Actually the program will begin with a bicycle parade downtown at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, the parade ending at the city park.

All types of activities will be held, Kelley said, emphasizing that lots will have to happen to keep the youngsters busy if the crowd is as large as is expected.

Sand Damages Crops in County

Thousands of acres of Hall County cotton and feed were left either completely covered, burned to death, or uprooted from the ground as a result of a high wind and accompanying strong sandstorm Sunday night.

Heaviest damage to crops by the sand were in the Lesley, Lakeview, Brice, and Friendship areas, where crop damage varied from a small percentage to total loss. Only a light shower fell following the wind.

Hail also did considerable damage to crops in the vicinity of Newlin and Salisbury.

The total acreage of crops believed lost was estimated at about 8,000 acres by County Agent W. B. Hooser and Lynn L. McKown, county ACA secretary.

Some farmers reported that young feed crops were completely covered up, with no hopes of showing signs of growth later. Cotton, some of which even had small boles already showing, was burned by the hard-hitting sand and electricity caused by the wind. Other cotton, which was not as far along in its growth, was reported as being uprooted by the wind.

Fortunately, about one-fourth of the farmers were carrying government crop insurance which pays off in case of damage by sandstorms. Where the loss was one hundred per cent, as judged by the inspectors, the farmers will be paid at the rate of 31 cents per pound, based on the average yield for the past five years, with a basis of the past 17 years of production factored in on the payments.

If the loss is not total, however, payments will not be made until the fall crop has been gathered, since the government insurance guarantees a farmer taking the insurance a certain yield from the acreage insured.

Applications for government insurance on the wheat crop for next year are now being taken, McKown said.

TRANSFERS FOR COUNTY PUPILS DUE AUGUST 1

CLASSIFICATION OF HALL SCHOOLS MADE BY COUNTY BOARD

Parents are urged to ascertain that their children are transferred to the schools which they are supposed to attend, if the necessary grades are not taught in their home district, County Superintendent Mary Foreman said this week.

Applications for transfer of students must be filed with the county superintendent before August 1, Miss Foreman emphasized.

If a school is classified by the Hall County school board as a seven-grade school, all children in the 8th grade and above must be transferred to the receiving high school, she explained. The only instance in which it is not necessary for parents to ask for transfer is in the case of contracted schools; consequently no applications for transfer need be filed for scholastics in the districts of Eli, Deep Lake, Gammage, Webster, and Salisbury.

A most important point for parents to remember, the county superintendent said, is that parents must pay transportation on children who attend a school outside the home district when the required grades are taught in the home school.

Common schools of the county have been classified by the board as follows: Newlin, 8 grades; Brice, 7 grades; Lesley, 8 grades; Friendship, 7 grades; Parnell,

Twice-A-Month Visits to Be Made By 'Old-Age' Man

Representative of Social Security to Be in City 2nd and 4th Tuesdays

For the convenience of employers and employees of the Memphis area, a representative of the social security board, bureau of old-age and survivors insurance, will make regular visits to Memphis twice a month beginning in July.

The first visit under this new schedule will be Tuesday, July 9. This representative may be contacted at the department of public welfare office in the court house annex from 2 to 3 o'clock on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month. A poster showing the schedule of visits for the next six months will be located at the department of public welfare office in the court house annex.

J. R. Sanderson, manager of the Amarillo field office, states that the representative will receive applications for old-age insurance payments, for survivors payments, and for social security account number cards.

New employers are reminded that the social security act is applicable to them if they have one or more employees, either full or part-time. They are urged to contact the representative to obtain full information as to how the social security program affects them.

What A Navy— 4TH OF JULY FOUR DAYS EARLY

Unable to wait four more days when it would have been legal, the U. S. Navy staged its 4th of July fireworks Sunday afternoon.

Actually the navy did wait until Monday, for the fireworks were shot out in the Pacific where it is Monday when it is Sunday here—if you follow us.

There was only one firecracker discharged, however, but it probably made more noise and more smoke than all the crackers which are shot today in the U. S. will make.

The site of the fireworks was Bikini atoll, which neither you nor I ever heard of until a few months ago, but it must be admitted that the navy had a pretty fair-size audience.

Not only were there a lot of people sitting nearby (if you call ten miles nearby and we would in this particular case), but millions of people all over the world heard the show, even if they couldn't see it. Lots of people saw it, however, including a number of the army and navy brass hats, who more than likely would have preferred being in an officer's club somewhere sipping beer. And a fairly representative group of our congressional representatives were present to see the show too, to give us homefolks a first-hand account, as it were.

It was a big show, but the cost won't add much to our annual expenditure. The targets, of course, were old ships which would have been junked anyhow, with a couple of German and Japanese ships thrown in for good measure. We wonder, when the final account is made, whether the enemy ships took the punishment any better than ours did.

If you notice, so far we haven't said what we are talking about, but we bet you have figured it out. Anyhow the cause of all the commotion was the biggest little thing in the world—

Without the OPA — PRICES HERE REMAIN SAME

The complete lifting of price controls came Sunday night upon the expiration of the price control law, but little difference in life in general could be noted when the merchants opened their doors Monday morning.

Apparently none of the customers were much worried about prices going up immediately, for business was about as usual on the usually rather dull Monday morning.

And prices did not go up.

At least they haven't been advanced yet.

Memphis merchants, practically all of whom are well established here and have been in business here for a number of years, were inclined to carry on without the OPA just as they did with the OPA.

A number of representative business men were contacted, and none of them contemplate on increasing prices of items in their stores merely because they can.

But all of them agree that they will be forced to advance prices

J. J. McDaniel of Memphis Chosen Member Soil Conservation Board

J. J. McDaniel of Memphis was elected as a member of the board of supervisors for the Hall County soil conservation district in balloting recently, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of F. E. Leary of Estelline. Leary resigned due to poor health.

Other board members are Ray Grimes of Tell, John Sharp of Turkey, J. L. Brooks of Kirkland, Raymond Scott of Wellington.

In reporting on the work of the service during the first half of 1946, the following was done in assisting farmers and ranchers in the district to:

Contour farm 95,765 acres; 15,[illegible]1 acres for the first time.

Plant cover crops on 6,633 acres of land subject to blowing.

Practice stubble management on [illegible]62 acres of wheat and oat land.

Strip crop 16,961 acres; 500 acres for the first time.

Seed permanent grass on 62 acres.

Construct 48 farm ponds.

Build 596 miles of terraces and do some maintenance work on most of the 3,716 miles built to date.

Construct 17,605 feet of diversion ditches and terraces.

Install or re-condition 101 wells, windmills, tanks, or other water facilities.

Prepare a plan for conservation farming on 66 new district cooperators' farms or ranches, covering 49,380 acres.

About 24 per cent of the land in farms or ranches now have conservation farm plans. A little over 63 per cent of the planned work has been done.

Dry weather, the report stated, has retarded plantings of all types of permanent vegetation, proper use of range lands, and some types of construction. This has been offset to a great extent, however, by the noticeable better condition of crops on land where conservation farming has been practiced.

Rats Carry Six Diseases, States Health Officer

Because of the economic losses they cause to industry and commerce and the annoyance they create in homes, rats have been considered a serious menace to mankind since long before their role as vectors of disease was understood.

Today at least six diseases which are transmitted to man from the rat are known to medical science, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer. These diseases include the dread plague, typhus, trichinosis, a form of jaundice, tapeworm, and food poisoning. The whole history of

Winning Essay

DIVERSIFIED FARMING PAYS

Editor's Note: This is another in the series of winning essays on diversified farming written by county 4-H Club members. This essay is by Doyce Jouett of Parnell.

The farmer, like all other business men, wishes to earn enough money to give his family the pleasures and advantages of modern living, and save for economic security in his old days. In order to do this he must make his farm produce the most it will. Therefore, he must conserve his soil and diversify his crops.

Diversified farming is profitable as well as important in improving the soil. In most cases diversified farming nets a profit instead of a loss. A farmer can raise two or three different crops instead of just one. Then if one of the crops is a failure perhaps another one will show a profit. If he only planted one crop and it failed, it would mean a loss.

A farmer should raise some livestock through the months he is not farming or harvesting his crop. He can take care of the animals and make a profit with little work. Beef and pork can bring a nice sumof money.

Grains can be fed to laying hens at a profit. The farmer can separate milk and sell cream to add to his income, and then feed the skimmed milk to hogs and sell hogs at a profit. He can feed grains high in protein instead of buying expensive feed high in protein supplement, and the saving would add to the net income.

Where a number of crops are grown it gives the farmer a much better chance to cash in on high markets. Where feed is too high to make a profit at raising beef or pork at a profit it enables a man to sell his grain as a cash crop. Cotton is also considered a cash crop, but with a short cotton crop and no other crops a farmer is left in debt with nothing to fall back on, except another one which takes a year to produce.

Another good advantage is that it enables a farmer to produce most of the food for the family, and gives them their own meat, milk, eggs, cream, and butter, as well as most vegetables and many fruits. In other words, it gives the man who diversifies an income every month of the year, while otherwise if he had only one crop and it failed, he would have a total loss.

The difference between diversified farming and one-crop farming is failure for one and success the other.

Without OPA --

when more merchandise is bought from the wholesale houses—provided, of course that the wholesalers have to advance their prices due to an advance on the part of the manufacturers.

Most Memphis merchants believe the following will happen: If the OPA is not returned soon, the manufacturers will go up on their products, the wholesalers will go up, and naturally the retailers will go up.

Then when prices reach a certain point, all "heck" will break loose in the ranks of labor again strikes will prevail, and wages will be forced up. And then the manufacturers will go up again, etc.

Eventually, as one merchant put it, production will meet demands fairly well, people will buy a big bunch of stuff on credit until the credit limit is reached, and down will go prices and about everything else all at once.

Even if the OPA is restored to power or even if some other form of price control is introduced, most local men believe that the never-ending circle will eventually lead to a depression. But most of them also believe that without OPA control, the depression will get here a little faster.

As one man put it, it's just a matter of opinion—whether to go broke soon, or later.

Sidney Stout Appointed New Agent For Continental Oil Company Here

Sidney Stout has been appointed as the new commission agent for the Continental Oil company in Memphis, succeeding J. R. Saunders, the company announced this week. Saunders has resigned as the local agent.

Stout is well-known in this section. He is the son of Mrs. Lucile Stout and the late S. R. Stout, former residents of Estelline.

He was born in Estelline, and graduated from Texas Tech in 1938. Following graduation he was associated with the Continental Oil company in Lubbock, and later with Walter Irvin, Inc., in Amarillo. He enlisted in the U. S. navy, and attended the Harvard school of business administration. He was commissioned as a lieutenant in the supply corps, and served in the Atlantic theater.

Mrs. Stout and their small son plan to move to Memphis in the near future to make their permanent home.

Callahans to Give Concert at School

The Callahan Bros. and the Blue Ridge Mountain folks will present a concert of singing, dancing, and music at the high school auditorium here Friday night. The program will begin at 8 o'clock.

The concert will be sponsored by the local post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Admission will be 25 and 50 cents, it was announced, and part of the proceeds will go to the VFW post. The musicians may be heard daily over the Wichita Falls radio station.

sors stated. Each family will bring its own picnic lunch, and eating may be done in family groups or in larger groups as preferred.

The city softball league, a part of the summer program, is now going into its final weeks, and the two leading teams will meet in the play-off.

Last Friday night saw Lakeview winning over Hedley 4 to 3, and the Southside Barber shop downing Parnell 11 to 10. The Texaco team now leads with three wins and no losses, with the Southside Barber Shop, Lesley, Hedley, and Lakeview tied for second place. This Friday night Texaco will meet Hedley in the first game, with Parnell and Magnolia playing in the closing game of the night.

Monday night, in three exhibition games, the 11-12 agers of Memphis were defeated by the Lesley boys of the same age, the 13-14 agers of Memphis won over the Lesley boys of the same age, and the Memphis FFA boys downed the Lesley high school boys. Each of the games will be returned, when the local players go to Lesley some night in the near future.

New Contract Between VA, State To Aid Vets in Vocation Schools

Approximately 8,000 Texas war veterans, training in peacetime skills in county-sponsored vocational schools, will be benefited by the contract between the Veterans Administration and the State Board for Vocational Education, to become effective July 1.

Under the contract terms, the administration of some 75 approved county vocational schools will be centered with the state vocational board, with the VA retaining supervision of veterans enrolled in the schools.

Thus far no information concerning such schools for Memphis or any other portion of Hall County has been received here, County Judge M. O. Goodpasture, and J. O. Fitzjarrald, county service officer, said this week.

By this agreement more facilities for training veterans in agriculture, business, trade, and industry will be provided. Centralization of administrative control with the state is expected to raise and make uniform the standards of the county schools and to speed up VA tuition payments to schools.

The VA is to pay $29 per veteran per month, all but $4 of which is to be channeled to the particular school involved. The state board will retain the $4 to pay additional administrative costs imposed by the contract, but this cost is expected to decrease sharply when the program is a few months old.

By September 1 the VA predicts the number of county-sponsored vocational schools will increase to 100, eventually growing to 150 with an average enrollment of 100 veterans. It was emphasized by the Dallas branch director of vocational rehabilitation and education that "schools will be set up when and where they're needed."

Veterans enrolled in agricultural training must devote at least 36 hours a week to their programs and a minimum of 200 hours per year in classroom instruction, the course of training taking three years to complete. Men in trade and industrial training must spend a minimum of 30 1-2 hours a week in training. Classroom instruction is allotted 12 1-2 hours weekly, and the veteran must spend not less than 18 hours weekly working on the job under supervision of the school coordinator. Veterans enrolled for business training in county vocational schools will also be trained by a plan calling for classroom instruction in addition to actual on-the-job activities.

The trainee-farmer will study —in actual farming operations as well as in the classroom—farm management, farm shop, crops, soil science, home gardens and orchards, food preservation, homestead beautification, agricultural and arithmetic and farm forestry. The veteran can study general farming or specialize in livestock, dairy, poultry, or truck and fruit farming.

Some of the business occupations for which a veteran can train in county schools are salesman, displayman, teller, advertising man, hotel clerk, buyer, credit man, receiving and shipping clerk, and stock clerk.

Training in more than 60 different skills is offered in the county schools' trades and industrial program, such as baking, cabinet making, dry cleaning, engraving, furniture repair, photography, plumbing, watch-making, welding, carpentry, cosmetology, boot and shoemaking.

JUST LIKE OLD TIMES

THE GUBERNATIONAL race in Texas is attracting quite a lot of attention, and the daily newspapers of the state are giving a large amount of space each day to comments made by the various candidates.

The Texas Poll, which has proved itself to be quite accurate in the past, last week indicated that if the election were held now, Homer Rainey would receive 34 percent of the votes cast, with Sadler, Jester, and Sellers coming in close behind.

That then is the trend of thought of the voters today. And the poll clearly indicates that there will be a run-off, despite the fact that Rainey, as O'Daniel used to do, predicts that he will win without a run-off.

This paper is not campaigning for any particular candidate, and does not intend to. No doubt those people on the staff of The Democrat will vote for more than one of the candidates, casting their ballots as they see fit. Probably three or four candidates will receive the votes of this paper's staff, though there are not many voters on the staff.

With this in mind, it is likely that the voting will be similar throughout the state. We believe, therefore, that no candidate will receive a very large percentage of the votes, and that there definately will be a run-off. Most observers also believe that if Rainey does get in the run-off, he will probably lose, since there is a great deal of adverse criticism of his past.

Sadler is making a great deal of noise in his campaign, as is John Lee Smith and Caso March. Jester and Sellers are conducting a more or less orderly campaign, but both are doing a large amount of talking.

There is the usual amount of mud-slinging, of course, and Texas politics just wouldn't seem right without that kind of campaigning. But what the state needs is a good leader, regardless of who he may be. The statements of the various candidates would lead one to believe that each is a great leader, yet few of them will turn out to be such.

We regret that we, like most other voters of Texas, are unable to clearly understand which man would make the best governor and leader in this post-war world. Our hope is, finally, that the best man wins. Although in a crowded field gubernational race, the best man seldom does.

Press Paragraphs—

QUOTING OUR NEIGHBORS

Advertising

The Donley County Leader: Robert Kuhn of Portland, Oreg., advertised: "Veteran, wife and two dogs, three female cats, and alligator desires small apartment. We drink, smoke, fight, stay up all night beating kettle drums." He got 25 replies. Among them was one honky-tonk in which the man stated: "Come on out with your zoo, bud, we need more racket to attract more business. Free house rent if your set-up can produce the noise."

Nothing Free

The McLean News: You can't get something for nothing, but voters still fall for lush promises, forgetting that such things boost taxes.

Going Up

The Foard County News: It begins to appear that the purchase of that new refrigerator which the family has been planning on for the past four years will have to be put off at least another year of perhaps longer. In the meantime while we are waiting for the refrigerator and the new radios and the million and one other things which we were told would be available in such an assortment after the war, we can put away a few more savings bonds because it looks like refrigerators and cars and other post-war gadgets are going to cost a good deal more than original estimates indicated.

Just Promises

The Canyon News: When you hear candidates for governor declare: "When I am governor, so and so will happen," just consider one sure thing: The legislature of Texas passes the laws. The governor may recommend and his recommendations may be thrown out the window. The governor has little to say about the laws which are passed. His platform is only his personal opinion just as the sentiments expressed on this page are the sentiments of the country newspaper publisher.

Aginers

The Quanah Tribune-Chief: The Russian vetoes are becoming as common as the pledges of politicians for increased pensions for the aged. Through misuse, both have become disgusting and have served no purpose except muddy up the water of state and international politics.

Vacationing

The Ochiltree County Herald: (Written after the editor had taken a vacation) Many of the resorts were closed during the war years, but they are all open now, plenty of new hotels, camps, and dude ranches . . . but it's the same story everywhere . . . they're full to capacity. Take our advice and plan your vacation ahead . . . and have reservations confirmed before you leave . . . unless you like to sleep in your car.

Faith Needed

The Moore County News: There is work for us all and we will arise again from the troubles of today, but only if we can keep faith in the Man upstairs, who placed a million pines on the sides of the snow clad mountains and sent the wind through them to touch their harpichord.

Greedy

The Tulia Herald: Russia claims she doesn't want war. It appears, however, that she wants about everything else.

Stuff and Things

Douglas Meador in the Matador Tribune: Simmering in the juice of forgotten ages, the mountains speak silent hosannas to summer skies. A blue hawk circles the elevated mesa with impudent assurance of endless space; of power to let the world glide beneath sturdy pinions. Piles of white clouds push their shadows across the distance and silence makes overtures to the restless leaves in tall trees that follow a gurgling irrigation ditch. Verdant fields suckle at the breast of nature.

All I Know . . .

The Briscoe County News: Your mind isn't functioning if you agree with everything you read—even if we publish it.

Could Be

The Claude News: It was Sunday morning. He slipped on his wife's robe and went downstairs to answer the doorbell. As he opened the door, the ice man kissed him. After giving due and serious thought to this strange occurrence, he came to the conclusion that the ice man's wife must have a similar robe.

Mrs. Donna C. Lane was a visitor in Amarillo Friday.

Turnbull, who were en route to San Francisco. Mrs. Horner, Mrs. Adair and Mrs. Askew are sisters of Mrs. Young, while Mrs. Turnbull is a niece. Mrs. Turnbull will be remembered by her friends here as Juanita Adair, daughter of the late F. L. Adair who was in business here for a number of years.

BOYCE HOUSE

"Gives You Texas"

The most beautiful short story ever written was composed by One who never wrote a word. Would you like to read it? It's in a book called the Bible and it is the story of the Prodigal Son.

The expression, "Ee-ne-me-ne-mine-ee-moh," was used by little boys in Babylon, 3,000 years ago.

Instead of making so many run-of-the-mill pictures, why doesn't Hollywood bring back some of the truly grand films of bygone years? "Cimarron," for example —also "The Great Ziegfeld" and "Rio Rita" the original version with John Boles and Bebe Daniels?

A little philosophy:
To cultivate calmness and self possession, to live longer and to enjoy life more fully—

Learn to like what doesn't cost much—reading, conversation, music.

Plain food, plain service, plain cooking.

Fields, trees, woods, brooks, fishing, rowing, hiking.

Learn to like people, even though some of them may be as different from you as a Chinese.

Learn to like to work and enjoy the satisfaction of doing a job as well as it can be done.

The song of the birds, the companionship of dogs, and laughter and gaiety of children.

Gardening, carpentering, puttering around the house, the lawn and the automobile.

Learn to like the sunrise and sunset, the beating of rain on roof and windows, and the gentle fall of snow on a winter day.

Learn to keep your wants simple. Refuse to be owned and anchored by things and the opinions of others.

Mrs. A. J. Cottle and daughter Marcelaine returned home Thursday night from Fort Worth and Dallas where they visited with friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ballew left Monday for Red River, N. M., where they will spend the next two months.

Quick Treatment Good Protection Against Disease

If every case of suspected communicable disease could be promptly visited either by the family physician or the local health officer, thousands of susceptible persons would be protected from disabling illnesses, according to the state health officer.

To quote Dr. Geo. W. Cox, "The old fashioned theory that it is a good thing for children to have a number of the catching diseases and get them over with, has long since been known to be a serious and sometime fatal error. The longer a child can keep from having these diseases, the better it is for him. Every child should be completely protected by vaccination or inoculation against these diseases where an immunity can be produced."

Prompt diagnosis, isolation, good medical and nursing care give the patient the best chance for a satisfactory recovery without the serious complications that sometimes accompany even the mild forms of communicable diseases. Dr. Cox emphasized that obeying the public health laws regarding isolation and quarantine of communicable diseases protects not only the patient, but helps prevent others from contracting the illness.

"The state health department," Dr. Cox said, "is doing everything in its power to protect the health of the people of Texas. It is the duty of every man and woman to do his share to maintain a high level of health and help prevent the spread of communicable diseases."

CONSERVE COOKING FATS

The housewife can make an important contribution to the conservation of cooking fat by preventing small everyday wastes, according to Edith Lawrence, specialist in food preparation for the Texas A. and M. College extension service.

More attention should be given to careful scraping of dishes, pans and containers of fat, Miss Lawrence suggests. A rubber-tipped dish scraper of the type now selling again at kitchen supply counters is one of the best utensils for removing that last bit of fat—or any other food.

Remnants of cooking fat in cans should be melted down and poured out for use before the can is thrown away, and the last drops of oil extracted from bottles. Pan drippings left from cooking meat should be scraped out, and even the part that has "browned on" can be loosened by heating with a little water and then saved for gravy, soup or sauces.

Much fat is wasted by careless cooking. Once fat has been scorched, overheated, or allowed to become rancid, it is good for nothing but soap making. In frying, heat should always be watched to prevent wasteful scorching. To keep fat from turning rancid or moldy, keep it dry, cold and covered in a dark place—in the refrigerator, if possible.

Careless measurements, hit-and-miss methods, and unreliable recipes all may contribute to fat waste.

The Answer —

YOU'VE HAD YOUR BUTTER

Many of us would be astonished to be told that we've already had our butter. Yet that would come very close to being the correct answer.

True, we haven't had it as butter. But we have had the butter, in the form of increased amounts of milk, and other of its products, points out the National Dairy Council. Last year the American people consumed about 16 billion pounds more milk as fluid milk and cream than the average for the years 1935 to 1939. That amount of milk would make almost six pounds of butter apiece for every man, woman, and child in the United States, and still leave as much milk and cream as was had in the years 1935 to 1939.

Besides this 13 billion pounds more milk was made into cheese, dry-whole-milk, evaporated milk, and ice cream, than in those prewar years. That amount of milk accounts for almost another 5 pounds of butter per person. In the case of these concentrated milk products, it is only fair to point out that most of the extra production was shipped overseas for American armies, and for relief.

The important point, in the opinion of the National Dairy Council, is that, Americans are eating better. Those improved diets call for much greater quantities of dairy products. While American dairymen are producing at an all time high, they haven't been able to keep pace with the demand, and until production and economic conditions are such, that they can catch-up with this demand, consumers must realize that they can't drink their butter, and spread it on their bread too.

Americans use 500 million matches annually, which if struck one at a time would burn 47,567 years.

How do they do it?

COULD you produce one-third more crops with 10% less manpower? The farmers of America did it during the last full year of the war.

How? Partly by working themselves and their machines longer, harder. Partly by assisting hired help with wired help.

Electricity has taken over more and more farm chores. It pumps water, grinds feed, cures hay, fills silos. It steps up milk and egg and pork production. It eases farm housework, too.

Cheap, dependable electricity has done more than any other force to make farming efficient and farm life comfortable.

Who electrified the farms? Rural electric service didn't happen overnight. It started more than 25 years ago—with America's business-managed electric companies. These companies did the pioneering—the pick-and-shovel work.

The advantages of electricity on the farm were many. The problem was to get it to the farmer. Distance and weather called for new methods and materials. New farm machines suitable for electric drive had to be developed.

Each problem was licked in turn by American initiative and ingenuity. Service grew steadily better and cheaper. Farm by farm, area by area, the web of wire expanded.

What of tomorrow? Today, business-managed electric companies serve 1,850,000 farms (about two-thirds of all electrified farms) and more than 4,000,000 other rural customers outside of incorporated towns. That's real progress.

But the job isn't done. Right now, as fast as men and materials become available these same companies are extending reliable, low-priced electric service to more than 1,000,000 additional farm and rural non-farm customers. They are investing $290,000,000 for construction alone.

This program is under way right now.

Vets Use Priority To Buy Aircraft

Veterans are making extensive use of their priorities to purchase surplus aircraft, War Assets Administration reported this week.

Under amendment to the Surplus Property Act, signed by the President last month, veterans have a priority second only to federal government agencies in the purchase of surplus property.

To give veterans every chance to exercise their priorities, the office of aircraft disposal has adopted a policy of holding special sales, at fixed prices, of aircraft which are in short supply and for which there is a large demand.

Two sales have been held thus far under the new priority system. Veterans bought practically all the desirable aircraft in one offering and took the entire lot in the other.

Surplus Fabrics To Be Sold; Vets Get First Choice

The War Assets Administration has announced that it has made available approximately 7,500,000 yards of surplus cotton, woolen, and worsted fabrics in 30 different types to help relieve the acute shortage of men's clothing.

Veterans are to have top priority in the purchase of this cloth to be used in their own small businesses, for the exclusive manufacture of men's suits and overcoats.

To obtain first priority status, veterans should contact the veterans division in the WAA Fort Worth regional office, room 1100, T & P building, and be certified as eligible to exercise a veteran priority for the amounts and types of fabric they wish to purchase.

A second priority will be given by WAA to orders placed with WAA regional offices by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in behalf of small business, in the event that the yardage is not consumed by veterans.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Robertson visited over the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Mack Graham.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Freeman and family of Tell visited last week in the James Freeman home.

Mrs. Ray Pruitt and daughter of Wichita Falls are visiting this week in the Carl Smith and Ben Smith homes.

Take a State Trooper's word for it!

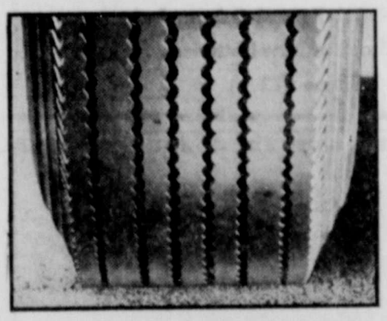

Get B.F.Goodrich, Safest Buy in Tires!

When you're traveling at breakneck speed on life-or-death calls, you've got to have a tire that's safe. That's why B.F. Goodrich had police of three states test the new B.F. Goodrich Silvertown.

What's the verdict of millions of miles of recorded road tests? That the new B.F. Goodrich tire outwears prewar tires, that it is better than prewar tires in many ways.

Come in and see us now for the tire that OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES!

Shipments arriving regularly — we may have your size in stock!

You need "police car protection" for your family too. Why take chances with your tires when you can have complete peace of mind with the new B.F. Goodrich Silvertown?

This is the tire with the famous B.F.Goodrich-engineered "road level" tread that gives you more rubber where you need it — on the road! That means plenty of traction for driving, plenty of grip for stopping, more tread to share the wear.

But that's just one of its new features. The new B.F.Goodrich Silvertown is built with special, tougher cords that give it a far stronger body. Yes, even at high speeds, the new B. F. Goodrich Silvertown actually OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES!

What A Navy --

the atom and a bomb made from it.

But people in Memphis didn't care. The Sunday afternoon show-goers went to the show, regardless of the A-bomb, and the Sunday afternoon drivers, radio or not in their car, went driving. And the golfers golfed, and the sleepers slept.

The ground didn't shake, and the windows didn't break. But the bomb was dropped and it did set a bunch of ships afire, and it did sink a few, and it did kill a bunch of pigs and goats and rats, and it did make a big bunch of smoke. We know it did cause the newspaper writers and the radio announcers said it did. So it did explode, and personally—we're glad it's over. Now all we gotta do is wait for the next one to fall.

Sitton Publisher Henrietta Papers

Jerry W. Sitton, former employee of The Democrat, has purchased the publishing interests of the Henrietta Independent and the Clay County Leader, weekly newspapers at Henrietta, it has been announced.

Sitton, a former Kilgore newspaperman and chamber of commerce manager, recently received his release to inactive duty with the U. S. navy, where he attained the rank of lieutenant-commander.

He will be publisher of both papers effective July 1.

than the underground wired lights now used.

Nineteen of the lights will be 6,000-lumen lights, and will be strategically placed on and near the square. (The present lights are 600-lumen lights.) Each of these will cost the city $2.10 per month.

Thirty-eight 4,000-lumen lights will be installed as follows: one block from each side of the square; out to 15th street on Noel; out to 13th on Main; and from Noel to the highway on 10th. Each of these lights will cost the city $1.65 per month.

Ninety-nine lights in the residential section, scattered as desired throughout the city, will be 1,000-lumen lights, compared to the 600-lumen lights now in use. Each of these will cost the city $1 per month.

The remaining 14 lights will be located as they are in the city park, and will continue to cost $1.25 per month.

The total monthly cost to the city for the 170 lights, 93 more than now in use, will be $219.10 per month. At present the city is paying $133.50 per month for the lights in use. One clause in the new contract with the WTU states that a readjustment of city taxes is to be made, and it is believed that this adjustment will almost take care of the additional light expense.

The proposal made by the company and accepted by the city council read, in part, as follows:

1. To rebate all residential and commercial electric service users for the difference in cost of KWH from the April 15 meter reading to this date, such difference to be the difference on the old rate and that that would have been due under the new lowered rate.

2. To provide as soon as material becomes available an additional power feed for Memphis to insure adequate capacity for future expansion and growth of the city; and to insure better and more continuous service. (Such a power feed would eliminate the present inconvenience now experienced when the power supply here is cut off for short times during inclement weather.)

3. To provide and furnish all street lighting requirements of the city of Memphis, without profit to the West Texas Utilities company, in accordance with rates contained in the contract. It it further agreed that this company will, without cost, relocate or move such lights as the city may require and direct.

4. To review and adjust taxes paid by the company to the city.

5. To extend to the city of Memphis and the electric service users any future general reduction in electric rates as may be offered by the company to cities of the same population group and consumption.

The five-point proposal was adopted unanimously by the council, and each councilman seemed well-pleased with the outcome. Most members of the group felt that to continue with the proposed light plant would cause the citizenry to be split on the issue, resulting in less cooperation in other projects.

Mayor C. C. Hodges, when he introduced Whitaker, who made the proposal, stated that he recommended that the council accept the proposition. Other councilmen, including Horace Tarver, who had been one of the most active members in the municipal light plant proposition, were also highly in favor of acceptance. All members of the council were present except Tarver, who had assured Mayor Hodges before the meeting that he was in favor of accepting the proposal.

The municipal plant question arose two months ago when a petition from various citizens was presented to the council urging that they investigate possibilities for such a plant. An engineer was employed to survey the needs of the city, and following his report, plans were furthered to hold a revenue bond election to finance the plant.

The WTU company states that electric users under the new plan will actually mean that based on the old rates, the new rate will save the users an amount equal to about 2 1-2 months of free service.

Local Nine Loses To Childress 6-1

The Memphis baseball nine got off to a bad start in the second half of the Red River Valley League play, and lost to Childress 6 to 1 in the game there Sunday afternoon.

O. B. Hoover managed to get seven strike-outs for the local team, but it did no good as three errors were chalked up for the Memphis boys and the breaks went to Childress. J. W. Coppedge caught for Memphis.

Next Sunday will be an open date, since the all-star game is being played today in Quanah. The following Sunday, July 14, Quail will come here to meet the local nine.

When Your Back Hurts -
And Your Strength and Energy Is Below Par

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won country-wide approval than on something less favorably known. Doan's have been tried and tested many years. Are at all drug stores. Get Doan's today.
