing the barge from Toledo, O., to Port Credit, Ont.

APPLICATION FOR CASH AUTHORIZED

M. C. Butler, Lubbock architect, has been authorized by the Gomez public school board of trustees to file a Public Works administration application for $8,100 to be supplemented by $10,000 or $12,000 in insured funds for replacing a brick and tile school building which burned Wednesday early at an estimated loss of $18,000. Gomez school is in Terry county west of Brownfield.

The fire, of unknown origin, was discovered about 1 o'clock. Pupils had been at the school as late as 10:30 o'clock the previous night.

When the fire was at its height, an explosion blew off one wall of the brick and tile building. No one was injured.

The building, erected in 1929, and equipment were termed "a total loss." Three rooms of the Brownfield city school and churches of the Gomez district will be used for class work of the school until end of the term.

If plans develop, costs of the new building will approximate $21,000.

Miles For Hiker Said Playing Out

Having walked 80 miles in less time than expected, Bill Tolbert has had to "waste time" so that he won't complete his Amarillo-to-Lubbock jaunt before showing of "The Plainsman."

Tolbert left Amarillo Wednesday noon with a 40-pound pack and a sign advertising the theater production.

Tolbert had reached Plainview 80 miles from scratch, he said Thursday in one of his terse telegrams to Hal B. Grady, manager of the Palace theater, which will show the screen production advertised: "Bought clothes, snow, wire two bucks, easy, tell mother Okay. Big Foot Byrd Tolbert."

The additional clothing was necessitated by swirling snow encountered en route, it was believed here.

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP)—Princeton university's Theater Intime opened a five-day run of Eugene O'Neill's "The Great God Brown." Playing the role of William A. Brown was James W. Smith, 38.

Local Man's Horse Again Is A Winner

First place in class 14 for saddle horses in the National Western Horse Show and Rodeo in Denver was won Thursday by Anacacho Rebel, horse owned by L. E. Davis of Lubbock, the Associated Press reported. The horse's record of wins since September has been near-sensational.

Bought two years ago at the Anacacho ranch south of San Antonio, the three-gaited, six-year-old has won show money slightly less than 20 times in five rings. He was shown at Des Moines and Minneapolis at each of which place he won first place in each of his three appearances, as well as the sweepstakes. He continued to get the nod of the judges at Fort Worth and Omaha, and Sunday night won a blue ribbon at Denver on his first showing.

WHY DIDN'T YOU GET PHILLIPS 66 POLY GAS?

YOU'RE RIGHT, Mrs. Back-Seat Driver! The trouble isn't under the hood; it is in the gasoline tank.

High test is what it takes to spin cold, balky motors into purring pets. High test ends the nuisance and damage of slow starting in winter. High test reduces the need for money-wasting use of the choke. And high test aplenty is exactly what you get in every gallon of Phillips 66 Poly Gas.

Your very first trial tankful will give you a dramatic demonstration of the difference between gasolines. The colder the day, the more convincing the results are—no long grinding of the starter, but a quick surge of power as super-volatile Phillips 66 Poly Gas snaps your icy motor into instant action.

Remember: Phillips is the world's largest producer of natural high test gasoline. So we can offer higher test . . . 100% custom-tailored to your weather . . . enriched with extra heat units by the patented POLYmerization process . . . without any increase in price.

Frankly, our hardest job is to get you to try that first tankful. Knowing that mere claims, no matter how clever, will not win your patronage—we offer the most outstanding winter gasoline which we can produce. And price it to sell for no more than ordinary low test motor fuels.

Don't wait until you actually have starting trouble. Get a tankful of instant-starting Phillips 66 Poly Gas today.

OFFICE OPENS IN LUBBOCK

INFORMATION NOW IS AVAILABLE TO ALL IN THIS AREA

Information erlative to the state unemployment insurance measures now may be obtained at the office of Ed Merriman, field representative of the Texas Unemployment Compensation commission, in the chamber of commerce headquarters in the City hall. The office was opened yesterday for convenience of employers of Lubbock and the South Plains.

Merriman arrived yesterday afternoon from Austin by automobile to set up the temporary office here until the operation of the unemployment compensation laws of the state are in operation. It is the purpose of this office, he said, to serve the South Plains district in giving information on the laws and assisting employers in preparing their statements and tax payments.

Stresses Deadline

He stressed the need to pay the first taxes by Jan. 20 to avoid the penalty of 1 per cent of the tax.

"The primary aim of the law is to help industry. The primary aim of the Texas commission is to help every Texas employer get payment in on time so that he will receive the utmost benefit.

"The reason for my being here is to help employers prepare statements and pay taxes with the least amount of trouble."

The representative expressed thanks personally and from the commission to the manager of the local chamber of commerce, the organization itself, and the Retail Merchants association for assisting in the work.

He said the office was open at all times for employers and he would devote his entire time to assisting them.

Letters boasting the statutory of the manager of the Lubbock Retail Merchants association were mailed yesterday to other chamber of commerce offices, county and city officials, newspapers, and other civic and business leaders of this district announcing the office here and inviting employers to contact the commission's representative for information concerning the requirements of the [illegible]

The letter also reminded employers of the early deadline for the first payment to avoid penalty.

"Health Wreck" Before The Gly-Cas

Mr. Thomas Was Unable To Find Relief In Anything Until Gly-Cas; Even Hospital Treatments Failed; Then New Herbal Remedy Conquered Stomach, Kidney Disorders; Rheumatism Gone

"Never before have I seen a medicine do its work as well as this new Gly-Cas," said Mr. J. N. Thomas, 716 Grammont St., Monroe, La. "For years I had suffered from improper eliminations; could hardly eat anything but what soured on my stomach and my kidneys were in a terrible condition. My sleep and rest was broken from frequent night risings. I became nervous and lacked the energy to do my work. Severe attacks of rheumatism in my limbs and continual aches and pains almost got the best of me at times. All this constant misery over my system had made me a "health wreck" and in spite of all I tried I could get no better. I even spent nine months in a hospital but obtained little if any relief—until I finally was persuaded to try Gly-Cas—it went right to the source of my health troubles."

"Constipation that had been with me so long has now disappeared entirely," he continued. "All my foods now digest properly without fear of former suffering. Even my kidneys are regulated, backaches gone, and that dreadful stiffness and soreness of rheumatism has left entirely. It is wonderful to be able to sleep so soundly again, feel so good and be able to enjoy life as others in good health. Gly-Cas is truly a medicine whose merit cannot be doubted—it gives results when all else fails."

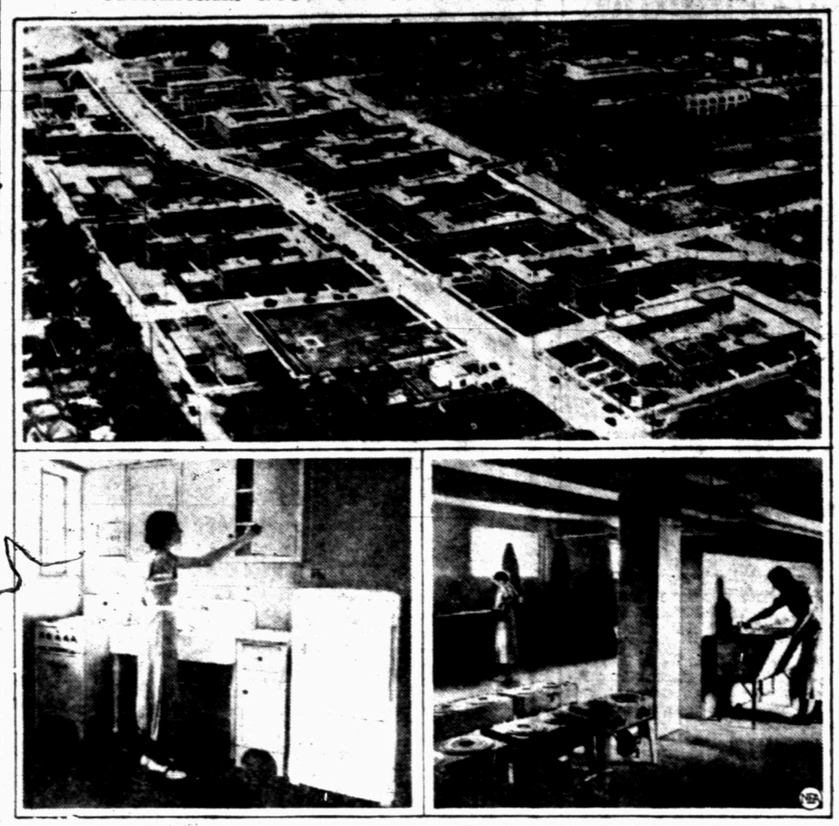

MR. J. N. THOMAS

Atlantans Get New U. S. Homes At Low Rents

First of 49 federal low-cost housing groups to be occupied by tenants, Techwood Homes, in Atlanta, Ga., is shown in the upper airview, trim new brick apartment buildings replacing 11 blocks of city slums. Neat lawns flank each structure, garden spots are available for renters and recreation space is provided. Below left is shown one of the efficiency kitchens, electrically equipped, and at right is the central laundry for one of the apartment buildings, with every convenience. Rentals start at $16.40 a month for a three-room apartment, as little as hundreds of Atlanta families pay for sub-standard dwellings. The new buildings are light and airy and all congestion is eliminated.

Water Well Survey Now Being Checked

A check-up on the water well survey being made in Lubbock, Hale and Floyd counties is under way here by Sam Turner, a hydraulic engineer with the U. S. Geological survey. Turner expects to return to Austin and report to the state board of water engineers today or Saturday.

Morris Hughett, an engineer, is in charge of the work. There are about nine or ten laborers engaged in the work, which includes a record of all water wells and other water information.

"Work in Lubbock county is about 50 per cent complete," Mr. Turner said. "We cannot go as deep into the matter as we would like to, but we are getting some valuable information for our survey work. The state board of water engineers is cooperating in the work with the U. S. forces."

Mr. Turner said he was on a regular trip here. He visited with Dean O. V. Adams of the division of engineering at Texas Tech and others whom he knows, while here.

James Seeks Time For Bible Studies

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 22. (AP) — Robert S. James, under sentence to hang for the "rattlesnake torture" slaying of his seventh wife, Mary Busch James, wants to learn more about what lies beyond death.

In the county jail awaiting action on an appeal, James today asked two hours each week in which to study the Bible. His plea was granted and the jail chaplain assigned Helen Atkinson, a Bible student, to aid him.

KIDDIES PLAY IN NEW PLAN

RECREATION IS MAJOR ITEM IN ATLANTA'S SCHOOL SYSTEM

BY WILLIAM BORING

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 12 (AP)—Primary school children at Atlanta don't study to learn — they just play.

"We are following a program of creative recreation," declares Ethel Messengale, kindergarten and primary grade supervisor of public schools. "It is an educational innovation, a type of guidance in everyday, natural living."

The teacher went to the pupil for the idea, since the scheme of the new program is fashioned after the normal play of the boy and girl.

She Doesn't Dictate

Miss Massengale points out that girls at home build and equip doll houses and play "mama and papa" and go through domestic routine.

"They do the same in school," she says, "with the teacher guiding — not directing — them. They learn to be good little housekeepers, to cook and be tidy, thrifty and industrious."

The girl with a playful bent for painting has the opportunity of giving this full expression in the classroom. With helpful hints from the teacher, a pupil so inclined may lay the groundwork for an art career.

Boys Bri'd Things

A six-year-old boy builds things and makes drums out of hat boxes and cans. And, after completing a drum, the teacher may suggest he write a story or compose a poem telling other pupils of his accomplishment.

Something like this results:

"I made a drum . . . . It goes boom, boom, boom.

"I march away but I come back soon."

Miss Massengale cites this as an example of creative play.

The boy makes the drum and simultaneously learns a phase of handicraft and is trained to become self-reliant. He takes pride in a job well done. In reciting the poem he becomes used to speaking before groups and in composing it brushes up on English and writing.

Children Go Visiting

It is a childish delight to "go places and see things." So children of the first, second and third grades in Atlanta take numerous trips.

"A wealth and variety of first-hand experience is being gained by children," reports Miss Massengale, "through school trips to the post office, fire station, farm, gardens, zoo, dairy, radio station, railroad station, museum, church and other places."

Unlike the policy in former years, the pupil in Atlanta primary grades nowadays has the last word — not the teacher.

If the pupil wants to drop down on a floor mat and take a nap, that is his privilege. If he wants to stage a one-man parade around the classroom, beating on the drum he made, he may do so unhindered.

Playground In Room

Swings, sliding boards, see-saws and other playground equipment are in the classrooms—not on the school grounds — for the pupils' convenience and pleasure.

Attractively illustrated books are available at libraries supervised by pupils and borrowers may peruse them lying prone on the floor or sitting at reading tables.

Drills such as the jig, high stepping horses and the duck waddle are playfully executed to the accompaniment of piano music.

The program is in accordance with the theme for the Atlanta public school system as defined by Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent and nationally known educator. The theme is "Education for Complete Living."

Harry Hinkel has won the national 3,000-meter walk 12 times in succession.

Classroom Action In Arkansas Labor College

Arthur Skreberg (standing, right), acting director of Commonwealth Labor College, Mena, Ark., is shown during a classroom session, while Charlotte Moskowitz, secretary-treasurer of the school (at table), listens intently. Skreberg recently charged that "repeatedly violent incitements" by the Rev. L. D. Summers, Mena, threatened to provoke "violent assault on students and teachers." Rev. Summers has charged from the pulpit that the college, in the mountains near Mena, was teaching "communism, socialism and atheism." (Associated Press Photo)

"Bombproof" Homes Proposed By Group

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22 (AP)—A law requiring that a bomb-proof shelter be built into every new building, from private home to sky-scraper, is the objective of an organization just formed here.

Maurice H. Auerbach, a lieutenant in the American Expeditionary forces, is chairman of the "non-profit, non-political" group which wants to start America "digging in" for possible war.

"The underground shelters should be proof against gas, with a suitable air conditioning unit, contain food, and of course should be fire-proof. They would have radio by which the refugees could be informed of what was going on outside and receive instructions," he says.

"With aviation what it is today, our entire country is vulnerable to attack from any side. We hope that individual communities throughout the nation will organize bomb-proof shelter associations. We should do it before war actually comes."

Jim Farley Plans For Texas Visit

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22. (AP)—Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas and Burris Jackson, Hillsboro, Tex., postmaster announced today Postmaster General Farley had promised to attend dedication ceremonies at the Waco, Tex., auditorium between March 10 and March 15.

Jackson said he would discuss soon with Governor James V. Allred the possibility of Farley addressing a joint session of the Texas legislature and also said Farley would visit Hillsboro.

Girl Is Born With Heart On Outside

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 22. (AP)—An infant girl, born with its heart on the outside of the body, is a patient at St. Louis children's hospital, Superintendent Estelle D. Claiborne said today. Physicians did not believe the baby would live.

The heart, uncovered by tissue, lies on the center of the chest with its base connected to the large blood vessels. The beating is plainly visible.

Questions That Some Folks Ask About Cardui

Benefit For Mal-Nutrition

Thousands of women testify Cardui has helped them to overcome mal-nutrition and to ease many of the functional pains of menstruation.

"What is meant by helping to overcome malnutrition?"

Cardui contains extracts of two plants which are classed among the "bitters" in medicine because they are known to increase the flow of digestive juices—to improve digestion—so there is a craving for sufficient food for the body's needs, and by their action more energy (or strength) is obtained from the food eaten. The food, of course, brings the additional strength—but Cardui serves as the means to this and by its good influence on the digestive system. Adv.

EMBARKED ON CAREER

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Jan. 22 (AP)—William Hopper, 22-year-old son of the late Dewolfe Hopper and Hedda Hopper, was embarked on a movie career today, having signed with Warner Bros. Both his father and mother were famous on the stage and screen.

"I tried half a dozen other jobs," Hopper said, "but I just couldn't keep away from the grease paint."

MACHINES ARE BEING TAXED

POLICY OF COLLECTING ON SLOT MACHINES BEING FOLLOWED

AUSTIN, Jan. 22 (AP)—Sam Kimberlin of the comptroller's department disclosed last night the department had adopted a policy of collecting taxes on slot machines.

Kimberlin, head of the occupation tax division, said he had instructed agents over the state to make the slot machine operators pay the same rate as owners of marble machines. The annual levy is $30 on nickel machines and $80 on machines using coins of greater than a nickel. Counties and cities are empowered to levy a combined tax of the same amount.

Tax Collecting Agency

"The comptroller's department," Kimberlin explained, "is a tax collecting, not a law interpreting or enforcing, agency. We are acting on the presumption all machines operating are legal, else the local officers would close them. Personally I don't see any distinction between slot machines and pay-off marble machines."

The state's highest courts have not passed on the legality of marble machines. Slot machines clearly are prohibited by law.

The deadline for payment of the 1937 tax on coin-operated machines is Saturday night, Kimberlin said.

FINAL TAHOKA GINNINGS

TAHOKA, (Special)—Ginning of cotton for the local gins in their 1936 season amounts to 9,451 bales. A few more may be ginned. It is the largest total for several seasons. Only a few times have 10,000 bales been exceeded as a season total.

KFYO To Take Air With New Equipment To Better Serve Plains Section

Radio Station Here Improved

Only Three Microphones Left In Service; New Technical Equipment, Big New Tower, Added To Aid Broadcasting

Only three of the original pieces of radio equipment which were a part of the technical apparatus of station KFYO, when it was purchased April 8 last by the Avalanche-Journal, are still in service, Manager DeWitt Landis recalled in a summary of the achievements of the station. They are three small microphones, still used.

Much of the technical equipment was obsolete at the time of the purchase. It was replaced by the new owners as rapidly as possible. Last to be replaced is the tower and when the change is made Saturday morning between 8:30 and 8:45, everything except the "mikes" will be new.

Tower Latest Thing

The vertical radiator steel tower, 147 feet tall, is the latest thing in that type of equipment. The RCA transmitter is a true "high fidelity" equipment for low power broadcast stations, so built that by adding units, it may be used for any sized power station up to 50,000 watts or more.

The towers are resting on four insulating pieces, set in concrete bases. Each base has four piers, each five feet square and extending three feet above the ground, with a five-foot concrete cube under ground.

Ground wires were placed in six-inch trenches, radiating from the towers, up to about 160 feet in length. They are covered. The single tower replaces two smaller ones, used up to this time.

Transmitter On Fifth Street

Housed in a small brick building near the towers, on West Fifth street, is the new RCA transmitter, known as Type ET-4250, built for 100-250 watt stations. It is 84 inches high, 37.5 inches wide and 26.5 inches deep. It is of the locker-type, arranged in such a way as to afford a maximum of efficience in a minimum of space.

Made of the best material possible to secure, it is designed to give greater ease and safety in reaching tubes, transformers, resistors, etc. There is practically no exposed wiring, full protection is given to all wires, noise is reduced to a minimum, tubes mounted on a cushioned shelf to reduce vibration and plenty of spacing available for ventilation.

New Equipment Costly

A total of $7,880 has been spent in replacing technical equipment for the station. This includes a remodeling of the building, housing new equipment.

Contractor W. G. McMillan erected the towers and the base. He used 172,800 pounds of concrete in the base, making the towers self-supporting, with no guy wires. They will withstand pressure of 30,000 pounds per square inch, or an estimated equivalent of wind velocity of 115 miles per hour.

All purchases were local. Lydick Roofing Co. reroofed the building at the tower site. Ansley-Roach electrical company did the electrical work. Materials for the work came from Cicero Smith, T. R. Rideout and Higginbotham-Bartlett lumber companies. Anderson-Young Electric Co. did the rewiring.

Standards Are Set On Towers

Communications Commission's Rules Must Be Followed By All Stations; Local Tower Is 147 Feet High

Standard lighting and painting of all radio station towers are required by the Federal Communications commission and the department of commerce regulations. No approval of a new station is given until both have been complied with.

"Orange and white have been found to be the best colors for towers," Manager Landis explained. "An all-around stripe is used, with orange and white alternating, at the ratio of one seventh of the height of the tower for orange and one fourteenth for white. They alternate, beginning with orange at top or bottom."

Nine Bands On KFYO Tower

There are nine such bands on the steel towers on Fifth street, with orange at bottom and top. These colors fit best against any possible light or color background, the commission discovered after years of experiments.

One third up the 147-foot tower, from the bottom, are two red lights, on opposite corners. Two thirds the way up are two more, on the other two towers with two more at the top.

This regulation is for protection of night flying airplanes, as it enables pilots in flying over a town or station, to see the location of the towers.

Four Newscasts Of United Press Report Given Daily

Four newscasts, each giving the news of the day, are broadcast over KFYO. Each broadcast is sponsored commercially, by a business concern. Hours are 8 and 10 a. m.; 12:45 and 6:15 p. m.

In addition, a market report, bonds, stocks, etc., is broadcast at 3 p. m. Manager DeWitt Landis and Ollie Cook, chief announcer, handle these broadcasts.

Leased wire service of the United Press is used. Two printer machines have been installed in the studio at 914 Avenue J, with direct wires to the Dallas bureau of the news gathering agency.

In 1935, New York City had an infant death rate of 47.6 per 1,000 live births; 30 per cent of these deaths were due to prematurity.

KFYO's Engineer

The man who gets the programs to you—KFYO's engineer—is Scott Bledsoe, above. Former operator of a station in El Paso, Mr. Bledsoe ranks high in radio's technical field.

Special Radio Treat Planned

Wide Variety Of Talent Will Usher In New Era For KFYO Saturday And Sunday; Many Features Are Offered

A wide variety of talent for Saturday's special program has been secured by Manager DeWitt Landis of KFYO, and Bruce Collier, head of the production department. Most of entertainers have appeared on the programs before and are popular with the radio audience. They will appear also on Sunday.

In the list are: Matador Hill Billies; Floyd Jones; William Curtis, vocal; Cowboy Kyle, pianist; Ollie Cook, violin; The Sanders quartet; Miss Brunette Beard and Miss Jo Hill, vocalists; Ned Bradley's orchestra; Mrs. Carl Scorgin, soloist; Wilson quartet; C. A. Rogers, the "singing clerk"; Roosevelt quartet, composed of Marie and Neill Weatherford, Floyd Tidwell and Frank Grey; Rix quartet, composed of Rex Webster, W. W. Rix, Lottie Boles Hilton and Mrs. Kate James Lee; Texas Tech fiddle band; Rev. Tony Dyess, soloist; Maxine Ditto, Margaret Branch; Mary Grace Ellison, pianist; a girl's trio and Duane Fuqua's orchestra.

Dozen Workers Make Up Staff

DeWitt Landis Manages Radio Station; Engineer Bledsoe Considered As One Of Best In Technical Field

Twelve full-time employes comprise the staff of Radio Station KFYO. All of them are experienced in radio and they handle the business, technical and broadcast work of the station.

Heading the list is DeWitt Landis, manager. He is directly responsible for the station operation, does some of the news broadcasting, handles the weekly wrestling match broadcast, makes decisions on matters of policy, etc., and, if there is any time left, does contact work with business men, entertainers and salesmen.

Staff Well Rounded

In the business office, Mrs. R. B. Graham is secretary, handling correspondence, etc., and William Curtis, is bookkeeper.

Bruce Collier heads the production department; Winton (Cowboy) Kyle is continuity writer and pianist; Ollie Cook is program director and chief announcer and Wesley Youngblood is an announcer.

Harold Scott and Quanah F. Parker, comprise the sales force. Both men have had wide experience in all lines of radio work.

In the engineering or technical department, W. S. Bledsoe is chief engineer. With years of experience in radio, and with a technical knowledge gained by long hours of study and experience, he is rated high among the radio engineers of the country. Jack Hopkins and Eugene Fennimore are operators.

LAMESA TO CELEBRATE

LAMESA, (Special)—Lamesa residents will celebrate President Roosevelt's birthday with two balls, to be held the night of January 29. Guy Weekes is general chairman. One affair will be at the Dal Paso hotel and the other in the Legion hall.

A KFYO Star

Between 12:30 and 12:45 p. m. week days, South Plains cars are tuned to KFYO when "The Singing Clerk," C. A. Rogers, above, croons the popular melodies of the day. Mr. Rogers has long been a top-flight entertainer for The Avalanche-Journal station. He is sponsored by Austin's Food store.

Uncle Sam Sets Sunset Hour As Guide To Radio

Federal Communications commission has officially designated the time for "sunset" for all radio stations where there is a difference in power demands for daylight and night hours of broadcast. In an elaborately worked out schedule for every station in the United States, the time that Old Sol officially is "put to bed" is determined. At the time, the switch from one power to another is made.

Month by month the schedule is worked out. During January, for example, power at KFYO is changed from 250 watts, the day strength, to 100 watts, the night strength, at 6 p. m. Only a flip of a lever on the new transmitter is necessary. Beginning February 1, the hour is changed to 6:20. Other monthly hours are: March, 7 p. m.; April, 7:15; May, 7:45; June, July, 8 p. m.; August, 7:20; September, 7; November, December, 5:45 p. m.

Longest Remote Control Program In KFYO Annals Was For Football Game

Longest remote control program ever given by KFYO was the 1936 Armistice day program at Los Angeles between Tech and Loyola. Distance was more than 1,000 miles. Manager DeWitt Landis personally handled the broadcast, flying there the night before the game and working from the stadium. Local business men sponsored the affair.

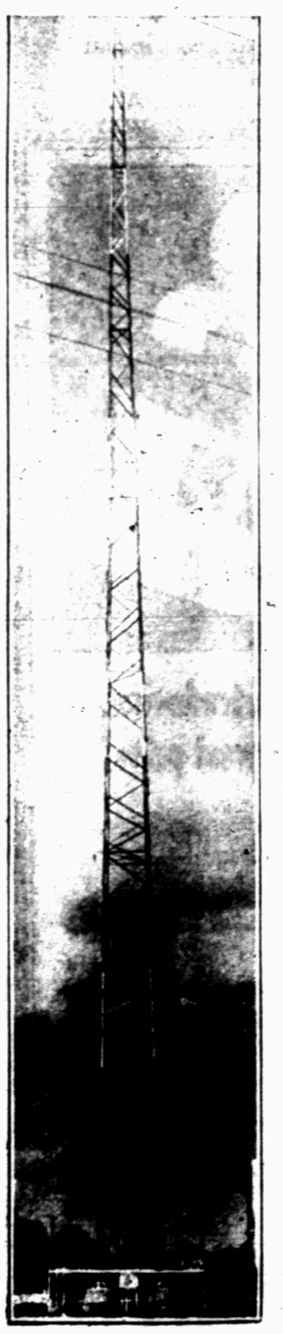

Other football games broadcast during the 1936 season included one at Midland, one at Abilene and two in Amarillo. In addition, two broadcasts were by telegraphic reports from the Tech-University of Arizona game at Tucson and the Tech-Loyola of the South game at New Orleans.

STORMS AGAIN HIT EUROPE

MANY LIVES REPORTED LOST AS WAVES ROLL HIGH IN OCEAN

LONDON, Jan. 22. (AP) — Storms howled on through northern Europe last night accompanied by a heavy toll of deaths at sea. Many ships limped to port after battling gales for hours.

The Scandinavian countries were hardest hit, but both sides of the English channel suffered from high waves and strong winds that shattered windows at coastal resorts.

At Aberdeen a lifeboat started through high seas in an attempt to reach the British trawler Strathebrie which wirelessed for help in the North Sea.

Bodies Are Sought

Searchers unsuccessfully sought bodies of the captain and 24 crew members of the German naval experimental ship Welle which sank with all aboard off the German state of Holstein yesterday. Also unrecovered were the 20 victims of the sinking of the Finnish steamer Savonmaa near Kristiansand, Norway. Darkness and heavy seas prevented recovery of four bodies which had been sighted floating near the wreckage.

Snow fell in the western sections of England and high winds disrupted communications.

The weather abated in France, but forecasts were for a renewal of storms with an even greater intensity.

CHECKER EXPERT WILL PLAY HERE

Newell W. Banks, for 25 years considered by many as the strongest checker player in the United States if not in the world, will meet all comers at Hilton hotel starting at 7 o'clock Saturday night. The appearance of the Detroit wizard is sponsored by Lubbock Checker club.

In addition to playing a group of games simultaneously, Banks also will play some blindfold checkers. He also has offered to meet at the same time a group of chess players.

The 50-year-old checker expert comes to Lubbock from Dallas. He has been on a southern barnstorming tour.

Banks has been defeated only twice in match play in the past 25 years. Two years ago he lost 7 to 4 and 27 draws to Asa Long of Toledo. Previously he had lost a world's championship match 2 to 1 and 37 draws to Robert Stewart of England.

His greatest exhibition achievement was in 1933 at the World's fair in Chicago, where he played 140 boards simultaneously in two hours and 25 minutes. He won 133 games and drew 7.

BIGGER BIRDS IS GOAL OF RAISER

DINUBA, Calif., Jan. 22 (AP)—For 50 years Guy Lovelace has been tending turkeys on his ranch here, watching the flock grow larger and larger.

This season his fowls numbered 10,000—and weighed more than 200,000 pounds.

Lovelace is no believer in the modern trend toward small turkeys.

"It's probably true that the American family is getting smaller but who ever heard of a family, no matter how small, that got too much turkey to eat?" he argues. "I'm trying to make mine bigger and bigger. If they're too big for one family, let them invite in their friends."

Woman Sentenced For Mauling Child

LONDON, Jan. 22 (AP)—A woman brought into police court charged with cruelty to her two-year-old son was alleged to have:

Thrown him bodily at his father; hurled him through a window into the snow; abandoned him by handing him to a stranger on the street.

She was sentenced to two months' hard labor.

The chemistry of the stars and sun is almost as familiar as that of the earth. Curiosly enough, scientists discovered helium in the sun before it was found here on earth, and it derives its name from that fact.

Simone-ized?

It may be just because they are appearing together in a new film, but Simone Simon and James Stewart, above, figure strongly in Hollywood's newest romance speculation. Since she was "imported" from France in 1935 by American film producers, Miss Simon, 22, has rapidly scaled the heights to film fame. Stewart, 26, is a native of Indiana, Pa.

Five Points Of Remote Control Set In Lubbock

There are five places in Lubbock where radio programs may be broadcast by remote control, in addition to the studio of KFYO at 914 Avenue J.

Wires lead into Sled Allen's Auditorium, Texas avenue at Eighth street, where weekly wrestling matches are broadcast, as well as dance programs at popular dances. The Palace theater has another set, for theatrical performances and addresses. A third set runs into the editorial rooms of the Avalanche-Journal.

Sunday morning services at the Broadway Church of Christ are broadcast from the church. At Bowen's drug store, Broadway and Avenue J, is another location where Saturday morning programs are given.

Robert Strickland Given Three Years

Three-year sentence for burglary was assessed by Judge E. J. Potts of 99th district court against Robert Strickland, 22, who Thursday pleaded guilty.

A 99th district court jury previously had acquitted Roy Woods of a charge of passing a forged instrument. W. D. Girand, jr., was attorney for Woods.

Sentencing of Strickland brought penal imprisonment total of 42 years for eight persons in the past two weeks.

Comics Being Used To Delay Traffic

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Jan. 22 (AP)—The Waukegan police department has evolved a novel method of slowing auto traffic near public schools by displaying brilliantly colored comic characters bearing warning signs.

The signs stand about three feet high and depict such figures as Shirley Temple, "Barnacle Bill" and others. Each character displays a warning sign.

Sergeant Laurence F. Kelley, chief of the police department's accident prevention bureau, says drivers slow down if for no other reason than to get a good look at the signs."

KFYO
NOW BROADCASTING WITH NEW RCA TRANSMITTER

To hear Lubbock's own station at its best, choose a new RCA Victor Magic Voice Radio

THE owners of Station KFYO have just installed a new transmitter made by RCA. They went to RCA because they wanted to give Lubbock and vicinity the finest possible quality of high fidelity broadcasting.

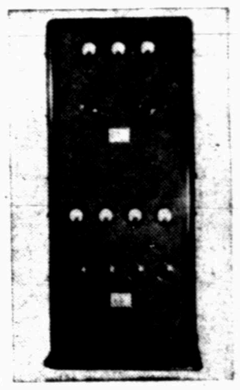

Even this fine new transmitting equipment may not be heard well if your set is old, and worn-out. We suggest that you go to your RCA Victor dealer and hear the Magic Voice. It is something new in radio, as you can easily demonstrate to yourself. Stand in front of it and note the superb quality of tone. Then walk around behind the set. Note that no sound comes from the back. That is because the Magic Voice construction directs sound forward through the speaker. There is no echoing, no bouncing of sound off the wall behind the set.

In addition to the Magic Voice, RCA Victor offers many other extra value features including the famous Magic Brain and Magic Eye, Metal Tubes and numerous other engineering improvements.

RCA Victor Model 13K—Magic Voice console. Has Magic Brain, Magic Eye, Metal Tubes and numerous other features including all-wave reception. $190.00

RCA Victor Model 6K-2—A full-size console radio with a wealth of new 1937 features and selling for the extremely low price of $69.50

New RCA Transmitter of Station KFYO, built by the makers of RCA Victor Magic Voice, Magic Brain, Magic Eye, Metal Tube Radios.

TEXAS-NEW MEXICO UTILITIES COMPANY

So the "Lipstick Murder Case" Goes On the List of Unsolved Crimes

Fun at any price can exact a tragic cost. It was so for Florence Castle, whose 7-year-old son saw her slain in a case whose roots go down too far for the Chicago police to trace

Florence Castle, Chicago night club habitue for whose murder police have been unable to to find any explanation.

Responding to a call which summoned them to her hotel apartment, police found her, a battered body in frayed blue silk lingerie.

By Elizabeth Walker

WHEN a pleasure-mad young matron deserts her husband and child to chase rainbows of romance and adventure, the world invariably agrees that "No good will come to such a woman."

Now arises tragic evidence to indicate that the world perhaps is right.

The death of pretty, party-loving Mrs. Florence New Thompson Bolin Castle, 24-year-old night club hostess, whose brutally battered body was found recently in her hotel room in Chicago, supplies the necessary corroboration. In addition, it furnishes the Windy City with its latest unsolved crime sensation—The Lipstick Murder.

While police are striving to learn who killed this unfortunate beauty—and why—Chicagoans in general are following the case for another reason:

By piecing together the fragmentary facts turned up by the authorities, they have uncovered a modern, revised tale of folly and retribution which, while it possesses all the mystifying elements of a current detective "shocker," packs a wholesome, old-fashioned moral.

For 10 tempestuous, thrill-crowded years, Florence Castle queened it over gay cabarets, her merry laughter blending mockingly with the sultry sentences of the men who vied for her favor, while other women mothered her infant son and her discarded husband rebuilt his shattered life.

Then, a few months ago, came the inevitable yet ironic conclusion. A fading beauty in the early stages of tuberculosis, she was reaching out to repossess one of those finer things of life for which, a few brief years before, she had no time — the affections of her neglected son—when death balked her.

POLICE, responding to the call which summoned them to her apartment at the Devonshire hotel on East Ohio street in Chicago, found her, a battered body in frayed blue silk lingerie. She was dead. The reddened halves of a brick only recently broken in two, lying on the pillow, answered their question: "How did she die?"

No aspect of the baffling case was more bizarre than the account of the crime given by the lad whose love the slain beauty had been seeking to recapture, seven-year-old James Vincent Thompson, Jr.

James Vincent Thompson, Mrs. Castle's first husband, and their son, Jimmy, who saw her die.

Jimmy, according to the story he told, was lying in bed with his oft-married mother when "a big man, who was a white man wearing a black mask, or a colored man," climbed in the window and began beating her on the head with a brick. Indeed, the youngster insisted he had carried on a conversation with the slayer, asking what he was doing and being told that he was a doctor and loved his mother.

He described, Jimmy did, how the killer, after finishing his grim errand, crossed the room to Mrs. Castle's dresser and, picking up her lipstick, scrawled in scarlet on the mirror the enigmatic words, "Black Legon Game" (apparently a misspelling of "Black Legion Came").

To even hazard a guess as to the identity of the murderer or his reasons for dealing death to the beauteous night club hostess, one should first glance over the story of her life.

Florence Castle's checkered career began early. A winsome, wishful girl who loved music and dancing but loathed spelling and arithmetic, she quit school when she was 14 and got a job in a neighborhood five-and-dime store.

Like so many attractive young creatures who work behind counters or in offices, she craved excitement—and she ran away to Colorado to find her own. What she found there, no one—least of all her mother—ever learned. All they knew was that she returned shortly and, the following year, wed the son of her father's partner in the contracting business, James Vincent Thompson.

FLORENCE soon wearied of the humdrum of housework and child-raising. After three years she took off for new adventure.

This time her insatiable lust for Life landed on that gaudy stretch of hotcha-land on North Clark street in Chicago, known as the "Barbary Coast." There the beauty of her face and figure was a magnet that quickly attracted about her countless old codgers with fat bank rolls and poor but poetic young men who wrote odes to her. While her mother and mother-in-law alternated in bringing up her small son, she rose to tawdry eminence in the night clubs and taverns of that district.

But again enduring happiness eluded her. One night late in the spring of 1933, she announced disgustedly, "I'm sick of Chicago. I am going to Colorado."

Perhaps it was the memory of seven years before that lured her back. Perhaps she longed for another sort of existence. Anyway she went. And in a Pueblo night spot where she was working, she met John W. Bolin.

Now one of the trials of playgirls everywhere is that the handsome young men they meet seldom have either money or matrimonial intent. But Bolin was different; he had both. So she married him.

She was, thought Florence, on her honeymoon when, at Grand Junction, her fascinating and free-spending bridegroom was seized as a robber and sent to the state prison at Canon City where he now is. She, too, was arrested, but on her promise to quit Colorado was released.

Back in Chicago her path bisected that of Faber Castle, an amiable, but not too astute food merchant. There followed another quick courtship, another hasty proposal. Before she could explain she already had a husband, Faber and Florence were man and wife. And when, five months later, she managed to mention it, he was so enslaved by her charms that he let her divorce him on trumped-up grounds of desertion instead of pressing a charge of bigamy against her.

SHE returned to the "Coast" after that, returned to that stretch of cheap cafes where a woman's social status is determined by her ability to make the "suckers" pay and pay. Yet Florence, long one of North Clark street's acclaimed queens of pleasure, now found the tribute-collecting slow.

A younger generation of cabaret Circes had sprung up, and their fresher charms compelled old girls like herself to seek, not romance, but a meager existence in "affairs" with men she called "goofs." Besides, her health was cracking. Then last March a lung congestion, diagnosed as tuberculosis, forced her to quit her job, that of hostess at the Palace Gardens, and rely for her livelihood, however precarious, upon the generosity of the men she met casually in cocktail lounges.

Thus matters stood that day last June when her son Jimmy arrived for his annual two months' visit from the home of his paternal grandparents, the Peter Thompsons, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Accompanied by one of her many admirers, Florence met her young son at the depot. There followed an exciting movie and a speedboat ride. And when bedtime came, she tucked Jimmy into her own bed and read him the "funnies" until he fell asleep.

What happened next is chiefly conjecture. All police are certain of is that shortly before six the following morning Jimmy, neatly dressed in a long-trousered suit of white linen, appeared in the lobby of the Devonshire hotel and to the clerk on duty calmly announced:

"Mama is all blood. I guess she is dead."

Some of the investigators accepted Jimmy's version of his mother's death, confident that it was the work of a vagrant moron with bestial motives, or a marauding robbery bent. Others, however, regarded it as they did the cryptic message on the dresser mirror, which they believed was intended to mislead them, and were skeptical.

Police Captain William O'Brien examines the cryptic message inscribed with lipstick on a mirror in the murdered woman's room.

The 7-year-old boy's uncanny composure, the lapse of four or five hours between the time of the slaying and his report of it to the hotel clerk, the absence of bloodstains on his pajamas though the bed on which his mother lay was splashed with gore, the discovery that when he appeared in the lobby his face was freshly washed while there was no evidence of water in the lavatory off his mother's room—all reflected doubt upon the credibility of his story.

The suspicion directed toward Jimmy, slight though it was, was sufficient to bring his father, an electrician now remarried and residing in Revere, Mass., flying to his side.

Likewise it startled Mrs. Frances Poltus, the girl's mother, into revealing that shortly before Florence had said she was "afraid of a married man who was crazy" about her.

OUT of the maze of charges and countercharges that followed, police evolved three theories: That Florence was murdered by an infatuated suitor, enraged by her two-timing tactics; that her second husband had connived through underworld channels to make her pay for her infidelity; that she had been put on the spot by one of the latter's prison friends whom she had sought to "sell out to the law."

The authorities produced evidence to show that the titian-tressed thrill huntress, in her recent financial depression, had offered to turn over to the federal government for a price an ex-convict fugitive from Canon City named Eddie Lynch, alias Ernest La Vergne. There had been no price on his head. Still it was regarded as possible that Lynch, learning of her would-be betrayal, had sought revenge.

On the strength of this disclosure, police surmised that she might possibly have tried to cash in on her acquaintance with other graduates of Colorado's Big House.

However, nothing tangible was found to bolster up that contention. Neither were the authorities able to unearth evidence linking either Lynch or Bolin to the crime.

Meanwhile several persons had come forward with statements in support of Mrs. Poltus's contention that the unfortunate drink-and-dance girl was the victim of one of her lovers. That sent police to rounding up all the sinister underworld characters and tavern habitues who were known to have enacted Romeo roles in her tangled love life.

In the investigation ensuing, many were questioned but only one, after a preliminary interrogation, was held. He was Sidney Schaps, 36-year-old master of ceremonies at one of the night clubs where she had worked. Schaps admitted his infatuation for the ill-fated beauty; acknowledged he had visited her room the night of her death. However, he convinced the authorities that he was innocent.

Still hopeful of wresting a solution, the police continued their investigation, pursuing one promising avenue of inquiry after another only to come out always at the same dead end. Then the other day, by order of their chief, they sent to rest among the other unsolved mysteries of the department the murder case of the pretty, pleasure-mad young matron who set out in search of romance and adventure and found disillusionment and death.

COLLEGE TEACHES SENSE OF HUMOR

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Jan. 22 (AP)—The University of Florida now has a course designed to develop one's sense of humor.

The school's catalogue lists the course as "Types of Humorous Literature," with appropriate credits, but W. E. Moore, instructor, said the study has the following aim:

"To develop the student's ability to view life from the standpoint of the spectator at a comedy, to perceive the comic elements in situations and in people without being upset by them, and above all, to recognize the comic elements in himself."

Hen Crows As She Lays; She's Puzzle

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Jan. 22 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Groen, Olivet, S. D., farmers, can't quite make up their minds about one of their hens.

"Instead of cackling like a hen should when she lays an egg," explained Groen, "this biddy crows just like a rooster.

"And it upsets all the other hens something terrible."

FLASHES OF LIFE

Hello Again

WINFIELD, Kas.—When Dean Robinson's automobile stalled on the Santa Fe railroad tracks, he forgot all about his dog, in the car with him.

Robinson leaped to safety just before a speeding train demolished his machine. When he reached home, there was the dog sitting on the steps.

Please Remit

ST. LOUIS—A loan is a loan—not a gift—to school children of this city.

Mrs. Barney Mead, head of the State Parent Teacher association found that out when she conducted a survey among 3,000 children to determine "principal points of friction" between parents and offspring.

The major complaint, she concluded: "Failure of parents to return money through inadvertence or otherwise, borrowed from their children of school age."

New Visitor

LOS ANGELES—Old man Winter—a seldom seen and decidedly unwanted guest in this city of widely advertised sunshine—at last has won official recognition.

The city council appropriated $2,000 to furnish outdoor laborers with red flannel underwear, woolen socks and other garments capable of withstanding the rigors of a southern California winter.

What About Hats?

NEW YORK—In order that women's bicycle riding may not interfere with their attendance at the opera, the Cycle Trades of America members, in convention, approved a Parisian evening gown "of harem type."

One of the chief features of the gown will be jeweled ankle clips, designed to keep the chiffon and stuff out of the sprockets.

"We think," said L. N. Southmayd, general manager of the association, "the women will like the clips so well that they will leave them on for the fast dances—like the rhumba."

Airtight Law

STERLING, Ill.—City Attorney Walter J. Stevens has proof that the parking ordinance he drafted three months ago is effective. He has just paid his third fine for violating it. The city health officer, the city justice and the mayor's secretary are other officials who have paid to discover the soundness of the law.

Jolt

ST. PAUL—Arlene Sontra, 12 years old, enjoyed a bump more than a piece of candy, paradoxical as it may seem.

She swallowed the candy at school. It lodged in her windpipe. Teachers summoned her father and an ambulance.

As the ambulance sped toward a hospital it struck a bump. Arlene sat up.

"It's down!" she exclaimed.

Fish Story

ARKANSAS CITY, Kas.—When Charles Christian, hospital custodian, fell ill, Mrs. L. F. Pile cared for his two goldfish pets of many years standing. For two weeks they swam happily about, she said, until Christian died. Two hours later the fish died too.

Already Sentenced

CHICAGO—Edward Olson, 43, arrested for carrying concealed weapons, won a probation from Judge N. J. Bonelli because he was already under a "sentence."

Olson's physician told him, the court was informed, he had only six months to live because of a heart ailment.

Judge Bonelli ordering a probation, said:

"It is his duty to live out the span allotted him."

TEXAS GRID MACHINE TO BE REBUILT UNDER BIBLE

CONTRACT FOR VET MENTOR IS READY

RESIGNATION WILL BE GIVEN AT NEBRASKA ON SATURDAY

AUSTIN, Jan. 22 (AP)—Dana X. Bible, abdicating monarch of Big Six football, faced a new challenge today — rebuilding the crumbled gridiron glory of the University of Texas.

A 10-year contract with the veteran mentor, whose Nebraska teams have been almost perennial champions, was approved by the Longhorn board of regents after a two-day conference. His salary, though unannounced unofficially was said to be $15,000—$7,500 more than the university president gets.

To Return Shortly

Bible boarded a train to return to Lincoln after declaring he would present his formal resignation to University of Nebraska officials — probably Saturday—before signing a Texas contract. He said he expected to return shortly to organize his staff and prepare for spring training.

The genial mentor, whose Cornhusker teams won six Big Six conference titles in eight years, will return to familiar territory. From 1917 to 1928 inclusive, except for 1918 when he was overseas with the U. S. air corps, Bible coached at Texas A. & M. college. The Aggies annexed five Southwest conference championships under him.

Change Of Grid-Fare

Grid followers of the state university arch-rivals of Texas A. & M. thus can expect a change of grid-fare with Bible's combined short punt single and double wing-back formations featuring a deceptive power rather than overhead attack replacing the modified Notre Dame system of Jack Chevigny, who retired at the close of the season. The Longhorns finished in the conference cellar the past two years.

Bible refused to name his assistants although rumors persisted Blair Cherry, coach of the Amarillo state high school champions, and Ted Twomey, line coach under Chevigny, might become members of his staff. Others however thought he would bring part of his Nebraska staff with him and reorganize the Texas set-up complete.

Rejoicing Is Caused

Employment of Bible caused rejoicing among the student-body and alumni of the university.

[illegible] H. Y. Benedict of the [illegible] who had stated he opposed [illegible] salaries in excess of administrators and professors approved Bible saying, "I [illegible] shall give him my fullest cooperation."

Bible commented as follows: "We have had a fine conference. The conditions presented and in which all groups are in accord are most satisfactory." He said he would request a meeting with Chancellor Burnett of the athletic board of the Nebraska school, Saturday.

Details Are Secret

Delay in agreement between Bible and regents was attributed to Bible's unusually high salary and long-term contract demands. It was believed the regents finally met his terms although some thought there was a compromise. All details remained clothed in strictest secrecy. A definite salary figure probably will be announced after Bible resigns formally at Nebraska.

Bible's contacts with eastern and mid-eastern grid powers gave rise to speculation whether efforts might be made to fill the open date of Dec. 4 on the Longhorn schedule with one of those teams.

WELCOME GIVEN BY SOUTHWEST COACHES

DALLAS, Jan. 22 (AP)—Southwest conference coaches joined today in hailing the return of Coach Dana X. Bible to the loop as adding new prestige to the conference but offering stiffer competition for the other members.

Coach Matty Bell of Southern Methodist said Bible "stands for everything fine in the game."

"His acceptance of the Texas job is a compliment to the conference," Bell added. "I'm glad he's back but his teams probably will make it tough on the rest of us."

Coach Leo (Dutch) Meyer of Texas Christian said:

"I think the conference is very fortunate to get Bible back though he may be a little rough on us in the matter of wins and losses."

Coach Jimmy Kitts at Rice said he was "extremely pleased."

"It is one of the best things that could happen to the conference," he said.

Crosbyton Victor In Class B Tilt

LITTLEFIELD, Jan. 22. (Special) — Coming from behind to tie the score at 27-all just as the final gun sounded, the Crosbyton High school cagers went on to take a Class B conference victory over Littlefield in the extra period last night.

A free pitch by Horn in the last few seconds of play tied the score, and in the play-off, Crosbyton scored four points while Littlefield was making two for a 31-29 victory.

Scott was high point man with 16.

To win, Crosbyton had to come from behind a half-time deficit of 8-14. Littlefield led through the third period by two points.

It was Crosbyton's second victory of the week. The cagers defeated Olton on Tuesday night, 44-35. One conference game remains on the schedule, that with Levelland there next Tuesday night. Crosbyton has won three of seven conference games.

Bible's Triumph In Texas Is A Miracle

OLD FOX OF GRIDIRON MAKES 'EM LIKE WHAT HE LIKES AND HE DRAWS A LONG CONTRACT

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—Dana Zenophon Bible has worked a lot of football miracles in his day, but never one to equal this week's triumph in Texas. . . . He told the University of Texas regents he wouldn't consider coaching their football team for less than five years. . . . They offered him a 10-year contract and then he made them wait for an answer. . . . As a diplomat he makes Anthony Eden look like Stranger Lewis. . . . As a worker he's hard to touch. . . . He posts signs all around his office: "Run don't trot." . . . The team that wins is the team with the finish. . . . He's always pointing these out to his men. . . . This recent move suggests a new sign for coaches: "Never accept a five year contract if you can get one for 10."

Add shrewd moves: Billy Jurges, Cubs shortstop, lives in Brooklyn. . . . Bill decided recently to buy a house over there. . . . Only trouble was he couldn't very well commute between Brooklyn and Chicago in the summer. . . . So he went to "Bolly" Grimes, the new Brooklyn manager and made him an offer to rent the house in summer. . . . "Bolly," who naturally isn't very sure of settling down for good in Brooklyn, accepted. . . .

Newest sport around here is mouse fancying. . . . Great stuff, too. . . . Addicts have organized the American Mouse Fanciers association with the Rev. Reginald W. Ferrier as head man. . . . Leo Diegel says his friendship with the Duke of Windsor was responsible for the English letting the golf pros use the front door. . . . He says he walked up to the front door at St. Andrews and was stopped. . . . Then, says Leo, he protested violently, and so did the prince. . . . Finally he was allowed to go in. . . . The English press took up the incident and it did much to break down the discrimination.

CRACK ATHLETE DECLARES THE GIRLS ARE NOT INTERESTED IN GRID HERO

BY BOB CAVAGNARO

NEW YORK, Jan. 22. (AP)—The [illegible] of Duquesne. You've got to be a football hero to get along with a beautiful girl, apparently never pulled before.

Kent Rhair, 21-year-old gridiron star of the Utah State Aggies for the past three years and rated the Rocky Mountain conference's best player since Earl (Dutch) Clark, says the public furthermore, says he kills more like athletes.

That could be no over big buck nonsense, for the black-haired 195-pounder a junior who is here with the Aggie basketball team. "But, honestly, I mean it.

I control young girls like athletes," continued. The Ripper. It seems like I'm always supposed to be in training—in fact I am — so it doesn't give me much chance for social life. Unsecondary the girls pass me up.

Evans, the kind of [illegible] who could take time as team if he were given the chance, matter of fact he probably could sing his way through the [illegible]. Before he goes back [illegible] that's got a date with Major Bowes.

I'm strictly an amateur, he said.

Golf Stars Open Sacramento Play

PROS AND AMATEURS TO BE PLAYING IN OPEN TOURNEY

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 22 (AP) — Over the long flat municipal golf course here professional and amateur links stars opened an onslaught on par today in the first round of the 72-hole $3,000 Sacramento open tournament.

The divot digging brigade, 125 strong and numbering most of the outstanding players in the country, faced chilly weather blustery winds and a stiff par 72 test in the latest scramble for gold and glory on the winter tournament schedule.

First Prize Is $750

First prize money is $750.

Expected to set the pace were Harry Cooper of Chicago, winner of the recent Los Angeles open; Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who headed the parade in last week's Oakland open; Ralph Guldahl of Chicago, second money winner of the winter season; Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., John Revolta of Evanston, Ill.

The second round will be played tomorrow with the 36-hole finals Sunday. The sixty low scoring professionals and the ten low amateurs of the first 36 holes will qualify for the two final rounds.

He Surprises Self With Six Strokes

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 22 (AP) —Joe Zeiman, assistant professional at the Miami Beach country club, amazed his opponents—and himself—by using only six strokes for the first three holes of the tough La Gorce golf course.

In a friendly match yesterday, Zeiman sunk an eight-foot putt for a birdie three on the first, holed a 185-yard mashie for an eagle deuce on the par four second and then aced the 175-yard third.

Then he slowed up a little, to come in with a mere 30 "five under par."

PLAYERS RUSH TO GET ON THE LINE

BUCK NEWSOM PUTTING UP BIG HOWL BUT NO WORRY SEEN

BY PAUL MICKELSON

NEW YORK, Jan. 22. (AP)—Putting two and two together:

Baseball's holdout circus of 1937 promises to be a bigger flop than Branch Rickey's auction sale of Dizzy Dean. Players are breaking all speed records in signing the papers and shooting them back. Pepper Martin even hitch-hiked on a truck to sign with the St. Looey Cardinals.

Newsom Making Noise

Right now Buck Newsom, noted South Carolina mule tamer, is making more noise than Dean, but Clark Griffith, the old fox of Washington, isn't worried. Like most club owners, Griff likes to hear the boys holler and then pulls a neat squeeze play.

New York Yankee contracts were passed in the mail yesterday. No trouble is expected unless Lefty Gomez, due for a great divide cut, balks. Joe DiMaggio, surrounded by some slick shrewd relatives, also may protest.

Bob Quinn, who knows more about baseball player psychology than probably any man, always waits until the last minute to send contracts, his theory being the more a player waits the more [illegible] the bad news.

Puzzle: Wanted: A baseball expert who figures the Cleveland Indians weren't cheated by the Chi. St. Looey Browns in their seven player swap. Pilot Rogers Hornsby of the Browns admits gets [illegible] pitching [illegible] one but his pitcher gets anywhere.

One Half Of Dean Act Is Signed Up

BRANCH RICKEY ALREADY TALKING OF A 1937 PENNANT; SAYS HE HAS BEST PITCHING

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT

DALLAS, Jan. 22 (AP)—One half of the Dean brothers act was in the fold today and Branch Rickey was talking a 1937 National league pennant for his St. Louis Cardinals.

The dynamic vice-president and general manager of the Redbird system took just three minutes of Paul (Daffy) Dean's time yesterday to get his name on a contract. He admitted, however, there was no time limit on the signing of brother Jerome (Dizzy) Dean, in the throes of his annual holdout act.

Paul, reinstated yesterday after voluntarily retiring from baseball during the 1936 season because of a lame throwing arm, blew into Rickey's hotel suite ready to negotiate. He admitted he was in a hurry to hotfoot back to the hospital and see his 48-hour-old son—Paul Jerome Dean, nine pounds, one ounce of prospective pitcher.

Rickey was stumped on the "Dizzy" Dean case.

"Three weeks ago Dizzy wanted $100,000. Ten days later he had lowered his demand to $50,000. I'm going to wait 20 more days and maybe he'll be down in our range. You sports writers tell me all I know about Dizzy. He's not really a bad actor."

Unless there is a decided change in the remainder of the National league club rosters, th[illegible] Cardinals will walk in with the flag, Rickey said.

His First Forecast

"After the 1930 season I predicted we would win the pennant in 1931. We did — and I haven't made a forecast since. This year I feel our pitching is stronger and the team has more speed. Unless the rest of the clubs have strengthened in a way I don't know about, we should win."

Rickey said the pitching staff was the strongest in Cardinal history. He named the Deans, Winford, Lon Warneke, and Jess Haines as his mainstays and then brushed off his best adjectives on several rookies.

SWEATERS GIVEN LUBBOCK GRIDMEN

Formal presentation of football letter sweaters was made to members of the Lubbock High squads in the presence of the student body yesterday afternoon.

The high school athletic council and Coach Weldon Chapman awarded 18 Westerner sweaters, 15 Cowhand sweaters to Coach Walker Nichols' players. Letter sweaters were awarded from three Westerners and two Cowhands who "[illegible] have [illegible] up" the work they flunked last semester, officials announced.

Lettermen were announced at a banquet in December.

Kerr Bros. Annex Game From Ralls

Victory finally came to the Kerr Bros. independent basketball team of Lubbock.

After five setbacks in as many games all of them by close scores, the Kerr team nosed out the Ralls Independents last night at Ralls, 30 to 29. Warren Kerr, center making a crip shot in the closing seconds to bring about the victory after the Lubbock cagers had fought an uphill battle all evening, never taking the lead until the final quarter. They were trailing 12 to 16 at half-time and by two points after three periods. Besides W. Kerr, other starters were Holmes and Solis at forwards, Jim Kerr and Cannon at guards.

William Woodward, New York banker-sportsman, combined the name of the sire Gallant Fox and the dam, Merry Princess, in naming a 2-year-old stakes-winning son of the pair. The colt was called Gallant Prince. Oddly enough, his stakes triumph was in the King Phillip handicap.

LUBBOCK COPS FROM PAMPA

WESTERNERS IN LEAD FROM START; WIN BY 34-19 SCORE

PAMPA, Jan. 22. (Special)—Taking the lead from the first and never letting go, the Lubbock High school Westerners remained unbeaten in the Panhandle league race by defeating Pampa's Harvesters, 34 to 19, here last night. It was the second straight win for Lubbock.

Virgil Simmons, Westerner football tackle and basketball forward, snared scoring honors with 14 points. He was hitting 'em from all over the court. He drew fine support from L. D. Venable, the other starting forward, and from H. P. Ford, center. Venable scored 8 points, Ford 9. The Westerners led at half-time, 19 to 11.

Ralph Lininger and Arvie Lee Oden, guards, also assisted in the scoring but did their best work on the defense. Their floor work was smooth and artistic.

The Westerners easily are the best court aggregation to appear here this season.

After Pampa center with 10 points, left the Harvesters, who previously had won from home and lost 5.

Holding victories over Plainview and Pampa, the Westerners are on top in [illegible] Panhandle loop race in the district, although result of the Panhandle league race has no bearing on the Texas interscholastic league pennant battle.

SPORTORIAL

by COLLIER PARRIS

Copyright, 1937

THIS STORY concerns Bob Feller and a couple of baseball scouts—Bob Feller being the youthful pitching sensation of Cleveland over whom a big row recently raged, and the scouts being a couple of poker faced citizens who munch peanuts and go around and about trying to pick up talent for the big league teams.

Fred Hunter, Boston Red Sox scout, one of the poker faces involved, told the story to Frank Goodman, president of the Ban Johnson amateur league, who told it to Charles Grumich, A. P. scrivener.

It seems that Hunter and Bill Bradley, Cleveland scout, were attending a sandlot tournament in Iowa in the routine performance of their ivory hunting duties. It was a blistering hot day, and Hunter and Bradley lolled over by the first base line, exchanging gossip, munching peanuts and being pretty well satisfied with the world in general.

They commented on this and that player on the field, and remarked about the nice form of a rail gangly youngster who was warming up with a catcher.

A GAME STARTED and the youngster fanned the first man to face him, 1-2-3, just like that. The second man went down the same way, then a third, and a fourth.

Bradley and Hunter looked, and looked again, but carefully refrained from showing undue interest. Finally Hunter arose, stretched, yawned, brushed peanut hulls to the ground, and with elaborate casualness started to mosey over behind home plate, remarking to the still lolling Bradley:

"Guess I'll sort of go over and see if this kid's got anything."

Hunter took a position behind the plate, and almost immediately his eyes began to bulge and his heart to pound. He was watching the fulfillment of a scout's dream.

The gangly kid would wind up and —swish!—a ball would cut a corner so fast the batter would start to swing, get halfway around, grin foolishly and get ready for the next pitch, which this time might be another sizzling fast one, or a zipping curve which broke like a diving kite.

Hunter watched awhile, then strolled back toward Bradley, his face a mask of indifference. He sat down, dug into a bag of peanuts and prepared to watch the game as through his mind raced plans to elude Bradley and find out more about this phenomenal kid.

"What's he got?" Bradley asked.

"Not a thing," Hunter replied. "Just lucky 'em in there so a blind man could hit 'em."

After a bit, Bradley arose, stretched, and, taking great pains to show a total lack of interest, announced he was going over to take a look at the kid."

Bradley took his position behind the plate, saw just what Hunter saw, experienced Hunter's feelings, then meandered back to the first base line. He answered Bradley's unspoken question.

"You're right, he hasn't got a thing," he announced casually.

For the remainder of the game, the rival scouts went

ANNUAL SHOW IS PLANNED

COMMITTEE MEETS IN CITY TODAY; PLANS FOR EVENT MADE

A committee of county agents, home demonstration agents, vocational agriculture teachers and Texas Technological college division of agriculture members, was to meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the chamber of commerce to plan for the 1937 Lubbock Quality Meat show. Dates will be set, regulations for entrants worked out and other matters discussed. The show is sponsored by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

Ralph Howe, Crosbyton, county agent of Crosby county is chairmen. R. N. McClain, Terry county agent, is a member. Miss Bernice Westbrook, Amherst, home demonstration agent for Lamb county and Miss Chloe Huffaker, Plainview, Hale county demonstration agent, represent that branch of the Extension service. There are also several vocational teachers and V. L. Cade, Lubbock county farmer, on the committee.

It is expected several Texas Technological college faculty members, from the division of agriculture, including Dean A. H. Leidigh, W. L. Stangel, Ray C. Mowery and Ray Chappelle, will attend also.

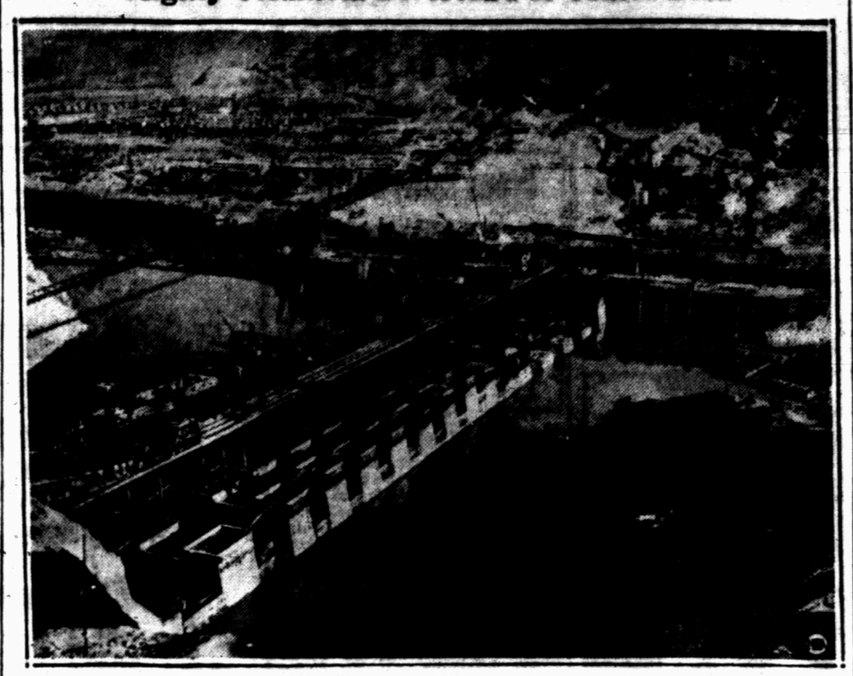

Court Lets Doctor Pick His Patients

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 22 (AP) — The Georgia court of appeals rules a physician is not obligated to accept every patient applying to him.

The question was raised in a $25,000 damage suit filed against a former official of the Georgia State Hospital.

"There is no rule of law that requires a physician to undertake treatment of every patient who applies to him," the court held.

Mighty Columbia Diverted For Coulee Dam

Man was pitting his cunning against the power of a mighty river as this photo was made showing the latest stage of progress on Grand Coulee dam in Washington. In center foreground, surrounded by backwaters, are great concrete towers forming the base for the western section of the dam. Beyond them flows the Columbia river, which engineers are trying to divert through four slots visible at the far end of the concrete towers. As water is diverted, the river bed will be dried and the central section of the dam will be built. In this photo, upstream is to the left.

Then came the pay-off.

It probably was quite a shock to Bradley when he learned, either from the boy's father or from Judge William J. Bramham, that the boy already was the property of the Fargo-Moorehead club, a Cleveland farm.

Yeah, the same Bob Feller, celebrated strikeout king of 1936 over whom such a battle was waged, and who was eventually ruled the property of the Injuns by Judge Landis.

DON'T LET CONSTIPATION MAKE YOU SICK

Do something about it and do it today. You can take endless pills — but just remember that chronic medicine taking is an unhealthy habit and often loses its effect.

Correct common constipation naturally by including sufficient vitamin B and "bulk" in your diet.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies vitamin B and the "bulk" you need. In the body, it absorbs twice its weight in water, and exercises and sponges out the system.

Rid your body of poisons and see how much better you'll feel. Try Kellogg's ALL-BRAN for a week. If not satisfied, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company. Eat two tablespoonfuls a day, as a cereal with milk or fruits, or in cooked dishes. Stubborn cases with each meal.

THOSE anti-Roosevelters noting that the President has declined to be hogtied by custom and who feared he is planning to run for a third term in the White House, may rest assured that he has no such idea.

Not only has the President himself indicated that a third term is out of his desires, Mrs. Roosevelt has said in so many words, that FDR will be through on inauguration day of 1941.

In her syndicated column the other day she remarked, flatly, "this is our last inauguration". Also, The Journal's Washington correspondents report she has told friends that eight years in the White House is plenty for the Roosevelts.

READY MADE WIFE

BY CORALIE STANTON

SYNOPSIS: Desperate, almost starving, Laurie has posed as Rex Moore's widow in order to support herself. But Rex returns unexpectedly after two years, and now Laurie must keep up her deception, or risk costing Rex his job with Mark Albery, the airplane manufacturer. Now Rex tells Laurie that he must fly to the rescue of two airmen, presumably lost in Africa.

Chapter 16
GLADYS ARRIVES

The arrival of her sister Gladys was a relief as well as a joy to Laurie.

She found herself incomprehensibly anxious for Rex Moore's safety.

In her two years' work at Albery's she had heard so much more than the general public of accidents, minor and major. She had been stupid from surprise when she asked him whether his flight over Central Africa to search for the missing airmen was dangerous. She knew it was. All long-distance flights were dangerous.

But she could not understand why she felt as she did. She reasoned with herself. He was nothing to her, no more than any other airman doing his job. He had gone out of his way to be horrid to her. He was just making use of her for as long as it suited him. Why should she worry about him?

In a few days however she found something more definite to worry about.

It began when the first excitement of having Glad with her had worn off—of waiting on her, of ordering her favorite meals, of showing her off to the admiring Mrs. Budd. Then she began to notice a change in the girl.

It was what she had seen in Liverpool at Easter, only more definite.

Glad seemed older, not so transparently simple, not so childishly gay. She was always restless, eagerly excited, as if she were expecting something. Dashing to the door when the postman came, to the telephone when it rang.

Besides, she seemed to have [illegible] herself up as Laurie called it. She did not speak all the time about her wedding, and the other girls and Old Cornhill [illegible] to get [illegible]

But [illegible] was. It was the [illegible] after her arrival [illegible] Laurie [illegible] had [illegible] in a little cheap [illegible] in Soho.

How she [illegible] her [illegible] schedule, but [illegible] as if [illegible] that everybody was looking a girl in that [illegible] with [illegible] and the [illegible] knew, but had [illegible] a [illegible] look [illegible] sound [illegible] on [illegible] Darker underneath. With her [illegible] eyes and her dark curling lashes and her warm peach-bloom skin, and her [illegible] mouth that no lipstick could spoil.

Yes, Glad was exquisite in her physical perfection, a girl [illegible] to be. But [illegible] a doer and for the first time Laurie felt that Glad knew it.

What a picnic [illegible] Glad and Laurie as the younger girl detached a heavier bar of platinum with [illegible] from her heart and fastened it [illegible] "You are an extravagant kid. It [illegible] cost a heap of [illegible] it was a present." Glad replied carelessly, [illegible] "All her [illegible] like the had seen the manager at Maiden Lane that morning, and that they were going to rehearse again for the suburban tour next week-end.

Laurie [illegible] nothing more about the pin.

But the morning after, when Glad had gone out early to spend the day with one of her girl friends in the troupe and Laurie was helping Mrs. Budd to make the beds before she left for the office, she stayed behind to tidy up Glad's room, and saw a glittering object at the bottom of the wardrobe.

It was a gold cigaret case, very expensive looking, one obviously real. Glad's initials were engraved on it.

Laurie frowned, and a pang of dismay shot through her. It was a beautiful thing as simple and costly as the handbag Mr. Albery had given at Easter.

But this was quite a different matter. She herself was only an ordinary girl whom nobody would look at twice. And Mr. Albery had been pleased with her work, and it was because he thought so much of Rex Moore that he was so kind to her.

But Glad, who drew all men's eyes with her beauty, who was so young, who naturally loved pretty, costly things . . . Laurie could hardly contain herself all day until she got back to the flat.

But Glad was not there. She did not come back to dinner, not until ten o'clock. Laurie saw awful visions, lived through an age of fear, and was so keyed up as to be hysterical when the girl did appear as fresh and slender as a young peach tree, greeting her sister with her enchanting smile.

"Sorry I'm late! I've had a great time. Nelly's brother took us to the pictures. I've had my food."

"Who gave you that gold cigaret case?" interrupted Laurie, speaking sharply in her anxiety. "I found it lying in your wardrobe. It must have cost pounds and pounds."

"I don't see what it's got to do with you, old girl," retorted Gladys ruffly. "I suppose it dropped out of a packet. I don't carry it about. Makes me look too rich."

"Don't be silly, Glad. You must know you can't take presents like that from men."

"How do you know a man gave it to me? Good Lord, I'm not a baby! I earn my own living."

But Laurie was not to be put off.

"Please tell me, Glad! If you've got a friend, you surely don't want to keep it from me?"

"Oh, all right. Inquisitive!" laughed the girl, and her face was all gay and sparkling again. When she frowned and her mouth closed in a downward line, she could look quite sullen. It was no easy disposition to deal with. "He's a very nice boy, very posh, and with pots of money."

"Have you seen much of him?"

"A bit—in Liverpool. He came to the show lots of times."

"And he takes you out?"

Glad nodded.

"Did he give you that sapphire pin too?"

"Yes. What of it? It's nothing to him."

"What's his name?"

"Jimmy Smith. Any objection?"

Gladys turns the tables on Laurie Monday.

MOVIE STARS AND "NEWS"

It is nothing short of marvelous—if not purely miraculous—the way prominent figures of the silver screen become connected with persons and events in the news, especially at the time new pictures are about to be released.

Just before Shirley Temple's last big starring vehicle was due to hit the theaters of the land it was disclosed, amidst much mystery, that kidnap threats had been received by the child star's studio.

Also, as Mae West's last hit was being shown in the first run towns the syrupy siren likewise was plagued by abductionists—to believe the stories circulating on the coast.

Just the other day Howard Hughes, the oil and film magnate, smashed the headlines by another record-breaking coast-to-coast air dash and almost before reporters could get their breath the manager of Miss Katherine Hepburn was denying, sotto voce, that he knew anything at all about the alleged love affair between bovine-eyed Katie and the millionaire pilot. And the funny thing about it was that Miss Hepburn's manager began denying knowledge of the "love affair" before anyone suggested the two might be "that way" about each other!

Usually cynical and hardboiled, newspaper editors go for that kind of drivel largely because any sort of an article containing the name of a movie star is lapped up, with gusto, not only by the gum-chewing element but also by a lot of other people who should have better sense.

As for the stars, they live—and their salaries are based upon—their ability to stay in the public eye. Keep them, any of them, out of the limelight for six months and they belong to the forgotten!

Still Same Norma

When Norma Shearer was an unknown but promising actress movie executives advised her to change her name. "Your whole future may depend on it," they warned her solemnly. "A name like yours would never look well in lights."

Miss Shearer, by the way, could have chosen different stories or even a different studio when she decided to resume her career. For she was under personal contract to her husband, the late Irving Thalberg, and his company had no claim on her services. However, she still stuck to the program he had planned for her.

Libby Holman is expected in Hollywood soon, and everyone is wondering whether the rich-widow torch singer will knock at the studio gates.

Financial forecast: The major studios and better independents will spend at least $180,000,000 on picture-making in 1937. That's a record.

Meanwhile, they'll be battling Communism as never before. Some of the companies have volunteer anti-Red and anti-Nazi spy organizations spotting undesirable radicals.

Money For Mary

Mary Pickford is only now beginning to realize how rich she is, potentially as well as actually. Because there is going to be a big demand for many of the screen stories she made during her acting-producing years.

She still owns the rights to them, and producers will be wanting to refilm them with new stars and with sound. "Coquette" is one, which may be sold to RKO for $60,000. The studio wants it for Lily Pons.

Ricardo Cortez for years has been keeping a scrapbook of misinformation printed about himself. The clippings include several widely differing biographies; six reports of engagements (two to Greta Garbo); four rumored foreign marriages, and three reports of his death.

Government, Industry And Labor On Three-Cornered Spot In General Motors Strike; Situation Defies A Solution

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—General Motors strike developments now clearly what the Lewis group and other labor leaders were aiming for when they threw their full weight into the last election.

Tactics of Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan, the general belief among observers that Roosevelt will eventually have to step in to achieve a settlement, the great care taken by General Motors to maintain pleasant public relations, and the breezy confidence of members of the Committee for Industrial Organization may all be taken into account in determining whether this is the same country it used to be insofar as concerns dealings among government, industry and labor.

Dutcher

That doesn't imply that anyone can tell what the result of the automobile strike will be or that there's any strong belief in Washington that the strikers will win their demands.

But the fact that neither the governor of Michigan nor the president of the United States desires to crush the strike by giving organized labor less than an even break is a factor both historic and important.

Big Concession To Unions

A writ was issued in Flint on the basis of which authorities were planning to eject sitdown strikers with gas—and clubs and guns if need be. At the first outbreak of violence, Murphy ordered in state troops, with assurance that there would be no riots and no trouble."

John L. Lewis announced that he was authorized by representatives of Murphy to say that troops would not be used to evict strikers, with an implication that the troops would keep anyone else from chasing them out.

Murphy then won a 15-day truce for negotiations. The union would take its sitdowners out of G. M. plants and G. M. would promise not to try to produce automobiles in the plants or to move equipment away.

This was a remarkable concession from such a corporation. Everyone who knows labor history realizes what an innovation it was compared to the old-fashioned practice of arresting and beating strikers, using local cops, hired thugs, and militia if necessary.

The point of all this, as seen by many insiders, is that Murphy is a young and ambitious politician who is by no means through running for office in Michigan, that he was on the spot, and practically had to go down the line for labor if he expected to be elected to anything again.

Labor Obligates Governors

Murphy is also a pleasant gentleman of no small talent, a liberal, and presumably fairminded and friendly to labor anyway. Possibly he would have acted in the same way regardless of his future hopes.

But the realistic warriors for industrial unionism are not counting on that. They feel Murphy knows he couldn't have been elected last November without heavy labor support and that what's far more important, he can't be re-elected or sent to the U. S. Senate without labor support.

The union leaders went into politics last year through Labor's Non-Partisan league to elect Roosevelt and other men who had "good labor records," not as a matter of reward, but definitely with the idea of cementing relations with and imposing obligations on the office-holders of the future.

What they feel applies to Murphy applies to other governors also. Among other executives of large industrial states more or less heavily indebted to organized labor are Earle of Pennsylvania, Davey of Ohio, Horner of Illinois, and Lehman of New York.

None of these men will be quick to use troops against strikers; all are compelled to recognize labor as a strong political force.

Canny Bargaining Ahead

All this comes far from adding up to a sweeping C. I. O. victory. Confidence of Lewis and other labor leaders is based on the fact that strikers have succeeded in tying up General Motors production. But few in Washington believe that General Motors and the du Pont-Wall Street interests behind it will consent to recognize the United Automobile Workers as an exclusive collective bargaining agency.

The issue may boil down to just how much concession John Lewis figures he must get from G. M. to increase C. I. O. prestige among workers sufficiently to accelerate rather than stymie his organization drive, and just how much G. M. and Wall Street figure they can afford to let him have without appreciably strengthening the C. I. O. This tends to make all predictions hazardous.

A building boom in Brazil is expected to continue for some time.

Tahoka Man Taken By Death In City

Jim Nolan, 59, resident of Tahoka since 1923, died in a local sanitarium early Friday morning at 12:45 o'clock with pneumonia which developed shortly after entering the sanitarium Jan. 6.

Funeral services will be conducted at Harris Funeral home Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock with Rev. G. A. Dale, pastor of Tahoka Baptist church, officiating. Burial will be in the Tahoka cemetery.

Mr. Nolan moved to Tahoka from Floresville about 13 years ago. He was a farm laborer and was in the employ of W. M. Thompson, about 6 miles east of Tahoka.

He was brought to Lubbock for treatment Wednesday, Jan. 6, after suffering fractured clavicle and irbs when he fell from a hay wagon. The wagon struck a post when Nolan was driving through a gate near the Thompson farm, and he was thrown off.

He was survived by two sons and a daughter.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 22. (AP)—Falling prices dominated today's stock market proceedings although a few favored issues continued to press forward.

With General Motors strike news darker than ever, traders hurried to cash in profits at the opening and declines of fractions to 3 points were widespread. Dealings were unusually active in the first hour. Moderate support appeared later and extreme losses were pared or cancelled in many instances. The volume was restricted near the fourth period.

Bonds and commodities exhibited mixed trends.

Pointing downward during the greater part of the session were Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Crucible, Electric Auto-Lite, Deere, Douglas Aircraft, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, General Electric, Illinois Central, Southern Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Pennsylvania, Flintkote, Loews, Allied Chemical and Libby-Owens.

Advances were recorded for selected oils, utilities and specialties. Among these were Barnsdall, Seaboard, Atlantic Refining, Standard Oil of N. J., Houston Oil, American Power & Light, American & Foreign Power, Consolidated Edison, International Paper & Power preferred, Crown Zellerbach, American Locomotive, Westinghouse, Omnibus, Johns-Manville, U. S. Steel preferred, Electric Boat and Container Corp.

Rites For Suicide Victim At Tahoka

Funeral services for Felix Porter Upton, 67, resident of Tahoka about 14 years, were conducted at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. G. W. Williams, Thursday afternoon at 2:20 o'clock with Rev. Ben Hardy, pastor of Tahoka Methodist church, and Rev. R. P. Grennon, Christian pastor, in charge. Burial was in Tahoka cemetery with Harris Funeral home in charge.

A verdict of suicide was rendered by Justice of Peace A. B. Swan, coroner who held the inquest. Upton died Wednesday at noon after cutting an artery on the right side of his neck. Verdict was "death at his own hands by use of a pocket knife." He was an invalid having used crutches for some time.

He was survived by a son, Porter, of Pampa, a sister of Silverton and a brother of Lockney.

Conference Staged Here By Engineers

Following a two-day conference on asphalt treatment and specifications, several engineers from the state highway department at Austin, left for Pecos and Van Horn. They were accompanied by George M. Garrett, division engineer here.

In the party were: T. C. Davis, asphalt engineer, W. H. Wood, engineer in charge of materials and tests; Horace Kerr, Austin, and Frank Maddox, Austin, head of the design department.

John Nabors, division engineer at Childress and T. C. Greer, division engineer at Tyler, were also in the party. They checked on asphalt work here. The group are members of a committee named to study asphalt problems for the highway department.

Plainview Seeking Class With Holden

Plainview teachers have requested an extension course in anthropology by Dr. W. C. Holden, acting head of the history department at Texas Technological college, and the class will be organized Tuesday night and will be conducted once weekly in Plainview.

It will include instruction in customs, institutions, and contributions of the American Indian and his relation to the Anglo-American. Doctor Holden taught an anthropology course on the primitive man in Plainview about two years ago.

Miss Inez Murphree, teacher in Highland elementary school, will be class secretary.

The native inhabitants of Guam are called Chamorros.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 22. (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, unchanged to 2 points higher on steady Liverpool cables and trade buying of near months. Mch 12.45; May 12.29; Jly 12.20; Oct 11.79; Dec 11.81; Jan. 11.79.

Good mill price fixing in March against active consumption of cotton caused a steady undertone in the cotton market late in the morning. This demand carried March up to 12.48 but it again developed resistance under increased liquidation at that level. Prices generally at mid-day were 1 to 2 points net higher. May which had sold up from 12.29 to 12.32, was quoted at 12.30.

Trading was quiet with interest centering in the March delivery. Considerable liquidation was readily taken by trade houses. Otherwise business was small and scattered. There was some southern selling and moderate commission house and foreign buying.

With the approaching release of loan cotton February 1 there was less disposition to place fresh commitments and details of the release plan were still being awaited. Reports of an easier spot cotton basis in parts of the cotton belt and the deadlock in the automobile strike were regarded as unfavorable but had no apparent market influence.

Heavy rains again fell in the central belt increasing flood threats. Prices held in a range of 1 or 2 points and shortly after the first hour May was selling at 12.30 with prices unchanged to 1 point higher.

Liverpool reported a quiet market with traders awaiting loan cotton development.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 22. (AP)—Cotton was net unchanged to 2 points higher at the start of trading today.

Some buying developed in near months, largely for trade account and March started off at 12.41, May at 12.26, July at 12.16 and Oct. at 11.79.

Foreign markets were improved with Liverpool coming in better than due and holding steady on scattered buying by the trade and locals.

There was little new overnight to change the general picture with the result that speculative interests stood on the sidelines and public participation was light.

Trading proceeded at a slow pace on the cotton market during the morning with prices holding from 1 to 3 points higher.

Speculators stayed out of the market and only an occasional trade sale of purchase appeared.

A Japanese cable reported that an agreement had been reached between Japanese and American textile interests limiting exports to this country in the next two years to 555,000,000 yards. The 1937 total was limited to 180,000,000 yards.

Colder weather in the west with freezing temperatures in the central belt were predicted by the weather man.

KFYO SERVICE

at an hour to be announced during the morning's broadcast.

All of KFYO's profits since the station became property of The Avalanche-Journal, have gone back into new equipment. New microphones, turn-tables, speech input equipment have been installed at the studio. The new transmitter and antenna complete the picture. Cost of the equipment was estimated by Landis at $7,500.

With its new equipment, KFYO will become the dominant day-time station within its primary area. This area covers a radius of approximately 75 miles in every direction from Lubbock. The population served is estimated at more than 200,000 persons, figures based on a slight increase over the 1930 census.

Power of KFYO has not been increased, but the extra efficiency of the transmitter and antenna will bring about the same result as a 50 per cent increase in power. The station will continue to operate at 250 watts days and 100 watts nights.

To Fulfill Needs

Licenses are granted radio stations by the Federal Communications commission on a basis of public need and convenience. It is the aim of KFYO to fulfill those needs in providing needed services, entertainment, news of the day, religious and educational features to its listeners, says Landis.

To this end, the station carries two devotional programs every week day and a number of religious services every Sunday. The Lubbock schools have regular program periods. Texas Technological college groups put on numerous programs and Landis plans to have all of the departments of the college make full use of the station's facilities. KFYO is always at the service of the citizens it serves in case of public need.

Four news broadcasts are heard each week day. News reports are furnished the station over a leased wire of the United Press. Twice each week half-hour programs are offered through the cooperation of the state extension department with the county and home demonstration agents of the district in charge.

The oldest American-made clocks had wooden works because they were made by carpenters. In Europe, clocks first were made by jewelers, locksmiths, blacksmiths, astronomers and priests.

FLOODS SWEEP OVER NATION

ELEVEN LIVES TAKEN AND THOUSANDS ARE WITHOUT HOMES

with water seven feet deep. City officials previously flooded the business and industrial districts purposely to save a million dollar sea wall. Some 13,000 of Portsmouth's 43,000 dwellers fled to hilltops.

Thousands Leave Homes

The Ohio's silt-laden waters barred more than 50,000 from their homes in Ohio and 15,000 in Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Arkansas, Tennessee, North Carolina, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Missouri contributed to an estimated national refugee total of 80,000 in flood harassed states. Rivers menaced other homes in Louisiana and Mississippi.

Known flood deaths stood at ten, including three in Illinois, two each in Ohio and West Virginia, one each in Kentucky, Mississippi, and Pennsylvania. At least 35 persons leaped safely to shallow water when a ferry boat sank at Portsmouth.

Warnings Are Sounded

Sirens and factory whistles screeched the warnings which sent Portsmouth and Lawrenceburg residents fleeing to high ground. In each case the retreat was believed to have been accomplished without loss of life.

The Lawrenceburg levee broke after 300 men labored for hours to save it. Fear that the Portsmouth wall would cave in had prompted city officials to a compromise with the river. They ordered storm sewers opened, easing the pressure.

Hamilton county, Ohio had more than 10,000 homeless and Cincinnati, located in that county, faced estimated property damage of $1,000,000. Flood waters blocked firemen while fire destroyed a Baltimore & Ohio railroad warehouse. Elsewhere in the nation's flood centers the property loss was uncalculated.

Epidemics Are Feared

Spreading waters cut off many cities from light and power sources and food supplies. Stricken communities called for serum and vaccine to forestall typhoid and smallpox inroads. Five members of one family at Dayton, Ky., were quarantined with scarlet fever.

At Aurora, Ind., flood waters disabled waterworks machinery, leaving only 250,000 gallons, or a three days supply, available in an untouched tank. Three-Indiana towns—Troy, Tell City and Cannelton—were without electricity. So were Hawesville, Hardinsburg, Cleverport, Lewisport and Irvington in Kentucky. Troy and Tell City had no water supplies.

The Red Cross cabled for more relief equipment in Indiana and special trains pushed supplies to stricken areas.

STRIKE

move to take over the role of peacemaker.

Secretary Perkins' final effort to bring about a peace agreement broke down last night when Sloan expressed disapproval of a statement by Lewis there would be "no half baked compromise."

"We found it useless at this time to discuss further any ideas we might have," said Sloan before leaving for New York early today.

"Any time the president sends for us we'll be here."

Up To The President

Lewis, who declared his campaign to organize Ford and Chrysler workers would follow settlement of this walkout, was asked if he believed time for White House intervention had arrived.

"That's up to the president," he said, "but labor intervened for him."

He referred to the support which he and many other labor leaders gave Mr. Roosevelt in the 1936 presidential campaign.

Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan remained here for further meetings with Miss Perkins and her aides.

Lewis asserted the sit-down strikers would stay in the Fisher body plants in Flint, Mich.

General Motors officials attributed the resulting stalemate to this declaration.

Report On Loss In Fire Given Today

Insured fire loss at the Morgan Furniture & Cabinet shop at 2225 Nineteenth street Thursday afternoon may be as high as $1,800, Fire Marshal D. A. Forbess said this morning.

Most of the equipment and the building were destroyed by fire which resulted when paint remover and lacquer thinner ignited from a gas stove at about 6:20 o'clock.

Forbess said the building was insured for $800, the equipment for $1,000. In addition, he said, insurance was carried on customers property in the shop for repair.

Mrs. M. D. Morgan and her brother, E. N. Champlin, were owners of the shop.

JAP CRISIS

000,000). 32 per cent higher than the current budget, hitherto the largest in Japan's history. Of the total 46.3 per cent would go to the army and navy.

For the first time in more than a decade, the government proposes to increase taxes. Since Jan. 1 prices have risen 10 to 30 per cent. The party leaders blame the swollen military programs. Thus the costs of maintaining the army and navy are coming home to the average Japanese family.

Dissolution of the lower house, which appeared imminent today, would mean carrying the issue of military domination to the electorate within two months. The parties evidently are ready to risk this.

The main parties are the minseito—urban, industrial, relatively liberal—and the seiyukai, more conservative. They rank first and second in seats held in the lower house. In this conflict, they are united against the militarist-bureaucratic elements which they charge would like to make Japan a fascist totalitarian state under the emperor.

After a decade of subordination to civilian authority, the Japanese army returned to political power in 1931 when it began its conquests of Manchuria. That campaign was highly popular.

lor reductions in some divisions."

Retail sales for the country as a whole were estimated at from 2 to 5 per cent ahead of the preceding week and 10 to 18 per cent ahead of the same week in 1936. Percentage increases in the major geographical regions were: New England 15 to 20; middle west 10 to 16; eastern 10 to 15; northwest 8 to 12; south 10 to 14; southwest 15 to 25, and Pacific coast 8 to 12.

Citizens Urged To Obtain Poll Taxes

Although this is not a year for election of county, state, and national officers, it is important that every citizen purchase a poll tax, county tax authorities said.

They stressed the fact that with Congress and the Texas legislature in session it is probable that amendments to the national and state constitutions will be placed before the public for approval or disapproval.

Deadline for payment of poll taxes is Saturday night, Jan. 30.

Friday at noon only about 1,900 poll taxes had been purchased in Lubbock county. A total of 9,440 poll taxes and exemptions were purchased last year.

DANCE AND SHOW TO BE SATURDAY

Veterans of Foreign Wars are sponsoring a floor show and dance at the Auditorium Saturday night, said Frank McPherson, commander.

Miss Wanda Sue Wilhite will be featured in song and dance numbers with Ned Bradley's orchestra.

McPherson said a complete floor show had been assembled and will be presented before the dancing for persons who do not wish to remain to dance. Immediately after the show, the seats will be cleared from the floor.

W. G. Love and A. I. Glassman are chairmen of the entertainment committee. Tickets may be purchased for $1.10 per couple.

COLD WAVE

would push the cold wave out into the gulf.

Minimum temperatures this morning included: Wichita Falls, 14; Lubbock, 16; Abilene, 18; Vernon, 16; Dallas, 22; Fort Worth, 21; El Paso, 30; Paris, 21; Longview, 29; Palestine, 27; Corsicana, 23; Houston, 40; and Galveston 66.

Brownsville, with a balmy 72, had little fear the cold wave would cause any damage to the citrus crop.

It was clear at El Paso Lubbock and other points west, but the rest of the state was heavily overcast in most parts.

Rain Turns To Ice

Rain during the night turned to ice at Palestine. Longview had light mist, while Paris, with the streets covered with sleet, was in fear of having trouble again with its power system. In the bitter norther a week ago, sleet caused disruption of power service at Paris.

Streets were covered with ice at Corsicana, causing minor mishaps. A heavy mist which fell at Fort Worth and Dallas throughout the night froze on the streets. Sleet began falling in both cities about daybreak, adding to the hazards of motoring.

Losses Are Expected

At San Angelo, where the temperature sagged to 22 last night, the ground was icy with sleet.

It was expected there would be some losses in new born lambs in the San Angelo range country. Abilene reported an inch of snow over the plains.

Beaumont came in with information the norther, creeping slowly southward, had not gripped that section of the gulf coast yet. The minimum stayed above 70 and there was no sleet or snow.

Corpus Christi said the cold wave struck there this morning, the temperature falling to 48 and freezing weather expected. Drizzling rain preceded the cold.

Gainesville reported it was blanketed this morning with the heaviest covering of sleet and snow to fall this season. Sleet continued to pepper down. The temperature reached a low of 17 degrees.

At Austin the temperature fell to 26 and was expected to remain below freezing all day.

WOMAN SORRY

woman.

Mrs. Helen D. McDonald, reformatory superintendent, confirmed the admission by the 29-year-old Mrs. Bell and reported the prisoner expressed willingness to return to Texas.

Advised of Mrs. Harvey's conviction, Mrs. McDonald said Mrs. Bell wrote the Wichita Falls woman that she was "very sorry to have brought such trouble upon an innocent woman."

Will Make Amends

"If I'd dreamed such a thing would happen," she added, "I'd have voluntarily pleaded guilty. There is nothing I can do to make amends for your suffering except to clear things up for you."

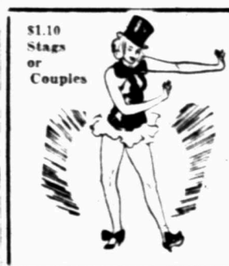

Mrs. Bell is serving a one-year forgery sentence and her husband a four-year term on similar accusations. They were arrested at Beaumont, Texas, their home, last October and convicted at Fort Smith.

Mrs. McDonald said Mrs. Bell likely would be returned to Texas to face the check charges. She will be eligible for parole next month after serving a third of her sentence.

FARMERS ATTENTION!

TO ALL FARMERS HAVING COTTON IN ANY OF THE GOVERNMENT LOANS

It has been announced in various newspapers that the Government expects to place on the market for sale some portion of the Loan Cotton they are now holding. If you have any of this cotton I will be pleased to talk with you about it.

I can spend only a few days in this territory, therefore it is important that you see me at once. I will be in the Court House on the second floor in District court room Friday, January 22nd, and Saturday, January 23rd. Nine o'clock until 5:00 p. m.

It is necessary that you bring with you any and all papers that you have referring to any Government Loan cotton. Full explanations and details will be given when you call at the above address.

MAN HAS HIS TROUBLES WITH STINGING HORNET

LOS ANGELES Jan. 22 (AP) — The unpleasantness between Oliver Hickey and the hornet backfired today.

The indignant insect stung Hickey last October. He was the loser again today.

The city council adopted a report of its finance committee which denied Hickey's claim for damages. Hickey on the ground that the city was responsible for the hornet's sting, at least because it occurred in Griffith park, a municipal institution, asked $100.

The council not only denied the claim but instructed the city attorney to bill Hickey for $25.

It cost that much to investigate and harass Hickey's claim, the council estimated.

PAIR SOUGHT ON NARCOTIC CHARGE

CHICAGO, Jan. 22, (AP)—Isidore [illegible] 35 and Robert Gordon, 33, were sought here today as alleged members of a nation wide narcotic ring, members of which already have been arrested at Dallas, Tex., and Hot Springs, Ark.

United States District Supervisor Thomas [illegible] of the federal narcotic bureau, said state and federal officers were to assist him in the search for the pair.

Thompson is part of the old Nathan Kessler outfit. Cummings and Berger was arrested in 1935 and sent to Leavenworth penitentiary for 10 years. Cummings said he possessed evidence showing Kayne and Gordon collected $1,000 in a day for their shipments to the southwest.

FATHER AND SON WILL BE REUNITED AFTER STORY APPEARING IN PAPERS

Father and son, separated for more than 18 years, are about to become reunited. The location of each other was effected by a brief news item which appeared in the Lubbock Morning Avalanche four or five weeks ago.

The father, who now lives at Henryetta, Okla., has not seen his son since soon after the World War. At that time the son was only three or four months old.

A postal card addressed to County Clerk Ed D. Allen from William F. Kuykendall, of 411 East Jefferson street, Stockton, Calif., asking for information concerning Claude Kuykendall, his father, was received here. The son said Claude had been last heard of in Lubbock about 17 years ago.

The information on the card was given the Morning Avalanche and a brief item appeared in the paper. C. I. Kuykendall, collector for Nolan Whitlow Auto Finance company, and also connected with a used car business at Avenue K and Thirteenth street, read the item and recognized the man wanted as being his brother.

C. I., knowing the story of his brother and his son, obtained the card from the county clerk and sent it to Claude. A letter from Claude to C. I. received yesterday, stated that the son had been informed of his father's whereabouts and the father is awaiting a reply from his son.

Claude moved to Tahoka in 1902 and lived in that section until shortly before the World War. After marrying and moving to Oklahoma, he became a soldier and went overseas. After the war he returned to his wife and little son. They were soon separated, and the father had not heard of him until receiving the letter from his brother in Lubbock.

AFRAID OF LIGHTNING?

The crash of thunder and the flash of lightning terrify with visions of sudden death. Yet such storms seldom take toll of human life.

Nature warns humans insidiously. Pain, exhausting fatigue, headaches or like distress often are signals of deep disorders. Don't jeopardize health by guesswork.

Visit your physician. Let him accurately diagnose the trouble and he will prescribe a regimen and treatment for its correction.

GOVERNOR ALLRED IS BEING BOOMED

CHICAGO, Jan. 22, (AP) — Loyal Texans in Chicago started booming their 1940 presidential candidate today.

Members of the Texas society of Chicago started a movement calling on Texans at home and afield to support Gov. James V. Allred of the Lone Star state for the Democratic nomination some three years hence. Joseph Ryan, secretary of the group said a copy of the resolution would be sent to Texas societies throughout the nation.

Lancaster Banker Claimed By Death

LANCASTER, Jan. 22, (AP)—W. Y. Perry, 76, president and one of the organizers of the First National bank of Lancaster, died last night after a brief illness.

Perry suffered a stroke while at work Monday. His condition improved before he suffered another sinking spell.

Survivors included his widow and a daughter, Miss Rua Perry, of Chicago.

LUCKY ACCIDENT

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Jan. 22 (AP) —David Holt, juvenile actor, was recovering today from "the luckiest accident I ever got into."

Playing Indian with some boys in his neighborhood, Master Holt was struck in the face by an arrow. It missed his right eye by an inch.
