Bid Let for Widening US 83 From Lutie to Elm Creek Hill

Highway construction contracts let in September by the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission include Collingsworth County area work.

The work will be supervised by District Engineer Lewis H. White of Childress. A contract was awarded to Ivan Dement, Inc., Amarillo. Low bid was $1,369,733.74.

The project, which will require an estimated 200 working days, will be under Department Engineer O.V. Johnson of Wellington.

The contract is for grading, structures, foundation course, asphalt stabilization base and hot mix asphaltic concrete pavement on US Highway 83, from Farm to Market Road 1439 to 4.2 miles south of the Wheeler County line, a distance of 6.8 miles.

Work is due to begin in two to three weeks, Mr. Johnson said after he talked with Don King, general superintendent for Ivan Dement, Inc. While in the county, Mr. King was hunting a source of water to use on the job.

This project will start at Lutie, where the new divided highway ends and will extend to within about a mile of Elm Creek. It will be a two-lane road, with a 10-foot shoulder on each side, similar to the highway north of town three miles. This is considerably wider than the present road.

Mr. Johnson said that the present lane will be reworked completely.

All work up to the application of asphalt can be done this winter.

Employment on the road is expected to be about like that during construction of the Wellington-Lutie road.

A number of these workmen will be staying in Wellington if they can find places to live. Supervisory personnel is also expected to be here to be near the Wellington office of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Mr. Johnson also said that plans have been completed for closing the unpaved stretch of FM 3070 in the northwest part of the county and these will be submitted shortly to the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Post Office Begins Consumer Complaint Service

A nationwide Consumer Service Program designed to improve and broaden the quality of mail service was announced today by Postmaster L.B. Bratten.

Beginning Oct. 1, the U.S. Postal Service will introduce a program at the Wellington Post Office and other offices across the nation to encourage mail users to register problems they may have with their mail service.

At the core of the program is a consumer service card, through which problems are identified and which postal managers attempt to expeditiously resolve.

The Consumer Service Program reflects Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar's determination that mail services to the public will be "friendly, courteous and efficient, as well as speedy and reliable."

"Good service is a far broader concept than just fast mail handling, as important as that is," the Postmaster General says. "It is also built on employee courtesy, our responsiveness

Rockets Open District Season Against Memphis

Wellington Skyrockets open District 2-A play on their home turf Friday, October 3, against the strong Memphis Cyclones. This is the team that was rated No. 4 in the state at the beginning of the season.

And it is the way the Skyrockets and their coaches are looking at this week's opponents.

With the opening of district play, game time will be 7:30 p.m.

"It's going to be another big battle," declared head coach James Williams.

"Memphis has quite a few boys back from last year's team that went to the state quarter finals. He believes the winner will be the team most ready when playing time gets here."

"Memphis has a real good passer in Ricky Miller, all-district passer from last year, who is in quarterback position. The Cyclone has a good running back, Charles Briley, one of the starters last year."

"And in young Kirk Fields, they have a back who gained 162 yards against Lubbock Christian College last week."

The Cyclone has four or five starting linemen on offense who are back from last year, and about the same number of the defensive unit also.

When it comes to experience, Memphis by far the most experienced team in District 2-A, due to the number of post season games the team played last season. This was especially true for the boys who were the young players last year.

At the beginning of the season, Memphis was picked to win the season. Wellington was rated second by some, while others allotted that place to Clarendon.

"We are getting our kids ready and it will come down to who makes the least number of mistakes," believes Coach Williams. "I look for a real close game."

PAT McALISTER HONORED

Pat McAlister, who is moving to Spur, was honored twice Tuesday, September 30. County Agent Don Reeves, top, presented him with the 4-H Alumni pin, as a former club member who has served present clubs. Below, Sandy Parsons, president of Chamber of Commerce, presents a plaque in appreciation of his service as a director and as chairman of the Collingsworth County Fair.

Wellington City Budget Hearing Will Be Oct. 6

The public hearing on the 1975-76 budget for the City of Wellington will be held Monday, October 6, at 8:00 p.m. in the council chamber of Bura Handley Community Center.

All persons are invited to be present for consideration of the budget. The council studied the budget at its last meeting, September 15, and amendments proposed by the council members have been made.

The budget was prepared by Don Wells of Shamrock, the city's auditor, and calls for an income of $405,687, with expenditures of $368,859.

Those attending are free to ask questions or seek explanations at the hearing.

Commissioners Seek To Keep Constitution

The Commissioners Court of Collingsworth County has asked Governor Dolph Briscoe to exert action in preserving the present Texas Constitution.

The action was taken in a special session September 23, and at the same time the court requested that a week in October be designated as State Constitution Appreciation Week.

"After due consideration of all available facts, we come to the conclusion that our present constitution is fulfilling all our needs," said Judge Zook Thomas as spokesman for the court in a letter to Governor Briscoe.

The Commissioners court order, which was enclosed, read:

"A motion was made by Commissioner O'Hair, duly seconded by Commissioner Hartman, and carried unanimously to ask Honorable Dolph Briscoe, Governor of Texas to designate a week in October of 1975 as State Constitution Appreciation Week. The present constitution has served the State of Texas well for 100 years. It has been properly amended and kept up to date to meet the growing needs of the people. It has been tried and tested in the courts and found to be good and workable, continuing to give private enterprise a safe foundation for investment."

Mrs. John Henard, County Pioneer, Dies Friday

Mrs. John R. Henard, Sr., whose life spanned the county's history to its earliest years, died in Collingsworth General Hospital Friday, September 26, at 7:15 p.m. She was ill only two days and died two days before her 90th birthday.

Active in the community until the end of her life, Mrs. Henard was also one of the early teachers in the area. She was the wife of one of the county's prominent ranchers until his death in 1968.

The family home is 1713 Park Lane.

The former Emma L. White, she was born September 28, 1885, in Hunt County, the daughter of Samuel G. and Mary Bumpas White. She came to Collingsworth County with her family in 1892.

In the early years of this century, she taught in Childress and Hall County schools, then in the Wellington School.

Mr. and Mrs. Henard were married May 16, 1909.

Living on a ranch in the early years of her married life, her home was always filled with children from neighboring homes. As her children became older, their friends again enjoyed the

Five Firemen Attend Training School at Canyon Wednesday

Five members of the Wellington Volunteer Fire Department attended a fireman's training school in Canyon Wednesday, Sept. 24.

They were Buster Hughes, former fire chief, Lonnie Driver, Elmer Green, Danny Gray and David Peters, the present chief.

Each fireman had the opportunity to extinguish a fire.

First was the "Christmas Tree" fire, which consists of numerous pipes projecting from a larger pipe and fueled by LP gas.

Next was the LP gas tank fire. The object was for the firemen to go in behind water laid in a fog pattern and turn off the gas.

Third was a semi-tank truck fire, which is known as a pitfire. Next those attending the training school extinguished an overhead storage tank fire.

The final session included a garage fire, with an automobile burning inside, followed by a house fire.

Lessons were completed about 10:00 p.m. and firemen went to the Canyon Community Center for a hot supper, prior to returning home.

These are common fires which firemen in a volunteer department, such as Wellington's unit might be called on to fight. In training schools such as these, the men are taught to extinguish the blaze as quickly as possible with safety to themselves.

SUNFLOWER CROP

These sunflowers, planted in July, are in a field owned by Lee Roark immediately east of Lutie. Guy Brandvik of Quail is the operator. They were planted in July, after other crops had been destroyed.

Sunflower Acreage Approaching Harvest

Several area farmers who experimented with sunflowers this year will know within a short time if this will be a profitable new crop or if something they already raise will pay more per acre.

Most of this acreage is in Childress County and was contracted to Farmers Co-op Gin at Hollis.

Virgil Patterson has harvested his sunflowers with a yield of approximately 1,000 pounds per acre, which he believes will be about average for the area, but still

PTO Begins Year with Plans for Future Events

Wellington Parent-Teachers Organization held its first meeting of the school year Wednesday, September 24, to plan events of the coming year.

Bob Copeland, elementary school principal, discussed regulations relating to attendance.

He stressed the need to improve classroom attendance and pointed out that the number of teachers the school has is determined by actual classroom attendance and not the enrollment.

Children who are ill certainly should not be sent to school, he pointed out, but it hurts the school system when children are taken out for other reasons.

The current fund-raising project, sale of a micro-wave oven, was discussed and Mrs. Earl L. Bartlett, president, announced that $140 was taken in at the PTO Booth at the Country Store of the Collingsworth County Fair. Each classroom was asked to be responsible for raising $100.

The Halloween Carnival, an annual event, will be Saturday, October 25, at Elementary School. Mrs.

Jimmy Langford will serve as chairman this year with Mrs. Glenn Warrick as co-chairman.

Mrs. Langford assigned games and food items to

Gary Cummings Writes Of Life in Germany

A Wellington soldier who finds Germany a beautiful country with many things to do is Sp/4 Gary Dean Cummings, assigned to the 39th Finance office in Ludwigsburg.

He wrote something of this to his grandmother, Mrs. R.H. Isbell, recently.

"Germany is a beautiful hospitality of her home.

One of her lifelong qualities was the encouragement she gave to the boys and girls she taught, and also to those she knew throughout life. She was keenly interested in the ranching and banking enterprises of her husband until his death in 1968.

She was a long-time member of First United Methodist Church and its women's organizations, which she attended only a few days before her passing. She belonged to La Paisana Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and with the last year appeared in its Constitution Day activities at school. With DAR, she planted trees in Pioneer Park.

Joining other members of Wellington Garden Club, Mrs. Henard helped to plan and carry out the beautification of the three cemeteries, including the wall and marker at Fairview.

She worked with the flower show of Collingsworth County Fair for a number of years, and only three weeks before her death she won awards in competition for flowers she had grown.

Mrs. Henard valued education and learning and saw that her children received as much as each wanted. Within herself she felt the need to be well read, and even when busiest devoted some time to further her education through reading. Funeral services were conducted Sunday, September 28, at 2:30 p.m. in First United Methodist Church, with the Rev. James Boswell officiating. Friends filled the church sanctuary.

Pall bearers were her seven grandsons: Dan Henard, Jr., Joe John Henard of Amarillo, Larry Glenn Henard, Andy Edd Henard, John Robert Henard, III, Jim Henard and Bill Henard.

Burial was in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home. Survivors are two sons, John R. Henard, Jr., and Edd Henard of Wellington; three sisters, Mrs. Roy Vaughan of Amarillo, Mrs. Frances Collins of Artesia, N.M. and Mrs. Ken Rowland of Sunland, Calif.; one brother, Sam White of Encino, N.M.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Henard was preceded in death by her only daughter, Mrs. Ed (Mildred) Taylor, a member of the Art Department faculty of UCLA, Los Angeles, in 1968, and by her oldest son, Dan Henard in 1969.

country and everywhere you go there is something," he wrote. "There are castles, rivers, mountains, and everywhere you look you can see the German people working in the fields."

Most of the work, he added, is done by men with horses and wagons. There are many small tracts of land.

He compares Ludwigsburg to Wellington in many ways. However, it has a considerable amount of industry.

"I guess the biggest factory is the nutcracker factory," he says. There is a Fiat automobile plant, also. Cummings finds the crystal factory interesting, especially the glass blowing rooms where tiny swans, horses and other things are made that GIs can buy.

The town has a bowling alley, snack bar and recreation center especially for the GIs, Cummings writes, and this is not counting the gymnasium and library. There is TV, but the programs shown are those the men saw in the United States a year ago.

Not far away is the city of Stuttgart, which Cummings feels is comparable to Amarillo in its relation to the smaller towns.

He finds the name of Ludwigsburg interesting. "It was named after the so-called mad king Ludwig. I don't know the story behind it, but I do know he had quite a few marbles missing," wrote the soldier.

Cummings is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cummings.

As far as size is concerned, Memphis has a little advantage over Wellington. The Cyclone tackles are quite a bit larger than the Rockets. Their backs are large, but the teams are about equal in the speed category.

"I think there will be a lot of passing," the Rocket head coach predicts. They have a good thrower and he'll be throwing.

"They have had some injuries, but these men were held out last week so they can be ready and I'm sure they'll all be back when they play us, Williams said.

Wellington boys are in good physical condition," the coach added. "We came out of the Childress game in real good condition. In that type of game, with two fine teams playing and with lots of physical contact, you can get some injuries. I was so glad we will be full strength against Memphis."

Coach Williams voiced his appreciation to the fans:

"We really appreciate the tremendous backing we got against Childress. It was probably the biggest crowd we've had, and it's really inspiring to see that many people turn out and back their home town team."

considerably under the yields on the plains.

Mrs. Patterson said the crop suffered early insect damage, and spraying was ineffective. This is one of the drawbacks which caused a number of county farmers to turn down sunflowers this year.

Bill Owens has an experimental crop at his place about 20 miles south of Wellington, and he will not harvest these until after frost.

Mrs. Owens said they did not spray the sunflowers and she was sure there was damage to the crop.

Two fields of sunflowers on land owned by Lee Roark just east of Lutie are being watched closely by farmers in that area. Guy Brandvik of Quail is the operator.

Both fields were planted in July and are just going out of bloom. These sunflowers are a low-growing type which farmers in the area feel are more desirable.

Another Wellington farmer growing sunflowers in Childress County is Bob McAlister.

Those having contracts will get 15 cents per pound on those sold, according to Jim Darnell, manager of the Harmon County Farmers Co-op.

Mr. Darnell said experimental plots in Harmon County have yielded as high as 1800 pounds per acre. Other acreage harvested has yielded from 1400 to 1700 pounds.

to customer needs, the sympathy and understanding we bring to your own expectations of what good postal service is all about."

Postmaster Bratten urged customers in Wellington to bring their inquiries and complaints to the attention of postal managers. And if people feel their problems have not been properly handled, the Postmaster said, they should see him personally.

To make it easier for a customer to make a suggestion or complaint about postal service, the new consumer service card will be available from letter carriers and at post offices.

According to Postmaster Bratten, the card is two postal cards with carbon paper between them. "One copy goes to me or a station superintendent so work can begin on the problem," he said. "The other goes to Postal Service Headquarters in Washington for cataloging and analysis. The cards will help management spot problem areas and trends and take corrective action if necessary."

The Consumer Service Program was tested earlier this year in Illinois, Mass.,

Arizona and Rhode Island. Postal Customers in the test found the cards easy to complete and most complaints were resolved to the customer's satisfaction.

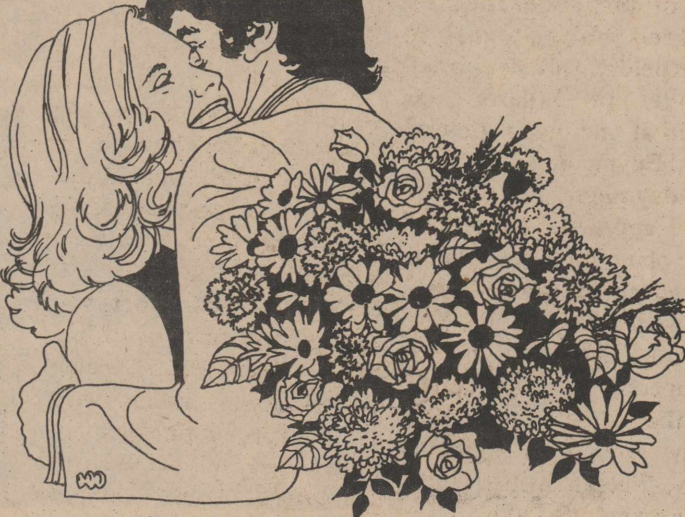

The card should take no more than two minutes to fill out. The postmaster also said he and his staff are willing to discuss any problems, including lack of courtesy, irregularities in deliveries or collections, collection box convenience and postal office hours.

"We want you to come to us with your problems," concluded Postmaster Bratten.

"The whole point of this service program is to bring your problems and gripes out into the open where we can attempt to resolve them."

Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fielding were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Neel, Sheriff Elmer Neel of Memphis, Cpl. Chester Neel of Ft. Sill, Okla.; Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Allred of Woodland, Calif., John B. Anderson of San Antonio and Mr. and Mrs. Jarrell Fielding and Rebecca of Pampa.

VERN HAWKINS - 25 YEARS EXPERIENCE

Cairo Opens Door to Egypt's Ancient Life

(This is third in a series of articles by Dr. Dorothy Jane Holman describing her visit this summer to ancient civilizations of the Middle East and Mediterranean area.)

Dr. Holman is an associate professor at San Diego State College, San Diego, Calif.)

The Sabena plane trip from Brussels, Belgium was a new experience with an airline that did not seem to be in the business to provide comfort or courtesies to the passengers and the abruptness of the stewardesses bordered on rudeness. Nevertheless, after a brief stopover in Athens, we arrived at our destination of Cairo, Egypt, at 11:30 p.m. Thursday night, July 31st.

As I approached the door of the plane to disembark on the movable stairs, I was somewhat shocked to see several Egyptian soldiers with machine guns strapped over their shoulders walking slowly around the ground below. Seeing armed military became an "old" sight that I was accustomed to before my journey ended in the next five countries we visited, nevertheless this first sight before midnight in Cairo—a name I had only known how to locate on the map before—caused me to feel uncomfortable and scared. As I reached the bottom step I realized the passengers were walking directly from that point into the lighted terminal.

As I hastened my steps to keep up with the group, I had to pass two armed soldiers and approach the airport entrance between two others. The only description I can give is that it was "eerie" feeling like an unreal fantasy or dream. Just as I was conquering that feeling, I looked above and was shocked to see just hundreds of people jammed into the balcony which was located clear across the back of the terminal building—all staring at the incoming people. Noise was at a minimum for so many people.

Prior to entering the terminal, I turned to look backward at our place and saw that there were two other planes nearby, white painted in green with EGYPTAIR on the side of the plane a sketch of what appeared to be the head of an animal or bird on the tail. We had been warned that NO PICTURES could be taken at the airports in Egypt or Iraq, and I was disappointed that I could not record my first view of one of their beautiful planes.

None of us were totally prepared for what lay beyond those doors. For the next hour it was chaos and pandemonium! People shoving, pushing, speaking every language but English, and people by the hundreds hanging over balconies above in the terminal outside of the official customs and baggage area.

To fully understand the discomfort of this scene, you must know that air-conditioning appears to be unknown in Egypt except on the planes, and we were arriving in one of the hottest months of the year in the middle of a week-night.

The sound of voices was so loud that we would almost have to scream at one another to be heard. While I juggled my hand luggage and over-shoulder bag, I had to have my PASSPORT and airline tickets in my hand in order to proceed through the first section of the individual passageways terminal where some lines were formed.

Just as I arrived at the front of one line, an official of the airport said all of us with the "American group" should come to his desk. I then moved to the back of the line by this official, and was soon to discover that other members of our group were continuing through the first line I had been in, and I was somewhat delayed.

After I finally got to the desk, he took my passport and tickets and proceeded to talk to another official. I guess it was from that moment on that I realized what a disadvantage it is to be limited to the languages of English and Spanish when I was in Arabic, Grecian and Italian speaking countries. Finally he returned my papers and I proceeded to the next desk, where our interpreter Mohamed El Dorry from Eastmar Company was greatly expediting our group through customs and immigration.

Here my passport was returned and I was not allowed to proceed. Because I couldn't understand why, our interpreter finally interceded and discovered the first official had not stamped my visa nor affixed the proper stamps. Finally I was cleared to enter the "Baggage Claim" area. One member of the group did not find her luggage, and unfortunately in it was 81 rolls of film she was expecting to use as our "official group photographer" for the trip, plus all her personal belongings. Dorry and she filed an official claim and we finally proceeded to a bus for our ride through Cairo to our hotel.

Dorry let the group out of the airport in single file between all the hundreds and hundreds of people inside and outside the terminal. At this time of night it seemed so strange for people to be in a public place after midnight just watching other people. Most were not leaving nor meeting friends or relatives as we do in the USA.

As we traveled through the streets to inner Cairo to the historic old Shepherd Hotel, I soon found thousands and thousands of people were everywhere on the streets, jammed into trolleys, and busses and cabs. Most men wore the long dress typical of their country. Night life in Cairo goes until about two a.m. Autos, busses, and cabs pay no heed to lanes in the roads, but just honked and honked and speeded through any vacant space on either side of the streets they could find.

As I looked out of my window block after block, I had a "flash" of recall of the problem in London if you did not get to the "Tube" by 11:30, you would soon find you could not get public transportation to your destination. Even the pubs closed at 11 P.M.! What a difference to find such different life styles across the world. I was later to learn that in all these countries of the Near and Middle East, as well as Greece and Italy, the daytime heat halted all movements of people between approximately 1 and 4 p.m.

Finally we arrived at Shepherd's Hotel, and once we were off the street, we found ourselves in the familiar surroundings of a spacious lobby with marble floors, uniformed hotel clerks, and a bell captain and assistants dressed in an Egyptian type uniform of a rosy beige color trimmed in black braid.

My room was actually a suite of rooms with entrance hall, built-in closets with drawers, vanities, an enormous bathroom with separate niches for the toilet and two sinks.

The bedroom was arranged with two couches which made into beds, plus several other extra pieces of furniture.

When I opened the door behind the draperies, I found each room had a balcony where the beautiful Nile River could be seen. The view was magnificent in the moonlight, and if the honking vehicles from below had not continued to disrupt my enjoyment of the moment, I was positive I was dreaming that I was actually viewing the river where thousands of years of history have enveloped so many civilizations.

There were two rattan chairs and a table on the balcony, but I was too tired to totally relax anywhere but in the bed.

I did struggle downstairs to the small office below the hotel lobby where foreign exchange of money could be changed, and cashed some traveler's checks. This process would seem to be simple business transaction, but I found here, and in the many countries yet to come, that it was a test of one's patience to wait in line, wait to present your passport, wait for the page-long forms to be completed, and wait to be given a currency you did not feel capable of using in stores and restaurants where everyone else spoke a different language than you. It is a laborious and dull procedure and a great waste of an individual's time in visiting foreign countries.

I suddenly wondered how on earth foreign correspondents moved behind Kissinger's fast travels and always had the proper moneys with them—they must carry one package of money from each country in all the countries he expects to visit! Unbelievable! Obviously they would have to carry their own typewriters because I never saw one anywhere between my departure from London and my arrival in Rome, Italy. And with the problem of Telex and telephones, getting the news back to the states must be an almost impossible job! As I returned to my room that evening, I saw men and boys sleeping in doorways of other buildings and the street outside the hotel. I felt very privileged to crawl into a bed with clean sheets. At this moment, and many others thereafter, I was reminded of how we in America take such simple things for granted.

The next morning we met our guide for Cairo and were immediately taken to The Egyptian Museum only a few blocks from our hotel. Built in 1901, the contents are extraordinarily valuable to the world in that it contains some of the oldest known artifacts of civilization.

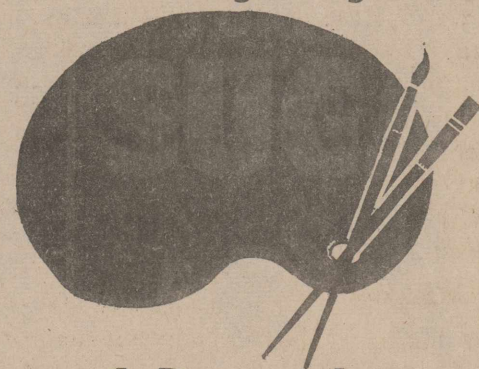

It seemed incredible that I was actually viewing jewelry, pottery, furniture, masks of gold, magnificent art pieces which were actually dating back to 3200 and 4000 years B.C. INCREDIBLE! While at the same time I was in awe of these discoveries of tombs, where for many dynasties the people believed in an afterlife and spent most of their earth days preparing for their death, I was astounded to discover how ill-kept and dirty the museum itself was. No modern environmental controls were observed—open windows high in the walls allowed what air was in the museum.

MRS. PATRICK WAYNE ROBERTSON

Edith Black, Pat Robertson, Marry in Baptist Ceremony

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Edith Faye Black and Patrick Wayne Robertson of Clarendon in First Baptist Church Saturday, September 27, at four in the afternoon. The Reverend Roy Collins, pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Elmer Black, 1710 Ellison Street, and the late Mr. Black. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Robertson of Clarendon.

Church decorations were an arch, entwined with emerald leaf, gypsophelia, and orchid asters in light and dark shades. Spiral candelabras, also entwined with foliage, were at each side.

Wedding music was presented by Miss Pam Vines, organist, and Miss Dana Perdue of Clarendon, soloist.

The bride was given in marriage by her older brother, Charles Black of Memphis.

Her gown, of white sheer, in empire design, was richly enhanced with lace, which edged the rounded neck and the hemline of the formal length skirt.

Lace motifs also were scattered on the bishop sleeves and formal length skirt. Matching lace banded her chapel length illusion veil, which fell from a fitted headpiece, also of lace. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and deep purple aster tips, with ouches of lacapodium.

Miss Zanna Jenkins of Canyon was the maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Judy Peters, Mrs. Terry Collins of Amarillo, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Charles Black of Memphis, sister-in-law of the bride.

Their floor-length princess dresses were made identically with the honor attendant wearing purple and the bridesmaids orchid. Low square necklines and short flared sleeves completed the bodice design. Their colonial bouquets were of asters, gypsophelia and lacapodium, with the honor attendant

Rockets-Bobcats Tie 13-13 In Fine Defensive Battle

By H.K. BALLARD

Playing before the largest crowd seen on Powell Field in some years, the fighting Rockets of Wellington dominated the play for three quarters of the game only to see the strong Childress Bobcats come from behind in the last six minutes of play to tie the score 13 to 13.

Penalties plagued the Rockets throughout the game.

Friday's non-conference game left both state-rated teams undefeated for the season with each side turning in a superlative defensive performance. The score stood 0 to 0 at the half following two rugged quarters of play.

The first half could only be called "defense". The game started with the Rockets kicking to the Bobcats 32 where Childress took over. After Childress picked up a first down a good lick by a Rocket defender caused a fumble and the Rockets recovered on the 48 yard line.

The Rockets failed to move the ball and George Brewer punted to the Bobcats 10. After exchanging the ball a couple of times the Bobcats looked as though they were on the move as they took the ball from their own 26 to the Rockets 38 yard line. But again the Rockets hard hitting defense caused another fumble and Don Allred recovered the ball for the Rockets. With the Rockets unable to move the ball, the first quarter ended with no score.

The hard hitting defense of the Rockets kept on all night long. The second quarter started with the Bobcats punting the ball away. Both teams exchanged the ball, staying near the mid-field. Just before the half was over the Bobcats looked as though they were going to take the ball in for a score. But their drive was stopped by a great interception by Rocket Shane Tarver. Unable to move the ball, the Rockets went in at half-time with the score Rockets 0 and Bobcats 0.

The second half began with the Rockets kicking to the Bobcats. Childress was unable to move the ball again in the second half. The Bobcats faced third and six, the Rockets responded with another recovered fumble, and Wellington took over at the 44. But the Rockets were not allowed to keep the ball long, for Childress' Collingsworth intercepted a pass and the Bobcats took control on their 15.

But a combination of Rockets Black and Davis quickly recovered the ball. Jackie Black caused the fumble and Jessie Davis recovered the ball on the Bobcats 14. Dan Ford ran for a first down on the 4 yard line. Two plays later Ford took the ball in for the first score of the game. The extra point kick missed and the Rockets found themselves leading highly ranked Childress, 6-0.

The Rockets kicked off to Childress and refused to allow the Bobcats to move the ball. On their next drive the Bobcats marched downfield from their own 36 to the Rockets 21. But the Rockets defense put it together and caused another fumble and the Rockets got the ball on their 16 yard line.

After moving the ball to the 42, Childress Collingsworth jumped on a loose ball and the Bobcats took over at the Rockets 44. But once again the Bobcats were unable to move the ball against the outstanding play of the Rocket defense. The Bobcats punted and the Rockets took over on their 20 yard line. The Rockets moved the ball from their 20 to the Bobcats 36 where they were riddled with penalties.

Facing fourth and long yardage, the Rockets punted. The Bobcats took control and started at the 20 and picked up one first down. Then three plays later, facing third and eight, the Bobcats' Sims passed the ball only to see the quick footed and fast reaction of Rocket George Brewer who intercepted the ball. With some excellent downfield blocking Brewer took the interception all the way, and the Rockets put 6 more points on the board. The extra point kick was good and the Rockets led the Bobcats 13 to 0, with just 5:51 left in the game.

On the first play from scrimmage after the kick-off, Childress' Sims passed to Ivan Johnson for a 65 yard T.D. The extra point kick was good and with 5:31 left in the game the Rockets lead was cut, 13 to 7.

The Rockets could not make a first down on their first series after the kick-off and Brewer booted a good punt, but a 15-yard penalty was called on the Rockets and the Bobcats took control on the 28 yard line. Moving the ball downfield with the help of penalties, the Bobcats made it to the Rockets 12. Childress' Sims passed to David Miller and the Bobcats scored again, tying the game. Wellington fans held their breath as the Bobcats prepared for an extra-point attempt that could have won the game for them. But the kick fell short and the score remained tied, 13 to 13.

The game ended in a tie, as the Rockets attempted a long field goal that fell short. This coming Friday, Nov. 3, the first district game, against Memphis, will be played at Powell Field. Starting at 7:30, the Rockets can expect to play before another large crowd. Let's all go out to cheer our Rockets on to victory.

Deck's Didactics

—by Deskins Wells

Speaker of the House, Bill Clayton told a Hereford audience last week that the county judges and commissioners were wrong in their opposition to the 8 constitutional amendments on the grounds that it is too expensive and too authoritative in removing local government from the control of the people.

Deaf Smith Commissioner's Court passed a resolution against all amendments just as did the Collingsworth County Commissioners Court as well as many others in the state.

"The new constitution would put local government in the hands of the local people for the first time," Speaker Clayton said flatly. "For instance, a majority vote of a county could create or do away with offices as needed and the people could even give ordinance power to county commissioners court. This is included in Proposition 6 on the ballot."

"Home rules will be granted cities of 1,500 persons instead of the previous limitation of 5,000 persons provided the local government proposition passes," Clayton said. This latter provision could be most important to the City of Wellington. At the present time Wellington operates under the General Laws of the State of Texas.

We will have more about the constitution in the next few issues. In the meantime there is nothing so informative as hunting up your old copy of The Leader and reading the 8 amendments yourself.

Wellington's football game with Childress was one of those battles where the fans from both towns can feel very proud of their boys and their team. Wellington was playing a state ranked team in a conference one grade above its class and many fans would have been satisfied if the Rockets could have held the Bobcats to something like a 27 to 7 score. That is what comes of thinking little. The Rockets dominated the play through three quarters of the game which wound up in a 13 to 13 tie.

Congratulations to every Rocket who set foot on the field last Friday. It was what the pros call an exhibition game. The game with Memphis Friday is for the record and may go a long way in determining the conference championship. It should be a gate crasher also. Here is hoping that the weather is as good for the coming game.

Asked Alanzo Cartwright about the new sign at what was formerly named the Wellington Gin. He said that he told Dale McLean at Elk City in August that he was going to paint a new sign when he finished getting the gin ready. The district manager told him to go ahead but to name it Cartwright Gin. That is what it should have been called all along.

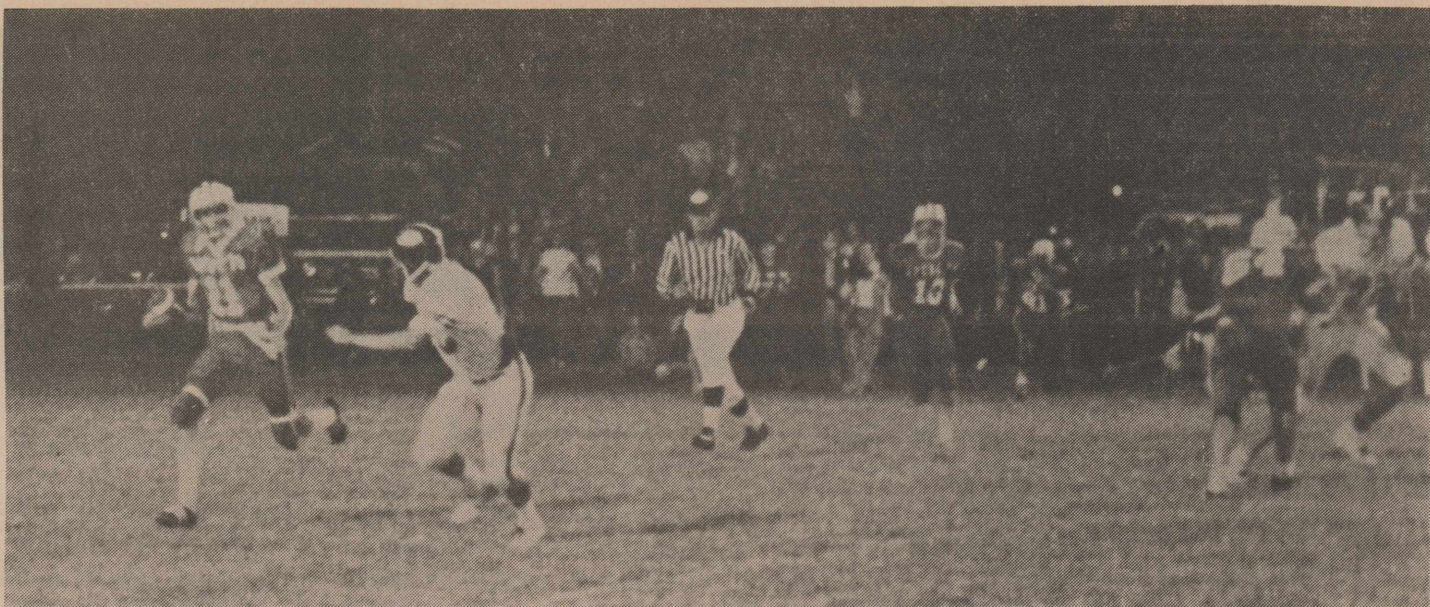

One Wellington fan said last Saturday morning: "The Rockets beat the Bobcats 13 to 7 and TIED THE OFFICIALS."

In the City Grocery the other day I remarked that I needed to gain twenty pounds. Thelma Masten overheard me and said: "If I could, I would be glad to give you twenty of mine." That's the way it is in life. Them that has it, don't appreciate it.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Karnes and Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Stafford of San Antonio spent a week fishing at Possum Kingdom recently. Mrs. Stafford and Mrs. Karnes are sisters.

While they were in the area they visited Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Thomasson and family in Fort Worth and Mr. and Mrs. Randy Corbin of Coppell.

REV. CHARLES SPICER

Revival Opens at Nazarene Church On October 6

Revival services will open at the Church of the Nazarene Monday, October 6, and continue through the following Sunday, October 12, according to the pastor, the Rev. J.L. Harrison.

The evangelist will be the Rev. Charles Spicer, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene at Prairie Point. Tom Wilkins will be the song evangelist.

Rev. Spicer and Rev. Harrison have been friends for a number years, having served in neighboring pastorates in Colorado. Rev. Harrison was at Brush while Rev. Spicer lived at Ft. Morgan and Arvada. In addition to his Colorado pastorates, the evangelist has served churches in Kansas and Oklahoma. He also was pastor of churches in Dumas and Pampa before going to Prairie Point, near Denton.

He has been a clergyman in the Church of the Nazarene for about 25 years and is a graduate of Bethany Nazarene College.

Hunting Guide Now Available

AUSTIN-Information on game and fish laws for upcoming seasons is contained in the new "Guide to Texas Hunting Sport Fishing Regulations, 1975-76" available where hunting and fishing licenses are sold.

This year's 24-page booklet from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department features county-by-county listings of seasons and bag limits for popular game species along with fishing regulations.

Also included is a county locator map to pinpoint any one of the state's 254 counties with specific notes on special game animals and birds which may be hunted in the counties under the Parks and Wildlife Department's regulatory authority. More detailed information is listed for licenses, tags and permits, minnows, fur-bearing animals and general freshwater sport fishing and hunting rules.

Regulations for migratory game birds and commercial and saltwater fishing have yet to be established by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission and are not included in the "Guide."

Students Make Fire Prevention Posters

Children of the Wellington Schools this week are making fire prevention posters, which will be displayed as part of National Fire Prevention Week observance.

Each child develops the fire prevention theme in his own way, and in past contests many of these have shown much artistic talent.

After the posters are judged, present plans call for them to be displayed in Wellington businesses before they are gathered next week to be shown at the annual Wellington Volunteer Fire Department Open House Saturday, October 11.

Winning posters are also entered in the State Fire Prevention Poster Contest, sponsored by the Texas Fireman's and Fire Marshall's Association.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Gene Bawcom this week are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P.E. Bawcom of Lodi, Calif. They will leave Friday. Other visitors for several days were Gene Bawcom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bawcom of Skellytown.

The boy was taken to Collingsworth General Hospital where he was examined and released.

Bargains are offered every week in Leader Classified Ads. Save money by reading them regularly.

Check Your Insurance for Complete Coverage

Our business is to cover your home and its contents, your business and merchandise, with a low-cost but complete insurance plan. Such coverage cannot prevent fire, but you can take measures to cut down your hazards. What it does do is cushion your financial loss in case fire does occur.

Be sure you are protected. Be certain your insurance is up to date, or mounting costs will cut the coverage of your policy. If you do not have insurance, come in and let us explain an insurance plan that will cover your needs at the lowest possible cost to you.

CJC Shows 38% Student Rise

Enrollment figures of 559 students for the fall semester at Clarendon College gives the college a 38% increase over fall 1974. Loyd Waters, Dean of Students and Registrar of the college announced the increase at the close of registration.

The increase is reflected in both areas of academics and vocational studies. Off campus programs are being taught in Pampa, Childress, Memphis, McLean, Wellington, and Valley High School.

Cub Scouts Hold Annual Member Roundup Thurs.

Wellington Cub Scout Pack 231 had its annual round-up Thursday, September 25 at 7:30 p.m. in the American Legion Hall.

John DeVoss opened the pack meeting by welcoming the new cub scouts, their parents and the guest speaker, William M. McElroy, scout executive of Adobe Walls Council from Pampa.

Mr. McElroy led the scouts and the leaders and parents in several fun songs. He then discussed the aims of cub scouting. This year the Adobe Walls council will have 5500 cubs, scouts and explorers with 1700 volunteer leaders.

Mr. DeVoss introduced the new officers which include cub master, Tommy Thomas; pack chairman, Mrs. John Green; secretary, Mrs. Glen Warrick and assistant secretary, Mrs. Lonnie Roberson; treasurer, C.A. Wilbur; advancement chairman; John DeVoss, communications chairman; Mrs. Bill Anders, publicity chairman, Mrs. C.A. Wilbur, project chairman, Bill Anders; and building chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Don Reeves.

DeVoss presented the denner's cord to Bryan Wilbur and assistant denner's cord to Brian McKinney. These were earned in the spring but there had not been an opportunity to award them earlier.

Game time was led by Mrs. Earl Lynn Bartlett and Mrs. Benson Long.

Seven new boys registered and will constitute a new den. Den mothers for this group will be Mrs. Robert Owens and Mrs. Danny Davis.

Den meetings for Den 2 are Mrs. Green and Mrs. Anders. Mrs. Bartlett and Mrs. Long are the den mothers for Den 34.

Den meetings will begin this month and the leaders will notify the boys at school the date of the first meeting. Any boy in the third or fourth grade that has not registered and would like to become a cub scout should contact one of these den mothers.

Den 2 won the attendance banner for the largest number present.

Hedley Plans Cotton Festival Oct. 10-11

Reigning as queen of this year's Hedley Cotton Festival will be Shauna White Monroe, who already has told the cotton story in Wellington.

The festival dates are Friday and Saturday, October 10 and 11.

Queen Shauna is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold White of Hedley, who have farming interests in Collingsworth and Donley Counties. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Obie White of Quail and Mrs. Merlene Sargent of Hedley.

The festival queen, besides advertising the festival at the Collingsworth County Fair, has visited Clarendon, Memphis and Amarillo.

Most of last year's festival entertainers will be performing again and all are expected to be back.

There are a few changes. The kiddies parade will be at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, preceding the festival grand parade at 2:00 p.m.

An addition this year will be an amateur hour talent contest from 5:00 to 6:00 p.m. Friday, October 10.

There will be three classes, peewee, teenager and adult. Trophies and ribbons will be awarded to SHANNA WHITE MONROE the winners.

The junior high band contest will be held during the grand parade. First, second and third place trophies will go to the winners. Wellington Junior High Band is expected to participate.

Among the new festival entertainers will be the Key Notes of Perryton, who will perform twice daily both festival days, according to Clifford Johnson of Hedley, who is helping with arrangements.

Woodroe Farris is chairman of this, the 24th annual Hedley Cotton Festival.

Faith Baptist Shows Family Film October 5

TIME TO RUN, a film that is a mixture of problems and solutions, will be shown at Faith Baptist Church at First Street and East Avenue, on Oct. 5th beginning at 7:00 p.m.

Filmed on location in the Southern California area, "Time To Run" stars Ed Nelson, Randall Carver, Barbara Sigel, Joan Winnill and Gordon Rigsby. Nelson plays Warren Cole, a hard driving success-oriented industrial and scientific engineer who, because of over-involvement with his work, has failed to communicate with his wife Fran, played by Joan Winnill, or their son Jeff, played by screen newcomer Randall Carver.

"Time To Run" allows the viewer to become involved on any one or more of the three different levels. Viewed purely as entertainment, it's the suspenseful story of Jeff's attempts at sabotage in the nuclear generating plant conceived, designed and managed by his father. Jeff strongly feels that the plant is a threat to the environment, and he puts his feelings in action.

Eighth Grade to Play Memphis There Thursday

Wellington Eighth Grade football team, the Firecrackers, will play their first district game Thursday, October 2, against the Memphis eighth grade at Cyclone Field. This is one of four games between football teams of these schools this week—Skyrocket-Cyclone; Junior varsities, eighth grade and seventh grade.

Game time for the eighth grade game is about 6:00 p.m., as soon as the seventh grade game ends.

"We'll be playing back in our league this week," said Coach Bruce Dollar. "Our first two games, with Hollis, saw us playing against a team made up of eighth and ninth graders, and that one year of experience makes a difference."

Wellington has won the Junior High District 2-A championship for four consecutive years, and both the boys and their fans are counting on this tradition, plus a little luck, to go a long way toward victory.

The Firecrackers have a 0-2 record, having lost both games to Hollis 20-8.

Wellington's Fire Department Serves Us with Distinction

National Fire Prevention week, October 5 through 11, calls attention to one of our most valuable groups, the Wellington Volunteer Fire Department. It has served Wellington with distinction for approximately half a century.

It never has more than 25 members, but all of these men are skilled in their abjective, fighting fire. Wellington has been fortunate in that membership turn-over is small. Some have records of 25 years of service. Their dedication is to be admired.

These men train and polish their skills twice a month, year around. Besides this, they receive additional training from time to time by professionals whose full time is devoted to refining fire-fighting methods. Each year, a limited number train at Texas A&M University. Recent years have brought changes in the type of fires which these men are called out to subdue. New types of construction, use of LP gas, and other factors make their work more difficult. It is with this in mind that they are now trained.

Wellington people will have an opportunity to learn more about its fire department during fire prevention week, and especially at the Open House planned for Saturday, October 11. That is a visit each person should take. Having done that, each of us can then spread the word of the fine work the Wellington Volunteer Fire Department is doing.

Four-H Week of Special Interest to Collingsworth

The designation of October 5 through 11 as National 4-H Club Week should be of greater significance to Collingsworth County, in view of the excellent program that is carried on here.

At the same time recognition is given the boys and girls, it should also be given the two outstanding extension agents who have directed their work, Mrs. Arla Felts and Don Reeves. Certainly it is time for the community to say Thank You to Mrs. Felts, who is resigning to become Potter County home extension agent. Few agents make so big a step after only three years with the service.

Later this month, the annual 4-H Awards banquet will be held, when club members are rewarded for outstanding work.

Parents of these boys and girls are usually there. But such a program is an eyeopener for the general public, especially those who have never belonged to 4-H or who no longer have children in the program. These are knowledgeable, capable, young people, whose work is a credit to the county.

Much they learn in 4-H relates to things every homemaker and every young man living in a farming community should learn. But with the Collingsworth 4-H, there are other things that are special. The Sears sewing project for girls was a pilot project for the United States. The steer projects in which county boys rank so high in the largest state livestock shows are possible through 4-H. Constant recognition is due 4-H year around, but a good time to voice it publicly is in National 4-H Week October 5 to 11.

Members Lend a Hand

The Dallas School Board, beset by busing, budget and other troubles, recently decided to trim the cost of educational TV from the district's expenses. But the citizen members of Channel 13, which provides the programming, believe in this service, and they are backing their belief the hard way—with their own money.

More than 1,000 people gathered at Channel 13's annual membership meeting a few days ago and voted to raise the extra money themselves to pay for the instructional programming. About $95,000 will be gathered, so that Dallas school-children can continue to gain the benefits of educational TV.

Add those Channel 13 members to the list of people in Dallas who are trying to find solutions instead of contributing to the problems. They are demonstrating the quality of public spirit behind public television in this area.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Two hundred and fifty Texas liberals met here recently to talk 1976 presidential political strategy and threatened to challenge the new presidential primary bill.

The group, led by Democratic National Committeewoman Billie Carr, said winner-take-all provisions of the primary law—designed to help presidential aspirations of U. S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen—may tend to deprive minorities of delegate strength.

Ms. Carr indicated the primary act would be challenged under the Federal Voting Rights Act, designed to protect minorities.

Liberals, determined to make things tough for Bentsen and Alabama Gov. George Wallace in the 1976 primary, remained undecided what course of action to follow.

They will meet again October 25 and November 22. Ms. Carr urges filing of uncommitted delegate slates for national nominating convention seats from all 31 senatorial districts.

Others prefer lining up behind one of the serious liberal presidential contenders, and still others want to file delegates for a "favorite person" like former U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough or Ms. Carr.

Meanwhile, the liberals heard sales talks from representatives of six potential presidential candidates.

Trial Postponed

Impeachment trial of District Judge O. P. Carrillo by the Senate has been postponed until October 6—perhaps later.

The trial had been scheduled to resume Sept. 29, but Carrillo's trial in Corpus Christi on income tax charges lasted longer than expected. Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said he consulted with attorneys for all parties and the Senate's legal counsel and concluded that the "wisest course of action" is to put off the impeachment hearing for at least another week.

Appointments

Sidney E. McKinney of Abilene has been named to the Industrial Accident Board by Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

Briscoe also selected these members for the Motor Vehicle Commission: Robert Lee Ragsdale of Austin, John N. Cleveland of San Angelo and James M. Carnes of San Antonio.

The Governor reappointed to the Texas Judicial Council Dr. Abner V. McCall of Waco, W. St. John Garwood of Austin and Hugh M. Patterson of Houston. He appointed to the Texas Historical Commission Katharyn Duff of Abilene, Joe J. Fisher of Beaumont and Mrs. Mary Moody Northern of Galveston (reappointment).

George F. Dillman of Richardson was re-elected Texas Tourist Development Board chairman.

George Works, Wichita Falls newspaperman, was appointed House Speaker Bill Clayton's press secretary.

Tourist Trade Booms

The state's $4.8 billion tourist industry rushed toward new records in spite of inflation during the first eight months of 1975.

Response to travel advertising rose 80 per cent January-August, and attendance at tourist attractions climbed five per cent.

Courts Speak

Texas Court of Criminal Appeals reversed conviction of three for the murder of a Houston service station attendant because their statements to police incriminated each other.

The same Court affirmed the life sentence of a Lewisville former airline pilot for killing an aged woman cousin from whom he was due to inherit $400,000 worth of land.

Galvestonian Shearn Moody Jr. lost an appeal to the State Supreme Court to get back money from a trust fund he signed over to an insurance firm.

A longer sentence cannot be given on retrial than on initial trial even where the second is probated, the Court of Criminal Appeals held in throwing out a five-year probated sentence of a Terry County man retried on check fraud charges.

The Supreme Court said a life insurance firm cannot deny benefits due to misrepresentation after it has required a physical examination.

Vote Unmonitored

The U. S. Justice Department won't monitor the November 4 Texas constitutional revision election under terms of an agreement between state and federal officials.

The Federal Voting Rights Act extension makes all Texas elections, election law changes and redistricting matters bearing on voting rights subject to federal supervision.

Texas has sought unsuccessfully to delay implementation of the law, but the November vote will escape supervision.

In exchange for the exemption, the state will distribute more than 100,000 Spanish-language copies of the proposed new Texas constitution at supermarkets, courthouses, libraries, churches and meeting places of Spanish-speaking organizations.

Spanish copies of the revision document were to be widely distributed in

by Garry Trudeau

Spanish-speaking areas anyway, under original state plans.

The state apparently will press its appeal of a federal district court decision that Census Bureau officials didn't have to hold a hearing on validity of their determinations that Texas falls under the Voting Rights Act by virtue of low participation in the 1972 presidential election.

AG Opinions

A county judge can spend county funds to hire as his secretary a county commissioner's daughter, Atty. Gen. John Hill stated in a recent opinion.

A mayor can't serve as a county political party chairman.

RSVP Funded for One-Year Program

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program for Collingsworth and Wheeler Counties has received a grant for the operation of its work during the 1975-76 year, the project director, Mrs. Mecca Manuel, was notified.

This will cover the salaries of Mrs. Manuel and Mrs. Jean Reynolds, project secretary, plus a small amount of expense money.

This grant is funded by ACTION, a federal agency related to the needs of the aging.

The project year is Oct. 1, 1975 to Sept. 30, 1976.

RSVP is a pooling of talents by senior citizens who still have many talents to offer. But people of all ages benefit from these talents, Mrs. Manuel pointed out. Working out of "stations" these men and women, 55 years of age and older, who are members of the Wellington RSVP, assist everyone from tiny tots in the Community Action Center to the aged now living in the nursing center.

A new project, the telephone assurance service, will serve senior citizens who are confined to their homes. Those who wish the service will be called once each day by volunteers from RSVP. The caller will simply check on the home-bound person, visit by phone, give assurance if needed, or render similar services.

Mrs. Manuel explained that only those who want the service will be called. These should contact the RSVP by calling 447-3935.

In Collingsworth and Wheeler counties, RSVP has 113 volunteers, 96 of them in Wellington.

Mrs. Manuel outlined their work at their stations:

- Chamber of Commerce: RSVP members stuff envelopes for the secretary and answer the telephone when she must be out of the office.

- Texas Extension Service: members have helped with 4-H projects, teaching girls to sew, knit, and with other work.

- Thomas Nursing Center: Here members play games with the residents, read to them, do errands, or just visit.

- Wellington Elementary School: here they tutor children needing help. RSVP has a number of retired teachers who are members.

- Volunteer Ambulance Service: patches are sewn on uniforms and sheets hemmed.

- RSVP: members do office work for the organization itself.

- Senior Citizens Center: all kinds of sewing is done, as well as crafts and handwork.

- Satellite Center: Members make coverlets for young children who take naps at the center and also sort clothing for the needy.

- Collingsworth County Museum: Members do various types of work as needed.

- American Red Cross and American Cancer Society: Members assist in drives conducted annually by both these organizations.

- Blood Pressure Clinic: Members assist in keeping records for this monthly service. Clinics are held in Wellington, Shamrock and Fall is here, the nip of winter is in the air, and the leaves are turning a golden brown. This is the time of year I love. It seems you can relax after a hard summer.

The retired Senior Volunteer Program received word last week that the 1975-76 grant has been approved by ACTION, and will be funded another year. We were proud to hear this, as we had several things planned for the program, and now we can put our plans into action.

Our volunteer hours for August were the largest of any month since we have been in this program. We are grateful to our volunteers for making this possible.

Our Free Blood Pressure Clinic will be October 8, from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. We wish more people would take advantage of this health service which is needed.

Those having birthdays in October are Mrs. Hugh Bledsoe, Mrs. A.Y. Bell, Mrs. Jewel Donnell, Mrs. Elmer Haralson, Mrs. Ruth Wyrick, Mrs. Charley Hill, Mrs. W.E. Johnson, Mrs.

Wheeler.

- Members assist with the SOS program.

Other stations include the Golden Spread Nursing Home and Planned Parenthood office in Shamrock, and the Extension Service in Wheeler.

But not by any means is all of the RSVP activity work, for 42 parties are held each Thursday.

Firecrackers Drop Game to Hollis Thursday Night

Wellington Firecrackers, the 8th grade football team, dropped their second game to Hollis Junior High at Tiger Field Thursday, September 25, by the identical score as the week before, 20-8.

Hollis boys scored all their points in the first quarter and the early minutes of the second.

Wellington's score came in the third period, when Robert Powell went from three yards out to climax a 70 yard drive.

Powell and Baldo Nevarez did most of the ball carrying, while two completed passes from quarterback Marty Warrick to Richard Archer, end, gave the firecrackers needed yardage. Powell ran the ball over for the extra point.

Wellington received the opening punt, but a Firecracker fumble returned the ball to Hollis possession. The Tiger Kittens scored on Belle Laughter, Mrs. John Coleman, Mrs. Grady Phillips, Mrs. Earl Hunter, Mrs. Eva Needham, and Mrs. Gray of Shamrock.

Jean and I can hardly wait until the new center is ready to move into. We are going to be so proud of our new office.

We are starting a Telephone Reassurance Program. We would like to have some volunteer phone callers. Those who will be called are people living alone.

COLORADO GOLD BOOM?

The gold district of Cripple Creek, Colorado finally shut down production of gold in 1961 after having produced over 20-million ounces of gold from mines with such famous names as Ajax, Vindicator, and Independence. Now, if plans jell and a major mineral producer picks up its option, the gold district of Cripple Creek will once again open up the mines and enjoy a production boom as well as continuing to be a tourist haven.

Texasgulf, Inc. has signed a letter of intent to join with Golden Cycle Corp. in a mining and development their play from 20 yards out.

Hollis scored again on next possession of the ball, a 30 yard run.

Their third touchdown came at the beginning of the second period on a 50 yard pass play that barely missed interception by a Wellington player.

On only one of the three touchdowns was Hollis able to convert for the extra points.

The Wellington boys were a different team after half time and Hollis was not allowed to make a first down during the entire second half.

The entire defense worked effectively, said Coach Bruce Dollar, commenting on the Firecracker team-work.

Again, Wellington boys were playing ninth graders, as well as those from the eighth grade, due to a difference in Texas and Oklahoma regulations concerning schoolboy athletics.

program at Cripple Creek. Golden Cycle owns 60% of the mining district, having picked up the properties after World War II, but closing down production after costs got out of hand and in the face of a fixed price on gold which made mining unprofitable.

Most gold is produced as a by-product or supplemental activity to copper mining. Texasgulf has produced traces of gold at its copper mine in Ontario, but this is the first outright gold mining venture for the company. Golden Cycle figures it can turn a handsome profit on Colorado gold if the price of gold stays above $98 per ounce. Gold this week has been trading at $128 per oz., down from a high of $186 per oz. earlier this year. Experts doubt that it will drop below $100 per oz. in the near future.

According to Charles E. Schwab, president of Golden Cycle Gold, there could be a lot more gold produced down here. He confidently predicts that the Golden Cycle-Texasgulf partnership could be processing 2,000 tons of ore daily with a net production of 1,200 ounces of bullion per day, within five to six years. Initially, Schwab had hoped to raise the funds through a partnership offering but the stock market slide killed it. Outside capital just wasn't available to get the Ajax mine re-opened, so the deal with Texasgulf was made after considering offers from 15 other companies wanting to joint-venture a gold mining project.

EVOLUTION OF A UNIVERSITY

Texas Tech's First Fifty Years

Culminating the 50th anniversary of Texas Tech is the publication of a new book, EVOLUTION OF A UNIVERSITY: Texas Tech's First Fifty Years (Madrona Press: Austin: $9.95), an unsponsored history of the institution by a national award-winning novelist, Jane G. Rushing, and a Tech professor, Kline A. Nall.

EVOLUTION OF A UNIVERSITY begins its story as Texas Technological College is born of a political storm that involves a governor's impeachment and the Ku Klux Klan. As Tech evolved from a small, specialized college into a large, multi-purpose university, it often found itself bound in political maneuverings and sectional power struggles, turmoils which Rushing and Nall relate with much insight.

Many will see EVOLUTION OF A UNIVERSITY as the history of higher education in America, for Tech is typical of many state schools that have grown and changed in response to the needs of the people they serve. This exceedingly well-written narrative traces the social and economic parallels of Tech and the entire South Plains region and includes the drama of student activities, Red Raider athletics, and the meeting of academic challenges.

To some, EVOLUTION OF A UNIVERSITY will offer nostalgia, happy memories of their alma mater; to others, the book will stand as a penetrating analysis of our educational institutions, particularly the one whose sprawling campus appears as an oasis in the West Texas dust.

* * * * *

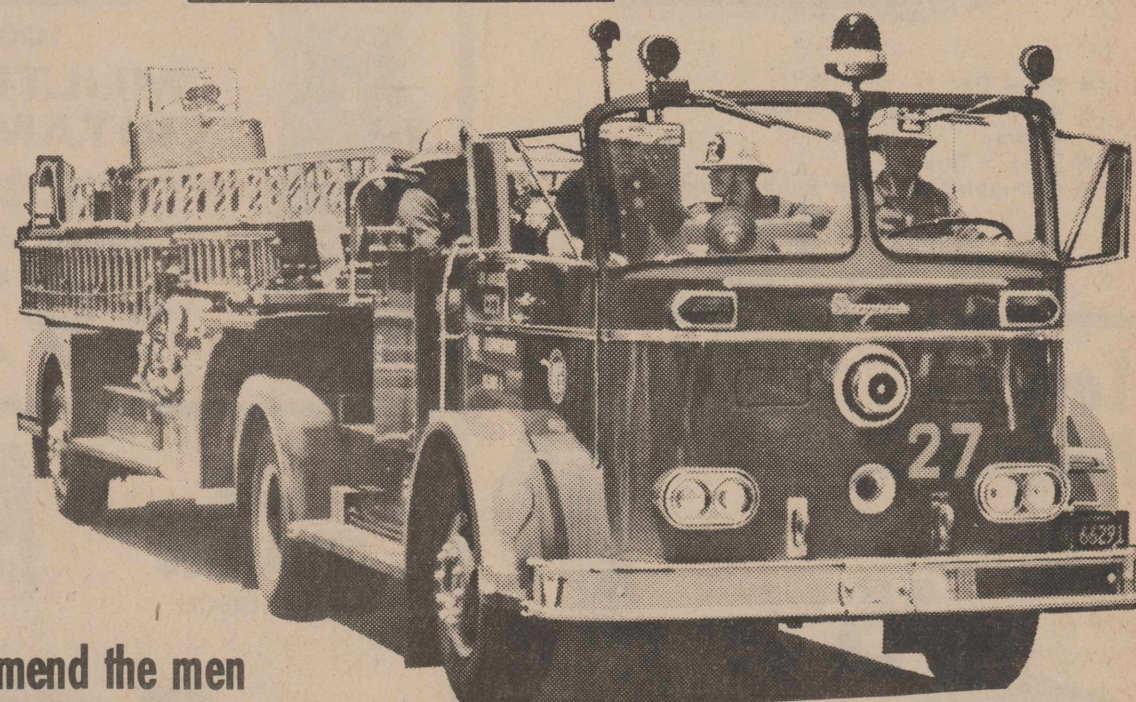

An award-winning novelist and former newspaper reporter, Jane Gilmore Rushing holds B.A., M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in journalism and English from Texas Tech. She has taught at her alma mater and at the University of Tennessee.

Since 1944, Kline A. Nall has been professor of English at Texas Tech University where he earned B.A. and M.A. degrees before taking his Ph.D. in English at the University of Texas at Austin.

Brewer Wins "Player Of Week" Recognition

BY GARET VON NETZER
Amarillo Globe News

Wellington Friday night tied the No. 6-rated Class AA team in the state--Childress--after the Bobcats rallied with two fourth-period touchdowns.

Wellington quarterback, George Brewer, a three-year starter, led the No. 9-ranked Skyrockets to the near-upset, "with his best game of the year," said Wellington coach James Williams.

For that effort, Brewer is this week's Globe-News area Class A player of the week.

Brewer, a 5-11, 160 pound senior, hit 7 of 14 passes for 115 yards (his highest single-game production of the year) and at safety, he intercepted a Childress pass and returned it 55 yards for a touchdown.

"He rose to the occasion on that interception," said Williams. "At safety, they didn't complete a pass on him all night. He played outstanding game on defense."

"On offense on our touchdown drive, he picked up two major first downs for us, he just took off running."

Brewer was also a starter on Wellington's basketball team which was the 1975 district winner.

Williams also praised tackle Jackie Black ("he was in on 12 tackles"), end Randall Maxwell ("he did a
