Laval Called To Stand In Petain Trial

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Aug. 2 (AP)—Pierre Laval, chief of the Vichy government, will be brought from a prison cell tomorrow to testify in the treason trial of Marshal Petain.

Rejecting a defense protest, the court announced after heated debate among the jurors that it would summon the former French premier who had been called the aged marshal's "evil genius."

The decision regarding Laval, himself facing treason charges, was announced after the afternoon recess. The session then was suspended.

Petain, Jurors Sleep

The debate over, the calling of the former collaborationist as a witness interrupted a dull day of testimony during which the old marshal and three of the jurors fell asleep.

A procession of defense witnesses had been heard throughout the morning portraying Petain as anti-German and as a patriot who gave up French artillery in North Africa to prevent the Germans from marching through Spain to attack Gibraltar.

Attorneys pointed out that summoning Laval as a witness "undoubtedly would mean" the trial would be prolonged by days.

Judge Paul Mingibeaux said it "would aid greatly in placing responsibility correctly" to bring Laval and Peain together in court.

Already Questioned

Laval, clapped into Fresnes prison late yesterday following expulsion from Spain and a flight to Austria where he surrendered to American troops, already has been subjected to preliminary questioning in his own case.

For a time today he lost the self-possessed calm shown when he first was returned to Paris. He wept as a magistrate representing the high court of justice placed seals on the baggage he and his wife had brought with them.

It was the first show of emotion by the man who is charged with betrayal of France. He was unperturbed last night as the examining magistrate, within an hour after the former official's dramatic return, began questioning him.

Attorney Not Named

Laval has not yet selected an attorney to defend him.

"He was master of himself the entire time" during last night's questioning, the examiner said.

Madame Laval, however, was described as in a state of near prostration and weeping constantly. She is not charged with any crime but, like Madame Petain, has been placed in protective custody of the high court.

Laval told his captors that $10,800 in American currency, as well

Toll In Monday's Carrier Raid Rises To 116 Ships, 278 Planes

By CLYDE BARTEL
Associated Press War Editor

American and British carrier raids knocked out a total of 116 Japanese vessels and 278 aircraft in Monday's Tokyo-Nagoya-Maizuru raids, Adm. Nimitz disclosed today.

Gen. MacArthur reported more than 250 Far East Air force planes heavily attacked Japan's big shipbuilding city of Nagasaki Wednesday and Gen. Spaatz said 151 Iwo-based Mustangs strafed and rocketed the Kobe-Nagoya region yesterday.

Two-Day Toll Is 56

Three other ships and a submarine were damaged in the strike. It was the second successive day of attacks on Kyushu castal industrial centers and shipping. The Yank pilots in the two days destroyed or damaged 56 enemy vessels. In one of Tuesday's attacks near misses were scored on two carriers caught at the Sasebo naval base.

Japanese interceptor planes offered weak opposition to the raiders Wednesday losing six planes out of 20 which were surprised by only four American Mustang fighters off the south coast of the island.

Col. Frances Gideon, operations officers of the FEAF, said the appearance of the hitherto reluctant Japanese planes was a desperate attempt to halt air attacks which will soon complete the blockage of the enemy homeland.

In East China Sea

Spanning the East China sea to Shanghai, American Army and Navy bombers destroyed or damaged five more enemy cargo ships. Other Allied planes hit enemy ships and installations along the China, Indo-China and Malaya coasts.

Japan's dwindling sea and air strength was further weakened by the destruction or damaging of 116 ships and 278 planes by U. S. and British carrier aircraft in last Monday's attacks on the Tokyo, Maizuru and Nagoya areas, new information from Admiral Nimitz' headquarters disclosed today.

Nimitz's communique, revising preliminary figures previously released on the Third Fleet's strike, said American losses were 11 planes and 11 airmen, and the British lost three planes and pilots.

Two Destroyers Among Loss

The enemy's shipping losses included 24 vessels sunk, among them two destroyers and two midget submarines. The 92 craft damaged included 33 warships ranging from an escort carrier and a light cruiser to destroyers and midget submarines.

In attacks on land targets the Allied fliers damaged railroad stock, airfield hangars, the Nagoya arsenal, power plants, industries and naval docks.

Nimitz also said that American destroyers hurled 1,000 rounds of five-inch shells into Shimizu, 90 miles southwest of Tokyo, Tuesday. The attack, previously reported, set fires visible 20 miles at sea.

American Mustangs from Iwo Jima hit the Nagoya-Kobe industrial area yesterday in the wake of the pre-dawn Superfortress assault—mightiest bomber assault in history—which turned four enemy cities in mammoth bonfires.

Texas Demos Tell O'Daniel Mourner's Bench Is Waiting

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Aug. 2.—Texas Democrats today served notice on Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel he would be welcomed as a loyal Democrat at their delayed Jefferson day dinner here August 18 if he will sit on the mourner's bench first.

Sponsors of the dinner said that members of the Texas Regular party who split away from the Democrats in an anti-fourth term fight last summer, and who dissolved their party today, would be taken back in the fold if they were willing to get in line again.

Connally To Speak

The principal speaker for the dinner will be Texas' senior senator, Tom Connally of Marlin. But dinner co-chairmen Tom Miller and Ed Clark of Austin, said that if Sen. O'Daniel wants to attend and be introduced as a loyal Democrat, it will be only "if he occupies the mourner's bench."

National Committeeman Myron Blalock of Marshall, at a press conference at which plans for the dinner were announced, said he felt O'Daniel had "betrayed the party which nominated him."

O'Daniel campaigned against Roosevelt in Texas prior to the November election on invitation of the Texas Regulars, arousing the ire of the Texas Democratic organization which gained control of the party on the Roosevelt issue.

It was in questining sponsors of the Jefferson day dinner as to what possible reception might await the former Regulers that Miller, Clark and Blalock stated their positions in regard to Texas' junior senator.

"The Democratic party has always been big enough and broad enough and strong enough to hold in its membership various minority factions—liberals and conservatives, the laboring man and the

Contempt Ruling Set For Today

CORPUS CHRISTI, Aug. 2. (AP)—Counsel waived argument today at contempt of court hearing against three Corpus Christi newspaper and court recessed awaiting a decision which County Judge Joe D. Browning said he would render at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Caller Times Publisher Conway Craig, Managing Editor Bob McCracken, and Reporter Tom Mulvany, were summoned to the hearing, which began Tuesday, to answer allegations in Judge Browning's citation holding them in contempt and sentencing them to three days in jail.

The judge's allegations in his citation were based on newspaper reports of a trial before him in May.

Plans Of Defense

Marcellus Eckhardt, attorney for the newspapermen, was perfecting plans to leave for Austin immediately if the trio is sent to jail. He said he would attempt to obtain their freedom on a writ of habeas corpus from the Court of Criminal Appeals in the state capital.

"Such action would then permit a review of the case by the high court," Eckhardt said.

The Caller Times has said it would press the case to the Supreme court if necessary.

Testimony about two resolutions on which newspaper stories in the Caller Times were based went into the record today from witnesses called by the prosecution.

The Caller Times has presented no witnesses. Craig, McCracken and Mulvany, who testified yesterday, waived their constitutional immunity as defendants and were called by the prosecution.

Over 166,000 Yanks Clear Assembly Area

PARIS, Aug. 2. (AP)—The assembly area command announced today that more than 166,000 American soldiers moved through its 17 camps between June 15 and July 31. At the end of July more than 164,000 men were being processed in the camps.

OIL WORKER KILLED

TERRELL, Aug. 2. (AP)—John Wimbley, 60, oil well worker, was fatally injured in an accident at an oil well near Edgewood today. He died at a local hospital. The body will be sent to Longview for burial.

F-O Jumbo Webster Missing In Action

Flight Officer Walter E. (Jumbo) Webster, 24, son of Mrs. C. E. Webster of 2204 Ninth, has been missing in action since July 27, according to a War department telegram received Wednesday night by his mother.

WEBSTER

F/O Webster, a pilot of the Air Transport command in the China - Burma - India theater at the time of his disappearance, was a backfield star of the Lubbock high football teams in 1936, '37 and '38. After graduating from Lubbock High school he attended Texas Tech for three years, and continued his gridiron career.

During 1943 Webster was a civilian flying instructor at the Fort Stockton primary training base for Army pilots, and in February, 1944, entered the Army Air forces. Before going overseas in February of this year, he was stationed in Maryland as an Army ferry pilot.

His wife, the former Mary Elizabeth Bowden of Fabens, Tex., is expected here today.

Nude Body Of Girl Is Found

DRACUT, Mass., Aug. 2. (AP)—Identification of a girl whose partly buried, nude and nearly skeletonized body was found yesterday by berry pickers, tonight apparently hinged on where the well worn wedgies, her only bit of apparel, and a heart-shaped locket found near the body were purchased.

That locket, containing a picture of a plump baby's face bearing arm air cadet wings could, jewelry manufacturers said, have been bought at any Army post exchange.

The shoes, police said, were made in Manchester, N. H., part of a lot of 12 cases, each containing 36 pairs.

Shoes Shipped To South

With the exception of one pair, the shoes were shipped to retailers in eight southern cities, including Austin and McAllen, Tex.

The single pair, investigators added, apparently was sold at the New Hampshire factory.

Police said if the shoes and the locket had been purchased in the same general area that would point either to Austin, Tex., or Manchester, N. H. They are the only cities where the shoes were sent which are near Army training fields, the police said.

The body was four feet 11 inches tall and was thought by police to be that of a girl about 20 years old weighing approximately 110 pounds.

Big 3 Strangle Hold Clamped On Germany

Versailles Is Child's Play

By LOUIS P. LOSHNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, Friday, Aug. 3.—President Truman, Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Attlee after conferences lasting over a period of 17 days submitted to the world a report on their agreements wherefrom it appears:

1. The conditions imposed on defeated Germany make the Versailles treaty look like child's play.

2. The Big Three intend firmly to hold the world's fate in their hands as final arbiters.

Soviet Dominant

3. Soviet Russia emerges as the dominating power in Europe.

4. Soviet Russia, in control of Koenigsberg and former German Baltic regions east of that city, has enormously improved her position as a maritime power.

5. The Western Allies' was in the Pacific received the endorsement of Premier Stalin, in that the Russian leader agreed that Italy should be rewarded by an early peace treaty for joining the war against Japan.

6. Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland will be back on a peace basis long before Germany can hope for such status.

To Pay For Folly

Germany will pay for her folly in unloosing the second world war. The end of the first war left Germany industry and shipping—two of her greatest economic assets—intact. The Versailles treaty also permitted the development of her civil aviation on a big scale.

The Potsdam conference agreement breaks up German cartels and trusts, puts an end to all German industry potentially serviceable to or convertable into war production, eliminates such world competition in shipping as the Hamburg lines and prohibits all German aviation of any kind.

Great Exports Banned

Potsdam flatly tells the Germans to concentrate on agriculture and peaceful domestic industries, thus shattering any hopes they may have that Germany again will become a great exporting nation with interests throughout the world.

Territorially, Germany loses not only all she gained by brow-beating negotiations of Adolf Hitler—such as Austria and the Suderland—or by conquest—such as Alsace-Lorraine and Poland—but she must write off some of the most valuable regions of Germany proper—such as Silesia, East Prussia and large sections of Pomerania. And the age-long dream of German colonies must be buried forever.

Germany No Threat

Stalin can return to Moscow well satisfied with the results. Germany cannot possibly be a threat again to Russia's security. Russia virtually controls Poland, both through having her dependent upon the big Russian brother for reparations and through Poland's friendly government.

By the wording of the Potsdam agreement the United States and Britain virtually acknowledged disinterestedness in Bulgaria, Finland, Hungary and Romania except that their press representatives are assured full freedom of movement to report in these countries.

Truman Starts Home After Visiting King

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN, Aboard Cruiser 'Augusta, Aug. 2—Obviously in high spirits, President Truman started home aboard this famous warship today after concluding the Big Three conference and holding a 20-minute luncheon conference with King George VI of England.

The talk with the British monarch was held aboard H. M. S. ship Renown off the war-scarred port of Plymouth, England, as the world prepared to receive a communique on the historic Big Three sessions at Potsdam.

The President had flown to England from Potsdam aboard the famous C-54, "The Sacred Cow."

Accompanied by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and Admiral William D. Leahy, his chief of staff, he drove to the Plymouth area to the cheers of English crowds who spotted the distinguished guests.

The greeting, "Good Ol' Harry" from a simple countryman, shouted from the roadside, warmed his heart.

A bright green barge flying the presidential flag carried the President, Byrnes and Leahy out to the Renown. As they went aboard the Renown, the shrill sound of piping was followed by the Star Spangled Banner played by Royal Marines.

The King, who had been waiting at the rail with the Earl of Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, shook hands and chatted with the President on the quarterdeck. Later, after inspection of the guard of honor, they adjourned to the admiral's quarers for further talk and lunch.

It was the first meeting in Britain between an American President and a British monarch since President Wilson's visit after the first World war.

Policy In Reich Dooms Naziism, Promises Regenerated Germany

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (AP) — The Big Three today laid down a policy towards the Reich which promises a fair future for a regenerated Germany and simultaneously dooms remaining vestiges of Nazism and militarism.

In the long portion of their communique devoted to Germany policy, Prime Minister Attlee, Marshal Stalin and President Truman defined beginnings of a new political life in the Reich.

At present, they said, Germans shall not form a central government of their own, leaving the Allied Control council as supreme authority. However, the door was opened for German local administration, political parties, trade unions and free press discussion.

Standard Of Living

Economically, the Big Three said Germany was to have a standard of living "not exceeding" other European countries—that is, not necessarily less.

The Big Three made no mention of a future possibility of dividing Germany into separate states, apparently leaving the Reich integral with the exception of eastern lands transferred to Poland and Russia and other frontier changes at "the forthcoming peace settlement."

All German war potential is to be suppressed or destroyed, with careful surveillance of imports, exports and production to see that it is not rebuilt.

The Big Three told the German people that steps are to be taken to encourage their self-sustenance, they were informed they must rely on themselves for their livelihood.

Here Are Main Points

Here are the main points of German treatment set forth by the Potsdam conference:

1. German militarism and Nazism will be extirpated and the Allies will take in agreement together, now and in the future, the other measures necessary to assure that Germany never again will threaten her neighbor or the peace of the world.

2. It is not the intention of the Allies to destroy or enslave the German people. Germans are to prepare themselves for a peaceful, democratic life, and if they do this, "it will be possible for them in due course to take their place among the free and peaceful peoples of the world.

3. So far as is practicable," treatment in the British, American, Russian and French occupation zones in Germany shall be uniform.

4. All German military organizations, Nazi corps, war production are to be eliminated.

5. Germans must be convinced that they cannot escape responsibility for what has befallen them and that "they have suffered a total military defeat."

6. All Nazi discriminations are to be abolished.

7. War criminals are to be brought to justice.

8. All Nazis are to be removed from public life and positions of importance.

Controlled Education

9. German education is to be controlled so as to erase Nazi influence and veer towards democracy.

10. German courts are to be based on democratic principles.

11. German government — for the time being, representative government is to be encouraged on the local level. "All democratic political parties with rights of assembly and of public discussion shall be allowed and encouraged throughout Germany." However, central government shall be run by the Allies.

12. Subject to military security, Germans shall be permitted "freedom of speech, press and religion, and the formation of free trade unions."

Decentralized Economy

13. German economy is to be decentralized to throw cartels and monopolies and any productive capacity unnecessary for actual permitted production shall be removed.

14. Agriculture is emphasized in the new German economy.

15. During the occupation, "Germany is to be treated as a single economic unit.

16. German research and science is to be controlled along with economic activities.

17. Germans will be required to run their own economy and "any breakdown in these controls will rest with themselves."

Solon Doubtful On Some Points

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP) — Democratic legislators generally applauded the Potsdam declaration tonight but Senator Taft (R-Ohio) asserted the agreement for a provisional westward shift of the Polish boundary "sows the seeds of future war."

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee told reporters that "as a whole" the Big Three understandings on the handling of European affairs met with his approval.

But Taft told reporters it appears to him that by the terms of the settlements "Stalin gets everything he wishes to obtain and has not definitely surrendered any position he has taken in the past."

Wheeler Is Pleased

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) said he was pleased that Allied newspapermen were promised freedom to report events in eastern Europe but was sorry that nothing was said about Yugoslavia.

The Big Three said today they agreed at Berlin to strip away all except military restrictions on free speech, press, religion and trade union activities in Germany.

Their specific decision on this point as one of the political principles for unifying control for occupation zones said:

"Subject to the necessity for maintaining military security, freedom of speech, press and religion shall be permitted, and religious institution shall be respected. Subject likewise to the maintenance of security, the formation of free trade unions shall be permitted.

Reparations Plan Drawn

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 — The Big Three tonight set up the mechanism for great powers to write the peace of stricken Europe and extract reparations from a guilty Germany forced to devote its energies to agriculture and peaceful industry.

But on the great question in the minds of people the world over—will Russia help smash Japan?—a 6,000-word communique on the Potsdam conference was silent.

One Sentence For Japs

It concluded, however, with a single, succinct sentence which may be expected to receive uneasy scrutiny from Japan's warlords:

"During the conference there were meetings between the chiefs of staff of the three governments on military matters of common interest."

Issued simultaneously in London, Moscow and Washington, the communique was approved by Prime Minister Attlee, Premier Stalin and President Truman.

Specific Decisions

Specifically, they:

1. Established a permanent council of foreign ministers of the three powers and those of France and China. The council was assigned to "continue the necessary work for the peace settlements."

2. Promised that the writing of a peace treaty with Italy shall be the first task of the council; after the treaty is concluded the Big Three will seek to get [illegible] into the United Nations.

3. Blackballed France [illegible] from membership in the United Nations because its government was founded with Axis support and because of its "close association with the aggressor states."

4. Spelled out in detail the political and economic plans for Germany.

5. Agreed on how reparations are to be extracted from the shattered nation.

Polish Boundaries

6. Assigned temporary western boundaries to Poland, with a final determination to await the writing of peace terms.

7. Reaffirmed their purpose of bringing war criminals to "swift and sure justice."

8. Decided that peace treaties with Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland shall be concluded after the one with Italy.

9. Offered to all these, and to

War Crime List Promised Soon

LONDON, Aug. 2. (AP)—The Big Three promised tonight to publish before September 1 the long-awaited list of major war criminals.

President Truman, Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Attlee, in a communique issued after the Potsdam conference, "reaffirmed their intention to bring these criminals to swift and sure justice."

Representatives of the United States, Britain, Russia and France have been meeting in London nearly four weeks in an effort to reach an agreement on procedure for the trials.

The Big Three hope, the communique said, "that the negotiations in London will result in a speedy agreement being reached for this purpose and they regard it as a matter of great importance that the trial of these major criminals should begin at the earliest possible date."

Major Criminals

Tonight's communique made clear that criminals tried under the four-power setup would be major criminals whose crimes have no geographical localization.

The document said that the Moscow declaration of 1943 would be followed for the others. The three powers then agreed that German officers and men, and members of the Nazi party who have had any connection with atrocities and executions in countries overrun by German forces would be taken back to those countries to be charged and punished according to the laws of those countries.

New C. O. Assumes Command At SPAAF

Col. Lewis S. Webster has assumed command of South Plains Army Air field, succeeding Lt. Col. Q. Q. Rankin, it was announced late yesterday.

Colonel Rankin, who had not received his new orders Thursday, will remain here until such time as he is reassigned. He has commanded SPAAF for the past six months, taking over shortly after the activation of the station as a storage depot for airplanes.

Capt. P. J. Abbott, SPAAF's public relations officer, said Colonel Webster flew in shortly after noon Thursday from Tinker Field, Oklahoma City, depot headquarters. The captain said full details regarding the shift in commands would become available Friday.

Red Disobeys, Dies But Marines Saved

By T/SGT. MURRAY LEWIS
Marine Corps Combat Correspondent

OKINAWA, (Delayed).—Red, a Marine corps war dog, is dead, because he didn't follow training rules. But the Marines whose lives he saved will tell you that it was not a question of his forgetting the rules Red knew what he was doing.

Red, a big Doberman, was a scout dog and hed been taught to freeze when he flushed Japs. The other night he went along with a patrol to an island off Okinawa. Shortly after the Marines landed they were pinned down by a machine gun. Its first long burst wounded 12 men.

With his master and a small unit of sharpshooters, Red was sent to locate the gun. They were on a wooded road, Red in the lead. A shot rang out. His wounded master dropped.

"Then he did what we taught him not to do," said Marine Sgt. Alfred Allen, of Pocatello, Idaho. "Instead of holding the freeze he took one big bound over a hedge and landed right in the middle of the machine gun nest."

There was a mad scramble with the Japanese screaming and grunting—and Red snarling and thrashing around like an infuriated tiger. The Marine patrol dashed forward and a burst from an automatic rifle put an end to four Japanese. The Marines gently moved Red from the machine gun nest. But they found it difficult to extract one Japanese hand from between Red's clenched teeth.

The Woman's Angle

By JEANE ENGLE
(Pinch-hitting for Margaret Turner, now on vacation.)

AT a Christmas in July luncheon recently in New York attended by key men and women of the press, magazine industry, advertising, radio, publicity and post office, plans were laid for the overseas mail early campaign. In a few weeks now the public will be deluged with slogans, publicity, pictures and general ballyhoo on why and how to mail packages to GI Joe Sept. 15 to Oct. 15. We are going to beat the publicity guys to the draw this year; Mail bags are bounced around, stacked deep in steaming holes, left in the rain and otherwise generally manhandled. So, a couple of months will spoil your gift, pack it accordingly. Or else drink it yourself!

FOOD for Thought: Prisoners of war returning to this county have said food was uppermost in their minds while in prison. They spent hours dreaming of ice cream, apple pie, thick steaks and other goodies that give yum-yummy to life in the United States. Civilians are beginning to realize this summer how tantalizing such dreams can be. We too dream of the day when beef steaks, roasts and the like return to our tables. Business employes eating downtown these days have a little extra dreaming to do. They think of the day when they ca nenjoy an appetizing lunch in a clean, quiet place and return to their desks not feeling as though they can enjoy an appetizing lunch ment fire sale or a World War II skirmish. And still the soldiers chant, "I wish I could join the millions of civilians."

MILITARY TRAINING?

Do you think women of America will be interested in postwar military training similar to that proposed for the men of our country? That's a subject for much controversy in the days to come. Advocates claim the girls will learn a vocation; will have their health improved; will benefit from a period of military discipline and democratic community living.

The answer to military training might be found in the answer to why women chose to join the WAVES, the SPARS and the WACS in the first place. Some, no boubt, were patriotic and wanted to serve their country. But the majority were bored with hometown life. They saw an opportunity to get around. All the eligible men were in the service, so why not join up, see the country and snare a man at the same time? Such will not be the case in peace times . . . the girls will be busy going to college, entering campus life, enjoying the normal association with boys. So, why should they go in for a year's military training when adventure and romance are not in the offing?

SECOND chapter in the Beerhairdo: Several days ago there appeared in this column a suggestion about beer making an excellent rinse for the hair. It seems that an airline hostess has tried it and is pleased with the results. She says to dip the curls in the beer, and wait for them to dry. Then you have an all-weather hairdo, rain or shine. If such a rinse becomes popular you can expect to hear and see something like this any day: "Mary, where are you going?" "To the beauty shop of course," Mary replies as she cheerfully waves good-bye with her husband's last bottle of beer. Beauty shop signs may read: "Bring your own beer, we'll glamorize you here," or "Can-do, Beerdos!"

Two Federal Charges Echo Robbing Attempt

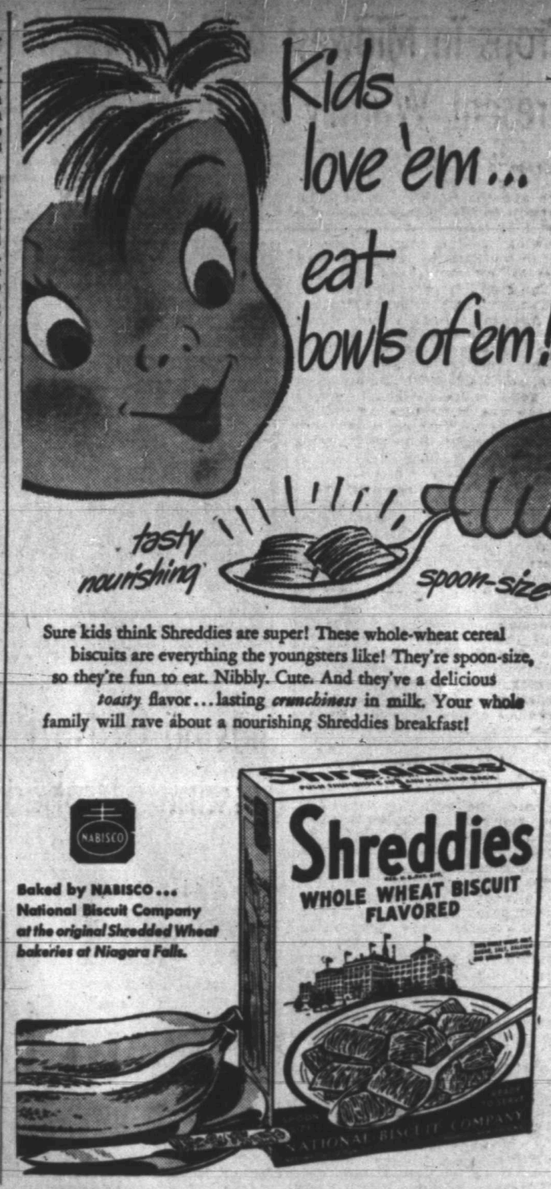

DALLAS, Aug. 2. (AP)—In an attempt to hijack a tavern operator out of a glass of beer with a sawed-off double-barrel shotgun resulted today in the filing of two federal charges against a Dallas paint contractor.

Complaints alleging violation of the national firearms act and theft from the United States mail were filed against a 36-year-old man and accepted by United States Commissioner John Davis.

The accused plead guilty to the firearms charge but not guilty to the theft from the mails complaint, and was being held in lieu of bonds totaling $1,500. The man admitted he had been drinking.

Crops In Midwest And Far West Present Warmly Fertile Picture

(By The Associated Press)

Crops in the broad belt of America lying between the Appalachians and the Rockies presented a warmly fertile picture today—the result of farmers' work and good growing weather during July — but in the East the prospects were overcast by clouds and humidity.

The Far West also shared in the midwestern agricultural optimism, an Associated Press survey showed. California still expected to ship one-tenth of the nation's food supply, the rail situation permitting, while Oregon reported crops in good shape, although spring wheat was hurt some by drouth. The eastern Washington-northern Idaho triangle likewise reported some drouth damage.

Machinery Whirs On

However, farm machinery whirred and rumbled across the great plains, the rich Mississippi valley and on east and in the south. Only east of the Appalachian chain were farmers faced with lower yields from some of their crops.

There were frequent and widespread showers in Florida, with especially heavy falls along the gulf coast. Temperatures—in the low 90's and 80's, maximum and minimum—were near seasonal averages, and the outcome was beneficial to crops delayed by a previous drouth. The only setback was that rain increased boll weevil activity in cotton.

Midwest Situation

The situation in the Midwest area:

Corn, the broad-leaved, succulent staple of the midwest, was in good condition at the end of July following an unfavorable spring—but needed a hot August and a late frost to attain bumper proportions.

Colorado, however, reported moisture as badly needed in most of the state, while New Mexico had only a temporary respite in midmonth from a state-wide drouth. In the latter state much grain was being abandoned as lost, with the wheat yield estimated at 1,808,000 bushels, one-half normal output.

Cattle Ranges Dry

Ranges for cattle were reported as drying from Texas through Colorado, Oklahoma and north, but rains were general enough to prevent any severe damage. Recent hot weather speeded up the Nebraska corn crop and favored the harvest of the all-time record Nebraska winter wheat crop. Similar weather in Kansas enabled farmers to complete an excellent wheat harvest.

Far west—

California reported excellent weather after a prolonged cold spring had delayed all crops. Current indications were for record rice harvests and good yields of late field, orchard and truck crops.

Vet Recalls His Wild B-29 Upset

TEMPLE, Aug. 2 (AP)—Lt. Walter D. Lloyd, Austin, Texas, rode his B-29, Dragon Lady, into the Pacific just 200 miles south of his blazing target.

Lloyd told his story from his hospital bed at McCloskey General hospital here.

With a roaring fire in the after fuselage of the big ship and their tail-gunner dead, the crew decided to ditch their ship after fighting the flak-started flames two hours after being hit. "It was my 29th mission and the 'Lady's' 13th mission . . . The old girl just couldn't shake that hex."

Battered Yokohama

"We fire-bombed Yokohamo off the map that day. We struck from low level with good visibility, and there just weren't any misses.

"When our pilot finally hit the ocean our plane broke into pieces and two of our crew were never seen again. Earlier our tail-gunner had died from burns."

"We were just 200 miles south of our target and about 20 miles from a Jap-held island, but in about an hour an Army PBY landed to pick up me and the other survivors. There were nine of us. And when the big PBY tried to take off, the load was too much and we crashed again. This time the PBY pilot was killed.

"That left about 14 of us in the water with no place to go, but in about two hours a big submarine came out of the water right by us and took us aboard. It sure was a welcome sight.

Took 29 Into Port

"When we finally reached land, the sub had 29 men aboard she had picked out of the Pacific. But it was before we landed that we got another thrill. Just after we were picked up, two Jap Betty bombers came over, and we submerged."

Flying out the Marshalls on his last flights over Japan and China, Lloyd also had praise for the Marines who took Iwo Jima. "I'd be twice dead, or rescued three times, if it weren't for Iwo," he said.

"We landed on Iwo twice, once when we were short of gas coming back from a night raid on Tokyo and once from engine trouble when we were returning from a daylight raid on Nagoya. Iwo's certainly paid off."

Slaying Of Nazi Prisoners Probed

OVID, Colo., Aug. 2. (U.P.) — A military investigation was underway today in the slaying of three Nazi prisoners of war by their American soldier guard as they worked in a potato patch.

Officers at nearby Camp Carson, Colo., prisoner of war internment center of which the Ovid camp is a branch, said Purple Heart Wearer Pvt. Harold W. Garland, Columbus, Ind., shot the man yesterday when, he reported, they threatened to "rush" him.

Fired Unerringly

Garland, wounded in the North African campaign, was guarding a group of 15 German prisoners as they weeded potatoes. He reportedly fired with unerring accuracy, despite a crippling arm wound, killing the prisoners instantly.

The victims were identified as Cpls. Helmut Pfifferling and Anton Nauner, and Pvt. Hugo Quaas. They were among approximately 100 German war prisoners engaged in farm work in this area.

Others Look On

The shooting occured, the Camp Carson public relations office said, on the secluded farm of Hulbert Richiel, jr., as other members of th detail looked on. Garland was quoted as explaining:

"The prisoners made threatening remarks to me before I fired. I fired my carbine at them when it looked like they were going to rush me."

Capt. Gordon Randolph, Camp Carson public relations officer, said Garland probably would be held in military custody pending an Army court martial. Randolph pointed out, however, that the Indian soldier had a "good" Army record and was a veteran military policeman.

Two-Year Fight For Life Ends Thursday

DALHART, Aug. 2. (AP)—A two-year fight for life which began when he was wounded in action in Italy has ended for Elmer Metz, 26, plucky Panhandle paratrooper, who will be laid to rest here today.

Young Metz, a private first class, made a combat jump between German and American lines during the Italian invasion in October, 1943. He was wounded seven times. Other members of his combat team were killed.

For six days he hid in a small ditch without food or water before being evacuated to a hospital by British medical corpsmen.

Metz was returned to this country and underwent a dozen surgical operations, while doctors puzzled over the fact that he lived.

Paralyzed from the waist down, he was discharged a year ago and moved from an Army hospital in Memphis Tenn., to the veterans' hospital here.

Monday he died.

Survivors include a brother, Ernest, a sergeant at the Abilene Air Field and a veteran of Pacific action.

Mae Wests Being Used In Burma Territory

CALCUTTA, Aug. 2. (AP)—Monsoon rains in the lower Cittang river bend area of Burma have forced British and Empire infantry troops to wear Mae West life preservers when crossing normally calm and narrow streams which have been flooded into turbulent rivers of mud, men back from the front said today.

A new system has been worked out whereby front line troops earn one day's rest in relatively dry quarters behind the lines after three days' fighting through shoulder deep mud.

The three-day combat limit was ordered because of the danger of foot rot.

Good manners in automobile driving are being tested in the Franklin Institute Museum in Philadelphia through the medium of presenting the tested driver with seven mock driving situations that demand politeness in handling.

Writ Is Granted In Ricketts Case

Judge G. V. Pardue of 99th district court Thursday afternoon granted a writ of habeas corpus, returnable to the court of criminal appeals at Austin, on application of J. F. Ricketts that although his son Jack Ricketts had been convicted of burglary in the district court of King county, Texas, on March 6, 1944, and had taken no appeal from a five-year sentence, young Ricketts was insane at the time and, therefore, the conviction was illegal.

The proceeding was had under an amendment to the habeas corpus law, passed in 1943, whereby one "after conviction" "may" apply to any district judge for a writ of habeas corpus, returnable to the court of criminal appeals. The act authorizes the court of criminal appeals to designate any district judge to ascertain additional facts, if the facts have been insufficiently developed at the original hearing.

Application for the writ was filed July 20 by Ben Kucera, Lubbock attorney.

Burks Plea Filed

District Attorney Burton S. Burks filed a plea that the notice of the hearing should have been served on the district attorney of King county, rather than upon himself; that the plea should be denied because it would in effect collaterally attack the judgment of another district court of equal jurisdiction; that the amended act was unconstitutional because of a defect in the title of the act; that it would permit the court of criminal appeals to "delegate" its fact-finding authority; that it was in conflict with other unrepealed sections of the code of criminal procedure; and that it would permit the introduction of evidence against the accused in his absence, in violation of the state constitution.

These pleas were overruled.

Judge Pardue, in granting the writ, stated that he had grave doubts of the constitutionality of the act, but was granting the writ in order that the appellate court might pass upon the entire act.

Bexar Cotton Acreage Smallest In 60 Years

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 2. (AP) — Acreage planted to cotton in Bexar county is the smallest in 60 years, County Agent H. A. Fitzhugh revealed today when he announced the first bale of the 1945 crop produced in the county was ginned at Jourdanton Saturday.

Fitzhugh said only 4000 to 5000 acres are in cotton in the county this season.

Reconversion Plans For Industry Made

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (U.P.)—War Mobilization Director John W. Snyder today announced the creation of an inter-agency committee to develop and coordinate plans for the reconversion of the construction industry.

He appointed Hugh Potter, president of the River Oaks corp., Houston, Tex., and past president of the National Association of Real Estate boards, as construction coordinator to head the new committee.

Editor Offers Farm Program

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP)—W. R. Ronald, editor of the Mitchell (S. D.) Daily Republic, proposed today what he termed a "self-financing peacetime farm program" designed to bring at least parity prices to farmers.

Invited by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson to confer with the Agriculture department reorganization committee, Ronald said his plan should add "from 15 to 25 billion dollars to the national income."

Here Are Main Features

Main features include:

1. Change the name of the Agricultural Adjustment agency (AAA) to the National Conservation association (NCA).

2. Farmers to provide a conservation fund themselves by means of an excise tax of possibly 25 per cent of the price of the first sale of their products.

3. The tax would be paid back to the farmers, according to the degree of their adherence to conservation practices. Those rating 100 per cent on conservation would receive all their tax back, with premiums (these to be paid by the government) paid to those with higher ratings.

Loans At Full Parity

4. Loans on any crops would be available at full parity prices. These would be handled through banks with the government guaranteeing them.

5. Maximum acreages for each crop would be announced yearly by the secretary of agriculture "to provide an abundance of food stuffs of all kinds." This acreage would be allocated by the farmers themselves through the NCA.

Ronald said the plan, if agreed upon, would go into effect only when a specified minimum of possibly 75 or 80 per cent of the farmers had become members.

Hawaiian pineapples are grown on every island of the Hawaiian group except Hawaii.

Pumped-Up Yamashita 'Runs Out' On Troops And They Dislike It

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2. — Watch carefully what gives with Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, the Japanese commander in the Philippines who is believed trapped in the northern Luzon mountains.

Russell Brines of the Associated Press reports from Manila that captured Japanese say Yamashita still throws his weight around and lives high while his dwindling troops starve and murmur among themselves of giving up.

Brines Knows His Japs

I am inclined to believe this story the Japanese are telling because Russ Brines knows his Japanese.

But another correspondent, just back from Manila, tells me there's a possibility that Yamashita, the burly, brutal conqueror of Singapore, is no longer in the Philippines at all.

Japanese prisoners might generally tell the yarn about Yamashita's still being around out of a spontaneous impulse to conceal their embarrassment which the flight of their commander and hero might cause them.

Typifies Jap Military

What Yamashita does will be interesting because he typifies in many ways the Japanese military man.

He is now around 60. Educated in Germany, he was a stupid-looking plodder until the fortunes of war made him a national hero.

He was in the plodding stage when I met him in 1937, in North China. He received our little party of correspondents and an American military attache in his undershirt. He was a giant of a Japanese—around 6 feet tall.

He had little to say, but it was plain he fancied himself for his size.

His troops committed some of the first atrocities in the North China campaign, and he never even investigated.

Blown Up Into Hero

The Japanese blew him up into a hero. They named him "The Tiger" for his humbling of the British, but "The Ox" would have been more fitting as I recall him.

He was chosen to direct the Japanese defense of the Philippines, and after boasting he would demand unconditional surrender from General MacArthur was consistently outwitted.

If he is still on Luzon, it is only a matter of time until he's back down to his undershirt, and this time it will be of necessity and not in a crude effort to insult visiting Americans.

Majority Opposes Pensioning Of U. S. Presidents

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—One thing to which the American public seems never to have accustomed itself is paying high salaries to elected government officials.

GALLUP

Time and again public opinion polls have found the majority of citizens opposed to pay increases in government. When Congress several years ago proposed a pension for its members, public opposition was outspoken. And although most students of government agree that higher salaries for Congressmen are warranted, the majority of people continue to resist current proposals for lifting Congressional pay after the war.

The latest example of how people feel about remunerating public officials is shown in the public's reaction to the proposal made by Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, Republican leader in the House, that Presidents of the United States be given a $25,000-a-year pension after leaving office.

Majority Is Adamant

The majority of voters questioned by field reporters for the Institute were against the Martin proposal, mainly on the grounds that Presidents are paid enough as it is. Even those who favor the presidential pension idea think of it in cautious terms financially, giving as one of their reasons for approval, "Presidents seldom live long after retiring, so a pension wouldn't cost the country very much."

Opinion was sounded on this question:

"Would you approve or disapprove of the government giving $25,000 a year to a United States President for the rest of his life after he leaves office?"

The vote:

Approve	26%
Disapprove	64
No Opinion	10

Opinion does not divide along party lines, for about the same proportion of Republican voters as Democratic voters oppose the plan. There is some difference of sentiment according to occupation, however, with business and professional people most in favor of the idea and farmers most opposed.

Subsidy Payments On Vegetables Are Same

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP) — Subsidy payments to canners for peas, sweet corn and tomato juice under the 1945 canned vegetable subsidy program will be the same as for the 1944 program.

This was announced today in a joint statement by the Department of Agriculture and the Office of Price Administration.

Rates of subsidy payments for canned peas, sweet corn and tomato juice for sales between May 1, 1945 and June 30, 1946 per dozen cans will be:

Green peas, 20 cents; sweet corn, eight cents; tomato juice, six cents.

As previously announced, the subsidy rate for canned tomatoes will be increased six cents per dozen to 18 cents for number two cans.

American Way Of Life Said Threatened By Grade-Labeling

TULSA Aug. 2. (U.P.)—Rep. Lyle H. Boren, (D-Okla), said today that the "American way of business" was threatened by proposals for grade-labeling of products.

Here for an address to the Tulsa Advertising club, Boren — chairman of the House Committee on Brand Names and Newsprint — declared that grade-labeling would remove incentive to improve manufactured products.

He charged the major support for the proposal was "coming in from outside the nation," and expressed belief that the question was "Communism versus Democracy."

Boren said the labeling idea would not be successful if applied to many products "since you can't grade style, design and beauty."

"There would be no initiative for a man to put out a better product if he has already reached grade one," the congressman asserted, "because he couldn't make it any better."

Boren predicted the nation's newsprint supply would increase gradually until it reaches the prewar level some time next year. He pointed out that most shipments to Europe have halted, and that imports from Canada were growing.

A new rubber made from sand, incorporating the use of silicon, the main component of sand and glass, is being used for specialized military purposes and may be used for automobile tires after the war.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

'Big Three' Praise Churchill For Work

LONDON, Aug. 2 (AP)—The Big Three messaged Winston Churchill today that "the whole world knows the greatness of his work, and it will never be forgotten."

The message:

"President Truman, Generalissimo Stalin and Prime Minister Attlee, assembled at the final session of the Berlin conference, desire to send a message of greetings to Mr. Winston Churchill. They wish to thank him for all his work in the first part of the Berlin conference, which helped greatly to lay the foundations of its successful conclusion.

"They remember with gratitude the untiring efforts and the unconquerable spirit with which at earlier conferences and throughout the war he served our common cause of victory and enduring peace. The whole world knows the greatness of his work, and it will never be forgotten."

Democratic Germans Get Chance To Speak

BERLIN, Aug. 2 (AP) — Brig. Gen. Robert A. McClure, chief of information control in the American occupation zone, said today his organization hoped to "make available to pro-democratic forces without Germany all possible facilities for making themselves heard."

McClure said the American information control program was reaching, in some instances, a phase calling for gradual turning over of various information instruments by means of licenses to carefully selected Germans.

Army Sticks To Guns On Numbers Despite Criticism From Solons

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (U.P.) — The Army today stuck to its determination — despite congressional criticism of its manpower policy —to maintain its strength at nearly 7,000,000 men and women for the Japanese war.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson said at a new conference that the critical score and individual computations under the point discharge system would be revised somewhat, primarily to make more Pacific war veterans eligible for release.

Will Protect Fighters

But he replied to critics of the War department with the declaration that "we shall not let any man go whose going jeopardizes the life of the men who remain to fight."

The point score revisions forecast by Stimson will not take place until early next year. They will not affect the final size of the Army nor the overall number of men and women to be discharged within 12 months after V-E day.

Meanwhile, Stimson revealed, Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson is studying with War Mobilization Director John W. Snyder the feasibility of releasing coal miners from the Army to boost production of critically needed fuel.

Figures Are Cited

Under the present point system, and under the proposed revisions, a total of 1,500,000 men and women will have been discharged by next June 1, Stimson said.

An additional 500,000 will have been released for illness and other reasons not connected with the point plan, making the total 2,000,000. This is the overall figure announced last May when the point system was promulgated. At that time, however, it was thought 1,300,000 would be released on points and 700,000 for other reasons.

New inductions, meanwhile, will maintain the Army's strength for the Pacific war at the 6,968,000 figure stated last May.

The critical score under which enlisted personnel become eligible for discharge will stand at 85 points, accumulated as of May 12, until 800,000 persons presently eligible have been released, Stimson said.

Change Due Next Year

Subsequently — "early next year"—the critical score will be changed and the system of individual computations alreed to include points earned since May 12.

This will make possible the discharge of an additional 700,000, a substantial number of whom, Stimson said, "will be men now in the active Pacific area."

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson, D., Colo., accused the War department in a Senate speech yesterday of "blind and stupid and criminal" conduct in its discharge policy. He said the Army was keeping too many men. Other congressmen endorsed his remarks. Meanwhile, there have been mounting demands that the Army release skilled men urgently needed in such industries as mining and railroading.

Would Wreck System

Patterson previously had contended that release of men needed by industry would wreck the point discharge system.

Stimson disclosed that about 235,000 soldiers already had been discharged under the point system.

He said the new point-score computations would make many soldiers in the Pacific eligible for discharge who do not now have the requisite number of points.

He said that soldiers now eligible for discharge under the 85-point score will remain so even though they still are in the Army when the new critical score is announced.

Revision Of Score

This was believed to indicate the new critical score may be more than 85 due to the additional credits which may be earned.

The WAC critical score of 44 likewise will remain unchanged for the present but will be subject to later revision. About 5,000 WACs are eligible for release under this score. Approximately 1,100 already have been discharged. Stimson estimated approximately 6,000 additional WACs will be eligible for discharge by next June.

Members of Congress threatened to take their complaints to President Truman if all else fails.

Session On Labor Problems Proposed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (AP) — Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) today proposed a conference of top spokesmen for labor, management and government to seek industrial peace.

Vandenberg submitted his plan in a letter to Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach, who endorsed it in a prompt reply.

The senator suggested that leaders of each branch of the nation's economy copy the example set at San Francisco when 50 nations "frankly faced" their problems in a "triumph of the council table."

He said he was particularly concerned that "needless strife" would impair reconversion to peace production "and permanently jeopardize the country and all its citizenship."

Schwellenbach, a former senator, told Vandenberg in his letter and in a two-hour personal conference yesterday, that he has "been thinking more and more during these last few weeks about the desirability of calling a conference of industry and labor."

Jap Envoy, Isolated In Vatican, Grabs Up Papers And Photos

By EDMUND LAURA
Associated Press Staff Writer

VATICAN CITY—The lone remnant of Axis diplomacy to the Holy See, Japanese Ambassador Ken Harada, faithful to the Nipponese tradition of taking note of everything visible, has become a rabid newspaper reader and photographer.

Four copies of every Italian newspaper available—there are 19 Roman dailies—as well as the "Stars and Stripes" and the "Union Jack," are purchased daily for Harada who reads them with the assistance of the embassy's Secretary Masahide Kanayama, and clips out items which he deems of politico-military importance, such as Superfortress raids on Tokyo. The clippings then are filed scrupulously for future reference.

Pictures Also Taken

The ambassador also intensively employes his camera and the resulting pictures of Roman scenery follow the path of the clippings into the embassy's steadily growing archives.

Harada leads a solitary life. He is the only foreign diplomat living in the Vatican, and he cannot leave Vatican City. If he did, he would be arrested immediately as an enemy subject by the Italian government or Allied MPs. His wife, who is a Catholic, regularly goes to the Church of Santa Marta, near the governor's building in the Vatican. Long walks with his wife along the paths of the Vatican gardens and occasional visits to the Vatican museums constitute the ambassador's only outdoor diversion.

Source of His Food

Food for the Japanese embassy is supplied through the administrative council of the Vatican, and delicacies such as sharks fins, hummingbirds nests and the Japanese reviver, saki, have not delighted the palate of the ambassador for a long time.

So, now while GIs go swimming in the Mediterranean, and have cool drinks in Rome's cabarets which have been transformed into service clubs, Japanese Ambassador Harada tunes into Tokyo radio and listens to the news.

Ickes Sees Cold Winter Ahead Unless Army Releases Miners; Othman Has Suggestion

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—It was one of the steamiest days in years, the whole town was mildewed, the street cars had become perambulating Swedish baths, and my favorite character — you know what he was doing? Getting hot under his blue shirt collar, talking about coal. Lack of same.

You know who I mean: Man of many tiles; the Old Curmudgeon; Honest Harold Ickes, who doesn't care whose toes he mashes (and that's why I love him.)

Should Release 30,000

Ickes dropped up to the Senate War Investigating committee to announce that America would go cold this winter unless the War department gets help and takes 30,000 coal miners out of uniform. He said he'd done his doggondest to tell the Army that its stubbornness probably would turn the populace into human icicles. He said the last time was a couple of nights ago when he spoke on the radio.

"Have you reached the point where you have to talk to the Army by radio?" inquired Sen. Homer Ferguson of Mich.

"That's the closest I can get to 'em," mumbles Honest Harold, wiping beside him was Dr. C. J. Potter, the deputy coal man, who seemed to be following his boss in his parade across the Army's bunions Sometimes Ickes would answer a question and sometimes Dr. Potter.

Sen. Harley M. Kilgore of W. Va., wondered whether the Army had any plans to let out coal miners.

"It says we can have 7,000 coal miners by next April," Dr. Potter said.

"That will be nice for warming the corpse after it has frozen to death," Sen. Kilgore suggested.

"Oh no," Dr. Potter snapped. "By April it will have been buried.

He went on to say that he'd asked Gen. Lucius Clay, while the general still was a War Manpower executive, for some coal miners.

"The answer was, move miners from the anthractie mines to the mituminous mines," Dr. Potter said. "This was so ridiculous that that's when I quit talking to the Army."

As for Ickes, there have been rumors that he's about to resign as Secretary of Interior; other reports say he will become a newspaper columnist. If he does, I know some lads who'll have to shake their stumps. He knows more big words than anybody and if he starts using 'em in the papers, ignorant fellers simply can't compete. For instance:

"I don't know what the Army's going to do," he said. "I'm no prestid . . . pres . . . (mutter-mutter) . . . prestidig . . . (more mutters) . . . prestidigitator."

There's a word for you. Ickes meant the only way he knows to dig coal is with coal miners; not magic wands.

His eyeglasses were getting steamed up by now, the top of his collar was turning a darker shade of blue and he was hot, like a down-draft boiler. Maybe there'll be some coal this winter; maybe you better start looking now for long woolies.

Only other solution is rip out your furnance and replace it with the Secretary of Interior, who breathes steam as a matter of course, but explodes only at intervals.

July Ends In Heat Wave Over Texas

AUSTIN, Aug. 2. (U.P.) — July went out in a heat wave over most of Texas, the weekly weather and crop bulletin announced here today.

Afternoon temperatures exceeded 100 degrees on one or more days of the week ended July 30 in eight of the state's 11 crop districts.

Snyder in Central West Texas and Mission in the lower Rio Grande Valley registered 105 degrees; Llano, 104; Cuero, 103; and Temple and Waxahachie 101 degrees each for one or more days.

Top rain of the week was at Waxahachie with 1.41 inches.

Corn harvest was under way in the southern half of the state. Cotton made fair to good progress. Cantaloup and watermelon harvesting was active.

Livestock and range conditions were favorable except in South Texas and in some local areas.

STATE AIDES RESIGN

AUSTIN, Aug. 2. (AP)—Resignation of Assistant Attorney Generals Benjamin Woodall and C. F. Gibson has been announced effective Aug. 15. Woodall will return to the private practice of law at Marshall, and Gibson will enter a law firm here.

Try Hot Water Plus For Acute Distress—Pain After Eating

Perhaps the greatest cause of distressing stomach upsets is excess stomach acidity.

If the thousands of unfortunate people, who suffer from so-called dyspepsia, acid indigestion, food fermentation, sour stomach, flatulence, gas or other stomach distress brought on by excess acid would drink slowly after each meal half a glass of real hot water containing one spoonful of NEUTRACID they can usually obtain almost unbelieveable relief in a very few minutes!

Water-Bath For Peaches Urged

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Peaches, like tomatoes, require only the water-bath method of canning. They are one of the easiest fruits to put up and have universal appetite appeal. One bushel of fresh peaches will yield from 16 to 24 quarts of canned peaches.

Here's the way canning specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture can peaches:

Choose ripe, fresh, firm fruit. Look beyond any pretty pink blush for the yellow or whitish yellow background color indicating ripeness. Peaches picked green have poor flavor even when ripened. Don't use any fruit with decayed spots. Although decay is cut out, bacteria may be left behind to spoil the fruit.

Wash and peel peaches, handling gently—a canner load at a time. For easy peeling, place a few at a time in a wire basket or cheesecloth, dip in boiling water a minute or so, then quickly into cold. Skin, pit, and halve or slice. To prevent darkening after peeling, drop into a solution of 1 gallon of water with 2 tablespoons salt and 2 of vinegar, then rinse and drain.

Precook peaches: If they are juicy, add sugar—½ cup to each quart of uncooked peaches. Then heat peaches to boiling and pack in their own juice.

For less juicy fruit, drop into thin to medium syrup, boiling hot, and just heat through. For moderately thin syrup use 1 cup sugar to 2 cups of either water or peach juice—made by crushing, heating and straining sound peaches too soft for canning.

To stretch canning sugar, corn syrup may replace up to 1/3 the sugar; mild-flavored honey, up to ½. If it is necessary to can without sugar, cook the fruit in its own juices, or add just enough water to keep it from sticking to the pan.

Pack hot peaches evenly into hot clean jars. Place halves in overlapping layers, pitted sides downward. Fill in with ¾ to a cup of boiling liquid, taking care to cover solid food well and leave ½-inch head space. Peaches not covered by liquid may turn dark. Air bubbles also cause the fruit to darken. So work out bubbles by running a knife blade down jar side. Add more liquid if necessary.

Adjust lids. Process 20 minutes in a boiling-water bath. Finish sealing if type of jar requires. Cool jars overnight, right side up and away from drafts.

Here's another brand new recipe perfected by outstanding home economists. It increases the amount of fruit you can put up with your allotted 15 pounds of sugar per person this year as compared to 20 pounds per person last year.

PEACHES
(20 pounds fresh, 8 quarts canned)

Thin Syrup: 6 1/3 cups water, 2/3 cup light corn syrup, 2 cups sugar.

Medium Syrup: 5¾ cups water, 1 cup light corn syrup, 3 1/3 cups sugar.

Heavy Syrup: 4 2/3 cups water, 2 1/3 cups light corn syrup, 4 cups sugar.

Prepare syrup: Put water, syrup and sugar in saucepan; bring to boiling point. Remove from heat. Use hot for packing fruit.

Prepare fruit: Select firm, ripe peaches. Slip skins. Cut in halves and remove pits. Grade contents of each jar for uniform size and ripeness.

Pack jars: Pack raw fruit immediately into hot jars, pit side down and halves overlaping. Fill jars to within ½ inch of top with hot syrup. Seal immediately according to type lid and jar. Process 20 minutes in boiling water bath. Or: Plump in boiling syrup for 1 minute if ripe, up to 5 minutes if less ripe. Pack fruit in jars. Cover with hot syrup to within ½ inch of top. Seal. Process 20 minutes in boiling water bath.

Southern Dinner For Sunday
Baked Ham Slice
Sweet Potato Boats
Corn-on-the-Cob
Whole Wheat Bread
Chilled Melon Halves with Lime Wedges

(Recipes serve four)

Sweet Potato Boats

4 large potatoes	½ teaspoon salt
1½ tablespoons butter or margarine	¼ teaspoon pepper
	1½ tablespoons milk

Wash potatoes. Bake an hour—or until very soft when lightly pressed with fingers held in a cloth. Make cuts in tops of potato and quickly scoop out pulp. Beat until soft, add rest of ingredients. Roughly refill potato cases. Place on flat pan and bake 15 minutes in moderate oven.

Corn-On-The-Cob

After the water has begun to boil in a large, deep kettle, husk corn and remove silk. Cut off top of corn and stem end. Pop into boiling water, cover and simmer three to ten minutes, or until just tender. Do not overcook. Cook just before serving. Remove from the water with tongs if possible, allow to drain and serve on a hot platter covered with a napkin. Bring the napkin up around the corn and serve immediately. Salt makes corn a little tough but some people like to add a little to the cooking water anyway.

Hard-To-Get Tuna Fish Is Tasty Treat

Tuna fish is hard to find, but if you're holding a can for a special family event, try serving it with spaghetti.

It's a sure-fire success prepared thus:

Spaghetti With Tuna Fish Sauce

8-oz. package spaghetti	1 onion, chopped
1 clove garlic	1 small can tomato paste
1 (8 oz.) can of tuna fish	2 cups water
	Salt and pepper

Drain oil from tuna fish and heat oil in a heavy skillet. Add onion and saute until a light brown. Add tomato paste. Mix well and add water. Cook down to about 2½ cups. Add tuna fish and seasonings and heat through. Meanwhile cook spaghetti for nine minutes in two quarts boiling water to which the garlic clove has been added. Drain. Discard garlic clove and add to tuna fish mixture. Mix thoroughly and serve immediately.

Fruit salad of oranges, melon slices, pears, apricots, cherries and lemon mayonnaise.

Hot Day Meals Will Look Cool With A Dainty Dish Of Fruits

Melon time gives an opportunity to give yourself a bonus of vitamin C by adding lemon juice to cantalopes, honeydews and cranshaws. Lemon juice does something for melons hard to describe. Try it.

Two-Toned Cereals

Alternate dry cereals with hot cereals and in each case mix two of the family's favorites.

Victory Garden Lettuce Salad

Chill those delicious leaves of lettuce from your own garden and serve lemon juice and a sprinkling of sugar over them. An old but ever new favorite among those who know.

Fruit Salad Marie
(Serves 6)

Two oranges, sliced; 2 pears, quartered; 6 apricots, fresh, canned or cooked dried; 2/3 cup cherries, melon balls or slices, sprinkled with lemon juice, chicory, mayonnaise.

Fill salad bowl with crisp chicory. Arrange oranges, pears, apricots, melon and cherries in groups on chicory. Serve with real mayonnaise with a little fresh lemon juice added.

For baking you can use molasses, and cane, maple and sorghum syrups as a substitute for white sugar.

In China the peach has always been associated with long life and immortality and therefore appears in many old Chinese works of art.

In cases of hiccup a teaspoon of mustard flour in a teacupful of boiling water is often effective.

KITCHEN KORNER

Moist soap will take the itch out of mosquito bites.

To retain food value, peel potatoes just before cooking.

A geranium leaf dropped in a jar before pouring in apple jelly will help flavor it.

Strawberries should be washed before, not after, huling to save the juice.

Lamb stew is improved with the addition of a teaspoon of dried marjoram.

Mackerel is tastier when cooked by baking or boiling rather than by frying, boiling or steaming.

To grease waffil irons use an unsalted fat—lard or salad oil—applied on a soft brush or piece of cloth tightly tied to a fork.

A 4-ounce serving of baked mackerel contains enough thiamine, niacin and riboflavin to contribute to daily vitamin needs.

Brassieres should be washed after each day or two of wear to make them last longer and fit better.

In cooking meat save juice by using moderate heat. Save drippings in the pan and serve with meat or in gravy.

Make Potatoes Taste Different In Salads

When homemakers cook potatoes they are pretty certain of pleasing the entire family, especially when they experiment with different ways of preparing them.

One way of varying your menus to include potatoes is by making a tempting salad. Below is a recipe that is both delicious and nutritious.

(Recipes serve four)

Potato Salad

4 medium-sized potatoes	6 olives, chopped
1 large onion, chopped fine	2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
1 tablespoon capers	¼ teaspoon celery seed
	Salt and pepper
	Mayonnaise

Boil potatoes in their jackets until tender. Cool, pool. Cut potatoes into cubes and add to them the onion, capers, olives, eggs and seasonings. Add mayonnaise in quantity to suit your taste. Do the mixing lightly so that the potatoes are not too much broken. This salad may be made in advance and stored in the refrigerator—and be all the better for it.

After baking waffles leave grids open until they have cooled to help prevent discoloration of grids.

Try trimming an old whiskbroom into a sharp V-point for cleaning hard-to-get-at corners and crevices in furniture and floors.

Ex-POW Visits Old 'Alma Mater' In Germany, Makes Hurried Exit

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Tom Hoge, 33-year-old Stars and Stripes correspondent from Bayville, N. Y., was taken prisoner by the Germans in September, 1944, when his plane was shot down while he was covering the airborne invasion of the Eindhoven-Arnhem sector. Today he went back to his former prison camp for a visit. Here is his story):

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LIMBERG, Germany, Aug. 2—I visited my old alma mater today and found things somewhat changed.

The Limberg Prison camp, where I spent the first six months of my prisoner of war life, is still doing a land office business—but now it is Germans who are behind the bars.

More than 15,000 Kraut soldiers are confined here under French guards, many of whom were prisoners in this same camp.

Germans Claw Him

Passing through the gate today into the enclosure of a squat, ugly building that I remembered only too well, I was immediately surrounded by a crowd of Germans who pawed at my clothes and tugged at my sleeve.

"When are the Americans coming back?" one former Wehrmacht member said, clutching my hair. "They used to give us meat and butter when they ran the camp. Now we only get soup—twice a day. It is not fit for a dog."

When I was there we got soup that was not fit for a pig—once a day.

Walking down the narrow roadway between the barracks I recalled that a group of us marched down that same road one day last September and because we did not salute a German officer leaning against one of the buildings, our soup ration was eliminated for two days. At the end of the road I saw a German squating over a small fire, heating a can of water.

Always Cooking

"They're always cooking something," the French guard muttered. "I guess it gives them something to do."

A British paratrooper tried that once last fall. And because he ripped out a floor board to kindle his fire our entire water supply was cut off for three days. As a result, two Americans who drank mud out of a puddle to slake their thirst nearly died of dysentery.

The interior of my old barracks had changed little. The same stench of filth and sweat pervaded the place. On the straw covered floor groups of Germans dozed or just stared into space—just as we had done.

Secret Pier Located In Jersey Disclosed

NEW YORK, Aug. 2. (AP) — As the last ammunition ship to leave New York steamed out of the harbor, the New York Port of Embarkation disclosed today that a "secret pier" in Jersey City, N. J., was "the major munitions shipping point for World War two."

The pier, "largest installation of its kind in the world," was the loading site of 2,696,611 measurement tons of bombs and ammunition—ranging from six-ton blockbusters to small arms and loose powder, the port's announcement declared.

From now on, bomb and ammunition loading will be done at other points on the Atlantic seaboard, removed from populated areas.

"The operation, one of America's best-kept secrets of the war, was carried out with such devotion to safety precautions that there was only one serious fire," the statement said.

The last ammunition ship to leave was the Polish freighter Stalowa Wola, laden with seven tons of lend-lease explosives.

Caven Point was constructed by the government in October, 1941, at a cost of $17,000,000.

Only Two Types Of Firearms Are Frozen

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP)—All but two types of small arms were released by the War Production board today for sale to civilian users.

The WPB's Office of Civilian Requirements said only 12-guage shotguns and .38 caliber revolvers chambered for special cartridges used by law enforcement officers would remain "frozen."

The 12-guage shotguns may be sold only to farmers and ranchers for use in predatory animal control, WPB said.

Seven million people were made homeless and approximately 200,000 lost their lives in China during the 1931 flood.

Wool Industry Asks Full Revocation Of Fabric Control Order

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP) — The wool industry today called on the OPA for outright revocation of a fabric control order designed to cut garment prices.

Curt E. Forstmann, chairman of the woolen and worsted industry advisory committee, asserted that the order had been "unnecessary and unworkable" in the first place, and had become "meaningless in practice" as a result of revisions announced by OPA last week. He urged OPA to call a meeting of the industry committee to discuss the situation.

Forstmann, in a letter to Jerome Ney, director of OPA's consumer goods division, said the purpose of the order had been "completely nullified" because "it would in no way preclude a manufacturer from producing the majority of his fabrics in the higher priced categories and from cutting down or even discontinuing the production of cheaper categories."

Ney acknowledged receipt of Forstmann's letter, but declined to comment, saying it would be answered later.

In revising the woolen and worsted fabrics price order last week, OPA made producer price concessions which it said would delay until next year a schedule rollback in prices of these materials.

The fabric order, part of the maximum average price program known as "M.A.P.," originally was intended to restore production patterns of 1943. It would have required manufacturers who had turned to higher price lines to revert to average price lines of two years ago.

Ten Ships Bring 24,956 Men Home

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (U.P.)—The Queen Mary docked at pier 50, North river, early today after the 14,698 American troops and 1,723 sailors aboard her got a rousing pre-dawn welcome all the way up New York harbor.

The huge British liner, the first of 10 to arrive with 24,956 soldiers and sailors today, steamed in to New York harbor one hour ahead of schedule.

Two Army boats, the Q-200 and the former Hudson excursion boat, Sandy Hook, escorted her as she passed the Statue of Liberty. An all-WAC band aboard the Q-200 played "America the Beautiful" to the cheers of the returning troops.

Rails Are Jammed

Despite the dim light of dawn, the liner's rails were jammed with GIs and and sailors anxious for the first glimpse of America in many months.

Among today's returnees on the 10 ships coming in were units of the 20th Armored division and the 8th and 9th Air forces, including glider plane crews who flew American troops to Normandy on D-day.

The two escort ships left the Queen Mary as it slipped into its moorings at 50th st. to welcome the E. B Alexander which docked at pier 16, Staten Island, a short time later. There were 4,404 troops aboard the Alexander, including 2,425 patients for Halloran General hospital, Staten Island, N Y.

1,783 Sailors Aboard

A total of 1,783 sailors were aboard the 10 ships docking today. The other eight ships were:

The Hermitage with 5,728 troops; the William Bradford, 15; Mack B. Ryan, 13; California Express, seven; Henry Lomb, 12; Hydra, 15; Marine Arrow, 34, and Sarah Bache, 30.

Troops from the Hydra will go to Camp Shanks, N. Y. Those on the Lomb will go to Fort Hamilton, and the rest will be taken to Camp Kilmer, N. J.

Noted For "Taking" Ways

Men of the 20th Armored division who came home today were noted among German troops for their "taking" ways. They captured three Nazi lieutenant generals and one major general at Salzburg, Austria.

Maj. Gen. Orlando Ward commands the 20th. He was wounded during the North African campaign while commanding the First Armored division. Ward, a West Point graduate of 1914, was born in Macon, Mo., 53 years ago.

Trial Of Petain

as Swiss money he brought with him from Spain, had been seized by the American officers to whom he surrendered Tuesday and that they gave him "a receipt in good and due form."

Laval already has been condemned to death in absentia by a Maseille tribunal, but the high court's case takes precedence. If he should be freed by the high court, he still would have to go to Marseille to answer the sentence already imposed there.

Court's Own Witness

Charles Trochu, president of the Paris Municipal council, was telling how Petain never really was in control of the Vichy government when the 89-year-old defendant dozed off.

Laval will appear as the court's own witness and probably will be removed in the dead of night from his cell to Paris.

Even greater precautions are being taken to protect him from mob violence than were organized for Petain. Hundreds of extra policemen carrying tommyguns were assigned to the Palais de Justice where the marshal is on trial. The ministry of interior declined to disclose, even to court officials, when or how the transfer would be effected.

Texas Democrats

capitalist," said Blalock.

Invitations to the dinner, which is sponsored by the Democratic National committee, will go to all Democrats who contribute $25 to the party fund. Miller said one prominent former Texas Regular had already realigned himself in this fashion.

O'Daniel Different Class

"But we do not consider Senator O'Daniel in this classification," Miller added. "He was the standard bearer of the opposition."

Clark concurred in this.

The resolution of dissolution was filed with with E. E. Townes of Houston, executive committee chairman, Merritt H. Gibson of Longview and Roy Sanderford of Belton. It asserted that there remained no further actual or legal necessity for the party since it had brought about the selection of Harry S. Truman as vice-president, "which resulted in his becoming President."

"The fourth term issue has been eliminated. The extreme left wing of the official family has been greatly reduced in numbers. Those who used politics for personal gain are no longer welcome on Capitol Hill," the resolution continued.

The Texas Regular party was organized after the national Democratic convention, and after the state supreme court ruled that electors named at the state Democratic convention in Dallas in September were the electors of the Democratic party. The Regulars electors were not pledged to support any candidate for President. They received 135,439 votes in the general election to 821,605 for the Democrats.

Combat Casualties Increase In Week

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (U.P.)—U. S. combat casualties stood at 1,061,648 today, including 249,367 dead.

The total was an increase of 2,806 over a week ago. The rise was largely accounted for by an increase of 2,109 in Navy, Coast Guard, and Marine corps losses for the week. The week's increase in Army casualties was 697.

Overall casualties included 920,917 reported by the Army and 140,731 by the Navy and its branches.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson reported that U. S. soldiers mopping up in the Philippines during the last week had slain an additional 4,477 Japanese and captured 587.

In so doing, the Americans suffered 107 casualties, including 34 killed and 73 wounded.

Blows On Japs

Mustangs strafed locomotives, power stations and factories, and left 14 small vessels burning from rocket fire. The fighters also shot up five airfields, encountering only one airborne enemy plane, which fled. All the Yank planes returned to their base.

Returning B-29 crewmen told of flames visible 180 miles from the targets; of terrific heat which set nearby forests afire and was felt 25,000 feet above the cities.

Tokyo radio admitted that in some instances the flames were still out of control hours after the blow, which exceeded by 2,330 tons the 4,302 tons of bombs dropped by Allied planes in the biggest single mission of the European war.

Huge as was the Superfortress strike on the four cities which the 20th Air force had listed among 19 marked in advance for destruction, still greater blows are to come.

Bigger Blows Coming

"The greatest armada in air history is being mounted" to knock Japan out of the war, said General MacArthur. Other officials have promised the Japanese 1,200-plane raids.

Tokyo radio also gave a clue to the whereabouts of Admiral Halsey's Third Fleet, unreported in official dispatches since its Monday air strike at Nippon, with the announcement that Oshima, fortified island 70 miles south of Tokyo, was bombarded Wednesday.

The enemy broadcast said three destroyers and a cruiser, with carrier planes participating, hit Oshima.

Japanese broadcasts admitted that Kyushu island, southernmost Japanese home island, is being hit daily by Okinawa-based plane squadrons 350 to 500 strong. These bombers and fighters are making "systematic and thorough" attacks on transportation facilities on the island, radio reporters said.

Gains By Chinese

The Chinese high command reported further gains by the Japanese column of around 20,000 making a fighting withdrawal northward in rice growing Kiangsi province toward Nanchang.

This Nipponese force, accompanied by about 3,000 Japanese civilians, has reached the vicinity of Siaking, Kan river town 90 miles south of Nanchang.

Other Japanese columns pushing from Hunan province eastward to the relief of the retreating enemy force in Kiangsi also have made progress.

U. S. 14th Air force planes Wednesday smashed at Japanese communication facilities in China, destroying or damaging 97 river and coastal small craft, wrecking 10 locomotives and knocking out five railroad bridges.

Freight Over Hump

Symbolic of the growing American air support in China was the Army Transport command's announcement that 5,327 tons of freight were flown over the mountainous Indo-China route within 24 hours ending Wednesday. This was more than four times the 1,226 tons carried by the ATC in the first month of its operation on the rugged run.

Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, retired commander of the 14th AF, said in Chungking he believed prospects were "very good" for the Allied opening of a China seaport before the end of 1945 to supply Chinese armies. The Allied blockade, he said, will throttle enemy movement of supplies and personnel between Japan and China within the next month.

Simpson Optimistic

Greater optimism "about the speedy end of this war" was expressed by Lt. Gen. William H. Simpson, former commander of the U. S. Ninth Army in Europe, after a tour of Chinese fronts.

Monsoon rains have turned the lower Sittang river bend area in southern Burma into a swamp. British empire troops must wear Mae West life jackets in crossing rampant rivers to carry on their extermination warfare against bitterly resisting Japanese remnants trying to escape into Thailand.

In a recent nine-day period more than 6,000 Nipponese were killed in the fighting northeast of Rangoon.

Mountain Division Starts Home Trip

NAPLES, Aug. 2. (AP)—Approximately 6,000 troops of the U. S. Tenth Mountain division, which spearheaded the breakthrough in the Po valley offensive of last April culminating in defeat for the Germans in Italy, sailed home today aboard the troop ship Mount Vernon.

With other elements of the some division which have already left Italy the men will have furloughs before the division is reorganized as an infantry outfit and trained for the Pacific.

Government Potato Purchase Approved

DALLAS, Aug. 2. (AP)—The department of agriculture office of supply has been authorized to purchase Irish potatoes in order to support prices, Latham White, acting regional director, said today.

White said the current early potato crop is not suitable for storage and must be used soon.

News Briefs

A negro woman was being held last night in city jail for the sheriff's office in Hillsboro. A white man was picked up while drunk and was being held for investigation, and a negro man was being held also. A negro soldier stationed at Lubbock Army Air field was arrested Thursday afternoon while drunk. He was driving a Willys sedan police said was stolen The negro was taken to LAAF by military police, and city officers said investigation would be conducted as to his alleged molesting of women.

W. R. Kent of Levelland, oil field worker employed by George P. Livermore, Inc., suffered a broken right arm and lacerated hand in an accident Thursday afternoon. Kent was admitted to West Texas hospital about 7 o'clock last night, and hospital attendants reported that his condition is "fairly good."

Daughton Demands Army Food Report

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP)—Rep. Daughton (D-Va) said today that unless the Army complies with his request to tell how much food it has stock-piled, he will appeal to the White House.

Asserting that "I think it is a fair assumption we are overstocked," Daughton said Gen. Brehon Somervell, Chief of Army Service Forces, had not responded to a request of nearly three weeks ago for an inventory of Army food stocks.

The Virginian told the House several weeks ago he believed "hoarding" by the armed forces was largely responsible for civilian food shortages.

Vice Admiral Emory S. Land, War Shipping Administrator, told him, Daughton said, that the WSA and licensed ship suppliers in Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports have on hand 11,606,000 pounds of beef, 2,220,000 pounds of lamb, 500,000 pounds of veal, 6,446,000 pounds of pork, 7,648,000 pounds of butter and 664,000 pounds of poultry.

Patch Says Japs Won't Quit Soon

CAMP GRUBER, Okla., Aug. 2. (AP)—Lt Gen. Alexander M. Patch, commanding general of the U. S. Fourth Army, told the 86th division today there was no hope "Japan suddenly is going to surrender—today, tomorrow or next week."

The lean, six-foot general, veteran of European and Asiatic campaigns, said in an address prepared for delivery before the Black Hawk division that "many of our civilian population are understandably confused.

"They know in their minds that we are still at war. But in their hearts they find it hard to believe we have not already won."

Essentials for winning the Pacific war asserted Patch, will be exactly those for beating Germany — technical skill, stamina and fighting hearts.

Pietro Mascagni Dies In Rome; Fortune Gone

ROME, Aug. 2. (AP)—Pietro Mascagni, 82, famous composer of Cavalleria Rusticana and other operas, died at 7:15 a.m. today of bronchial pneumonia and hardening of the arteries.

Mascagni died at the Plaza hotel where he had made his home recently. He leaves an 82-year-old widow.

The composer had a long and brilliant career, and had reaped a large fortune in royalties from his operas, particularly "Cavalleria Rusticana," which outshone all the others in popularity.

He had been hit hard by the war, however, his home was seized by the socialists after the Germans were driven from Rome.

When the end of the war came for Italy, his fortune had vanished.

Russia Wants None Of Captured Gold

(By The Associated Press)

There is one brief sentence in the lengthy Potsdam declaration released yesterday which carries a lot of weight—about 200 tons, and gold at that!

Paragraph 10, section four of the Big Three communique says:

"The Soviet government makes no claim to gold captured by the Allied troops in Germany."

Allied headquarters in Paris announced May 3 that the Allies' haul of Nazi gold amounted to an estimated 200 tons.

The great German treasure hoard of 100 tons of gold bullion found in the Merkers salt mine April 7 by Gen. Patton's Third Army was supplemented by stores found in bank vaults and elsewhere.

Fine gold is valued at more than $1,000,000 a ton, but no official estimate has been made of the total value of the complete trove.

Pilot Dies In Crash Of Shooting Star

DAYTON, O., Aug. 2 (AP)—A P-80 jet-propelled "Shooting Star" plane, sister ship of the craft which flew from Dayton to New York yesterday in 62 minutes, crashed near Brandenberg, Ky., this afternoon, killing the pilot, Maj. Ira Boyd Jones of Lancaster, S. C., Brig. Gen. Joseph T. Morris, commanding general of Wright Field, announced tonight.

General Morris said the plane left Wright Field shortly after 2 p. m. on a routine test flight to an Army air field in Texas, which he did not identify.

PRIORITY FOR RETURN

ROME, Aug. 2. (AP) — Gen. Joseph T McNarney, commanding general in the Mediterranean theater, announced today that henceforth soldiers with 106 or more points will get top priority for shipment from his theater to the United States.

Big Three Takes Strangle Hold

neutrals who qualify under the United Nations charter, eventual support for memberships in the new world league.

10. Abolished the European Advisory commission and agreed to revise procedures of Allied control commissions in Rumania, Bulgaria and Hungary.

11. Examined extension of the authority of Austria's provisional government, but left the question open to detailed study later.

One Significant Point

Nearly half the Potsdam pronouncement dealt with Germany. Most of the rest covered European problems in detail. Perhaps significantly, the only point in the lengthy, historic document which was not amplified was the reference to consideration of military matters.

The great powers set themselves up as severe rulers of whipped Germany. But they said it was not their intention to "destroy or enslave the German people." They said it might become possible for the Germans "in due course to take their place among the free and peaceful peoples of the world."

Germany, however, is to undergo "complete disarmament and demilitarization," with the elimination or control of all German industry that could be used for military production. The Nazi party is to be eradicated.

Decentralized Economy

Germany's economy is to be decentralized, and in its organization, primary emphasis will be placed on development of agriculture and peaceful industries.

Payment of reparations, the Big Three determined, should leave enough resources to enable the German people to subsist without outside help. Their standard of living is not to exceed that of other European peoples.

Just how much reparations will be extracted, the communique did not say.

Soviet reparation claims are to be met in large part from the Russian occupation zone in the east and from German external assets. Poland's share will come from what Russia gets.

The claims of the United States and Britain and other countries will be met from their western zones and external assets.

In addition, Russia is to get 15 per cent of the usable and complete industrial capital equipment of the western area in exchange for an equivalent value in food, coal, potash, zinc, timber, clay and petroleum products and other commodities.

Beyond that, the Soviets will obtain from the western zones, without any payment or exchange, another 10 per cent of industrial capital equipment not needed for Germany's peacetime economy.

Russia renounced all claims to shares of German enterprises in the western zones, and Britain and the United States to those of businesses in the eastern area. The Soviet government "makes no claims to gold captured by the Allied troops in Germany."

President Truman and his Soviet and British colleague agreed in principle on disposition of Germany's war and merchant ships, and left it to experts to work out details. The Big Three promised another joint statement on that "in due course."

Council Headquarters

The council of foreign ministers will have its headquarters in London and will hold its first meeting by Sept. 1.

"As its immediate important task," the communique said, "the council shall be authorized to draw up, with a view to their submission to the United Nations, treaties of peace with Italy, Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland, and to propose settlements of territorial questions outstanding on the termination of the war in Europe.

"The council shall be utilized for the preparation of a peace settlement for Germany to be accepted by the government of Germany when a government adequate for the purpose is established."

For each of these tasks, the council will be made up of members representing states signatory to the surrender terms imposed on the enemy involved.

That would mean, for instance, that China would have no part in the preparation of peace terms for Germany.

Establishment of the five-nation council, the Big Three decided, does not preclude the periodic consultations among their own three foreign ministers as agreed upon at the Yalta conference last spring.

The decision at Potsdam on the temporary western frontier of Poland will give that Nazi victim a long Baltic seacoast, including the area of the free city of Danzig.

The new boundary would be almost a straight line from the Baltic on the north, above the port of Stettin, to Dresden near the Czechoslovak border. It passes less than fifty miles from Berlin.

Poland would take the provinces of Pomerania, Upper and Lower Silesia with their major industries, and more than half of East Prussia. Russia would get the rest of East Prussia, including Koenigsburg and the adjacent territory.

Subject To Approval

Italy was given priority on a peace treaty because she was the first Axis country to break away from Germany.

Italy, the Big Three asserted, had freed herself from a Fascist regime and is making good headway toward reestablishing democracy.

"The conclusion of such a peace treaty with a recognized and democratic Italian government," Truman, Stalin and Attlee said, "will make it possible for the three governments to fulfill their desire to support an application from Italy for membership in the United Nations."

The treaty framers are to determine the fate of former Italian territories.

As for Spain:

"The three governments feel bound, however, to make it clear that they for their part would not favor any application for membership put forward by the present Spanish government, which, having been founded with the support of the Axis powers, does not, in view of its origins, its nature, its record and its close association with the aggressor states, possess the qualifications necessary to justify such membership."

In keeping a thumb on German militarism, the Big Three determined that "all arms, ammunition and implements of war and all specialized facilities for their production shall be held at the disposal of the Allies or destroyed."

The production of all aircraft, sea-going ships and all arms, ammunition and implements of war "shall be prevented."

Plan Commission Holds Session Here

A regular monthly business meeting of the City Planning commission, the first under the chairmanship of K. N. Clapp, who was elected to the post last month after the resignation of L. Wesley Read, was held at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night at the City hall

A full board was present, including, in addition to Chairman Clapp, members W. L. Bradshaw, J. D. Hassell, jr., Dr. J. T. Kruger, J. H. Murdough, Homer D. Grant, Chas. A. Guy, ex officio member city manager Marlin R. Smith, jr., and city engineer Arch L. King, jr.

Matters passed on by the board included:

Approval of the application of Owen W. McWhorter for closing of the stub of Madison Avenue at Twenty-first street, which is a dead end and a traffic hazard.

Approval of the application of George P. Livermore, drilling contractor, for platting out an area on North Avenue V and First street where Livermore is installing pipe and truck yards and erecting four residences for employes.

The commission also received from McWhorter an agreement with the commission proposing change on Avenue V from First to North Second, in order to line up with Ave. V leading south.

Another Victim Of Polio Reported Here

Another victim of poliomyelitis, J. H. Askins, 33, of Myrtle drive near East Broadway, was reported to Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer, Thursday.

Askins, a carpenter, was examined by a physician at Lubbock General hospital. The patient was returned to his home but probably will be admitted to the hospital as soon as a room is available, hospital attendants said.

The physician said Askins was suffering paralysis of his right side and leg.

Mrs. Ernest Lucero, 16, of 107 Ave. N who is in the Lubbock General hospital, is believed not to have polio as first diagnosed, a physician said.

More Farm Machines To Be Made In 1945

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 2 (U.P.)—More farm machinery will be manufactured in 1945 than in any other year in the nation's history, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson said here today.

"It is not yet obvious," he said. "Machinery is being used to replace workers lost to the farms."

He promised an investigation of reports that large quantities of the new farm machines were being shipped to Europe for rehabilitation purposes.

"If that is going on," he said, "I am not now aware of it."

Patterson Says Japs Seeking Way Out

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP)—Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson said tonight that Japanese leaders are "looking for a way out to save their country and some of their loot," principally their "whip hand over Asia."

But he said he was firmly convinced the Pacific war "will end when the Japanese Army is smashed beyond repair, and not until then."

Anderson Fears Area Will Have Too Many Cattle At End Of War

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 2 (AP) Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson predicted here today that southwestern states would be "caught with too many cattle" when the war ended.

After lisening to a report that Oklahoma had 500,000 cattle that needed to be fed and slaughtered between now and next March 1, the secretary told a committee of state officials and farm leaders:

"The war is going to come to an end one of these days, and we are going to be caught with too many cattle in this region. We have more beef cattle than we need in number, and we do not want to repeat what happened in the early 30's when cattle were slaughtered wholesale and spoiled."

Protein Feed Shortage

Anderson promised assistance to livestock raisers in obtaining protein feed to finish animals for the market.

The secretary said earlier that if there is not enough meat on the table next winter, the weather will be largely responsible—not the OPA or Congress.

He pointed out meat prospects "depend largely on the corn crop."

"And the weather," Anderson asserted, 'is solely responsible for the short corn crop predicted for 1945.

"If the corn crop in Iowa and other states is short, then it is not wise to ask farmers to start feeding cattle and hogs and to increase their poultry stocks. Until we know how much the corn crop will be, we will not have a clear picture of the meat situation."

Corn Outlook Dark

The secretary pointed out that the estimated corn production had declined 500,000 bushels in July, and said a further decrease was expected this month because of adverse weather conditions.

Anderson discounted reports that the United States was exporting large quantities of corn and wheat to Allied countries. He said the United States was now exporting no corn to other countries.

"Less wheat went abroad this year than the year before," he said. "The foreign countries asked for 300,000,000 bushels of wheat, and we only furnished them 150,000,000 bushels out of the one billion bushel crop.

Not Due To Shipments

"The food situation in the United States is not tight because of what we are sending abroad. But we must send some of our supplies since dollars and cents do not benefit those countries from which we import sugar, linseed, fat, oils and copra.

Belgium, he said, was a good example. He pointed to the "terrific shortage" of fats and oils in this country, and said those oils come from the Belgian Congo.

"But," he explained, "the Belgian food minister does not want money. He wants food, meat, eggs, while all we can send him is wheat."

Wheat Also Lower

Anderson said that "although we don't have it to spare," wheat would be used to feed meat-producing animals. He added, however, that the wheat carryover from this year's crop would be 50,000,000 to 60,000,000 bushels below last year's. Therefore, he said, the meat supply would be proportionately smaller.

He said the cattle subsidy had not been generally successful, but that the new lamb subsidy program was proving effective. He said changes were being made in the cattle program to encourage raisers to put maximum flesh on animals before marketing them.

Enlisted Personnel At SPAAF With 53,964 Points Perform KP

The enlisted military personnel at South Plains Army Air field—all technical sergeants and staff sergeants, returned from overseas duty—gave a slight chuckle en masse, recently, at an Associated Press dispatch which appeared in the Lubbock Morning Avalanche. A statement made by the commanding officer of Ellington field, disclosed that due to the manpower shortage, buck sergeants were now compelled to perform kitchen police duties.

In addition ot their regular duties of airplane "pickling" and administrative work, the men of SPAAF with an average of 35 missions each, and an accumulated point total of 53,964 points, perform squadron duties ranging from latrine orderly to charge of quarters. This includes KP and squadron detail.

"Since there are only 29 men on the field of the lower three grades, it wouldn't be fair for them to get all the dirty work," remarked one tech cheerfully, "so the job just naturally falls on all of us. And that statement reflects the attitude of the entire personnel at SPAAF.

More Rice To Be On Civilian Markets

DALLAS, Aug. 2. (AP)—From 10 to 15 percent more rice should be available to civilians because of reduction in rice set aside for government purchase, USDA's Dallas Office of Marketing Services said today.

The set aside for government purchase was reduced from 100 per cent to 55 percent in Southwestern and Southern states and in California, effective August 1.

JAPS ARE PLASTERED

LONDON, Aug. 2. (AP) — The Tokyo radio estimated today that 20,000 Allied planes had raided Japan during the month of July. The broadcast, as recorded here, said the estimate included 8,000 carrier-based planes, 4,000 Superfortresses and 8,000 other land-based craft.

Waco Squeeze Plays Upset Lubbock Juniors In Tenth

AUSTIN, Aug. 2. (Special)—The Waco Doughboys refused to give up, and came from behind twice here tonight to nose by the Lubbock Juniors, 9 to 8, in the tenth inning of the nightcap game of the state American Legion playoff.

Costly errors, and the inability of the Lubbock nine to break up the ancient squeeze play, proved to be the downfall of the West Texans Waco took the lead in the eighth inning with a squeeze play, and shoved over the winning run in the tenth with the same play.

Galey Looked Good

Bob Galey played great baseball all the way, turned in some fine pitching, but his defense cracked up behind him under the arcs, and most of the eight errors figured in the scoring. Galey allowed only seven hits, and whiffed nine men, and seemed coasting to an easy win until the eighth inning crackup.

Jack Vaughn and A. E. Folsom paced the hitters for the night, the two Lubbock lads getting four hits in six trips to the plate. Myers headed the Waco hitting with three hits in four times up, one of these a triple for the only extra base hit.

Lubbock Blows Lead

Holding a 6-2 lead as they went into the last of the eighth, Waco scored two quick runs on overthrows at third base on attempted steals, one of these getting on base by an error.

Patton singled, stole second, and scored on Alderson's error of Wingrove's pop fly. Myers then tripled to score Wingrove with the tying run, then scored on the squeeze play.

Lubbock tied the score again in the ninth, and regained the lead in the top half of the tenth, Folsom singled, stole second and scored on Charles Presley's sharp single.

Patton got on base on Alderson's error to start the tenth. He moved around on two passed balls, one of them a third strike to Hough that allowed him to reach first as Patton scored. Wingrove laid down a sacrifice bunt to move Hough to second. Myers was intentionally walked, then Beard drew a walk to fill the base, and set up the game winning squeeze play.

Lubbock will play Laredo Friday at 6 p. m. with the loser bowing out of the tournament.

Dallas Wins Opener Over Laredo Stars

AUSTIN, Aug. 2 (AP)—The Adamson High Leopards of Dallas defeated the Laredo All-Stars here tonight in the opening game of the American Legion junior baseball tournament, winning 8 to 6 after Laredo had knotted the count at six-all in the seventh inning.

James Blair, Dallas hurler, gave up nine hits, walked five and struck out two, as his mates gathered 11 blows off young Simon Luna, one of the hottest pitchers of the Legion race. Luna whiffed two batters.

Lubbock Boy Shines For Smoky Hill Nine

SMOKY HILL ARMY AIR FIELD, SALINA, Kans., Aug. 2.—Some day, if all goes well, S/Sgt. Olin B. "Lefty" Huckabee may be a mainstay on the mound for a major league ball club. For the present, however, he's been doing all right by Smoky Hill Army Air field's own "Smokies" and recently gave a stellar performance at Wichita, Kansas, in the State Semi-Professional tournament

Against Andover, in the recent tourney, he set a record of 20 strike-outs and his dazzling southpaw hurling caught the attention of a Boston Red Sox scout. This week, talking about his postwar plans, Huckabee remarked that he'd "like to play ball, if I can get a break."

But when he does get out of uniform, he won't be a free agent. Before coming into the Army, he pitched for Lamesa, of the West-Texas-New Mexico League and his contract now is held by another team of the same circuit.

Meantime, the 26-year-old Staff Sergeant, and native of Lubbock, will concentrate on his few remaining assignments for the "Smokies" in the Second Air Force League. So far, he's averaging .500 and, for a fellow who's kept busy on his job as airplane mechanic, that's first rate hurling.

Al Benton Hurls Fifth Shut Out

DETROIT, Aug. 2. (AP)—A pair of timely homers by Eddie Mayo, his second and third in two days, drove in four runs today as the Detroit Tigers stretched their winning streak to six games—longest this year — by beating the St. Louis Browns 6 to 0.

Al Benton scattered seven hits in making his 10th victory his fifth shutout.

The Tigers had only four hits off Kramer until they exploded for five runs in the eighth, three of them on Mayo's ninth circuit swat of the season and another on Hank Greenberg's double.

RECORD ENTRY SET

HOUSTON, Aug. 2. (AP) — A world record for match play golf was claimed here today on the basis of 701 entries in the annual city tournament.

Ghezzi Ties Nelson For Toronto Lead

TORONTO, Aug. 2. (AP)—Byron Nelson of Toledo, aiming for his 10th straight individual tourney triumph, and Vic Ghezzi of Atlantic City, N. J., tied for the lead today in the first round of the $10,000 Canadian Open golf tournament. Each shot a two-under par 68.

Ghezzi, one of the last starters of the day, and virtually unnoticed by the gathering, sprang a surprise by whipping a 34 going out and the same coming in to duplicate Nelson's outgoing and incoming nines.

Fresh from his triumph in the All-American Open at Chicago where he shot a record 72-hole total of 269, Nelson started 20 minutes late for his tee-off time but was followed by a gallery of 1,500. While Goggin of White Plains, N. Y., fired identical 35's on the outgoing and incoming nines to take third place one stroke ahead of Ed Furgol of Utica, N. Y., who posted a 71.

Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., couldn't quite overcome the dragging influence of a recently broken right wrist and finished with a 74. Ky Laffoon of Chicago, another top contender, also carded a 74.

Cummings To Play MPs For Loop Title

Cummings Food market's softball ten will play the Lubbock Army Air field MPs this afternoon at Thirty-second and Adams streets diamond with the championship of the city softball league race at stake.

Cummings reached the finals last night with an easy win over the Edwards Grocery ten, but must defeat the soldiers twice today to win the title.

The MPs won over Cummings and Edwards to reach the finals, while Cummings was defeating Blue Bonnet laundry and Edwards for its journey into the final day of play.

Play will start at 6:30 o'clock. If the MPs win the opener, the series is over. If Cummings wins the first game, a second will be played for the championship.

Cubs Nose Bucs For 1-0 Victory

CHICAGO, Aug. 2. (AP)—Harry (Peanuts) Lowrey slammed a double into left field today with Don Johnson on first to give the Chicago Cubs 1 to 0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Big Paul Derringer was the hero as he stopped the Pirates with three hits. Ellwyn (Preacher) Roe was the victim of Lowrey's double. It was Derringer's twelfth win and Roe's ninth loss.

Only Frank Colman, who replaced Babe Dahlgren at first base yesterday and then sent the winning run across with a double, could get to Derringer today. He singled in the fifth and doubled in the seventh, but his mates couldn't get him around either time.

Wage Decrease For War Workers Seen As Result Of Budget Slash

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP) — You can't figure on making as much money in the next year as you did in the last one if you are a war worker or run a war industry.

You might even be out of a job, but with a fairly good chance of getting another one if business shifts swiftly to civilian production.

But you can't expect more than a gradual increase in civilian items that have been scarce—or any lower taxes for a while.

That's the way it looks to government experts who turned out tonight a revised federal budget for the fiscal year which has just begun. They made no change in their estimate that war expenditures, which were roughly $90,000,000,000 in the fiscal year that ended June 30, will decrease this year by about $20,000,000,000.

Less Cash In Tills

That cut will be reflected, the budget bureau said, in less cash in the tills of many businessmen and in the pay envelopes of war workers. It also will mean that "many people will lose their wartime jobs."

"Twenty-one million men and women serve in the armed forces or in direct war production at the present time," the bureau said. "This number may be reduced to 16,000,000 by June, 1946.

"But potential demand in the fiscal year 1946 will be adequate to provide ample job opportunities in production and services if industry can devise methods whereby peacetime production can be resumed despite remaining wartime shortages in certain materials.

Reconversion Is Key

The reviewed budget and the analysis of its economic impact are based on an "assumption that the war will continue through the fiscal year." The outlook would be "drastically altered" if the war stopped sooner. That would mean rapid demobilization and more unemployment, the budget officials predicted, and the extent would depend on how well reconversion machinery is geared to take its full load at an early date.

The government doesn't expect consumers' spending to drop as much in the next few months as the profits of business. There will be a heavy demand for goods which begin to reappear on the market, the budget bureau figures.

And even people with lower incomes probably will try to keep up their living standard by spending some of their wartime savings. In the last fiscal year, it was estimated that consumers had $136,000,000,000 after paying their taxes and that they spent $100,000,000,000. That left them with $36,200,000,000 that went into savings of some sort.

'Atrocious' Spelling On Historic Marker In State Corrected

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Aug. 2.—State Parks Board Inspector O. J. Herrington checked in to headquarters today with a report that monumental error has been corrected.

The Stephen F. Austin marker at San Felipe De Austin near Sealy now spells it "vigorous," with an "O" and not "vigerous" with an "E," and observant Texans need no longer be shocked at what Attorney William A. Vinson of Houston described as the "atrocious spelling."

Was First To Speak

Vinson may not have been the first traveler to this shrine of Texas history to notice that the letters carved on the granite monument included this slip of the stone cutters chisel, but he was the first to speak his mind about it.

He wrote Chairman Weaver Baker of the board of control, who in turn checked the matter to Executive Secretary Frank Quinn of the state parks board, which is now in charge of the area. Quinn sent Herrington to look into it, and Herrington returned today with the report that the 'E' has been transformed into an O" with a few neat licks of a hammer and a chisel.

"Only by getting off at an angle can you detect the unusual depression in the letter," he said. It is a pretty good 'O' considering the toughness of the material."

Vinson wrote that he stood in reverence before the monument until he noticed the spelling of one of the words of the inscription.

It was "vigerous" not "vigorous."

"I was shocked and astounded that a granite slab had been erected in the first instance with this atrocious spelling," he said. "I will pay any reasonable sum if it can be arranged for a stone mason to go down there and change the 'E' to an 'O.'

Erected In 1928

The monument was erected in 1928 by the school children of Austin county, and subsequently, in 1938, a $14,000 statue of Stephen F. Austin by John Angel, New York sculptor, was placed there by the Texas Centennial commission.

San Felipe De Austin was the capital of the American colonies in Texas until 1836, it was the scene of the historic convention of 1832 and 1833, seat of the provisional government during much of the Texas revolution and the spot where the consultation of 1835 that led to the Texas revolution took place. It was Austin's home during a good part of his life in Texas.

Progress Of Cotton Over Nation Varies

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP) — Cotton made mostly good progress in the western part of the cotton belt during the past week, but in some central and eastern sections there was too much rain, the weather bureau said today.

In Texas, progress of cotton was good to very good, with picking now fairly active in the coastal bend area and adjacent south central counties.

In Oklahoma, progress was good while in Arkansas very good advance was made and the crop there is generally clean and blooming satisfactorily.

In Louisiana and Mississippi there was too much rain with some damage to bloom.

In eastern states progress was fair to good in many localities, but in some places, notably the southeast coast, growth is still too rank and shedding is delaying opening.

The weather of the week was quite favorable for weevil activity in many central and eastern sections, but in portions of Texas and Oklahoma they were held in check by warm, dry weather.

TU Students Have Cartooning Fever

AUSTIN, Aug. 2. (AP)—University of Texas students had cartooning fever today as a result of the university's being placed on probation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary schools.

Campus signs included a pictured mountaineer labeled "Kentucky" pulling strings attached to the university's 24-story tower. It was labeled "punch and judy show." The former president of the Southern Association is from the University of Kentucky.

Another campus sign pictured a long-haired, wild-eyed girl with an economics book under her arm pointing to a tombstone labeled "Rainey fuss" and saying: "let's dig that up again."

The Southern Association was pictured as having its habitat in a log cabin in another sign in which a short person representing a university student remarked: "we're on probation."

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.

Lubbock Schools Must Keep Pace

LUBBOCK, one of the fastest growing cities in Texas, is suffering from growing pains.

Keeping pace with the city's healthy, rapid growth, Lubbock's school population has been increasing at the rate of more than 500 pupils annually during the past six years.

This is why the voters of the school district must go to the polls sometime early in September and approve $1,500,000 in bonds for providing funds for much needed expansion of Lubbock's school facilities.

This is a MUST!

The schools are already overcrowded, and crowded classrooms, or half-day sessions, are not conducive either to healthful conditions or efficient education.

One has only to drive around the city and observe the hundreds of children playing in their yards and in the city parks to realize that Lubbock is a city of children. These children deserve the best educational facilities that can be provided, and the program set forth by the Board of Trustees of the Lubbock Independent School district is a practical one, as well as an essential one.

The program calls for a new 12-room ward school one-half mile south and one-mile east of the Slaton-Tahoka "Y" on South Avenue H; two new junior high school buildings; completion of the Senior High school, including a combination cafeteria-bandroom and twelve classrooms. It also will provide an addition to the Dunbar Negro school of a cafeteria-gymnasium-study hall, ah addition of a combination shoproom and cafeteria for the Mexican school.

Remodeling of the present Junior High school and instituting of modern, sanitary cafeteria facilities in all the schools of the system are included in the plan.

"This expansion program," Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, chairman of the board, explains, "is not that of the board, but, instead that of the citizens of the district . . . When the people vote on this bond proposal, they shall vote on one question alone. That is: Shall we take care of the educational needs of Lubbock children, or shall we not?"

Doctor Hutchinson states the question clearly.

Shall we give the children, the educational facilities they need?

There can be only one answer: "Yes!"

Consistency In Traffic

THE Texas Police Association is sponsoring legislation that will assure uniform traffic control throughout the state.

This is a reform that will meet with general approval from the motoring public as both meritorious and timely. There is altogether too much confusion being caused by lack of uniformity in traffic regulations.

While right turns on red lights are now barred in Dallas, they are permitted in Fort Worth. Other cities pose other inconsistences.

Lubbock also has its share of regulations, which are confusing to newcomers. Why there are stop signs on some streets intersecting Nineteenth, for instance, and no stops on others, is one of the puzzles. Consistency would eliminate confusion.

And since confusion may cause accidents, this proposed plan for assuring greater uniformity appears to be a step in the right direction.

Justice Jackson Is Right

SUPREME Court Justice Robert Jackson is reported to have bluntly informed British, Russian and French representatives that an agreement must be reached this week for trying Germany's war criminals, or that the United States would proceed independently with the trials.

This is the kind of news many Americans have been waiting for ever since V-E Day. It is encouraging to see that the United States means business and will tolerate nc unnecessary delay in dealing out justice to the high Nazi leaders, who led Europe into war and then perpetrated such outrages against civilization that their names will become synonymous with wanton, cold-blooded cruelty.

Equally welcome is the news that Hermann Goering will be tried, despite the fact that physicians have said that because of his "fluttery heart and emotional instability" a trial may endanger his life.

Let it be recalled—if such recollection is necessary—that Goering, when in power, had no compunctions about ordering an end to the lives of thousands and endangering the lives of millions.

His own puny, mis-spent life deserves no special consideration.

"Tell the truth and shame the devil" — and also avoid giving the little woman the opportunity to enjoy the mean satisfaction of catching you in a lie.

When you're arguing with a fool, two fools are arguing.

WE MEET A MAHARAJAH
XII

I stood at the bar in Calcutta's 300 Club drinking a coke while Tony Mercede polished off one Scotch and soda after another. I was thinking about how we might spend the arrival of Gingiss and Lane in the evening.

"We might take a run out to Six Acre Road," Tony suggested. "You've never met Tangerine and Bitty."

"That's right," I said, "I never have. But I don't like to go to a place like that. Why don't we give 'em a call and have them come into town. We could take them out to dinner and have a few drinks and enjoy ourselves."

"Take 'em out to dinner?" Tony cried. "Are you crazy? Who the hell do you think these gals are—society?"

"No, but they're worth talking to, aren't they?" I asked.

"Worth talking to?" Tony was going apoplectic.

I started to laugh, then casually turned to see if the fellow at my left had heard our conversation. Obviously he had, because he was smiling broadly. He was a tall, good-looking lad about 30 to 32 years old, quite obviously Indian by of high birth judging by the regularity of his features, clear brown eyes, long thin face, aquiline nose and strong chisled jaw. He was dressed conservatively in black with a kind of white ascot tie; wounded tightly around his head was a smooth-fitting black silk turban.

The Indian looked us over quickly, still smiling, and then he said to me, "You have more in common with my people than your friend. We, too, think conversation has a place in romance." He spoke perfect English by Oxford standards, having a pronounced British accent.

* * *

Both Tony's and the Indian's glasses were empty and I signaled the bartender. He came running, saying "Yes, Sahib!" and then, as his glance touched that of the stranger, he bowed deeply and murmured something I didn't understand.

"These shall be on me," the Indian said. "Whatever the gentlemen wish."

I started to protest, but the bartender shot me a look almost of fright as he bowed again and said, "Of course, Your Highness."

The Indian smiled at the startled expressions on Tony and myself, and he bowed very graciously. Then he held out his hand adn said, "Jagaddipendra Narayan Bhup Bahadur, Maharapah of Cooch Behar, gentlemen. It is a pleasure to meet you."

Tony and I introduced ourselves and shook hands, and for over an hour the three of us stood there talking about the C. N. A. C. and the new Ledo Road, which was Tony's special interest at the moment. And then, when the Maharajah learned that I had flown with the Air Transport Auxiliary of the R. A. F., the two of us fell into reminiscences about England "Vince" — as he asked us to refer to him—had gone to school in England, had taken his degree at Oxford, which explained the accent as well as the easy social manner.

I told him that Al Gingiss had hunted ducks in a Hurricane fighter over the king's private preserves at Windsor Park, and nothing would do but that I promise to introduce him to Gingiss at the earliest opportunity.

* * *

Al Gingiss was with Tony and me in the club a few days later when we ran into the Maharajah again, and it was on that occasion, after he had heard Gingiss' own heroic account of the Battle of the King's Ducks over Windsor Park, that he promised us some real hunting on one of his own estates in upper India near Tangsawa. "Maybe it won't compare to machine-gunning royal ducks," he laughed, "but I think you'll have some fun. I'll arrange everything for you—elephants and native guides and guns and all that. It's good hunting country up there, especially for tigers and leopards." He hesitated a moment and then said, "But maybe you'd prefer hunting wild boar? That's wonderful sport, you know."

I didn't know anything of the sort. I had never even seen a wild boar and all I had ever heard about them was that they usually did all the killing.

"You hunt boar with a spear, you know," the Maharapah went on. "It's really quite thrilling."

Gingiss looked at him with an expression of distaste. "Hell, that's just pig-sticking," he said. "I'd rather bag me a tiger. A man doesn't get a chance like this every day in his life—and stickin' pigs just ain't glamorous, that's all."

Gingiss' words were weighted with wisdom, so a tiger hunt it was. The Maharajah didn't accompany us, but three days before our leave was up we flew back to Dinjan and were met there by one of the Indian potentate's servants in a luxurious big Buick station wagon. It was a good hard ride over a difficult jungle road to Vince's hunting lodge at Cooch Behar, and when we arrived there we were dined lavishly in the huge palatial building. In the morning, after a fine big breakfast, we stepped out onto the porch to get our first look at the accoutrements of a first-class Indian safari.

Gripsholm Brings Missionaries Home

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Aug. 2 (U.P.)—The Swedish liner Gripsholm, acting as a relief ship, arrived here today with 1,496 passengers from India and Greece, almost half of whom were missionaries.

The large white liner has shuttled between America, Europe and the Far East throughout the war exchanging prisoners and aliens and is now carrying a refugee-repatriate load.

As the Gripsholm docked shortly after 10 a. m. members of the foreign mission conference of North America were waiting at the American Export line pier to welcome the 615 missionaries aboard, many of whom have not seen the United States for several years.

Six Of Dead Army Airmen Identified

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Aug. 2 (U.P.)—Six of the seven fliers killed in the crash of an Army amphibious observation plane 80 miles southwest of here were identified today by Kirtland Army Air field's commanding officer.

The seventh victim still was unidentified.

Those who perished in the craft, which burst into flame yesterday after crashing near Aconita, making identification difficult, included:

1st Lt. William T. Bartlett, Fort Worth, Tex.

Other details were withheld, but the plane was believed to have been en route from Amarillo, Tex., to Sacramento, Calif.

Verdict In Drowning Death Is Withheld

DALLAS, Aug. 2 (U.P.)—An inquest verdict into the drowning death of Mrs. Myrtle Gamble Jamieson of Longview was withheld today pending completion of an investigation by homicide detectives.

The practically nude body of the 29-year-old woman was recovered from the waters of a lagoon at Fair park yesterday afternoon after a male companion said he had unsuccessfully attempted to save her from drowning.

Relatives said Mrs. Jamieson, formerly of Henderson, was a good swimmer.

The man, who said he had met the woman only a short time before her death, was held for investigation.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

THE most interesting part of my trade is the mail I get from my readers.

No matter what the subject is about which I write, there are invariably two kinds of letters I receive. One kind blesses me for what I have said and agrees with me thoroughly, and the other kind calls me a darn fool and an evil influence upon the children and adults of the nation.

BRANDEIS

Last night I read a book which had been warmly recommended to me by a friend whose opinion I value highly.

I would get many ideas out of this book, I was told, and it would keep me enthralled.

I read the book, and it bored me to extinction.

There wasn't a line in it that interested me, the writing was bad and the thoughts worse.

* * *

When I saw "Harvey" some time ago, I was enchanted.

To my mind it was one of the best shows ever produced.

An out-of-town publisher asked me what show to see.

"Harvey, by all means," I said.

He went, and the next day when I saw him at luncheon, he told me he had never been so disappointed in his life.

And so it goes, and maybe it is good that it is so.

If everybody liked the country the country would be overcrowded.

If everybody like the city the housing shortage would be even worse than it is now.

How fortunate that every man doesn't like the same woman and every woman the same man.

Frank Sinatra has a bad enough time as it is, and probably he feels very happy that millions of women dislike him as much as my wife does.

* * *

I WOULDN'T be a bit pleased if everybody agreed with me all the time. Life would be very monotonous.

A young husband came to me not long ago. He was very disconsolate.

"I just had my first fight with my wife," he said. "You have no idea how unhappy it makes me. Shall I call her up and apologize?"

"No," I replied emphatically "She is probably reveling in the thought right now how nice it will be when you come home this evening and the two of you make up."

The next day I saw him again. He was beaming.

"You should have seen the wonderful dinner I had last evening," he said. "I never knew my wife could cook so well."

After dinner they went to a movie show and after the show they danced and had a wonderful time. Nothing was said about the fight of the morning.

Peace, it is wonderful, says Father Divine.

But peace, seasoned with the spice of disagreement, is also a delectable dish.

Control Of Germany Big Problem

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

AMERICAN members of the Allied Control commission in Germany have already discovered that keeping the vanquished nation in a state of permanent economic subjection present a more difficult problem than they had anticipated. The British and Russian sections have had a similar experience, according to confidential reports.

The bread-and-butter needs of the occupying forces and the local populace have necessitated the rebuilding and reopening of numerous units of the Reich industry, which was such an integral part of Hitler's war machine that their representatives in foreign countries served as Foreign Office spies.

TUCKER

As a result of the drain which the Japanese conflict still imposes on the shipping and industrial resources of the British and the United States, the Control commission considered it advisable to manufacture immediately essential articles on the spot.

Krupp, for instance, is making structural steel for the U. S. Army so that the railroads, bridges and local trolley lines can be put in operation. We need these supply and communication lines to handle our part of the policing assignment.

The Ford plant in Cologne is turning out 500 trucks. The International Harvester company's factory will soon resume production of agricultural implements required on the farms. The Zeiss optical works is again doing business.

* * *

WATCH: German coal mines will be running full blast as soon as they can be conditioned to provide fuel for the Reich and other nations in Central Europe, especially France. Economic experts tentatively prefer that solution to the seemingly impractical Ickes proposal that the United States ship six million tons abroad.

Although the Russians have not permitted outsiders to inspect the areas under their supervision, Soviet officials have deliberately embarked on a program for their own domestic system and to provide their people with necessities. They will collect their share of reparations in the form of so-called "slave labor."

The British carried out their bombing missions on an extremely selective basis in the target area assigned to them by SHAEF. Whenever possible, they spared factories whose production would be useful in the postwar period — a strategy which brought charges that they were going easy on industries in which Threadneedle Street had a financial interest. (Actually, Churchill's fliers directed their night assaults on the workers' homes so as to reduce their operating efficiency and numbers, while our units blasted the plants themselves in daylight raids.)

Regardless of the reasons in each separate zone, it is a fact that German industry is still a sleeping giant. Field Marshal Montgomery said after a tour of the ruined Reich, "I don't agree with people who say that Germany is down and out. The country is down on its knees and needs watching." And he thinks that this new protective "Watch on the Rhine" may have to be kept for 10 years at least.

* * *

BRITAIN: The British Labor Party's stunning victory over Winston Churchill's Conservatives may have a deep and direct effect on the system of postwar economy in the United States. The outcome amazed all save a very few political observers in Washington, and sent our industrial, business and governmental experts into a somber study of its possibilities.

The result seems to place Britain in the parade of European and Asiatic nations which are shifting "left of center" because of wartime sufferings, boredom and hardships. Since the Attlee-Bevin forces ran on a program for nationalization of certain key industries — coal, transport, steel, utilities — it marks a departure by our commercial rivals from the system of free private enterprise for government-controlled cartels in the field of foreign trade.

Russia, of course, is a completely closed and controlled country in every way. De Gaulle has proclaimed that he means to nationalize certain industries. France will continue that course if he stays in power. As nations under international supervision, Germany, Japan and Italy cannot be free trading units.

* * *

CARTELS: The practical question now confronting American industrialists and government experts is how our firms can do business in these countries unless a similar order is established here. Although both FDR and President Truman have denounced cartel arrangements, it may be that our industrial and agricultural producers will have to fall back on Uncle Sam as their foreign agent, shipper, financier etc.

Otherwise, our traders may find themselves at the mercy of government-backed competitors while their own Washington officials lodge antitrust suits against them.

Thus President Truman may have to reverse his predecessor's policy in a violent and sharp manner. Ironically, New Deal reforms need to be carried only a bit farther to cartelize our basic industries under sweeping federal aid and protection.

* * *

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

EXPERT observers probably will conclude — after all the facts are weighed — that the British working people decided that uncontrolled private enterprise is unable to rebuild their war-shattered nation and therefore kicked out the Tories.

The tendency at this distance is to assume that either the Churchill leadership was repudiated or that there will be merely a shuffle of men in high places since Prime Minister Attlee and other Labor chiefs were in the old Churchill war cabinet.

What really happened is much more revolutionary and will have its repercussions in the whole political end economic world.

LEMAN

Actually, the main issue was personal security, heightened by the average family's fear of postwar unemployment and distressing living conditions.

The opponents of the Conservatives demanded: 1. Jobs for all. 2. Swifter housing provision. 3. A better break in education. 4. Health aid. 5. Freedom from want resulting from accident, sickness and old age. 6. Drastic control and eventual nationalization of mining, steel, power, inland transport and the central bank of England. 7. Land reform.

The United States, Japan, Germany, Europe and India were the side shows for intellectual debaters. The down-to-earth campaigners harped continually on civilian grievances. Again and again Labor orators used the phrase "New Deal" —so the slogan which Roosevelt invented became the arrow that brought low his friend Churchill.

* * *

REFORMS: The radical press in U. S. A. shouts that England is swinging toward Communism. But responsible British publicists now in New York, representing all three rival parties, deny that that is so.

British Socialism predates Moscow's brand of ideologies. The trade unionists are hostile to Russia's system of state-controlled unions.

The swing may bolster the morale of the leftists on the Continent; it leaves President Truman as the most conservative member of the Big Three (and he is no Hoover). But although the results stem from the same economic dissatisfactions and fears which agitate the workers on the continent, the British Labor leaders are not fire-eaters and responsibilities should tone down their more reckless followers.

Britain is a land where excessive wealth and extreme poverty exist side by side. No American millionaire's mansion is finer than the homes of the dukes. This unbalance has stimulated a class struggle much deeper than we over here have realized.

The best friend of man is the dog and his worst enemy is man.

Nation Must Plan Prosperity, Stokes Says

Mead Committee Gives Warning

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The challenge embodied in providing full-scale postwar employment is beginning to impress itself, perhaps somewhat belatedly, upon Washington. The effect is very sobering.

It is the outstanding fact in thinking here now. For it is the test as to whether our system can survive. Realists here recognize that now.

A number of developments have dramatized, abruptly and suddenly, this challenge faced by our whole free economy — government, industry, business, labor, farmers and the rest, and the political institutions through which we govern ourselves and manage our free society.

STOKES

The most obvious development is the British election. It revealed to the United States that the other great democracy in the world is ready to embark upon a program much beyond anything contemplated here, to provide security for its people.

It is not true, as some alarmists are shouting, that the British decision leaves us the last free, democratic nation in the world. The British have done nothing so sweeping. Yet the election shows the lengths to which democracy must resort to accommodate itself to the complications of society today.

* * *

Committee Sounds Warning

Another awakener was the report by the Mead War Investigating committee of the Senate. After criticizing the delay by the government in reconversion plans, the lack of government work programs to tide over the emergency, and other aspects of the current situation, the report made this startling assertion:

"Should the war in the Pacific end soon, it will find us largely unprepared to overcome our domestic problems."

Strong words, when analyzed. Unless reconversion is speeded up, the report says, unemployment on a large scale will ensue, and unemployment on a large scale "creates an inertia which is very difficult to overcome and will seriously interfere with achieving prosperity."

* * *

THE Mead committee is no group of radicals, but is made up of practical men who have taken a look at the facts. Their recommendation is that the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion, now occupied by John W. Snyder, a conservative St. Louis banker, be given direct control of all war agencies, so that responsibility can be centralized.

Reading the Mead report is a sobering experience. But for a real sobering up there is recommended the testimony being presented before the Senate Banking committee in behalf of the so-called "Full Employment" bill.

This measure would authorize the President to make up, annually, a national Production and Employment budget setting forth the facts on employment and on private and government investment, so that a program might be formulated annually in conjunction with a joint Congressional committee to maintain full employment.

* * *

Planning Deemed Necessary

This would be done through encouraging private investment and, if that were insufficient, by government investment and work-producing measures.

This would be "planning," a word that has again come under some disgrace. Just why is hard to understand, since planning has been an outstanding feature for years of our government, as well as the British. Republicans as well as Democrats have planned ahead.

"I am not afraid of planning," said Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), one of the bill's sponsors. "Unless a free government undertakes to plan for a free economy, than we are in danger of losing it."

* * *

THROUGH a series of charts, Senator O'Mahoney showed the magnitude of the problem facing government and industry. A yearly production of 200 billion dollars, which we only have achieved in the war, will be necessary to provide jobs for the nation's regular peacetime force. This force will be increased by 1946 or 1947 by 12,000,000 more than in 1940, the last peace-time year.

Senator Morse (R., Ore.) also noted the "atmosphere of concern" about the postwar problem, explained the British election decision as due to young men coming home, and seeing little opportunity, and determined to get security.

He said, likewise, that our young men returning home, who know that full employment has been achieved through war, will expect that it also be achieved in peace, and "you're not going to be able to tell them that they've got to go through a regular cycle of unemployment."

Strong Army, Navy For U. S. Said Needed

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 2. (AP)—Rep. Paul Kilday, member of the military affairs committee of the House, urged a strong army and navy to back up the charter of the United Nations here today.

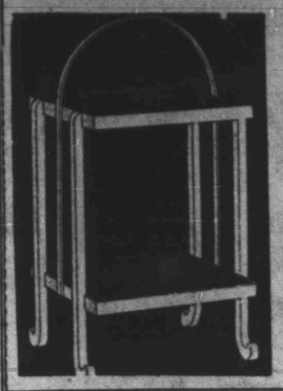

"For the United States to ratify the United Nations charter is useless unless we back it with a strong Army and Navy," Rep. Kilday declared. The whole concept of maintaining the peace was based on the idea of first using peaceful means to settle disputes and then if these failed to be able to back them up with force, he declared.

Man-Wife Rule Misinterpreted

Hopes were doused again Thursday among faculty members at Texas Tech, upon receipt of a letter from State Comptroller George H. Sheppard which nullifies interpretation of an appropriations bill rider by an Associated Press story from Austin, as carried in Wednesday's Journal.

Wednesday's AP story said the attorney general's department had noted certain exceptions to the appropriations rider restricting employment of husband-wife combinations in state departments and educational institutions and quoted the attorney general as saying: "If both were employed during the month of January, 1941, the employment of both may continue."

Quoted Sheppard's Request

What the reporter at Austin did was quote from Comptroller Sheppard's request for a ruling on the rider which cited a clause in the present appropriation bill on the January, 1941 exception. The appropriations bill rider, which goes into effect on Sept. 1 does not make this exception.

"The clear meaning of the respective riders is that husband and wife may not both be employes of any of the state departments at the same time, and likewise they may not both be employes of any of the higher educational institutions at the same time," the attorney general's opinion signed by Ocie Speer, assistant, read. "There is nothing, however, forbidding their being employed, respectively, by a department and an educational institution at the same time," the opinion stated.

The letter, dispatched to G. W. McCleary, auditor at Tech, erased all hopes that Tech could retain its husband and wife faculty members and created turmoil again in the minds of several of the members on their plans for the future.

Whyburn Deeply Regretful

Dr. W. M. Whyburn, Tech president, who joyfully telephoned each faculty member affected Wednesday afternoon after learning of the Austin dispatch, was deeply regretful Thursday that the interpretation was erroneously made.

"It'll be an awful letdown," he commented Thursday, "and it would have meant so much to the college at this particular time, when a shortage of instructors is prevalent the nation over."

Faculty members affected by the restriction are: Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Gates, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Michie and Dr. and Mrs. C. D. Eaves, all with the exception of Mrs. Eaves being members of the original faculty; Dr. and Mrs. O. A. Kinchen, Dean and Mrs. James G. Allen, and Dr. and Mrs. Julien Paul Blitz.

PRICES DRIFT DOWNDARD

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (AP)—Stock market leaders, with scattered exceptions, resumed the downward drift today without touching off any real liquidation.

The principal excuse for the trimming of accounts and general stand-offishness was the desire to await publication of the Big Three conference results, released some time after the close.

Transfers of 600,000 shares were the smallest for a full session since April 9 and compared with 650,000 Wednesday.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .2 of a point at 64.4.

Prominent in the tumble were Santa Fe, U. S. Steel, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Kennecott, Douglas Aircraft, Du Pont, General Electric, Montgomery Ward and American Smelting.

Modest improvement was retained by Chrysler and M-K-T.

Bonds ended irregularly lower.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (AP)—Cotton futures displayed a heavy tone in quiet trading today, and closed unchanged to 20 cents a bale lower.

The approach of the first government estimate of the 1945 cotton crop due next Wednesday appeared to restrict interest in the market, particularly because of the spotty nature of the crop which makes private forecasting difficult.

Early gains of 35 cents a bale were registered on mill buying against textile orders, but when this had been satisfied the market drifted lower on scattered liquidation and some hedging. Spot cotton markets were quiet.

Futures closed unchanged to 20 cents a bale lower.

Potsdam Strange Sideshow For Press, News Lid Clamped Tight

By CHARLES ARNOT
United Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, Aug. 2.—Adjournment of the Big Three conference closed one of the strangest sideshows in journalistic history.

It was a sorry affair for the more than 100 correspondents who attempted futilely to "cover" the historic session. One veteran foreign correspondent summed it up:

"The world press took a helluva beating at Potsdam!"

Worry About Future

Press coverage—or lack of it—of the Big Three meeting probably was without parallel in the peacetime reporting of world events. Correspondents wondered whether it foreshadowed a future policy of cloaking all high-level international deliberations in secrecy—with rifles and bayonets to enforce it.

There was nothing at the conference remotely resembling freedom of the press. The complete hush-hush policy ruled out even the wartime practice of permitting correspondents to contact informed and reliable news sources.

For the past two and a half weeks, correspondents have been fed relatively unimportant, sometimes even inaccurate, morsels of news. Most of them were even laughable in the light of the seriousness of the discussions taking place.

Crowning Blow

The crushing blow came during the final stages of the conference when the press was informed that its request to permit reporters to witness the final session had been denied.

Instead, the conferees permitted one eyewitness to attend in the role of observer, but some of the information he brought back was cut by army censors.

One veteran correspondent described the incident as another example of "channel news" through official handouts and official spokesmen. This policy has been steadily increasing throughout the war. The only semi-official information during the entire Big Three meeting came from such handouts or spokesmen, while the Big Three and all those close to them were tightly enclosed in the Potsdam compound.

Censorship was an "off and on" business without explanation. Army officers, who ran the Berlin press camp, denied that they were operating political censorship.

But correspondents found it hard to discover what military security was involved in such censorship didoes as prohibiting Prime Minister Winston Churchill to be quoted directly in stories of his tour of the Reich chancellery, or in preventing any hint of Generalissimo Stalin's slight indisposition early this week.

Stalin's illness was finally recognized, but only after correspondents had misinformed their readers—on the basis of incorrect assumptions by an Army spokesman that the Big Three had continued its meeting last Monday.

There was also censorship of news at its source. For example, when British ATS girls toured Berlin they were not permitted to talk to anyone and were allowed only to give their names—because they were stationed in the compound.

Lamesa Boy Survives "Close Call" In Battle

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY, Italy—The story of how three American soldiers survived German machinegun fire and friendly tank and mortar barrages by playing dead as they lay exposed with a few yards of enemy emplacements was told after the final Fifth Army drive in Italy.

One of them was Pfc. Horace E. Brown of Lamesa, a member of company E, 363rd infantry regiment of the 91st "Powder River Tex." division. Brown, a rifleman, and the others, a squad leader and an automatic rifleman, were part of a platoon attacking a strongly-defended hill. They were fired on from a well-camouflaged machinegun nest while other machineguns opened up from the flank.

The officer in charge and key non-coms were wounded. Brown and the other two remained motionless and the Nazi machine gunners ceased fire. One of the three attempted to crawl forward and toss a hand grenade, and the guns cut loose again, and the trio's packs were ripped off their backs. They decided to play dead. Fire ceased. Unaware the three had not withdrawn with the rest of the platoon, friendly tanks and mortars placed fire on the enemy positions. For long hours, under a hot sun, Brown and his companions hugged the ground. When darkness came they cautiously moved away from the Nazi emplacement.

Pfc. Brown's mother is Mrs. Leotte Brown of Lamesa, Tex.

Fort Worth Man To Join C Of C Staff

The chamber of commerce announced Thursday that Dewey R. Knowles, 42, of Fort Worth, had become associated with it as membership secretary.

In addition to managing the membership department, he will perform other chamber activities.

Prior to coming to Lubbock, Knowles was director of extension for the Optimist International and while maintaining his home in Fort Worth, travelled throughout the nation organizing Optimist clubs. Through his efforts clubs were organized in New Orleans, Jackson, Miss., Rock Island, Ill., and Davenport, Ia.

He was also formerly the senior secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Fort Worth, and handled membership and finance for the organization. He is a member of the National Association of Membership Secretaries.

While Mr. Knowles only began his duties in Lubbock Wednesday afternoon, he has been conducting a research campaign for the local chamber for the past ten days. He and Mrs. Knowles are residing at the Hilton hotel.

(AP) — The Navy has announced posthumous award of the Air Medal to William Clark Lyde, aviation radioman 3/c for "meritorious achievement" as a combat aircrewman in a torpedo plane against Japanese shipping in Manila bay last November. His wife lives at 2215 W. Hickory, Denton, Tex.; his father, William Ruffus Lyde, is a resident of Henrietta, Tex.

Pfc. Lonnie Shelton On Philippines Says War Far From Over

WITH THE 37TH (BUCKEYE) DIVISION IN NORTHERN LUZON—So you think the war is over? Germany is out, Okinawa is secure and there's nothing left in the Philippines but a little moping up. That is a reasonably accurate picture from a broad strategic view point.

But you may take it from Pfc. Lonnie Shelton, 156 S. 8th, Slaton, nothing is further from the truth to the little man on the front line.

Let's shove off this morning with Shelton and his company of the 129th Infantry of the 37th Division. Shelton's squad will be the forward element in this thing called "mopping up." You're in the rugged mountains of Luzon north of Santa Fe in Balete Pass.

Here's the lead tank and there's Shelton and the squad. That's an American tank all burned just behind us. That's as far as the men pushed last night when Jap tanks and guns got that tank. Several infantrymen and four of the tank crew were wounded.

If we want to see what Shelton and his men are up against, we'd better scramble up with the patrol. It's tough going and sure is hot.

"I see the rear tread, just a bit of it," Tullock said when he had reached the top. They were up in front now with Napton and Peterson, too, and he doesn't look much worried about his 102 points now. He and all the rest are mighty Jap conscious.

The tank is too hot to climb upon. But that rubble you can see through the hole in the armor shows how little there will be to see.

The squad follows the draw to the road. It's only about 20 feet. The men hit the dirt when the tank across the road opens fire.

Our tanks return the fire and route out a dozen Nips from positions near their tank. Our tank is hit, but every gun in the platoon is now on the Japs. Halftracks mounting four .50 caliber machine guns move up and join the battle.

Let's take a look at our tank. Five infantrymen are wounded, but the aid man says only one is serious. Three Jap shells hit the tank, one nicked the tread and the other two merely dented the strong armor plated side. The exploding shells got the infantrymen as they moved behind the tank.

It's a little past noon and Shelton and his buddies have a K-ration lunch before moving off again.

Claims By Jobless Show Small Increase

AUSTIN, Aug. 2. (AP)—Layoffs from war jobs have had small effect on the number of claims for unemployment benefits in the first half of 1945 but indications are the claim load may increase materially in the last half of the year.

This is the report of Harry B. Crozier, employer member of the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission who noted in an analysis 11,815 claims for the first six months of this year against 9,389 for the same period in 1944. Benefits were $356,076 and $247,287, respectively.

Part of the increase was due to the fact claimants received an average of $2.40 more per benefit this year than last. Another increase may be expected after Sept. 1 when an amendment to the jobless benefit law increases the maximum weekly benefit from $15 to $18.

As of July 21 Texas had $149,308,804 in its jobless benefit fund, including $11,890,851 in interest credited since 1936 when the fund was created. The fund is invested in government securities.

Crozier said the commission contemplates no heavy run on reserves this year since it is believed industry will continue to absorb the major portion of workers separated from wartime jobs.

Endocreme helps make the face and throat more youthful looking again

What would you give for a younger, more attractive skin of face and throat? Well, for most women, this is possible with ENDOCREME. This is because ENDOCREME acts to improve the skin itself, not merely its superficial "look"... improve it to a degree hitherto thought impossible. ENDOCREME, with its 8-year record of success, contains that great discovery, ACTIVOL. This ACTIVOL is an effective, scientific replacement for woman's own natural skin-vitalizing substance. Absorbed by the skin, it helps restore the normal growth of cells and tissues. Coarse, dry, seamy, ageing skins tend to become fresher, firmer, smoother, lovelier, and more youthful again. How better can you spend your cosmetic dollars? Try ENDOCREME. Many report big improvement in only 30 days.
