MAY BE BEST TYPE OF OIL-BEARING SAND NOW ENCOUNTERED

Representing what oil men say is a potential source of permanent type shallow oil bearing sand in this territory, the Kegans et al Number 1 Mullican oil and gas test, located about ten miles west of Hale Center in the center of Section 21, Block B, R. M. Thompson survey, holds the attention of the "oil fraternity" of the Southwest and marks the well as the first "real show" on the South Plains.

With the total depth at 423 feet, more than 200 feet of fluid sands in the hole with the upper fifty feet being oil. Strict tests made by geologists of the various major companies, who are stationed here, give the oil found a 37.8 degree corrected gravity. From 5 to 12 barrels in the range of estimates on the well's possible capacity.

Following the announcement several days ago that the well had a good show of oil, representatives from practically every major company in the United States were rushed here to check over the new well. The Humble, Gulf, Sun, Texas, Phillips, Southern Crude, Vacuum and Laclede, Marland and Sinclair Oil companies have now stationed in Lubbock who are watching every move in this territory for any showing.

Other Well Watched
Coupled with the show experienced in the Kegans-Mullican test, is the possibility of a show in the A. A. Mine test, which is located twelve miles south and west of the Kegans well which are due to furnish interesting data on shallow horizons in this territory, oil men say. Both tests are based upon the reported showing of oil in the old Hildesoe oil and gas company's 4500 foot dry hole, which is

REPORTS ON FRUIT FLY

Comprehensive Analysis of Work Done By Conference Convened To Study Pest Given
RAYMONDVILLE, Texas, June 25. (AP)—W. A. Harding, of Raymondville, who returned Saturday from Washington where he attended a conference in connection with the fruit fly over introduction into the Rio Grande valley of the Mexican fruit fly, made a comprehensive report of results of the conference to the county commissioners court Saturday afternoon.

He told the commissioners, while strict regulatory measures would be imposed by the federal government in the valley, it was his opinion that "not enough Mexican fruit flies would be found in the valley to make good sport hunting them."

Honolulu Fliers Prepare For Hop

LIEUT. A. F. HEGENBERGER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25. (AP)—The tri-motored Pockler monoplane, piloted by Lieutenant Lester J. Maitland and Lieutenant Albert F. Hegenberger, arrived here at 2:31 p. m. today from San Diego. The army fliers expect to hop off in a few days for Honolulu.

Lieutenant Lester J. Maitland announced late today it was definitely decided that he and Lieutenant Albert Hegenberger would not take off Sunday on their attempted non-stop flight from San Francisco to Honolulu.

The huge tri-motored Pockler monoplane is to be given one more severe test flight of several hours before it starts on its way toward the Hawaiian Islands, the army aviators declared. This flight is to test to the nth degree the instruments, motors and response of the plane to its pilot's handling.

RIO LEVEES HOLDING

Embankments Along Valley Region of Texas Still Protect Area From Floodwaters

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, June 25. (AP)—All levees of the lower Rio Grande continued to hold late today as the river rose gradually through its course in Cameron county, with indications that the crest would reach this county tomorrow. The river at Brownsville tonight was within a few inches of the top, and was not expected to go much higher. At San Benito tonight levees were reporting holding, with the river at a higher stage than it has ever been before.

Water is running through all reaches connected with the river in the county, helping to keep the main body of water down.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Insistence upon American naval parity with Great Britain down to the smallest war craft, and interest in undercurrent of discussion at Geneva of a possible Japanese-American permanent peace treaty characterized official Washington reaction today at the naval limitation conference closed its first week.

Although the Japanese treaty question still is far from an official diplomatic status, reports from Geneva that such a pact might develop from the naval deliberation attracted keen attention. They came at a time when the United States and France are considering procedure for negotiating a similar agreement to outlaw war.

Coincidentally, the Japanese ambassador, Tsunome Matsudaira, called on Secretary Kellogg today, presumably to discuss developments at Geneva. Afterwards Mr. Kellogg said the subject of a peace treaty was not mentioned. His only comment was that no formal notice of Japan's intention to propose a treaty had been received, and that he remains between the two countries as friendly as possible of the United States and France.

There were indications today of

OBREGON TO RUN FOR PRESIDENCY

WILL ASK FULL RELIGIOUS FREEDOM FOR MEXICO WITH ENFORCEMENT

(By Associated Press)
MEXICO CITY, June 25.—General Alvaro Obregon tonight formally announced his candidacy for president of the republic.

General Arango Gomez has already been named as the candidate of the "anti-re-electionist" party. The announcement gave Obregon's position on the religious question, the relations between the United States and Mexico and the investment of American capital in Mexico.

Wants Religious Freedom
General Obregon declared for "complete liberty of the exercise of all cults, without admitting of any sectarian influence, and demanding always of ministers absolute respect to regulations which our laws establish." He asserted he will uphold energetically Mexico's sovereignty and demand of ministers absolute respect to regulations which our laws establish.

He also promised to facilitate investments by all honest American capital willing to co-operate with Mexico in the development of the country, with caution to prevent investments sought by "imperialistic Wall Street capital," which by a campaign of falsehood may again, as in the past, attempt to provoke a government crisis and armed conflict in Mexico.

The announcement was given out by General Arango Gomez, who is signed as Calles' foreign secretary, to become Obregon's campaign manager.

RACHAL DISAPPEARS

Warden Thinks Suicide Note Fake and Used to Cover Escape of Former Marshal

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., June 25. (AP)—W. B. Rachal, former deputy United States marshal, Corpus Christi, Texas, serving sentence in federal prison on conviction of accepting a bribe, left a note at the prison farm colony house, near Fort Leavenworth, and disappeared.

The note stated that Rachal was "tired of it all" and would end his life in the Missouri river. The note stated Rachal's clothing would be found on the Fort Leavenworth bridge, a search failed to reveal the clothing.

Warden T. B. White is of the opinion the suicide note is a hoax, designed by Rachal to conceal his escape. Rachal has a wife and several children at Corpus Christi. He was received at the prison about a month ago.

Advisory Board Now Being Formed To Act in Organization of Young People Here

Steps toward the formation of an advisory board preparatory to the establishment of the Tech. Young Men's Christian association, now under discussion, were planned Friday evening in the First Methodist church when church, business and Tech representatives met in conference. The personnel of the board will be announced upon its completion, next week, it is said.

The immediate duties of the board as outlined Friday evening, will be to make arrangements for the time and method of a city-wide campaign and to get in touch with candidates for the position of secretary.

Dr. W. T. Read, head of the chemistry department of Texas Tech, was chosen temporary chairman of the advisory board. Continuing at the meeting Friday evening, Dr. Read said: "The spirit of the clergy, business men and college representatives proves that there is a settled college Y. M. C. A. in the city."

HUGE PRODUCER GOING

Number 6-A Yates Well Making 17,000 Barrels Of Oil Per Day Now

SAN ANGELO, June 25. (AP)—Running wild for forty-eight hours and flooding an estimated 500 barrels hourly from 1,945 feet, with tools still in the hole, Mid-Kansas and Trans-Continental No. 6-A in Eastern Pecos county was being brought slowly under control tonight. Estimates of production with the tools removed ranged up from 17,000 barrels daily. The yield so far makes the well one of the world's greatest shallow producers. It is in section 34 1-2, block 1, L and G. N. railway company survey, a surplus strip of land and is the ninth well producer in the county and the seventh on land owned by Mrs. G. Yates of San Angelo.

All other wells are shut in for lack of storage and pipeline facilities and when number 2-R Yates today made a flow after penetrating the pay slightly to 1,270 feet, it was shut in immediately. For two days there have been no pipeline runs owing to connecting of the Illinois Pipeline company's eight inch line, just completed, paralleling a six inch line to McCamey.

Royalty on this land is held, one sixteenth by the public school fund of the state of Texas, one thirty-second by the Ira G. Yates, San Angelo rancher; one sixteenth by Kenneth and R. Wilbur Brown, Jr., young San Angelo real estate and oil men and one-sixty-fourth by the Peerless Oil and Gas company.

Courts Have Busy Session In Crosbyton

Seven cases, all charging violation of the prohibition law, involving six negroes and one white, were disposed of between Monday noon and Friday noon the past week in the 72nd criminal district court at Crosbyton following their return from the Crosby county capital.

Defendants in the seven cases, and disposition of the case follows: Galits Petty, three years; Ed Perkins, two years; Zeno Whitaker, one year; Laura Holley, three years; R. D. Baker, five years suspended; Fred Payne, one year, all negroes; and F. D. Boucher, white, trial of whose case resulted in a hung jury.

The case of J. Hill, Crosby county farmer, about three miles northwest of Ralls, charging incest and criminal assault, was not up for hearing, but is expected to be called at the next term. Defense attorneys in the meantime have announced that they have secured a statement signed by the daughter of Hill around whom the charges center, to the effect that her statement made at the preliminary hearing is false, and that she was not attacked by her father, according to advice from Crosbyton.

Final disposition of the case will hinge largely on this statement, court attaches said here.

OFFICERS SEEKING KIMES' GANGSTERS

SHERIFF TELLS STORY OF SANDIT'S ARREST AND FIGHT OFFERED

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., June 25. (AP)—Matthew Kimes, Oklahoma bandit, captured at the Grand Canyon, will be carried today while police forces scour all roads seeking members of his gang believed involved in rescuing him from the law's grip.

Officers are combing the district for two automobiles, one a touring car and the other a sedan, supposed to be carrying Clyde and Earl Jarrett, Whitehead and Ray Terrell, members of the Kimes gang. Sheriff J. O. Parsons of Coconino county today told his story of Kimes' capture, which he made public over his signature, he said, on account of the many conflicting reports of the occurrence.

Here's the sheriff's story: "There was a park service man sitting in my car with me about 1:20 p. m. near the Bright Angel hotel. Kimes' car was parked west of mine."

"Kimes was getting into his car and I asked him 'What is your name?' He said it was Watson, and I said 'You don't look like Watson.' 'Kimes began to get nervous. Let's go to the park service office,' I told him. Kimes got into his car with me and we went down

OLD SETTLERS MEET

Anyone Who Has Lived Here For The Past 25 Years Is Asked To Attend Conference

All residents of Lubbock county, who have lived on the Plains for the last 25 years or more, are eligible to membership in the Old Settlers association and are expected to attend the annual picnic to be held this summer and a business meeting of the association Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the court house.

A constitution and by-laws for the association have been drawn up and will be submitted for adoption at the Tuesday meeting when a time and place for the picnic will be selected, according to an announcement made by officials. E. P. Earhart is president of the association.

Members of the association and their families are to gather at the picnic to renew old acquaintanceships and each family is expected to bring a picnic lunch sufficient for the party.

EVERYONE HAD GOOD TIME AT PICNIC THEY STAGE

Taking on additional dignity and color with the marriage of R. E. Black, feature advertising salesman for the Howard-Script syndicate to Miss Jane Caton, daughter of Mrs. S. C. Caton, of Santa Anna, the fifth annual Peddlers' Jubilee closed last night at the Tech stock jockeying pavilion, as hundreds of salesmen who had gathered here from all points in the Southwest, looked on in silent reverence.

A chicken barbecue prepared by Gus M. Shaw opened the night session. Spencer Wells was toastmaster and introduced W. C. Rylander who made the welcome address. J. Roger Wilson, who made the response, and Judge C. C. Crenshaw. A quartet, composed of D. D. Roderick, L. M. Brooks, Harry Blockner and Paul Carlock, entertained the peddlers.

R. O. R. E. Meets
Following the meeting, the R. O. R. E. fraternity of the peddlers' organization, held their annual session. New members were given the regular initiation and other business was transacted. Among the new members brought into the organization appear the names of W. M. Kerr, Philadelphia; R. E. Caton, for the John R. Stetson Hat Company; W. H. "Nick" Carter, Fort Worth, salesman of Bah-bett Lye; J. E. Gee, Black and White salesman out of Wichita Falls; J. C. Walker, Fuller Brush Company, Wichita Falls; J. C. Fowell, Goodrich Rubber Co., Lubbock; and J. Bryan Parrott, Cement salesman out of Amarillo.

Break Stag Rule
Upon the request of R. E. Black, his bride and friends, the Peddlers' organization broke their tradition and deviated from the strict rule of only stag parties, to allow the marriage of Black, a peddler himself, was anxious to be wedded at the Jubilee. The bride came to Lubbock about 6 months ago and has been in the employment of the Citizens National bank here. Prior to coming to Lubbock, Miss Caton

HIGHER WAGE DENIED

Mediation Board Rules Trainmen Are Not Entitled to Increase At Present Time

CHICAGO, June 25. (AP)—A United States board of mediation today decided conductors and trainmen on fifty-five western railroads are not now entitled to an increase in wages and held that yardmen on the same roads should receive an increase of 7.2 per cent.

Today's award affects approximately 75,000 employees. Twenty-five thousand yardmen will benefit from the increase which is retroactive to March 1, this year. The rail workers refused a raise include conductors, brakemen and baggage-men.

Two members of the board, E. P. Curtis, secretary-treasurer of the Order of Railway Conductors, and E. A. Parquharson, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen dissented from the opinion reached by the other four members. They filed a minority opinion holding that conductors and trainmen should receive an increase as well as yardmen.

The minority report was signed by Dr. W. M. W. Spahn, president of the University of Texas chairman Everett C. Brown, of Chicago, representing the public; W. J. Jackson and J. W. Higgins, the railroads representatives on the board.

WOMAN IS STRANGLED

Half Clad Body Found With Her Hands Tied Behind Her Back and Feet Bound

PORTLAND, Oregon, June 25. (AP)—Her half clad body outstretched out on her bed, her hands tied behind her back, and her feet bound together, Mrs. Zell Stebbins, 32, was found strangled to death in her well furnished apartment in a residential district here today. It was believed the crime was committed yesterday. A man's handkerchief, washed up, had been stuffed in the woman's mouth as a gag. No evident motive for the murder had been discovered by police tonight.

America Filled With Gas Ready For Long Flight

(By the Associated Press)
ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., June 26.—The monoplane "America" will hop off for France between four and six o'clock this morning if there is not a cross wind on the field at that time.

"Gorilla Man" Is Believed Jailed

Grover A. Whalen, vice president of America Trans-Oceanic company, sponsor of the America's proposed non-stop flight across the Atlantic, speaking for Commander Byrd, said the final decision as to a take off in the morning would be announced at midnight.

Good Weather Report
The latest weather report received from the United States weather bureau in New York showed that it was clear between Roosevelt field and Newfoundland and that a high pressure area, or good weather "wave" was "building up" off Newfoundland.

Whalen informed the weather bureau by telephone that the wind was blowing almost due south across the field, pointing out that a westerly wind would be needed for the take off.

"The wind is a local one and will shift around to the southwest," said the weather man. "Before four o'clock in the morning."

Whalen appeared optimistic but declined to express any opinion as to whether an early Sunday morning start for Paris would be decided upon.

Preparation Made
At 11:55 a. m. Porter Adams, president of the National Aeronautical association, arrived at the hangar. Adams came from Washington Thursday to seal the barograph before the flight starts.

He was asked whether his appearance meant that a hop-off was certain for the coming dawn. "Oh, no," he replied, "but the weather man told me this afternoon there was a fifty-fifty chance of a flight so I came out from town. There's a possibility, all right. I wanted to be right of hand."

Searchlight Used
Just before midnight a great army searchlight was brought over on a truck from Mitchell field and trained on the America.

The light was so strong that it made the ship plainly visible from the hangar three-quarters of a mile away. The America perched like a great luminous moth in the surrounding darkness as mechanics hustled about greasing up the landing gear and testing struts and

CLUB CAMP DECIDED

4-H Club Members Will Hold Camp July 15 and 16. Students of Judging Agree

The date for the summer encampment to be held July 15 and 16 was agreed upon Saturday afternoon at a meeting of the 4-H club boys in the county agent's office, when 15 boys met for training in grain judging.

About 150 boys will be in attendance in the county fair park this summer. It is estimated by D. F. Eaton, county agent. The purpose of the camp is to train the high school boys in grain, poultry and stock judging, preparatory to the A. and M. trip, July 25 and 26.

HUBBERS ARE TO CLASH WITH LAMESA LOBOES HERE TODAY

SCUTTLE PIRATE CRAFT AGAIN BUT CARDS SPLIT WITH CINCINNATI; BROOKLYN AND BOSTON ALSO DIVIDE

(By Associated Press.) PHILADELPHIA, June 25.—(AP)—Hornsbys and Terry lead an attack on Jack Scott today that ended in a tie, 3 to 3, in the ninth inning. Hornsbys had a perfect day at bat with 2 triples, two singles and four walks in five times up. Terry smashed his tenth homer off Aldridge on base in the ninth inning connecting for two safeties in the game.

Miss Van Wie Is Tourney Winner

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 25. (AP)—High winds sweeping across the golf course of the Buffalo Country Club apparently meant nothing today to Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, the Windy City. She easily defeated Louise Fordyce, of Youngstown, Ohio, for the championship of the seventh annual women's invitation golf tournament. The final score was 4 and 3.

A gale of wind, accompanied by rain and lightning, delayed the match for more than an hour. Then the rain stopped but the wind, which was largely responsible for Miss Fordyce's defeat, continued.

CONTEST WILL DECIDE PREVIOUS TIE SERIES PLAYED; LOCAL DELEGATION CONFIDENT OF WIN OVER INVADERS

This afternoon the Hubbers clash with the Lobos of Lamesa in the third game in which a tie percentage will be played off. The Hubbers won last Sunday from the Lobos with a score of 7 to 4 in a fast game on the Lobo grounds and the homelings recently dropped their first encounter with the Lamesa crack nine in a twelve inning duel with a count of 5 to 4. The game this afternoon will present some real baseball as both clubs will be hustling to the limit for victory.

'Woman' Sanders, skipper of the Hubbers, will send in his original line-up this afternoon to do battle against the Lobos. 'Old Folger' line-up, which was used last Sunday proved to be very effective and a fast harmonious combination with 'Tuba' Nicholas at the short corner; Lassiter at the short field; Sheppard on the keystone bag; and Satchel Hill on the initial run. In the outer gardens there will be Galtier, Marshall and Roney covering the left, center, and right gardens, respectively.

Just who Manager Sanders expects to throw against the tough pack of Lobos has not been announced yet; but it is thought that the game pitcher who has faced them for the two previous contests will toss the exhibition this afternoon. 'Preacher' Taylor, who dropped a heart breaker in the first time against the Lobos and brought victory last week with a 7 to 4 count, is the man. Terry, Aler, and 'Woman' are ready to take their turn in relief, should it become necessary.

This afternoon's game is scheduled for four o'clock and many fans of the South Plains and Lubbock are expected to be here for the contest.

ANOTHER AIRMAN APPROVES PLAN TO BUILD FIELD HERE AND FORM CLUB

The organization of an air club would be an important factor for Lubbock toward extending a well-coming hand to the airman of the United States, is the opinion of Prof. A. H. Watt, of the Mathematics department of Texas Tech. and former member of the Missouri air corps.

"Coupled with the formation of an air club, should be the establishment of an airport," says Professor Watt. "Flies going west would always think of Lubbock as a refueling station and air veterans of the world would have pleasure in dropping down in a city if they knew an air club would greet them. It would be a matter of a very short time until airman of the Southwest would know of Lubbock as an aviation center."

Capt Is Small
"As Mr. Watt has explained, the cost of constructing a station here would be relatively small. The benefits to follow this measure can not be too strongly stressed. Take St. Joseph, Missouri, for an example, a city which established an airport when interest was aroused in commercial aviation. Logically, Kansas City can more adequately serve the middle west as an aviation center, but that city did not act upon it. As a result, St. Joseph is better known as an airport than Kansas City. Almost every airline across the West includes St. Joseph as a stopping place.

Might Become Airport
"If Lubbock should establish an airport, and that is likely, the following step should be to notify the Air Club of America and immediately have the city put on the air map."

Joe Hilton, owner of the Joe Hilton agency, and veteran airman expresses a desire for the union of former aviators.
Mr. Hilton stresses that it is but a short time till a series of airlines will come into Texas, and to realize the benefit thereof Lubbock should be organized and ready for the new industry.

Wife Worst Mental Hazard In Golf Doctor Advises "Leave At Home"

(By NEA Service)

NEW YORK, June 25.—Golf if you like, but leave your wife at home!

That partner of your joys and sorrows must not be the sharer of your golf game—if you value your normal blood pressure, your efficient heart action, your healthy nerves.

Butter your dearest enemy should snicker at the balls you top and slice than that your wife should stand by when you dub a shot. This warning comes not from a woman-hating "pro" but from a most authoritative scientist than Dr. Eugene Lyman Flisk, medical director of the Life Extension Institute of New York.

"A wife is the worst mental hazard of the game," says Dr. Flisk. "Her presence multiplies the strain of playing, encourages outbursts of temper and prevents that mild and mellow mood which is golf's most beneficial result for the man of middle age."

"Even the best of wives are bad on the golf course. Those that can't play have to be taught. And any man who ever taught his wife to drive a car or play bridge or blow smoke rings knows what nerve-racking pupils they are. The ones that can play are still more devilish. They stand around and criticize, either aloud, or worse still—in silence."

It is therefore, positively dangerous to health to golf with your better half.

There are many other dangers in the game, especially for the man past 50, says Dr. Flisk. "Golf is called an old man's game, because it is relatively mild. But no old man or middle-aged man should indulge in it without first having a thorough physical test. "If the test shows heart, kidney or blood vessel to be in subnormal condition, the game must be modified to suit the abilities of the player."

"No golfer should play at all if the game results in dizziness, pain around the heart, palpitation, or marked shortness of breath. "All golfers should have annual physical tests."

"Golfers with cardio-vascular weaknesses should observe the following rules:

"Do not play more than 18 holes in a day.
"Do not play on very hilly or difficult courses, or in crowds.
"Wait several hours after eating before beginning to play.
"Do not play in hot competition with others.
"Do not play on very warm, very cold or very windy days.
"Do not play unless you feel in good physical condition.
"Do not play spasmodically.
"Do not play too strenuously.
"Do not play with experts or much younger persons, lest you be tempted to compete with them.
"Do not play with anybody irritable or nervous."

What a nagging wife, a bad shot, a fierce eagerness to win really have a lasting physical effect upon the player, Dr. Flisk can prove by quoting the results of an actual test made by Dr. Clarence W. Lieb of New York, by measuring the blood pressure of a golfer as he went around the links.

Plan Chautauqua Ticket Campaign

With the chautauqua season approaching and with one of the best programs ever offered in the city on schedule, signers of the contract for the chautauqua will meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church to make arrangements for the ticket sale which will open in the city tomorrow. A contest is to be conducted by the committee and prizes given to the various sides. Garnett O. Reeves will captain one sales committee and Charles W. Ratliff will have charge of another sales committee.

By buying the season tickets the people will make a great saving, as the single admission prices are double the price of a season ticket. Redpath will hire a local cashier and children's worker paying her the same salary paid a regular junior supervisor. She will handle the sale of single admissions and will meet the children every morning at 9 o'clock for a play and story hour.

Signers of the contract who will meet at the church today are:

Reeves committee: J. M. Gordon, L. C. Ellis, H. H. Duncan, V. V. Clark, Fred Rhee, R. R. Vaughn, G. A. Dunn, R. D. Irvin, D. N. Terry, Dr. N. L. Garland, T. W. Jackson, N. A. Payne, A. Pennington, Floyd Deall, Shepherd-Smith drug company, J. W. Bazel, J. C. Smith, F. E. Wheeler, Mosby Pharr, W. R. Kelley.

Ratliff's committee: P. W. Horn, W. R. Waghorn, Mary M. Doak, J. E. Crawford, T. Teal, John I. Green, N. L. Peters, James R. Dow, D. D. Cross, S. A. Henry, Nolan J. Whitlow, Milford F. Swart, J. P. Amos, Mrs. Nell Grogan, J. A. Hodges, A. M. Hensley, Gus Kallas, J. E. Hamilton, T. A. Moore.

DAILY MARKETS

LIVESTOCK BLOW

PORT WORTH, June 25. (AP)—With only a small run of cattle and the absence of sheep on the live-stock market here today, these trades were largely nominal affairs. Hogs were 4 cents higher.

COTTON OIL QUIET

NEW YORK, June 25. (AP)—Cottonseed oil was quiet today, and after some early irregularity, steadied up on covering for over the week end, influenced by the rally in cotton. Final prices were 1 to 7 points net higher. Sales 5,500 barrels. Prime grade nominal; prime summer yellow spot 9.00 to 9.50; July closed 9.00; September 9.01; December 9.70; January 9.55.

CLOTHS UNCHANGED

NEW YORK, June 25. (AP)—The cloth market was quiet today and quotations were unchanged.

Burling markets were quiet and prices unchanged in New York and Calcutta. The linen markets were in their seasonally quiet period. Raw silk prices closed the week firm.

COTTON STEADY

NEW YORK, June 25. (AP)—Prospects for a renewal of showers in the cotton belt over Sunday led to rallies from an opening decline in the cotton market today. October sold up from 16.85 to 16.99 or 7 points net higher, but there was a spurt of selling in the last few minutes and it closed at 16.91. The general market closed steady, net 4 points higher to 1 point lower.

The opening was steady at a decline of 1 to 4 points. Active months showed net losses of about 5 to 8 points in early trading under liquidation prompted by favorable early weather reports. The map showed less rain in the belt than it has for some time, and the trade seemed hopeful of the dry warm weather which is said to be much needed over the south.

Offerings were comparatively light, however, and the forenoon market firmed up on the official forecast for showers in most sections of the belt. July contracts which had held off to 16.50 advanced to 16.64, while December rallied from 17.08 to 17.23, net advances of about 7 to 9 points on the general list.

Buyers were held in check by continued uncertainty as to the effect of possible notices on Tuesday or by the usual week end consideration and the market lost a good part of its gain during the last few minutes. July was relatively steady during the greater part of the morning, compared with later morning narrowing slightly, as if previous liquidation had improved its position and left it a little more sensitive to covering by shorts. At the close, July continued to be about 32 points under October, compared with a closing difference of 27 points on Friday.

The amount of cotton on ship-board awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 107,000 bales, against 25,000 last year.

Private cables reported trade calling in Liverpool and that congressional interests were buying July in the market there again; sales of later months.

A report by a New Orleans authority placed the condition of the Texas crop at 77.5 based on reports from correspondents as of June 26.

COTTON RALLIES

NEW ORLEANS, June 25. (AP)—Prompt stoppage of notices for 4,500 bales of July cotton rallied the cotton market today after prices had declined 8 to 10 points in the early trading. After dropping to 16.78 October rallied to 16.92, six points above the previous close but closed off a few points in the late trading and closed at 16.87. The general market closed steady net unchanged to one point up.

Although Liverpool cables were about as due the local market opened easier due mainly to the circulation of July notices. First trades showed losses of 6 to 8 points. Prices eased off a few points additional in the early trading and July dropped to 16.39 and December 17.09, eight to 10 points net down. The decline was helped somewhat by the favorable weather in the belt.

When it became apparent that the notices for July delivery would be handed early and the official forecast promised showery weather over Sunday the market rallied. July rose to 16.52 and December 16.92, 13 to 14 points up from the low.

In the final trading prices lost 2 to 3 points on realising and the market closed at little net change for the day.

Exports for the day 10,519 bales.

GRAINS SLUMP

CHICAGO, June 25. (AP)—Regulation Fourth of July weather today, hot and sunny, just right for wheat and corn, gave all the grain markets a decided downward slant. Wheat closed unsettled, 5-8 cent to 1 cent net lower, corn 1-4 cent to 1-2 cent off, oats at 1-4 cent to 1-2 cent decline, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 12 cents. Provisions reflected the downward trend of grain values and of hogs.

EDUCATIONAL CAMPAIGN FOR FOUR CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS FOR VOTE IN AUGUST OPENS IN STATE

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, June 25.—The business of explaining to the voters of Texas the provisions and aims of the four proposed amendments to the state constitution awaiting popular vote August 1, was begun here today by a steering committee of the state organization supporting the amendments.

A thorough analysis of the higher court amendment was the first move of the active campaign to carry all four. It was addressed to the "bar of the state, invoking aid of the county associations and members" in furthering adoption of the amendment by the people.

Judiciary Amendment
Under the judiciary amendment, the supreme court could be made a full nine-member body, the court of criminal appeals could be made five members, while civil appeals courts would be limited to 12 in number with a limit of 36 judges for all. The supreme court would be authorized to transfer district judges to relieve crowded dockets.

No new judges would be necessary and no additional expense would be involved. In increasing the higher court memberships, the present members of the commissions of appeals merely would be advanced to the status of a full fledged justice.

The amendment is designed to speed up court work and effect economy of operation.

The statement analyzing it was signed by W. A. Keeling, Austin, former Attorney General, general chairman of the state organization; Hugh R. Robertson, San Antonio; G. N. Harrison, Brownwood; W. B. Barker, San Marcos; and W. B. Bates of Houston. It follows:

Supreme Court
The amendment provides for a Supreme Court of no more than nine judges, instead of a Supreme Court of three judges and Commissions of Appeals of six judges. In our judgment, such a Court of nine members would be no more expensive than at the present system; will add to the dignity and importance of the membership as a whole, and, no doubt, make available for service upon the bench of distinguished members of the bar of Texas who would not be attracted by the judicial position in the Supreme Court without equality in the membership.

"Such a court of nine members will function more efficiently than a court of three and two commissions of three members each, and the enlarged court will render better service. Decisions would be more authoritative in recognizing existing precedents, establishing new ones, and probably avoiding conflicts which are made to appear by reason of the adoption of an opinion perhaps not sound law, or in accordance with other decisions, because of the correct disposition of the case by the judges passing thereon.

Would Relieve Appeals
Should the amendment be adopted, as appeal direct to the Supreme Court can be had from a decision by a trial court holding a statute void. This decision will relieve the Courts of Civil Appeals of much unnecessary labor, and avoid wholly unnecessary delay in the Court, because such a case must finally reach the Supreme Court.

"If the amendment prevails the Supreme Court will remain open at all times and its present enforced vacation of more than three months would be abrogated.

"If the amendment is adopted the legislature may, at its option, increase the membership of the Courts of Criminal Appeals from three to five judges. Should such increase be made the two members of the Commission of Appeals now assisting that Court will be eligible for full fledged membership with equal power and authority to render final decisions of that court of last resort, and thereafter membership of the Court of Criminal Appeals will be increased beyond the present five in number, and no additional expense will be created by the change. Reasons for abolishing commissions and elevating the standard of membership in the Court of Criminal Appeals are the same as mentioned in connection with the Supreme Court. The same provision also is made for continuous session.

wide any court of its constitutional status does not take from any court its constitutional jurisdiction; does not increase the number of judges in the state, but is likely to prevent increases in the number thereof and effect a saving to the taxpayers of the State. No change whatever is made in the method of fixing judicial salaries.

"Only a short time intervenes before the voters of Texas will pass upon this amendment, which carries with it an opportunity for important and beneficial reforms in the matter of membership of our courts of last resort, limitation upon a multiplication of judges, and opportunities for improvement in judicial procedure, as well as better methods in declaring judicial decisions.

Bar Asked To Aid
"We urge upon the members of the Bar of the State, as well as County Bar Associations, the necessity of obtaining favor of our people toward passage of this judicial amendment, and upon the members of the Bar, the responsibility for its defeat, should it fail. We earnestly request the lawyers, where organized into Bar Associations, or in counties where Bar Associations have not been formed, to meet at the earliest practical moment, invite the public to be present, and pass resolutions endorsing the amendment, and take such further steps, individually and collectively, as may help the cause. Former Attorney General Keeling is chairman of the State Committee, and all such actions should be reported to him, and he and the State Committee will further aid and assist the supporters of the judicial amendment, as well as the supporters of the other amendments to be voted on at the same time."

SEA POWER

criticism here over the flood of statements published in Europe in connection with the British naval proposal, chiefly articles by an "Admiral F." declaring in favor of the British supremacy on the sea. They brought forth a statement by one high official that this government will not and can not accept anything but parity with Great Britain in every class of ship.

Americans Demand Equality
The American government can see no reason why the British Empire should have superiority on account of trade routes or possessions of any other reason. And it was emphasized that at the Washington naval conference the British delegation agreed to an equal ratio for all classes of ships.

Coupled with the insistence upon naval parity was a strong belief that Great Britain will not press much further her proposal to go back to the 1871 treaty to require the maximum tonnage agreed upon for battleships, airplane carriers and cruisers.

Oppose Revision
In the event the British do insist upon the treaty revision, however, it was expected they would encounter the strong opposition of the American and Japanese Ambassadors. Hugh Gibson, head of the American group, and the Japanese delegate have cabled the British proposal to their governments and negative answers from both capitals were forecast.

Holiday in Conference
GENEVA, Switzerland, June 25.—The tripartite naval conference declared a naval holiday this afternoon to permit the delegates to witness Geneva's annual flower festival. This extended in beauty and previous affairs and made Admiral Saito think of his land of chrysanthemums as the corolla, lavish in exquisite flower combinations, passed down the lake front.

The delegates were delighted to get this chance momentarily to forget the conference, which, after the first week of negotiations, has brought forth no accord on any subject justifying the convening of a plenary public session. The British have been pressing for a public meeting, as they wish an opportunity to proclaim publicly their reasons for requesting an examination of the clauses of the London treaty, but both the Americans and Japanese think it better to come together merely to air differences of opinion, and favor further efforts to reach an agreement on some of the fundamental points in private conversations.

and to curtail operations unless production of 50 barrels is obtained. Judge Mullican and the other owners have complete control of the well and plan to give every available location on the tract a chance to produce.

Citizens Visit Well
Hundreds of citizens from over the South Plains have visited the well during the past three days. The drillers have been forced to keep the crowds at a distance. Kegans, the driller, is to be complimented on his wonderful cooperation in furnishing the information, oil men said yesterday.

The source of the oil is said, the men say. The hole was balled down in five hours, oil and black water filled the hole to a depth of 20 feet. The oil is black, with light greenish cast and hycrometer test gave corrected gravity of 37.5 degrees. Centrifuge test showed the oil carrying twenty per cent fresh water, and one-half of one per cent sediments.

Much Acreage Play
Strong acreage play is featuring the activities in the counties to the west, especially Yoakum county. Several thousand acres passed under the mineral lease during the past week, the Gulf, Southern, Crude, Pure, Llano and various individuals taking a part in the transactions.

Inasmuch as the Humble and Pure companies have worked this area with torsion and balance, the Gulf with a detail party, this new leasing activity is of more than general interest. The Marland Oil company has just closed a block of approximately seven thousand acres in Garza county, being located about three miles north and two miles west of the town of Post. In the extreme southwest corner of Garza county, Miller Brothers closed a deal for approximately thirty-five hundred acres of the Slaughter lands.

With the show of the Kegans-Mullican test, the renewed lease activities and the new locations of the Exploration Oil company in Floyd county, the South Plains and immediate territory are doing for much activity within the next few months, oil men here say.

JUBILEE

was with the Citizens National bank of Cameron three years and lived at Santa Anna before going to Cameron. Friends of the bride and groom who were attendants at the wedding were: Miss Hazel McCommas, Dallas, and Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Martin of Lubbock. The newly married couple plan to spend a short time in Wichita, Kansas before making their permanent home at El Dorado, Arkansas.

Newlyweds Cheered
Cheers of good will and friendship greeted the couple as they bowed to the crowd following the wedding. Friends of the bride and groom, and peddler friends rushed in to congratulate the groom and to meet the bride. Shortly after the wedding the bride and groom and attendants retired, following a short talk from the bride. The bride left the building waving her handkerchief to a crowd of peddlers paying a farewell tribute to the couple with a rousing cheer.

The activities of the day opened with the parade yesterday afternoon at 3:30. Led by the high school band, under the direction of J. W. Crowley, the peddlers marched around the square and back to the Lubbock hotel where they dispersed for the ball game. The Lubbock city officials and the fire department were in the parade also.

Law Violators Smile At Sun's Rays Break Statutes Just As In Winter

"The springtime is here and we always drink—went the little German ditty, and the whiskey peddler pulls his hair and uses a few lusty oaths at what he terms unfair competition from the beer maker—meanwhile both varieties are very busy dodging officers of the law, and representatives from both have been sent down to Huntsville by local courts to ponder over their troubles, this year.

It seems a "thirst" a thirst, for all of that, and aside from the joyous Yuletide season when it is the custom of many persons to get "lit up" the consumption of liquor remains about the same from total alcoholic percentages, and the public is about as naughty at one time as another, officers say.

The only way the season's effect, the number of arrests to any great extent is that in certain seasons there is more work to do than in others and the working man behaves better than the idler.

Fines Are Many
Records of the city court show that $516.60 were paid in fines during January, $762.50 during February, $491.85 in March, $540.00 in April, $734.00 in May and $315.80 for June.

County officers, who by the way turn their attention more to major offenders, show a record of 216 arrests in all for this year, and 516 for the year of 1937. During January the docket shows three arrests for drunkenness and 16 for violation of the prohibition law. This month there has been seven arrests for drunkenness and seven for violating the prohibition law. Petty violations are possibly on the increase. It was explained, but major law violations and felonies appear to be considerably decreased for this year as compared with three years ago. Increasing population is probably the reason for the increasing number of petty offenses, it was stated, however.

Explanation Made
Now while "thirst" a thirst for all of that, some few folks will only get drunk in the winter time—then they stay that way in a greater or smaller degree for the rest of the year, it was observed. But the whiskey-maker must have a more or less complicated still, take time for his "mash" to ferment and use a little precaution against "fusel oil" and metal salts in making his concoction, and all the beer-maker needs is an old tub, a little malt with some other stuff which might be purchased as groceries, and a warm day to make it "work." Furthermore it is claimed that it doesn't make one as warm as does the liquor. And a man can usually get away with a bottle of brew and maintain equilibrium while a little "liquor" in summer will "floor you."

But officers explained that the home brew is also against the law, and that if the consumers of product made could see it in process of manufacture they would hesitate to indulge. A mere matter of flies and filth in the tub can be strained out before bottling and the drinker will not be the wiser, say some makers, and officers report that they have often found the beer which is fondly drunk was made in conditions of unspeakable filth.

It Leads On
Also it was claimed by the enforcement men here that contrary to the general belief that a person's craving can be supplied with a mild type of beer, it merely cultivates a thirst and leads on to the stronger variety later on. The only way to enforce a law is to enforce it and anybody caught with anything that is against the measures of the Dean act is apt to dwell in Sheriff Johnston's hotel for a while, was the parting shot of officials here. And with the number of raids taking place and systematic method of search and seizure used a dry year looms for Lubbock.

the hill. Kimes did not stop at the park service office and I said, "Stop that car."

"I slid over in the seat toward him. He stopped and turned the car around. Then in a flash he whipped his gun out from one of the cushions near his legs. I grabbed him and the tussle commenced.

"I was unable to get my gun and we wrestled for ten or twelve minutes, two shots being fired in the car by him. That's how I broke my finger and bruised my hand.

BYRD FLIGHT

Swings around to make leaving the runway possible.

Wait On Wind
He set the earliest possible moment for a take off at 4 o'clock and said that if the wind was not right then they would stand by until six. If the wind should not come around by then, he said, the flight would be put off another day, as an early morning take off is deemed advisable.

Whalen's statement actively was contradicted about the great plane where it squatted in the glare of an army searchlight, at the top of the runway.

The men who had been pumping gasoline into the great tanks for the past hour accelerated their motions and mechanics oiled and greased and tested stays and bolts as though racing against time. Food for the fliers was packed away in the cabin, two roast chickens, 20 sandwiches, coffee and tea.

At that time the wind was southwest and would have to swing almost to due west to give the plane the head wind it needs to take the air.

A cross wind makes a hop off impossible. The wind during the night had been swinging in the right direction and it was believed it would be in excellent position by dawn.

"We have decided to go," Whalen said. "Conditions are not ideal but we have never asked that."

"They are good and if this local wind gets right to let the ship into the air it will start as soon as it's all loaded."

Red Cross Wants Officer To Visit

EFFORT BEING MADE TO HAVE EXAMINER COME TO CITY IN NEAR FUTURE

The local Lubbock bureau of the American Red Cross will endeavor to bring an examiner here for the period of the encampment of Fifth Area scouts, it was announced Saturday morning by Miss Mae Murphy, secretary of the local chapter.

Indications point to a large enrollment for the camp meeting this summer. Every troop sending 10 scouts is required to have one his three associates, Bert Acosta, George Noville and Bert Balchen, continued to rest, or try to rest at their hotel in Garden City as the final preparations were made for their flight.

Shortly after Whalen made his statement the breeze which had been blowing briskly suddenly died.

The flag atop the hangar which had been snapping in the wind all evening hung limply straight down. Such remaining wind as was still recorded on instruments however, indicated a continuing swing to the west, auguring well for a 4 o'clock take off.

With the dying of the wind a fine drizzle started falling but it was not believed this would develop enough to do any damage.

adult leader, said Hector Y area executive.

Personnel Not Announced
The personnel of the official of the Red Cross who will be in charge of the camp meeting has yet been announced in its entirety. Those who have already agreed to give their services are: H. Yates, scout executive; K. N. G. chairman of the camp committee; L. G. H. Williams, commissary; L. S. Harkey, president; E. Bule, scoutmaster; Crosby; S. Link, vice-president; Spur; J. Sanders, scoutmaster; Ralls; J. Bishop, scoutmaster; Sudan; B. Barton, scoutmaster; Barto and J. B. Caldwell, scoutmaster; Sloan.

One of the features of the camp will be a museum to be established in an old ranch house. Scouts are urged to bring all oddities, trophies along for display in show house.

A gold medal will be presented to the best camper.

"Every known precaution will be used to safeguard the scouts," Mr. Yates. "The swimming will be at stated periods and in charge of life savers. The 'buddy system' of swimming will be used. A doctor will visit the camp daily to examine the health of the boys."

located 600 feet south of the Mims test. It will be remembered, all shows of oil were reported at 400, 540 and 1350 feet in the old well and that 13 feet of sand was logged in the old well as approximately 1350 feet.

"We're going to give the tract a thorough test," Judge Clark M. Mullican, part owner of the well, said yesterday following the test made on the oil. A new location is to be made just 600 yards north and 300 yards west of the present well in the near future. The present hole is in bad shape due to water, which is fresh, encroaching from a bad casing seat at 395 feet. It is the plan of Judge Mullican and the promoters of the well to put down a series of tests over the 600 acre tract within the next few years, but with the year

MYRICK'S FINE NEW STRUCTURE NEARS OPENING

SEPTEMBER 15TH WILL FIND BUILDING IN USE, OWNER SAYS

The Myrick building, Lubbock's new six-story office building, is now erected on Avenue J between Broadway and 13th streets at an approximate total cost of $300,000. It will be finished and ready for occupancy between September 1 and 15. It was announced here Saturday by W. A. Myrick, owner of the building, through Peters and Myrick, architects.

Construction work is now going steadily ahead on the structure, and will continue until completion, although unforeseen delays have been experienced in the past, due to inability to get delivery of certain specified material, considered necessary to complete the building in keeping with plans of the owner to erect a structure as near fireproof as possible.

Plasterers Begin Monday
Preliminary frame construction and all brick and concrete work has been completed, and the past several days have been consumed in cleaning out the six floors of the building preparatory for the plasterers, who will begin Monday morning.

The building, which will supply such needed office quarters for those who have been unable to find locations, stands as a monument to the faith of its owner in Lubbock and the South Plains, and is a building of which any city might well be proud.

The office quarters already under contract are being built by the owner to specifications supplied by future occupants, and in addition to being one of the largest and prettiest structures in the city, it fills a fitting need for the future.

Occupant Plans Changed
Original plans of Mr. Myrick were that the first floor and basement would be occupied by the hardware company that bears his name, but negotiations are now under way with an unnamed business organization whereby this portion of the structure will also be rental property.

While the name of this firm has not been made known, it was said that it was a chain organization of national reputation, and that its coming to Lubbock would serve to strengthen still further this city's reputation as "The Hub of the Plains." Contracts have not yet been signed with the firm, and pending this, the firm name would not be divulged.

Mr. Myrick said that work now is to go steadily forward until final completion, and that no further delays in construction are anticipated.

HISTORY SOCIETY IS GIVEN RELICS

SAN SABA MAN PRESENTS BIG COLLECTION TO MUSEUM
AT CANYON

CANYON, June 25.—An unusually large and varied collection of relics has been recently deposited with the Panhandle-Plains Historical society by J. W. Dalton of San Saba.

This collection is made up of geological specimens, Indian and ranch relics for the most part. Mr. Dalton was a pioneer in the South Plains country and has spent almost a lifetime collecting relics, especially relating to West Texas.

In the collection which he gave to the Historical society there were numerous Indian relics, a moccasins from near Fort Davis, and a number of Indian flints. The collection of ranch relics contained branding irons from the Matador and Spur ranches, two of the most famous of the West Texas companies, and notable as being two of the big companies in the state. There are rawhide hobbles, ox bow accessories, relics from the old Will S Ranch in Crosby county, and various types of stirrups which were used in the olden days.

The collection received from Mr. Dalton contained over seventy specimens. It is one of the most valuable and most interesting because of its wide range that has ever been received for the museum of the society.

Marriages First In South Plains' Society Circles

South Plains society, in towns other than Lubbock is in the midst of weddings and parties for visitors. Both informal and formal events are featured in every town, according to accounts appearing in the newspapers.

Two Lubbock women were honored at a forty-two party in Plainview Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Howard Parker and Mrs. Wallace Davenport entertained at Mrs. Parker's home. With the two honorees from this city, Mesdames Rosella Rushing and Olin Brashner, Mrs. Patty Dalton Vaughn, of Shreveport, La., was also a guest of honor. Miss Dorothy Rushing, also of this city, assisted in giving.

Nuptial Shower
An outstanding social event at Abilene this week was a miscellaneous shower of gifts presented to Mr. and Mrs. Lamar McKenzie Monday evening when Mrs. T. D. Stanbaugh and Mrs. W. C. Wagoner entertained at Steve Hall. About fifty friends of the newly married couple attended.

A wedding of interest in many South Plains towns was that of Miss Willie Ferns Curry and Roy R. Heard in Crosbyton Sunday evening. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Curry of that city, and her father is a pioneer editor of the Plains having many friends in this section. Before going to Crosbyton he and his family lived in Snyder. Among those from out of town who were in the wedding party were Mrs. Joe Graham, of Tahoka; Miss Beatrice Kirkendall, of Post; and Mrs. John D. Abilene. Mr. and Mrs. Heard will be at home in Crosbyton after July 1.

Editor Weds
J. W. Smith, editor of The Lubbock Tribune, was married to Miss Belle Edmonson at Tahoka Sunday afternoon. Both the bride and groom have many friends in neighboring counties.

A Brownfield couple was married Sunday in Canyon at the home of Miss Maurine Lemons of that city. The couple having been week-end guests in her home. The principals were Miss Della Welch, daughter of Mrs. J. W. Welch, of Brownfield, and Albert George, formerly of Brownfield and now of Midland.

Miss Florence Hanna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hanna, of Slaton, who is visiting in Dallas, is being feted there, according to information reaching her home town.

Married Here
A wedding performed recently in Lubbock is of interest. Miss Elva Hunkley, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Hunkley, of Slaton, and Rube Cantrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Cantrell, of Tulsa, were married by Rev. W. M. Davis of this city, at his home. The bride was formerly a student at Canyon Teachers College and Mr. Cantrell is a Tulsa business man.

The Ross family reunion at Floydada has occasioned many picnics, dinners and other informal entertainments in that city recently for the guests, who gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Henry out of town guests include Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Ross and sons, Harvey and William, and daughters, Mary Wilson, Isabel and Jean, of Mexico City, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Ross and sons, James, Marvin, Thomas and Robert, of Abilene; Mrs. N. M. M. and Mrs. E. C. Henry and sons, Floyd, Mrs. R. P. Jarvis, Plainview; Miss Lucy Ross, Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. George V. Smith and daughter, Margaret, Floydada; Mrs. Fitzer Thicker and son, Charles, of Wellington; Miss Sarah and sister, Ruth, of Clovis; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Henry and sons, of Floydada; Mrs. Charles Mayes, of Manday; Mrs. P. U. McCutcheon and children, Pat, Will, Leslie, Bruner, of Amarillo; Rev. Ed Matting, of Clovis, N. M.

Birthday Dance Given For Miss Frances Gunn Friday
Miss Frances Gunn was honored with a birthday party and dance Friday evening at 2405 16th street, with Misses Fern Gunn and Betty Hopson as hostesses. Punch and a birthday cake were served during the evening to Misses Vesta Hendon and Maurice Irvin, of Littlefield; Lucille Andrews, Doris Garland, Catherine Evans, Elaine Birkens, Mesdames R. F. Covin, of Longview; G. A. Gunn, Mesdames George Kirk and Glenn Allen, of Littlefield; Graden Robbins and Marvin Stewart, of Amarillo; Carroll Townsend, Forrest Lee Covin, of Longview; Jack Roland, of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Bell.

J. Mason Moxley Is Host At Birthday Party Friday
J. Mason Moxley, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Moxley, was Friday afternoon host at a birthday party and picnic, celebrating his eleventh birthday, with his mother, and Misses Lucille Moxley and Kate Moxley. A group of boys and girls were taken to Tumble N pool for swimming, after which they were served picnic lunch.

Guests were Johnna Boyd, Nell Boyd, Frances McKee, Pauline Phillips, Roberta Myrick, Mary and Elizabeth Providence, Bonnie Sue Jordan, Billy Lyle, Harry Blocker, Duke Providence, Gaston Shaw, Duke Mooreman, Sam Alinsworth, Jack Moxley and John Robert Moxley.

Style's Premiums For Summer Going To Unevenness

THAT WHICH IS IRREGULAR AND LOP-SIDED FOR THE MOMENT IS MOST CHIC, SAYS HENRI BENDEL, GOTHAM'S FASHION DICTATOR

Modest silhouette, round neckline, graceful drape, baby train and soft purple spell "Violet"

Chic comes by smart yoke, tiered skirt, and original applique work to this black lace and print frock

"Audacious" indeed is this printed gown combining the bustle of yesterday with trousers of tomorrow.

Adult Teachers Are Needed For Girls' Encampment

Adult instructors in Camp Fire work are needed for the annual encampment to be held near Crosbyton beginning on August 3. Mrs. R. H. Martin, president of the Guardians' association, has announced. The Crosbyton organization has asked Camp Fire girls in neighboring towns to be their guests at camp this year and a site has been selected in a private pasture near Silver Lake. It is hoped that more than one hundred girls will attend the encampment and it is probable that half of these will be from Lubbock as this is the largest town to be included, Mrs. Martin said.

Daily Program Outlined
No adults will be allowed in camp other than those who are assisting, as a daily program has been outlined and the girls will be under strict discipline. The days will be divided into class periods, rest periods and recreational times and the girls will be asked to observe the camp rules. Visitors will be received on Sunday and on the last night that the girls are in camp. Parents may call at other times, although frequent visiting will interfere with the camp routine. The guardians say visitors will be asked to bring their own bedding and supplies as the camp facilities will not permit accommodation of visitors.

Group Chaperones
An adult is to chaperone each group of girls. It is to be a camp cook, a dietitian, a trained nurse, and instructors in nature craft, hand craft, swimming, and other things that are learned in Camp Fire. There is to be a life guard for the swimming. Classes are to be conducted from one to two hours daily.

This is the second annual encampment for the Lubbock girls the first having been attended last year at Palo Duro canyon.

The second model I have chosen today is a smart little frock, "Violet," which takes its name from its delicate coloring as well as from the modest model which gathers a tiered skirt into a left-side drape and allows the ends to form a one-sided train.

Flowered Straps
Its neck line is rounded girlishly in the front and only slightly lower in the back. It is sleeveless. No winning of any kind is needed for a filmy, flowered chiffon of this type. For its big, splashy though soft colored pattern is decoration enough for the young girl whose beauty will be enhanced by such a simple, but flatteringly modish dress.

My third model today shows a scotch desire to unite in its fashioning all the points of style it can. Black lace, quite the thing for evening wear when a print is not used, combines with a startling daisy pattern in shades of cream and yellows.

Like a Child's Scrapbook
It has a yoke, and a square one at that. It has a tiered skirt, with the daisies forming the top tier by clever applique work on black chiffon. It has a rounded hem line, with the front and back slightly longer than the sides. And lastly it has an unique form of applique design on one side of the bodice—

A smart gold kid sandal has front straps of embroidery flowers in bright colored silks.

Miss Evelyn Reed Is Wed To Mr. Prude Colorado City

Miss Evelyn Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Reed, 1819 Avenue M, was married Thursday evening to John M. Prude, at the home of the Presbyterian minister in Big Spring and the couple is now visiting at the home of the bride's parents. Miss Clippie Bennett and R. B. McIntyre, of Colorado City, accompanied the couple when they were married.

The wedding had been planned for June 29 in Lubbock but Mr. Prude could not get off from his work at that time and the wedding date was advanced. The bride was visiting Miss Bennett for a few days this week.

Native Of Lubbock
Mrs. Prude is a graduate of the Lubbock high school and has been attending the Technological college for two years. She has lived in Lubbock all her life.

Mr. Prude, the son of Mrs. John Prude of Colorado City, completed his college work at Sewanee University, Tennessee, in January of this year. He is a member of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity and was on the football team of the institution. He is now a civil engineer with the California Oil company. His parents were pioneer residents of Colorado City.

Mr. and Mrs. Prude expect to go to Abilene tomorrow for a short visit, after which they will go to Colorado City where they expect to make their home.

Just a bunch of the daisies cut out and applied on in much the same manner a child's favorite picture would be cut out and pasted decoratively onto a picture book page.

The black lace forms the bottom tier and the yoke. An entire slip of black chiffon forms the foundation for this delicately exquisite gown.

With heavier materials such as velvets and rich brocades next fall, fashion may straighten up her lines again and put up formal barriers in favor of absolute symmetry. But with an insouciant charm, summer modes lean to the irregular, the daintily uneven and the one-sided interpretation of what is chic.

The Baptist Student Union council is to foster volleyball games on the lawn of the First Baptist church twice monthly and the first games will be played tomorrow evening. It has been announced. In addition to this, the council is to be in charge of the prayer meeting program Wednesday evening. Baptist students are to participate.

Miss Mae Murfee Is To Represent Federated Clubs

Miss Mae Murfee has been selected by the County Federation of Women's clubs as representative to go on the Texas Farm Bureau special investigation trip to California, her trip being financed by the chamber of commerce. It has been announced by Mrs. R. A. Baldwin, of Slaton, president, Mrs. A. R. Pendley, of the Southwest ward community, was named as alternate.

Mrs. C. C. Fine is to represent the Lubbock County Farm Bureau association and Mrs. F. F. Revier of this county to be sent by Crosby, Dawson and Lamb counties, according to announcements made about a week ago.

Mrs. W. H. Meador, of Lubbock, and Mrs. James Benton, of Post, were appointed at the May meeting of the Federation to investigate the possibilities of sending one on the trip and this week they were able to report at an executive board meeting, called by Mrs. Baldwin, that the chambers of commerce, because of interest in the advancement of agriculture in the county and for the purpose of working in harmony with the women's clubs, had offered to finance the sending of a delegate.

This is a farm women's special trip, covering two weeks in July, starting July 18, to investigate marketing conditions in Colorado, California and other points. Numerous stops will be made at points of interest and these women are to bring back information to their respective districts over the state.

"Kempy" Receiving Praise Following Rehearsals

No play yet attempted by Lubbock's Little Theatre has had such enthusiastic advance praise for its rehearsal as has "Kempy," which is to be produced at the Landmark Theatre Tuesday night.

Starting with a plot that offers a most unusual opportunity in the way of comedy, all characters have been happily chosen with the result that the play is a well balanced cast will appear. H. H. Halsey as "Pa" truly is a scream. Having a part much like any worried father might have in a family of grown daughters, he goes from one trying situation to another through the entire three acts, and more than this he does it especially well. Opposite him "Ma" in the person of Mrs. W. C. Rylander, is always found crying to patch things over and make life more even for the entire family in the typical "motherly" fashion.

The daughters, Kate, Jane and Ruth, played by Misses Vera Wilson, Miss Tyler Lee Knight and Miss Haven Sawyer, portray three entirely different characters—the older sister who wants to be married, the middle sister who is married, and the younger one who is just young. All are especially good in their parts and all have ample opportunities for every one succeeded more in complicating matters.

Has Title Role
Gaylord Hankins in the part of "Kempy" finds things are not just as he would imagine them to be in a circle slightly higher than his proper sphere and he has many varied experiences which he carries off in great style. "Duke," Lettrel Heddins, the man of the world does not especially succeed in reforming the girl he loves, but succeeds in the end in winning her just before the close. Byron Dickinson has several opportunities as "Bob" and those who see the play will agree that he rises to the occasion.

"Kempy" is one of those stories that give you a pleasant evening's entertainment with no marring side lights. Under the most able direction of Donald V. Murphy the cast has worked especially hard through more than a month of rehearsals.

Swimming Lesson Is For Sunova Camp Fire Girls
Members of the Sunova group of Camp Fire girls had a lesson in swimming yesterday morning with K. N. Clapp instructing. The girls met in regular session Friday afternoon at the club house and received Nancy Ruth Leaverton and Mary Geniece Hardberger as new members.

The Baptist Student Union council is to foster volleyball games on the lawn of the First Baptist church twice monthly and the first games will be played tomorrow evening. It has been announced. Child Training Praise From Parent Helps Youngster

Small, mild cigars are having a large sale among young women who find cigar smoking becoming a habit. This statement comes from a tobaccoist at the London tobacco trade exhibition. He explains that a woman will not yield her cigar for a pipe, because pipe smoking is a bit harsh for a woman, but that a small and mild cigar makes just the right sort of an after dinner smoke for her. Now watch the feminine elders get excited and watch the feminine youngsters glare at 'em! The youngsters know that it's all only tobacco selling propaganda. The elders always swallow these false alarms and start legislation again.

Editor's Note—Olive Roberts Barton, in this third of a series of fifteen articles, gives No. 2 of The Ten Commandments of Child Training.

Thou shalt not give the child an inferiority complex. The word "complex" means abnormality. "Inferiority complex" means that we are obsessed with the idea that we don't amount to much and that every one can do things better than we can.

People of high strung nervous temperament are more apt to have the former. Those people who are phlegmatic and stolid in their nervous make-up are more likely to have a tendency the other way.

It has nothing to do with environment or caste. It is the way we rate ourselves and we cannot help it. It is all arranged for us when we are babies. I've seen young men and young women grow up with every blessing of home, money, books and health with inferiority complexes that made their lives absolutely wretched.

Here's the way it starts. By making fun of a little child. Children are so painfully sensitive that to call attention to their shortcomings is plain downright cruelty.

Physical imperfections or peculiarities come first. A parent should never mention a blemish. I know a young married woman who had a mark on one side of her face. It was scarcely noticeable yet in her mind it had taken on enormous and distressing proportions. It had distressed her mother when she was a little child. In time it preyed on the mind of this young woman, and her husband not been a person of infinite courage and resource, the consequences promised to be terrible.

Never make fun of the way a child walks, runs, talks, or sings. Correct mistakes kindly and tactfully, but quietly and without rousing any suspicion on his part. Never shame him for an accident particularly before others.

Praise him for everything you can. Make him feel his worth—never his fault! I do not think it will make him conceited—all things being equal. But even so, conceit won't ruin his nervous system and an inferiority complex does lessen with years. It grows. It acts as a brake on all honest effort and ambition. And it has a tangible effect on health. Neurosthenics are almost invariably cases of inferiority complex. It is a terrible thing.

HER FIRST MOVIE
An 80-year-old woman went to her picture show the other day. The picture had been carefully selected by those who took her. It was a picture put on by a W. C. T. U. chapter. I think it was Harry Langdon in "The Strong Man." When the old lady went home she commented, "No wonder girls are wild. If my girl went to picture shows I'd turn her up and spank her."

REFRESHING
Somehow one finds the old lady a refreshing contrast to the other coy and sprightly young things of 80 or 90 who, upon being taken to a picture show, are always depicted as sitting on the edge of their chairs with tense excitement, and saying "where have you been all my life, movies?"

Club Members Enjoy Party In J. C. Orr Home
Mrs. J. C. Orr and Mrs. W. C. Rylander were hosts of a club party Friday afternoon at 1012 Avenue R. Games of forty-two were played, after which angel food cake, pineapple pie bricks and orange and grape juice were served. Red verbenas and daisies were used in decorating the home.

Mrs. Randolph and Misses Christy And Marley Popular Visitors Here; Whirl Of Pretty Events Are Given

With Miss Jane Christy and Mrs. Victor Randolph, from Phoenix, Ariz., and Miss Helen Marley, of Austin, as popular visitors here, society continues with a whirl of activities. Younger visitors are being feted with picnics, swimming parties, dances and other events, and honor guests are named at club meetings.

For the coming week little has been announced so far except the wedding next Saturday morning of article A. Tubbs and Misses Albert Rodgers at the First Presbyterian church. On the following day, Frank Gaines and Miss Mae Morrison are to be wed at the home of Mrs. W. R. Spencer.

Brides-to-Be Honored
Both Miss Morrison and Miss Rodgers were given surprise parties on Thursday afternoon, the first at the home of Mrs. Joe Hiltner with Mrs. W. R. Spencer as joint hostess, and the latter at a garden party at the home of Mrs. Claude Barnes with Mrs. Joe Hiltner as hostess. Mrs. W. E. Ballew as joint hostess.

Mrs. Randolph is visiting in the home of her uncle, Nell H. Wright, and with Miss Mary Meador. Both of her hostesses entertained in her honor this week, in addition to smaller gatherings. Miss Christy has been extended a number of courtesies, among them some smaller parties and teas. Her hostess, Mrs. Charles Mahoney entertained Wednesday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Dohoney entertained Friday evening.

A pretty bridge party yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Carl Patton complimented Miss Helen Marley, Mrs. John Jackson, Amarillo, and Miss Rose Rutledge, of Paducah. Mrs. G. E. McClellan entertained for Miss Marley on Tuesday afternoon and she was a guest at many other events.

One of the most pleasant affairs of the week was a tea Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. B. Erwin with Mrs. W. V. Price and Mrs. J. F. Frye as honorees.

Bridge Party Favors Mrs. Randolph, Of Arizona
With Mrs. Victor Randolph, of Phoenix, Ariz., as honor guest, Mrs. Mary Meador entertained at bridge Friday afternoon at her home, 1623 Main street. She was assisted by her mother, Mrs. W. H. Meador. The home was pretty with carnations and garden flowers prettily arranged and a salad course was served and a salad course was served.

Miss Ruth Horn scored high in the games with Mrs. George Field making low count. Guests were Mesdames Nell H. Wright, Claude Harburt, Louis Hunter, Carl Roberson, Frank Erwin, Benjamin Fyfe, Annasario, Dorrance, D. Rodrick, Ross A. McWhorter, Kenneth L. Kimbro, Lawrence Bacon, R. G. Smith, J. B. Crisler, Harold H. Griffith, Velton Spikes, J. A. McClellan, Charles Read B. C. Dickinson, R. D. Erwin, Benjamin Fyfe, of Marshall, Charles Mahoney, Edgar Lewis, Richard L. Douglas, George Field, Misses Mildred Street, Johnny Glickerson, Ruth Dunn, Louise Jennings, Evelyn Posey, Helen Marley, of Austin, Jane Christy of Phoenix, Ariz., Edith Carter and Ruth Horn.

GENTLEWOMEN
Feminine gentleness is being fostered by the Fascist party. We hear that the Italian Fascists, who belong to that party are forbidden to wear the black Fascist shirt which they once wore. Mussolini explains that the black shirt is too closely associated with memories of fierce fighting to be suitable for feminine gentleness. And what a hit that will make with the male world, which insists that women stay "gentle" even if they do nothing to make the world which women meet a place which fosters this gentleness. "Business makes a woman so hard," some men remark, "that she forgets to be gentle." HER FIRST MOVIE
An 80-year-old woman went to her picture show the other day. The picture had been carefully selected by those who took her. It was a picture put on by a W. C. T. U. chapter. I think it was Harry Langdon in "The Strong Man." When the old lady went home she commented, "No wonder girls are wild. If my girl went to picture shows I'd turn her up and spank her."

REFRESHING
Somehow one finds the old lady a refreshing contrast to the other coy and sprightly young things of 80 or 90 who, upon being taken to a picture show, are always depicted as sitting on the edge of their chairs with tense excitement, and saying "where have you been all my life, movies?"

Club Members Enjoy Party In J. C. Orr Home
Mrs. J. C. Orr and Mrs. W. C. Rylander were hosts of a club party Friday afternoon at 1012 Avenue R. Games of forty-two were played, after which angel food cake, pineapple pie bricks and orange and grape juice were served. Red verbenas and daisies were used in decorating the home.

Guests were Mesdames Sam T. Davis, Pink L. Parrish, O. L. Nialar, John Moore, G. F. J. Stephens, Hal P. Bradley, E. M. Smith, A. W. Evans, E. P. Norwood, Fred Spikes, Gulon Gregg, H. D. P. T. A. School In Teachers College Believed Success

CANYON, June 25.—A successful five-day training school of Parent-Teacher association work has been conducted this week at the West Texas State Teachers college. This school was held for the benefit of Parent-Teacher association workers throughout the eighth district of Texas. The school was conducted by Mrs. Stephen P. Chalmers from the state headquarters at Austin.

Workers from two associations at Canyon, from Amarillo, Tulla, and other towns attended the sessions.

Two hours each day were devoted to the work under Mrs. Chalmers' leadership, one hour being given to a lecture and the other to discussion by the group or conferences between Mrs. Chalmers and members of her class.

The subjects which were discussed in detail were: organization of the National Parent-Teacher association; leadership and the local Parent-Teacher association; a model P. T. A. program and program making for the successful association. On the fifth day Mrs. Chalmers gave a very skillful resume over the four days preceding and answered a large number of questions asked by the class.

Training School Exhibit. One of the most interesting and helpful features of the P. T. A. training school was an exhibit of material which is available for parent teachers, and others who are doing this type of work. Mrs. Chalmers showed through the exhibit that hundreds of pamphlets with authentic information on every subject connected with the welfare of the children are to be had for a little money.

Some of the subjects handled in the free booklets were health habits and children; parents and teachers; play to teach; the importance of care in the handling of fire; bulletins dealing with social hygiene; the treatment of animals; the organization of children's civic clubs; and many others.

Mrs. Chalmers called to the attention of her hearers that the Texas State Board of Health, the Texas Fire Commission, the United States Bureau of Labor, and the United States Bureau of Education all furnish invaluable material for parent teachers, or club members who want the best solution of public problems.

Mrs. Chalmers called attention to the fact that there are hundreds of organizations in the United States which have sole purpose is to assure the safety of the boys and girls who are to be the citizens of tomorrow; and that all of these agencies are co-operating in order that there may be a minimum of lost effort.

Social Features. On Friday afternoon the Parent-Teacher association of the West Texas State Teachers college entertained the out-of-town visitors and the members of the public school teachers association with a tea in the home of Mrs. J. A. Hill, honoring Mrs. Chalmers.

On Saturday the Parent-Teachers organization of Amarillo entertained with their annual luncheon in honor of the conductor of the summer training school for workers.

Upon leaving Canyon Mrs. Chalmers went to Alpine where she will conduct a similar school. Enroute she stopped at the famous Carlsbad Cavern.

Mrs. Chalmers conducted a training school at the Technological college the week before she went to Canyon.

The Morning Avalanche Menu for the Day.

BREAKFAST—Stewed rhubarb, creamed dried beef on toast, radishes, bran muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Baked timbale of carrots, toasted bran muffins, stuffed cherry salad, iced cocoa.

DINNER—Vegetable and nut loaf, creamed asparagus on toast, tomato soup, salad, Spanish cream, milk, coffee.

Vegetable and Nut Loaf. Four good-sized potatoes 1-2 cups chopped nut meats, 2 table-spoons butter, 2-4 cup milk, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon mixed seasoning herbs, 1 table-spoon bread crumbs.

One kind or several kinds of nuts may be used. Boil potatoes and just through rice. Add butter and milk and beat well. Beat eggs until light and add to potato mixture with nuts. Add seasoning and mix thoroughly. Shape into a roll and roll in crumbs. Bake in a well buttered baking sheet and bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven. Remove to a hot platter, garnish with crisp sprigs of parsley and cut in slices to serve.

LUCKY LINDBERGH AUTHOR OF BOOK

GREATEST CARE TAKEN IN HANDLING TECHNICAL PORTIONS OF IT

"Lucky Lindy's" latest exploit is writing a book.

"We," the young aviator's own story, is being pushed through the press at fast as possible. It would be faster but for Col. Lindbergh's insistence upon reading personally every word of the proof, the publishers say.

The book tells of "his early life and his thrilling experiences both in and out of the air mail service." It will describe his conception of his cross country and Atlantic flights, his preparations, the flights themselves, the instruments which made them possible. The reception, accorded him by the governments of France, Belgium, Great Britain and the United States, as well as his ideas in regard to the future of aviation.

Ambassador Myron T. Herrick called a two thousand word introduction to the book.

When Lindbergh signed the contract, he had arranged the details, and said: "I want to make absolutely sure that I am guilty of no mistakes. I have written my material in a hurry. Sometimes I did not have facts and figures at my command."

Commander Green replied "We realize that."

"Slim" furthermore insisted that Putnam, the publishers, should have the manuscript: ok'd by the army and navy departments by the Department of Commerce before its final printing.

The publishers agreed: the departments in question have officially passed upon all technical details.

Bridge Work Goes On At Rapid Clip

On Highway No. 9

Construction work on the new bridge on state highway No. 9, just south of the city limits of Plainview is moving along at a rapid clip, with concrete now being poured into the forms for the structure it was announced at division offices here Saturday.

The bridge, which displaces a wooden structure, is being erected at a cost of approximately $12,000, shared in by the state and Hale county in a 5 to 7 ratio, the state appropriating $5,000 for the project. It provides for an 18 foot roadway, and is considerably longer than the old bridge, facilitating traffic to an appreciable extent. It is expected that the new structure will be completed in a few days ready for traffic.

serve you better

The development of Laundry service has been steady and one that has relieved thousands of women of the burden of wash day. Constantly improved equipment and experimentation have been responsible for the laundry being able to do the weekly wash cheaper and better than it can be done in the home, eliminating the mess and inconvenience that have heretofore been a part of it. Each new development in this great industry is thoroughly investigated by us for only in that way can we serve to the best of our customer's interests.

Dry Cleaning

Dry cleaning is responsible for giving more actual life and better appearance to the clothes of the family, and our equipment is so complete that it would truly be a credit to a city many times larger than Lubbock. It is a separate unit of our service, one that is serving more people each day.

THE ADVENTIST TABERNACLE

15th and H.

Two services will be held today, one at three o'clock in the afternoon, and the other at 8:30 as usual.

Subject this afternoon: "The Sin Against The Holy Ghost." and tonight at 8:30 the speaker will answer the question, "What is God's Standard for the Judgment?" Catholicism? Protestantism? or Evolution?" E. T. Wilson, the evangelist in charge, will speak at both services.

A very interesting program is planned for the coming week at the Tabernacle during which time that most wonderful of all the books of the Bible, The Revelation, will be studied in the light of current events, and a cordial invitation is extended to all to come and spend an hour each evening, except Monday, and enjoy the old time gospel songs and hear a message that will do you good.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

1411 Fourteenth Street

Services are held regularly each Sunday, at 11:40 A. M. and on each Wednesday at 8:00 P. M., when testimonies of healing and remarks on Christian Science are given, and the Sunday School is held at 9:45 A. M. for pupils under the age of twenty.

The subject of the lesson for today is "Christian Science" and the Golden Text is from Isaiah 12:2: "Behold, God is my salvation, I will trust him and not be afraid." For the Lord Jehovah is My Strength and My Song; He Also is My Salvation.

A Reading room is maintained at the church where all authorized Christian Science literature may be read free, borrowed or purchased and is open on Tuesday and Friday afternoons from 2:00 P. M. to 4:00 P. M.

The public is cordially invited to attend the Services and enjoy the reading room.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

16th Street and Ave. J.

REV. W. P. JENNINGS, Pastor

God is near us every day, but we need to stop on the Lord's Day, that we may feel more keenly His presence. The week just passed may have subjected us to many worries and burdens, and therefore we need to slow up and get our bearings. And the week just ahead may have a lot of these same problems to confront us, so we need to get "tuned up" to meet them. The Lord's Day with its Church services affords us the opportunity of worship and fellowship with our fellow travelers along life's way. All church doors swing open to welcome you—enter and enjoy the music, sermon and happy fellowship.

Our Bible School with Harold H.

Griffith as Superintendent, begins at 9:45 A. M. We shall be glad to have you visit our School. The pastor will have for his sermon theme at 11:00 A. M., The Confidence and Faith of the Divine in Humanity. Miss Thress Lemmon, will sing.

The Junior and Intermediate Endeavors meet at 7:30 P. M. The Senior Society at 7:30 P. M.

At 8:30 P. M. the pastor will speak to the Subject: The Noble Boast of the Gentle Apostle.

We extend to the general public a most cordial invitation to all our services—if you are a stranger in our city, you have a very personal invitation. Good music, earnest messages and a glad welcome await you. "I was glad when they said unto me let us go into the House of the Lord."

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Broadway and Ave. M.

REV. E. E. WHITE, Pastor

How many people to-day do you suppose are turning from the country and smaller towns to the city? What are these people doing when they get there? How many of them drift out of the Church? What is the influence upon the boys and girls? These are all vital questions. Sunday night, at the First Methodist Church, the Pastor will use as his subject, "The Lure Of The City." The service begins promptly at 8:30. Invite your friends to attend this service with you.

Sunday school opens at 9:30 A. M. while the morning hour of worship is 10:30. A large number of people in every community never allow any reasonable circumstance to keep them away from the services of the Church. There will be a splendid congregation at each service.

Is there any good reason why any person reading this notice should not be found among those who attend service at some Church today. An invitation is cordially extended to you, and to your friends.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Main at Avenue N

Rev. M. C. Bishop, the pastor of the First Baptist Church at Post, will bring a message Sunday morning. Brother Bishop is well loved wherever he goes and we are anticipating a very interesting service with him. Miss Nell Farmley, who has delighted our congregation before, will sing a soprano solo.

Our evening service will be in the form of a commencement service for the workers who have completed different courses in the Teacher Training Department of the church. About sixty-five will receive either diplomas or seals for their diplomas after the sermon.

Rev. B. G. Holloway, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Slaton, will bring the Commencement address. Mr. Holloway is greatly interested in the educational work of the church, and you will be pleased to hear him speak on "Training for more Efficient Christian Work." A quartet, composed of Mrs. C. D. Hayes, Miss Nell Farmley and J. W. Mason, will sing "My Anchor Holds." Evening services begin at 8:15.

REV. W. A. TODD, Pastor

The Men's Bible Class is now meeting in the residence to the rear of the church. We can accommodate about 50 men in this place. The class is organized for work with P. B. Jackson as its president.

At the morning hour the pastor will preach from Acts 1:8.

The B. Y. P. U. has a good start and will meet at 7:30 P. M.

The ladies of the church are doing a very useful work by their weekly visitation—Tuesday afternoons.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Corner Fourteenth and N

REV. JACK M. LEWIS, Pastor

A special program will be enjoyed by all who attend the Sunday School this morning. Today is Home Mission Day and this Sunday School is observing it by a helpful program and a special free-will offering for the Highland Mountain School at Guerrant, Kentucky. The program begins promptly at 9:45 and all should make a special effort to be present on time.

At the eleven o'clock hour the pastor will preach using as a sermon theme, "Could the World Do Without Him?" Mrs. Richard Douglas will sing a solo, "Repent Ye," by John Prindle Scott.

At 8:30 P. M. a fine service will be held at which time the pastor will tell the highly dramatic and yet wonderfully beautiful story of "Esther." This is one of the world's Masterpieces among the short stories and is a part of God's Word. Inspiring congregational singing. You are urged to be with us in this service.

All of the Endeavor societies will meet at the usual hours and the boys and girls and young people are urged to attend their respective societies.

Lubbock is now on the threshold of a big advancement. Hard-surfaced roads MUST come. The new Denver road will be operating before any of us have time to think of it. The gas line will soon be completed. Thousands of dollars are being spent in increasing the facilities of Texas Tech. The air mail and passenger service is a need now fully appreciated. Big things are ahead for Lubbock people. Everyone should put their shoulders to the wheel! Onward!

LUBBOCK, LUBBOCK COUNTY, TEXAS, SUNDAY, JUNE 26, 1927

MEANS "BY ASSOCIATED PRESS"

FIVE STORY COTTON EXCHANGE IS PLANNED HERE

JUMPER CROP WILL MAKE BUILDING POSSIBLE, BUYERS SAY; OUTLOOK IS OPTIMISTIC FOR COUNTY PLANTERS

Already the second largest in cotton concentration point in the state of Texas, organization of cotton exchange in Lubbock and the construction of a five-story cotton building to cost between $150,000 and $200,000 hinges upon another good cotton crop upon the plains, local buyers and brokers say.

While the plains' cotton crop is mostly in the ground as yet, predictions are that though the farmer has a chance of making a better profit this year than last there will be much less cotton raised. A general reduction of from 20 to 30 per cent in acreage has been made over the Plains area, and left free going into feed and other row crops, and it is possible that the yield will be either more or less than it was last year.

Reduction Exists

A general reduction of about 14 per cent over the entire nation exists, a large area in the flood belt, equivalent to a crop of a million and a three quarters bales has been put under water, effecting a further increase in the price of cotton future. In addition a great deal more weevil survived the winter than did last season, and this has also had an optimistic influence on price forecasts.

With a hold over of 7,000,000 bales of cotton, all of which is well distributed among the industry, and with reduced estimates on the crop, local buyers predict that the farmer should make more money on his cotton this year than last.

Many Sales Handled

Last year 250,000 bales of cotton were handled in the local compresses and about 200,000 bales bought by local brokers and their agents.

With the coming of the Denver railroad, which will give Lubbock another direct outlet to seaports, and the installation of a high density compress by the Lubbock Compress Company, which now gives Lubbock two H. D. presses capable of handling several hundred thousand bales each year, Lubbock is one of the best concentration points in the South, it is believed.

If this year's crop justifies it, the local men will organize an exchange and sell memberships and construct a new office building. It has been decided. The Japanese, English, and large Texas buying firms have indicated that they will come in on such a deal, and the action only awaits upon another season to determine production.

Average Cut Here

There has been approximately a 25 per cent cut in cotton acreage in Lubbock county, according to County Agent D. F. Eaton, who reports that the farmer is turning his attention to diversification where possible, and that more of the land will go into feed and general row crops. It is too early yet for predictions as to the yield, which will be determined by the season and how early a frost comes, it was explained.

Local ginners were also reticent as to crop predictions, but are preparing to care for a good yield and will have ample machinery to do so.

New Crop to Move Soon

Buyers and agents of local brokerage houses are mostly in South Texas now purchasing the new crop which will be moving within a short time in the valley, and will work north as the season advances.

Should Lubbock start an exchange it would mean that a great deal more cotton would be handled through local compresses and that the city would be benefited by the increased financial transactions.

While no effort has been made yet for grade improvement on an organized scale, the exchange would also foster an improvement in staple and would be able to sell direct to mills and spinners for special grades and lengths. This year's staple will be an improvement over that for 1926 it is predicted as more verified need has been planted by the farmers over the plains.

NOW SAY SHAPELY LEGS ARE DOOMED

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Dresses will be longer in a few decades and the length will not be dictated by a whim of fashion either if what chiropodists say is true. Dresses will be made longer to cover ugly legs.

The shapely leg is disappearing the specialists believe because of the wearing of high heels. The muscle in the calf of the leg is being shortened and is atrophying from disuse. Thus the muscle gradually will draw up into an ugly bunch at the knee, spoiling the sometimes beautiful symmetry.

Surgeons Using Electric Knife

BALTIMORE, June 25. (AP)—A needle carrying a high frequency electrical current, a kind of "surgical acetylene torch" known as the electrocoagulator, is being developed by investigation and experiment in Baltimore hospitals.

This little instrument, which opens an incision without touching the flesh, by means of a thin blue stream of electrical energy, already is supplanting the scalpel in the hands of prominent surgeons.

Opening a clean incision without dragging infection from one part of the wound to another, automatic cautery, and the immediate stopping of the flow of blood are advantages claimed for the electric knife.

IT WAS A TOUGH EGG

WASHINGTON—An egg shell may be thin, but it is not fragile. An egg placed beneath the giant testing machine at the bureau of standards withstood a pressure of 51 pounds before it was crushed. Two hundred tons was required to demolish a foot square piece of timber.

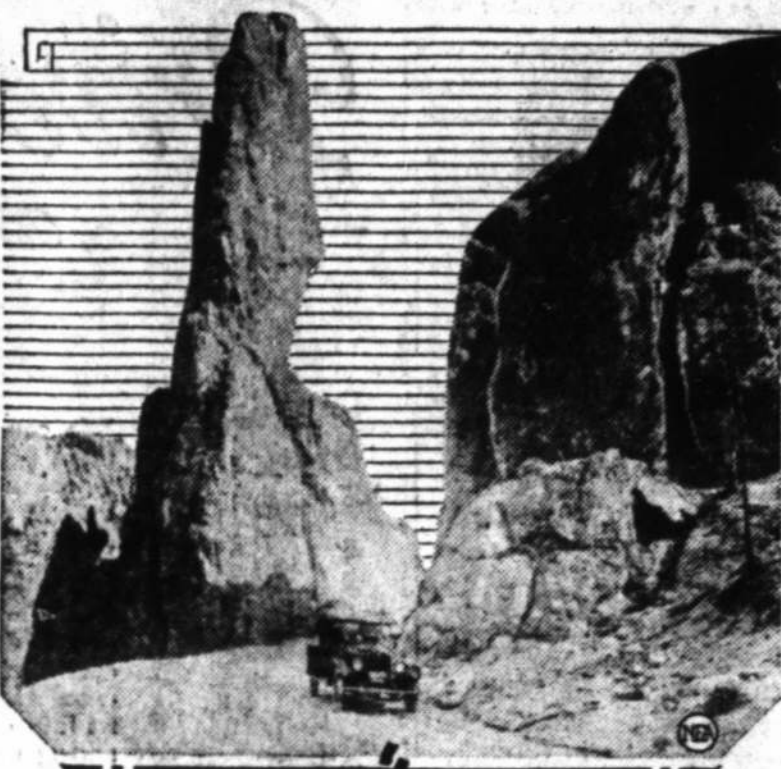

JAILED FOR 70 CENTS

WASHINGTON, Pa. — Charles Ford was unable to pay a 70 cent city tax and was sent to jail. Five months later he was still there. But several persons heard of his plight, sent contributions to pay the tax and the court costs, which were about $25.

There Are Plenty of Good Roads Through Black Hills

SECTION WHERE COOLIDGE IS VACATIONING HAS MANY ATTRACTIONS FOR AUTO TOURISTS

Towering spires like this greet the tourist everywhere in his drives through the Black Hills. This is in Custer State Park.

By NEA Service

RAPID CITY, S. D., June 25.—Nature has set up one of its most magnificent collections of mountains and valleys, of canyons and gulches in the Black Hills country of South Dakota, where President Coolidge has decided to establish his summer White House.

Tourists and vacationists have been coming to this area year after year, filled with so many attractions that one visit isn't enough. This year an even greater caravan of tourists is expected than ever before, led by the president himself.

Rapid City is the gateway to this wonderful region. This is reached most directly by the Custer Battlefield Highway, or U. S. Highway No. 16.

There are several other openings into the Black Hills district. The Victory Highway, the Lincoln Highway, the Yellowstone Trail, and any of the other northern cross-country routes take the motorist across to U. S. Highway No. 85, going north and south through Denver and Cheyenne and into the heart of the Black Hills.

Good Roads Throughout

In the vacation area itself, there are many improved roads that take tourists through pineaden forests, along deep canyons or sparkling streams, past picturesque lakes and awesome caves.

Here the wild deer and buffalo still roam. Fishing is plentiful and entrancing. Hiking is given its full test over the precipitous trails laid down by the Dakota Indians.

Custer State Park is in this region, the largest state park in America. It covers 100,000 acres, replete with thrills for the stranger.

Here also are "The Needles," "Cathedral Spires," which jut up into the sky like the towers of Westminster. Then there is Sylvan Lake, quiet and restful, located in a big dip, more than a mile above sea level, while Harney Peak stands 7,254 feet high as a great guard to all this rugged area.

There is a game preserve comprising several thousand acres, where roam buffalo, elk, deer, antelope, mountain sheep and goats.

Free For Campers

The completed highways in the Black Hills are marvels of engineering skill and models for mountain roads. Camping privileges are free to tourists near the State Lodges, where the president is expected to stay, and at Sylvan Lake. Throughout the park, there are convenient, inviting spots for camping. Just outside Custer Park is Wind

Cave. This cave comprises more than 200 miles of explored passages and about 3000 rooms. A trip of several hours takes the traveler through a succession of new beauties and attractions.

At Lead, in the northern part of the Black Hills, is the Homestake Mine, the largest gold mine in the United States. Since its discovery in 1875, it has produced $206,000,000 in gold. Enough ore is blocked out to furnish the mills with 4350 tons a day for nine more years. During tourist season, guides take travelers over the grounds.

HEALTH CONDITIONS IN LUBBOCK ARE VERY GOOD, DR. J. W. ROLLO REPORTS; ENTIRE CITIZENSHIP IS COOPERATING

In excellent health. Lubbock is enjoying it and will continue to enjoy it as it has done in the past, Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health physician said when approached upon the general health conditions of Lubbock. There is no reason why Lubbock should not enjoy good health, Dr. Rollo said as the city has every advantage that the situation demands.

Safe water, proper sewage and waste disposal, excellent atmosphere, sanitary conditions in dairies, cafes, bakeries, barber shops, camp grounds, hotels, boarding houses and residences pave the way for the excellent health conditions of Lubbock which have been above par since the establishment of the city. One reason for the wonderful growth of Lubbock is the above named virtues.

Regulations Are Observed

Sanitary regulations are observed in a wonderful spirit of co-operation according to Dr. Rollo who makes a complete inspection tour of every place in the city where the regulations are in effect. He

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Posing at times as a barber, at others as ATTORNEY DAVIS, a curious man called VILAK has come to the quiet little town of Porto Verde, in west central Brazil, to help his cousin, ELISE MABERRY, solve a strange mystery.

Elise, a beautiful American girl, has inherited a coffee plantation and other property adjoining Porto Verde. Several mysterious deaths occur, including that of one of her foremen. She herself has been threatened and warned to leave. Vilak, learning that LINCOLN NUNNALLY, a famous American chemist and once a teacher of his, is in South America, sends for him.

Vilak believes that GAYLORD PRENTISS, a mysterious and forbidding man, is somehow involved in the deaths. He tries to visit Prentiss but is ordered to stay away. Elise's two-year-old orphaned nephew is kidnapped and Prentiss is suspected. Vilak tracks the kidnappers, and finally he and his companions come upon the child, unharmed and being cared for by a gang of railroad laborers in the charge of one CARLOS D'ALBENTARA.

Vilak tells Elise she and the child must leave on the next boat. He and Nunnally, that evening save an Indian from cruel torture at the hands of two ruffians. Vilak is stabbed in the wrist. He decides to close his barber shop and stick to the character of Attorney Davis. As he is closing up, an excited native approaches, bearing news.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER XIX

The old man, glad to receive another auditor, thrust out his skinny hands. "He has escaped," he murmured excitedly.

"Who has escaped?" Vilak's glance was puzzled. "The Englishman. The Englishman," Vilak grinned in surprise. "You mean Linney Potts, the Englishman who was put in jail for killing Tony?"

"Yes, yes," Leemey Leemey said. "When did he get out?"

"Last night, the gentleman told me. Or three mornings early maybe. They do not know. But man, Leemey, he kill other man soon, too. You see, man. Not Englishman, no. He Englishman had, worse more than last Englishman, had Italian had anything. Kill somebody, you see, man. You go see self, you don't believe me, escape, you go."

"Think I will go take a look," Vilak responded, and assured the old man that his news always was passed that of any other inhabitant of Porto Verde, hurried off. A short walk brought him to the jail where Linney had been confined to await trial before the judge who would come to Porto Verde in a month.

It was a small red brick structure consisting of two cells and a tiny room to house the guard who stood before it. Both cells had windows opening onto the street, protected by heavy iron bars. A glance showed Vilak which cell the Englishman had occupied. Two of the thick bars at the rear had been cut with a file and bent widely to the side, affording a fairly comfortable passage even for one of an ample build as the brawny Englishman.

Vilak turned to the huge blue and red garbed negro, who, rifle at his side, stood looking gloomily up at the twisted metal.

"Do they trail the prisoner now?"

"Amigo!" he inquired politely.

The gentleman's gloom deepened. "Oh, senhor, they trail him," he muttered. "But what will they find? With his thick hand he pointed off the jungle. The cascavel, the bee, and the crocodile with the hungry mouth. It is not good to chase in the jungle, senhor. He crumbled a curse. 'May the Lord Satan catch this Englishman and make him suffer. Hear, senhor. Hear and pity. Next month they were to make me a corporal. A corporal with the beautiful stripes upon the arm. And now, because this night-crawler has escaped, what will they do? Will they make me a corporal? Assuredly not. Will they give me gold stripes upon my arm? Assuredly not, senhor. Better will they give me red stripes upon my back?'"

"He must have made some noise filing. Didn't you hear anything?" The gentleman's huge mouth opened wider in protest. "I am but a man, senhor. I am not the snake who creeps upon the ground and can hear a frog breathe in the pool half a mile away, so have I heard him say. My ears are sharp. But his filing was soft as the brook which flows in summer. I have heard nothing. Once during the night I have heard voices outside the window. But what are voices? Many pass here during the night. If I waked each time I hear a voice I should have no sleep and grow thin and die. No, it was the devil who has helped him, for he is the son, the father of the devil, even more, the father of the devil's father."

Vilak looked at the tiny bits of metal which covered the drifted leaves below the window. "Have you found the file?"

The other shrugged his huge shoulders. "I have not looked, senhor. Of what use, even should I find it? A file is but a file. Is it not?"

With an appearance of being quite casual, Vilak began kicking about the leaves to see what he could discover. Finding nothing here in the course of conversation he called the other's attention to a spot on the inside. In a dark corner of the cell something metallic glinted. He walked over to it.

It was a file, tossed there with slight attempt at concealment after the escape had been made ready. Vilak picked it up. It was shining with the bits of metal it had cut from the bars. He glanced at the name of the maker cut into the triangular shaft, then at a small mark hammered into the metal a quarter of an inch from the name.

"Hum!" he murmured to himself. "This comes from Elise's father. The file had been manufactured by the American factory from which she bought all tools of this description and at the side of the maker's name bore hammered into the metal the swastika which was cut or painted upon all material immediately on its arrival at the fazenda. Shipping it unobtrusively into his pocket, he walked outside again, while the gentleman the least of punishment, and hurried back to his shop.

He spent only a moment here, and, taking his personal possessions, locked the door and walked off in the direction of Avilox. He took only a few miles, through the tangled woods however, and turned from the main road to take a short cut which led him back unobserved to his house behind the mango trees.

How for what he expected would be the last time, he took off the key and he was at the barber and put it inside a trunk. Then in the fashionably cut dress of the immaculate Attorney Davis he rode up to fazenda. There he met Elise and the old man, who at her urgent request had given up his room at the hotel and established himself in the comfortable chamber he had occupied on his first night in her house.

In the afternoon it began to rain, but notwithstanding, the two men went to visit the manganese deposits which had been discovered on a rocky plateau which rose a few hundred feet from the general level of Elise's Porto Verde properties.

"I have never seen so many tiny 'er-lakes,' the old man said as he stood on an abrupt rock and looked at the watery surfaces dotting the black vista unfolded before him. "Judging by these—or strata—I should say this had been once a huge volcanic lake not many—er—geological ages ago."

"I don't know, but I do know that as Elise said it makes it awfully dangerous here in the flood seasons, particularly when the rains come down as hard as it is coming now." He looked at the huge drops falling with such force that their splash against the hard surfaces of the leaves sometimes attained two inches. "If this keeps up we will have a bad one."

The chemist took a few samples of the deposits for analysis later. The two men returned to the house in a downpour that showed no signs of abating. The remainder of the afternoon and evening passed without incident.

"I could really imagine that I was up in our old summer house in New Hampshire," Elise remarked as she put down the cards after a game of double Canfield, in which Vilak as usual won. "The jungle is so quiet in the rain and nothing has happened to upset us in the slightest. Outside of the flood threat, which is always with us, and which I am accustomed to, it's really the quietest day I've known in Porto Verde for a long time. Perhaps things are through happening for a while. Perhaps I won't have to take Tinky away after all. What do you think, Vilak?"

Her cousin flicked some cards in his long fingers, then extracting the queen of spades with a few deft strokes of the pencil changed the outlines of the crowned head, and sketched a few features behind it. He gave the card to Elise.

"What does it mean?" she asked wonderingly. "Is that a beast you've drawn around the queen?" "Exactly. And the figures behind are mourners, the family of my cherished cousin. Which is merely my quiet way of telling you what will undoubtedly happen if you stay here. Your memory is very short, my dear. One day of quiet—or at least what you think is quiet—and you are sure that all danger is over. While the truth is much more likely that the quiet is occasioned because the greatest danger is being prepared."

"However, I'm not worried about your leaving. I feel quite certain now that when the times comes for your boat the day after tomorrow, even you will be only too glad to go. If even tomorrow will be one-tenth as tranquil as you apparently think today was, I'll—let's see, what will

I wager? A new Paris frock? No, that's not enough. A pearl necklace? No, that's not enough, either. Let's see." He laughed. "I know. I'll marry you before night-fall. And knowing my feelings on that subject, and how much that would annoy me, you can guess how secure I feel in my opinion."

"What glorious conceit!" she flashed. "Seriously," he went on, "don't get over confident. It's one of your few faults. Keep close watch over Tinky and over yourself. Have that pistol always with you. There are forces working here which are going to reach a climax of terrific violence. That climax is coming quickly. Too quickly. I only wish that boat left tonight."

He bade her good night, played cards a few moments with the old man, then both retired. The torrential rain continued throughout the night. The three were at breakfast when the kinky-haired little beggar who was serving them came out from the kitchen and approached Elise timidly.

"What is it, Maria?" Elise asked. "There is something who wishes to see you. A man. He has just come on a horse. From Meester Wilson at Villana. He says he must see you quick."

(To be Continued.) In the next chapter Vilak, Elise and the old man fall into a trap.

How's She
In her car care

By ISRAEL KLEIN
Science Editor, NEA Service
THE new tourist from the flatlands has a unique thrill when he strikes the mountains.

The roads are steep, long and winding. They are narrow and treacherous. There's a cliff on one side, a precipitous drop on the other. It's an experience for only the best of drivers to encounter with equanimity. The new driver must be ever cautious and well prepared for any emergency.

If your trip takes you through mountainous territory, see beforehand that the motor is in perfect condition and that the brakes hold tightly.

right of way on such roads. The reason is that it is he who must keep his foot constantly on the accelerator, or gravity will pull the car down. He can't stop for the brakes alone won't hold on many a climb. Therefore, the down-going driver must stop for him. He must pull over into a nook in the cliff, if the road is wide enough only for one car, and permit the up-going driver to pass. If the road is wide enough for two cars, the down-going driver takes the outside, whether to the right or left. That's the courtesy of mountain driving.

Experienced mountain drivers usually take along a log or a couple of large stones or boulders. Going uphill they find occasion to put the log or stones behind the rear wheels to hold the car, while they start the car again or shift into lower gear.

Of course, the safe practice is to start up the climb in low gear and hold it there. But the car might stall. If it does, a passenger in the car may have time to hop out and put some rocks behind the wheels, while you hold the car back with the brakes.

Brakes, however, can't hold very long. They will overheat and slip.

CHEAT-PROOF TAXIS
Taxis equipped with new taximeters run from the transmission, rather than from the front wheel, are most reliable, reports a taxi official. The driver can't throw this type out of gear with a jack handle.

ENGINE VOLUME TAX
Now a tax is designed on the basis of engine volume, rather than horsepower. It is proposed by German auto manufacturers. It would be more equitable, they say, and yet the income from it would not be decreased.

RAILROADS PROFIT
Rather than cutting the business of railroads, automobiles have expanded it. For instance, last year saw 2,230,000 carloads of automobiles and auto equipment shipped by rail.

Major Hoople Talks Of Politicians Gives "The Inside" Information, Too

According to promises we are going to give you a little inside information on politicians, their benches and ward-healers, as well as the tactics they employ to carry their point or to win an election.

To begin with, we want it understood that there is a lot of difference between a politician and a statesman. A statesman looks for the people and for the betterment of his community and state, while the politician works for himself and a few of his admirers. However, he doesn't work for the ward-healer unless he is compelled to do so. He just gives them a taste of political life now and then to keep them working for him, for as long as he can keep their appetites whetted he has everything going his way.

Politician Is Wise
A politician is mean enough to do anything to carry his point, but as a rule he hasn't enough nerve to do the dirty work—that is where the ward-healer comes in. The politician is too wise, as a rule, to commit a felony, but he conceals the scheme and lets some of his weak-willed followers do it. If they get caught in the act it is just too bad for he immediately disowns them. Just because they are in jail is no good reason why he should be so he thinks, and jails do not appeal to him in any way. Very few politicians ever get behind the bars—they let the other fellow go.

We have little politicians and big politicians, but they are as much alike as two black-eyed peas. It is just a matter of wisdom and strength. A small fellow may not be able to handle more than one city ward or precinct, while some of the others can successfully operate an entire state. National politicians are the lowest type we have, but until recent years they have been operating without any fear of punishment. Since the Doherty-Fall Teapot Dome scandal and the Newberry episode, conditions have changed. Of course none of them have ever been hanged or sent to prison, but Uncle Sam has deprived them of a new-bet to the treasury, and insisted that they stop using public funds for speculation. We figure that if one of them ever insults the Goddess of Liberty or steals the dome of the capitol building that the grand jury will likely indict them. Of course they will come clear, but just think of the "blurred name," if they could have one. Why, some politicians are so rotten you can smell them all the way from Cape Cod to the Gulf of Mexico, and lamp-black looks like white ivory as compared with their alleged smut.

Texas Has Had Some
Texas has had a few politicians and some of them have been successful. This leads us to think that after all maybe our list of office holders is not entirely composed of statesmen. All of them are not politicians we are sure, but some of them eat soup with a chop stick. They just fail to have any backbone, and this type should be sawing wood instead of making fool laws that make people laugh though never obey them.

Some of these days Texas is going to have a house-cleaning and Austin is going to look like a foreign city—that means there will be few old faces recognized. And as the Katzenjammer Kids might say "the sooner the quicker."

How They Function
A man that will spend five thousand dollars to get a two thousand dollar job is a politician. He has an axe to grind or he would not accept the office as a gracious gift. He calls in his henchmen, gives them a few shots of corn and more shots of "hot air." They become enthusiastic and when he promises all of them "good offices" they go wild. He promises to save the land, lower taxes, furnish all his supporters with new automobiles and give them a regular heaven on earth. When he runs into a minister he assumes a religious air and promises to see that the Sunday law is enforced. When he meets up with one of the "red-nosed" variety he promises to repeal the Volstead act. When he is with women he favors equal suffrage and when he is not with them he is against it.

Naturally he is a liar, thief and a crook, and it will be only a matter of time until people hear that he was chased out of Arkansas for stealing hops, or that he served a term in some other state for wife desertion. But do such stories worry him? Heck No! He merely denies them, and gives the public the merry ha-ha for listening to them. How could he, the savior of the land do such things, he will ask, and if you are not pretty wise you will agree that he is a good man that has been wronged. If the stories continue to float about he begins talking about "mud-slingers" and political rot. Of course he wears gloves so you can't see the mud on his hands.

Finally when it gets so bad that it looks as though the grand jury may indict him he begins "cussing" his opponents. They may be good men, but what does he care? He must carry his point even if one of his henchmen has to "bump" someone off. More than one good American has died because he told the truth concerning a politician. Of course the politician didn't pull the trigger, but he snatched both the murder, furnished the gun and furnished one of his ward-healers into doing the dirty work. The reason he did not do it was because he didn't have the nerve—he was yellow.

Look at Illinois

Successful politicians must be entirely surrounded by rough-necks and gunmen. If "hell" fails to convince the public that he is right then "bullet" will. (For particulars investigate Chicago or Bloody Williamson.)

Politicians are natural bosses. They plan and the other fellow does the work. And bossing is an art that we can not overlook, and some of these days we are going to give them a little information on the subject.

As a rule politicians do not stand for anything but themselves. Of course they stand for corruption, but their politics change almost over night. They find it profitable to champion the causes that happen to be popular just at the time of championing.

Many Kinds Are Seen

We have county politicians, state politicians and national politicians. A few of them, including Wilhelm Hohenzollern, tried to operate on a world-wide scale, but well seasoned Yankee bullets prevented this. That is why the Kaiser's mouth draws up like wet rawhide, and he thinks of green permutations every time he thinks of Jack Pershing and his gang. The Kaiser was a real politician until he was sent over to Holland to cut a little wood.

Politicians are not new. We had them 2,000 years before Christ was born, and if this old world stands we will have them 2,000 years from now. We are strong for democracy, but democracy breeds politicians just like a stagnant pool breeds mosquitoes. The best we can do for the people is to spray them with strong disinfectants, and in the case of politicians we suggest a saturation solution of penitentiary. It won't kill them, but it reduces their stinging power.

What we need is more statesmen and fewer politicians, but we are afraid we will never get them—not very soon to say the least.

BIG INCREASE IN TELEPHONES SEEN

BETTERMENT OF SERVICE IS REASON, OFFICIAL OF COMPANY SAYS

Why does the average number of telephone calls per day show such an astounding increase in the last few years?

The answer, according to T. A. White, district manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, of course, is the gain in the number of telephones. During 1926 there was a net gain of 781,000 telephones owned and operated by the Bell System. During the same period the total number of exchange telephone calls over the Bell System wires increased by 1,891,000,000 over the year 1925, and the number of toll and long distance calls increased by 99,500,000. As each new telephone is added, that brings the system in contact with just so many more persons and, therefore, makes it more valuable and useful to the public.

Service Improved, Too

There are more telephone calls, therefore, from year to year and from day to day because more telephones are placed in operation, but this is not the only reason why the telephone is constantly growing in public use, for along with the increase in its facilities, there has been a corresponding improvement in service. This improvement during 1926 was particularly marked as is evidenced by the fact that the number of exchange plant troubles per unit of plant was reduced 17 per cent.

Another accomplishment during the year which tends to make the service more valuable and, therefore, of greater use, states Mr. White, was the fact that the average length of time for completing toll calls for the whole system during the year was two minutes per call, which is the lowest for any year by thirty-five seconds, while the quality of voice transmission was practically perfect in 88 per cent of the toll calls, this being an improvement of 7 per cent over the previous year.

The increase in the number of telephones goes hand in hand with the increase in wire mileage. More than 644,000 miles of toll wire was added during the year, this being the largest number of miles added in any one year. The Bell System exchange wire mileage in 1926 increased over 1925 by 4,723,000 miles.

FIND SNAKES IN TONIC

WASHINGTON—Treasury department officials, who were appointed by customs officials have decided that bottles of grain alcohol received from China were adulterated with a tonic. Each bottle contained a pickled snake, thus making a medicinal preparation which is supposed to give the drinker the wisdom of the serpent.

Lubbock Showmen Strive To Please They're Making Plans For Summer

Theater goes of Lubbock respond to good pictures with expressive appreciation, show owners of the city say. Suggestive pictures are losing public patronage wherever shown, and this city's showmen approved the unclean type years ago when such programs were current, according to local amusement heads.

"Before Lubbock stepped out of the provincial class western scenes received the best patronage," says Cliff Lindsey, manager of the Lindsey and Palow theaters. "Today the comedy drama holds the greatest attraction for amusement lovers, and movies depicting western action are fading into the background. The location in Texas Tech here has brought a cosmopolitan audience to the city who like drama in its varied form."

Studs Like Vaudeville

"Students are good patrons of vaudeville," he says. "A smart crack now and then draws generous applause from college boys, of which there is a great percentage who revel in 'new ones' from the stage circuits. During the summer months when students go home the vaudeville is not profitable."

The Palace theater, a Lindsey enterprise, was built two years ago, while the original Lindsey theater was built 12 years ago by the father of Cliff Lindsey, J. D. Lindsey, pioneer showman of Lubbock who died about three months ago. An improved Lindsey theater will greet show patrons the latter part of the summer. Mr. Lindsey announced. A new pipe organ will be installed and a redecorating scheme of draperies will beautify the house considerably.

Good Attractions Coming

Some of the coming attractions this summer for both the Lindsey and Palow theaters are: John Barrymore in "Don Juan," Clara Bow in "Children of Divorce," Wallace Beery in "Fireman Save My Child," Patsy Ruth Miller in "What Every Girl Should Know," Monty Blue in "Wolf's Clothing," and Viola Dana in "Fred in Kentucky."

Patrons signify approval or disapproval of pictures by their expressions when leaving the show. George Seales, owner of the Lyric Theater, "We are eager at all times to bring just the class of pictures Lubbock wants. A review of our coming features proves that we are trying to give the city an excellent type of pictures."

Lon Cheney Booked
Lon Cheney in "Flesh and Blood," Sam Wood and Marceline Day in "Rookies," Lon Cheney in "Mr. Wu," Renee Adoree and Conrad Nagel in "Heaven On Earth," Tim McCoy in "The Frontiersman," John Gilbert in "The Show," Mae Murray in "Show Business," and Frances McDonald in "The Valley of Hell" are a few of the movies that will appear at the Lyric this summer.

"We plan to re-open the Rex Theater, near the postoffice, July 1 under a much improved condition," Mr. Seales continued. "All western pictures will be shown in the Rex, and we will concentrate toward bringing the big dramas to the Lyric. We are of the opinion that there is still a large element of people in Lubbock who like the thrills of a western, so we do not wish to show only one class of pictures."

The recent added features of music accompaniments at the Lyric are of latest design. The Bristol, phone instrument, manipulated in the operating room, gives a reproduction of the musical record which gives one an impression of a pipe organ. In a sense, it is a pleasure in the organ. The music is further augmented by a Seaburg piano.

An air cooling system changes the atmosphere of the building every three minutes. A huge fan in the rear of the building sends a cool breeze through the house, while another fan through an opening in the ceiling lifts the heat. Mr. Seales is a partner in the firm of the Peoples Ice Company. He has been in the theater business since January 1, 1926.

SUITABLE PUNISHMENT

EAST PORTOL, Calif.—A year ago, a wife beater was brought before Judge Orvin Allen. Said the judge: "If you are brought here again I'll knock your block off." Recently the man faced Judge Allen again. There was a thud and a fall. The wife beater was out for the count.

TOWARD THE GOAL OF TEXAS' HIGHWAY PROGRAM

Notwithstanding the handicap of tangled finances inherited from the previous administration, the State Highway Department is getting its stride anew. It already has shown encouraging progress toward making 1927 the peer of its predecessors in accomplishment.

As evidence of this recovery, the Commission has just awarded contracts totaling $252,242 for construction in five counties. The dispatch conveying this information significantly adds that "all contracts were awarded to low bidders."

Following the policy announced when this Commission took hold, the expenditure is for building gaps in the primary roads and for bringing highways already improved up to the standard which the United States Bureau of Public Roads has set. Satisfactory guarantees that it would be done were provided, so Federal aid is once more available and allotments for future projects have been resumed.

With the back money due the State, Texas will receive approximately $6,500,000 from that source. Added to the revenue from the 3-cent gasoline tax—estimated as high as $16,000,000, of which the Highway Department will get three-fourths—that should create unusual affluence.

Should the disposition of so large a sum tempt to extravagance, the past two years' experience doubtless would act as a deterrent. In 1927, Texas should approach measurably near the goal of its highway program—the completion of a connected system of all-weather roads covering the State and linked up with the national system.

Texas is considerably behind in the amount of mileage of permanent roads, and out in the western portion of the State possibly there is less of this type of roads than any other part of Texas. This is not more than might be expected, however, as there has not been the special need for the expensive roads, and the counties have not had the necessary tax valuations to justify the expenditure without making the burden too great on the people who were in those counties, but as the country develops and the need for better and more permanent roads become evident, then it behooves the people of these counties such as Lubbock and adjoining counties to become interested in the matter of roads and devise some plan whereby they are to be made as good as the best roads. There are various ideas as to the best method to secure roads. There seems to be some people who are opposed to a bond method of raising the money, but this seems to be the only way out of it just at this time. If the entire state will adopt a better plan than we are sure that all of us would be mighty well pleased to fall in line, but in as much as we are having to pay a state tax to maintain the roads in other parts of the state, we see no reason why the other part of the state should not kick in with their part of the job of keeping up our end of the road. Just one or two counties cannot afford to stay out of the program, and we are confident that the property owners would hardly feel the additional tax that would be required to put the program over, especially when there is a lot more money coming into the county than there is going out. Anyway it is not the intention of those promoting the bond issue to dispose of any of the bonds till the state and federal aid is put on the table to add to the sum that the county will put up. It is not likely that the state and federal aid can all be forthcoming in one year, and the program will extend over a period of several years, and the bonds be sold just as needed, and of course there is no expense attached to them until they are sold and begin to draw interest.

The official spokesman has disappeared, but his successor is equally dumb on the questions whether Mr. Coolidge in 1911 signed a petition against third terms. Abilene Times

MOB VIOLENCE SHOULD BE STOPPED

The growing tendency toward people taking things in their own hands and adjusting them according to their own ideas, especially when they are more of brute nature than the ordinary well balanced court procedure, seems to be growing, and if it does not develop into a serious nationwide practice it will be because there is a strong effort made by state authorities to check it in its infancy.

The danger of this has been seen by the State Attorney General of Texas, and the assistance of the Attorney General's Department has been tendered the Harrison county authorities in prosecuting the masked flogging charges now under special grand jury inquiry.

This departure from the ordinary procedure is justified, Attorney General Pollard holds, by the very nature of these cases. They "are of more than local importance and demand attention from the State in its collective capacity." As the Attorney General has indicated, much more is involved in such offenses than a peculiarly flagrant, cowardly infringement upon the victims' constitutional rights or violation of the fundamental legal principle which Sir Edward Coke formulated some three centuries ago.

"A man's house is his castle." Such acts constitute an obnoxious, dangerous attack upon the State, usurping its authority and inciting to further outrages. As Acting Attorney General Simmons points out, a masked flogging strikes at the foundations of government. It is so contagious that, "once loosed, it breaks all bounds to become the scourge of the body politic."

That is no mere theory. Incidents still painfully fresh in many Texans' memory attest the truth of this assertion. The temptation presented to cruel natures to wreak private vengeance or give play to savage instincts, is too strong to be resisted.

A familiar characteristic of the mob mind must be considered—its propensity to arouse the latent brute in man's makeup, while sweeping reason before it. Under these baneful influences even the ordinary decent citizen may be led to shed his thin veneer of respectability and temporarily turn savage. This man—as well as his victim—must be protected against forces which, allowed to get out of bounds, may prove more destructive than fire.

To accomplish that objective, drastic measures—even State intervention—are not only justifiable, but necessary. This may be said without prejudice to the defendants in these cases, whose guilt or innocence the jury must determine.

BEAUTY

Beauty is an all-prevailing presence. It unfolds to the numberless flowers of the spring; it waves in the branches of the trees and in the green blades of the grass; it haunts the depth of the sea, and gleams out in the hue of the shells and the precious stones. And not only these minute objects but the ocean, the mountains, the clouds, the heavens, the stars, the rising and the setting sun, all over flow with beauty. The universe is its temple, and those men who are alive to it cannot lift their eyes without feeling themselves encompassed with it on every side. Now this beauty is so precious, the enjoyment it gives so refined and pure, so congenial without tenderest and noble feelings, and so akin to worship, that it is painful to think of the multitudes of men as living in the midst of it, and living almost as blind to it as if, instead of this fair earth and glorious sky they were tenants of the dungeon. An infinite joy is lost to the world by the want of culture of this spiritual endowment. The greatest truths are wronged if not linked with beauty, they win their way most surely and deeply into the soul when arrayed in this, their natural and fit attire.

VIRTUE

It is said that the Persians, in their ancient constitution, had public schools in which virtue was taught as a liberal art or science; and it is certainly of more consequence to a man, that he has learned to govern his passions in spite of temptation, to be just in his dealings, to be temperate in his pleasures, to support himself with fortitude under his misfortunes, to behave with prudence in all his affairs, and in every circumstance of life. It is of much more real advantage to him to be thus qualified, than to be a master of all the arts and sciences in the whole world. Virtue itself alone is sufficient to make a man great, glorious and happy. He that is acquainted with Cato, can not help thinking, and will acknowledge he deserves the name, without being honored by it. Cato is a man whom fortune has placed in the most obscure part of the country. His circumstances are such, as only put him above necessity, without affording him many superfluities; yet who is greater than Cato?

How surprising that the amiable Gen. Smedley Butler of the marines is in disagreement with American diplomatic officials in China and don't seem to be able to get along with them, now.

Why do infants remember swear words with such accuracy? Because they are spoken with emphasis, no doubt.

Those who are still in humble circumstances are not the ones who boast of their humble origin.

SO THINK WE

We think it is much better to come to a full stop before you get to the railroad crossing so that you will not have to come to a sudden stop when the train hits you.

We think that Lubbock might look better with some of the weeds cut off the vacant lots.

We think that everything seems to point to a more prosperous fall in this country than we have had for several years, even after a drought of more than the ordinary length.

We think the poultry and the dairy industry in this country is something to be taken seriously and the people of Lubbock should render every assistance possible to get the very best market established in Lubbock for these products the year round.

We think there is one great thing about Lubbock that many towns cannot always boast of, and that is that there is always some building improvement program going on, and another in the near future. That keeps the wheels of progress turning, and means that there is growth and development, and that is the reason that Lubbock has seventeen thousand people today within her bounds while other towns south of Lubbock have less than half. They failed to keep moving.

We think the time for June brides is fast coming to a close, and while Lubbock produced quite a nice number of brides this year there are still quite a number that we can see no reason on earth for them delaying the game.

We think while the town has been pretty well cleaned up of stray dogs, there are still some of the very worst ones left. People can help the pound man to get rid of this type on canines by telephoning the police department when a bunch of them shows up about the place, that do not have the proper tags and license plates on.

We think nature has given parents a great number of mighty nice children for them to spoil and neglect in many instances.

We think those who aspire to reach the top should understand that there is more than one rung in the ladder, and it will take climbing and climbing to put it over, but a continual upward stroke will finally land them on top.

We think that the Scotchman who posted the prize of $50,000 for anyone who would first make the flight around the world, probably thinks he has a pretty safe bet, but if he will keep the prize hanging long enough he are pretty safe in saying that some one is going to reach up and pull it down.

We think it does not concern many people as to where Cal Coolidge is spending the summer, but many people are wondering where he is going to spend the next four years. There seems to be varied ideas as to that part of it.

We think there is one thing about it, the Mississippi Valley farmers will get a vacation this summer.

We think it is dangerous to turn China over to the Chinese and it is dangerous to try to take charge of it, so that's that.

We think if it ever gets to the point where infant's clothes can be bought on installments they will hardly be paid for before installments begin on the wedding dress.

We think that if the motor in the Spirit of St. Louis had not kept in any better tune than the one who composed the music to the song about the hero it would never have gotten across the pond.

We think that shutting bank officers in a vault is fast becoming a popular indoor sport with the bank bandits.

We think that love at first sight is apt to result in divorce after the first sight.

$1,000,000 ROAD BOND ELECTION WEDNESDAY

A county-wide election will be held next Wednesday, June 29th, to determine whether Hale County shall issue bonds in the sum of $1,000,000 for a system of paved highways in the county, and also to determine whether ad valorem taxes shall be levied to provide for the payment of the bonds, if issued.

R. M. Hardesty has been appointed presiding officer for the election. He has been named as assistant judge. The notice of election states that the election is called for the purpose of determining whether or not the bonds of Hale County shall be issued in the sum of One Million Dollars, bearing five per cent interest and payable within a period not exceeding 20 years from date of issue, for the purpose of constructing, maintaining and operating macadamized, gravelled or paved roads and turnpikes, or in it thereof.

A previous election on the question of the issuance of road bonds was held some time ago, at which time a small majority were against the issuance of the proposed bonds.—Abernathy Review.

GENIUSES

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Members of the department of psychology of Stanford University have recently made available the results of a study of the factors responsible for what we know as genius. They studied the life records of 300 eminent men and women of history, paying particular attention to their early behavior, their brightness, while young, their energy, their ancestry and the body build.

Among the factors concerned in the production of genius are home training and discipline, home interests, education and the amount of travel and reading. Interests were rated as to intellectual and social activity, as well as to their breadth and intensity. Sixty-seven traits of character were recorded, such as balance, desire to be liked, wish for industry, Julian Ralph.

AL SMITH

The Protestant denominations seem to be of one mind on the matter of Al Smith's candidacy for the presidency.

The Congregationalist, published in Boston and the leading church paper of that denomination, carries an article from its Western Editor in its latest issue which may be taken as representative of the views of the Congregationalists on the subject:

He says: "Congregationalists are supposed to be about as tolerant of the opinions of other religious bodies as are the members of any other church. I asked a number of ministers and laymen at the National Council whether they would be willing to vote for a Roman Catholic for the presidency, and definitely mentioned Al Smith. Those who replied were almost unanimous in saying that they would not vote."

"Three of four reasons were given for this attitude. Several men who live in great cities said frankly that their experience with the Roman Catholic Church did not harmonize with the representation made by Mr. Smith in the Atlantic Monthly article. These men claim that the Roman Catholic Church is exceedingly active in politics in their cities and that its leadership is not as scrupulous as it might be. These men also made a distinction between a church in politics seeking the spoils and favors of office, and church members and organizations active in politics for the sake of great reform and welfare movements. The Protestant churches, they contend, are generally active in the latter and Roman Catholics in the former."

But the objection which bulks largest in the mind of the Congregationalists, according to the Western Editor, is the fact that Smith is a Jew. "Our ministers," he says, "and laymen are almost unanimous in this score."—Texas Christianian.

BRIGHT MINDS

Thousands of channels there are through which the beauty of our soul may sail even unto our thoughts. Above all is there the wonderful, central channel of love. For it is not in love that are found the purest elements of beauty that we can offer to the soul? Some there are who do thus in beauty love each other. And to love thus means that, little by little, the sense of ugliness is lost; that one's eyes are closed to all the littleness of life, to all but the freshness and virginity of the very humblest of souls.

Loving thus, we can do no longer have anything to conceal, for that the ever-present soul transforms all things into beauty. It is to be held evil in so far only as it purifies indulgence, and teaches us no longer to confound the sinner with the sin.

Loving thus do we rise on high within ourselves all those about us who have attained an eminence where failure has become impossible: heights whence a paltry action has so far to fall that, touching earth, it is compelled to yield up its diamond soul. It is to transform, though all unconsciously, the feeblest intention that hovers about us into flightable movements. It is to discern all that is beautiful in

LOVE'S PHILOSOPHY

The fountains mingle with the river,
And the rivers with the ocean,
The winds of heaven mix forever
With a sweet emotion;
Nothing in the world is single;
All things by a law divine
In one another's being mingle—
Why not I with thine?

See the mountains kiss high heaven,
And the waves clasp one another;
No sister flower would be forgiven
If it disdained its brother;
And the sunlight clasps the earth,
And the moonbeams kiss the sea:
What are all these kissings worth,
If thou kiss not me?

LIFE AND DEATH

She died for his faith. That is fine,
More than most of us do.
But, say, can you add to that line
That he lived for it, too?
In his death he bore witness at last
As a martyr to the truth.
Did his life do the same in the past.
From the days of his youth?
It is easy to die. Men have died
For a wish or a whim—
From bravado or passion or pride,
Was it harder for him?
But to live—every day to live out
All the truth that he dreamt.
While his friends met his conduct with doubt
And the world with contempt.
Was it thus that he plodded ahead,
Never turning aside?
Then will talk of the life that he lived.
Never mind how he died.

MEASURES TO CHECK CRIME WAVE PASSED IN 19 STATES DURING 1927 AND 13 OTHERS ALTER PENAL CODES

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, June 25.—Measures designed to check crime have been passed by 19 state legislatures thus far in 1927, a survey revealed.

Thirteen other states adopted measures, such as those altering the penal codes to make former misdemeanors felones, which were considered general anti-crime legislation, but not specific checks on crime.

The measures adopted in the 19 states generally tended toward an increase of sentence, with a tightening of the legal net about the habitual criminal, the gangster, gunman and hold-up man.

Significant Feature
A significant feature of the anti-crime legislation was the tendency to follow New York's pattern in curbing the activities of habitual criminals and the operations of bands of organized criminals. A number of states enacted laws comparable to New York's Baumes act, a piece of anti-crime legislation passed in 1926. It provides for a mandatory life term for fourth offenders and generally tightens up the criminal code.

The measures enacted in the 12 states range from Montana's banning of the cheating of mesquite nuts by Mexican laborers, a practice thought by some to be necessary to certain religious rites, to Oregon's new measure making it unlawful to skin dead stock without the owner's consent. The last measure is a check on cattle rustling. Oregon was also one of the 19 states adopting legislation to check crime.

Carrying Firearms
A number of legislatures discussed the carrying and use of firearms. Many states had already provided themselves with checks against this practice, and several followed suit in 1927. Measures providing for criminal identification were passed by several legislatures.

The most drastic action towards curbing crime was taken in California, South Dakota, North Dakota, Iowa and New York.

New York's legislature passed 17 of 41 anti-crime bills submitted by the Baumes Crime Commission, headed by Senator Caleb H. Baumes, author of the Baumes act. These bills of passage were considered the most important by the commission. Most of the 17 laws enacted are virtually amendments to the penal law and Code of Criminal Procedure. One provides that in all cases where appeal may be taken by the defendant, the prosecution also may appeal.

Iowa's legislature passed a score of bills designed to make more thorny the path tread by the feet of criminals. Most of the measures vest greater authority in peace officers and prosecutors. The machine gun and automatic rifle were outlawed, a criminal identification measure was adopted and there was a general tightening of laws regarding automobile thefts and jury commissions.

Habitual Criminal Law
An habitual criminal law, patterned after New York's Baumes act, was the outstanding anti-crime measure in South Dakota. The measure deviates from its pattern, however, in that it makes mandatory the imposition of life sentence on fourth offenders. A bill permitting the prosecution to comment on a defendant's failure to testify also was passed.

North Dakota added nine bills to the anti-crime legislation of the year. Three of these are considered of prime importance. They are the habitual criminal act, the uniform motor vehicle theft act, the law eliminating the affidavit of prejudice in criminal cases. Other laws speed up appeals and clarify and amend details of criminal procedure.

Minnesota passed legislation establishing a state bureau of criminal identification and record, passed a modified copy of the Baumes act and raised to five years the penalty for use of firearms in the commission of a felony. As was done in several other states, a law was enacted making it compulsory for the district attorney to file reasons for dismissal.

Insanity Plea Abolished
The California legislature, having completely revised the penal code, always considered a crime deterrent. Laws were passed abolishing the raising of the insanity plea during trial, firearms in more hazardous of crimes and the commission of criminal act, adopting an insanity plea for fourth offenders. Third offenders are to be sent 12 years without parole. Insanity must be a part of the initial plea, else separate trial will be made of this issue, subsequent to trial for offense.

Nebraska adopted a law much like New York's Baumes law. New Jersey provided for life sentence for fourth offenders. Indiana's general assembly passed bills providing for establishment of a bureau of criminal identification, speed up measures expected to speed up trials, Wyoming's legislature passed bills to check the still prevalent cattle thief and New Mexico's lawmakers adopted measures to speed up trials and raising the penalty for recommitment.

Kansas On Third Offense
Kansas, going most states one better, will now impose life sentence on third offenders. A second sentence for felony will be twice the length of the first, the legislators decided. Embellishments by bank officers will bring them a 50 instead of a 15 year sentence under one new law. In Texas the em-from a minimum of five years to two years because of a general belief that the failure to obtain convictions was due to a "too harsh" sentence such conviction entailed. Washington solons passed a bill making it a gross misdemeanor to throw tear bombs or similar devices. Oregon legislators adopted a resolution providing for speeding up of trials, which goes to popular vote June 28.

Utah Starts Bureau
Utah's legislature passed measures establishing a bureau for the registration of criminals and data pertaining to them and enacted the uniform extradition law sponsored by the American Bar association. Nevada now will be no place to concoct a crime to be committed elsewhere, for the legislature has passed a law making any crime planned in Nevada punishable there, no matter where committed.

First degree robbery with a firearm or other deadly weapon may bring the death penalty in Missouri under provisions of a bill passed by the 1927 legislature. Arizona's effort at checking crime was limited to passage of a bill making it a felony to steal an automobile or any part thereof. Idaho's legislature made an appropriation for the use of the state board of eugenics in putting into operation the 1925 sterilization law. The sterilization is for the feeble of mind, the insane, the epileptic, moral degenerates regarded as a social menace and habitual criminals.

The Maryland legislature enacted two statutes tightening the crime laws. One provides sentence of 29 years for robbery with a deadly weapon. The other provides ten year additional sentence for convicts attempting to break jail.

TECH STUDES SHOW BIG ADVANCEMENT

Thirty-four Make Straight 'A' Grades; 222 Are On Term Honor Roll

More excellence in scholarship resulted from the past term's work at the Texas Technological college than at any time in the past, officials of the college said yesterday with the issuance of the honor roll for the Spring term. Two hundred and twenty-two students made the honor roll at the close of the term which was approximately 20 per cent of the student body.

Requirements placed on the honor roll recently only allow students who are taking four courses to be placed on it. Numbers of students taking two and three courses made high grades but were not eligible for the honor roll. Below is the honor roll for the students in the "A" division: Students carrying six courses making all "A" grades—Mrs. Mary Dale Buckner, Lubbock; Claude Hope, Sweetwater. Students carrying seven courses with an average grade of "A"—G. Wilson Drake, Kress; Willie Mae Higwinhorn, Lubbock. Students carrying six courses with an average grade of "A"—Mildred Arnett, Anton; H. R. Carroll, Lubbock; Guy Carter, Grady, New Mexico; Joseph L. Cohn, Fort Worth; Lela Day, Gunter; Margaret Everheart, Lubbock; Ralph C. Glover, Raymondville; Laura Hard, Shallowater; Dewitt McGhee, Wayside; Tom B. Morrison, Lubbock; Frances Smelser, Lubbock; Mary Hope Westbrook, Slips Springs; Mamie Wolfarth, Lubbock.

Students carrying five courses making all "A" grades—Mrs. E. M. Barnett, Lubbock; Annie Wood Howell, Abertown. Students carrying five courses with an average grade of "A"—James Alldredge, Lubbock; Lila Alfred, Chillicothe; Frank Beauchamp, Turkey; Agnes Brown, Clovis, New Mexico; Lucile Davis, Amarillo; Owen Murie Fowler, Stamford; Lola Olga McPherson, Amarillo; Jane Mast, Lubbock; Mrs. P. G. Morrison, Lubbock; Evelyn Scarborough, Midland; Mrs. Percy Spencer, Lubbock; Blanche Zeman, Abertown.

MORAL: DON'T STEAL AN ALARM CLOCK

(By NEA Service)
DETROIT, Mich.—Into a department store walked two men. They looked like customers, but they did not buy anything—merely looked around. They paused at many a counter, fingering, looking, passing on.

Finally they turned to walk out the door. Just then the shrill chatter of an alarm clock came from a pocket of one of the men. He blushed, tried to muffle the sound. A detective approached; the man broke into a run. He was cornered and arrested for stealing the clock. For thirty days he will need no clock—only a calendar.

DIED BECAUSE OF BOB

PARIS.—The daughter of Jean Viveau, 66-year-old secretary of the Church of St. Martin Perleux, hobbled her hair against the wishes of her father. The next Sunday, while the musician was playing on the bells, the music suddenly became a wild discord. Worshippers investigated, found he had hanged himself to the clapper of the largest bell.

RAISE MORE WHEAT IN COUNTY SAYS W. A. MYRICK; HIS MODEL FARMS ARE YIELDING GOOD RETURNS, HE FINDS

The production of more wheat on South Plains farms, especially in Lubbock county, and the raising of more livestock and poultry, to the end that the diversification program on the farm as outlined and preached in this country for several years might be promulgated, is urged by W. A. Myrick, Lubbock man who is one of the most extensive agriculturists and poultry raisers in this part of the state.

Mr. Myrick cites as proof of his statement that such a program will pay, his own farm in the west part of this county, just west of Shallowater, where he is carrying on experiments on his own accord emphasizing the well-rounded farm program.

Is Harvesting Wheat
He is now engaged in wheat harvest from 1,600 acres, on which he expects a general average of 20 bushels to the acre. He recently harvested one field of 250 acres that averaged 25 bushels, and says that other acreages will do equally well, with some of course falling under this mark. His estimate of the general average, however, is 20 bushels.

One car which he recently shipped to Fort Worth tested under government standards 60 pounds to the bushel, with a protein content of 13.58. The car contained 87,100 pounds. He urged that every farmer in the county should take advantage of soil conditions here that permit such a varied farm program, planting at least a part of his acreage in wheat. Such a crop, he said, can be raised at the present price for the grain at a net income of $22 per acre. He explained that a wheat crop can be raised for an expenditure of $5 an acre, including preparation of the land, planting, seed, and harvesting. With an average of 20 bushels considered conservative here, wheat would gross $27 per acre at present prices of about $1.35.

Poultry Is Praised
While Mr. Myrick is a big advocate of wheat, he also stresses the importance of every farmer having on his place a few good laying hens of some standard strain. On his farm he at the present has two brooders each stocked with 6,000 baby chicks, and he announces that at the end of two years, he expects to have 50,000 laying hens on the place.

The brooders are restocked every four weeks in the summer and every six weeks in the winter, and it is Mr. Myrick's plan that by the first of the year he will have 25,000 laying hens on the farm, which he expects to double by the first of the following year.

He urges that a poultry association should be organized similar to those already in operation in some parts of Texas and in California, to permit members to derive the highest possible price for their products. He cited the Bankhead Poultry association, with headquarters at Cisco, as a paying proposition, which last year paid its members 42 cents the year round for eggs, although many eggs were selling for much less on the open competitive market.

Urges Lubbock To Lead
Such an association could be very easily organized and maintained in this vicinity of the state, not confined to any one county or particular group of counties, but he urged that Lubbock county should take the lead due to railroad facilities and shipping rates. He cited the association at Petrolia, California, seat of the Pacific coast poultry industry, saying that members of this association buy their grain, or a great part of it, from this part of Texas, and their shell food from the Galveston region, shipping them to the coast, finishing them in the form of eggs, and return them to eastern markets at a good profit.

How much more profit could be made, he interrogated, if Plains people would organize themselves, use their own grain, save freight on feed and other necessary commodities, and make their products in a better manner which can only be done through co-operation? He urged that South Plains farmers and others are passing up one of the greatest opportunities ever given them in not taking advantage of the benefits of such an association.

CHEVROLET TO IMPROVE PLANT

TWO BUILDINGS INCLUDED
IN PROGRAM LAUNCHED
AT FLINT FACTORY

With production running at the record clip of more than 5,000 units daily and demand for the product constantly attaining new levels, the Chevrolet Motor Company today announces a $2,000,000 development of its properties at Flint, Mich., to relieve congestion brought about by steady increases in production.

This will include two buildings, a three story office building and a new parts building. The new buildings will be completed Oct. 1, according to Charles F. Barth, vice president in charge of manufacturing.

On the completion of the new buildings, the present office and parts buildings will be razed and a modern factory building erected in their place, Mr. Barth declared.

The new parts building will be a three story structure, 530 by 122 ft., and of concrete construction. The new office building, of brick and concrete construction, will be 250 by 60 ft.

Completion of the project will provide additional manufacturing facilities to a plant that is already one of the finest in the automotive industry.

PUBLIC URGED TO HELP IN CAMPAIGN

RAILWAYS' DRIVE TO BETTER
CROSSING CONDITIONS IS WORTHY OF SUPPORT

The public is urged to co-operate with a railroad crossing safety first campaign now being conducted by the Santa Fe Railroad Company. R. F. Bayless, local agent, announces.

Mr. Bayless calls attention to the lack of co-operation the public gives railroads in safety first movements by referring to letter received from F. J. Mackie, superintendent of the Amarillo division of the Santa Fe. The letter in question relates an incident wherein an engineer had whistled for a crossing while making speed of about 20 miles an hour, when he observed that the driver of a truck had killed his engine on the crossing. The man and woman in the truck took two little children in their arms and jumped from the automobile, and the train came to a sudden halt without striking the obstacle. The engineer relates that the driver cranked the truck, loaded his family in and drove off without coming near the engine to offer a word of thanks.

"The railroads are spending thousands of dollars to educate their employees on the safety first movement," Mr. Bayless comments. "The public should be educated to the fact that it takes a long distance to bring a train to a stop, and one is taking a great chance when he attempts to beat a train to the crossing."

The channels in which the window glasses slide, instead of being constructed of ordinary cotton felt, are made of rubber lined with wool felt. The body hardware is of the best, carefully selected to harmonize with all details of interior trim.

"Genuine hand pads of exceptional quality are used over the upholstery springs. The fine mohair or broadcloth is so tied to the cushion and seat back frames that the tacks are entirely concealed without the use of bindings—a practice rarely found except in custom built jobs."

SHAMEFUL TASK
SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Late one night A. M. Utt, one armed man, was stopped by a bandit. Told to "stick 'em up," he replied that he had only one to stick up. "Ain't you ashamed to rob a one armed man?" asked Utt.

Said the bandit: "I never was so mortified in my life, but business is business."

HIDDEN VALUES IN NEW BODIES

BODY PANELS ARE RENDERED
VIRTUALLY SOUND PROOF
BY HEAVY FELT PADS

Many coach building practices found heretofore only in the finest custom built motor cars and several innovations in the art are found in the new bodies of Dodge Brothers Senior Line, according to W. W. Royalty, of the Royalty Motor Co., local Dodge Brothers dealer.

"Behind the attractively finished panels, behind the beautiful lines, behind the comfortable, luxurious upholstery and trimming, underneath the features which make the first appeal to the eye, Mr. Royalty explains, "are hidden values—features of construction which insure against noises and rumbles to which many a body is subject when the car travels over uneven pavements or rough roads."

"In Dodge Brothers new engine with its 69 pound crankshaft no engine vibration is to be found even at the highest speeds. Body rumbles may result from engine vibration or from the rough pavement or roads.

"To give absolute insurance against body noises or 'drumming' each panel is padded with one quarter inch felt. In addition the whole body is insulated from the chassis frame by thick felt pads. These applications of felt padding make the Senior bodies notably free from all noise."

"The method of making the rear body panel is of interest to both the owner and the body builder. From one rear door to the other and from the roof to the lower sill this panel is without any evidence of joints or seams. The three stampings are welding machines to form a single piece and the completed joints are so perfect as to present a clean, smooth, unbroken surface."

No Mouldings Applied
While it is quite practical in automobile body building to leave seams which show as such in the finished body and at other places to cover seams with metal mouldings and no open seams in the Dodge Brothers '28' bodies. Even where the metal of the windshield pillar is

MOTORCADE TO VISIT CARLSBAD CAVERN "EIGHTH WONDER OF THE WORLD", IN EDUCATIONAL JOURNEY

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal) — The West Texas motorcade which will visit the Carlsbad cavern on the occasion of the West Texas chamber of commerce motorcade, will view the "Eighth Wonder of the World". This majestic cavern which lay for millions of years undisturbed, was first explored by Jim White, a cowboy of New Mexico, who conceived the idea of looking for a cavern by watching millions of bats fly into and out of the cave.

Descended By Ropes
White went down into the depths of a guano mine operated in the cavern mouth, and with ropes to support him, descended to a depth of eight hundred feet under the surface of the earth. He spent nearly two weeks in his explorations of the tremendous chasm. He left a thin strand of thread to guide him back along the route he traversed and at length came back to the outside world with the announcement of the wonderful discovery.

White's reports of the subterranean wonder, but after he returned to the cavern with a photographer and brought back actual photographs of the interior, others were won over and the development of the cave as a scenic wonder got under way.

A description of the wonders of Carlsbad Caverns is impossible. There is absolutely nothing else like it known to the civilized world.

It is sufficient to state that the cavern is many times larger than the reported Mammoth Cave of Kentucky; its stalactites and stalagmites are larger, more beautiful, and in many colors. The big room in Carlsbad Cavern is several times larger than the next largest cave known to man, and the depth of the cave is more than eight hundred feet. The U. S. Government has made the cave a national monument and has constructed walk ways, electric lights, stairways and provided guides and every other facility known to man for the safety of the visitor.

Natural Sculpturings
In the "King's Palace", the "Queen's Room", "Alice Wonderland" and other fairy like chambers of the great cavern, one will see natural sculpturings of stone which are unbelievable at one point is the figure of a huge polar bear reclining two hundred feet high on the top of a stone ice berg like formation. At another place the head of a moose juts out from the perpendicular wall. A huge American eagle with folded wings sits atop a knoll.

and others in the district, this has been called the "richest hundred mile-square" in America.

Where President Stays
The game lodge, where President Coolidge may stay, is reached from Rapid City by a good road south to Hermosa and the southwest to the highway from Fairburn to Custer. Sylvan Lake is only a short distance north of this, not far from the Needles and guarded by Harney Peak and Mt. Rushmore to the northeast.

For a straight cut through the greater part of the Black Hills the best route is northward from Hot Springs to Belle Fourche. Hot Springs may be reached by U. S. Highway No. 1, which runs across the southern part of South Dakota. From here, the route winds in and out, up and down, past Wind Cave, the Blue Bell Lodge and the Game Lodge up through the Needles and Sylvan Lake and on along winding mountain sides to Deadwood, not far from Lead.

Here the road turns northwest to Spearfish and meets U. S. Highway No. 25 going north to Belle Fourche.

URGES TOURISTS TO PLAN ROUTES

MOTORISTS TOO CASUAL IN PLANNING THEIR TRIPS, ROYALTY ASSISTS

Hundreds of thousands of dollars can be more wisely applied if 1927 motorists will make absolutely certain of their directions before they set out on any trip, long or short. This point is made by W. W. Royalty, president of the South Plains Auto Club, who declares that the aggregate losses in time and money caused by haphazard touring, constitute a staggering total.

The wrong road may be a long one with the threat of damage to road or a dangerous and difficult one for the car or its occupants, Mr. Royalty points out.

Tourists Too Casual
"Figures of the American Automobile Association, with which this club is affiliated, indicate that the nation's motorists are too casual in their methods of approach in planning a journey," says Mr. Royalty.

"Motorists should become conscious of the fact that getting on the wrong road is much more than annoying. It can be expensive and dangerous as well. During 1926, clubs affiliated with the A. A. A. found hundreds of cases which proved this point. While there was a relatively small number of injuries directly traceable to losing one's way, there were hundreds of instances where motorists paid heavy bills for car repairs that were entirely unnecessary.

Secondary Roads Dangerous
"Modern automobiles will stand a great deal of hard usage, but they still can be damaged considerably by fast driving over some of the poor secondary roads where service establishments are relatively few."

"Having a trip mapped in advance is inexpensive and simple and the motorist can afford to fail to take advantage of this fact. It will result in a tremendous saving if this practice is adopted by every tourist this year."

Tiny, Speedy Motor Will Beat Segrave's Record, Says Racer

The car Sig Haugdahl would use to break Major Segrave's record would be even thinner than this, which he is shown driving.

By NEA Service

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., June 25.—The record made by Major H. O. D. Segrave of 208 miles an hour on the Daytona Beach speedway will yet be shattered, and by a much smaller motor than the Englishman used.

This is the opinion of Sig Haugdahl, the noted racer, who himself set a speed record of 150.27 miles an hour.

"There's never a record that can't be broken," says Haugdahl.

"I think the car which will lower Major Segrave's record will be of the type of speedway cars they are using right now, with one engine on the front axle and one on the rear."

"If I try to break the world's auto speed record it will be in a car which is shaped like a cigar, so small and thin that I will have to lie down in it and steer. Such a car will reduce wind resistance to a minimum and avoid many of the problems in aerodynamics encountered in a larger car."

"Little motors with super-charges, winding up to 7000 or 7500 revolutions a minute will do the trick. When Major Segrave gets up to 2250 revolutions a minute, that is his limit, he starts losing horsepower. You lose horsepower when the action of the valves is not fast enough."

"But in a 91 inch motor you get 120 miles an hour at 5000 revolutions per minute, and as the engine revolves at a higher rate of speed the car continues to accelerate."

What do you know about ICE placed in your refrigerator each day?

Health

Good health during summer months, depends upon the purity of the ice that goes into your water, iced tea or other drinks that you serve your family and friends. Ice manufactured by the Texas Utilities Company is of unquestioned purity for it is manufactured under the most modern and sanitary methods known.

Summer Comfort

Ice brings many moments of comfort during the summer. How refreshing it is, when it seems that no relief from a hot wave is in sight, to go to the refrigerator and prepare a cooling drink. What a sense of security it brings to you when you know that Texas Utilities Ice is delivered to your home daily.

What do you know about the manner in which it is manufactured . . . what kind of conditions it is made under . . . whether you get full weight? Unless you are positively certain about these things, the ice you use is a gamble with health and economy. We welcome either those whom we are privileged to serve, or those whom we would like to serve, to make a thorough inspection of our plant. See how GOOD ICE is made . . . go through one of the most modern and sanitary plants in the state, or in the entire southwest. The visit will be full of profit and pleasure.

Better Ice Than This Is An Impossibility

It is a well known fact that the Ice plant of the Texas Utilities Company, in Lubbock, is one of the most complete in this section. It is an investment that is capable of giving at all times, Ice that is as fine in quality, as any with which you might be served, no matter where you live. Correct weights, prompt delivery service and the economy that comes from consistent use of our Coupon Book system, gives you a service that is not surpassed by even the largest cities. And bear this in mind—when it is possible to make better ice than we are now making, rest assured that the Texas Utilities Company will be the first to serve it to its patrons.

MOTOR CAR APPROACHES UNIVERSAL OWNERSHIP; SURVEY SHOWS THAT 55 PER CENT OF PEOPLE OWN CARS

The average family in America has a telephone, a motor car, phonograph, a piano and a radio. Statistics bear this out.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs recently canvassed 4,161,581 families, living in every classification of cities and towns, and on farms. Of the number in-phones. A total of 2,285,729 of the interviewed, 56.5 per cent have tele-phones, 55.7 per cent own motor cars, 54.6 per cent own a phonograph, 46.4 pianos and 24.1 per cent radios.

Small Towns Lead

It is an interesting fact that the largest percentage of families owning cars is in towns of 1,000 and less. The survey discloses that 68.7 per cent of all families so located enjoy motor car ownership. The lowest ratio was found in cities of 100,000 and up, but even here 54.7 per cent have one or more cars.

Figures just available reveal that California now has a registered motor vehicle for every 3.11 persons. Iowa has one for every 3.7 persons. On the other hand, Alabama has one for every 12.75 persons and Georgia one for every 12.59.

Florida last year enjoyed an increase in new car registrations of 46.2 per cent. Oklahoma was second with 17.8 per cent. Conversely, Colorado showed a gain of 3.5 per cent and South Dakota 0.1 per cent.

New York Heads List

New York continues to have the largest number of registered motor vehicles of any state—1,815,424. California follows with 1,600,475. Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan and Texas each now have more than 1,000,000—the last two joining that class during 1926. Delaware, with 44,824 cars, and Nevada, with 24,014, are on the other end of the list.

New York added 189,851 cars to its registration in 1926 and California 159,924. Wyoming increased 1,172 and South Dakota but 262.

Registrations for the United States at the close of 1926 gained more than 2,000,000 over those at the end of 1925. There are now more than 22,000,000 motor vehicles registered in this country. The year 1926 was the largest in the history of the automotive industry.

Repeat Sales Count

There always will be a certain percentage of the total sales to those who have never owned a car. Then there will be sales to families already owning one or more cars. This is becoming an increasingly important market. Realtors have learned that the average house, when equipped with a two-car garage, is easier to sell than one with only a one-car garage. Ten per cent of all families already own more than one car. Eighteen per cent of car owning families have more than one. This country can prepare now for the day when there will be from 30,000,000 to 35,000,000 cars, trucks and buses on our streets and highways.

But the automobile industry's real backbone will always be the replacement business, just as it is the backbone of the clothing industry or the shoe business. Imagine what would happen to the shoe manufacturers were they compelled to depend for sales solely on those who have never owned shoes before! The parallel with the automobile business is a sound one. Motor cars wear out. Cars are being improved constantly. They become obsolete. Then, too, it is typical of the American that he wants something better constantly. The automobile business owes much to this American spirit. How many persons become car owners, dispose of their cars and never get another? Once a car owner always a car owner. How many drop back from one price group to another? The average man owns the best car he can afford. His constant ambition is to own a better one.

Export Market Grows
The export market is growing rapidly. Foreign countries are coming to realize more and more that America owes much to the automotive industry. While it is true that the automobile industry's prosperity reflects good times in other businesses, it is also true that good times in the automobile industry help make good times in other lines of business.

The automotive industry is today a stabilized one. There is reason, indeed, why manufacturers of motor cars are optimistic.

ROADS ARE BUILT FOR AUTOMOBILES

HIGHWAY ENGINEERS FINDING CARS AS WELL AS TRAFFIC MUST BE CONSIDERED

By ISRAEL KLEIN
Science Editor, NEA Service
Highway engineering has reached the point of building roads to suit automobiles, in addition to traffic.

Not only are they being made wider with enough room left for additional widening with the increase of traffic, but they are being built to make driving easier and more economical.

Thus the higher taxes we pay for our roads will bring us savings in the operation of our motor cars. This point is brought out by Prof. T. R. Agg of the highway engineering division of Iowa State college at a meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers. Prof. Agg points out that highway road surfaces cause much less wear on tires than the low or intermediate types, and that surfaces of loose angular stone are particularly harmful to tires. He figures that the most economical road grade is one that will permit the vehicle to ascend in high gear at the most efficient engine speed and to descend without the use of brakes or attaining excessive speed. Leveling Roads Pays

Therefore, the idea in modern highway engineering is to cut down or encircle steep land, rather than build over it. It costs more, but it comes back in the form of revenue from increased travel.

Every foot of distance saved in the construction of a heavy traffic road justifies the expenditure of $60 at least, says Prof. Agg, so that heavy grading or other expenses are permissible where the traffic the road will bear repays it.

When it comes to traffic in large cities, the movement now is toward diverting through tourists rather than directing them straight through town. Whatever business or publicity the city might get by the old method is canceled by the overwhelming congestion ensuing from additional tourist traffic.

Los Angeles' Plan

One of the first cities to contemplate this new system is Los Angeles. This city is planning the construction of what is termed a "distributor boulevard" encircling the metropolitan district, permitting through traffic to avoid the congested streets and providing at the same time more adequate entrance to the business area from all directions.

The circular highway will be about 90 miles long and will cost about $5,000,000. But the city be-

General Motors Car Sales Show Boost

Commenting on the sales of General Motors cars during May, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president, says: "The retail sales by our dealers to consumers in May were 171,364 cars, an increase of 29,713 cars or over 20 per cent as compared with May 1926, at which time sales were 141,651. This also compares with 87,488 in May 1925.

In May sales by our car divisions to their dealers totaled 173,182 cars compared with 120,979 cars in May 1926, an increase of 52,203 cars or 43 per cent. This compares further with 77,228 cars in May 1925.

leaves the project well worth the cost.

DOG USES PHONE

WINSTED, Conn.—A telephone operator trying to put through a call was alarmed to find the line open and the sound of labored breathing coming over the wire. The owner of the house was reached and hurried home to find his dog lying close to the instrument, which he had knocked from a table.
