Mrs. John Voyles Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Lydia Voyles, 68, a resident of Tahoka for six months died suddenly in Fort Worth on August 10, according to her son, A. T. Voyles of Tahoka.

Funeral services were held at Robville, the family home, on August 12, and A. T. Voyles and family attended the services.

About six months ago, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Voyles came to Tahoka to live with their son. Friday preceding Mrs. Voyles death, the couple had gone to Fort Worth and were visiting a daughter, Mrs. R. L. Stubblefield, when she was stricken and died suddenly.

One other son, Martin Voyles of Lubbock, survives.

Dunagans Attend Mother's Funeral

The mother of Mrs. A. L. Dunagan of Tahoka, Mrs. Willie T. Climer, 93, died at her home in Hillsboro Wednesday afternoon of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunagan and Irvin Dunagan and J. W. Lowery attended the services, held Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Dunagan arrived at her mother's bedside a short time before her death. Irvin and five other grandsons served as pallbearers.

Mrs. Climer, a native of Mississippi, had lived in Hillsboro since Jan. 6, 1884.

Rain Showers Cool Off Area

Scattered showers and a cool wave have brought to a climax the hottest—and one of the driest—summers in the history of the South Plains.

Beginning last Saturday afternoon, scattered rain showers have fallen somewhere in the county every day since.

Tahoka received .27 of an inch last Sunday, and another .09 on Monday, but much heavier rain spotted the county.

Up to an inch or more was received in parts of the Edith, Grassland, Redwine, Draw, Joe Bailey communities, but even in these communities the rain was spotted. Lighter fall has come to most other communities.

The cool wave, since Sunday, accompanied by cloudiness and some fog, was a welcome relief from the long hot wave. The temperature has not been above 85 since Sunday, and has gone as low as 59 degrees two night.

Miss Joyce Ellis Dies In Accident

Miss Joyce Ellis, 17, of Brownfield, member of a pioneer Lynn county family, died Tuesday a few minutes after receiving fatal injuries in a car wreck 14 miles south of Brownfield.

Miss Ellis, who would have been a senior in Brownfield High School this year, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. (Pete) Ellis, Brownfield. She was a maternal granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Sikes and the paternal granddaughter of Mrs. Georgia A. Ellis and her late husband, T. M. Ellis Sr. She is also survived by three brothers, Ross, J. T., and Edward Ellis, and one sister, Mary Ann, all of Brownfield, and also has a number of relatives living here.

Funeral services were held on Thursday at 4:30 p. m. in Brownfield First Baptist Church with the pastor, Rev. Jones Weathers, officiating.

The accident occurred at 9:30 p. m. Tuesday when the Buick car Miss Ellis and a friend, Miss Sue Campbell, were riding in overturned at a curve on the Foster-Cedar Lake road 14 miles south of Brownfield. Miss Campbell received a fractured back, but it is believed she will recover.

Miss Ellis was born in this county Jan. 24, 1936. Her parents moved from Three Lakes to Lamessa in about 1933, and from there to Brownfield in 1942.

MRS. PATTERSON O.K.

Mrs. J. O. (Ott) Patterson, who underwent major surgery in a Lubbock hospital about ten days ago, is reported to be doing nicely, and she will possibly be able to go to the home of a sister, Mrs. Don Hatchett, in Lubbock this week end. The operation was entirely successful, The News is informed.

W. H. Hedge remains seriously ill. He was taken to Tahoka Hospital Thursday morning.

Donald Paris spent last week in Waco visiting relatives.

JUSTICE WILL WILSON

Justice Wilson To Speak In Tahoka

Will Wilson of Dallas, associate justice of the Supreme Court of Texas, will be the speaker at Tahoka Rotary Club Thursday noon of next week.

Judge Wilson is one of the youngest men ever to serve on this high court. He formerly was an assistant attorney general of Texas, and attracted wide attention from 1948 to 1950 for his fight on crime and vice in Dallas as district attorney of Dallas county.

He was a member of the National Crime Conference in 1950, and is a former president of the District and County Attorneys Association of Texas.

He is a graduate of S. M. U. with high honors, and practiced law in Dallas before entering public life.

During World War II he saw combat on Biak and Luzon, and as commanding officer of the 465th Field Artillery Battalion on Northern Luzon he accepted the surrender of the forces of General Yamashita, infamous Japanese military leader.

Lions Club Plans Swimming Event

At the regular meeting of the Lions Club at the American Legion Hall Tuesday night, the group voted to hold an annual swimming meet for boys and girls of Tahoka and to award prizes to the winners.

This is a beginning of a project to develop recreation, contests, etc. for the young people of Tahoka. Lester Strech is the permanent chairman of the committee in charge of the projects. Many other events are being planned but as yet, the plans are not complete, Mr. Strech said.

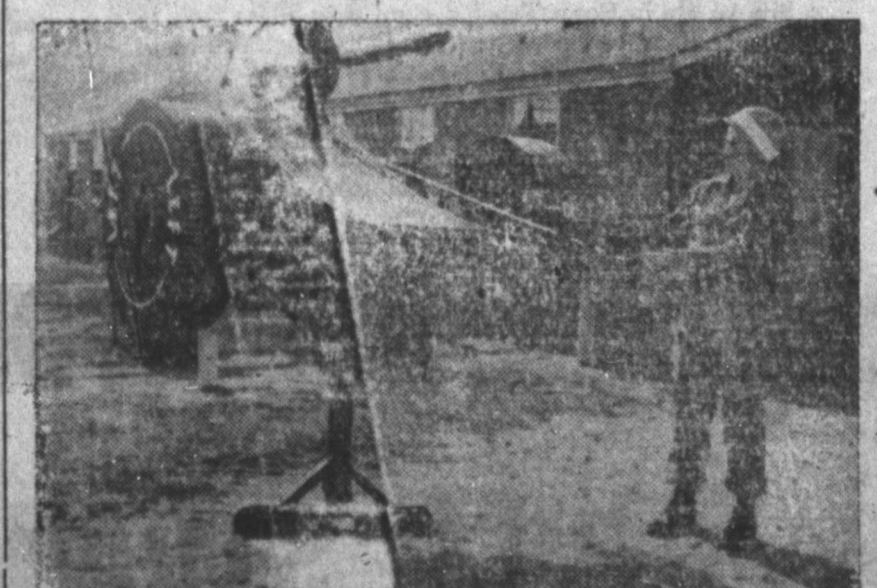

The club hopes by instigating such projects that more wholesome activity and interest can be aroused for the youngsters.

John Sanders is the president of the Tahoka Lions Club.

TRANSPORTER FINED

Bobby Edward Martin of Plainview was assessed a fine of $100.00 and costs in county court here Saturday on a charge of transporting beer in a dry area.

Strange Baseball Team Will Title In In Junior League Play-Off Series

Tahoka's Bill Strange Motors defeated Wilson State Bankers 7 to 2 at Tahoka Park Sunday to become the new champions of the Lynn County Junior Baseball League.

James "Bobo" White pitched the local Ford boys past last year's champions as he allowed only five hits, struck out 12, and walked only two. The game was something of an extra triumph for White, as his team-mates had dedicated this game to him.

Javan Schneider hit a home run and scored both Wilson runs to pace the loser batting attack. The Tahoka boys mustered six hits off of the starting Wilson pitcher, Leonard Breiger, and his relief, Thomas Mason. Pat Green slammed out two home runs to pace Tahoka's hitting attack. The game was officiated by "Dub" Harvick, and had to be delayed about 30 minutes because of rain. A large Tahoka and Wilson crowd watched the game.

The champion Bill Strange team was managed by Gordon Smith through the season. They re-run (Cont'd. On Back Page)

Swimming Pool Will Be Open To Aug. 30

Tahoka swimming pool will close for the summer after Sunday, August 30, Jake Jacobs and Bill Haralson, the pool operators, announce.

In spite of the drought and scarcity of money, the pool has had an unusually good run of patronage since the opening on June 12.

Sunday, Aug. 30, is the last day the pool will be open this summer.

Football Season Is Approaching

Only about 120 reserved season football tickets have been sold to date, according to Maurice Small, Tahoka school district secretary. The tickets will remain on sale until the opening game, but fans should get their tickets early if they want the best seats available.

Steel for the Kelley Field stadium addition is being put in place this week. The addition will be to the east stands, which will be doubled in both length and in height. Plans call for the erection for rest rooms, and moving of the press box to the east side. This year, the east stands will become the home section, with the best reserved for visitors.

The News last week, in publishing the schedule, accidentally left off the first game, which will be with Denver City here on September 18.

There will be six home games, the Bulldogs meeting Denver City, Seminole, Tulsa, Post, Slaton, and Floydada here, one of the best home schedules Tahoka has ever had. Away from home, Tahoka will play O'Donnell, Seagraves, Abernathy, and Spur.

Coach Bill Haralson will start football workouts on Tuesday, Sept. 1, and will have 18 days in which to get the squad ready for the first game.

Last Sunday's Fort Worth Star-Telegram rated Tahoka last in District 6-AA, selecting Spur as potentially strongest team, followed by Floydada, Abernathy and Post (tie), Slaton, and Tahoka. Local fans will remember that this same paper, as well as the Lubbock Avalanche, picked Tahoka as the last place team in 1951 and in 1952. But these self-appointed experts missed the mark slightly. Tahoka won the district championship both years. And it is not impossible for the Bulldogs to do it again—if they go all out to learn, train, and play their best in each game.

Incidentally, there are two new comers to District 6AA this year, Floydada and Abernathy, both of which were champions of their districts last year.

Stephen Girard, philanthropist, merchant, and banker of Philadelphia, assumed an entire Government loan of $5,000,000 in the War of 1812.

Boy Scouts Enjoy Mountain Trip

The Tahoka Boy Scout Troop 21 returned Saturday from a five day camping trip at Cowles, N. M. Twenty boys and nine men filled the five camps that were set up during the vacation.

The boys took hikes, held nature studies and courses on ax-throwing. Their hikes took them to the oldest well in the United States near Cowles where the Battle of Gorieta was fought during the Civil War.

They visited the old Pecos cathedral ruins and also went through a fish hatchery, where the operations of hatching and raising fish were explained to the boys.

Calloway Huffaker, assisted by Scout Denver Ford, cooked for the troop.

Scouts who made the trip were Guy Witt, Jimmy Harter, Jerry Freeman, Denver Ford, Cecil Hammonds, John Redwine, Jay Gurley, Karl Prohl, John Hegi, Larry Spruiell, Gerald Huffaker, Terry Spears, Vernon Redwine, Jerry Reed, Donald Williams, Carlos Barnes, John Sanders and David Bray. Mike Gurley, not a Scout, accompanied the troop.

The men who went with the Boys were H. B. McCord, Jr., scout master, Calloway Huffaker, John Witt, A. V. Barnes, Dr. Emil Prohl, Cecil Hammonds, Harvey Freeman, Jess Gurley. They were joined Thursday by Carl Williams and Jerry Williams.

The program for the next regular meeting on Monday night, Aug. 24, will be presented by the Panther Patrol.

A. M. Bray furnished most of the gasoline used on the trip, and John Witt furnished the pick up needed.

Wells Baptists Will Hold Revival

Wells Baptist Church will open a revival meeting Sunday, according to the pastor, Rev. E. Denton.

Preaching will be done by Rev. Lawrence L. Trott, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Denver City, and Leroy Thomas of Mangrum, Okla., will direct the song services.

Week-day services will be at 10 a. m. and 8 p. m.

Strange Speaker At Brotherhood Meet

Bill Strange Jr., spoke to the Baptist Brotherhood Monday night. He spoke on the balanced life and used four extremities of the cross to which he attached his four points. He spoke of the need of work; play; worship and love.

About thirty-five men were present to hear his practical address.

Rev. J. O. Kinsfather, pastor of the Assembly of God church, is seriously ill in Tahoka Hospital.

General Telephone company is proposing another rate raise in Tahoka, if and when it connects its lines with Poka-Lambro Rural Telephone Co-operative.

Furthermore, it has served notice still another rate raise will be sought if and when it installs a dial system here.

The proposal was made to the Tahoka City Council on Monday night.

The Council took no action, but obviously is definitely opposed to such a raise in rates which actually amounted to from 30 to 50 percent was granted the company in December, 1951.

Members of the Council hinted to The News that no action will be taken immediately on the proposal from General.

Next Tuesday, Judge Louis B. Reed in District Court here will hear a petition filed by Poka-Lambro against General seeking a mandatory injunction requiring General to connect its lines as ordered by the Lynn County Commissioners Court and Tahoka City Council, sitting jointly, early in July. This General has not done.

More than two weeks ago, General did submit a contract to the Poka-Lambro. The contract was acceptable to cooperative officials and was signed and returned to General. However, General now has failed to sign the contract it submitted, so far as is known here, and refuses to connect.

General contends it will sign when and if Tahoka grants a raise in rates to take care of expenses of extended area coverage. No such provision was contained in the contract submitted to Poka-Lambro.

Tahoka's base rates without taxes now are: Business phones, one-party, $7.75, two-party $6.25; Residence, one-party $4.50, two-party $3.75.

General suggests three increase plans to take care of extended-area coverage.

No. 1 would leave residence rates as they now are and raise business phone rates to $11.25 and $9.50 respectively.

No. 2 would raise residence rates 25 cents per-month and business phone rates to $10.00 and $8.50.

No. 3 plan would raise residence rates 50 cents per month and business rates to $10.00 and $7.50, respectively.

This would not be for dial telephone service in Tahoka.

General claims such is necessary to cover costs of extended area coverage through the cooperative exchanges of Fletcher-Carter, New Home, New Lynn, and West Lakes. Otherwise, it claims toll rates will be necessary.

The additional funds raised by such an increase, General says, would cover cost of inter-exchange trunks and terminating equipment, maintenance, and carrying charges and added operating costs estimated at a total of $7,487.75.

The Tahoka City Council was led to believe, when it granted the rate raise in late 1951, that dial telephone service would be installed in Tahoka not later than 1953.

McKibben Infant Buried Saturday

A girl baby born to Mr. and Mrs. Warren McKibben in a Lamessa hospital last Friday lived only two hours after birth.

Graveside services were held for the infant Saturday at 3:30 p. m. in O'Donnell Cemetery. Stanley-Jones Funeral Home was in charge.

The child is survived by its parents; a sister, Janice Lynn, 16 months; maternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Troy Veach, O'Donnell; and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. PaP McKibben of O'Donnell, route 3.

J. B. Rays, Residents of County 37 Years, Celebrate Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary

About 145 relatives and close friends called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Ray in the Gar-nolia community Sunday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock when the couple celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

Cake and punch were served the guests, and many gifts and flowers were presented the beloved couple.

The Rays have resided on the farm in eastern Lynn county for 37 years. Mr. Ray was reared in Bell county, but on attaining manhood moved to Wise county, where he met and married Miss Ida Foster, the nuptial knot being tied at Sycamore on August 16, 1903.

After a year of farming there, they moved to Bell county to reside six years, and then came back west to live six years at Vernon.

In 1916, Mr. Ray bought his present farm from the C. W. Post Estate. He paid $24.00 an acre for the land, and Post built him a residence and barn on it for $1,590.00.

There was no church in the area at the time, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray and other neighbors met at the Leroy Jones home nearby and formed a Church of Christ organization. The Church met in homes for a while, then in the old Magonolia school, and later it became the Grassland Church of Christ. Mr. and Mrs. Ray are the only two remaining members who helped organize the Church.

Mr. Ray served on the Magonolia and Gar-nolia school boards, and the couple have all this time been leaders in church and educational affairs of their community.

The Rays have four children, fifteen grand children, and ten

Legal NoticesDELINQUENT PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXES CAN BE COLLECTED BY A CITY

Notice to Tax-Payers:
New State laws are in effect applying to the collection of personal property taxes, consisting principally of cars, trucks, tractors, and stocks of merchandise.

Beginning August 26, 1953, the effective date of H. B. 632, court suits for collection of delinquent personal property taxes will be subject to a four-year statute of limitation. The new act does not rob cities of their lawful rights to enforce collection of delinquent personal property taxes by the summary seizure and sale of such property. Cities have a lien on personal property for the taxes levied against it, and the State laws authorize the city tax collector to seize and sell the property to satisfy the lien without the necessity of filing a suit in court.

The new act amends Article 7298, R.C.S., 1925, to read as follows:

Article 7298. No delinquent tax payer shall have the right to plead in any court or in any manner rely upon any Statute of Limitation by way of defense against the payment of taxes due from him or her to the State, or any county, city, town, Navigation District, Drainage District, Road District, Levee Improvement District, Reclamation District, Irrigation District, Water Improvement District, Water Control and Improvement District, Water Control and Preservation District, Fresh Water Supply District, School District or other taxing authority; provided that this law shall not apply to collection of delinquent school taxes assessed prior to July 1, 1941; and provided further that no suit shall be brought for the collection of delinquent personal property taxes of any taxing authority unless instituted within four (4) years from the time the same shall become delinquent. Personal property tax payers of Tahoka are warned to take heed of this law and to prevent such taxes from becoming delinquent, if possible.—The City of Tahoka. 45-3tc

J. D. Finley, Owner

The man with 248,404 different names

Idly toying with pencil and paper, we just figured out what it would cost to buy yourself a certain electric manufacturing company. Complete with factories, machines, raw materials in the bins, and so forth.

Write your check for 2 billion dollars, please. (That's at recent price per share quoted on the Stock Exchange.) But don't send the check to the company. It doesn't own the stock.

You'd have to buy back the stock in bits and pieces from 116,000 women share owners. And 88,000 men. You'd have to get in touch with about 25,000 trustees and guardians. And a few thousand insurance companies, universities, hospitals and pension trusts to buy back the stock they own.

We wouldn't blame these people if they didn't sell to you. They don't have to, you know. Maybe they want the stock for the same reason you do.

Not even a thousand millionaires, each putting in a million dollars, could "own" General Electric. The "man" who owns General Electric has 248,404 names. There are that many owners on the books.

Simple mathematics can shoot a large round hole in the childish misconception that America's basic companies are owned by a few lucky people.

Suppose there were the fantastic total of 100,000 millionaires. Even they couldn't buy the "people-owned" businesses on which America depends for goods. But already six and a half million individuals have a direct investment in America's production.

The only thing bigger than America today will be America tomorrow. And the only collection of people rich enough to finance this growth and share in its success is the public.

You can put your confidence in—

Radio Man Talks At Rotary Club

Jack Creel, farm editor of radio station KFYO, Lubbock, was the speaker at Tahoka Rotary Club Thursday noon of last week.

Creel and a group of Plains farm owners recently made a tour of South America during which they inspected farms and ranches in ten nations of that continent.

He emphasized the vastness of the country, Brazil itself being larger than the United States, and the tremendous potential of its agricultural and mineral wealth.

Every crop imaginable can be raised in some part of South America, he said, and although the continent is developing rapidly agriculturally the surface has hardly been scratched.

As to equipment, the most modern farm machinery and the most antiquated is used.

Most of the countries are friendly to the United States, because the U. S. is their principal market. Argentina, of course, a competitor with the U. S. in the production of beef, is under the dictatorship of Peron, an underdictatorship of Hitlerism, and that country hates us and our institutions.

Except in Argentina and some others dominated by Argentina, Americans are welcome, and Creel thinks everyone who can should visit South America.

Creel touched on a large variety of subjects, and emphasized the rapid shriveling in size of the earth. He stated it is now no further to South America (by air) than it was to Fort Worth less than a generation ago.

Creel was reared at Seagraves on the farm, and knows South Plains farming and farm problems. His talk was a very interesting one.

The speaker was accompanied by John McMinn, of Station KID-UB-TV, also of Lubbock.

SGT. PENNINGTON HOME

Sgt. Charles H. Pennington of Camp Stoneman, Calif., and Mrs. "Doc" Izard of Las Vegas, N. M., visited in the D. J. Pennington home here Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

Charles had been to Camp Carson, Colorado, to take a patient to an Army hospital there. He stopped off in Las Vegas to visit his sister, and the two drove on to Tahoka to visit their parents.

They had quite a time on the trip, as their car broke down and they had to call Willis Pennington to come after them. Charles was surprised at the bleak outlook for crops. His wife and babies didn't come with him.

Many Local Farmers Planting Feed For Cover Crop, N. E. Wood Says

"For Land's Sake, Cover" has become a slogan of agricultural specialists, farmers, radio and newspaper commentators and business men of the South Plains during the present drouth situation, according to N. E. Wood, work unit conservationist.

Lynn county farmers in general have taken a very favorable attitude toward the above slogan, Mr. Wood says.

During the past several weeks, approximately one half of the cultivated land of Lynn county has been planted to row crop sorghums or small grains. These plantings were made in somewhat spotted areas where sufficient showers have fallen to get the seed up.

Some of this grain is of poor stand and some is dying for lack of moisture. The possibility of it making a good grain crop is doubtful unless it receives considerable rainfall in the next ten or fifteen days and we are fortunate enough to have a late freeze date.

However, at least, the plantings will give cover to the land by producing enough stubble to hold the soil together to combat wind erosion, and will add some organic matter to the soil.

Approximately one-fourth of Lynn county's cultivated land is as yet unplanted. This lies in the areas where sufficient rainfall for planting has not yet been received.

Wood states that those farmers who have not yet planted should seriously consider doing so if and when they receive enough moisture anytime before frost.

During the remainder of August, such crops can be planted as atlas sargo, redtop cane, and blackeyed peas. In the month of September and October, farmers should turn to legumes such as Austrian winter peas, vetch, and blackeyed peas. Farmers also could plant wheat or rye. When legumes are planted the seed should without fail be inoculated.

Wood cites an example of a landowner-operator combination who are practicing a diversified and cover crop program.

This is on the J. D. Finley farm one mile north and one and a half miles west of New Home, operated by D. A. Franklin. Approximately 318 acres of the farm is under irrigation and 242 acres are dry land.

The irrigated land is planted as follows: 273 acres of cotton; 20 acres sargo (forage crop); 10 acres sudan (5 acres of this is bench leveled); 3 acres of alfalfa (bench leveled); and 12 acres of wheat (bench leveled) being summer fallowed.

The dry land plantings are: 122 acres of blackeyed peas, 100 acres of milo maize, 20 acres of native pasture (re-seeded).

Of course, not all farmers have had enough rainfall to work out such a fine program. However, Wood insists that no farmer should give up the idea of planting a cover crop even though he has not been able to plant up to the present; there is still time to plant something. "For Land's Sake, Cover!"

Estacado Reunion In Lubbock Sunday

Registration for the third annual Estacado Reunion will begin at 10:00 a. m. Sunday, Aug. 23, at the MacKenzie State Park in Lubbock.

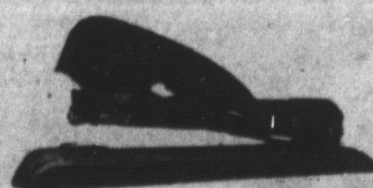

The organization will meet at the Little Party House in the canyon north of East Broadway. A sign will mark the location. Everyone is requested to bring a basket lunch, according to Mrs. Frank Hill of Tahoka, secretary and publicity chairman.

Between 600 and 800 people are expected to attend the reunion. About 500 attended last year compared to the 150 persons there the first year of the reunion.

Harry Kelsey of Lubbock is president of the organization. Bob Brown of Lorenzo is program chairman. Directors include Mr. and Mrs. Dee Linn, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Olin Joiner, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sanders, Idalou; Mr. and Mrs. Dip Fox, Lorenzo; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Becton, Becton, Texas; and Mr. and Mrs. Casey Day, Slaton.

Old Estacado, the first settlement on the South Plains, was founded in 1879 by a colony of English Quakers. It is located northwest of Lorenzo. It was first named Mariana, but was renamed Estacado in 1886. Some members of the original Quaker families still live in the area, although the colony was disbanded and moved to Galveston county in 1895.

Mrs. B. H. Howard of Lubbock, Mrs. S. W. Page, Ralls, and Mrs. A. B. Becton, Becton, Tex., were the three women instigating the formation of the organization three years ago. They are all old-time residents of Estacado.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

Many letters are received on government's financial condition following request to raise national debt limit.

Many businessmen who felt federal spending would be reduced almost immediately were shocked and feel government's financial position must be worse than revealed.

Indicative of sober thought on the question is that few letters are sweeping protests C. W. Harder against present taxes. Most explain suggested economies based on personal observations.

Many comments come from businessmen near military installations, pointing to fact Post Exchanges offer a wide range of merchandise at cut prices, to service men for their own use, but undoubtedly friends and members of families also benefit.

Naturally, this is competition local merchants cannot meet, and due to broad scope of merchandise sold, few businessmen escape this competition.

However, the protest is against the Armed Forces using money intended for defense in operating a wide scale merchandising venture. No one seems to know exactly just how big a merchandiser the Armed Forces have become. Some claim Army is now world's biggest merchant.

Post Exchanges sell for about cost, because overhead is paid by tax money, it is claimed.

Rent, light, heat, wages of operating personnel presumed come out of defense funds.

A piecing together of vague information indicates at least equivalent of three divisions is employed in manning and servicing post exchanges.

This would mean an expenditure estimated at least $15 million per month on the pay and maintenance of officers, men and civilians, whose military activities consist of running a merchandising organization.

For years the Armed Forces sold tobacco, candy, other minor articles militarily classified as "comfort" items.

During World War II, Post Exchanges leaped to big operations, with experienced merchants commissioned right and left to operate them.

Today Armed Forces are huge department store operators.

Even fair traded items are sold at cost by the Armed Forces, as they are exempt from state laws. The average pay in the Armed Forces is on a par, or higher, than that paid by many cities to their police and firemen.

Yet no municipality makes their taxpayers provide and staff quarters to sell merchandise at cost to city employees.

Securing full facts would require an investigation. As evidenced by past experience, it is difficult to get full facts out of the Pentagon, yet opinion prevails that the information that would be uncovered merits an investigation. It is felt that if the Armed Forces Post Exchanges were cut back to the old custom of handling accommodation "comfort" items, cost of operating U. S. defense establishments could be reduced at least $200 million per year, or about the amount the government needs to pay annual interest on $14½ billion worth of bonds, or about the amount of income tax paid by 350,000 families with two children and incomes of $5000 per year.

ODds AND EndS

(BY E. L. THE ELDER)

As we observed weeks ago, most of Texas' counties were named for Texas heroes or statesmen or United States political or military leaders. That statement has been verified time and time again in the names of counties that I have been giving you since.

Now if someone were to ask you for whom was Taylor county named, many of you doubtless would answer promptly, For Zachary Taylor, Old Rough and Ready, the most distinguished hero of the Mexican War. Most of us probably would have answered that way right off the reel. But we would have been wrong. The Texas Almanac says that Taylor county was named in honor of Edward Taylor, a member of Robertson's colony, an answer which is not very enlightening. "Old Rough and Ready" has no name-sake among the counties of Texas.

Well, if you were guessing, who would you say that Carson county up here in the Panhandle was named for? Why, most any Panhandler or other Southwesterner, from Texas or California, would say, "Kit Carson, of course." But again he would be wrong. Samuel P. Carson, secretary of State under David G. Burnet, first President of the Republic of Texas, was given that honor.

For whom was Mills county named? Roger O. Mills? Not on your tinfole. He was one of the most distinguished statesmen that ever served in either House of Congress from Texas, but no Texas county has been named for him.

There is a Culberson county away out in the Trans-Pecos country. Was it named for the suave and brilliant Charlie Culberson who went from the Texas Governor's chair to a seat in the United States Senate? No, it was named for Charlie's father, the Honorable David B. Culberson of Texas, who first served for some time as district judge and then went to Congress from the First Congressional District of Texas and served with distinction in that body for many years. In fact he won the reputation of being one of the ablest if not the very ablest lawyer in Congress. Culberson county was named for him and he highly deserved the honor.

There is a Houston county down in southeast Texas, named in honor of Sam Houston, who led the Texas army to victory in its struggle for Independence; an Austin county, named in honor of Stephen F. Austin, the father of Texas; a Burnet county, a Lamar county, and a Jones county all named in honor of the presidents of the Republic of Texas; a Travis a Fannin, a Milam, a Bowie, a Crockett, a Robertson, a Burleson, and numerous other counties named in honor of those who perished at the Alamo, at Goliad, and at San Jacinto, or who bravely signed the Texas Declaration of Independence.

There is a Rusk county, named in honor of Thomas J. Rusk, one of the heroes of San Jacinto, the Secretary of War of the Republic of Texas, and one of the first United States Senators from Texas after it was admitted into the Union as a state.

Up here on these high plains, we have a Deaf Smith county. Who was Deaf Smith? He was a scout in Houston's Army who was despatched by Houston at the Battle of San Jacinto to go and chop down Vince's bridge which spanned the San Jacinto River so that the enemy could not retreat and escape. Of course Houston did not figure that his army would need any means of escape. I have forgotten a lot of my old Penny-backer's Texas school history, but I think she pictured that as a thrilling scene when Deaf Smith came galloping up and crying out, "Vince's bridge is down, Vince's bridge is down!" That was the signal for the men to make their sudden but well planned attack. In thirty minutes, Deaf Smith was a hero. Chopping down a bridge had made him one. And that's why they named this Texas county up here on the New Mexico line Deaf Smith county.

Lubbock county. Named for Governor Frank R. Lubbock? Well, most of us would have guessed it that way. But the record gives a different answer. They say it was named for Col. Tom S. Lubbock. I don't know whether he and the Governor were related or not, but he was given credit as one of the organizers of Terry's Texas Rangers.

Col. Benjamin Franklin Terry is given primary credit for the organization of that military unit, which saw service first as a company in the Confederate Army. After the close of the Civil War it was perpetuated as a military unit to protect the citizens of the state against Indians, thieves and desperadoes. And Terry county was named for Col. Benjamin Franklin Terry, originator and promoter of the Terry Texas Rangers, and Col. Tom S. Lubbock collaborated with him in the organization; and that is how Lubbock and Terry counties got their names.

Dawson county was named for Capt. Nicholas Mosby Dawson who not only took part in the San Jacinto fight, but who, later was killed in an expedition in which he participated to forestall another Mexican invasion of Texas. Not much light in that statement, you may say, but go with me down to LaGrange in Fayette county and there you may find much light respecting this brave man, his patriotism, and his activities in behalf of Texas. Stand where I stood three years ago and view the shaft erected in honor of the men of the ill-fated Mier expedition and Capt. Nicholas Mosby Dawson and his own company, who had a part in that patriotic enterprise. You will see also the very tree under which he recruited his men, and over on the south side of the Colorado River you may see Monument Hill, where the bones of the patriotic dead were buried.

It may be that you have regarded the Mier expedition as a kind of ill-considered, hair-brained enterprise, but read the story of the events that prompted it and you will have more reverence than disdain for the men who participated in it. Another expedition which was unwise and disastrous and which provoked ill feeling on the part of Mexicans against Texas, was the Santa Fe expedition which preceded it and which gave the Mexicans some just cause for retaliating. It was acts of retaliation of the part of the Mexicans that provoked the Mier and Dawson expeditions. Dawson lost his life in the service of his country and is entitled to the commendation and esteem of every Texan.

Andrews county was named for Richard Andrews, reputed to be the first soldier killed in the Texas Revolution.

Gaines county, named for James Gaines, one of the signers of the Texas Declaration of Independence.

Yoakum county, named for Henderson Yoakum, soldier in the Mexican War, jurist, and author.

Hockley county, named for Gen. George W. Hockley, Secretary of State for the Republic of Texas.

Lamb county, named for Lt. George A. Lamb, killed in the battle of San Jacinto.

Bailey county, named for Peter James Bailey, who was killed in the battle of the Alamo.

Hale county, named for J. C. Hale, killed in the battle of San Jacinto.

Floyd county, named for Dolphin Ward Floyd, who was another victim of the Alamo; and Crosby county, named for Stephen Crosby, former state land commissioner. We might go on indefinitely naming West Texas counties named for early Texas heroes or officials.

But not many future Texas statesmen can expect to be honored.

In this way, for not many more counties will be created, according to present prospects. With cars on all highways that run 75 to 90 miles per hour, a driver can reach some county seat in Texas in just a few minutes, and a lot of folks these days are trying to get away from some county seat rather than into one.

Moving up to a little higher sphere, we note that the names of several of our governors have been thrown into the grab box from which to draw names for our counties, other than those we have already mentioned. Among these we note the names of P. Hansboro Bell, for whom Bell county was named; Gen. Richard B. Coke, governor and United States Senator, for whom Coke county was named; J. Pinckney Henderson first governor of Texas following annexation to the Union in 1846, for whom Henderson county was named; Gov. Jim Hogg, one of the greatest governors Texas ever had, for whom Jim Hogg county in south Texas was named; John S. Roberts, signer of the Texas Declaration of Independence, and Governor O. M. Roberts, the "pay-as-you-go" governor, for both of whom Roberts county up in the Panhandle was named; also up in the Panhandle is Ochiltree county, named for William B. Ochiltree, who served for some time in the President's cabinet of the Republic of Texas.

Now, moving up another step into the realm of national affairs, we note that a number of Texas counties were named for American Presidents, other statesmen, and military leaders. Among the Presidents whom we have so honored are Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Andrew Jackson, John Tyler, James K. Polk, and two great leaders who long aspired to the Presidency, Henry Clay and John C. Calhoun.

Southern Confederates so honored include the names of Jefferson Davis, for whom Jeff Davis county is named; Robert E. Lee, for whom Lee county and also the town of Robert Lee are named; General Thomas J. (Stonewall) Jackson, for whom Stonewall county is named; Gen. John B. Hood, for whom Hood county is named; Gen. Ben McCullough, for whom McCullough county is named; and greatest of all, John H. Reagan, postmaster General for the Southern Confederacy, and for years the chairman of the first railroad commission appointed by Governor James Stephen Hogg after his election as governor of Texas on that issue.

There are many other counties in Texas named for other distinguished men, but we do not have room here for all of them, and so right here we stop, thank you.

Wheat Farmers May Use Allotment Program For Improving Their Soil

FORT WORTH, Aug.—Southwestern wheat farmers, facing the prospect of a reduction in 1953-54 plantings, can help themselves and their land by using the government's acreage allotment program as an opportunity for improving land use and installing needed conservation treatment.

This is the opinion of Regional Director Louis P. Merrill of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service. Based on information from the Amarillo Experiment Station, Merrill's recommendations for farmers who must cut wheat acreage are mainly these:

1. Use a diversified farming system to include wheat, sorghum, grass and livestock. (Merrill pointed out that in such a system, it would be beneficial to return any cropland west of the 20-inch rainfall line to grass for at least six years).

2. Where feasible, practice a flexible wheat-sorghum-fallow rotation.

3. Use cover crops and stubble mulch farming to help prevent wind and water erosion.

4. Put all land not suitable for cultivation into ranch or pasture. In humid areas, Merrill pointed out, crop rotation may be lengthened to include more grasses and legumes for livestock feed.

By all means, the SCS regional director said, the capabilities of the land should be used in deciding which acres should remain in wheat production. Land capability guides have been worked out for all wheat farming areas of the region and are in the hands of soil conservation district boards.

Switching a part of the wheat farmer's acreage to another crop such as grain sorghum, which is more suited to some soils of the area, may actually mean greater net return to the farmer, Merrill explained. In addition, many thousands of acres of wheat lands year after year are producing scarcely enough to pay for harvesting. Many more thousands of acres are being farmed at a loss. These acreages could very likely produce profitably in grass.

Above all, Merrill cautioned, steps should be taken to keep lands taken out of wheat from undergoing erosion damage. If stubble is sufficient, it should be carefully managed, he said. If the stubble has been destroyed, effort should be made to get a winter growing crop other than wheat on the land or, if time permits, a crop of grain sorghum. Even planted in August, grain sorghum normally can make sufficient growth to keep the land from blowing. Sandier lands of the wheat growing areas would be better off if they were farmed usually to grain sorghums, he said.

Emergency tillage to prevent wind erosion damage is just that—an emergency step to be taken as a last resort, Merrill explained. Conservation measures are designed to avoid the need for this costly and labor-consuming practice, he said.

HAMILTON COUNTY FARMERS FERTILIZE

College Station, August—The cost was small. The return large for two Hamilton county farmers who followed the fertilizer recommendations given them by M. K. Thornton in charge of the Soils Testing Laboratory of the Texas A&M College System.

The two farmers, Edgar Sparks and Jack Cates reported to Hamilton County Agent E. R. Lawrence outstanding yields of oats from the fertilized fields on which soil tests had been made before the plant food was applied.

Sparks reported a weight yield of 79 bushels of oats an acre from the field on which he applied 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate an acre. The adjoining field which was not fertilized produced 37 bushels of oats an acre. That by simple arithmetic, is five bushels an acre more than double the unfertilized yield and the 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate.

Cates used 100 pounds of 14-14-0 fertilizer an acre on one field and reports the yield as a third higher than for another field which received no treatment. Both according to Lawrence, are well pleased with their "feeding the soil according to its needs" demonstration.

Thornton, who is also agricultural chemist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, reminds farmers that now is the time to submit soil samples to the laboratory from the fields where small grain and legumes of pasture crops will soon be planted. "Don't wait," says Thornton, "until seeding time to begin thinking about getting a soil analysis. Submit samples now while the laboratory is not too busy. The analysis along with recommendations on how best to handle the field will be available for your use before planting time."

And as a final reminder, Thornton says, all county agents have detailed information on the procedure for taking and mailing soil samples.

Danger Of Severe Soil Erosion Not So Great As In "Dust Bowl" Days

Ft. Worth, Aug.—The Soil Conservation Service today reported greatly improving soil moisture conditions in some drought-ridden areas of Texas and Oklahoma with markedly lessened prospects of widespread wind erosion damage in the coming winter and spring months although general rains are still needed before the extreme drought is relieved.

The improved moisture in 43 counties in western Texas and 10 counties in western Oklahoma has touched off one of the most determined efforts to produce soil cover in recent years, says Regional Director Louis P. Merrill of SCS.

Hundreds of thousands of acres in the Rolling Plains, the South Plains and the rain-blessed Panhandle section of Texas already have gone into grain sorghums, sweet sorghums, sudan grass and other cover producing crops, SCS field men have reported to Merrill. Most of the plantings are up to good stands, and with a good rain or two would make needed cover or even a crop of grain barring early frost. In the Panhandle of Texas and in northwestern Oklahoma sizable areas have accumulated moisture for wheat planting next fall but too many farmers are turning under an effective stubble mulch before sufficient moisture has been trapped to sustain a stand of wheat.

Eighty-six counties in the less fortunate areas of southwestern and southern Texas still have received no effective moisture or not enough to relieve the record drought conditions.

Range grasses are growing rapidly in areas which have received moisture in the last five weeks, Merrill reported. Returning from a trip into the High Plains and Rolling Plains this week, Merrill observed that on short range in poor to fair condition there is the temptation to keep too many stock where un-bers have not been materially reduced as in the Panhandle counties, still with severely damaged pastures. Approximately 30 counties in central Texas and about the same number of counties in central and western Oklahoma are in very dry condition but have effective cover.

Merrill recently said that in his opinion there should not be a return to wind erosion conditions of the 1930's. He gave the following reasons:

1. Farmers and ranchers have the "know how" to prevent widespread erosions; (2) owners co-operating with soil conservation districts are using sound erosion control practices on hundreds of thousands of acres of farm and ranch lands; (3) owners have more and better machines with which they control erosion; (4) larger areas have irrigation facilities available for growing plant cover, and (5) farmers and ranchers have too much "horse sense" to let the conditions return.

(Cont'd. From Page 1) mained in second place in the league all season, but managed to make a late surge to overtake the heavily favored Wilson team in the play-offs and thus gained their second championship in the four year old Junior League.

Wilson Bankers, managed by Derrell Sims, did not lose a game all year until entering the play-off, and then lost two to the Tahoka boys. Wilson showed fine sportsmanship all season, as well as while losing in the play-offs.

Third place Bray Chevrolet was managed by Dwayne Lee, and fourth place Southland was managed by Donald Basinger. Slaton and Roosevelt started the season but did not finish.

Jake Jacobs served as commissioner to the League, and Ted Pridmore acted as league secretary.

The teams of the League wish to thank the firms which backed them and The Lynn County News and many fans who supported their efforts during the season. The boys look forward to next year and plan a bigger and better league.—Reporter

J. S. Wells Family Arrived In Tahoka Fifty Years Ago Wednesday, Aug. 19

The J. S. Wells family arrived in Tahoka 50 years ago Wednesday. It was August 19, 1903, that this pioneer family drove into the newly organized town and county in three covered wagons, an old hack, and bringing fifty head of stock. Coming from Indian Territory, they were on the road 19 days.

They set up a tent on the lots on which the Bill Catchart home is now located.

"Uncle Bob" Edwards began drilling a well for water the next day, and four wagons left for Stanton the third day to haul lumber for the new Wells home, the fourth residence to be erected in Tahoka.

Work had just started on Lynn County's first court house. A water well was on the north side of the square, but it produced only a small stream and the people had to stand in line to await their turn to get a bucket of water. It took the Wells half a day to water the fifty head of stock they had brought with them.

The Wells family began to think they might starve to death in the West Texas town, but Coleman, the oldest son, went out on the prairie toward Guthrie Lake and killed a buck antelope. Mr. Wells bought the King & Sweet store, the first store here and located at the southwest corner of the square, and operated it more than thirty years.

He and his son-in-law, J. S. Welcher, built the first cotton gin on the South Plains in the year 1906.

J. S. Wells served as sheriff of Lynn county from 1906 to 1910.

The Wells children started to school in the fall of 1903 in a one-room school house on the lots just south of their home. Mr. Wells served on the school board more than eighteen years.

Through all these fifty years, there has always been a child, a grandchild, or a great grandchild enrolled in the Tahoka schools.

On March 6, 1929, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wells celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary with relatives and hundreds of friends from far and near.

In 1933, the Old Settlers Reunion was organized, and in trying to find a suitable date on which to celebrate this occasion, Mrs. Wells suggested June 24th, her birthday, as an ideal time as the sandstorms were over by then. This organization still meets on this day, but if Mother Wells had been living this year (1953) she would have known it's never too late for a sandstorm.

J. S. Wells passed away in 1933, and Mrs. Wells passed away in 1936. But their influence and memory lives on through their many friends and children. All of their living children still reside in Tahoka, or near. The daughters are Mrs. Nora Tomlinson, Mrs. Zilla McCoy Mrs. Mrs. Nettie Edwards, Mrs. Bernice Roberts, and Mrs. Frankie Fenton; and the sons, E. T. Wells of O'Donnell, R. C. Wells of Tahoka, and N. F. (Jack) Wells of Denver City.

These facts were taken from the scrapbook of Nettie Edwards in memory of Father and Mother Wells and their deceased children. Mrs. J. S. Welcher, Coleman Wells, Claud Wells, and Karr Wells.

Larry Ramsour, son of Rev. and Mrs. Lee Ramsour, left last week for Waco. He is working at Baylor University with the maintenance department, and expects to study in that institution this next regular term.

Miss Leola LaGrone Named To High Position In Church

Miss Leola LaGrone, secretary of the First Baptist Church, is moving to Dallas. She is to take a position with the Christian Life Commission, a division of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Her work will be a work for which she is unusually prepared. While a student in Baylor University, she changed her entire educational program and devoted her last two years in college to this preparation. Upon completion of her work at Baylor, she spent two years in New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary in further specialized training.

Upon completion of her education in this field, there were no fields of such activity. She therefore engaged herself in other fields of religious work. She worked with the Indians in New Mexico and in small churches. She worked in various children's institutions and has served for nearly a year as secretary at the local church. All of this has served to further prepare her for the position she is to take.

The Christian Life Commission has only two offices in the Southern Baptist Convention. With limitless possibilities, the Commission will be devoted to the promotion of interest and activities in and through the churches that will broaden the benevolent work and then relate the benevolent practices to the spiritual needs of those helped. The Commission also promotes religious work with the minority groups.

Miss LaGrone's first assignment will be a seminary with second generation Japanese young people in an annual assembly at Corpus Christi. It will be August 26-28.

The next meeting will be Sept. 1, at which time a tacky party will be held by the group. Hostesses for the party will be Mrs. Lois Greathouse, Loyce Flemming, Cleo Millikin, and Jo Bell Robinson.

Garden Club Has Annual Picnic

The annual family picnic of the Tahoka Garden Club was held Tuesday night in the back yard of Calloway Huffakers.

Dr. E. Prohl entertained the group with a film of his recent trip to Mexico.

The club held a short business meeting following the picnic at which time the members voted to meet in the homes for the coming year. Previously they have met in the Lyntegar, REA building.

Approximately 40 people attended the picnic, according to Mrs. Calloway Huffaker. Mrs. John Witt is president of the club.
