FIFTY-SIXTH YEAR

We have often mentioned the many releases we get every day. Cannon Air Force Base in Clovis supplies us with many of them. Seldom do we find anything of a great deal of interest to our local readers so not much of it finds its way in our print. However, one of their releases last week should be more than "passing" interest to us in this area.

The release concerned the death of a Major Lloyd F. Walker. I did not know Major Walker, probably no one else in town knew him, but his death is of interest to us from several viewpoints.

Firstly, his death is of interest because as Christians the death of an individual charged with protecting our lives is important.

Secondly, we are concerned as human beings and as husbands and fathers. This man left a widow and four children who will continue to suffer because of his devotion to duty.

And, lastly, we are concerned as taxpayers. This man, as a trained, professional soldier, represented an investment of uncounted thousands of dollars to the citizens of the United States.

These three things are the real tragedy of the Vietnam war. The moral question of this war, as I see it, is "Do we, collectively, have the right to ask this man and his family to make and accept this sacrifice without insisting that our government back him and all others like him with every power at our national command?" Have we the right to demand this devotion to duty from him without ourselves being equally devoted to this country's welfare in the ways open to us in our daily lives?

From a moral standpoint, this government is not fulfilling its sacred obligation to the men we are asking to pay the supreme price. We as individuals are not insisting that our elected officials fulfill their obligation to these men or to our country. Finally, we as taxpayers and citizens of this country are not interested in its defense.

History records with great clarity that the tide of battle did not run against the Nazis or the Japanese until the cream of their professional fighting men were destroyed. For Germany, this occurred in the great battles on the Russian front. There the best of the trained, experienced soldiers of the Third Reich were destroyed. From then on, Nazi Germany began to fight the war with her hurriedly trained reserves. Her Officer Corps was depleted of its best brains and replaced with men of lesser training, skill and experience. So it was with Japan. The battle of Midway was the turning point in the war in the Pacific. In this engagement the United States destroyed the best of the Japanese Air Forces. From that time on, the tide of battle went against Imperial Japan.

Today the parallel is becoming too near to be lightly turned aside. We are losing the best of our trained, experienced, dedicated professional soldiers. We are not following up their sacrifices with decisive action on our part. We may well turn up in the next year or two without these men and then face a showdown war with Russia. No, I do not believe that the next war will be fought by pushing a few buttons in Washington and Moscow with whoever is left picking up the rubble. The last war was fought without resort to poison gas or bacterial warfare because each side realized the futility of such action. We may well be faced with fighting a conventional war, minus our trained men, or resorting to nuclear devastation. Then we would have no room for maneuver, no alternative but to pull the big bomb trigger. Truly we could be working ourselves in the very corner we want so desperately to avoid.

These are the reasons why the death of Major Lloyd F. Walker, a WWII veteran of over 5000 flying hours, a veteran of over 100 missions in Korea, a holder of the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with four Oak Leaf Clusters, and a husband and father, is of such interest to the residents of Farwell and Farwell.

Accident Prone Well Maybe ---

Accident prone -- well this must be the way Ricky Stewart would express his feelings after receiving a broken arm twice in the same school year.

Young Stewart, a junior in Farwell High School and son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Stewart, received a broken arm earlier in the fall while participating in a football game. The arm was placed in a cast and nine weeks later the cast was removed with the arm declared "good as new." However, on Tuesday while participating in wind sprints at school, Ricky had the misfortune to have his feet slip from under him while attempting to make a turn. Yes, you guessed it, his arm was broken (same arm-same place).

The arm has again been placed in a cast and Ricky's physician assures him that it will be longer than nine weeks before the cast can again be removed. He was released from the hospital on Wednesday.

surrounded by angel hair from which were suspended gigantic red hearts. Red candles in white holders provided light. Focal point of decorations was an arrangement of black music notes and the words "Theme of My" followed by a large red heart attached to a wall.

James Calloway, FFA Beau, was recognized and presented with a leather pillow in the traditional FFA colors, red and white. Inscribed on the pillow were the words "FFA Beau-James."

Remember What Happened To London's Bridge!

Hang on to your hats and grease up your olive branches, the liberals are busy building bridges again to Russia. The latest "bridge" which has been deemed, by our more learned leaders, as being necessary to construct is the proposed U.S.-Soviet consular treaty which is being billed as a stepping stone to improved relations with the Soviet Union, but which in all probability will merely increase the number of Soviet espionage agents running loose in the country under the protection of diplomatic immunity.

Actually the treaty has already been signed and the Senate is now being asked to ratify it, which would seem to be a backward way of doing things, but then that's another story.

In essence, the treaty provides for opening of additional consulates by each nation, supposedly providing more lines of "communication" between the two countries. Of course we suspicious-minded conservatives would immediately become alarmed about the danger of increased espionage, but "not so" say the liberals. Administration apologists disregard the spy angle, and argue that since there are already 450 some odd Soviet personnel in the country with diplomatic immunity, 10 or 12 more won't hurt a thing. Of course one might also argue that if you have four knives stuck in your back, a couple more won't matter, but try telling that to the poor chap acting as the pin cushion.

President Johnson has made much hay lately of the fact that FBI director, J. Edgar Hoover, has assured him that the FBI will be quite capable of handling any increased espionage which might result from the treaty. To hear the President or Secretary of State Rusk tell it, Hoover heartily endorses the treaty, but such is not the case. The fact of the matter is that the FBI chief has not expressed an opinion on the treaty, but has confined himself to answering direct questions put to him concerning the treaty.

Senator Karl Mundt, Republican from South Dakota, recently asked Hoover several pertinent questions in an attempt to find out an additional Soviet consulate. Hoover stated that because of such, the FBI could not express opinions on the matter. He did however answer several direct questions, from which one might possibly get an inkling of how Hoover really feels about it.

In reply to one of Mundt's questions, Hoover wrote that the establishment of Soviet consulates in this country "of course will make our work more difficult." Hoover went on to say, "The simple fact is, that the work of the FBI in combating Soviet directed espionage activities in this country has increased through the years commensurate with the increase in Soviet representation here." Continuing, he said, "I can also state without equivocation that Communist bloc diplomatic establishments in this country serve as focal points for intelligence operations."

Mundt then asked Hoover if Soviet espionage activities by diplomats continued, Hoover replied, "They most certainly do. Representatives of the Soviet Committee of State Security and the Soviet Military Intelligence Service, comprising a large segment of the Soviet diplomatic corps in the United States, are conducting an intensive campaign aimed at the most sensitive data regarding our scientific and technical developments, our military and defense programs and the future plans of our government."

Hoover also attached to his reply to Mundt, the names of 28 Russians who have been arrested or deported in the last ten years in espionage cases. All were assigned to Soviet embassies. Now I don't know about you, but I would have to draw the conclusion that the FBI boss is not exactly dripping with enthusiasm for the treaty.

I thing perhaps, the sooner we realize that the most dangerous enemy to the United States in the world today is Soviet Russia, the better off we will be. Look at the facts. The Russians have never kept any bargain with the United States other than those which suit their purpose. They have, and still are, maintaining an accelerated program of espionage aimed at stealing our most vital secrets. The Russians have attempted to plant nuclear missiles ninety miles from our shores, and even today are supplying our enemy in Vietnam with anti-aircraft guns, missiles, planes, mines, barges, trucks, etc. If these acts do not constitute the acts of an enemy, then I don't know what does.

The truth of the matter is, that the adde-pated intellectuals in Washington are living in a dream world, a world totally apart from reality. They see what they want to see, and very little else, and history has shown this to be a very risky business at best.

The building of "bridges" to a nation that is directly responsible for the deaths of thousands of Americans in Korea and now in Vietnam is at best a moral insult to the families of the victims of the "cold" war, and at worst, an act bordering on treason, an apparently forgotten word in our vocabulary.

Confidence in foreign policy by the administration is a nice thing to a limit, but just remember, the Trojans were confident that the Greeks had gone home, and that the wooden horse was only a gift.

At Home In Parmer County

By CRICKET B. TAYLOR County HD Agent

February 15, 16 and 17 are dates for starting training for 4-H Adult Clothing Leaders. These meetings will be a workshop on "Cleaning & Care of the Sewing Machine." As a leader and teacher of young girls, not only will leaders teach her to use her sewing machine, but they will be helping her to develop skills that will give her pleasure all her life. Learning to use the sewing machine with ease, she will become more free to express her own creative ideas in making her clothes. The first pre-requisite to teaching is becoming familiar with the cleaning and care of the machine. After this, a series of lessons will be given on the use of the machine. These meetings are scheduled for March.

Some 4-H leaders want to start their clothing project work early and this seems to be a good idea too, -- waiting until schools are out create many conflicts such as Bible Schools, vacations and etc.

THE AGING POPULATION Much thought and study has been given in recent years on the process of aging. To the younger group this seems a very uninteresting and far-away subject. However, unless one plans to die young, they will reach that stage in the life cycle sooner or later.

Many counties now have a committee on aging whose purpose and function it is to study problems and help promote educational programs which will be of value or interest to older adults. A list of suggested program ideas and activities for County Committees on Aging, local committees and professional groups who are interested in promoting the welfare of senior citizens is available through your County Extension Office. The Home Demonstration Agent will be happy to assist and furnish you with ideas and programs, based on research of special needs in the problem solving process.

The program ideas are certainly not entirely for those 65 years and over because today's middle-aged citizen is tomorrow's senior citizen. Some of the programs are designed to prepare to be 65 and over. The aging population is of major concern of Texas.

In the recent meeting of Parmer County Program Building Committee, the need for a county sub-committee for study of county needs on aging was suggested. More than 166 counties in Texas have begun to organize such a committee and 105 counties are fully organized. In Parmer County interest in this phase of our community development is needed.

FINE FURNITURE

Do you know that authorities on fine antique furniture agree that it can be enhanced by periodic washing. The procedure involves application of warm soap or detergent suds with a sponge cloth or a soft brush -- if piece has a thick coating of grit or grime. Fine dust mixed with oils do build up, of course, as in dusting, always stroke cloth with wood grain, not crosswise circular motion.

CROSS SECTION OF DAM -- The side view of the proposed dam across Running Water Draw also shows the sediment pool, the level of normal rain, 50 year rain level and the 100 year crest, which would go over the emergency spillway. The flood crest is determined from the heaviest rainfall during the past 100 years, according to Soil Conservation Service technicians.

Bovina SCS Dam Nearing Reality

Running Water Draw Flood 31, the Commissioner's Court Prevention Project will soon consisting of Judge Loyde be a reality. On Tuesday, Jan. Brewer, Tom Lewellen, Charlie Jefferson, Guy Cox and Raymond Treider met with the Texas Highway Commission in Austin. Accompanying the group on their trip to Austin were Leon Grissom, Chairman of Parmer County Soil and Water Conservation District Board of Supervisors; A. L. Black, Secretary of the Board of Supervisors; Bedford Caldwell, Mayor of Bovina and Jim Ware, Business Manager of the Bovina Chamber of Commerce.

Purpose of the meeting was to request assistance from the Texas Highway Department in raising Farm to Market Road 1731 above the 50 year retention pool requirement. Leon Grissom acted as spokesman for the group.

The Texas Highway Commission voted to allocate $80,000,00 of State funds to raise Farm to Market Road 1731 an average of eight to 10 feet because of the many benefits received by the citizens of Texas below the dam sites. The project will offer protection from floods for highways, railroads, county roads and personal property from Clovis, N.M. to Plainview.

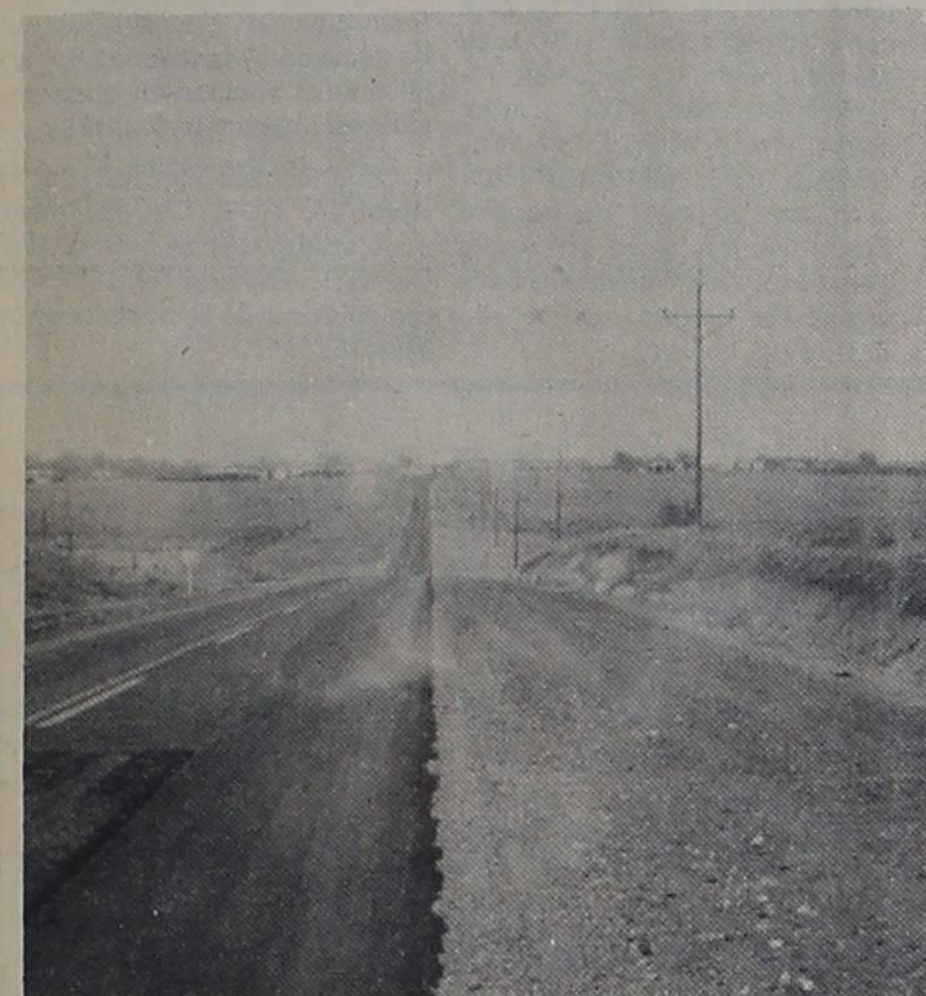

The proposed South Bovina site will be located two miles southeast of Bovina. When permission from the Texas Water Commissioners to close the 200 acre foot port is secured, the lake will cover approximately 160 surface acres and contain approximately 1,000 acre feet of water when full.

Only one other obstacle must be overcome before this dam site becomes a reality. Transwestern Natural Gas Company has a 24 inch underground gas pipeline inside the 100 year retention pool. Agreement must be reached with this company before construction can begin. As soon as this agreement can be reached with Transwestern, the watershed work plan can be completed, field level review of the work plan held and the work plan submitted to Congress. If the work plan is to appear before this session of Congress, these items must be completed in the very near future.

93.2% Of City Taxes Collected By Feb. 1

According to Mrs. Janie Bowery, Farwell city clerk, 93.2% of all city taxes had been collected by the Feb. 1 deadline to avoid the penalty assessed on all delinquent taxes. This figure is approximately 3% less than had been collected at the same time last year, according to Mrs. Bowery.

DRAW ROAD TO BE RAISED -- Farm-To-Market Road 1731 which crosses Running Water Draw south of Bovina will be raised and improved by the Texas Highway Department, which last week authorized $80,000 for the project. This makes possible construction of a dam in a Soil Conservation Service project on the George Trimble place, providing a lake on the east (or right) side of the road above.

Dr. Alen Wiese --

Weed Control Discussed

Researchers serving the High Plains recently prepared their 1967 recommendations for successful use of pre-plant herbicides in cotton.

The recommendations are based on tests, observations and county agents' comments from over the cotton production area, according to Dr. Alen Wiese, weed-control researcher at the Southwestern Great Plains Research Center, Bushland.

Pre-plant herbicides have acquired tremendous popularity recently although Wiese believes some farmers could save some money with band applications of pre-emergence herbicides.

Farmers seem to prefer broadcast pre-plant applications because they can be made before the busy planting season and because they reduce late cultivations which increase moisture loss and prune cotton roots.

Pre-plant herbicide have given best results on the South Plains when applied to dry, flat soil prior to bedding for pre-irrigation, Wiese says.

Heavy crop residues should be thoroughly worked into the soil before application.

The herbicides must be incorporated into the soil two to four inches within a few hours after application, he said.

Wiese attributes the few cases of poor results with the pre-plant herbicides to faulty application, to listing deeper than incorporation and to failure to use follow-up weed control measures.

Faulty application comes from not calibrating the sprayer and from overlapping or skipping spots in the field.

"You can't use the tractor tracks as a guide for your spray boom," Wiese says. "If you're applying the herbicide and disking in one operation, the spray broom should be the width of the area you cut with the disk. If you're just applying spray, I strongly urge the use of a new marker as a guide."

Elmer Hudspeth, ag-engineer at South Plains Research and Extension Center near Lubbock, works closely with Wiese on weed control studies.

Hudspeth uses a method of sprayer calibration that is one of the easiest to remember and accomplish.

First step is to record the number of seconds it takes your tractor to travel 100 feet at spraying speed.

Second step is to collect spray from the nozzles it takes to cover 40-inches for the same number of seconds it took the tractor to travel 100 feet.

Number of ounces collected will closely equal the number of gallons applied per acre, Hudspeth says.

This system works for broadcast spraying and for 40-inch row spacing with any length boom because the amount of spray distributed over one 40-inch zone should be the same throughout the field, according to the ag-engineer.

ed over one 40-inch zone should be the same throughout the field, according to the ag-engineer.

Hudspeth says if gallonage is not suitable, small adjustments can be made by changing pressure. Larger adjustments in gallonage must be made by changing tips.

Several farmers have had poor results from pre-plant herbicides because they listed deeply and the furrow became weedy before planting.

Researchers also say that lister planters tend to throw the herbicide to the middles leaving row unprotected.

Wiese and Hudspeth are both strong advocates of on-the-bed planting where pre-plant and pre-emergence herbicides are used. If lister-planting is used, the furrows should be shallow to avoid throwing the herbicide away from the row and into the middles.

Some farmers have the mistaken notion they can forget about weeds in a herbicide treated field.

Weeds that get by the herbicide have to be controlled.

Wiese says there is a possibility herbicides could reduce the population of weeds which were regarded as major problems in the past.

But he says uncontrolled weeds which have not yet been serious problems may now thrive because they do not have to compete with so many other weeds.

I hear tell that the faculty may be aging a bit since the senior boys were able to beat them playing basketball last Thursday night. The faculty-student basketball game was sponsored by the senior class. Too bad somebody waited to punch the final buzzer until principal Gene Riddle was in mid-air for a lay-up -- I wonder, was a senior responsible for it?

Lazbuddie Young Homemakers met last Thursday afternoon. Superintendent Sam Barnes presented the program on education. In the business meeting, it was decided to present a gift to Girlstown and to investigate the possibilities of sponsoring a girl living in Girlstown. Present were Mesdames Don McDonald, Richard Engelking, Jerry Engelking, Darrell Mason, Joe Tartar, Beanie Ivy, Ronald Elliott, Edgar Hartley, Keith Menefee, J. Don Gallman, and Eva Dean Ivy.

Lazbuddie Young Farmers will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 17.

Lazbuddie Baptist Church announces that the church choir will present a program of Negro Spirituals Sunday night, February 12, at 7 p.m. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Leatrice Gallman is patient in Green Memorial Hospital.

Reverend and Mrs. Roy R. Havens have been visiting his parents in Temple for the weekend. Dr. Don Davidson, director of Kings Manor in Hereford, conducted the Sunday services in the Lazbuddie Methodist Church during the absence of Rev. Havens.

The senior class of Lazbuddie High School is planning to go to Acapoco, Mexico, on their senior trip. To furnish adequate funds for this undertaking the seniors have several projects planned including a bake sale each Saturday, and the senior boys hiring out to work for $1.25 an hour each weekend. Remember the senior play "They Went Thataway" will be presented February 24; and the seniors are also selling Longhorn stadium cushions and annuals.

FHS talent show will be presented Saturday night, February 18, at the High School auditorium.

Lazbuddie Church of Christ announces their Gospel Meeting will be held February 12-15. Dean Brookshire from Tyler will be the guest evangelist. Morning services will be at 8:30 a. m. and evening services at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Home for the weekend recently was Kelly Mimms, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Mimms. Visiting with him was his fiancée, Leigh Prior of Sweetwater.

Sunday guests in the home of Mrs. Mae Mahan were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Theford of Plainview.

The cage teams played their next to last week of basketball this past week with games against Hart and Threeway. Tuesday night the girls met Hart and lost by a mere two points, 33-35. It just seemed to be one of those off nights when everything goes wrong. Quarterly scores were 9-10, 18-22, 25-30, 33-35. Scoring was Carolyn Morris, 16; Vickie Robinson, 11; Tamra Jennings, 2; Vickie Broyles, 2; Theresa Seaton, 2.

Friday night against Threeway the girls fared much better, winning 45-30. Quarterly scores were 14-4, 24-14, 28-21, 45-30. Scoring was as follows: Vicki Robinson, 18; Carolyn Morris, 15; Tamra Jennings, 8; Vickie Broyles, 4.

Girls B team saw action in one game this week against Hart when they came out the victors 16-12. Mickie Broyles led the scoring with 7 points, Opal Graves, 4; Elaine Jesko, 4; and Jan Mitchell 1.

What the girls lost to Hart the boys made up for with a 62-43 victory. Their quarterly scores were 13-18, 29-27, 44-31, and 62-43. Timmy Foster led the scoring with 27 points, Matthews and Troy Steinbock were credited with excellent defense and Frank Hinkson swept the boards to make a fine show in rebounding. Other scoring was Gary Matthews, 16; Troy Steinbock, 11; Frank Hinkson, 2; Johnny Broyles, 2; Bobby Gleason, 2; Derrell Matthews, 2.

Boys B team also played Hart but lost 27-33. The quarterly scores were 6-9, 8-14, 18-24, 27-33. Steve Foster led the scoring with 15 points, Larry Hodges, 6; Ronald Mayfield 4, Monte Barnes 2.

The varsity boys met a little hard luck Friday night against Threeway. They came out on the short end of a 40-49 score. Quarterly scores were 3-6, 16-14, 25-35, 40-49. Scoring was Timmy Foster, 13; Troy Steinbock, 11; Johnny Broyles, 10; Gary Matthews, 4; Bill Jones, 2.

B team boys played their second game for the week against Threeway and again were defeated 13-29. Quarterly scores were 3-8, 5-8, 10-22, 13-29. Monte Barnes dumped in the most points which was 5, and Steve Foster and Larry Hodges both had 4 points to their credit.

What's In The Soup at Lazbuddie Schools?

On Deans Honor Roll

Kelly Mimms, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Mimms, was listed on the Dean's Honor Roll at Abilene Christian College following the fall semester. Kelly is majoring in agriculture and has maintained a 3.47 point average on the 4 point system.

Honored

A going away party, honored Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Briggs and their children Rhonda and Ronald Kent Sunday night in the Fellowship hall of the Lazbuddie Baptist Church. Entertainment consisted of a skit in which personality characteristics of the couple were revealed from the time they were children through high school. Both were graduates of Lazbuddie High School. A devotional and special music were also dedicated to the Briggs family. Then they were presented with a large basket of fruit interspersed with gifts of money from their friends. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served to the group. The Briggs family is moving near Willcox, Ariz., where he will be engaged in farming.

Meet Your Teachers

Everett Maxwell has seen many changes in the educational field since he started teaching 44 years ago. It's wonderful to find a person so dedicated to the teaching profession, Maxwell has been at Lazbuddie the past nine years teaching English, bookkeeping, typing, and shorthand. The previous 35 years were spent teaching at Russellville, Ark.

Maxwell received both his bachelor of science and his master of education degrees from Arkansas State Teachers College. He had three major fields of study including education, business, and social studies.

Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell are residents of Lazbuddie. They will have been married 39 years in May, and they have one daughter Mary, who is married and living in Roswell, Maxwell is a member of TSTA, NEA, and the Church of Christ.

Maxwell enjoys reading and hunting, but only to see the animals, not to kill them. Another favorite of his is one we all should practice more; that is walking just anywhere with a friend or a good dog. Surely Mr. Maxwell must see many things most of us miss as we whiz down the road in our cars.

Everett Maxwell has been teaching school for 44 years, nine of which he has spent at Lazbuddie.

Lazbuddie Boys Win At Show

Two Lazbuddie boys, Ricky Seaton and Mike Windham, have been named winners of awards on their swine at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth recently.

The swine entered by Mike Windham was judged the Champion Barrow (other breeds class) award; and the Chester White barrow entered by Ricky Seaton was granted the Champion Junior barrow (Chester White) award.

IMPORTANT TO SOYBEAN PRODUCERS

On February 20 at Plainview's Agriculture Center, soybean growers from every section of Texas are to meet for the purposes of organizing a statewide association. Meeting time is 2:00 p.m. Leaders in every producing area of the state are working on the organization which will have as major objectives the encouragement of research and promotion of the crop and possible industrial expansion of the industry in Texas.

CASTORMEAL FED TO CATTLE

Paul Marlon, superintendent of Texas A&M University's Rolling Plains Livestock Research State at Spur, is trying to determine if castormmeal can be safely fed as a source of protein to cattle. So far, his results indicate it can.

Marion started heifers on 4 of a pound of the castormmeal a day and now is up to 3 pounds per head per day. The ration included ground sorghum grain and silage. Cattle must be started slowly because of the laxative effect of the castor oil in the meal.

On low quality heifers the gain was 2.1 pounds per day.

The castormmeal is about 32 per cent crude protein compared to about 41 per cent for cottonseed meal.

With milling improvements, Marion said crude protein could be raised to about 40 per cent and that castormmeal could well become a relatively inexpensive source of protein for cattle.

Farm Program Signup Begins

Prentice Mills, manager of the Parmer County ASCS Office in Farwell, announces that some 200 farms were signed up on Monday, first day of the 1967 signup on Cotton, Wheat and Grain Feed program.

Mills urges all Parmer County farmers who plan to participate in the program to come in and sign up "now" and not wait until the last day, Friday, March 3. He assures farmers that they will not be required to wait for any great length of time as office personnel are handling the signup quite efficiently.

When the office opened on Monday morning, some 75 to 100 farmers were waiting to sign up for the program; however, by 10 a.m. only a few were still waiting.

Roy McDaniel, Pam Roberts Are Homecoming Royalty

Highlight of the Texico Homecoming activities on Saturday night was the coronation of Roy McDaniel and Pam Roberts as "Homecoming King and Homecoming Queen." They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McDaniel and Mr. and Mrs. Grayson Roberts, respectively.

Both are seniors in the Texico school.

Attendants to the "Royalty" were Leslie Harrelson, Susan White, Larry Burns and Debbie Doolittle.

The "Royalty" were crowned in front of a large gold star above which the words "Homecoming Royalty" in gold letters were suspended. At the other end of the gym, attached to the wall were the names of all previous homecoming royalty.

The Royal Pair for 1967 were crowned by Veda Wilson King "1966 Homecoming Queen", who came from New Mexico State University to attend the celebration. Crown-bearer was Terry Rucker. La-Wanda Autrey carried a bouquet of red roses which were presented to Miss Roberts, after her coronation. The Homecoming King and his attendants were presented with boutonniere and the female attendants were presented with a single red rose.

B. A. Rogers, former school superintendent in Texico, was recognized as the student from the earliest class in Texico (1912-1914).

The school band played "Moon River" as a processional and later played a medley of songs. They did several drills at halftime.

Cheerleaders distributed approximately 100 miniature basketballs into the crowd which overflowed the gym. "This is the largest crowd to ever attend a Texico Homecoming or ballgame," was the comment of many persons who have lived in the area for many years. The crowd overflowed into the lobby and outside the building.

Following the homecoming basketball game between Melrose and Texico, a reception was held for all former students of the school in the high school library, sponsored by the Student Council. Some 85 former students registered at the reception.

Our Error

The Tribune was in error last week in the story "Stock Car Racing is Exciting and Fun" in stating that Johnny Watford, the local stock car racing enthusiast, is working with Billy Watts at Watts Oil and Tire Company. Such is not the case, instead Watford runs Johnny's Enco on Ave. A, next door to the oil company owned by Watts.

Please accept our apologies, we are sorry for the error.

Attend Fat Stock Show

Mr. and Mrs. Mose Glasscock accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Orville Cunningham and son, Gene, of Lubbock attended the Fat Stock Show and Rodeo in Fort Worth last weekend. While in Fort Worth they visited with Mrs. Ardith Bruce, sister-in-law of Mrs. Glasscock who was in competition in the rodeo.

Mrs. Bruce, who lives in Fountain, Colo., is World Champion Woman's Barrell Racer.

Airman Quickel Visits Parents

A2C I. W. (Bill) Quickel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Quickel, who has recently been stationed at Kessler Air Force Base at Biloxi, Miss., is spending a 15-day leave with his parents. He will be stationed at Davis Motham Field at Tucson, Ariz., following the leave.

Also visiting in the home of her parents over the weekend was Miss Teresa Quickel, a student at McMurry College in Abilene. She returned to Abilene Sunday afternoon.

Report From The Sheriff's Office

Sheriff Charlie Lovelace reported early this week that the Western Ammonia Company near Black was burglarized over the weekend. Only thing missing was a small amount of change; however, the inside of the building was ransacked and left in disorder. A similar burglary occurred near Hereford also over the weekend.

A burglary occurred at Reed Cleaners in Friona a week ago Monday night. Three men are in jail charged with the burglary and all of the merchandise taken in the theft has been recovered. In jail charged with the burglary are Gilbert Mirles, Joe Lopez and Juan Lopez. A juvenile is also believed to be implicated in the burglary. The group is awaiting grand jury action.

A petit jury has been called for Monday to hear the case State of Texas VS Richie Rando on a habitual criminal charge. Pleas of guilty will also be heard on Monday.

Correction

Last week in the Tribune it was erroneously stated that Glenn McDorman had completed work for a bachelor's degree at Eastern New Mexico University.

It was not Glenn, but his brother, Larry, who completed work for the degree. Larry majored in physical education and minored in biology. He is presently employed as a clerk for the Santa Fe Railroad in Clovis.

Please accept our apologies, Larry!

Bond Issue Vote Set Feb. 21; Texico School

A bond election for the proposed construction of additional facilities at the Texico School has been set for Tuesday, Feb. 21. Polls will be open between the hours of 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. At that time qualified voters in the district will go to the polls to register their approval or reject a proposed building project in the amount of $140,000.

Proposed construction at the school is a cafeteria, which would handle 250 students comfortably and provide the necessary equipment for its operation. Also included in the plans are the construction of a vocational shop which would house the present vocational facilities at the school and provide for additional vocational programs.

Persons qualified to vote in the bond election are all owners of real estate who reside and own property in the Texico School District. Supt. A. D. McDonald hastens to assure property owners that passing the bond issue will not raise their property taxes since the bonds voted by the school for construction purposes in 1961 have been retired.

Senator Hightower Reports

Senator Jack Hightower, Vernon, said Thursday that Governor John Connally's proposed liquor-by-the-drink tax revenue measure "would create more problems than it would solve."

The Senator also questioned the advisability of the Colson-Briscoe Act under which state funds are allotted for construction of farm-to-market roads.

"I do not think that there will be any tangible benefits for the state under the liquor-by-the-drink proposal, even though it was proposed as a revenue measure," Senator Hightower said.

In his address to the legislature, the Governor said that the proposed tax on the liquor sales would add $15 billion to the state's revenue during the next biennium.

"I am in agreement with Governor Connally's statement that increased effectiveness in enforcement of laws relating to private clubs and the sale of liquor are essential," the senator said.

"However, I do not believe that the legalization of liquor by the drink is necessary to accomplish this. Such legislation would, in my opinion, create more problems than it would solve."

HOMECOMING ROYALTY at Texico High School are Roy McDaniel and Pam Roberts. They were selected by popular vote of the students. McDaniel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McDaniel and Miss Roberts is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grayson Roberts.
