City Votes Continuation Of Uncontrolled Parking

CITY TO COMPLY

Regular Street Sweeping Asked

Former mayor Buzz Majors appeared before the City Council Monday to request regular cleaning of city streets in the downtown area.

City Manager Ford Merritt said he would be undertaking to clean the streets on a regular basis.

Majors recalled past cleaning procedures where the streets had been swept each night. "The streets have been cleaned and regular cleaning needs to be undertaken," he said.

Merritt noted that this year had been "unusually bad" due to the extended period of rain which causes deposit of dirt on downtown streets.

J. C. Britton said the merchants had almost as much comment on this problem as on the parking situation. He also brought up the possibility of paved alleys in the downtown section to help the dirt problem on the streets.

"I am not trying to stir up a hornet's nest," Britton said, "but we are trying to sell Colorado City. We have to complete what we are doing of cleaning up the streets."

"The alleys are no new problem and we haven't completely forgotten them," Mayor John Chinn said.

Majors asked if any paving program was in the offering throughout the city.

Chinn replied that "nothing had been talked about, but that it would be a logical program to undertake in the near future."

Mrs. Neff Rites Held Wednesday

Funeral services for Mrs. W. L. Neff, 70, were conducted Wednesday at 2 p.m. in Kiker and Son Chapel with the Rev. M. A. Smith Jr., pastor of First Baptist Church, officiating.

Mrs. Neff died Tuesday at 9 a.m. in her home at 831 Cedar after a long illness. Burial was in Colorado City Cemetery.

She was born Aug. 12, 1895, in Georgia and married Pat Neff in 1916. The couple resided here since 1919.

Mrs. Neff was a member of First Baptist Church. Survivors include her husband, six sons, Rush, Tom and Keith of Colorado City, Jack of Hobbs, N. M., W. L. Jr. of Dallas and Joe of Big Spring; two daughters, Mrs. Charles Higgers of Spokane, Wash., and Mrs. Garland Copeland of Mexico; two brothers, M. H. Hanson of Dumas and J. E. Hanson of Rotan; 21 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Pallbearers were Malcolm Hanson, Marvin Hanson Jr., Perry Echois, Don McCaskey, Lewis Claxton and David Merritt.

Monte Haddock, T. E. Arnold and Clyde Bucklew served as honorary pallbearers.

Straw Ballot Considered

By JAMES ANDERSON, Record News Editor

City Council Monday voted to extend free and uncontrolled parking in the downtown area.

The council also considered and tabled a proposal to hold a straw ballot on the parking question in conjunction with the city elections scheduled for April.

While the straw vote would be "unofficial" and in no way binding to the council, it is expected that the group will follow the outcome of the voting and either return parking meters to the city or use another method of control.

J. C. Britton, representing the merchants committee, asked the council for the extension of time until a straw ballot could be taken to determine the wishes of the public.

Mayor John Chinn asked Britton if the merchants group had made any study of how to list the choices on the straw ballot.

Britton said it would be unwise to list options simply as "buying meters or free parking" and should be either meters or controlled time limit parking.

"There has been a lot of concern over employers and employees using spaces," Britton said.

City attorney John Worrell explained to the meeting that the Council had no authority to call a straw vote and that its results would not be binding.

"We didn't intend for the straw vote to be legal or binding," Britton explained, "but only used as an opinion poll by the council."

Councilman R. J. Hoback suggested possible use of ballot boxes in business places.

Britton said there were problems of voting repetition in this method that made it unsuitable.

Chinn asked if there was any specific law prohibiting the holding of a poll in connection with an election.

"I found nothing prohibiting," Worrell said.

"Since it's not binding, I can see no objection," the mayor said.

When asked as to any particular objection for holding the election and poll in conjunction, Worrell said a possible violation might be that of loitering around the polls.

"Would voting in the poll be considered loitering?" Chinn asked.

Worrell replied that it was certainly not pertaining to the election.

Chinn suggested that the question be tabled until the next meeting by which time Worrell said he would try to have some definite answers on the question.

Wolves Lose Last Game To Blizzards

Colorado City Wolves closed their District 5-AA basketball season taking a 69-50 pounding from the Winters Blizzards in Wolf Gym Tuesday night.

Bill Hensley and Kenny Davis hit 23 and 21 points to top Winters' scoring column.

Wayne Snowden topped the Wolves with 12 points. Hoping ten each were Mike Hillhouse and Gary Parker. Riley Tilley and Jerry Franks contributed six points each to the loss.

After a first period tie, the Blizzards continually pulled away from the Wolves on the basis of hot outside shooting in taking the victory.

The loss left the Wolves with a 2-3 district record and Winters was in a second place with Haskell with identical 3-3 marks.

"The Wolves had sole possession of fourth place."

City won the B-team contest with a 33-31 victory over the Winters crew.

Simmered Soup Satisfies

Chilled to the bone? Every shiver and shudder makes you wish winter would go away? Then it's certainly time for a big bowl of meaty, vegetable-laden homemade soup. A deep kettle of soup-simmering on the range is as good for morale as it is for health. Here's a way to get protein from the meat as well as vitamins and minerals from both meat and vegetables.

To be at its best, have a soup that's meaty enough to satisfy, points out Roba Stages, meat authority. For this soup inspired by Hungarian cuisine, select three to four pounds of either beef shank cross cuts or oxtails as the meat.

Browning the meat gives it rich color and a plus in flavor. When beef shank cross cuts are the meat used it's a good idea, just before serving, to remove the bones from the meat and slice or cut into pieces. Then it's easily served. Oxtail Soup—Hungarian Style

- 3 to 4 pounds oxtails or beef shank cross cuts
- 8 cups water
- 4 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 1/2 teaspoon marjoram
- 1 bay leaf
- 3 medium potatoes, peeled and diced
- 3 large carrots, sliced
- 1 medium rutabaga, peeled and diced
- 1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes

Brown meat slowly on all sides. Pour off drippings. Add water, salt, pepper, onion, marjoram and bay leaf. Cover and cook slowly for about 3 hours or until meat is tender. Add all vegetables to soup and simmer until tender, about 30 minutes. Discard bay leaf. 6 to 8 servings.

Variety Clubs Charity Work

The week from Feb. 13 to Feb. 19 is a very special one as far as show business is concerned.

The reason: It is Variety Week — the time that show business takes time out to celebrate the wonderful charity work it does for children all its Variety Clubs throughout the world.

Texasans are familiar with the two Variety "Tents" located in Dallas and Houston. These Tents are a part of a large international organization, some 10,000 strong, which has spent more than 90 million dollars in the past thirty-seven years supporting dozens and dozens of charitable projects in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Great Britain and Ireland.

"The aim of Variety is to offer service to others less fortunate," said Bill Williams who heads the Dallas Variety organization. "A Variety Tent must support projects designed to help handicapped and underprivileged children."

Variety throughout the world supports children's hospitals, convalescent homes, schools for the blind and handicapped, founding homes, day camps, clinics and research centers for cancer, cerebral palsy, heart ailments and rheumatic fever.

to help students in making their college plans.

The program consisted of a talk by Mrs. Billie Ruth Tartt, "Hints On How to Study," and two films, "Improve Your Study Habits and The Talented, The Gifted, and The Genius."

During the past year the Dallas Variety Tent has performed many philanthropic acts running into thousands of dollars spent on young people and children of unfortunate circumstances.

MEAT COOKERY
Quiz

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
 A. Fresh beef brisket.

Q. Where does it come from? How identified?
 A. It comes from the brisket (breast) section of beef, between the fore shank and the plate section and is usually boneless.

Q. How is it prepared?
 A. Fresh beef brisket may be simmered in water or it may be braised, like a pot-roast. (Corned beef brisket is always simmered in water.) For cooking in liquid, cover with water, add spices and herbs, if desired and cook slowly, allowing approximately 30 minutes per pound as cooking time. To braise, brown first, then add a cup of liquid, cover tightly and cook slowly. Seasonings and vegetables, as for pot-roast may be added as desired.

PENGUIN-DOWN DRI-DIE
 Versatile Dust Developed by Scientists

Researchers have discovered a new method of protecting houses and apartments against roaches and a hundred other insects that threaten the health of the occupants.

Hygienists of entomology said that a new dust called "Amphibious Silica Gel" has been discovered that is harmless to humans and animals, but lethal to insects, cockroaches, silverfish and a hundred other insects. The dust literally dries the insects, so that by removing a protective wax on their bodies and drying their body, insects die.

Have applied it can last in-ormants without losing its ability to kill them.

Ruth Coffey's

AN OLD ex-insomniac from a way back, is thoroughly qualified to give lessons in how to stay awake all night.

There's not a single trick in the how not to go to sleep field that isn't known and hasn't been tested by me.

One of the best ways to stay awake is to go to bed early. Turn off the lights and crawl in while all the night sounds are still outside—the long pull of the cross-country trucks, the screech of brakes, the neighborhood radios, television sets—the barking dogs and the prowling cats.

So you lie there feeling like you're letting the rest of the world go by. And the thought of it keeps you wide awake.

ANOTHER good way to keep from going to sleep, if you're determined about it, is to go to bed too late. Leave your own TV going strong with a late movie, circa 1919.

Or play some Roger Miller records via the night table transistor radio.

Best way of all, however, requires absolutely no sound effects. It just takes perseverance. It's known as the feel sorry for yourself—the "poor little me, oh woe is me" tempo of thought.

Lie still and try to remember every mean thing anybody ever did or said to you from the time you started to kindergarten. Toss a Willie. Then plot exactly what you intend to say the next time any time somebody thwarts, frustrates, or even by chance crosses or disagrees with you.

FOUND OUT, by trial and error, some splendid things to practice if you really prefer knowing how to go to sleep at night.

Counting sheep doesn't work in all cases. There's that little black lamb always bawling loudly for its mother just as you reach number 89.

Very soft music with almost no verbal content from the radio sometimes works during the late night or all night hours. The only catch there is the sudden loud switch to mountain music with the dawn—or the run-down battery all used up while you rest in peace—dead to the world.

MOST HELPFUL of all remedies for the how to go to sleep, though, is to engage in a memory contest with yourself any dark night when sleep won't come without coaxing.

Start with the 23rd Psalm, silently, of course. Then add all your know-by-heart favorite little bits of verse. Preferably inspirational poems.

If you're not sound asleep by the time you get through with Thanatopsis, then switch to recalling verses to the old songs. All old songs used to have several long verses. Most hymns still do.

IF THE CLOCK strikes one and you're still there and still awake, there's only one thing left to do—remember all the little kindnesses that have come your way. Let all the sweet things of life twinkle like stars in the tapestry of your mind.

Even that may not show the way to sleep, some nights. But at least it's comforting. And you might as well enjoy yourself.

The GI Bill Of Rights

THE ONLY QUESTION in the House of Representatives was whether members would get a chance to vote on a GI Bill of Rights. Three administrations had blocked any vote since the Korean bill expired Jan. 31, 1955. Veteran pressure had reached a crescendo since the Viet Nam casualty list began to mount.

When House Veterans Committee Chairman Clin F. Torgue, Texas Democrat, finally produced a bill, it was cleared for floor action in the record time of four days. It sped through the House by a unanimous vote. Now it has cleared the Senate and been sent to the President.

The bill provides education and vocational training for veterans of 180 days or more since the cutoff date of the Korean Bill of Rights, as well as home and farm loans, limited hospital benefits for non-service-connected disabilities and rental guarantees of dependents to be repaid after discharge.

This is a real war bill of rights. All men in the armed services will benefit, whether they see combat or not. President Johnson had tried to restrict the benefits to men serving in active theaters, such as Viet Nam, Berlin, the Dominican Republic and the Congo.

The only concession the House bill made was to exclude from its benefits six-month trainees and re-enlistees training two weeks yearly. They would benefit only if they go on active duty for 180 days or more.

This country has never let its servicemen down. The speed and unanimity with which this new permanent GI bill passed Congress once more affirms the country's backing of its fighting men.

Cold War Bill Lauded

BY WALTER YARBOROUGH

United States Senator I have good news from Washington. There will be a Cold War GI Bill in time for our deserving veterans to begin school this summer.

On Monday of this week, the House of Representatives passed a Cold War GI Bill by an overwhelming vote of 381 to 13. Since the Senate passed the bill last year, this week's House action insures that there will be a Cold War GI Bill.

Although there are differences in the two bills that were passed, I will make every effort to see that these differences are ironed out so that our Cold War veterans can be in school by June of this year.

Under the provisions of the bill that have been agreed upon, any veteran who has served more than 180 days of active duty since January 31, 1955, will be eligible for readjustment benefits.

For each day of active duty a veteran will be eligible for one day of educational assistance up to a maximum of 36 months. This is enough for four complete 9 month school terms. If a veteran is single, he will receive $100 a month for a full-time program of education; if he is married he will receive $150 a month.

This educational assistance will begin on June 1, of this year, which means that over 2 1/2 million veterans who have already completed their military service and have been discharged will be eligible to receive educational assistance at that time.

By 1970, over 5 million Cold War veterans will be eligible for this bill when give them a new lease in life to catch up with those people who have not spent time in the defense of our nation.

This bill also provided for guaranteed loans for home and farms, similar to those of the Korean GI Bill.

Although the bill passed by the House of Representatives does not provide for high school training, I have amended the bill to be sure that returning veterans can use the bill to complete high school if they desire. Over 1.3 of the Korean veterans used the bill for high school training.

After seven years of concentrated work on getting a Cold War GI Bill enacted into law, I am extremely elated that we have finally conquered the opposition to this bill. Although I would like for it to be as broad as I would like to work on amendments to give larger educational benefits to these deserving veterans — over 1 1/2 of a million in our own State of Texas.

On Closed Committees

Secrecy in congressional committee meetings, increased slightly during 1965, reversing a trend begun in 1964 toward more open sessions.

During 1965, congressional committees reported holding a total of 3,608 meetings, a decrease from 3,667 in 1964. Of these, 1,100 were open to the public, a decrease from 1,150 in 1964.

Open committees during this period revealed that 31 per cent of them were closed.

The 31 per cent score for 1965 was lower than the annual average of 25 per cent for committee executive sessions, based on figures since the beginning of this open closed hearing system in 1953.

The lowest per cent of closed hearings was 30 per cent in 1959; the highest was 41 per cent in 1954.

In 1961, 35 per cent of the meetings were closed; in 1962 the figure was 36 per cent. In 1963 the figure rose sharply to 35 per cent.

droping in 1963 to 32 per cent.

The study was based on a day-to-day tally of committee hearings during each legislative session. These reports are required by the legislative reorganization act of 1961. In practice, however, they are sometimes neglected so that an accurate count of all the open and closed meetings for each committee is nearly impossible to obtain.

Open committee sessions to which the public is admitted generally are hearings on proposed legislation.

Executive sessions, from which the public is barred, usually are hearings at which witnesses testify on national security matters, such as the war in Viet Nam, and work periods in which the committee mark up legislation or conduct administrative business.

During the first session of the 89th Congress, House committees held 33 per cent of their meetings in closed sessions, as opposed to 30 per cent in the Senate.

Texas Legislature Back For Registration Law

By VERN SANFORD

TEXAS LEGISLATORS will meet in special session Monday for a vote on a registration law. The bill, which would require voters to register before voting, has been passed by the House and is now in the Senate.

The bill, which would require voters to register before voting, has been passed by the House and is now in the Senate.

Gov. Saltonstall last month to get his $1,000 filing fee, is taking on Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, Lubbock, Holtzclaw's lieutenant, Shante C. Woods of Houston, and Mrs. Johnnie Mae Hightower of Beaumont, are opposing Governor Connally.

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White of Wichita Falls, Comptroller Robert S. Cabot of Austin, Treasurer Jess James of Austin and three incumbent State Senators' Court judges have no Democratic opposition.

Emphasis this year obviously will be on the November general election, which is being held on Nov. 2, 1966. The bill, which would require voters to register before voting, has been passed by the House and is now in the Senate.

to $200 a year raise at next year's legislative session.

Governor's Committee on Public School Education, directed to make a comprehensive report on school needs, held its first meeting last week and selected Glenn H. Ivy, Texas Research League state secretary, as its director.

The House Interim Committee on Education decided to collect comparative data on what teachers are paid over the state. Rep. Charles Wilson of Lubbock said he believes teachers will ask another pay raise in 1967. They got a 3 per cent raise in 1965.

is anticipated to be slightly above $8,500,000,000, a 21 per cent rise over 1963.

A serious problem facing Texas manufacturers, EBR notes, is a shortage of skilled labor, particularly machinists and engineers for aerospace companies supporting the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston.

Shortages of engineers, machinists, technicians and managerial talent emphasize the need to provide a superior educational system of the elementary, secondary and college levels, EBR notes.

Many industries, EBR warns, can move where needed labor is available, and there is less and less work for the uneducated and unskilled.

Peeking Into Your Mail

Tipped off by a suspicious postman, postal agents opened a packet which a woman mailed first class to her husband.

Sure enough, the packet contained illicit heroin. But when the woman was brought to trial on a narcotics charge, evidence of the find was thrown out of court and she went free.

Income Tax Information

Your office asking me to come in for an audit on last year's return. My neighbor, who helped me prepare it, says he is not permitted to appear with me. What should I do?

A — Anyone who helped prepare your return or who has knowledge of the facts reported in it can appear with you when your return is audited.

However, if the audit leads to a proposed change in your tax liability and you disagree with this finding then anyone who acts as an advocate in your behalf must be qualified to practice, or if he is a CPA or a lawyer, file the required certificate.

Q — I am entitled to all my income. Do I have to pay tax on it?

A — Yes, you do. Although it is taxable income to the recipient and a deductible item for the payer, child support payments, however, are not taxable nor deductible.

Q — Are the dividends I received on my G.I. Insurance taxable?

A — No, those are exempt from taxation. Any interest earned on these dividends left on deposit with the V.A. is taxable.

Q — Is it true that if you have a capital loss you can carry it over as long as you want? In other words, if I don't use it this year will I lose it?

A — Previous to the Revenue Act of 1964, capital losses could only be carried over 5 years. The 1964 law changed that and capital losses can be carried over indefinitely until absorbed. These losses retain their original character so that a short term loss remains a short term loss and a long term loss remains a long term loss.

The answer to your question, therefore, is yes. You may carry over a loss without losing it until it is used up.

The Church For All All For The Church

PERSONAL call

These days, our minds are as busy as switchboards! There are so many things to think about, at work, at school or at home. Even our leisure hours often require a lot of mental activity... and peace of mind seems very far away.

Yet peace of mind is possible for us all, when we turn to God for relief from the tensions of modern living. He is fully aware of all our problems and difficulties, and He is always ready to lead us to a greater serenity of spirit than we have ever known.

That is why, when we take a little time from our busy lives to attend church, we leave feeling refreshed and strengthened. We have shared in His divine gift of peace.

This Sunday, God's call to a new and certain way of meeting the pressures of life is a personal call... for you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest force in the world for the building of a better world. It is the only institution that has the power to bring about a new order of things. It is the only institution that has the power to bring about a new order of things. It is the only institution that has the power to bring about a new order of things.
