

Kracker Krumb's Odd Bits Salvaged at Random

Our town is making progress.

Much of it—steady progress—is being done without the general knowledge of the public. Not because anyone wants to withhold facts from the public, but because much of the details are worked out within meetings of the City Council.

So the inquiries go around, "What are they doing?" "What are they gonna do?"

Some of the things that have been done and are being done are as follows:

Already to date, several thousand feet of new sewer lines have been laid. These are making sewer facilities available to sections of the town that have not had these facilities in the past.

Some 13 thousand feet of water mains are in the process of being laid. These are larger mains in many instances, giving residents more water pressure and an abundant water supply.

A number of additional fire plugs are being laid, or will be, installed, reaching outlying districts of the town that have had no, or little, fire protection. This has come about by a steady building program in past years, and new home have been built outside the old zone of fire protection.

And this fire protection will also aid in lowering the insurance rates within the city.

Munday's water supply is being doubled, so there will be no fears of a water shortage as long as underground water holds out.

Munday's two water wells have been "punched." One of these has been tested and proven to be a strong well. The wells will be placed in operation soon.

A large reservoir, complete with sand trap, treating plant, etc., is being constructed on the site of the new wells—a 3-acre plat in the southwest part of town.

New lights are being installed in the near future. This project includes several mercury-vapor lights in the business district.

A survey made of the town, and a number of "dark places" were found—places that needed to be lighted, and lighted they will be.

Some 30 lights are being placed in the residential sections, in places where the survey revealed they were most needed.

Now take a firm grip, and sit tight! Here comes the last, but by no means least, of the city's projects on this road of progress:

Munday is to get a new sewerage disposal plant!

That's been the $64 question with many local residents. And it's gonna happen!

The city has already purchased 23 acres of land, 1½ miles northeast of town for the new sewer disposal plant. Work on this projects is expected to be completed within 60 days.

In studying the situation, the City Council decided they could purchase the land and construct a new disposal plant as cheaply as they could repair the old one.

Our guess is that it'll be just as modern as a disposal plant can be made. And that "old gripe" about the old plant being right within the city limits will be made no more.

The old plant will be completely dismantled, officials said, and done away with. The land on which it is located will be done away with, too, as far as the city is concerned.

Their plan is to sell this land out as lots—and the money used for other improvements and progressive moves by a progressive little town, if the plan

Munday To Get New Sewer Disposal Plant; Completion Set In 60 Days

Completion of a new sewerage disposal plant in 60 days!

That is the estimate given by M. F. Billingsley, mayor of Munday, this week as he announced that work is being started on the new disposal plant.

The City Council has purchased 23 acres of land 1½ miles northeast of Munday, on which the new plant is being located. If completed within the 60-day period, the new plant will be in operation around the 15th of November.

Members of the City Council received estimates on the new structure and upon repairing the present system. They found that the new plant could be constructed at approximately the same cost of repairing the old—$14,000.

The only additional cost will be in constructing sewer lines to the new plant location, which will run around $20,000, Mr. Billingsley said.

When the new plant is in operation, the old one will be completely dismantled and the land sold out as lots.

Other improvements being carried out by the city include completion of the two new water wells and reservoir, laying of several thousand feet of sewer mains, 13,000 feet of new water mains, installing additional fire plugs for fire protection to outlying districts of the city, and installing more street lights, both in the business section and in the residential districts.

Knox County Is Included Within Disaster Relief; Funds Available

"Knox County has been included within disaster relief program under Public Law 875. Letter follows:

The Times received the above telegram last Saturday from Congressman Frank Ikard in Washington, giving information that farmers and ranchers of drought stricken Knox County have become eligible for relief under the above program. The relief program is being extended to a wide area, as the drought continues in the Southwest.

In his letter following the telegram, Mr. Ikard said:

"With reference to my telegram regarding the inclusion of Knox County within the disaster relief program under Public Law 875, the Housing and Home Finance Agency has been allotted Three Million Dollars to be used as advances for reimbursement to the Department of Agriculture for use in meeting, if necessary, any unrecoverable portions of the cost of procuring, transporting, and distributing cattle feed in order to relieve the serious shortage."

The P. M. A. office at Knox City announced Wednesday that prices for hay distributed under Public Law No. 875 will be:

For legume hay, $36 per ton; mixed hay, $32, and grass hay $28.

It is anticipated that hay can be delivered directly from railway cars, and an effort will be made to arrange with local feed dealers for unloading and delivering the hay. A deposit of $5 per ton will be charged.

Moguls To Play Iowa Park For Season Opener

Coaches Vernon Leverett and Waymon Pestole have the 1952 edition of the Munday Moguls in final periods of training this week in preparation for the season's opener next Friday night.

The Moguls will open their 1952 season on their home field, playing the Iowa Park Hawks. The Hawks have had strong teams in past seasons, although in another district and not playing the local boys, but the Moguls expect a tough battle for their first game.

Local coaches have made several changes in both the line and backfield, as the local boys have developed enough during training periods to determine to what positions they are best suited.

Fans will see some good football, it is predicted, in the opening game, and practically all local fans are expecting to be on hand rooting for the home team.

The Boy Scouts will be in charge of the reserve seat section for this game.

Preliminary Work Is Completed For Local P-TA Unit

(MRS. BRUCE BURNETT)

Winding up its preliminary preparations, the P-TA executive committee met last Monday afternoon in the grade school with representatives of the school faculty. Dominating the discussions were plans for the traditional faculty reception, a concentrated membership drive, and a designated prize to the class with the largest number of parents joining.

The membership drive is planned to begin this week and last two weeks and an attempt to make a personal contact with prospective members will be made. Membership fee is fifty cents for each individual and $1.00 for both parents. There will be a five dollar prize to the room with the highest representation of parents. All parents are urged to join the P-TA. Mrs. Lonnie Offutt heads the membership committee.

Mrs. Vernon Brewer of Brownfield was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moorhouse and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Moorhouse and children several days last week.

Women Help Husbands As Work Is Started On Gillespie Baptist Church

On Monday, September 1, an old landmark—the Gillespie Baptist Church—began to disappear as men and women of the community began razing the old building in preparation for constructing the new church edifice.

Men and women—that's right—set their hearts and hands to the task, and now the old building has been completely torn down, all available lumber that could be used in the new structure cleaned up and ready for use. As the men dismantled the structure, women with hammers began pulling nails and cleaning up the lumber.

From 10 to 15 men worked every day, and they were joined by from 6 to 8 ladies who visited a new place of worship as they toiled.

Foundation for the new building had already been laid.

The new structure will have an auditorium 32x50 feet, eight Sunday school rooms, a small departmental room, kitchen and rest rooms. It will eventually be a brick veneer structure, although the congregation may worship in the building a while before the brick are added.

"We hope to worship in our new building by November 1st," Rev. Roger Butler, pastor, said Monday. "While construction is under way, we will meet in the Sunset school building and regular hours of worship will be observed."

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

OSKALOOSA, IOWA, DAILY HERALD: "It will be a great day for this country when a man's freedom of choice as regards union membership is as zealously guarded by labor leaders as they guard the right to strike."

DOVER, DEL. STATE NEWS: "While the Federal government is aggressively carrying on a campaign for comprehensive and liberal social security, it has been undermining the foundation of the program by diluting the purchasing power of the dollar through deficit financing during eighteen of the past twenty-one years. By following unsound fiscal policies, the government is making it increasingly difficult for the American people to provide for their own security, and this in turn compels them to turn to the government for aid."

EMPORIA, KANS. GAZETTE: "All of us today are suffering from too much 'taking away' and none of us like it. The next pay envelope or pay check you receive will reveal what we mean. Take a look at the amount of Federal withholding in tax which the government tells your employer must be 'taken away' from your earnings and the shrunken condition of your take home pay, and you'll join with everybody—even the Demo politicians, the big city machine bosses, the New and Fair Dealers, the Palace Guard and the social planners in hollering loudly, 'Don't let 'em take it away!'"

SOMERSET, PENNA. DAILY AMERICAN: "It is time that the line should be drawn between Americans who believe in individual liberty and those who believe in freedom and those who believe in government controls, those who follow the precepts of the Founding Fathers and those whose eyes turn towards Moscow."

CONSUMER NOW TOP MAN

For the first time since 1941, retail trade as a whole shows a relationship to the nation's overall economic activity comparable to that prevailing before the last world war.

That is the gist of an analysis recently made by the Institute of Life Insurance. The analysis was based on Department of Commerce statistics showing the relationship between the annual volume of retail sales and the gross national product from 1929 to now.

The Institute said, "What these figures tend to confirm is what has been becoming apparent for some time—that the war-caused era of shortages has been replaced by a more normal type of demand in which prices and consumer decisions when and whether to buy are of primary importance."

"In essence, therefore, barring unforeseen developments, the American economy has reverted to its traditional competitive basis."

Today's consumer can see plenty of evidence of that fact with his own eyes. During and for some time after the war a great many commodities were in very short supply and some were almost non-existent. It became a truism that anything was salable, no matter how shoddy it might be. The consumer had small choice when he went to market. Today the situation is utterly different. There is an abundance of practically all consumer goods, and in some line supply is substantially greater than demand.

The result is that every merchant must fight for his trade. He must offer all possible inducements—better stocks, lower prices, more attractive services and so on. The buyer again calls the tune.

WE CAN LEARN FROM CANADA

John G. Forrest, financial and business editor of the New York Times, recently wrote, in the course of an article on Canada's tremendous industrial development, "Washington could learn a great deal regarding finances from Canada. Henceforth, all Crown companies—which are owned by the Dominion Government—and which in general compete with private business, will pay a Dominion income tax for the first time. And at standard rates!"

In this country socialized enterprises not only is free of all or most taxation—but eats our taxes in tremendous quantities in the form of never-ending subsidies.

The most conspicuous—and expensive—examples are the government power projects. TVA is typical. It makes nominal contributions to local government "in lieu of taxes" and that's all. The loss of Federal, state and local governments, measured in the light of what business-managed utilities doing the same volume of business would pay, is huge. By soaking all other taxpayers more than otherwise would be necessary.

This is true of every socialized producer and distribution of electricity, from the Federal projects down to the municipal systems. No sound case can be made for tax exemption. Public power projects are not basic functions of government, such as the building of roads, which work to the benefit of all and can be freely used by all. They are commercial enterprises, selling a service, and they compete with commercial enterprise. In the name of simple justice—to say nothing of the taxpayers—they should be based on exactly the same basis as private business is taxed.

Yes, we certainly can learn a lesson from Canada in this respect!

OUR COUNTRY IS FREE

Sometimes we use our freedom badly—forget about it—trade it cheaply—and fall to fairly give as much to some as others. But we know no people on earth have more freedom, or love it better, or will fight so hard to keep it.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Against Any New Plan To Let The Bureaucrats Decide Just When He Ought To Retire

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek is off on a topic he seems to be an authority on.

Dear editor:

I read the other day where some expert in Washington has come up with the idea that arbitrarily fixin' 65 as the age to retire is an impractical notion. According to him, some men at 65 aren't near ready to retire, lots of good work still left in 'em, and there are some who can go on to 75, even 80 or beyond. Claims the Government could save a lot of pension money this way.

Accordin' to him, you can't have a set rule on automatically retirin', your 65th birthday ain't no way of determinin' whether you're ready to stop or not.

I want you to know I am opposed to this new idea 100 per cent. If there's any freedom left in this world, it ought to be freedom to retire without bein' inspected, but if this new idea gets goin', don't you know the first step will be to set up a board to decide when a man's ready to quit work?

Like it is now, all you have to do is hold together until you're 65; you can start almin' at it from way back and when you get there you can retire and draw a pension, but under this new system they'd be around inspectin' you, probably havin' you flex your muscles, have you plow a few rounds, chop a few acres, pound you on the back, and then take 90 days to mail you back a report on whether you're ready to retire or not.

Thunder, we don't want any such system. When a man gets ready to retire, he oughtn't to have to ask anybody. Just drop his hoe and walk to the shade and sit.

In fact, if he wants to retire when he's 50, or 40, or whenever he can swing it, that's his business, too. In fact, under my system, retirin' ain't no sudden move, like jumpin' into a tub of cold water, it's a gradual thing. It ain't good for a man to be pulled up short and have to stop working all at once, he ought to start early in life, easin' up on the thing, gradually doin' less and less, so when the time comes to retire there ain't hardly any noticeable change.

There ain't nothin' more pitiful than a man who has worked hard all his life suddenly not havin' anything to do. Some folks say the way to avoid this is to not give up, keep workin', but my idea of the way to avoid such a catastrophe is to plan your retirement early in life and work up to it. I got mine in such shape I won't even know I'm retired unless I mark it in the calendar.

How to Sharpen Shears

A SIMPLE method of sharpening an old pair of scissors is illustrated. Drive a 6-penny nail into a wall, as shown. Draw the jaws of the scissors their full length over the nail, as though you were cutting it. A moderate, even pressure is required during the several strokes needed to put an edge on the blades. Cutting into a piece of sandpaper or emery paper is another commonly used method of sharpening a shears.

Methodist Women Begin New Season With Luncheon

(MRS. BRUCE BURNETT) "Proclaiming the Good News" is the cheerful theme of 1952-53 programs and "O Tell Ye the Story" was the topic of the main address at the opening session of the Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service when they began their new work year with a festive luncheon in the Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church here.

Assembling at 10:30 A. M. in the church sanctuary, Mrs. Doyle Ragle led the group in a worship service, after which W. S. C. S. President Mrs. J. D. Crockett introduced Rev. Doyle Ragle, who spoke to the group. A promising young singer of Munday, Miss Carla May Booe, sang "There's Wideness in God's Mercy" accompanied on the organ by Mrs. M. F. Billingsley.

Following the program, the women gathered for lunch in the Fellowship Hall. Focal point of attention at the luncheon tables was a decorative fruit bowl with clusters of bachelor buttons making a colorful accent on the white tables. A buffet luncheon was served, and a brief business session followed. A note of surprise and gaiety was injected, when Mrs. Ragle stimulated the group with a variety of amusing games. Mrs. J. C. Borden and Mrs. Bruce Burnett were hostesses.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Narrow Town—Broad Outlook

The wife's cousin Ben, and Belle his bride are back from honeymooning in the Rockies. Took them to dinner last night at the Garden Tavern. Ben told about the trip: "Went through a town in Idaho that was only 100 feet wide. No kidding! Built into a long, narrow canyon. And it shares those 100 feet with a railroad track that runs right through the hotel! "To get gas there we had to park right on the tracks. Suddenly Belle screams—'there's a train coming!' But the gas fellow just laughs and says we were there first. Blamed if the engineer didn't stop the train and wait, too!"

From where I sit, it's a good illustration of how people can learn to "think of the other fellow" so that the community benefits. Railroaders and townspeople, Democrats and Republicans, malted milk fanciers and those who prefer a temperate glass of beer—we all have to share the same space. Let's maintain our neighbor's "right of way."

GM to Sponsor Football Telecasts

General Motors will sponsor the television football "Game of the Week" this year on the nationwide-63 television station network of NBC. In co-operation with the National Collegiate Athletic Association, GM will televise 11 selected games on successive Saturdays during the football season, concluding with the traditional Army-Navy game in Philadelphia November 23. The first game to be televised will be the Kansas-Texas Christian game at Lawrence, Kan., September 20. William F. Hufstader, GM vice-president in charge of distribution staff, is shown signing the contract for the games as Asa S. Bushnell, NCAA official (center), and Paul Garrett, vice-president of public relations staff for GM, look on.

Before World War II days, in the summer, they served dinner in San Antonio on the roof of the Hotel Gunter porch which extends out over the sidewalk. The St. Anthony in San Antonio has the quietude of an English club. If anyone coughs, the others sitting around the lobby look toward the offender and frown.

The Gunter is more my kind of hotel. Its lobby is the meeting place of ranchmen, of convention delegates who are whooping things up, and of the general public. Somewhat like the Texas Hotel in Fort Worth, the Windsor in Abilene and the Paso del Norte in El Paso.

Sophisticated Dallas of course has no equivalent.

Home grown feeds, especially pastures and other forages, are the cheapest and best feeds for dairy cattle. Using a silo for storage is one of the best practices dairymen can follow—"canned pasture", that's a descriptive term for silage, should be included in every dairy cow's menu at certain times during the year.

Be careful. Observe state and local traffic laws.

Production Credit Officials, Employees Attend Conference

Mr. J. D. Gillespie, Field Representative of the Stamford Production Credit Association in charge of the Munday field office, recently returned from a group meeting of the field representatives and other production credit association employees and officials held in Fort Worth on September 4th and 5th. Also attending this meeting were the representatives from the Crockett, Corsicana, Plainview and Stephenville Production Credit Associations. According to Mr. Gillespie, the purpose of the meeting was to discuss mutual problems and exchange ideas on how to better serve the members of the associations represented.

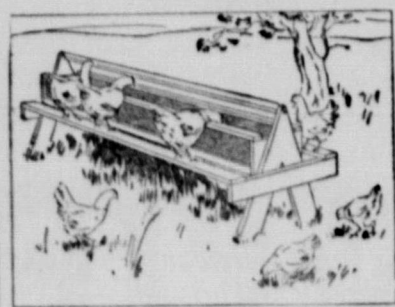

The Stamford Production Credit Association was organized in 1934. It is completely owned and operated by its 1500 farmer and rancher members. It makes loans for agricultural purposes to its members in Knox, Haskell, Jones, King, Kent, Dickens, Stonewall and Shackelford counties. In 1951 the 36 Production Credit Associations in Texas loaned over 162 million dollars to Texas farmers and ranchers. Mr. Gillespie reported that loans amounting to $681,386.00 were

'Peek-Proof' Poultry Feeder

EFFICIENT feeding of the laying flock is as important as providing a properly-balanced ration. To assure maximum egg production, the poultry raiser must provide ample feeding space for the hens. Several portable, sturdy, dry mash feeders are the answer to the feeding problem.

Experience indicates that every 100 hens should have not less than 30 or 32 feet of space at the trough. In a 20' x 20' house containing 100 hens, four reel mash feeders, like the one shown, should be provided. This U-bottom feeder minimizes waste and keeps the feed clean. Feed is readily accessible. With plenty of feeding room, even the non-aggressive hen will get her share.

Reel mash feeders, which get their name from the revolving piece of 1" x 2" lumber mounted on spikes to keep the hens from perching over the trough, are 4' long, 21" high and 16" wide. Recommended for the trough portion is Masonite 1/4" Tempered Presdwood, because of its toughness and durability. A piece 4' long and 1 1/4" wide is needed. Other material required: One piece of 1 by 6 lumber 7 1/4 feet long, a 1 by 8 1/2 inch board, another that is 7' long, and a 1 by 2 that is a half inch longer than 4 1/2 half pound each of eight-penny and four-penny nails.

A detailed plan of the U-bottom feeder may be obtained free by writing to Farm Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 West Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., and asking for Plan No. AF9119.

In addition to Mr. Gillespie, those attending the meeting from the Association were: Mr. J. L. Hill, Jr., and Mr. Gerald Proctor of Stamford, and Mr. Elgin Carothers of Anson.

Electric Power
PRODUCTION FOR FREEDOM

America must produce more and more to stay free! And the key to that vital production is an abundance of electric power. With only six per cent of the world's population and only a small fraction of the world's natural resources, American workers . . . utilizing enormous quantities of electrical energy . . . produce nearly half the world's goods.

That abundance of electrical power is provided by the heavily taxed, privately owned electric companies financed directly or indirectly by the savings of private citizens. Since 1945 those privately owned companies have spent $10 billion to increase the nation's electric productive capacity 50 per cent; and in 1954 another $8 billion will step up generating capacity 100 per cent.

Here in West Texas, your electric service company by 1953 will have increased its capacity for production 151 per cent since 1945. Yes, the privately owned electric companies have proved their ability to provide more . . . and more . . . and more Electric Power for Production for Freedom.

Lucky You

by Dick Shaw

Lucky you—you won that argument without losing your life

By JOHN C. WHITE, Commissioner

THE SOIL SAVING ARGUMENT

For a number of years, much time, effort and money have been expended on a vast educational and promotional program devoted to improving soil saving practices.

This program is gradually taking effect. Farmers in Texas, especially are becoming increasingly more aware of the importance of saving our soil for future generations. But every major undertaking has its obstacles. And the soil conservation movement is no exception.

Four major reasons loom as to why the farmers are not applying all the beneficial practices recommended for their farms. They claim:

1. Mortgage debts and high operating and living costs make it necessary to borrow to establish these practices.
2. Many rental agreements do not provide for sharing costs of soil conservation with owners of the land.
3. Many farmers do not expect to live on their farms very long. This group includes renters with short-term agreements and owners who expect to sell or retire so soon that they could not benefit from these practices.

4. If these soil saving practices were established, farmers would have to change their major farm enterprise.

To elaborate on these reasons, many farmers said adoption of all practices would make it necessary to change from cash crop and grain-consuming livestock such as hogs and fattening beef cattle, to roughage-consuming livestock such as beef and dairy cattle. They claimed the time and expense involved prohibited the change.

Over one-half the tenant operators surveyed said their rental agreements did not provide the share-the-cost clause. This was especially true in crop-share rental contracts. Nearly half the owner-operators had a mortgage debt which averaged about $4,000. Other farmers said high fixed costs kept them from making additional cash soil outlays.

These arguments have valid points. As a result, continued technical assistance on how to overcome these obstacles may be necessary. It may also be desirable in some cases to give financial assistance where it is requested and definitely needed.

But those who adhere to the short-sighted policy of neglecting soil work because the land will not be in their hands much longer have nothing to recommend them.

The land will be here long after we are gone. We should pass it on to the next generation of farmers in a better condition than we found it.

Church Leader Celebrates 96 Birthday

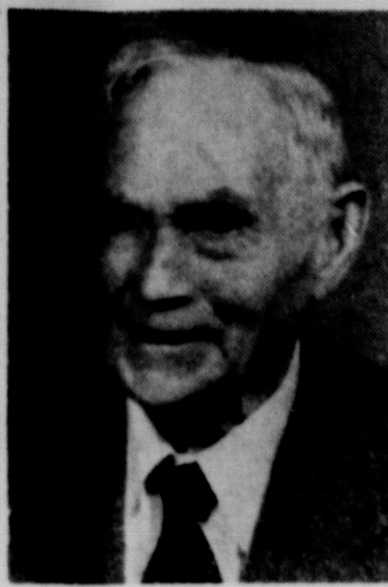

A. U. (Uncle Happy) Hathaway, beloved local resident and loyal church worker for 79 years, celebrated his 96th birthday last Thursday. He didn't go fishing, as he had planned, but enjoyed visits from his friends and relatives.

An ardent fisherman, Uncle Happy says he's been employed as a tombstone salesman during recent years just to finance his fishing trips. He frequents the small lakes around Munday, and sometimes gets in a trip to Lake Kemp.

Uncle Happy has been teaching Sunday school in Baptist churches for 79 years, and is still active. Illness gets him down occasionally, but it isn't long until he is back teaching the youngsters. Thousands of children have enjoyed his sermonettes during the years.

A native of Arkansas, Mr. Hathaway was born September 4, 1856, and moved to Louisiana as a child. Portions of the Civil War were fought within view of his home in Louisiana. He has resided in Munday for 28 years.

In addition to his wife, mem-
